Township must rebid on garbage contract

By Linda Tesesco

Belleville's new $2,778,992 five-year garbage contract with Browning-Ferris Waste Industries of North Jersey (BFI) was ruled invalid this week by a Newark Superior Court judge, who also directed the township to rebid for scavenger service.

Judge Richard Newman declared as void the contract, effective since Jan. 1, because the original bid submitted failed to include the required affidavit of non-collusion and financial statement, according to Assistant Township Attorney Frank Cozzarelli who received the judge's written opinion this week.

The decision follows the Feb. 8 hearing of a complaint filed against the township and BFI by L. Pucillo & Sons Inc., Belleville's former scavenger and BFI's only competitor in the Dec. 14 contract bidding.

Represented by Mark Lerner of Newark, Pucillo charged there were numerous irregularities in BFI's bid, the township's acceptance of the bid prior to the advertised time of 8 p.m. on the named date, and in the specifications given to potential bidders.

"The key factors in Judge Newman's decision were the missing documents, but he did not find Pucillo's other charges to be material according to my interpretation of his opinion," said Cozzarelli in a Tuesday interview.

The attorney, who represented Belleville in the case, maintained all the charges were immaterial since BFI submitted the necessary papers on Dec. 17 well before the Dec. 28 contract award by Commissioners.

Cozzarelli said the Fairfield firm, (BFI) represented by Arthur Kobin, contended its failure to submit required documents with the rest of the bid was "an oversight."

Although the judge ruled new bids must be received by April 1 and a new contract set by May 1, Cozzarelli said there might be a stay should the municipality decide to appeal the decision.

"The Commissioners and legal department will probably decide by the end of the week if they want to challenge the ruling," he added.

Until then, according to the attorney, BFI will continue to collect the garbage for reimbursement at the same rate on a per diem basis.

He further noted both BFI and Pucillo may bid again if bidding is reopened.

Efforts to reach BFI's president, Thomas Lov, for comment Tuesday were unsuccessful. Also unavailable

Commissioners to join fight over Passaic Valley increase

Slapped with a 68 percent rate increase this year from Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission (PVSC), Belleville last week joined eight other municipalities irated over similar increases, in seeking legal action against the Newark agency.

Mayor Michael Marotti and Township Treasurer Isadore Padula met last Tuesday with Orange's mayor Joel L. Shain — the movement's organizer — and representatives of Bloomfield, Kearny and other municipal customers of PVSC who all pooled $10,000 to hire Newark law firm Rosen, Gelman, and Weiss as counsel in their action.

With a 1982 sewer bill of $659,065 and this year's charges estimated by the agency as $1,103,440 — Belleville bears the highest increase of all the affected communities.

The township's share of the initial legal costs may be $800 to $1,000 according to Mayor Marotti. "We want some answers. We want to know how they came up with these figures," he said in an interview this week.

Earlier this month, Commissioner Joseph McGreevy, a PVSC employee whose Belleville Finance Department has jurisdiction over sewerage use, told reporters the major increases are reflected in industrial users, while home sewerage

McGreevy pays town bill; Mayor Marotti is upset

Despite an agreement among his colleagues to delay the action, Finance Commissioner Joseph McGreevy directed the township treasurer last week to pay the first installment, some $250,000, of Belleville's disputed 1983 bill from Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission (PVSC).

McGreevy, an employee of the Newark agency, defended his action to an angry Mayor Michael Marotti — who had opposed paying the installment, at Tuesday's Commission meeting.

"The board passed this in a 2-2 vote," McGreevy said, referring to the Feb. 7 session when he and Commissioner Matthew Pica favored

Seniors receive proper care in private and state nursing homes

By Steve Blank

As the sun rises throughout America, more than a million and a half people awaken in nursing homes — private and public. The majority are very old, very feeble and unable to care for themselves. For most, it will be the final place they can call home.

According to the American Health Care Association in Washington, D.C., a watchdog organization on senior citizens' health care needs, there are over 18,000 nursing homes maintained in the United States at a cost of over $12 billion a year.

More than 65 percent of these facilities are proprietary owned, while the remaining 35 percent are run by county and state governments or charitable organizations.

Private care

The Parkview Nursing Home in Bloomfield, one of the few privately owned nursing homes in the Belleville-Nutley vicinity, houses 30 residents with an average age hovering around 72 years. It is a large house located on a cul-de-sac in a neatly groomed and affluent neighborhood in Bloomfield.

Cathy Rittel, administrator of Parkview, said the institution has many senior citizens in their upper 90s and one woman who is 100-years-old. Rittel noted that the longevity of today's elderly is mainly due to advanced medication, nutritious diets and public awareness of health needs.

Invariably, with all the modern techniques available for sustained medical care, persistent problems still exist.

"We are a custodial care operation. Which means we feed them, dress them, bathe them and assist them when they walk," explained Rittel, who is also a registered nurse. "Senility and impaired vision are other problems which affect them."

Rittel pointed out the physical and mental afflictions of senior citizens place unwanted burdens on some families which necessitate keeping a loved one in a nursing home. Many of these older persons have no families or relatives to help them live comfortably in their twilight years, and have no alternative but to move in to a nursing home.

"I have nobody. No where else to go. This is the only place I have," sighed Bill Ballou, who a nurse said is around 80 years of age.

For the majority, the adjustment of being ushered out of a home or apartment and into a health care facility appears to work out well. The recreation activities range from arts and crafts, to a trip to the circus, to having picnics on the roomy grounds of Parkview.

"Some of the residents lived with grandchildren with stereos blasting and Pac-Man games blaring," said Rittel who has been the administrator at the Bloomfield facility for eight years. "Here they can enjoy a serene, quiet atmosphere with their peers."

Visits

Even though the senior citizen no longer lives with his or her family, it doesn't restrict them to being separated forever. Parkview has visiting hours from eight in the morning to eight in the evening seven days a week and families are urged and encouraged to come.

"It is very difficult for anyone in a family to say they can't come and visit with the hours we have," declared Rittel. "We want to keep a line of communication constantly open."

Health care on any level is exorbitant, and private nursing homes are no exception. Rittel gave no figures on the cost at Parkview for patients, but admitted they are "prohibitive." Parkview accepts medicaid and public funds, which most elderly are entitled to, to defray the costs of operating expenses.

"We have to take in account a person's financial profile and monies available from government resources, and families themselves when we admit a resident," Rittel noted.

Despite these expensive costs, the administrator revealed there is a waiting list which is commonplace for the majority of private and public nursing care facilities throughout the nation.

On the other side of the spectrum in caring for the elderly is the public institution.

County facility

The Essex County Geriatrics Center in Belleville is a massive, ominous looking building which was once an isolation hospital. Today, it is an Essex County operated nursing home which accommodates 332 residents.

The exterior may be antiquated and a bit deteriorated, not unlike some of the people that live under its roof, however, refurbished conditions inside the halls and rooms of this large structure help the patients live a little more congenially.

Richard Gallimore, assistant administrator at the center since October of 1982 wholeheartedly agrees with Rittel that "today's technology and medicine gives people a chance to live much longer."

As in Parkview, many of the residents are limited in their bodily functions and practicing self-hygiene. The staff at the geriatrics center looms around 150 which includes registered nurses, practical nurses and aides who supply round the clock care. There are approximately 130 other personnel who are responsible for dietary needs, laundry work, housekeeping duties essential to the center to function.

In operating a nursing institution, which has to labor under budgetary restraints, cutbacks are an unpleasant and constant way of life. Gallimore shrugged and said, "We do the best we can but the

Block Tax Tip

Divorce and Taxes

Special IRS rules determine which one of the divorced parents may claim the dependency exemptions for their children.

The parent who does not have custody of the children can still claim them as dependents if he or she contributes at least $1,200 per child for support during the year and the custodial parent cannot clearly establish that his or her contribution for support was greater than the contribution of the noncustodial parent.

A noncustodial divorced parent can claim the children as dependents if he or she contributes at least $600 per child in support and the divorce decree or other written statement gives him or her the dependency exemption, even if the custodial parent provided over half of the child's support.

To apply either of these rules, the divorced parents together must provide over half the total support of the children. The children must be in the custody of one or both of the parents for more than one-half of the year.

If you are a divorced parent with custody of your children and you remarry, any support your new mate contributes to your children is considered by you, according to H & R Block.

Block also points out that if you are a divorced parent who was entitled under IRS rulings to claim a dependency exemption in prior years but did not do so, you may file amended returns and take the exemption in open years.

Fountain Condos are selling quickly

More than 90 percent of the condominiums at The Fountain in Belleville have been sold with a complete sell-out expected by the time construction is completed in March, reports William W. Govel, president of Govel Realtors.

"We've had record-breaking success at The Fountain," says Govel. "Purchasers have been so excited about the moderate price and great location, that many have purchased units on the basis of blueprints."

Govel says that 35 of the 38 units in the condominium community have been purchased with the remaining three expected to be sold in the "near future." Construction of The Fountain, he says, is nearing completion, with full occupancy expected by April 1.

"The Fountain offers the middle-class family a convenient location to work, school and cultural events, space in which to live, and a sturdy, and very attractive, residence — all at an affordable price," said Govel.

Starting at $59,900, the condominiums offer a wide range of features that Govel says have contributed to the early success. Each condominium features new wall-to-wall carpeting, a complete energy package, individual laundry rooms, sound-proofing floors, generous closet space and a work-saver kitchen with Hot Point Frost-Free Refrigerator-Freezer, Hot Point Self-Cleaning Oven and Range and a Hot Point Dishwasher.

The new condominium community is being built on the site of the former landmark restaurant of the same name. Govel is one of four principals of The Fountain Development Group, which also consists of Vincent Pannullo, who with his brother, owned The Fountain Restaurant for almost two decades, James G. Yacenda, a leading real estate developer, and Ralph Riefolo, whose construction company is building the condominiums.

"There is a great need for affordable housing in Northern New Jersey, particularly in the Essex County area," says Govel. "We feel The Fountain meets that need by offering a lovely residential community at a moderate price."

Developers of The Fountain have also taken great care in the landscaping and exterior aspects of the three buildings comprising The Fountain. Lush foliage and subdued lighting enhances the architectural design of the community.

The maintenance-free atmosphere and favorable tax benefits are additional reasons for the high interest at The Fountain, says Govel. He notes that both homebuyers and investors have purchased units at the new luxury condominium.

