Voters Head to Polls Tuesday to Elect New Board Four Incumbents Look Strong, Fifth Seat is Wide Open

By Linda Telesco

Next Tuesday, Belleville voters will go to the polls to elect a new Board of Commissioners, the township's legislative body.

Eight candidates, four of them incumbents, are vying for the five seats on the Belleville panel. In commission form of government, elections are held every four years and all terms expire simultaneously.

The 1983 campaign has been low key, especially on the part of incumbents, who are given a strong edge by political observers.

Main interest this year centers on the seat clearly up for grabs as result of a decision not to seek re-election by outgoing Public Works Commissioner Marv Senatore.

Few real issues have surfaced during this campaign. Most candidates declare predictable intentions to revitalize the Washington Avenue business district and to curb rising taxes, but few specifics were mentioned.

Rent control is perhaps the most obvious substantial matter in the forefront right now, but the present board is dragging out proposed revisions and none of the other candidates or citizens have pressed for them to take a pre-election stand on the issue.

Other matters that have been mentioned by contenders include obtaining more tax abatements for the township, improving facilities for senior citizens, and streamlining local government.

Following is a brief look at all eight candidates in order of ballot position.

Matthew Pica — 1A. Seeking his second term on the Commission, Pica points to his first year as Belleville's Public Safety Director in calling votes for him "a safe and sound choice."

He lists among his first term accomplishments establishing better safety services such as an arson squad, larger police foot patrols, and improving safety apparatus such as firefighting equipment.

Employed as a financial manager at Raia Industries, Pica pledges to expand essential safety services while curbing tax hikes.

Considered ambitious, perhaps to a fault, by political observers, Pica's background shows strong climbing. He served on the School Board for eight years prior to winning a Commission seat in May 1979.

A popular candidate then, he received 3,467 votes placing third, ahead of two re-elected incumbents, out of 16 contenders.

Pica attended Belleville schools, holds a BS degree in business management from Fairleigh-Dickinson University and resides on Mt. Prospect Avenue with his family.

Joseph Grande — 2A. A lifelong resident of Belleville, Grande cites his 16 years on the township's Planning Board, 12 as its chairman, and his commitment to local youth as important platform points.

Seeking his first term as commissioner, Grande pledges to "bring in commercial structures for a sound tax base in the community," favoring such measures as re-zoning Washington Avenue to include a hi-rise district in order to attract more construction here.

Employed by the local School Board, Grande has been its supervisor of plant operations for the past four years, overseeing maintenance and a custodial staff.

He recently published a statement that his first priority as an elected official is "the construction of senior citizens' residential complex" within the community.

He also pledges to establish a township civic center that will benefit the entire community.

An outspoken critic of bureaucracy and the proliferation of meaningless committees, Grande promises accountability as commissioner.

Joseph Fornarotto — 3A. An activist and political watchdog, the strident Fornarotto presents himself as the citizens' candidate under the

School Board Bills Will Be Reviewed

By Ed Capparucci

Mrs. Grace Purdue may not be the first woman president of the Belleville Board of Education, but she is taking steps to assure that her tenure is remembered as an active one.

Taking measures to assure that the trustees "know what they are paying for," Mrs. Purdue formed a committee to review all Board of Education bill vouchers before their final payment.

"This is something which I have brought up in the past, and I feel that it is something which should be done on a regular basis," Mrs. Purdue said during the board's public executive session held Monday night. "We can set up a program where two trustees would go over the vouchers to see exactly what we are paying for. If they then have any questions, they can report back to us."

Although Mrs. Purdue's proposal eventually won unanimous board approval, it did come against some opposition at first.

"I have found during my term on the board that whenever I had a question with any of the bills I would call the board secretary and he would set aside the material so I could look at it myself and then get any questions I may have answered," said John DiStasi. "I believe it is the responsibility of a trustee to check through vouchers if he has any questions, but not the responsibility of a committee."

But the new board president did not exactly see eye-to-eye with DiStasi's comments.

"I disagree," she said. "I believe that it should be the responsibility of the entire board, and if I must form a committee of one to do the task, and be the lone member, I will do so."

DiStasi then came back and clarified his stand on the issue.

"I never said I would not take part in a committee, what I said was I personally do not feel that it is

Transportation Board Will Meet on Tuesday

The Essex County Transportation Advisory Board will hold its fifth in a series of public meetings Tuesday, May 10 at 8 p.m. in the Nutley Town Hall Commission Chambers, located at 1 Kennedy Drive, Nutley.

The Transportation Advisory Board will feature at this meeting transportation issues in Belleville and Nutley. Residents of these municipalities are invited to attend and discuss their transportation concerns with the board.

"Public response to our four previous meetings has been gratifying," said the board's chairman, Samuel S. Goldsticker, Jr., of Bloomfield. "The board has not simply heard transportation problems, but we have been effective in helping resolve local issues that were brought to our attention."

"We are taking our meetings to the local areas of Essex to hear and hopefully help residents with their transportation concerns," Goldsticker said.

The Transportation Advisory Board is a public forum for citizen input into Essex transportation planning activities undertaken by the county's Department of Planning & Economic Development, Office of Transportation Planning.

For more information, call Wayne Bradley, 759-3400.

Baseball Team Try-outs Set For Tonight

Try-outs for the Belleville Braves of the Essex County semi-pro baseball league will be held tonight, May 5 at 6 p.m. at Radcliffe Field, directly behind Radcliffe Elementary School, located on Bloomfield Avenue, Nutley.

Boys must be at least 18 years old. For more information call Len Boffa, 226-2921.

Reading Project Needs More Volunteers

Local Woman Gets Pleasure By Instructing Adults How to Read

By Linda Telesco

Joseph is an unemployed blue-collar laborer. He is 45 years old and until this year, he could not read.

Joseph is among the 26 million American adults who are called functionally illiterate. Simply, that means they cannot read such basic material as street signs, grocery labels, recipes, and notes from a child's schoolteacher. In short, they cannot function in life because they cannot read.

For the 81,000 functional illiterates in Essex County, however, there is hope. Joseph is one of the lucky ones who now can read through the efforts of Project Read and a Belleville woman who teaches as one of the project's volunteer tutors.

"I absolutely love this work," said Frances Zeiss, an Academy Street resident who has been a Project Read volunteer for over 10 years.

Sparkling with enthusiasm, Zeiss described her work during a recent interview, stopping often to repeat her wish that many more volunteers turn out at the May 14 and May 21 workshops for tutors planned by Project Read, a non-profit organization based in Newark.

In her 10 years of tutoring, Miss Zeiss has taught over a dozen students, some of whom complete the program while others do not.

"Sometimes students don't stick with the program," she noted. "Most are adults with families and must put work first if a schedule conflict arises," she said. "A teacher must try to do the best she can and not take it too hard if students don't finish when it's nobody's fault," she added.

For the most part, though, the lifelong Belleville resident finds her work "extremely rewarding."

Her students ranged in age from 27 to 50 and most were able to sign their own names and handle pencils. "Many came to Project Read because they have children and were ashamed their illiteracy might be detected," she said.

The causes for their problems are varied. "Most of them just lack self-discipline," she said, adding that others had been ignored in classrooms during their school days or misdiagnosed as retarded.

"Our primary goal is to enable these people to function in society," said Miss Zeiss, adding that one of her previous students, "a highly motivated young mother," not only learned to read but later enrolled in college.

"Some students are slow, others quick. A good teacher must find their pace," explained the volunteer. "In either case, this is very satisfying. I feel I make a difference in someone's life."

A graduate of Belleville High School, Miss Zeiss cherished an ambition to be a librarian. "I couldn't afford it back then," she said while sitting in her cozy living room decorated with overflowing bookshelves.

She worked as a supervising clerk for Prudential from which she is now retired. "I prayed for God to send me worthwhile work and the day I heard about Project Read, I volunteered," said the energetic woman who also belongs to the Friends of the Library and numerous other organizations.

"Project Read is the one that's special to me," she said, praising the program as "a wonderful, effective system."

The program is sponsored by Metropolitan Ecumenical Ministry in Newark and is funded through church offerings, denominational grants, corporate contributions, and foundation grants.

"Our purpose is to bring illiterate adults to a functional seventh grade reading level," said Rev. Mary A. Snodgrass, a clergywoman and director of the Newark Project Read.

To achieve that goal, the project recruits volunteers and trains them in a 12-hour course in how to use the Laubach Literacy Method.

The LL method is a basic phonics system of teaching people how to read. Most students meet with their tutors for two 90-minute sessions each week.

At the end of each LL section, the student takes a progress test. Those who complete all the levels receive a special certificate.

All sessions are one-to-one. "This is important to many adults who are embarrassed about their illiteracy," said Rev. Snodgrass.

Although some volunteers, like Miss Zeiss, teach students in their homes, sessions can be held in church halls, libraries, or any available public site. "Students and tutors are matched according to their locations and convenience," said Rev. Snodgrass.

Project Read taught reading skills to 1,100 adults in the past seven years and aims to triple that figure from 1975 to 1987.

To do that, 180 volunteers must be added each year. As part of the recruitment campaign, Project Read will hold workshops for those interested in tutoring on two consecutive Saturdays, May 14 and May 21 at the Wesley United Methodist Church on 225 Washington Ave. No teaching experience is necessary.

Anyone interested may call 623-9259 for more information. Also, anyone who knows adults in need of reading instruction may encourage them to call the same number.

Dr. Arena Joins Township's Health Department Staff

Commissioner Vincent T. Strumolo announced this week the appointment of Frank P. Arena, to the Belleville Health Department. Dr. Arena will replace the late Dr. Caputo as the health clinic's foot doctor.

Arena is a Belleville product, graduating Belleville High School in 1973 and served as vice president of the graduating class and treasurer of The Key Club. He graduated Fairleigh Dickinson University in 1977, Pennsylvania College of Podiatric Medicine in 1981, first year podiatric orthopedic residency in 1982, and second year podiatric surgery residency in 1983.

Commissioner Strumolo stated that with the appointment of Dr. Arena, we are now back to our complete health service.

The doctor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arena of 134 Birchwood Drive, Belleville. Frank, Sr. is a member of the Belleville Fire Department.

The foot screening clinic will resume the first week in June, 1983, by appointment only. For more information call 759-2832.

New Doctor on Call — Dr. Frank P. Arena (l) is the newest member of the Belleville Health Department. He will serve as the clinic's foot doctor, taking the place of the late Dr. Caputo. Posing with the doctor here is, Commissioner Vincent Strumolo (c) and his father Frank Arena Sr.

Dr. Dominick Ligresti Serves as Guest Speaker

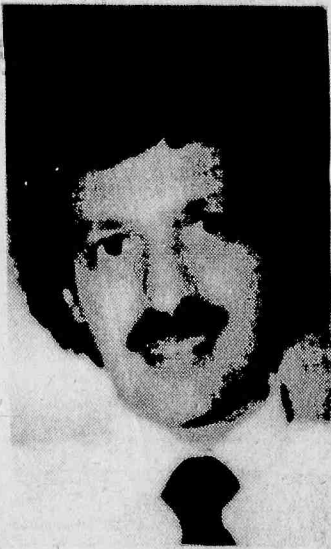

Dr. Dominick J. Ligresti was one of the guest speakers at the New York Academy of Medicine meeting held during April in New York City.

Dr. Ligresti spoke on his article "Increased Helper Suppressor T-cell Ratio in Psoriasis," which was recently published in the December 1982 issue of the Archives of Dermatology.

His clinical study highlights the possible cause of psoriasis relating to a defect in the body's immune system.

Dr. Ligresti is currently assistant clinical professor at the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine, and has recently opened his practice of dermatology at Clara Maass Professional Center.

There are two types of asthma which affect approximately 3% of the population. The most common, extrinsic asthma, generally occurs before the age of 5. It is caused by a reaction to pollen, dust, cats, etc. The second type, intrinsic, occurs later in life. It is usually brought about by emphysema, chronic bronchitis or chronic lung ailments. Both types produce constriction in the bronchial passages and an increase of fluid in the lungs. One way to combat asthma is through the use of a body chemical known as cyclic adenosine monophosphate (CAMP). An increase in this ingredient will help to relieve bronchial constriction. In addition, it can stop the body from breaking down existing supplies of CAMP.

