Teachers given leaves of absence

The school board granted Marion Bergenfeld, School 9 teacher, an additional child-rearing leave of absence for the 1985-86 school year. Bergenfeld, presently on a leave of absence, will receive the time off without pay according to the contractual agreement between the school board and the Belleville Education Association.

The board also granted Diane Galante, School 4 teacher, a maternity leave of absence from May 1 to June 1 as well as a child-rearing leave of absence from June 25 to June 30. Galante, who will not receive pay during her time off, was also granted a child-rearing leave of absence for the 1985-86 school year.

Kindergarten parents will meet

Formal meetings for parents of registered kindergarten students have been planned for the weeks ahead, said Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello.

Meetings have been planned as follows: March 20, School 9, 2 p.m.; April 2, Schools 8 and 7, 9 a.m. and 10 a.m., respectively; April 3, School 3, 10 a.m.; April 12, School 10, 10 a.m.; April 16, School 5, 10:45 a.m. and 2:15 p.m.; and April 18, School 4, 2 p.m.

Street cleaning begins March 18

Street cleaning will begin this Monday, said Joseph Grande, public works commissioner.

Alternate side of the street parking regulations will be enforced. Cars parked on designated sides of the street will be ticketed.

Adam Walsh's father speaks at BHS

John Walsh of the National Association for Missing and Exploited Children will speak at a program sponsored by the School 5 Parent-Teachers Association tonight, 7:30 p.m., at the high school.

Walsh, father of a 6-year-old boy whose disappearance and murder became known nationwide as the result of the television movie, "Adam," has become a major force behind the passage of legislation concerning missing and exploited children.

Matters in Brief

Blight hearing set for Tuesday

The board of commissioners will hold a public hearing 7 p.m. this Tuesday concerning the redevelopment of Washington Avenue.

This hearing will enable the public to comment on the redevelopment agency's proposal to declare blight on a portion of Washington Avenue.

The hearing will be held in the auditorium of School 7 on Jerusalem Street.

Three charged with kidnapping

Two Jersey City men and a Belleville resident were charged with the kidnapping of a Belleville man last Monday night and making terroristic threats against his life, Deputy Police Chief Frank Haight said.

Officers Robert Klein and Nicholas Krentz arrested the three men on Brighton Avenue at 9:42 p.m. They are being held in Essex County Jail for a grand jury hearing. They were also charged with buying 10 oz. of cocaine.

The 24-year-old Belleville resident also faces a robbery charge. He allegedly stole change from the victim while holding a knife to his throat.

Meanwhile, the 19-year-old victim was charged with selling 10 oz. of cocaine and will also appear before a grand jury.

Board approves teachers and aide

The school board approved the position of Diana Kelleher, special education teacher at the middle school, effective March 4, and Vincenza Valenza, School 3 teacher, effective March 18, at $50 per day for the balance of the school year.

The board also approved Catherine Watson, part-time teacher aide at School 5, effective Feb. 26, at $4.50 per hour.

Residents arrested by state police

Three Belleville residents, two men and one woman, were arrested by state police last Wednesday night and charged with the conspiracy to distribute cocaine, Deputy Police Chief Frank Haight said.

The two 18-year-old men and 41-year-old woman were taken into police custody at 6:40 p.m. State police were aided by Officers Grover Lewis, Leonard Burrell and Nicholas Krentz.

Washington Avenue blight proposals discussed in cable television debate

By Michelle Jeannotte

Opposing views concerning the blight proposal of Washington Avenue were aired Monday night in a taped debate for OBC cable television.

The debate, which can be seen tonight on a special program of "Belleville in Person," features Belleville Redevelopment Agency (BRDA) chairman Emil Nardachone, executive director Joe Dasaro, and member Gabe Nazziola, as well as opposing panelists attorney Martin Dolan, Vincent Frantantoni, property owner, and Louis Cicenia, owner of Charles Jewelers.

Each panel was given a chance to view their opinions of questions posed to them by the show's host, Howard Halpern, chamber of commerce president. Questions concerned the definition of blight and the necessity of blight and its effects.

The word blight is set forth by law, Nardachone said. He said that in the case of Washington Avenue, the word blight concerns the underutilization of property.

"Property owners have not done enough on the avenue," he said. "The BRDA has no authority for redevelopment unless blight is declared. This is why blight must be declared."

Other shopping areas

In opposition, Frantantoni said that shopping centers built elsewhere in town have taken away the traffic once attracted to the avenue. He referred to the Pathmark Shopping Center built in Silver Lake as well as the Grand Union Shopping Center in the Valley section of the township.

"Washington Avenue was once a prosperous business center," he said. "It was successful for many years until shopping centers were built in other parts of town. These centers took away merchants from our town and forced them out."

Frantantoni referred to the Boston Store, Terry Shop and National Shoes as examples of businesses which are presently conducting thriving businesses in other towns.

"There have been 26 major renovations in the area being considered for blight," he added. "Once the idea of blight began to spread, these renovations stopped. There is no direction."

Proponents:

Emil Nardachone

Joe Dasaro

Gabe Nazziola

Displacement

One of the major points of the blight proposal concerns the displacement of businesses and residences along the avenue.

Citing some facts about this aspect of the proposal, Nardachone, chairman of the BRDA, said that no tenant would be displaced until a relocation plan is filed. He said that a plan must be fully funded before the declaration of blight can be effected.

"The blight plan must be approved by the township fathers and the state before displacement can take place," Nardachone said. "The commissioners have the final say in this matter. They can either accept the plan, reject it or modify it. We (BRDA) cannot do anything until the blight proposal is approved."

Nardachone said that anytime a property owner or merchant has to be displaced, the BRDA is responsible for its relocation.

Aid to property owners

Adding to this, BRDA executive director Joe Dasaro said the BRDA would like to set up an office where the agency could "plug" into the community. With this type of office established, people in the concerned area would have a place to go with questions or problems, he said.

Once the blighted area is redeveloped, Nardachone said, the BRDA would attempt to get the original businesses and residents back into the redeveloped area.

"How can you relocate someone who needs three acres of land or has a business that employs 30-40 people?" Lou Cicenia, property owner, asked. "People built their businesses here with faith in the community. I just spent $108,000 renovating my business and now I am faced with

Municipal budget introduced; 5-point tax increase approved

The board of commissioners introduced a $15.6 million municipal budget at a special meeting last week, showing a five-point increase.

The $15,562,283 budget reflects the state's maximum 6.5 percent cap, Mayor Michael Marotti said. He added that this was the first time the budget reflected this cap figure which was passed in 1983.

"If we had stayed within the 5 percent cap, we would have been $66,000 over," he said. "We kept the point increase down from 13 to five without any major cuts."

The five-point increase means that township taxes will increase 5 cents on every $100 of assessed property value, bringing the tax rate to $1.65. Marotti said the increase was due to a 7 percent salary increase for township employees, including police and firefighters, recently negotiated in contract talks.

Marotti said that because of the tax increase, the township would not have to resort to layoffs or decrease services provided to residents.

The total local tax revenues for 1985 are estimated at $7.9 million, half of the township budget figure. This figure does not represent the effect of the county and school budgets, said Marotti. He said that the three budgets together last year reflected 42 tax points.

State and federal tax revenues for this year are estimated at $678,877, a $115,296 decrease from the 1982 figure. Revenues are collected through other sources including alcoholic beverage licenses, sale of township-owned property, and municipal court fees.

Belleville business review

Belleville Chamber nearing 300 members

By Howie Halpern

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce, in a massive membership drive, has added over 60 new members. By the end of March, another 40 are expected to join, which will bring the total to almost 300 strong.

Volunteers in the drive included members of the Senior Citizens Club, Peoples Bank, The Belleville Times, Belleville Travel, Van Dyke Co., Community Services, Shermans Children's Wear, Towne Delicatessen, and various chamber members.

A new weekly show has been added to OBC-TV Channel 36. Called "Belleville in Person," the show will focus on the business community, the people and the personalities that make Belleville tick. This show is about you and your neighbor. If anyone has an interesting hobby or craft they wish to demonstrate or talk about, or are active in community affairs or have musical talent and wish to appear on the show, please contact the chamber office for an appointment.

One of the chamber's newest members is the Nutley Pet Center. They are located at 406 Main Street in the Grand Union Shopping Mall and have been in Belleville for the last eight years.

Owner Ralph DePiro, a former Nutley police officer, has been cited by NBC-TV as No. 1 in the state for cleanliness. Ralph sells many kinds of animals including some "wild ones." When one enters the Nutley Pet Center and closes his eyes, the sounds are like an exotic jungle. For starters, how would you like to own a boa constrictor, or a pet python? If you prefer, you can take home an alligator (camin). That's great Ralph, but can I teach it to roll over or catch a frisbee?