Located near major highways and public transportation, The Fountain is just minutes from Manhattan, the Meadowlands arenas and other major points along the Eastern seaboard.

Hospice holding counseling series

The Hospice Inc., announced the continuation of its Bereavement Series, which meets on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month from 7 to 9 p.m. at The Hospice Inc., offices, 331 Claremont Ave., Montclair.

The leaders of the series will be Patricia Lane, MSW, social worker; Joseph E. Inda, M.Div., pastoral care coordinator, and Eda Adams, RN, volunteer leader for Hospice. This group is open to all persons who have suffered the loss of someone within the last 12 months.

A special orientation meeting is held on the second Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. to introduce the concept of bereavement groups.

"Grief is an exhausting burden to carry alone," Lane said. "All are welcome to receive support through this group experience with others who have suffered similar losses."

Hospice has also announced the availability of trained speakers for the education of the general public in the concepts and ideology of hospice care.

Hospice provides home care for terminally ill patients and their families as an alternative to the hospital setting. Services provided include nursing, pastoral care and bereavement counseling for patients and their families in a wide area of Essex County.

For further information on obtaining a speaker, or on Hospice services, please contact Mrs. Honi Weiss, director of volunteers, The Hospice, Inc., 789-7879.

PAY LESS TO UNCLE SAM

Salt away more income for yourself and grow RICH with First DeWitt's IRA!

An interest-bearing pension plan and tax-shelter. Almost everyone is eligible

Take advantage of the best investment opportunity in years. It's First DeWitt's HIGH-INTEREST, tax deferred Individual Retirement Account (IRA). The money you invest in it and the interest that accumulates is TAX-SHELTERED till you retire. Whatever you deposit annually is deductible from your gross income. So you'll pay less taxes each and every year you contribute!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

- Almost everyone is eligible even if you are covered by a profit-sharing or pension plan, a Keogh plan, or any other retirement plan. You are probably eligible right now.
- Each working person is allowed to invest up to $2,000 in earnings yearly which means that a working couple can invest up to $4,000. A couple filing jointly, one of whom works, can invest up to $2,250.

YOU CUT TAXES AND SAVE:

- Your taxable income will be reduced by the amount you invest... up to $4,000 for a working couple.
- Your investment remains tax deferred until you retire, at which time you'll be presumably in a much lower tax bracket.

- The interest on your IRA is also tax-deferred until withdrawn whether you continue to contribute or not.
- You can begin to withdraw from your IRA, in any increments you wish, between the ages of 59½ and 70½.

FUNDS INCREASE FAST!

Anyone can profit from First DeWitt's IRA. For instance, if you're 35 and invest $2,000 every year, at current interest rates, you could become very wealthy at age 65.

TOTAL SAFETY!

Your IRA investment is completely insured by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation. For further details stop by any First DeWitt office.

Security guard held as K-Mart is robbed

Before sunrise Friday Belleville police and several Nutley cops joined forces to resolve what appeared to be a hostage situation at a Joralemon Street store.

A pair of ski-masked men entered the K-Mart store, tied up the security guard and hauled off thousands of dollars in goods before tripping an alarm at 3:30 a.m. The suspects, who are believed to be white males, were gone moments before police responded to the audible alarm.

Belleville police entered the store when they arrived on the scene. Hearing the guard cry out for help, the squad assumed that he was being held against his will, possibly as a hostage. One policeman thought he spotted two people on top of the building, so every precaution was taken for the guard's safety.

Police Captain Ray Kimball said the guard was uninjured after being tied up and handcuffed to a pole for nearly three hours.

While the guard was restrained, the thieves took at least $1,000 in goods and a station wagon being repaired in the store's automotive center. The men apparently fled the scene in that car and tripped the alarm on their way out.

Belleville police said Friday they had the name of one possible suspect, but could not issue a warrant for his arrest until more facts were gathered. Additional information was not available at press time. Detectives had the day off for Washington's birthday.

Reformed Church plans Christian women series

The new five-part film series, "The Christian Family: A Woman's Perspective," will be presented by the Belleville Reformed Church, starting Wednesday, Feb. 23 after a covered dish supper beginning at 6:30 p.m. One film will be shown each Wednesday night.

The series features four well-known Christian women: Evelyn Christenson, Elizabeth Elliot, Ann Kiemel, and Dale Evans Rogers, who share mature insights on the family in casual, small group settings.

Each 30-minute film focuses on issues that are pressing today's Christian families: the place of prayer in the home, men's and women's roles, the family's influence on personal development, a woman's place in God's plan, and overcoming grief in the family.

As they interact with a small audience of other Christian women, the four leaders share their personal experiences and give practical advice from the scriptures. The four women have a strong reputation for effectively communicating to both men and women.

The remaining schedule of films will be as follows: Wednesday, March 2, 9, 16 and 23 at 7:30 p.m. Discussion and coffee time following each film. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Fingerprinting Kids

The Belleville Board of Education and police department are working together to make the community a safer place for children.

The two organizations have joined forces to bring a fingerprinting program to elementary students and their younger brothers and sisters throughout the school district. Police officials throughout the country have said that fingerprints are a good way of identifying a person, even better than a photograph.

The fingerprinting of elementary school students has been a spreading practice since the Union County Sheriff Department started a similar program last month. Since that time more than 100 communities across the state have started such programs.

In the society in which we live today, we must take every precaution available to safeguard our children. The Belleville Board of Education has throughout the years made certain that this is carried out and it should be applauded for its actions.

Most communities and people wait until a tragedy strikes before taking measures to ensure the safety of others. Thank God our School Board is one of action and not talk.

Snow Removal

The blizzard of 1983 is more than a memory — it is an experience that few of us will ever forget.

Fortunately, in our township the Public Works Department did its usual magnificent job and cleared away the snow in more than an adequate manner.

Disabled cars, and those parked over night caused a problem for the Public Works Department. So — if there were some streets that appeared not to be plowed adequately, blame it on the motorists who abandoned their cars on the street, thus contributing to the traffic problem.

In Belleville, it was Commissioner Mary Senatore who directed her force from a sick bed. This lady, convalescing from a long illness, was motivated to oversee her work force, even though she was recently discharged from the hospital and now recuperating at home. We admire her for her dedication to the service of her town and people. Again, we extend the thanks of a grateful community to the Public Works staff for a job well done.

Golden should stop his griping on SS

To the Editor:

Upon returning to New Jersey from a month of travel, I picked up the Feb. 10 edition of The Belleville Times, and turned to "Golden Comments" to see if he was still at his favorite pastime, vilifying President Reagan and his Administration. It seems I haven't missed a thing in my absence. He also still dispenses his home brew variety of solutions on how to keep Social Security afloat, the most preposterous of which is to subsidize it with Federal Revenue, which would make it a Welfare Program — plain and simple.

But what would Jim Golden care, so long as he, and those of similar mentality can continue to beg for more and more. He and his kind tell us, that they are "entitled" and deserving. They tell us that they earned the current Social Security benefits they are receiving. That they paid for it. Nothing could be further from the truth. It is a fact, that a worker, who retired last year at age 65, and started working at about age 18, in 1935, when Social Security was enacted, and paid MAXIMUM taxes every year, will recover ALL the taxes he paid in one and a half years. This includes the assumption that these taxes were accumulated with compounded interest rates prevailing over the ensuing years. If he happens to be collecting for a spouse, also age 65, he recovers all in about 11 months!! After all, in 1935, the maximum Social Security tax was $30 for the whole year, and interest rates were at 2 percent; and that did not change till 1950. But it sure has changed since then, especially in the 70's. Today, my neighbor gets himself to work in the morning, and must earn $4,342 ($3,256 if he is self-employed), to help pay for my Social Security benefits, because I recovered what I paid in long, long ago, and I have paid Social Security taxes since 1947. By the same token, Jim Golden's neighbors, I am sure, are just as delighted to do the same for him. Next, they are socked with paying Federal and N.J. State income taxes, plus a sales tax of 6 percent on items they buy, if they have anything left after putting food on the table for their families. The only light in the tunnel for them is that President Reagan and his Administration are keeping their commitment to cut Federal Taxes by 30 percent. They have also brought inflation down to 4 percent from 12 percent when they took over from the brink of disaster. The prime lending rate was a ridiculous 20 percent, now down to 8 percent, reviving our industries, which is evident with the dropping rate of unemployment. Where it cost 20 percent to finance a car, or 18 percent for a mortgage, these rates are once again back near normal, getting people back in the showrooms and planning for a new home. All this in a short two years.

In his tirade published in the Feb. 17 edition of The Times, Jim Golden finds fault with those on Medicaid getting their medical care free, compliments of the Federal Government, and bemoans the fact, that he now must pay a premium of $13.50 a month for his Medicare coverage, to help pay for the escalating cost of hospitalization, to prevent that part of Social Security to go in the red. Those on Medicaid are on welfare, Jim, they don't have an income to pay even the piddling $13.50 for hospitalization coverage. And for those Senior Citizens on somewhat limited incomes, there are all kinds of assistance programs, like for fuel, prescription drugs, etc. etc., to help them make ends meet.

Why don't you write that "no good Reagan" to stop taking care of the poor, Jim, so that he can give you more. Also, ask him to listen to you and scrap our defenses, and make you a wealthy man.

In the meantime, I and millions of my fellow senior citizens, will continue to be thankful, and appreciate the diligent efforts of our fellow working Americans, seeing to it that our check is deposited in the Bank the first of every month. Thankful also, for the consideration extended us by up to 20 percent discounts at hotels and motels while traveling, discounts on meals, car rentals, shows and movies, discounts, discounts, discounts. Also a very special thank you to the members of President Reagan's Special Commission on Social Security Reform, for its most reasonable recommendations to bring Social Security under control, without increase of Social Security taxes, which are much too high, really, as it is. Ask your neighbors, Jim, and please stop your griping. I am sick of it. I and the rest of the Silent Majority. Frankly, I am flabbergasted that The Times continues to print your lies and distortions of the facts. The paper would be vastly improved with the elimination of your column.

The Kearny employee has always produced

To the editor:

Historically the Kearny Plant has possessed the outstanding skilled workers so necessary in the manufacture of high quality telephone equipment. Time after time, Kearny has shown Yankee ingenuity for making new jobs work. In many instances where jobs have failed to get off the ground at other locations, it was the Kearny workers who came to the rescue. It is a known fact that Kearny has more than held its own with any other location in the system.