In addition to a complete selection of prescription drugs we provide prompt service at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1936, 759-1968. For Mother's Day we have greeting cards, cosmetics, Russell Stover candy, cameras, film, Timex watches, transistor radios and other gift items. Our stocks also include toiletries, baby needs and convalescent aids. Open: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-2pm. Best wishes to all Mothers on their special day, May 8th.

HANDY HINT:
Asthma medicines not only differ in their approach to bronchial constriction but in the frequency of their side effects.

Local Doctor Serves As Guest Speaker

Mir M. Mousavi, a medical oncologist and hematologist from Belleville was a guest speaker at a fund raising dinner-dance for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, organized by First Avenue School PTA of Newark at Biase's Restaurant.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is one of the nation's leading cancer research institute, which specializes in children's cancer and leukemia.

Dr. Mousavi said 20 years ago when St. Jude opened its door to the patients the majority of children with leukemia did not live more than a few months. Due to the pioneering work done in St. Jude as well as other institutions, now more than 60 percent of children with leukemia achieve long term remission consistent with cure. He said there also has been a remarkable progress in treatment of other cancers such as lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease, and cancer of the breast.

He also stated one not only should think of treatment of cancer, but of prevention of cancer as well.

Local Woman Guilty Of Cable-TV Theft

By Steve Frank

A Belleville woman was found guilty of obtaining cable television service without paying for it, by Belleville municipal court Judge Edward Abromson last week.

Maggie Castle of Bell Street was found guilty and fined $25 court cost for tampering with equipment of Suburban Cablevision in order to receive television transmission without paying for it.

In other cases, a Bloomfield man was found guilty of simple assault and battery.

David Glenn Webb of Belleville Avenue in Bloomfield was found guilty of punching John DeFabbri Sr., in the face several times, while DeFabbri was leaving a building at Heckel and Franklin streets on March 22. Webb was fined $100, plus $25 for the Violent Crime Fund.

Stephen Carter of Iselin had his case referred to the Grand Jury for displaying and selling firearms and ammunition, while possessing no valid license. He was also charged with giving false information and signing fictitious signatures on certificates required by law for the purchasing of a rifle or shotgun between Nov. 1, 1982 and Jan. 17.

Bernard Brevard of East Orange was found guilty of possessing one hypodermic syringe, three hypodermic needles and less than 25 grams of marijuana. He was fined $75, plus $50 for the Violent Crime Fund.

John Smith of Newark was placed on one-year probation for pulling a fire alarm at the corner of Washington Avenue and Rutgers Street.

Barbara Ann Robinson of Passaic was found guilty of shoplifting almost $300 worth of merchandise from the Belleville K-Mart. She was given a 30-day jail sentence, with less seven days served.

Dominick J. Tribble of Nutley had his case referred to the Grand Jury. He was charged with being under the influence of a controlled drug substance.

Nicholas Sicurello of Belleville was fined $50 for loitering on school property.

Commission Candidates

Tuesday Belleville voters will be asked to elect five Town Commissioners, four incumbents are seeking re-election. They are Mayor Michael Marotti, Public Safety Commissioner Matthew Pica, Public Affairs Director Vincent Strumolo and Revenue and Finance Director Joseph McGreevy.

Our position with respect to the candidacy of the incumbents is on the record. Based upon their public records we support for re-election Michael Marotti, Matthew Pica, Vincent Strumolo and Joseph McGreevy.

The four incumbents have earned re-election. They have governed well. They have governed prudently. They have governed honestly.

The fifth commissioner, Public Works Director Mary Senatore, has decided to retire from public office. She has earned the rest. Belleville residents owe Mary Senatore a debt of gratitude for a job well done. Time and again in this space we have apprised our readers of the fact that Mary's home is like a Red Cross substation — open 24 hours a day to aid the poor, the ill, the handicapped — and those in need of public services. Whoever was lucky enough to touch the life of Mary Senatore was richer for the experience.

The voters are now asked to not only re-elect the incumbents, but select a candidate from among four others to fill what we perceive to be a public works vacancy.

The four outside challengers are Belleville Planning Board Chairman Joseph Grande, Michael Pizzi, town critic Joseph Fornarotto and Kevin Kennedy. Kennedy, Pizzi and Fornarotto have sought public office before. Four years ago Pizzi finished a strong sixth in the Township Commission election.

Joseph Grande has spent a lifetime in the service of the community he loves. His prime dedication is to the children of our community. For 25 years Joseph Grande has been involved with Midget League activities. Himself childless, he has looked upon the youngsters he has been privileged to coach as his family of children. As chairman of the Belleville Town Planning Board, Joseph Grande has performed an extremely useful public service. Does Joseph Grande care about Belleville? His public record proves he cares. Among those with no prior commission experience, Grande is perceived to be best qualified to fill the Public Works Commissioner's job.

If our voters want to recognize, reward and encourage volunteer service, then a vote for Grande will accomplish all these objectives.

Mr. Pizzi, formerly with the New Jersey State Police is a native Bellevillite, active with the St. Peter's School activities and is now making his second effort for seat on the Township Commission. Pizzi is a good man. In common with all the other candidates, Pizzi is honorable and honest. He has visions of a better Belleville and wants the opportunity to influence the future direction of Belleville.

Joseph Fornarotto, an activist in veterans' affairs, has served a most useful public service. Fornarotto has appeared before the Belleville Board of Education and the Township Commission. He gave expressions to his concerns about his direction of the Board of Education's policies and the activities of Township Commission. As a town critic, Fornarotto made his contribution, in his own way, to the welfare of a town which claims his total dedication.

Kevin Kennedy is a young man on the go and on the grow. Four years ago Kennedy was able to garner a few hundred votes. This time young Kennedy wants to be a winner. God bless him!

So, Tuesday, May 10, Belleville voters have the opportunity to exercise a most precious gift — the right to vote. We urge voters to consider the re-election bids of Marotti, Pica, McGreevy and Strumolo. These are good and decent men who have worked in harmony to provide quality service at the lowest cost.

As for the remaining four candidates, the election of any one would benefit Belleville. There are some more qualified than others. Based upon the longevity of public service and knowledge of the Public Works Department, Joseph Grande is perceived to be the best choice to fill the empty seat.

A Chance to Vote Is a 'Great' Feeling

To the editor:

May 10, 1983, a lot of Bellevillites will be voting for the first time. This is great.

It's great because they have the freedom to choose in an election that promises to be free of animosity or antipathy.

It's great because the candidates are men of integrity. Their straightforwardness is only one of the reasons they are in the running field. Each has his own belief as to what he can do to help Belleville grow and each respects his opponents' beliefs. Such rarity.

It's great because, judging by the character of the candidates, I am certain it will be not only a battle of proposals but a battle of principles and convictions. Each candidate will stand out as being the best. And,

It's great because everyone will come away a winner. There will be no losers in this election. They will come away with the knowledge that they did their best. They will come away with the knowledge that the people reacted the way they thought best for Belleville. But most important, because of their closeness toward one another, they will learn something from each other. This in itself makes them all a winner.

My thanks go out to all the candidates for being fair-minded. Congratulations to each and everyone as we embark on the hardest decision-making election of all times.

Sincerely,
Ann M. Donatiello

Vote With Principles Not Political Forces

To the editor:

"It is for us, much more than for any previous generation, to become serious about the human future, and to make choices that will be weighed not in a decade or a century but in the balances of geological time."

Melvin Konner, "The Tangled Wing: Biological Constraints on the Human Side," 1982.

Let us not lose sight of what Mr. Konner's quotation is trying to get across. Let us take from that quotation what affects us. Then, go out on May 10 and vote on principles rather than political power influences. Do not judge a candidate by who is behind him but rather, his staunch character and his abilities to be an asset to the people of Belleville. In that way, we vote for an individual and not controlling influences.

The voters of Belleville cannot and will not be intimidated; they are far too sophisticated for that.

Very truly yours,
Frances Schiavo

Newark Skating Facility Important to Youngster

To the editor:

Hello, my name is Walter Nieczkowski and I am 11 years of age. I am sure you are of the proposal to close down Branch Brook Ice Center in Newark, to change it into a bicycle velodrome.

Branch Brook Ice Center is a skating facility in Branch Brook Park, in Essex County.

I belong to the Essex County Chiefs Peeewe "B" team, which is a traveling team. We are also a member of the Amateur Hockey Association.

At a meeting held on Sunday, March 6, it seemed like there were only bicyclists around 30 years old and older. So, it seems like it's only for the adults, and not at all for the children.

The nearest ice rinks have only little free ice time for us. This ice rink keeps kids off the streets, places where they're not wanted. It also gives us something to do when we have nothing else to do. And it also keeps kids out of trouble.

This rink means a lot to the Essex County Chiefs and other hockey teams, like Seton Hall.

I also sent a copy to Governor Kean on March 9, and he hasn't replied yet. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Walter Nieczkowski

A Brief Letter Of Thanks

An open letter to the people of Belleville:

I would just like to take this opportunity to say "thank you" to all of you who offered your condolences and prayers in the loss of my father. My family's and my sorrow was eased knowing that so many people cared and had us in their thoughts. I would also like to extend my deepest thanks to all my dear friends at Orechio Communications who expressed concern in my time of need.

Again, on behalf of my family and myself, thank you.

Valley Resident Sends Message to Commission

To the editor:

In reference to your article in the Belleville Times, dated April 21, 1983 (Penalties for Non-Snow Removal) I wish to state, if homeowners are to comply with this new ordinance, then an ordinance should be enacted to have our elected commissioners given summons for their failure to clean up the mess the town employees leave on the property that runs along the railroad. Not only is the Valley used for a dumping ground, it's a health hazard as well, to all the residents that live down here. It's a shame that we, in the Valley, get treated like "second class citizens." We take as much pride in our homes, as you people do in yours. Your department creates these deplorable conditions. Why don't you have the decency to clean it up.

Girl Scouts' President Says Thanks to Many Volunteers

To the editor:

Friday, April 22, was proclaimed nationally as Girl Scout Leaders' Recognition Day. Along with every other council in the United States, on behalf of the Board of Directors of the Girl Scout Council of Greater Essex County, I would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to each and every Girl Scout Volunteer.

Girl Scout leaders touch the lives of more than 249 girls in your community. They exert a positive influence on the girls who are growing up during difficult times. The growth of the council membership demonstrates that Girl Scouting continues to be a vital youth serving agency. We are grateful for the enthusiasm and dedication of the volunteers who make it possible. They are very special people!

By James R. Golden

The curtain will be run down next Tuesday evening, a little after all the votes will have been tallied, in Belleville's quadrennial municipal election. There will be jubilant victors and despondent losers. The voters of the community, not enough of them, to be sure, who should have voted, will have spoken. The democratic process will have been implemented and we must adjust to the mandate of the electorate in accepting the administrative role of the five men chosen by the people to rule and govern our township for the preceding four years.

The responsibilities of their exalted office is awesome in view of the troubled economic instability and uncertainties of Federal Administrative policies under the retrenchment directives issued from Washington, which curtail or eliminate previously available grants or subsidies to state, county and municipal governments.

Without this assistance, the increasing cost of local government must be borne by the local taxpayers. As union organized town workers and school employees persist in seeking pay increases, the burden devolves upon our school trustees and township Commissioners to make the determination as to the equity of the worker's demands, as measured against the ability of the taxpayers and industries to meet their higher demands by increased taxes.

To date, much of the fanfare, hassle and intense political campaigning tactics have been missing in this year's election. An aura of serene apathy seems to pervade the air, in a far cry from the intensity of many a past town election.

Attendance at candidate's night sponsored gatherings have been sparse with little animated campaign headquarters activity being observed, other than the breakfast type rallies, at which the supporters of the candidates turn out en masse. Alas, much of the glamour and color of yesteryear's hot elections is but a bygone memory, yet, a few signs of the various candidates still can be seen decorating the landscape to remind voters of their candidacy.

We appreciate the decorum and protocol displayed by the candidates in conducting a dignified campaign, but, why no debates nor discussion of issues? They're there.

Do we dwell in a microcosm of perfection? Why are our citizens so indifferent to the importance of participating in local elections? Are they complacent or have they, in despair, given up on changing things they are displeased with?

Apprehension grows over this impassivity of citizens to concern themselves over important elections. Their apathy reduces the outcome of many contests for high office to a popularity rating of the various contestants which often prevents better qualified candidates from winning.

