Security Problem — Members of the Belleville Planning Board told officials of the Belmont Avenue Pathmark, last Thursday night, to strengthen security on the store premises as soon as possible. Planners were upset with the number of the security related incidents which took place at the supermarket, located in the Silver Lake section of town.

Planners Get Tough

Pathmark Warned To Increase Security

The Belmont Avenue Pathmark must tighten its security as ordered by the Belleville Planning Board last Thursday. In a related matter, the planners also approved a new Chinese restaurant for the supermarket's mall, which now houses the store and a launderette.

Planners voted unanimously last week to impose security directives, in accordance with a 1979 resolution issued to Pathmark.

The matter erupted two months ago when applicant Hanny Lau sought permission to open a restaurant in the mall. While Lau's case seemed to meet all requirements for approval then, planners feared intensifying the use of premises that they said exhibited increasing crime activity.

The police department last month supplied planners with a list of over 150 "security related incidents" that had occurred at the store in the past year.

Seeking to turn that tide, the board directed Pathmark to provide a uniformed guard on the premises during all operating hours, 7 a.m. to midnight, seven days a week.

Planning Chairman Joe Doyle accepted the new package of security arrangements Pathmark promised to deliver, according to the store's attorney Myron Waxberg.

Pathmark also agreed to provide the required uniformed guard outside the store and to have the guard in radio contact with inside security.

The guard on duty will patrol the lot in a marked vehicle, namely a Cushman three-wheeler cart. Also, a camera will survey the parking lots continuously, as an aid to guards.

Additionally, the Pathmark employees who routinely tour the lots collecting shopping carts will now wear identification badges as visible deterrents to crime.

Also, the store will temporarily suspend its present cart retrieval coupons. Under the system, customers who returned shopping carts to designated areas in the parking lots would be issued, through a mechanism there, coupons redeemable when a total of $5 is collected.

Though established to discourage carelessness with carts, the system reportedly lured kids who tampered with it.

Officials will experiment to see if shutting the system helps decrease some crime activity.

The Pathmark security package developed following a meeting held Nov. 29 with store officials, planners, Police Chief George Lister and Commissioner Joe Grande, a former Planning Board chairman.

"Everyone agreed we have a serious problem there," said Planner

Health Department Issues Summonses To Apartment For Health Violations

Two summonses for health and plumbing violations were issued to the management of Bridgebrook Gardens Tuesday, according to Public Affairs Commissioner Michael Pizzi.

The official action came after a group of tenants at the 250-unit apartment complex on Joralemon Street complained to township officials of existing violations, particularly a recurring problem of raw sewage on the premises.

Tenants claimed they brought their complaints to managing agents at Govel Associates also of Joralemon Street, but to no avail.

According to Sam Papa, president of the Bridgebrook Tenants Association, when the sewage backed up again last Saturday morning, he immediately called Commissioner Joseph Grande of the Public Works Department.

"I wanted to have one of the officials as an eyewitness," explained Papa last Monday. "Whenever we bring our complaints to the town officials, they say there's nothing they can do if they don't see the situation so we wanted them to see it."

Grande confirmed that he did see the sewage on the property. "My main concern in going there was to determine whether the town was responsible for the problem," he said.

Grande said he and his department workers determined the problem was internal and should be handled by Bridgebrook.

Also present Saturday morning, according to Grande, was plumbing inspector Barney O'Connor and Health Officer Tom Longo.

In the absence Monday of Longo, Ralph Risoli of the Public Affairs Department accompanied O'Connor in serving the pair of summonses which require, Pizzi said, a Jan. 11 court appearance by Bridgebrook.

"If they don't take care of the problem," Pizzi said, "They face fines of about $200."

Tenants who first brought their complaints to Town Hall said they had the problem in the past and it was never permanently remedied.

Even now, Pizzi seemed to have no definite answers for how to prevent another backup which, tenants said, forced them to wade through human waste to get to their garages.

Tenants claimed they wanted the measures prevented permanently, not just cleaned up. One woman suggested the Bridgebrook officials would do nothing if they could avoid it since the complex is currently attempting to convert to a condominium.

On Monday, William Govel of Govel Associates said he had no knowledge that any summonses had been received that day.

Govel also denied receiving any complaints as serious as those detailed by tenants at the recent town meetings.

"Complaints of this kind go to the on-site personnel," said Govel. He added that if the problem still was not corrected, complaints should be routed to his office but said none had been.

"We've had a backup on that property but it was nothing unusual and we cleaned it up," continued Govel.

The agent said if there were structural alterations required for correcting the situation, "the owner

More and More People Leaning Toward Tradition

Purchasing a Real Tree is Still Part of Xmas Season

By Linda Telesco

From the giant Norway spruce displayed in Rockefeller Center to the drooping twig of Charlie Brown, the Christmas tree is a central symbol of the festive holiday season.

Legend has it that Martin Luther, the 16th century German Protestant reformer, was the first known person to bring a tree indoors and decorate it with candles in honor of the holy season.

Luther is said to have been so moved by the sight of the branches against a starry sky that he felt it a perfect reminder of a special shining night in Bethlehem some 2,000 years ago.

Most stories about the origin of Christmas trees suggest the custom may have its roots in pagan practices that attempted to celebrate hope in life during the most barren and dark time of the year.

Evergreen trees were adopted as symbols of life triumphant and became associated with Christmas, which is celebrated by Christians as the birthday of Jesus Christ, whom they regard as their savior and hope for eternal life.

Despite contemporary trends to buy artificial trees, which are tidy and can be reused each year, many merry-makers still insist on the real thing.

"Of course people still want real trees," said Jackie Rega, who sells trees, wreaths, and grave blankets on his business property at Union and Belleville avenues.

Known as "Jackie's Lemon Ice" by summer, the site becomes an Easter garden in spring, a pumpkin patch at Halloween, and an evergreen forest during the Christmas season.

Rega, who has been selling trees for the past 30 years, said this year more people want the old-fashioned Canadian balsam tree.

"It's a beautiful tree with a strong fragrance, that's why customers like it," said the businessman as he toured his lot strewn with thousands of trees, some still bundled.

Lifting a five-footer, Rega said this year's supply of Canadian balsam was better than in previous years. "We just couldn't get them for awhile because the Canadian forests had been nearly depleted and more cutting was forbidden."

Pennsylvania was another important supplier of traditional trees, but the same dwindling pattern affected that state, sending cutters to the Michigan area for 1983 trees.

In the past years, as a result of the Canadian bans, many tree hunters favored the Scotch pine, a Michigan import known for its fullness and numerous branches.

Rega pointed out a new item, the Austrian scotch pine which he described as "very robust." An unusual tree with flat needles, the Austrian pine resembles a tropical plant, exudes little fragrance, and hardly looks seasonal.

"They're different, but they really sell," said Rega, who sold 100 of them last Christmas and ordered a substantial supply again this year.

While many tree salesmen charge by the foot, and base prices on the ratio of supply to demand, Rega notes another holiday tradition. "No matter what the price, buyers want to bargain. They always remember what they paid last year and insist on getting the same price this year," he chuckled good-humoredly.

With trees ranging from table top tiny to over 12 feet high, prices may vary from $5 to as much as $50 for the greenery that will enjoy a brief few days of glory.

"Sometimes customers want to economize, but when they see a real beauty, they often pay the price for it," Rega said. He observed that during the worst of the recession last year, more people than ever were willing to part with their dollars for the most lavish tree they could afford.

He predicted the biggest buying will occur after Dec. 15th and expects to sell over 2,000 trees then. "I'll never stop this," said Rega. "People tell me they buy their tree here every year and if I stopped the Christmas business, they'd stop coming the other times of the year."

As he chatted, the diminutive Rega reached for what he called "the Cadillac of Christmas trees," a majestic 12-foot, aromatic Douglas fir.

Within weeks, the evergreen beauty may find itself in a Belleville living room, trimmed with twinkling lights and heirloom ornaments — a vision of breathtaking beauty.

But even unadorned, standing outside in a cold parking lot, the natural wonder stretched up to the heavens, an awesome symbol of this magical season.

The Tree Master — Jackie Rega, owner of Jackie's Lemon Ice Stand on the corner of Union and Belleville avenues, poses with one of the many Christmas trees he has for sale during this holiday season.

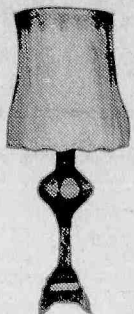

Street Cleaning Is Suspended Until April

The street cleaning ordinance in Belleville has been suspended for the winter months, according to Captain Robert Russomano of the Belleville Traffic Division.

The suspension only includes the streets where signs read "No Parking from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m."

The suspension took effect Nov. 29, and will continue until April 1, 1984.

First DeWitt Official Attends Convention

Optimism was the keynote of the recent Convention of the U.S. League of Savings Associates in San Francisco, according to Henrik Tvedt, president of First DeWitt Savings. Tvedt, who was a delegate from his Association, recently returned from the Convention and reported on its activities to John P. Dailey, chairman of First DeWitt and the Association's Board of Directors.

Tvedt stated that industry leaders forecast that the increasing trend toward Adjustable Rate Mortgages (ARM's) would result in a four-fold benefit — making home financing easier for the potential home owner, increasing housing starts throughout the nation, upgrading the economy, and improving business for lending institutions.

"Adjustable rate mortgages," Tvedt said, "are those home loans whose payments fall or rise with movements in short term interest rates and are critical to the health of the savings and loan industry. Their flexibility is their chief attraction."

According to Tvedt, First DeWitt has been offering "ARM's" to potential home owners over the past year. The loans have met with considerable enthusiasm and acceptance due to the moderate rates currently available. "The Federal Home Loan Bank Board," said Tvedt, "has shown that half of the nation's home purchases last month were financed with adjustable rate mortgages — the highest ratio ever."

Panelists at the convention have expressed pleasure that the new loans are catching on and that lending institutions are making them available and attractive through a moderate rate structure," Tvedt said.

During the industry meeting, Tvedt met with Michael Horn, NJ State Banking Commissioner, Congressman Joseph Minish, and Edward J. Gray, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Tvedt also attended a variety of workshops and seminars on problems and solutions relating to savings association in the $250 million asset category.

MONTEZUMA'S REVENGE
If you are among the many who are about to take advantage of the low cost of vacationing in Mexico this year, here is further good news. There is a relatively new antibiotic-sulfa drug combination which has been found to be truly effective in combating what is referred to as "Traveler's diarrhea." This bacteria-induced diarrhea affects one in three people who travel to Mexico. The prescription drug combination of the antibiotic "Trimethoprim" taken with the sulfa drug "sulfamethoxazole" can relieve a high percentage of cases of traveler's diarrhea in 24-30 hours. Minor side effects, such as skin rashes, may occur.

Before taking a trip it's a good idea to make sure you have enough prescription medicine to avoid any problems while away. Contact your doctor if you need a prescription refill. All prescription needs can be met at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1956, 759-1968. When looking for Christmas gifts stop by and see our selection of greeting cards, cosmetics, toiletries and gift items. Open: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-5pm.

HANDY HINT:
A daily dose of the above combination can prevent traveler's diarrhea from happening at all.

Belleville Will Become Involved In County's 'Safe Home' Program

By early next year, Belleville will be deeply involved in a new county-wide program pegged "Safe Homes" which proponents say will greatly curb drug and alcohol abuse by young people.

"The program has been extremely effective in Livingston where it was developed," Freeholder President Jerome Grecco said, who along with Sheriff Tom D'Alessio of Nutley unveiled the "Safe Homes" concept at a press conference last Tuesday.

