Disabled veterans suggest resolution

Veterans Day will be day off for township schoolchildren

By Christopher Bifani

School may have to be extended one day in June, but Veteran's Day, November 11 will be a day off for Belleville public schools in honor of veterans both living and departed, and to make students truly aware of the horrors of war.

During the public hearing session of the school board's January 26 meeting, Joseph Fornarotto of Union Avenue spoke in behalf of the Belleville Disabled Veterans group.

"If they can have a legal holiday in honor of Luther King, they can have a holiday in honor of the veterans," Fornarotto said.

Barbara Ciccalese offered as a possibility the option of a 12:45 dismissal, which would still count as a full day of school.

Fornarotto, however, clearly preferred a full day off in honor of the veterans.

Trustee Dr. Anthony D'Agostino agreed with the idea of a full day off for students, saying that it was a good way to make students more aware of the importance of the day.

Clydesdale Horses

In the end, the impromptu resolution came to a vote and all seven board members unanimously voted to make Veteran's Day a day off in the Belleville School System.

Fornarotto told the Times the following day that a big attraction is planned for the Veteran's Day parade next year.

"The Budweiser Clydesdale horses should be in our parade," Fornarotto said.

He said that last year the parade did not receive proper attention in the township because a rescheduled Belleville/Clifton football contest took many would-be parade goers out of town to see the game.

His goal, he said, is to have a Veteran's Day parade on Veterans Day, with all the schoolchildren able to see. Washington Avenue Government offices and banks are already closed in observance of Veterans Day, he added.

Zanfini is head baseball coach, Miele is board secretary

Board of Education names several to administrative, athletic posts

By Christopher Bifani

Several appointments, ranging from athletics to administration, marked the school board's second meeting of 1987, held January 26 at the board's Cortlandt Street offices.

The board approved four athletic appointments, three unanimously.

Gene D'Alessandro is head golf coach. He is to receive a stipend of $1,250. Scott Fabian is head crew coach. His stipend is $3,175. Dennis Villano is assistant crew coach, receiving a $1,980 stipend.

The board was split on a fourth athletic appointment. George Zanfini was named the head baseball coach in a 4-2 vote with one board member taking no part.

Dr. Anthony D'Agostino, who along with fellow trustee, Dr. Joseph Cappello, voted against Zanfini's appointment, saying he was in opposition to the administration's procedure.

D'Agostino indicated that the administration had originally recommended last year's head baseball coach Ralph LaConte but then chose to post the position to all applicants.

Both LaConte and Zanfini, who was head coach in the early 80's, applied. The administration, headed by Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello, then recommended Zanfini's appointment.

Nardiello told the Times that the administration never formally recommended LaConte's reappointment.

Voting in favor of Zanfini's appointment were Board President

Phil Linfante and Trustees Barbara Ciccalese, Daniel Borgo and Ernest Zoppi.

Trustee Seymour Grossman chose to take no part in the voting procedure.

In other board appointments, former Assistant to the Business Administrator Charles Miele was named Board of Education Secretary and his former position dissolved.

The vote was delayed after trustee D'Agostino asked for additional wording to be placed on the (Continued on page 2)

21st century improvements planned for our freeway

Route 21 may be road to renewal

By Christopher Bifani

On the Hagstrom map of Essex it's called the New Jersey Freeway. But to most Bellevillites it's just Route 21, the only highway in town.

Often, when a new highway cuts a right of way through a community, increased prosperity, commerce and development follow. However, in the generation since Route 21 has served Belleville the blessings have been mixed.

The coming of the highway was certainly a factor in attracting significant mall development in the Valley section of town - development applauded by some and criticized by others. More recently, the convenience of the highway has attracted condominium development in that same area, also a controversial subject.

While residents enjoy using Route 21 for quick access to Route 3 and other exits, Belleville police officials call it "the getaway route" because out-of-town criminals have been known to perpetrate crimes here and then use the route to speed away.

Congestion on Washington Avenue was relieved with the coming of Route 21, less than a quarter mile to the east. Newark commuters from Nutley, Clifton and other points north are more likely to use the stop-light free expressway to get downtown these days. The route has surely absorbed some of the Avenue's wear and tear.

Avenue merchants, however, suffered greatly in the years following the opening of Route 21. Longtime townspeople have vivid memories of the "ghost town" look of Washington Avenue during the late sixties and seventies. Many motorists bypassed the thoroughfare. Many shops closed up.

Today, when New Jersey real estate experts, land planners and media people talk about "growth corridors" - a string of communities served by a new highway - Belleville, Newark and Route 21 are never mentioned. Instead, the attention is focused on Route 78 as it cuts through the open spaces of Somerset and Hunterdon Counties. Or Route 280 as it rounds the bend into the prosperous west side of Essex and onto Morris. Or Route 1, an old highway that's learning new tricks thanks to an influx of high-tech industry near Princeton.

Will Belleville's highway be the main artery in a 1990's growth corridor? Or is Route 21 destined to deteriorate because of state policy that favors the outer counties? Recently, The Times spoke with officials from the New Jersey Department of Transportation (DOT). What plans, if any, does the DOT have for Route 21?

Town Heart Association announces new program

The Belleville, Bloomfield, Nutley Chapter of the American Heart Association announced the development of four ongoing programs at a recent meeting.

In announcing the programs, Chapter President Richard Drake stated, "We felt it was important for the public to be aware of our existence and also that there is more to the American Heart Association than fund raising."

The programs being offered through the Chapter are a Speakers Bureau, a "Putting Your Heart into the Curriculum" program, a "Save a Sweet Heart" program and a "Culinary Heart Kitchen."

Speakers Bureau

The Speakers Bureau is made up of doctors and other professionals who are volunteering their time to speak on topics including Cholesterol/Sodium, Heart Surgery, High Blood Pressure and the American Heart Association itself. The Bureau is an educational tool used by the Chapter and the Association to increase the public's awareness of heart problems.

Putting Your Heart into it
The Curriculum is a broad-scope curriculum guide for cardiovascular health education. Modules are geared toward individual age groups and are available for kindergarten through high school. This program has already been implemented in the South Middle School in Bloomfield and School 3 in Belleville. School 3 is in its second year with the program.

Sweet Heart don't smoke
To Save a Sweet Heart program is a high school level program that encourages students to stop smoking. It also serves to reinforce the decision to not smoke among non-smoking students. The event is scheduled for Valentine's Day and first encourages them to quit smoking for the one day and then to stop completely. It also helps to educate students about the dangers of smoking.

Hearty Cuisine

The Culinary Heart Kitchen course is designed to teach preparation of meals that are low in calories and/or cholesterol and are attractive and taste good. Also added to the course are foods for sodium restricted diets. While the course is geared toward individuals primarily responsible for food preparation, it can be of value to those just interested in learning how to cook healthy foods.

"The Chapter has been in existence for just about a year and we are only now getting ourselves organized," stated Drake. He added that more programs will be added as the Chapter continues to build.

For more information regarding these programs contact the local American Heart Association office at 376-3636.

Attention town businesses!

Use the Times' business desk

The Belleville Times has prepared a new business, commerce and professional feature to cover the business scene in our township. It's called "Business Desk."

This Times feature will cover the promotions, expansions, acquisitions, renovations, celebrations, conventions, announcements, retirements, advancements...any business news you'd like to let the community know about.

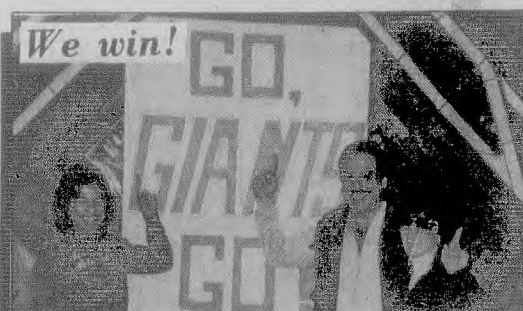

This feature is open to every business in Belleville. It is intended to far surpass the quality of local business coverage in any town newspaper anywhere.