Ralph has a large selection of exotic birds including talking parrots ranging in price up to $2000. Doug Johnson of ABC News presented a fashion show on TV and featured the Nutley Pet Center with the latest dog coats and accessories fashions. They sell rabbits, guinea pigs, rats, pet mice, etc. The pet center is especially proud of its exotic salt water fish. Since salt water fish require special handling and care, DePiro's staff will educate the fish enthusiast for a period of 3 to 6 weeks before he's ready to take the responsibility of caring for these fish independently.

Another fine service of the Nutley Pet Center is dog grooming - they use no tranquilizers. The Nutley Pet Center - welcome aboard.

Technion Inc. - Testing & Research is the chamber's most recent industrial member located at 681 Main St. Technion is a service laboratory, testing for industry and consumers. They conduct environmental testing for product development. Tests are performed for quality control in such products as cosmetics, detergents, and adhesives. Dr. Susan Baturey runs a complete analytical chemistry testing lab, making certain to meet all government specifications.

Technion is involved with pollution monitoring from building sites. They also work for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Pollution monitoring is done for the U.S. Coast Guard on matter that's washed ashore from here to Camden. The staff at Technion includes PhDs, experts with masters degrees and technicians.

Business seminar

Joseph Dasaro, executive director of the redevelopment agency, and Howard Halpern, chamber of commerce president, greet Everett Shaw, executive director of Economic Development Corporation of Essex County. #### ALCOHOL IN LIQUID REMEDIES

Do you take medicines in liquid form? With each spoonful, the active ingredient, the chemical that is designed to treat or relieve your symptoms, will be included. There will also be an assortment of inactive ingredients such as colorings, flavorings, and, very likely, some alcohol. Alcohol appears in varying amounts, in hundreds of liquid preparations, in both prescription and over-the-counter drugs. Alcohol is used in drugs generally because it is an excellent solvent. In some ways, it is better than water in keeping the other ingredients dissolved in the proper liquid form. While the presence of alcohol is not cause for alarm, consumers should be aware of it, there are times when even a little alcohol can have serious consequences, especially for children.

If you have any questions concerning the contents of your prescription medications ask your doctor or our pharmacist at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. We are Medicare and Blue Cross approved. Our stocks include Rivald, Stiver, candy and greeting cards for Easter. Hours: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-6pm Sundays.

HANDY HINT:

When used, the ingredient "alcohol" will appear on the label of over-the-counter drugs.

School's art appreciation program encourages discussion, idea exchange

By Michelle Jeannotte

An appreciation of fine art is something acquired over the years. Even some adults, after years of searching, never seem to find the true meaning of art. But ask any student at School 10 a question about art and you are bound to get an answer.

Four years ago a group of parents introduced the Children's Art Appreciation Program (CAAP) to School 10 students as a way of teaching them about art. The program is designed for grades one to six, each having an individual curriculum, program coordinator Chris Bonacorsa said.

Each class has an art mother who meets with students for eight half-hour sessions beginning in February and ending in May, she said. Using visual aids, art mothers discuss the colors, shapes and themes of paintings while encouraging students to share their ideas and opinions.

Active discussion

The emphasis of the program is to encourage active discussion and exchange of ideas between parent and child by observing a painting's use of colors, style and composition.

"Because the program stresses individual thinking, there is no wrong answer," Bonacorsa said. "Students are encouraged to give their own interpretations of a piece of art."

The program, which coincides with the school's history and language curriculum, demonstrates art's reflection on life, poetry and literature, she added. Fourth graders who are currently studying early America and New Jersey are exposed to paintings which depict this period of time, she said.

Artists discussed in the program's sessions have included Leonardo da Vinci, Vincent Van Gogh, Winslow Homer and Frederick Remington. Works of these artists can be viewed during the school's annual art exhibition.

School 10 is conducting its Children's Art Appreciation Program (CAAP) for the fourth consecutive year. Parents volunteer four hours of their time during the months of February and May to discuss various art forms with students. Here, Pat Taihi, art mother and home and school president, discusses a painting with sixth graders Danny Hywel and Renee Parrillo. Photo by Michelle Jeannotte.

Mothers hear dentist speak on proper care

Dr. Robert Ramer addressed a group of preschool mothers at Belleville Public Library, March 5 on "Children and Proper Dental Care."

According to Ramer, the essentials of good health include brushing at least three times per day after meals, a good balanced diet with a minimum of sugar treats, and three regular check-ups per year. This applies to both adults and children. Early visits to the dentist allow children and dentists to establish friendly relationships that can lead to good dental habits.

Ramer received a B.A. in 1958 from Rutgers College and D.D.S. from the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry. He was a captain in the U.S. Army Corps, Fort Knox, Ky. and has been the Nutley school dentist since 1969.

Dear Umberto,

I am married to a handsome guy. I love him so much but he is losing his fine hair on the top of his forehead. I see that he has a unisex extension, adjacent to your store, where you cut men's hair. I told my husband to go see you but he refused. He thinks you only do ladies hair. Is there a way his hair can look fuller?

Your Guess Who Customer

Dear Guess Who Customer,
Yes, there is a method to let sparse, fine hair look fuller. Just a good curl permantent. You can give him the perm. (Use smaller rods on the top and large ones on the sides and the nape of the neck. This will give him more curls on top, looking fuller all around. Yes, we do many men in our unisex extension. Let me take this opportunity to thank those wives, mothers, sisters, and girlfriends who recommend our hair cutting. Thank you for your many compliments and the praising of my coworkers. Believe me, I never forget that I was a worker. My weekly fondest to Linda, Ellen, Nightman and Paula Mc Carlsch.

HEALTH WISE

Chiropractic recognizes that most ill health and pain results when nerves are pinched and irritated by a subluxation... a misalignment of spinal vertebrae. Depending on which nerve is pinched, the result can be in any organ or muscle tissue of the body.

Chiropractic treatment involves the correction of the vertebral misalignment through chiropractic adjustment. Just as a broken bone takes time to heal, so a subluxation may require a series of adjustments over a period of time for a full correction.

A chiropractic examination will determine the cause of poor health and define the treatment needed. Phone today.

Victims also do have rights with real value

Residents who think the local library is a dull place should stop and think again. In Belleville, library officials arrange for speakers to come and talk about issues that are usually quite interesting. Last week was no exception.

As reported by Belleville Times editor Michelle Jeannotte, the founder and chairman of the New Jersey Council on Crime Victims had a lot to discuss when he visited the library. In fact, Robert Grayson had more information than we may have wanted to hear.

The cornerstone of Grayson's philosophy is that crime victims have rights that should be as definite as the rights that are given to those accused of committing a crime. He has developed a so-called "Crime Victim's Bill of Rights," and what he mentions makes sense.

For example, he said that law enforcement agencies should keep victims informed about the progress of the case against the accused. He said victims should know when a trial is taking place and when sentencing will be made because a judge is less lenient when a victim is present.

Another suggestion Grayson makes is that law enforcement agencies should notify a victim when personal property, stolen during a crime, is recovered by police. He said that frequently this is not done, and recovered items are simply auctioned off for sale.

Grayson also applauded the state's creation of a board that administers a fund used to compensate victims by providing some money to ease the loss realized by the crime. He said an additional step would be to expand the law so that convicted criminals must reimburse victims for their complete loss.

Grayson illustrates the sad state of affairs in dealing with criminals when he tells the story of the time he was involved in an accident with another car. He said he and four men he accused of mugging him were left by police in the same room, that he wasn't permitted to make a call and they were, and that he was kept there for more than four hours even though he needed medical attention.

It is clear that society no longer looks at the victim as merely someone who was in the wrong place at the wrong time. But as Grayson points out, there is still a long way to go. We thank him for helping to spread the message.

Seatbelts do just fine because safety is key

From now on it is a crime to get in a car and begin to drive somewhere with a seatbelt not buckled up. The fact that the state Legislature passed such a law means that representatives of the people decided this was something both beneficial and supported.

There is evidence that wearing a seatbelt reduces the chance of being injured or killed when involved in an automobile accident. Statistics reveal that there have been fewer traffic fatalities since car manufacturers began installing seatbelts in cars to be used on an optional basis.

Proponents of the new state law successfully argued that since seatbelts were helping to save lives when only used by part of the population, the use of seatbelts by everyone would save even more lives. The argument is convincing.

But some who objected to the law and some citizens who gripe about its provisions, complain that wearing a seatbelt is uncomfortable and that there are drivers who are careful never to get into accident situations. They say they shouldn't be forced to wear seatbelts.

