Answering Questions — Gov. Thomas Kean answers questions posed by reporters and local residents in the Valley section of town. Kean toured the site of the chemical scare on Tuesday afternoon with other state and local officials.

Residents to Honor Our MIAs and POWs

The residents of Belleville will make a strong political statement this Sunday, June 5, when Mayor Michael Marotti will officially proclaim "The Red Ribbon Bell Ringer Sunday."

Opening ceremonies will take place on the steps of Town Hall starting at 11:30 a.m. Following the ceremony, fire department trucks will take to the street, sounding their sirens.

This will mark the second time in the history of the nation that a whole community has responded to the tragic issue of American servicemen missing in action.

Highlighting the ceremony will be the reading of the proclamation and the raising of the P.O.W./M.I.A.

flag, thus officially launching the major event. The program will be led by the Belleville Fire Department under the direction of Chief George Sbarra. The 45-minute salute will feature the singing of "A Ribbon Bright and Red," sung by Jim Cava, a Vietnam Veteran, who will introduce the song on Real People later this spring.

Residents will be asked to sign cards to President Reagan and the Vietnamese Ambassador to Southeast Asia. This response is a direct result of President Reagan's appeal for increased public awareness on prisoners missing in Southeast Asia. It is the fervent hope

Study Shows Trimming Can Be Done to PVSC

The findings of a management study on the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission are in — and the results have made town officials very happy.

The study, done by Coopers and Lybrand, a Washington D.C., firm, showed the commission could reduce its expenses by approximately 30 percent, if cost-control and energy-savings measures were put in place, and if the commission would seek more customers.

"If the report is accurate then it is very promising," said Mayor Michael Marotti. "With all the increases we have received from Passaic Valley in recent years, perhaps this report will get them to start making cuts and reducing our bill. Because if their budget goes down, our budget will go down."

Belleville was notified in February that PVSC had increased this year's bill by 68 percent. The town was one of 18 communities in Essex, Passaic and Bergen counties, which were subjected to substantial increases.

Fed up with the high prices, Belleville along with 14 other communities, joined together and con-

State To Conduct Health Testing

Governor Visits Chemical Site; Valley Residents Seek Answers

By Linda Telesco

Reacting to the toxic scare sweeping the Valley district, Gov. Thomas Kean, State Senate President Carmen Orechio, and other state health authorities met with Belleville officials Tuesday afternoon to discuss further remedies for the toxic-leak site and to allay the health and safety concerns of area residents.

"We have not yet found anything detrimental to the people's health," the governor told an anxious crowd of over 50 residents, and county and local officials after his 20-minute tour of the Organic-Inorganic Research Center at 505 Main St., the site of several chemical leakages in the past week.

Kean said several teams of investigators were still taking tests and complete results would be available Thursday.

Standing behind the police barricades, Valley residents, many holding the protest signs they have marched with all week, watched as Gov. Kean, Sen. Orechio and other authorities, including township attorney Frank Zinna, donned protective white suits and toured the food-flavoring manufacturing plant which Belleville closed by court order on May 18, two days before the first toxic leak.

On May 20, a leaking drum of benzyl chloride sent fumes into the environment prompting officials to evacuate some residents from their homes, close down nearby School 9, and seek immediate environmental help from the state Department of Environmental Protection.

That was the first of three leaks which brought to a head the complaints citizens say they have been making to local health officials about fumes and such ailments as nausea, burning eyes, skin rashes, which they believe resulted from the plant's operations.

Emerging from the visit inside the plant, where officials say some 450-500 drums containing chemicals remains, Kean said, "I wanted to see first-hand what the problem is in Belleville."

Assuring the citizens there was no clear health threat, Kean said, "We're taking every possible precaution and will provide free health screening." According to the governor, a mobile unit will be set up in the township to study citizens' health complaints and to determine if a connection exists to the site.

Accompanying Kean was Dr. J. Richard Goldstein, commissioner of the State Health Department, who said his department had taken some 18 air samples to date.

"Seventeen of those are negative and one turned up positive but with a reading too low to be detrimental to the public health," Goldstein said.

Noting the Belleville Health

Department has only seven nurses and no physicians to handle the flood of inquiries, Goldstein said the state unit will be staffed with several doctors and perform tests as well as take blood samples to determine if there are toxic reactions.

The health commissioner confirmed rumors of radioactive substances found on the site, but said they were in "amounts too insignificant" to affect area residents.

When asked by citizens if there was a danger of explosion, Kean turned to George Tyler, deputy commissioner of the DEP who said, "We're concerned about that too and are investigating to see if any hazardous substances are present."

Since the situation erupted May 20, outraged residents demanded that officials remove all drums from their neighborhood.

Their fears multiplied this week when late Monday night, an explosion was heard in the area. Mayor Michael Marotti, on the scene Tuesday, said police traced the sound to firecrackers set off by what they thought were pranksters, despite the two police officers on guard duty at the site.

"We want everything out of there, toxic or not," said Kathy Theis, chairperson of the area's Citizens Actions Committee.

Officials, however, are abiding by advice of chemical experts working at the scene who say it is safer to test the contents of each drum, label it properly, then transport it for disposal.

Removal is expected to begin by the end of this week, said Belleville Health Officer Tom Longo.

Since the start of the crisis, Belleville engaged the services of a private chemical investigation firm, Peabody Clean Industries of Linden Worried Residents — People living around the Organic-Inorganic Company, site of the chemical scare, have been holding a series of protest all week long. The residents are upset with the "lack of action" they have been receiving since the chemicals were discovered two weeks ago.

Govel Handles Major Sale

The sale of a 12-unit garden apartment complex at 259 Belleville Ave., recently was negotiated through Govel Realtors, the Belleville-based full-service real estate organization.

Ralph B. Giordano, executive vice president of Govel Realtors, successfully completed the transaction after arranging financing through First DeWitt Savings and Loan Association of Belleville.

According to Giordano, the sale to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Liotta of Bloomfield was in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

The 10-year, all-brick garden apartment complex consist of eight one-bedroom and four two-bedroom apartments. In addition to an excellent location, the apartments feature a number of interior amenities, including carpeting and air-conditioning.

Under terms of the sale negotiated by Giordano on behalf of Govel Realtors, the seller agreed to take back a second mortgage on the apartment complex once first-mortgage financing was arranged.

"Once again, the complexity of this sale illustrates the pivotal role an experienced, professional realtor plays in completing a transaction satisfactory to both parties," Giordano said.

Govel Realtors will retain management responsibilities for the apartment complex under the new

Fortunato, Kelly Explain 'Yes' Vote On Controversial Negotiation Bill

By Michael C. Gabriele

The aftermath of Assembly Bill A-585 continued to spark controversy as local legislators Buddy Fortunato and John Kelly explained their "yes" votes to local School Board officials in Belleville and Nutley.

The bill, which passed the state assembly May 5, would allow teachers' unions the right to negotiate such "permissive" policy issues as curriculum, class size, student testing and teacher transfers. The 1979 Richfield Park decision by the N.J. Supreme Court has made such issues the exclusive domain of local school boards as being strictly management decisions which could not even be raised at the bargaining table during contract negotiations.

"Bill A-585 was a very tough issue to deliberate," Assemblyman Fortunato said last week, while appearing in Nutley. "Originally, I didn't support the concept. But I voted 'yes' on the bill because I felt that, at this particular time, teachers should get some relief in this area and be given the right to negotiate these issues."

The main thrust of Fortunato's justification for his "yes" vote was that he did not receive sufficient input from local school boards on the issue. Had local school board members shown more interest in the bill, Fortunato claimed, he might have been persuaded to vote against it.

"I know that local school boards are very upset by the passage of this bill," Fortunato continued. "But the funny thing was that I only heard from two or three board of education people in my district. No one made an appointment to see me, to sit down and discuss these issues."

"Our board wrote to each congressman involved, voicing our objection of the bill," said School Board President Grace Purdie. "The problem we faced was time. We were only notified about the situation three days before the voting was to take place, and we immediately sent out letters. If he did not receive our letter I would like to know about it."

Frank Tangorra, president of the Nutley Board of Education, who says he will put up a strong battle against the bill which is headed for the senate, said Fortunato did receive input.

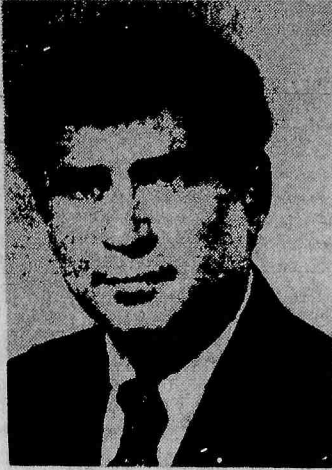

"He said that he didn't receive input from board of education officials, but this just isn't so," Tangorra charged. According to Tangorra, John Griffiths, president of the Montclair Board of Education and Joan Pine, president of the Essex County School Board Association contacted Fortunato. "I called him myself and the Nutley Board sent him many letters and telegrams," Tangorra said.

"I felt an issue such as this should have had more attention from the area school boards. Sure, I got letters and some phone calls, but I thought that there would have been more communication with me on their part," Fortunato stated. "If I had received the input from school board officials that his bill was going to weaken their management and policy structure, then I would have voted the other way."

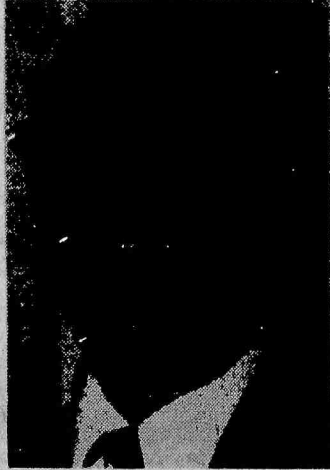

Meanwhile Assemblyman John Kelly said he voted yes after receiving strong response from teachers.

