Budget Increases 24 Points

Township's Budget Calls For Tax Hike

The party's over for Belleville taxpayers and now it's time to pay the fiddler.

After two consecutive years without a tax increase, Belleville homeowners were hit with the news that this year's municipal budget calls for a tax hike of 24 points.

The Belleville Board of Commissioners made that announcement while introducing the budget at a special meeting held last Friday afternoon. The total budget is $14,591,659, which is up from last year's $14 million figure. The revenues needed by taxes to support the spending plan is $7,148,344, an increase of over $1 million from the 1983 levy, making the new tax rate $1.60 per $100 assessed property value.

By that rate, a house valued at $70,000 would be taxed $1,120, compared to last year's $952.

Town officials blamed the emergency appropriations which were needed for last May's chemical clean up at the Organic-Inorganic Chemical plant on Main Street. The clean up operation cost the township nearly $500,000 in contractual services, overtime and related cost. And while the state Legislature has appropriated $250,000 in reimbursement, the town is seeking another $250,000 in state and federal monies to aid the clean up.

"We knew that the budget would be going up this year and costing the taxpayers some additional tax points because of the problem we encountered at the chemical plant," said Mayor Michael Marotti. "We had to use our surplus and, therefore, would not do much investing and that hurt us very much."

"Although I did vote to introduce the budget Friday, I will be sitting down with the other commissioners and try to see if there is some way

Mary Senatore Succumbs at 60; Former Public Works Director

Mary V. Senatore

By Ed Capparucci

Belleville said good-bye to a beautiful woman and a dedicated community leader yesterday, as former commissioner Mary V. Senatore was laid to rest in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Lyndhurst.

The former Public Works Director — who served as the township's only woman commissioner — suffered a heart attack early Saturday morning and died soon after at Clara Maass Medical Center.

The news of Mrs. Senatore's death shocked the entire community, including officials who worked very closely with her over the years. "Shocking, that is the only way I can describe the feeling I had after learning about her death," said Mayor Michael Marotti. "Mary and I worked together for 12 years and that is a long time. She was a good provider to many persons in this community and throughout the county. The fact that it was so sudden and she was still young in life, makes this even more tragic. We will all miss her a great deal."

A lifelong resident of Belleville, Senatore became active in politics 26 years ago when she was appointed Belleville's Democratic chairman, an office she had held since that time. A member of the township's Zoning Board in the mid-1960's, she became the first woman ever elected to the town's Board of Commissioners in 1967. She was named as director of Public Works and served in that post — winning re-election to four terms — until her retirement last May.

Strumolo First Candidate To File For Commission

By Linda Telesco

Former commissioner Vincent Strumolo became the first person to file for candidacy in the special Commission election slated for May 8.

"I'm looking forward to bringing my experience back into serving the people of Belleville," said Strumolo, who held public office for 19 years in Belleville before losing his bid for still another re-election last May.

Formerly the head of the Public Affairs Department, Strumolo is seeking the seat of the five-member Commission vacated March 1 by Matthew Pica, who resigned from his post as public safety director.

The four remaining Commissioners, with a clearance from the governor, voted recently to hold a special election to fill Pica's seat.

The winner of the election will finish out the remainder of the four-year term won by Pica in the township's regular Commission election held last May.

At that time, Strumolo came in sixth place and for the first time in nearly two decades found himself without a spot on the local governing body.

Many political observers noted he lost his bid for a fifth term on the Commission by a very slim margin and attributed the defeat to his running a passive campaign.

This time, though, the experienced politician is going the aggressive route with an official kick off slated for March 27 at the Branch Brook Manor and a campaign breakfast on May 6 at the Chandelier Restaurant.

"I feel very confident of victory. I think the people of Belleville will remember my experience when they go to the polls," said the 58-year-old candidate who spent most of last Monday campaigning.

Strumolo first won office in Belleville in 1962 as a First Ward councilman when Belleville was under mayor-council form of government.

He survived a 1964 recall, later lost his seat, but then won another council position in 1966. When Belleville changed to commission government, Strumolo won, in 1967, his first four-year term on that board and succeeding in winning continuous terms until last May.

A loyal Democrat, Strumolo is retired from his business and aims to devote himself to his public duties if he wins in May.

As of press time, Strumolo was the only resident to file for candidacy although several other potential contenders have announced their intention to enter the race.

Ralph DiRuggiero, a member of the Zoning Board and administrator of the Essex County government, Monday announced his candidacy in an official press release to The Times.

Town activist Joseph Fornarotto, also a county employee, announced at recent town meetings he would again attempt to win a Commission seat.

Calling himself the "people's candidate," the 60-year-old Fornarotto ran unsuccessfully for the local board in the past two elections.

Another possible candidate is Joseph Dasaro, owner of Belleville

Travel Service and a member of the Belleville Redevelopment Agency.

Committed to the redevelopment of Belleville, Dasaro told The Times in a recent interview that he would "seriously" consider running for commissioner if a special election were held although he has not yet made that official.

Filing deadline is March 22.

School 5 PTA Fashion Show

The School 5 Parent-Teacher Association will host its annual dinner fashion show Friday, April 6. This event will take place at the Bethwood in Totowa at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $14 each. For information or tickets, please call Mrs. Albanese at 759-3693.

School Board Candidates Will Debate on March 21

The consolidated Parent-Teachers' Association will host a School Board candidates' night, March 21 at Belleville High School starting at 8 p.m. Also participating in the event will be the Belleville Education Association.

The six candidates seeking the three open seats on the Board of Education will field questions given by members of the audience. Each candidate will also give a five-minute introduction.

The four candidates seeking the two three-year seats are trustee Donna Rainone, board Vice President Thomas Spillane, former assistant superintendent of schools Sy Grossman and St. Peter's elementary school teacher Phil Infante. The two candidates seeking the one-year seat are Ernest Zoppi and Richard Melham.

The School Board election is scheduled for April 3.

An Ugly Scene — Vandalism in the Belleville school district has cost the township $24,000 thus far this year and has administrators very concerned. This is a picture of the School Board complex and it is not a pretty one.

Administrators Concerned As School Vandalism Rises

Vandalism has always been a problem which school and township officials have faced with since public facilities were first erected. But this year the Belleville school system has been the target of repeated vandalism acts, causing excessive damage and costing taxpayers a great deal of money.

With four months left in the 1983-84 school year, vandalism damage has totaled $24,000, including materials and labor. And when compared to last year's total of $17,000, school administrators find themselves concerned and angry about the destructive damage being done to school buildings throughout the district.

"It is disheartening to witness acts like this done to school buildings which are so well maintained," said Michael Nardiello, superintendent of schools. "I find it hard to believe at times that children would have the nerve to do such destructive damage to their school property."

The latest episode of vandalism took place during the student's winter vacation period, when over $18,000 worth of damage was done at School 3 on the corner of Joralemon Street and Union Avenue. According to a report by school officials, the vandalism done at School 3 was not completed in a short period of time. Seven vandal lights were broken during the attack, including four which were protected by safety guards to prevent lens breakage. According to the report, the lights "were apparently struck with a heavy object."

"I find it baffling that a building located on a main thoroughfare such as School 3, would receive so much damage without anyone in the neighborhood hearing a sound or seeing anything," said Nardiello. "I realize that it is dark in the parking area where a great deal of the vandalism took place, but people can hear glass breaking. I find this very upsetting and puzzling."

The train leaders in the alcove area were smashed and one scupper box was completely ripped off the wall. This damage was done when the vandals were on the roof. Also three window openings were hit and destroyed and will have to be replaced, as well as the exit door on the north side of the building which was marred and defaced.

Belleville Doctor Becomes Member Of American College of Surgeons

Among the Initiates was Dr. James P. Murphy, who currently practices as an ear, nose and throat specialist in this area, with offices in Belleville and North Arlington. Dr. Murphy, born in Newark, was graduated from Holy Cross College in 1962 and received his M.D. in 1966 from the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry. He has furthered his education at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, Cook County Hospital in Chicago, Northwestern University, Baptist Hospital in Nashville, and Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh. He spent two years as a medical missionary in Ghana, West Africa, and is presently an assistant clinical professor of otolaryngology at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey as well as a physician in private practice. His hospital appointments include Clara Maass Medical Center, West Hudson Hospital, St. Michael's Medical Center, St. James' Hospital and the University Hospital of Newark. Dr. Murphy is married to the former Cyndy Burlick of Glen Ridge and presently lives in Kearny with their three children.

Fellows of the College, which is the largest organization of surgeons in the world, have earned the right to use the designation "F.A.C.S." (Fellow, American College of Surgeons) after their names by meeting the College's stringent membership requirements. An applicant for Fellowship must be a graduate of an approved medical school, must have completed advanced training in general surgery or in one of the surgical specialties recognized by the College, and must have been in practice for at least two years. Before admission into Fellowship, the surgeon must also have given evidence of ethical practice and good character and must have been approved by three-fourths of the college's Board of Regents.

All of the ephedrine class of decongestants have one great common disadvantage. They can cause an "after congestion." They can even produce chronic congestion if used for an extended period of time. This is to say that if one of these compounds is used in the nose, it will provide relief for a period but then a rebound will occur. The rebound congestion can make the original problem worse. If nasal decongestants are continuously used over a number of days, the nasal decongestant itself will start to aggravate the congestion that it is attempting to fight.