Grecco personally was a strong proponent from the start in the Coalition 21 movement which successfully lobbied for an increase in New Jersey's drinking age to 21.

"What we are launching today essentially is an extension of the overall goal of Coalition-21," Grecco said. He believes the new 21-year minimum drinking age will help curb drug abuse for young adults. "Safe Homes" targets on those 10 years of age and up.

The program is remarkable simple considering the effect it has made upon social activities in the one locale where it is already in effect, Livingston.

Parents are asked to sign a pledge agreeing to prohibiting the use of drugs or alcohol in their homes and not to allow parties or gatherings in homes when parents are not present. When signing the pledge, a parent also contributes one dollar which is used to pay for a newspaper ad in local papers that lists all the "Safe Homes" in the community.

Parents are then pledged to check the list before permitting a teenager to attend a social gathering in another home. The publishing of an address as a "Safe Home," however, is encouraged but optional.

D'Alessio said he expects PTA groups and similar organizations to assist in the overall effort. In some communities, local juvenile aid bureaus of police departments will coordinate the effort.

Grecco said he plans to approach Gov. Thomas Kean with the idea of extending the "Safe Homes" program to all New Jersey counties.

"But for now, Essex will be the first," the freeholder president said. The parents of "Safe Homes" will sign a pledge that states:

"We will cooperate with schools, law enforcement, and young people to create a healthy atmosphere in which the use of drugs and alcohol is now longer considered the 'norm.' In order to do this, we agree to the following guidelines:

"(1) We will develop and communicate a clear position about drug and alcohol use.

"(2) We will not allow the illegal use of drugs or alcohol in our home or on our property.

"(3) We will not allow parties or gatherings in our homes when we're not present.

"(4) We will support school and law enforcement policy regarding the use of drugs and alcohol and encourage the use of appropriate discipline in dealing with offenders.

"(5) We will set an example that can be followed by our children and will try not to confuse them with double standards.

"(6) We will remember that appropriate and consistent discipline indicates concern and love."

Several guidelines are also listed for the family and for social activities. For example, participating parents are asked to assure teenagers that they telephone home to be picked up whenever needed. When young people are invited to a party, parents are urged to verify the occasion and location, to check on adult supervision and when appropriate, to express concern when activities seem inappropriate. The program also encourages "by invitation only" activities.

The program is expected to have varying success from one town or city to the next, but in Belleville's case, all evidence points to the effort becoming usually strong here. Belleville is not very different, demographically, from Livingston where the program has flourished. And Belleville's exemplary success with the "Neighborhood Crime Watch" program is also reason to believe the new "Safe Homes" effort will work well here, Sheriff D'Alessio believes.

believe the new "Safe Homes" effort will work well here, Sheriff D'Alessio believes.

Grecco, a Democrat who was Sen. Carmen Orechio's re-election campaign chairman last month, also praised Republican Gov. Thomas Kean at Tuesday's press conference.

"Gov. Kean is to be commended for bringing up the idea of a uniform minimum drinking age at this week's conference of the coalition of Northeastern governors.

Inspirational

The recent successful Inspirational Dinner was a fantasy trip. It demonstrated that people intent on making good news happen — will make it happen. There was a great message in that dinner — it was Belleville's finest, featuring our best and our bravest — and it was a call to greatness. The dinner had all the aspects of a religious revival. It demonstrated a renewal of faith in our educators and the system that serves our students and taxpayers. Enjoying a talk with one of the honorees, Jennifer Apicella, we got the impression that she symbolized the driving force behind all three honorees — in her march to stardom she never gave up when it looked like she should. It is that kind of courage and commitment that townspeople were honoring at the dinner. Belleville was on an emotional high because of the event. There was clear evidence the high and the mighty were honored by three young, bright, beautiful ladies. God bless them all.

The G.O.P.

The recent legislative election results has focused attention upon the 1985 gubernatorial race. Governor Thomas Kean campaigned vigorously up and down the state asking voters to send Republican representatives to Trenton in order to help the Governor adopt Republican measures.

The result was disastrous for the Governor and for the party he represents. It would appear that the Governor's popularity with the voters is very shallow. For the past two years, Governor Kean has had an unchallenged opportunity to become popular, although from time to time, Assembly Speaker Alan Karcher was perceived as the voice of the loyal opposition. In many quarters, Karcher's posture was suspect because politically active people looked upon his efforts as a staging period for an expected gubernatorial bid in 1985.

The election results clearly demonstrate that the Republican party will be in trouble in 1985. If the nominee is Congressman Jim Florio, it is quite likely that some embarrassing questions will be asked of Governor Thomas Kean. Kean will have to face up to his promises in 1981 and his performance as Governor. At this point in time there is a great void between the two.

As for the legislature, increased majorities in the Senate and Assembly should give Republican Thomas Kean great concern.

Campaign tactics by the Republican party and its candidates have seriously impaired the Republican relationship with the majority. In our Legislative District, the Republicans had a Senate candidate in search of an issue. After five months and $500,000 worth of campaigning, the candidate was unable to challenge incumbent Senate President Carmen Orechio with a single issue that related to the 10 year record of the Senator. This demonstrates the bankruptcy of the Republican campaign.

Looming on the horizon for a re-election bid is popular U.S. Senator Bill Bradley. There is not a person in sight who has the stature, the money, and the willingness to assume the Republican battle to beat Bill Bradley. With Congressmen Peter Rodino, Joseph Minish, and U.S. Senator Bill Bradley heading up the local team, even the possibility of President Reagan, running for re-election, will have not any coattails for local candidates.

We project an overwhelming Democratic victory in 1984 throughout the State of New Jersey and the probability of a total Democratic victory in 1985.

Republican leaders will have to do a lot of recycling and rethinking if they want a chance to win in 1985.

Special Ed Thanks Generous Pizza Shops

To the editor:
I would like to thank this opportunity to thank the majority of pizza establishments in our town. On Dec. 10 we ran a Christmas party for all of our Special Education students and their families in the Belleville High School cafeteria. As a Special Education mother and a member of the Executive Board of S.E.P.P.O., it was my duty to see how many pizzas we could have donated to the children's party that day. It was a wonderful feeling to walk into every pizza establishment in this town (with the exception of two) and have these people donate willingly and enthusiastically one or more pies to this very exciting party for our "Special Children."

We needed 30 pies for that day. Well, with the help of one Washington Avenue Pub, and one Washington Avenue "Nutley" Pizzeria, we were donated 28 pies. To make it an even 30, my parents donated the last two. I would again like to thank all these people for their help and support, and to also thank Mr. and Mrs. John Gargas for giving me a $100 donation for all the ice cream, and Freddy Baker of "Baker's Brew" in Belleville for donating soda.
Sincerely,
Charlene Trimarco-Goldstein

Resident is Shocked About Health Hazard

To the editor:
At the last town meeting this past week, with about 100 residents from the largest apartment complex in Belleville, I was shocked when I heard that the people living there had a health hazard a few weeks already, and nothing has been done. The major complaint from these residents were that human waste was coming into their wash rooms. They also complained that when many homes flushed their waste, the pipes couldn't take the overflow, and went into their apartments. I believe this is a major health problem now, and should have been taken care of when it was first reported. Commissioner McGreevey agreed with me when I questioned the Commissioner of Health. I believe this waste can cause many sicknesses, and it involves children, senior citizens, plus other people in the area. Maybe deaths? About 16 years ago this complex was built, the pipes that handle the sewer waste, I believe, were too small. This complex should be inspected by the town engineer, with the health inspector, and demand action with a summons and a order from the courts to install a larger pipe to relieve this emergency condition now. A worried resident, Joseph Fornarotto

Liver Transplant Needed To Save Kathryn Anne

To the Editor,
Our son, Kevin, and his wife, Helen, blessed us with our first grandchild on February 7, 1982. A beautiful granddaughter, Kathryn Anne Reilly — we call her Katie. It wasn't long thereafter, only weeks later, that sad news overshadowed our happiness. Katie was ill; she underwent micro-surgery and was diagnosed as having a liver disease called biliary atresia. This disease causes the liver to deteriorate to nothing but scar tissue. Since, with the help of medications, Katie's been fighting for her very life. She'll be two years old on February 7, 1984, and we're hoping that, God's will, she'll see many more birthdays. What she needs, however, is a liver transplant. With it, doctors give her a 70 percent chance to live a normal life. Without it, there'll be no life for Katie. In January, 1984, Katie will again enter the hospital for further evaluation. Hopefully, soon thereafter, she'll undergo a liver transplant and be on her way to a healthier life. But why am I telling you all this? Because Katie needs help, financial and prayerful help. The fees for Katie's transplant will be astronomical. Her hospital bill alone will be over $70,000. Doctors, over $100,000. And no medical insurance will cover Katie. We realize that economically times are tough. And we wouldn't ask if it wasn't so very important to us, and to Katie. We ask for donations of any size, and if one is unable to assist in a financial way, then we ask that you pray for Katie. Collectively, we know we can reach our goal...Life for Katie. Mike DiStasi Offers Thanks

To the editor:
I would like to extend my sincere thanks to the Belleville Italian-American Civic Association for the scholarship granted to me on November 12, 1983. My family and I really enjoyed the dinner. We had a wonderful time, the food was great, and the people were very friendly. I cannot totally express the gratitude I have for the Belleville Italian-American Civic Association and all of its members. I would like to especially thank committeemen Frank Ceres and Chris Albanese for their recommendation. Thanks again. I trust I will make you proud of your choice in me. Very truly yours, Michael A. She Doesn't Want Reagan For President During 1984

To the editor:
President Reagan hates to hear the ugly truth told about himself and gets very angry, even threatens certain people who speak out against him. He threatened his own man "Feldstien" about losing his job for announcing in the news that the soaring budget deficit is due to Reagan's income tax cuts of the rich, also spending big money on warfare and billions on M-X missiles and involvements in other countries and sacrificing our marines unnecessarily. Paying off farmers billions of dollars to stop producing milk and all such wasteful policies. We have to put a stop to him in the coming November 1984 election or else suffer the tragic consequences either of bankruptcy or worse yet be destroyed by this present selfish administration which is the "worst" of all past administrations. We still have hopes of saving our country next November and our best bet will be with Walter Mondale. Democratic candidate for president in 1984. Sincerely, Stella Draghi

Golden Comments

By James Golden

Despite the falling oil revenues besetting the Persian Gulf states which are sparsely populated but energy-rich, the reduction from nearly $1 trillion during the past decade to a dwindled down $60 billion for the region this year, caused mostly by the three-year-old war between Iran and Iraq, falling oil prices and curtailed oil shipments, the citizens of these gulf countries who may have lost their jobs can enjoy a standard of living most citizens of this country would envy.

Medical bills throughout the region are usually paid by the government. Education is free and those short of money have little fear of losing their homes, since the public institutions that hold mortgages will wait for payment and do not charge interest. Many of the unemployed Americans would welcome such security.

Unless it is changed, rules affecting financial institutions will be liable to a $50 fine for every instance where they don't report a Social Security number for an account earning interest, or where the number given by the customer is incorrect.

The regulation also establishes that where such customers don't supply a Social Security number or give the wrong one, the financial institution is required by law to withhold for the IRS 20 percent of interest paid or credited to the customer's account.

The banks can avoid the potential $50 per account fine only if they institute at least one special mailing — at considerable expense — to virtually all of their customers before the end of this year.

