Final Decision To Be Made July 11

Commissioners Accept Chemcial Clean Up Bid

By Linda Telesco

The clean up of Belleville's toxic chemical site at 507 Main St., is a web growing ever more tangled for the local officials trying to accomplish the job.

Faced with vague information from the state Department of Environmental Protection, unfirm and widely contrasting bid packages from companies seeking the clean up job, and their own lack of expertise in the area, Commissioners found themselves Tuesday favoring a mystery bidder, who was not even present to explain his proposal.

Reconvening last week's meeting with representatives of firms competing for the job, Commissioners actually faced three choices: a mysterious $100,000 proposal from a company identified as Solvents for Energy, a $198,000 estimated flat rate from Applied Technology of Toms River, and an approximate $212,000 for a joint job by Peabody Clean Industries of Linden and Environmental Waste Management Co. of Morristown.

Seeking efficiency and economy in the removal of 1,006 chemical containers from the site, Commissioners favored the mystery bid.

Commissioner Matthew Pica advised his colleagues, "I say we should study the proposal from left field and if it's bona fide, put it on next Monday's agenda," a suggestion that won unanimous support from his colleagues.

The board also agreed to put Applied Technology's bid on the agenda instead, if the mystery bid is not acceptable. Ironically, the loser in the affair is Clean Industries, the private firm contracted by Belleville since last May's toxic leak to perform testing on the barrels on site.

According to Township Attorney Frank Zinna, who conducted Tuesday's session, a man he identified as Al Stasium called him Tuesday on behalf of the Solvents Company to make the $100,000 bid covering total clean up and disposal.

Zinna said Stasium was present at one of last week's sessions with the intention of purchasing any salable chemicals on the site.

"When he heard other firms bidding for the clean up job, he called with that proposal," said the attorney, who expects Belleville would be charged the lower figure.

Several representatives from each of the other competing firms attended Tuesday's session. The president of Applied Technology, Dennis Miele, told the board his firm's $198,000 rate covered a clean up and disposal that would take four weeks to complete.

Miele later said the AT procedure might require "small compatibility testing" of drums although Clean Industries has already completed a compatibility testing for the township and advises additional ones prior to transporting any of the drums from the site.

Miele added that AT works in conjunction with disposers and may deem it necessary to remove all chemicals from the Belleville site and perform the testing and subsequent

Police Arrest Three In Fireworks Raid

Belleville Police arrested a 56-year-old Belleville man and his two juvenile sons last Friday afternoon for selling fireworks.

Acting on a tip from a "concerned citizen," Det. Joseph Rotonda, posing undercover, purchased fireworks from the Joram Street man and his two sons, ages 9 and 12.

"We received a tip from a citizen that someone had $5,000 worth of fireworks that they were selling to minors," said Det. Rotonda. "The caller also said that she saw a 6-year-old child coming out of the house with fireworks."

While posing undercover, Det. Rotonda purchased $15 worth of fireworks, including cherry bombs and blockbusters, and then returned to police headquarters where he obtained a search and arrest warrant for the man and his two sons.

"When I approached the man, I asked him if he was selling fireworks. When he responded yes, he took me in the house and had his two sons return with an assortment of fireworks," Rotonda said.

Returning to make the arrest with Det. Rotonda were Det. Joseph Tortorello, Det. Bart Rossi and Det. Sgt. William Escott. The detective confiscated the fireworks and $140 in cash.

The man was charged with selling fireworks and endangering the welfare of a juvenile. He was released on $500 bail and will appear in municipal court before Judge Edward Abramson on July 20. The two boys were turned over to Det. Anthony LaVista of the juvenile agency.

School Board Officials Pleased With Defeat of Negotiation Bill

Local School Board officials are pleased with the news that the State Senate voted down a measure which would have allowed teacher unions the right to negotiate such "permissive" policy issues as curriculum, class size, student testing and teacher transfers.

The law, which was defeated during the Senate session last Thursday by a 22-18 vote, was strongly opposed by Board of Education members throughout the state. The bill passed in the Assembly last month by an easy margin of 59 to 14.

"I am pleased that the bill was defeated," said School Board President Grace Purdue, "but we meet with members of the BEA (Belleville Education Association) last week to discuss certain issues. The representatives told us what they were happy with and also what was bothering them. And we have concluded that we will be able to work together to solve any problems."

Senate President Carmen Orchio, who represents Belleville in the Senate, said he voted in favor of the bill because "it represented a fair and reasonable approach to collective bargaining in the public sector."

"When legislation defining the right of public employees to engage in collective bargaining was originally passed in 1968, it was intended that certain areas could be negotiated if both parties agreed," Orchio continued. "Such was the interpretation that the Public Employees Relations

Dancing Couple Strutting Their Happy Feet Here

By Linda Telesco

Think of famous dance teams and names like Astaire and Rogers or Fonteyn and Nureyev come to mind. Soon, though, Belleville may add its own pair to that illustrious list, a duo that raises teamwork itself to a fine art.

Former Belleville Rick Kitts and Whitney Rau are partners in marriage, dance, and business. Owners of a unique 9-month-old singing telegram service, "Top Hats and Class Acts," the couple this week hosts the grand opening of the "Mainstream School of Dance," at 382 Union Ave., location of the former Belleville Academy of Theater and Dance.

"We share everything together. We live together, dance together, work together, and raise our 3-year-old daughter. Omni together," said the energetic Rick, as his wife nodded in agreement, while talking with The Times in their studio last week.

Young, fresh, and down-to-earth, Rick and Whitney seem like anything but aloof stage people, yet they are what artistic discovery should be all about — exploring new ways to illuminate and rejoice in life.

Both are unimpressed about their singing telegram work, where they delight in crossing those artificial boundaries that seem to divide art from "real life" or performers from "real people."

"A singing telegram is a once in a lifetime experience for most people," said Rick, who loves the business because it permits him to use all his performing assets — dance, comedy, song, choreography and creative planning.

"It's really exciting for me to see people get involved in a telegram we're creating and bring themselves to it," added Whitney.

Their telegrams range from the basic tuxedo-clad style to elaborate frills such as balloons and gorilla suits and other imaginative additions.

With a steady stream of customers, Rick observed, "Without a doubt, our telegram is often the high point of the day for the audience," which is usually an office staff.

While they noted some recipients are caught off guard and flustered, most enjoy the surprise of a singing message.

"It's a fantastic feeling for everyone involved," said Whitney. "We're putting on an entire show just a few feet from the audience. It brings the joy of performance right into the routine of daily life. Most entertainment forms maintain the distance of a stage and curtain."

Rick and Whitney share this goal to introduce artistic experiences into the "mainstream" daily life of as many people as they can reach.

That inspired the name of their school. "We want a space where we can be independently creative choreographers and establish a curriculum to teach people of all ages the joy of movement," said Whitney.

They also belong to the "Mainstream Dancers," a loosely organized troupe which draws on a pool of participating artists for various performances.

Once under way, the Belleville school may become a major source of young artists for the company, Whitney said.

Kitts and Rau themselves illustrate the traditional and unorthodox paths that lead to artistic enjoyment.

A Long Island native, Whitney began her ballet training as a child under the direction of celebrated dancer Andre Eglevsky. She later attended the University of Washington and then obtained her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Manhattan's prestigious Juilliard School, where she studied under Antony Tudor and Jose Limon.

In 1972, she joined the theater arts faculty of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque where she taught dance for four years and received choreographic grants from the National Endowment for the Arts.

While teaching a modern dance class, Whitney met her future husband, then a 21-year-old athlete who registered for the class out of curiosity.

"I was a real jock," said Rick. A Belleville resident until the age of nine, he moved with his family to Newark where he eventually attended Essex Catholic High School and distinguished himself in football, wrestling, and lacrosse.

"Coincidentally," he said, "my old Essex coach (Gene) D'Alessandro is now coaching Belleville wrestling."

After aimless years at St. Peter's College and Montclair State, Rick headed west for Albuquerque. Finding the city to his liking, he stayed and decided to try a university dance class, persuaded by his sister, an aspiring entertainer.

Selected for a minor role in the school's production of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass," Rick found himself in Whitney's class. "He looked like a hippie, but moved well," said Whitney, who then signed up the athlete for every dance class available.