We disagree. Driving is not a right in this state, legally it is a privilege, and while government should be wary of legislating morality, it should not hesitate to legislate safety.

In last week's edition of this newspaper reporter Lisa Grimaldi wrote about the new law, and how the police in various nearby communities would be handling it. Her report revealed that local perceptions are different, and that while Bloomfield is only issuing warnings this month, Belleville had issued eight summonses as of press time.

We think the law is fair. No driver can be certain he won't be involved in an accident, and the fact that he must now buckle up is a strong inducement to passengers that they should also do so. The law also requires that infants must be placed in restraint devices, and that toddlers must be secured whether they are riding in the front or back seat.

As older citizens stop driving and younger residents learn to drive the law will come to be accepted as a way of life. In the not too distant future everyone will have become accustomed to wearing seatbelts, and the benefit to society as a whole is that more people will survive auto accidents that ever before. We are glad for that.

Times' coverage appreciated

To the editor:

I am writing this letter of thanks and appreciation for the excellent press coverage of the upcoming election of the Belleville Board of Education.

Thus far, the Belleville Times has certainly brought the educational issues to the attention of the public. I believe it is incumbent upon the candidates to clearly express our thoughts on the current issues. We should attempt to communicate these to the public through various sources and the news media, where possible. Good communication, in conjunction with good news coverage by the Belleville Times, will certainly enhance one's voting knowledge before going to the polls on Election Day, April 2.

Therefore, I respectfully submit to the good citizens of Belleville my platform for re-election to the Belleville Board of Education.

Letters to the Editor

Board member called 'biased'

To the editor:

I am writing this letter in reference to an incident which took place at a Feb. 26 board of commissioners meeting. I strongly object and publicly complain about Edith DeFaio's biased opinions directed toward the tenants of this town.

Being a landlord as well as a tenant of Belleville, I try to take a fair and objective view, but after attending many rent leveling board meetings and town meetings, I have come to the conclusion that Ms. DeFaio is too pro-landlord to serve in any capacity to help the people of Belleville.

To prove some of these facts all you need do is look at her voting record on the rent leveling board, which is supposed to be an open-minded, impartial committee. To stand up at a town meeting and attack tenants and defy the law in regard to garbage disposal only proves my point.

Some statements this woman makes are shocking beyond belief against tenants. You should remember that the tenants of Belleville are also voters in Belleville. I strongly recommend that Ms. DeFaio be removed from the rent leveling board and be replaced by a competent, fair-minded individual.

Sebastian Papa, Jr.

Editor's Note: The above letter was originally sent to Mayor Michael Marotti and the township's other four commissioners.

Golden Comments

by James R. Golden

An official copy transcript from Grace C. Harris, The Planning Association of North Jersey, Consultants Re. Comments on Blight Designation For Washington Avenue comments are as follows: "...Any lapse of time between blight designation and actual redevelopment will result in a depreciation of values of the blighted property. It will mean that improvements will not be made and needed maintenance will not occur. It will not be possible to support efforts at strict enforcement of codes because it would only increase the value of properties which will eventually be acquired.

Any redevelopment program is limited by three major factors: 1) available funding; 2) relocation resources; and 3) the market for cleared property. The redevelopment plan should address each of these three issues before the area is blighted.

A blight designation should be limited to an area which can be expected to be redeveloped in the near future (3-5 years). If funding is not available for an extended program, the blight designation should be limited to the blocks which can be acquired and cleared in three years.

The first factor to be addressed in the redevelopment plan is the availability of funding. It must be determined how much will be available from all sources to conduct the redevelopment program (federal funds, county funds, municipal funds and private financing). Then a program must be devised with a budget which can cover the costs of acquisition, clearance, relocation and administration.

The second factor is the relocation plan. This must determine 1) the number of families and businesses to be displaced; 2) that actual dwelling units and stores are available to relocate the displaced families and business establishments at rents they can afford to pay; and 3) that funds are available to cover the costs of relocation expenses and rent supplements.

The third factor is to determine that there is a market for the cleared property. A marketability study should be undertaken for the potential cleared land to determine developer interest. In order to do a marketability study, it is necessary to have a redevelopment plan which indicates the proposed land uses and the approximate size of the parcels to be disposed of.

These pertinent factors MUST BE fully ascertained, studied and found logically and practically applicable prior to any certification and approval of the sought redevelopment proposal submitted by the Belleville Redevelopment Agency.

A Look Back In Time

School Board trustees assailed $378,743 in state aid cuts to Belleville and said they would not lower the $15 million budget to make up for the reduction. "This is not something we can accept," said School Superintendent John Greed.

In keeping with tradition, the Board of Commissioners paid homage to a recently deceased firefighter. Fire Chief George Sharra joined Public Safety Commissioner Mathew Pica and other officials in a moment of silence to honor Belleville Fire Department's Deputy Chief Ralph J.

Castellano Sr., who had died the previous week.

Behind the clutch foul shooting of Jennifer Apicella, the Belleville girls' basketball team nipped Elizabeth, 53-49 in first round Group IV, Section II tournament action at Bloomfield High School.

Joining other objecting Essex County communities, Belleville added fuel to the fire of criticism that had apparently burned out a proposal by Essex County Executive Peter Shapiro that municipalities assume street cleaning responsibilities, beginning in June, for county roads within their boundaries.

Question of The Week

By Stacy Wolf
Question: Does handgun ownership encourage violence?

Matthew Breure

contractor
751 Riffcamp Rd.

"I have a handgun at home. Because I have one, that doesn't make me a violent person. I use it as a sport for a side arm. The good book says 'thou shalt not kill...' so why should I depend on a handgun for revenge. I don't believe in it."

Ralph DePiro
former police officer
406 Main St.

"No I don't, as a former police officer of 10 years we were taught not to use a gun unless we had to. I don't think owning a handgun causes violence. A lot of people use their guns for sport, as in target practice."

Matt Breure
contractor
751 Riffcamp Rd.

"Not really. Not at all because every individual who wants to purchase a fire arm, most of the time, wants it for sport or personal use. I use my gun for sport and hunting. Others may use it for protection but only for self defense."

Cheryl Rubertone
8 Corsay Rd.

"It depends if a child finds a gun then it might lead to violence. You have to be very careful and put your gun away in a safe place. I'd like a handgun for my self for protection."

Voters will decide fate of $17.7 million school budget April 2

By Michelle Jeannotte

Voters will be presented with a $17.7 million school budget proposal when they go to the polls on April 2.

Following a public hearing last week, school board members approved the $17,713,600 budget for the 1985-86 school year. If approved, the budget would raise property taxes 5 cents for each $100 of assessed value, Edward Appleton, school board business administrator, said.

A taxpayer who owns property assessed at $50,000 would face a $25 tax hike, he said.

Appleton said the current expense portion of the budget is the largest. Current expenses for the 1985-86 school year are estimated at $16.5 million, which includes instruction costs (teacher salaries) and operation and maintenance of buildings.

Instruction costs for the upcoming school year are estimated at $10.5 million, an increase of $785,153.

Budget cuts

In trimming the budget, the board approved a $40,528 decrease in transportation costs, as well as a $78,597 decrease in maintenance of plant costs. There was also a decrease in current expenses of $50,000 in contracted services, most of which was appropriated as architectural fees, Appleton said.

Appleton also said that the board is using surplus funds of $368,939 in lieu of raising taxes. Anticipated figures from federal and state aid also affect the budget's total amount, he added.

The budget would raise $9.6 million in local taxes, an increase from last year's school budget figure of $9.4 million. Incorporated in this figure is an appropriation of $124,558 in capital outlay costs. This money will be used for reroofing and repainting the high school, Appleton said.

Budgets defeated

The school budget has been defeated 20 times in the last 21 years, with voters narrowly defeating last year's $16.9 million budget. The fate of three school board candidates vying for two three-year seats will also be decided by the voters on election day.

Candidates for this year's race are incumbent Ernest Zoppi, Kevin Kennedy and Dr. Joseph Cappello. Grace Purdue, school board president, declined to run for reelection.

Polls will be open from 2-9 p.m. on April 2.

Belleville Redevelopment Agency

ESTABLISHED APRIL 1981

In the interest of clarifying misunderstandings, misconceptions, and rumors regarding the initial declaration of blight on Washington Avenue, we offer the following:

RUMOR

- Once blight is declared, the bulldozers will knock down everything in sight.
- Property owners in the blighted zone will receive anywhere from assessed value down to 10% on the Dollar for their property.
- Occupants, be they tenant, residence owner or business man, will be put on the streets without regard.
- The redevelopment of Washington Avenue is going to increase taxes for everyone.
- The use of government monies will mean the redevelopment must include low income housing in order to qualify for the funds.
- Redevelopment will mean the loss of many businesses in town.
- Government money never comes without strings.
- We don't need Blight declaration to develop Washington Avenue.
- The township can use present county funds to fix up the Avenue.
- There are too many people against this development idea.
- Once blight is declared, it can never be undone.
- We don't need a redevelopment agency to revitalize Washington Avenue. The business men can do it themselves.