"I got hundreds of letters to support the bill from teachers in this district," Assemblyman John Kelly stated. "I had sympathy for the bill and I voted 'yes' for it. You can't just disregard the needs of teachers."

"Originally, I didn't support the bill and I told this to several board presidents," Kelly admitted. "But there were other considerations which changed my mind," he said, apparently referring to the many letters he received from teachers. "I think that many School Boards are making too big a deal over a bill that isn't going anywhere. Are they going to single out Buddy Fortunato and myself, or are they planning to contact all 59 Assemblymen who voted for the bill? Even if the bill became law — and I don't think that it will — they still have the right to say 'no' during negotiations. Up until a few years ago (1979 and the Richfield

Buddy Fortunato
'Little Board Input'

Park decision), they did negotiate on policy issues. There could very well be advantages in negotiating 'permissive' issues with teachers' unions. The board could save money on a salary increase by making a compromise on a particular policy issue."

Assembly Bill A-585 was passed by the N.J. Assembly by a 59-14 margin on May 5. The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Thomas Cowan (D-Hudson) would allow teacher unions to negotiate teacher transfers, student testing, teacher assignments and the length of the school year. The bill is presently in a state Senate sub-committee.

Senator Carmen Orechio, who met with Montclair Board of Education President John Griffiths and Deputy Executive Director of the N.J. School Board Association Octavio Reid during a luncheon at the Nutley Manor restaurant May 17, has not yet revealed his position on the bill or how he plans to vote should it come up in the Senate.

But School Board Vice President Thomas Spillane said last weekend

he would ask his fellow colleagues to "push harder" in expressing their opinion of the bill to Sen. Orechio.

"I was at a meeting of the New Jersey School Board Association's Urban Committee, and we were told that some legislators claimed they did not receive enough input from School Board members concerning the fate of the bill," he said. "What I will propose to the board is that we contact Sen. Orechio as individuals instead of as a whole board, while also finding parents who are against the bill and get their support in fighting it."

Milk seems to be the all-American drink when it comes to supplying dietary calcium to young children and post-menopausal women. Unfortunately an estimated 30 million Americans cannot consume any dairy product due to an inability to digest lactose (milk sugar). They suffer from bloating, cramps and diarrhea. However, now there is a new enzyme that can be added to milk that enables those with a lactose intolerance to comfortably drink milk. The enzyme splits lactose into two digestible sugars, glucose and galactose. The enzyme is sold in pharmacies and is available in some ready-to-drink milk that has already had the enzyme added.

"The Valley"

Residents of "The Valley" section of Belleville are properly concerned over the effects of leaking chemicals from old drums stored in a chemical plant on Main Street.

Some of the neighborhood residents have lived their lifetime there. Their entire savings — all their valuables, including their children, are exposed to an unknown hazard. The fear of the unknown is what frightens the people.

The process of analyzing contents of 1,000 drums, at the insistence of Senator Carmen Orechio, will be expedited in order to get the answers faster. Instead of an eight-hour day, Sen. Orechio is insisting the lab chemists work 24 hours a day to reach the end of this ordeal within 10 days instead of 30 days.

Area residents find it difficult to eat, almost impossible to sleep, the odor in the air is offensive, raising the concern of troubled people.

Locally, public officials, led by Mayor Michael Marotti and health Commissioner Michael Pizzi, aided by town counsel Frank Zinna, have provided the spark to permit the lab analysis to proceed.

Tuesday, Gov. Thomas Kean made a personal inspection of the Research Organic-

Inorganic Chemical Company facilities, accompanied by Mayor Michael Marotti, Commissioners Joseph Grande, Michael Pizzi, Freeholder Arthur Clay, Assemblyman John Kelly and Senate President Carmen Orechio. The interest of a broad spectrum of public officials in this neighborhood was triggered by the actions of PTA President Marianne McCrea, PTA Vice President Kathleen Wesolowski, another PTA officer, Kathy Watkowski and Dorothy O'Keefe.

There are hundreds of drums with unidentified chemicals — and that is the problem facing local and state officials. The residents of the area rightfully are worried and frustrated. With the concentration of concern by public officials as was demonstrated Tuesday, it appears that soon the neighbors of "Belleville Valley" should get the answers they seek. An aroused public can be effective when it is fighting for something that is obviously right.

Teacher Evaluation

Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman is pressing school boards across the state to double and triple the number of teacher evaluations conducted at the local level.

Cooperman is asking local school boards to freeze salaries of incompetent teachers in an effort to force them from the classroom.

The new emphasis on classroom observations requested by the state is intended to eliminate the "minority" of bad teachers by "identifying the real pros who might deserve more money than they are receiving." Stimulated by the support of Governor Thomas Kean, Commissioner Cooperman is attempting to develop a merit pay system.

Cooperman is using an implied threat to encourage the local school boards to act on his recommendation. "The message is out," he said, "and we'll be studying the response for a year or two. If the data shows the message is being ignored, then there are things we can do — including a mandate." Cooperman's threat involves a dimension of home-rule.

Should there be a uniform standard of administrative rules for education throughout the state of New Jersey, or should the school boards at the local level make their own determinations?

Cooperman's campaign is based upon the employment of a little-used power granted to school boards to withhold the annual raises traditionally taken for granted by teachers. The legal procedures necessary to deny annual increments to teachers are far less complicated than those needed to strip teachers of tenure.

While Cooperman's objective may be sound and necessary, his proposal, while meritorious, can be manipulated by a politically motivated school board to the detriment of teachers and students.

Governor's Veto Upsets Dog Lover

To the editor:

Senate President Carmen Orechio sponsored a very fine and much needed bill to extend enforcement of humane laws enacted for the protection of animals to qualified animal welfare organizations.

Passage of Senator Orechio's bill would have meant all animal cruelty cases would be investigated immediately. Gov. Thomas Kean vetoed this bill on Tuesday, May 24.

As the law stands now, only the SPCA has sole powers.

The present restoration of such rights to the SPCA is part of a measure now a century old, at which time the SPCA was the sole humane organization within the state. As the population has grown, so has the incidence of animal cruelty cases.

Should animal cruelty cases be neglected because an SPCA agent is not at hand? The SPCA does not promise immediate investigation to your animal cruelty complaint.

Extending prosecution rights to qualified humane organizations would not lessen the powers of the SPCA but permits qualified humane organizations to assist them. Why does the SPCA object to offers of help they really need?

Belleville's and Nutley's dog wardens, the Associated Humane Societies, has well-equipped shelters to which an abused animal may be transferred, as well as veterinarians in attendance.

With the far larger numbers of animal owners, and people coming into the USA in droves from foreign backgrounds, many more cruelty cases are encountered, and while some cruelty cases may be due to ignorance or lack of education in animal responsibility, the cruelty cases simply can't be handled by the SPCA alone, if even due to geographical territories!

But animals should not suffer but they do now and this will continue until a protective bill as Senator Orechio's is passed to protect animals.

Suggestion of Censorship Disturbs Member of NLT

To the editor:

As a member of Nutley Little Theatre, I was pleased to read your enthusiastic review of the group's latest production, "Fifth of July." I couldn't agree more with your positive remarks. However, I was disturbed by your suggestion that NLT should adopt some type of censorship procedure for its productions. In the case of "Fifth of July," you felt that some "dirty language and sexual relationships... should have been tempered and, in some cases, eliminated" on the presumption that they offended some community standard.

Lanford Wilson, the author of this play, is one of America's finest contemporary dramatists and his talent has been recognized by audiences, critics and his peers. During its long run on Broadway, "Fifth of July" became familiar to many thousands of theatre-goers. The language (not very titillating) and the sexual relationships (not particularly bizarre) were not seen as controversial.

I find it hard to believe that an audience of adults in Nutley would be less willing or able to view this play just as it was written by Lanford Wilson. In fact, I think the audience has a right to see what it has paid for — Mr. Wilson's version of his play.

Director's decisions are tough enough when confined to dramatic questions. It seems unreasonable to suggest that they tinker with scripts in order to comply with an undefined, unexpressed community standard of propriety. When we are privileged to stage a superior drama like "Fifth of July," it's best to play it just as the man wrote it.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Moore

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Belleville gained a spot on the TV news camera that it would have been better spared had not questionable storage of chemicals been detected by affected victims who experienced skin irritations and nausea... police and fire units responded to the scene in response to the calls of anxious residents. School No. 9 was dismissed and the children sent home. The area was blocked off and residents advised to evacuate their homes as a precautionary measure.

An ivy-covered factory type building in the Valley Section, reportedly engaged in chemical analysis work, seemed to be the focal center of the emanating miasmic odors. Environmental and toxic technicians were dispatched to the scene to determine if carcinogenic elements were present.

The prominence given the incident by the major TV network chains on the 6 o'clock news alerted and alarmed many local residents whose fears were whetted by the closeness of the frightening incident, especially in view of increasing number of similar evacuations of vast areas throughout the country caused by noxious odors and the leaching of toxic wastes.

The insidious properties of these chemicals, which are often toxic, are nefarious in that the harm they may inflict may not be detected until many years later or even passed on genetically to offspring.

Our environment is being changed, no longer can we remain complacent in the assumption that all rules and regulations are being scrupulously adhered to.

It is apparent that no longer are periodic cursory health and fire inspections of warehouses, factories and laboratories, especially those handling chemicals, sufficient. There should be regular systematic inspections conducted in a methodical comprehensive manner to insure prevention of a recurrence of this forbidding incident.

From past experiences of environmental violations throughout the state of willful hazardous infractions, it is obvious that much closer surveillance by the proper authorities is a required necessity and it should start at the local level.

Hopefully there will be no lasting harmful physical effects resulting from this local incident, however, it may be difficult to erase from the minds of the children who were unexpectedly rushed from their school. Often the imaginative minds of young children conjure strange notions. Sometimes a traumatic event provokes insecure thoughts which calls for parental reassurance. Let's trust that proper monitoring of these business places will avert another terrifying disturbance of this nature again.

