No More Mess — If the Township of Belleville approves a new recycling law, garbage piles like this may soon disappear from our streets. The town commissioners have been discussing the possibility of recycling for a number of years, but thus far no major steps have been taken.

Town Officials Discuss Recycling

By Linda Telesco

Belleville may soon revive an abandoned plan to establish garbage recycling in the township.

Recycling is a major topic of interest as result of the township's current efforts to obtain feasible bids for its scavenger contract, a project that the township has already put out for bid twice, both times unsuccessfully.

The present one-year contract with Browning-Ferris Waste Industries, (BFI) expires on Sept. 10.

Last week, commissioners decided to rebid the contract, but in preparing new job specifications, they agreed to insert suggestions made by Essex County recycling officials.

The county's recycling manager, Stephen Fass, won support from the commissioners for his suggestions that Belleville include in the revised specs provisions that would permit the township to be reimbursed by the scavenger for all collected garbage that was recycled rather than dumped.

Fass also noted this arrangement could permit communities to pay by weight only for trash actually dumped instead of by the truckload.

"The timing is right now in Belleville for introducing recycling," said Fass in a recent interview.

The county official said Belleville's current attempt to get a new scavenger contract in place provided a perfect opportunity to address issues of cost and rapidly decreasing landfill space.

"A lot has changed in the past few years," said Fass. "The cost of disposal is rising rapidly and the situation is such that a bidder can make assumptions about anticipated increases and set his bid price accordingly."

This practice forces towns to pay for speculation about hikes, said Fass.

"We're very concerned about that," he added. "We want to have towns pay directly for the waste they dump. They should not pay on speculation for increases. If increases come, then the towns can pay directly."

Additionally, Fass pointed out the cost savings that can be realized if municipalities can be reimbursed for recyclable garbage.

In the procedure he described, already in practice in some Essex County communities, the residents separate recyclable waste from other garbage. At regular intervals, the material to be recycled is collected from the curbside and transported to paper mills, glass mills, or other recycling facilities.

The municipality obtains receipts from the facility which are presented to the community's scavenger for reimbursement or credit on the portion of garbage not actually collected and dumped by the scavenger.

A. Cohen Succumbs At Age 80

A service was held August 10 for Aaron Cohen, 80, who died August 8 in the Community Hospital, Toms River.

Mr. Cohen owned and operated Charles Jewelers located on Washington Avenue for 30 years before retiring in 1977. He was also an active member of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. "Aaron Cohen was very involved in community activities through the chamber of commerce," said Lou Cienica, who purchased Cohen's jewelry business seven years ago. "He was the first committee chairman to light the Christmas lights along Washington Avenue. He was involved in the Santa Claus project and ran the chamber's annual dinner-dances for most of the 35 years he was a member."

"We used to kiddingly call him 'Mr. Chamber of Commerce,'" Cienica continued. "He was the cornerstone of the chamber for many years and anyone who knew him gained by it."

Mr. Cohen was also a member of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Born in Newark, he lived in Scotch Plains before moving to Beachwood 10 years ago.

Surviving are a son, Charles of Beachwood; two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Miller of Neptune and Mrs. Rose Schrier of Maryland; and three grandchildren.

The Kedz Funeral Home, Toms River, made arrangements. Interment was in Ocean County Memorial Park, Toms River.

Firefighters Stop Blaze On Washington Avenue

rear of the structure.

According to the fire report, the blaze began in a basement window, apparently in the frame where firefighters found an electrical wire, the suspected cause of the incident.

Killeen said the fire raged up the rear side of the building underneath the aluminum siding on the structure.

The deputy chief said the blaze was controlled within two hours of breaking out. He noted a reserve engine was used to fight the local fire because Belleville sent an engine on a mutual aid response, along with other neighboring communities, to help battle the blaze at the Halsey Street Prudential office building, the Saturday night tragedy that claimed the life of a Newark fireman.

While aiding Newark's battle against last weekend's Prudential building fire, the Belleville Fire Department also quashed a blaze at a Washington Avenue building.

A fire at 472 Washington Ave. broke out at 6:09 p.m., according to Deputy Chief Leo Killeen, who said the three-story frame building housed a store, Cufin Upholsters, on the first floor and apartments on the upper levels.

Tenants who were home at the time safely evacuated the structure, according to the fire official who noted the store was closed when the fire occurred.

There were no injuries sustained, Killeen said.

He noted the building "did not sustain heavy damage," but added most of the damage was to the

Marotti, Grande Answer Charges About Stadium Renovation Plan

Mayor Michael Marotti and Commissioner Joseph Grande both defended themselves Monday night against an attack by the Board of Education that they knew about the extensive renovation project at the Municipal Stadium, but failed to inform the trustees of the additional cost.

"I was informed of an article which appeared in last week's edition of The Belleville Times by my secretary while I was on vacation and I felt I had to come back from the shore and set the record straight," Mayor Marotti told the trustees. "I spoke to Mr. (Michael) Nardiello about this problem of the rising cost of the stadium locker room and I informed him that I could not do too much to help. I had no idea that the project was going to cost more than the $4,000 figure originally given to me."

It was three months ago that the Board of Education decided to join in with the Board of Commissioners to repair the locker room at the stadium at a cost of $2,000 each. Several weeks ago the trustees were told that the cost of the renovation project had risen to $25,000 and could go as high as $50,000.

Many of the trustees were shocked at the new cost figure and ordered a halt to the work until they could find out who authorized the work.

"I never wanted to start that project in the first place," said Grande, who also served as the Board of Education's maintenance supervisor. "When I first walked into that building, I was sick. I didn't want to do the work. I received a directive from a school administrator. When I informed the board several months ago that the project would cost $4,500, that was for the fixing of the showers alone. Later I received a memo which said, 'Mr. Grande, do what has to be done.' And that is exactly what I did. I will take full responsibility for this situation because after I was told to finish the job, I never told anyone what I was doing. But I am very annoyed and offended by that article which appeared in the paper last week. It made me look like a liar, a two-face and a cheat, and I have been called many things in my life, but never any of those. I, along with Michael Marotti and this board, is looking for efficient government. I am not looking to take anybody."

During last week's School Board meeting, Trustee Gabe Nazzola accused Grande and the mayor of knowing how much the renovation project really cost from the start and that they were just "suckering in the board to pay for half."

"You think I'm taking the board for a ride, well let me tell you how much money I have saved this board since I took over as director of public works," Grande said. "The School Board brought salt for $90 a ton, while the town got it for $20, so Mr. Grande being a nice guy, used the town's salt and saved the board $1,272. People never asked why the Belleville schools were open while other schools in the area were closed. That's because I had one of my men loading a Board of Education salt truck at 2 a.m. at no expense to the town. I allowed the board to dump in the public works garage, sweep your playgrounds twice a week at no charge and that's something you never had done."

"I never wanted to bring any of this up because whether the School Board pays for it or the commissioners pay for it, it still costs the taxpayers," he continued. "I'm not looking for praise for anything I do or a pat on the back. I just do not like what I read in the paper."