Productivity: Kearny workers have responded with increased productivity to justify recent raises of wages, during our inflationary spiral. Our workers also recognize increasing competition in the manufacturing of telephone equipment and have met each challenge with commensurate diligence.

Productivity continues to rise at the Kearny Plant.

Are the Western Electric big shots moving jobs to right to work states instead of keeping jobs in states that work right?

Our own Local Union continues the fight to convince Legislators, Government Agencies, Western Electric and AT&T officials of the value and wisdom of maintaining our jobs at our Kearny location.

The Kearny worker continues the capability for progress, the ability to changing circumstances without diminishing basic values. Not just the organized employees, but all workers, as well as management and consumers benefit from the vigor and determination of the Kearny Works. And, so does the nation.

While laws and contracts recognize the Company's rights to manage their own business, it is imperative at this time for responsible executives of Western Electric and AT&T to search their conscience regarding the allocation of work for the Kearny Plant.

The executives responsible for planning the production of telephone equipment at Western Electric Plants throughout the country have been unfair in the distribution of work to the Kearny Plant.

Beautiful trees being destroyed

To the editor:

Memories of my childhood days at school in Kearny, Belleville schools old-timers, without a doubt, have the same memories. For those of you who do, I suggest a trip down to Ligham Street here in our lovely Township of Belleville, New Jersey! Why, we might then ask, was it necessary to destroy public property? A citizen shall observe every branch on each and every tree on that street has been cut off to the bare trunks of the trees! What a shame! Also, aren't we made aware that trees supply some needed oxygen? Nuf said! Joyce Kilmer said it best:

"I think that I shall never see
A poem so lovely as a tree

Poems were made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree"

Respectfully,
Sally F. Hood

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Our Congressman Joseph Minish is an unusually competent, understanding and responsive representative of the interests of his constituents in the 11th Congressional District which encompasses both Belleville and Nutley.

We are urgently requesting all senior citizens, either receiving or soon about to qualify to receive Social Security benefits to write Congressman Minish to let him know how you feel about the Jan. 15 report of the President's Commission on Social Security Reform...the report that retired senior citizens didn't like at all.

What they didn't like was the Reagan administration talk about cutting government costs by reducing retirement benefits and raising payments by beneficiaries for hospital care on Medicare.

One major effect of Mr. Reagan's budget proposal would be to increase payments by beneficiaries currently requiring payment of $304 deductible for the first day of hospital care for each illness to a projected $350 deductible for fiscal 1984 which would become effective Oct. 1 of this year. The next 59 days of care are without charge. After that, the beneficiary must pay a percentage of the initial deductible.

As proposed by Mr. Reagan, beneficiaries would pay the initial deductible only for their first two hospitalizations in a year. But for the second through the 15th days of those hospitalizations, patients would pay 8 percent of the deductible, and for days 16 through 60, they would pay 5 percent. After the initial two hospital stays, the 8 percent also would be collected on the first day.

Another devastating change sought in the president's budget is in the monthly premium that about 90 percent of Medicare beneficiaries pay for supplemental or Part B, coverage of physicians' charges. The premium, currently $12.20 a month, is to rise to $13.50 July 1. As proposed by Mr. Reagan, the July 1 increase would be delayed until Jan. 1, 1984, when the premium would rise instead to $14.20, on its way to $31.60 by Jan. 1, 1988. At that time, premium payments would cover 25 percent of Part B costs instead of the current 25 percent.

It all started during the spring of 1981, as the Reagan administration began talking about cutting government costs by reducing retirement benefits. This created a feeling of insecurity that is frightening. Especially, the Social Security Reform Commission's bailout plan which will have a direct effect on the pocketbooks of many retirees in spite of President Reagan's oft-repeated promise not to reduce benefits to those now receiving them.

There is the proposal to tax half of Social Security benefits for single retirees with adjusted gross incomes above $20,000 and for couples above $25,000. That means a couple getting $10,000 in benefits and filing a joint return will be taxed on $5,000 additional, if they go above the threshold level of $25,000. This will push them up into a much higher tax bracket.

Ms. Beth Fallon, writing in the N.Y. Post, comments, "I'm not thrilled about paying higher payroll taxes sooner, and my mother is not thrilled about a six-month delay in her cost-of-living increase but we can both live with it," but, couples ought to take a hard look at the taxing of benefits piece, which says that an individual may have $20,000 in taxable income before being taxed on a portion of Social Security benefits, but a couple may have only $25,000. "I don't like the spread," she said.

When it was pointed out to Sen. Moynihan (D-N.Y.) that Washington is the last place in the world to believe that two can live as cheaply as one, said, "Maybe we ought to fuss about with that some more in the legislation..." The Congress damn sure had better, responds the American Association of Retired Persons with a 14-million membership.

Sen. Moynihan said, "It is a singular thing that benefits are not taxes, it isn't even a law. It's a rule that the Internal Revenue Service made." If the IRS excluded these benefits from taxation, just who is Mr. Reagan to come along with a largely "hand-picked" committee to arbitrarily set threshold limits upon how much Social Security benefits become taxable?

Couples deserve a better deal. If $20,000 is to be allowed as excluded income for a single person, then $30,000 — the 50 percent spread — should be allowed the married. The time to effect this is now, while the legislation is being drafted. Congress should fix it or be sentenced to try to support a second person on a measly $5,000 per year. The lunatics who set poverty limits ($5,498) should be beaten — not joined — by the Congress, says Ms. Fallon. We hardly agree. Don't you?

Dr. and Mrs. Wayne J. Caputo honeymoon in Hawaiian Islands

Phyllis Adele Grillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Grillo of 22 Carrie Court, became the bride Nov. 20 of Dr. Wayne James Caputo, son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Caputo of Bloomfield.

The Rev. Gerard Sudol performed the ceremony in Holy Family Church. A reception followed at Richfield Regency, Verona.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk taffeta with an Alencon lace beaded bodice, batteau neckline, bishop sleeves and scalloped "v" back. A lace beaded cap held her cathedral veil and she carried stephanotis with gardenias, orchids and fern.

Roseanne Niceforo of Linden was maid of honor with Maria De Lauro of Nutley, cousin of the bride, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Jodi Albanese of Cranford, Donna Albanese DeMair of Roselle Park, Donna Cocco of Bloomfield, Adrienne Cugini of Nutley, Vickie Megaro of Bloomfield and Mary Clark of Teaneck. Flower girl was Stacey Caputo, niece of the groom.

The attendants were in burgandy satin gowns, wore burdandy and pink tiger lilies in their hair and carried bouquets of the same.

Gary Caputo of West Orange was his brother's best man. Ushering were Michael Grillo of Nutley, brother of the bride, Vincent DeMaio of Kenilworth, Steven Petrozzino and Michael Casale of Bloomfield, Anthony Vecchione of Washington, D.C., Joseph Karney of Kentucky and Michael Diglio of Bloomfield. Junior ushers were the bride's brothers, Lenny and Mark Grillo and Tommy Petrozzino.

Mrs. Grillo chose a hand knit grey gown with matching accessories. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids tipped in purple. The groom's mother, in a mauve pink chiffon gown, had white lilies with pink tips.

Mrs. Caputo, an alumna of Seton Hall College of Nursing, South Orange, is with Herr Adult Medical Day Center, West Orange.

Dr. Caputo, a graduate of Syracuse University and New York College of Medicine, is at Baptist Medical Center, Brooklyn, N.Y.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii and have made their home in Nutley.

Mrs. Wayne Caputo — nee Phyllis Grillo

Lora Sperrazzo, Vincent Amato plan wedding for next June

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sperrazzo of North Arlington announce the engagement of their daughter, Lora, to Vincent Amato Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Amato of 128 Crest Drive, Belleville.

The troth will be made known Feb. 26 at a party at All in the Family Caterers, North Arlington. The wedding is planned for June 2, 1984.

Miss Sperrazzo, an alumna of Queen of Peace High School, North Arlington, is with Ragen Corp., North Arlington.

Mr. Amato, an alumnus of Seton Hall Prep, attends Daniel Webster College, Nashua, N.H., and is enrolled in the USMC Officers' Candidate Program. Upon graduation next year, he will enter the marines as a lieutenant in the flying corps.

Umberto's Corner

Dear Umberto,

I went to see my girlfriend and found her mixing some powder with liquid coffee in a bowl. She added an egg and mixed it all up. When I asked her what she was making, she replied, "A haircoloring." I thought it was a cake! When I asked her, "Why the egg?" She answered, "To give my hair protein."

I still didn't believe her until I saw her put the stuff on her head. I even helped her. Was she doing the right thing? Does egg give hair protein?

Coffee, Powder and Egg
Dear Coffee et al:

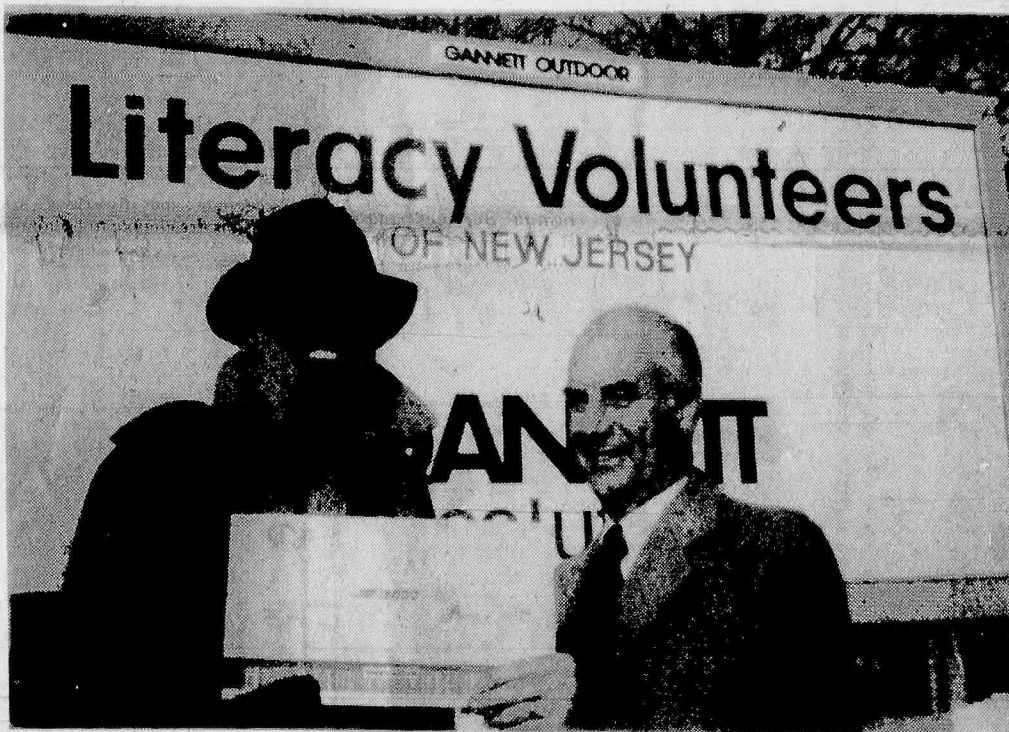

What you describe sounds like a cake mix but I think you should have stayed until she washed her hair because that combination sounds insane.