Twice in three weeks a government report charged that Interior Secretary James Watt had short-changed the nation's taxpayers on a coal-leasing deal with the energy industry in the Powder River Basin area of Montana and Wyoming. It was the largest lease of federal coal reserves ever (1.6 billion tons). Aides of Watt had dismissed the earlier report, done by the Democratic staff of the House Appropriations subcommittee, as a "deceitful political document." But this week's official assessment was prepared by the General Accounting Office, headed by Reagan Appointee Charles Bowsher, the Comptroller General. The GAO's central finding: the Government obtained some $100 million less than fair-market value. The Democrats had estimated that Watt had shortchanged taxpayers by $60 million.

The GAO report questioned "the reasonableness of the department methods" and urged Watt to postpone further coal leasing. Illinois Congressman Yates charge that Watt's plunging ahead in the current soft coal market was tantamount to a giveaway. Watt replied, "Congressman Yates believes in central economic planning. We believe in the free market."

One worried aide to Watt remarked, "This whole fair-market thing could bring Watt down; it could destroy him." The Watt rejoinder: "Every time I increase the hatred of those who oppose me, those on the other side who support me are even more willing to lay down their lives."

Deputy Secretary Guy Fiske resigned from the Department of Commerce. He was the departments No. 2 and in charge of negotiating the proposed sale of the government's $1.6 billion weather and earth-resources satellites to the private Communications Satellite Corp. (Comsat), which was also the inspiration for the plan. The price was a good bargain: $300 million.

Fiske held at least four meetings with officials of Comsat to discuss becoming an executive in the corporation. While he insists that there was "no impropriety" in his dealings with Comsat officials, the FBI began investigating Fiske's role in the affair.

EDITORIALIZING

The Situation Continues

By Ed Capparucci

It's a joke. Except it is not funny, especially to the folks in the Valley section of town. It was two weeks ago that town officials noticed drums leaking toxic chemicals in the Organic-Inorganic Company, and as of Tuesday, those chemicals were still sitting in the Main Street plant. Now what most residents in that area want to know is "What's going on?"

As everyone knows by now the governor came to Belleville to check out the situation first hand, and the people in the area seemed satisfied with his visit. But let me ask you something, "Aren't you in the same situation you were two weeks ago?" The chemicals are still there.

In talking with the mayor on Tuesday he said he wants the chemicals removed as much as anyone else, but his hands are tied, along with the rest of the Town Fathers. The situation is in the hands of the state and private investigators at the moment. The mayor expressed hope that the chemicals may be moved by the end of next week, if all goes well, but the experts are in the midst of testing the chemicals and say they cannot move anything as of yet. The mayor has also said that if he had his way the chemicals would have been moved along ago, but he cannot have his way. Officials must test and label all the barrels before they can be moved, and there is nothing that can be done to change that.

But it seems that the Valley residents are not too happy living in the middle of a "Safe, but unhealthy environment," and you cannot blame them. If I lived there I would have been upset also. By the way, can anyone tell me exactly what "Safe, but unhealthy" means? If something is unhealthy, then it is dangerous. And if something is dangerous, then it cannot be safe.

Town officials are asking the Valley residents to be patient a little longer. Thus far they have been patient for a long time. And what about before the public knew what was going on there? It is an awfully long time for anyone to endure what has been going on down in the Valley.

Last week I wrote an article about the situation which drew some heavy criticism from many people, but I will not back down on my stand. Toxic chemicals are all over, in every town of every state, throughout the country. But enough is enough. Even the governor said that nothing has been found that is considered a danger to the health of the Valley residents. I did not mean to come across that the residents in that area should not be concerned. They have every right in the world to be concerned and worried. My comments were in reference to day one, that Friday night, when very little was known about the situation and the television media was playing it up. What the media did was unethical. What they did was to exploit the fears of the Valley residents, reporting hearsay instead of facts. That is all I was trying to bring across in my column. Most of the people in the Valley have withstood this test of endurance very well, and officials should push even harder to bring an end to their nightmare.

Commissioner Michael Pizzi said this week he will start investigating past complaints to see what was done about them.

Meanwhile, Tom Longo, the health officer, has been taking some heat in recent weeks, but the man is doing the best job he can. He is responsible for closing the plant, even though the DEP turned its back on him. Tom has family in the area and is just as concerned as the residents in the Valley.

If any finger should be pointed it has to be directed toward the DEP on two accounts. First, its refusal to get involved when Longo noticed the leaking drums and second, the plant once had chemicals removed back in 1980. The DEP was responsible for keeping an eye on the company, but apparently someone did a lot of nothing.

I almost saw a young boy get struck by a car last week and it brought back a disturbing memory. I was about 18 at the time and I was driving along a main avenue in a Jersey shore community with several friends. I was searching for a parking space when I noticed a boy on a bike coming out of a side street. Everyone else in the car including myself, thought he was going to turn right and head down the avenue, but instead he cut right out onto the main street and in front of my car.

Fortunately for him I was watching the road and driving below the speed limit. My car did make contact with the back of his bike, but thank God no one was hurt. Today I still think, "What if I hadn't been paying attention to the road, or was speeding, what would have happened?"

The reason I bring this up is that summer is upon us and soon school will be out. I would like to take the time to warn kids to be careful when riding their bikes, and drivers to be especially careful at this time of year. Also perhaps teachers can take a moment during their class and emphasize bike safety to all their students. It would be well worth the effort.

Play Review

'Man of LaMancha' Shines At the Paper Mill Playhouse

By Linda Telesco

One of theater's most enduring musicals "Man of LaMancha" is back in a stunning production at Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn starring a foremost New Jersey star, Jerome Hines.

A 37-year-veteran of New York's Metropolitan Opera, Hines returns to Paper Mill in the leading role of Man of LaMancha for the third time. In this production, he is ably supported by a strong cast and by Rudy Tronto's intelligent direction.

Based on a book by Dale Wasserman, Man of La Mancha tells the memorable story of Miguel de Cervantes, the 16th century Spanish author of the celebrated novel "Don Quixote."

The play is set in a Seville dungeon where Cervantes and his devoted friend Sancho Panza are held along with a dozen other hopeless prisoners, all accused of crimes against the Catholic Church, awaiting trial by the terrifying Spanish Inquisition.

As an initiation, Cervantes must undergo a mock trial among his fellow cellmates who demand to know the crime that leads him into their midst. Declaring himself a poet, Cervantes pleads guilty to charges of being an idealist and sets out to vindicate himself by staging, in the dungeon, the action of his novel.

The prisoners join him in acting out the story of Don Quixote, a poor but likable man from the town La Mancha who whiles away so many hours reading romantic tales about knights in shining armor that his imagination leads him to abandon his family and go out on a mission to perform heroic deeds and right the world's wrongs.

Old and scrawny, Quixote enlists a jovial country man, Sancho, as his squire and together they make a comic picture riding the countryside while the "knight" fights imaginary dragons and giants.

Their adventures bring them to a seedy inn that Quixote imagines to be a royal castle. There he finds a scullery maid Aldonza, prostitute to all the muleteers. The knight gives her the romantic name 'Dulcinea' and declares her to be his lady fair, a role she later comes to cherish.

Don Quixote is considered a lunatic by the practical realistic people around him, the family he left behind and the rough workers he meets at the inn.

These are people whose hard lives lead little room for dreams, but still he manages to touch the hearts of some, like Aldonza, and give them hope for better things.

The real battles this poor knight fights are against human pain and despair. The central theme of "Man of La Mancha" is embodied in its most beloved song, "The Quest," otherwise known as "The Impossible Dream" - reach for the stars even if others call you a fool.

Thrillingly tall and romantic looking, Jerome Hines looks every inch the gaunt knight - pathetic yet inspiring. When he sings "The Impossible Dream," and the beautiful ballad "Dulcinea" his deep basso voice gives a memorable flavor to the musical's best known songs by Mitch Leigh and Joe Darion.

One flaw, though, is that Hines' voice does not lend itself well to speaking roles, and understanding the actor in his dual role as Cervantes and Quixote was often difficult.

Bernice Massi was excellently cast as Aldonza/Dulcinea, the gutter girl hardened by a life of poverty and mistreatment by men who use and abuse her.

With her strong sopeano, voluptuous Massi was both fierce and touching as the woman who came to treasure the dignity Quixote gave her.

A warm, humorous portrayal of Sancho was given by Lou Criscuolo, a veteran performer who won the New Jersey Drama Critics Award for past performances of the role.

Former Nutley resident Arthur Hunn turned in a strong performance as Dr. Carrasco, the finace of Quixote's niece.

A commanding presence with his stern dark appearance, Hunn evoked the rational man of facts who refuses to indulge the knight's imagination and forces him to face reality in a dazzling duel with mirrored shields. Also notable were Jack Dabdouh as the patient innkeeper and Walter Blocher as the kindly priest who a tolerates Quixote.

Rudolph Bennett ably conducts the orchestra and costumes are by Vida Thomas. Special credit goes to David Kissel for his dramatic set and lighting designs.

"Man of La Mancha" continues at the Paper Mill Playhouse until June 26. The theatre is on Brookside Drive in Millburn and Max on-site parking is available for two dollars. The Box Office number is 379-3717.

Belleville's Past

Sandford maintained that the city elections had been illegal, that consequently the new city officials were usurpers, and that, besides, he was under heavy bond of which he had not been released yet. He also doubted the legality of the city charter as a whole and made it clear that he and his political friends would apply to the State Supreme Court for a decision. It was now evident that the Trenton solons in their eagerness to bestow the blessings of a city constitution on Belleville had forgotten to dismiss the polling district commissioners from office, who since the elimination of Franklin had been the only recognized civil authority in Belleville.

