Two sides to this story...

Alleged Pathmark shoplifter in hospital with broken nose; accused of stealing cigarettes

By Christopher Bifani

One morning last week, 30 year old Vincent Nuzzo of Belleville went into Pathmark and purchased two oranges. A couple of hours later he was in Clara Maass Medical Center with "bruises, contusions and a broken nose," following an incident in which he claims he was falsely accused of stealing a single pack of cigarettes.

Frank DeLuca, assistant manager at Pathmark agrees that Nuzzo purchased two oranges, but he claims he observed Nuzzo in the act of stealing the cigarettes, and what's more, has observed Nuzzo stealing cigarettes in the past, but that he always managed to get away.

After the Times received a tip about this story, we interviewed both Nuzzo and DeLuca in separate conversations. Pending a suit or trial, the only thing that's certain is that both stories are completely different.

Nuzzo's story:

"I was assaulted by the store manager, Frank DeLuca. He smashed my face against the automatic door," Nuzzo told the Times Wednesday, January 7, the day of the incident. He was speaking from Room 334 at Clara Maass. He said he was scheduled to go into surgery for his broken nose the following Friday.

"I got up at 6AM, exercised, ate breakfast and went to Pathmark at about 8AM. I went to the produce aisle and bought two oranges," Nuzzo said. "I went to the cashier and I took out my cigarettes. I was going to have one, decided against it, and put them back in my pocket."

Nuzzo added, "I guess that's what he really saw."

Nuzzo said that DeLuca told police it was Marlboro he supposedly stole, although Merit is his brand. "I bought the cigarettes at the liquor store across the street from the police station for $1.15. Merit Box," Nuzzo said, in effort to back up his story.

Nuzzo says that as he walked down the main aisle of the Washington Avenue Pathmark, he heard DeLuca yell 'Hey you, stop!', but that he kept walking, thinking the store manager wasn't even talking to him. He says DeLuca caught up to him in between the automatic doors, and "Just as I was between the doors, he runs up behind me and smashes my face in the door. He broke my nose. Maybe it was an accident because he was running so fast, but I think it was intentional. I feared for my life."

Nuzzo continued his tale by saying that he broke away from Nuzzo as the automatic door opened up. He says he bolted out, but that he was apprehended in the driveway closest to the building.

"They dragged me around the back and brought me into a room where they tried to force me to sign something admitting my guilt. DeLuca said 'sit down or I'll give you something to really cry about.' But I wasn't crying, I was just nervous. I have a nervous condition."

Soon after, the Belleville Police arrived and Nuzzo says that although charges were pressed against him, he plans to take to take Pathmark to court.

If he stole cigarettes, he says, then where are the cigarettes? The only cigarettes he had on him, he claims, were his own Merits. And these had two missing from them, he says.

Nuzzo adds that he has worked for the Postal Service for many years without incident, and that he had "about eight dollars" on him, more than enough to pay for cigarettes.

DeLuca's story:

"Nuzzo was not assaulted. He stole a pack of cigarettes. I watched him do it. They were probably 100's. No, we never recovered the cigarettes. He must have dumped them in the street. He took off running. He admitted stealing cigarettes."

DeLuca says it's "not the first time I've seen this guy stealing cigarettes. They're right in the aisle and very easy to just pick up and go with."

Did he assault Nuzzo?

"Absolutely not. After he ran down the main aisle, he assaulted one of my managers. First I started out after him, then my managers picked up the chase."

And where was Nuzzo apprehended?

"Across the street in a backyard, about four or five blocks away from the store."

Armchair detectives will remember, of course, that Nuzzo claims to have been apprehended right in the Pathmark parking lot.

So what about the broken nose?

"He was running so fast,"

DeLuca told the Times, "that he must have run right into the automatic doors before they could open. There were witnesses to this. The guy that delivers the Auto Shopper magazines. We never touched him. He fell and ripped his pants. That's when I had him locked up."

New kid in town...

Ronald Angelo Borgo, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Ronald Borgo Jr. of Belleville, checked in at 1:03 p.m. January 1 at Clara Maass Medical Center, thus becoming the lucky recipient of a host of Chamber of Commerce "First Baby of 1987" prizes. More than 25 Chamber members joined the Junior Women's Club of Belleville in showering Baby Ronald with presents. Above, Mrs. Borgo holds her pride and joy. Below, a Borgo family portrait. ### Anti-Automobile Theft Vehicle Decal Program

The newly established Anti-Auto Theft Vehicle Decal Program will be in effect commencing on Wednesday, January 7, 1987. This program was instituted to help in combating the increase of stolen vehicles throughout the township.

Township residents will have decals placed on the left side of the rear windows of their vehicles. Any vehicle which is being driven between the hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. is subject to be stopped by police officers. The officers will subsequently check the identification of the driver with the Police Desk to verify the proper individual is operating the vehicle.

The police desk shall maintain a list of all residents who have been registered with the decal program.

Any resident who wishes to obtain a decal must contact Detective Fred Puleo, who is supervising the program.

The year Belleville turned around, part 2

From tragic to dramatic

By Christopher Bifani

Editor's note: This is the second and final installment of "1986...the year Belleville turned around." The first half of this retrospective appeared in the December 30 edition of the Belleville Times.

Readers who missed that part of the story, which covers January, 1986 through June, 1986 may phone the Times at 759-3200 to arrange for a back issue.

July:

Police department promotions were the top township story early in the month as several officers moved through the ranks of BPD. Leonard Burrell was promoted to Sergeant, Joseph Simonetti was promoted to Lieutenant, Michael Petrillo was promoted to Captain and, taking the top honor of the ceremony, Ray Kimball was promoted to deputy chief.

The board of education met strong protests from School 4 parents when the only male teacher was scheduled to be transferred. BHS ninth graders improved in statewide testing.

Commissioner of Public Safety Ralph DiRuggiero asked the state to change road signs leading Belleville motorists into a portion of Newark noted as an ambush site.

Later in the month the municipal budget was scaled back from 18.039 million to $17.83 million to reflect state cuts.

Toward the end of the hot month of July, the school board readied an asbestos cleanup plan, and Judge Edward Abramson, Belleville's municipal judge for 45 years, died of natural causes at age 81.

But the month ended on a high note: Belleville received $266,000 from the county for the resurfacing of five township roads.

August:

August began with cries of wrongdoing from some of Belleville's more active citizenry. The Concerned Citizens of Belleville charged that the $10 million Municipal Complex could not be amended to a $5 million police station by a simple resolution. It had to be amended by an ordinance, the group charged. It is a sticky point still being argued today.

The Nu-Plas Tavern was in the news. Similar to an incident which was to happen later in the year, a Belleville policeman was slugged in the establishment by one of the patrons.

August 8 was the day the Belleville Bridge boathouse fell into the river. This occurred while repairs were taking place and the bridge was closed.

Another fire rocked Belleville, this one in the Channel Shopping Plaza— gutting the Three Guys From Italy restaurant.

Sadly, murder rocked Belleville during the month of August. Benjamin Sobotor, 71 of Lingham Street was murdered in his home, reportedly by a 21 year old Newarker.

September:

September began with an announcement from the township's appointed architects that the proposed Belleville Public Safety Building could be ready by 1988.