After over twenty years of seeing a failing township commercial center, the Belleville Board of Commissioners took the first step to reversing the problem. They created the Belleville Redevelopment Agency on September of 1981, to provide an organized solution.

During the past three and a half years, there have been detailed studies, investigations, discussions and public hearings costing thousands of dollars.

It is now time for the Board of Commissioners to take the most crucial step to what they started. Only they can re-affirm what they saw three and a half years ago.

The Belleville Redevelopment Agency proposes that a viable starting area of blight should encompass at the very least, Mill Street to Rutgers Street along Washington Avenue extending east to Vail Street and west to the property lines of those properties fronting Washington Avenue.

FACT

- Nothing is done until a redevelopment plan and a relocation plan with proper funding is approved by the Township Commission.
- BY STATE LAW, any properties acquired in a blighted area must be purchased at no less than the fair market value as determined on the date of blight. Such value arrived at by two or more independent appraisals.
- BY STATE LAW, it is the responsibility of the Belleville Redevelopment Agency to provide relocation funds and assistance to anyone affected by the blight/redevelopment program.
- On the contrary, the possible addition of an estimated 40 to 50 million dollars of new tax rates, could only have a reducing effect on the taxes of individual home and business owners.
- The kind of government funding to be used, (UDAG) URBAN DEVELOPMENT ACTION GRANTS requires as a qualification just ONE of three housing efforts. They are low income, middle income or senior citizen housing. Belleville Townships PAST EFFORTS to create SENIOR CITIZEN housing has already qualified the Township for UDAG funds.
- Redevelopment would mean the re-establishment of existing businesses in a more vibrant, revitalized commercial district and the introduction of new quality businesses to our community.
- Unusually true. BUT the UDAG string is JOBS. The general rule is one new created job for every 10 thousand dollars of UDAG grant money. Certainly, the creation of new jobs and careers, would be a benefit to our town.
- THE FAILURE OF THIS STATEMENT HAS BEEN EVIDENT ON WASHINGTON AVE. DURING THE PAST 20 YEARS. Blight is required to enable larger tracts of land to be packaged in order to attract developers and to avail our township to funding sources at the county level.
- Limited county funds for paint jobs and building fronts, will not give the township new commercial store and office space resulting in new jobs, more tax rates. This can only be achieved thru an organized large scale redevelopment program.
- The fact of the matter is that although there have been several very vocal individuals in opposition to this effort, a recent town wide survey by the Belleville Redevelopment Agency resulted in close to 700 tax paying families taking the time to send us their support statements for the proposed redevelopment program.
- BLIGHT IS UNDONE when those conditions as defined by state law, cease to exist.
- The township Commissioners recognized the failure of that thinking and created the Belleville Redevelopment Agency giving it the responsibility of redevelopment in the township. Recently, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, representing over 150 business and industrial members of the community, voted in support of the Belleville Redevelopment Agency's efforts and concepts.

Divorce can be harmful to grown children too

By Dr. Martin Weinapple
The Carrier Foundation

Much has been said about the harmful effects divorce can have on the little children in the family. Little or nothing has been said about the effects on grown children. The attitude generally has been that grown children — 18, 19, 20 or older — can "take it." But this, in fact, is not always the case. Grown children can suffer as much as little children because of their parents' divorce and are also susceptible to a variety of emotional disturbances.

When children grow up, they do not lose their need for an intact family — a mother, a father, a hearth and a home — of which they are a part and to which they always feel they belong, even after they are married and have a home and family of their own. It may only be a "warm feeling in their heart" and they might not come back to visit more than two or three times a year, but so long as it is there, it continues to provide a feeling of safety, certainty and durability.

Sense of loss

When the parents divorce, even if one of them should continue to live in the house in which the children grew up, and especially if they both move out of the old home, there is a terrible sense of loss, of an aching void. The joyous, noisy, happy family gatherings at Thanksgiving and Christmas, or Chanukah and Passover, are gone — forever. So are the telephone calls home with mother on one extension and dad on the other listening to the son's or daughter's woes and offering consolation and encouragement. Instead, there may be the voice of the parent living alone, depressed, tearful, seeking sympathy and comfort; trying to explain "why it happened," even in some cases blaming it on the other parent. Or if one or both parents have remarried, the voice at the other end of the line could be that of a stranger, the new wife or husband, making awkward efforts at trying to establish a relationship and assuring the son or daughter that he or she is welcome to come and visit and stay "in your new home" and that it will be just the same as it always was, which, of course, it never will be.

Anger against life

A dear and vortant part of the son's or daughter's life and heart has died, and the reaction is that of loss and grief, and very often of anger. The anger is against "life itself and this rotten thing it has done to me." But, unfortunately, it is often misdirected to one or both parents as though they were to blame and as though they didn't have enough to deal with already. The anger is generally aimed at the parent who initiated the divorce but it could just as likely be turned on the other parent "for having let it happen."

But divorce of parents who have been married 20 years or longer is no longer a rarity and needs to be accepted as a fact of life, a life-change crisis that many young adults are now having to endure. Grown children going through this crisis are apt to react to the emotional upheaval by becoming depressed, having anxiety attacks, developing a phobia or succumbing to a psychosomatic ailment such as hypertension, gastritis, ulcers, colitis and others. Or their emotional distress may cause them to behave in a way that will produce conflict and strain in their own family if they are married. When such things happen, there is certainly a need for counseling, psychotherapy or psychiatric treatment. It is wiser, however, not to wait until the condition become acute, but rather to seek professional help when the divorce of parents first starts to produce strong emotional upheaval and distress.

Tel-Med offers information on arthritis cause, treatment

Tel-Med, a free community service of Clara Maass Medical Center and the Arthritis Foundation, offer a wide range of information and advice for arthritis sufferers.

Arthritis is a nagging, painful, often disabling problem which affects more than 36,000,000 Americans every year. The term actually refers to over 100 different diseases involving inflammation of the joints. Every year more than 1,000,000 people will discover they have some form of arthritis. The disease is not limited to older people — some 250,000 children suffer from juvenile arthritis.

One of the more common forms of arthritis is osteoarthritis, or degenerative joint disease. It is primarily, although not always, a mild form which frequently develops during old age.

Osteoarthritis sufferers have reason to hope. Through an effective combination of rest, physical therapy, heat treatments, supportive devices and medication, doctor's can ease pain and strain. In some cases, however, osteoarthritis can be severe enough to cause substantial loss of mobility.

While recent medical and surgical advances, such as total removal of the hip, offer hope to sufferers, arthritis still has no cure. However, many people who use a variety of medically baseless "quack" treatments involving medications, mechanical devices, and diets, believe otherwise. There are also numerous clinics offering such dubious and sometimes dangerous treatments in Canada and Mexico.

The Clara Maass Medical Center Tel-Med system has many other types on important health matters. Call 751-7000 and request the tape you want to hear. # Sheriff seeking second term Essex County Sheriff Thomas J. D'Alessio has announced that he is a candidate for re-election to a second term in office. Speaking before a crowd of supporters at a campaign kick-off reception in Newark, D'Alessio outlined his campaign plans.

State Senate President Carmen A. Orechio, who served as chairman of the reception, introduced Freeholder President Jerome D. Greco who will serve as overall campaign manager for D'Alessio. Finance co-chairmen will be County Surrogate Nicholas Amato and Short Hills attorney Al DeCotis.

In his remarks, D'Alessio declared that he seeks re-election proudly. In listing some of the accomplishments of his first term in office, he emphasized that, as promised in his first campaign, he called for the first Civil Service Examination to be given in the sheriff's office in the last nine years. He said that the sheriff's office has instituted a meaningful policy of affirmative action designed to ensure minority representation throughout the ranks. D'Alessio also described the leading role that sheriff's officers were taking in setting up a county-wide computerized network to locate missing persons.

According to D'Alessio, the sheriff's office public education programs were reaching thousands of young people each year with preventive information about child sexual abuse and the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse.

The Sheriff's Bureau of Narcotics was described by D'Alessio as being in the forefront of the war against illicit drug traffic in Essex County. He pledged that continuing the fight against drug abuse on all levels will remain a top priority throughout his administration.

