Planning Board reverses decision

Franklin Avenue resident allowed to break through park property

By Linda Telesco

In a case of crisscrossed issues, the Belleville Planning Board last week reversed a year old decision remanded to them for a second vote, allowing a township resident to break through a 46-year-old brownstone wall, which is a dedicated piece of park property.

The board heard the case again after a Superior Court judge, who disagreed with the board's denial of a subdivision application last October, ordered them to do so.

A year after his request for a subdivision had been denied by a 3-3 locked vote on the board, William Tatz of 489 Franklin Ave., won permission for the project by a 3-2 vote.

Controversy erupted when the apparently clear-cut subdivision application was clouded by arguments that it would destroy township dedicated properties, an issue regarded by several planners, the board attorney and the applicant's attorney as legally unrelated to the proposal.

Tatz proposes to subdivide his property in order to separate the lot on which his own home is located from a large vacant portion of land in his backyard area.

Tatz' intention, according to his attorney Thomas Zampino of Belleville, is to sell the other lot. Since the area is residential, Zampino speculated that prospective buyers would construct a home on the lot and would require access to Hill Street, the road that runs along Tatz' backyard.

Planners objected to the proposal last October, when it was first heard, because construction of a residence on the lot in question would necessitate breaking through the brownstone wall which borders Hill Street on the east side, the side containing the Tatz lot.

Objectors argued that the wall was dedicated property and could not be broken through. In addition, Al Schmitt, a Hill Street resident and member of the Planning Board abstained from the voting in order to represent neighborhood opponents to the application.

Following the deadlocked vote of the six remaining planners, Zampino took the issue to Superior Court, arguing that the issue of property dedication was irrelevant to an otherwise satisfactory subdivision application.

"The Board of Commissioners dedicated that property by ordinance in 1972 for town recreational purposes," Schmitt said in an interview last August as he explained the case's history.

However, when Zampino took the October 1980 decision by the (Please see 'Dedicated' on page 17.)

Board moving to improve Washington Avenue area

Angered by the lethargic, laissez-faire policy dominating Washington Avenue development, the Planning Board decided last Thursday to "take the bull by the horns" and organized a "Promote Belleville to Developers" campaign.

"It's time to stop looking at Washington Avenue and start doing something about it," asserted Chairman Joseph Grande.

Grande complained of having bankers, the Chamber of Commerce, the capital improvements and countless other committees "look into Washington Avenue."

"It's time to stop acting and start doing and the Planning Board will start the doing," Grande said.

The chairman expressed annoyance over a "curt letter" he received from Mayor Michael Marotti in response to the planners' inquiries about the newly appointed Belleville Redevelopment Agency.

The Agency was established last April for the purpose of enhancing the town by acquiring depressed properties and selling them to private interests.

Actual appointments to the seven-member agency were made by the commissioners in September.

Shortly after, the planners drafted a letter requesting explanation from Marotti as to what the specific duties of the new agency are, how they affect the recently established capital improvements committee, and where the Planning Board comes into the picture.

Marotti's reply took issue with the fact that the planners' letter had referred to the group as a "committee." It also informed the board that the group was "an autonomous agency," but provided little in the (Please see 'Board' on page 17.)

BHS senior competing in Miss Essex contest

A future psychologist, Maryjo Capitti of Mertz Avenue will be competing in the 20th Annual Essex County Junior Miss Scholarship Program to be held Nov. 29 at Nutley High School's auditorium.

Miss Capitti's favorite subject is history and she's a member of the Key Club, Student Government, Drama Club and co-captain of the Flag Squad. She also belongs to the county's Friendly Visitors Program, Medical Explorer's Post #380 and is a part-time religion teacher.

She is the daughter of Michael and Josephine Capitti of Belleville.

Miss Capitti will be one of 28 high school seniors from throughout the county participating in the event. The girls are judged on personal interview, creative and performing ability, scholastic achievement, youth fitness, poise and appearance.

The new Junior Miss will be presented by last year's winner Natalie Pierce of East Orange. Tickets for the show will be available at the door. Program Chairman Mike Paolino is also selling tickets. Call 667-7315 for more information.

Congratulations — Administrators and friends at the Essex County Geriatrics Center in Belleville came out Friday to wish George Glass farewell after 41 years as an employee at the center. Presenting an award to Glass is center director Sandra Stiles. Glass started working at the center on Feb. 2, 1940 and retired on Nov. 20, 1981.

Commissioners work to resurface roads

With winter too close for comfort, the township commission approved measures to effect badly needed repairs on several local roads.

The board approved an ordinance last week providing for resurfacing of portions of Stephens and Adelaide Streets and of Mt. Prospect Avenue.

Public Works Commissioner Mary Senatore said the $35,000 cost of the project has been budgeted as 1981 capital improvements. She added that the commissioners will go out for bids on the project in order to get started as soon as possible.

"I want to get these streets fixed before the snows come, but if necessary, we'll postpone the project until spring and complete it then," Commissioner Senatore said.

The commissioners also awarded a bid for the reconstruction of Belmont Avenue to F. Farro Contracting Co. of Nutley whose $106,725 offer, came in lowest of several bidders.

Senatore explained that the street requires complete reconstruction because of damages caused by an underground stream under the road's lower portion, near Bloomfield Avenue.

The road will be torn up and completely rebuilt with new drainage systems, according to Senatore. She added that the portion from Bloomfield Avenue to Honiss Street will be repaired with an $80,000 Essex County Community Development Grant, since it is in a target area meriting the funds.

Reconstruction of the rest of the street will be financed by the township at cost of $166,000, plus $23,000 for resurfacing.

"We should begin work on it right away," the commissioner said. (Please see 'Commissioners' on page 18.)

Santa planning to visit the children in Belleville

Ho! Ho! Ho! It is that time of year again boys and girls. You can visit Santa and Mrs. Santa in their house at the North Pole Sunday, Dec. 13 between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at St. Anthony's (old) Church, 55 Franklin St., Belleville.

A new look at The Times

The Belleville Times has undergone style changes at the request of our readers. The changes will bring a cleaner type of print, which we feel gives the paper a more attractive look.

At The Times we are listening to our readers and any suggestions they may have. Anyone with comments or suggestions is welcome to give us a call at 759-3200 Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The Times is the official paper of Belleville, and is for the residents of Belleville, so let's hear from you.

Tickets are $1.75 and include a gift, orange drink and potato chips. Other refreshments will also be available. Admission for parents is free. Tickets can be purchased at the door or at "Sincerely Sandy" card shop located at 51 Franklin St.

Don't forget to write a letter to Santa telling him of something nice you did (include your name and phone number) and drop it in his mailbox when you visit. Your letter could win a prize. A photo with Santa is $2.75 (optional). The annual "Santa Visit" fund raiser is sponsored by Cub Scout Pack 387.

For Belleville boys and girls who can not get to see Santa, they are encouraged to get out their pens, pencils, crayons and start writing their lists to Santa Claus right now.

Special mailboxes will be set up to accommodate the expected heavy mail. One will be at Town Hall on Washington Avenue and the other will be in front of the Silver Lake Fire House on Franklin Street.

Children can't miss the mail boxes. They're bright red and clearly marked SANTA'S MAIL so no one (Please see 'Santa' on page 18.)

Historic Main Street 'Rose Cottage' undergoing classical renovations

By Ed Capparucci

Throughout the Township of Belleville lies bits and pieces of history, and along Main Street sits perhaps the township's most prestigious piece of history, the Rose Cottage.

At the present moment the cottage, located at 221 Main Street, is under going renovations by its new owner, Allan Papp.

Papp purchased the building in November of last year, and is set on restoring the house to its natural appearance.

Many historians list the eight-room house as being built in 1720, but Papp along with the past owner John Calvin Lloyd, (it is also known as the Lloyd House, since the family occupied it for nearly 100 years.) believes the house may have been built in 1680, making it the third oldest existing in the state of New Jersey. But years ago the deed register for the late 17th, early 18th century house, were stolen from the county court house, making it impossible to determine the house's exact age. Since no record of the exact building date is available, the date of the house has been set at 1720, which the first time mention was made.

"What I would like to do is get the house placed on the National Register of Historical Places," said Papp. "Since the construction of Route 21 many of the old historical houses which were located in Belleville, were torn down to make room for the highway. I want to help restore a little piece of history in the Township of Belleville. In fact the Rose Cottage was saved from being (Please see 'Rose' on page 18.)

A Face Lift — The Rose Cottage located at 221 Main St., in Belleville could well be the third oldest house in the state. Right now its new owner Alan Papp, is renovating the historical building, which he is trying to get placed in the Register of Historical Places. There has even been some rumor that the house may be haunted.

Former town school director instrumental at Berkeley

As chairman of the Institutional Planning Committee for The Berkeley School of Garret Mountain, Herman Knuppel, former director of student personnel services for the Belleville senior and junior high schools, has overseen major developments since his association with Berkeley began in 1978.