Van Dyk Corporation, a major industrial firm in the Valley section of town, completed the most significant private renovation of the year, beautifying its grounds, buildings and interiors.

Frank Zinna, former Township Attorney, was sworn in as the new Municipal Judge. Legal Assistant Frank Cozzarelli, meanwhile, took over as Township Attorney.

Another murder rocked Belleville, less than one month after the August slaying. Then, in a month where township residents never endured as much vicious crime, a Belleville cop was shot in the line of duty and two gas stations were robbed at gunpoint.

Attendance at crime prevention programs was rising!

Adding still more tragedy to a tragic month, the first lady of Belleville died September 22. Esther, wife of Mayor Michael Marotti, succumbed to a long bout of illness.

October:

With the chill of October, the mood of the township switched from the tragic to the dramatic. Custodians, cafeteria workers, maintenance workers and bus drivers demonstrated over their lack of a contract with the school board.

Commissioner of Public Safety Ralph DiRuggiero declared war on a rising tide of crime, putting men on foot patrol, participating in a multi-municipality regional crime-fighting effort, planning a narcotics unit and other measures.

Whether this reduced crime remains to be seen when the State Police release statewide crime statistics.

The municipal construction drama, meanwhile, changed stages temporarily as the scene moved from the usual commission meets to a planning board hearing October 2.

Everybody loves a parade, and the big Belleville/Nutley October 12 event brought thousands to the streets to salute their heritage.

The month of October was also a heavy crime month—the Essex car theft epidemic left several Belleville victims.

What I like about Belleville...

With the problems facing Belleville, there comes a time to think about what is right with the township.

When asked their feelings about Belleville, people registered complaints, but wound up staying loyal to the township.

The question was:

"What do you like about Belleville?"

These are some of the replies:

Kevin Carey, Belleville: They have a good recreation league. They need it to give the kids something to do.

Janet Hibinski, Rossmore Place: I like it. The services are there when you need them. The fire company was here before we knew the house was burning. At 2 a.m.

Joe Kovacs, Joralemon Street: Everything but the commissioners. They wouldn't pick up the garbage.

Janine Dagostaro, Mill Street: I like the ambulance service. It's over right away. I like Pathmark. I have my bank here, and the Belleville schools gave me a good education.

DeLuca also has a different version of how the incident began. Like Nuzzo, he says it began with Nuzzo paying for oranges. But where Nuzzo claims he pocketed his own tan, yellow and white regular size Merit pack, his usual brand, DeLuca says he saw Nuzzo pocket a "white pack, 100's."

Further, DeLuca maintains that he didn't say "Hey you-stop!"

What he said, he told the Times, was "Excuse me sir, I'd like to talk to you."

Nuzzo says he walked down the aisle and made no attempt to flee until after his nose was smashed into door and he was frightened of further harm.

DeLuca says Nuzzo took off right from the start.

Someone, it seems, is not exactly on the level here. The two stories provided by DeLuca and Nuzzo are about as different as two stories can be. It appears it will be up to the court to decide which story holds true. The Times will provide updates as they become available.

Concerned Citizens meet Jan. 22

The Concerned Citizens of Belleville will hold their first meeting of 1987 on Thursday, January 22 at 8 p.m. at the Elks Hall, 257 Washington Ave.

Scheduled for this meeting are the election of officers, the preparation of agenda and programs for 1987, and the formation of committees.

The 1987 dues are due and will be collected at this meeting. Dues are $2 annually.

"All members are urged to attend and all Belleville residents are invited to join," group president Vincent Frantantoni said.

Italian-American Heritage contest winners announced

The Belleville Public Library and the Belleville Italian-American Civic Association have announced the winners of their joint "Italian American Heritage Biography Contest." The contest is open to all Belleville students, enrolled in grades 7-12.

The winners are:

Marc Mellinger, first prize; Renee Coppola and Kristine Villano, tied for second prize; Deborah Pedone, third prize.

Honorable mention awards were received by: Chris Valeira, Jennifer Best, Connie Tang, John McNish and Cathy Mai.

These students displayed good writing skills, the use of resources found at the Belleville Library in its Italian-American collection, funded by the Belleville Italian-American Civic Assn., and successful research techniques. The Belleville Board of Education has supported this contest.

Winners will be honored and prizes awarded at a program to be held at the Library on Thursday, Jan. 22, at 7:30 p.m. This program is open to winners, family, friends and interested people. Refreshments will be served.

Rec softball clinic opening

The Belleville Recreation Department will again be sponsoring a Girls' Softball Clinic for resident Belleville girls who are students at Belleville High School or Belleville Middle School. This program will be held on Fridays at the Middle School Boys' Gym from 6:00-8:00 p.m. on the following dates: January 9, 16, 23, 30; February 6 and 27; and March 6.

The intent of this clinic is to prepare girls who plan to try out for the Suburban Girls' and/or the High School girls' softball teams.

Each session will be supervised and an aspect of the game will be demonstrated and practiced. This clinic will provide all interested girls with an opportunity to better learn the game of softball. Participants must provide their own gloves and must wear sneakers. No advance registration is required.

Basketball coaches needed

The Belleville Recreation Department is presently seeking adults to volunteer as coaches in its Junior Basketball Leagues for boys and girls.

Games are played on weeknights and Saturdays. If interested, please call the Recreation office at 450-3422 weekdays, or contact league director Bruce Morgan at 759-1663.

The next Mrs. America?

Belleville native competes for married crown

By Christopher Bifani

In Belleville, and probably every other town in the nation, there are grown women—married women—who have dreamed of being Miss America. For most it is only a passing fancy, but for some it is more than that...a burning desire to be gowned and crowned in an enduring American tradition.

For Mrs. Debi Coto, manager of Illusions Hair Salon on Main Street, the goal of becoming Miss America is no longer possible. In 1985 the former Miss Debi Prewster married her husband, Alberto, and thus will never again be eligible for that pageant.

However there is a pageant for Mrs. Coto—and thousands of other young wives. You guessed it, it's the Mrs. America Pageant and the New Jersey leg of that contest takes place this Sunday at the Secaucus Sheraton.

"I'm excited," Coto said. "The show is sold out, and 1600 people will be there."

Among those who will be in attendance are Coto's family and friends, many of whom reside in Belleville, her hometown. Coto was born and raised in the township, before moving to Hoboken following her marriage.

Should Debi Coto win the Mrs. New Jersey/America event Sunday she will represent the Garden State in a Las Vegas main event later in the year. In addition to the assorted prizes the pageant organizers furnish, the publicity would likely mean a windfall of publicity for the 28 year old salon manager, who works as a fashion model as well.

Although she currently has no children, she says she would like to have some in the future, but wants to accomplish other things first, like the advancement of her modeling career.

If the photographs which accompany this article are any indication, Debi Coto has as good as chance as any to win the coveted 1987 state title. First, however, she must come out on top in three categories.

There's the gown competition, there's the swimsuit competition and there's the interview," she explained. "The interview is the hardest part. I have to walk into a room and talk about myself for exactly one minute before a panel of five judges. Then they ask me questions for four more minutes."

And what kind of questions do they ask?

"They'll ask me questions like what my goals are and if my husband is supportive," Coto explained.