After the discussion was completed and board President Gary Purdie apologized to both men, the board agreed to pay an additional $10,000 to finish the locker room renovation.

"We cannot let the job stay the way it is at the moment," said Mrs. Purdie. "We must take action and do so tonight in order to get the place in shape for the fall."

According to Grande, the work should probably be completed in one month.

Local Democrats Preparing For Upcoming Election Fight

Belleville Democrats are preparing for the uphill battle facing them in the months ahead, as they attempt to push presidential candidate Walter Mondale over the top here.

"I definitely believe that Walter Mondale has a very hard fight on his hands during this upcoming November election, not only across the country, but in New Jersey and Belleville," said Chester Prosperi, Belleville's Democratic chairman. "But this party will do everything possible to boost his campaign and make Mondale a winner in Belleville."

According to an Eagleton Poll, which appeared in last Sunday's edition of The Star-Ledger, President Ronald Reagan holds a wide lead over Mondale among New Jersey voters. The latest poll shows the President's popularity in the Garden State is much higher than it was just three months ago. In May, Reagan led Mondale by just five percentage points. According to the newest figures, the President holds a 55 to 32 percent lead, with 13 percent of the voters undecided.

"I don't believe in polls," said

Prosperi. "You have to wonder who takes them and what communities did they cover. It could have covered a strictly Republican area."

According to the poll, the addition of Geraldine Ferraro to the Democratic ticket did not seem to make a difference in the contest between Reagan and Mondale, but according to Prosperi, it could turn out to make all the difference in the world.

"The addition of Ferraro to the Democratic ticket will certainly aid Walter Mondale," he said. "In fact, I think that Mondale will be a winner in Essex County thanks to Ferraro."

Angelo Risoli, the township's Republican chairman, also feels that Ferraro was a major boost to the Democrats' hopes, but believes that Mondale will not be able to knock off the popular President.

"Geraldine Ferraro is definitely a key in this election," said Risoli, "but I believe the best ticket would have been (Gary) Hart-Ferraro. There you have two new faces. Mondale still has the image of Jimmy Carter behind him, especially after the Bert Lance problem he recently encountered. Mondale owes the Democratic Party too much and it is going to hurt him."

Risoli, who recently appointed Carmeli Nazzola as the campaign coordinator for the November election, said Reagan should carry Belleville as he did in 1980.

"The President carried Belleville by slightly over 2,000 votes in 1980, and I believe that we will carry it by the same amount or perhaps a little less. Either way Reagan looks very strong come November, not only here but throughout the state."

In order to overcome Reagan's big lead, the Democrats are planning to go all out in campaigning, starting next weekend.

"We will be having a big picnic to kick things off on Aug. 25 at 294 Fairways Ave., starting at 1 p.m.," said Prosperi. "We are going to give a 100 percent effort during this campaign including phone drives, and candidates going house-to-house. We will be meeting with the Democratic Club soon to discuss more projects."

Belleville Business Bureau

By Howard Halpern

"So you want to own your own business." Many people would like to go into business for themselves and some of them do. Being the master of one's own destiny is everyone's dream. Sure, all you have to do is find the right location, buy some equipment and fixtures, do a little fixing, get the wife to give you a hand, borrow a little money from your bank or some relative and you're on your way to success. Sounds easy doesn't it? If that's all it takes, then why do 90 percent of all small businesses fail within the first two years of operation? Perhaps it's lack of knowledge or not willing to put in a full day's work, and I don't mean eight-hour shift, that's for employees. Maybe it's the wrong location or the equipment and fixtures cost more than you expected and you didn't have enough "start up" capital. A bank is very hesitant to loan money for equipment and fixtures and relatives lending money may soon become unwanted partners. You must have full knowledge of your product or service, know exactly what your overhead will be, take a course in bookkeeping and accounting or you'll be paying a small fortune for this service.

Advertising is important, but not important enough to invest a large chunk of "start up" capital. Many new businesses fall victim to heavy advertising. Your so-called potential customers aren't milling around just waiting for your grand opening. They couldn't care less. The average person has gotten quite blasé with those flashy window signs and big newspaper ads. You do need signs and grand opening banners of course, but be conservative. Buying the right merchandise for the right price goes without saying. To keep your shop fully stocked with merchandise takes a lot of capital because a manufacturer or wholesaler is not about to extend credit on a new business. As your shelves dwindle, so do your customers. There are many reasons that will make a successful business and maintain that success.

The most important single factor of opening a small business is initial cash on hand and to maintain cash flow. You must have enough capital to sustain yourself for at least one full year. The first year is the hardest and it's not much easier the second. If it's your dream to become an entrepreneur, forget it. Entrepreneurs are not dreamers, they deal only with reality. It takes enthusiasm, motivation, and guts. You take the risk, you reap the reward. Go get 'em champ.

After 23 years of outstanding service, a pillar of strength has fallen. Aaron Cohen, one of the original members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, has said good-bye forever. Known and loved by almost every business person and town official, Aaron will be remembered for his outstanding community service and humanitarian deeds. Aaron was a hard working and diligent Chamber member and was responsible for encouraging many businesses to join the Chamber of Commerce. He always had a joke or a funny trick to make people happy. We're going to miss you Aaron. Rest in peace.

Bridgebrook Condominium Units Selling Quickly According to Govel

Within a month of the registration of its conversion plan with the state of New Jersey, Bridgebrook Condominiums in Belleville has sold almost all unoccupied units.

Of the vacant units, 100 percent have been purchased for approximately 10 percent more than the special reduced "insider" prices available to tenants, reports Govel Realtors of Belleville, exclusive sales agent for the newly-converted condominium complex.

"In addition to the strong 'outsider' interest, about 10 percent of our current tenants have already entered into contracts with us to purchase their own units," notes William W. Govel, president of Govel Realtors. "most of the remaining tenants now are actively requesting information about purchasing their units at the special pricing available to them."

For those tenants who wish to exercise their option to purchase their units at reduced prices, the purchase prices range from the mid-$40,000s to the mid-$50,000s. For outsiders or non-tenants, purchase prices typically will range from the high-$40,000s to the low $60,000s.

Contained within a secluded complex accessed by a 250-foot driveway off of Jorammon Street in Belleville, Bridgebrook Condominiums are set on 8.5 acres of meticulously landscaped land.

Each of the one- and two-bedroom condominium units offer exceptional standard features, including air conditioning, carpeting, and individual entrances and garages.

Bridgebrook also places emphasis on the social and recreational aspects of community life. For the exclusive use of its residents are a large outdoor swimming pool and barbecue pits.

"A distinct advantage of Bridgebrook ownership is financial," Govel says. "Not only are there tremendous tax advantages, first-time purchasers are being offered an opportunity to buy their units at little more than the cost of renting — and with significantly greater benefits, including the building of equity."

According to Govel, financing is being provided by the sponsor, the Bridgebrook Development Group, through the First Federal Savings Bank of Montclair. Under terms of the financing package, qualified purchasers will be eligible for a 30-year mortgage at 12.5 percent interest rates with as little as 5 percent of the purchase price as a down-payment.