We fear that the lackluster present campaign encourages a light turnout of voters which favors the four incumbents, while pitting the four other candidates against each other on a personal popularity appeal basis.

It would appear that a certain degree of dichotomy of views would have been more likely to have been projected into this campaign, were there not an attempt to "pull punches" and "play it by ear" on the part of some of the candidates...a role that might hurt.

There is nothing improper about discussion of policies and issues, so long as it avoids personalities. This approach was avoided in this campaign leaving the benighted voters in the dark about some controversial issues which undoubtedly will have to be addressed during the ensuing four years of incumbency of the newly elected municipal administration.

We regret the lack of issues and outline of proposed programs, other than the banal, stereotyped, cliché sort presented, which seemed hackneyed. They did little to spark an animated interest in the campaign to galvanize the people to get excited about. Let's hope the people won't be lulled into somnolence by the lethargy of this drab election.

In the promotion of encouraging a large turnout on May 10, we entreat all registered voters to get out and vote Tuesday between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Vote intelligently and we trust that Belleville will be blessed with a good group of Commissioners. Congratulations to the victors and compliments to those who fought the good fight. Good luck.

ED-ITORIALIZING

Commission Election

By Ed Capparucci

For the first time in many years, there is talk about the possibility of more than one "new" commission candidate being elected in Belleville. As we all know, Belleville has become a town of tradition, especially when it comes to commission elections, but this year things may be a little different, or on second thought, maybe they're not.

What makes this a difficult election to judge is that there have been no major issues brought out by either the incumbents or the challengers. It has been a very quiet election race, without the usual mud-throwing acts between the candidates. But no issues can only mean good news for the incumbents. Things must be pretty good in Belleville if potential candidates cannot think of too much to say.

But on the other side of the coin, there seems to be a lot of support being mustered for the non-incumbent candidates. Of the four, Joe Fornarotto, Michael Pizzi, Joe Grande and Kevin Kennedy, only Kennedy seems to have little or no chance of winning, while the other three have all seemed to have gathered some good solid backing.

Let's take a brief look at each of the candidates:

• Joe Fornarotto — Joe has always been a visible resident of Belleville, taking an active part in many war veteran activities and a frequent visitor at Commission and School Board meetings. He has always voiced his opinion very loudly and perhaps sometimes too often, but he has demonstrated over the years that he has a great sense of pride and respect for his community. The several very successful political kick-offs he has had over the past two months have proved that he is indeed a candidate to be recognized.

• Joe Grande — Joe is a very, very popular guy in Belleville, who is well liked by almost everyone throughout the community. An employee of the Board of Education and chairman of the Planning Board for the past 12 years, he is an even-money bet to fill the seat left vacant by Commissioner Mary Senatore. Mrs. Senatore has also thrown her support to Grande, which will do nothing but help his chances.

• Kevin Kennedy — This is Kennedy's second run at a commission seat, and while he is not a very visible candidate, he has also made several attempts for a School Board trustee post, thus not making him totally unfamiliar to township voters. Over the years he has always been good for 300-400 of the Irish votes, and this year should be no exception. One thing in Kennedy's favor is that he is the youngest of the candidates, at age 28, and could use this as a learning experience for future years.

• Michael Marotti — Without a doubt, the most popular of the all the candidates is the field this year.

Marotti is taking part in his fourth commission election. In the past three elections, Marotti has finished as the top vote getter and this year the Marotti crew is not only seeking a commission seat, but the mayor's spot once again. A man who has been active in the Belleville recreation program for a number of years, Marotti is almost certain to take the number one spot once again.

• Joe McGreevy — The one-time mayor of Belleville, McGreevy's popularity has dipped slightly over the years, but he is still a force to be reckoned with. During his 16 years of service to the commission, McGreevy has been able to maintain a debt-free budget, something which very few other communities can also claim. While he may not be as strong as he was 16 years ago, McGreevy will still find himself in the thick of the race at the final bell on Tuesday evening.

• Matthew Pica — Just finishing his first term as commissioner of Public Safety, Pica finds himself with a strong backing. A School Board member for a number of years, Pica is well-known throughout the community. With crime statistics dropping for three consecutive years, Pica has a very shining record to display to the voting public.

• Vincent Strumolo — The final candidate is Vincent Strumolo who is also the senior member of the board. During his 19 years as both a commissioner and a councilman, Strumolo has continued to expand the public affairs department. He has also been very active in veteran activities throughout the community and has remained a very visible figure throughout the years. Always near the top in the voting, Strumolo could give Marotti a battle for the number one position this time around.

My wife and I would like to extend our thanks to everyone who expressed their condolences for the loss of my wife's father. It is especially rewarding to know that there are so many people who care and are available in our time of need.

County Schedules Walking Tour Of Branch Brook Park, May 19-21

Special walking tours of Essex County's picturesque Branch Brook Park have been scheduled for May 19 and 21.

Open to the public, the tour is co-sponsored by the Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs and Friends of Branch Brook Park. Visitors will be guided by staff members from the department's Roseland-based Center for Environmental Studies.

The one-hour leisurely walk will center on tree and shrub identification in the historic 360-acre park, which features one of the world's largest and finest collection of cherry trees. Participants will be given free, informative handouts to enrich their viewing.

The Thursday, May 19 tour begins at 10:30 a.m., with a rain date scheduled for Monday, May 24 at 10:30 a.m. The Saturday, May 21 excursion begins at 2 p.m., with a rain date planned for Sunday, May 22 at 2 p.m.

Participants should wear comfortable shoes and meet in the parking lot opposite Clara Maass Hospital in Belleville, off Franklin Avenue.

For more information, call the Center for Environmental Studies, 221 Eagle Rock Ave., Roseland, 228-2210.

Amateur photographers have until May 13 to submit entries for the 1983 Cherry Blossom Photo Contest, sponsored by the Essex County Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs and Victor Camera in Newark.

Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, to be eligible for more than $450 in prizes. Entry forms are available at camera stores throughout the county or may be obtained from the parks department.

Open to all amateur photographers, contest winners will be chosen from entries that capture the beauty and spirit of Branch Brook Park's world-famous collection of flowering cherry trees. Winners will be selected in color and black and white categories. Entry fee is $3 per application.

All winners and honorable mentions will be on display at a yet-to-be announced location. Information, entry forms and contest rules can be obtained from the Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs. Call 482-6400, ext. 237 between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

Seems Like Only Yesterday...

Driver Ed Program Started at BHS; Singer Connie Francis Returns Here

By Ed Capparucci

Thirty-five Years Ago

Belleville High School received its first driver education vehicle from General Motors. Belleville had been among the first schools to institute a driver ed program, but for a year it was only theoretical, but with a loan of a dual-control vehicle it was hoped that better driving could be established among teenage residents.

A local resident died at St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, after he collapsed while skating at the Riviera Park Rink. The cause of death was undetermined at the time.

More than 650 signatures on a petition to install a traffic signal on Greylock Parkway was presented to the Essex County Board of Freeholders. The group was backed by members of the School 5 Parents and Teachers Association, who were concerned about the safety of their children.

Thirty Years Ago

About 25 residents of Continental Avenue appeared before the Zoning Board to argue against the application of August Plenge for an exception to the zoning ordinance to permit the erection of an A & P Supermarket.

The store would be built on a plot of ground 175 by 350 feet on Franklin Avenue and siding on the backyards of homes along Continental Avenue. Franklin Avenue is zoned for businesses, but because the building would be placed 50 feet from the street, for parking purposes, the entire area would need to be zoned for business.

Members of the Board of Education stuck to their guns in a conference with members of the Board of Commissioners and have decided to sink or swim with their original request that the town-owned property south of the stadium fence be transferred to the School Board as the site for the new high school.

The School Board agreed to allow its attorney to rewrite the resolution for transferring the property with the help of the town engineer to clearly describe the properties in relation to town tax maps.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Singer Connie Francis visited Belleville High School and gave performances at two assemblies. Miss

Francis made her visit memorable by singing some of her hit songs to the receptive audience. She had graduated from Belleville High School only three years before returning to entertain at the school.

St. Peter's School students received awards for jingles written by them for the Petrean Society's current show, "In Our Town."

Twenty Years Ago

Belleville detectives swooped down on a budding narcotics ring here and arrested 11 persons, including six teenagers. All were charged with illegal use of narcotics and held in the town jail.

"We had them under surveillance for some time after we received a tip from the high school," said Deputy Chief Don Smith. All were released on $1,000 bail.

School 3 principal Paul Brennan called it quits after 33 years service to the Belleville school system. He started his career in Belleville in 1930, culminating with his appointment as principal two years ago.

A new appeal for citizens' participation in the 1963 cancer crusade was made by Commissioner Vincent Strumolo. He said the goal of $193,000 set by the Essex County Chapter was still in reach, but more help was needed to reach the deadline by June 1.

Ten Years Ago

Public Affairs Commissioner Vincent Strumolo announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the Essex County Board of Freeholders. Strumolo said he would run on the ticket headed by gubernatorial hopeful Charles Sandman in the June primary.

In announcing his candidacy, Strumolo hit hard at alleged corruption in Gov. William Cahill's administration and blasted the governor on the state's mass transit program.

"I challenge the integrity of Cahill's cabinet," said Strumolo. "He has done nothing for mass transportation in New Jersey. He bought 1,200 buses for large corporations while we needed them for local municipalities."

"I can also better represent Belleville if I am elected to a county level office," he continued.

Strumolo was unsuccessful in his 1970 attempt for the county clerk's seat, when he lost to Nicholas Caputo.

Residents of White Oak Terrace won a campaign to change the zone of their street to an A-zone, therefore permitting only one-family homes to be built there in the future. Also affected by the change are Birchwood Drive, Crest Drive and part of Bell Street.

The request was initiated when 107 residents from the area signed a petition when a White Oak resident sought to convert his one-family home to a two-family home.

The commissioners passed an amendment to the police and fire departments salary ordinance to provide for a 1.3 percent increase in pay over their last hike of 5.5 percent. The raise was sought for several months by police and firemen groups, and Commissioner Robert Laterza said the amendment will "bring the parity to date."

One Year Ago

The Zoning Board approved a request by a Harrison Street partnership to construct a three-story, 18-unit condominium project on Brighton Avenue and Harrison Street, the location of the former Parillo's Restaurant. Although the area is zoned for one and two-family homes, one of several points raised by objectors of the proposal, board members noted the area is a mixture of residential, commercial and industrial properties.

The starting part of the project offered by the applicants themselves, is that the retail portion of the 20-year-old Francis Bakery at 86 Harrison St., would be closed to ease the traffic and parking problem which the condos may create.

Township residents prepared for the kick-off of "It's Better in Belleville" week. The project, created by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce,

Belleville's Past

A century of homerule finds Belleville's municipal affairs still managed by essentially the same form of government as that provided in the township charter of 1839. The administration body might have changed its name from township committee to town commission — but it is still a five-man board as it was a century ago. From time to time departmental additions became necessary because of the population increase and the growing complexity of modern industrial life, — but the fundamental problems of financial and taxation policy, of protecting life and property, of maintaining streets and sanitation, are still the same for the Belleville of today as they were for the Belleville of 1839.

There was no lack of attempts during the intervening century to try other forms of municipal administration. Once Belleville changed from a township to a borough. Once it became ambitious and attained for a short while the status of a full-fledged city. Then again, its high aspirations deflated, it asked its big neighbor, Newark, to annex it. In 1910, finally, Belleville became a town with an aldermanic government. Four years later it returned to the tried old form of the five-man board, but under the new town status the board became a town commission, as authorized by the Walsh Act of 1911.

Such changes were not always accomplished without friction between opposing political groups. More than once courts of law and equity had to untie Belleville's knotty municipal problems. Political rivalry also caused a particularism to flourish which eventually led to the gradual dismemberment of Belleville and left the township with a bare third of the territory it had occupied originally.

Month of May is Declared As Rape Prevention Month

Joan Mc Kenna, director of WAR (Women Against Rape), located in South Jersey, announced that the month of May, for the third consecutive year, is being designated as Rape Prevention Month.

WAR encourages all New Jersey residents and crisis centers to participate, by contacting their local and county elected officials requesting they proclaim Rape Prevention Month.

The goals for Rape Prevention Month are to raise the consciousness of the residents of New Jersey, provide educational seminars and workshops for groups of all ages, male and female, and to provide training for individuals, male and female, interested in becoming WAR volunteers.