For the record, her goal is to be Mrs. America. And her husband—like her family—is very supportive.

1986 ended with town-wide Christmas spirit

lites with empty driveways, while a woman was robbed right before her home at knifepoint. Fortunately she was not harmed.

November.

As 1986 entered the home stretch, a changing of the guard in county leadership was taking place.

Former Belleville resident and Township Attorney Nicholas Amato beat incumbent Peter Shapiro for County Executive.

The challenger took 7 votes for every 6 Shapiro took county-wide, but clobbered him here in Belleville 4-1!

Another great parade—the Veteran's Day Parade—did Belleville proud in November. Crime, however, was still running high. A Shell gas station was robbed at knifepoint, and homes continued to be burglarized.

The Concerned Citizens of Belleville, moving their watchful eye from the Town Hall to the School Board, charged that the asbestos issue was being covered by the school administration. This charge is still being debated.

December: The final month of 1986 brought a return of townwide Christmas spirit, as Santa Claus touched down by helicopter December 8 to visit the children and greet the Mayor.

Bob Koppenjan, a blind Belleville athlete raised $1,500 for the Association of Blind Athletes Friday, December 5-6 by riding for 24 hours on a stationary bicycle.

Showing the true meaning of Christmas, Koppenjan trained hard for his feat which took place inside a township karate school.

The Belleville bridge opened, connecting the township with Bergen and Hudson Counties after several months of being closed.

The year closed with with Bellevillites revealing what their holiday season meant to the on the Times front page.

Said Annette Sitek of Berkeley Avenue: "It's means family, happiness, and health. What else is there?"

FULL DISCLOSURE

A new type of dental product now available is called a "disclosing agent." It is available in either liquid or tablet form. These products are very useful in teaching children, as well as adults, to brush their teeth properly. Disclosing agents contain a red dye. Chewing one of the tablets or swishing a few drops of the liquid in the mouth just before brushing colors the plaque and debris on the teeth. A person thus has an indication as to where brushing has previously missed. All that remains is to brush away the red color and underlying dental plaque.

There is always a full selection of prescription drugs and over-the-counter products available at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. We're Medicare and Blue Cross approved. Baby needs, cameras and film are stocked. We handle the sale and rental of convalescent aids including walkers, wheel chairs, crutches and canes. Hours: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sunday.

HANDY HINT:
Use dental floss to reach into areas where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Turning the tide

Our publisher, Frank Orechio recently recalled a bygone era when he and his Nutley boyhood friends would go swimming off the banks of the Passaic River.

It's hard to believe, only some 50 years later, today's children must drive more than one hour to reach the nearest lake, stream or shore, suitable for swimming.

Although the Passaic River will likely never again be pristine enough for bathing, a non-profit group called the Passaic River Coalition is overseeing an effort that may at least restore the riverfront to the point where it may once again be enjoyed by the communities that border its banks.

The coalition, headed by Executive Director Ella Filippone, is overseeing the Passaic River Restoration Project, an effort which will involve up to $5 million in federal funds next year, thanks to a bill introduced by our congressman, Rep. Robert Roe.

The $5 million will help to pay for such improvements as bank stabilization, tree planting, construction, operation and maintenance of recreational facilities and the protection of native vegetation and wildlife.

Belleville and Nutley officials are on record as supporting the federally funded restoration effort, although no actual restoration work is planned for the Essex bank, where Route 21 is only a few feet from the water.

Nevertheless, the promise of new recreational facilities and a cleaner river area is encouraging. We look forward to a day when fish again become plentiful and perhaps even edible.

We look forward to the day when the Passaic River, which constitutes our eastern border, is no longer the butt of jokes but instead is the scene of many pleasure crafts sailing under the sun.

Bomber madness

In the aftermath of last week's bomber jacket murder in Newark, much of the country joined Essex residents in mourning the senseless slaying of 15-year old Merrill Broxton for an article of clothing. The tragedy had been picked up by the wire services.

Bomber jacket thefts, either by gunpoint, knife-point or ganging up, have occurred in Belleville, East Orange, Orange and Newark. And as the popularity of the 'Top Gun' jackets rises, the thefts are spreading: to Camden, to Plainfield, to Jersey City...

In Newark, where the 'bomber madness' is greatest, the situation is becoming an ugly underside to a city desperately trying to rise from its own ashes. The promise of Newark's future, it seems, is in constant conflict with the realities of her streets.

Last Friday, when yet another suspected bomber jacket thief attempted to escape questioning by a Newark detective, he was shot in the chest by another police officer who cut him off as he fled through an abandoned building.

The wounded suspect, now listed in fair condition, was reportedly armed with a pistol and charged with assaulting a police officer.

The wounded suspect is a 15 year old boy.

"There's something radically wrong with society when you have kids doing this," a police official stated. Actually, there's something radically wrong with society when it's so easy for punks to get their hands on pistols in the first place.

Now officials in our beleaguered neighboring metropolis are warning parents not to purchase expensive bomber jacket s for their children, and if they already have them—not to wear them.

Newark Police, meanwhile, have formed a Bomber Jacket Task Force, a prospect that's making the city's jacket jackals understandably hot under the collar.

All of this does not bode well for Belleville children with bomber jackets. Already, at least one township teen has been relieved of his jacket, possibly by Newark thieves seeking safer out-of-town territory. It's quite likely the jacket jackals will keep crossing the border.

So what can our kids do, short of crossing the border?

Put their names on them! Buy embroidered name patches from uniform stores and sew them on the front. Or customize the jackets. Add studs, silkscreening, popular military patches, anything to make the jackets unique—and therefore worthless on the black market.

Thankfully, there is a bright side to this heartbreaking bomber madness. When police combed the area immediately following Broxton's murder, they discovered that teens on the street were quite cooperative when questioned. This is unusual in a town where talking to cops is taboo.

"They all thought it was a heinous crime themselves," a Newark detective said.

More than 30 teens provide tips and information which ultimately helped to apprehend the 3 teens believed to be connected with the Broxton murder.

Greco's farewell...

To the editor:

Reflecting on my eight years in office as Essex County Freeholder, I want to express my sincere appreciation to you for your paper's fair coverage of County Government and my role in it.

The continued viability of Essex County government is being challenged today as never before. Federal budget cuts and the previous administration's mismanagement of the County's fiscal affairs are largely to blame. Therefore, it is in the interest of our County's citizens that the important County government issues confronting them be properly and thoroughly covered.

County Executive Nicholas Amato is a sincere, decent, hardworking and intelligent leader capable of guiding the county over the next four difficult years. Likewise, my eight colleagues on the Board of Freeholders have shown themselves to be remarkable individuals, above partisan politics and committed to doing what's best for Essex County.

I leave County government soon to devote myself full time to my responsibilities at First Fidelity Bank. It was an extraordinary experience to have served as President of the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders for seven (7) out of my eight (8) years on the body. I leave with no regrets, knowing I gave the people of Essex County the best I could.

In closing, I want to again thank you and members of your staff. Most of all, I want to thank the people of Essex County for giving me their sacred trust over the years.

I loved every minute of my service in County government and shall carry forever with me fond memories of these eight special years.

Sincerely,
Jerome D. Greco

Thanking the cops...