Each person receiving the notice will be instructed to verify his or her Social Security number as it appears on the bank's record. Only those who originally supplied their number while acknowledging they were acting under the penalty of perjury would be exempt from the mailing.

A collaborative effort is being undertaken by Chinese and western scientists in the heavily forested mountains of China's Sichuan province to ensure the survival of the thousand or so giant pandas still found in the wild.

The immediate threat of their extinction is caused not by man but by botanical quirk of nature. In their high mountain habitat in the remote regions of central China, giant pandas survive almost entirely on bamboo which constitutes 99.9 percent of their diet. The arrow bamboo, the staple of the panda's food supply, is now undergoing one of its periodic blossomings. When this occurs, once every 45 or 50 years, a whole mountainside of bamboo may erupt in flowers, scatter seeds and then perish. The bamboo will regrow in a few years to sufficient size (perhaps 3 feet high) to provide food for the pandas. In the meantime they must scrounge for other food.

Ninety-five percent of the bamboo has already bloomed. Now the pandas, which normally devour 25 to 30 lbs. of bamboo daily, are eating ordinary grasses which doesn't agree with them. As winter snows cover the mountains, the pandas will experience difficulty in finding food. Two have already died. In 1975-1976 a similar flower-and-die incident involving the umbrella bamboo, which is in a different growth cycle, led to the deaths by starvation of 138 animals in a panda reserve on the border of Sichuan and Cansu provinces.

To avert a similar tragedy in arrow bamboo areas emergency measures are being taken to leave roasted pork chops and goat meat on the mountain slopes in hopes that the pandas will turn from their normal vegetarian diet. It is expected that they will eat meat if they can get it easily. The Chinese are determined to save the panda...they probably will.

You Simply Can't Do It Alone

By Ed Capparucci

As I ponder thoughts of the upcoming new year, I cannot help but wonder what has happened to 1983. It seems only like last week that we were ringing in the new year with high hopes and anticipation. And yet we look right over our shoulder and here comes 1984.

Well I have a lot of people to thank for helping me in 1983 as I completed my second full year as editor of the Belleville Times. Being editor of a newspaper is not always a fun time and popular position. There is a small amount of aggravation and frustration which goes along with the territory. But I am especially lucky because I have some exceptional people working with me. People who are not only fellow employees, but very close friends. And I would like to take the opportunity right now to thank them for making 1983 a little easier to deal with.

First there is my staff and colleagues. Perhaps the best decision I have made during my two-year tenure as Times' editor was to seek out the services of Linda Telesco, my ace reporter, or I should call her my assistant editor. Since day one she has displayed endless energy and dedication and her efforts are well documented in each edition of The Times. She has a sharp nose for news and has written some of the warmest, funniest and tear-jerking feature stories I have ever read. But more than being an outstanding reporter, Linda is a very close friend. While some of our conversations may sometimes be on the wild and unusual side and our personalities are vastly different, I treasure all the good times we have had together. Merry Christmas Linda.

Then there's my sports editor Michael Lamberti. Mike has an extremely tough job covering all the sports teams at BHS and I must admit that at times I do not make his job any easier. While I do get on his case more often than I should, I sincerely appreciate the effort he puts into his position and I believe that our sports section is one of the best in the county. Mike has recently gotten engaged and I wish both him and Carol a very happy holiday season and all the happiest for future years.

Other editorial contributors for The Times include columnists Jim Golden, Rev. Robert Paul, Eddie O'Neil and Steve Frank.

The always out-spoken former town councilman Golden is well known throughout the community. While we all get tangled up in some of Jim's vocabulary, his weekly column is always interesting and in the best interest of Belleville.

Rev. Robert Paul, pastor of the Christ Baptist Church, has one of the most popular columns, "Religious Viewpoint," which appears each week. I have heard nothing but positive and charming comments about Rev. Paul's weekly words of wisdom. Eddie O'Neil is the township's historian and not a bad golfer. Not only does he inform the community about "Belleville's Past," he has also improved my golf game over the years. And finally there is our boxing expert, Steve Frank. Mr. Frank keeps all of us in touch with the boxing world in his column, "Heard at Ringside." But Steve also contributes weekly court cases and police news each week. He has been a major help to me this year.

I would like to thank all of these gentlemen who put so much time and effort into adding to the quality of The Times each week, and I wish them all a very merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

And of course there is the woman who keeps this office running as smoothly as possible, my social editor Helen Maguire. Helen is a lovely lady and a pleasure to work with. And without her I do not think we would have a social page each week because with all the training I have received since coming to The Times, the one process I have yet to learn is the planning of the social page. Happy holidays to you Helen, and your family.

There are many, many people here at The Times who don't receive much or any publicity during the course of the year and perhaps the most underrated persons are the production people. Without this crew, there simply could not be a weekly newspaper in our mailbox or at the local newsstand.

First there are the two dynamite typesetters we have: Shirley Reid and Michelle Jeannotte. You just could not ask for anyone better. At times I am amazed by the amount of work they accomplish in such a short period of time, especially Shirley. And Michelle, well she is my right hand, and one day after she con-

Accident Victim Tells His Story

Quadraplegic Informs High School Kids About Dangers of Drinking and Driving

Making His Point — Hector Del Valle, who was seriously injured during a car accident, speaks to Belleville High School students Karen Cardone (l) and Laura Cairo. Hector had been drinking with friends before the accident occurred.

Belleville High School's first semester senior health students were visited by a very special person recently. With special thanks to Joseph Ciccone, principal of the school; and Alfred LoBalbo, Miss Debra Meola was able to schedule Hector Del Valle to make a presentation to all seniors in Miss Meola's, Mr. Iannuzzi's, and Mr. Nisivoccia's health classes.

Hector Del Valle is the unfortunate victim of a drunken driving car accident, which left him a quadraplegic.

After consuming alcohol with two other friends, he attempted to drive his car to a pizzeria on a nearby highway. They never made it! Hector hit one car, then another car, and then finally hit a brick wall going 55 miles per hour. He had to be removed from his car by the "Jaws of Life." He was then taken to a hospital where he found out that he broke his neck which created the loss of mobility in his legs, wrists, and fingers. He will be in a wheelchair for the rest of his life and he is just 18 years old. The accident happened when he was 17, just three months after he received his license.

Miss Meola became aware of Hector through the newspaper after the Essex County Soberfest in South Mountain Arena. Hector was transported by ambulance and escorted by Ms. Jayne Lambo, a member of Remove Intoxicated Drivers. Ms.

Lambo presented grave statistics on teenage drinking and driving. Hector then told of his horrifying experience.

"The purpose for having both Hector and Jayne visit Belleville High School, said Miss Meola, is to hopefully have our seniors think twice about drinking and driving.

Most students were emotionally moved after the presentation. Carmen Cerreto, senior class president said, "I feel that Hector's presentation made the students of BHS realize that drinking and driving just don't mix, and such a tragedy could happen to anyone. Donna Slonim, co-editor of the Monad said, "Hector was a gymnast, which really helped me to relate to him. After his mistake, he lost a talent that he would no longer regain no matter how hard he tried."

"Hector's visitation made me realize that accidents because of drinking and driving can happen to anyone," said Len Iannia, senior football player.

Lorilei Wells, senior basketball player said, "I'm never going to drink and drive. His experience alarmed me. Tom Triano, thought Hector learned from his experience and felt that he did too!"

Because of Hector Del Valle's overwhelming response, Ciccone has asked Miss Meola to re-schedule him during the second semester. The date for Ms. Lambo's and Del Valle's revisit is March 22. The original presentation was taped by a WBHS crew and has been aired on Channel 34.

Adubato Criticizes Labeling Regulations

Steve Adubato, assemblyman-elect in the 30th District, has criticized the new Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA) regulations regarding the labeling of chemicals in the workplace. Adubato is primarily concerned with its effect on the New Jersey Worker and community Right to Know law, one of the most comprehensive in the nation.

Adubato, the number one choice of the League of Conservation Voters and the Environmental Voters Alliance in the legislative elections, was a strong supporter of Right to Know from the time it was introduced. Adubato also worked closely with the Right to Know Coalition and its chair, Jim Lanard to ensure passage of the crucial legislation and then the signing into law by Gov. Thomas Kean.

"The new OSHA regulation virtually allows the chemical industry to regulate itself by placing trade practices before the safety of our workers," Adubato said. "The New Jersey law, one of the strongest in the nation, is far more comprehensive and it is vital that the Kean Administration do everything possible to ensure that the OSHA ruling does not pre-empt it."

Lanard, who is also the attorney for the Environmental Lobby, added, "The Right to Know Coalition does not believe that the OSHA attempt to block implementation of the New Jersey Right to Know law will be successful. The publication of the proposed preemption shows the OSHA disregard for worker safety and health."

Special Performance at Barn Tonight at 8

Nutley Little Theatre Offers Two One-Act Productions This Week

By Linda Tesco
Psychology and farce were the main ingredients of the double bill now playing at the Nutley Little Theater. NLT's third presentation this season is an ambitious coupling of two one-act plays: "The Haunted Host" directed by David Bimbi and "The Restaurant" directed by Lin Weber Cort.

The Little Theatre announced that due to the cancellation of its matinee last Sunday, a special makeup presentation will be held tonight at the NLT Barn on Erie Place. Tickets are available for this show, which will open at 8 this evening, by calling 667-5492.

Opening the evening was "The Haunted Host," written by Robert Patrick. The play was a dark comedy about a homosexual writer forced to face psychological realities about his wasted existence.

Jay Astor lives in a dismal, disarrayed apartment over the main cruising grounds of the Greenwich Village homosexual community.

"The things we like, the people we like are just ourselves," he observed in a monologue at the play's opening.

Astor, a voluminous writer and a fascinating character, is 'haunted' by the ghost of a former lover who presumably committed suicide or was murdered soon after Jay jilted him. He continued an obsessive dialogue with the ghost throughout the play and maintained a collection of his friend's writing.

In the course of the production Jay found himself playing host to a young Midwestern student who wanted to be a writer and needed a place to stay in the city.

Frank is sent to Jay by Joe, a homosexual who is a mutual acquaintance of both. The catch was that although Frank is not gay he bears an uncanny resemblance to Jay's dead lover, who was also a writer sent over temporarily by Joe, referred to by Jay as "Jowanda," his gay name.

Wiry and quick, William Hopkins played Jay with nonstop energy and attention to the physical evidence of the writer's inner turmoil. He fluttered, jumped, and darted about, a clear image of unresolved conflict.

"We can be shaped," Jay said, quoting Freud early in the play. If so, Hopkins showed physically how shapeless Jay's gay life has been for him.

Jay was by turns cordial, taunting, and seductive towards Frank who was competently portrayed by Jack Fellers, a healthy, hearty looking young actor. Frank entered in all boyish innocence. "I want to write honestly," he repeated over and over, both appalled and amused by Jay's antics.

Throughout the night Jay read Frank his play, turned him on to drugs, and chided him for his narrow "macho" viewpoint.

"How long have you been heterosexual," Jay questioned in a sarcastic reversal of the questions homosexuals face.

"You only want my body," Frank shouted. "You only want my mind," retorted the writer who was supposed to help the student learn his craft in the big city.

The love-hate tirade continued all night with Frank first admiring his host's flair for writing then accused him of being a selfish wastrel hiding from the real world in his gay paradise.

Frank stormed out of the apartment but later returned to make amends, like the "man" he was. "I love you," he said to Jay as he left for good. "I helped you get rid of him," (the ghost.)