The powder was henna which should be mixed with lukewarm water. No egg because it is not a dough, Egg is only good in cake.

You should have stuck around because the combination of henna and egg is like cement and she'd need you to wash it out of her hair.

Yours,
Umberto

Belleville's past

Sandford soon sold his stage line to John Williams, keeper of the inn that was quaintly described as "a widely known summer resort, as well as a stopping place of the greatest respectability." This hotel was located at the corner of Main Street and John Street (now Belleville Avenue). It is said to have been a comfortable old stone house, one and a half stories high, with a large frame annex in the rear, where Williams' immediate family lived.

Williams' partner in the stage line business was John Dow, and it was one of Dow's slaves, Jacob Robinson, who, dressed in a postilion's uniform, was the proud wielder of whip and rein over four spirited horses. "Jake" was permitted to work out the price which Dow had paid for him, and was then freed. He did so well for himself that several years later he was able to buy out his former master's interest in the stage line and to become Williams' partner instead. Jake continued to drive his stage, however, until he finally was succeeded by his son, Francis.

Eventually Williams and Jake Robinson sold the line to a "Mr. Tukey" of New York. Tukey conducted the stage until about 1830, when he in turn sold out to T. P. Seaman, owner of the Mansion House at the northwest corner of Rutgers and Main Streets.

Innkeeping and stage coach running must have gone well together. Seaman soon had competition. A second Belleville-New York stage line made its appearance, under the ownership of Thomas Farrand who kept the hotel at Williams and Main Streets.

Competition between these lines waxed pretty lively at times and the owners used various means to attract customers. Seaman hired himself a driver named George Barber, who was not merely a good horseman, but also quite a virtuoso on the French horn. The guests of Seaman's hostelry were awakened in the morning and in time for the departing stage by the sweet notes the driver, perched high on his seat, was able to coax from his brazen bugle.

All of these early stage lines sanguinely promised to deliver their passengers at New York. But the stage run really ended at Paulus Hook. A ferry took the passengers across the Hudson and landed them in the vicinity of Cortlandt Street.

By the time Belleville became an independent township, the heydays of the New York stage coach lines were drawing to a close. In 1833 the New Jersey Railroad Transportation Company had begun to operate between Newark and Jersey City. Horse power still was the means of locomotion for the old-fashioned railroad cars that resembled — an in some cases were — stage coaches put on a different set of wheels. But a year later the first wood-burning locomotives were installed on the line. Bellevillians en route to New York preferred to go to Newark and there make connection with the new railroad. The Belleville-New York stages ceased to run.

Seniors receiving proper nursing care

bottom line is money." The New Jersey Department of Human Services and the federal government's Department of Health Standards oversee and filter down money to the county center which has to work under their guidelines.

But even with the constraints, the center has a spacious recreation room with a color television, stereo and a myriad of reading materials available for the patients to browse through. There are at least five therapists in the rec room whose main concern is to entertain and support the patients in any endeavor they might undertake.

Conducive surroundings "We try to create conducive surroundings for all our residents every day," said Gallimore. "If it helps their physical and mental conditions a little, all the better."

Feeding over 300 people at a sitting is an arduous task, and the county facility appears to have overcome that obstacle with ease. A recently purchased hot plate conveyor belt system pumps out all the meals hotter and faster than past conventional kitchen means.

The vast stainless steel kitchen complex is sparkling clean and well-maintained. After every meal the floors are thoroughly washed, the cooking area scrubbed and the eating utensils steamed in huge dish washing machines.

Visiting hours are identical with that of Parkview's. They start at 8 a.m. and end at 8 p.m., and during that time families steadily stream through the visitors desk and head down the various corridors toting packages of food and gifts.

One unidentified nurse in the east wing said many of the residents do their own ironing and laundry and are proud to show visitors they can still handle some of the chores of everyday life.

Dr. Reginald Wells, director of the Essex County Geriatrics Center, has the unenviable duty of screening and discerning which seniors are eligible to be admitted to the facility on almost a daily basis.

"There are over 175 people presently on our waiting list. Many of these people may have to wait up to a year and a half before they can finally be admitted," revealed Wells.

Whether in a private nursing home or in a public facility, elderly Americans should be afforded the opportunity to live out their waning years in a adequate and well-contented manner.

Grace Baptist hosting speaker

Israel Cohen, a missionary under the American Board of Missions to the Jews will be the guest speaker at the Grace Baptist Church on Feb. 27, at 11 a.m. The church is located at 89 Overlook Ave.

In his early life he attended Hebrew school and his Bar Mitzvah was at 13 years of age. Upon graduation from high school, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy and was stationed in Morocco. After his discharge from the Navy, he took a sales position with an electronic company. He left his sales position after 10 years and graduated from Northeastern Bible College, Essex Fells in 1980.

Cohen, a resident of Belleville, has an active ministry in the Metropolitan New York and New Jersey area. He is presently conducting a Friday night Bible study in the New Jersey area.

The public is invited to this special meeting to hear Israel Cohen give his life story and Bible message.

Rev. Robert Paul, the host pastor, along with members and friends of Grace Baptist extend a special welcome to all.

Field Trip — The students of Mrs. Kleiner's third grade class from School 5 paid a visit to Bell Telephone on Washington Avenue last Friday afternoon.

sewerage water requiring special biochemical treatment.

Commenting on Belleville's tremendous increase in that report, Giallorenzo said the township had a one per cent higher volume of sewage than last year while the township's solid waste disposal rose by 55 per cent and raw sewerage by 156 per cent over last year.

However, Mayor Marotti and officials of the other protesting communities' question the agency's figures and want more solid proof.

In fact, Belleville commissioners pointed out at recent meetings the township has less industry than in the past so usage should also show a reduction.

Religious viewpoint

What Is A Christian?

By Rev. Robert Paul

What is a Christian? We read in the Bible in the book of Acts these words, "And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." (Acts 11:26.)

There are many false ideas about what it means to be a Christian. Some would say that just because a person lives in a Christian country, that makes him a Christian. Somebody else would probably say "One who has been baptized or confirmed." Another might say, "A Christian is a person who pays his debts and does the best he can."

In the first place a Christian is not a person who lives in what we call a Christian country. As a matter of fact, there isn't any Christian country in the world.

You can join a church, and be baptized and confirmed, take communion, and not be a Christian. Yes, it is even possible to stand in the pulpit and preach and not be a Christian. You can go to church every Sunday, and sing in the choir; you can read the Bible through, and say your prayers; yet still not be a Christian.

A Christian is a person in whose life four things have taken place. The first thing necessary to becoming a Christian is the matter of conviction. Christ died for your sins, and you will never have conviction until you realize He died just for YOU. "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23.) What must you do to be lost? Nothing. "All we like sheep have gone astray." (Isaiah 53:6.)

Secondly, is the matter of repentance. Repentance is more than just being sorry for your sins. It is that you are sorry enough to turn away from them. It is a change of mind, and a walk in a different direction. "I tell you nay; but, except you repent, you shall all likewise perish." (Luke 13:3.)

The third thing that is necessary to becoming a Christian is the matter of regeneration. This is not education, nor information, nor limitation, but a new creation. "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Spirit." (Titus 3:5.)

The fourth thing is the matter of the new birth. "Marvel not that I said unto you, you must be born again." (John 3:7.) This is a birth from above. Born of the Holy Spirit of God into the family of God. Born once, die twice, born twice, die once. "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John 3:3.)

WBHS continues its rapid expansion program

Station airing 24-hours a day on Suburban Cable channel 34

On the Air — Announcer Jack McCabe and Lisa Santoli do some programming at Belleville High School in the mass communications class. The station is aired on channel 34 on cable TV.

Editing Tapes — Director Don DiBenetto watches a tape on an editing machine at the WBHS studio at Belleville High School. The station is on the air 24-hours a day on channel 34.

A Happy Family — Marilyn Mango (center) is the leader of this happy group of mass communication students at Belleville High School. The entire group is comprised of seniors, but Mango says next year the class will be available to juniors also. WBHS programs on channel 34 through the Suburban Cable system on a 24-hour a day basis.

By Marianne Lombardi

Since its introduction into the Belleville High School curriculum in 1974, the mass communication class has advanced drastically. Commanding a substantially high level of student interest, the class curriculum has progressed from a textbook theory course to a 24-hour broadcasting system on Suburban Cable channel 34.

Operated solely by BHS students, with the supervision of mass communication teacher Marilyn Mango, WBHS is tooled with all the equipment necessary to broadcast onto local air waves.

"And we have a staff of students whose dedication is unmatched by any other classroom experience," said Mango. "They are always here working on new programs. I rate their level of dedication to WBHS at 200 percent."

Aside from the scheduled classroom time, students devote an impressive amount of hours to the station and its functions.

"I never experienced this type of technology prior to WBHS," said senior John Drumm, who serves as floor manager and admits to putting in 30 hours a week at the station.

Lisa Santoli, who has done camera work for various sporting events broadcasted on WBHS, says she is not sure she wants a career in the broadcasting field, but she added, "I never thought I would be in school as much as I am now."

Many students, like director Don DiBenedetto, said WBHS has helped them make a commitment to further their education in mass communications by attending college or a technical school.

Originally WBHS shared channel 35 with neighboring Bloomfield, however since April 1982 the station has been airing independently on channel 34.

Following a one-hour documentary produced by WBHS called "Belleville Schools in Action," Mango approached the Board of Commissioners and inquired if WBHS could obtain use of public access channel 34. After approval by the Commissioners, the Board of Education was able to meet Mango's request and accommodate WBHS with an annual budget as well.

