Local Churches Preparing For Easter Sunday Services

As Holy Week draws to its climax, Christians today begin observances of the events central to their faith, the Last Supper, Crucifixion, and Resurrection of Legue Christ Crucifixion, and Resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Holy (Maundy) Thursday recalls the last day Christ spent among his apostles and the solemn last meal they shared together before his arrest by the authorities of Jerusalem.
Good Friday marks the day of Christ's death on the cross.
Condemned after a mock trial on charges of treason, Jesus was seourged and then forced to carry his cross to the execution site, a hill called Golgotha, where he was crucified among common criminals.

Sorrow turns to joy on Easter Sunday, the day Christians believe Christ rose from the dead and triumphed over death forever, a promise extended to all humanity.

Church services commemorating these three days are among the most profound of Christianty. Many churches today hold Tenebrae services of darkness and special suppers to symbolize the Last Supper on Holy Thursday.

Hours of penance and quiet meditation on the last moments in Christ's life are central to most Good Friday services.

Represents 24-Point Tax Hike

Town Fathers Approve $14.5 Million Budget

By Linda Telesco

After a surprisingly subdued hearing, Commissioners voted unanimously Monday to adopt a $14,591 659 budget for 1984, which represents a tax hike of some 24 points for residents.

The new spending plan is half a million oflars more than the $14 million 1983 budget and the $7,148,344 to be raised by taxation is up $1 million from last year's figure.

The new tax rate is $1.60 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Noting that Belleville has not seen taxes increased in the past two years, Mayor Michael Marotti explained to the audience gathered in commission chambers Monday night, that the increased reflected emergency appropriations made last year.

Belleville expended over $500,000.

Belleville expended over $500,000 for the clean-up of the toxic site at the former Research-Organic/Inorganic Company on the former Research-Organic/Inorganic Company on Main Street.

Although the state reimbursed the township for half of that, Marotti said the other $250,000 — which may also be covered by the state in the near future — remains.

Also, the Mayor noted that Beleville paid $357,000 in uncollected severage charges for the Universal Foods veast company which moved out of town last summer.

"When we're paid back for that, the money will go back into the budget to reduce next vear's taxes," promised Marotti to the crowd.

The Mayor told critics of the tax increase that no further cuts were possible in the spending plan. "All the departments are in under the 5 percent cap. There's no place else to reut," he said.

Municipal departments budgeted as follows: Public Safety, $4,955,870 | up from $4,711,793; Revenue and 1

Finance is $1,251,225 up from last vear's $1,211,220. Public Works budgeted $812,673, a rise from $678,307 in 1983; Public Affairs is $1,187,153 up from $1,097,010; and Parks and Public Property rose to $1,088,463 from $1,039,406 last vear.

$1,088,463 from $1,039,400 tast year.
Several citizens expressed annowance over paving higher taxes to finance a toxic accident attributed to the neglisence of a private firm.
Joseph Fornarotto of Union Avenue asked if future clean-up projects on the Main Avenue site were included in the 1984 budget.
Marotti replied that the Research Organic/Inorganic case would be placed in the state superfund for toxic clean ups and New Jersey would finance further expenses.

Fornarotto, a candidate for the fifth Commission seat in next month's election, commended Public Affairs Director Michel Pizzi for holding down salary costs by cutting the position of welfare director to a part-time job, and he urged other Commissioners to also seek ways to cut and hold down taxes.

Fornarotto sugested that departments with fewer expenses give more leway to those with more. To that, Public Works Commissioner Joe Grande said, "It thank two of my colleagues who came in under cap for permitting me to go over the limit." He noted his department spent $87,830 over and above last year's (Please see 'Town' on page 17.)

Board of Education Budget

Last week members of the Board of Commissioners and Board of Education sat down Board of Education sat down for what seems to be their annual School Board budget trimming session. To the delight of taxpayers the two parties came to a mutual agreement, as the trustees trimmed $145,000 from the capital outlay portion of their 1984-85 budget.

While the budget cutting will mean a savings of approximately three tax points to homeowners throughout the township, three area schools township, three area schools will do without necessary maintenance repairs which where scheduled to be done this year.