Also a trustee of the school, formerly located in East Orange, Knuppel was instrumental in locating a suburban campus on which students would have classroom and laboratory space for the new programs being introduced, residence facilities on campus and adequate parking.

The picturesque former Trombrock College campus provided an ideal solution, not only for Berkeley needs, but for the members of the Missionary Sisters of the Immaculate Conception, whose convent and retirement residence is located on the grounds. When Berkeley students hold a picnic, the sisters are among the invited guests, and visitations are made to the elderly at the residence.

Knuppel takes pride in the fact that he was part of the group which worked to secure The Berkeley School of Garret Mountain's licensure to grant an Associate in Applied Science degree to graduates of the professional secretarial, marketing and management and the fashion marketing and management programs.

Meetings with the Clifton-Passaic Chamber of Commerce and the Commerce and Industry Association of Northern New Jersey help Knuppel to ascertain needs of industry so that students' educations may be geared to requirements of employers and so that he may be in touch with events that would affect two-year colleges. He also attends Board of Higher Education meetings in Trenton.

There have been many plusses for Knuppel during the 50th anniversary year of The Berkeley Schools, now in progress, but the high point was witnessing the first Associate in Applied Science degrees being conferred upon Garret Mountain graduates this fall in commencement exercises for the five Berkeley Schools at the Felt Forum, Madison Square Garden, New York City.

"Graduates of any of the Berkeley Schools of past years are eligible to apply to return to round out their educations by working for the AAS degree at Garret Mountain," Knuppel points out.

Knuppel started out his career as an athlete. At six-feet, eight inches, it was hard to do otherwise. Upon graduation from Weehawken High School, he had three years of work experience before enrolling at Montclair State College, at that time Panzer College, as a physical education major. He made his mark on the college both athletically and academically. He was high scorer for four years of varsity basketball on a team that achieved the world's collegiate record for the longest consecutive winning streak of 44 games without a loss.

With the professional teams beating a path to his door, he played with the Washington Capitols, Wilmington Bombers, Baltimore Bullets and New York Gothams.

Retired persons to meet Dec. 3

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Chapter 2051, American Association of Retired Persons, Inc. will be held at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 3.

The meeting place is the Fewsmith Presbyterian Church, 1144 Union Ave.

After the regular business meeting, there will be a program of music supplied by the Belleville High School Chorus under the direction of Mr. Thomas Finetti.

The Chapter Official Board will meet on Friday, Dec. 11.

He chose Montclair State also for his M.S. degree in Administration and Supervision. He has completed the sixth year level of graduate work with 40 credits beyond his master's in the field of guidance and personnel at Rutgers, George Washington and New York Universities. He holds certification as a general supervisor, elementary school principal, secondary school principal, guidance counselor, director of student personnel services and teacher in seven areas.

Knuppel came to Berkeley from

the Belleville School System, and he has also taught at Glenfield Junior High School, Montclair, Palisades Park Junior High School and Frederick (Md.) High School.

He is a charter member and honorary life member of the Essex County Personnel and Guidance Association, a member of the New Jersey Personnel and Guidance Association, and honorary life member of the New Jersey Association of College Admissions Counselors.

Mr. Knuppel and his wife, the former Marion O'Shaughnessy, have two children and four grandchildren.

Belleville man arrested in $2 million betting ring

Police arrested a Belleville man and two postal workers last week and charged them with participating in a $2 million sports betting operation.

Essex County Prosecutor George I. Schneider said the arrests were made after Belleville and West Orange Police officers raided a home in West Orange and an apartment in Belleville, with the help of the prosecutor's organized crime strike force.

The arrest were made as the result of an investigation involving wiretaps by the prosecutor's office.

The 38-year-old Belleville man was arrested in his North 8th Street apartment following a search which netted $6,500 in cash and betting slips in excess of $100,000 for last Sunday's football games.

Also found in the apartment were $20,000 in bets for a Monday night football game and $1,500 worth of horse bets. Also $500 in lottery bets were confiscated.

At the West Orange home police arrest a 57-year-old man and his 27-year-old son. Both are postal workers in Newark.

In the house police found more than $22,000 worth of bets for last week's football games.

Prayer for Today

We come before Thee, O Lord, in the end of Thy day with thanksgiving.

Our beloved in the far parts of the earth, those who are now beginning the labors of the day what time we end them, and those with whom the sun now stands at the point of noon, bless, help, console and prosper them.

Our guard is relieved, the service of the day is over, and the hour come to rest. We resign into Thy hands our sleeping bodies, our cold hearths and open doors. Give us to awaken with smiles, give us to labor smiling.

As the sun returns in the east, so let our patience be renewed with dawn; as the sun lightens the world, so let our loving kindness make bright this house of our habitation.

Robert Louis Stevenson

Giving Thanks

Thursday marks a day on which each individual should thank the good Lord for all that has been given to us.

At least that was the original purpose of Thanksgiving. However, in recent years, as with all other major holidays, the true meaning has been lost in the commercial fog which has greatly obscured American life.

To many, Thanksgiving is just another day on which no clock-punching is required — another day for catching the latest bargains in the shopping malls.

It is a day for relatives. Your parents. Your aunts and uncles. Your brothers and sisters. A day for sharing with each other — maybe one of the few days in the year on which we do.

And of course it is a day for eating. There will be cranberries and potatoes, yams and gravy, carrots and stuffing, pies, cakes, cookies nuts and fruit. And of course there will be the turkey.

It will also be a day for football. There will be the professionals, and the college games. And for the kids there will be the classic movies like "The March of the Wooden Soldiers."

But all of us should take some time, no matter how short it is, to give thanks. We should thank the Lord for allowing us to share this gift of life. We should thank the Lord for everything he has done for us, no matter how well off we are.

Life is not always sweet and pleasant, as almost everyone knows. There are problems to be encountered and solved. But life is a gift. It is a gift from the Lord, and whether it be joyful or not, we should be thankful.

That may be easier said than done, but it is true. We all need to be thankful, and not only on Thanksgiving Day, but every day of the year.

The Stockman Report

Published remarks in the Atlantic Monthly magazine which appeared on newsstands last week indicate that President Reagan's budget director, David Stockman, has no faith in Reagan's economic policy.

From early spring till late fall, Stockman gave a series of interviews to the assistant managing editor of the Washington Post. During those interviews, Stockman made many confessions — "the reason we did wrong — not wrong, but less than optimum, is because we had to get a program out fast. We didn't add up all the numbers."

Further along in the interviews, Stockman confessed, "I've never believed that just cutting taxes alone will cause output and employment to expand." Stockman labeled the Reagan economic package a "Trojan Horse to aid the rich under the guise to give breaks to the poor."

When confronted with the stark reality of seeing his words in print, Stockman explained away his words as "careless rumblings." There is little doubt that Stockman uttered the truth throughout the interview. During press conferences which Stockman called, he never denied the quotes attributed to him. In effect, Stockman's confession makes the Reagan economic program look like a fraud — a false doctrine that its engineers and architects are sure will fail.

Past BMPA president tells his side of story

To The Editor:

Having been the subject of an impromptu telephone interview relating to a matter discussed at the Oct. 26 Board of Education meeting at which I was not in attendance, I felt it incumbent on me as immediate past president and currently a member of the Executive Board to offer some clarifications as respects the article which casts a negative aspersions upon the integrity of the Belleville Music Parents' Association.

The first point of clarification needed is that the article's title is inaccurate. The employment policy referred to is not new, it is old and well established. Positions to be filled are posted for acceptance within the system with whatever credentials or expertise is required. If there are no takers, it is then posted for acceptance outside the system with the stipulated credentials or expertise. And finally, if there are still no takers, any others who may or may not have the supposed requisite credentials, would need "special" board approval as opposed to the normal board approval that would apply to any of the aforementioned. If your reporter got the impression from anything said by Board of Education members at the Oct. 26 meeting that this policy was "new", then the reporter either misunderstood or they were deliberately being misleading.

The idea of bringing in outside instructors with specialty expertise for a summer band clinic at the High School to write a completely new marching band routine, develop compatible choreography for the routine for the flags, twirlers and color guard and to strengthen and polish the percussion section of the band was first brought before the Belleville Music Parents Association at its general membership meeting of Nov. 19, 1980 by the band director, Andrew Silbert with the advice and consent of the Belleville Music Director Frank Scelba. The idea was brought to us with the thought that we might consent to the funding of the project.

On Mar. 11, 1981, at a BMPA Executive Board meeting, the project was discussed again at which time the cost of $1,000 was stipulated for the three people to be retained, who were yet unnamed. At the BMPA Executive Board meeting of Apr. 29, 1981, a further cost breakdown and the names of the three independent contractors to be retained was presented. The BMPA Executive Board voted to approve the expenditure as it was consistent with our organization's purpose as stated in our by-laws.

Immediately thereafter, Frank Scelba and Andrew Silbert jointly met with the then high school principal, John De Cesare, in accordance with the "chain of command" protocol and gave him the details of the project to be passed up the chain of command for Board of Education approval. It was clearly understood then as it is now that the Board of Education was doing the approving and the hiring and the BMPA was simply doing the paying.