Business Desk will help our township to attain a better reputation as a good place to conduct business. But we need your help to make it a success.

Send your press releases to The Belleville Times c/o Business Desk, 155-A Washington Avenue, Belleville, New Jersey, 07109. Photographs are welcomed, black and white preferred.

From the press releases you send, our editorial staff will develop as many stories as space permits. Deadline for publication is the Friday before each edition.

Business leaders: Make it your business to send your business news to Business Desk!

Getting into the swing of Super Bowl at "For Pete's Sake" — waitress Rose Maloney, owner Pete Vaccarelli and barmaid Grace Surlano showing the favorite team.

A sea of blue welcomed the Super Bowl champions New York Giants to Giants Stadium in East Rutherford on Tuesday afternoon. Over 30,000 fans-most of them wearing Giant blue-braved the frigid conditions.

After New York City denied the champions a ticker-tape parade last month in the event the team made it to the Super Bowl, the Garden State was more than willing to play host to their heroes with open arms.

With the exception of seven players, members of the team and coaching staff were present as they received specially cast medallions from Gov. Thomas Kean. Those unable to make it due to prior commitments with the Pro Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii, had their messages beamed back onto the matrix scoreboards.

Wellington Mara, the co-owner of the franchise, spoke to the fans and thanked them for sticking by the team during the hard times.

"This is a personal fulfillment come true. When I first saw this stadium I thought 'what great place', now we have a team that is worthy of this fine home."

"You people are special, you are the Super Bowl champions of fans," he said to a thunderous ovation.

Fans arrived to the stadium hours before its gates were opened at 10:30 a.m. to the general public, that included many town residents.

Super Bowl MVP and Giant quarterback Phil Simms was also appreciative of the fans support. "The 23 years of suffering are behind us. I hope in the future that we'll be able to do it again."

The event which was made possible through corporate grants and from the pockets of the fans, was planned down to the last detail. Elaborate plans for fans to use mass transit was evident. Everyone attending was given a bag full of kazoos, streamers, team pictures and confetti.

But the man who made the whole celebration possible, head coach Bill Parcells, may have best summed the sentiments of his players.

"When we (the players and coaches) come out of that tunnel every Sunday, we like to refer to this place as 'our house,' and you are our family we're grateful for the tremendous support this season and I've got a little something for you all."

At that moment he raised the Vince Lombardi Championship Trophy above his head and must have realized how great it was to be home. By Chris Lawlor

BELLEVILLE briefly...

Three Belleville finalists

Pick-6 drawing today

A top prize of $1 million, payable over 20 years, will be at stake when the New Jersey Lottery holds a "Pick-6 Lotto" Million Dollar Bonus Game grand prize drawing at the Ramada Hotel in Clark, today, Jan. 29.

Acting Lottery Executive Director Joseph A. Mule announced the 200 finalists for the drawing, which will begin at 12:15 p.m. The finalists represent all 21 New Jersey counties and one each from Maryland and Pennsylvania. There are three Belleville finalists.

The finalists won their ways into the drawing by matching, in exact order, the five-digit Million Dollar Bonus Game numbers picked Monday and Thursday evenings as part of the televised drawings for the "Pick-6 Lotto" twice weekly game. Entered in today's drawing are those winners whose claims were received by the Lottery in Trenton by November 12.

In addition to the top prize of $1 million ($50,000 a year for 20 years), the Clark drawing will decide a second cash prize of $50,000, and a third prize of $25,000, one fourth prize of $10,000 and fifth through tenth prizes of $2,500 each. The remaining finalists will receive $250 prizes.

Belleville finalists include: Donald Gabriel, Nathan Horst, and Frank Cisco. Good luck!

New business videos

New video cassettes in the business area added to the library collection include: "Up the Corporate Ladder," which discusses office politics, positioning yourself, salary negotiations, and focusing your career; "Winning at Work," which discusses writing a sound resume, preparing for an interview, projecting a polished image, managing time, turning deadly stress into creative energy, and becoming a team player; "Winning Entrepreneurial Style," which discusses developing a viable concept, the business plan.

Susan Narucki, an accomplished soprano from Belleville, is competing in this year's Metropolitan Opera auditions.

The 1987 Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions for the New Jersey District will be hosted, for the third year, by the School of Fine and Performing Arts at Montclair State College. The auditions will be held on Saturday, Feb. 7 in Memorial Auditorium from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Regional auditions were inaugurated in 1954 and now cover 17 regions in every section of the nation, as well as Australia, Canada and Puerto Rico. Approximately 2,000 young singers enter the auditions and of those, 25 national finalists receive $1,000 for their participation. Eleven national winners are chosen and are awarded equal grants of $4,000. The winners will be presented in concert on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera, with Metropolitan Opera Orchestra before a public audience on March 29. New Jersey has had a representative in the Winners Concert for the past two consecutive years in addition to many winners in the past years.

What a difference a card makes

Bellevillites to enjoy 'free love'

For the past six years, hundreds of thousands of little cards called "Lovenotes" have been given away, free of charge. This year, the "Lovenotes give-away" continues, with a goal of giving away 1/2 million to people from around the world.

What are Lovenotes?

They are a set of 5 colorful cards good for free hugs, kisses, snuggles, intimacies and introductions. How are they used? According to Lovenotes creator, Paul Hartman, "the only limitation to how Lovenotes are used is a person's imagination. They can be used by singles or marrieds, men or women, young or old. They can be used by strangers who want to meet, people who've had an argument and want to make up, or people who want to add some extra zest to their relationship."

To get a free set of Lovenotes, people should simply send a small, self-addressed stamped envelope along with a request to: Lovenotes, Box 1618, Bloomfield, N.J. 07003. One set of Lovenotes will be sent, but there is no limit to the number of envelopes that can be sent.

There is absolutely no catch to this offer. Lovenotes cannot be bought at any price. They are free. No advertising will be sent. No money will be solicited. In fact, any money sent will be returned. Names will not be used for a mailing list of any type. Lovenotes are, very simply, free for everyone to enjoy.

Who's been working on the railroad

Rail crossing neglect a motorist's nightmare

By Sally Deering

It was a motorist's nightmare, one that confronts residents of Belleville and Nutley each day. What could be more terrifying than to have your car stuck on a railroad crossing with the possibility of being hit by an oncoming train? Peter Foppiani of Nutley had that nightmare for real.

"I was about to cross the tracks at the intersection of Holmes and Valley streets, so I slowed down to 5 miles an hour," said Foppiani. "There was a dip in the road and as I went over the first track, the front end of my car got caught in between the tracks. The first rail must have caught the catalytic converter, pulled it back and bent the whole system into a pretzel."

With the help of a teenager passing by, Foppiani was able to lift the back end of his car and remove the tail pipe and muffler. "There were three other exhaust systems lying there," he said.

"I know there have been people who have lost mufflers while crossing the tracks," said Raymond Strumolo, Senior Clerk at the Belleville Dept. of Public Works. "As far as the upkeep of the tracks is concerned, that's Conrail's responsibility. Our department could fill a pot-hole but if it's a dip in the road, you can't repair a dip."

Who's responsible for maintaining the grounds near the railroad tracks, Conrail or the township? Foppiani claims the grounds leading up to the tracks on Holmes and Valley are worn down.

"I think it has to do with lack of maintenance and I think Conrail should take care of it," he said.

According to Anthony Nicosia of the Belleville Town Hall, "It's definitely Conrail's property, they're responsible. You can't compare Bloomfield's Belleville Avenue railroad crossing to some of ours. In my opinion, ours seem to be the worst in the area."

Nutley's rail crossings also appear to be in better shape. Tom Hanlon, Superintendent of Parks and Public Property in Nutley said, "We don't get complaints about the railroad crossing except when it's snowing and you can't walk across the intersections."

Repeated attempts to contact Conrail officials were unsuccessful.

With financial investment, Belleville officials believe, Conrail could upgrade the RR crossings.