Rick graduated cum laude

Legion Auxiliary Installs New Club Officers

Joseph J. Carbat American Legion Auxiliary held election of officers for 1983-84 at its annual unit meeting.

President Barbara Welter will assume this office for a second term after a successful year 1982-83, all obligations were fulfilled. Unit 299 also received the membership trophy at the Essex County Convention in June.

Welter has been a member of the auxiliary for 13 years, joining under her father, Ray Kinsley's membership. She held various offices in Unit 299. She is now serving on the staff of Essex County Auxiliary as third vice president and holds the position of La Cassure of the 8/40 Essex Salon 804.

She resides in Belleville with her three children, Ernest, Elizabeth and Robert, and is employed by the Township of Belleville.

Other officers for 1983-84 are: Mildred Bradley, first vice president; Rea Maurello, second vice president; Violet Tortorello, secretary; Sis Ohnmach, treasurer; Marie Scalico, historian; Ann Petrillo, sergeant-at-arms; Mary Marchione, assistant sergeant-at-arms and Rose Gengarelly, chaplain.

Installations of officers will be held at American Legion Post 299 on Sept. 24, at 7:30 p.m. Music and refreshments will be served after the program.

Delegates for the 1983-84 state convention in Wildwood, held on Sept. 8, 9, 10 and 11, are: Barbara Welter, Mary Lou Hood, Maureen Gilbert, Mildred Bradley and Mary Marchione. Unit 299 delegation will be housed in the Gold Crest Hotel on Fern and Ocean avenues, Wildwood Crest.

HEALTH WISE

By Ralph J. DiMaio D.C.

Many people who have severe back trouble have experienced a number of small injuries over a long period of time...things like improper lifting, excessive strain or twisting. Finally, some seemingly harmless activity...picking up a pin off the floor, perhaps...results in a disabling back injury, with great pain.

A series of minor abuses of the back may cause and aggravate a spinal misalignment that causes little or no pain at first. Like the straw that broke the camel's back, one-too-many little strains can trigger major back trouble and pain.

Periodic chiropractic spinal check-ups can prevent serious trouble from building up. Phone us.

Gabriel Nazziola Attends Board Orientation Course

Gabriel A. Nazziola, a member of the Belleville Board of Education, has completed an orientation course for new school board members, held at the National Conference Center in East Windsor, June 24-26. The weekend conference, sponsored by the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA), introduced approximately 120 newly-elected and appointed school board members to state educational issues and the local school board's function in the educational process.

"During the past 15 years, the role played by school board members has grown considerably," explained Lloyd Newbaker, NJSBA executive director. "Today's board member must not only be adept at policy-making, budgeting and curriculum, but must also be knowledgeable about labor relations, state and federal legislation and community relations. This conference plays an important part in helping new board members master their responsibilities."

NJSBA has sponsored the new board member orientation for 17 consecutive years.

Commented the organization's president, Bernard Kirshtein, who also serves on the Pennsauken Board of Education: "The reactions of new school board members who attend the orientation have been extremely positive year after year."

Featured speakers at the orientation included: Dr. Michael R. Talty, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction, Parsippany-Troy Hills Public Schools; and Andre Montagne, board secretary/business administrator, Sparta school district, and president of the New Jersey Association of School Business Officials.

Crime Prevention Lecture Scheduled By VFW Auxiliary

In order to make a definite diagnosis of bacterial infection, a physician usually prefers to take a culture before prescribing an antibiotic. This procedure serves to identify the specific bacteria and the antibiotic to which it may be sensitive. Further guidance is provided by knowing the location of the bacterial infection. The location, combined with a knowledge of which types of infection are common to that body location is helpful. The kidney and liver functions of the patient are also considered. These organs play an important part in excreting antibiotics. It can be seen, then, that antibiotics are not to be taken lightly. A physician must weigh several considerations before prescribing them. It is hoped that the public will also become aware of the precautions.

We would like to play an important part in your health program. When you require prescription medication come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. ## Nurses Take Part in Role-Playing Project

Clara Maass Nursing Students Discover Reality of Growing Old

Young people rarely think about being old. It happens so slowly, day after day, year after year.

But for graduating students at Clara Maass Medical Center's School of Nursing in Belleville, knowing how it feels to be old is especially important. For them, the aging process took place overnight and became immediate reality.

"Most of our students will go on to work at Clara Maass Medical Center where they will interact with many older clients," said Pat D'Ambrosio, nursing instructor at Clara Maass. "In fact, since all people are living longer, the clients in many health care facilities will reflect this changing population. It's important that our students have a real understanding of their mature clients and their role as future nursing practitioners. They must know how to organize nursing care to meet the evolving needs of their aged clients."

As a special community role-playing project, the nursing students dressed, acted and were perceived as elderly persons for a day.

They rode buses, waited at laundromats and physicians' offices, shopped in local supermarkets, and did the many things elderly people do as a matter of course.

Students traveled around the Belleville area with their "significant other" — another person whose job it was to protect and help the "older" person.

Evaluating the day, recently graduated nursing student Nancy Bergin said, "I felt that I learned quite a bit about the mature client while performing this role-playing project. I will never again use the word hurry as part of my conversation with the elderly. I could really feel pressure and frustration each time I was encouraged to hurry along."

"By the end of the day, I felt the pain of arthritic legs and the fatigue of the senior citizen after minimal exertion. I realize now that the slow moving pace might be essential and the client's ability limitations must always be considered," she continued.

Student Paula Cohen indicated that she no longer fears the elderly.

"I understand them because I became one of them. They are not a frightening group of people but a loving, vital group of human beings unique unto themselves thanks to their life experiences, memories and wisdom."

Many students noted that "Independence is a pressing need when living life as a mature adult."

Said Bergin, "I also realized the need for promotion of independence and maintenance of self-identity. Social interactions are sometimes limited, and I'd like to be able to encourage social interaction to the fullest."

Many of the students expressed a new, special link with the elderly.

Speaking in the voice of her mature persona, Cohen pointed out, "I am proud to be 77 years young, despite the American attitude that youth is 'where it's at.' I am where it's at."

Students gained insights they would not have achieved without this course. As Clara Maass School of Nursing Director Anne C. Knox indicated, "In this course, students demonstrated their commitment to the maintenance of health promotion and wellness through self-care practices which reflect their client's knowledge, beliefs, values, past experiences, and present resources."

"Diploma nursing education combines the elements of sound theoretical foundations with experiential clinical learning which allow faculty and students to work together to meet educational goals," she continued. "This special role playing project is one way of providing a learning environment which is stimulating, enjoyable, and productive."

And this kind of all-encompassing curriculum allows for human perceptions by students that are startlingly on target. Miss Cohen recalled, "I remember fearing the elderly. I guess we all feared the elderly, not because we viewed them as foreign, but because they presented a frightening reality — our future."

Exhibit By Eddie O'Neil At Library

Currently on exhibit in the New Jerseyana area of the Belleville Public Library is a photographic display entitled, "An Architectural Sampler of Northwest Essex," arranged by Edward O'Neill, president of the Belleville Historical Society and the appointee by Mayor Michael Marotti to the 13-town architectural tour of Northwest Essex County.

Sponsored by the Arts Council of Northwest Essex and the Newark Suburban Chapter of the New Jersey Society of Architects, the photographic exhibition contains the winners of the Photography Show, held at Montclair State College on Sunday, May 15, which was run in conjunction with the 13-town architectural tour from noon-4 p.m., also on May 15, of notable structures and sites in Northwest Essex communities.

The theme of the contest, open to amateurs and professional photographers, was any architectural structure, detail, feature, space, and/or landscape or streetscape within Northwest Essex. Certificates of Merit were awarded the winners.

Sy Grossman

There comes a time in the life of every working person to call it a day. That time arrived for Assistant School Superintendent Sy Grossman last week.

Sy Grossman came to Belleville in 1947 as a teacher, went up the ranks and for the past 10 years, at the time of his retirement, served as assistant superintendent of schools.

Sy Grossman was more than an educator — he was very much a member of the life and times of the community he adopted as his home. He contributed to the innovations experienced by the school system over the past two decades. He participated in management decisions sometimes that were not too popular but right.

Early on, Sy Grossman realized that his need to become involved in the civic affairs of our community was just as important as his professional calling.

He was principal of School 7 and later principal of the Junior High School, leaving behind him strong foundations upon which to build better school systems. Because of Sy Grossman, Belleville is a better town in which to live and work — and to learn.