Some other clarifications are: I never said I saw no reason for seeking approval of the board for any hiring. The BMPA did not hire, the Board of Education did through the Music Department. What I did say was that technically, they were not employees per se, they were "independent contractors" from a liability standpoint. Since I was not present at the Oct. 26 Board of Education meeting, I did not know what the board president's "stance" was on this matter until I read it in the paper. So I could hardly "disagree" with it. If your reporter was referring to the statement by board President Miele that the matter "was not known by anyone," after reading this letter, you'll know clearly that I do disagree with that particular statement.

On May 6, 1981, at a BMPA general membership meeting, at which board Trustee John Di Stasi sat at a table directly opposite the recording secretary of the BMPA, Connie Brown, one of the independent contractors being paid by the BMPA, Lee Romano, appeared to explain to the membership what he was going to do for the Belleville High School Marching Band. When your reporter indicated that John Di Stasi seemed to know nothing about the people hired from his questions at the Oct. 26 Board of Education meeting, my response of surprise was not solely based on the fact that he was a member of the BMPA who may or may not have been at the 11-19-80, 3-11-81 or 4-29-81 BMPA meetings, but more so because his son is a member of the marching band which has been receiving instructions from these independent contractors since June 1981.

While it was not part of the telephone interview as your reporter infers, I would agree that it would be somewhat improbable for board Trustee Cesar Romano not to know about "the hiring" since it was his son, Lee, who was one of the three people hired.

Since your article quotes the superintendent of schools as having said, "De Cesare never directed the offer to me" and he would have been the next step up the chain of command to getting board approval, I think your reporter should have made a telephone call to John De Cesare and put a few questions to him directly. Such as, "Did not Frank Scelba and Andrew Silbert present this project to you to be passed on for board approval? Did you pass on the project to the Superintendent of Schools? If not, why not?"

If his answer is "yes" to the first two questions, then I believe we once again have a credibility problem with our Superintendent of Schools. The kind of credibility problem that also prompted our Superintendent of Schools to state at a public Board of Education meeting that he was "committed to the town of Belleville" at the very time that he had applications for employment out to not less than three other school systems. The kind of credibility problem that would motivate a superintendent of schools to accuse an autonomous and constructive parents' organization such as the BMPA of acting contrary to the board hiring policy which is to be part of a policy manual which has yet to be formally approved, when at the same time, he "selectively" does not apply this policy to his own actions. It could be that the superintendent of schools is still smarting from a previous embarrassment when his "selective interpretation" and "selective application" of a New Jersey educational statute was brought to the attention of the New Jersey Attorney General's Office and the Commissioner of Education and he is simply "grinding some personal axes."

I think the closing question to be asked of all involved in this scenario is painfully reminiscent of the Watergate saga: "What did he know and when did he know it?"

Respectfully submitted,
Gabriel A. Nazzola,
Immed. Past President, BMPA

New 'township' monies should be used for taxes

To the Editor:

We are happy to hear Belleville received the new township funds of $540,000 in 1982.

When they had special elections for this purpose the town officials urged us to sign petitions and vote for it. They stated in the town newspapers that "the funds would be utilized to cut down Belleville landowners worst enemies, property taxes." The very words printed in The Telegram, July 2, 1981. We saved the papers to prove it as we were afraid of something like this.

Now Mayor Marotti has other ideas: such as the "funds will be for capital improvements."

We will not tolerate being tricked and fooled like that? They should reverse the money for property taxes 1982. We will hold them to that promise even if we have to sign petitions to do so.

Many contribute to proud B.H.S. athletic program

The recognition of Belleville High School athletic prowess during the reign of Coach John Senesky has focused much attention upon the enviable record his football Bucs have been attracting in New Jersey scholastic circles for the past few years.

Combining his instrumental talent as a mentor and the wealth of capable developed products who had acquired their fundamental training within our town's Little Leagues, sponsored by the guidance of our Mayor Marotti and local merchants, service clubs and police and fire units, he has molded an aggregation of champion caliber that has generated increased enthusiasm and keen interest among both students and sports minded adults of Belleville, which has always been an avid sports oriented community.

Naturally, they clamor for a winner; repine at losses and grow irascible upon the slightest hint of dissension among the troops that might indicate a demoralizing effect upon the best performances of the team.

In a community where rumors are commonplace, and too often rife, it is not unusual for ugly gossip to fill the air, especially in an attempt to explain away a disappointment or loss of a big game that could affect team ratings that might determine a group championship title.

Although, unfamiliar with the details, we have learned that reports of team dissension and defection may have occurred. If it is so, the public should be apprised of all the details and an objective reporting analysis, predicated upon facts that present all parties' sides of the circumstances, should be rendered. This should emanate from within the department most acquainted with the attendant circumstances that might be involved in a matter of this nature.

Whatever may have transpired, we are confident that the spirit and drive of the young men on the Bucs will not be daunted nor lessened by a game lost to a squad whom their had praised on a good game. The adage still prevails...it matters not whether you win or lose, but, rather how you played the game. Our men played like gentlemen and good sports. Isn't that what school athletics is supposed to be all about? We think so.

A goodly number of political pundits are expressing the view that had President Reagan's "hatchet man" David Stockman's story, that came out in the December issue of Atlantic Monthly, hit the streets a week before the Nov. 3 election for New Jersey's Governor that Jim Florio would have won, instead of going through the pangs of a recount that can cost $240,000 in an effort to overturn Kean's certified win.

The article brought out Stockman's view that Reagan's policies amounted to a "Trojan Horse" trickle down aim to benefit the rich at the expense of the poor...something the democrats in Congress had been saying all along.

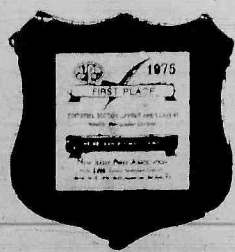

President Reagan has apparently found another way around to take an additional "bite" out of Social Security beneficiaries' monthly income...those having Medicare Part B will suffer from higher deductions, starting January 1, 1982, from their overall benefits.

The present $11 participation monthly cost will be expected to become $19, while the present first $60 which must be paid by the patient will rise to $75 and the present first $204 hospital bills paid by the patient will be increased to $258.

To just continue having Medicare Part B will cost $96 more a year. Should one be hospitalized, without additional supplement hospital insurance, the cost would be $54 more and if any medical charges are payable the first $75 must be paid by the individual, amounting to $15 more than this year...an amount if used, would come to $165. Just about the same amount that he had intended to cut by deferring the cost of living from July 1 to Nov. 1 in 1982. So, by indirection, he "shafts" the Senior Citizens anyway.

Whether President Reagan keeps David Stockman or not: Stockman has alerted the American people, by his utterances in Atlantic Monthly, that Mr. Reagan is a friend of the rich and shows little, if any, regard for the poor and Senior Citizens whom he appears to be determined to put down and "rip off" at every turn. God help them were he to get a docile Congress in the 1982 elections. We voted for him, but, oh! How sorry we are now: it even looks like he'll shape up worse than Hoover, the depression President.

Belleville's past

About 1876 John H. Eastwood, William Buchanan and Charles Smith began as manufacturers of Fourdrinier wire-cloth and all grades of fine iron, copper and brass wire, organizing later as a stock company with John Eastwood, whose Mordant Works were near by, as president. Steam fittings were later added to the products and the company grew till it employed three-hundred persons.

Herman Hendricks and his brother-in-law, Solomon I. Isaacs, established the Hendricks Mills for refining and rolling sheet and bolt copper at the Soho Mill and in 1824 enlarged their works and built what was known as the Upper Mill. They began by employing twenty five hands and turning out three hundred and fifty tons of copper a year, first using South American and later Lake Superior pig copper. In time they added the manufacture of copper rivets and wire. The business later became the property of the sons of Herman Hendricks and was conducted under the firm-name of Hendricks Brothers. The Upper Mill was destroyed in 1974 and was rebuilt on a larger scale. Hendricks and Isaacs also owned boats on the Passaic River by which they received their copper and Liverpool coal. In addition to the mills the firm also owned large tracts of lands to which the members continually added. At the Belleville Copper Rolling Mills the company employed well over a hundred persons.

Other interesting factories in Belleville included the Josiah Rhodes' Mill; the firm of Gibbs, Gardner & Co., manufacturing buttons; Kennedy's Mill, first a saw mill, then a chocolate mill, then a furniture mill, then a paper mill, then a file factory, and finally as a smelting-works or refinery and the Stephens and Dougherty lamp factory. Each of them go back a considerable distance in the industrial history of Belleville while the others that have been mentioned endure in one form or another as elements in the industrial life of the district at the present day. Views On Dental Health
PHILIP WASSERMAN, D.D.S.
THE PRACTICE OF PEDIATRIC DENTISTRY

A pediatric dentist's practice is usually limited to children from birth to 18 years of age. The first visit to the dental office should be around age two. The young child is gradually introduced to the dental office under pleasant conditions. The pediatric dentist's office design and professional manner are geared to relieve the child's anxiety.