In outlining some of his future plans to make the Essex County Sheriff's Office, which is the largest in New Jersey even more efficient and effective, D'Alessio spoke of the mobile crime lab, bomb squad and driving while intoxicated (DWI) enforcement program which he hoped to see become a reality during his second term.

D'Alessio thanked the crowd of supporters and friends and pledged to run a re-election campaign that would be worthy of their support. He asked for their continued advice and assistance to make his campaign a success.

Cerreto, Zarro and Gibbons Shoot for State Championship

By Joe Piegario

Tomorrow is the big day. After 13 long days of waiting, Misters Cerreto, Zarro and Gibbons will take their respective best shots at winning a state championship.

Dominic will face Middleton South's John Fagan, a sophomore with a 20-4-1 record for the season. This match should belong to Cerreto, although at this level anything can, and usually does, happen. If Dom can get through the prelims, he probably will face second seeded Mark Kelly of Eastern a junior with an unblemished 29-0 record.

"Junior" Zarro has the most difficult task of our "Big 3." Mark Saco of South Plainfield, a junior with a 22-5 record, is regarded by most newspapers as the second best 149 pounder in the tournament behind state champ Enzo Catullo of Summit. If Zarro can pass this initial test, he could conceivably roll into the finals as this division matches up well with "Junior's" talents.

"Iron Mike" Gibbons' opponent is Marc Palanchi of Rxbury, a senior owning a 21-2 log for the year. Although Gibbons is a co-favorite to win this weight class, it remains a puzzle to some observers, including this writer. All the name challengers (except Glen Pazinko of East Brunswick) are in the opposite bracket, Jamie Shriner of Roselle Park, Jeff Werthmuller of Bridgewater-Raritan East, Wally Voight of Kittatiny, Darnell Myres of Central Regional and Ricky Ceynowa of Clifton all reside in the upper bracket.

Gibbons' bracket is filled with unknowns, a dangerous predicament to be in while stalking a state wrestling title.

Whether or not all or any of our boys win a state championship, they must be applauded for having a wonderful year. Congratulations and good luck in the states!

Now let us step away from the states for a few moments and do something I've always wanted to see in print. Everyone has a daydreaming session which allows them to fantasize about their most loved and most hated ideas. Here are mine.

Things I would love to see happen
1. The N.N.J.L.L. disband. All those Bergen and Passaic County schools go back to their own divisions and play their inferior brand of male athletics (except football, of course).

2. The reformation of the Big 10. Let's see, how about Belleville, Bloomfield, Nutley, Montclair, West Orange, Essex Catholic, Seton Hall, Columbia, Montclair Immaculate and Barringer?

3. Referee Joe Luongo giving up his leaping pin routine. It's classless and embarrassing to teenagers. Joe, save it for college or the pros (maybe Hulk Hogan versus John Studd).

4. Referees Dick Matarante and Ernie Zuberer do all the BHS matches. They seem to be the only judges whose work is consistently excellent. All the rest can be pulled from a hat.

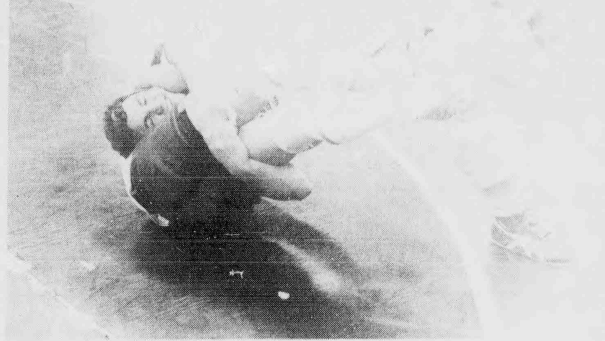

5. Joey Cerreto and/or Mondo Nardone win 100 matches in their varsity careers.

Things I would hate to see happen
1. Coach Gene D'Alessandro resign. Quite simply, I think he's the best, and any newcomer would have to be twice as good just to get the same credit. Sort of like Ray Perkins following Bear Bryant.

2. Junior league wrestler Mr. Stampone going to Essex Catholic.

3. The freshman wrestling team joined again with the jayvees in 1985-86. Come on guys, as 14, 15 year olds, it's certainly better to learn the art of wrestling than hang on the street corner or listen to Prince, isn't it?

4. The Belleville wrestling Parents and Friends Association decrease in size or importance. This is the most noteworthy society of its kind. In order to function as efficiently as it has in the past, it needs continued support, more money, and more members. If you are involved in high school wrestling or care about the BHS wrestlers in any way, join the society. Look for a pretty lady named Sue D'Amico and she will gladly sign you up.

TILTS & STACKS: This week's quiz question — who was the last BHS grappler to defeat an eventual state champ? Answer next week... This is a plea — if anyone has any information about BHS wrestling (such as old newspaper clippings, seeding charts, programs, etc.) please contact me. I desperately need data from 1962-1965 to complete the wrestling hall of fame victory chart. Thanks!

Umpire's Test to be held Monday

The Belleville Recreation Department will be conducting the A.S.A. Softball Umpire's Test on Monday, 7 p.m. March 18 at the Rec House, 407 Jaramila Street. Any adult, interested in taking the test should notify the recreation department by calling 450-3422 prior to the exam date. There is a $10 exam fee and a 78 percent passing grade is required. Successful applicants will then be qualified to umpire A.S.A. softball and will be responsible for securing their own work assignments.

Ralph Zarro will find some tough competition at the states in his weight class. Here, Zarro gets ready for the tourney.

Buc shots: Soccer still popular in Belleville with youngsters

By Mike Lamberti

Back in the late 1970's, professional soccer was at its finest. On any July evening at Giants Stadium, the Cosmos would draw in the neighborhood of 60-70,000 fans. The Big names of Beckenbauer, Pele, Chingaglia and Alberto would electrify the young fans who cheered the heroes of yesteryear. It appeared that professional soccer was here to stay, that the game of soccer had arrived in America.

As the decade of the 80's approached, the professional game started to lose its flavor. Mismanagement by the owners of the NASL, along with costly spending habits, saw the once proud league dwindle to extinction in 1985. Recently, the Cosmos folded from the Major Indoor Soccer League (MISL), marking a major downfall in the market of professional soccer in the area. While the game has lost its popularity in the pro ranks, it seems to have found new meaning in the younger circuits. Those fans who filled Giants Stadium in the late 70's and early 80's to root the Cosmos on, have taken a keen interest in the game. Youth leagues have picked up all over America. In New Jersey, soccer is the most popular sport for the young athletes to compete in. Coming even closer to home, Belleville has become a hotbed of soccer talent and that bed exploded when the Belleville Bandits of the Belleville Soccer Association captured the indoor championship with a thrilling 8-6 victory over Lyndhurst at the Meadowlands YMCA, a contest that was decided in the game's shootout.

The Bandits, winners of seven straight, lost just once the entire year, that coming to Lyndhurst in the season opener. Lyndhurst was undefeated coming into the contest and had won the outdoor championship last spring as well. It was going to be the ultimate test for the young Belleville squad and like true Belleville athletes, the Bandits came through.

In order to advance to the finals, Belleville had to stop East Rutherford in the semi-finals. The Bandits came through with flying colors, stopping the All Stars from Bergen County by a 9-0 count as Joe Colucci tallied six goals and Ivan Martin scored the final three. Ed Albanese came through with three assists to lead the way.

That set the stage for the dramatic contest with Lyndhurst, played before a SRO crowd at the Meadowlands YMCA. Belleville took the early advantage, jumping out to a 4-1 halftime lead with two goals. Colucci and Martin scored one each to complete the Bandit scoring at intermission. The second half saw the resurgence of the Golden Bears as Lyndhurst tallied three times, the last coming with just 15 ticks left in regulation time. A tying goal with time running out could have demoralized a young team, but Belleville found its composure and went into sudden death with renewed optimism.

The sudden death overtime was nip and tuck with neither team able to penetrate the others' defense. With five minutes completed and still no victor, the game went to the controversial shootout, a method which is not accepted in South America and Europe but has great popularity here in the U.S.A.

Bandits goalie Steve Diequez made a fantastic save in the shootout and Belleville received goals from Colucci, Ted Werner, Victor Mesce and Ivan Martin to propel the Bandits to a big win.

Belleville was paced offensively by Colucci, who led the team with 19 goals. Martin finished with 16 and Albanese finished with 11. The defense was bolstered by Mesce (two goals), Werner (two goals), Jim Florian (one goal) and Diequez (one goal). Also helping were Chris Di Tommaso, Michael Quine, Michelle Bond and Nick Colucci.

Congratulations are not enough to these young men and women on a tremendous accomplishment.

Special accolades also go to the parents, who lent a great deal of support to the championship effort. Winning a championship of any sport is a big accomplishment and for these young athletes to experience success at a young age is a good sign for the future of the Belleville High soccer program.