Taxpayers can never pay enough wages to an educator who contributes so much to the health and welfare and development of our youth. Belleville is very much in the debt of Sy Grossman for his lasting contributions to a school system which has improved over the years because of his presence — and for a community whose organizations have benefited through Sy Grossman's membership.

Carter's Briefing Papers

The Justice Department is investigating how President Reagan's campaign aides obtained President Carter's research material before their 1980 debate.

The allegation is that President Reagan had an advantage in his televised campaign debate with Mr. Carter because he was able to peruse Carter's briefing book.

That conclusion is ridiculous. Carter's public record was in the public domain — and so was Reagan's record as Governor of California. A briefing book merely condensed the records of both men with suggested answers for Carter to use in the event a particular line of questioning arose.

The only way Reagan could have obtained a superior advantage over Carter in the debate was for Reagan to have, in advance, the questions which the interviewing panel would pose to both Carter and Reagan. The media and the Carter partisans are silent with respect to this dimension.

The episode stinks — not because Reagan may have been aware of a Carter briefing paper, but because the media is staging a media-inspired event.

The New York Times and The Washington Post are determined to exert their best effort to convert this incident into a modern-day Republican Watergate. Do you know that? They may well succeed — for a gullible public is willing to believe the worst of public officials.

Frank A. Orechio

P S E & G

Public Service Electric & Gas has its hand out one more time — this time the utility is asking for a rate increase that will amount to $465.5 million. During the last 24 months we have witnessed major increases granted by the Board of Public Utilities to the telephone companies, water companies, and electric and gas companies.

Telephone charges are outrageous. Just to make a phone call to get service is a $30 charge. Power charges are out of sight. Water, the cheapest public commodity will not be cheap much longer. Within the next five years water rates may quadruple — or even go higher.

It's time serious consideration be given to an elected Board of Public Utilities, thus, permitting the people directly to pass on the judgment of the performance of the Public Utility Board members.

The latest Public Service request is outrageous. Public Service is asking for 17 percent return on equity. That is unconscionable.

Frank A. Orechio

Letters in Print

Senior Convention Needs Big Turnout

To the editor:

The National Council of Senior Citizens are launching their 1983 annual special convention and legislative conference in Washington, D.C., July 20-23. Four leading presidential candidates, Walter Mondale, U.S. Senators Alan Cranston, John Glenn, Ernest Hollings will be there to speak, also Sen. Kennedy, Tip O'Neill and the President of AFL-CIO, Lane Kirkland will participate to help save Social Security and Medicare and other programs from further erosion by the Reagan administration.

A great showing and turnout of the elder Americans is expected. Senior power really works and if used properly, is very effective. We must continue to stay together and cry out at the injustice and not allow to be sacrificed by this selfish administration and president who is hell bent on ripping off the vulnerable and defenseless and who don't give a hoot about the huge budget deficit as long as they get theirs!

Most Americans were stunned April 15 by the biggest income tax cuts in history, which showed up in grand style for the wealthy Americans. For example, Ronald and Nancy Reagan saved $19,916 on their income taxes due to the Reagan legislation signed into law two years ago. The recent defeat of the July 1 cap on the income tax cuts of the wealthy was maneuvered by Pres. Reagan, no doubt, by buttering up his Republican senators with another pay hike to go along with his schemes like he always does.

The loyal Democrat senators are calling it a most unfair, selfish trick. For shame! Wake up America! We don't have to put up with their crooked works any longer, like pilfering the Carter debate speech papers. Just like another Watergate. It's grounds for impeachment.

Sincerely,
Stella Draghi

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Sylvia Kordower is president of the Organization of Women for Legal Awareness (OWLA) and she maintains that many couples planning marriage are ignorant of their legal rights and responsibilities, therefore, she wants the state to publish a booklet detailing New Jersey's marriage laws and to distribute it with marriage licenses.

She correctly points out that it is not until a divorce or separation that the parties begin to learn about the state's marriage laws. Then, she says, it's too late.

Beyond that, she would like the state to not only provide the booklet, but, to provide a marriage contract which would have to be signed to consummate a marriage. The contract would explain the laws in the booklet.

In their quest to get signatures on their petition, urging Governor Kean to propose legislation in this area, they have run into trouble because most people feel a marriage contact makes everything seem unromantic.

Consequently, they'll settle for the booklet alone because this information is not available in any single document.

New Jersey is not a community property state. In community property states a husband and wife, regardless of whether both are employed outside the home, are considered to be equal owners of the assets of marriage.

Under New Jersey law, the income of a person during marriage is the separate property of the spouse who earned it. That means homemakers have no legal claim to their spouse's income or property unless specific legal steps have been taken giving the homemaker a legal interest in the property.

This law, however, does not apply in divorces. In those cases, the judge uses his discretion in dividing the marital assets between husband and wife.

Many women are distraught and tear-eyed after they learn they do not automatically have 50 percent interest in their home if the house is only in their husband's name.

William Kearn, head of the women's right section of the state bar association, questions the feasibility of a contract, but when asked "Is there a need for this kind of information?" responded "Absolutely." However, he thinks it can best be presented in high schools and college.

Acknowledging there is need for education, Mr. Kearn said, "The pamphlet probably would be helpful and could be compiled relatively easily."

The OWLA President said, "We've been conditioned to see marriage as strictly romantic but it is a very legal thing." How right she is. Ask any couple going through the throes of a divorce.

While on the subject of women discrimination, we picked up an interesting story from the AARP News Bulletin about the Arizona grandmother who works for the state who hired Amy Gittler, a woman lawyer, who challenged back in 1975, that state's paying about $34 a week less to women on pension who had paid the same amount into the system. She won.

On appeal to the Supreme Court a Los Angeles lawyer representing a retirement plan for state employees, defended the insurance industry practice of paying less to women based on actuarial tables showing that women generally outlive men.

Ms. Gittler recently told the U.S. Supreme Court that women should receive monthly retirement payments equal to men and that the system has unfairly discriminated against women in the area of retirement benefits.

Amy, the lady lawyer, adroitly argues that monthly annuity payments should benefit individuals equally, regardless of whether beneficiaries are men or women. We agree.

If the Supreme Court upholds the ruling that favored Natalie Norris, the Arizona state employee, a major restructuring of the way pension and life insurance companies treat men and women will take place. A decision is expected to be announced in July.

Religious Viewpoint

"Sam Step Forward"

By Rev. Robert Paul

Sam was the son of born-again Christian parents, and in his early youth, he had personally invited Jesus Christ to come into his life. At school, he has already experienced that God hears and answers the prayers of His children. This knowledge had taught him never to start the day without prayer to God.

It was a difficult step for him to go from the peaceful home to the rough reality of camp life, but he was no coward. With joyful heart, he fulfilled his duties as a soldier in the United States Army. His friends thought well of him at first, but gradually their attitude changed. Just listening to their frivolous songs and filthy conversation was very painful to Sam and caused him to turn to the Lord for strength to remain faithful. His comrades started to tease him, and before long they openly ridiculed him.

Gradually, the number of those who were against him increased. As a born-again Christian, his path became more and more lonely. Eventually this came to the notice of the Captain, who knew Sam as a man above reproach and as one of his best soldiers. It annoyed him to hear the report that he was so religious, and he wanted to liberate him from this.

One beautiful morning when the Captain reviewed his company, his attention was drawn to Sam. What an example of a soldier! Suddenly the Captain ordered, "Sam, step forward!" He stood before the Captain, who commanded in the hearing of all, "Sing your favorite song in the presence of the company." After a silent prayer he began singing.

"When peace like a river attendeth my way, when sorrows like sea billows roll; whatever my lot, Thou hast taught me to say, it is well, it is well with my soul."

The Captain remained silent and tears rolled down his cheeks. "Sam, step back. Would to God, the whole company only sang such songs," the Captain said in a subdued voice. He was deeply touched, for he also knew the hymn and used to sing it himself. The memory of his departed mother came before him now. He seemed to hear her last words of admonition. He knew the way of salvation by faith in Christ but had failed to accept Him into his life. In reality the brave Captain had been a coward. Sam, his subordinate, had indeed done better.

How is it with your soul? Are you going on without Christ because you do not have the courage to receive Him into your life?