Pediatric dentists provide a complete spectrum of preventive and dental treatment for normal children, adolescents and those with special needs. Services include:

- Preventive dentistry — pediatric dentists pay special attention to showing both parents and children how to prevent decay of young teeth.
- Restorative care — pediatric dentists use a wide array of new dental materials that enable them to restore injured and decayed teeth. And when a tooth is lost prematurely, pediatric dentists use procedures to maintain the proper spacing so the developing adult teeth can come in properly.
- Interceptive orthodontics — most people do not realize that a great many orthodontic problems are preventable. The early detection of troublesome muscular habits and problems with the pattern and timing of tooth emergence can prevent the need for costly orthodontics.

Hospice program helps families deal with terminally ill members

Dying can be devastating to both a terminally ill patient and his family. Physical and emotional pain, loneliness and the thought of separation bring heightened stress to a situation where support is needed the most. A hospice program seeks to offer that support and reinforce the strength of the family during the crisis period.

The Hospice, Inc., a joint venture of Clara Maass Memorial, Mountaintop and Community hospitals, has developed an all-encompassing program of service on an outpatient basis that offers 24-hour, seven-day-a-week home care by professionals and a trained staff.

"The hospice concept was introduced as an alternative to traditional care normally available to a terminally ill patient. It addresses the physical, spiritual, psychological and social needs of the dying patient and also helps the family to cope with and adjust to each phase of the patient's illness," says Leslie D. Hirsch, administrative assistant at Clara Maass.

A community study verified the need for a viable hospice program in this area. One of the main criteria for admittance to the hospice is that the patient live within the service area. Other criteria include a diagnosis with a life expectancy of six months or less and a "primary care person" at home to take responsibility.

The hospice team, which consists of physicians, nurses, social workers, therapists, a psychologist and specially trained volunteers acts as a cohesive unit to administer aid and give support and direction when needed. Every patient is assigned to a hospice team, which meets separately to discuss how each patient and his family are coping with the illness.

"When a patient first enters the hospice program, the emphasis is on the family identifying their particular needs," Eldie Johnston, administrator of The Hospice, Inc., said. "After a professional assessment is completed, an effort is made to utilize whatever community services are available."

While the hospice team provides the main source of care, an effort is made not to create total dependence on it.

"Our function is not to take over responsibility for the patient and the family but to point out the options and direct them towards the appropriate choices," Mrs. Johnston said.

One of the major goals of the hospice program is to maintain quality of life. Symptom control is emphasized to make life as comfortable as possible, recognizing palliative as opposed to curative care. Pain medication, for instance, is geared to each patient's needs and is self-administered when possible.

"When a patient is enrolled in the hospice program it is important for him to keep his independence and vital that he maintain his role within the family," Mrs. Johnston added.

Also an integral part of the hospice program is pastoral counseling, and special bereavement follow-up services are provided to family members to help them deal with the feelings of loss, anger and grief which accompany the death of a loved one.

The Hospice, Inc., is controlled and organized by its own board of trustees, and members presently include representatives of the three participating hospitals: Community Nursing Service of Montclair, CHRIIL Homemaker-Home Health Agency, Nutley Department of Health, West Essex, Community Health Services and several representatives of the general public. Dr. Frances Abel serves as medical director.

Referrals to The Hospice, Inc., can be made through families, physicians, hospitals or social service agencies. Ability to pay is not considered a criteria for admittance since The Hospice, Inc., will work with families to obtain needed funds.

The service area of The Hospice, Inc., will initially consist of Belleville, Bloomfield, Montclair, Glen Ridge, Nutley, the Caldwelles, Cedar Grove, Roseland, Verona, Fairfield and Essex Fells as well as other communities in the Essex County area.

The Hospice, Inc., will act as an important ingredient to the growing Cancer Treatment Center at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital. In addition to sophisticated equipment and individualized care, the Center also offers ongoing support services for cancer patients and their families. Early this year a local chapter of the nationally known program "Make Today Count," a self-help group whose goal it is to stress a positive attitude when confronted with a terminal illness, was developed at Clara Maass under the direction of a staff psychologist.

Hospice, Inc., is expected to serve approximately 400 people a year. Anyone wishing more information can contact The Hospice, Inc., 743-8882, or 743-8884.

CHAMBER COLUMN THANKSGIVING BLESSINGS

Thanksgiving is once again upon us. Thanksgiving - a special day of sharing and to give thanks for what we do have and also for what we do not have.

We give thanks for living in and being part of the greatest country in the world...being able to voice our opinions, views and expressions, and of having the opportunity to fulfill our dreams, desires and goals, whatever our life's endeavors might be.

We give thanks for faith, family, love, health, compassion, understanding and togetherness.

We give thanks for not being deprived of these basic, fundamental important things in life.

We give thanks for being more fortunate than those who are less fortunate than us. And we ask and pray for total world peace, devoid of violence and unnecessary death.

May the Thanksgiving Tradition and Spirit flourish within us every day of the year.

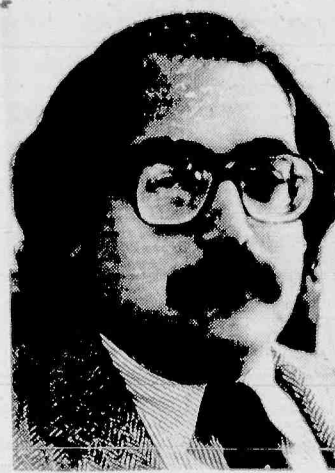

Have a Meaningful and Thankful Thanksgiving.

Belleville resident promoted in county administration

Essex County Administrator Daniel Boggan, Jr. named three assistant county administrators, including a Belleville man, in a move expected to improve the administrative structure of the county government.

Ralph J. DiRuggiero of Belleville, director of the division of purchasing, was appointed assistant county administrator for general services, while Donald V. Biase of Millburn, director of the county's division of budget and management, was named first assistant county administrator for financial management and Cellerino C. Bernardino of Newark, currently principal to the assistant county administrator, was named assistant county administrator for operations. "We are creating three assistant county administrator positions to increase administrative efficiency," Boggan said. "These changes set up a reporting chain of command which will allow many issues to be handled in a more efficient manner. "On the whole," Boggan said, "the county administrator should focus on major policy issues. This restructuring is a result of several months of evaluation and planning and should improve overall efficiency."

Boggan said all three men will keep their present responsibilities in addition to performing the duties of assistant county administrator. Additionally, Biase will serve as first assistant county administrator, carrying out the duties of county administrator in the administrator's absence.

Biase and DiRuggiero will split the responsibility of supervising offices which support the internal operations of the county government. These support agencies will now be known as offices rather than divisions to emphasize their internal functions.

DiRuggiero will oversee the offices of personnel, purchasing, risk management and public information. In addition, the Department of Public Works will report to the county administrator through him.

DiRuggiero has been with the county since June, 1979, and was named director of the division of purchasing in July, 1980. Before coming to the county, DiRuggiero worked for the New York City Office of Management and Budget. He is a candidate for a master's degree in public administration from Baruch College of the City University of New York.

Boggan, who last week announced plans to leave Essex County in January to become city manager of Berkeley, California, stressed that the creation of three assistant county administrators posts "was the result of months of planning designed to streamline and improve the operation of this government."

"It is purely coincidental," Boggan said, "that things fell into place in such a manner that the announcement of my plans to leave came within a week of today's announcement."

Boggan said that in addition to the creation of the three positions, the county's Department of Administration and Finance will now be referred to as the Administration and Finance Agency and the Law Department will be known as the Office of the County Counsel. These changes, Boggan said, are meant to distinguish these former departments which provide internal support services, from the large operating departments which provide internal directly to county residents.

DiRuggiero will earn $35,500 in his new post and Bernardino will be paid $35,000. Biase will earn $39,500 annually.

Junior Women producing play to help infant death syndrome

The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville has taken their Junior Director Mrs. Thomas Spillane's theme, "Juniors Committed to a Better Tomorrow...Today," to heart with their commitment to the administration's State Project, the National Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation-New Jersey Chapter (SIDS).

First, Mrs. JoAnn McGough, chairwoman of the major fund raiser for the Belleville club, is proud to announce that the club has commissioned the Nutville Junction Players to produce a very special Christmas play called, "Fenwick: The Littlest Elf."

This holiday treat is scheduled for two performances at the Belleville High School on December 12, 1981. Performances will be at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. The tickets will be $3 and proceeds will go to the National Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation-New Jersey Chapter as well as other local charities. For more information call: 759-9263 or 759-7746.

Secondly, Mrs. Michele Monica, SIDS state project chairwoman for the Junior club has been soliciting funds for SIDS by selling turtle pins and Stay at Home Tea Envelopes. The turtle pins symbolize the Junior slogan, "Stick your neck out for SIDS," and the Stay At Home Tea Envelopes enclose a tea bag and a poem which asks each person to donate $1 for SIDS.