By Ralph J. DiMaio D.C.

Man's earliest health records reveal that people have suffered from sciatica for thousands of years. The sciatic nerve is the large nerve of the legs. It starts in the lower back and extends through both legs to the feet.

When a vertebral subluxation permits a misaligned vertebra to pinch and irritate this large nerve system, low back pain and leg pain results, sometimes with disabling agony.

Chiropractor adjustments correct the misalignment, easing the pinching of the nerve and relieving the pain and distress. Phone today for an appointment.

Senate Debating the Controversial Measure

Local Clergymen Disagree
About School Prayer Issue

By Linda Telesco

Local clergy reacted this week to the current controversial debate being conducted this week by the United States Senate over a constitutional amendment permitting prayers in the nation's public schools.

"I totally support the amendment and always have," said Rev. Dr. Frederick Long, the pastor of Christ Episcopal Church.

Acknowledging that his position is "probably against the mainstream," the clergyman noted that such a practice "can't hurt" those involved.

Rev. Long said he thought the difficulty of having children from varied religious faiths in a single class could be worked out by using prayers of different religions on a rotating basis.

"It could be very ecumenical. There's nothing wrong with exposure to the prayers of various faiths," he said.

When asked about the constitutional provisions for separating church and state, Rev. Long said, "I don't believe the founding fathers ever intended for a total divorce of religion from government. What they tried to prevent was the establishment of a specific state religion such as is the case in England."

He continued, "the way schools are going now, something that provides a little moral direction would be welcome."

While Rev. Long favors a period of prayer for school students, he sees no value in one proposed alternative, the moment of silence when individuals may pray as they see fit or not pray at all.

"That's not doing anything but keeping quiet," he noted. "Kids ought to be directed a bit and I think that can be managed without forcing participation from anyone who really chooses not to pray."

Msgr. John Byrne of St. Peter's Church said, "I have no strong feeling either way in this matter. I believe the Democratic process should take its course."

The Roman Catholic pastor added, "the true spirit of prayer is something established at an early age in the home and instituting a regular school prayer at this point is not likely to change any serious moral problems."

Adding he was "not too concerned" over how this issue is finally decided, Msgr. Byrne expressed no alarm over the possibility of Roman Catholic schoolchildren hearing or reciting prayers of other faiths.

"We've come a long way ecumenically in that respect," he explained.

An equally relaxed response came from Rev. Joseph Cestaro, pastor of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church.

"Prayer is wonderful. Any time, any place," said the clergyman when asked how he would feel about having prayers said in public schools.

Rev. Cestaro noted the implementation of such an amendment would still permit individuals to pray in the way that best suits the person.

When asked if he felt there might be problems in putting spiritual practices into public places, Rev. Cestaro remarked, "prayer is everybody's business. We have more difficulties when we close prayer out of our lives."

He also felt that such a practice would not erode the division of church and state.

Speaking more strongly on the issue, Rev. Alfred Stone of Fewsmit Memorial Presbyterian Church criticized the great emphasis placed by the nation's lawmakers on the matter.

"I believe there are much more important items to be focused on by Congress such as the budget deficit and the serious problems of the Middle East," he said.

Rev. Stone called the debate "a way of diverting attention from more weighty matters."

He added that he did not believe a constitutional amendment is "the way to go" in dealing with the complaint that God has been driven out of American schools.

The clergyman said he would like to see those concerned with that matter push "to have religion and the Bible taught in public schools as subjects that formed the basis of our country's values," from colonial times to the present.

When asked how he thought that could be accomplished without offense to students not of Judeo-Christian background, Rev. Stone proposed that the scriptures be taught as a body of literature with a value system of specific importance to the development of our country's moral climate.

Also commenting on the matter was School Board President Grace Purdue. "It is a very personal matter," she said. "I have no objection to a two or three minute period where children can pray if they wish or not take part if they prefer that."

Mary Senatore

Last week death took from us a servant of God, who at the age of 60, was really too young to die. Mary Vuono Senatore was a faithful servant of God throughout her life doing unto others as she would have others do unto her. A dedicated wife, a loving mother, she was also a person who more than fulfilled her civic obligations to society. Indeed, it can be said of Mary Vuono Senatore that she left the world a better place than she found it.

Most of the things in life come in pairs, threes, or by the dozens or by the hundreds. There are plenty of relatives, brothers, sisters, cousins — plenty of stars, rainbows and sunsets — but we all have only one mother in the whole world — and this mother was her daughter's world.

There existed a unique tie between this mother and daughter, Rosemary Ciccone, that was a joy to behold and death will never kill something that lives — and the bond between mother and daughter will live through eternity.

Mary Vuono Senatore was faithful to her friends — almost to a fault. She was kind — she was forgiving. She wasted no opportunity to help those less fortunate than she. She was born with an outlook toward the bright side of things. She greeted a caller with laughter that rang through the household walls. Mary was a dreamer who built temples not only for herself but for those among us fortunate enough to call her friend. By any measure, Mary Vuono Senatore was a success in life because one of the things that matters most in life — helping thy neighbor — found her at her very best.

Mary Vuono Senatore was tolerant of her political foes, and had sympathy for those who misunderstood her. She forgave those who did her wrong. Mary Senatore believed that in giving of her love it would flow back from the receiver to her, thus making life a pleasant journey. It is because of the good deeds she did on this earth — that on earth she found the beginning of her heaven. The memory of her smiling eyes and cheerful face we will take to the grave — for that was the trademark of Mary Senatore.

The good deeds that Mary Vuono Senatore performed on earth live in the hearts and minds of the thousands upon thousands of people she helped throughout a life dedicated to improving the lot of the humanity.

How shall we remember Mary: Let us use the words of Christine Rossetti:

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;

When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go yet turning to stay.

Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned;

Only remember me: You understand
It will be late to council then or pray.

Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve;

For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,

Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

Mary — the Township of Belleville has lost its greatest benefactor. The local Democratic party has lost its greatest champion. The people have lost their best friend. Your family has lost a loved one — and your daughter has not only lost her mother, but her dearest friend.

Mary, thanks for the warm and meaningful friendship we shared for more than 40 years, and may God bless and rest your soul.

Township Commission

A law, sponsored by Senate President Carmen Orechio, provides for a special township commission election to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of former Public Safety Commissioner Matthew Pica. It is scheduled for the second Tuesday in May.

Already prominent, qualified citizens have expressed their willingness to serve the community. It appears that Belleville voters will have an opportunity to choose from among a number of extremely qualified candidates.

It behooves the voters to make themselves aware of candidate qualifications and their commitments to improve the quality of life in the Township of Belleville.

Throwing a cloud over the township commission election is the school board election, which takes place less than a month later. This circumstance simply means that township commission candidates may only have three weeks of unfettered campaigning to get their messages across to the voters.

For our part, the more qualified candidates, the better for Belleville.

Unit Control Made Change in Schools

To the editor:

As a candidate for re-election to the Belleville Board of Education, I am frequently asked why I am running for the board. My answer to that question is that as a parent of three school age children, I think that it is extremely important to continue to improve our school system for the benefit of all of the children in Belleville.

I think that one of the most significant improvements that the board has made in the past three years is when the board instituted unit control. Under the previous organization or dual control, the superintendent was responsible for education and the business administrator was responsible for the buildings and finances. Under unit control the business administrator reports to the superintendent who is responsible for the entire school system. The superintendent reports to the board but the business administrator no longer reports directly to the board.

From the board's perspective this organization has several disadvantages. They include the fact that the board gives up some of its direct control of the school system to the superintendent. It also means that with the superintendent having this additional control or power that the board must be more vigilant than was required under dual control. Why then would the board give up its power? The board gives up some of its power in order to gain the advantages that come with unit control. The biggest advantage is that the superintendent has the responsibility for the entire school system. It is no longer fragmented. Under the old system no matter how good a relationship there is between the superintendent and the business administrator, they are always vying for the same limited resources of the community and one usually prevails. Under unit control, with the superintendent being ultimately responsible for everything, he is required to balance the various needs of the school system. I am firmly convinced that this is one of the reasons we have seen such dramatic improvements in the physical plant of our school system over the last three years. As an example, when the superintendent is responsible for educating the child and also making sure that the classroom is dry, he will be coming to the board for funds for the teaching staff, books, paper, etc. and also funds to repair the roof. Under the old system, the superintendent would not have had to concern himself with the roof.

Kennedy Group Announces Its Board Choices

To the editor:

The Kevin G. Kennedy Civic and Welfare Association is backing the following for the School Board Election: Ernest Zoppi for the one-year term. He is the past board president and he cares about the schools. Now he's on his own and he's independent.

For the three-year terms we are proud to endorse Ms. Donna Rainone for re-election to the School Board. She has proven she's honest, does the job 100 percent and is a credit to the board. We also support Sy Grossman to be elected to the School Board. The man has over 30 years on the job and has given more than half his life to education and Belleville. That in itself indicates this man will be an asset to the Board of Education. For the sake of the school kids, "please come out and vote."