To the editor:

This letter is to thank Police Officers Larcieri and Fraone for their immediate response to our call when we needed assistance with regard to a break in and miscreants situation.

The Wesley Church Family would like to thank the officers and the Police Department for their help and their regular patrolling of our premises. We appreciate this and hope they will continue their surveillance in the future.

Highways in disrepair...

To the editor:

Time was when New Jersey boasted it had the finest highway system in the entire Nation.

It was a time when motor vehicle fees, gas and oil, taxes were dedicated for bridges, roads and tunnels upkeep as well as alterations and improvements.

Sometime in the 70's, the N.J. Assembly decided to rip off the paying motorist by taking this money and placing it into the general fund. This was guaranteed to cause the maintenance of our highways to suffer as the Legislators ignored the needs of the motorists and paid more attention to social needs at the expense of the driving public, who already paid, through registration and license fees, which have skyrocketed as it is, for the maintenance of roads, bridges and tunnels.

Governor Kean and his stalking horses, Chuck Hardwick and Hazel Gluck are trying to ram down our throats another tax to cover the States rip off of our highway funds with a 5 cents increase in gasoline tax. What a dastardly act. It puts organized crime to shame and makes them boycotts compared to our sorry representatives in Trenton. Just look at the obscene utility tax. They have virtually killed the low income or poor persons ability to own and operate a car, which today is almost a necessity. And we haven't even mentioned the outrageous state of the insurance programs promulgated by our incompetent legislators.

I am in complete opposition to any further tax increase for roads upkeep. I also demand that monies collected through vehicle registration, gas and oil taxes be rededicated for the motorist public's needs.

One is getting the distinct impression that N.J. is becoming an oppressive place in which to live as local government (State) is disregarding the needs and desires of its citizens.

The State has millions in surplus monies which it wants to keep for emergency purposes while its citizens are lucky if they can keep a surplus. Tell Trenton to get off peoples' backs.

Yours,
Michael Giordano
Valley St.

Vets still waiting...

To the editor:

This is in addition to the many letters veterans of New Jersey have been asking about for the past forty years.

Where is the Veterans Bonus New Jersey has promised its veterans in 1946-47?

I believe it is now time for our veterans of New Jersey who are left and served their country to receive some thanks with a bonus from our great state of New Jersey.

Now with 340 million dollars in surplus, uncollected lottery monies and uncollected monies from our race tracks in New Jersey, I believe it cannot be said New Jersey doesn't have the money.

I'm asking our New Jersey legislators to reconsider. In World War II, 16 1/2 million Americans took part, 406,000 died. Our New Jersey veterans are getting old. Let's not forget them. With taxes and cost of living, they need it now.

Thank you.

Sportswriter's reward...

(Editor's note: This letter of appreciation is directed to veteran Belleville Times sportswriter Mike Lambert.)

Dear Mike,

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for the very generous coverage and comments you have given the Belleville High School football team and our son Jamie, during his football career at Belleville High.

It has given us much joy as parents to read what you have written about him.

If it is God's will that Jamie's athletic career comes to an end after his graduation from Belleville High, we know he will always have his scrapbook filled with clippings from your columns, along with all the memories collected over the years, to remind him of those special times.

Sincerely,
Lee Anne & Phil Gallo

Carmen Orechio, the State Senator from our 30th District, has sponsored a resolution charging that actions by the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey (P.A.) have violated not only the anti-piracy policy of one of its departments implemented in 1983, but also laws passed by both states in 1978 establishing an industrial park program.

The resolution includes an order that the P.A. "cease and desist from any action that compromises or gives the appearance of compromising the intended and expressed neutrality of that bistate agency in any matter relating to the economic competition" between the states and their subdivisions.

Golden Comments

James R. Golden

The executive director of the Senate Majority Office, Robert Noonan, said the resolution was prompted by a concern among legislators who believe the P.A.'s activities must be overseen more closely.

The action was precipitated by disclosure that the P.A. was assisting New York City's port department in seeking to persuade Toyota Motors USA to move its car importing facility from Port Newark to the South Brooklyn Marine Terminal.

New Jersey would lose around 400 jobs if the move were made. Newark's Mayor Sharpe James charged such a policy was like "stealing from your family."

Another important role being played by Senator Orechio is a move to grant wider powers for counties to effectively manage government operations. Last year, a bill proposing the state takeover of court costs passed both houses of the Legislature, but Governor Kean vetoed the measure.

Senator Orechio pointed out that the County and Municipal Government Study Commission feels the subject of county power is so important, the legislative proposal is divided to eliminate the element that could block enactment of the first step toward county government restructuring.

The commission's report recommends that all counties be given jurisdiction over the independent agencies that oversee county parks, welfare programs, mosquito control and shade tree maintenance.

"This is the most important reform affecting county government in 15 years," said Senator Orechio.

The pending legislation would give the counties the authority to restructure themselves to put independent agencies under direct freeholder control. These bodies are now run by people who are not accountable to county government, which operates as a "series of independent units with weak central control."

These independent units hire staff and manage their own operations. These offices are funded by county taxes, which is the responsibility of the board of freeholders.

Senator Orechio contends, "The state statutes unnecessarily restrict the county governing body from providing county services to the people in the most economical and efficient manner possible. Our study indicates the need for extensive statutory revisions to allow county governments to effectively meet the needs of its residents."

Senator Orechio pointed out that "services that are under the direction of the state overburden the tax lines, and the state should pick them up." This includes the courts, jury commission, probation department, board of taxation, county tax administrator, board of elections, superintendent of elections, county superintendent of schools, agriculture agent and prosecutor.

Senator Carmen Orechio, our district's State Senator for many years, is one of the most competent legislators in the state; he is also a Nutley commissioner and had been its Mayor. He comes up for reelection in November of this year and it is most important that he be returned to Trenton for another four years. We and all the people of New Jersey are fortunate that we can be represented by a gentleman of his talent.

The more we conserve, the less to recycle

By Vincent Frantantoni

At a recent Belleville Town Meeting, our Board of Commissioners rescinded a proposed ordinance that would have imposed mandatory recycling on our residents. It was a proper decision because questions and concerns raised by citizens were not answered.

While I know of no one who would oppose the concept of recycling, it appears much more investigation and planning is needed before the State of New Jersey mandates recycling for all 567 municipalities.

At this point in time, voluntary recycling seems to be in order. As a result of the programs already begun in many towns, the market demand for newspaper, glass, and aluminum has dropped dramatically. Newspaper warehouses are loaded to the roof, glass buyers are not buying as readily, and aluminum prices are depressed.

Any mandatory plan should be preceded by creation or expansion of existing markets for these products. What good would it do to accumulate newspapers and have nothing to do with them?

After storing these materials for long periods, they would probably wind up in landfills anyway. The State and Federal government should be encouraging industry to create products and uses for our recyclable resources.

Another avenue that should be pursued is the origination of some of our garbage. We should be cracking down on excess packaging and "disposable" products. Examples of excess packaging are 9" dolls in 36" boxes to make them appear larger, or products put in styrofoam packaging 3 or 4 times larger than necessary. "Disposable" products are really not disposable. Those disposable razors we use fill up the landfill unnecessarily, when a simple razor with replaceable blades can be used for years and years.