Spring time is quickly upon us the incomparable Len D'Armiento, golf by Rocco Colucci and crew is led by Sam Giuffrida. There will be a lot of questions this spring facing the young athletes. Can the baseball team continue its upward trend after last season's 16-9-2 mark? The girls crew team will be back on the mark again after winning a second national championship last spring over the last three years. The softball team will sport a new look now that Dina De Aquino and Tracy Buono have departed. Can the girls make another run at the Essex County title after losing the crown last spring to Cedar Grove? All these questions will soon have an answer when the season gets started.

Here is the answer to last week's quiz. The question was, name the two American heavyweights that won the light heavyweight titles in the olympics between the period 1960 and 1976. The answer, Cassius Clay won the title in 1960 and of course was the heavyweight champ three different times while assuming the name Muhammad Ali. Leon Spinks won the title in 1976 and won the heavyweight crown via decision over Ali in 1978.

We were supposed to have the Belleville High School athlete of the month for February in this week's edition but we'll wait for the results of the state wrestling tournament before doing that piece.

Basketball fans should be enthusiastic about this weekend at the Meadowlands Arena. There should be a massive crowd at the Sports Complex cheering on their favorites. The big games should occur in Group IV, where vying for position in the South and Trenton fighting for a spot in Central Jersey. A possible final at the Arena on Saturday night could feature Atlantic City or Camden playing Elizabeth or Kennedy for the championship. A matchup between any of those teams could draw in excess of 10,000 fans.

Elizabeth is a favorite in Section II and Kennedy is a slight choice in Group I. In Central and South Jersey, the battle is hot and heavy with Camden and Atlantic City

In the girls category, some big games are set in Group IV. Irvington is a favorite to advance in section II and face Eastside for the semi-finals. Shabazz pulled a big upset over Hanover Park in Group III and could win its second state title in three years. If you are into high school basketball, then the Meadowlands will certainly be the place this weekend.

For this week's quiz, name the team that Belleville defeated for the 1982 county softball title.

Name the winning pitcher and the final score.

Lady Bucs look forward to another exciting season

Every year, at the conclusion of the girls basketball season, a special article is done in highlighting the teams performance for the season. The Belleville girls basketball team is a professional squad with Jim Silvestri, the team owner and Karen Fucello the coach.

The next few paragraphs are strictly hypothetical, with the regular wrap up to follow. The Belleville girls team finished with a 9-13 record this year completing a rebuilding season. Silvestri, looking to unload a number of high salary players, lost Jennifer Apicella, Dina De Aquino, Tracy Buono and Loreli Wells to free agency after last years 22-7 season and opted to use a youth movement.

The girls did have veteran players Donna Brooks and Cheryl Marion on the team this year, but Silvestri has decided not to resign either player for 1985-86. Brooks will probably sign a multi year pact with the New Jersey Nets, filling that teams need for a small forward with good leaping ability. The Baltimore Orioles, desperate for a second baseman, have opened talks with Marion, a fine defensive player.

Silvestri is willing to spend money on his younger players. He has offered a one year deal to Desiree Johansen, and while terms were not disclosed, it could be near the pact that Apicella received in 1983-84. The owner is also looking to renew the contract of Sheri Phelps and Sheri Sorrentino. Both players should resign by next week. Angel Greco and Laura Caruso are expected to ink two year deals this week, deals that will keep the girls in a Belleville uniform through 1987. Judy Nehla has requested her agent to seek a three year deal from Silvestri with incentive clauses that could make her the highest paid player in BHS history by the 1987-88 season. At this point, Silvestri is listening cautiously. Head coach Karen Fucello will also discuss a contract with Silvestri for the 1985-86 season.

That was a quick look at what the team would face if it were a professional squad. Since this is high school ball, the bottom line is that Belleville was 9-13 this year and will lose just two seniors to graduation this spring.

Donna Brooks, a mainstay on the team since 1981, will depart BHS and has a number of colleges interested in her talents for volleyball, basketball and softball. "She was probably one of the best athletes we've ever had in the program," praised Fucello. "She did everything I could ever ask of her. She fulfilled her role very well. Her passing was excellent. Sometimes she passed too much, though. She would have had more assists if her teammates had finished some of her fast break runs. I think she had a real good year for us and we'll miss her next season."

Marion, another fine athlete, impressed Fucello with her ability to lead on the floor. "She fulfilled a very important role for the team," the coach said. "She was another coach on the floor and that is very important for a team to have. She kept everything under control."

Marion's biggest thrill in her varsity career was hitting the winning basket in the Belleville victory over Irvington during the 1984 ECT semi finals.

Johansen, a junior, was the teams leading scorer with a 10.8 ppg clip. "Dessie started to come around in January after a slow start," Fucello said. "She has the capabilities to be a very good player next season. Motivation is the key and what she does over the summer months will be critical toward next season."

Phelps, a junior, was the teams best defensive player. Filling the role once held by Loreli Wells, Phelps defended the opposing teams best offensive player and came through with a good effort. "Experience is the key with Sheri," Fucello said. "The more she plays and works on her game, the better she will be."

Junior Sheri Sorrentino will be a very important addition next year. Fucello cited the juniors ability to play under pressure and her willingness to take the difficult shot in tough circumstances. Sorrentino came off the bench this year and was one of the best sixth men Belleville has had in many years. Next season, she will probably assume a starting role.

Sophomores Greco and Caruso are also vital to next season. Greco, a point guard, has the scoring ability to be a very dangerous player. "Angel has to watch TV," said Fucello. "She has to watch games on television and observe the way different point guards run their team. The off season is critical for her as well."

Fucello sees Caruso as the teams top rebounder next season. The sophomore has a good deal of untapped potential and could be a very important link toward success in 1986 and 1987.

Nehla, a freshman, put some quality minutes into the program this winter and has the experience to be a big help in next years plans. "Judy has the instincts to be a good player," Fucello emphasized. "She needs the confidence. When she has it, she is a very good player. When she lacks it, then she loses a good deal of her natural ability."

There are some good players returning next season for Belleville with the goal being a return to a winning season and advancement in the county and state tournament. This year, Belleville was a competitive squad, a young team looking to rebuild for the future. Now the key is for the girls to play during the summer months, attend basketball camps and prepare for a competitive 1985-86 season.

"Be Prepared" Coach Collucci warns for next season

The season has been history for two weeks now and head boys basketball coach Rocco Collucci has issued a stern warning to his team for the 1985-86 season: Be Prepared.

Collucci is not planning to coach boy scouts next year, but the emphasis behind his statement is this: the Belleville boys basketball team will have to dedicate itself to the game over the summer months if it plans to be competitive in the fall of 1985.

"There is a lot of work to do," Collucci said referring to next years team. "We have some players with varsity experience now, players with good potential. But that doesn't mean a thing if the team is not going to work on their skills over the summer months. That means playing when others would be down the shore and taking it easy. It means attending camps, playing in leagues and working on your own. It is not going to be easy, but let me assure you that the other teams in the area, such as Bloomfield, Nutley and the like will be playing, looking to next year.

There has to be a new dedication to this game, the feeling of never putting the ball down. We are a young team, with a lot of potential, but if we don't work at it, the result will be the same next year."

The "result" as Collucci put it was a 2-22 season last year, good for last place in the competitive NNJIL conference. Collucci played a young lineup, a team that averaged just 15 years of age. Just three seniors finished the 84-85 season, three young men that Collucci had nothing but high praise for.

"Those guys gave everything they had during a difficult period," the coach said. "They put a great deal of time into the program and helped the younger players. I can't thank the seniors enough."

The three men are Steven Kimble, Michael Sochaski and Nick Sotomayer. Kimble, a good all around athlete, should be a fine addition to any college he chooses next fall. The senior was a fine football player and used his strength to help out on the boards during the hoop season. He was hampered by a severe ankle injury during the past season and his playing time was limited.

Sochaski, the leading scorer with a 10.8 ppg average, was pegged by former BHS coach Joe Papisidero to be a good one back in 1983. Injuries, however, took its toll over the last two years and it wasn't until this season that Sochaski found his true potential. The senior center gave the Bucs a solid performance game in and game out. His hard work on the boards and constant determination impressed the coaching staff and players.

Sotomayer, a guard, has been a member of the program since his freshman year. Another player with potential noticed back in 83, Sotomayer did a good job at the point position. His best game was a 24 point performance against powerful Ridgewood. A very dedicated athlete, Sotomayer will be difficult to replace next year.