Presentations including films, for adults and children, have been scheduled day and evenings throughout the month. Management at Cinnaminson, Echelon and Deptford Malls, as well as local shopping markets, throughout South Jersey, have been helpful and cooperative in permitting WAR volunteers to set up tables and distribute literature and information. It is anticipated, stated Ms. Mc Kenna, that approximately 3,000 people will be reached during the month of May.

Gov. Thomas Kean officially proclaimed May as Rape Prevention Month on May 3 in the State House in Trenton.

DISAGREEMENT ERUPTS INTO RIVALRY!

Hi, I'm Billy from our Styertowne Bernie's Youth Center. My brother-in-law Mark (from our Rutherford store) and I are good friends. We share the same interests, our kids adore each other, and our wives are always on the phone. But that's where the closeness ends. In business, we agree on absolutely nothing (we've already stopped buying together for fear of breaking into fistcuffs!)

A quiet dinner last week turned into near-bedlam when Mark brought up the subject of our Spring Sales. I won't bore you with the details, but he mentioned he could put together a better sale than I! "Nonsense," I replied then, and "Nonsense" I reply now!

We're going to try an experiment. For the first time in our 38 year history, we're going to run separate sales — and we'll let you decide who's right!

P.S. I'm counting on you. Don't let me down. Remember, we've been through a lot together!!

Steve Adubato Jr. Starts Campaign

Steve Adubato, Jr., of Montclair, formally announced his candidacy for the state Assembly last Thursday in front of an enthusiastic crowd of senior citizens, residents and local officials at the Belleville Park Senior Citizens Center. In a series of announcements which spanned the entire day and district, Adubato kicked off his campaign in Belleville at 1 p.m.

"It's a pleasure to start my campaign locally with so many friendly faces present," he said, going on to address the issues plaguing seniors today and other local municipal issues.

When asked why he is seeking office, Adubato stated, "My family background and my experience have shown me that public service is the only place to be if you want to make a difference in people's lives."

Joining Adubato for his announcement in Belleville were Commissioner Mary Senatore, Freeholder President Jerome Greco, County Surrogate Nick Amato, senior leaders George Chenoweth and Louise Gonzales, along with county Executive Peter Shapiro.

In his introduction of Adubato, Shapiro stated, "Steve Adubato represents all that is good in people seeking public office today. His character and integrity are qualities that make me proud to support him."

Speaking for Belleville, Senatore added, "The Belleville Democratic Committee has decided to support the candidacy of Steve Adubato, Jr., for the state Assembly. We look forward to an enthusiastic and issue-oriented campaign."

Adubato, 25, who is a lifelong resident of Essex County and a graduate of St. Peter's School in Belleville, has received degrees from Montclair State College and the Eagleton Institute at Rutgers University and is presently on the faculty at Kean College as an adjunct professor of public administration. Adubato is running in the 30th Legislative District along with Assemblyman Buddy Fortunato, who is seeking reelection, and Senate President Carmen Orechio, also seeking reelection.

Whole Theatre Company Opens Acting Classes For All Levels

This summer, the Whole Theatre Company's Professional Theatre School will feature courses tailored to meet the needs of all levels of acting students from beginning to advanced and from pre-teen to adult.

For adults, the Theatre School, one of the state's foremost training centers for the performing arts, is offering summer workshops in Acting Techniques on three levels. Acting Technique I is an eight-week workshop for the student new to the acting process. In Acting Technique II, for students with previous experience, individual monologues as well as ensemble work based on selected material will be explored. Beginning intensive scene work, Acting Technique III, is a transition into scene study and continues to develop the actor's self-awareness and expansion of imagination and skills as applied to scripted material.

Adult Acting Technique I and II will be taught by Reni Barclay, Ms. Barclay is a founding member of the Whole Theatre Company. Her teaching credits include 10 years of teaching adults at the Whole Theatre, the creative arts program at Rutgers and extensive work in schools throughout the Whole Theatre's arts alternative program.

For teenagers and pre-teens, Acting Techniques I and II are also available. In addition, a new Scene Study course is being introduced for acting teens. Scene Study is recommended for students with prior training. It is a process oriented workshop using monologues and scenes to teach the craft elements of situation and character.

These acting workshops begin the first week in June and run through the last week in July. For more information on specific class dates or other Whole Theatre classes in voice, drama and dance for children through adults, please call the education department at 744-2933.

HEALTH WISE

By Ralph J. DiMaio D.C.

It would be nice if we could put out fires by merely muffling the fire alarm system at the fire station. We can't of course, and neither can we correct human ailments with pain killers, regardless of the ads we see on television.

When any part of the body is affected with disease or damaged by injury, pain is experienced which tells us that trouble exists and should be corrected. Chiropractic treats causes, not symptoms.

Many people are troubled with a nagging, persistent pain in the back or the limbs. Chiropractic may have the answer. Phone for an appointment.

Breakfast In School — The children in Class 1A at School 5 culminated a study of nutrition with a breakfast in school. In the front row, (l-r) are, Marc DeBenedetto, Karen Park, Vanessa Rodriguez, and Raymond Fraszczak. In the back are, Danielle Stabile, Stephanie Keller, James Landon, Denis Massa and Nicole Gibbons.

Lesson on the Record — The students of Mrs. Ciccone's fourth grade class at School 5 invited their parents to a special music lesson, where they demonstrated their progress on the recorder. Posing here are, Edward Stanford, Andrew Hutchinson, Kristen Brauer, Lisa Capriglione. In the second row are, Philip Patuto, Cesar Correa, Pablo Tosica and Jeanine Di Modica.

Social Studies Project — Mrs. DeBenedetto's third grade class at School 5 conducted a social studies project of making their own school neighborhood. It is one of many projects the class has done through the course of the year.

Crime Prevention Program Is Launched by the County

County Executive Peter Shapiro and Freeholder President Jerome D. Greco recently joined municipal crime prevention officers this week to officially launch a county-wide crime watch program.

"By serving as a resource center for crime prevention programs, the county can assist the fine units already in existence, encourage new efforts and allow for a greater sharing of expertise and information," Shapiro said.

Shapiro said a county allocation of $30,000 will be used mainly for educational materials and visual aids to publicize information on public safety. The county will also equip an office and conference room for monthly meetings at the soon-to-be completed public safety building at 15 South Munn Ave., in East Orange. Until then, the resource center will be housed at the Police Academy. The resource center will make it possible for municipal officers to share films and other resources rather than purchase each piece of material. The cooperative effort will enlarge the supply and avoid duplication. The crime prevention officers will advise the county on building the resource collection.

"At a time when crime is alarming and people are constantly in fear of crime, our citizens need greater exposure to crime prevention techniques," said Greco, who sponsored the legislation to create the program.

"This investment by the county is a commitment to work toward a feeling of security in our neighborhoods. Studies show that a well-watched neighborhood is a safer neighborhood and we in the county want to help that aspect of crime prevention to occur."

Tom Oates of Montclair, president of the New Jersey and Essex County Crime Prevention Officers Association, welcomed the coordinated effort as a means "to expand crime watch programs to reach more people throughout the county." Among the association members present was Don Wactor of Orange, executive vice president of the state organization who, with Oates, has been an active supporter and planner of the county coordinated plan. Also attending were: Officer Pati Rubino and Detective Ralph Sarno of Montclair Police Department, Crime Prevention Specialist Elizabeth Jackson of Orange Police Department, Officer Robert Personette of West Caldwell Police, Officer Kelly Reilly of Essex Fells Police, Officer Walter Toney of East Orange Police and Lt. John Zawacki of Bloomfield Police. Representing private sector security were Edgar Ferdon, vice president of American National Bank of Glen Ridge, and Homer Mosley and Michael Tenore of New Jersey Bell Telephone in Newark.

Little Talks at Suppertime — The Bird

And one night the young black bird awoke and began to sing as beautiful a song as ever was sung by the nightingale. The black bird sang and sang and sang, as no bird had sung before. But then his wings began to falter and he could not rise. His feathers came out. His beak cracked. The black bird's song could barely be heard. One night it flew to another perch. It did not have strength left. The black bird who sang like the nightingale fell and was silent.

Charlie Parker, was the greatest saxophone player who ever lived. He was "Bird." And Bird was as creative, as talented, and as inspired as perhaps any soloist who played bop or jazz or swing or ragtime or rock or punk or, yes, Mozart. When he was not drugged with heroin or pills, he was incomparable with his instrument. He was a Heifitz with violin, a Rostropovich with his cello, a Serkin with his piano.

Charlie Parker, along with Charlie Christian, Dizzy Gillespie, Max Roach, Miles Davis and others originated bop, the dominant instrumental music form from 1946 through 1954 or so. He was to bop what Elvis was to early rock and roll. He inspired, in one way or another, every saxophonist who has played in the past 30 years. In that sense, the black bird still sings.

In 1947, while a sophomore in prep school, I heard the English jazz critic Leonard Feather talk about Charlie Parker and the new sounds he was creating. Feather said the Parker music was more revolutionary than that of Stan Kenton (who was my favorite) and of Woody Herman (whom I had interviewed for the school newspaper when he played the old Adams Theatre in Newark). I was the resident authority on jazz, so I latched on to Feather.

Within a couple of weeks I was slipping into clubs and restaurants in Greenwich Village and Eighth Avenue — and even in Harlem. I was never bothered. I saw little crime. I did not even know drugs were part of the scene. About a dozen of us (all white kids) would do odd jobs in the spots just to hear bop. And to hear the Bird.

We pretended to be French intellectuals — existentialism was just coming into America. We hardly knew what the philosophy meant, but we sat around on weekends.

The Korean War came by and other interruptions. Bop was replaced by rock. But I took to classical music, although never losing my respect for the bop and jazz performers. A couple of years ago, my daughter Suzanne surprised me with some reissues of old Charlie Parker records, made in 1947, when he was at his best. I heard again Bird of reading Sartre and Kafka and writers like that. And we listened to the Bird and his flock. On Monday, I would return to school and everyone would want to know what was happening. I spoke as reverently about bop as, I suppose, I would speak today about Beethoven's Missa Solemnis.

Paradise. Yardbird, Bird Feathers, Bird's Nest and Ornithology. Then I heard that 47-second alto break that the Bird made immortal. It is the most memorable of all solos ever performed on a saxophone. I cried when I heard it. I cried for my youth and its memories. I cried for the Bird, who was to die in 1955, with his tortured body and mind at last at rest, only 35 years old. Those records brought it back hard, damn hard.

This is not the place to write about the reasons why he took to drugs. This is not the place to discuss his early life and the way, the difficult way, so many black young men had to survive in those times. No, this is the place rather to listen to his music, for the same reason we listen to Beethoven, without caring too much why he never married one of his passions.

Charlie Parker, the black bird who sang like a nightingale. The black bird is dead, alas. But we can still hear him sing. Put the record on, dear Sue....

Fortunato Looking To Ease Paperwork

Assemblyman Buddy Fortunato will introduce an amendment to speed up the statistical work involved in the computation of income requirements for those covered under the "Senior Citizens and Disabled Protected Tenancy Act."

Under the terms of this law, a tenant must (in addition to other requirements) have an income not greater than three times the county per-capita personal income, as last reported by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of Economic Analysis data.

"The problem," stated Fortunato, an original sponsor of the bill, "is that the relevant per-capita income figures are updated every April because of the time lag caused by the process of gathering, arranging and analyzing the data."

"Under a period of rapid inflation," he continued, "such as we have just experienced, this can result in setting the limit lower than intended and consequently excluding some senior and disabled persons who are entitled to the protection of the law."

Fortunato cited an example from the table used in the computation of the differences between the 1979 and 1980 figures.

"In Essex," he said, "the figures were $9,232 for the former, and $10,468 for the latter: this is a difference of $3,208 which if multiplied by the statutory factor of three, gives us a difference of $9,624. Now if an applicant in 1981 stated his income for the 'last calendar year' (1980) the administering agency would have rejected that applicant even though his income fell some $9,000 below the standard as measured for that same calendar year."

"This kind of situation," said Fortunato, "is unfair and not all in keeping with the spirit of the original legislation."

"The answer," according to the Assemblyman, "is to eliminate the effects of the time lag by amending the statute to require that the income-reporting and the statistical period run concurrently. In this fashion all applicants are protected from the potentially harmful effects of this unnecessary bureaucratic snag."