We should be educating our citizens on how to conserve, thereby reducing our volume of garbage. Washing windows with newspaper is a very good example. The paper absorbs water and does not leave lint. If this little trick only saved one roll of paper towels per person per year, that means in Belleville alone 35,000 rolls of paper towels on it. We must all write our legislators asking them to reject this bill at this time unless they are prepared to guarantee us there will be markets for our recycled items. If approved, this bill will add another layer of bureaucracy which we will never be able to shed. It will also increase landfill surcharge disposal fees $1.50 per ton. The overburdened New Jersey taxpayers can not afford this added tax. We should insist that our representatives in Trenton and Washington address our garbage crisis in a more balanced fashion. They must control the producers of our garbage. The goal of this new bill is to recycle 15% of the previous years solid waste stream the first year. Just imagine if we were to attack the problem at the front end. If we eliminated 15% of our garbage by the control of packaging, disposables, more efficient manufacturing processes, prudent shopping practices, etc., we will be saving a lot more than garbage collection and landfill costs. We will be reducing the cost of transporting and handling these products to market. We will also be preserving the earth's natural resources for our future generations. The energy to produce these products will also be saved.

Yes, there are alternatives. But most of our elected officials seem to come up with plans that involve large dollar signs only. Let's all drop them a line to remind them there is a better way.

Of course, each of must immediately begin to act individually on the proposals outlined above. Remember, the tax you save will be your own.

Citizens Forum

would be kept out of our landfills. We should use rags or sponges more often, as they can be cleaned and re-used, once again saving paper towels.

When we make a small purchase, such as a gallon of milk or a box of donuts, refuse the paper bag. Household cleaning products can be purchased in concentrated form. Not only will it reduce cost, because one gallon can make 20-40 times that amount by adding water, but we will eliminate 20-40 plastic containers from our garbage. Whenever possible, purchase products in larger sizes, eliminating several smaller packages which ultimately must be disposed.

Even leaf removal can be controlled. If each of us used only a 30 gallon pail of leaves as fertilizer this would be a sizable amount kept out of landfills. Leaves can be turned over with the soil in our flower beds or backyard gardens. Leaves are a safe, natural, and most of all, free fertilizer.

On December 18, 1986, the New Jersey State Assembly approved a bill that would establish mandatory statewide recycling. The bill was sent to the Senate, which must now act

Religious Viewpoints

Submitted by
Rev. Robert Paul

In a beautiful district in Scotland, a boy from a well-to-do English home was swimming in one of the lakes. Suddenly seized with a severe cramp, he screamed for help struggling to remain afloat. A boy about his own age heard his cry, plunged into the lake, and with strong strokes brought him to shore. The young boy administered aid and was able to save the life of this English boy.

Time passed by, but the English boy never forgot the lad who saved his life. Making a special trip to Scotland, he informed his rescuer that it was his wish and the wish of his family that they be allowed to finance him in any advanced education he might choose.

The Scottish boy chose the field of medicine and graduated, after many years of study, with high honors. Later on he entered into the field of research and in 1928 found that germs could not exist in a certain vegetable mold. He named his discovery penicillin—a discovery that was destined to save thousands of lives. His name, Dr. Alexander Fleming, soon became a household word.

The English lad whose life he had saved also became famous. While on a history making journey in the near East, meeting Franklin D. Roosevelt and Joseph Stalin in a series of important conferences, he was stricken with pneumonia. When his condition became serious, word was flashed to London, and penicillin, discovered by the man who had saved him from drowning, was flown to his side. In a few hours, penicillin had added another illustrious name to the long list of lives it had saved from certain death. The man whose life was saved by penicillin was Sir

Winston Churchill.

The God of creation did not forget his sinning creatures, because he sought them out and provided the remedy that they needed in the person of the Lord

1986 IRA CONTRIBUTIONS ARE STILL FULLY TAX DEDUCTIBLE

It's time to open an Individual Retirement Account, or add to your existing one.

The new tax law will limit eligibility for IRA benefits for tax year 1987 and beyond.

But for now you may still receive the maximum benefits on your investment. That means you can contribute up to $2,000 to your IRA and deduct the full amount from your 1986 tax return. Married couples filing jointly may deduct contributions of up to $2,250 and working couples may still take a full deduction of $4,000.

Nutley Savings has a variety of IRA plans which pay the highest market interest rates and are designed to meet your individual needs.

Remember, this may be the last year you have to receive the maximum benefits on your investment. Stop in and see one of our IRA experts. They'll show you how to make the most of your Individual Retirement Account.

Free investment course

A free Investment Course, given by Laurence Davidson, financial consultant, Thomas McKinnon Securities Inc., a member of the N.Y. Stock Exchange, will be held February 3, from 7:30 - 9 p.m. at the main library.

Tax advantages, investment opportunities, education funding, real estate programs, tax-free income and retirement planning will be highlighted, as well as bank investments versus government investment.

Whether you are new to investing or have a great deal of experience in the market, this seminar will be an opportunity for you to learn about financial planning, taught in a manner easy to understand. There will be a question and answer period following the discussion.

Registration will be taken in person at the library or by calling 450-3434.

Celebrate books...

The January program of "Celebrate Books," directed by Marily Mango, High School media specialist, and produced by Adrea Cohen, assistant library director, featured David Bryant, library director, reviewing important poetry reference works. This will be followed by Alice Cronin, children's librarian, showing several poetry books for children, as well as announcing the Winter Poetry Contest, grades 1 to 6, in the Children's Room.

Adrea Cohen then reviews reference books for 1987, as well as discussion of current reference questions asked at the Library.

Watch WBHS, Channel 34, for the time listings for the program.

Grandparents kit...

The Children's Room of the Library announces that a special grandparents kit has been created for use by grandparents whenever they visit the Library with their young charges.

A large box containing books, puppets, toys, and games is always available for grandparents to use during Children's Room hours, Monday 9 a.m. - 9 p.m.; Tuesday through Saturday, 5 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information on this special offering call 450-3434.

Winter Poetry Contest

For grades 1 through 6.

Rules:

1. Write a poem using all six of these words: BEARS RUN SLOW FUN BROWN LOVE. Your poem must be no less than three lines, no more than twenty lines.
2. Print your poem neatly on a piece of 8 x 11 inch lined school paper. Illegible entries will not be considered. Illustrate your poem if you wish, but the judging will be on poetic content.
3. Submit your entry or entries to the Children's Room by Valentine's Day, February 14. Make sure your name, address, telephone number, school and grade are in the lower left-hand corner.
4. Twelve winners, 2 from each grade, will be announced on Friday, Feb. 27 at 3:30 p.m. These winning entries and other poems submitted will be published in the Children's Room Annual Anthology of Poetry.

Dawn on you...

Horoscope for the week from Jan. 15 to 21
By Dawn Weigl

Capricorn - Dec. 22 to Jan. 20

Redecorating. A chance to remodel. Getting your property in order. The money you save now, the home that you build now, or the property that you acquire now, are things that will help you later.

Aquarius - Jan. 21 to Feb. 19

Working on the mind. Be cautious in what you say, do not put thy foot in thy mouth. Be careful also in what you write for it may be taken the wrong way. This is also a time to advance yourself mentally. The possibility of taking a course of some sort.