Robert Landolfi Opens Security Office Here

Robert Landolfi, a resident of Belleville for 39 years, recently returned from Charlottesville, Va., where he attended the training seminar offered by Dynamark, Inc., the nation's leader in residential security.

Landolfi has opened his office, LifeLine Security Systems, at 528 Union Ave., Belleville, and believes that the Dynamark system is the most practical, economical and efficient home security system ever offered to the general public.

He says the most recent FBI Uniform Crime Report, released September of 1981, states that over three million burglary offenses were reported in the United States, and of those: "Residential property accounted for 67 percent of the reported burglaries...non-residential property accounted for the remaining 33 percent."

In light of the national statistics, Landolfi feels that home security at a price every householder can afford is a "must" and not a luxury. He offers a free home security inspection to area residents, designed to help determine their individual needs.

NEW HOPE FOR BALD PATES

It has been discovered by a major pharmaceutical firm that a well-known anti-hypertension drug, called "minoxidil," has an unusual side effect: It grows hair. It does not do it for everyone every time, but some patients that have taken minoxidil did grow hair. Unfortunately, the hair grew all over the body and not just on bald pates. Scientists are now attempting to solve this problem by switching from an orally administered drug to a topical ointment massaged into the scalp. This is a development so promising that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has given its approval for year long clinical trials on humans. The results should be in by the end of 1984.

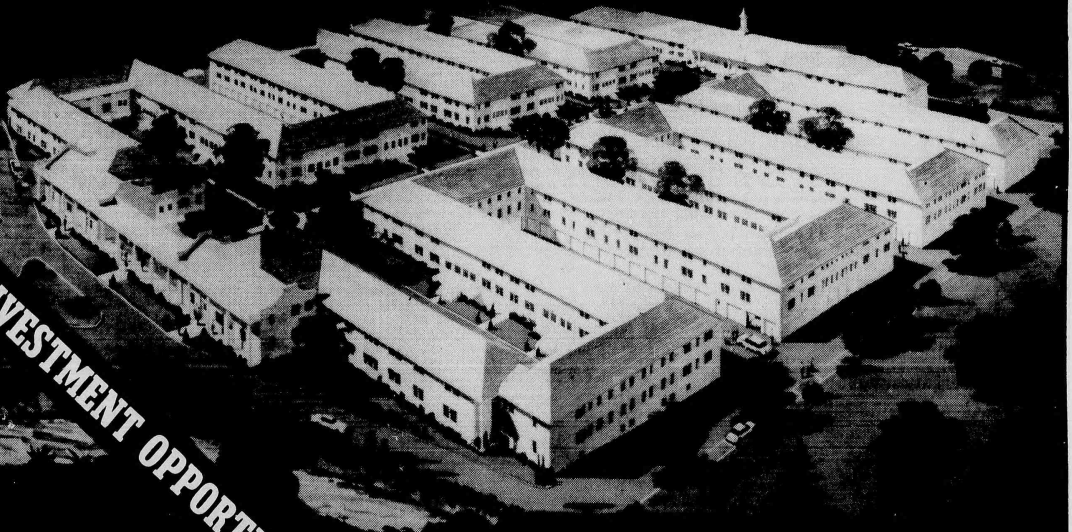

Save yourself problems in getting prescription medications by coming to ROSSACRE PHARMACY 338 Washington Ave., 759-1956, 759-1988. We are Medicare and Blue Cross approved. Mondale/Ferraro

The Democrats assembled in convention in San Francisco last month, established precedent by nominating a female as their Vice Presidential candidate. They went one step beyond. Geraldine Ferraro was nominated by acclamation, an unusual event occurring in the electrified atmosphere of one of the most contested presidential nominations ever.

Former Vice President Walter Mondale is now the presidential nominee of the Democratic Party. To achieve that glory role, Mondale was forced, right up to the last minute, to turn back a determined challenge by U.S. Senator Gary Hart.

Reaching back into our five decades of political memory, we can't remember a national party convention that produced more eloquent, campaign, oratory than the one concluded in San Francisco last week.

Beginning Monday with the keynote speech delivered by Gov. Mario Cuomo, and ending with the eloquence of Ted Kennedy, the major speakers, including the Rev. Jesse Jackson and U.S. Senator Gary Hart, were most inspiring. If one could put aside a biased political philosophy, objective viewers of the San Francisco political scene all may end up with the same judgment — Cuomo, Jackson, Hart, Kennedy, Ferraro, and Mondale put on quite a show. It is for the next 100 days to determine whether or not the enthusiasm and inspiration of San Francisco can be converted to the Democratic victory in November.

A word of caution to the optimistic Democrats — the Great Communicator will be at stage center next week. By the time President Ronald Reagan finishes his second acceptance speech, it may come to pass that the Democrats' words of July will be relegated to the ash heap of yesterday's events — and that, indeed, the Great Communicator is again recognized as the greatest of them all.

Despite the inspiration of Cuomo, Jackson, Hart, Ferraro, Kennedy, and Mondale, the Democratic ticket remains the underdog.

But whatever — because of who they are, where they've been, and what they are, we can expect of Geraldine Ferraro and Walter Mondale a clean, high-road campaign conducted on the major issues facing the people of our nation, and the world.

The "Homeless" — The "Shelterless"

At the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco held in July, much was heard about the need to help the "homeless." We have lived in Nutley a lifetime, and the only person we ever knew who could conceivably be classified as homeless was a chap named "Chum," who was a hobo, and took up residence in the East Nutley Garage — sort of a watchman-caretaker when the late Charlie Fanelli operated an auto repair business at 55 Washington Ave.

Other than Chum, we have never known a shelterless person in Nutley, or wherever we traveled. Of course, one doesn't expect a person walking around with a sandwich sign reading: "I am homeless." The fact does remain, however, that all of us could have been homeless if that were our choice.

It is our conviction that most shelterless people are so because that's a way of life that best suits their desires. Very few people — if any — are born homeless, or shelterless. They become so because of their behavior, wants, and dislikes.

To tell the God's honest truth, we must confess impatience with the so-called "homeless" since everyone without a roof over his or her head can find shelter if he or she works for it — and if they seek it.

We do have compassion for the poor, the ill, the aged, and the disenfranchised. We do have compassion for those who have suffered different forms of misfortunes — physical, mental, financial.

But there is no way anyone can convince this writer that "homeless" (substitute shelterless), people cannot find a home. It wasn't too long ago, we read reports in the daily press that New York City was paying $1,500 a month to house "homeless" people.

We are sorry, but we are not buying the tale of the "homeless."

Local Store Called Nuisance

To the editor:

Garden State Farms, located at 37 Franklin St., Belleville, is a nuisance, and should not be allowed to stay open 24 hours, seven days a week.

Most problems occur after midnight, or when the bars close. Most customers are under the influence of alcohol, and have no consideration for people who are sleeping.