"I've driven on grids that level the railroad tracks with the road," said Detective Anthony LaVista of Belleville. "When you drive on them, you don't even know you're crossing a railroad track." LaVista thinks the crossings are in disrepair because Conrail doesn't want to spend the money.

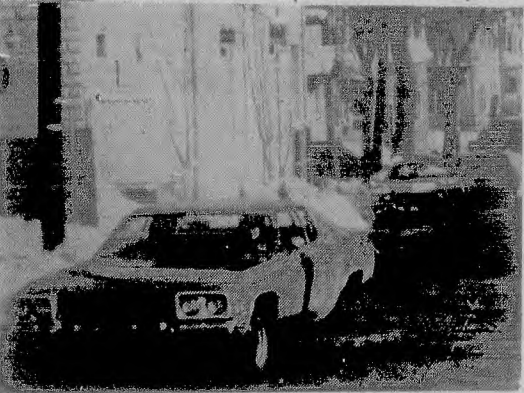

"When I was in uniform during the 1 to 9 shift, the railroad crossing alarms would go off at 3 in the morning and they'd still be ringing at 9 in the morning," LaVista said. "Conrail takes it's time when called to a repair."

According to LaVista, the alarms and barriers that prevent cars from crossing a railroad track due to an oncoming train can be tripped. "There's little magnets underneath the rails," he said.

"When a train is approaching, the magnets activate the alarms, flashing light signals go off and barriers go down. Sometimes kids who know how to trip the wires will do so and until Conrail comes to fix it, the lights are flashing, the bells are ringing and the barriers won't go up."

"But, because this has happened so many times, people don't pay attention. A train could be coming by but people are so used to dealing with faulty signals that they cross anyway. Someday there might really be a train coming," LaVista said.

There have been no major accidents on the RR tracks in the recent past, but LaVista reasoned, "that's because of luck, just luck."

Getting fixed — A resolution was passed at the January 27 Board of Commissioners meeting, which would provide for improvements to Holmes Street in the vicinity of the infamous Conrail crossing. Many motorists have complained about this and other rail crossings in the Valley. (Photo by Sally Deering)

But Doctor, you said...

Essex Medical Assistants to show film at town hospital

On Wednesday, Feb. 11, the Essex Chapter of Medical Assistants (ECMA) will present an informative film entitled, "But, Doctor, you said..." at Clara Maass Hospital's Doctors' lecture hall, beginning at 8 p.m.

This 30 minute flick was created by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The object is to increase awareness of the problems in communication between patients, health care professionals and physicians. It is useful to better understand the often frightening and sometimes mystifying encounter which takes place between a patient and a doctor.

Scheduled to be on hand for a question and answer period following the film are Dr. Giovanni Lima of Kearny and Dr. Joel Cherashore of Nutley. Both are members of the Essex County Medical Society. Dr. Lima is senior advisor and liaison for the ECMA and for the New Jersey State Society of Medical Assistants. Dr. Cherashore also serves as an advisor to the ECMA.

ECMA is a local non-profit association for healthcare professionals, in existence for over 20 years. The ECMA is dedicated to bringing exceptional educational programs to allied health professionals on an ongoing basis. Continued Education Units (CEUs) are offered to both members and non-members as a means of earning recognition for programs attended.

The medical assistants meet the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at Clara Maass. Refreshments are served, and membership information is offered.

Shortage is using up manpower

Town needs crossing guards

The Belleville Police Department is severely in need of crossing guards to replace those who have left the department. Currently, the crossing guard shortage has forced some regular patrolmen to fill in occasionally, a BPD spokesman said.

Starting pay is $4.85 per hour, and the job involves about 3 - 4 hours per day, Monday through Friday. There is a raise following six months of employment.

Potential applicants should contact Belleville Police at 450-3333 for an application.

A NEW ANTHISTAMINE

Anyone with an allergy can tell you that antihistamines help alleviate the symptoms of runny eyes and noses. Most antihistamines, however, have the side-effect of leaving a person drowsy and weak. This can be a serious drawback for someone who must drive or work. Now, a new medication offers the relief of an antihistamine without any sedative side effects. Terfenadine has recently been approved by the Food and Drug Administration. It is available by prescription. In addition to not having the usual side-effects of other antihistamines, terfenadine is effective when taken only twice daily. Many other antihistamines require three or four doses a day. Before terfenadine, the cure was often as bad as the problem itself.

We offer complete prescription service at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1956, 759-1968. Walkers, wheel chairs, crutches, canes and other convalescent aids are sold or rented. "Your Doctor Knows Us—Your Doctor Trusts Us". For Valentine's Day gifts we have a fine selection of transistor radios, cameras, Timex watches, cosmetics, toiletries and candy. Hours: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-9pm.

HANDY HINT:
If you need an antihistamine, start with an over-the-counter product that contains a single antihistamine ingredient.

Road to riches?

Experts looking down the road for New Jersey's next "growth corridor" may discover that it's right here, in the communities along Route 21.

Newark, Belleville, Nutley and several Passaic and Bergen communities... all are likely to benefit when improvements planned by the New Jersey Department of Transportation (DOT) materialize in the early 1990's.

In fact, the area is likely to benefit even sooner than that because of increased business activity in anticipation of the Route 21 improvements.

DOT officials recently told the Times that the proposed improvements include widening the road and dismantling some stoplights through Newark, a fresh coat of asphalt through Newark, redesigning access ramps at the intersections of Route 3 and Route 280, and completing the long-awaited extension to Paterson.

One DOT executive, involved specifically with the Route 21 improvement project, said the highway could be fully extended and renovated by the early 1990's. While some may think that's overly optimistic, we think it's a reasonable goal.

This is because the renewal and growth of Newark's Gateway district, airport and downtown may necessitate an accelerated Route 21 improvement plan.

So what does all this mean to communities like Belleville and Nutley?

On the up side it means higher property values, a bustling business climate, and added driving convenience. Imagine: right up to the George Washington Bridge with no tolls and no red lights! Right down to the airport with no tolls, no bumps, and less red lights!

On the down side it means a busier highway running through town and more congestion within town.

Quietly, while most attention is focused on the dramatic revitalization of New Jersey Hudson riverfront, our own Passaic riverfront is poised for some long-overdue revitalization of its own.

But as plans progress on the DOT Route 21 project, the township must plan accordingly. Can a finished Route 21 be our township's road to riches?

It just may turn out that way.

Amato's inheritance

The legacy inherited by new County Executive Nicholas Amato from predecessor, Peter Shapiro, should not be left to your worst enemy.

The County operations for the year just ended presented former Surrogate Judge Amato with a $10 Million operating deficit. On top of that was a $50 Million roll-over note payable representing funding used by Shapiro to meet expenses of past years.

If Shapiro had the opportunity to stay on the course he was on for another year or two, Essex County would face bankruptcy — or taxpayers of the county would be burdened with such high real estate taxes that the exodus of people from Essex County would have accelerated.

Nick Amato was elected on a platform of reform. Wherever possible, he wants to cut back government. Amato says too much government doesn't do anybody any good — and he is so right. The county budget document actually is the product of the Board of Freeholders. It is that agency of government that is obliged by law to adopt the budget document. The County Executive proposes a budget — and the Board of Freeholders adopts the instrument. In years past, Peter Shapiro would present the Board of Freeholders with a phony budget that underfunded county costs in order to place the burden of a higher budget upon the shoulders of the Board of Freeholders. The Shapiro operation was a sham — a political game that was conceived to make Shapiro look good — and the Board of Freeholders look bad.

For several years, the scheme succeeded — but as with all bad things, they eventually catch up with the author — and the phony county budgets were no exceptions — the shenanigans involved eventually caught up with the guy who conceived them — Peter Shapiro.

Amato and the Board of Freeholders are going to need the support of all citizens in order to adopt a frugal budget which aims to cut services and cut taxes.