"This amendment," Fortunato concluded, "will be introduced in the Assembly next week in order to quickly return of impartiality back to the operation of this law."

JUST WHEN YOU THOUGHT YOU WERE SAFE

AVOID THE "RIPOFF" READ

FACT #1	Read & re-read the small print. Beware of phrases like, "none in stock," "8 weeks delivery," "one in stock," or "many others in stock with popular options."
FACT #2	Why do some dealers spend $4,000 for a full page ad to advertise "none in stock," "one in stock," "will order." You better believe there is a rip-off and you are the target.
FACT #3	$80,000 per month in advertising costs are not unusual for the "Go-Go" dealers. Guess who pays for all this advertising?
FACT #4	Factory charges to dealers are the same. It makes no difference if the dealer buys one or one thousand cars. Bigger is not necessarily cheaper.
FACT #5	At Bigelow Motors, you deal with one salesperson & one manager. You are not subjected to pressure by six different "managers."
FACT #6	There is never any charge for "documentary fees" at Bigelow. These fees run as high as $95. (What the heck are documentary fees??)
FACT #7	Many highway dealers have an overhead of over $200,000 per month. Bigelow Motors is mortgage and rent free. Bigelow operates with a minimum overhead.
FACT #8	Bigelow Motors was founded in 1939. It is still run by the original owners. If you have a complaint you can enter their offices and talk to the owners.
FACT #9	You can't buy anything today that even comes close to Chrysler and Plymouth. We sell the best engineered, high mileage cars on the road. Note the absence of safety recalls. You and your family are safest in a Chrysler or Plymouth product.

Joe Grande Makes His Proposals

Joseph A. Grande, candidate for the Belleville Board of Commissioners, has concluded his campaign by making public his list of priorities for Belleville.

The first priority is the construction of a senior citizens residential complex.

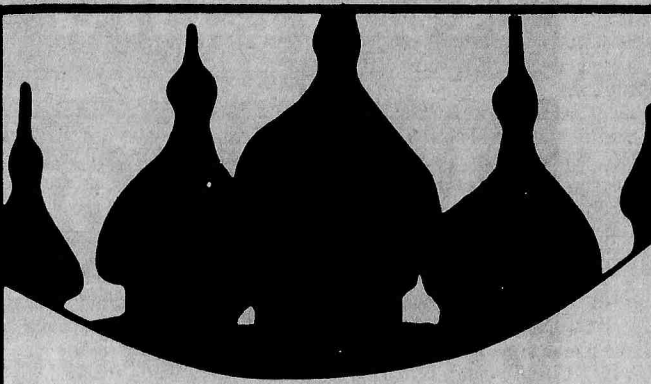

"Senior citizens should be provided with adequate housing that will enable them to live their lives with dignity and respect," he said. "The tolls of inflation, rising medical costs, and other economic factors have compromised the fixed incomes of this age group leaving them with numerous hardships. Provisions for housing in our neighboring communities presently exists. It is the obligation of this town to begin construction on a suitable site in the upcoming year."

The second priority is the revitalization of Washington Avenue.

"My third and fourth priorities are to reiterate my previous commitments to the development of a community-based civic center which will benefit the total population of the Township of Belleville. Last but not least is the maintenance of the industrial areas, preventing the closings of factories and buildings which leaves all of us with a decrease in tax revenues."

"As a member of the Board of Commissioners, I pledge to you the people of the Township of Belleville that these dreams of the past will become a reality of the near future," he concluded. "No bureaucratic committee will be formed, no activist groups or selected townspeople will be permitted to dampen the goals of the new Board of Commissioners. The time for accountability is now."

Belleville Times SPORTS

'Second Season' Now Starts

Crew Team Wins Goodwill Regatta

Led by a total team effort, the Belleville crew team captured the Goodwill Regatta for the second straight year, nudging out Kearny in the overall team standings.

Sam Giuffrida's crew has the week off before returning to the waters on Sat., May 14 for the Mid-Hudson Regatta at Poughkeepsie. On Friday, May 20 and Sat., May 21, the Bucs will be in Philadelphia for the Stotesbury Regatta and the National Championships are slated for the weekend of May 27 and 28 at Ocuquan, Virginia.

"It was sort of a very good weekend for us," said Giuffrida following the championship. "We won the overall championship and took four first place medals. Our junior four finished second and our varsity eight shell took second place."

The varsity race was a thriller from the gun. Belleville, Nutley and Kearny would finish the race just one second apart from each other. Kearny won the race, but as Giuffrida said, "by a less than recordable time. It was a great race, but a little disappointing for the guys that they didn't win it."

Overall, the second place finish in the varsity race assured the Buccaneers the overall team championship. "No team has won the regatta two years in a row in a few seasons," said Giuffrida. "The last time, before last season, that we had won it was in 1977. I'm very proud of the entire team. I'm very happy with their efforts all season long."

The senior four, jayvee, freshman and girls' varsity eight all came out winners in the regatta. Overall, those four boats finished the season undefeated and gives Giuffrida optimism for the "second season" as he calls it, the regattas which begin on May 14.

"We're going to work on a number of different combinations now that the regattas are here," said the coach. "We'll be bringing the girls' junior eight, the freshman, and the varsity with us. Right now, we haven't set up the exact combinations, but we have some ideas of how we want to work it."

Despite being a young, inexperienced team, the oarsmen and women have come through with a strong season and now look forward to that all important second season, a season that brought home a national championship in 1982.

NOTES: The girls' boat has not lost a race since the national championships back in 1981. Amazingly enough, the girls were just 10th graders back then. Kearny rowed at a very high stroke rate and kept the pace throughout the race, winning by less than one second. Giuffrida felt his varsity rowed a good mile against Kearny.

Sweet Victory — Members of the Belleville High School crew squad are all smiles after capturing their second consecutive Goodwill Regatta last Saturday. The Bucs were faced against Nutley and Kearny and did a good job against both clubs. Now the crew is preparing for the championship part of the season.

Diamondmen Drop Three Close Games

By Mike Lamberti

Ralph La Conte is a man who shows a great deal of patience. He is a firm believer that his Belleville Buccaneers can play with some of the best teams in Essex County and by looking at the scores of the recent games, La Conte is absolutely right.

Every once in a while, even the mildest of manners can get slightly ruffled. Thus was the case last week as the Bucs lost three tough ball games before rallying back to defeat Colonia last weekend.

For the season, the Bucs are 3-8-1 and have a tough week coming up. First off, the team hosted Bloomfield on Monday. The Bengals are the top-rated team in the area, the NNJIL and the third-ranked team in Essex County. From there, it's on to Verona Park and a match with Verona in round one of the Greater Newark Tournament. Yesterday, the Bucs traveled to Passaic Valley and tomorrow, will host Passaic starting at 4 p.m. On Saturday, the Bucs if they defeat Verona, will play Essex Catholic in second round play of the GNT.

"We've been in the games all season long, we're just making some mental mistakes that are costing us ball games we should win." Those words came from a slightly ruffled Ralph La Conte last weekend following the win over Colonia. "We lost

Girls Roll Off Six Straight Wins

Buccanettes Continue Winning Streak With Victory in County Tournament

By Mark Foley

Since losing a battle against Caldwell two weeks ago, the girls' softball team went into overdrive, running off six straight wins including one in the opening round of the Essex County Tournament. The skid brought the girls' record to 10-2 through the month of April and 11-2 overall.

Belleville played, in the words of Coach Carl Corino, "a very, very, very important game," defeating Bloomfield 5-2 on Monday on the Bengals' home field and regaining a tie for first place in the Passaic-Essex Division of the Northern New Jersey Interscholastic League.

Trailing 1-0 in the fifth inning,

Tracy Buono lifted a triple to deep left field, scoring Donna Brooks and Kim Indiero for a 2-1 lead. After Bloomfield evened the score in the bottom of the inning on Cathy Kluxen's RBI-single the Buccanettes came back and took the lead in the top of the sixth. Desiree Johansen started things off by reaching on an error. Donna Campana followed with a walk and Dina De Aquino and Oxiris Barbot delivered consecutive bunt singles to give the visitors the lead for good. Belleville added a pair of insurance runs in the seventh on an RBI-single by Johansen and a sacrifice fly by Campana.

De Aquino had another strong effort, striking out six while giving up five hits and only two walks. The Bucs and the Bengals are tied with 7-1 records in the NNJIL and both have eight conference games remaining.

"That was such a big game," said Corino, "because it was on their turf. We've been on a roll lately, winning those six in a row, and this can only add to our momentum."

The defense of the county crown began last Thursday against Shabazz with a 17-0 victory in which De Aquino, a junior, held the visitors hitless through the five-inning contest, striking out nine, walking one, and hitting one batter. Buono, also a junior, and senior Lois DeLuccio hit key an 11-run second inning for Belleville. Buono's shot was a grand slam, adding to her team-leading total of 18 runs batted in. Johansen, who was starting her first game at third base, was two-for-two with a two-RBI double to help pace the 11-hit Buccanette attack. They will face Livingston, who they defeated in last year's county final, at 8 p.m. on Saturday at the Marotti Little League Field on Montgomery Place. The girls have already defeated the Lancers this season behind De Aquino's first no-hitter. However, Corino said, "That first game is no indication of how they're playing

(Please see 'Girls' on page 19.)

Dina DeAquino is Named Athlete of the Month

When it comes to Dina De Aquino, it's all a matter of numbers. The junior pitcher for Carl Corino's softball team has compiled a 7-2 record thus far in 1983 and has piled up some very impressive statistics.

De Aquino, the Belleville High School athlete of the month for April, has hurled 62 innings thus far, striking out 61, walking a mere 30 and allowing just 31 hits. She has allowed just 13 runs to cross the plate and as a team, the Buccaneers have permitted just 18 opposing base runners to reach the plate.

"The team is starting to come around now," said an enthusiastic De Aquino. "Our younger players, who are in their first year of varsity play, have begun to come into their own. We want a shot to repeat our county championship. We worked hard for that crown last year and want to keep it this season."

De Aquino made a valid point when she said, "everyone will be running for us this year in the counties. Last season, it was all new to us, but now that we are the champs, we will be the team to beat. I was talking to Jackie Vitiello (Bloomfield High's star pitcher) and she said, 'last year was Belleville, this year will be Bloomfield.' I didn't say anything, but it's obvious that everyone will be running for us."

De Aquino's career has been well publicized. As a freshman in 1981, she compiled a 3-0 mark on the varsity level, but was plagued by a bad case of wildness, something that she worked on during her sophomore year. "My control has gotten better," she admitted. "The key is the amount of seconds between pitches. I like to take about five seconds in between. A couple of times, I noticed I was taking two or three in between pitches and I became erratic. The five-second pace is where I feel most comfortable."

In her sophomore year, De Aquino put together a fantastic season, finishing with a 15-2-2 mark, earning all-area, all-county and Group IV honors at season's end. De Aquino led the 1982 squad to a 24-2-2 mark, a season culminated by the 8-0 whitewash of Livingston in the Essex County finals.

This season, the wildness that was a part of De Aquino's past, has disappeared. She has walked just 30 batters in over 60 innings of work, an average of just two walks per seven innings. During the month of April, De Aquino put together two no-hitters, beating Livingston, 14-1 in a steady rain earlier in the month and wrapping up the month with a 17-0 no-hit victory over Shabazz in round one of the county tournament.

Perhaps her most impressive effort came in a losing cause. De Aquino had pitched a strong three-hit shutout in beating arch rival Nutley, 2-0 two weeks ago. The following day, she was slated to pitch again, this time against a county power, Caldwell, at Belleville High. The game was being telecast by TV-3 and there was a large crowd on hand.

"I didn't have my best stuff that day," De Aquino admitted. "My control was off. I was falling behind the batters and had to come in with pitches down the middle to compensate. Caldwell was a smart team and got the key hits. They were a very good team."

The Chiefs used the bunt to near perfection in pulling off a 6-4 triumph as Lynda Cecere kept the Belleville bats at bay, holding the usually potent Buccaneer offense to three hits.

De Aquino labored noticeably in the early going, giving up four runs in the first three innings and was visibly fatigued after two innings. Despite that, she went onto a complete game, settling down as the game progressed and nearly winning the ball game. If the locals could have picked up one or two key hits in the sixth inning, they probably would have pulled the game out.