On several occasions the police were called to stop fights. Customers blast their car radios, use very loud and profound language, blast their horns, and squeal their tires when leaving the parking lot. Also use the side of the building as a bathroom. Homeowners in the area are finding broken soda bottles, candy wrappers, etc., in front of their homes and have to clean up the mess left behind. My main concern is the exhaust fumes from the cars which are left running while the customers shop.

I have two small children, their bedrooms are adjacent to the lot which is about four feet from their windows. Their rooms smell of carbon monoxide (which can cause lead poisoning). This creates a health problem for all in the surrounding area. A gas station open 24 hours is also a health hazard for the same reason.

The store manager was called on each occasion to amend the situation but does nothing. He says we shouldn't have bought a house next to a Garden State store. The owner of the store was also called but is not concerned about people in the neighborhood. He claims he makes most of his money after closing the store at a reasonable hour. He said his only concern is making money.

We live in a quiet residential area, and I see no reason a store should be open 24 hours. People in the neighborhood agree.

In my opinion a store open 24 hours should be located in a place where there are no houses nearby. So the residents could have some peace and quiet.

We have started a petition and will present it at the next town meeting. Hopefully Mayor Michael Marotti and the Board of Commissioners will consider the circumstances and regulate hours which will be appreciated by all concerned.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Donna Lee

Little League Team Congratulated

An open letter to Norman Thompson, president of the Belleville Rotary Club:

I am extremely proud to inform the Rotary Club that the little league baseball team it sponsors has won the Belleville Little League championship. The 1984 Rotary Club team won the American League title and also the World Series. In addition, this team compiled a record of 20 consecutive wins without losing a game during the season. This was an accomplishment that no other team in the history of the Belleville Little League achieved.

Furthermore, our team displayed not only outstanding ability on the field but showed the sportsmanship, teamwork and discipline that exemplified the true meaning of little league baseball. This team will be remembered as one of the better teams to have ever participated in the Belleville Little League. It was truly gratifying for myself and the other coaches to be part of this team.

The team members will be receiving trophies from the Belleville Little League and the coaches are having a picnic for all the players and their families. However, the coaches feel that a final salute should be paid by their sponsor. Therefore, we are requesting that jackets be presented to each team member to honor them for their outstanding achievement.

Members of the Rotary Club team are Art Zaccchia, Robert Ricci, Ray Caruso, Stacey Johansen, Kevin Burbank, Bruce Melson, John Clenaghan, John Sternick, Rich Dowd, Donald Mastro, Jerry Mahoney, Robert Gialanella, Bill Prosperi, Omar Bejarano and Michael Liloia. Doug Stone was the manager and he was assisted by Phil Linfante and myself.

We would all deeply appreciate the Rotary Club members' consideration and thoughtfulness in our request for the players, who are most deserving of this tribute.

Very truly yours,
Chuck Puleo
Coach, Rotary Club

Italian-American Club Supported

To the editor:

Concerning the article of August 2, 1984 from Mr. Jackie Rega, I have come to the conclusion that this paper allows anyone to demoralize the character of decent people in this town. So I will now give my opinion of the article.

The article in question was typical of the Jackie Rega style we've come to expect. That is why it is not necessary for the four people he specifically mentions to lower themselves and answer his column. Salvatore Calabro, Christie Albanese, George Sharra and Angelo Veneziano are still and have always been upstanding citizens in this town, only looking out for the best interest of Belleville. Many people can attest to that, even the so-called friends of Jackie Rega.

The Belleville Italian-American Club, for years, has always been a very good and successful club for the purpose of taking pride in our Italian heritage. These four people as well as many other members have strived to keep it that way. Mr. Rega's departure is no loss to the club but, in fact, an improvement. It can now get back to organizing trips, providing scholarships to outstanding Belleville High School students, and bring back a much needed calm to its monthly meetings.

In closing, I'm sorry I had to write this type of article, but you see, I've known these four people all my life and they don't deserve to be judged by a person who thrives on this sort of exposure and publicity and whose character leaves much to be desired.

Respectfully submitted,
Edward Albanese

Jaycees Thank Festival Goers

To the editor:

The Nutley Jaycees would like to take this opportunity to thank your newspaper for its excellent coverage of our 13th annual Summer Festival held July 17-21 at Father Glotzbach Park on Park Avenue.

Many local businesses, including Giovine Music, The Book Mark, McDonald's, Garden State Nautilus, Suburban Estate Realty, Carvel, Apco Sales & Service, E. Donald Harrison Funeral Home and Drewes Hobby & Recreation Shop made generous contributions which also made the festival a success.

In addition, the daily assistance of our co-sponsors, the Nutley Parks and Recreation Department, headed by Commissioner Frank Cocchiola, helped us keep the area clean and hazard-free. The Nutley Police Department and police auxiliaries also did an outstanding job of crowd management and traffic control.

And once again, Tolve Productions operated the amusement rides smoothly and professionally for five days (including an eight-hour rain-out date).

Despite Saturday's washout, the 13th annual Summer Festival was a rousing success. The Nutley Jaycees will be donating all their festival revenues to a wide variety of charities, including Camp Jaycee for mentally retarded children. Again, thanks to the local businesses, the Parks and Recreation Department, the Nutley Police Department, Tolve Productions and all the local groups who manned the game booths each night.

Most of all, thanks to all the Belleville residents and festivalgoers who made this annual festival possible.

Sincerely,
Michael Olohan

Public Relations Director,
Nutley Jaycees

Quick Response

To the editor:

I would like to express my gratitude to the Belleville Fire Department. In the early morning hours of August 3, they responded to a fire in the apartment building in which I live. They not only contained a very serious fire to one apartment but also evacuated everyone from the building without injury. The building has about 40 apartments so they were dealing with a large number of people. The hour of the fire made their job more difficult.

Belleville should be proud of its fire department. They are dedicated professionals who do their job, and do it well.

Sincerely,
Virginia Hanley

Ferraro's Nomination a Delight

To the Editor:

I'm delighted with the selection of a woman as vice president on the Democratic ticket. I'm delighted with her history. I'm especially delighted she's an Italian.

Those of us who are of Northern European ethnic groups should remember that Italy brought the world out of the Dark Ages in the Renaissance. And that was entirely of Italian making and Italian design.

And what were some of the great fundamentals of the Renaissance? It was a mixture of what was greatest in Greek and Roman civilizations with what was warmest and softest and best in Catholic art. Above all, in veneration of mother and child.

Did you ever know of any woman who wanted warfare — or who thought peace could be achieved by a strong military establishment? No, absolutely not!

I love Ferraro on the Democratic ticket! I love the wonderful opening speech of another great Italian Gov. Cuomo.

It's a great ticket. It's a winning ticket!

Carmen Orechio Proposing Alcohol Commission Group

Senate President Carmen A. Orechio urged swift legislative action on his proposal to determine the liability of those who serve alcohol at home to their guests.

"The Legislature has a responsibility to decide whether the judiciary is the best forum for determining liability in this critical area," the Essex County Democrat said during the July 30 session in Trenton.

The Senate President noted that the Supreme Court recently ruled that a host may be held liable if a guest who is intoxicated drives away and injures someone else in an accident.