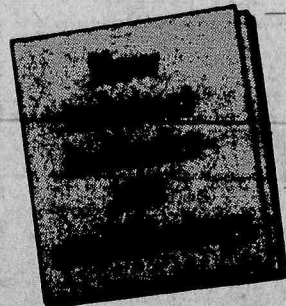

Faced with such uncertainties of their status several of the city officials failed to function or refused outright to serve in the capacity they had been elected. Thus the city council, on June 22, 1874, "moved that the position of tax assessor be declared vacant," because "Elias Osborne, tax assessor, was not making any assessment for the city, but was preparing a list of valuations only."

The polling district commissioners followed Sandford's lead, and refused to resign their offices voluntarily. For a time Belleville had two sets of administrators, each countering the other's orders, and none of them knowing whether they had any legal authority or not. Civic government was at a standstill. In despair the Newark Daily Advertiser asked editorially, "Is Belleville a City?" and its contemporary, the Sentinel of Freedom wrote on September 8, 1874: "The people are anxiously waiting for a decision in regards to the legality of the act incorporating the city of Belleville, for at present all contemplated improvements are at a standstill."

A whole string of suits and counter-suits resulted from this municipal mix-up. Sandford was sued by the city for his failure to turn over the taxes collected in the Polling District. Mifflin Paul, a road builder, was suing the city for payment for the paving of William Street, for which he had contracted with the Polling District. The city officials were suing the Board of Freeholders, because the board had refused to seat the new freeholders, William E. Blewett and John L. Douglas, who had been chosen during the contested city elections. Blewett and Douglas applied to the State attorney-general to bring their case before the Supreme Court, and an old minute book of the city administration carries on its inside cover the notation that it was accepted as "Exhibit A" by Circuit Court Judge John Franklin Fort, who in 1908 became governor of the state.

Parents should keep an eye on their children to be sure that their activities do not overstress their still-developing spines. Skateboard riding, with one foot lower than the other, puts a strain on the pelvis and spine.

Youngsters also invent weird contortions while watching TV or doing homework. Such distortion and abuse could result in the displacement of one or more vertebrae. This in turn pinches the nerves that carry messages from the brain to all parts of the body.

It pays to see that your child gets periodic chiropractic examinations and correction of any defects. Phone our office.

Seems Like Only Yesterday...

Residents Oppose the Construction Of the County Youth House Here

By Ed Capparucci

Thirty-five Years Ago

Another early Belleville newspaper was discovered in the attic of a Belleville home. The largest item in the four-page weekly, perhaps the earliest of all Belleville newspapers, had to do with a lecture given by Rev. James O'Rogers on hymns and songs. An advertisement for the Belleville Hotel read: "The Belleville Hotel — located on Main and Mill streets, good accommodations for rifle and boat clubs, good stables. Just a short ride from the Passaic River." The annual outing of the Belleville Woman's Republican Club was held with members enjoying a trip to Bear Mountain for the day.

Thirty Years Ago

Residents along Berkeley Avenue and Carpenter Street filed petitions in opposition to the plans of the Essex County Board of Freeholders, to erect a Youth House here, to replace the county Parental Home located in Newark.

Residents hired Robert Gruhn as their attorney to fight the matter. Gruhn is the same attorney who represented the homeowners in the fight to stop the construction of an A & P Supermarket on Franklin and Continental avenues. The group has planned to present their views to the Board of Commissioners at the next meeting.

Rev. Msgr. Joseph Kelly of St. Peter's Church, was among the six members of the Seton Hall University Class of 1903 to be given honorary Doctor of Law degree at the university's 97th commencement exercises.

Commissioner Elmer Hyde, chairman of the fund raising crusade of the Belleville division of the Essex County chapter of the American Cancer Society, announced that local residents have contributed $5,844 toward the current appeal, which is 75 percent of the community's goal.

Twenty Years Ago

Mayor Robert Laterza said he was "aggravated" at the Board of Trustees of the Belleville Public Library, for presenting a budget requesting a bookmobile, a branch library, an increase in staff size and salary hikes, after he informed the members that it would be impossible to increase the library's budget.

"I am aggravated to say the least, by the comments shown in the minutes of the board in an attempt to justify its financial decisions. I am well aware of the autonomous powers of the library board, but I also know that the autonomy does not make our Belleville Public Library an entity unto itself.

"At the organizational meeting of the board...I asked you to hold the line budget wise...your board obviously refused to consider my request."

The mayor announced he would be setting up a meeting with the library trustees very soon.

Fifteen Years Ago

The Board of Commissioners voted to appropriate more than $10,000 for the purchasing of lots adjacent to town hall to serve as parking lots for shoppers in the Belleville business district.

Mayor Kenneth Smith estimated that more than 120 parking spaces would be made available to shoppers.

Several persons were appointed to the Belleville Commissioner's reactivated Citizens Narcotic Committee. The group, which was to recommend action on narcotic problems, had been disbanded the year before when the town switched from council-manager to the commission form of government.

The Board of Commissioners introduced an ordinance to raise the pay of Belleville patrolmen and firemen to $8,500 and the clothing allowance to $150. The pay increase, will amount to $1,000 at the maximum.

Ten Years Ago

Commissioner Mary Senatore announced she will appeal her defeat in the 30th District Democratic primary to Harrison Tax Assessor Gregory Castano, on the ground that he "is not a true representative of this district."

Commissioner Vincent Strumolo, running for the Board of Freeholders on the Charles Sandman ticket, was beaten, while Mayor Joseph McGreevy ran unopposed for the Republican Assembly nomination.

Another local candidate, Michael Maglio, who pulled two percent of the Republican vote statewide in his bid for the gubernatorial nod, won 48 votes here, about 2.7 percent of the local tallies.

Frank Racanelli of Belleville placed fourth in the Democratic Board of Freeholders fight, gathering over 700 votes.

But the race that held the spotlight here was between Mrs. Senatore and Castano. While the commissioner won here easily, 3,233 to 1,029, Castano edged her out in the district by a 8,971 to 7,666 margin.

The Board of Education voted 6-1 to reappoint Rocco Cafone to his fourth year as Belleville High School football coach. The vote came after a petition criticizing Cafone was withdrawn. Board of Education President Larry Schwartz declined to identify the person who withdrew the petition, which had allegedly been signed by 800-1,000 residents. The lone dissenting vote was casted by Caesar Romano.

One Year Ago

The Rent Leveling Board made a revised rent control ordinance presentation to the Board of Commissioners, calling for the regulation of all multiple-family dwellings units, including two-family houses, which are not under the present ordinance. The move to place two-family dwellings under the new ordinance was not greeted warmly of the commissioners, yet Mayor Michael Marotti said he hopes to have the situation settled by September.

Service along the 112 bus line, which was scheduled for cancellation next month, will continue at least throughout the summer, according to New Jersey Transit officials. The announcement was made last week and it is believed that strong pressure from the Belleville commissioners and State Sen. Carmen Orechio sparked the surprised move.

Ruth Cowell announced her retirement as executive director of the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, after more than 20 years on the job.

Behind the pitching of Dina DeAquino and the timely hitting of Donna Brooks and Rosie Leonidis, the Belleville High School girls' softball team captured its first Essex County championship title, by defeating Livingston by an 8-0 score.

The victory also closed out the girls' season leaving them with a record of 23-2-2 on the year.

Suppertime Talks — LaFollette

"I would be remembered as one who in the world's darkest hours kept a clean conscience and stood to the end for the ideals of American Democracy."

Bob LaFollette wrote those words toward the end of his life. Of no man in American politics are they as fitting. For it can be safely said that of the great men who have graced the halls of Congress — and I speak here of the likes of Daniel Webster, John Quincy Adams, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, William Borah, George Norris, Robert Taft and Wayne Morse — above all these stands Robert Marion LaFollette.

Except perhaps in Wisconsin and with people who read The Progressive (a liberal magazine he founded), LaFollette is unknown. His reforms in Wisconsin — to be sure, the reforms he inspired throughout our America — are still with us. He fought the special interests, especially the railroads and the oil companies, which did not understand that capitalism cannot live long in a corrupt society. Businessmen who corrupted politicians for special legislation or favors counter to the public interest were "Fighting Bob's" targets. He wanted capitalism and American democracy to progress together, not at one another's throat.

Bob LaFollette, truly born in a log cabin in Wisconsin, was of French Huguenot and Scotch-Irish heritage. His greatgrandfathers were soldiers in George Washington's army. He grew up in a pioneer environment, fiercely independent, and farmer oriented. He started as a Republican, was elected for several legislative terms in the state and as Governor. He maintained an independent character, and finally reached the United States Senate to serve for three terms. He fought bitterly against America's entry into World War I, ran for president on an Independent Party ticket in 1924 in which he gathered five million votes, the highest ever attained by an independent candidate.

LaFollette was a prime influence on me for many years, beginning in 1948 when I began reading about him at St. Benedict's Prep. I was a junior and Henry Wallace was running on an Independent Party ticket against Harry Truman and Thomas Dewey. I had been assigned by my history teacher to give a report on LaFollette and relate his campaign of 1924 to the Wallace effort. I was inspired by LaFollette, even though I was turned off by Wallace. I had not known too much about this hardworking legislator, this most courageous of reformers, who had had such a healthful influence in cleansing American politics from 1900 to 1924.

No congressman in history ever stood up to the fire that was hauled at Bob LaFollette for his stand against America's entry on the side of England and France, and against Germany, in World War I. The anti-German hysteria in America was even more pronounced than that unfortunate reaction to the Japanese in California in World War II. It was not that LaFollette supported the Kaiser. Rather, he believed (and today there is evidence to support some of his suspicions) that pro-English bankers and financial interests were exerting undue influence on President Wilson and his Cabinet. At any rate, that war is said and done with; the arguments over its causes will be debated for centuries. But LaFollette's courage is unquestioned and not open to debate. Listen to him:

"Had the plain principle of international law announced by Jefferson been followed by us, we would not be called on today to declare war upon any of the belligerents. The failure to treat the belligerent nations of Europe alike, the failure to reject the unlawful 'war zones' of both Germany and Great Britain, is wholly accountable for our present dilemma. We should not seek to hide our blunder behind the smoke of battle, to inflame the mind of our people by half truths into the frenzy of war, in order that they may never appreciate the real cause of it until it is too late. I do not believe that our national honor is served by such a course. The right way is the honorable way."