SIDS or crib death is the major cause of death among infants one week to one year of age. Death to such infants comes suddenly and unexpectedly; its victims appear to be healthy, prospering infants and the sudden death of these seemingly well babies (150 per year in New Jersey) is a devastating experience for their families. The New Jersey Junior Woman's Clubs State Project will involve both major fundraising efforts to underwrite the establishment of a New Jersey Infant Apnea Evaluation Center, the first of its kind in this state, and volunteer efforts to assist in establishing SIDS awareness centers in southern and central locations.

In May 1982 the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville will richly experience the pride of accomplishment that binds all Junior clubwomen when the goals for SIDS are fulfilled.

SOLAR SIDING & HOME IMPROVEMENTS

Senior notes

By George Chenoweth

The most serious problem facing many older people is a nationwide lack of adequate services and care outside of institutions for persons with chronic disabilities.

Older people whose disabilities interfere with ordinary activities of daily living often face two undesirable choices: continuing to live at home with little or no assistance, or going to a nursing home.

Older Americans Month coincided with an important new federal government effort to develop broader ranges of non-institutional choices for disabled people.

The goal is the creation of community long term care systems to provide care and services in the home and in other community settings for disabled persons who are eligible for Medicare and/or Medicaid. Until now, Medicare and Medicaid have demonstrated what some persons have called "institutional bias" favoring hospitals and nursing homes. Less than two percent of Medicare and Medicaid payments are made for in-home care.

It is now widely agreed that prolonged institutional living is damaging and dependency-producing for people who don't need it. People thrive best and have better chances of improving or at least maintaining, their physical and mental health when living in the most normal familiar environment that their condition permits.

Many older people leave their homes and go to medical institutions for basically non-medical reasons: they can't get adequate personal care and help with meals and chores at home, or they can't afford to pay for such services at home.

Another reason that at-home care would be a more realistic way to deal with the problem is the rising costs of hospital and nursing home confinement. Hundreds of millions of dollars are paid out by Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance and the individuals themselves to support people in facilities when home care, where possible, would more than adequately provide the kind of care that is needed by over 75 percent of the disabled. This at a much lower cost to all if our government could find a way to finance the project and channel payments into the hands of the people at home who really take care of the elderly and the disabled.

Etamco Inc. gets $1.3 million loan

Etamco Industries, Inc. of Belleville will receive a $1.3 million economic development loan from the New Jersey Economic Development Authority, announced John J. Horn, Chairman of the Authority, last week.

Etamco will use the loan to purchase 8.4 acres of land and two buildings of 15,000 sq. ft. and of 153,000 sq. ft. at 1 Montgomery St. formerly occupied by Edison International, Inc.

The loan is expected to create 20 new jobs, according to James Fuld, vice-chairman of Etamco which manufactures custom formed wire products, stamped metal products, and U.S. Government military products.

"Our product line includes kitchen utensils, key ring corkscrews, and products for the building, automotive and electrical industries including metal pieces for the U.S. Department of Defense," Fuld said last week in a phone call from his Manhattan office.

Fuld added that four new posts in the company's managerial, engineering, and sales department and 16 machine operators jobs would be created through the funding.

The loan, which has been arranged through the sale of the Authority's industrial development bonds, will enable Etamco to purchase the location on which it has been operating since last March.

Midlantic National Bank of Newark has purchased the tax-exempt bonds to finance this project.

Ringling Bros. Circus is indeed the "Greatest Show on Earth"

By Ed Capparucci

When most people think of the circus they think of little children being entertained by the antics of clowns and the roars of the wild cats.

Circus Bears — Wally Naghtin's bears, the world's largest uncaged-bear act, provide ursine antics in the all-new 111th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus now appearing at the Meadowlands until Dec. 1. Recently, one of the bears gave birth to two baby cubs.

But the circus is much more, and it is not just for little kids. The 111th edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus opened its doors last Wednesday at the Brendan Byrne Meadowlands Arena, and will continue until Dec. 1. It is billed as "The Greatest Show on Earth," and rightfully so.

While the clowns make you laugh, and the tigers make you awe, the high wire act of the Carrillo Brothers will make your heart stop.

From 30 feet in the air they perform tricks which would be difficult for most people to partake on the ground. It is a breath-taking act which keeps the audience on the edge of its seat. It is a sight to see, if you can keep your hands away from your eyes throughout the performance.

For the animal lovers, the circus is more delightful and interesting than a trip to the zoo. With animal trainer Gunther Gebel-Williams leading the way, the audience saw tigers, bengals, bears, elephants, chimps, horses, giraffes and dogs. And I am sure we have missed a few. Never has there been such a wide variety of trained animals under one roof. The bears can dance, the chimps can argue and the elephants can stand up right.

But it is the world-renown Gebel-Williams which highlights the animals acts. He handles the 18 tigers like they were pussy cats, and they listen like domestic puppy dogs. He can make the elephants move around a though they were as light as canaries, and as graceful as ballet dancers. You almost tend to think he can actually talk to the creatures by the way they understand his every command and gesture. He moves his trainer's whip the way a orchestra leader waves his baton. The smooth and graceful motion is evident in the behavior of the animals.

Of course no circus would be complete without the clowns, and this circus has plenty of them, including 78-year-old Lou Jacobs, now in his 57th year with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. There are nearly 30 clowns employed by the circus and all are graduates of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey's Clown College. Their skits can warm up even the coldest of hearts, and the smiles which they bring to the kids is the reason why it is such an awarding profession.

Other acts featured include Marguerite Michele, whose unusual acrobated stunt features hanging by her hair. Michele said it took her months to get her scalp use to the pressure, and we can see why. Also there is the trapeze family "The Flying Farfans," the Roman Ring act of Dolly Jacobs, the balancing act of La Tosca and a number of beautiful and stunning show girls. Kit Haskett is the Ringmaster.

There are several musical numbers including a "good old circus parade" in which children from the audience participate in.

More than 15,000 people welcomed the circus into Meadowlands on its opening night. It was the first time Ringling Bros. had played in New Jersey since 1962 when it appeared under a tent in Haddonfield.

It is a show which will capture the hearts of everyone who attends, and promises not to disappoint anyone. It is truly "The Gretest Show on Earth."

The circus will be performing two shows each weekday, excluding Thanksgiving, and three on Saturdays and Sunday. Tickets are available at Ticketron locations throughout New Jersey and New York and at the Meadowlands box office. They may also be charged by phone at 935-3900.

Buc Shots

Anthony Coco's memorable game

The game I'll never forget. For Anthony Coco, the star pitcher on last year's 22-7 Buc baseball team, his favorite contest occurred on May 23, 1981 at Verona Park on a blistering hot day.

The game was Bloomfield-Belleville, the semi-final round of the Greater Newark Tournament. The winner won a spot to the finals and the pitching matchup was a dandy, Coco the Bucs' best pitcher against Anthony Sarno, the Bengals' superb hurler who pitched a one-hitter against Belleville in a regular season contest back in April.

"The first time we played them," said Coco referring to the Bengals, "I gave up a two-run homer in the first inning before I settled down. I pitched a pretty good game, however, Sarno was super that day."

Indeed he was. Sarno was a 2-0 winner that day, holding the Bucs to a double by Mike Forte in the fourth inning. This game looked to be a classic from all ends. It turned out to be a game that not only Coco, but many players from both sides, will never forget.

"I was anxious to face them again," continued Coco. "I had pitched the first round of the state tourney against Irvington and beat them, 4-3. It was a good win because of my terrible game against Columbia the week before."

Oh yes, the Columbia game. After winning the opening round of the GNT over Cedar Grove, Coco's next assignment came in round two of the GNT, this time against the Cougars at Belleville High School. "I only had one pitch that game and Columbia did a job on me." Anthony lasted only one third of an inning, giving up eight runs before head coach George Zanfini replaced him with Eugene Cancelliere.

"As I walked off the mound, I had the feeling that we would win, believe it or not, I wasn't worried," said Coco. As everyone knows, the Bucs did win, as a matter of fact, they won going away. Rallying from an 8-0 first inning deficit, Belleville came back to win, 15-9.

So, Coco pitched the following Tuesday against Irvington and pulled out a gutsy 4-3 win. He would get the call against Bloomfield.

"I still was a bit shaken after the Columbia disaster, but once the game started, I felt pretty good."

Belleville jumped out to a 3-1 lead after four innings and led, 3-2 going in to the last of the seventh inning. Bloomfield wasn't about to go down without a fight. The Bengals scrapped together a run in the last of the seventh to send the game into extra innings. That's when it got really interesting.

"Sometimes it got really monotonous out there," recalled Coco. "All we needed was a run, and after a while it seemed the game would go on forever." The Bengals hurler, Sarno, also was pitching a fantastic game and it did indeed seem that the contest would go on for some time.

"After nine innings, I was going to ask Mr. Z (George Zanfini) to take me out of the game," said Coco. "My back was hurting so bad, but deep inside I knew I wasn't going to come out."