Nick Amato proposed that many county services probably could be performed more efficiently by municipalities. For instance, the maintenance of county roads — the removal of snow — the maintenance of county parks — all these services could and should be part of a municipal operation — with the county reimbursing the municipality for the cost of services rendered.

Why pay for the expense of sending a parks maintenance crew from the county headquarters to an outlying park, like Belleville Park, when the town has a year round Parks Department which could do the job just as well at less cost.

So, too, with streets, sidewalks and curbs. Belleville's Public Works Department could maintain a county street, sidewalk and curb and be reimbursed by the county for the expense — this would remove Essex County from the position of maintaining those facilities.

What a waste of money for Belleville to send its tax money down to county headquarters and then see a 75 cent on the $1.00 value returned in the form of park and street maintenance.

Nick Amato is on the right road — and the sooner he gets up the speed, the better it will be for the taxpayers.

Nick Amato is not a politician — and he is the first one to tell you so. Already he has disappointed politicians in both parties because of his refusal to adopt a policy of doing business as usual.

Amato faces a financial crisis — not of his making — and it will take all the willpower he can command to turn around the business of running Essex County.

Amato's aim is to remove politics from the business of government — and we have confidence he will succeed.

Bomber madness...

To the editor:

Some crimes are just plain senseless. To kill a young teenager because he would not give up an article of clothing shocks all decent people. Bomber jackets are very popular among young people. But is it worth it to risk your very life just to wear the latest clothing fad?

My own family is doubly saddened by this tragedy. A senseless murder was committed and my teenaged daughter knew the victim personally. Vicious crimes are always more horrible when you are acquainted with the victim.

I just hope and pray that justice is swift and fair in dealing with the perpetrators of such a foul act despite their young ages.

Yours truly,
Mona Santiago

Letters to the Editor

Farewell, pastor...

To the editor:

It is with regret that the time has come for us to move from this great metropolitan area.

We have counted it a privilege to be able to come to your attention through the articles entitled "Religious Viewpoint" from January of 1982 until the present.

We have appreciated the response that many have given to the writings, and wish that we were able to continue. I would like to thank the editors especially for the help that they have given.

Dr. G. Ross Laidlaw, Senior Pastor of Brookdale Baptist Church, Bloomfield, will take over the writing of the articles in early January. He is very capable in his field. I have known him personally for some time, and believe you will appreciate the material that will come from him.

Our new address will be Crestwood Village, Whiting, N.J. If any readers are ever in the area, we would be glad to have you look us up.

Sincerely,
Rev. Robert Paul

Cuomo for President...

To the editor:

No doubt, the Reagan Administration's "Arms for Iran" fiasco has contributed greatly to the possibility of a Democratic Presidential victory in 1988.

In all probability, because of this favorable political climate, New York's Gov. Mario Cuomo will seek the Democratic Nomination for President.

If — Mario Cuomo can stay in the "good graces" of New York's Cardinal John O'Connor and survive the many months of investigative scrutiny by the Conservative Press, he, very well, might make it all the way to the White House.

Sincerely yours,
Chet Dobkowski

Thanks fire dept....

To the editor:

This letter is to thank all of those from the Belleville Fire Department and M.I.C.U. Paramedics for all of their immediate responses to all of my calls throughout the years of my mother Mary Russomanno's many illnesses.

Especially this last time on January 10, working so desperately on her to save her life. Words cannot describe my gratitude to all of them for all they have done to help her. She is now at rest.

Thank you for always being there for her, your labors will not go unrewarded or your kindness forgotten.

Thanks for the dance...

To the editor:

I want to thank you for your fine article, photos and coverage of our daughter Brenda's dance tour of Japan as reported on the front page of the Belleville Times, Thursday, December 18th.

It is often said that "good news doesn't sell newspapers." In this case, I know that much good feeling and much positive reaction was generated by your most considerate act!

Again, many thanks.

Do the income tax laws treat the rich differently? It seems that way. When they lose $40 million on a personal investment, they don't fret. One wealthy gentleman sold his 34 percent investment in a bankrupt corporation, bought in 1983-84 for $59 million, to a friend for less than $10 million. Did that bother him? Not a bit, because old Uncle Sam shared the loss. The gentleman realized around $40 million in capital gains in 1986 selling notes issued by an automobile company in 1984 when it bought an aerospace Corporation. So the huge loss means he pays no tax on his large gain.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Immigration and Naturalization authorities along the U.S.-Mexican border have a growing problem of forgery activity that is saturated in Tijuana as an outgrowth of the Simpson-Rodino law which calls for documents proving citizenship and residency since 1982.

Border agents confiscate more than 52,000 counterfeit forged or illegal immigration documents annually at the main San Diego border crossing alone. Employers must also ask for proof of citizenship or legal status before hiring workers. U.S. agents recently bought a packet containing a Social Security card and an immigration or "green" card for $80. The quality isn't good, but it's good enough for what they're going to use it for and that's to show employers.

INS officials will have to rely initially on voluntary cooperation from employers to question employee documents and to submit lists of Social Security numbers for verification.

The new law calls for a telephone verification system to help employers and mandates a 50 percent increase in Border Patrol staffing. It will, however, be up to Congress to appropriate funds to fully implement the law and provide the necessary personnel to make it work.

To limit the amount of fraud, the Border Patrol will form task forces to review amnesty applications. Specially trained inspectors, immigration cards with secret marks and sophisticated machinery to spot errors in counterfeiters are among new weapons since most forged documents are detectable.

Agents along the border report that Mexican radio stations advertise $25 document packs including fake rent receipts. Agency officials vow they are ready to stem the tide. Others are not so sure. One INS official stated: "With the manpower we have right now? No way."

The U.S. is pressing Japan to edge beyond its traditional defense spending barrier of 1 percent of gross national product since a new U.S. Japan study shows that if war broke out today with the Soviet Union, the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido would fall within three months, and the Soviets would control the region's sea lanes in six months.

The elaborate code of Senatorial Courtesy doesn't always extend to their staffs. Employees of Republican chief Bob Doyle were so angry at the way Democratic boss Robert Byrd's aides commandeered some of the majority leader's quarters that several refused to leave the offices until the stroke of noon on January 6, when the new Congress formally began.

Released papers indicate the President did indeed try to trade arms for American hostages in Lebanon. This is spurring Democratic activists in Congress, who want to attack Reagan head-on. They are telling their leaders that they can't lose by taking the gloves off.

Polls show they may be right... 77 percent think Reagan held back information while 58 percent are bothered most about the Iranian arms sale crisis because Americans were not told every thing that happened.

OCTOBER 1986

Bifani on...

Belleville

Belleville Police Chief George Lister is satisfied with the new police station plan, following the correction of some flaws in the original design.

"As far as the function of the design goes I'm completely satisfied," he said, "but as to the design of the building — that's not my area of expertise."

The Concerned Citizens of Belleville, meanwhile, are still opposed to the plan — which Lister says may be going out to bid at the next town meeting.

Vincent Frantantoni, President of the CCB, doesn't like the new design at all. He thinks it's completely out of character with the surrounding buildings — the nearby bank and the Town Hall, which have a Roman-style design.

Let 'er rip

"We think they're planning to rip the Town Hall down," Frantantoni says, which he thinks could be the reason why the town fathers aren't concerned with how well the police station blends with Town Hall.

"We asked them (the commissioners) what they're planning to do with the 8,000 feet of space they're vacating. They said they don't know. No planning!" Frantantoni exclaimed.

Chief Lister told us he doesn't know what's to be done with the vacated space.

Here's a prediction: An attempt to rip down the old Town Hall will divide the town like no other controversy. Many, many citizens really like the way Town Hall looks, and would rather see it fixed up than ripped down.

Snow job

While people were complaining about the quality of snow removal in Belleville during recent snowstorms, at least some people were praising the efforts of our DPW.

Who praised them? According to Chief Lister, a busload of handicapped children!

It seems that on Thursday a bus transporting 11 disabled children including 5 in wheelchairs slid off the road on Belleville Avenue right near the police station.