A Senate resolution introduced on Monday by Orechio would create an eight-member commission to recommend whether laws are needed to specify exactly when a host could be held responsible for a guest who indulges excessively with alcohol prior to an accident.

"The commission may determine that each incident should be determined in court without new laws," Orechio said. "But we in the Legislature also must examine whether we can help prevent alcohol-induced carnage on our highways by pinpointing responsibility for drunk drivers."

Under Orechio's proposal, the commission would report back to the Legislature within six months with an evaluation of "the duties, responsibilities and liabilities of private hosts and alcoholic beverage licensees with regard to the serving of alcoholic beverages to guests and customers.

"I also hope the commission would address the response of those who say people over 21 should be held liable for their own actions," Orechio said.

The measure states that the public interest will best be served if the Legislature recommends "appropriate, fair and equitable" methods of addressing the liability of those who serve alcohol.

High School Dress Code Goes Into Effect This Year

Joseph Ciccone, principal of Belleville High School, has announced the school's new dress code regulations which will take effect Sept. 5. All high school students are required to follow the guidelines.

"The purpose of this dress code is to promulgate a positive self-image and pride in school among our students," said Ciccone. "Their health, safety and educational well-being are the primary objectives of this code, which bears a reasonable relationship to the goal of fostering an environment conducive to discipline and to education."

Specifically, clothing which is ripped, holey and/or soiled is inappropriate school attire. Undergarments are required. Shirts must be buttoned. Shoes which grip the toe and heel must be worn at all times.

The following are considered inappropriate school attire:

- Clothing that is too tight so as to inhibit movement and/or cause classroom distraction.
- Off-the-shoulder, strapless and spaghetti-strap tops, dresses or jumpsuits.
- Mid-ripped (cut-off) shirts that expose the chest and/or abdominal area(s) of the body.
- Garments with pornographic messages.
- Skirts shorter than mid-thigh or longer than mid-calf lengths.
- Shorts of any description or style.

Students who commit dress code infractions will be referred to their appropriate vice principal for administrative action.

A Dress Code Appeals Committee, comprised of parent, faculty, student and administrative representatives, will convene several times during the school year for the purpose of reviewing specific garments presented by students for approval as appropriate school attire. However, administrative decisions will prevail pending all appeals committee rulings.

Notification of scheduled appeals hearings will be made via school announcements one week prior to appeals hearing date.

HEALTH WISE

By Ralph J. DiMaio D.C.
The central nerve system consists of the brain and the spinal cord. The network of nerves that branch off from the spinal cord is called the peripheral nerve system. These are the nerves that carry impulses from the brain to the organs, glands, muscles and tissue cells throughout the body.

Chiropractic recognizes that most ill health is due to nerve interference, caused by misplaced vertebrae of the spine. Nerves, passing between the vertebrae, are pinched and cannot function normally. Pain, disease and ill health are the results.

CMHS HOTLINE Childhood Incident Affecting Adult Now

Dear CMHS:

When I was a child, I was molested by my uncle, who everyone in the family thought was a "great guy." At the time, I didn't even realize what was happening. I've never told anyone. Now I'm 20 and it's still bothering me. I don't date much because I find it hard to trust guys, plus I think they would look down on me if they knew. I'm angry and ashamed and I feel I've got to do something — but what?

Angry and Ashamed

Dear Angry and Ashamed:

The situation you write about is a lot more common than we'd like to think. Because of confusion, shame and undesired feelings of self-blame, children and even adult women often have great difficulty reporting such experiences. Feelings of guilt, worthlessness and isolation then often develop.

In recent years, women who have undergone such experiences have felt more able to speak about them. This has freed them to look at their own feelings more objectively and to learn from and be helped by one another. Additionally, it is important for parents and the community as a whole to be alerted to the possibility of such events in their own children's lives. If children do report such events, their reports should be taken seriously.

For yourself, you need to share your experiences with a trusted listener so you can begin to find better ways to feel about yourself and relate to others. You may want to consider counseling or meeting with other women who've had similar experiences — or both! The New Jersey Self-Help Clearing House (800-452-9700) can refer you to a peer support group in your area. You're not alone with this — help is available and you won't be "looked down on" if you seek it.

Belleville's Past

In the spring of 1814, the Navy gave its sanction to Robert Fulton to build the first steam war vessel, the Demologus. There is no record of how much of the copper purchased from Hendricks went into the Demologus, but it is likely that all of the nails and sheets he supplied were used in the pioneer war vessel, for no other ship was being built at this time.

Before the war was over, Soho was completely refurbished. Motive power was obtained from the Second River. The smelting house was reroofed with new fire bricks; rollers that could produce sheet copper in various thicknesses were installed, and the stamping and cutting machinery for plates, nails and spikes was set into operation. More than 2,800 pigs of copper were sent down from Beaver Street to the mill, and in October of 1814, almost on the day that the British left Chesapeake Bay to sail for Jamaica, the first sheets of copper were rolled at Soho.

The war had clearly demonstrated the vast superiority of British seapower. The English fleet had maintained an effective blockade of the major ports along the Atlantic Coast for the duration of the war; the City of Washington was captured and burned in the summer of 1814, Baltimore soon after, and Philadelphia also appeared to be in danger at this time; and in the waters outside of New York, the might of the British Navy was constantly visible on the horizon.

When in January 1815, the Americans won their greatest victory of the war on land at New Orleans, the two-and-a-half-year war was over. America had proven herself to be a formidable military power, even though the weakness of her young Navy was very obvious in the sea encounters with the British.

For Hendricks, the trade across the seas continued to be an important source of raw and unfinished copper for the Soho mill and for the customers that he had faithfully supplied since the death of his father. As a manufacturer, he was dependent upon imported metals, and as an importer he had one of the best outlets for his metals — the Soho Copper Works.

The acceptance of steam as a primary power in water transportation in the New York area coincided with the opening of the Soho Copper Works. Shipbuilders, marine engineers, and foundrymen found that the conveniently located mill at Soho made it possible for them to obtain their supplies without loss of time. When it was discovered that copper could contain steam better than the square pinewood boilers that were used at first, copper became more desirable than ever before. The fruitful inter-relationship among steam, engineering companies, and the Soho Copper Works developed simultaneously with the rise of American industry.

Rega Responds Again

In response to the article "Letters In Print" which appeared in the The Belleville Times Aug. 9, 1984, Mr. Chris Albanese and Mr. Sal Calabro made mention of the fact that I, Mr. Jackie Rega, a member of the Italian American Club for approximately 15 years, be expelled. I would like to respond to Mr. Albanese who mentions that I, on numerous occasions would cause a disturbance at our meetings. I would simply like to say that all Mr. Albanese had to do, or should I say has the power to do as president, is to instruct a sergeant at arms to expell anyone from these heated meetings. I feel that the truth of the matter is that Chris Albanese is trying to impress the politicians of the town and if anyone gets in his way he will brand them as agitators as he did me. This all started when Commissioner Pica made application for membership in the Italian American Club.