The Bucs big break came in the 12th inning when Frank Fazzini led off with a bunt single. His key hit led the way to a two-run inning for the Bucs and as Coco came to the mound for the last half of the 12th, it appeared the game was in the bag.

"I felt really good coming out for the last of the 12th," continued Anthony. "However, they weren't about to go down without a struggle."

With a 90 degree sun beating down on the now sunburnt athletes, Coco struggled in the last of the 12th, allowing a run to cut the score to 5-4 and setting up the ultimate situation: bases loaded, two out in a one-run ball game. A base hit would definitely tie the game and could easily win it for Bloomfield.

Coco had other ideas and like a true champion, reached within, found something that he himself didn't know existed and struck out the final hitter on three pitches to win an amazing, emotional, exhausting 5-4 contest over a very good Bloomfield team.

Easier times were in the future for Belleville as they won the GNT a week later at Verona Park as Coco hurled another complete game, this time only seven innings, in beating Glen Ridge, 10-4 for the championship. While winning the Bloomfield game might be my most memorable game, winning the championship game also was super. "We wanted it for a long time and were really psyched after we took the crown."

Coco, the second winningest pitcher in BHS history, compiled a 17-6 record in his career, including a 7-3 mark in his senior campaign. Without his fine hurling in the GNT, Belleville would not wear the crown it now proudly holds. Now a freshman at Upsala, Coco will certainly have some big games in the future, but he'll never forget that day back in May of 1981 in Verona Park with the temperature hovering at the 90 degree mark.

Because of our early deadline due to the Thanksgiving holiday, we'll hold off on the Belleville High School Athlete of the Week award for this issue. Next week, the Belleville High School Athlete of the Month for November will be profiled.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was who were the participants in the 1981 AFC title game, what were the teams' records and what was the score of the game. For a bonus, name the team or teams that both clubs defeated for the right to play in the AFC championship game. The answer, Oakland and San Diego played in the championship game with Oakland winning, 34-27. The Raiders were 11-5 while San Diego was 12-4. The Raiders, because they were a wildcard club had to play an extra game in the playoffs, beating Houston (27-7) and Cleveland (14-12) for the title shot. San Diego needed only a victory over Buffalo (20-14) to earn the shot.

For this week's quiz, let's stick to pro football. The New York Jets haven't played a big game in quite a while, 12 years to be exact. The Jets last big outing came in the first round of the AFL championships. At Shea Stadium, they played the eventual NFL champs and lost a tough game. The Jets, the defending champs that year, never had a winning season after 1969. Now can you name the team the Jets played, the score of the game and both teams' records? For a bonus, name the team the victors played in the AFL championship game and the score.

Thanksgiving game marks end of some long Buccaneer careers

Face Kearny on Thursday

By Mike Lamberti

On Thanksgiving Day, the annual Belleville-Kearny football game will take place at Belleville Municipal Stadium and for the first time since 1977, this contest appears to be a nip and tuck affair.

Since the late 60's these two teams have taken turns running each other off the field. In 1969, Belleville had the upper hand, breezing by a 40-6 count on its way to a 6-3 record under quarterback Joe Papisidero.

Belleville was favored to make it two straight in 1970, but the Kards had other ideas, jumping out to a 23-0 halftime lead and holding off the second half surge by Ricky Caruso and company for a 23-14 victory. Belleville would later go on to a 5-4 record.

In 1971, Kearny used a 47 yard field goal and strong running to hold off the Bellboys, 17-13 at BHS. In 1972, the Bellboys broke the string with a stingy defense. In a driving rainstorm, the Bellboys made a third period TD stick for a 7-6 win.

The 1973 game, played at BHS, saw Kearny once again hold the upper hand in Belleville, winning 8-6 when the Kearny runner returned the opening kickoff 90 yards for a score. Belleville finished the '73 season with a 3-6 mark.

Under first year coach Tom Testa in 1974, Kearny added yet another victory with a resounding 28-6 win at Kearny High School. The '74 Kards were one of the best teams that Kearny has had for quite some time and made relatively easy work of the Bellboys who were coming off a 20-7 win over Seton Hall the previous week.

Kearny made it three straight in 1975 with a 7-0 whitewash of the Bellboys at BHS. Belleville's offense was caught sleeping in game and Kearny took advantage by scoring the games only TD on a fumble.

The victory in 1975 proved to be the Kards last of this series thus far. In 1976, Belleville used an explosive offense to whip Kearny, 47-30 at Kearny. The Bellboys didn't have a very potent offense that year, but shocked the fans and the Kards with a wide open attack.

Tough Defense — Phil Cerza (90) will be leading the way for the Buccaneers against the Kearny Cardinals this Thursday in the traditional Thanksgiving game. The Bucs will be shooting for a 7-2 record as they close out the season.

The 1977 game appeared to be Belleville's second straight win. With sophomore quarterback Ed Aulisi leading the way, rookie coach John Senesky's team scored the first two times it had the ball for a quick 14-0 lead. However, Kearny tallied twice in the second half and the game ended in a 14-14 deadlock.

Belleville returned to football prominence in 1978 with a 6-3 record. The year 1978 was the first time that the Belleville-Kearny game was played on Thanksgiving and it has stayed there ever since. At Kearny High, the Bucs used TD's by Ralph D'Pasquale, Lenny Mendola and Perry Mayers along with a blistering defense and a key play by Jerry Fazzini to win, 21-0.

The following year, Belleville defeated Kearny at BHS for the first time since 1969 by a big 50-0 count. The Bucs were coming off a 15-12 heartbreaker to Union in the first round of the Group IV, Section II playoffs the Saturday previous but showed no down signs by running at will. Lenny Mendola closed out a brilliant senior season by scoring five times.

Finally, the Bucs made it three straight with an easy 53-15 romp over the Kards in Kearny. Belleville, tuning up for the Group IV, Section II championship game with West Essex in two weeks, jumped out to a big halftime lead then settled back as the JV team did the cleanup work in the second half. Kearny last year was (Please see 'Kearny' on page 13.)

Belleville booters are on schedule with this season's great performance

By Mike Lamberti

The Belleville soccer team, having completed a very fine 6-6-5 season, can now look back on 1981 as a tremendously improved season and one that can lead to even better things for 1982.

A year ago, the Bucs were 4-11-1, and when that team was being summarized, head coach Anthony D'Aquino said "we have a very young team. In a couple of years, you'll see a very good team here."

It appears that D'Aquino's plan is right on schedule. He had hoped for a .500 season this year and the Bucs went out and did just that. After losing some tough ball games at the beginning of the year, Belleville turned it around in the second half, winning some big ball games and tying the last two games of the year to preserve that mark.

While the team is losing just three seniors, those athletes will indeed be very difficult to replace. For openers, let's take Brian Woods. This entire wrapup can be dedicated just to him, because without his enthusiasm, all out hustle and dedication, the Bucs certainly would not have finished with such a good year.

'Woodsie' led the team in scoring with 25 points, scoring 10 goals and assisting on five more. What makes that mark so impressive is that Woods took only 44 shots, third on the team in that category.

D'Aquino has always held nothing but the highest regard for his team captain. "He's the toughest kid I've ever seen" would be D'Aquino's praise. Because of his hard work and great play, Woods was selected first team All Essex by the Star Ledger this year. He not only deserves that honor but hopefully will receive some print when it comes to the all state balloting.

Santiago Borja, only a sophomore, had a fine season tallying ten goals and assisting on four more. You'll hear a lot from him before his career is over. Another player who will be heard from in the future is junior Mike Van Embergh. He led the team in assists and was second to Borja in shots. Van Embergh also was the third leading scorer with 11 points.

Senior Frankie Dunn and Todd Talmadge closed out their seasons (Please see 'Booters' on page 18.)

Head Lock — A large crowd turnout in the Belleville High School gym matches were sponsored by the Michael Marotti Civic Association, as professional wrestling returned to Belleville last Friday night. The under the direction of Vinne Casenzo.

Steelers maul Giants, 39-13; to finish undefeated season

Action this past week in the Belleville Recreation Football League featured the heavy-weight championship game between the Giants and the Steelers, the regular season champs. To no one's surprise, the Steelers mauled the Giants 39-13 to end the season with an undefeated record.

Anthony Gizzo got the Steelers on the board first in a 32-yard run, making the score 6-0. Sam Zamloot then evened the score for the Giants on a 15-yard interception return. Andrew Martinez took the ball and raced 70 yards for a touchdown to give the Steelers a 13-6 lead. From there it was no contest. After a Steeler interception by Mike Pronel, Frank Gencarelli raced 62 yards to increase the Steeler lead to 19-6. Moments later, it was Gencarelli scoring again, this time on an 18-yard pass from Pronel, and after Jimmy Dunphy added the extra-point, the Steelers had a 26-6 lead. After a Giant punt, Dunphy added to the Steeler barrage by scoring on an eight-yard run making it 33-6. Just before half-time Todd Conforti scored on a 23-yard run for the Giants, with Sean Mulcahy scoring the extra-point to make the score 33-13. Andrew Martinez closed out the scoring for the Steelers on a 45-yard run, making the final 39-13, and completing a perfect season for the Steelers.