The children remained on the bus at the recommendation of the driver who said the children would prefer familiar surroundings. Some are emotionally disturbed.

While the heat was going in the bus to keep the kids warm, a DPW team worked to free the bus from the snow. They used large scooping vehicles to dump emder under the bus wheels, creating a path for the bus to take. Once freed, the bus drove down to Valley Street where another bus was waiting to take the kids home.

The ordeal took 3½ hours, but in the end the kids got home safe.

While the snow was busy cancelling the presentation of Italian Heritage student essay awards at the Library, the white stuff was also causing a lot of cars to be towed away.

Chief Lister said his department gave more than 200 snow-related summonses during the snowy days last week, and had 36 cars towed.

The main towing targets, he said, were Franklin Street in Silver Lake and Washington Avenue. Folks lucky enough to have left their cars parked on Union Avenue didn't get towed — this time.

"Next time Union Avenue is one of the streets we'll be targeting," Lister warned, and forewarned is forearmed, to use a cliché used elsewhere in this edition.

According to the chief, there are 11 snow streets in Belleville that have to be cleared completely of vehicles as soon as it snows. These are Belmont Avenue, Chestnut Street, Franklin Avenue, Franklin Street, Greylock Parkway, Holmes Street, Jorammon Street, Little Street, the east side of Mt. Prospect Street and Union Avenue.

Because there was little remaining room in car lots where towed Belleville vehicles go, the chief said not every car that should have been towed got towed.

But the ticket blitz was pretty well spread out.

Which reminds me of a little story that went down on Mt. Prospect Avenue.

It seems two Belleville policemen were ticketing every car on the block — east side and west side.

Several neighbors became irate at the sight. Some had just gone to the trouble of moving their cars to the right side of the street and they were getting ticketed anyway.

One witness to the ticket blitz said the cops wouldn't stop even after several people said they were making a mistake.

Finally, says our source, a woman ran inside and called headquarters. Then, headquarters radioed the cops, who threw up their hands and drove off. The wrongfully authorized tickets, however, remained on the three west side cars that got 'em.

Just in the nick of time, dept: It seems our new Schooltimes feature got launched without a minute to lose.

Eileen Brown, President of the Consolidated Association of Parent Teacher groups in town, said she was readying a tough letter to the editor complaining about the lack of a Times school feature.

I told her we were debuting one this week, which we did. Whew! That was a close one.

So who's running in the next commission election? The names we hear banded out! People keep insisting that Vinnie Frantantoni is going to make a go of it, but he keeps on saying no. He's got property up in the Poconos he don't get to enough as it is, he says. But at the January 27 Commission meeting Vinnie said "no comment" as Sammy Papa sat next to him trying to coax him to run.

Tom Spillane is another name we've heard mentioned. He ran in last year's school board race and lost, but got a respectable amount of votes.

Joe Fornarotto? Not him, he says, he's supporting the mayor.

"As long as the mayor is running, I'm not a candidate," he says. "I'm behind the mayor."

Gabe Nazzola? As far as we know he hasn't confirmed nor denied. Cornelius Vander Zwan? He's in Australia on vacation for six weeks, five more to go.

Sometimes the obvious is not so obvious. Perhaps there will be some surprises when all the candidates are revealed. Sixteen we 's and counting.

'Simplified' tax code too complicated?

IRS to help with 1986 tax returns

The Internal Revenue Service is once again ready to help Bellevillites file their 1986 tax returns. Werner C. Hirsch, Public Affairs Officer, said.

As in previous years, its taxpayer assistance toll-free number (1-800-424-1040) will be staffed weekdays between 8:15 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. Belleville residents should call 622-0600.

The best times to call are early in the morning and later in the week. Similar help will be available during the same hours in the "walk-in areas" of the IRS's 14 local New Jersey offices.

Belleville taxpayers interested in obtaining recorded tax information (Tele-Tax) may do so by calling Newark, 624-1223, however, those with rotary dial phones should call toll-free: 1-800-554-4477.

Additional information on the Tele-Tax service is contained in the federal tax packet that was recently mailed to most taxpayers.

Individuals interested in obtaining tax forms and publications may do so by visiting a local IRS office or by calling: 1-800-424-FORM. The local offices will also stock New Jersey State income tax forms.

In early February the IRS will provide specific information as to where lower-income, military, elderly, handicapped and non-English speaking taxpayers can have their returns prepared free of charge by IRS-trained volunteers.

The IRS will also conduct tax return preparation and tax law

Outreach seminars for sponsors who can arrange to gather a group of at least 40 persons with common tax interests. More information is available through the taxpayer assistance toll-free number or by calling 1-201-645-6478.

Taxpayers are urged to file their returns early this year, not only to ensure an early refund, but so that they can use the tax return information to promptly file a new W-4 withholding form with their employer. All wage earners will be required to refile such a form this year as a result of the tax Reform Act of 1986.

The IRS once again urges taxpayers to affix to their return the peel-off label that was attached to their tax packet and to also use the envelope that came with that packet. In addition, they should double-check their arithmetic, and make sure that they've attacked all schedules, W-2 forms, a check where applicable, and make sure the return is properly signed. These steps will allow the IRS to process the return more expeditiously and lessen the possibility of a substantial delay in the issuance of a refund check.

New Jerseyans who opt to use a third party to prepare their return are advised to make sure that they hire a competent individual, since the taxpayer is ultimately responsible for the information that appears on the return.

Adult School registration extended

Due to inclement weather, registration for the spring semester of the Belleville Adult School has been extended to include February 3, 4 and 5. School board president Phil Linfante announced.

Registration time is 7-9 p.m. on all three dates at Belleville High School, Passaic Street.

Hesse takes 1st place at Middlesex meet

BHS business students excel

On Monday, January 12, eighteen members of the Belleville High School Chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America journeyed to Middlesex County College to compete in the North Central Competitive Events in Business Education.

Lorajan Hesse walked away with a first-place in Stenography II, Denise Strumolo and Lisa Carola won 6th and 8th places in Typing II, and Rita Ritacco and Sandra Ombalsky won 7th and 8th places in the area of Office Procedures.

These five winners will compete on the State level in April.

Co-advisors were Mrs. Lorraine Strollo and Mrs. Linda Montanino who do an excellent job each year, to maintain the high level of competency of the Belleville Chapter, a BHS business department spokesperson said.

The Business Department is also proud of other staff members who helped to prepare these students to compete in these events.

"We are indeed proud of their accomplishments," said Mr. Musmanno, supervisor of the Business Department, when asked to comment, "I am sure we can expect even greater accomplishments from these students when they compete on the State level in April."

Gibbons takes 3rd place in Bergen meet

Marketing students compete in Bergen County contest

On Wednesday, Jan. 14, thirty-two members of the Belleville High School Marketing I & II classes journeyed to Bergen County Community College with their advisor Ralph LaConte and assisted by Mr. D'Armiento to compete in the Northern Regional D.E.C.A. Conference.

Fran Pici placed in the top 20 for Apparel and Accessories, John Pereira placed in the top 20 for Entrepreneurship, and Mary Gibbons, only a Sophomore, placed in the top 14 for Fashion Modeling Female Formal, and also 3rd in the Instructional Written Event.

"We extend our congratulations to these students who competed against 1500 other students and represented Belleville High School so well," said Mr. Musmanno, business supervisor.

These regional winners now qualify for state competition to be held at Great Gorge on March 9, 10 and 11.

Nancy Ritschel attends Chiropractic college

Nancy Ritschel of Perry Street, Belleville, has been accepted to New York Chiropractic College in Long Island. She began studies there earlier this month.

Caruso and Odorizzi graduate 'fashionably'

Two Belleville women are included in The Berkeley School of Garret Mountain's December 1986 graduating list.

Donna Caruso and Karen Odorizzi, both of whom majored in fashion marketing, are set to enter the world of business. Both are graduates of Belleville High School.

Caruso and Odorizzi were awarded Associate in Applied Science degrees.