Thank you,
Kevin G. Kennedy

Township Sports Fan Upset By County Tournament Fans

To the editor:

As a Belleville High School graduate of 1968 and an avid Belleville sports follower, I've only heard of the great BHS basketball teams of the late '40s and early '50s. I believe it has to be at least 25 years since a Belleville team has made it to the finals of the Essex County Tournament. But on Saturday night, Feb. 25, a few members of my family and myself attended the championship game of the girls' basketball Essex County Tournament at Seton Hall University. I never figured the BHS team to get to the finals, nevertheless win this event. Their never give up attitude and outstanding play from Jennifer Apicella and Donna Brooks almost earned them first place. You see, Shabazz High School had won this tournament two years previously and is always one of the top 10 teams in the state. They expect to win, even their fans expect it. Belleville wasn't even ranked in the top 20 although they had an outstanding record. They have nothing to be ashamed of. Shabazz knew they were in a game. TV 3 can also attest to that. It may be a long time before we see another BHS basketball team make it to the finals of the tournament but the one thing I won't miss is the constant heckling by some of the despicable, low-life characters that harassed Belleville people before, during and after the game. These hecklers were looking for trouble, but with only one (1) policeman present to watch 1,000 people, we had to refrain ourselves and take the abuse. I wonder what would have taken place if Belleville had won the game!

I now don't feel so bad that Jennifer Apicella didn't break the 3,000 point record on that night as she probably would have been bowed by these same Shabazz fans, who don't deserve to witness such a great record breaking event.

Cooperation on State Funds Pleases Belleville Resident

To the editor:

As a resident of Belleville for many years, I was more than pleased to read of the work Assemblyman Steve Aduhato and Mayor Mike Marotti did to regain the $65,000 for police and fire protection for our community.

These two representatives hold office on different levels of government, but this is an example of the type of leadership a community can receive when they work together for a single purpose. I applaud both Mayor Marotti and Assemblyman Aduhato for their fine work, and better still, their results in this most vital case in attaining additional funding for more police and fire protection in Belleville.

Assemblyman and Mayor — a job well done!

Sincerely,
Jim McCann

Golden Comments

By James Golden

The Ides of March are upon us, while it was a bad day for Julius Caesar, it hopefully provides the harbingers of spring with its rebirth of life and the pride of the Irish with their traditional "Paddy's Day" parade and all the frivolity it provides. Ah! Indeed it's a great season of the year as we put behind the trials of winter with its storms, cold weather and high heating bills and set about preparing to greet the robins and await the agony of worry about local school and town budgets that could steeply hike up taxes for the beleaguered homeowners.

'Tis school board election time again in early April with some new contenders in the race to serve as trustees while concerned citizens pour over the school and town budgets in determining their reaction to the budget proposals. The electorate can vote on the school budget, which they usually reject; they don't have much to say about the township budget, but, they can offer their views at the public hearing.

Charlie Miele's resignation from the School Board occasions the need to hold an election for his replacement for the one-year unexpired term while two candidates will seek re-election from a field of four candidates aspiring to win the two three-year term seats.

School board elections usually bring out a light vote; this is unfortunate because most of the town taxes, which have to be raised by the commissioners, go to run the schools which play a large part in our tax increases. That is the reason more citizens should get out and vote in this school election if they want to hold down their taxes.

If the school budget is defeated, it goes to the commissioners who can then trim the school budget, hopefully holding down taxes. The school trustees may appeal to the State Commissioner of Education to restore some of the cuts made by the commissioners.

Commissioner Matty Pica's resignation has sparked considerable political activity and speculation over his replacement. The present commissioners have decided to hold a special election scheduled for May 8.

We were amazed by the number of Belleville's prominent citizenry who sought consideration to be appointed ad interim commissioner to gain the glory of having the title even for this short interregnum term. While most all have labored in the political vineyards of Belleville politics and are well versed and initiated in the machination and intrigue of the ploys of local politics, it seems improbably that any of those hopefuls will receive the accolade nor the touch of the King's sword that would bestow Knighthood.

No! We entertain few doubts about anyone being dubbed commissioner by the powers entrenched. We believe that this special upcoming election will be hard fought and costly. It will not be the lackluster uneventful election of last May. We expect fireworks in this one, especially if held in the November Presidential election battle which brings out a very heavy vote.

A new strange face on the Board of Commissioners could possibly change the balance of power or disrupt the reasonable harmony and collaboration that has characterized the workings of the local governing body.

The prospect of a power struggle looms a possibility as old alliances may have shifted through the juxtaposition of offices and titles which will play their role determining the outcome, which could be close.

At this early date we anticipate three formidable candidates seeking to replace Mr. Pica. Sixth placed Vinnie Strumolo, seventh placed Joe Fornatto, contenders in last May's race, along with Ralph Di Ruggiero who looms as a strong contestant. Another prospective candidate is Joe Dasaro, a Belleville redevelopment board member.

Looks like a good bit of fence building will be under way soon setting the stage for a real hum-dinger of a fall campaign that will rival the contest for the possession of the White House for the next four years.

Rainone Backs Strong Curriculum Program

School Board trustee Donna Rainone believes curriculum development is the heart of the Belleville educational process.

"Proper curriculum development and articulation are necessary for our children to be assured that they are receiving instruction which is accurate, timely and necessary for proper assimilation and future success in life," said Rainone, who recently attended a lecture on curriculum development at an Essex County School Board meeting.

Dr. Samuel Stewart, Ridgewood superintendent of schools, who addressed the group gathered at the county School Board meeting, said that persons in the field of education must re-focus their goals and objectives so that they become clear to children. According to Rainone, who is seeking re-election for a second term on the School Board, Dr. Stewart also said educators must encourage intellectual, academic and aesthetic development.

"Students need to be made to think, by developing writing skills, study skills and becoming aggressive about reading," he said.

"While listening to this talk I was most gratified to know that these are the attitudes that Belleville has," said Rainone. "We are focusing our goals and articulating them to our teachers, who in turn articulate to students. We have become aggressive about reading. Those same skills which Dr. Stewart addressed as important have already been addressed by Belleville."

"We on the Board of Education have been given outstanding presentations by area supervisors regarding curriculum development, and our Saturday curriculum program is truly an innovation," she continued. "But from what I have learned in speaking with board members from other communities, we must continue to perform this focusing. Curriculum is always to be reviewed. Teachers must be given opportunities to be part of this process and to receive activities for professional development.

"Too much negative literature has been written about the teaching profession, and we, as board members must take the lead in building respect for teachers," she concluded. "I think we have begun to do this in Belleville, by starting with administrators who themselves command respect and who encourage an atmosphere of cooperation among staff members. Of course, a child's education doesn't begin and end in school. But we in the schools must realize that we are in the business of helping people grow, to develop character and self discipline."

Start retiring today.

Build tomorrow's retirement fortune with a tax-sheltered IRA Account at Spencer Savings now!

It's never too early, or too late, to start planning for retirement. And right now the incentives are the best ever!

Today, everyone who works, even those covered by another pension plan, can take advantage of our new Individual Retirement Account (IRA). It makes good sense and lots of money.

Here's why.

Every dollar you contribute to your IRA is tax-deductible, right off the top. Plus, all the interest you earn over the years is tax-sheltered until you retire.

(when you should be in a much lower tax bracket). So, you save both ways.

Married working couples can now contribute up to $4,000 of yearly income. Couples with one working spouse can put away up to $2,500. And single individuals can contribute a maximum of $2,000 each year. All tax-deductible. All tax-deferred.

The sooner you start your IRA, the more money you'll have at retirement. It's that simple. Choose the plan that's best for you and start retiring today. You'll enjoy a much richer tomorrow!

Award Winners — Cocktail party chairperson, Barbara Welter, is flanked by award winners, Captain Jack and Archie and Vincent Cosenzo. The men were honored with Community Service Awards for helping the youth of Belleville.

Joseph J. Carbat Post, Auxiliary Honor Two for Service to Youth

Joseph J. Carbat Post 299, American Legion and Auxiliary, held its third annual veterans' cocktail party recently at the post rooms on Belmont Avenue. Chairperson was Barbara Welter.

The group's major project this year is to purchase a bus for the veterans at East Orange Veterans' Hospital to enable paraplegics to leave the hospital for outings. The previous two years, television sets have been donated to the Spinal Cord Unit and Special Care Unit. Ladies of the auxiliary devote time to visiting Lyons, Menlo Park and East Orange hospitals, hosting parties, coffee hours and bingos.

Unit 299's Community Service Awards for those who have helped the youth of Belleville were presented to two police officers. Vincent Cosenzo Jr. was honored, among other things, for starting a safety education program in the local schools and spearheading a professional wrestling show, proceeds of which are divided among Belleville charities.

Jack Nicholas of the Mountain Lakes Police Dept., the other honoree, is known as Captain Jack when he and his puppet partner, Archie, visit schools, presenting a safety entertainment program that is educational as well.

Attending the affair were Department President American Legion Auxiliaries Annabelle Guirno and her husband, Michael; Essex County President Stella Marone and her husband, Joseph, plus members of various posts and units. Belleville dignitaries included Mayor Michael Marotti, Commissioner Joseph Grande and Town Clerk Mary Lou Hood.

Tri-Towners Dinner, Show Set March 30

Tri-Town Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley will hold its scholarship dinner and fashion show March 30, 7 p.m. at Mayfair Farms, West Orange.

Sandy Giordano will chair the event whose theme is "Spring Fling." Fashions will be provided by Marilyn's Corner, Verona and a super gift, an Evelyn Nesbitt pendant, has been donated by Dora Lee Antiques of Nutley.