Pisces - Feb. 20 to March 20

Watch out you do not overspend. Stay clear of the plastic cards. If you're looking to buy something, think it over a few times before you do. You're very impulsive at this time, think first for later you may have to work hard to pay debts off.

Aries - March 21 to April 20

Now is the time to fight for what you want. The key word here is improvement. Self improvement. This is the energy time. Working on the body, exercising, sports. Be careful that you do not overextend yourself. Also beware of losing your temper at this time.

Taurus - April 21 to May 21

If you have any dental work, surgery or even a physical that you have been putting off, now is the time to do it and get it done. It will save you problems later. You may have trouble finding time for yourself at this time, but please do. You must take care of No. 1.

Gemini - May 22 to June 21

A good time to work on your hopes, your wishes, your ambitions. Sit down and think of where you are going and what you want. Do things for yourself, and you will be successful. You may also do some entertaining.

Cancer - June 22 to July 23

A time for promotions, getting ahead. Watch out for gossip which can cause problems later. Beware of people talking behind your back they may be praising you or putting you down. Good or bad, it's all up to you and how you deal with things. Have control of your mind, and keep your cool.

Leo - July 24 to Aug. 23

Ticket-paying time. Possibility of some long distance travel, and a desire to do something for your pleasure. You may even get into different groups for your pleasure. There is a caution with some legal difficulties. Watch out for judgments being made against you.

Virgo - Aug. 24 to Sept. 23

Be careful if you are driving or traveling. Beware of sharp instruments, for you are accident prone at this time. Watch out for falling objects. Take care of yourself. Do not over-extend yourself financially.

Libra - Sept. 24 to Oct. 23

Overactive, being a little too pushy, but pushing for yourself which is good. This is a good week to get along with people or forge partnerships. But any enemies you do make at this time will be lasting ones. It's not whether you're right or wrong, it's that people may take you wrong.

Scorpio - Oct. 24 to Nov. 23

This week you experience a change of habits. The health time, watching your diet. You may want to take up some new hobbies. You achieve in both your health and your occupation. This is also a lucky time if you have to go to court. You have the energy, so go to it.

Sagittarius - Nov. 23 to Dec. 21

You may be looking for a new love affair. If married you may be looking to renew what you have. Now is the time for you to go out and enjoy life, different restaurants, sports, etc. Creativeness, to have the mental and physical ability to do things together.

DENTALLY SPEAKING
By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Malo

Mr. J. of Belleville writes: "Once a tooth is crowned can it still get decayed?"
As you know, Mr. J., a crown covers 360 degrees of a tooth and often goes under the gums. In those cases if your dental hygiene is good and you keep your gums healthy, the possibility of decay under your crown is very small. If your crown ends above your gums again your tooth will not be decayed if your hygiene and diet is good.
So Mr. J., once a tooth is crowned it's very well protected but if that tooth is neglected it can become subject to the same problem as an uncrowned tooth. Keep up good daily hygiene and you'll be fine. Thank you.

Come see the only snowblowers with tracks.

Saturday evening. It's been snowing all day. Forget shoveling walks on Sunday! With a Honda snowblower you can clear your sidewalks and driveway with ease. Featuring either tracks or wheels, Honda's 5.5HP self-propelled snowblower cuts through snow and blows it up to 39 feet. And with three forward speeds and reverse, you can work at your own pace.

Support group for children of alcoholics meets weekly

One out of three families currently reports alcohol abuse by a family member, according to the National Association for Children of Alcoholics.

A group of adult children of alcoholics meets weekly at the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley. This group helps participants deal with multiple problems that family members of alcoholics face — inability to trust others, a need to control, denial of feelings, excessive sense of responsibility.

Through the self-help approach, persons improve their feelings of self-esteem, reduce depression and learn ways to develop satisfying relationships.

For more information about this group or to apply, contact Ms. Judy Yurmark at 450-3100.

Stress can effect physical, mental health in many ways

By Paulette Hines, Ph.D.

Life is not stress-free. Stress has many effects on physical and mental health. Life situations, whether happy or sad, are stressful, and not everyone reacts to these situations in the same way or with the same degree of intensity. It is useful to be able to recognize the symptoms of a mental health problem in yourself and others before the condition worsens.

Signs of stress are:

Anger: You may find yourself feeling irritable, getting upset at things that previously didn't bother you. In more serious cases, anger might be shown by getting into fights or destroying property or other violence.

Anxiety: You may experience times when you are so upset or worried that you can't concentrate, you can't sit still or you feel in a panic.

Depression: The everyday type of depression is usually a feeling of being "down." The depression is serious if it leads to loss of enjoyment in life, sleeping and eating too much or too little, a sense of hopelessness or thoughts of suicide.

Alcohol/drug abuse: Regular drinkers may find that they are drinking more and more. Excessive drinking may lead to other serious physical, emotional or legal problems. Drugs may also be used by people in an effort to escape the stresses of life.

Family conflict: Tension and conflict are a normal part of family life. When arguments among family members are more frequent or intense, or family members avoid each other completely, this is a danger sign.

A problem should be considered serious if it causes real distress in you or your family, or if it begins to interfere with your daily life. Should this happen, you should be aware of the fact that there are resources available in your community to help you and your family. For referrals throughout the state, call the UMDNJ-Community Mental Health Center at 463-4424.

Belleville Times SPORTS

Mike Lamberti's

Buc Shots

When a coach prepares for a new season, he, or she, does it well in advance of that season. Such is the case of Belleville gymnastics coach Ray Iannuzzi. While the 1987 gymnastics season doesn't officially begin until September of this year, the coach is busily planning his future, not only for '87 but for years to come.

Iannuzzi has announced the opening of a new gymnastics school, entitled "Perfect 10 Gymnastics School" that is located at 327 Union Avenue in Belleville, directly across the street from School Number 3. The coach is planning a January 26 Grand Opening and plans an ambitious schedule in teaching the sport to the young and the not so young.

"It's been a lot of work," Iannuzzi said last Monday night. "We're hoping to have the school ready for January 26th and we'll be open six days a week."

The school will be closed only on Sunday. From Monday to Friday, it will open at 3:30 p.m. and remain open until 9:30 p.m. On Saturday, Iannuzzi plans a 9 a.m. opening with classes throughout the morning. The cost of the school is $24.00 a month, which covers instruction on the uneven parallel bars, floor exercise, balance beam and vaulting exercise. Students meet once a week for an hour.

In order to make the classes competitive, Iannuzzi is planning on keeping the classes in individual age groups.

"We'll probably work with the younger kids in the early afternoons during the week and the early mornings on the weekends," the coach said. "The school is open to all age groups, from age three to adults."

The sport of gymnastics has gained a great deal of popularity, not only in Belleville, but throughout the area. The 1984 Summer Olympics put the sport on the map in this area and its effect has blossomed since.

If anyone is interested in the school, they can contact Iannuzzi at 450-4483, between the hours of 3 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. On Saturday's, you can reach him at the same number from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Remembering Art

This next topic is one of personal interest to me, but can apply to many people in our reading area.

This is a story of a man, who, not so long ago, went to a far away country to do a very unpopular job. He did it in a different time, a different world and while it seems light years ago, the memory of this man will remain bright in those who knew, and loved him.