Though well acted, the production failed to emphasize the symbolic side of the play. Jay and Frank are apparently inner voices of the same tormented individual, doomed to repeat his psychological mistakes until he consciously decides to mature.

More controlled direction from David Bimbi would have toned down Hopkins' antics enough to make the emotional complexity clear.

In a complex change of place, "The Restaurant," written by Dan Greenberg, took place in "a restaurant in a foreign country." The production involved an American tourist couple and their communication problems while trying to get lunch during a day of sightseeing.

They are the only customers in a fleabag cafe with a lazy, seductive waiter whose weak English led to many humorous developments.

Alice was a kookie, adventurous tourist who wanted to do "as the natives do." She chided her conservative husband, Norman, for his many complaints about such things as flies, indifferent service and an unfamiliar menu. Ordering the specialty of the house, the couple found a plate of "snake" before them. "I don't care what you say; I want a hamburger and a coke," Norman demanded. Alice responded by calling him "an ugly American."

Failing to get anything appetizing, Norman hit the roof when presented with a bill for $59. Handing the check to Norman was Josh Herman, who played the sleazy waiter with an oily ease.

In a power struggle rage, Norman demanded to see the headwaiter, the manager and the owner. Each time, he was faced with the same waiter in a different jacket — a comic ploy which drove the audience into gales of laughter.

Despite Norman's tirades, Alice had been giving the waiter charming sidelong glances. She was very persuasive. Eventually, Alice and the waiter end up on a nearby easy chair, in the throes of passion. Norman looked on in shock and said: "I'm your husband Alice. Remember me?" In the end, the waiter changed coats for the final time, putting on Norman's jacket and leaving with Alice.

Valerie Burns and Ray Dreeman were both accomplished and convincing as the hopelessly mismatched mates in a well-timed presentation directed by Weber Cort.

The Little Theatre production will continue tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night, with all shows opening at 8. Call 667-5492 for ticket reservations. The Little Theatre Barn is located on Erie Place, just off Brookfield Avenue and adjacent to Yantacaw School.

Religious Viewpoint

The Unique Christ

By Rev. Robert Paul

Jesus Christ was born in the meanest of circumstances, but the air above was filled with the hallelujahs of a heavenly host. His lodging was a cattle pen, but a star drew distinguished visitors from afar to do him homage.

His relatives were inconspicuous and un-influential. In infancy he startled a king; in boyhood he puzzled the doctors; in manhood he ruled the elements, defying the law of gravity by walking on the water, and then quieting the raging sea. He healed the multitudes without medicine, and made no charge for his services. He never wrote a book, yet all the libraries of the world could not hold the books that have been about him. He never wrote a song, yet he has furnished the theme of more songs than all the song writers combined. He never founded a college, yet all the schools cannot boast of as many students as he has. He never practiced medicine, yet he has healed more broken hearts than the doctors have broken bodies.

He never marshalled any army or drafted a soldier or fired a gun, yet no leader had more volunteers who have, under his orders, made rebels stack arms or surrender without a shot being fired.

He is the harmonizer of all discords. Great men have come and gone, yet he lives on. Herod could not kill him. Satan could not seduce him, even demons obeyed him. He had no cornfields or fisheries, but he could spread a table for 5,000 and have bread and fish to spare. He broke up funerals with simple statements such as, "Lazarus come forth."

His crucifixion was the crime of crimes, the innocent suffering for the guilty. He died, few men mourned, but a black crepe was hung over the sun. He gave his life that you might live. "He that has the Son, has life, and he that has not the Son of God hath not life." (John 5:12.)

Some 700 years before his birth, his birth place was predicted to be that of Bethlehem. (St. Luke 2.) Moses wrote of him and said that he would be born of the seed of a woman as recorded in Genesis 3, and St. Luke says, "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." (St. John 1:12.) Is this Unique Christ your Saviour?

Belleville's Past

Another chemical plant, older even than Eastwood's Chemical Works, but ironically enough occupying the approximate site of Eastwood's old place, is the American Dyewood Company. The concern was founded in York in 1798 as William Partridge & Son. Several mergers during the course of the 19th century transformed it into the present widespread enterprise, with factories in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Mobile and Belleville. The local plant employs about 120 people in the manufacture of synthetic dyestuffs, coal tar colors and products.

Modern Industries

Indicative of the general trend toward diversification of industries is the fact that Belleville's largest manufacturing plant makes a product whose use 25 years ago was generally unknown. It was just about that time that two young engineers, Martin F. Tiernan and Charles F. Wallace, invented the first successful machine for the motoring, to guarantee the destruction of harmful bacteria.

The first chlorinator was perfected in a one-room office-factory, 600 square feet in area, on a downtown street in New York City. It was not long before these quarters became too small for Wallace & Tiernan; several times the plant was moved, and each time the new home was soon out-grown.

In 1921 an old piano factory on Belleville's Mill Street was leased. For six years it proved adequate, then in 1927, the first extension was made to the factory and offices; other alterations took place in 1930 and 1937, increasing the length of the building to 610 feet and its height to five stories. In 1937, also, the Kooler-Keg plant where Wallace & Tiernan makes beer-dispensing equipment, was built "across Main Street" on the bank of the Passaic River. At present the Belleville buildings take up an area of 218,000 square feet.

Employment has kept pace with plant expansion. When the firm was incorporated in 1913, two helpers worked with Wallace & Tiernan. Today the firm employs more than 6,000 persons in its production and sales departments. It has 42 branch offices in the United States; factories in Canada and England, and representatives "in practically every nation on earth."

The W & T chlorinator is still the most important of the firm's various products. This apparatus, it is claimed by the firm, protects the drinking water of 85 percent of the United States; is used in almost every sewage disposal plant in the country; insures swimming pools against infection; and is put to great use in industrial fields.

In addition to the chlorinator and the Kooler-Keg, Wallace & Tiernan also makes Novadel-Agene, an agent used in the bleaching and aging of flour; Azochloramid, a substitute antiseptic for chlorine in surgical and medical work; and Decco, a preventative of fruit decay. Beside these chemical compounds, Wallace & Tiernan also manufactures W & T flashers, for use on marine buoys, and W & T foghorns, like the former largely used by governmental agencies.

cludes her college career, I am sure that she will be editor of The Times. Merry Christmas ladies.

Pasting up the paper and in charge of the production department is Dave Salata. Dave is a 12-year veteran at the age of 31 and a man who can work small and large miracles with a razor blade. Besides being a top-notch production manager, he is also a very good friend and companion, that is except during hunting season, when even his own mother doesn't get an opportunity to see much of him.

Then of course there is our precious and quiet Diane Lembo. I am convinced that Diane gets so much work done because she never says boo during the course of the day, except when she discusses ballet classes with Linda Telesco. But Diane is a sweet girl and we all love her.

Over in the advertising department there are Celeste Federico and Larry Giffra, who are a couple of wild characters and great to have at parties. They are perfect examples of what good friends truly should be and Liz and I love them both. Merry Christmas guys.

There are three special ladies in the office I have to thank. Phyllis Riccardelli, Lucille Spallatta and Alexis Ciarmoli. These women are in charge of the classified advertising department, but they have also gotten stuck with the job as my part-time secretaries, answering my phone calls and taking messages more often than they should. Thank you ladies — you are beautiful and I wish you all a happy holiday season.

And finally there is my biggest critic, Minerva Stinson, who constantly keeps me on my toes. A former teacher, she puts me to shame at times correcting my English and spelling. But I thank her for that and I would like to wish her a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

There are also others in our office who are not directly involved with the newspaper: Phil White, Kim Kosko, Michael Gabriele, Dick Kastner, and all the interns who help produce my weekly cable television program. I would like to wish them all a happy holiday season.

But as I said before, I find it so difficult to believe that another year has come and gone so fast. I guess I am slowly getting older.

MERRY CHRISTMAS EVERYBODY!

GUARANTEED GAS HEAT SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK

If you convert to gas heat — and after one year you are not completely satisfied with gas heating — PSE&G will refund the cost of the heating installation and remove the equipment from your premises without charge to you.

Here's Why We Make
This Unique Offer:

1. Gas Heat is More Economical

The price of gas is less than fuel oil. This winter gas will cost 23% less than oil for residential heating.

2. Gas Heat is More Efficient

New gas heating equipment is up to 96% efficient — well above the efficiency of oil. And, unlike oil, gas heating efficiency does not drop off dramatically after installation. High efficiency is maintained over the life of the equipment.

3. Gas Heat is Cleaner

Because natural gas burns clean, there's no soot or smudge to dirty walls, ceilings, drapes, and upholstery. Cleaning and redecorating costs are lower than if you heated with oil.

4. Gas Heat is More Dependable

No matter how inclement the weather, you never have a fuel delivery problem. Natural gas is piped directly to your home.

5. Gas Heat is More Everything!

- You don't pay for the fuel before you use it. You pay for the gas after you use it.
- A 12-month budget plan helps you stretch out your payments, eliminating high seasonal bills.
- Modern, streamlined gas heating units take up less room.

To find out how you can convert easily and quickly, send for PSE&G free booklet, "PSE&G Guarantees Gas Heat Satisfaction."

Belleville Times SPORTS

Coach Looking For Another Winning Season

D'Alessandro Preparing Grapplers For Season, 4 Starters Returning

With only 10 shopping days to Christmas, head wrestling coach Gene D'Alessandro has other things on his mind besides the Yule time spirit. It's that time of the year again when the Belleville wrestling team takes to the mat and attempts to continue the long line winning tradition which wrestling teams have become synonymous with in Belleville.

D'Alessandro has just four starters returning from last year's team. Junior Dom Cerreto, a third-year man, leads the way. Last season, Cerreto won the District 7 championship and placed third in the regionals.

Senior Mike Giuffrida, who placed second in the districts last year, returns for his third year on the varsity mat. He should be a force to be reckoned with this season. Giuffrida has been a very impressive wrestler for the Bucs since his freshman year with Dennis Villano and now, with two years of varsity experience behind him, Giuffrida should be a vital ingredient to this year's squad.

Jimmy Meyler, who won a District 7 championship last year and placed fourth in the regionals is back for his senior year. Meyler is an underrated wrestler from past seasons and he could be one of the biggest surprises on this year's team.

At 188 pounds will be the awesome Mike Gibbons. The junior captured a District 7 championship last season and followed that with a third place showing in the regionals. Gibbons has tremendous strength (he bench presses 325 pounds). His strength and experience will make him one of the top wrestlers in the district this year.

D'Alessandro's lineup is questionable. Gibbons seems to be a lock at 188. At 101 pounds, Dennis Ives or Dennis Buckley will probably get the nod. Over at 108, Mike Iacona and Cerreto figure to battle it out. Depending on weight conditions, Iacona or Cerreto could wrestle 115 pounds. These two men will probably share the 108 and 115 pound slots.

At 122 and 129 pounds, Cam Rispoli, Darren Sneddon and Mike Giuffrida will be battling for the two spots. Over at 135, once again, Sneddon, Giuffrida or Rispoli could handle that assignment. Once again, it all comes down to weight.

The tightest battle will come in the 141, 148 and 158 pound range. There, Meyler, Jimmy Racanelli and Carmen Cerreto, along with Eric Arvidson will be challenging for the three spots. All three men are good grapplers, however one may have to sit out the varsity competition.

At the 170 pound slot, Jamie Lijo or Arvidson could get the nod. At the heavyweight slot, D'Alessandro is keeping the candidate a secret. Last year, Mike Murphy handled the assignment, but this year, Murphy will concentrate on college football during the winter months and will miss the wrestling season.