Proceeds will benefit the club's scholarship fund which each year presents scholarship awards to needy high school students from Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley. Tickets are $18 per person and may be obtained from any Tri-Town member or by calling Mary DelGuidice at 743-4604.

MIDS Chapter Meets Mar. 21 For Discussion

The Essex County Chapter of MIDS will meet March 21, 8 p.m. at 15 Clover St., Nutley.

MIDS (Miscarriage, Infant Death, Stillbirth) is a self-help support group which offers friendship and understanding to couples who have suffered any of these losses. The group is composed of bereaved parents who want an opportunity to share their feelings and come to a positive resolution of their grief.

For more information, contact Lisa Calabria at 235-1364 or Diana Cordasco at 235-0521. MIDS can also be reached by writing to the Essex County Chapter at 15 Clover St.

Umberto's Corner

Dear Umberto,

I am a believer. Whatever they sell on TV or promote on radio or newspapers, I run out to buy. The other day I saw a conditioner on TV which they said was better than Flex. I ran out and bought it but there was no change in my hair — it's the same — dry and non-bouncing. Then I asked the beauty supplier for a hair conditioner with the same results. None of the conditioners satisfied me. Do you have a suggestion?

Your Reader,

Run to Buy Girl

I do have a suggestion for you. Run to Buy Girl! Run out one more time, and guaranteed this will be the last.

On the market is an old coloring called 'henna'. In addition to the colors is one called 'Neutral Color' (colorless). Mix it thoroughly with gloved hands until it forms a paste. Starting from your scalp, apply on your hair strand by strand to the ends and blend well. Keep on about 20 to 30 minutes. This solution should keep you from running any longer.

P.S. If you think it is too difficult, please accept a complimentary demonstration in my studio.

Morriello Beginning Missionary Project

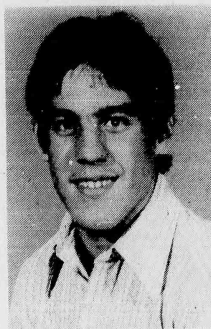

Michael Morriello, son of Gloria and Michael Morriello Jr., of Garden Avenue, left this week for Spokane, Washington to begin his missionary work for the Mormon Church.

Morriello will be stationed in Spokane for the next two years. After his graduation from Belleville High School, he attended Snow College, Utah, where he became an Elder of the Church of The Latter Day Saints.

Because of his work with the Boy Scouts at the Sabattis Adventure Camp and the Adirondack Treks, he was awarded the Eagle Scout Award, one of the highest awards in scouting.

Morriello began his career in scouting with Pack 307 here in Belleville. Upon completion of his missionary work he will attend Brigham Young University and return to scouting during the summer.

Festive Celebrations Being Prepared To Honor Saints Patrick and Joseph

By Linda Telesco

Two of the world's best loved saints will be honored in festivities and religious celebrations this weekend.

Few people need a reminder that

Saturday, March 17 is St. Patrick's Day, the feast of the patron saint of Ireland and the Irish.

Parades, parties, and plenty of merriment accompany the celebration of St. Patrick whose life is intertwined with legend, much of it amusing and fanciful.

Little is known for certain about St. Patrick. Some sources believe he was born in the fifth century to Christian parents who were Roman citizens living in settlements of what is now England.

Biographers believe the saint was captured by invaders of Britain when he was 16 and enslaved in Gaul, the ancient name for France.

There, the captive youth worked as a shepherd but maintained his faith. Legends say he was assured in visions that he would one day return to his homeland.

When he reached his early 20s, Patrick managed to persuade the crew of a ship bound for Britain to grant him passage. He returned home where he is said to have spent the next 20 years in scholarly study.

Throughout this time, however, he felt himself drawn to the nearby island of Ireland, which was then dominated by strongly organized pagan forms of worship.

Undaunted, Patrick set out for the Emerald Isle where he endured many hardships and discouragements, but persevered until he spread the message of Christianity throughout the land.

One famous legend about the beloved and scholarly saint is that he used the shamrock, a three-leaf plant, to explain the Christian belief in the Trinity — the three-personed God, to his converts.

On St. Patrick's Day everyone is Irish at heart, honoring the enduring influence St. Patrick had on the faith and culture of the Irish people.

Although local parades were held last weekend, a special St. Patrick's program will be held tonight at 7:30 at the public library on Washington Avenue where the Peter Smith Dancers will perform traditional Irish step dances.

On Monday, Christians honor St. Joseph who was the husband of Mary and appointed earthly father of Jesus, according to the scriptural traditions.

Little is known about most of St.

Joseph's life as head of the Holy Family, except for what appears in the Biblical gospels of Matthew and Luke.

An artisan, probably a carpenter, of Nazareth, Joseph was betrothed to Mary who was to be the mother of Jesus.

Through the inspiration of an angel, Joseph protected his wife and her unborn child as the couple journeyed to Bethlehem for a government census.

It was in Bethlehem that Jesus was born.

Days later, Joseph again conveyed the little family to Egypt in order to avoid the threat to the newborn child from monarchs jealous of the prophecies they heard.

When conditions were safe again, Joseph returned the family to Nazareth where they apparently remained during Jesus's growing years.

There are few references to those years in the Bible, but evidently Joseph assumed the responsibilities of a good parent, teaching Jesus his trade and overseeing his religious studies.

Most scholars agree that Joseph probably died before Jesus began his public life at the age of 30.

Centuries later, devotions developed around this quiet personality. For obvious reasons, St. Joseph became the patron saint of fathers, families, and working people.

In many European countries, St. Joseph's Day is celebrated by blessing bread, possibly because the saint was the breadwinner of the Holy Family.

Some American parishes — particularly those with many Italian members, retain the custom. Another popular symbol of the day are special cakes and pastries, such as the Italian zeppole — a custard or cheese filled cake shaped to resemble a carpenter's wheel.

With the high numbers of Italian and Irish residents in Belleville, this is a weekend for much blessing and celebration.

Chenoweth Appointed To Casino Commission

Senate President Carmen Orechio, (D-Essex), announced the appointment of Belleville resident George Chenoweth to the Casino Revenue Study Commission.

Chenoweth, a resident of the township for nearly 20 years, was named as one of the six public members to sit on the special commission as mandated by Senate Concurrent Resolution 75 which created the panel.

The 78-year-old Chenoweth was selected for his "active and dedicated" role in senior citizens organizations both on the state and local level, according to Orechio.

Chenoweth was one of the primary organizers of the Belleville Old Guard Chapter 20 and currently serves as its president. He was recently chosen by Senator Bill Bradley to be a member of the Senior Citizens Advisory Council.

"I truly appreciate the confidence Senator Orechio has shown in me by selecting me to this prestigious commission," Chenoweth said. "I hope my background in senior citizens affairs will benefit the elderly of this state."

The duties of the 12-member panel will be to review current and projected revenues to the state from casino gambling, and to make recommendations on the disbursement of the casino monies which are presently earmarked for the disabled and senior citizens programs.

"George Chenoweth is a true champion of senior citizens needs and concerns. He is an individual who possesses the qualities of honesty, integrity and devotion which are most necessary attributes in order for the commission to be a successful one," stated Orechio.

Before retiring in 1972, Chenoweth was a chief machinist with the Pabst Brewing Company in Newark for 26 years. He is still a member of the International Association of Machinists and presently serves as its local union officer.

Tax Rate Up 24 Points

that we can shade a few tax points," he continued. "I do not like hitting the taxpayers with a budget that calls for an increase of 24 tax points, but a few things happened during the year which we could do nothing about. I am happy that we stayed within the 5 percent caps and did not have to use the 7 percent caps limit. I can't promise anything, but I will do everything possible to be fair to the taxpayers without cutting services."

This year the Commissioners received $665,972 in Federal Revenue Sharing aid, which is an increase of $42,751 over last year.

The public hearing on the proposed budget is scheduled for April 16. By that date the Commissioners will determine the effects of this year's county tax rate and of the School Board proposed 16 tax-point increase budget.

Greater New Jersey Wallace & Tiernan

A productive environment

This past year Wallace & Tiernan has:

- Employed more than 1000 people
- Contributed to local charities directly and through our generous employees
- Provided increasing buying power through salaries
- Designed, manufactured and sold the finest in water treatment equipment to clean up the environment
- Paid our share of local and state taxes
- Purchased goods and services from local and state suppliers

In return, this area has given Wallace & Tiernan:

- Wonderful people to work with
- A stable, productive workforce
- A friendly, well-run community
- Protection from fire, crime and disaster
- Energetic, ambitious young people
- A good environment in which to work and play
- And an abundance of good will and support.

We think it has been a great partnership. As we enter 1984 the outlook is encouraging. Together we'll do just fine in our 71st year and for the next 70 years as well. Wallace & Tiernan Division, Pennwalt Corp., 25 Main St., Belleville, N.J. 07109, Dept. P102. 201-759-8000.

Belleville Times SPORTS

Finish Finest Season Ever

Girls Bow to Plainfield In State Finals, 54-42

By Michael Lamberti

The game had been over for about 20 minutes. Slowly, the members of the Belleville girls' basketball team came out of its locker room at Cranford High School and assembled to the bus for what seemed to be a marathon ride home. When a great season comes to an end, and some great careers come to an end in the process, the ride home always seems long.