I was not against Matt Pica, I just didn't want Mr. Albanese to throw his weight around so the politicians would look up to him. He refers to me as an agitator. That night the vote was 25 to 14 no against Matt Pica. Does this mean that these 25 descending votes are agitators and should be expelled from the club? I voted against Carter. I heard nothing from him. This is the American way Mr. Albanese. To do it any other way would be wrong. By the way, Chris, you referred to my friend columnist Jim Golden as also some kind of a rebel rouser but I'll tell you one thing Chris, even though Jim and I have been friends for years and I have disagreed with him on numerous occasions we have never become disagreeable. Chris, when Jim Golden ran for office a few years back you and Mr. Calabro happened to run too. The vote was Jim Golden. He got the highest vote in that election (approx. 6500 votes) and you Mr. Chris Albanese, who also ran, got the lowest votes (approx. 400 votes) which I think might have been a low record. Mr. Calabro also got a low vote but the funny thing about Sal was he thought there was a big mistake made so he ran again. And this time the people confirmed the vote as in previous elections.

You make reference that I was out to hurt Commissioner Joe Grande. The night you tried to make Joe Grande president of the club I took action again and I repeat Joe Grande and I are good friends. I just didn't want you Mr. Albanese, to get that kind of clout where you can bring politicians in to share your political muscle which I don't believe you have according to your political record. This of course has to do with you being on the planning board. If anyone would like to check your track record of your performance on the planning board just take a look at Washington Ave. from Belleville Ave. to Mill St.

Mr. Calabro I'm glad that you confirmed what I said that you and I were friends for years. And I agree with you that something did strain our friendship. In fact Mr. Calabro like thousands of kids in Belleville your son worked for me on numerous occasions. The Calabros and Regas were out dancing and wining and dining with other people. We go back to the old tax council where I joined you when I thought you were sincere. Just recently when you formed Citizens Tax Union it was I who brought the people down there in droves. And after listening to you, Mr. Albanese and Mr. Veneziano talk about the same thing, over and over again we decided you were wasting our time. When my workers advised Mrs. Calabro whom for years I donated wreaths, Christmas trees, Easter flowers, whatever which she would donate to the needy that there would be no more free bees she seemed quite put out. Making snide remarks as she walked away to these young girls who were anxious to attest to this. Mr. Calabro as far as our friendship being strained as you say I agree that this is why it has been.

In summary I would like to say Sal I always knew you as an astute engineer. I didn't know that you were practicing psychiatry. I think there should be an end to this otherwise you will leave me no alternative than to take legal action. I do not justfully feel that you are qualified to prescribe that I see a psychiatrist. Let's put this thing to rest Mr. Calabro and Mr. Albanese.

P.S. To my many friends who responded when I called them to attend the Citizen Tax Union and contributed money to this cause I would like to apologize. As for the money I repeat there seems to be no record of it. I'm not implying there was anything crooked or illegal but I do question their competency as book-keepers.

Respectfully submitted,
Jackie Rega

Commissioners Discuss Recycling

among the communities Fass named as participating in recycling projects.

In addition to the savings, the official pointed out certain harsh realities about future garbage collections. "We estimate there is only about three years left before dump sites will be unable to accommodate anymore," he told commissioners at their last session.

Belleville is an Essex community that goes outside the county for its landfill, using a Kearny site operated by the Hackensack-Meadowlands Development Commission.

Fass noted that in the next few years, all Essex communities will be directed to dump waste in the county's waste recovery plant which is expected to begin operation in 1987.

That is part of the county's solid wastes master plan which will impose mandatory recycling on communities by 1987.

"We recommend that municipalities begin voluntary recycling programs sooner than that," said Fass.

He also warned that the future recovery plant will not accept a community's recyclable garbage if it exceeds load limits.

"In such a case, the municipality would have no other dumping area to turn to, so we urge communities to establish recycling well before the mandatory date," said Fass.

He noted the county offers assistance to help towns get started. Belleville, he said, is among those which have not used the available, free-of-charge help.

Belleville did, in fact, advance a modified recycling plan two summers ago when Mary Senator was director of the township's public works department.

At that time, public outcry against the inconvenience of asking residents to separate garbage for curbside collections persuaded the commissioners in office to abandon the plans.

"I think they backed off too quickly," said Fass who noted the township should move more decisively this time.

The current public works director, Joe Grande, voiced approval of Fass's ideas during the last public meeting and said in a recent interview he thinks Belleville will soon go into a recycling plan.

"I'm meeting with some agencies now to set plans up," said Grande who declined more specifics. "It's the only way to go to save the taxpayers money," he added.

Mayor Michael Marotti, who is vacationing this week, was unavailable for comment.

Belleville Times SPORTS

Braves Reach Playoffs With a 20-17-2 Record

And now, it has come down to one game, one contest that will decide the fate of the Belleville Braves for the next week.

The Braves battled Parsippany in a one-game playoff last Monday in Union. If Belleville won that game, it will take on defending champion West Orange in a best of three series. That series was set to start last night in West Orange, continue this evening at Union starting at 8:30 p.m., and conclude with a game, if necessary, tomorrow night starting at 6 p.m.

Head coach Sal Garilli watched his talented, but erratic club, stumble through the final week of regular season competition, losing two games in three tries to finish the campaign with a respectable 20-17-2 record. The club's playoff hopes were given a sharp turn for the worst when pitcher Scott Wohlrab went down with a knee injury that will require surgery and keep him on the shelf for the remainder of the season. Wohlrab, in addition to his pitching, had been a terror at the plate, hitting .475.

"It was a freak thing," Garilli said of Wohlrab's injury. "He swung and missed at a pitch and his knee popped out. It was just the way his body was turned at the time of the swing. There's nothing you can do about it, but it will be a tough setback for us. He was doing a solid job in both pitching and hitting."

Last week, the Braves lost two separate contests to Montclair State College, bowing 10-1 and 8-3. The Braves salvaged the final game of the season, defeating the Union Rams, 15-8, and wrapping up a playoff spot. The one-game playoff was something that Garilli was hoping to avoid, but his team was not effective in the final week of the season and dropped from second to fourth place.

In the 10-1 loss to MSC, the Braves were out of the game before the first inning was history. MSC tallied seven runs in the first inning before an out was recorded and breezed to an easy win. Mike Cavaluzzi started for Belleville, but he had an off night and the Braves were easy victims. "We just lost, plain and simple," Garilli said. "We got off to a lousy start and never recovered."

The Braves defeated the Union Rams, 15-8 later in the day as Jerry Waudan won in relief of Scott Lutz, who was ineffective, allowing seven runs in two innings of work. Bill Feehan led the Brave attack with three hits and three RBIs. Joe Corbali continued his steady play with a hit and two runs batted in while Steve Karlick had three hits.