Elementary schools 3 and 8, along with the Middle School, were all scheduled to have major repairs done, but due to the cuts, will have to suffer. At School 3 a new heating system was to be installed, while waterproofing was to completed at School 8. Finally new doors where to be installed at the Middle School.

So while some good has come out of the budget trimming process — in the way of taxpayers saving money — there is also a major setback which has been placed on the school system. A system which has made great strides in recent years to provide the finest education to its children, at a reasonable cost to taxpayers.

Religious Viewpoint

Have You Made Up Your Mind About the Resurrection?

By Rev. Robert Paul

Resurrection — is it a pious hope, or must we conclude that death ends all? You owe it to yourself to find out. If you've never really thought about it, why not do so now? The Bible will help you discover whether anyone in the past ever rose from the dead. Don't dismiss the fact of the resurrection until you have carefully examined the facts.

Once convinced that resurrection is a fact, you owe it to yourself to find out what's going to happen to you when it does occur. What you will be after the resurrection depends on what you are after the resurrection depends on what you are before you die.

The basic difference between Christianity and other religions is that Jesus Christ came out of the grave and was seen alive on this earth for 40 days before He returned back to heaven. During those 40 days He told his followers that they must be born again. The cross brought crushing disappointment to the followers of Christ, but His bodily resurrection crowned the cross with the glory of salvation. A dead Christ could never change any life, but a living Christian can change all who humbly come to him in faith believing. (St. John 20:30, 31.)

"Christ has risen." St. Paul told the Greeks at humbly come to him in faith believing. (St. John 20:30, 31.)

"Christ has risen." St. Paul told the Greeks at Corinth. "He is with us today, because He lives. Many have seen Him; In fact, in one instance, over 500 people saw Him at one time." And then St. Paul adds something very significant: "The majority of these witnesses are still alive." (1st Corinthians 15.) They were undoubtedly scattered throughout the known world by then, but it is as if he were saying, "Go and ask them." It is possible for some to be mistaken, but not 500 people who saw the living Christ after His resurrection.

Those who objected to the resurrection would have had to interrogate those witnesses in order to shake or settle the historical authenticity of the resurrection. They stubbornly adhered to their predetermined philosophy that "such a thing is impossible."

Read it for yourself, the 20th chapter of St. John, and you, too, will be convinced that Christ came out of the grave and is alive today. Do as St. John 1:12 tells you, and you will make up your mind about the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, It is an historical fact that Christ is a reality. He changed my life by my trusting Him, and I am sure He can change yours if you will just now invite Him to come in. (Revelation 22:17.)

Rent Control Measures Hurt

To the editor:

Besides the dispute over the wording of a new vacancy decontrol measure, I hope the rent control commissioners realize they are hurting and pushing away the small homeowners. Have you seen the "for sale" signs popping up all over town?

The larger tenement of four or more units may be able to absorb the price increases in maintenance fees and "taxes" a lot easier than a three-unit owner. It seems every time government gets ina lot easier than a three-unit owner, it seems every time government gets involved with anything, things always seem to cost more. Rent control not only hurts the owners but also the renters, by people converting to office space, or storage space, or just building offices for a better return on their money, even though there are a large surplus of empty offices available. This is creating a shortage of apartments.

The commissioners sit behind their big bench-type table and pretend to be fair to all. But all too often they are very harsh and their methods rash. They seem to forget who has to worry about heating, utilities, enants, upkeep, vandalism, floods, back ups of sewage into basements and other things not covered by insurance. Just the mental anguish that coincides with being a homeowner responsible for housing his tenants and how the next bills are to be paid.

At rent control hardship appeals, they (the commissioners) ask for maintenance costs, wages for maintenance costs, wages for maintenance costs, wages for maintenance mechanics or contractors. Most of the smaller homeowners can't afford to have "their people" do it for them (their lawyers, accountants or handymen).

It's a big difference absorbing the cost of maintenance and taxes, etc., between small and large tenements even considering the percentage. The small guv is hurting because we are put under most of the same guidelines as the people in the 50 percent or higher tax bracket. It seems the more money you have, the more tax dodges you can get. If I knew about rent control in Beleville before purchasing my house, I would have passed up the deal. I know many other people feel the same way.