Twenty years ago next Tuesday, January 20, 1967 to be precise, a man named Arthur J. Abramoff flew a mission over Vietnam and, like many before and after him, did not return from that mission. I'm sure there isn't anyone in town, other than his immediate family, who knew Arthur J. Abramoff, but I'm pretty sure there might be someone who knew a man like him.

Art was 25 years old, a husband and father of two small children. He was a first lieutenant in the United States Air Force, and in 1967, the Vietnam War was making headlines, both at home and abroad. Singers like Petula Clark and the Supremes were big in '67. Super Bowl I had just been played between Kansas City and Green Bay.

It's hard to believe that 20 years have passed since that day in 1967. The day is vivid in my mind because Arthur J. Abramoff was my uncle, and a man who I admired and respected. At the time of his death, I was just eight years old, so I really didn't understand the significance of it until years later. If Art could see what was going on today, he would find his beautiful daughter, now 23 years old, married and working on her career in business. He would find his 22 year old son, just recently graduated from college and bearing a strong resemblance to his father. Art would have been proud of his family.

His name, like 58,006 others, can be found on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, an imposing shrine in Washington D.C. that attracts visitors by the thousands on a daily basis. The memorial has helped to "bring home" the veterans of the war, who weren't welcomed home graciously 15 years ago and to treat the country of those wounds. Today, the United States has honored those who fought in Vietnam with class and deserving recognition.

On the 20th anniversary of his passing, just a note to my Uncle, and to all those who lost a friend or relative in that era; your memory has not, nor will it ever, be forgotten. You will always be a part of our lives.

Hoops

The boys and girls' basketball teams had a tough week on the courts. The boys team was beaten by Eastside and Teaneck after stopping Bloomfield while the girls beat Eastside, but lost at home to Bloomfield and Teaneck. The boys took a 4-3 mark into last Tuesday's game with Montclair while the girls carried a 4-5 slate into a home game with Montclair last Tuesday. Interesting to note, the girls are 4-3 on the road, but 0-2 on their home court in the early stages of the 1986-87 season. Simone Edwards had two strong games against Bloomfield and Eastside, scoring a career high 22 points at Eastside. Edwards tallied 16 of the points from the foul line, hitting 16 of 18.

Athlete of the Week

Marc Criscione of the wrestling team has done a solid job in the heavyweight slot and gets this weeks nod. Criscione won the championship of the Bloomfield Holiday tourney and should be one of top wrestlers in the district and region in 1987.

Last Weeks Quiz

The last time the Denver Broncos won a playoff game, before the New England win this season, was in 1977, when the Orange Crush beat the Oakland Raiders, 20-17 in the AFC title game in Denver. Red Miller coached the Broncos then, who were 12-2 in '77, but lost the Super Bowl in January of '78 to the Dallas Cowboys, 27-10.

For This Week

Back in 1970, Cincinnati and San Diego played what is the second highest scoring regulation time game in NBA history. The cities of Cincinnati and San Diego do not have an NBA franchise today, but the teams who represented those cities in '70 are alive and well in other places. What current NBA teams are the former Cincinnati and San Diego franchises?

Bucs 7-0, now win first quad

The mainmen of Belleville High School won four dual meets this past week, all by lopsided scores, to improve their season's record to an unblemished 7-0. Victories over St. Joseph's of Montvale (44-20), Paterson Eastside (54-18), Montclair (45-24), and Bloomfield (42-19) only lend more proof to the case that this year's team may be the best ever at BHS.

While it would make no sense to give a blow by blow description of the four blowouts, it would seem time to assess the team's strengths and weaknesses as state sectional time grows closer and closer.

To even the novice wrestling fan, it is apparent that the Bucs live or die with the lower and middle weights. Except for the Edison match, all the dual meets have followed the same pattern: the Bucs build an early lead, lose some ground in the medium and upper weights, then hold on and leave the coffin closer to heavyweight Marc Criscione.

Joe Perna has occupied the 100 lb. slot all year and owns an 8-1 record with four pins. Joe's toughest matches are still ahead of him, but he is clearly the front runner in District 7 at this point in the season. Perna needs to sit out a few weeks soon in order to avoid surpassing the 22 bout maximum employed by the NISTAA. His replacement will probably be sophomore Scott Simonetti, currently enjoying a fine season as the jayvee leadoff man.

The 107 pound class is owned and operated by Mike Iuliano, currently with a 7-2 record and four pins. Iuliano has had the most difficult personal schedule of all the Buc grapplers this year as six of his nine opponents have won or placed second in early season tournaments. Mike is on another one way showdown with West Essex' Frank DeMary as their meeting in the Region 2 final is almost inevitable. Iuliano's backup will be either Simonetti or Ralph Perna, Joe's younger brother.

At 114 pounds, John Stampone has six pins to go along with his fine 8-1 record. Those six pins tie him with Bear Criscione for the team high. Johnny is also the favorite in his class to win a District 7 gold medal but must face the challenge of his career in the upcoming Elizabeth Minutemen Tournament. There, Sam Cole of Long Branch reigns supreme as he defends his state title won in the 1985-86 season. Stampone's backup is sophomore Lou Coco, who would own the varsity slot if John were not there.

Junior Joe Cerreto has achieved superstar status in his three varsity seasons and is currently 8-1 for the year. He has only one pin, but has four Technical Falls to his credit. Mr. C. is a legitimate contender for state honors, and like Iuliano, has a score to settle with an arch rival in a Region 2 rematch of 1985-86. Cerreto's foe will undoubtedly be Caldwell's Larry Pallante. The two have met three times in the past two years with Cerreto winning two of the bouts. All three matches were decided by two points or less. Mike Senesky, like Coco, would be a varsity performer on a regular basis if not for Cerreto.

Undeclared Armando Nardone is the 128 pound resident for the Bucs and owns a sparkling 9-0 slate with one pin, four Technical Falls and a second consecutive Bloomfield Christmas Tournament title in his book. Mondo must still face some tough opponents, notably Pete Morals of JFK and Jason Hawk of Phillipsburg in the state sectionals, but is counted on in every bout to be a team leader. Senesky also fills in for Nardone when Mondo needs a breather.

Eric Nazziola holds down the 134 pound position and has earned a workmanlike 5-3-1 log so far this year. A senior, Nazziola has the toughest task of all the BHS mainmen as his division appears to be the most difficult in the District 7 race. Eric must contend with St. Benedict's Pat Napoli, Nutley's John Alessio and Bloomfield's Art Cutliff if he intends to go on to the regionals held in Kearny. Jeff Apple has filled in for Eric but needs a bit more seasoning before he can be counted on as an everyday varsity performer.

Senior co-captain Phil Zanolio is 3-1-1 this year with five pins and a Technical Fall recorded in his ledger. Bloomfield's Anthony Minervino is Zanolio's biggest obstacle to overcome in winning a District 7 gold medal, and Phil has already pinned Minervino this past week in the Bloomfield Quad. Zanolio's weight class has a great many "sleepers", so it is difficult to determine where his challenges may lie for the remainder of the year. The jayvee lineup begins to get a bit thin at this point and no real successor has yet been determined for Phil.