"For everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved." (Romans 10.)

with a BFA degree and won the dance department's graduating award. From 1973 to 1980 he was the lead male dancer with the Albuquerque Dance Theater (ADT), a company co-founded by Whitney, who also served as its artistic director those seven years.

They toured nationwide with ADT and enjoyed a comfortable, satisfying artistic life which enabled them, unlike some performers, to build a solid marriage. They celebrate their eighth anniversary July 24.

Seeking more creative challenge, they returned east last year and settled in Harrison for easy access to Manhattan's dance classes and auditions.

"I'm determined to make a living at my art while maintaining family stability," said Rick.

Whitney, a dedicated choreographer, agrees. "The economy has limited opportunities for all artists, but we think you have to make your own opportunities," she said.

Although Rick auditions regularly for Broadway shows — "I've done well, but haven't yet had the big break" — he's reluctant to enter contracts which will make him just another dancer under someone else's creative direction.

He forfeited a prestigious offer to join the Pilobolus dance company for that reason.

"I want to do what I love best, a blend of dancing with comedy. Nobody out there is doing that," he declared enthusiastically.

This dynamic duo plans to set the community dancing.

Jaycees Preparing For Annual Festival

Exciting rides, games of chance and special family entertainment is planned for July 19-23 at Father Glotzbach Park in Nutley, during the 12th annual summer festival, hosted by the Nutley Jaycees.

The festival begins Tuesday, July 19 at 6 p.m. and continues through Saturday. The festival is open to 11 p.m. each night. On Saturday, rides open at noon, along with a gigantic flea market across the street.

This year's fun will include the ever-popular "Fish-Toss," the water-dunking booth run by the Nutley Emergency & Rescue Squad, a tee-shirt and hat booth, a huge stuffed animal booth, a newfangled casino-like "Crazy Quarters" contraption, clowns, an appearance by Pizza-Time Theatre's own superstar, Chuck

E. Cheese, and music provided by a Dixieland Jazz Band.

The festival is organized by the Nutley Jaycees, in cooperation with the local parks department.

Special "Family-Rate" discount coupons will appear July 14 in local weekly newspapers.

Officials Accept Chemcial Bids

work at a disposal plant, namely one in Indiana.

"We've been in this industry for the past five years and know our business," said Miele when asked how he could name a firm price when Clean Industries said it could not, but instead quote only a range.

The third alternative was the joint proposal for Clean Industries to prepare the containers and Environmental Waste Management to transport and dispose of them.

"I am totally confused," Zinna told representatives of the Linden firm. "Nobody knows the site better than you guys. You've been there since May. I can't understand why you can't give a firm figure."

CI responded its estimates were on the maximum side of a cost range and if the actual charges were less, Belleville would be charged the lower figure.

The Linden firm estimated it could do the project in 21 days and said that $21,000 of its bid total would finance additional testing needed before the disposers would remove the material.

CI has been on the site of the now closed Research Organin-Inorganic Co., a food-flavoring manufacturer, closed by court order since May 18, two days before the first of several toxic leaks set off a scare of hazardous health and safety conditions among area residents.

In an emergency action, the township engaged the private firm which has been performing tests for the past eight weeks, at a cost to Belleville of over $170,000 to date.

The township has legal control of the closed company's assets and hopes to realize some revenues by selling usable chemicals to interested buyers.

Meanwhile the Essex County Prosecutor's Office is investigating the matter.

Further action is expected at the July 11 meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

Board Members Pleased With Bill Failure

Committee rendered for 10 years. What the bill would have simply done is return to the original intent of the law."

Thomas Spillane, vice president of the School Board was also pleased with the Senate's decision.

"I am relieved that the measure did not receive the approval of the Senate body," said Spillane. "I believe that teachers should have a say in school matters, but what this bill would have required is that we meet in private session."

Worrier Scared What Job Loss Would Mean

Dear Community Mental Health Services:

I'm writing because my husband has begun to hear rumors about cut backs at his company. He's been with the firm for eight years and doesn't think anything would happen to him.

I tend to be a worrier and I'm scared about what might happen if he were let go. The kids are in school now, and I started working again this year, but the family couldn't survive on my income. Am I over-reacting? How should I proceed?

Dear Concerned:

In these times, it certainly is important to have a clear view of your economic and job situation. There are no jobs that are 100 percent safe and to not recognize this is to deny the experience of tens of thousands of workers at every level. What seems significant in your letter is that you "tend to be a worrier." It's often the case that one partner does the worrying, leaving no room for the other to express any concerns. Perhaps if you eased up in telling your husband how worried you were, and permitted him to speak of his own thoughts and concerns, both of you would then be able to deal more effectively, appropriately and supportively with whatever might happen.

(The Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley is a non-profit agency serving the community. For information, call 751-1630. Send letters to: CMHS Hotline, care Irving W. Hahn, Community Mental Health Services, 570 Belleville Ave., Belleville, N.J. 07109.)

Seems Like Only Yesterday Councilman Thomas Greco Resigns; Recall Movement of Council Begins

Thirty Years Ago

Vandals attacked three Belleville elementary schools over the weekend destroying almost 60 windows and exploding firecrackers in the buildings.

Ruel E. Daniels, in a letter to the buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Education reported that a total of 59 windows were broken at Schools 4, 5, and 8.

At School 4, where broken window incidents in past years have been negligible, there were 25 windows broken and floors in the classrooms were littered with the exploded paper shells of firecrackers, which were apparently thrown after the windows were shattered. There were 14 windows broken at School 5 and 20 at School 8.

Three advisors of the Belleville Little League attended a meeting in Trenton to discuss the possibility of holding the District IV championships in Belleville. Lawton Cox, Warren Knight and Richard Dolan, went to Trenton to talk with national Little League officials about holding the title games here.

Twenty Years Ago

Mayor Robert Laterza announced at a special meeting of the Town Council to act on the surprise resignation of Councilman Thomas Greco, that the council would not appoint anyone to fill the vacant seat. The mayor made the statement on behalf of himself, and Councilmen G. George Addonizio and Vincent Strumolo.

The resignation of Greco was accepted unanimously by the three, plus Councilman James Golden, but not until Golden had made and withdrawn a motion which received no second, that the resignation not be accepted.

Greco, who served one year, cited frustrations confronting a minority councilman bloc in making his resignation known.

"I have tried to do my best, but there have been many unforeseen problems," he said. "As a man who received the highest vote total in the election, I have found myself useless as a councilman."

For months Greco had made no secret of the fact that he was unhappy as a councilman. He attributed most of this to being a member — along with Councilman Golden — of an alleged minority bloc, which was consistently outvoted by Laterza, Addonizio and Strumolo.

Golden told the council the seat should be filled with one of the runners-up from the last council election, but the others on the council disagreed, voting to wait until the November election, which is required by law.

Final plans for the threatened recall movement against the majority bloc of the Town Council were made, according to Robert Westpy, leader of the movement.

The recall drive, Westpy said, had 100 active workers, who would be circulating petitions aimed at Mayor Laterza and Councilmen Addonizio and Strumolo. Their goal is 5,000 signatures, or 25 percent of Belleville's registered voters. Westpy would not reveal the charges, which his group will level against the three men. "These," he said, "would be made known when the petitions are actually in circulation."

"I have been saying all along that July 1 is our starting point," he continued. "We've had to wait until the council is in office for at least one year. That legality has been met and we can now start."

The Belleville Police Benevolent Association Local 28, held its annual election of officers, and elected Michael Marotti as president for the fourth consecutive term. Also elected were: James O'Brien, vice president; George Lister, treasurer; Joseph Matera, secretary; and Carl Juilano, sergeant-at-arms.

One Year Ago

A new two-year teachers' contract granting 6 percent raises for 1982-83 and another 6.2 percent hike for 1983-84 was unanimously approved by the Board of Education. The contract will grant another $1,700 per teacher next year and another $1,900 per teacher the following year, according to School Board attorney Lawrence Schwartz.

He said the new starting salary for a teacher with a B.A. degree is now set at about $14,050 with a maximum for the same degree level $27,000.

The Belleville school district showed marked improvement in the 1982 results of the New Jersey Minimum Basic Skills Test, according to assistant superintendent Sy Grossman. The tests are administered annually to students in all New Jersey school districts. Students in grades three, six, nine and 11 are tested for competency in reading and mathematics skills. According to Grossman the minimum point scores for meeting the state standard is a 75 in reading and a 65 in math out of a possible 100. More than 90 percent of the Belleville students in each grade level passed the minimum point scores.