I hope the commissioners have enough "cents" to look into the enormous tax hike that is forthcoming before they amend this ordinance. This is going to hurt the smaller guy who is just getting along by the skin of his teeth. We have to show paid bills (tax bills, insurance, etc.) to show our losses before we are eligible to try for a hardship so we can break with the increase you hope you won't lose again next year.

What happens if we can't afford to pay the bills for the six-month or the 12-month period? Will the commission loan us the money or rent us a room or an apartment of their own? Cheap? I think not. It seems as if they think hisser!

an apartment of their own? Cheap? I think not. It seems as if they think biased.

With the unproportionate difficulties and the mental hardship is it fair to include three-family houses in rent control? If so, why not two-family houses, or even rented single-family houses. While we are at it why not try to tell the banks that you will allow them a maximum 10 percent maximum interest on mortgages and loans, or a business what to charge for a product. I know what they would tell you. But can you tell me the difference between their business and that of a homeowner renting out an apartment in his own house?

apartment in his own house?

The world is real, with fear, pain, bills and taxes, unless you're so "big" that your exempt from these.

Commissioners "please" put away your attitudes and past viewpoints, and open-mindedly look on the unfair structure that puts a hard burden on your homeowners that are trying to beautify our town. But we are being hammered down by your rulings which are causing unjust hardships. Remember it's a lot easier to make absurd rulings than it is for the homeowner to carry them out. Would you be willing to amend your ordinance to have our town accountant who is paid by your tax dollars to work up the annual statement for submittal to the commission. It would save money for the homeowners and in turn for the tenants.

Can you answer this? Where is your

Can you answer this? Where is your home not your castle besides in a socialistic country? The answer is in a town with rent control.

I hope this letter is read and is understood. Rent control has proven to be a hinderance more than a benefit. This is why many towns are starting a decontrol. The only good that I see in Belleville rent control is that it gives it's commissioners something to do a couple nights a month. ple nights a month.

There's Still Hope

To the editor:

If one were to believe what we are being fed through the newspapers from the BRDA (Belleville Redevelopment Agency), we would be tempted to get out of town. The picture it has painted of Washington Avenue is misleading and factless, to say the least.

The March 22, 1984 issue of The Belleville Times contained an article captioned "36 Vacant Buildings Located on Avenue." What avenue? Certainly, it is not Washington Avenue. And don't take my word for it, get in your car, tour the avenue, and see if you can find even six weant buildings. Who has been doing the counting for the BRDA?

Of the few "vacant" properties, they has been doing the counting for the BRDA?

Of the few "vacant" properties, they are just that — vacant — and for rent and not hopeless cases as the rhetoric from the BRDA has seemed to imply.

Yes, there are buildings that need attention, but you don't target an entire 56-acre area and drag in the federal and state governments to take care of them! If a building or property is in disrepair, dangerous, or unhealthy conditions exist, we already have the agencies available to handle these problems. We have a fire inspector, building inspector, and health inspector. They have the power to issue summonses for violations. Property owners who fail to respond to code violations would be subject to fines, penalties, and ultimately, condemnation, a power the town already has.

The BR DA has never mentioned the tremendous amount of renovation taking place on Washington Avenue, all at the expense of private individuals, in the last three years alone. Nor have they publicized facts from the Townsplan report that state 66 percent of all structures in the study area are in good or excellent condition, 29 percent in fair condition, and only 5 percent were considered in poor condition. Furthermore, when you figure the 5 percent of the 199 structures in the study area amounts to only 10 buildings and eight of them are in the southern portion of the avenue, you see how small the problem really is. There would be more renovations if people did not face the uncertainties that this unnecessary agency creates.

As far as its pipe dreams of eight-and 10-story high-rises creating more ratables — BUNK — all they would create would be a need for a larger fire and police department, more traffic, more road maintenance and more commercialization of our once tranquil and residential town.

The BRDA mad April 19 at the Public Affairs Building on Washington Avenue at Joralemon Street. On May 3 a presentation will be made to the Planning Board at Town Hall.

Please come to the meeting and join us in presenting sensible alternative proposals. Anyone wishing to help or needing additional information, please call. 7.59-4111.