Returning to head next years team will be freshman Ted Sochaski and Leon Puentes, sophomores. Bob Hutchinson, Craig Burden and Luong La and Juniors Donald Washington and Dominick Mastro. Collucci has a predicament in that Washington and Sochaski are the only natural forwards on the team. "We have some big freshman who seem eager to learn the system," Collucci said. "I just hope they grow during the summer. We don't have a lot of forwards at this point for next year."

Collucci also noted that there are no guarantees for next year. "Some of the players think that next years team is already selected. Forget that. The players that best prepare for next season, and work the hardest are the ones who will get the chance. Don Roll (assistant coach) and I have worked out a program for next year that the kids should work on during the summer. It is a structure program that will tell them what to run, lift and work on. They must dedicate themselves to be a better ball player. On those hot days when it is easy to be in the pool or at the shore, that is when a player has to give that extra."

The system is in, now the players have to work hard to improve themselves during the off season. If the bottom line is hard work for these athletes, then the 1985-86 campaign could be one of hope and excitement.

NOTES: Bucs were 1-13 in the NNJIL, 1-9 outside the conference. Only conference win came against Clifton in overtime while the other victory came against West Morris in the Morris Knolls Holiday tourney. Collucci also noted the need for a few players to consistently score in the 15-20 point range. "We have to have the players who will go to the hoop," the coach said.

"IT'S YOUR MONEY"

Published by Provident Savings Bank to help you better manage your personal finances.

EVERYBODY KNOWS ALL ABOUT IRA'S, RIGHT? WRONG! HERE'S A BRIEF REFRESHER COURSE.

When you stop to think about it, it's really surprising that America's outstanding educational system fails to include courses in financial planning.

I'm not referring to the complex financial programs required by large estates or millionaires, but simple concepts that any man or woman can—and should—follow, just to assure an individual measure of security down the road.

That's why we're pleased with the relatively recent institution of IRAs, or Individual Retirement Accounts. They give the average person a number of very real pluses every working year. And they offer a built-in program for building a nest-egg that can grow to substantial proportions.

In fact, a Provident IRA, directed by yourself, could be the retirement fund you've always wanted.

Your IRA is an Annual Tax Saver.

By now, you probably already know something about IRAs. You know, for example, that the money you invest in your IRA will not be taxed until you actually withdraw the funds from your account when you retire.

So when you invest in your IRA each year (the current maximum is $2,000 per working man or woman —$2,250 with a non-working spouse), you not only make a significant deposit, you also take that same amount right off the top of your yearly taxable income.

Your IRA is an Annual Money Maker.

There are two ways to make more money with an IRA. Most people know about one, I'm going to tell you about both.

The well known way is to choose a high interest earnings savings account, like those at The Provident, that compounds your interest. Select the longest deposit term available—you can't withdraw the IRA until retirement anyway—and then you'll get the higher interest at maturity that compounding affords.

Less well known, however, is that timing is important.

THE DIFFERENCE A $2000 IRA CONTRIBUTION CAN MAKE:

Bracket	After Taxes, Without An I.R.A. You Keep:	Tax Saving With An I.R.A.:	Tax Saving As A Percent Of After-Tax Income:
20%	$1,600	$400	25%
30	1,400	600	43
40	1,200	800	64
50	1,000	1,000	100

The law allows you to open an IRA for a particular year at any time within that year. You do not have to wait until April 15th next, the deadline for that year's contributions! And, if you open your account on, say, January 2nd, whatever you invest from that day forward will not only be earning interest, but can be compounding interest ON interest—ALL TAX DEFERRED.

If you can not make your maximum annual contribution in advance, a practical plan is to divide your total IRA contribution into installments.

Let's say you want to make a full annual contribution of $2,000 by tax time next year. Divide that by 25 and make 25 deposits of $80 each, bi-weekly through the year, starting as early as possible. It's easier on the budget, and most important, you'll wind up with more than $2,000 at tax time.

That's a big head start—and it's quite legal.

Your IRA Can Also be a Long-Term Tax Advantage.

One of the nicest aspects of an IRA is that it works for you without your thinking about it. Your funds, at retirement, will have been accumulating interest at a compound rate in your Provident account. So you'll be tapping a reserve that is substantially greater than the amounts you have put into it.

An unexpected side benefit may result. That very big retirement fund could mean you won't be withdrawing all your IRA in a lump sum, since you probably won't be needing it all at once. And that, in turn, means the taxable portion when you make your withdrawals at retirement will be smaller than you'd think.

Add to that your new status. As a retiree you'll be in a lower tax bracket than when you were working full time. So, with smaller sums to start with, and a lower tax rate to end with, your tax liability could be very small, indeed. That makes your IRA worth even more in spendable terms.

Your Provident IRA Can be a Lot of Different Investments.

I've been talking about your IRA as if it were just one type of account, and that may be misleading. The fact is, you can have a variety of IRA investment possibilities at The Provident. You can choose a Money Market Account, or a Certificate of Deposit with a short or long maturity. You can even invest in securities, if you desire, and the Provident's discount brokerage service will help you buy more in equities through lower brokerage commissions.

If you do invest in one of The Provident's savings instruments, you can count on The Provident's record of never having missed paying a dividend in 146 years. Backed by FDIC insurance to $100,000, your IRA money is absolutely safe. No Mutual or Money Market Fund can offer you that assurance.

Whichever way you choose, there's no charge for consulting with our knowledgeable retirement specialists. Our goal is to help you achieve your goals.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia
and Paul N. De Malo

Dr. K. says: "Why don't some children smile?" Children that have protruding, unattractive teeth often try not to smile. They avoid social situations, avoiding other children and become loners, as they would rather avoid the teasing about their buck teeth from their playmates.

Teenagers, especially, are sensitive about their appearance. Poorly aligned teeth affect not only the way one smiles, but the shape of the mouth and chin as well.

Research has shown that young adults with misformed jaws or unattractive teeth exhibit a lack of self worth and self confidence. This carries over to their social and vocational lives as they continue to smile infrequently and avoid situations where others look at them on a face-to-face level.

Adults under orthodontal care are, in most cases, patients who should have had their teeth straightened as children. Aligning teeth and jaws, even in adulthood, bolsters selfworth and creates a more attractive and happy person.

Parenting seminars air this month on 'Focus on'

The March program of "Focus on: BC/C" deals with parenting seminars, sponsored by Belleville Public Library, Belleville Family Service Bureau, Community Mental Health Services for Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley, Clara Maass Medical Center, Department of Social Services, Belleville Public Schools, and American Association of Retired People, Council 2051. The seminars are scheduled 7:30-9 p.m. Monday evenings March 18 to April 15.

In the first segment, host

David Bryant, director of the Belleville Public Library, will discuss "Protecting Your Child Against Sexual Abuse," with Judith Yurmack, ACSW, director of outpatient services and family life program, Community Mental Health Services for Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley. Yurmack explains that the media has placed a great deal of emphasis recently on sexual abuse. The purpose of her seminar, is to eliminate fears and to provide some practical techniques to protect children, as well as to provide referrals. In addition, Bryant discusses with Charlotte Cohen, MSW, psychiatric social worker, Community Mental Health, her seminar on April 8, entitled, "Peer Pressure and Adolescence: A Guide for Parents." The seminar will focus on techniques for parents to utilize in coping with their teenagers and the influences of peer pressure. Adolescents are welcome to come to this seminar.

In the second segment of the show, Bryant explores with Dr. Anthony Chirico, director of special services of the Belleville Public Schools, what he will discuss at the first Inter-Agency seminar March 18. The Special Services are mandated to serve children, ages 3 to 21 that are educationally handicapped, said Chirico. Since 1978, the number of special classes in Belleville has grown from seven to 25 in all schools. There are 395 classified youngsters, and of these, 80 are in 41 different schools in 35 different towns. The 315 others are in special programs in Belleville schools, interacting with the other students.

Tony Cuttita, ACSW, director of the Belleville Family Service Bureau, will discuss his workshop which will explore and focus on single parenting issues, identifying issues, such as financial difficulties, guilt, and loneliness. There will be mutual sharing, questioning and answering. If there is an interest, Cuttita will conduct an ongoing parenting group through the Belleville Family Service Bureau.

Barbara Purnell, MA, CRC, director of the Friendly Visitors Program, Community Mental Health Services for Belleville, Bloomfield, and Nutley, will discuss her workshop which she will conduct with Joanna Gorczyca, ACSW, supervisor of the Social Service Department, Clara Maass Medical Center, entitled, "You and Your Aging Parent." This workshop will meet one's needs while dealing with one's aging parent and provide community resources.