The last two people coming out of the locker room were Karen Fuccello, doing her impression of Tom Landry with her funny hat and Jennifer Apicella, doing her impression of Jennifer Apicella, keeping a stiff upper lip and taking congratulations from the fans who came to see her this one last time. The season was over, the record a tremendous 22-7, the conclusion of the '83-'84 campaign coming at the hands of Plainfield High School, a marvelous team in its own right. The final count was 54-42. Chances are, not too many people will remember that stat as much as they will remember that this was the conclusion of the careers of Apicella, Dina De Aquino, Loreli Wells and Tracy Buono. Four girls who made a big impact on women's sports at Belleville High School and along with Donna Brooks, helped to give the girls' basketball team at BHS its finest hour to date.

The week had started off with a hard fought 56-51 win over Morristown in the semifinals of the Group IV, Section II playoffs. "It took us a while to get warmed up in that game," said Fuccello last weekend. "We wanted to press them, but in order to press, we had to stay out of foul trouble. The problem was, we fell into foul trouble early and couldn't press until the fourth quarter."

The fourth quarter is where Belleville rallied to win the game. Actually, the contest had started off favorably for the Bucs. Belleville led, 16-10 after one quarter, but Morristown, capitalizing on Donna Brooks' foul problems, rallied to tie the game, 22-22 at halftime.

In the third frame, with Brooks and Dina De Aquino on the bench in foul trouble, Morristown opened a one-point lead and seemed in control, 37-36 entering the final frame.

"We had to go for broke by the fourth," said Fuccello. "We pressed and started to take advantage of some turnovers." With Apicella scoring the crucial points down the stretch, Belleville outscored Morristown, 20-14 in the final quarter and won by five points.

Apicella led the way with 43 points, followed by De Aquino with six, Brooks with four and Tracy Buono with three points. "We weren't in very good condition," said Fuccello, "with the flu and colds hampering our team. But it was a nice effort."

The victory enabled Belleville to advance to the finals of the Group IV, Section II championships. Waiting for the team was Plainfield High School, ranked second in the state, undefeated at 25-0, two-time defending sectional champions and a team that has advanced to the Group IV championship game the last two seasons.

"We knew we had to play a big game to beat them," said Fuccello. "We were flat in the first half and they (Plainfield) took away our running game. Loreli (Wells) did a great

BHS Spring Sports Around the Corner

It might not look like spring outside, but the spring sports teams at Belleville High School have begun practice, looking forward to the start of their season which should commence on or about April 1.

The baseball team, with Ralph La Conte leading the way, looks to rebound from a tough 7-15 season in La Conte's first ride as head coach following George Zanfini's resignation at the end of 1982. It should be a little smoother for the coach this year. The Bucs return an experienced team, with John Guarino and Frank Tursi leading the way. La Conte used a youth movement last season and knew he would take his lumps, especially against the solid competition offered in the NNJL. This year, the optimism is high for a turnaround to better fortunes.

Sam Giuffrida is expected to field a strong crew team this spring. Last year, his squads did exceptionally well and this season, the nucleus of that team returns. Also back is the girls' team, the same squad which won a national title back in 1982. Those girls possess a lot more maturity and three years' varsity experience. They should be solid this spring.

The girls' softball squad is another team that should draw a great deal of attention this spring. Dina De Aquino and Tracy Buono return to form a solid battery for Carl Corino. The girls have won two

Benefit Game Rescheduled For March 20

The benefit basketball game for the Katie Reilly Fund between the Harlem Wizards and the Belleville faculty, which was originally scheduled for last Friday night, will be held Tuesday, March 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Belleville High School gym.

Tickets, at $3 each, may still be purchased at Nino's and the Belle Maid in Belleville, at Sally's Auto Parts in Nutley, and at Belleville High School. Tickets already purchased for the event will be honored.

Grapplers Should be Proud Of Their Undeclared Season

By Dino Ibello

Michael Gibbons and James Meyler, the last of the Belleville wrestlers in this super 1983-84 season, fell short in state competition last week, thus ending a season in which the grapplers put together a marvelous record of 14-0-1. For seven seniors, the fine showing will be something that they should always remember and look back on with pride.

This week, the Times will take a look at the seniors who competed for the squad. Next week, the underclassmen will be profiled with expectations of their contributions for 1984-85.

First year letterman Danny Cifelli has limited action this winter, competing in a tough weight class. Cifelli did get a chance to wrestle one of the states best grapplers, Guy Russo of West Essex. Cifelli filled in well for the Bucs and was a valuable team member. Darren Sneddon ended with three victories this season. Sneddon also wrestled in a tough weight class, but did a good job in the Bloomfield Holiday tournament and in the matches he competed in during the season.

Carmen Cerreto ended his season on a sad note. The senior injured his shoulder and arm midway through the season and finished his senior campaign with an abbreviated 6-4 record. Cerreto will probably attend Wagner College next fall and continue his football career. Cerreto's leadership and all out athletic ability will be missed next winter for the grapplers.

Janny Racanelli was the surprise of the year for the Bucs. Although he didn't start to wrestle consistently until late in the season, Racanelli advanced as far as the regionals, compiling an overall mark of 6-6.

Racanelli's victories came at key moments for the Bucs. "Rac" took a third in the districts, won a big match against his Bloomfield man, Cuzy Matarazzo, 19-16, in one of the most exciting matches of the season and won in the first round of the regionals. Mr. Racanelli certainly proved that he is a quality wrestler and was a winner in the true sense of the word.

Jaime Lijo did an excellent job at 170 pounds. He took a second place in the Bloomfield Holiday tournament and fourth in the districts. He posted a 14-6 record this year and continued the fine wrestling tradition in the Lijo family. He will be a difficult athlete to replace next winter.

James Meyler put together a tremendous senior season. The senior was 25-3 this year, advancing as far as the early stages of the state tournament in Princeton. Meyler

Jennifer Made Her Mark on the Township of Belleville

One of the highlights of the winter season at Belleville High School has been the accomplishments of Jennifer Apicella on the basketball court. You all know the stats, 3,000 plus points, all-American status, her number retired, the all-time leading scorer in New Jersey history. The list goes on and on. Jenny's accomplishments have also brought a record number of fans to the BHS gym and opposing gyms to see the senior continue her heroics.

The fans have expressed their optimism in a number of ways. One man, Ed Matera from Joralemon Street, wrote a short tribute to Jennifer and asked if I could publish it. It is a note of thanks from Mr. Matera to Jennifer and is undated. The name of the piece is "A Legend in Her Own Time."

"There has been a new resurgence in the Town of Belleville. It has once again come to life; a new blossoming has come forth. All this is due to the uncanny and remarkable abilities and accomplishments of one of our very own high school senior girls, who has now become the most prolific girls' basketball scorer ever in the state of New Jersey. In the last few months, it has become a byword in and around all of the particular establishments I have frequented in town. "How did Jennifer do last night? How many points did she get? What's the record? How many games left for her to do it? Do you think she'll make it?"

"Yes, we have seen such phenomenal feats in the past, such as Jesse Owens' quadruple gold medal sprint victories in the 1936 Olympics. Babe Ruth's home run production, Hank Aaron's official breaking of the record, Joe Di Maggio's 56-game hitting streak in the 1940s; Wilt Chamberlain's 100-point game against the Knicks; and just recently, Wayne Gretzky's 51-point consecutive hockey scoring streak, just to name a few, all of whom have become legends in their own time.

"To Jennifer: You have truly been blessed with God-given talents and after many adversities, trials, and tribulations, as the other great ones also experienced, including broken wrists, broken fingers, sprained ankles, knees and other assorted ailments, you have made the Town of Belleville most proud to proclaim, "You, too, Jennifer, are now a legend in your own time." God bless you always — Ed Matera."

For all you track fans, Dana Caruso made a big step in her collegiate career by competing in the Colgate Women's Games at Madison Square Garden on March 5. Dana, currently a junior at Montclair State College, was the finest female runner at Belleville High School. She has the records for the 1,500, 800 and 3,000 meters and since moving onto Montclair State, has continued her marvelous success. Dana competes for the cross country, indoor and outdoor teams and during the summer months, trains very hard in anticipation for the following season.

Caruso competed in a number of weekend meets in order to accumulate enough "points" for the Colgate games. "Running at the Garden was like a dream come true," Caruso said last weekend. "I told my mother that next to getting married one day, this was the happiest day of my life. Just to be there, competing against some of the best athletes in the country was quite a thrill."

For the record, Dana ran the 1,500 meters, coming through in a time of 5:05. She wasn't particularly fond of the track, however. "It was strange, there were so many turns. Every time you started to run, it was time to turn again. I had enough trouble just keeping my balance."

Dana's performance in a major track event once again proves that if you want it, you can get it. Dana was not born with extraordinary track skills. At 5'4", 110 pounds, she had to work extra hard, pound those extra miles and strain a little harder to keep up with the bigger, stronger runners. She has done that and her advancement in the Colgate games last week was a fitting tribute to her hard work.

The next stop for Dana is to run in a marathon, something I hope to run with her. Knowing Caruso, she'll be up to that challenge as well.