More Comments on Welfare Post

To the editor:

To the editor:

To comment on the article of April 5, 1984, regarding the welfare department, it is imperative that I explain my feelings to you, Commissioner Michael Pizzi stated, "that employees of the welfare department were uncooperative and Mrs. Carol Russo was unable to learn the job of welfare director as one employee was out sick indefinitely." How then Commissioner Pizzi, could you be so concerned with the "so called" uncooperative employees, when you paid your former director of welfare seven months' sick time pay without any concern whatsoever? Wouldn't you say that person was uncooperative, tool Why then was this not questioned by you? Especially, when the former director of welfare was living out of town for that period which she got paid. Of-course you weren't concerned? Why should you be? Mr. Michael Ippolito, a 10-year employee ran your welfare department with another 10-year employee without any problems. I guess that is why no one looked into that situation. Even though the welfare department was left without any direction by the welfare direction. Well it's obvious Mr. Ippolito did a superb job without any cooperation from the former director of welfare. How do you explain that?

A Prayer Will Never Hurt Anyone

To the editor:

The Supreme Court, with a slim majority decision, held that public prayer in public schools is unconstitutional. The majority of the people of our nation disapprove that decision, but that being now the law of the land, we have to abide by it.

However, not all has been lost: Alabama recently passed a law that was to "return voluntary prayer to the public schools" by permitting a "minute of silence" at the opening of each school day, but the 11th Circuit Court ruled that law unconstitutional. The Reagan administration promptly appealed to the Supreme Court to hear the case. I feel confident that this time the High Court will approve one minute of silence because the students would be free to pray as and if they wish, in that minute, according to their own religion or upbringing.

The motto "In God We Trust" was approved to appear on coins by Congress in 1864. It was eventually introduced to all coins and it has been in continuous use. In 1955 Congress approved a law that "In God We Trust" shall appear on all the United States paper currency and, finally, in 1856 Congress approved that "In God We Trust" was declared to be "the official motto of the United States."

Over 200 million Americans have in motto of the United States."

Over 200 million Americans have in their possession, use and exchange billions of coins and paper money each day with the "In God We Trust" engraved or printed thereon. The religious sentiment existing in the hearts and minds of the millions of immigrants, beginning with Columbus, who, as soon as he landed at San Salvador, kneeled and thanked God, to the war of Independence and the Civil War continues to exist in this country.

Each session in the Conreses and in the Senate is opened with a prayer. For centuries the oaths on the Bible in our courts end with the words "So Help Me God." So why, in the name of God, should we object to a one-minute prayer in the schools. The Supreme Court should decide affirmatively this time because the greatest majority of the people in this country would like a prayer in the schools. A prayer never hurt anyone.

Grossman Says Thanks

To the editor:
Since I am now an elected official of the Township of Belleville, I want to offer my gratitude and extend my appreciation to our people for having placed their confidence in me.
I shall serve the public with integrity, high ideals and dignity, My dedication to the field of education will be unswerving. Foremost in my efforts will be the children of our school system as it has always been. I am totally familiar with the Belleville school system from the academic, the business of the Board of Education to the job description of every employee.

Golden Comments

By James Golden

The final whistle hadn't been blown in the School Board election contest before the predicted hotly contested May 8 municipal election, to fill the unexpired public safety post vacated by Matthew Pica, got under way in a new hizarre style more made from index bizarre style more melodramatic than any before

Our memory goes back to the early 1920s' Belleville election which brought one of this town's best mayors to office when William H. Williams introduced the novel idea of having campaign leaflets dropped from the sky from an airplane, which we kids chased all over town to sell for a pit. which we kids chased all over town to sell for a pit-tance to anxious residents curious to learn the significance of this strange novelty...a practice no longer permitted by law.

With the passing of time political campaigning became more sophisticated with improvement of media communications and more subtle types of the "come on" to attract the voters' attention and garner their votes.

Not to be outdone, this May 8 special election in town has come up with an old practice in a new town has come up with an old practice in a new improved form to adapt its slinking methods to the arena of politics, in much the same manner as might be employed by a jealous suitor or husband having agents spying, with cameras, upon his lady or wife in anticipation of some secret tryst or assignation...even to the extent of "snapping" pictures of gentlemen entering the staid corridors of town hall, as if they were young swains setting up a rendezvous in some drab book laden, paper strewn town hall office which indeed would not be a very romantic setting. be a very romantic setting.