BUC SHOTS

By Michael Lamberti

The point is, De Aquino has matured into a strong pitcher, one who compensates for a poor game by getting the batter out in different ways. Usually a power pitcher, De Aquino made some key pitches to keep Caldwell off balance and go the Chief batters to hit a good deal of groundouts and pop ups. De Aquino kept her team in the game and almost pulled out the victory.

Another factor that people forget is that Dina is a good hitter, currently she is ripping the ball at a .348 pace. In a tough 1-0 loss to Clifton earlier this season, De Aquino pitched a two-hitter and got the only hit of the day for Belleville.

She closed out the month with a very impressive effort, a 5-0 shutout of Lyndhurst, a team that came into the game with a 10-0 record and ninth ranking in the state.

"This is basically a new team from the one which won the counties last year," said De Aquino. "This group wants the crown just as much as last year. I think we're all starting to come together now and I believe we can be a very good ball club down the stretch."

De Aquino, who has compiled a 25-4-2 mark thus far in her career, is a solid team player from the word go. As was stated a few weeks ago, she may well be the best female athlete to date at BHS. There's no telling how good she can be for the remainder of this season and all of next year.

Speaking of good athletes, the entire girls' softball team deserves praise for their scrapping 5-0 win over powerful Lyndhurst last Saturday. Lois De Luccio, the first baseman, came through with a key hit, catcher Tracey Buono smashed a big double, shortstop Kim Indiero was very steady at shortstop and second baseman Cheryl Marion made two outstanding plays to silence two Golden Bear rallies. Oh, and by the way, over at third base is freshman Desiree Johansen, who might make everyone forget about Nancy Coffey, the all-state Buccaneer third bagger who graduated last spring.

Johansen is a natural infielder. She has tremendous range and a good bat. Watch for some very interesting plays from her. The outfield is solid with Donna Brooks in left, Donna Campana in center and Kathy Woods over in right. This is a team which is capable of beating some of the state's best teams. They are a very talented group.

The Belleville High School athlete of the week is Robbie Cancelliere of the baseball team. The senior leftfielder has been very impressive the last three weeks since moving to left from third base.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, in 1981, the Boston Celtics rallied from a 3-1 deficit against the Philadelphia 76ers to win the NBA eastern conference. How many points did the Celtics win that seventh game by and who did the Celtics play in the finals. Finally, how many games did the NBA finals go that year and name the series MVP. The answer: The Celtics beat the Sixers by one point in game seven. The Celtics then played Houston and Moses Malone in the finals, winning in six games. The series MVP was Cedric Maxwell.

For this week's quiz, who did the Islanders play in their first ever playoff appearance, what year was that series and how did the Islanders do? Also, name the team, if any, who defeated the Islanders that season in the playoffs.

Finally, believe it or not, the school year is drawing to a close. It's already May 5 and the school year will end in about six weeks. Here's a schedule of events that The Times will cover as the year draws to a close. On June 2, we'll wrap up the school year. June 9 will be the Belleville High School girl athlete of the year. The boy athlete of the year will be profiled in the June 16 edition and the coach of the year will be summarized in the June 23 edition. Also, we'll be starting a new feature in June, the "Flashback" article. Each week, an article from an old Belleville Times, will be reprinted. It should bring back some good memories for the former BHS athletes who read about themselves after being out of high school a good four or more years.

Heard at Ringside

By Steve H. Frank

Publicist Sy Roseman informs us Joe Verne has bought the old Hennelly Boys Club in Kensington, Pa. Verne is completely refurbishing the more than 10,000 square feet of space on the second floor of the building at a cost of $10,000. The establishment will be renamed Joe Verne Boxing Club in honor of its new owner, Philadelphia boxing promoter Joe Verne. Joe has selected former lightweight Vic Capcino to manage the place. They expect the club to be opened in early May for all area pro and amateur boxers. Mickey Grandinetti, popular ring figure, first opened the club in 1940. Illness forced him to close shop and retire to Scranton, Pa. in 1979. There are 350 permanent seats surrounding the ring. Additional portable seats will provide more than 150 additional seats for monthly amateur shows.

Atlantic City Shuffle: Bob Arum's Top Rank Boxing Promotions was ousted by The Sands. He shuffled over to Resorts International. New Jersey and Philadelphia promoter Russell Peltz was eased out of Resorts. He shifted over to the Claridge and Playboy. Promoter Frank Gelb, instrumental in having his friend (?) Peltz out of Resorts for his promotions, was too slow for Arum, who took over before Gelb could get his second-wind.

Cruiseweight champion S. T. Gordon of Las Vegas has agreed to engage Trevor Berbick of Halifax, Canada, in a no-title tiff on May 14 at Atlantic City, an ABC-TVer. The date became available for the Gordon-Berbick bustout when bantamweight champion Jeff Chandler pulled out of his match with Sergio Palma. Chandler may go to Japan where many more dollars are talked about for a third title duel with WBA's No. 1 challenger Ejiojuro Murata.

Former popular bantamweight boxer Joseph Barone of Nutley who fought under the name of Buck Josephs, died at age 81. Barone had 98 professional bouts in the Metropolitan area after a successful amateur stint.

Co-managers Dennis Rappaport and Mike Jones hollered to the roof tops six months ago that their pride 'n money heavyweight Gerrie Cooney would only fight rated fighters in the future. At a press conference announcing the next Cooney fight would be third-rate Phil Brown (Brown has been in the ring with as many stiffes as Cooney and formerly his sparring partner), the managerial pair were reminded of their "big-blowoff" six months previously. They claimed that Brown is the only good heavyweight available.

In the press manual listing Gerry Cooney's fights, the result of the bout with champion Larry Holmes read "L, disq. 13". This means Cooney lost to the champ by disqualification. When trainer Victor Valle jumped into the ring, during the 13th round, he did so to prevent Cooney from being knocked out. According to Nevada rules, this action results in a technical knockout. The result as listed in the manual is unfair to Holmes.

Shortly after the inauguration of President Reagan, he said, "I will not get involved with professional boxing. There are too many pressing issues that affect all the people to be taken care of first." At the start of 1983 Washington politcals once again said the govern.nent will not get involved in boxing. Too many pressing problems. So why are several politicians investigating boxing if no action is to be taken of the findings? Is it going to be another waste of taxpayer's money. The same that resulted with the 1960 and 1979 hearings.

The gym sharpies are saying junior lightweight Hector "The Clutch" Camaacho of Puerto Rico may grab himself a title tilt with Bobby Chacon or Ray Mancini.

Everybody wants to get a crack at Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini's title. Billy Baxter, manager of newly crowned WBA junior lightweight king Roger Mayweather of Las Vegas, says, "We want Mancini for our next fight."

Newark Symphony Hall Thursday: Heavyweight Jimmy Clark, 12-0, of Coatsville, Pa. WTKO in sixth round over Ishag Muhammad Hussein, 15-15, of Newark; Lightweight Gino Perez of West New York W (unan) Decision in 8 rounds over Jorge Nina of Paterson; Welterweight James "Buddy" Mc Girt of Hoboken WTKO in third round over Tommy Dietz of New York; Junior welterweight Bill "Sugar" Hill of Newark WTKO in first round over Pedro Sanchez of Paterson; Middleweight Rahim Nashid of Newark WTKO in first round over Pete Pennello of Jersey City and light heavyweight Kent Clark of Newark W-decision in four rounds over George Lanton of New York. Referees were Paul Venti and Tony Perez. Promoted by Murad Muhammad. Publicity by Carmine Bilotti.

Michigan Boxing Commissioner Stuart Kirschenbaum has requested the WBA, WBC, USBA and NABF bigwigs to suspend middleweight Mario Maldonado of Vineland, N.J. Reason: Maldonado pulled out of a NABF title tilt with Detroit's David Braxton for the third time. If Maldonado had no intention of fighting Braxton, why did he and manager Carmine Graziano sign contracts?

Tennis Team Dropped From Playoffs With Tough 3-2 Loss to Passaic Valley

By Mike Lamberti

The Belleville tennis team was nudged from a state tournament playoff spot last week as the Bucs dropped a tough 3-2 decision to Passaic Valley.

On the season, Belleville is 4-6, 4-5 in the NNJIL. Lenny D'Armiento's crew hosted Clifton on Monday and yesterday battled highly regarded Montclair. This afternoon, the Bucs host the Kards of Kearny in a 4 p.m. start.

"The kids are looking good, they're starting to come around strong," said D'Armiento last weekend. "Our first five players are first-year men, so they needed the experience. Overall, I'm very pleased with the team's effort."

In addition to the tough loss against Passaic Valley, Belleville rallied to stop conference rival Passaic, 3-2, the second time this season that Belleville has defeated the Indians.

Against Passaic, Dave Boyd was defeated at first singles and Pat Turtirello lost in three tough sets at third singles. However, the doubles team of Amedeo Salamoni and Rich Skulte and the second doubles combo of Jeff Tyther and Jim Petrot rallied to tie the match. Both doubles teams won in two sets.

The match came down to the play of second singles man Herb Petrot, and the junior came through with flying colors, winning, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4 to cap a good afternoon on the courts.

"(Dave) Boyd and (Herb) Petrot are both back with us next season," said D'Armiento. "They are both getting excellent experience playing at first and second singles. Also, they push each other to be better and the competition carries over to the matches."

"The Buccaneer tennis squad has never posted a .500 or better record since the program's inception in 1977. "Our goal is to hit that .500 mark this year," the coach said. "We have some matches coming against conference foes that could go either way.

Girls' Track Squad Wins Its First Meet

The Belleville girls' track team won its first meet of the 1983 season last week, bouncing Mountain High School, 65-57 at Belleville High School.

The girls hosted Eastside on Tuesday and will be home to Kennedy this afternoon starting at 3:45 p.m.

"We're a young team, looking for improvement," said head coach Karen Fucello. "There are a lot of good teams in the NNJIL, teams with a lot of experience and depth. We have neither of those right now and are just trying to work on individual improvement."

In the big win over Mountain, the girls went down to the mile relay before coming away winners. Along the way, they received some strong performances in the running and weight events to propel them to victory. Doreen Senti captured first place in three events, winning the 100 hurdles, the 100 meters and the 200 meters.

"She did a nice job," said Fucello of Senti. "If she stays healthy, and that's been a problem with a lot of the kids, then she'll be tough. I guess staying healthy is the key to the entire success of the team. We can't afford to have athletes out of action."

Faith Adams, who has been fighting a virus, won the 400 meter hurdles and Patty Bliss has been tripling in the mile, half mile and two mile. "She's been either first or second in the three events," said Fucello. "What she's looking to do is win all three in one meet."

Nancy Cocco did a good job in the quarter and has been used in a number of different running events. Ursula Maassmann was a winner in the discus and shot put, while freshman Tammy Mc Queen took second place in the javelin.

Another freshman, Darsel Jackson, has been strong in the middle distance events. Finally, the mile relay team, which won the race for the girls, is composed of Jackson, Alison Burden, Cocco and Bliss.

"We made a few changes for the mile relay," Fucello explained. "I used a few girls who normally don't run the mile relay, but it all turned out pretty good. It was a nice win for the team."

NOTES: The team was 5-5 last

St. Peter's Starts Off Winning

The St. Peter's Pirates opened their 1983 baseball season last Saturday with a 7-5 victory over the Blessed Sacrament of Newark. The Pirates also defeated St. James of Newark by a 14-10 score on Sunday.

Under the direction of coach Jimmy Spurduto, the Pirates got off to a flying start.

Eighth grader Jimmy Dunphy pitched a four-hitter against Blessed Sacrament, while striking out nine batters. George Ricci relieved in the seventh inning.

Against St. James, seventh grader Gene Danchak pitched a three-hitter, while striking out 19 batters. Once again Ricci relieved in the seventh inning.

St. Peter's next game will be Saturday, May 7 at 3:30 p.m. in Branch Brook Park at diamond 3.

Know Your Baseball — The Infield

By Paul Horowitz

There are a lot of things the average baseball fan doesn't see in a ball game and most of these "hidden" chores are done by infielders. Special skills are needed at all four infield positions. These are obvious. The player must have deft, quick hands, also agility and speed. A good, strong arm is essential, except for second basemen, who are closer to first base than the shortstop and third baseman.