The Buc lineup continues at 147 pound with junior Nick Keykarin the current resident. With a 3-5 record, Nick has shown toughness and desire, but is in need of some experience. There seems to be a challenge brewing here as freshman Ken Henry made a decent showing of his talents against Bloomfield's Mike Volpe. Although a 9-6 loser, Henry has the talent to someday be a star. Keykarin must stay on his toes and would be wise to take an occasional peek over his shoulder to remain aware of Henry's progress.

This year's biggest surprise is Lou Lucante, 157 pounds of muscle and energy. After a season opening loss to Kearny's Brian Morolla, Lou has reeled off seven consecutive wins, including four pins and a Technical Fall. With each match Lou gets a bit more wind, and should be considered a legitimate contender for the District 7 crown. Whether or not Lucante is for real will be revealed in the Elizabeth Minutemen Tournament. There, J.P. Stevens' Jeff Askin will put Lightning Lou to the test. By the way, Lou has this year's latest pin, a 30-second blink of an eye against Chris Lau of Edison. Coach Joe Nisivoccia's scorebook has 34 seconds, but the coach needs to adjust his records. Lucante has no real backup in his division, and that could become a real problem for Coach Nisivoccia if Lou needs a rest or is injured.

Dawson Bloom has been the Buc's regular 169 pounder this year, but is out with a back injury and is not expected back for two to three weeks. Dawson has a 2-5 record and is suffering from the same malady that plagued Lucante last year. Bloom is not a legitimate 169 pounder and is therefore always outweighed and always a great deal shorter than the opposition. The result has been a number of different matches for Dawson with a number of tough people still to wrestle. With no backup at this weight class, Belleville will have to forfeit six points until Bloom's return.

For two years now, the 187 pound class has been an empty page in the scorebook. This year is no different as the football team has again chickened out and left a gaping hole in an otherwise powerful lineup. In years past, this weight division has drawn from the football team to form one of the strongest areas on the squad. For some reason, those plucky packers are not showing up with as much regularity and the results are a six point forfeit in most matches. Sophomores John Cerza and Jason Silletti are working out well for the jayvee team, but neither is ready yet to graduate to the varsity on a full time basis.

Heavyweight and co-captain Marc Criscione has been this year's MVP so far, and with good reason. He is 9-0 with a team high (tied with John Stampone) six pins, and won the Edison match with a pin to pull out a heart stopping victory for the Bucs. The Bear has benefited greatly from working out with assistant coach Kevin Scott and is the early favorite to earn a gold medal in the Region 2 championships. Strong challenges down the road at Cedar Ridge and Bridgewater West will keep Criscione on his toes while he piles up wins in the NNJHL.

BUC NOTES: Current ratings have Bucs 15th in the state and first in Essex County. It was nice to see ex BHS star maulman Bob Bonfante referee the bout versus St. Joseph's of Montvale. The fans thought he needed a little more work in his style and execution. A small hint to Mrs. Stampone and Mrs. Apple: don't get so nervous! If you need support and advice on how to be a seasoned wrestling mom, see Lucille Cerreto, she's a real pro! See you next week.

Up and down week for BHS girls

Belleville's Simone Edwards attempts a foul shot against Bloomfield.

Laura Caruso shoots for two points in the Bloomfield game last Tuesday. She is the only senior in the starting lineup.

It was an up and down week for the Belleville girls' basketball team. Karen Fucello's troops lost two games by wide margins, but won a big conference game in between the losses for the teams fourth win of the season.

Belleville took a 4-5 record into a home game with Montclair last Tuesday. Tomorrow afternoon, the girls are in Passaic at 4 p.m. and next Tuesday come home to face Nutley in a 4 p.m. start.

Belleville started off last week with a 68-50 loss to Bloomfield, but came back two days later to beat Paterson Eastside, 42-41. Last Saturday, however, the girls were blasted by powerful Teaneck, 64-31 at home.

Versus Bloomfield, Belleville lost its fifth straight game to the Bengals spanning two and one half seasons. Bloomfield jumped out to an early lead with some excellent outside shooting, then settled back for an 18 point win.

"We didn't execute the things we practiced the night before," Fucello said. "We have to more offensive minded and we weren't in this game."

Bloomfield jumped out to a 19-12 first quarter lead and increased the lead to 33-21 at intermission. The lead ballooned to 55-31 after three before Belleville outscored Bloomfield 19-13, in the final eight minutes.

Simone Edwards scored 21 points to lead the way for Belleville. Stacey Johansen had ten points, Laura Caruso closed with eight, Laurie Dondarski finished with six, Raquel Melson scored three and Thelina Espiritu had two.

Belleville shot just 10 of 21 from the foul line, but hit 20 field goals.

Versus Eastside, Belleville charged to a big lead, then lost it in the second half and had to rally in overtime to win.

"I was a little disappointed that we lost the lead," Fucello said. "It was good to see us come back in overtime, but we should have won it in regulation."

The first half was all Belleville as the Lady Bucs built up a 24-16 lead at intermission. However, the lead went down the tubes in the third quarter as Eastside outscored Belleville, 18-9 in the third frame. The fourth quarter saw both teams tally eight points to force the ex-

Real Estate Briefcase

By Jack Reilly, G.R.I.

Why is it that some agents won't give out addresses of properties they have advertised? — E. Patel, Nutley.

When it comes to residential housing, a real estate agent has two basic goals in the course of conducting business: first, find property for sale. Second, find people who want to purchase property for sale. (The order of items 1 and 2 often get reversed as well.) In his search for people who are looking to purchase real estate, one of the most common tools used by the agent is the classified ad. By placing the ad in the paper, the agent plans to receive phone calls from (hopefully) qualified buyers.

When an ad well written and well placed produces a list of qualified purchasers, the ad has done its job. Although the agent would probably be very pleased if the caller was to actually wind up purchasing the property, this often is not the case. This does not concern the agent though as his goal is a simple one: Make the phone ring. If the caller is dissatisfied with the property that was advertised, the agent can usually find something else that will suit the caller's needs.

Often the caller wants to get as much information as possible; at the very least the area of town that the property is in if not the actual address. The problems that arise here are numerous. For one thing, the agent represents the seller, and must do everything to market the property in a competent fashion and protect the seller's interests at all times. Certainly, the agent would be negligent in his duty if he gave the seller's address to anyone who called. The caller must first be 'qualified' to determine that the caller is financially able as well as motivated, and that the caller is a 'buyer' as opposed to a 'looker.'

After determining that the caller is indeed a buyer, the thing that the agent wants most to do is meet with that buyer to establish a rapport and sell him a home, even if it is one other than the property advertised. Once the caller has the address of the property in the ad, he may choose never to call back. Worse yet, he may contact another broker to see the interior of the home, in which case the agent's ad produced a sale for his competitor.

When calling an agent on an ad in the paper, be prepared to give a little information about yourself so that the agent will be able to best serve you and his principal.

25P5 PERSONAL NOTICES

PRAYER OF APPLICATION
TO THE HOLY SPIRIT - Holy Spirit you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the Divine gift to forgive and to forget all evil against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even in spite of all material illusion. I wish to be with you eternal Glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine. The person must say this prayer for 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor request will be granted even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor, only your initial should appear at the bottom.