It, indeed, boggles the mind of rational people how such distorted, perverse suspicions can be conjured up in the minds of supposedly responsible individuals...Belleville, like many communities, has suffered more than enough "gutter type" politics. Let's keep our politics at the dignity level.

Gentlemen of character and dignity defend the honor of women in varied ways, they look with askance upon the dastardly deeds of devious characters who would with innuendo and un-founded suggestive inferences of random camera pictures of citizens conducting legitimate business in town hall, attempt to project a false sinister con-notation that is without foundation and unwar-

Goodness knows that, at times, hanky-panky may go on at town hall in politics, but to bring in the cameras to maliciously attempt to produce a phantasmagorian scenario episode designed to provoke a chimerical plot is fantastically absurd.

Commission candidate Vinnie Strumolo, shed-Commission candidate Vinnie Strumolo, shedding his passivity of the past, reverberated aggressively in his packed house kickoff party when he won the resounding applause and support of his legion of followers when he apologized for his lackluster 1983 campaign which caused his defeat at the polls and pledged that this was a different "ball game" that would find him a militant campaigner determined to win back his seat on the commission board on which he had served 19 years.

Proclaiming that he was seeking the Public Safety post, that there is no plot to return him to his old Public Affairs choice, and that we have one of the best police and fire departments in the country and that he will strive to make it better to protect the safety of our citizens. He ridiculed those who charged he spent too much time in Florida, saying like most he spends six weeks' vacation there, not unlike most people who take a tion there, not unlike most people who take a vacation, and that he leaves his department in good hands while calling everyday to give orders on running his department

The response of the large gathering to his new fighting style pleased his large family and friends while assuring that Vinnie Strumolo will be a hard man to beat

Where Are The Issues?

The special commission election is a little more than two weeks away, and you say you still have no idea who you are going to vote for? Well and you say you still have no idea who you are going to vote for? Well you can get a chance to see all the candidates in action next Wednesday. April 25 during a debate sponsored by the Belleville Junior Woman's Club.

You don't need to talk to the township's watchdogs to find out that it has been a quiet election thus far, with all five candidates doing little in the way of campaigning and addressing few issues. But several candidates have told me that they will be "dropping bombs" during the next two weeks. So things could get a little exciting or a bit messy and ugly.

Word about town says that former commissioner Vincent Strumolo should have little trouble regaining the seat he lost last May when he finished sixth, but people like Ralph DiRuggerio, Sam Papa, Joe Fornarotto and Joe Dasaro think otherwise.

While Strumolo is running on his record. Dasaro has foundstrong sup-nort from the business sector of the community and DiRuggeric comes from a family which has been in-toked in the community for years and is getting his backing from everal School Board members. Meanwhile, Fornarotto is relying on the support which nathered his over ne support which gathered him over 000 votes for him last May, while apa should get a large portion of his otes from tenants, who he is expresenting so well.

Children of Divorce Need Special Concern

Dear CMHS:

I am a single mother and have one son, a 12 year old. He seemed to be handling the divorce (two years ago) pretty well, but this term his grades are going down, he disobers, stays out later than agreed, won't do chores, is cranky and seems secretive. Since I work, it makes me very tense not to be able to trust him about what he's doing after school, for instance. So I'm getting uptight, yelling at him and the situation is getting worse and worse. What can I do short of going to counseling to get us on track again?

Scared Moom

Dear Scared Mom:

Given your son's age, we know that he is entering adolescence, an age that is well known for its challeages to parents. Adolescence is so difficult because youngsters are unsure from moment to moment whether they are grown up (and don't need you anymore) or still your little baby (why aren't you there when they want you!) Flexibility is required, parents must learn to respond to needs in different ways. The parent needs to decide where he/she can give in to the youngster's "growing up" needs and when the youngster still needs more limits, guidance and protection. A good rule of thumb is — increasing freedom implies an increasing range of responsibility.