The Bucs will get a quick test on the start of the season. The Essex County tournament begins on Friday night at 8 p.m. and continues on Saturday with the consolation and championship matches. The championship will begin at 6 p.m. on Saturday. The tournament will be held in the friendly confines of Belleville High School. A large turnout is expected.

Nutley, Seton Hall, Columbia, Irvington and Belleville should be the top teams in the tourney. The competition will give the young Buccaneers a shot at some good performers early in the season.

Boys' Squad Has Guarded Optimism

"We're working hard, trying to make ends meet." If this wasn't Joe Papisidero talking, you would swear it was a married couple describing its first year of matrimony. Actually, this is sort of a marriage — the wedding of the Belleville basketball team to the art of winning — is something that hasn't been united since the 1974-75 season.

The "guarded optimism" that was mentioned in last week's story continues to blanket the Buccaneers' training camp. Joe Papisidero, the fifth year coach at BHS, sees his team as a very effective unit, when it plays up to potential. "In our opening scrimmage (against Glen Ridge) we were terrible," said Papisidero. "Then, two days later, we scrimmaged Montclair Immaculate, away, and came away with a very good effort. The kids played a strong man to man defense, made adjustments from the Glen Ridge scrimmage and suddenly, we were a totally different team."

The Bucs open the 1983-84 campaign with a game in Jersey City against pesky St. Aloysius tomorrow night. Game time is set for 8 p.m. Following that game, the Bucs will face Montclair, away, on Tuesday and battle Clifton at home Thursday afternoon. The Montclair game is set for 4 p.m. The Clifton game will also begin at 4 p.m. from the BHS gym.

Belleville closed out the preseason with scrimmages against Vailsburg on Monday and North Arlington on Tuesday. Papisidero then has three more days to prepare his team. "We have kids who know the system and have experience," said the coach. "That's the key to success, the ability to put in different players and not lose continuity."

The coach's opening night lineup will probably feature Joe Borrello and Danny Ward at the guard positions. The forwards will be Phil Colalillo, Bill Nankervis and Dave Boyd. Papisidero will work with a three-forward offense this season and a tight man to man defense.

Coming off the bench will be forwards Steve Kimble and Mike Sochaski. Both guys are strong and can be effective under the boards. They both can shoot well and should see plenty of time. The guards will be Brian Cook, Danny Riordan and Nick Sotomayer. Once again, all three have experience and are very familiar with the Buccaneer system.

The key, of course, to the Bucs' success will be Colalillo. The 6-3 senior has been solid in the preseason scrimmage and will be the man other teams will try to stop. He averaged 22 points an outing last year, good for second in the Herald News Area. He was also second in Essex County in scoring.

Nankervis, at 6-5, is the tallest member of the team. The senior apparently has decided to give basketball his undivided attention and has impressed Papisidero with his hard work in practice. "We know he has talent, it's just a matter of putting it to use. He seems to be ready for the season."

If Nankervis can add a lift to the squad, he will take a great deal of burden off Colalillo's shoulders. Also, Boyd will be a solid addition. The senior is a good shooter, a very determined athlete and a competitor from the word go. He'll be a plus for the team in every factor of the game.

Following the Clifton tussle on Dec. 22, the Bucs will be off until the Dec. 27 they take part in the Nutley Christmas Tournament at Nutley High School. The host school has won the tourney the first two years it has existed and Papisidero, knowing his team lost to the Maroon last year, is anxious for the trophy to wind up in Belleville this winter. Also competing in the tournament will be strong squads from Clifton and Bloomfield. All in all, it figures to be a very interesting holiday tournament with a lot of exciting action.

Girls' Basketball Team Set For Friday's Season Opener

No one said that Karen Fuccello has ever been an easy woman to please. Ask the coach what she thought of her team's first two scrimmages this fall and she'll probably reply, "We were terrible on defense against West Orange and terrible on offense against Bayonne."

Those kinds of reports aren't too optimistic considering the opener is set for this Friday against a tough Eastside team, in Paterson. Tip off time is set for 8 p.m. and Fuccello is expecting a difficult outing with Eastside. "They're a physical team," the coach said. "Last year we lost two tough games to them and we expect another difficult outing this season."

In the loss at Paterson last season, Jennifer Apicella missed a good part of the game with a chipped tooth and bloody nose which occurred under the boards. When the two teams met later in the year at Belleville, Apicella and Company fell behind by 18 points early, then made a dramatic comeback before losing by two points. The two teams always provide the fans with memorable games and this contest should be no exception.

As for the scrimmages, Fuccello wasn't totally disappointed with the outcome. "We've only had 11 practice days, that's ludicrous. Against West Orange, we were scoring points all right, but our defense wasn't too good. At this stage of the season, we should be holding our opposition to 35 points or less. Usually, defense sets the tone early in the season, so we're hoping to keep our defense in order."

"Against Bayonne, our defense was pretty good but we couldn't get going on the offense. With four experienced players back, I guess I'm expecting a lot this year. We'll be okay once we get some more time in."

The four starters, of course, are Apicella, Dina De Aquino, Donna Brooks and Loreli Wells. The fifth starter is still questionable, although Fuccello has narrowed the choices down to Cheryl Marion, Desiree Johansen and senior Tracy Buono. At press time, Buono seems to have the inside track. "Tracy has fine leadership qualities and could help us the most," said Fuccello.

Soccer Tournament Continues on Sunday

In coordination with the Belleville Recreation Department, the N.Y. Cosmos and the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, the Juvenile Diabetes Tournament will be held at the Belleville High School gym Dec. 18, starting at 9:30 a.m. and ending 7 p.m. There will be the quarter-final rounds for Division 5 (8, 9 year old), Division 4 (10, 11 year old), Division 3 (12, 13 year old).

All proceeds from the tournament will be presented at the finals which will be held at the Meadowlands Arena on Jan. 15. For ticket information to the finals, please call Vivian Young at 212-265-8600 or 889-1865. Fifteen percent of all tickets purchased through all chapters of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation will go to this charity. All donations may be sent to Juvenile Diabetes Foundation c/o John Murello, 90 Myrtle Ave., North Plainfield, N.J. 07060 or Bob Travers, 25 Reservoir Place, Belleville, 07109.

John Senesky has always felt that the key to a good football program has been success on the lower level. This season, the varsity football coach at Belleville has to be optimistic about his freshman team, following its 4-4 season that included three straight wins at the end of the year.

"We could have been 6-2 this year," said freshman coach Jerry Di Gori, who, with Ray Iannuzzi, guided the frosh Bucs to a successful season. "We lost two tough games early in the season. If we could have had those games back late in the year, I think we would have won."

Di Gori, who played for Senesky during the playoff season of 1979, sees his young players as important ingredients to next year and the years to come. The freshman Bucs started the season with an 8-2 loss to Nutley. They traveled to Montclair and dropped a 14-0 decision before winning its first game, 13-0 over Teaneck. The Bucs then lost two straight, to Passaic, 22-8 and Ridgewood, 8-6. "That one really hurt," recalled Di Gori about the Ridgewood contest. "We were winning 6-0 with 35 seconds left in the game. Then, on a third and 35 situation, they hit us with an option pass and one play later they scored the winning touchdown."

Nevertheless, the Bucs closed out the year with wins over St. Joseph's, 22-14, Hackensack, 20-0, and Kearny, 8-0. "The Kearny game was our best outing," recalled Di Gori. "They came in with a 7-0-1 mark and I don't think they took us that seriously. Beating them was our best win of the season, the kids really played well."

Di Gori admitted that coaching for the first time was a little like trial and error. "Ray and I both made our mistakes. The kids understood that and were patient with us. We were also patient with them and it turned out pretty good. They are all hard nosed kids, with a good attitude and dedication to the program. When coach Senesky gets them next year, he should do a good job molding them and getting them ready for the varsity. There is some good talent there."

Di Gori also credited Ralph De Falco, the fine Buc lineman, for helping out the younger players. When De Falco separated his shoulder for a second time this season against Passaic, it marked the end of his season. However, De Falco wanted to contribute to the team in any way he could, so he helped the freshman players and his impact was vital to the team, turning it around late in the season.

The quarterback of the team is Danny Senesky. Needless to say, he is very familiar with the Buccaneers' system. "Danny was a real leader for us," said Di Gori. "He is very confident, he took control in the huddle and kept things cool at all times. He's a good football player."

The running backs were Lou La Conti, Danny Harrington and Jimmy Dunphi. La Conti and Harrington are both small, but were excellent hitters and ran well. Both men, with time and weightlifting, should develop into solid varsity players.

Dunphi is considered by Di Gori as a solid varsity prospect. He's big, 5-9 and 155 pounds, strong and tough. For a 14 year old, 5-9 and 155 is an excellent size. With continual weightlifting and dedication to the program, he could be another in a long line of fine Belleville runners.

Armond Carlucci played center. Despite lacking size, he was tough at the center position and also excelled on speciality teams. The guards were Vinnie Valiro and Gerard Corbo. Di Gori described the duo as "tall, skinny kids with a lot of potential." The coach feels that both men will be a good asset to the varsity program, with time and the proper training.

Tackles were Pat Kimble and Dave Mc Neill. Kimble stands near 6 feet and weighs in at nearly 200 pounds. He's a natural lineman and could be a solid entry on the varsity by next season. Mc Neill stand 5-9 and weighs 160 pounds. He has excellent speed, as a matter of fact, he might have been the fastest player on the squad this season. He also did the place kicking for the Bucs this year.

The receivers were Dean Mauro, John Shinn, Joe Angelo, Bob Dooley and Mark Huamani. The tight end was Paul Gleason.

Gleason has good height and has a bulky build. He has high standards and is looking to earn a spot on the varsity very quickly. Mauro was the team's top receiver until a broken collarbone sidelined him for the remainder of the season.

On the defense, Dunphi played at nose guard and according to Di Gori, "controlled the entire line." Kimble played contain tackle and Joe Coviello, who joined the team after the Nutley game, played the other tackle spot and gave the team a big lift.

The ends were John View, Dave Just and Charles Giuliano. At linebacker is Harrington, Frank Caputo and Frank Montagna. The corner backs were Mauro, Jamie Galio and Sal Woodcock. At safety is Joe Dominick and Al Best played roverback. Best was also a backup fullback.

The team started the season with 80 players and ended the year with about 50. Injuries and illness took its tolls on the squad, but the players showed marked improvement over the course of the season. Next year, you could very well hear about players like Harrington, Kimble, Coviello, Giuliano, Caputo, Dunphi or Senesky. Congratulations goes out to Di Gori and Ray Iannuzzi for a job well done. The success of the Belleville football program continues.

Well, the Jets' reign at Shea Stadium came to a sad end last weekend as Pittsburgh breezed to a 34-7 victory. The defeat ended any ray of hope of a Jet playoff appearance and marked another in a long line of disappointing seasons for the Jets. As for the idiot fans who decided to destruct Shea Stadium following the loss, their performance speaks for themselves. It seems that losing football teams bring out losing types of people. Jerry Izenberg's column in last Sunday's Star Ledger called the fans of the Jets who destructed the place as garbage. He was being mild. These screechers should be locked up for a few months in a pig farm. Slobs should learn to live with slobs, not destroy a playing field, rip seats out of stands and smash up a scoreboard, not to mention the tearing down of goalposts following the game. Fourteen people were arrested for their actions. Heaven forbid if one of the policemen were to strike these punks. Then, their fathers would hire some fancy lawyer and sue the policeman for striking their son as their son went about breaking the law and destroying property which doesn't belong to him. There is no room for creeps like these. Being crazy is one thing, acting like an idiot is something totally different.