The fielding averages each year prove that infielders handle the most batted balls. Shortstops average 400 assists and 300 putouts a season, second basemen average about 375 assists and 300 putouts, third basemen about 250 assists and 120 putouts and first basemen about 90 assists and 1,200 putouts a year.

Thus, we know the keystone combination (shortstop and second baseman) forms the core of the defense. Since pitchers try to get batters to hit the ball away from the foul lines, where the fences are closest, most balls are hit in the area 45 feet or less from each side of the second base bag.

What most spectators don't realize is that infielders often can anticipate where the ball is going to be hit. They know, by watching the catcher's signal, what type of pitch is coming. They should know the hitting strength of the batter, whether he is a pull hitter or hits the ball where it's pitched. They play up a few steps for a fleet runner, back a bit (even on the outfield grass at times) when a slow-moving slugger is at the plate.

With a runner on first base, the shortstop and second baseman get together on which is to cover second base on an attempted steal. If a right-handed pull hitter is at the plate, the shortstop stays at his position, the second baseman moves to cover the bag. If a batter like Pee Wee Reese or Alvin Dark is at the plate, one known to be able to hit behind the runner, the second baseman keeps his ground and the shortstop covers.

The baseman makes his move at the last possible moment, however, for sometimes the ball will be hit at the spot where he normally stands and he'll look like a sucker for having left his defensive position. The infielder must get the jump on the runner, though, and therefore both keystone men rely upon the percentages, which means the right-handed batter normally will hit toward the shortstop side of the diamond, the left-handed hitter to the second base side.

Shortstop calls play

The shortstop usually is the "traffic cop" of the infield. On high pop flies to the infield, or back on the grass in short outfield, he'll yell the name of the defensive man who is in the best position to catch the ball. Thus, a collision is avoided, also the embarrassing Alphonse and Gaston act in which two infielders let the ball fall between them, each expecting the other to grab it.

An infield fly, as the name implies, is a high pop-up that in the judgment of the umpire can reasonably be caught by an infielder. A pitcher and catcher are considered infielders on fair hit balls of this description. An umpire calls the batter automatically out on an infield fly if, with less than two outs, first and second base are occupied, or if the bases are filled. Runners leaving their bases on this play do so at their own risk.

The double play is a defensive gem which can "kill" an opponent's rally more than any other maneuver except a pitcher's absolute mastery of the batter at the plate. Each infielder has definite rules to observe if involved in a double play. The keystone combination figures are in the most double plays, so let's begin with the shortstop and the second baseman.

Get front runner first

The first thing they try for is the front runner. They make sure of the force play first. After fielding the ball they must make their throw as quickly as possible and they must make it chest high, where it can easily be handled and relayed to first base. The second baseman has the more difficult job, for he must pivot and throw from an awkward position. The shortstop, when making the force play, faces almost directly toward first, so it's an easier throw for him.

Often you'll notice that the infielder misses the bag completely on the front end of the double play, but invariably the umpires allow the twin killing. This is what the trade calls "the automatic out." Unless the infielder throws before reaching the bag, the umpire will ignore the fact that his toe barely missed contact. Umpires may deny this, but it's a fact.

The shortstop and second baseman should be as close as ham and eggs. Historians, however, say Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers, one of the finest keystone combinations ever to operate, refused to speak to each other because of a feud between them, but they attended to the mechanics of their position in perfect harmony.

Both infielders must avoid being spilled by the man sliding into second. Getting the jump, and timing one's stride so he is at the bag the moment the ball gets there is the secret of avoiding such contact.

On double plays involving a first baseman, the shortstop covers second base. That brings up the main reason most first basemen are left-handed throwers. A left-hander can throw to second base much more quickly than a right-handed baseman and that split second saved may be the difference between one out and two outs. The first-to-second-to-first double play is one of the prettiest defensive maneuvers to watch.

What to look for Simple things to look for in infield plays are these:

In a rundown (runner caught between bases), fielder must always chase runner first in direction of base he just left.

In receiving throw from outfielder note that shortstop backs up second baseman when latter receives, and vice versa.

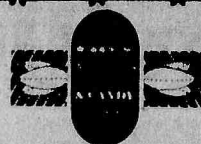

In cutoff plays, fielder taking outfield relay throw stands directly in line with base he wants the outfielder to throw to.

three games this week and two of them could easily have been ours."

The Bucs lost to Montclair, 2-1, Paterson Eastside, 5-4 and Paterson Kennedy, 7-2 before rallying to stop Colonia, 5-2 in eight innings.

The Colonia game was a nail-biter from the word go. These two teams staged a similar battle last season at BHS before Belleville claimed the verdict in eight innings. This time around, the pitchers pretty much controlled things.

Buccaneer sophomore Tom Reid put himself into the varsity rotation by hurling eight marvelous innings in claiming the victory. Reid struck out four, walked none and got 17 of the 24 outs by way of the fly ball.

"He didn't hurt himself out there," said La Conte referring to Reid's super control. "He let the fielders do the work. It was his first varsity start and I was very happy with his competitiveness. He showed excellent control and wasn't afraid of the competition."

While Reid was keeping Colonia at bay, the Buccaneer bats, which have been rather quiet this year, came alive in the eighth inning, scoring three runs and breaking the 2-2 deadlock. Anthony Lombardi powered a double and came in on a single by John Guarino. Robbie Cancelliere, who has really come around since moving to left field, smacked a long single that brought home Guarino. Cancelliere then scored on a Colonia error to seal the Buccaneer victory.

Last Friday, against Kennedy, the Bucs were victimized by the long ball and fell, 7-2. Junior Frank Tursi started the game and went the distance, pitching rather well. "Frank pitched a strong game overall," said La Conte. "He just made a few bad pitches and they (Kennedy) took advantage."

Tursi struck out nine on the day, but yielded a two-run homer in the fifth inning and a three-run triple in the sixth to seal his own fate.

Mark Richardella and Joe Borrello had RBI singles for the Bucs, but it wasn't nearly enough to counter a potent Kennedy attack.

The Bucs lost a heartbreaker to Eastside and their all-everything pitcher, John Grant. Grant came into the game with a fastball clocked over 90 miles per hour and a host of major league scouts in the stands. The locals came in bound and determined that they could beat this pitcher and quiet a few of the critics.

Despite the loss, La Conte felt that the Bucs played their best game of the season. After Eastside jumped out to a 2-0 lead, Belleville tied matters with a run in the second and fourth inning. Eastside took the lead back, 4-2 but Belleville came chipping back again. Cancelliere hit a single, scored on a double by Vinnie Colabelli. On the day, Cancelliere and Colabelli would collect two hits each. After Mario Silvestri sacrificed Colabelli to third, Lombardi pounded a single to center to tie the game.

Eastside scored the winning run in the seventh inning. Tursi was the pitcher, having relieved Reid who relieved Richardella in the fourth inning. He got two Eastside outs and appeared to have gotten out of a bases-loaded jam. "Then it happened," recalled La Conte. "Frank tried to pick off an Eastside runner at first base and the ball went wild. The winning run scored and we lost a tough ball game."

To start the frustrating week, the Bucs lost a pitcher's duel to Montclair. In this game, Charles Bocchino hurled seven impressive innings, but got little support from his mates.

After Montclair took a 1-0 lead into the sixth inning, Belleville tied the game. Borrello walked, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Guarino.

The two teams then went into extra innings where the visiting Mounties took the ball game. After two outs were recorded, the Mounties took advantage of two walks and a single by Paul De Muro to win the game, 2-1.

Rec Softball Season Starts

The 1983 Belleville Recreation Men's Softball League got off to an exciting start last week, with results in from Tuesday and Wednesday night action. Following rain which dampened Monday night's hopes, the Tuesday "B" League started with Silver Lake Auto Service topping Kasey's 9-7, Suburban Cablevision defeating Belleville Political and Social Club 8-5, and Belleville Shoes stepping on Roselli's Amoco 16-8.

In Wednesday "A" League games, the results were: Michael's Roscommon House 4, Burger King 2; De Bacco Brothers 16, Rossmore/Hess 4, and Charles Daniels 7, Megaro Memorial Home 6. Thursday "B" League results will be reported in next week's issue.

now. They've improved a great deal." Their leading hitter, Ally Fordece, has recovered from the injury that forced her out of the previous game and is back in the lineup.

A very pumped-up Lyndhurst team came in to play Belleville last Saturday night at the Little League Field, but they went away with their first defeat of the year by the score of 5-0. De Aquino, who according to her batterymate Buono "pitched the best game of her life," struck out eight and walked three to raise her record to 7-2.

Buono herself was rather keyed up for the contest due to a remark by Lyndhurst coach Frank Servidio. Although he later denied that he said it, he was quoted in the Star-Ledger as saying, "We'll run on Buono." The lead-off batter, Linda Voza walked to start the game and Buono picks it up from there: "I saw that she was going and the only thing that was going through my mind was that article, 'We're going to run on her,' and I threw the ball down. I wanted to show them." Needless to say, Voza was out by almost 10 feet. The effect of the play was not lost on Corino. "Without a doubt that gave us a big lift. No one runs on Tracy — maybe on the pitcher — but not on Tracy. She was really pumped up. She's starting to come on like the all-state catcher she is."

The home team got all the runs it needed when with Brooks on second in the first inning. DeLuccio blooped a double to left. It added the remaining four in the second, mostly on a trio of Lyndhurst errors.

They kept the race for the title close, winning all three of their conference games last week. Senior Kathy Woods posted complete game wins over Paterson Eastside and Paterson Kennedy with scores of 7-1 and 4-2, respectively. Brooks started things off against Eastside with her first homer of the year while Buono did the same against Kennedy.

The only other game last week was against Montclair, whom Belleville defeated 4-1. DeLuccio had the big hit, a two-run single to give the visitors the lead for good.

The girls faced Passaic Valley yesterday, travel to Passaic tomorrow and Clifton on Monday before returning home on Wednesday to host Montclair.

DIAMOND DUST: "Moving Des to third seems to have strengthened us now," added Corino, "and moving Brooksie to the lead-off spot has been a big plus. She's been getting on base" as her .565 on-base show. Buono (.357), De Aquino (.346) and DeLuccio (.325) are the only players over the .300 mark...the team earned run average is an eye-popping 0.50...De Aquino has 67 strikeouts in 69 innings...How's this for an unbelievable stat — in 12 games Barbot, despite a .125 batting average, has a .583 OBP, tops on the squad...The team batting average is only .249, compared with .348 last year...Two seniors, Campana and Indiero, despite being off at the plate, have been extremely consistent in the field. "I've been very happy with both of them," said Corino...DeLuccio, who has had several big hits so far this year explains that "I do better in the pressure situations."

Religious Viewpoint

By Rev. Robert Paul

For over 90 years the majestic statue "Liberty Enlightening the World," has towered above Bedlow Island near the entrance to New York Harbor as a symbol of the freedom which we enjoy here in America. This symbol of freedom was presented to the United States by France, and dedicated on October 28, 1886. It commemorates the alliance between the two countries during the American Revolution. The 152-foot figure, raised on a 150-foot pedestal, is the work of Auguste Bartholdi.

Bartholdi gave 20 years of devoted effort to the work, personally superintending the raising of the subscription of $4,000,000 with which the French nation gave the statue to the United States. When the subscriptions lagged, Bartholdi pledged his own private fortune to defray the running expenses and practically impoverished himself over the work.

At the start when Bartholdi looked for a model whose form and features he could reproduce as "Liberty," he received much contradictory counsel. One of the leading art authorities advised him that the statue should depict "figures of thought which are grand in themselves." After examining outstanding heroes, Bartholdi chose as a model for the colossal masterpiece — his own mother.

Napoleon Bonaparte is reported to have said, "The future destiny of a child is the work of a mother." The best monument that a child can raise to his mother's memory is that of a clean, upright life, such as she would have rejoiced to see her son live. "All that I am, or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother," so said Abraham Lincoln.

"Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need of spoil. She will do him good and not evil all the days of her life." (Proverbs 31.)

If you want to be a godly mother, you must first make sure that you are a genuine born again believer in Christ, by inviting the Lord Jesus Christ to come into your life, and wash away all your sin. Then begin to study the Bible and teach it to your children, but be careful that you practice what you believe. "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Proverbs 22:6.)