The relationship with his father is an especially important factor in the feelings of a boy who is entering adolescence. We don't know the quality of your ex-husband's relationship with his son. Try to talk things over with your ex-husband and develop a consistent and coordinated plan for managing your son. Divorces are difficult for kids, it's true, but the pain can be minimised if parents are able to cooperate around children's needs.

If things have been going relatively well up to now, there is a real

If things have been going relatively well up to now, there is a real possibility you can work these things through with his father's cooperation. If you feel things aren't improving, consultation with someone experienced in working with parents and adolescents would

The Belleville Council was started on Jam. 1, 1904 when the eagerly sought charter was granted. The kinghts were the type of citizens that helped make Belleville the proud township that it is today. Their occupations were varied and reflected the cross-sections of the community. They were hakers, butchers, clerks, clergymen, masons, carpenters, teachers, doctors, lawyers, machinists, mechanics, insurance men, realitors and laborers. The first meeting was held in St. Peter's old school. It was decided to have the first social of the council which was held on the property of a member. Edward J, Butler.

It was known as Butler's Grove and located on the property of a member, Edward J, Butler.

Township Leaders Gather For DiRuggiero's Support

Community leaders throughout Belleville joined Ralph J. DiRuggiero as he formally launched his campaign for a vacant seat on the Board of Commissioners during a rally at the Amvets Hall, earlier this month.

Speaking in favor of DiRuggiero's candidacy and pledging their support in the May 8 election were: Commissioner Joseph F. McGreevy, former Commissioner Matthew Pica, Belleville Democratic Chairman Chester Properi, Board of Education members Phil Linfante and John DiStasi, and former Board of Education members Thomas Zampino and Thomas Spillane.

Grace Purdue, president of the Board of Education, expressed her support of DiRuggiero's candidacy in a letter read aloud to an estimated 300 friends and well-wishers. Beleville attorney Jode Pisano served as master of ceremonies.

DiRuggiero, a member of the township's Zoning Board and a former member of the Rent Leveling Board, thanked his many supporters and pledged to conduct a "fair and gentlemanly campaign based on the issues." He also stressed his family's roots in Belleville and the DiRuggiero's longtime interest in civic affairs and commitment to community service.

"I believe I offer the voters an independent voice which will speak only for the interests of Belleville," said DiRuggiero. "If elected I intend to manage the affairs of our town with only the well-being of Belleville in mind."

DiRuggiero, a graduate of the University of Scranton and presently a candidate for a master's degree in Public Administration at the City University of New York, emphasized his experience in govern-"I believe I offer the voters an in-

"I believe I can use my training and experience in government opera-Jions to give the people of Belleville professionally managed, efficient and cost-effective government," said DiRuggiero. "My family and I have been well-served by this community and now I'd like to put my training and experience to work to give something back to the township of Belleville."

DiRuggiero said that in the coming weeks he would be outlining his recitive as the said of the professional of the pr second. But Rever came back to strike out Laura Caruso, ending both the threat and the game.

In spite of the defeat, coach Carl Corino thinks the game will prove beneficial to his team in the long run. "If we expect to make a run at Ridgewood in the conference, or to repeat in the counties, or make a run for a sectional title, those are the kinds of games that we're going to be in — one-run ball games with strong pitching. The defense handled a couple of tough situations well, and that"ll be key going down the line." Against Paramus, the Bucs started off early with Donna Brooks' three-run home run and never looked back on their way to a 9-3 victory, with DeAquino taking the win in relief of Caruso. Also homering was Buono, and that solo four-bagger provided the senior catcher with her 100th career hit. Caruso and Johansen each went two-for-four in the contest.

the contest.

The story of Belleville's 13-2 win over Bloomfield was Bengal pitcher Lori Da Roja's 15 walks in four innings. Although the entire team only put together five hits, Buono and Cheri Tillman each drove in four runs.

One problem that is dogging the Buccanettes is injured players. With Johansen just recovered from a sore arm, three more Buccanettes fell victim to injuries. First, Marion suffered a sprained shoulder again for over a week, Buono was hit on the right hand with a foul tip, and possibly strained a muscle in her neck. Less of a major concern is Brooks' sprained ankle, which should have been fully healed for this afternoon's game at Bergenfield.