"Both the Board of Commissioners and the School Board have been very helpful to the operation of WBHS," Mango said. "If not for the dedication of the members of the two boards, we would not be where we are today."

But the funding is not always enough, and students also run fund raisers periodically to assist in the financing of the station.

Mango has been teaching English since 1974 in Belleville, and her initial scheduled contained only one mass communication class. Now it is just the opposite due to the popularity of the mass communication curriculum. Students are at the station daily until 11 p.m. and Mango says she has recognized the various abilities and talents each student possesses.

"We started out with only one camera and we went everywhere with it," said Mango.

Earlier broadcasts featured local parades and community organization activities as well as high school athletic events. The expansion of the station has allowed for increased coverage.

School debates, academic dinners and various board meetings are just some of the additional areas that have been broadcasted by WBHS and its crew.

Presently WBHS does not have a formal, scheduling format, but prime time programming is 7 to 10 nightly. In addition the station has a live D.J. show, which students voluntarily supplied with albums and tapes from their own personal collections.

"Everyone gets a chance to do everything and when they find what interests them the most they are allowed to dwell it," said Mango.

In the future WBHS hopes to collaborate with the Journalism classes and produce newsbroadcasts on a regular basis.

"I would like to create more enthusiasm in the field of mass communications," said Mango, who said her work at WBHS has just begun.

Listed below are the names of students who operate WBHS.

Seems Like Only Yesterday... Local Lay School Committee decides to remain active, after board dismissal

By Ed Capparucci
Thirty Years Ago

The Belleville Lay School Advisory Committee, which was dissolved by action of the Board of Education, voted unanimously to remain an organized autonomous group, to work in the interest of the Belleville school system. The vote by the committee would thus make it an independent body comprised of Belleville citizens without official affiliation with the Board of Education, which originally had professed to sponsor it.

The Board of Education members, who met with the Lay Committee, in a special meeting, intimated that many of the committee members would be offered membership on a new Lay Committee. But a majority of the committee members present stated emphatically they would refuse reappointment to a new lay committee, that could be dissolved each year by order of the Belleville Board of Education.

It was felt by the committee members that they could not serve the best interest of the town and its students if they were subject to purging in the event they displeased the board by their positions on school issues.

Twenty Years Ago

In a brief annual re-organizational meeting — some nine-minutes long — the Belleville Board of Education unanimously elected Nicholas S. Juliano, president and re-elected Ernest S. Arvidson, vice president.

"I intend to stimulate a year as fruitful as my predecessor Richard H. Drake," said Juliano. "Belleville can progress and continue the school expansion program now that I and the entire board have been given an overwhelming vote of confidence by the public."

Belleville Town Council had some 30 applications from which to choose for the post of town manager, said Charles Tedesco, acting town manager, including some as far as west of the Mississippi. The candidates were asked to come to Belleville, at their own expense for interviews. The council was looking to replace ousted former town manager William Sommers.

Belleville firefighters saw red when Police Benevolent Association officials complained of their individual effort to gain a pay increase from the town council.

"All pay increases were to be a joint effort," said fire chief Carl F. Hundertpfund, "and the cops let the firemen down by making their request alone."

But according to Michael Marotti, president of PBA Local 28, said "There is no feud." He said the local's executive council made the decision of appealing for policemen only.

Ten Years Ago

The first local telephone service to dispense information on drugs and drug abuse was established in Belleville by the Department of Public Affairs. The primary purpose of the program, called "Life Line," is to educate persons about the dangers of drugs when they are abused. The program was organized by the Belleville Drug Abuse Educational Center, comprised of concerned teachers, parents and citizens.

One Year Ago

Township Commissioners turned down a request from Clara Maass Memorial Hospital that the township contribute $10,146 in support for the hospital for 1982. Mayor Michael Marotti and the other commissioners all said the township was not in the position to give more support to the hospital, then they have in the past.

Clara Maass made its allocation request on a calculation of $1 for each of the 10,146 township residents served there in 1980.

Belleville High School sophomore Jennifer Apicella scored her 1,000th career point in a game against cross-town rivals Nutley. Apicella scored 39 points against the Raiders, as she made her move to become the first Belleville player to reach the 2,000 mark and take a shot at the state scoring record of 2,745 points.

Microbiologists may now have an explanation as to why a particular tampon brand (now off the market) seemingly gave rise to toxic-shock syndrome (TSS) in some of its users. The scientists say that a vaginal enzyme breaks down the tampon's super-absorbent material. Carboxymethyl-cellulose breaks down into a sugar product that provides ideal growth environment for staphylococcus aureus, the organism that causes TSS. The breakdown of the tampon material causes it to change from a solid to a gel. Since the gel takes up menstrual fluids along with white blood cells, the white blood cells cannot penetrate the gel to combat the TSS organisms.

EDITORIALIZING

No justice evident in our justice system

By Ed Capparucci

I was reading The Star-Ledger last Saturday when I came across an article about a 22-year-old Roselle Park man who admitted sexually assaulting a 19-year-old mother, then committing arson two days later. The judge in the case, John J. Callahan, handed down a sentence which consisted of a noncustodial term and entrance into an alcoholism treatment program. The defendant admitted committing both crimes and could have been handed a sentence up to 15 years in prison.

In the same issue of The Ledger was a story about a 64-year-old Paterson woman, who was found guilty of stealing $24,249 while working as a bookkeeper for a firm in Union Township. The judge in that case, Cuddi E. Davidson, imposed a prison sentence of four years on the woman. I should also add that the woman had been in trouble with the court once before for embezzling money and that she had also recently underwent triple bypass heart surgery recently.

So there you have it. Two stories dealing with our outrageous court system. Two totally different crimes, two totally different defendants, two totally different judges and two totally different sentences.

I, along with thousands of other people in this country find it hard to believe that a man who admits to sexually attacking a woman could get off without serving time in jail for his crime, while an old lady, who evidently needs both mental and physical help, is scheduled to go to prison. And law enforcement officials want to know why they cannot control crime. The reason is there is no deterrent or punishment for those who commit crimes.

A white-collar worker, who embezzles funds from his multi-million dollar company or commits bigamy, stands a better chance of receiving a jail sentence, than someone who holds up a grocery store, rapes a woman or kills someone. Where has our system gone wrong? Why do our courts have little or no common sense. Perhaps we should start electing judges to the courts. Let the people see what the court leaders have done, and make appointments based on records and not on political favors or friendship.

There are many judges throughout the country who have utilized their excellent mechanics in making a decision which would have a serious impact on society. There are many horror stories dealing of criminals who receive light sentences or early parol, and went ut and committed another crime. A crime which would have been avoided if someone had used sensible judgement. Last week I heard a news report about a man convicted of killing his first wife, and then released from prison after a short stay. The report went on to say the man was once again in police custody. This time for killing his second wife.

For a long time, people have been screaming about the lack of police protection. But what sense is it for a police officer to lay his or her life on the line to apprehend a criminal if some soul-searching judge is willing to let a confess criminal off with a light or sometimes no prison sentence? Where the hell is the justice in our justice system today anyway?

Bravo, Bravo. The reviews are in the School 3 production of The Wizard of Oz, and according to the Belleville Times, it was a smashing success. I have been to many school plays throughout Belleville, and I have to admit The Wizard of Oz, which was presented by the second graders at School 3, was one of the best yet. Take a bow kids for a job well done.

I had the pleasure of stopping over at the Belleville High School television studio this week and I was very impressed with the equipment and the way the students handle themselves. They are nothing short of professionals and they are doing an outstanding job. Under the guidance of Miss Marilyn Mango, the 45 students are now broadcasting on Channel 34 on a 24-hour basis. Read Marianne Lombardi's report about the station and the kids who operate it in this week's issue of The Times on page 8. And if you get a chance, tune in and watch the programs, you will not be disappointed.

Needs $1.5 million for project

Belleville internist is raising funds to restore Jersey shore auditorium

Born in Newark 70 years ago, he was only eight months old when his parents first brought him to Ocean Grove in the summer of 1913. Looking back on a lifelong involvement with the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, Dr. George Fey Stoll, an internist who practices in Belleville, said, "I love it for what it has done for me and my family, and I love a challenge."

The challenge is to raise $1.5 million for the restoration of the 88-year-old Great Auditorium, the focal point of this 113-year-old Methodist enclave on the Jersey Shore. Its pulpit has been filled by many famous preachers over the years including Gypsy Smith, Billy Sunday, Dr. Billy Graham, Dr. Robert Schuller, and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale. Its stage has been trod by American presidents from Grant to Nixon. It has been a showcase for such concert luminaries as Enrico Caruso and Marian Anderson and Fritz Kreisler and Jascha Heifetz. It has echoed the martial strains of John Phillip Sousa. Will Rogers, William Jennings Bryan, Helen Keller, Booker T. Washington, Lowell Thomas, and Baroness Von Trapp are among those who have graced its podium.

Chairman of Design for Destiny, as the rehabilitation undertaking has been labeled, Dr. Stoll, who lives in Glen Ridge and maintains an active practice at 5 Franklin Ave., Belleville with three partners, says, "I'm confident we'll be successful."

He does not spend all of his time during his weekly visits here sitting behind a desk. Preparing to change into work clothes in the home owned by the Stoll family since 1917, he explained that he may follow workmen to the roof or other distant parts of the Auditorium seeing a problem with his own eyes and consulting with engineers and contractors to solve it.

Except for a $21,000 federal grant for plans and design work, the three-year-old restoration program relies solely on contributions, and has thus far raised over $500,000. While work is progressing, Dr. Stoll noted that "things are being done on faith and prayer."

Even in today's economic climate, Dr. Stoll says the money still needed is out there. The challenge, he said, is to awaken in others the kind of commitment the Stoll family has felt to repay Ocean Grove in whatever way they can for the recreational and spiritual enjoyment the Association has brought into their lives.

While the money is expected to come largely from outside Ocean Grove, Dr. Stoll said he is exhilarated about the response thus far from within the community.

According to Dr. Stoll, when the Ocean Grove Historical Society donated $4,500 a year ago for repairs to the west tower on the Auditorium, it marked the first time that any organized group in Ocean Grove had made a contribution. Now others are following suit.

Recently, reported Dr. Stoll, the Ocean Grove Businessmen's Association pledged over $22,000 for repairs to the main tower. The amount includes $9,000 raised at a restoration ball last summer. A similar event is expected to be held next summer.