Semi-final light-weight action saw the Falcons top the Chargers 12-6 to advance into the finals where they will face the undefeated Jets.

After an interception by Falcon defender Robert Scruggs, Dan Harrington got the game's first points on a nine-yard touchdown run giving the Falcons an early 6-0 lead. Moments later, it was Harrington increasing that lead to 12-0 on a 59-yard touchdown run. Shortly before the half, the Chargers got on the scoreboard on a 58-yard touchdown pass from Jack Calandra to Domenick Milano, cutting the Falcon lead to 12-6. The touchdown pass was to be the last scoring done in the contest as the teams battled to a scoreless second half, making the final 12-6. Fine defensive performances were turned in by the Falcons' Billy Sypher, Robert Scruggs and Jeff Spilsbury while defensive standouts for the Chargers included Danny Martinez, Sal Woodcock and Robert Pasterchick. The Falcons will meet the Jets in the finals of the light-weights Tuesday night.

Toros defeat Aztecs to advance to finals

In an exciting game which was decided by a shootout, the Toros defeated the Aztecs 3-2 to advance to the finals in the Belleville Recreation Soccer "B" Division playoffs. The game resulted in a 2-2 tie after regulation time expired, but the Toros outshot the Aztecs 4-3 on penalty kicks in overtime. Game points were registered by the Toro's Hetal Shah and Philip Albanese, and by the Aztecs' George Dorizas (2).

The Aztecs will face the Cosmos this week, as the Cosmos edged the Comets 2-1 in "B" Division play on goals by Mike Trezza and Rich Searles. Marc Manara registered the Comets' point. The Cosmos and Comets met last week as a result of their previous 1-0 victories over the Spurs and the Lancers, respectively.

In the opening round of the Division "A" playoffs, the Toros blanked the Spurs, 1-0 on a George Ricci goal. The Aztecs also set back the Lancers 4-2, behind the scoring of brothers Russell Zamloot (one goal and Philip Zamloot (three goals). Michael Kane and A.J. Serafino tallied scores for the Lancers.

GOOD YEAR

Kearny rivalry continues on Thanksgiving at home

coached by first year man Ralph Borgess, the man who was the defensive coordinator at Belleville for three years.

This years game appears to be a beauty. Kearny has a 4-4 record coming into this game, having lost to Clark, 24-18 last Saturday. Borgess, who was 3-5-1, in his first season last year, has put together a fine team in 1981. Joe Pearn, a four-year player at QB has a good arm and Bill Hannon is a superb running back. Hannon, a senior, broke the 1000 yard mark against Clark and will be quite a test for the Buccaneers steady defense.

For Belleville, this game marks the ends of some fine careers. The 1981 Buc seniors were the 1978 freshman team that went undefeated and untied and since this will be their last game together, you can bet that the emotions will be very high for this contest.

Don't forget, game time is 11 a.m. and both squads will have a lot riding on this game. Belleville would love very much to finish the season with a 7-2 mark while Kearny would also love a shot at breaking the .500 mark, something they haven't done in seven years.

All the color and festivities of the Thanksgiving Day game should make this contest one to remember for a long time.

Offense Crew — John Borello (18) and Jeff Welsh (43) walk off the field after the Carteret game last week. These two will have a big hand in the upcoming Thanksgiving match against Kearny this Thursday.

WHY BUY A CONDOMINIUM?

IT'S THE SMART THING TO DO

From an economy and investment standpoint it makes sense. In most cases after tax and interest

Dedicated park wall to be broken again

planners to superior court last May, he argued that the ordinance "did not dedicate the wall, but other properties on Hill Street." In addition, Zampino said the measure provided for such alterations in the wall with the permission of the township commission.

The municipal law in question, No. 1879, provides for dedication of certain Hill Street properties, and in Section III says that the wall in question, "shall be maintained in its present state and shall not be altered, removed, or reduced in any way except for normal repairs without the specific written authorization of the Director of Parks and Public Property."

Belleville's Director of Parks and Public Property, Mayor Michael Marotti, and the commissioners granted Tatz permission to alter the section of the wall bordering on his property in a resolution passed June 10, 1980.

In approving the resolution, the commission noted that two neighboring properties had already altered the wall and Tatz' proposal was not unduly destructive.

Last May, Zampino and the Planning Board attorney Thomas DiBiasi met with Superior Court Judge John A. Marzulli for a hearing. In a May 22 decision, Marzulli remanded the matter the Planning Board for a second vote noting that, "The plaintiff (Tatz)...has complied with all of the requirements for a subdivision."

In a heated session last August, objecting board members clung to the dedicated property angle in arguing against the subdivision.

Planner Ralph Risoli, who had denied the application a year ago, bitterly criticized the commissioners for allowing "tampering with dedicated property."

At that time, board member Christie Albanese said, "If the mayor allowed others to break through the wall how can we stop it now? That's discriminatory."

The August hearing ended in an adjournment which resumed last Thursday.

In an additional September 28 directive, Judge Marzulli ordered the board to vote again on the case, taking votes of only those members who participated in the original decision.

Marzulli also permitted the board to set conditions on the application which he viewed solely as a case of subdivision, not dedicated property.

With the absence of member Frank Simeone, who had originally favored the subdivision, and the repeated abstention of Al Schmitt, the five remaining planners approved the application 3-2.

Favoring the proposal were Chairman Joseph Grande, Henry Kellenbence, and Ralph Risoli. Opposed were Vice-Chairman Joseph Doyle and Albanese who said, "I'd change my vote only if the mayor allowed the whole wall to come down so everyone who has a lot on the street can use it."

Only Risoli reversed his original vote drawing wrath from several Hill Street residents who attended the meeting.

"I reversed my vote because the commissioners gave the man permission to break through the wall," Risoli said, "and after conferring with our board attorney, who said the gentlemen had every legal right to break through the wall, I decided to change my vote."

Speaking for the residents, Roger Marchegiano of Hill Street noted, "Previously, this board had discussed imposing conditions on the applicant, but no mention was made of that tonight. I prevail upon the board to ask that those conditions be adhered to."

Marchegiano referred to an agreement between the applicant and the board made during the August session that any break in the wall and gates or fences erected would be in keeping with the aesthetics of the area.

Afterwards, Zampino said, "I'm sending a letter to the board detailing our intention to abide by those conditions. I think the board decided correctly," the attorney added.

Grande explained after the meeting that "the conditions will be maintained. We had decided that previously and did not need to raise them again at this meeting."

Grande also agreed that the board had decided correctly. "It is not within the jurisdiction of the Planning Board to make decisions about dedicated properties. We were presented with a subdivision only. Dissatisfied citizens should take their complaints to the commissioners who have the authority over those properties."

Hospital's oldest volunteer has secret to long, happy life

"Daisy" Margaret Macmillan of Belleville believes that she may have the secret to longevity. And it's not in medicine bottles, health food or even in fitness programs. The secret, she says, is in keeping active.

Miss Macmillan should know. Next month the oldest Clara Maass Memorial Hospital volunteer will be celebrating her 85th birthday. That is, if she has time to schedule it between her numerous activities.

"You have to keep going, involve yourself in civic and other activities," Miss Macmillan, the spry, white-haired woman said. "Once you stop moving, that's it."

Miss Macmillan has been "moving" at Clara Maass for the past 10 years, when she began her volunteer career working in the pediatrics unit. From feeding babies and taking care of children she moved to helping out in the recovery room. When arthritis set in and prevented her from doing too much walking she settled into the chaplain's office, a "job" she has held for the past seven years.

"On Tuesdays and occasional Thursdays I spend time working in the office, or visiting and cheering up patients. It's good for the patients and it's good for me," she smiled.

On the days that she is not volunteering at the hospital, Miss Macmillan is out at a women's club meeting, the Ladies Aid Society of the Dutch Reformed Church meeting, shopping, visiting, or travelling. (She has travelled most of Europe).

Edith Munzing, 82, of Nutley, has been volunteering her time at Clara Maass for the past 23 years. Nicknamed "Sexy Sadie" by employees, (for her instant rapport with male patients), she says that "there isn't one day" that she can complain about.

Mrs. Munzing works as a patient escort in physical therapy, and claims that she "couldn't ask for a nicer group." Mrs. Munzing's open personality, sense of humor and youthful outlook on life endears her to everyone with whom she comes in contact, and a hospital vice-president has said that she "gets along with everybody."

The former Hoffman-La Roche employee spends one day a week in this busy department and one in recreation therapy. There, she teaches patients how to crochet and work with different arts and crafts. At Christmas time she may be the hospital Santa Claus, and at Halloween she becomes a goblin or scarecrow.

Mrs. Munzing loves people, and she can always be spotted helping with some Clara Maass project, such as health screenings or the blood bank. The bars she wears on her volunteer smock indicate the more than 14,000 hours she has served.

"My attitude is this — why stay home and sit around when I can be here at Clara Maass helping someone?" the great-grandmother of two said.