The Bues, who are 3-2, were at the Passaic County golf course to battle Paterson Eastside last Tuesday. This progression of the paternal o Jimmy Apple, a senior, is leading the way, as expected. Apple, is averaging a 42 over nine holes. "Jimmy is not happy with his performance so far," said Collucci. "He has been having trouble with his driving, but it will improve as the season progresses. I'm sure he'll be in the 30s as the year goes on."

Frank Simone is averaging a 46 over nine holes, a figure that he hopes to improve on as the season continues. Brian De Furia is showing promise in the early going and Collucci is very impressed with the play of freshman Frank Greco and Joe Tower.

the finest football players in the state and the selection of Murphy to such a game speaks very highly of his talents.

Last season, Grant was selected to the game and in 1981, John Mellilo appeared in the contest. A lot of work goes into such a football game and one of the biggest features of the game is the program that the New Jersey Interscholastic Coached. Association, Inc. put together for the game. The program is chock full of add about the various players in the game. The sponsors for an ad could be parents.

It was a true Belleville-Nutley race.

During the fall season, football fans flocked to Municipal Stadium to see the Buccaneer football team continue its winning tradition. The 1983 Bucs put together a 6-3 record this fall, losing to state powers Passaic and Montclair and falling to a surprising Ridgewood squad. Belleville also came through with some strong showings, whipping Nutley, Bloomfield, Teaneck, Hackensack, Kearny and St. Joseph's.

The catalyst to this success wore number 45 for the Blue and fold and plaved running back on offense and defensive end. Needless to say, the man's name was Michael Murphy and by season's end, Murph had achieved a second straight 1,000-yard rushing season, had won a county scoring title and was highly coveted by a number of Division I colleges for next fall.

After careful deliberation, Murph decided on West Virginia University; loring former Belleville standout Dave Grant at WV next fall. Murphy will probably play running back on the collegate level and with his size and strength shald be and starting the standout Dave Grant at WV next fall.

We'll take a more in-depth look at the campaian in the early stages of July, but the early season predictions are: St. Louis to recapture the Eastern Division of the National League after last season's disaster. The Cards have speed and hitting, they need a return to 1982 form from their pitching staff in order to regain the division title. Montreal should provide the stiffest challenge to the Redbirds. Pitching should be the decisive factor there. Philly, Pittsburgh and maybe, the Mets will battle for third, with Chicago taking residence in the cellar.

Belleville managed to score a run in the top of the seventh to take a 9-6 lead. It was there that controversy set in. "It was too dark to play in the last of the seventh inning," said La Conte. "My catcher (Lombardi) couldn't see the ball. I pleaded with the officials to call the game due to darkness. I know I've had games called in similar situations. It was a dangerous situation. Luckly, no one was hurt."

The officials elected to continue the action and Bloomfield proceeded to the game, tallving three runs in the last of the seventh. The Bengals tried for the wining run on a vanicules gaueze, but the batter missed the bunt attempt and Lombardi tagged out the Bengal runner at home. Later, Tursi, who had come in to relieve Reid, picked off a Bengal runner at first to end the inning." If the game was called before the final out of the seventh inning," said La Conte. "then we go back to the last full inning and win, 8-6. The officials call the game after the seventh inning is over, so it's a tie ball game."

Papa Announces Intentions For More Town Programs

Vincent T. Strumolo, candidate for the Belleville Board of Commissioners, said that adding an ordinance on chemical and hazardous material control to the township code will be a priority for him as a commissioner, noted the ordinance. Strumolo, former public affairs commissioner, noted the ordinance will fill a gap in regulation of chemical companies and other idustries which use chemicals, solvents and degreasers in their process, as well as any licensed by the state to handle toxic waste material. "Local enforcement of sanitary health and fire regulations has not included chemical storage and related matters because state agencies have iurisdiction over those areas," said Strumolo. "However, we have seen, dramatically in some cases, that the state is often ineffective in enforcing the laws,"

Some major requirements of the ordinance would be that a roster be kept listing the names and quantity of all volatile substances housed in a floor plan and recommends free fighting; techniques for the subneent T. Strum.