Good luck to the boys' basketball, girls' basketball and wrestling teams as they begin their regular season this week. A lot of good things are expected from the team as well as the bowling team which opens the season next week.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, name the teams who competed in the 1981 Orange Bowl. The answer: Florida State and Oklahoma played in the '81 classic with Oklahoma winning, 18-17.

For this week's quiz, name the only team in the NFL who never has had a winning season. Also, name that team's best season to date.

Heard At Ringside

It's not known just how serious the World Boxing Association (WBA) is about their plan to give every boxing commission in the U.S. a vote in its elections if they send representatives. This would give the U.S. 20 or more votes to only one for every other country and give the U.S. the opportunity to elect officers. If this can be accomplished the power would be taken away from the Latin dictators. The reasons WBA is making this turnabout: the collapse of the economics of Mexico, South and Central Americas and also to keep a third group from gaining any power.

Featherweight Gerald Hayes, formerly of Newark, now residing in East Orange, known as a "clubfighter," "Journeyman" or just an opponent for a promoter's "protected jewel." Hayes turned in an eye-opener that surprised the fans and writers by taking a 10-round decision from WBC featherweight champion Juan LaPorte in Atlantic City. It was a non-title match at 130 pounds. Many said LaPorte had not trained seriously for this bout against a pug with the unimpressive record of 23-19-4. We find this difficult to believe as co-managers Carlos Spada and Howie Albert, are known around the gyms as disciplinarians. Hayes' manages himself; is trained by Leroy Swain and has co-promoters Don Elbaum and Ted Menas to book his fights. Elbaum-Menas are trying to arrange a Hayes-LaPorte match for LaPorte's title or a bout with ex-WBC bantamweight champ Wilfredo Gomez.

Word from Phil Pasquale fight follower and popular restaurateur of Medford, Mass., who just returned from Italy. "I saw this guy, La Rocco, fight and in my opinion he has a lot of class. Visited a race track named Capannelle, outside of Rome, the world's largest. Handicappers' selections were accurate — I didn't get a winner in eight races." Phil will stick to watching the fights at the various arenas in the future.

Phil informs that Jerry Lisi, flyweight out of New Providence and Paddy Reed of Federal Hill, R.I., a terrific puncher, are in good condition and still could go a few rounds.

Alexander Peter Dolcemascola was born in Geneseo, N.Y., but was raised in the Passaic area of New Jersey. His boxing career started when he was 15 and lasted 11 years. He used the name of "Alex Doyle" in his well over 200 (amateur and professional fights) and never drew the line or refused any opponent his weight who was suggested by manager, Jack Larkin. As amateur Alex captured the Diamond Belt welterweight championship in 1936 and '37. Entering the pro ranks in 1938 he ran up an impressive record by winning 61 of his 71 battles and won the New Jersey Welterweight title. Alex's four brothers who were fighters, used the name of and were managed by Larkin. The brothers — Frankie, known as "Chico," Joey, Phil and Midget. Midget became more prominent in the fight-for-pay business. When he hung 'em up, Alex started working for the Passaic County Department of Bridges. Alexander Peter Dolcemascola "Doyle" was inducted into Boxing Hall of Fame on Sept. 23, 1973. He is an active member of Ring Nine of the Veteran Boxers Association.

Welterweight Marlon Starling had no trouble Monday in whammin' out of an unknown answering to the moniker Robert Graddy of Wrightsville, Georgia, in scoring a third round KO. The bout was fought at the Civic Center in Starling's hometown of Hartford, Conn.

Bert Randolph Sugar was notified by Dave De Busschere that Ring Magazine no longer needs his services. De Busschere, Nick Kladis of Chicago and Jim Bukata of New York, owners of the publication, met last week and made the decision. Sugar was not included in the meeting. Randy Gordon, editor of Boxing Illustrated, is raised to Sugar's Nigel Collins of Philadelphia is being considered to succeed Gordon. Sugar's contract does not end until June 1, 1985 and he will receive full salary for the term of the contract.

Candido Tellez of Mexico City captured the NABF flyweight crown when he bombed out in eight rounds champion of three months, Mario Savala in Savala's hometown of Sacramento, Calif. Tellez is now 33-5-2. Savala's record dipped to 19-4.

Former world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier surprised many during the post-fight press meeting at Caesars in Las Vegas after mismatched heavyweight title fight(?). Larry Holmes KO'd Joe's inexperienced son (Marvis) at 2:57 of the first round. Joe answered the question on rushing Marvis, "I never make a mistake." Whether he thought of stopping the one-sided bout, "I'm not the guy who believes in tossing in the towel." If he suffered watching Marvis take the many unanswered punches, "It didn't do nothing to me. I didn't take any punches so I didn't feel anything." Dr. Ferde Pacheco is NBC network boxing director and because of fights as was presented on this card he is fast becoming known in boxing as the "Mismatch Doctor." The bout preceding the Holmes-Frazier hoax was another NBC televised "bunko" with WBA lightweight champ Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini TKOing amateurish Johnny Torres at 2:58 of the first round in a non-title bout.

Don Elbaum and Ted Menas, boxing promoters at the Tropicana Hotel-Casino in Atlantic City, have reached an agreement with Raymond Horn Productions of Raleigh, N.C., for once-a-month telecasts of the weekly "Tuesday Night Fights" programs. Horn said the broadcasts will be shown to at least 50 percent of the nation's major markets via cable and standard over-the-air stations.

Tony Cerda of Los Angeles traveled over to London and got himself KO'd by British Commonwealth middleweight champion Mark Kaylor of England and was declared the winner by referee Harry Gibbs. That's correct, Kaylor was well ahead on points through the ninth round. He started a left hook just at the bell, ending the ninth round. Referee Gibbs said Cerda was hit after the bell rang and declared the American the victor. In the semi-final bout middleweight Tony Gibson of England WTKO in the eighth round over Puerto Rican Manuel Jimenez.

Ex-world welterweight king Sugar Ray Leonard is helping to finance the $5 million eye research center at John Hopkins Hospital. The center is named in honor of Leonard. Hopkins officials said the Sugar Ray Leonard Center for eye research will investigate the leading causes of blinding disorders.

Jimmy Farrell, who hails from Rockland, is running successful boxing cards every two weeks at Freeport Hall in Dorchester, Mass. Many ex-fighters can be seen at these fights including Tommy Martini, Joe Castro, Hank Bruno, Danny Wambolt, Bobby Quinn, Dom Uva, Bill Menza, Georgie Martin and many others. Rosario Campo, considered New England's outstanding boxing announcer, handles that chore for Farrell.

Promoter Bob Arum said WBA welterweight champ Donald Curry of Fort Worth, Texas, will defend his title against Marlon Starling of Hartford, Conn., Feb. 4 at the site to be named. The fight had been scheduled for Sat., Nov. 26 but was changed when Curry injured his wrist while training for the bout. Curry, 16-0, will be paid $250,000 and Starling, 30-1, will receive $100,000. ABC-TV will televise it live.

At an impromptu press conference after the award presentations at the Downtown Athletic Club in New York City, former middleweight champion Gene Fulmer and welterweight titlist Kid Gavilan agreed there are only a handful of good active fighters around today, "Marvin Hagler, Aaron Pryor and Larry Holmes." "Roberto Duran was good as a lightweight. (Sugar Ray) Leonard was good, too," Gavilan added, "My advice to Holmes is hang them while you're ahead." Both agreed, "Most of today's fighters are fed a diet of softies (mismatches), with the help from the commissions, to build up their records for TV."

Ronnie Shields, 25, Port Arthur, Texas, boosted his record to 19-2 as he gained a unanimous 12-round decision over Saoul Mamby, 36, of New York, in gaining the North American Boxing Federation (NABF) lightweight crown.

Indoor Track Squad Starts New Season

The Belleville indoor track team begins its third season of competition this Saturday with a meet in East Brunswick, competing in the East Brunswick Relays.

Head coach John Tosato was happy with the strong turnout by the Belleville athletes this winter. "We had over 25 people come out for the team," the coach said. "We'll be training people for different relay events. We've been practicing five days and week and I feel pretty good about the teams progress."

Heading the field this winter is senior Patty Bliss. Having just completed a fine cross country season, Bliss enters the indoor circuit for the third time. Last season, she placed second in the Essex County two mile race and could improve on that mark this year. Bliss will probably see action in the mile and two mile events.

Senior Karl Hauschild, having just completed a fine soccer season, gives the sport a try for the first time. He'll see action in the quarter mile and 60 meter hurdles.

Juniors Robert Hutchinson and Billy Huamani, two cross country standouts, will see action in the distance events. Sophomores Dominick Ferry and Joseph Christ also hope to help out in the distance area.

Senior Nancy Cocco will be competing in the middle distance for the Buccaneers while sophomore Doreen Senti will see action in the hurdles.

Christina Hallam rounds out the returning runners as the junior takes part in middle distance events.

The weight team will be led by seniors Dennis Bogden and Tim Daudelin. Junior Frank Trupia will surely help the Buccaneers in the weight class, as will sophomores Larry Boscaino and Peter Grammatico.

The purpose of the indoor track program is to prepare the athletes for the outdoor season. The meets are strictly invitationals and are more individual performances than team scores. Tosato is hoping for his team to get as much as they can from the indoor season and enter the spring session in March an experienced and seasoned unit.

Recreation Soccer Holds Annual Championships

Over 250 Belleville residents came to four fantastic soccer matches as the Belleville Recreation Soccer tournament took place.

In A Division it matched the high powered offense of Jose Chafar's Lancers against Greg Delmotte's Aztecs.

The first period ended 0-0 with fine tight marking of players on both teams. With four minutes left to the half, Lancers' Joe Chafar opened the scoring on a 50-yard breakaway run, beating Aztecs' Eric Faragi to the left side. At the half it was 1-0 Lancers.

The third period also was scoreless but the Aztecs had numerous chances but failed to convert.

In the middle of the fourth period, Lancers' Jose Chafar scored what would have been the clincher but the goal was called back on off side. Two minutes later Aztec Shannon Koch cleared the ball from the Aztec defensive area to Roger Real, who placed the ball on Scott Quilligan's foot, and Scott drove the ball home to deadlock the game, 1-1. Regulation time ran out and the game went into two five-minute overtimes.

In the first overtime Marlon Asosta scored for the Lancers on a scramble in front of the goal and in the second overtime period Joe Chafar scored to put the game out of reach. To both coaches and the players congratulations for a tremendous game.

In B Division action Diane Travers' Aztecs, with her balanced offense and defense, shut down Frank Koch's Cosmos, 1-0, and secured the tournament championship and regular season championship.

The strategy used by both coaches was to neutralize both teams' high scores. The Cosmos used Frank Koch to match Aztecs' David Radziewicz and Emilio Nardone and Jimmy Wandling of Aztecs alternated marking Renato DeLeon. The game was tremendous with the Aztecs dominating play but no score and the crowd knew that one break on either side could make the difference.

Three scoreless periods of play went by and the score remained 0-0 mainly because of tremendous goalkeeping by Rocco Constantino of Cosmos.

In the final quarter, the Aztecs' coach, Diane Travers, moved Anthony Thomas into goal, Emilio Nardone marked Renato DeLeon and put her fine five players, Jim Wandling, Scott Dorey, Brian Travers, Mat Kastner and Cheryl Thomas as forwards. This proved to be the difference. Jim Wandling broke up the middle shoot and hit Rocco Constantino in the chest and Rocco could handle the shot and Scott Dorey took the rebound and fired it home. Final 1-0 Aztecs.