Graduates of the professional secretarial, automated office technology, and fashion marketing and management programs were awarded Associate in Applied Science degrees. Those successfully completing the requirements of the intensive secretarial and information processing courses received diplomas.

The Garret Mountain campus also offers a three-month Horizons program which provides office skills to individuals with backgrounds who can benefit from such an accelerated program.

Religious Viewpoints

A Christian influence

Submitted by:
Rev. Robert Paul
Pastoral Visitor
Brookdale Baptist Church

Have you, as a Christian ever stopped to consider the influence that you have on those around you? It has been said many times that if heaven becomes your home, you will take others with you because of the influence you have exerted while on this earth. I believe the very opposite to be true as well. If you are lost (not born again) you will take those who have followed your poor earthly example into eternal punishment. We are observed many times when we least expect it. The following story was told many years ago.

Around the turn of the century, in rural Tennessee, an old man, crippled with arthritis, was very faithful in his assembling with the people in his local church. Twice on Sunday, and once on Wednesday nights, a little girl watched from her window as the old man with his cane painfully made his way down to the little church on the corner. One Sunday morning following a snow storm, the little girl ran to her window, and looking out exclaimed, "Surely the old man will not go to church this snowy morning." But there he was, right on schedule, plodding very cautiously through the ice and snow to attend the church worship service.

The little girl could not contain herself any longer. She just had to visit the little church to see what possibly could be there that would bring the old man out on such an inclement morning. The rest is history. The little girl was impressed by the service there that morning and a short time later she too became a born again Christian. (St. John 3:7). After high school she enrolled in a Christian college and while there she met a fine young born again Christian man whom she later married.

To this union a son was born who was to become of the brotherhood's finest gospel preachers. This brother, during his ministry has literally baptized thousands who believed in Christ. The old man went to his reward never realizing just what an impact he had made for the cause of Jesus Christ. Because of his Godly influence many will go into heaven with him.

There can be no greater joy than to reach heaven and to hear someone say, "I'm here because you have shown me the way." Parents, when you reach heaven, won't it be just wonderful to see your children and to hear them say, "Mom and Dad, we made it because of you."

If you are not sure that you are a born again Christian why not now believe that God loves you (St. John 3:16) and invite the Lord Jesus Christ to come into your life and wash away your sins in His blood? St. John 5:24.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Just for today, I will be happy. I will not dwell on thoughts that depress me. I will chase them out of my mind and replace them with happy thoughts.

Just for today, I will improve my mind. I will force myself to read something that requires effort; thought and concentration.

Just for today, I will do something positive to improve my health. If I'm a smoker, I'll make an honest effort to cut down. If I'm overweight, I'll eat nothing I know is fattening. And I will force myself to exercise.

Just for today, before I speak I will ask myself, "Is it true? Is it kind?" And if the answer to either of those questions is negative, I won't say it.

Just for today, I will make a conscious effort to be agreeable. I will look as good as I can, dress becomingly, talk softly, act courteously and not interrupt when someone else is talking.

Just for today, I'll do something I've been putting off for a long time. I'll finally write that letter, make that phone call or clean that closet.

Just for today, I will be unafraid. I will gather the courage to do what is right and take the responsibility for my own actions.

Spending time with children

Pastor Fortunato
Silver Lake Baptist Church

"Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord: and the fruit of the womb is His reward." This Bible verse is found in Psalms 127:3, and it should be believed by every parent.

The question in the minds of some parents seems to be: how much of a gift and how real a blessing are my children to me? For the Christian parent, there seems to be very little difficulty in appreciating this wonderful gift from God.

However, some Christian couples are deficient in proper parenting skills. The amount of time parents spend with their children is very crucial to their development.

Parents, nothing in all the world can take the place of the time you need to spend with your children. In an attempt to soothe their conscience, I have heard many parents say, "I don't spend much time with my child, but what time I do spend is quality time."

Any time spent with a child is quality time because there is no insignificant contact ever made with a child. What many parents really mean by "quality time" is little time.

A recent study of 8,000 children and 10,000 parents reveals some shocking statistics. The study was done by the Minneapolis based Search Institute. The results are a part of their 1983 nationwide study of adolescents and their parents.

According to the research, Fifty-three percent of the adolescents spend less than 30 minutes a day with their father.

Out-of-sight-out-of-mind?

Mandatory recycling as landfills close up

Too many of us have an "out-of-sight-out-of-mind mentality" when it comes to garbage.

We drag the trash cans out to the curb twice a week and don't give a second thought about where the garbage trucks go afterward — as long as they return the next week on the right days at the right times.

It seems we only worry about garbage when someone wants to build a dump in our hometown or when a judge closes down the overburdened landfill we are using in someone else's hometown.

Of course, the latter scenario grabs larger headlines because trash piles up in front of homes for what seems like forever until a new landfill is found. Yet once the immediate crisis passes, garbage becomes yesterday's news again.

That's why it's sometimes easy to miss the point that mandatory statewide recycling is not a matter of choice, but a matter of necessity.

Most importantly, the bill provides the economic incentives needed to bolster recycling markets and the financial assistance needed by counties and municipalities to get recycling programs off the ground.

The bill represents a good compromise on a highly controversial issue. It contains many of the suggestions that were made by dozens of recycling and environmental experts during countless Senate and Assembly committee hearings.

Recently, the measure cleared a major hurdle when it was approved 74-0 by the General Assembly. The bill is now back before the Senate for concurrence with several Assembly amendments. Securing final approval of this legislation is among the Senate's highest priorities in the coming months.

Specifically, the Contillo-Albano legislation would require the state's 567 municipalities to develop plans for composting leaves and recycling three other items, such as aluminum, paper, glass or plastic.

However, municipal recycling ordinances would not take effect until counties have made arrangements with recycling businesses willing to take the papers, cans, bottles and plastics that are collected. After all, it makes no sense to force people to separate their garbage if the trash is only going to be stockpiled someplace instead of recycled.

These incinerators, which are expected to start coming on line in the 1990's, will operate more efficiently and reduce our reliance on landfills more effectively if New Jersey already has a strong, statewide recycling program in place.

The "out-of-sight-out-of-mind mentality" that prevails today about garbage will not work much longer. We are facing a trash disposal crisis of monumental proportions. A mandatory recycling law is crucial if we're going to resolve the problem.

Able-bodied recipients will go to work

Governor reaching for welfare crisis solution

Governor Thomas H. Kean and Human Services Commissioner Drew Altman have announced a new state program which they say will change the face of welfare in New Jersey. The new program is called REACH (Realizing Economic Achievement) and it is intended to shift the focus of public assistance from welfare to work, and from dependence to opportunity and self-sufficiency.

REACH will be the first welfare program of its kind in the country to encompass every family on public assistance when fully implemented. Currently, New Jersey has 120,000 families and 365,000 individuals receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC). Ninety-six percent of these recipients are women and children.

REACH will require that all able-bodied AFDC recipients take steps to support their families and become self-sufficient, and it will provide the opportunities and supports they need to finish school or go to work.

REACH will also make the prevention of long-term dependency a major thrust by targeting teenage welfare applicants who today have a four in 10 chance of remaining on welfare for ten years or more.

"Yesterday, I announced a program for turning around a failed welfare system, a bold step which sets our welfare clients on a course towards opportunity and self-sufficiency," Kean said.

Today, Commissioner Altman and I will outline the Family Council raises funds for Geriatrics Center

Surrounding Irma Kurdyla at the dinner dance are Essex County Sheriff Thomas D'Alessio; Donald C. Vaillancourt, vice president, corporate communications, The Grand Union Company and chairman of the board of the council; and N.J. State Senator Carmen A. Orechio.

Helping out at the gift table were Mike Paolino; Gina Thomas, president of the Family Council; Louise Di Bacco; Erma Mastro, vice president, treasurer and chairman of the affair and Livia Di Orio.

Enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Piro. The Family Council was founded eight years ago and all proceeds from fundraising efforts benefit the residents of the Geriatrics Center, located in Belleville.