Thousands of residents lined Washington Avenue and later filled Municipal Stadium, as the Belleville Fire Department celebrated its centennial anniversary. Fire departments from throughout the state were on hand to help in the festivities.

'Special Occasions' At the Summerfun

Bernard Slade's 'Special Occasions' will receive its New Jersey production premiere at Summerfun, the state's largest professional summer theater now in its 12th year.

This affectionate portrait of a recently divorced couple who are constantly reunited to celebrate the "special" occasions of their lives will run July 12 through 16. Written by the author of 'Romantic Comedy' and 'Same Time Next Year,' the production is the third of six shows to be presented as part of Summerfun's newly expanded eight-week season.

Jim Bracchitta will play the role of Michael, and Christine McCrea will play his wife Amy. The production will be directed by Summerfun veteran Russ Ratsch and designed by Kenneth Lodge of Hoboken. The remainder of the season consists of Ronald Harwood's 'The Dresser,' Ira Leyin's 'Deathtrap,' and 'They're Playing Our Song,' by Neil Simon with music and lyrics by Marvin Hamlisch and Carol Bayer Sager.

Summerfun is a professional stock theater in residence at Montclair State College. All performances are at 8:30 p.m. in air-conditioned Memorial Auditorium. Ticket prices are $6 Tuesday through Thursday, and $7.50 Friday and Saturday. Student and senior citizen rates are available. Special student discount on Friday evenings: two students with I.D.'s are admitted for only $5. For reservations or further information call 746-9120.

Belleville's Past

But Dr. Yarrow did not yet give up the game for lost. He "expressed pleasure at the way the votes went" because "the change in Belleville from a township to a town is a great step toward annexation to Newark," and forthwith appealed to the Supreme Court for an injunction restraining the newly-elected councilmen from functioning. Through his personal friend, Senator Harry V. Osborne, he had an annexation bill introduced in the Legislature convening the following January. But as the Times reported "the Belleville annexation bill was killed in the Senate Tuesday night, March 9, 1911." The Supreme Court decided that the referendum was valid and legal, and Belleville set out on a new chapter of its existence. It was now a town. The councilmen, elected the preceding November, had so far acted merely in the capacity of township committeemen. But on June 20, 1911, they could finally step onto their rightful office, and Lyman C. Denison, the council chairman, assumed the courtesy title of Mayor.

Other members of the town council were Edmund Bechtholdt, George Byron, Frank A. Cadiz, Edward O. Cyphers, George Daniels, Harry M. Falow, Herman Hanschka, Henry McCormack, Emil Mertz, Frank Carragher, still remembered by the name of the children's summer group whose site he dedicated to Belleville, and George W. Stanier. The latter was the son of William Stanier who had served the Belleville administration when it changed back from a city to a township constitution in 1876.

In three decades the population of Belleville had more than tripled. It had been 3,004 in 1880, 3,487 in 1890, and had reached 5,907 in 1900. By 1910 it was 9,891. A number of civic improvements, necessitated by the population growth, were effected during the administration of Mayor Denison. The public library, which led an ambulatory existence in the stores and warehouses of friendly merchants since its foundation in 1902, was finally given a permanent home. The brick building, with white stone trimmings, rising on a hill on the westside of Washington Avenue on the corner of Academy Street was dedicated in the summer of 1911. A year later the Board of Health was definitely reorganized, with Dr. H.B. Vail, George F. Thornton, J. Maiotian, Henry Mason and John F. Flanagan as members in 1914. Shortly before the end of Denison's tenure, Belleville organized its own water department. Simultaneously the new post of a superintendent of public works "whose duty will be to have charge of the Sewer and Water Department" was created. William H. Jacobson was the first occupant of the new office.

Junior Woman's Club Installs New Officers

The Junior Woman's Club of Belleville began its 13th year of service with a candlelight ceremony as the 1983 executive board of officers was installed this year. MaryAnn Flor was sworn in beginning her first year as president. First vice president will be Kathy Decker, second vice president will be Georgeann Ventola, third vice president will be Anne Pekrol, Cathy Watson will be recording secretary, Debbie Gardner will be treasurer, Julie Paoletta will be corresponding secretary and Kathy Shandra will be federation secretary.

Outgoing membership chairman

Cathy Watson welcomed Joyce Wittish, Ellen Honsinger and Karen Cozzarelli as they were installed as new members. Each received a carnation which is the club's official flower.

The 1983 graduates were Joanne Braniff and Sandy Zampino. Members leaving this year were Lucy Cappello and Vincyne Piegari. Sherry Moccia, junior advisor, spoke briefly about each member and lauded them on their past accomplishments in the club.

Guests included Joyce Martelli, 8th District advisor, Sherry Moccia, junior advisor, Mrs. Lenore Kenney, president, Woman's Club, Joann McGough, chairman of the evening department membership, Barbara Spillane, sub-junior advisor and Tricia Spillane, president of sub-junior woman's club of Belleville.

Mrs. Linda Caputo, past president of the junior club, gave her outgoing speech and thanked all members for being so cooperative during her two years in office. Mrs. Caputo then introduced Mrs. Flor as the new president. Mrs. Flor's message included her theme which for this year will be "The Challenge to Make it Happen — Improvement Through Dedication and Cooperation." Her desire is to inspire members to grow and attain their goals.

Among the projects started this year was the Red Ribbon Inc., "Bell Ringer Sunday" and work with the new senior citizens group at St. Peter's Church. Anyone wishing more information about the Junior Woman's Club of Belleville may call 751-4975. All women between the ages of 18-35 are welcomed to join. Future events coming up are June Orientation at Jersey City and the club's annual husband and wife social.

Negative Poisoning Tests Shown in Gravy Master

By Steve Frank

The bottle of suspected poisoned Gravy Master Seasoning and Browning Sauce found in the Pathmark Supermarket on Washington Avenue proved negative. The tests were made by the state officials said Amy Collings, a spokeswoman for the New Jersey Department of Health.

A federal Bureau of Investigation spokesman said the bottle was removed from the market to the FBI office in Newark and transferred to Trenton for the tests. The suspected two-ounce bottle had a red mark similar to those of the three insecticide-laced bottles found in other locations in New Jersey.

The bottle, which contents proved negative, has been returned to the Washington Avenue Pathmark, according to Thomas Longo, Belleville health officer.

Bottles of the gravy seasoning containing the insecticide had been found on the shelves of supermarkets in Jersey City, North Bergen and Weehawken. None have been found in Belleville.

Gravy Master has issued a recall of the product in New Jersey, Collings said.

Team Starting To Come Around

Coach Garilli Optimistic About Braves' Chances

By Mike Lamberti

With the July 4 holiday halting action in the Essex County Baseball League, the Belleville Braves head coach Sal Garilli had a chance to analyze his ball club through the first 16 games the team has played.

The Braves are 6-10 thus far and on Tuesday were in Union to play the Jayhawks. Tomorrow night, Parsippany will be the opponent at Parsippany. This weekend, the Braves are home, to Irvington on Saturday and West Orange on Sunday. Both games start at 5 p.m.

After a slow start in which the team dropped its first three games, the Braves have been coming around, playing .500 ball over the last five weeks and are very much alive in the playoff race. The season is 40 games long, so it's easy to see why Garilli feels his club has a good shot.

"We're right in the thick of things," said the coach. "We got off slow, but now we're developing a set lineup and getting to know everyone. I'm not satisfied, but I don't think I would be satisfied if we were 16-0. You can never be satisfied in this game."

Garilli's lineup for the last two weeks has been Dominick Vazzano at first, Mark Roll at second, Tim Shea at short and Joe Corbalis at third. Steve Karlick, Dave Starr and Gary Cook man the outfield. The catcher is Tim Walsh and the pitching staff is starting to come around with Anthony Coco, Scott Lutz and Steve Slotnik leading the starters. Mark Wedingdale, who was acquired from West Orange, comes in for long and short relief.

"Since we got Walsh, we've really been doing well," said the coach. "Timmy was a catcher for Upsala during the regular season and has strong experience. He has really helped us."