In B Division All-Star action the Belleville Recreation All-Stars played the Belleville Soccer Association Bounce in a tremendous up and down contest. Jim Malek, representing George Esobar's Comets, scored early in the second period which was the only score in the first half. The Bounce put pressure on in the third period but just couldn't get the needed goal to tie the game. Early in the fourth period the All-Stars scored a goal and won 2-0. The Bounce had outstanding play by Greg Delmotte, Bruce Mongan and Anthony Saffino and the All-Stars had Frank Crocco, Daren Lewis and Rocco Constantino.

In A Division All-Star action the Belleville Recreation All-Stars played St. Peter's Soccer Club. The Rec All-Stars dominated play and convincingly beat St. Peter's 6-0.

ENJOY A TAN ALL YEAR LONG IN THE SUNNERY AT COURTIME

Here's how you tan.

To protect itself from the sun, the body produces a substance called melanin. When exposed to the sun's ultraviolet light, the melanin is activated and released into the surrounding cells. With continued exposure, it oxidizes, turns brown and pigmentation—tanning—occurs.

As the outer layer of skin sheds, we lose those cells and the tan fades. Therefore, to maintain a tan requires continuous exposure to ultraviolet light. The degree of tanning depends on the amount of melanin one has, individual reaction to ultraviolet light, and the time of exposure.

The sun and ultraviolet light.

The sun emits three kinds of non-visible ultraviolet light: UVA, UVB, and UVC. UVC is the shortest, most harmful light but is primarily stopped by the earth's ozone layer. UVB is the medium wavelength of light and is necessary to trigger the tanning process, but too much UVB can cause sunburn. UVA, however, the longest wavelength, is responsible for the oxidation of the melanin and is the safest, most effective light for tanning.

How our tanning system works.

While the sun is not selective in its distribution of ultraviolet light, modern technology has isolated UVA light, duplicating and improving on the sun's own tanning properties without risk of burning.

This "breakthrough" resulted in special bulbs which emit no UVC, minimal UVB (less than 5%, just enough to trigger the release of melanin) and almost exclusively UVA (over 95%, to oxidize the released melanin). These are the bulbs used by The Sunnery.

Our system differs from those used a few years ago.

Until recently, the only source of indoor tanning was UVB sunlamps and booths. They emitted about 60 times more UVB than our units.

Because we control the amount of UVB and UVA, The Sunnery system is extremely safe, perhaps safer than the sun itself, and complies with FDA guidelines. We use electronic timers which assure exact tanning time.

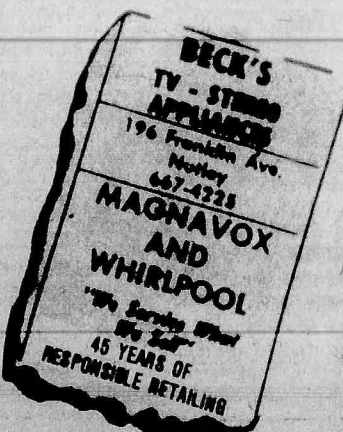

UVA tanning has been tested and proven by millions of people in Europe, where these systems were first developed. Using this excellent equipment under careful supervision, you can be assured of safe, effective results.

Other benefits of tanning The Sunnery way.

Besides healthy looking skin, these systems can duplicate other beneficial properties of sunlight. According to many authorities, there is strong evidence that sunlight is known to increase oxygen content in the blood, help clear the complexion, increase the production of vitamin D, speed up cellular shedding rate of the outer layer of skin, increase resistance to infections, and more.

If you would like to look your best and enjoy the confident, secure feeling of knowing your skin always has a healthy, beautiful glow, try safe, effective UVA tanning with The Sunnery system. Experience the comfort and excitement of soothing, indoor tanning. The results will leave you with a satisfied glow, both inside and out.

Baber, Cook Head Buccaneer Honor Roll

By Michael Lamberti

Versatility. Not too many people can achieve it both on the athletic field and in the classroom. Often, the books are neglected in favor of sports and in many instances, potential athletes give up a sport they can excel in because of fear of failing in the book department. Achieving academic and athletic excellence does not come too often, but when it does, it should be rewarded.

Here at Belleville High School, a great deal of student-athletes walk the halls of the big school every day. This past fall semester, the Belleville Times adopted the "Buccaneer Honor Roll," a tribute to the athlete who excels on the field, then goes home and does a bang up job in the homework department. The honorees feature Frank Zangari of the football team, Tracy Buono and Faith Adams of the volleyball squad, Gina Lemongello of the gymnastics team, Patty Bliss and Craig Burden of the cross country squad, Brian Cook and Karl Hauschild of the soccer squad and Dina De Aquino and Desiree Johansen of the tennis team. All in all, 22 men and women made the fall semester honor roll, for outstanding contribution to his or her team and a 3.0 or better grade average in the classroom.

Congratulations goes out to all the young men and women who accomplished such a goal. Following the conclusion of the winter season, a second honor roll will be published and after the spring season, a third will be featured. Shortly after the third honor roll, the final honor roll will come out, highlighting the best student-athletes at Belleville High School for the entire 1983-84 school year.

Now, for this fall's selections

Debbie Worley (Volleyball) — A junior, Worley maintains a near 4.0 average, carrying an accelerated work load. On the volleyball court, she has tallied over 600 service points, highest in school history. She will be the team captain next fall and the first girl in BHS history to letter four years in volleyball. She tallied 166 service points in 1983, leading her squad to a 16-6 mark. She was named to the NNJIL honorable mention squad for the second straight year. She tallied 26 baseline saves that resulted in scores for her team. Worley is an outstanding student. She is considering such top notch colleges as the Air Force Academy, Lehigh and East Stroudsburg. Excellence is synonymous with this fine young lady.

Cheri Tillman (Tennis) — A first singles player this year, Tillman managed a .500 record battling some of the toughest players in the state. The junior earned first team NNJIL Division II for her efforts. "She's an excellent student and hopes to go on to medical school one day," boasted head coach Karen Fucello about her prize pupil. "She is very cool on the court, she handles pressure quite well." Tillman is a hard working tennis player. She devotes a great deal of time and dedication to the sport. She should be a fine first singles player next fall.

Patty Bliss (Cross Country) — A runner on the squad since her freshman year, Bliss turned in a solid senior campaign for John Tosato. Along with Christina Halum, she was the only girl on the varsity team and many times competed by herself against other girls' teams. She did quite well. Bliss did a super job in the Essex Catholic Invitational this year and provided the harriers with leadership and confidence. She is a solid B student and will be a big asset to any school she selects next fall.

Desiree Johansen (Tennis) — Only a sophomore, Johansen matches a solid B average in the classroom with a solid game on the tennis court. In only her first year of varsity play, Johansen was named to the NNJIL Division II team, for her play on the doubles squad with Mary Kudrack. Johansen is one of the most versatile athletes at BHS in a long time. She is a solid basketball player and perhaps plays her best game on the softball field. A finesse athlete, Johansen dedicates herself to excellence in any sport she works on. Needless to say, you will be hearing a lot of good things from this young lady.

Dina De Aquino (Tennis) — What more can you say about De Aquino. A 3.7 student, a senior with a number of top colleges desiring her talents next fall, one of the three young ladies to be honored at the Inspirational Dinner back on Nov. 22. The list can go on. She is a top tennis player, earning second team NNJIL Division II for her play at second doubles this year.

Johansen, Reiman, Worley Also Selected

Her basketball talents improve every year and her softball game needs no further explanation. A 35-6 record tells it all. Dina has yet to make a decision on which school she will call home next fall, but look for the University of Connecticut, Seton Hall or maybe Florida State as possible selections.

Faith Adams (Volleyball) — "A strong leader, a fine student." Those words, from Adams head coach, Grace Worley, pretty much meet the guidelines for the honor roll. Adams played three years on the varsity. She's a B student, a member of the track team, tallied 165 service points this year, was named to the second team NNJIL after a first team performance in 1982. She is considering East Stroudsburg University next fall. Her roll as team captain and floor leader helped the girls' volleyball team to a 16-6 record this year.

Gina Lemongello (Gymnastics) — "Gina is an excellent student with fine leadership qualities." Those words coming from head coach Carol Giuffrida about her junior acrobat pretty much fills the bill on Lemongello. She is an enthusiastic athlete who puts in a great deal of time and effort toward gymnastics. Lemongello can compete in as many as three events. Her grade point ratio is nearly a 4.0 in some of the toughest classes BHS can offer. "Gina can lighten the team with her humor," said Giuffrida. "She is a fine team leader and should be a big part of next year's squad."

Tracy Buono (Volleyball) — Potential medical student, ranked seventh in the class, all-state softball player, fine all-around athlete, president of the National Honor Society, well spoken, class individual. You can go on and on and on about Buono. She is a coach's dream. Coachable, hard working, attentive, always willing to learn. A straight-A student, Buono is considering the Ivy League next fall, most notably Cornell and Yale. Aspirations of becoming a doctor, Buono did a fine job in leading the volleyball squad this fall. She now dedicates herself to Karen Fucello and the basketball team before playing the sport she really loves, the game of softball. What more can you say about this senior, she's one in a million.

Liz Goldrick (Volleyball) — A junior, Goldrick platooned with Kathy Kelleher and did a fine job. "She really did a nice job for us," praised Worley. "It was her first year of varsity competition and Liz really came through. We're looking for big things next fall. Goldrick will team with Debbie Worley and Donna Brooks to form next fall's nucleus on the volleyball team. Needless to say, a fine student, Goldrick is a solid B student and represents our town with a lot of class and enthusiasm."

Janet Reiman (Tennis) — "The calmest kid on the court," praises Karen Fucello about Reiman. Only a freshman, Reiman played third singles and has a world of potential for the future. She has started her high school career off on a good note, pulling a solid B average through the early stages of high school. Reiman will probably be the number one singles player at BHS by the fall of '85, once Tillman graduates.

Craig Burden (Cross Country) — Another freshman, Burden awoke the ghosts of cross country greats of the past with his electrifying performances this past fall. He is the brightest prospect on the cinders since Jim Beck ran the course back in 1974. Burden is a fine athlete who will play basketball in the winter before returning to the track for the spring semester. His coach, John Tosato, feels Burden has a world of potential. His limit is his decision. He can go a long way.

William Huamani (Cross Country) — A junior, Huamani will join Burden, Ross DeMeo and Bob Hutchinson next fall to form a solid nucleus for Tosato. Huamani was a pleasant surprise for the boys' cross country team this fall. In his first year of participation, he showed an improvement of over three minutes from the beginning of the season to the conclusion. A good student, Billy will be a very valuable asset to next fall's team.

Kathy Kelleher (Volleyball) — A senior, Kelleher wore many hats for the girls' volleyball squad. She platooned with Goldrick to form a good sixth player for the team. She was a reliable and valuable team member. "A dark horse player," said Worley. "She did a solid job for us. The little things that people don't hear about but are needed for success. Kathy was a very valuable team member."