Prevention is the key to handling a stroke

Many people do not understand the exact nature of a stroke but are familiar enough with the condition to know its effects can be devastating. The recent death of Cary Grant was attributed to a massive stroke. Unfortunately, many of us know people who have suffered from a stroke, a leading cause of death in this country.

A stroke is simply damage to the nervous system caused by any of a number of different vascular diseases (diseases of the blood vessels.) In most victims, brain damage is caused by blockage in, or rupturing of, a blood vessel. Arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, caused by fatty deposits in the arteries, is the single most common cause of stroke in middle-aged people. The same condition can also lead to a heart attack, depending on whether the clogged vessel leads to the brain or to the heart.

While strokes are more common among people over age 60, they can be brought on by certain conditions in the young. These include sickle cell disease, in which misshapen red blood cells clump together in the blood vessels; arteritis, or inflammation of the blood vessels; and trauma.

There are two main types of stroke. In the ischemic or non-bleeding type, not enough blood is getting to the brain due to a blockage, leading to death of brain tissue. Less common are hemorrhagic or bleeding strokes in which a blood clot in the brain or in the space between the brain and skull leads to increased pressure and brain damage.

The most important thing to remember about stroke is that once it occurs, nothing can be done to bring dead brain tissue back to life. We simply do not yet have the medical know-how. Prevention is the key.

The risk factors for stroke are the same as those for heart disease and should be controlled. They include diabetes, hypertension (high blood pressure), obesity, fats in the blood and smoking.

Many times a small "mini-stroke," known as a transient ischemic attack (TIA) serves as a warning sign that a more serious attack will occur within weeks or months. A TIA is an episode where the brain doesn't get enough blood for a short period of time but there is complete functional recovery. The temporary symptoms include blindness in one eye, loss of speech, weakness and sensory loss. If you experience any of these, see a doctor immediately, especially if you fall into any of the above-mentioned risk categories. Just because the symptoms go away doesn't mean you should ignore them.

The hallmark of a stroke is that symptoms come on very quickly, possibly leaving you paralyzed in as little as ten minutes or up to one hour. A TIA is a blessing in disguise for it gives you a chance to seek preventive treatment. If necessary, your doctor will refer you to an appropriate specialist, often a neurologist, neurosurgeon or vascular surgeon, depending on the cause of your symptoms.

One treatment used for clogged arteries is aspirin, for evidence suggests that it can reduce excessive blood clotting. Other blood-thinning medications may be used. Sometimes, a carotid endarterectomy - surgery to remove fatty plaques from the principal artery on each side of the neck - is necessary.

A person who has survived a bleeding stroke may require neurosurgery. Generally, treatment once a stroke has occurred depends on the cause and type.

People do recover to varying extents from strokes through rehabilitative therapy. This involves a variety of approaches including physical, speech and occupational therapy. Certainly the patient's will to get better is an important psychological factor in the process of regaining function.

If you do nothing else in the way of changing bad habits, at least check your blood pressure regularly - that's probably the most important preventive measure you can take. Finally, remember the signs of impending stroke and again, don't ignore them but call your doctor.

Belleville Times SPORTS

Mike Lamberti's

Buc Shots

I was looking through the latest press releases sent by the local colleges and found a very interesting piece. Steven Kimble, a Belleville High graduate and outstanding student, is currently at sophomore at Rutgers University. While that's not news, what he achieved for the first semester certainly is. Kimble earned a 4.0 grade point ratio for the term, a straight A average and is striving to become a lawyer.

Kimble is majoring in accounting. He is the son of Deputy Chief Ray and Marie Kimble. While at Belleville High, Kimble played varsity football and basketball, and was graduated from BHS in the spring of 1985. He was an outstanding football player, working at defensive end, just like his older brother, Ray, who starred for the Bucs from 1980-82.

What I remember about Ray and Steve Kimble was that both men were class people, in addition to fine athletes. They epitomized the hard working Belleville athlete who strove for excellence on the field and now, out of high school, are looking for that same excellence in whatever they do.

It's always nice to see a former Belleville High athlete doing well in the classroom and congratulations go out to Steven Kimble on his accomplishments. Keep up the good work.

While we're discussing former athletes, I ran into Desiree Johansen at the girls' basketball game last weekend. Johansen is now a freshman at Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa. She is undecided on her major, but is leaning toward the accounting profession.

While at Belleville High, you might remember Johansen as a triple letterwoman. She starred for the Belleville tennis, girls' basketball and softball squads. Desiree was graduated last spring and achieved a 3.2 grade point ratio for her first semester of college. While at Belleville High, she always earned excellent grades and is continuing her academic excellence on the collegiate level.

Johansen has not forsaken her athletic career. She is hopeful of playing for the Muhlenberg softball team in the spring, or quite possibly the tennis team. Whatever she does, Johansen should be quite successful.

Belleville High graduate Ed Aulisi, a 1980 hero, is in his third year of medical school at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. It is one of the most prestigious schools in the country and Aulisi, who wants to be a neuro surgeon one day, is doing very well.

Recently, he was inducted into the Belleville Hall of Fame. Aulisi starred for the football, basketball and baseball teams from 1977-80. After graduation valedictorian of his class at Belleville High, Aulisi attended Princeton University, where, of course, he chose the field of medicine.

Some fans have been asking about another former Belleville star, Jennifer Apicella. Jenny, of course, graduated from Belleville High in 1984 after setting a new state record for points scored by a girls' basketball player. Apicella finished her career with 3,105 points and continues to hold the state scoring record.

Apicella is currently a junior at Holy Cross University in Worcester, Mass. She has been playing varsity ball since her freshman year and is doing quite well. I hope to have more information on Jenny in the next few weeks.

I'm very interested in knowing how our former Belleville athletes are doing since leaving the Halls of BHS. A lot of colleges send press releases, but quite often, they aren't mailed until after a season is completed. The release is usually brief and to the point. I would certainly like to know more about the athletes and could use your help in this venture. If parents or friends of a former Belleville High athlete would like to send me information, or possibly call me, I would be glad to pass on that info to our reading audience.

I can be reached at the Belleville Times at 759-3200, usually on Monday nights from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The address, if you wish to mail something, is 800 Bloomfield Avenue, Nutley, N.J. 07110. Just put any information to my attention and I assure you it will be printed. Thank You.

Hoops

It wasn't a good week for the local basketball teams. The girls did split its week of action, beating arch rival Nutley by 21 points, but losing by 26 at Paterson Kennedy. The girls have been receiving some good performances from freshman Stacey Johansen, sophomores Laurie Dondarski and Simone Edwards, junior Racquel Melson and senior Laura Caruso.

Not a lot has been mentioned about Melson this year, but the junior has come around after off season knee surgery. She, according to her coach, Karen Fucello, has excellent form on her jump shot and is gaining confidence with each game. If Melson can continue to improve her offensive game, the girls will have another arsenal in the attack.

Against Nutley, Belleville showed the ability to score points and played an excellent first half. Johansen has been leading the offensive charge of late, with 18 and 13 points respectively in the Nutley and Kennedy games.

For the boys, Ted Sochaski continues his heroics, scoring 31 points against Nutley and 20 versus Kennedy. However, Belleville lost both games and head coach Don Roll is hopeful that the Bucs can get back on target this week.

Athlete of the Week

Armando Nardone and Stacey Johansen get this weeks nod. Nardone has been awesome on the mat for the undefeated Buccaneers. He took a 14-0 mark into this weeks action and defeated a previously undefeated grappler, Roberto Morales of Kennedy, 10-5 last week. Johansen, as mentioned, scored 31 points in two games last week and has her season average up to 10.4 ppg.

Last Weeks Quiz

The Minnesota Vikings never led in any of its four Super Bowl appearances. The Vikings lost to Kansas City, 23-7, Miami, 24-7, Pittsburgh, 16-6 and Oakland, 32-14.