The Braves' bats have been solid. Vazzano is hitting around .420 and Karlick .410. Gary Cook and Walsh both are hitting .375 and Starr, after a slow start, has come around. "We need Starr's bat in the lineup," said Garilli. "He's starting to come around and will be a big help the second half of the season."

On the hill, Coco has been marvelous, when used. The 1981 BHS grad and second all-time win-ing pitcher in school history, has been used sparingly by Garilli. "I wish I could use him more," admitted the coach. "However, his mechanics were bad when he first joined the team and when he pitches, he needs at least a week to loosen up. His elbow is very sore after a start and he needs time to loosen before his next start."

In his two starts, Coco is 2-0, having struck out 25 batters. He has been devastating at times, overpowering batters. Garilli hopes to use him more often, thinking he can give Coco about 10 starts the rest of the way.

Slotnik, out of Upsala, has been solid the last two weeks and will be a big man on the hill for the second half. Lutz, who pitches for the University of Vermont, has varsity experience and can be tough on opposing hitters.

Garilli feels his team can catch second place Verona if they continue to improve. "Verona got off fast, but they've had their problems lately," said Garilli. "We're right there and if we can win some of these games this week, we'll be in good shape."

The coach notes that only Irvington seems unbeatable right now. "They're loaded. They've got three or four guys that have played triple A ball. They are the class of the league right now, no doubt. They also have been playing together for four to five years. When you know everyone on the field, it really helps."

"Destiny is in our hands," said Garilli. "We can play and do very well in this league. The next couple of weeks should be very interesting."

NOTES: The playoff format will be the division winners from the North and Southern divisions. Then the top four teams will go, with four playing five in a one game playoff. The winner of that game will play the team with the best record, while two plays three. Both of those series will be best two out of three. The winners of those games then advance to the World Series.

Rec Pigtail Champs

Royals Capture Title In Pigtail Softball

The Royals were crowned champions of the Belleville Pigtail League on June 25. The young team compiled a record of 7-2, in its regular season and entered the playoffs beating the Indians for second place and finally defeating the Tigers in two straight games by the scores of 4-0 and 11-6.

The team was led all season by the superb pitching of Lisa Salvatore, who also contributed offensively with a fine bat. The pitching was aided with outstanding defensive plays of the Royal infield: Danielle Pizzi, first base; Josephine Ciallella, second base; Cheri Valse, shortstop;

Daria DeSimone, third base.

Offensively, the team was led by the powerful bats of Cheri Valse and Lisa Salvatore and the clutch hitting of Danielle Pizzi and Cheryl Fahmie. The outfield included Lisa Zummo, Cristin McCarthy, Michelle Naso, Kim Fitzgerald, Susan Mylearn, Cheryl Fahmie, Carol Ruggiero, Phyllis Ruggiero, Michelle Pizzi, Michelle Young. The catching duties were handled by Bernadette Cerami. The Royals, coaches, Debbie Long and Anna Montuori would like to congratulate the girls on a job well done this year.

Times Sports Flashback

BHS Diamondmen Knock-off Kearny Behind Centanni's Arm

This is the first of a new weekly summer series in the Belleville Times, which will take our readers back to some of the best athletic moments in Belleville sports history. The articles will be published in their entirety, exactly the way they were published.

May 17, 1973

The Belleville baseball team, for the second time this season behind the pitching of Rich Centanni, knocked off a very highly regarded Kearny club, ranked by area newspapers as fifth best in the state. The final score was 2-1 in a game played last Friday at BHS.

The win put the varsity record at 9-2-1 for the year, 7-2-1 in the Big Ten conference, a mark that left them one point ahead of Kearny and Bloomfield in the conference standings. The win also put Belleville in first place in the conference for the first time this season.

Centanni hurled a four-hitter for his fourth victory of the season against one defeat. The senior righthander struck out eight and walked two in the contest. The only run scored off Centanni was an unearned run, thus he has gone 28 consecutive innings without allowing an earned run.

Centanni had to be good, for his opposite number from Kearny, Bob Ostrom, also allowed only four hits, striking out six, walking three as he saw his season record drop to 3-2 with both losses coming at the hands

(Please see 'Centanni' on page 12.)

Looking at Baseball's Pennant Races in Early July

With the All Star break upon us, it's time for our traditional look at Major League Baseball at the midway point and some predictions on the second half outcome.

As usual, baseball has been a big draw throughout the country. The Los Angeles Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals and Atlanta Braves all are doing extremely well at the gates in the National League while strong fan support has been shown at New York, Toronto, Boston as usual, and also in Baltimore and Kansas City. Following baseball's most successful season last year, it appears the game continues to bring fans game in and game out.

In the National League East, the Montreal Expos are holding the lead, with St. Louis, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh trying to decide on second place. The defending champion Cardinals did hold the top spot for the first two months of the season, but an eight-game losing streak sent the Cards reeling into second. Philly has pitching problems and are not getting the hitting from its big guns. Pittsburgh is starting to come around, but pitching seems to be a big problem there and the Bucs might not be a big force in this year's race. Chicago will improve, but don't expect them in the race come September. As for our Mets, they look better thanks to Keith Hernandez, but will not be in the pennant race in 1983. The major problem was the terrible start the Mets got off to before George Bamberger left screaming. Frank Howard seems like a good man for the job, let's hope the Mets decide to keep him next season.

The prediction in the East, St. Louis will over come Montreal and win by two games. The Cards, despite their slump, are just three games out and still possess the best hitting team, average wise, in the league. Being a Cardinal fan, it's easy for me to make that prediction.

In the NL West, as expected, Los Angeles and Atlanta are fighting a two-team race, San Francisco, San Diego and surprising Houston are playing respectable ball, but none of those teams will catch the top two teams. Cincinnati is a long way from the 1975-76 championship teams that once ruled the game. The Reds are having problems and have a long way to go.

The Dodgers appear the better team because of one thing, pitching. The rotation of Bert Hooton, Jerry Reuss, Fernando Valenzuela and Bob Welch is stronger than that of Atlanta's Phil Niekro, Pascual Perez, Steve Mc Murtry and Pete Falcone. The prediction here: Los Angeles will post the best mark in the National League and win by seven games. Thus in the NL, the east will see St. Louis at 88-74, Montreal 86-76, Philly 82-80, Pittsburgh 81-81, Chicago, 77-85 and New York 76-86.

The NL West has LA finishing 98-64, Atlanta 91-71, San Fran 81-81, San Diego 76-86, Houston 76-86, Cincinnati 60-102.

In the American League, the Eastern Division has turned into a surprisingly tough six-team race. The surprise comes from Toronto, which should finish with its first winning season in franchise history but will not win the crown. Give that honor to Baltimore, once again for its overwhelming pitching. Detroit and the Yankees should battle for second, with the Yankees winning that battle but falling three short of the Birds. Boston and Milwaukee come next. The Sox are always scrappy, but Carl Yastrzemski, in his final season, will not win that elusive championship. The Brewers, who almost won it all last year, have fallen upon tough times. Without Fingers and Vukovich, it's tough sailing. Toronto will fit in between the Tigers and Sox while Cleveland should take care of the cellar although the Indians will not finish with that bad of a record.

BUC SHOTS

By Michael Lamberti

Sports Editor

The records here: Baltimore 96-66, New York 93-69, Detroit 91-71, Toronto 87-75, Milwaukee 81-81, Boston 81 and Cleveland 78-84.

The American League West is anybody's guess, but since we're predicting, let's take a gamble. Chicago, Kansas City, possibly Texas and always California will be in the hunt here. Go with California mainly because the Angels have more guns and guys with experience down the stretch. Besides, Gene Autry is a nice guy and should watch his team win this division which has turned out to be a battle of misfits.

The Angels have the big names, the guns like Jackson, Carew, Grich, De Cinces, Boone and Downing. They have adequate pitching, certainly enough to take this crown. They won't get by the O's in the playoffs but should take the West. Thus: California 86-76, Kansas City 85-77, Texas 83-79, Chicago 81-81, Minnesota 66-96, Oakland 66-96, and Seattle, 60-102.

The playoffs will see St. Louis dethroned by the Dodgers in four games while the Orioles stop the Angels in three, setting up a solid World Series battle between the two best teams in the league, at least at the All-Star break. Who knows, with injuries, trades or a crazy bounce of a baseball, dreams have been shattered and division titles have gone by the waist side. Our prediction is the Dodgers and Orioles for the World Series come October.