And he continued: "There is always lodged, and always will be, thank the God above us, power in the people supreme. Sometimes it sleeps, sometimes it seems the sleep of death; but, sir, the sovereign power of the people never dies. It may be suppressed for a time, it may be misled, be fooled, silenced. I think, Mr. President (of the Senate), that it is being denied expression now. I think there will come a day when it will have expression."

Bob LaFollette was, of course, never elected President of the United States. When I consider most of the Presidents who have served since his time — when I think of all the Presidents who have served since Washington — I feel grieved for him. I must admit many of his ideas have themselves been misused. Some of his reforms (the primary for example) seems controlled by negative forces bent on destroying democracy from the political left, even as he fought the threat from the political right.

At his funeral in June 1925, the chorus sang his favorite hymn, "Abide with Me." A minister from the University of Chicago Divinity School read from the book of Job. Then Dr. A. E. Haydon said, in part:

"We shall remember him as a leader of dauntless courage... forsaken even by those for whom he was giving his life. Almost alone, he held his vision true... he kept his faith in

Middle School Students Hear NJ Bell Program

"New Jersey, where the historic past meets the progressive future," was the topic of the New Jersey Bell lecture presented last Thursday by the New Jersey Bell Telephone at Belleville Middle School.

The slide-illustrated program, "New Jersey Know Your State," traced the state's history, geography, industry and day-to-day life.

Mike Bahnatka, public relations supervisor for New Jersey Bell, took the audience on an armchair tour of the Garden State, from Cape May to High Point State Park, stopping at many points of interest.

The program also explained why New Jersey has earned little known nicknames such as "the pathway of the Revolution," "the crossroads of the East," an "the mighty atom of industry."

Face Union In Finals

Softball Squad Knocks Off Bloomfield in State Tourney

By Mark Foley

The Belleville High School softball team, behind a two-hit shutout by Dina DeAquino and a landmark base hit by Tracy Buono, defeated Bloomfield, 2-0 to advance to the North Jersey, Section II, Group IV championship against Union. The date for that match up, which will be played at a neutral site, was unannounced at press time. It will be played either this afternoon or tomorrow.

On Saturday, the girls will face this same Bengal team in the final of the Essex County Tournament at 7 p.m. at Pulaski Park.

Buono, who drove in both runs with a two-out single in the third inning, tallied the 99th and 100th runs batted in her career, becoming the first BHS player ever to accomplish the feat. "I wasn't even thinking about it," said the junior about the 100 ribbie mark. "I was just looking to come through with a hit."

DeAquino (15-3), allowed only two scratch hits, while striking out four and walking one to lead the Buccanettes to their 21st victory against just three losses. Next week, the girls will face Bloomfield once more, this time to decide the NNJIL conference.

As coach Carl Corino told his team on the bus ride home, "That was a great effort. We only made one or two mistakes, we looked real good. Unfortunately, we didn't win anything yet. The only satisfaction is that we've got three games left — for three titles."

Corino later added, "It was a great game for prestige; because we've beaten them twice on their field. They've got to be thinking about that. But when Dina's in the groove, there are few teams that can beat us."

Belleville set up the game with Bloomfield by downing Westfield, 5-4 in a thriller of a contest last Thursday. Westfield won the toss, and elected to be the home team, thus batting last in the inning. Belleville took advantage of this with Donna Brooks coming home on an RBI single by Desiree Johansen for an early lead. But the "home" team came back to tie it in the bottom of the inning. The girls regained the lead when two runs came in on a throwing error by third baseman, Kim Canutoi.

The lead didn't last long as DeAquino threw a ball into right field with a runner on third. Westfield tied the game once more in the bottom of the sixth when Charlotte Tweedie hit a ball that went through second baseman Lorraine Bini's legs and rolled all the way to the fence, allowing her to score.

The Buccanettes came back in the seventh with Buono stroking a single to open the inning. Following a sacrifice fly by Lois De Luccio and a lineup by Johansen, senior Donna Campana ripped her second home run of the year, giving Belleville a 5-3 lead.

Despite having a runner on second base, things looked pretty well wrapped up with two out in the bottom of the seventh. However, DeAquino walked the next three batters, cutting the lead to one. The next batter, Sherri Filippone, hit a smash right back to DeAquino who snared the ball, saving the game and setting up the game with Bloomfield.

"It was a real emotional roller coaster," said Corino. "I knew we were in for a tough game when the seedings were announced. I was very, very impressed with their pitcher (sophomore Nancy) Kasko. She was the quickest we've seen this year, without question. But we were lucky — they made a couple of mistakes and so did we. The way it ended, is what is really important."

Buono agreed with her coach's evaluation of the Kasko: "She was

Golf Squad Closes Successful Season

If there are any questions on how good the Belleville golf team is, just ask a few of the teams who saw the Bucs best battle in the NNJIL tournament last Thursday.

Belleville competed in the Essex County tournament last Tuesday, the last match of the regular season.

Head coach Rocco Colucci couldn't have been happier with his team's performance at the conference tournament last week at Freehold. Joe Pontrella and Jimmy Apple, the two Belleville entries in the tournament, placed second and third overall, scoring an 80 and 81 respectively.

Their total of 161 was the best score of many team that participated in the NNJIL tournament, and that's pretty good company considering the company was Bloomfield, Nutley and perinial power Bergen Catholic to name a few.

"The kids really represented themselves well," said an elated Colucci last weekend. "To think our kids shot better than anyone in the tournament means an awful lot. When you can outscore a team like Bergen Catholic, that tells you something."

In the regular season matches last week, the Bucs finished with a victory over Clifton and defeats to Bloomfield, by one stroke, and Caldwell by three. For the season, the Bucs finished with a 10-5 record, 6-2 in the NNJIL, good for third place.

Apple and Pontrella, once again, led the way. Apple, a junior, shot a 41 in the Bloomfield-Clifton tri-match and a 45 against Caldwell. The final score of the tri-match was 182-183 Bloomfield and 133-147 Belleville over Clifton. Against Caldwell, the Chiefs were 183-186 victors.

In addition to the Bucs fantastic 10-5 season, Pontrella was named to the first team NNJIL, while Apple was listed on the second team. Sophomore Greg Simone earned honorable mention accolades and Pontrella finished as the leading scorer in the conference with an average of 40.25.

All in all, not bad for a team that started four new players and faced some stiff competition all season long. Now, the counties await the Bucs and once again, the team should come through with a solid effort. It's been that way all season long.

Rowers Impressive In National Finals

It was a solid weekend on the riverfront for the Belleville crew team, one which resulted in two third place finishes at the National Championships.

The Times will review the 1983 crew season in next week's edition.

"It was a very good weekend," said head coach Sam Giuffrida referring to the teams' performance at the nationals. "Our girls went up against some very good competition and came away with a very good performance. The boys junior four was also solid. I couldn't be happier with both squads."

The girls' team, which captured the national crown last spring, turned in a third place effort in this year's final. The girls won their qualifying heat last Friday afternoon before placing third in the finals, losing only to a Virginia based high school and Roosevelt High School of Hyde Park, New York. "The competition was very tough," conceded Giuffrida. "I would say much tougher than last year. That's no excuse however, the girls did a super job and I was very happy with the effort."

Despite the solid performance, the girls were a bit disappointed that they didn't walk away with the crown. "There was a lot of pressure on them," said Giuffrida. "When you win a national title with a freshman oriented boat, it's not easy to come back and repeat. There are a lot of good teams out there. I'm just happy to have finished as well as we did."

The girls' boat, which consisted of six sophomores, one junior and two seniors was, Stephanie Aiello at bow, Jackie Mele, Karen McGuire, Sue Post, Annie Skrutskie, Cheryl McCarthy, Maureen Russo, Diane Black and coxswain, Donna Marinelli. McGuire and Marinelli are graduating this spring and both drew praises from Giuffrida. "They were super leaders. Both girls kept the boat together all season long. This was a young team, they did a great job."

The boys junior four also turned in a magnificent effort, finished third in the finals. The winners of the junior four final was Kearny High School, a fact which pleased Giuffrida. "The boat house was very well represented this year," (Belleville, Kearny and Nutley all share the house).

The junior four boat had been together just five days entering the finals. After winning the qualifying heat, the boys finished two seconds out of second place and just six seconds away from the crown.

The boat, madeup of John Skrutskie at bow, John Apicella, Mike Waldon, Steve Linfanti and coxswain Mike Giuffrida, is a young crew who will be heard from in future years. Only Skutskie will graduate this spring, while Linfante and Waldon are only freshman.

"It was a great year for us," said Giuffrida. "The team represented itself very well in the nationals and did a great job all season long."

Grammar School Olympics Scheduled For This Saturday

Belleville High School will be the site this Saturday morning as the first Belleville Grammar School Olympics kicks off at 9 a.m.

The program, under the direction of Belleville High track coaches, members of the BHS track team, Pat Forte, the principal of School 4, and the physical education teachers throughout the grammar schools, is for grammar school participants between the fourth and sixth grades.

The head track coach at BHS, John Tosado, is very excited about the event. "This is a good opportunity for the younger kids to get competition, which is so important. Actually, this is the culmination of weeks of participation throughout the schools."

Tosado refers to the fact that the children have been competing in their own schools for a few months, and now the top athletes will compete in the olympics this weekend. "We're expecting about 250 entries," said Tosado. "Each race will have seven competitors, one from each grammar school."