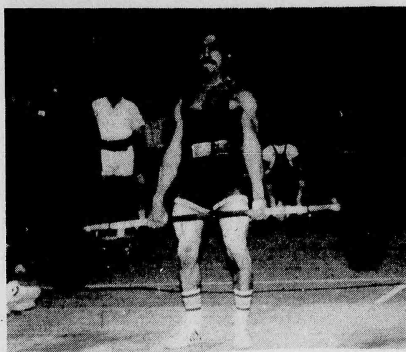

Earlier in the week, the Braves bowed to MSC, 8-3 in the game that ended Wohlrab's season prematurely. The Braves, once again, were hurt by ineffective starting pitching and did not have the offense to make up the difference.

Garilli was expecting a very difficult game with Parsippany. During the regular season, the Braves split the season series, 2-2-1 and while Parsippany comes to the playoffs with a 19-18-3 record, Garilli feels they might be the sleeper of the tourney. "We will have to play a near perfect game to beat them. We'll go with Anthony (Coco) as our starting pitcher and hope for the best. We need a strong game from him if we hope to advance."

After the one-game playoff, with the winner taking on West Orange in a best two of three, the other semifinal contest will pit Irvington and Verona, with Verona the favorite, according to Garilli. "Irvington is decimated with injuries right now. I think Verona should be able to handle them."

After the semifinals, the championship series will begin early next week. For the Braves, however, they are only thinking about one game, with Parsippany, that will make, or break, their season.

Going For It All — Joseph Catalfamo of Belleville, was selected to represent the United States in the 1984 Junior Worlds Powerlifting Championship to be held in Perth, Australia, Sept. 20. A 1981 Belleville High School graduate, Catalfamo is now a senior at East Stroudsburg University, Pennsylvania, where he first started lifting as a freshman. He was coached by Tim McClellan who is now an assistant strength coach at Arizona State University.

Basketball Squad Drops First Game

The Belleville boys' basketball team lost its first game of the 1984 summer league to defending champion Essex Catholic, 78-68 in Pulaski Park last week.

The Bucs, now 6-1, were scheduled to play Immaculate last night in the final game of the season. The playoffs start next week, Aug. 20, with the Bucs battling Immaculate and Essex Catholic taking on Bloomfield. That line-up could be subject to change before the 20th, but at press time, those seemed to be the likely matchups.

Head coach Dave Boyd felt his club could have handled the Eagles and is looking to a possible rematch in the championship game to prove his point. "Essex Catholic didn't come out with anything fancy," Boyd said. "They didn't put on any pressure, they basically stayed in a 2-3 or 1-2-2 zone for most of the game. They didn't do anything special, but they hit the shots that were critical and that was the difference."

Boyd did suggest that his club was a bit intimidated with the magnitude of the game and the opponent. "I've seen us play a lot better than that. Everything finally came together for us with three minutes left in the game, but by that time, we were 20 points down and the most we could do was make it respectable."

The Bucs also suffered from a poor night at the foul line and missed its big forward, Ted Sochaski, who was not available for the contest. Although he is just a freshman, Sochaski has been a solid forward and is third in the league in scoring with over 20 points per game. "He is a big part of Belleville's future," Boyd said. "We'll need him if we hope to win the league this summer."

While the Belleville starters were less than effective, the substitutes did an admirable job coming off the bench. Boyd pointed to the play of Lou Ba La, Frank Morel and Leon Puentes as bright spots in an otherwise dark evening for Belleville basketball.

It has been a very successful season for the Buccaneers in their third season of competition in the summer league. Now, the perfect ending would be to win the championship and head into November on a positive note.

FLASHBACK — May 27, 1976

Batsmen Streak Broken at 20

The Belleville 20-game win streak was snapped at Verona Saturday with a 3-2 Greater Newark Tournament loss to Livingston, but the Belboys returned to their winning ways on Monday, shutting out Kearny, 6-0.

The Blue-Gold diamondmen, now 21-2, will travel to meet Hilsdale, this afternoon at 3:45 p.m. The Belboys will get a second chance at Livingston tomorrow at 4 p.m. when they battle the Lancers in state tournament play. A regular season game, scheduled tomorrow against Columbia has been postponed a week because of the state tournament conflict.

Coach George Zanfini said the Belleville squad handled their second loss of the season after 20 wins very well. "They took it like men," the diamond coach said. He also said the Belboys were glad to have the opportunity to play Livingston again. "That's what we all wanted, we get another chance."

The Belboys will probably be just as tough the second time around. The shutout against Kearny was the ninth of the year for the talented pitching staff and at least four hitters are in the 400 range, flirting with .500 averages, including Michael Cancelliere, Nicky Cancelliere, Greg Dunleavy and John Guarino. Ricky Loma's seventh mound victory and second shutout of the season led the Belboys to their 21st win, 6-0 over Kearny on Monday. Catcher Greg Dunleavy and designated hitter Joe Gelpi combined to drive in four runs to lead the Blue-Gold hitting attack.

A base hit by Gelpi in the second brought home Michael Cancelliere, who walked, and Greg Pettie who was on because of a Kearny error. Michael Cancelliere, singled home Bob Giordano for another run in the third inning. Giordano and Cancelliere were on the base paths again in the fifth with a walk and fielder's choice when Dunleavy doubled them home.

Nicky Cancelliere singled in the same inning to score Dunleavy to complete the Belleville scoring for the day. Coach "Z" said the ability to come back and beat Kearny after the tough loss to Livingston was a sign of the Blue-

Gold's talent and ability to bounce back.

A three-run deficit was nearly overcome by the Belboys in the loss to Livingston, 3-2 in Saturday's Greater Newark Tournament contest. Pitcher Greg Pettie took the loss after giving up a three-run homer in the second inning. Zanfini said Pettie's arm was a "little sore" and the Belboy was replaced on the mound by Giordano, who pitched the remainder of the game, allowing two hits and no runs.

Dunleavy scored both of the Belleville runs. The third-year varsity catcher doubled in the fourth and was driven in by Scott Osche's single. Dunleavy walked a triple in the sixth and came home for the second Blue-Gold run on a sacrifice fly by Nick Cancelliere.

Pitcher Loma's sixth win of the season without a loss helped the Belboys win their 20th game of the season, last Thursday, 4-0 over Bloomfield. A suicide squeeze bunt by Anthony Speer scored Nick Cancelliere in the second to open the Blue-Gold scoring.

Recreation Softball Action Was Exciting

The softball fields at Belleville generated some exciting competition during the hot summer evenings. In the men's "B" softball league, played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, All-Guard Insurance captured the championship with a thrilling 3-2 victory over Eastern Molding that took 11 innings.

For Guard Insurance, it was an uphill battle after a third place performance during the regular season. Playing in the Tuesday night category, All-Guard posted a record of 9-6, good for a third place tie with Roselli's Amoco. However, once the playoffs began, there was no denying this team.

They started off by defeating Rosebud's Pub, 11-1. In round two, All-Guard was an 8-4 victory over Campbell Tools and then earned the championship round with a solid 14-4 victory over Brothers Total Construction, a club that won the divisional title in the Tuesday Night division.