The Belleville girls' basketball team concluded a tremendous season by losing to powerhouse Plainfield, 54-42, in the championship game of the Group IV, Section II playoffs. The girls thus conclude the best season in school history, 22-7. They advanced to the finals of the county and sectional tournaments for the first time in school history. The game also marked the conclusion of the careers of Apicella, Dina De Aquino, Tracy Buono and Loreli Wells. It's going to seem very strange next November when the girls' basketball team begins practice once more and numbers 22, 15, 41 and 31 are not out there, leading a drill or getting the team fired up for the opener.

It also seems like yesterday when a 14-year-old freshman stood on the basketball court and challenged a newspaper writer to a game of OUT on a Saturday morning practice. That game, in December of 1980, marked the beginning of a good friendship. Could it have been four years since Apicella, De Aquino and Wells first started played for Karen Fuccello and Company?

At the Plainfield game last Friday night, Apicella was taken out of the game with 15 seconds left. She exited to a big ovation from the Belleville fans, a tribute to all she has accomplished. There were, however, some comments to the effect that Jenny was the entire team this season. If anyone knows the game of basketball, then they will know that a statement like that is total nonsense. True, Jenny carried a good deal of the offensive stats, but what about Loreli Wells on defense. Dina De Aquino under the boards. Donna Brooks pulling down rebounds and scoring key points and of course, Tracy Buono, adding her leadership and all out athletic ability. Furthermore, Jenny will be the first to tell you that her teammates indeed made a big contribution to the squad. No team can compile a 22-7 record, 74-27 over four years, if one player does everything. The Belleville girls' basketball team won as a team, and lost as a team. Anyone who knows basketball will tell you that.

The Township of Belleville was deeply saddened by the sudden passing of Mary Senator. She was a nice lady, a class individual and needless to say, will be missed by everyone in town. Mary was at a number of Belleville sporting events and always lent her support to athletics in the township. Her passing leaves a sad mark and she'll always be remembered fondly and with admiration.

Congratulations to Mike Gibbons and James Meyler of the wrestling team for advancing to the state tournament. Gibbons and Meyler both lost in the first round, but that does not take away from the marvelous seasons they had. Gibbons returns next season to continue his mastery of the mats and perhaps a return to the states. For Meyler, a fitting conclusion to a great career, advancement in the states. Both men are fine athletes, best wishes to both in their future.

The Buccaneer Honor Roll for the winter season will be published in two weeks. In the fall semester, 22 athletes made the honor roll. For excellence in the classroom and contributions to his or her team. It's a tribute to the student athlete, a rare breed indeed.

The Belleville High School athlete of the week goes to all the athletes who made the winter season the greatest season it was here in Belleville. Without our fine athletes and the excellent coaching, we wouldn't have the great memories we have now.

For this week's quiz, name the team in the NCAA basketball championship game of 1978 and the MVP of the championship game.

Heard At Ringside

By Steve H. Frank

South African Marcus Nkosi, promoter of the WBA heavyweight titleholder Gerrie Coetzee's bout with Alfredo Evangelista, said the match may go down the drain if he doesn't get the okay soon from Coetzee's representative Cedric Kushner. Kushner is in the United States trying to lock up a Coetzee-Larry Holmes fight. The Coetzee-Evangelista affair is tentatively scheduled for May 5 at Ellis Park Stadium in Johannesburg, South Africa.

As we go to press, Sy Roseman, public relations wiz, informs that Connelly Promotions, Inc., promoter Bob Connelly has nailed down a stellar attraction in pairing North Philadelphia featherweight Luis Diaz to swap punches with Alfonso Mitchell for a six-rounder, today, March 15, at J & A Caterers in Philadelphia. The undefeated Diaz and Mitchell bout will replace the Frankie Crossin-Chris Reeder six-rounder. The rest of the card will remain intact according to veteran ring promoter Connelly.

Overheard at a local pub as the snow was making vehicle travel hazardous, the so-called experts about all sports were discussing former WBC heavyweight champ Larry Holmes' place among the all-time greats. Each had their own choice of who would have beaten Holmes, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Rocky Marciano, Jack Sharkey, Ezzard Charles, Muhammad Ali, Joe Frazier and a couple of names we didn't recognize. That's one discussion you can't agree or disagree as not one of those mentioned will ever fight Holmes. One over-blown, out-of-shape gent started to shadow box in a corner, hollering, "In two weeks I can be in shape to beat Holmes." Snow and suds do funny things to a person's brain.

Former world light heavyweight champion Melio Bettina was known as a natural fighter. The south-paw was born in Bridgeport, Conn., but fought out of Beacon, N.Y., where he continues to reside. Melio was managed by James V. Grippo. When he hung 'em up, his diary read, 99 bouts, 82 won, 13 lost, three draws and one no contest. One thing the record books don't tell you — Melio never fought a dull fight.

World famous trainer of fighters Ray Arcel and a former crowd-pleasing winner of five professional boxing titles, Emil Griffith, will be the recipient of the second annual Golden Gloves "Front Page" Award on March 23 in Madison Square Garden. The 80-year-old Arcel guided 19 pro champions and hundreds of near-champions during his long career and was the 1946 Golden Glove boxing coach. Griffith was the 1958 Golden Glove 147-pound, open-class titleholder. He had a total of 112 bouts, winning 85, losing 24, fought two draws and one no contest in a 20-year career. Emil fought 28 times in Madison Square Garden. Griffith now devotes his time training future champions.

When Juan La Porte and Wilfredo Gomez collide for the war in a San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 31, it will be a clash of two close friends. After a recent press conference to hype the scrap, they were seen dining together. When the two gladiators step into the ring that buddy-buddy stuff will go bye-bye.

We agree with the many fight fans for complaining about the problem and confusion of having two recognized boxing champions in almost every weight division, WBA-WBC, without pushing another on us, IBF, to broaden the confusion.

Roger Mayweather was raved about possessing derring-do and being able whack, but it didn't take New Jersey's Rocky Lockridge long (less than one round) to show up Mayweather's glass jaw.

Sad to learn of an old friend and correspondent Art Curley taking the "long count." Art was considered one of the best cutmen in boxing. Among the many popular fighters he has worked with in the corner included Vito Antuofermo, Roberto Duran, Aaron Pryor and Gerry Conley.

After world middleweight king Marvelous Marvin Hagler disposes of Juan Roldan in a title workout at the Riviera in Las Vegas, March 30, it'll be Mustafa Hamsho in a return match sometime in June.

Veteran boxing promoter Bobby Connelly of Connelly Promotions, Inc., is scheduling a show for South Philadelphia to be presented at J & A Caterers today. Publicist Sy Roseman informs the press that Connelly has arranged a double bout of eight-rounders and five other preliminary bouts. The duo main bouts will feature undefeated heavyweight Mike Garrahan of Brooklyn, N.Y., vs. Dr. Love (Vernon Coates) of Mt. Airy, Pa., and light heavyweight Marvin Mack vs. James (Chuckie) Stills, both of Philadelphia. In the six-rounders, Frankie Crossin of Ballmawr, N.J., vs. Chris Reeder of Chester, Pa., will clash in a cruiserweight bout and junior middleweight Anibal Perez of Camden, N.J., vs. Brian Davis of Brooklyn, N.Y. Three four-rounders will be added.

Junior middleweight Mario Maldonado of Vineland, N.J., was upset by Francisco De Jesus of Brazil by a 10-round split decision at The Tropicana in Atlantic City, Tuesday. Maldonado now has a 24-1-1 with 13 KOs. De Jesus upped his record to 18-0 with seven knockouts. The judges scored the fight as follows, Zack Clayton saw it 7-3 and Al De Vito had it 5-4 for De Jesus. Ronnie Burns favored Maldonado by 5-1.

Former WBA light heavyweight champion Mike Rossman of Turnersville, N.J., was scheduled to fight Roddy Mac Donald of Canada last Monday in Atlantic City, however, he pulled out of the bout four days before claiming he was "mentally unprepared." (How does that grab ya?)

Former outstanding Golden Glover William D. O'Neill, now a newspaper boxing columnist, has been elected president of the only recognized World Boxing Hall of Fame. Bobby Seamon was re-elected treasurer and Norma Josey was appointed secretary. Norma is a licensed second, sometimes called "cornerperson" in the state of California. The president is elected for a one-year term.

There is a 19-year-old welterweight scrapper from Allentown, Pa., Doug Davis, who has demonstrated dynamic punching power and ring savvy in just two pro fights. Davis put the sleeper to both Charles Booker and Steve Mack in the first round at Philadelphia's Golden Eagle Arena. He is signed and ready to go in his third start, March 20 at Atlantic City's Tropicana Hotel-Casino. Davis had a 22-3 diary in the amateur ranks. Doug won several Pennsylvania District and Regional Golden Glove titles before turning pro in May of 1983 under the guidance of ex-world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier. Frazier introduced Davis to Joe Verne, who has promotional rights to all fighters under the wing of Frazier. Davis has signed to give Verne promotional right for all his fights. Publicist Sy Roseman handles the public relations duties for Verne.

Promoter Murad Muhammad held a news conference at Victor's Cafe in New York City on Thursday to officially announce the signing of WBC featherweight champion Juan La Porte and Wilfredo Gomez to throw leather at Hiram Bitholm Stadium, San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 31. The fight has all the makings of a "bottle royal" and could be the best fight of the year. These pugs can bang! Gomez has a 41-1-1 record, all by knockouts. La Porte sports a 24-4-4 with 13 KOs. Murad said he has guaranteed La Porte $525,000 and Gomez $175,000. What promises to be a "war" will only be viewed in the U.S. on closed circuit.