The Belleville Optimist Club has graciously donated their time and money towards this venture. They will be supplying trophies and medals to the winners. In addition, trophies will be awarded for the top male and female participants in the fourth, fifth and sixth grade levels. "We have to get the young kids started," said Tosado, who at age 23 is just completing his first season of coaching the varsity track program. There will be boys and girls races from the 100-meter run up to the half mile. In addition, there will be field events in the long jump and softball throw. "We are hoping for a good day," said Tosado. "If this works out well, we'll make it an annual event. That's our main goal."

In addition to the coaches, athletes and administrators involved, Joseph Cancelliere, Sabrina Taylor and Anna Auhisi, all teachers in the elementary program, have been of vital assistance toward making this program go.

As usual, there has been tremendous support from Mayor Marotti's office. The Mayor has always been behind the athletic events in town and has supplied the facilities at the

Belleville Prepares to Say Good-bye to Graduating Seniors

As the academic year draws to a close, there are a number of seniors who have distinguished themselves with outstanding service to the Belleville sports program during their four-year stay at the school. Like their predecessor's, the seniors of BHS will go on to college, technical school, the military services or start job hunting. However, their exciting play on the athletic fields of BHS will not be forgotten, not by the fans, coaches or writers.

Dave Grant and Robbie Cancelliere are two athletes who did an outstanding job during their four year stay. Grant, who played offensive and defensive lineman for John Senesky and the football team, will attend West Virginia University in the fall and continue his football career.

Grant, at 6-4, 235, will be a good choice to do well at WVU. The senior was the glue of the offensive and defensive lines the past two seasons and spearheaded a defense that shutout four opponents this past season and held the Passaic offensive machine scoreless.

What people might forget about Grant was that he developed into a solid basketball player, playing for Joe Papasidero and turning into one of the best pivot men in the NNJIL the second half of the season. His strong rebounding and good defense was one of the reasons the Bucs won 11 ball games, the most the program has won since 1980. Papasidero, after his team was defeated by Plainfield in the states said of Grant, "He's the best center in the NNJIL the last four weeks. He did a tremendous job for us, I'm just sorry that he's a senior."

Grant was at his best in the Plainfield game. The Cardinals, who won the Group IV championship, have a strong running game, but never could get in on track as Grant did a marvelous job in stopping the fast break with his strong defense. The most surprising part about his success on the court was that Grant did not start playing basketball on the organized level until his junior year.

Cancelliere was a very good athlete, shining for the football and baseball teams. Perhaps his most memorable moment came in the second game of the 1982 football season when Belleville and Passaic squared off at BHS. As everyone knows by now, the Bucs stunned the number one ranked Indians, 3-2 as Cancelliere booted a 35-yard field goal in the second quarter to account for the only points of the game. Cancelliere also played a solid defensive game and was later named the Star-Ledger Athlete of the Week for his effort against the Indians.

Cancelliere had a super football season. Against Union in the first round of the Group IV, Section II playoffs, the senior led the team in rushing and pass receiving and for the season was second on the team in scoring. He teamed with Mike Murphy and Billy Baber to form a very good backfield and helped lead the Bucs to an 8-2 record and trip to the state playoffs.

As a sophomore, Cancelliere was the kicker on the Buccanet squad which finished 9-2 and earned a trip to the state finals. That season, he was perfect on point after attempts and established himself right away as a reputable kicker. In his junior year, Cancelliere joined the Buc backfield and along with Frank Fazzini, Jeff Walsh and Angelo

Centanni led the way to a 7-2 mark, just missing the state playoffs.

As a baseball player, Cancelliere was cited by his coach Ralph LaConti as "a flawless outfielder, a great team leader and a fine all-around player. He started the season slowly, but came around strong the second half with some key hits. He was a very good player for us."

The girls have also had their share of fine senior athletes, most notably,

Kathy Woods. Woods played four varsity sports during her career, shining for the tennis, volleyball, basketball and softball teams. Her all-around hustle and determination made her an asset to the teams.

Woods played for the tennis team as a freshman and continued through her junior year before joining the volleyball squad in her senior year. There, she did a magnificent job for Grace Worley, teaming with Tracey Buono and Donna Chirico to lead the girls to their best season ever. The 1982 volleyball squad placed second in the NNJIL, losing by one game to Paterson Kennedy.

On the basketball team, Woodsie played two and one half years on the varsity level, becoming a solid 'sixth man' for Karen Fuccello. She developed into a solid free throw shooter, improving from 37 percent in her junior year to a super 77 percent her senior year, ac-cond only to Jennifer Apicelle.

Perhaps her best sport is softball, where the senior has not lost a game on the mound since May of 1981. Woodsie, teaming with De Aquino, has a slow pitch which the opposition hasn't been able to figure out since day one. In 1980, as a freshman, Woodsie was the winning pitcher when Belleville stunned Columbia in the semifinal round of the Essex County tournament, 4-3. As a sophomore, Woodsie earned the title of Goose Gossage, coming in to save five ball games and posting a 6-3 record, as a starter and long reliever.

Last season, as De Aquino came into her own, Woodsie became even better, posting an 8-0 record and coming up with one of the biggest victories of the 24-2-2 season. Against Montclair in the first round of the state tournament, Woodsie held the Montclair bats to two runs and Belleville won a key ball game, 4-2.

This year, the senior has posted a 6-0 record thus far and plays rightfield when not pitching. Although her batting average is not particularly high, her play in the outfield has been solid and her pitching has been instrumental in the Bucs 20-3 season thus far.

There have been a number of fine seniors in the class of 1983. These were just a few, next week we'll profile some more. In the meantime, a special thank you to all those seniors who gave it their all during these past four years. Their spirit and dedication made the year a very special one.

The Belleville High School athlete of the year awards will start next week with the girl athlete of the year. It wasn't an easy choice this year, but the panel of coaches and writers came up with an excellent candidate. The boy athlete of the year will be profiled on June 16, followed by the coach of the year on June 23. The year in review will be in the June 30 issue.

Once again, good luck to the Belleville softball team as they battle for the county championships this weekend. The girls opponents will be Bloomfield, who will also be the opposition for the state sectional semifinal game that was played on Tuesday. Speaking of Bloomfield, the girls will face the Bengals next week for the NNJIL crown. There is alot on the line in the next week and a big crowd is expected from both towns. The county game is scheduled, again, for this Saturday at Pulaski Park, the game having been postponed the last two weeks because of rain. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Belleville High School athlete of the week is Jimmy Apple and Joe Pontrella of the golf team. Their outstanding play in the NNJIL tourney last week accounted for the best score in the tournament. Good job.

Here is the answer to last weeks quiz. The question was, since 1968, only four teams have won the Stanley Cup. Can you name them. The answer: Montreal won the cup in 1968, 1969, 1971, 1973, 1976, 77, 78 and 1979. Boston captured the crown in 1970 and 1972. Philadelphia was victorious in 1974 and 1975 and of course, the Islanders have won the last four years.

For this week's quiz, the San Diego Padres have had only one winning season. Can you name the season and pitcher who won the Cy Young Award for them that season.

After watching heavyweight champ Larry Holmes defend his title against Lucien Rodriguez in Scranton, Pa. and Tim Witherspoon at Las Vegas, Nev., my humble opinion suggests Larry retire while he's ahead. The legs are going, the old hand speed and reflexes have slowed. The once great heavyweight champ has passed his peak and is on the decline. Holmes should scrap his plans "I'll have one more fight." Larry's wife, Diane, said she will ask him to retire when they get home in Easton, Pa.

The Veteran Boxers Social Club of Belleville will put on its annual amateur boxing program at the local high school Municipal Stadium on Friday, June 10th.

Jim Taylor, public relations representative for promoters Don Elbaum and Ted Menas, sent word, "There will be no fights at the Trop (icana) on Tuesday, May 31st, but boxing will return on Tuesday, June 7, featuring Andre "Sugarman" Cooper vs. California Carl Jones in a 10-round middleweight scrap.

Flash! Sensational Cincinnati welterweight Tommy Ayers scored a second-round knockout over veteran Bruce Finch of Las Vegas, at the Cincinnati Arena.

Marvin Camel increased his record to 45-5-2 by successfully defending his USBA cruiserweight crown against previously undefeated Rocky Sekorski, 14-1, who didn't answer the gong for the ninth frame of their scheduled 12-round bout in Billings, Mont.

It has many times been said and written that a fighter's legs go first. There is no talk about the eyes going next. Ex-heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali was wearing glasses at ringside for the heavyweight extravaganza in Las Vegas and later at the press conference.

If the state trooper on the "At Ease" ABC-TV show, Friday, at 8:30 p.m., appeared to be a look-a-like of former heavyweight champ Ken Norton — it was Norton doing a guest shot on the program.

Twenty-seven-year-old Bruce Curry of Fort Worth, Texas, joined his younger brother Donald, age 22, as a world champion, Wednesday, by winning a unanimous 12-round decision to capture the WBC lightweight title from Le Roy Haley of Las Vegas at The Dunes in Las Vegas. The Currys became the first brothers to hold world boxing titles simultaneously. Donald Curry is the WBA welterweight champion. Bruce improved his record to 32-7 by gaining this decision with scores of 117-112, 116-112 and 115-114 on the judges cards. Haley dropped to 48-3-2. Bruce immediately signed to defend his newly won title in Japan in July against Hidekazu Akai.

In the co-feature at The Dunes, Wednesday, three-time champion Wilfred Benitez of Puerto Rico made an unimpressive debut as a middleweight with a 12-round unanimous decision over unranked Tony Cerda of Los Angeles. Benitez is signed to fight Mustafa Hamsho of Bayonne, N.J. on July 12. Benitez hopes by defeating Hamsho it will lead to a title shot with middleweight king Marvin Hagler.

Manager of Bruce Curry, Billy Baxter, known as "High Roller Baxter" around the Las Vegas tables because of his playing for high stakes, made a killing on Bruce's defeating Le Roy Haley for the WBC junior welterweight crown. Baxter bet entire purse with Las Vegas bookies. At 9-5 he won $240,000. I wonder what he would have told Bruce if he lost?