In the championship round, All-Guard started slowly, losing to Eastern Molding, 6-4 in the first game. With their backs to the wall, All-Guard rallied to tie the series with an 8-3 victory. It came down to one exciting contest and All-Guard had the upper hand, winning by one run in extra innings.

Pat Barbone was the coach of the team. The former Belleville High School graduate did a good job of keeping his club together and leading them to a championship after it appeared the club would fall short to teams with better records in regular season play.

The pitcher for most of the season was Frank Amco, a 1976 Belleville High School graduate. Amco did a solid job on the mound, allowing just eight earned runs in six playoff games.

At first base was "Toby" Tobin, the second baseman was Sal Postiglione, at shortstop was Barbone and the third baseman was Phil Agosta. The four outfielders were Tony Cortest, Frank Bialore, Jim Mele and Jim Fusaro. The catcher was Bob Racioppi with Jeff Dunn playing designated hitter. Ken Constantino also saw time at DH and Rich Valente played catcher during the course of the campaign.

It was truly a Belleville effort as everyone who played for All-Guard was a Belleville High School graduate. Even the scorekeeper, Kathy Constantino, was graduated from BHS in 1980.

The final game of the championship series was indeed a classic. Eastern Molding, which posted an 11-4 regular season mark and breezed to the championship round, seemed in control after winning the first game of the series. Guard had rallied to tie the series and set up a classic final confrontation.

After two scoreless innings in game three, Eastern Molding tallied two runs to grab a 2-0 lead. All-Guard scored once in its half of the third when Sal Postiglione singled, went to third on a Phil Agosta single and scored when Bob Racioppi hit into a fielder's choice, erasing Agosta at second.

With time running out, All-Guard tied the game in the sixth inning. With two outs, Tobin singled, went to second a single by Mele and scored on a Frank Bialore single. The game remained tied at two until the 11th inning.

Eastern Molding had a threat in the top of the inning, but Cortese made a tremendous play in the outfield, gunning down a potential score at home plate with a pinpoint throw. It set the stage for the heroics in the bottom of the inning.

With one out, Amco helped himself with a single. Cortese advanced Amco to third with a single and Tobin was intentionally walked to load the bases. Up came Mele, who stroked a sacrifice fly to right field that was deep enough to score Amco and give All-Guard a well deserved victory.

Twelve teams made up the men's softball league and the competition was exciting to say the least. Congratulations goes out to all the members of All-Guard Insurance on their exciting victory and to every one associated with the league.

The Belleville Braves began playoff competition in the Essex County Baseball League last Monday with a one game, do or die situation against Parsippany. Sal Garilli's crew posted a 20-17-2 mark for the season, a three-game improvement on last year's record and marked the first time a Belleville team has qualified for the playoffs of the ECBL since 1978.

The Braves, should they defeat Parsippany, would have their hands full in round two of the playoffs. The competition is West Orange. The defending champions of the ECBL. There is an intense competition between the two clubs and Garilli makes no secret of the fact that he feels Belleville can beat this team.

In order to do so, the Braves will need some good pitching from Scott Lutz, Mike Cavaluzzi and Anthony Coco. Unfortunately, they will be without the services of Scott Wohlrab, who injured his knee in a freak accident during a game with Montclair State College last week. Without Wohlrab's bat and pitching ability, the Braves will be lacking. It's been a good season for the club, although they have lacked some consistency, something Garilli feels has kept his team from playing at the top of its division.

The Belleville boys' basketball team lost its first game of the summer to Essex Catholic, 78-68 in Pulaski Park last week. The Bucs took a 6-1 record into their final regular season contest against Immaculate High School. Next week, they will begin action in the playoffs, probably against Immaculate once more. Head coach Dave Boyd is looking for another shot at Essex Catholic and that could come in the championship game of the league.

What did you think of the Olympic Games? If it was gold medals you were looking for, the United States certainly filled the bill there. In basketball, it wouldn't have mattered whether the Soviet Union, East German, Afghanistan, the Boston Celtics or the Cuban National team were there, no one was going to stop the United States team. It's just too bad we didn't get a chance to play the USSR because the United States has not played the Soviets in Olympic basketball since the "farc" game in 1972 when the officials handed the Russians the game after the U.S.A. had won the game.

The women's basketball team captured its first gold medal ever with a resounding performance. As most fans know, women's basketball is reaching the big time and a strong performance by our team should keep the fire alive. Our boxing team did a super job, as did the gymnastics team, the divers, the swimmers, the track and field team and everyone associated with the games. Even though Carl Lewis has been subjected to a certain amount of criticism for his passing in the long jump, he did have the talent to clear over 28 feet and should be commended for winning four gold medals after the pressure was put on him to equal Jesse Owens' miraculous 1936 feat.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, name the starting infield from the 1969 New York Mets. The answer: Don Cheaden played first, Ken Boswell was at second, Bud Harrelson at shortstop and Wayne Garret, along with Ed Charles at third. The catcher was Jerry Grote.

For this week's quiz, name the starting backfield of the 1969 Kansas City Chiefs.

Playground Action Is Winding Down

The Belleville Recreation Playground program began to wind down as the seventh week took place.

Whiffleball remained a favorite at Fairway Park as Frank Van Syckel continued to lead in home runs with 85. Steve Reilly and Bill Van Syckel were among the participants.

At School 10 Trivia Pursuit was played daily with Joe Cicalo, George Speer, Laura Caruso and Trish Tramantola battling to see who rules as the brain of the playground.

The Friendly House played ping pong, bumper pool and card games all week with many of the children having a great deal of fun during the competition.

The Belleville Recreation Department held its annual decaathlon on Aug. 9 at the stadium. The events included a quarter-mile run, bike race, push ups, jump rope, basketball shoot, football throw, obstacle course, 100-yard dash, nok-hockey and agility run. There were three age divisions, junior (7-9), intermediate (10-12) and senior (13-15) and the first three place finishers received trophies.

In the junior division third place was awarded to Jimmy Landon who scored 494 points. Vin Barrett finished second with 568 points and 677 points were scored by Chris Marcantunono to gain first place.

In the intermediate division the three winners were David Kascmar in third place with 680 and in a close battle, Mike Senesky scored 788 to beat out Ray Caruso's 747 points for first place.

D & M Printing Wins Two Straight in JDSL

D & M Printing of Belleville took two straight games from Toman Construction, 7-3 and 8-1, in quarterfinal round action of the James Dombrowski Softball League. The victory sets up a rematch of the 1983 semifinal contest of D & M and SGN.

SGN, of North Arlington, breezed by the Belleville Pirates, 10-3 and 13-2. Pat Cicalese, coach of the Pirates, was proud of his team's effort in its first season in the 56-team JDSL.

D & M was led by the fine pitching of John Marx who gained both wins. Jimmy DeAngelis provided another all-star performance encouraged by his blonde wife, Dee, who has nursed Jim's season-long injuries of muscle pulls. DeAngelis contributed four hits and two RBIs. Joey Mustache had five hits and one RBI and league RBI leader Billy Gallagher collected five RBIs in the sweep. Second baseman Jeff Jiminez showed sparkling defense as his team only allowed four runs.