Believe it or not, the NFL season is just five weeks from starting with exhibition games set for the early part of August. Here we are in July and baseball is half way over, the USFL season has reached a conclusion and the school year is over. There is a lot of excitement coming up in the next couple of months and the action should be tough all year long.

The Belleville Braves, our entry in the Essex County Baseball League, play their home games at Belleville High School. They currently hold a 6-10 mark and have a number of players who once wore the Blue and Gold uniform. They are coached by Sal Garilli, a fine baseball man who seems to be turning the club around after a slow start. The Braves' biggest problem this year has been lack of fan support. In such a great baseball town like Belleville, it seems a little surprising that the Braves are not followed on a regular basis. As you might remember, Belleville was once represented in the ECBL back in the mid to late 70s. Back then the team was called the Belleville Bruins and they won championships in 1975 and 1978 before folding after the '79 campaign. Dennis Sasso managed the club back then. This year's Braves are an exciting team playing against some solid competition. Come see them play, they will be home this weekend to Irvington and West Orange, both games starting at 5 p.m.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, how many years did it take for the Cincinnati Bengals to win their first division championship after breaking into the AFL in 1968. Also name the team quarterback and whom the Bengals played in the playoffs. The answer: Cincinnati, under coach Paul Brown, made it to the playoffs in only their third year. In 1970, the Bengals were 8-6 and won the AFC central. In round one, they lost to the Colts, 17-0. The quarterback was Greg Cook.

For this week's quiz, name the last two times that the Boston Red Sox have been to the World Series, who the Red Sox played and how they did.

The 50th Anniversary Dinner of the Diamond Gloves Alumni is set to be held at The Tides Restaurant, on Belmont Avenue, North Haledon, on Friday evening, Sept. 16, 1983, dinner chairman Bernie Taylor, announced. It was 50 years ago (1933) the Diamond Gloves amateur boxing tournament was started and sponsored by The Paterson News and Paterson P.B.A. The Bergen Record obtained the sponsorship about the time of WW II until 1976 when the newspaper's interest started to fade. It was then that Bernie Taylor took control and has been putting annual boxing tournaments on at the Dover Armory ever since.

A 12-round rematch scrap between Milt McCrory of Detroit and Colin Jones, of Wales for the WBC welterweight title left vacant by retiring champion Sugar Ray Leonard has been rescheduled. The bout originally set for Aug. 20 has been changed to Aug. 13 due to TV network rescheduling. The location is Las Vegas' Dune Hotel and Country Club.

With every promoter in America getting into the act of allegedly signing WBC heavyweight king Larry Holmes for a title bout, World Boxing Council (WBC) now steps out of the wings to join the crowd, WBC stated Holmes must sign to fight Greg Page within 30 days. As we stated several columns back, Holmes has already signed to fight Page for promoter Don King. Holmes' attorney Charles Spaziani confirmed that Holmes signed two months ago to fight Page for King. "There is no purse figure or site agreement at this date," Spaziani said.

Newark promoter Murad Muhammad said Holmes signed to fight Marvis Frazier for $3.5 million in the fall. Murad said nothing about promoter Joe Verne. Anyone wanting to sign Marvis must deal in Philadelphia's Verge. Ex-champ Smokin' Joe Frazier has a promotional agreement with Verne for Joe's stable of fighters. And for the many years we have known Joe Frazier, he has always maintained his integrity.

A spokesman for Atlantic City's Caesars Hotel-Casino said on Friday, "Thomas Hearns' first defense of his WBC welterweight title has been scrapped. However, Hearns may still fight on July 10. If he does fight it will be a 10-round non-title bout. There is talk of an over-the-weight workout with Murray Sutherland of Bay City, Mich., depending upon NBC's approval.

Puerto Rican Juan La Porte, fighting out of New York City, retained his WBC featherweight crown by a 12-round controversial split decision at San Juan, Puerto Rico, over previously undefeated Johnny de la Rosa, native of Dominican Republic, now of Florida. Judges John Coyle and Harry Gibbs of England scored it for La Porte 116-111 and 115-114, respectively. James Vin Kim of Long Beach, Calif. favored de la Rosa by a 116-113 score. Carl King, de la Rosa's manager, immediately declared he will file a protest with the Puerto Rican Boxing Commission and to World Boxing Council. King wants his batter declared the WBC featherweight champion. La Porte earned an estimated $150,000 while raising his record to 24-3. De la Rosa pulled down $30,000 as his chart dropped to 22-1.

Public Relation specialist Sy Roseman sends word of Connolly Promotions presenting an outstanding boxing card featuring light heavyweight Marvin Mack of Philadelphia vs. James "Chuckie" Stills of Philadelphia; Junior middleweight Kenny Brown vs. Leon Fulton, both of Philadelphia; Junior lightweight Joe Pickett of Phoenixville, Pa., vs. Alfonso Mitchell of Philadelphia; Junior middleweight Levy Jones, native of Australia, now of Philadelphia vs. Teddy Jones of Reading and light heavyweight Jeffrey Hill of Philadelphia vs. John Scott of Germantown, Pa. The first bout will go on at 8 p.m. sharp at the Labor Lyceum of Conshohocken, Pa. The date — tonight, July 7.

Friends of Eddie "Boom Boom" Moore gave a dinner Saturday to honor the 60-year-old former boxer for his 12 years of volunteer coaching of young boxers at the David L. Warner South Ward Boys & Girls Club at 400 Hawthorne Ave., Newark. Eddie was born in Newark and started boxing at "smokers" at age 11. He went on to win the New Jersey Golden Gloves Championship when he was 17. Moore turned pro and went on to build a solid record of 54-6 before hanging 'em up. Eddie's wife, Frances, is one of New Jersey Athletic Commission's fairest boxing officials.

At a press conference conducted by promoter Butch Lewis on Monday, he announced the formal signing of light-heavyweight (WBA & WBC) king Michael Spinks of St. Louis to defend his titles against former champion Eddie Mustafa Muhammad of Philadelphia at the Washington, D.C. Armory on July 15. Eddie said, "July 15 won't get here fast enough for me. I've waited two years — I don't like him (Spinks) and he don't like me and this is no bally-hoo." Spinks who won the WBA half of the title from Muhammad by a decision on July 18, 1981, said, "I anticipate a tough fight. I'm looking forward to fighting Eddie to shut him up." Spinks, undefeated in 23 bouts, will receive $1 million. Muhammad, 41-6-1, will settle for $250,000. HBO Cable will broadcast.

Carl King, manager of WBA heavyweight titleholder Michael Dokes, is trying to get to WBC champ Larry Holmes for a unification bout before Holmes' retirement. "The public deserves to have the titles unified before Holmes retires," Carl told the press on Tuesday at King's office.

The World Boxing Council's 1984 convention is being targeted for a New York hotel. If the WBC convention committee agrees, it will be the first in New York City of either of the two big-league controllers of boxing.

Spunkin' new WBA junior middleweight champ Roberto Duran received a hero's welcome in Panama, Tuesday, after winning the title Thursday, June 16 from New York's Davey Moore at Madison Square Garden. More than 2,000 fans met Duran at Paitilla Airport in heavy rain. Panama's president Ricardo de la Espriella had sent his private plane to Miami to bring Duran home. Over 50,000 people lined the motorcade route to the executive mansion, where de la Espriella and the cabinet received the champion and offered congratulations. Duran was given the key to Panama City. A dinner followed.

Promoter Bob Arum accompanied WBA junior middleweight champ Roberto Duran to Panama for Duran's homecoming. Arum said in an informal statement at the palace in Panama City that Duran-Marvin Hagler will fight in November. Locations under consideration are Madison Square Garden, Atlantic City, Miami's Orange Bowl, Las Vegas and Manila in the Philippines.

Emanuel "Manny" Steward, manager-trainer for Tommy Hearns WBC welterweight champion, sent word from his Detroit Kronk gymnasium, "NBC is looking for a suitable replacement to fight Hearns in Atlantic City as James Green came up with fractured ribs. Green was injured in training. The bout was scheduled for July 10. England's Kirlan Lang has been mentioned. Meanwhile Steward said, "My business associate (Mike Trainer) is trying to negotiate a Hearns-Hagler title fight for September."