The WBA and WBC backed down on their demand that the Marvin Hagler-Wilford Scypion fight for Hagler's world middleweight crown be limited to 12 rounds. Hagler insisted the bout will be a 15-rounder. The two bodies reversed their stand without comment. Speculation indicates the WBA and WBC didn't care for the USBA-International getting into the act.

A "Michael Spinks Day" was held in the City of Newark, Friday, honoring the undisputed world light heavyweight champion. Spinks was welcomed at noon in the City Hall Council Chambers. Councilman Ralph Grant conducted the presentation. Among the functions honoring the champ was a Longshoremen's Dinner at the Quality Inn in Newark and guest at a jazz concert at the Club 88 in East Orange, N.J.

Don King lost another court round. The international renown promoter lost a bid last week to stop last Sunday's featherweight title fight between Bobby Chacon and Cornelius Bozo-Edwards, also lost an appeal to hold up payment to the two fighters. King contended he had Chacon under contract to defend his WBC title against Hector "The Clutch" Camacho first and he should have fought "The Clutch" before Bozo-Edwards.

Not all incidence make the sport page — At The Dunes in Las Vegas, Wednesday before the Larry Holmes-Tim Witherspoon fight, through a clerical error two Witherspoon brothers were assigned rooms on the 14th floor occupied by Holmes. When Holmes shouted, "Get the bleepingleep out of this room," somebody in the group pulled a gun. Several uniformed security cops rushed upstairs to quiet things down. Tim Witherspoon apologized for the incident. Holmes was not appeased.

Mickey Duff, manager of Cornelius Bozo-Edwards, was asked, "How one judge could give Bobby Chacon a 117-111 score in their close, slam-bang fight." Duff answered, "All I know, I'm glad that judge is not my accountant."

Veteran fighter-manager Vinnie Cerola, who handled Sammy Angott, is adviser to heavyweight Renaldo Snipes. Vinnie may soon become Snipes' manager. Many fans think Jimmy Williams is the manager — he's the trainer.

Continuing its efforts to provide insightful coverage of professional boxing, NBC Sports will introduce "Inside Ringside," a new feature probing the issues that have resulted in unprecedented public scrutiny of the sport. The program will provide many of the sports' many influential figures to address boxing's problems and offer solutions. Referees, manager, promoters, trainers, doctors, commissioners and the fighters themselves will be presented in the segments, which deal with issues such as the standing eight count, promoter-manager relationships, promoters' options with fighters and the scoring of fights.

BHS Diamondmen Conclude Season With Sub .500 Mark

The Belleville baseball team ended its 1983 season with a 10-4 loss to Paterson Kennedy, wrapping up the team's record at 8-17.

Next week, The Times will review the Bucs' tough 1983 season.

Belleville concluded the season by dropping conference games to Bloomfield and Kennedy and sandwiching a win against Hillside. The team ended the season with a 3-13 mark in the NNJIL and a 5-4 mark outside the conference.

Against Bloomfield, Belleville started out well, pounding out three consecutive singles to lead to one run. John Guarino, Joe Borrello and Robbie Cancelliere accounted for the firepower, sparking the Bucs to a quick lead. "We started very well," said Ralph LaConti. "Then, the Bloomfield pitcher strikes out the next three batters and the game is suddenly turned around."

Indeed, the Bucs never did recover from the sudden lack of offense. Joe Tribuco started his first varsity game for the Bucs and did rather well over four innings. "About the only problem with Joe was that his control was a bit off," said LaConti. "He looked pretty good for his first start, but he'll need work."

The Bengals, a solid ball club, took advantage of Tribuco's inexperience to take the lead. All told, they scored eight runs on the afternoon, collecting 12 hits and breezing to an 8-1 victory. Tommy Reid came in to pitch the last three innings, doing a good job, but the Belleville bats never found the groove and Bloomfield enjoyed an easy afternoon.

The next afternoon, the bucs whipped Hillside by a 3-1 count. In this contest, Frank Turski pitched a strong ball game, going the distance and allowing eight hits. He also helped his own cause with an RBI single in the third inning when Belleville scored all three of its runs.

In addition to Turski, Anthony Lombardi had an RBI single and a third Buccaneer run came home on an error. "Once again, we got pretty good pitching and scored all our runs in the same inning," said LaConti. "Joe Borrello has been hitting the ball very well and really has boosted his average."

Borrello has been very good the last four weeks. The junior shortstop raised his batting average from .115 in late April to .300 at season's end. LaConti was also happy with the play of two sophomores in the outfield. Sammy Zanloot and Ricky Wells both made outstanding catches in the field and should fit in well next season.

The season ended last Thursday with a 10-4 defeat at the hands of Kennedy. Reid started for Belleville and did a good job, however he ran into an excellent ball club. "Kennedy was a very good hitting team," said LaConti. "They hit the ball very well and had us 2-0 in the first inning. We didn't have the guns to stay with them and couldn't keep their bats cool long enough."

Kennedy jumped to a 3-0 lead before Belleville narrowed the gap to one run in the fourth inning. John Guarino's single drove home two runs to cut the deficit to 3-2 before Kennedy came storming back to take command in the fifth with three runs

Tennis Squad Ends Season as Winners

The Belleville tennis team ended its 1983 season with a victory over Paterson Eastside, concluding its regular season with a 5-12 record.

Next week, The Times will review the team's 1983 season.

Lenny D'Armiento's crew did a solid job in stopping its conference rival from Paterson. The Bucs breezed to a 5-0 victory to post its fifth victory of the season, all of which have come in NNJIL play.

"It was nice to finish with a win," said the coach. "We played some good matches this year against some very solid competition. I'm looking forward to this summer, I want the kids to get a lot of playing time. Next season, maybe we'll win some of those close matches."

The team did receive an excellent performance from its starters against Eastside. Dave Boyd was a winner in three sets at first singles, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. At second singles, Herb Petrat was winner in two sets, 6-1 and 6-2 while Scott Doyle, perhaps the most consistent performer on this year's team, was a winner at third singles, 6-2, 6-3.

The doubles team also fared well. Jim Petrat and Rich Skulte breezed, 4-6, 6-1 and 6-4 while the second doubles squad of Pat Tutirello and Amadeo Salamoni rallied to a 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 triumph.

Earlier in the week, the team lost to Bloomfield, 4-1 and Kennedy 4-1. Against the Bengals, the first doubles team of Petrat-Skulte won a tough three set match, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4 for the only Buccaneer victory.

In the Kennedy match, Doyle was the only winner for the Bucs, capturing his match in three sets.

There certainly is a lot of work to do for next season, but the Belleville tennis team apparently has begun to make strides toward building a successful tennis program. The Bucs lose only two seniors to graduation, and with tennis gaining interest throughout the town, there is no reason not to believe the Bucs could be a solid entry for 1984.

Bombers End Season

The Belleville Bombers, Division 3 girls, ended the season with a decisive win over Parsippany, 5-2. Carolyn O'Hara scored three goals while Rachael Avello tallied the other two. Assists from Dannielle Walker (four) and Michael McAloon (one) were the spark needed to defeat this strong Parsippany team.

Goalie Ellen Kembski kept Parsippany in check with Carol Grasso excelling on defense.

In other action the Belleville Bounce, sponsored by Belleville Travel, took on the South Orange 76's and matched goals for a 3-3 tie. With Carmen Pizzano in goal and strong play from halfback Carlo Ritacco, South Orange was kept in check.

Mike Morgan scored the first goal on assists from Brian Travers and Mike Jannicelli. Tony Suffness from Travers and Brad Koch added the second tally. The tying goal came from Suffness on assists from John Engdahl and Gerry Sarno.

On Sunday it was a different story for the Bounce. They went up against the South Orange Cosmos and took a loss. The lone Bounce goal came from Frank Kock on an assist from Tony Suffness. Carmen Pizzano was in goal, but the Cosmos were just too strong.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Oh Holy Spirit, thou who art all knowing who brightens every path that I may reach my goal, thou who givest me this divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me, I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessing and I affirm once again that I never want to part from thee though the illusion of material things abound.

My desire is to be with thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine. (Persons should pray 3 consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be.) Publish this prayer, once grace is attained. Grateful for grace attained.

Belleville Resident Places First In Recent Bodybuilding Contest

On April 9 at Bloomfield High School was the most prestigious physique competition held in the eastern area. One of the contestants in the Mr. New Jersey contest was Tom Cairo from Belleville. Tom trains at Giordano's Gym also in Belleville. Tom has been a competitive bodybuilder since last January. Although he has always placed in the top three of his class, he has never been in the number one spot. But Tom managed to win the middleweight class. This win qualifies him to compete on a national level, possibly the Junior Mr. America next year or the Mr. Western America.

A week previous to the Mr. New Jersey, Tom traveled to Connecticut for the Mr. Central Connecticut and won his height class in both the Open and Novice Competitions. Winning these competitions gave Tom a real boost before the Mr. New Jersey.

Tom owes much of his success to his dad, his personal trainer; his mom, two sisters and his girlfriend, Janet, who puts up with a lot during the contest preparation. Without all these people behind him, he feels it would hardly have been worth all the time and effort.

They assured a conference showdown with the Bengals last Wednesday with an 11-3 victory over Kennedy High School, giving both clubs equal 13-2 records in the NNJL. Buono and DeLuccio led a 16-hit attack by each going for four-for-five, with Buono adding a triple and three runs batted in. Bini also went two-for-three with three ribbies. Sophomore Michelle Petrillo added a two-run single to key a five-run first inning and pitcher Kathy Woods (6-0) combined with DeAquino for a five-hitter.

been a good example. The golf team has added a program just recently, and now with the guidance of some dedicated young individuals, there seems to be some good work in the direction of the track program, a program that has been in the rebuilding stages for a number of years now.

If there is rain, and these days you know how probable that is, then the events will be postponed until the following Saturday.