In addition, said Dr. Stoll, the Ocean Grove Homeowners Association is dedicating to the restoration fund the proceeds of approximately $600 it expects to receive every six months from certificates of deposit. The Ocean Grove Women's Club has contributed $1,000; and the Historical Society has come up with $5,000 for work still to be done on the towers. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Auditorium Ushers Association has donated over $15,000. Gordon Turk, who has completed his ninth season as summer organizer/recitalist for the Association, dedicated to the fund the $3,500 profit from the formal concert he gave in August, said Dr. Stoll.

Also since the end of the summer season, the fund has been swelled by an anonymous donation of $52,500, which the donor said is to be used specifically for repairs to the Auditorium roof, while a year ago an anonymous gift of over $41,000 paid for a new sound system.

Other gifts keep coming in from individuals having no ties to Ocean Grove, but as evident respect for the man who is the driving force behind the restoration effort. A patient who recalls when Dr. Stoll stayed the night with the patient's ailing child many years ago, sends in a monthly check for $50.

Taking up needlepoint in recent years, Dr. Stoll has been turning out five by seven-inch reproductions of the main tower and cross which he will give in return for a donation of $50. Engaged in his needlepoint on a beach in the Virgin Islands, Dr. Stoll attracted the interest of a Jewish resident from Deal. After learning the purpose behind the needlepoint, the visitor sent Dr. Stoll a check for $250.

Dr. Stoll's needlepoint has already raised over $1,000. And the offer of taped recordings of last summer's Choir Festival in return for donations of $15 or more has netted $14,000 to date.

Persons of other religious affiliations are also among donors who are not being actively solicited, pointing up, said Dr. Stoll, that the pleasures Ocean Grove is known for cross religious lines.

"What is involved," said Dr. Stoll, "is more than the preservation of an historic building. It is the preservation of a building where multitudes can worship God and hear the teachings of Jesus."

As far back as 1893 when the original Auditorium was only 24 years old but an open-air structure, Dr. Elwood H. Stokes, the first president of the Association, said, "Our present Auditorium has done a work and made a history equaled by few structures of its age in this or any other country."

By Ralph J. DiMaio D.C.

Excessive exertion, an awkward lift or a fall or accident may result in the misalignment of a single vertebra. The rest of the vertebrae and related muscles adapt to this by curving and adjusting to compensate and provide support for the misaligned segment.

Pain may not be felt at first but, as muscles and normal spine segments continue their remedial distortions, tensions are built up. Later, a single twist or awkward move may trigger a severe and painful spinal disability.

Fortunato recommends changes in boxing game

Assemblyman Buddy Fortunato (D-Essex), in testimony before a Congressional subcommittee, recommended that several steps be taken to improve the boxing industry, including a standardized ring size, an upgrading in the quality of medical attention and a proper matching of boxers.

Fortunato's comments were made before a subcommittee headed by Congressman James Florio (D-Camden) which is investigating the safety of the boxing industry. Other persons who testified included Howard Cosell and Floyd Patterson.

Fortunato's testimony was divided into three areas of concern: the health of fighters before they step into the ring; improved safety of fighters during a boxing match; and the better organization of boxing matches and the industry as a whole.

In the first area, Fortunato recommended that a central bank of information on fighters and the outcome of their various matches around the country be established so that the recent health history of a fighter would be available. Failure to feed this information into the bank would carry stiff penalties, Fortunato added.

The Assemblyman also addressed the area of pre-fight physicals, which he noted in many states are inadequate. He believes there should be a uniform upgrading of the requirements for physical examinations before a fighter steps into a ring.

He also believes athletic commissions should inspect the gyms where boxers train and that the requirements for those conditions should also be upgraded.

In the second area, the improved safety of fighters in the ring, Fortunato said the lack of a standardized size of the ring has raised concern nationwide, as has the thickness of the pad.

"In no other sport does there exist such a variety of physical characteristics of the area in which the sport is conducted," he said, noting that in baseball the distance between home plate and the bases are the same, in football the length of the field is the same and in basketball the same standardization of physical environments exist.

The legislator also expressed concern about the quality of medical attention that is available at ring side and proposed that an apprenticeship period be instituted and a rigorous license and examination procedure be set up to improve the quality of cut-men, trainers and so on.

"Another area of concern in this regard is the qualifications of doctors who are in attendance at ring side. At one recent match the physician in attendance was a licensed pediatrician. Although he was a qualified doctor, one could question his ability to identify damage to a boxer that might take place during the course of a match," Fortunato said.

In the last area, Fortunato made several recommendations, among which were: the fighter should be properly matched, the number of rounds should be reduced, the records of managers and fighters should be monitored to determine if some managers are simply putting their fighters into the ring to improve the records of their opponents, in which case corrective action would be necessary.

Sheriff adds protection at Essex Court House

Essex County Sheriff, Thomas D'Alessio will use volunteer deputy sheriffs to increase security at the Essex County Court House when jurors and employees are leaving in the evening.

"There have been a number of mugging incidents involving individuals leaving the court house in the evening, said D'Alessio. To beef up security, I have posted six to eight deputies around the court house each evening. The deputies are uniformed officers with full police academy training who volunteer their time to the county. Their very presence in the vicinity of the court house has already gone a long way in reducing people's apprehension."

Sheriff D'Alessio indicated that the deputies were working in cooperation with the county police in the move to up grade security around the county facility. He noted that the use of the deputy sheriffs in this capacity was the first action in fulfillment of his campaign pledge to use the deputies to supplement county crime prevention efforts.

According to state law, the sheriff can appoint and train up to 85 deputy sheriff officers. Previously these volunteers were used largely for crowd control at public assemblies and ceremonial functions.

What a week brewing for Belleville sports

You can wait months, maybe years for a week like this one to come along. For the Belleville sports program, the week of February 21-25 will go down in the words of the immortal Franklin Delano Roosevelt as a week, "which will live in infamy."

For the Belleville boys' and girls' basketball teams, this week will be very special in many special ways. For the girls, Karen Fuccello's group battles Malcolm X. Shabazz High School in the semi-finals of the Essex County Tournament. The winner of that game advances to the finals of the tourney at Seton Hall University tomorrow evening. The loser will also travel to the Hall for the consolation game. The other semi-final game pitted Irvington against Clifford Scott High, a seemingly even ball game. Both contests were held last night at Belleville High School.

Belleville enters the contest with a 17-4 mark, the loses to powerful Paramus Catholic, Paterson Eastside twice and a tough setback to conference rival Clifton. The girls are 10-3 in the NNJIL, have clinched second place, and are looking for their first county title in the program's history. The team is also looking for its first 20 victory season. The previous high for wins in a season was 17, set last season.

The game will have special significance for one Jennifer Apicella. The junior all everything should break the 2,000 point mark in that contest. She needed 55 points entering this week's action and the girls had a game on Monday against Paterson Kennedy. Chances are, Apicella will need about 20 points, if not less, against Shabazz and a big crowd at BHS should cheer her on to the magic mark. When she achieves it, Apicella will be the 10th player in state history and the second in county history to hit the 2,000 point plateau. Vailsburg's Lynn Kennedy became the first player in county history to hit 2,000 points last week.

The honors that will be bestowed upon Apicella at season's end should be phenomenal. First of all, she is a shoe in for all-area honors, the third straight time that she will be named to the first team there. Next will come first team all-county, the second time she will be named to the first team and the third time she will be named to the all-county squad. In 1981, as a freshman, Apicella was named to the second team.

Then comes state honors. If Jennifer doesn't make the first team all-state squad this spring, then something is drastically wrong with the voting system. Last year, as a sophomore, Apicella averaged 33.8 ppg., the best in the state, scored a phenomenal 779 points and broke the 1,000 point mark. Oddly enough, she was named to the second team all-state, mainly because she was a sophomore. A player should not be penalized because of her age.

Going further down the line, Jenny should receive some all-American honors from different magazines. All this, and she is just a junior. Apicella also has a chance, a slim one, to score 1,000 points for the season. She entered Monday's game with 709 points, and the girls have at least seven games left on the slate. She should break her scoring mark of 779 points in a season and could easily tally 850 points by season's end.

Those marks are simply phenomenal, and to think that Apicella was hampered by an ankle injury in January that limited her play somewhat, can you imagine what the numbers would read if she was healthy?

The girls' chore against Shabazz will be a tough one. The Bulldogs will come in undefeated and ranked fourth in the state. They are the defending county champions, the defending Group 3, Section II champs and state semi-finalists last year. Shabazz has been the top seed in the tourney for three straight years and have a very balanced attack. Belleville scrimmaged the Bulldogs before the regular season began and did rather well. Last year, the two teams met in the quarterfinals of the ECT at Shabazz High with Belleville losing, 59-45. In that contest, captain Barbara Gundry was out of commission with an ankle sprain, and the girls started three freshman and two sophomores. The game was even at half-time and only late in the third quarter did the more experienced Shabazz team finally pull away. This year's contest should be even closer.

Shabazz is coached by Annette Williams and are led by Lisa Long and Shopaine Horton. While the team does not have a high scorer, every starter on that team is capable of 15-20 points a game. It will be a tall order for the Lady Bucs to fill.

Irvington and Clifford Scott figure to be a tough contest in the second game at BHS. Both teams come in with three losses and both teams made the county semis a year ago. The Campers were beaten by Shabazz in the semis last year while the Scotties fell to the Bulldogs in the finals. In 1981, Clifford Scott won the tourney, upsetting Paulette Bigelow and East Orange for the crown.

The Campers have a marvelous freshman player in Tammy Hammond. According to Fuccello, "she's good. She's big, has a nice jump shot and is tough under the boards. The scary part is that she is just a freshman."

Hammond averages over 22 points an outing and will be tough for Clifford Scott to handle. The Scotties come in with loaded pistols under coach Tom King. Countiss Irvin, an all-county and all-Group player leads the way. She can handle the ball with the best of them and scores about 20 points a game. Scott has lost to powerful St. Rose of Belmar and Shabazz this year and all indications are that Scott would love a rematch with the Bulldogs after being dethroned last February.

In order for that to happen, Shabazz must beat Belleville, no easy chore, and Clifford Scott has to stop Hammond and Co. to forge a rematch. The choice here is Belleville and Scott to decide things tomorrow night, but of course, I would lean toward Belleville any way. In any event, it should be fun.