Age has never been a hindrance to Mrs. Munzing. Though not a "club joiner" she does bowl every Thursday morning and has travelled quite a bit.

"I don't like to be called a senior citizen," she emphasized, shaking her head. "I like to be known as Mrs. Munzing and that's it."

Mary Burde of Belleville, also 82, says that "volunteering keeps me healthy and with nice people." She says that the friendly atmosphere of the hospital has made the effort well worth it.

This cheery octogenarian is one of the earliest volunteers to arrive on Wednesdays and Thursdays, slipping through the hospital doors at 5:30 a.m. She can be found working at the information desk, helping in admitting or escorting patients in physical therapy.

"Coming here is not only helpful for other people, it's good therapy for myself," she said.

with fine all out play. Talmadge, the quickest player on the squad this year, played right fullback and although he didn't score alot of points, was very effective in setting up some big scores. Dunn, a three year starter, was a fine defensive player who was one of D'Aquino's favorites. "Frankie was the type of kid who, gave you every thing he could, you can't ask for much more than that."

In the nets, Brian Cook did a great job, tallying 127 saves and a fine 2.29 goals against average. Only a sophomore. Cook will be one of the best goalkeepers in the county in the upcoming future.

Some other key players to the 1982 squad will be Mike Vega, Rick Di Prizio, Luke Saletti, Bill Hulley and Carlos Kingaluhua.

Without a doubt, D'Aquino has the nucleus of a fine ball club in the future. While needed work will be in the cards, the end result could be the start of something very special in the annals of Belleville soccer.

CORNER KICKS: Belleville was outshot, 267-323 this year. The Bucs were blanked four times while returning the favor twice. Belleville's biggest offensive game was against West Orange and a 4-2 win. A special thanks goes to Mark Foley, without his help and fine work with the statistics, it would have been impossible to cover the team on a weekly basis. He did a fine job.

don't think this contractor can wait until spring, so it will have to be within the next few weeks." She noted that Public Service Gas & Electric Co. had already begun to do the work necessary prior to such reconstruction.

In related matters, commissioners acknowledged a delay in the resurfacing of badly cracked Mill Street.

The commissioners agreed on October 27 to engage L.Vitillo Inc. of Nutley, low bidder at $33,573.10, for the repairs, but discovered later that township engineer Neil Siciliano had neglected to notify utility companies of the impending repair.

Thus, the resurfacing has been delayed by a PSE&G project. The utility company agreed to install a new gas main for Universal Red Star Yeast Factory on Mill Street, which required ripping open the road.

Siciliano appeared before the board at last week's conference session to assume responsibility for the neglect that caused the delay.

"I want this done before the snows come," Senatore said.

Siciliano replied that PSE&G indicated that its job would be completed in five days. "We can do our job before the end of the year," he said, adding, "the contractor has 60 days to complete it and the money is guaranteed by the state until spring."

The project is fully funded by a New Jersey Department of Transportation Bond Issue Grant.

Senatore said afterwards that if worse comes to worst, Vitillo would fill all the potholes immediately and wait until spring for complete resurfacing.

has an excuse for not writing early.

By very special arrangements made between Mr. Claus and the Belleville Recreation Department, all letter writers are guaranteed an answer. No stamp is necessary and this special mail box is for Belleville residents only.

If children are too young to write, they are urged to draw a picture and Santa will get the message. Be sure to have someone print the child's name and address so that Sant can answer the letters.

Mrs. Santa will also be holding a breakfast at Christ Episcopal Church, 393 Washington Ave., on Saturday morning, Dec. 5 at 9 a.m.

A breakfast of doughnuts, hot chocolate or coffee will cost only $1. For each child that attends there will also be a free mug, a gift from Mrs. Santa and a free chance to win one of three toy-filled stockings. After the breakfast, the children will parade with Mrs. Santa to help officially open the "Festival in Santa Square" where holiday treasures await.

Advance reservations for the breakfast are necessary and can be made by sending your name and $1 per person to Christ Episcopal Church by November 28.

Funding for the tri-town Community Mental Health Service was assured when elected officials of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley agreed to finance the center for 1977. The resolution for the continued support by the municipalities included a stipulation that a task force, appointed by each town, evaluated the programs of CMHS and report within 60 days on the center's effectiveness and future direction. The Belleville Board of Commissioners voted to end the town's financial support, but Mayor Michael Marotti stated that the commissioners would unanimously support funding for CMHS. School Board member James Risoli called Francis McCoy, Town Treasurer and Custodian of School funds "negligent" and asked that he be fired. The charge came after a review of an auditor's report, which indicated a full audit was impossible due to the lack of information on the payroll account. McCoy would supply that information. The report submitted to the board by the auditing firm did not name McCoy specifically but indicated the report was incomplete due to delays by "internal personnel."

Schools Superintendent Anthony Greco expressed "extreme disappointment" at news of the impending freeze of additional state aid to local school districts. Under the freeze, to be imposed by Trenton, Belleville would receive absolutely no increase in state aid allotments for education the following year. Whatever increases were to show up on the school budget to be presented to voters in February, would have to be paid by local taxpayers. Belleville was anticipating an additional $30,000 from the state for the 1972-73

The State Board of Education warned Belleville that, unless something was done to improve the high school building, students would receive nothing more than a second-rate education. In a report about the school system, the state repeated its earlier warning that approval was being granted only on a temporary basis until June 30, 1962, in the expectation that plans would be made during this time to remove substandard conditions. The report, which was issued by the state director of secondary education, condemned the overcrowded facilities which were said to hamper a good education. The state provides financial aid to schools in New Jersey if they meet minimum requirements. According to school board architect Alfonso Alvarez, it would have cost almost $3 million to renovate, build an addition and, refurnish the present high school where it would have cost only $30,000 less to build a new high school which was defeated in a referendum in October. The same referendum for a new high school was slated to go to the voters again in December.

Two Belleville lawyers were named as candidates for the position of Magistrate to succeed Everett B. Smith, who submitted his resignation. The commissioners planned a special meeting to name the new Magistrate so that he could begin his duties on Dec. 1, when Judge Smith's resignation became effective. Unofficially, the candidates for the post were Edward J. Abromson and Isadore J. Padula. The position paid $2,500 per year but the prestige of the office was more important to the barrister successful in obtaining the appointment. The possibility that the County Court's decision that the area between Smallwood and Pleasant Avenues, along Belleville Avenue to the Bloomfield line was improperly zoned as residential, meant that another court could have granted manufacturing privileges in the area. Six delegates from the Belwood Park section agreed the best course was to rezone the section, already built up with gas stations and a lumber yard, as "business." The ordinance changing the zone would be brought up to the Board of Commissioners.

destroyed to make the turn onto Academy Street easier."

But getting the house on the National Register is a long and difficult process.

"There are many applications which have to be completed before the house can join the list of historic places in the state," said Papp. "There is a lot of research involved and it is going to take sometime to get the project finalized."

During the Revolutionary War and some time thereafter, the cottage was used as a Parsonage for the Dutch Reformed Church, now called the Belleville Reformed Church.

During a battle between the British troops, who housed on the east bank of the Passaic River just below the bridge, and the Belleville minutemen commanded by Captain John Spear, one of the British officers, Lieutenant George W. Brown, was wounded, captured and taken to the Rose Cottage, where he was confined to a small room at the rear of the first floor. Although the British were stationed just opposite the Dutch Reformed Church, they never succeeded in capturing Belleville, which was defended by its local minutemen.

With much combat action surrounding the house during the Revolutionary War times, a legend of a ghost haunting the cottage developed. Former residents of the one-and-a-half story house have claimed of hearing strange noises from the rooms upstairs, while a milkman claimed to have spotted the ghost one morning while making his rounds. But it was not until recently that the identity of the ghost was discovered by members of the Belleville Historical Society.

History buffs believed that if a ghost does exist in the cottage it belongs to Maj. John Andre, a British spy, who along with Benedict Arnold, plotted to overthrow the Revolutionary Army's military outpost at West Point, New York.

He was hanged for his part in the plot in September 1780. Less than two month before he was staying in the Rose Cottage leaving behind a poem of the area and allowing a local woman artist to sketch his portrait. Andre, who was a gifted musician, dancer and artist was either recovering from an illness or being held prisoner for several months at the cottage in 1780. When he was released, he traveled north to the West Point area and there was caught with plans for his takeover plot. He was convicted of espionage and hanged in his military uniform. Since that time historians believed that he came back to Belleville and still haunts the cottage.

"I stay up recently on All Souls Night," said Papp, "but I heard or saw nothing form the Andre ghost. I was all alone and I was kind of hoping to heard at least some strange noises. But I had no luck at all."

The brownstone structure is noted for its dormer windows in the front, a saddle roof sloping in the rear to within four feet of the ground, its deep window seats, several huge fireplaces, heavy oak floor beams and wide paneled doors with ancient iron fixtures. The house has been cited, as a fine example of Dutch Colonial architecture.

And now it is in the pocesses of being redone exactly as it was originally built. It is truly a landmark in Belleville.