Fornarotto Seeking Vote From All Areas of Town

Joe Fornarotto, a self-styled "citizen-candidate" is relying on his considerable support from all segments of the community to insure his victory in next Tuesday's commission election race. To demonstrate that support over 400 people were in attendance to salute his candidacy last Sunday at a breakfast.

"In the final analysis it is the people who will determine Belleville's future course," declared Fornarotto.

Although he received endorsement from several elected officials, he emphasized in his statement his desire to serve is based on the overwhelming support of the taxpayers and working people of the Township of Belleville.

"I have always felt fulfilled in serving the people of Belleville without official title or reward," said Fornarotto. "However, this election will afford the unique opportunity and privilege to participate in an official capacity as a citizen commissioner."

Marotti Association Plans Western Night

The Michael V. Marotti Civic Association will present a "Country-Western Night," Saturday, May 21 at the Amvets Hall, 100 Newark Ave., starting at 7:30 p.m.

A sumptuous "country buffet" will be served, including beer and soda, and entertainment will be provided by the "Last Draw." Price per ticket is $15.

Vinnie Cosenzo and his committee, have been working hard to make this an evening of fun to be shared with friends, and advised tickets are on a first come basis. Please call ticket chairperson Marie Gammara, as soon as possible for your tickets at 759-6849.

Belleville Flash Tie South Orange

The Belleville Flash, sponsored by Casa Polizzi, the Chandelier and Pro Lumber, met the South Orange Sounders recently and came away with a 2-2 tie.

Mike Capasso scored with an assist from Mike Alfano, while Marcello Hochreiter scored with help from Mike Capasso. The game official cited Mike Alfano as outstanding player, while Joey Burke and Doug Phelps split time at goal and played great defense.

The Flash met Wycoff on Sunday and defeated them 4-2. Joey Salamanca and Franco Vitella scored with assists from Mike Alfano and Mike Capasso. Mike Capasso scored one from Mike Alfano and another by stealing the ball and scoring with a powerful kick to the upper right hand corner of the net. Darin Sorrentino played strong defense and Marcello Hochreiter played an outstanding game at goal with five saves.

The Belleville Americans finished in third place in the A Division on the Northern Counties League. They will be playing in the league cup games starting in two weeks.

Retired Persons Plan Meeting For May 5 at Fewsmith Church

Belleville Chapter 2051 American Association of Retired Persons, will meet May 5, 1 p.m., at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church, 444 Union Ave.

A dance demonstration will be furnished by members of the Progressive Dance Studio of Nutley.

The election of officers for the year 1983-84 will be presented at the session.

The program of the 1983 spring performances has been received from the Garden State Art Center in Holmdel. These programs are free for senior citizens, disabled veterans and the blind. You may choose to use your own car, or go by bus if the activities committee can arrange the trip. The cost would be just for transportation. Refreshment stands will be open but it is suggested you bring your own lunch.

There will be a newsletter available at this meeting. All members are requested to stop at the sign in table and pick up a copy of the newsletter.

Hostesses for the May meeting will be Helen Nemeckay and Theresa Le Greid. The next meeting of the chapter official board will be held Friday, May 13.

Recreation Department Holds Twirling Contest

The 1983 Belleville Recreation Department baton twirling competition was held on Thursday, March 17 at School 7.

Each candidate was required to create an original twirling routine lasting no more than three minutes.

The judges scored each girl individually in the areas of smile, posture, appearance, twirling ability, originality, and coordination.

The winners of each category are as follows: Lori Marinaccio, first place beginners; Kristen Zarrillo, second place beginners; Crista Tripodi, third place beginners; Denise Zecca, first place intermediate; Chris Sabatino, second place intermediate; Christine Dacunzo, first place advanced; Veronica Valvano, second place advanced, and Antonia Zangari, third place advanced.

The advisors of the recreation twirling program are Lisa Broan, Cindy Lillis, and Elena Gilday.

Trip to Washington D.C. Planned by Soccer Club

The Belleville Soccer Association is sponsoring a trip to Washington, D.C. to see Team-America, featuring Belleville's own Chico Boria on Sunday, May 8. Youth tickets are $14, while adults are $18. The ticket price includes transportation, a tour of D.C., tailgate party and admission. Please contact Bob Travers for more information, 759-6781.

The Cosmos, in conjunction with BSA, Belleville Recreation Department and Belleville High School Athletic Department, will conduct the Cosmos kickoff at Belleville High School auditorium on May 12 at 7 p.m. Cosmos representatives, giveaways and films on soccer will be features. For further information call Bob Travers at the above number. All are invited and no reservations are needed.

Art Exhibition, Scale Models Highlight May at the Library

An art exhibit by Zdena Soab will be on display at the Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Ave., during the month of May. Also on display will be scale models created by Adam Scott. Both displays are available for viewing during library hours. For more information call the library at 759-9200.

A preschool for children will take place at the main branch of the library on May 5 starting at 10 a.m. The program will be repeated on May 10, 12, 17 and 19. Mary Ellen Baker will conduct the program and pre-registration is required.

On May 5 a videotape, "The Art of Printmaking," with Carol Yudin will be shown at the main branch starting at 10 a.m. The program was produced by "Libraries in Focus."

A preschool for toddlers, conducted by Mary Ellen Baker will take place in the main branch on May 11 starting at 10 a.m. The program will be repeated on May 18 and 25 and pre-registration is required.

A preschool for toddlers will be conducted by Kathleen Mollica at the Silver Lake Branch, 30 Magnolia St., on May 9 starting at 9:30 a.m.

A library craft program, "Make a Mother's Day Card," will take place on May 6 at the Silver Lake Branch starting at 3:15 p.m. The same program will take place in the main branch on May 7 starting at 10 a.m.

"Copper Craft," will be taught on May 10 starting at 10 a.m. at the main branch. The program will be repeated on May 12.

On May 13 a spelling bee will be held in the Silver Lake branch of the library starting at 3:15 p.m.

The movie "Charlotte's Web," will be shown in the main branch on May 14 starting at 10 a.m.

A library craft program,

"Cookless Cooking," will take place on May 20 in the Silver Lake Branch starting at 3:15 p.m. The program will be repeated in the main branch of the library on May 21 starting at 10 a.m.

The film, "The Trouble with Miss Switch," will take place in the main branch starting at 3:15 p.m. on May 27.

And finally on May 28 a library craft program, "Make a Cardboard Racing Turtle," will take place in the main branch starting at 10 a.m.

WHY "MARRY" THAT NEW CAR?

THERE IS ANOTHER WAY!

Found the car of your dreams, but the price is way over your head? Don't settle for "second-best." There IS a way for you to drive that car... without having to "marry" (buy) it. And, you can forget about down payments or high monthly payments or even haggling over your car's future value at trade-in time. Voters Head to Polls Tuesday As Incumbents Look Strong

slogan "He Cares."

A Union Avenue resident, Fornarotto is a regular presence at most community meetings and has built a strong network of citizen support.

In his 1979 bid for a commission seat, he pulled 1,929 votes, placing seventh in the field of 16.

Mayor Michael Marotti acknowledged in the past it was Fornarotto who first brought to the Commission's attention that by changing Belleville's status from town to township, the municipality might be eligible for more federal revenue sharing funds.

The change was made by citizens' election in July 1981, resulting in over $800,000 added revenues for Belleville in the past two years.

Fornarotto promises to oppose the state mandate to re-evaluate homes for stabilizing local property taxes. He also promises more attention to senior citizens in housing and programs.

A strong critic of government waste, Fornarotto pledges to eliminate duplication of local services, and to reduce the size of the municipal work force through attrition.

An activist on veterans' issues, Fornarotto is a graduate of Belleville High School and attended Bloomfield Technical School and Essex County College.

Employed by the county as a housing inspector, he has announced that if elected, he will donate the part-time salary of commissioner to worthy local causes.

Michael Pizzi — 4A. A mainstream political candidate. Pizzi is a lifelong resident of Belleville and cites crime, youth, and revitalizing downtown Belleville as his major concerns.

A 1979 contender for commissioner, Pizzi landed in sixth place with 2,713 votes, a strong showing in a glutted field of 16.

Security director of Tropicana Products of Kearny, Pizzi was previously with the State Police for 13 years. He also holds a BS degree in criminal justice from William Paterson College.

Feeling that government today has alienated itself from the people it serves, Pizzi promises an open door policy if elected.

He also seeks to initiate a Y.E.S. (Youth Employment Service) program in the town to bring together teenagers and prospective employers.

He advocates more "young blood" in government and feels Belleville must commit itself to a definite plan for revitalizing Washington Avenue.

An active citizen, Pizzi is a member of the Optimist Club, the Athletic Advisory Council, the Varsity Club, the The Vocational Council and is standard bearer of the Michael P. Pizzi Civic Association.

Joseph McGreevy — 5A. Seeking his fifth term on the board, Finance Commissioner Joseph McGreevy is running on his record of fiscal conservatism. Proud of the fact that Belleville cleared up all its debts in his 16 years of fiscal management, McGreevy campaigns that Belleville is "The Township That Pays As It Goes."

In 1979, McGreevy placed fourth out of the five successful candidates, dropping behind newcomer Matt Pica.

"I thought it would be higher, but I'm very glad to be re-elected," he told The Times then. Although fewer voters turned out in 1979 than had in the 1975 election, McGreevy was the incumbent who lost the fewest votes in the downturn.

A resident of Cleveland Street where he owns McGreevy's Bar, the finance director is also employed part-time by Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission in Newark.

Kevin Kennedy — 6A. The youngest candidate in the race, Kennedy is becoming a familiar face in local elections. A critic of the present government, Kennedy ran for a Commission seat in the last election, but drew only 665 votes, placing 12th out of 16.

A resident of Hornblower Avenue, Kennedy recently published a 10-point plan to move Belleville forward.

A critic of dishonesty in government, Kennedy pledges to battle nepotism in hiring practices for municipal jobs, adhere strictly to Civil Service hiring rules, and improve efficiency in the municipal labor force. "I want a full day's work for a full day's pay," he said.

A proponent of rent control, Kennedy also favors installing sewerage meters in all local industrial plants as well as assessing a fee on plants having artesian wells in order to see that everyone "pays a fair share."

A member of numerous social and service organizations, including Belleville Independent Citizens Association, Kennedy is co-owner of a used car lot in Newark known as K & A auto sales.

Vincent Strumolo — 7A. Of all the candidates, Strumolo has kept the lowest profile, indicating confidence that he will succeed in adding still another term to his accumulated 19 years of public service both as councilman and commissioner.

Proud of his local political strength, Strumolo finished second in the 1979 race with 3,666 votes.

As Public Affairs Commissioner, he is running on his record of past performance. "I will continue to expand services to all residents," he had said when announcing his candidacy.

A former businessman who attended School 4 and Belleville High School, Strumolo is a WWII Navy veteran and has been active in veterans' affairs during his years as a public official.

"Back when I first took over (the Public Affairs Department), we did not have many of the services we now have in the community," said the incumbent. "We offer free checkups for children, the Little League and scouts. We also have transportation for senior citizens and various cancer detection services including free pap smear tests," he added.

Michael Marotti — 8A. The final candidate in this year's election is Marotti, who has served as mayor for the past eight years. This is Marotti's fourth commission election and once again he should have little problem placing first in the field. The Marotti election team has made it known that they are not just pushing for his re-election, but that they are seeking the mayor's position once again.

A former member of the Belleville Police Department, the Mayor has been active in recreation throughout the community for a number of years. Now serving as head of the Parks and Recreation, Marotti has over the years seen that the children of Belleville have the facilities necessary to grow up in.

"I have always tried to make sure that the children of this community have the facilities they need," he said. "Recreation plays a big part in the development of youth and it should not be taken lightly."

Polls will be open on Tuesday, May 10 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

School Board Will Review All Its Bills

necessary to form one," DiStasi stated.

Trustee Charles Miele agreed with Mrs. Purdue and told his colleagues that it could prove to be a valuable lesson.

"I believe that by the trustees examining the vouchers each month it could be a learning experience for all of us," Miele said. "A program like this has a lot of merit. It will show us what we are paying for each month and will keep everyone honest."

The committee will be broken down into three teams, with each taking turns on a rotation basis once a month. The teams are, Dr. Anthony D'Acostino and Gabe Nazziola; Miele and Donna Rainone; DiStasi and Thomas Spillane. Mrs. Purdue will fill in anytime one of the trustees cannot make it.