The boys' basketball team will also make news. Phil Colalillo will break the 1,000 point mark this week and when he does, Colalillo will be the first player in boys' history at BHS to crack the mark in his junior year. Colalillo is a hard worker from the word go. The ultimate team player, he is second in the area in scoring and improves game by game. Like Apicella, Colalillo should score the magic 1,000th point at home, most likely when Belleville battled Kennedy on Tuesday.

He too, should see a number of honors come his way. A sure bet for all-area accolades, Colalillo has a shot at first team all-county and might even make the Group IV team. Considering that he did not start for the varsity until his sophomore year, the numbers that Phil Colalillo have put up are amazing.

For Jennifer Apicella and Phil Colalillo, this week should prove to be very special. They are very talented athletes, team players from the word go, and most importantly, class individuals

Face Shabazz in ECT

Girls whip Millburn, 56-38 to advance in Essex tourney

By Mike Lamberti

To say that the Belleville girls' basketball team had an exciting week of action may be an understatement. Following last Friday's game with powerful Paterson Eastside and the big games that are on tap for this week, the girls are going through one of the most exhilarating periods in the program's history.

The girls traveled to Paterson Kennedy on Monday and yesterday hosted Shabazz High School in the semi-finals of the Essex County Tournament. Tomorrow evening, the team will travel to Seton Hall University for the consolation or championship game of the ECT, depending of course on the outcome with Shabazz. On Sunday, the girls will be in Nutley.

Last week, the team swatted Montclair, 70-29, whipped powerful Millburn in the quarterfinals of the ECT, 56-38, then lost a heartbreaking 65-63 decision to Paterson Eastside, clinching the NNJIL title for the Ghosts in the process. On the season, Belleville's record stands at a very impressive 17-4.

There is so much on tap for this week's action. First off, junior Jennifer Apicella enters this week needing only 55 points to break the 2,000 point mark. The state scoring mark is 2,745 and considering that Apicella is just a junior, that record certainly looks to be within Jennifer's reach.

The girls are also in the Essex County tourney semi-finals, only the second time that Karen Fuccello's bunch have advanced that far. In 1979, the girls reached the semi's, but bowed to Barringer. The team then traveled to Seton Hall for the consolation game and lost to East Orange. Yesterday's game with Shabazz was played at the friendly confines of Belleville High School, the site of the ECT semis the last seven years. For more on the exciting tourney, see Buc Shots.

While the girls are on a roll, Fuccello is still concerned with the team's defensive effort. On the season, Belleville is giving up an average of 47 ppg., a mark Fuccello would like to see reduced. "That's not a good average, our defense should be stronger than that. We're scoring points, but we have to be stingier on the defensive end."

Certainly, the team has had little trouble scoring. Apicella has been untouchable the last month. She has tallied 709 points thus far this year, is averaging 33.8 ppg. and has scored 56.2 of the team's total points. She is shooting 77 percent from the foul line, and as mentioned earlier, is nearing the magical 2,000 point mark.

Against Eastside, Belleville made a stirring comeback before a large and frantic crowd at BHS. Down by 18 points in the third quarter, Belleville tied the contest at 63 with 12 seconds remaining in the game. Dina De Aquino tallied some key baskets down the stretch and Apicella connected on some critical free throws to tie the contest.

Eastside jumped out to a 15-9 lead after one quarter and extended the margin to 33-25 at halftime. The Ghosts then scored the first 10 points of the third quarter to boost the lead to a seemingly invincible 43-25. Belleville then chipped away and trailed, 49-39 entering the fourth quarter.

It seemed that Eastside had regained control when the visitors scored the first four points of the final frame. However, De Aquino and Apicella had different ideas. The junior duo, who has accounted for 77 percent of the team's total points, did a job in the final quarter, cutting a 10-point Eastside lead with 2:10 left, to an even ball game with 12 seconds left.

For Eastside, Venessa Payntor was the story. The senior all-American scored 30 points and tallied the final, critical four points. Eastside was a solid ball club, a team ranked 18th in the state and undefeated in NNJIL play. "They are very well coached," praised Fuccello. "They are well drilled and worked hard. They deserved to win."

On the other hand, Fuccello was also happy with her girls' play. "We made it interesting, no doubt. The girls gave it their best, I'm very proud of the way they played."

Apicella finished the game with 40 points, De Aquino had 11 and center Donna Brooks finished with six. On the evening, Belleville shot 64 percent from the foul line.

Earlier in the week, Belleville roared by Millburn, 56-38 to advance in the ECT. In this game, Apicella hit for 42 points and the Belleville defense held Millburn high scorer Jackie Holle to eight points, well below her season's average. Holle entered the game needing just 18 points to reach the 1,000 point mark. "They had an excellent defense," Holle conceded. "We just couldn't get started."

De Aquino, who has been suffering from a sore knee, hit for eight points and Brooks finished with four.

The week started with an easy 70-

29 rout of Montclair. Apicella and De Aquino hit for 32 and 16 points, respectively, while Kathy Woods scored a career high 10 points and Brooksie finished with eight.

The upcoming week should be an interesting one, a week which should be filled with nice memories and exciting (oops), exhilarating play.

NET NOTES: Belleville is 10-3 in the NNJIL, 7-1 outside the conference. De Aquino averaging 12.2 ppg. and is shooting 59 percent from the foul line. Woods is second in the free throw category, hitting at a 72 percent clip. Loreli Wells has been doing a marvelous job the last three weeks. Her defense improves game by game and she comes through with some big passes in the clutch. Wells should be a big help in the games this week. De Aquino's life-long dream has been to play on Seton Hall University's court, a dream which will be fulfilled tomorrow night. The other semi-final game matches Clifford Scott and Irvington and will also be at Belleville High School following the Belleville-Shabazz game at 8:30 p.m. Shabazz is undefeated, ranked fourth in the state and are the defending ECT champs, having downed Clifford Scott in the finals last year. Scott is the 1981 champ. Lynn Kennedy of Vailsburg broke the 2,000 point mark last week. She is the first player in Essex County to crack the mark and the ninth overall. Kennedy is a senior for the Vikings and leads the state in scoring. Belleville will play the winner of the Elizabeth-Columbia game in the first round of the Group IV, Section II playoffs. That game isn't scheduled until early March, probably around March 7.

Hoopsters impressing many people with smart and solid performances

With its season winding down, the Belleville boys' basketball team continues to impress its coach and fans with an exciting style of play and a determination factor which has carried the club to nine victories with the prospect of a few more before the season ends.

The Bucs hosted Paterson Kennedy on Tuesday and will be in Kearny tonight to face St. Cecilia High School. Tomorrow night, the Bucs travel to Bloomfield to face the Bengals in an 8 p.m. start and next Monday, Nutley will be at BHS for a 4 p.m. tip off. The following day, March 1, Belleville will be at Clinton Place High School in Newark to face Weequahic High School in round one of the state tournament.

Last week, Belleville split its two games, whipping a strong Arts team, 56-45, then bowing to state ranked Paterson Eastside, 72-39. For the season, Belleville is 9-12, 4-9 in the rugged NNJIL. Joe Papisidero and Company have three conference games left on the schedule, and the coach is determined that his club can win those remaining conference games and defeat independent St. Cecilia. Should Belleville accomplish those goals, the Bucs will take a 13-12 record into the state tourney and a guarantee of a .500 or better record for the first time since 1975.

"The key is Paterson Kennedy," said the coach. "If we can beat them, and that won't be easy, then we have a good shot at the 13-12 record. We know we can play with Nutley and Bloomfield and we've already handled St. Cecilia's this year (an 83-31 victory)."

While the Bucs are gunning for a strong finish to an already impressive season, junior high scorer Phil Colalillo is in line for his 1,000 point. Entering Tuesday's game with Kennedy, Colalillo needed just 34 points and Papisidero was confident he would do it against Kennedy. "In order for us to win, we have to have that ball in Phil's hands 65 percent of the time. He's going to do it against Kennedy, he's worked for it and this will be his day."

Colalillo will become the first player in boys' history to break the 1,000 point mark in his junior year. Abdel Anderson, the all-time leading scorer for the boys' team, broke the mark in January of his senior year. Wayne Bubet, the second all-time leading scorer, also cracked the mark in January of his senior year.

In any event, Belleville started last week with a postponement of a game with Caldwell. The blizzard of '83 caught Caldwell by surprise and the Chiefs couldn't dig out of the mess in time for the game. Hopefully, the game can be rescheduled before the end of the season.

The next day, Belleville hosted Arts and came away an impressive winner. The final count was 56-45 with Colalillo leading the way with 36 points. "Phil played a super ball game," praised Papisidero. "We jumped out quick against Arts and then did a nice job in preserving the lead. It was a nice win for us."

Two days later, Belleville traveled to Eastside High School in Paterson to face the awesome Ghosts. Eastside checked into the game ninth ranked in the state and number one in the conference. They did not disappoint their fans against Belleville.

"Without a doubt, they are the best team we played all year," Papisidero said. "We stayed with them for a half though. However, that up tempo kind of game proved to be too much. We buckled in the second half."

Belleville did a nice job in the first half. They trailed, 14-11 after the

BHS bowlers capture second in NNJIL race

The Belleville bowling team concluded its regular season with some strong showings against its conference rivals. The Bucs will be participating in the state tournament come early March.

The team placed second on the varsity level of the NNJIL, losing by a narrow margin to Passaic Valley, while the jayvee team captured top honors in the NNJIL.

The Bucs were upset by Clifton back on Feb. 8, tallying only two points. Sophomore Anthony Cook tallied a very impressive 255 in the first game as Belleville won, 757-653. Although Joe Lunetta came through with some strong showings in the

Essex County Tournament winding down to finale

Basketball excitement should be at its highest this weekend as the Essex County Tournament for boys and girls winds down.

The girls' championship game will be tomorrow night at Seton Hall University. Belleville, Shabazz, Irvington and Clifford Scott are the four semi-finalists who squared off last night at Belleville High School.

The four teams seem well matched. In game one, Belleville, with Jennifer Apicella and Dina De Aquino, battled the defending champions, Shabazz. The Bulldogs entered the contest with an undefeated record and fourth ranking in the state. Last year, Shabazz defeated Clifford Scott for the title. The Bulldogs are paced by Lisa Long and Shopaine Horton. They possess a balanced attack and will give the Buccaneers all they can handle.

A big advantage for Belleville is that the contest was played on its home court. If Apicella and De Aquino can continue their hot scoring of late, a major upset could be in the cards.