Belleville Suburban League Squad Captures the League Championship

By Michael Lamberti

Rocco Colucci remembers what an emotional moment it was when he Belleville Suburban basketball team won the championship of the Suburban League. "It was hoping I could feel the same four years from now," Colucci said. "It was a great feeling."

The seventh and eighth grade Bucs gave the township a big reward for its support by defeating Millburn, 41-37 in the championship game of the Suburban League, capping a tremendous season with 17 wins and just one setback.

"As the season progressed," said Colucci, "I think the kids realized that I was there to help them. The week before the championship game, we had a great week of practice. Everything came together and we played a super game in the championship."

In the championship game, the Bucs led, 14-10 at halftime. "Both teams were a little tentative in the first half," said Colucci. "We weren't pressing correctly in that first half. We made some adjustments and in the second half we really took off."

The Bucs started to open things up in the second half, taking as much as a 14-point lead with four minutes left in the game. "It could have been bigger down the stretch," Colucci said, "but we missed 10 foul shots, seven on the front end of the one in one. It gave them a chance to get back into the game and when you're playing someone the caliber of Millburn, that could be trouble."

The Bucs employed a box and one defense, along with a triangle and two and did a good job in holding Millburn's big gun to four points. Jay Marchese deserves a great deal of credit there, playing a solid defensive game.

To advance to the finals, Belleville had to rally from a nine-point deficit to West Caldwell, 59-50 in West Caldwell. In that semifinal game, the Bucs started off slowly, trailed by nine in the second quarter, but rallied to cut the gap to two points, 27-25 at halftime. "The kids really came out and played a strong defensive game in the second half," Colucci said. "Also, the key to the game was our foul shooting. We hit 19 of 25 foul shots for the game and that gave us the game."

Leon Puentes led the way against West Caldwell with 25 points, Ted Sochaski had 16 for the Bucs.

The players who comprised this solid unit for Belleville are athletes you should hear a great deal about in the next four years. The starting team was Ted Sochaski, Chris Chiaramonte and Leon Puentes at forwards while Jay Marchese and George Speer played at guard.

Sochaski led the team with 15 ppg and nine rebounds a contest. "He was our most consistent scorer," said Colucci. "In the championship game, Ted only had two points at halftime, but in the second half, he really came around and finished the game with 16 points." Sochaski, like the other starters, is an eighth grader and will be playing at Belleville High next winter.

Marchese averaged 10 ppg and dished out five assists per contest. He, along with Speer, were the defensive wizards of the team. "Jay showed a lot of maturity," said Colucci. "He gave up his offensive game in the Millburn final so that he could play solid defense in stopping their big guy."

Chiaramonte played his best ball in the playoffs, scoring 11 ppg and pulling down 10 rebounds. "He came around in the second half of the season and it carried over to the playoffs," said the coach. "He's a tough kid and should be a good varsity player."

Speer, a good ball handler, averaged six points a game and turned in a solid defensive effort all season long. Speer missed the championship game, but he gave the Bucs some excellent play during the course of the season.

Puentes averaged 13 ppg and dished out "an easy" eight assists per contest, according to Colucci. "He did so many things well. He, too, has an excellent varsity career coming up."

Kevin Marion, who filled in for Speer in the championship game, was the team's sixth man. Marion, a seventh grader, will be back for more suburban play next winter. Also returning next year will be Vito D'Alessio, Anthony Rodriguez, Steve Tice, Ray Zamlot, Bill Dinnerstein, Frank Citarella, and Dominick Straface. Eighth graders Kevin Rogers, John Groome and John Fortunato will be playing freshman basketball next season. The score keeper and statistician was Chris Cantarella.

"We had an excellent following all season long," said Colucci. "I have to thank Mayor Marotti and Dennis Buckley for all the hard work and dedication they gave us. If it wasn't for the Mayor, there would not have been a team. As for Dennis, he worked many hours to make this season a success. I can't say enough about them. The championship is something they worked for also."

As Colucci said at the outset of this story, maybe, four years from now, he can watch these same athletes win another championship. Varsity coach Joe Papasidero, who also put in a great deal of time with the youngsters, wouldn't mind that one bit.

NLT's 'Father's Day' Production Proves to Be 'The Right Stuff'

By Mike Olohan
The play now running through March 24 at Nutley Little Theater could more precisely be called "Terms of Unendearment." But what it's called is "Father's Day" and it enjoyed a most successful opening March 9 in the NLT Barn on Erie Place.
Directed by Heath C.A.

Stanwhick of Montclair, it's a play that first shows us how three women are coming to terms with their divorces; how they handle the social pressure that makes them feel guilty and incomplete for being divorced, how they secretly blame themselves for their divorces; and how they express their conflicting feelings when they spend Father's Day with their ex-spouses.

It's also a play that shows how their three ex-husbands go about handling the emotionally-charged realities of divorce such as child-custody battles, re-marriage, dating and trying to remain friends with their ex-wives. Act One focuses entirely on the three women, Lee Guest-Moore is riveting in her energetic portrayal of Louise, a sharp-tongued, cynical divorcee whose caustic humor causes her targets to do a slow burn. Her comments turn conversations into verbal sparring matches, especially with Marian (played brilliantly by Sally Fowler). Marian is a pretentiously intellectual divorcee who has worked at and succeeded in remaining good friends with her "ex."

After one particularly off-color exchange, Marian sanctimoniously remarks to Louise: "My father always said that 'profanity is the recourse of lesser minds.'"

The blunt verbal fireworks between these two act as a perfect counterpoint to the demure, soft-spoken Estelle (played in an exquisite low-key manner by Gail Rog White). Estelle, an orphan, is the most diplomatic and idealistic of the three.

Talking among themselves, these women share all secrets: amusing details about their sex lives (occasionally shocking); why they think their marriages worked and didn't work; their warm and cold feelings toward each other; and continual self-recriminations and self-examinations of their lives.

In Act Two, their ex-husbands are invited over Estelle's apartment for a Father's Day get-together. A few of the emotional undercurrents that disrupt the superficial social chatter include the imminent remarriage of Harold (played with refreshing naivete by Sheldon Stone); Tom's revelation that he's sterile and yet still has a son by Louise; Louise's self-consuming fear of rejection by her son; and Richard's casual admission of his bisexuality.

Tom is played by Frank McCormick, who adds a sly, elf-like persona to his role. His even-handed handling of Louise's passionate tirades and verbal snipes serves as a much-needed buffer for her overly aggressive personality. McCormick underplays his role perfectly.

The suave, self-assured Richard is played to the hilt by Art Turnbull, who brings the precise degree of self-assured cockiness to the role. Sheldon Stone hits his portrayal of a man unable to deal with his omnipresent need for love and family direct and dead center. Stone accurately behaves like a man totally out of touch with his true feelings — a masterful performance.

The production continues this tomorrow night, this Saturday and Sunday and March 23 and 24 at the Nutley Little Theater Barn on Erie Place. Show time for Friday and Saturday performances is 8 p.m., while the matinee this Sunday begins at 3 p.m. Tickets are available this weekend, but NLT reports that seats are selling out fast. Call 667-0374 for ticket information. The Little Theater Barn is located off Brookfield Avenue, adjacent to Yantacaw School.

Play reviewer Mike Olohan is a former staff writer and reporter for the Nutley Sun and Belleville Times.

Mary V. Senatore Succumbs at 60

Mrs. Senatore, 60, told the Times last March that she would not seek re-election in May of 1983 in order to "re-direct" her priorities in life. "After giving up 16 years of my life," said she in the March interview, "I have decided that I have had enough. I need more time to spend with my family and especially my grandson. This is a very difficult decision for me to make. I have given a lot to this community and I am proud to have had the chance to serve."

Soon after her decision not to seek a fifth term on the board, Senatore was appointed by Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro as director of the Essex County Public Works Department. She also served for the past 13 years as secretary of the county's Planning Board.

"I had the pleasure of knowing Mary in a variety of ways," said Cesar Romano, a former School Board trustee and Mrs. Senatore's campaign manager during her unsuccessful attempt for a state Assembly seat in 1981. "She was a woman in a man's world without women's liberation, before women's liberation and she was a person who did not need women's liberation. She was always a scrapper, but she was also always a lady, and a lady first."

"She was a woman, a mother, a grandmother, a legislator, a friend and a politician," he continued, "and this town will sorely miss her. She was a girl who gave her word and it was a bond you could take to the bank. She was a giver not a taker. Mary Senatore did a lot for this community and asked very little in return. I hope that Belleville never forgets her."

During her political career Mrs. Senatore was honored with many charitable and civic awards including the Amida Award in 1967 as the most outstanding woman in government in the Tri-State area. In 1983 she was honored by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce as the community's outstanding citizen.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Rosemary Ciccone; a sister, Mrs. Helen Barra; two brothers, Angelo and Frank Vuono and a grandson.

Religious Viewpoint

Have You Voted Lately?

By Rev. Robert Paul

Last Sunday you voted to close your church; not intentionally, nor maliciously perhaps, but carelessly, thoughtlessly, lazily, indifferently, you voted! You voted to close the doors that its witness and its testimony might be stopped. You voted to close the open Bible on the pulpit — the Bible that has been given us by years of struggle and by the blood of martyrs who died that we might have it to read.