Suburban Wins Sixth Game Of the Season

The Belleville Buccanettes of the suburban softball league continued their winning ways by defeating Nutley 28-6. It was the fourth win in a row for the girls. Again, as in the Summit game, a total team effort accounted for the victory on offense, while on defense, Laura Caruso picked up her fifth win of the season in holding Nutley to four hits. Samantha Russomanno also played well on defense.

Last Saturday, the Belleville girls defeated Springfield by the score of 18-1 to close out a very successful homestand. The girls struck quickly for six runs in the first inning with Samantha Russomanno and Cindi Ruggiero, delivering RBI singles. Laura Caruso went 3-for-4 with four RBIs to lead the team offensively and also pitched a one-hitter to go along with 10 strikeouts on defense.

Belleville Pays Tribute To All Fallen Veterans

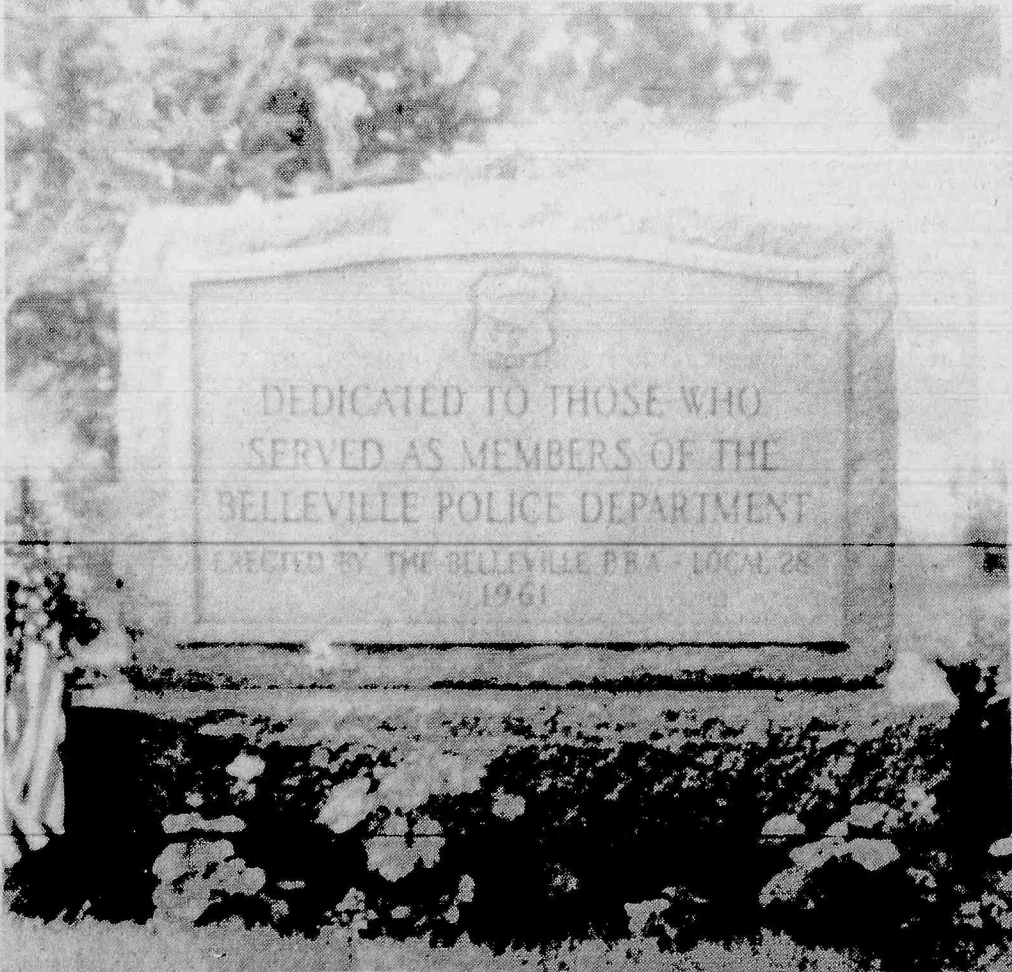

Special Guest — Willard Pritchard, (r) Veterans of Foreign Wars District 4 commander, was guest speaker at the township's annual Memorial Day services. To his left is Donald Bellog, who served as program chairman.

Saluting The Vet — Members of the all the Belleville veteran organizations were out in the bad weather on Monday morning to honor veterans of past wars. The ceremonies took place on the Rutgers Street Bridge, in front of Town Hall and at the Union Avenue War Monument.

Strike Up The Band — Members of the Belleville High School Band were on hand Monday to help honor America's veterans of war. Also on hand were two members of the Belleville Soundation, who played Taps.

A Dedication — A wreath was placed at this monument in front of Town Hall, honoring members of the Belleville Police Department. A wreath was also placed on the town monument, honoring the fire department.

Governor Kean Tours Chemical Site Says No Health Threat Involved Yet

which, according to officials, subcontracted a team of six to eight chemists present on the site.

Initial reports from investigation revealed that most of the identified chemicals to date are actually used in food flavoring manufacture. The problem experts said, was that Organic-Inorganic did not apparently store its materials adequately.

In connection with the matter, the firm's head chemist, 37-year-old Muhammed Aslam, was arrested May 13 and charged with soliciting another person to release the substance acetone. He is out on bail.

Additionally, the company's owner, Marianne Pratter, is scheduled to appear in court on June 6. Following information from an internal source, local authorities closed the plant May 18 and seized all assets. The matter is presently under investigation by the Essex County Prosecutor's office.

Citizens expressed relief Tuesday that their complaints made it to the top, to the Governor. "I feel much better he came here," said Sarah Pizapio of 76 Little St., an elderly woman who told Kean of her heart condition and diabetes problem, all of which she feared might worsen in a toxic environment.

However, Mayor Michael Marotti was not pleased by the day's event. "I didn't get any answers," he said.

Both Kean and Sen. Orechio urged expanding the staff in order to clean up the situation more rapidly. Presently, the investigation is costing the township $7,500 daily and total about $15,000 right now, according to Mayor Marotti, who predicted total expenses may rise in excess of $50,000.

Local officials are seeking compensatory funds from federal and state agencies. Gov. Kean said if hazardous materials are found, state monies would be available to Belleville. So far, DEP has funded an initial step to pack and seal seven drums on May 23.

According to Zinna, the designated municipal spokesman, DEP was called in the night of the first leak but said "the problem was too big for them" and left the township on its own, permitting them to retain a private firm.

The state agency, however, is now one of several teams investigating the matter. When asked about its first reaction, DEP Commissioner Tyler said, "DEP handles many situations like this and did not consider the leak an emergency situation." He denied the agency may have called the job too big. "They handle many larger ones in the state," he added afterwards. "The Town Fathers will just have to handle this their own way."

Local officials feel they have been unfairly criticized by citizens, arguing they responded to an unprecedented problem the best they could.

tributed to the funding of the report. The findings were announced last week at a press conference at the Newark Chamber of Commerce office. Mayor Marotti said he was not aware of the meeting, but plans to look into the matter.

"I'm going to find out about the report, but it seems very promising," he said. "It seems that each year we are faced with increases from Passaic Valley," the mayor said. "Perhaps this report will get some action on their part to make cuts, and give townships a little breathing room."

Carmine Perrapatto, executive director at PVSC, said last week that the commission was actively seeking several new customers and has been steadily reducing its staff since 1981, with the opening of its new treatment plant.

The mayor said that town officials did attend a meeting called by Passaic Valley last week, but that was to unveil plans to construct a new building costing an estimated $3.2 million.

"There were a lot of people upset with that announcement," the mayor said. "But it is something else we will have to look further into."

Local Residents to Honor Our MIAs and POWs

of the townspeople that this action will awaken other towns to this humanitarian concern for our captive GIs and collectively will help bring an end to the 10 years of agony endured by our servicemen and their families.

The event, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville with the full support of the township, Operation Red Ribbon Inc., and the fire department has planned this as a community response to President Reagan's appeal for stepped-up public awareness on the tragic plight of American servicemen.

An urgent plea for volunteers is being made at this time. Mrs. Georgeann Ventola, public affairs chairman for the club, asks, "If you can spare two hours to help end the 10 years of captivity endured by our servicemen, you are urged to call the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville at 751-4975. Your support if desperately needed to make this townwide event a success."

Religious Viewpoint

Live Up to Your Bumper Sticker

By Rev. Robert Paul

A woman, driving alone from Washington to Richmond, Virginia, ran over a spike which punctured her tire and left her stranded. In distress, she raised the hood of her car and tied a red scarf to the door handle; then she locked the doors and sat in the car praying for the Lord to send help.

By chance there came a limousine with a bumper sticker that read, "Smile, God Loves you." When the occupants saw the stranded woman, they passed by in the far lane without even smiling.

Later there came a sports car with a CB radio and a bumper sticker saying, "Honk If You Love Jesus." The driver passed by in the far lane without even honking or using his CB to tell the highway patrol about the woman's dilemma.

Finally, a compassionate workman when he saw the raised hood and red scarf, approached the spot where the woman was; he stopped his old pickup, which had no bumper sticker, crossed the four-lane highway and offered to change the tire.

The woman tried to pay the workman, but he refused the money saying, "If my wife were stranded on the highway, I'd want some good Samaritan to stop and help her out." Again he crossed the four-lane highway, got into his bumper-stickerless truck, smiled and honked at her, and went on his way to work. Which now of these three was a neighbor unto her that had a flat tire?

As I thought about this story, I wonder how many call themselves Christian, but do not live up to the name. What I mean is: You call yourself a Christian, but you never read or obey the Bible. You say like the bumper sticker, I believe in God, but seldom go to worship God in his church. The fact of the matter is that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. This is why you must be born again. (St. John 3.) If you want to live the Christian life you must first place your trust in the finished work of Christ. "But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness." (Romans 4:5.) Live your faith by loving Christ with all your heart seven days a week, and people will note that you love Jesus in sincerity and truth.