Game two pitted Irvington and Clifford Scott. This is the Campers second straight year in the semis. Scott's fourth. The Campers have a super freshman in Tammy Hammond. They entered the contest with a 17-3 record, having already battled some of the best teams in the state.

Scott, the 1981 ECT champion, is a veteran squad coached by Tom King. The Scotties were dethroned by Shabazz in the finals last February and are gearing for a rematch. Countess Irvin is the leader of this balanced attack. The senior averages 22 points an outing and is a fine ball handler.

Clifford Scott, Shabazz and Irvington all went to the semis last year, while Belleville has been this far only once, back in 1979. The favorites for tomorrow's final are Grant scored five, Joe Borrello tallied four, Lenny Russo also scored four points, John Borrello, Dave Boyd and John Healy closed out the local scoring with two points each.

It's been a good year for the Buccaneers basketball team and this week could be a strong indicator of just how "good" this season will be for the squad.

Shabazz and Clifford Scott, however, the Buccaneers and Campers will have a few things to say about that.

Over on the boys' side, Clifford Scott and Seton Hall Prep are on their way to the county semi-finals, which were played yesterday and again this afternoon. The other two teams to reach the semis are the winners of Monday's Irvington-West Orange and Montclair-Columbia games. The pick here is Montclair and Irvington to advance to the semi-final round.

Should those two teams win, then Montclair will face Irvington on Wednesday and Scott will battle Seton Hall Prep this afternoon. Both contests are at Seton Hall University with the finals scheduled for Saturday afternoon at noon.

Montclair is the defending champ, whipping Shabazz 76-42 in the finals last year. After a slow start, the Mounties have come on strong the last month and appear to be in top form for the tourney.

Irvington, coached by Bill Berger, is in the semis for the first time in 10 years. The Campers have a veteran ball club, a balanced attack and tremendous strength under the boards. They might be the favorites to capture the entire tournament.

Clifford Scott, the two-time defending Group 2 champs, was upset in the quarterfinals by Glen Ridge a year ago. This year Tynes' team seems confident the talent to certainly win the ECT.

Finally, Seton Hall Prep might have the biggest advantage. The Pony Pirates play their home games at the University in the first place and have a super ball club this year. Tom Ard, Milton Godbold and Stanley Woods lead the Pirates, a team which might be considered a sleeper in this year's tourney.

Sen. Orechio sponsors job training program

The State Senate has approved legislation sponsored by Senate President Carmen A. Orechio (D-Essex) to establish a Thomas Edison Foundation for Science and Technology as the cornerstone of a "far-reaching and innovative" high technology jobs training and education program in New Jersey.

The Orechio proposal was the key part of a sweeping, bipartisan jobs training package approved in the Senate. The package will provide high technology jobs training, tax credits to corporations which participate in the high technology industrial parks development program in New Jersey.

Orechio's proposal will create the Thomas Edison Foundation in the State Department of Commerce and Economic Development to oversee, coordinate and promote high technology training and education in the state. The foundation will incorporate the existing State Office for Promotion of Technical Innovation (OPTI), which will be transferred to the foundation.

"New Jersey is in an important economic transition period from a manufacturing-based economy to a high technology and service-oriented economy," Orechio said. "We are also in a period of high chronic unemployment."

"We are convinced that our high technology program represents the wisest investment of limited state resources to address these problems and to assure that New Jersey continues to move forward in technological education, jobs training and industrial development," Orechio said.

"We happen to be in a good position in New Jersey in this transition period to capitalize on the research and development strengths in our state," Orechio said.

"Nearly one of every 10 research dollars spent in our country is spent in New Jersey," Orechio said. "Even more significantly, over 85 percent of those research and development dollars spent in our state are derived from private sources, largely industry, a figure which places New Jersey well above the 50 percent private research and development commitment in other states."

"It is our responsibility as legislators to assure that government continues to provide the opportunities and the incentive for continued progress to a high technology industrial and education future in New Jersey," Orechio said. "We believe this plan will go a long way to securing that future."

The Thomas Edison Foundation would be governed by an 11-member board of unsalaried directors, including the state commissioners of commerce, higher education, labor and education, and seven public members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the state Senate.

First DeWitt Savings re-elects its officers

First DeWitt Savings & Loan has chosen its 1983 senior and junior officers, chairman John Dailey and president Henrik Tvedt have revealed. The board of directors at its annual meeting also re-elected four directors to three-year terms.

Dailey of Belleville was re-elected chairman and Tvedt of Bloomfield was re-elected president. Senior officers re-elected are Robert Hicock of North Caldwell, senior vice president;

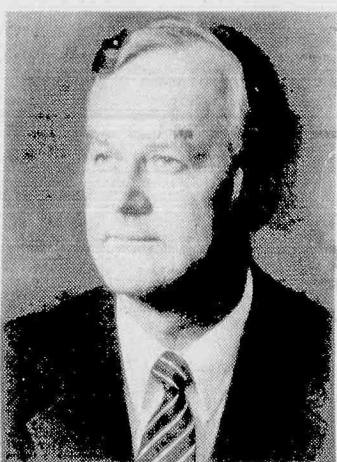

John Isemann of Mt. Olive and John Rogers of Cedar Grove, vice presidents; Mary Bowen of Montclair, assistant vice president; Rhoda Snow of Belleville, secretary, and Emil Butchko of New Providence, treasurer.

Re-elected junior officers are Rosemary Delaney of Cedar Grove, Judith Cunningham of Montclair, Robert Blum of Verona, John Campi of Iselin and Michael Sferazza of Cedar Grove, assistant treasurers, and Marie Martino of Bloomfield, Marie Massa of Cedar Grove, Teresa Cianci of Nutley, Barbara Teut of Lake Lackawanna and Dorothy White of Cedar Grove, assistant secretaries.

CMHS hotline

Dear Community Mental Health Services:

The media has recently focused on the need for more foster homes for children who are temporarily separated from their families. My husband and I are very interested in opening our home to a youngster. Can you give us some information on foster placement and which agency we should contact?

Interested

Dear Interested:

Presently there is a great need for foster homes and you and your husband are to be commended for your interest in becoming foster parents. The Division of Youth and Family Service Foster Home and Adoption Resource Center in Newark will take your application over the telephone anytime between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily. Their number is (201) 648-4550. A social worker will then visit your home and interview both you and your husband. Everyone in the home will have a medical check-up and the adults in the home will be carefully screened. Regarding physical space, the only requirement is that the child has his/her own bed. If there are other children in the home, the bedroom may be shared with a same sex child. Potential foster parents must be at least 18 and may be single or married. Preferences for age and sex of a foster child is considered and every effort is made to satisfy these preferences. The goal is to find the child who is appropriate to that home. Once the home is approved, there is a required training program that focuses on foster home care, child development, and potential problems which may be encountered.

If a foster family feels they can deal with a handicapped child, financial allowances are made to meet his/her special needs.

Though there can be problems and there is little financial remuneration, the rewards can be great for both the child and foster family. If you and your husband can help relieve a child's burden of separation from his natural family, you will derive tremendous satisfaction by becoming foster parents. Good luck.

McGreevy pays bill to Passaic Valley

making the payment, while Marotti and Commissioner Vincent Strumolo opposed the suggestion. Commissioner Mary Senatore was unable to attend because of illness.

However, on the evening in question, Marotti, Strumolo and Pica had all verbally agreed to first permit Township Attorney Frank Zinna to study actions taken by other municipal customers of PVSC before making a firm decision.

But McGreevy insisted on paying the bill, due Feb. 1, to avoid accumulating interest which he said is exacted daily at a rate of 18 percent.

Garbage contract going out for bid one more time

was Chester Pucillo, the president of the Belleville and Lodi based firm.

However, in all probability, Pucillo will attempt to regain the contract it held for over two decades with Belleville.

Reacting to developments, Mayor Michael Marotti said Tuesday he does not know yet how the township will handle the judge's decision. "If we do rebid, we might get offers of even more savings. We'll have to look into it," he added.

A majority of the board favored going with the new scavenger for the cost savings offered over Pucillo's bid.

Similar, citizens expressed fears at Tuesday's township meeting that this action, if not appealed, may result once again in a single uncontested bid that will represent no savings to taxpayers.

The debate centers on the whopping 68 percent rate hike Belleville received from the agency for this year with total sewage charges estimated at $1,103,440.

Outraged, local officials last week agreed to join a coalition of other communities facing similar increases from the agency.

With legal action a strong possibility, Mayor Michael Marotti declared at the Feb. 7 meeting he opposed all payment until the matter is settled. "If we pay anything we look like we're giving in," he had said, noting that other protesting communities decided not to pay.

McGreevy then suggested paying the quarterly installment "under protest" to avoid interest charges, but Marotti argued the money could be banked and collect at least as much in interest, a position he maintained this week.

Marotti refused to vote this week on a collective resolution to pay bills which included the PVSC installment. With only three Commissioners present Tuesday — Pica and Strumolo were absent — the board decided to table the resolution to a special session Monday at 5 p.m. where an amendment is likely.

Public Service reports electrical sales down

Public Service Electric and Gas Company is reporting earnings of $35.4 million, equal to 37 cents per share of common stock for the month of January completed with $27.5 million, or 32 cents a share, in the same month of 1982.

Total sales of electricity were down 4.2 percent in January compared with a year earlier. Residential sales were off 7.7 percent and those in the industrial and commercial categories declined by 3.8 percent and 2.0 percent, respectively.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Board of Education of the Township of Belleville, County of Essex, State of New Jersey, on March 10, 1983 at 10:30 am prevailing time, for the Purchase of Gasoline, according to the specifications prepared by the Secretary/School Business Administrator.

Specifications and full information may be obtained from the purchasing department of the Belleville Board of Education during the regular business hours (Monday thru Friday, 8:00 am to 4:00 pm).

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by a certified check or bid bond drawn to the order of the Belleville Board of Education, for 10% of the total bid.

Bids must be plainly marked and the envelope containing the bid shall be endorsed on its face with the name of the person, firm or corporation making such proposal.

The Board of Education will not be responsible for the premature opening of any bid not so marked.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids and/or to accept the bid that in its judgment will be best for the School District of Belleville, and to waive any immaterial informalities.

Bidders are required to comply with the requirements of P.L. 1975, c. 127, New Jersey Law Against Discrimination, and Ch. 33, Laws of 1977.