Undeclared junior middleweight Tony Ayala, a native of San Antonio, Texas, now of Paterson, N.J., was sentenced to 35 years in prison. Ayala, 20, must serve at least 15 years before becoming eligible for parole. He was fined $5,125. County Superior Court Judge Amos Saunders imposed sentence to the WBA No. 1 ranked boxer (22-0) after he was found guilty of six charges, including sexual assault against a female neighbor. Ayala faces an additional 10 years in Texas because his conviction violates his parole for a similar charge in San Antonio.

Cosmos' Corner

Cosmos Pull Off Upset Against Hot Vancouver Whitecaps at Stadium, 3-0

With their backs to the wall, the Cosmos found that little extra and pulled off a big win, stopping the red hot Vancouver Whitecaps by a 3-0 count at Giants Stadium before a disappointing crowd of 29,342.

The Cosmos battled Team America at Giants Stadium yesterday. Last Friday, the team was in Chicago to face the pesky Sting. Due to the early deadline and holiday, we couldn't get the Chicago game in this week's edition.

The Cosmos came into the Whitecap game behind the eight ball before the contest even started. First off, Giorgio Chinaglia, the most prolific scorer in the league's history and obviously the Cosmos main man on offense, was still in Italy, finalizing some business after buying the Lazio soccer team. Chinaglia was to have been back in time for this game, but he needed additional time in Italy.

With strike one on them, the Cosmos were also underdogs at home, something that rarely happens. The team they were playing, Vancouver, came in with a 13-1 mark, trying to become the first team in league history to win 14 of their first 15 games. The 1980 Seattle Sounders also got off 13-1, but they were stopped in their bid for win number 14. The Caps also held an 8-4-1 advantage over the Cosmos lifetime, having beaten them twice during the 1979 season at Giants Stadium, the latter victory in the mini game of the playoffs and sending the Cosmos to an early shower in the '79 playoffs.

However these Cosmos, who almost always rise to the occasion in the big game, came through once again. With Vladislav Bogicevic leading the way, the Cosmos blanked the tough Caps and improved their own mark to 10-5. "We are a very tough team to beat here," said Franz Beckenbauer. "When we are at home, I am very confident. We always seem to do well."

The game was physical from the opening whistle and for a while it appeared to match the form of a 1979 regular season contest at Giants Stadium between the two teams. In that game, a major brawl took place in the second half en route to a 4-2 Whitecap victory. This time, there were some slight shoving incidents and a lot of yelling, but most of all the referee kept a tight lid on things and the game was kept in order.

The first Cosmos goal came when Bogie took a pass from Cabanas and beat Caps goals Tino Lettieri for the one goal lead. The Cosmos took the lead into intermission and goalkeeper Hubert Birkenmeier did a super job on a few point blank shots, smothering the Whitecaps scoring chances and adding additional fuel to the Cosmos fire.

Early in the second half, the Cosmos got a big lift when Steve Moyers, who has been battling an horrendous slump, beat Lettieri with a shot from 15 yards. The goal gave the Cosmos some breathing room and took a great deal of wind out of the Caps sails.

The final tally of the evening came 10 minutes later when Roberto Cabanas beat Lettieri with a 20-footer. It was Cabanas' 11th goal of the season and he is second in the NASL scoring race, trailing only Chinaglia. With Giorgio leaving the team next season, Cabanas seems the man to take over Chinaglia's spot.

The only question that remains is whether there will be an NASL season next spring. The Cosmos brass were hoping for a big crowd against the Whitecaps.

Centanni Leads Bucs Past Kearny Kards, 2-1

of the Bellboys.

Kearny scored the only run off Centanni in the top of the third. Bob Landi got an infield hit off Centanni's glove, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Ostrom's two out infield roller was mishandled for an error. However, the deficit did not last long as in the bottom of the third, Belleville got both of their runs, and all four of their hits in the inning. Centanni started things with a single to left field. He moved to second on a sacrifice fly by Alan Frank. Joe Ross followed with a hit to left, however, Centanni was cut down at the plate on a fine throw by Steve Binder to give Kearny two outs and a man on second as that is where Ross wound up on the throw to the plate.

Phil Cuzzi followed with a booming double to left field off the fence to tie it at 1-1. Cuzzi soon followed to score the winning run as he was driven home on a hard hit single by Frank Papasidero. That was the last Bellboy hit or threat of the day.

For Kearny though, there was still some grand opportunities to score, one of which came in the fifth inning. Dave Malefski started problems by singling to right-center. Centanni then tried to pick the runner off first, but his throw was wild, allowing Malefski to go all the way to third base. Runners were soon at third and first when Binder walked.

Kearny tried a suicide squeeze, however, Cuzzi called for a pitchout and wound up picking Malefski off third, with Binder taking second during this action. Landi reached base on an error, a grounder to Frank, and his throw home to Cuzzi at the plate was in plenty of time to cut down Binder. Centanni really bore down as he struck out Greg Maletich to get out of trouble.

Sy Grossman Honored By Family and Friends

Congratulations — Mayor Michael Marotti congratulates Sy Grossman at a retirement dinner for the assistant superintendent of schools, held at the Fiesta in Wood Ridge.

The Host — Michael Chieffo, a local businessman and former member of the School Board, served as master of ceremonies during Sy Grossman's retirement dinner.

Good Luck — Nicholas Petti, principal of School 10, says thanks to his old friend Sy Grossman during the retirement dinner at the Fiesta.

Happy Times — Grace Purdue, president of the School Board, presents an award to Grossman from the board in honor of his retirement as assistant superintendent of schools.

37 Years — Sy Grossman has served in the Belleville School system for the past 37 years, wearing the titles of a teacher, a principal and an administrator. Nearly 500 people came out to say good bye to Sy.

A Longtime Friend — Former township commissioner Mary Schatoro was on hand to say a few kind words about Sy Grossman during his retirement dinner.

Another Principal — Mario DiMaggio, principal of the Middle School, presents Sy Grossman with a gift during the retirement dinner. Grossman at one time served as principal of the Junior High School.

Chamber Gift — Arron Cohen, a member of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, presents an award to Sy Grossman for his 37 years of service to the community of Belleville.

Many Friends — Sy Grossman had to be pleased to see almost 500 people attend his retirement dinner. More people would have been there, but tickets to the event sold out fast.

Lovely Ladies — Grace Purdue (l), president of the School Board, and Donna Rainone, a board trustee, surround Sy Grossman during his retirement dinner held at the Fiesta in Wood Ridge.

Co-Workers — Sy Grossman (c) is greeted by Dr. John Gregg, superintendent of schools, and Michael Nardiello, assistant superintendent of schools, during Grossman's retirement dinner.

SOME PEOPLE RETIRE WITH MORE THAN JUST A GOLD WATCH.

You work hard all your life and what do you get?

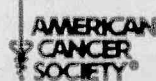

Well, depending on where you work, you could get cancer. Asbestos has been proven to cause cancer. Certain toxic chemicals like formaldehyde and freon are being investigated. If you've worked with radioactive particles or even worked near them, your risk is greater.

And even if you've worked nowhere hazardous, it wouldn't hurt to get a checkup. Because the incidence of cancer after the age of 45 to 50 increases rapidly.

Over the next several years the American Cancer Society will be conducting more research into certain lifestyles and exposures which could increase cancer mortality.

So know the risks. Don't smoke. Watch what you eat and drink. Look for the warning signs of cancer. And retire not only with a gold ticker. But a healthy one, also.

How you live may save your life.

Go Ahead, Ask Your Doctor

You've just been handed a prescription. You start to look forward to better health. But what do you know about that drug? Do you understand what it is meant to do? Do you know how to take it? Medicines can have some side effects, and they have to be taken correctly. So, be sure to read instructions carefully, and don't hesitate to ask your doctor about:

- When to take the medicine.
- Some drugs should be taken on full stomachs, some on empty stomachs, some in the morning, some before going to bed.
- How to take the medicine and how much.
- With water, with milk or without anything? Should the dose be one or two spoonfuls or what?
- What not to take with the medicine.

Some medicines don't mix with alcohol, others shouldn't be mixed with other drugs.

- What side effects the drugs can cause.

Medicines may produce a variety of other reactions. Not all people will have the same side effects but you should know what the possibilities are.

There are many sources of information about prescription drugs. Ask your doctor or pharmacist.