The Inter-Agency Television program will be shown every Wednesday on WBHS, Channel 34. The program is directed by Marilyn Mango, media specialist, Belleville High School, and produced by Adrea Cohen, chair of the television committee for the Belleville Inter-Agency Council. Media assistants with the production included Robert Hutchinson and Michael Silletti, Frank Trupia, and Debbie Sim.

Among the books available at the Belleville Public Library in conjunction with these seminars are "Between Parent and Teenager," by Haim G. Ginott; "Making Peace with Your Parents," by Harold Bloomfield, M.D. and Leonard Fiddler, Ph.D.; "Single Parents are People Too," by Carol Murdock; and "The Battered Child," by C. Henry Kempe and Ray E. Helfer.

It's never too early, or too late, to start planning for retirement. And right now the incentives are the best ever!

Today, everyone who works, even those covered by another pension plan, can take advantage of our new Individual Retirement Account (IRA). It makes good sense and lots of money.

Here's why.

Every dollar you contribute to your IRA is tax-deductible, right off the top. Plus, all the interest you earn over the years is tax-sheltered until you retire Married working couples can now contribute up to $4,000 of yearly income. Couples with one working spouse can put away up to $2,500. And single individuals can contribute a maximum of $2,000 each year. All tax-deductible. All tax-deferred.

The sooner you start your IRA, the more money you'll have at retirement. It's that simple. Choose the plan that's best for you and start retiring today. You'll enjoy a much richer tomorrow!

Avenue blight proposals discussed in televised debate

this blight proposal.
"How can you sell a business that is in a blighted area?" he added. "Doesn't that detract from business? Where are the incentives? Washington Avenue is definitely not blight."

Fair market value
The purchase of any property acquired in a blighted area must be purchased at no less than the fair market value as determined on the date blight is declared, Nardachone said. Two or more independent appraisals will assess the property and determine the fair market value.

Property owners dissatisfied with the determined fair market value may take action into the courts.

The idea of fair market value did not seem to satisfy blight opponents who feel that this does not compensate for taking away people's livelihoods.

"You're dealing with lifestyles and traditions," Cicenia said, referring to the Wells family who have been in Belleville over 100 years. "We're not talking about slums. Belleville is a beautiful community."

Vincent Frantantoni, property owner, added that the number of buildings declared blighted were minimal and that none of the criteria for blight declaration applied to the avenue.

"There are no dilapidated or abandoned buildings," he said. "The inspection down by Townplan Associates (a private firm) was only done from the outside. The ratings of the buildings are questionable. Only five buildings were considered blight while 66 percent were rated excellent or good. Nine buildings on the avenue have already been completely renovated."

More has to be done

These renovations, said the BRDA panel, are not enough. "We are hopeful of bringing in developers to increase tax rates," Joe Dasaro said. "Taxes are a way of life but by attracting new developers, we can increase rates and lessen taxes. Today we have $450 million in taxes. We want to increase this figure by 10 percent."

Disagreeing with Dasaro's statement, Frantantoni cited there has been no tax relief despite the number of new condominiums and shopping centers being built. "With the current wave of revitalization in the frame of town, there will be tax stabilization," he said.

BRDA member Gabe Nazziola said the main concern of the agency is the taxpayers. He said they have been paying the freight for the failure to develop the avenue. He added that the town center concept can be revived with minimal displacement.

Questions remain

Two questions which remain involve the area that is to be declared blighted and the amount of time it will take the area to redevelop.

Blight proposals introduced include blight declaration from Mill to William streets, east to the railroad and west to property fronting Washington Avenue, or blight declaration from Mill to Joralemon streets, covering the same depth east to west.

Once blight is in place, a plan for redevelopment will be devised within the next 18 months to two years," Vincent Frantantoni said. "If no developers are interested, it goes on and on."

BRDA members assured the opposing panelists that action would be taken immediately.

They added that state and federal funding would be provided for a redevelopment program.

"The township fathers saw the turning point of Washington Avenue four years ago," Joe Dasaro said in his closing remarks. "That is why the BRDA was established. We are an agency of the municipality. Just think how many times you've heard, 'When are they going to do something about the avenue.' Now we are."

Final approval of the blight proposals, however, is in the hands of the board of commissioners. A public hearing concerning the blight will be held this Tuesday, 7 p.m. in the School 7 auditorium.

Commissioners have stressed that they will not make a decision this night. It is a hearing to give citizens a chance to view their opinions. Because this matter is of such importance, commissioners encourage citizens' presence.

Opponents: Martin Dolan Vincent Frantantoni Louis Cicenia

Municipal budget introduced; 5-point tax increase approved

proportions for each township department is as follows:
• Public Safety, including fire, traffic, and police departments, $5,560,960;
• Revenue and Finance, including group and automobile insurance plans and workers' compensation, $1,441,502;
• Public Works, including streets and sewers and the planning and zoning boards, $905,631;
• Public Affairs, including the welfare department and health and dental clinics, $1,346,669, and:

• Parks and Public Property, including the recreation department and maintenance of the library and public grounds and property, $1,203,078.

Capital budget

The budget also appropriates $212,000 in capital projects, including street improvements, purchase of a computer system, fire engine, pump, new ambulances, and improvements of water mains.
Last year's township budget increase of 24 tax points reflected over $500,000 in cleanup costs at the Research Organic/Inorganic Chemical plant on Main Street, and an unpaid $365,000 water bill owed by the former yeast factory on Mill Street, Marotti said.

The township has already been reimbursed $250,000 from state and federal funding and expects another $250,000 reimbursement within the year, he added.

A public hearing on the budget will be held April 9 at 8 p.m. at township hall.

Income tax assistance program available at township libraries

The Internal Revenue Service has completed training over 1400 community representatives throughout New Jersey who are available to provide free assistance to those needing help in preparing federal and state income tax forms. The tax volunteers are located in over 400 sites throughout the state.

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program, known as VITA, and the Tax Counseling for the Elderly program, known as TCE, are community affairs programs in which the efforts of volunteers are enlisted to help low income, handicapped, and elderly with their tax forms. After completing an IRS training session the volunteers set up their own tax assistance sites open to the public.

VITA has been in existence since 1967. In 1979, TCE was established to address the special needs of the elderly community. Last year in New Jersey, 1657 volunteers were trained. These individuals assisted 30,689 residents.

Although the major thrust of the VITA and TCE programs is to provide assistance to the low income, handicapped, and elderly, tax volunteers will assist any taxpayer with a relatively simple tax return, including Form 1040-EZ, Form 1040-A and Form 1040 with Schedules A and B, and other commonly used tax forms.

VITA sites in this area are at Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Ave., 759-9200, by appointment; Bloomfield Public Library, 1 Broad St., Saturdays 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Nutley Public Library, Booth Drive, 667-0405, by appointment.

TCE sites are at Belleville Public Library, 752-0559, by appointment; Bloomfield Public Library, 90 Broad St., 429-9292, by appointment.

PUBLIC NOTICE
PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the following proposed ordinance was introduced and passed on First Reading at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Township of Belleville held on Tuesday evening, March 2, 1985 and further notice is hereby given that the Second and Final Reading of said ordinance will be considered by said Board of Commissioners at a meeting to be held at the Town Hall, 122 Washington Avenue, at Belleville, New Jersey, Tuesday evening, March 26, 1985 at eight o'clock p.m. when all objections to the passing of the same will be heard and considered.

If you still believe in me, save me.

For nearly a hundred years, the Statue of Liberty has stood on the edge of the New World, America's most powerful symbol of freedom and hope. Today the ravages of almost a century of weather and pollution have left their marks. Corrosion has eaten away at the iron framework. New holes continue to appear in the copper sheets that form the exterior.

Less than a mile away, on Ellis Island where the ancestors of nearly half of all Americans first stepped onto American soil, the Great Hall of the Immigration Center is a hollow ruin. Rooms are vandalized, passageways overgrown with vegetation, walls crumbling in decay.

Inspiring plans have been developed to restore the Statue and to create at Ellis Island a living monument to the ethnic diversity of this country of immigrants. But unless restoration is begun now, ceremonies marking the hundredth anniversaries of these two landmarks in America's heritage could be held in commemoration of national treasures that no longer exist. Sections of the statue have already been declared unsafe and closed to visitors. The 230 million dollars needed to carry out the work is needed now.

All of the money must come from private donations; the federal government is not raising the funds. This is consistent with the origins of the Statue. The French people themselves paid for its creation. And thousands of American school children contributed to its construction and to the pedestal.

The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial Commission appointed by President Reagan is asking every American business, every American citizen to join in raising these funds. The torch of liberty is everyone's to cherish. Could we hold up our heads as Americans if we allowed the time to come when she can no longer hold up hers?

One hundred years ago school children gave their pennies to put her up. Your dollars can keep her from falling down.