You voted for your minister to stop preaching the glorious truths of the gospel of Jesus Christ. You voted that children of the Sunday School no longer be taught the stories of the Bible and no longer lift their tiny voices in singing "Jesus Loves Me, This I Know." You voted for the voice of the choir and the congregation to be stilled, that they no longer sing in united praise.

You voted for every missionary of the church to be called home, every native worker supported by the church to stop preaching, every hospital, every school and dispensary on its foreign missionary fields to close. You voted that its Christian colleges and Seminaries close their doors and no longer bother to retain its youth for Christian service.

You voted for every home missionary project to be abandoned, every influence for good and right and for the truth in your community to be curtailed and finally stopped. You voted for darkness and superstition, for the degrading influence of sin, for the blight of ignorance and the curse of selfish greed once again to settle their load upon the peoples of the world, creating another "Dark Ages." You wouldn't live in a community where there was no church, but you voted not to have one.

You say, "How did I vote to close the church and all its activities?" The answer is simple: By staying away from your church and its services, by spending more money on things that are not bread, by cheating the Lord out of His tithe, by loving the world and its pleasures more than God. Oh yes, you could have been more faithful and gone to church, but 101 excuses got the best of you, so you stayed home and voted to close your church!

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord." (Psalm 122:1) Come and hear God's message, "The just shall live by faith." (Romans 1:17.)

School Vandalism Cost Increasing This Year

Last month a baseball bat was thrown down a vent pipe from the roof of School 3 causing a back-up in the sanitary sewer line. The floor had to be ripped up and the waste line replaced.

Other serious acts of vandalism which have taken place this year occurred at School 4 and the School Board complex on Cortlandt Street, where buses were vandalized repeatedly.

"It is sad to see the damage which is being done to our school buildings," said Board of Education President Grace Purdue. "The damage is so expensive that it is going to make a hole in the taxpayer's pocket. I am almost sure that these acts of vandalism are being conducted by a small handful of children in the community, but something like this gives the whole township a black eye. I do know that the School Board will have to take some action soon if this continues. At the present moment though, I am not sure just what the answer is. I wish I did."

At a recent meeting of the School Board, trustees suggested ideas to control the vandalism problem, and while no conclusion has been made, they did agree that the public — and more importantly the taxpayers — should be informed about the "seriousness of the problem at hand."

"I believe that we should tell the people that this is costing them money and if the taxpayers are concerned, they will be able to help us," said trustee Gabe Nazzola. "We must get the residents of this community involved. If they witness an act of vandalism then they should report it."

Nardiello also agreed with the idea of informing the public.

"Vandalism is a problem which is difficult to get a handle on and occurs throughout the community, but we must take steps to put an end to it," said Nardiello. "We must show parents what is going on and what the money that is spent on correcting vandalism damage could go to. I am appealing to them to take a strong interest in their schools and community. We need their help to combat this problem."

"The contacts that fit your budget may not fit your eyes."

These days you can buy just about anything you want to for contact lenses. And most places can have you in and out in no time.
At Pearle, we're not on an assembly line. We won't stamp out your contacts and take your money while you take a chance.
Our doctor of optometry will make sure your contacts are right before you walk out our doors. And we'll provide follow-up service until you're completely comfortable with them. When it comes to your eyesight, can you really afford anything less?

Girls Finish Season With 22-7 Record

job on (Dana) Williams, holding her to four points, but they are so well balanced, they can beat you in so many ways."

The Lady Cardinals, paced by Michelle Lewis and Jennifer Di Maggio, never trailed. The closest Belleville got was 6-5 midway through the first quarter before Plainfield scored the last three points of the first and the first six points of the second to open a 15-5 lead. The Plainfield defense managed to hold Apicella to one point after the first quarter and seven at halftime. The Cardinals, using a tenacious defense and good scoring balance, held a commanding 25-11 lead at intermission.

At the outset of the third quarter, Belleville made its most serious run of the contest. After exchanging field goals, Belleville tallied the next six points, two coming on an Apicella jump shot, two on Jenny's pair of foul shots and a layup by De Aquino. Suddenly, it was 27-19 and people were beginning to have hope. It didn't last long. Plainfield, a true champion, roared back with the next six points, four by Jones and two from Lewis, to extend the lead back to 33-19. They were never headed after that.

Entering the fourth quarter, Belleville trailed, 39-21 and the crowd knew that only one quarter was left for the team that had given Belleville so much joy and excitement the last four months. The girls did cut the gap to 12 points, but that was with seconds left in the game and didn't affect Plainfield's victory party. With 15 seconds left, Apicella (25 points on the night) was lifted from the game and received a thunderous standing ovation. She was also approached by the Plainfield girls who congratulated her on a fine evening.

"We think this is our year," said Jenny Di Maggio, Plainfield's senior forward who plays AAU basketball for Fuccello. "We've been together for four years now and we're hoping to win it all this season."

She'll get no argument from the Belleville contingent on their chances this week in the state semis and later, the finals. For Belleville, it's over, but the girls gave a very good account of themselves against perhaps the best team in the state.

"In the locker room after the game," said Fuccello, "the girls were asking me to schedule another game. They didn't want the season to end. It was a great season, what more can I say."

With that, the coach and her players walked to the bus for the last time.

NOTES: For her career, Jenny scored 3,105 points. For the season, she tallied 957. Had it not been for Lisa Forte, Apicella would probably have scored 1,000 for the season. A complete look at the statistics in next week's wrap up. Brooks scored nine in the Plainfield game. De Aquino, six and Sheri Phelps, two. Apicella led all scorers with 25. Her final two points came on two foul shots.

BHs Spring Sports Around the Corner

straight Essex County championships and last season, won the NNJIL Essex-Passaic championship. This year, the girls will face rugged competition from Ridgewood, defending state champions and a squad returning a solid nucleus from last year's banner season.

The track team is also looking to win a few meets this spring under second year coach, John Tosato. Tosato has a young team, led by Bob Hutchinson, Bill Huamani, Patty Bliss and an excellent weight team, led by its coach, Rich Ruffalo. The harriers should be tough in the middle to long distance events and should hold their own in the weight department. Their one glaring weakness could be at the sprinting events, but who knows, perhaps someone will come out and make a strong impact for the Bucs.

The golf team, led by the incomparable Rocco Colucci should be a tough team once more. Colucci is in his fourth year at the varsity helm and has led his squads to three impressive outings from 1981 to 1983. The coach admits that this year's team is young and will need work, but nevertheless, his team will be plugging away at a difficult schedule.

Finally, the tennis team, under Lenny D'Armiento, made some good strides last spring and return a good team this year. Led by David Boyd, the first singles player, the Bucs will face a rugged schedule, with perennial powers Ridgewood and Teaneck leading the way. The tennis team is still looking for its first winning campaign in school history and will be hard pressed against some stiff competition this spring.

All in all, there are questions to be answered this spring at Belleville High School in the varsity sports. The Times will begin coverage of the spring sports in next week's edition.

Public Library Sponsoring Its Annual Book Contest

For the fifth year, the Belleville Public Library will be sponsoring its National Library Week Picture Book Contest.

The contest is open to kindergarten-grade six, junior high school students, senior high school students, and adults. First, second and honorable mention prizes will also be awarded for the best illustrated books at a special awards program, Thursday, April 12, at 3:30 p.m., when prizes will be awarded.

The book that is submitted may be fiction or non-fiction, should be illustrated with original drawings, or pictures from magazines, or photographs, and should be made from construction paper, oaktag, or any other substantial material. It must be original and not copied from another author.

All entries must be brought to the library by Saturday, March 24, at 5 p.m. Judging will be done on the basis of creativity, proper English, and artistry. Judges for the contest are Adrea Cohen, assistant library director; Cindy La Rue, reference and young peoples librarian; Fred Lewis, technical services librarian; David Bryant, library director; and Lorraine Kimmel, senior library assistant.

Directions for the contest are available at the library. For further information, call Adrea Cohen, contest coordinator at 759-9200.

Two Armed Gunmen Rob Liquor Store

By Steve Frank

At approximately 6 p.m. last Tuesday, two young males strolled into Wilner's Liquor Store, 199 Washington Ave., and announced "This is a hold up," as one of the individuals flashed a hand-gun.

After forcing the manager to open the cash register, he was shoved into a storage refrigerator. A lone customer in the store at the time was commanded to lay face down on the floor and not to move. After cleaning out the register of an undisclosed amount of money, they fled the scene.

A part-time employee entered shortly after the incident and released the manager and the police were notified.

Police Officer C. Hood was first on the scene. Lt. Quinn, patrolmen Simonetti, Fraone, Sooy and MacDonald also responded.

Deputy Chief Frank Haigh said that descriptions of the hold up duo were obtained and the policemen took off in different directions to comb the town for the perpetrators. North Arlington and Kearny Police were notified that suspects may have headed in that direction.

Lt. Quinn soon notified he apprehended one of the individuals answering the description given. Lt. Quinn made the catch at Rutgers and Valley streets. The suspect is a 16-year-old Newark male.

Subject was released to Sgt. Adelhelm and Det. La Vista of the Juvenile Division. The search continues for the other suspect.