Brian Cook (Soccer) — A four-year player for Tony De Aquino, Cook recorded six shutouts for the booters this year in leading the Bucs to a 15-6-2 mark. The senior goalie was tested by some strong clubs all season long but came through with some fine efforts. Cook is a solid student and will Santiago Borja (Soccer) — The name Borja says a lot about this young man's talents in soccer. What people might forget is that the Borja family is also devoted to academic excellence. When Chico Borja, who now plays for the Cosmos, attended NJIT, he set many records for the soccer team, but made it quite known that he wanted to earn his architects degree. Borja was a solid student and that type of dedication to the books has rubbed off on his younger brother. On the field, Borja had a marvelous season. He scored 24 goals, 52 points, both of which were BHS records, he was named to the first team NNJIL and Essex County Coaches Association squad. More accolades are surely on the way for Borja who will have the most comprehensive book of softball statistics that one would ever want to read. The book features everything from A-Z, names, figures, games, dates, you name it, he's got it. Foley is a candidate for a number of top schools next fall.

Karl Hauschild (Soccer) — A senior who contributed so well to the success of the soccer team this year, Hauschild was rewarded for his outstanding play by being named to the first team all NNJIL and third team all TCCA. Hauschild played the stopper position this year, and obviously did the job quite well. Trenton State College might be Karl's next stop in the fall of 1984 although he has not made a decision yet.

Jaime Lijo (Soccer) — A sweeper heart will be hard to replace next fall.

Frank Zangari (Football) — Zangari played defensive safety and was the backup quarterback for John Senesky and the Buccaneers. Like his brothers, Ted and Joe,

Frank is an excellent student. "He's a smart player," said Senesky. "He didn't have that great size, but he's an excellent athlete and helped to solidify the defense defensive secondary this year." Zangari was a member of the program since his freshman year. He will probably attend Seton Hall University in the fall.

Billy Baber (Football) — Baber did an excellent job in the backfield for the Buccaneers the last two years. He scored the only touchdown in the 12-7 setback to Union last season in the Group IV, Section II playoffs. He also scored a touchdown in the Bucs 28-6 victory over Kearny this year. The senior was named honorable mention for his work on the football field this fall, that accolade coming from the NNJIL. "He blocks well and receives well. He does a good job for us," praised Senesky.

Tom San Giacomo (Football) — An unheralded lineman, Senesky refers to San Giacomo as the ultimate team player. Not too concerned with individual performances, Tom plays the game for the sheer fun of it, the way it's supposed to be played. "His first concern is for the team," said Senesky. San Giacomo is an honors student and will be attending college in the fall.

Anthony Torromeo (Football) — "Not a lot of size, but an excellent lineman," said Senesky of the junior guard. Torromeo is a super student, with a 3.4 average through his first two years and the first semester of this year. He is dedicated to weight lifting and excellence on the football field. He should be an excellent addition to next year's squad.

That concludes the fall semester of the Buccaneer Honor Roll. A total of 13 seniors were elected by their coaches, followed by six juniors, two freshman and one sophomore. To see these student athlete make so many contributions to the program should make everyone in the township proud. These young men and women have served their community with a great deal of pride.

ASK YOUR REALTOR
By Jan Zepka

If you're considering buying a house, you should be aware that there are many tax opportunities that will be available to you as a home owner. Aside from real estate tax deductions and capital improvements that work to your advantage, the government offers a 15% energy tax credit on many improvements you might consider. Even though it is not a tax deduction, the credit is more valuable because it can be used to offset your actual tax bill. The credit is worth 15% of up to $2,000.00 on an energy-saving improvement you make on the house. This $300.00 cap (15% of $2,000.00) does not have to be used up in one year, and if you move to a new residence, your $300 credit is renewed. Another restriction is that the qualified items must be installed in a home that was built before April 20, 1977 before the credit is made available to you. Some items that qualify for a 15% tax credit include insulations, thermal windows and doors, caulking and weather stripping for windows and doors, automatic setback thermostats, meters that show the cost of energy use, furnace replacement burners, flue opening modifications and ignition systems that replace gas pilot lights. The government also affords a 40% tax credit for installation of renewable energy equipment that provides power for the house. The credit can be applied to as much as $10,000 worth of improvements, regardless of when the home was built. Now that you're aware of another advantage of owning a home, contact a member of The Board of Realtors of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville to help you find one. Write or call:

High School Junior Accepted In Manhattan Music School

Jae Hwang, a new member of the junior class at Belleville High School, was recently accepted to the Preparatory Division of the Manhattan School of Music, N.Y., with the guidance of Thomas Finetti, choral director at the high school.

A True Artist — Jae Hwang, a junior at Belleville High School, practices at the piano as BHS choral director Thomas Finetti supervises the lesson.

Born in Seoul, Korea, Jae exhibited a sincere desire to study piano at an early age and the age of five her mother arranged for private lessons.

After studying in Seoul for three years, Jae moved to Chung Joo, Korea, where she continued private piano lessons for another year. Here she was introduced to the classics including Mozart Sonatas, Bach Inventions, Czerny Studies, and some easier Beethoven works. When Mr. Hwang's business was again transferred to Seoul, Jae returned to her former teachers and began to broaden her repertoire to include the more difficult works of Bach, Scarlatti and Mozart.

At the age of 13, she became the student of Mr. Chung, a talented teacher-pianist. It was under Mr. Chung's pedagogy that Jae felt she made the most progress since she was able to demonstrate the technical and interpretive aspects of the compositions under study. Simultaneously, in public school, Jae was exposed to rigorous musicianship courses and was able to perform in student recitals.

In 1982, the Hwang family moved to Anchorage, Alaska. It was here that Jae studied with Jean Paul Billaud, a famous French concert pianist and a member of the University of Anchorage faculty. While at West High School in Anchorage, and under Billaud's tutelage, she began in depth studies of the works of Chopin, Schumann, Scarlatti and other composers, Jae appeared in an Anchorage piano competition taking first place, enabling her to appear in a joint recital with two other students of Billaud's at the University of Anchorage.

This summer the Hwang family relocated Belleville where Jae is now a junior at Belleville High School. She has a special interest in math and the Belleville High School Concert Choir.

It was in choir that Thomas Finetti recognized Jae's musical ability and after some coaxing uncovered her pianistic talent. After conversing with Jae, Finetti discovered that she wishes to become a concert pianist and realizing her talent potential, he arranged for her to audition for Almo Carra of the Manhattan School of Music.

After this audition, Jae was accepted to the Music Preparatory Division where she will continue piano studies under Mr. Carra as well as increase her musicianship skills. Finetti felt that early exposure to the resources of this prestigious facility would enhance Jae's opportunity for advanced study after high school. The Manhattan School will also expose her to the tremendous amount of work dedication needed to achieve her goal as well as a healthy amount of competition.

Since it is the Music Department's responsibility to enrich the experiences of the musically talented, Mr. Finetti plans for Jae to appear in a mini-recital to be telecast on Belleville cable as well as perform during a future Belleville Hvh School Choir Concert.

Library Offering Another Program

Currently added to the Belleville Public Library's Reference Department is SIRS, the Social Issues Resource Series, a program designed to provide timely information on current, relevant issues to a wide range of people-from teenager to senior citizen.

The program consists of 32 titles in loose-leaf volumes, each containing carefully selected articles from newspapers, magazines, government publications and journals, representing a wide spectrum of opinion. An index accompanies each volume and supplements, which reflect new developments and changes.

Among the topics covered in SIRS are alcoholism, aging, communication, consumerism, crime, death, and dying, drugs, energy, ethics, ethnic groups, the family, health, mental health, pollution, school, sexuality, technology, the third world, women, and youth.

SIRS was purchased from interest generated from the Tischler Memorial Fund of the state library.

Orechio Bill Will Fund Mobile Intensive Units

Senate President Carmen A. Orechio (D. Essex) has introduced a bill that will fully reimburse Medicare recipients who require the services of mobile intensive care units.

Orechio said he sponsored the legislation because Medicare no longer covers the full costs of persons who need the service of the emergency units. He said a recently enacted federal regulation changed the funding process under the Medicare program.

Under Orechio's measure, money from the Casino Revenue Fund will be utilized as funding source along with Medicare payments to fully reimburse the hospital which provided the mobile emergency service. Orechio said Medicare recipients will save an "out-of-pocket expense" of $60.

"If the state fails to act, the change in funding for Medicare will adversely affect many citizens of New Jersey who need the emergency care which these Mobile Intensive Care Units provide," Orechio said.

"As a state legislator, I will do everything I can to see to it that the people of this state, who may one day require the services of the emergency intensive care units, are cared for without directly placing additional financial burdens on them," Orechio said.

The senate president pointed out that the bill is retroactive to Nov. 1, and that the use of the Casino Revenue Fund is consistent with the State Constitution.

Pathmark is Told To Increase Security

Chris Albanese, who had been directed by Doyle to oversee this matter.

For the past month, the store had increased its security coverage. Previously, Pathmark had a security guard on duty from 4 p.m. to midnight on all business days, according to store officials.

During the past month, the market added a guard from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., but did not intend to maintain that shift, according to testimony last week from its attorney.

However, Chief Lister reported — at the meeting last week — a significant improvement in last month's crime statistics, so planners directed the store to provide the full coverage permanently.

Additionally, the board will review monthly reports from the local police department to keep track of the new security arrangements.

Charging that the store failed to cooperate with a 1979 security resolution imposed by the board, the planners threatened drastic measures if Pathmark does not fulfill this agreement.

"We have a neighborhood group that collected 850 signatures to close your store up," Albanese told attorney Waxberg.

Commissioner Grande proposed the Township Commission could mandate a closing time of 6 p.m. for the store. "Then, we wouldn't have any night hours to worry about," he said.

At first reluctant to promise a permanent morning security guard, Waxberg said he would convey the board's stipulations to store officials. "We have always cooperated in the past," he asserted, drawing contradictions from planners, especially Albanese, who lives in the Pathmark neighborhood.

The store hires guards from Nationwide Agency in Bloomfield, represented at the meeting by Kenneth Heller.

Concluding business, the planners finally approved the application for the Chinese restaurant by unanimous vote.

Promising to comply with imposed stipulations, applicant Hanny Lau agreed to reduce the size of his proposed sign and to provide a sanitation dumpster with two weekly trash collections.

Represented by attorney Michael Cerone of Belleville, Lau said his establishment would maintain about four tables but function primarily as a take-out eatery.

Store hours will be from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays and noon to 10 p.m. Sundays. There will also be delivery. The store is scheduled to open in about seven weeks, the owner said.

Bridgebrook Receives Violation Summonses must cooperate with that." According to tenants leader Papa, a group of residents went to Trenton last Thursday to present their case to state officials.

Papa said the tenants compiled a list of some 46 health and safety violations on the Bridgebrook premises.

The tenants went to the Department of Community Affairs which, Papa said, promised to send several inspectors within the next two weeks.

Bridgebrook tenants demanded of state officials the names of inspectors who reportedly conducted last year's state inspection and issued approvals to the property.

Technically, Bridgebrook would not be due for another state inspection until 1985, but Papa said officials promised immediate response on the matter.

J. KELLY INC.
GENERAL CONTRACTOR

Dear Homeowners,
As you may already know, we have been in the home improvement business in this area for several years with 95% of our jobs being acquired strictly on a referral basis. We have found this to be a very rewarding as well as successful method of conducting business, one which has led us to a position where we can now provide our "referral oriented workmanship" as well as handle your financial needs all under one roof. As a result of these positive developments, we have established a small show-room and office, and it would be my pleasure to meet with you there to provide information on the construction methods and materials we shall supply. If it would be more convenient for you to have us visit your home to discuss your home improvement needs, simply call our office to arrange an appointment.
Sincerely,
John Kelly, Inc.