For This Week

Since the Pittsburgh Steeler dynasty ended in December of 1980, a team has not been able to dominate the NFL. Only one team has been able to win back to back conference championships since 1980. Name that team and the two straight years that team won its respective title. Also, how did that team do in the Super Bowl.

Rout JFK 40-20

Bucs continue winning streak

By Joe Piegario

It seems nothing can stop Belleville's Bucs from attaining their destiny this year. The worst snow storm in two years postponed the meet with Paterson Catholic, but didn't save Paterson Kennedy from a thorough drubbing. The 40-20 win at Paterson was even more impressive as the Bucs used four jayvee grapplers and forfeited the heavyweight bout in order to keep Marc Criscione within the 22 bout limit installed by the NJSIAA.

The only exciting bout of the evening in terms of suspense was the showdown between JFK's Roberto Morales and the Bucs' Armando Nardone. Both boys were undefeated going into the meet and both grapplers are expected to do well in the States at season's end.

Nardone used a fireman's carry and a near fall early in the bout and was never challenged as he easily outpointed Morales by a score of 10-5. Mondo is now 14-0 on the season while Morales record dropped to 13-1. A rematch in the Region 2 finals seems inevitable as both Nardone and Morales showed they are the class of North Jersey in the 129 pound division.

The remainder of the dual meet was ho hum as none of the individual bouts left any doubt as to their respective outcomes.

Joe Perna opened the proceedings at 100 pounds by scoring a 16-1 Technical Fall victory over Jerome Harris. Perna is shooting for the top seed in the upcoming Essex County Wrestling Tournament, and with an 11-2 slate so far, should hold down that position.

At 107 pounds, Mike Iuliano used only 1:39 to pin Joe Almaza. Mike is also the owner of an 11-2 record and is shooting for his second consecutive 20 win season. Iuliano is also on a personal eight match win streak, seven by pin.

Sophomore Lou Coco filled in at 114 pounds for injured John Stampone, and was beaten 7-3 by Paterson's Selman Kalback. Lou had the JFK grappler on his back in the 2nd period and almost ended the bout. Kalback, however, averted the pin and used a takedown in the 3rd period to forge the final score.

Sophomore Mike Senesky filled in for Joe Cerreto at 121 pounds and ran up a 13-2 lead on JFK's Jose Matille before scoring a fall at 4:29 of the bout. Senesky is now 3-1 as a varsity performer and should get another match either against Passaic or Hackensack.

Eric Nazzola improved his season's log to 8-5-1 as he scored an easy 11-2 Major Decision over Howard Dixon. The hard working senior had Dixon on his back on three separate occasions but couldn't hold both shoulders down and settled for the final nine point margin in his victory.

The night's most exciting match overall belonged to Nick Keykurun and Jose Arroyo. Keykurun opened up an early lead of 7-2 by using a reversal and two pinning combinations in the 1st period. Arroyo came back with 2 takedowns and a near fall in the 2nd period to take a 9-8 lead. Nick responded by scoring a reversal and a 2 point near fall with less than 30 seconds left in the bout to eke out a nerve shattering 14-13 decision.

Another jayvee performer getting his chance to wrestle on varsity level was freshman Ken Henry. Unfortunately for Kenny, he had the tough task of wrestling one of the team captains for Paterson and wound up on the wrong end of an 18-5 Superior Decision. Henry is now 1-2 as a varsity grappler and like Senesky, should see more action.

The third Buccaneer with an 11-2 record is Lou Lucante. As is fast becoming his trademark, Lou ended the match early as he pinned Robert Clark in only 1:01 of the 1st period. No longer wearing his protective mask, it was good to see the look of success on Louie's face after recording his 7th pin of the season.

Frank Pacheco, who missed most of the early season matches, returned to the mats only last week and earned a 3rd place finish as a jayvee member in last week's Elizabeth Minuteman Tournament. In his first varsity match ever, Frank suffered a pin late in the 3rd period.

Jason Siletti closed out the scoring for the Bucs as he received a forfeit at 187 pounds to extend his varsity record to 2-0.

BUC NOTES: Belleville remained No. 14 in the latest newspaper poll despite winning the Elizabeth Minuteman Tournament.

Wrestler of the Week goes to Armando Nardone for the second week in a row. His victory over JFK's Morales showed just how good a wrestler he can be when the opportunity arises. Just a few points of trivia which might interest you. Since joining the NNJIL, BHS has run up a phenomenal record. Excluding Bloomfield, Clifton, Montclair and Nutley, which were on our schedule every year anyway, Belleville has built a record of 29-1-1. The loss was against Paramus and so was the tie. To prove how important it is to be aggressive in high school wrestling and how much it means to take an early lead, consider these stats. In the nine dual meets held so far this year, the wrestler who earned the first takedown has won 91 percent of the time. Didn't head coach Joe Nisivoccia look great on TV? Seems he was born to be on the tube. Friday's match against Cedar Ridge is a long ride, so the Belleville Wrestling Parents & Friends Assn. is shuffling a bus to ride interested fans to the match. Tickets are $6 on a first come, first pay basis. For seats call Joe Piegario at 748-3828. Come out and support the boys in what should be the most difficult match yet this year. See you next week.

Underclassmen have class, too!

JV grapplers unbeaten 8-0-1

By Joe Piegario

While the BHS varsity wrestling team has been stealing all the headlines, the jayvee squad has quietly forged an undefeated record of their own. The current slate of 8-0-1 and the recent third place finish in the Elizabeth Minuteman Tournament testifies to the talent of the junior varsity roster.

Coaches Mark Zarro and Chris Tremel have used 22 wrestlers so far this year, an excellent way to perpetuate interest and competition. Additionally, the bulk of the roster is made up of freshmen and sophomores. Only five wrestlers are juniors, and two of those (Nick Keykurun and Frank Pacheco) are performing now as varsity matmen.

Two of those freshmen, Ralph Perna and Ken Henry, won individual first place trophies in the Elizabeth Tourney. Perna won at 101 pounds and is currently 8-0. Henry won his title at 148 pounds and owns a record 8-1. Kenny has also wrestled three varsity matches and could break into the starting lineup next year. Perna is a shoe-in for a varsity spot next year at 101 and 108, depending on his weight at the time.

Sophomore Lou Coco (108) is undefeated at 10-0 and owns a first place trophy at Elizabeth. Lou has been wrestling for little more than a year and already has a 1-1 record as a varsity fill in. While John Stampone recovers from a minor shoulder injury, Lou will hold down the 115 pound varsity position.

Another soph who has less than two years' experience is Mike Senesky (122). With an 8-1 slate, Mike finished second at Elizabeth and has forged a 3-1 log as a varsity replacement for Joe Cerreto and Armando Nardone.

Nicknamed "Beaver" because of his flat top haircut, Mike is the most aggressive of all the jayvee grapplers.

John Maisto (91 and 101) and Scott Simonetti (108) both are undefeated. Maisto is 4-0 and Simonetti is 6-0. Each is a sophomore and each boy shows a world of potential.

Simonetti, like Coco and Senesky, has less than two years' experience. Maisto still must fill out a few pounds to grow into a full 101 pounder.

At 125 pounds, soph Kevin Marion is 7-1 and is undefeated in dual meets. Kevin was upset in the first round of the Elizabeth Tournament, but is back on his feet and ready for the second half of the season.

Still another soph, Nelson Diaz has held down the 141 pound position all year. Although his record is not as impressive as many of the other jayvee performers (2-6-1), Nelson probably works harder in practice than anyone on the roster.

Head coach Joe Nisivoccia says of Diaz: "I like his work habits. He works hard in practice and is very dedicated. That should pay off by the time he is a senior."

One of the three juniors left on the squad, P.J. Grande (129) has formed a 4-3 record this year. After two years of prodding by Gene D'Alessandro, Grande finally decided to come out for the team. The Bucs haven't regretted his decision and with this years to learn his craft, P.J. should earn some varsity time during next year's season.

The 188 pound slot has been shared by Jason Siletti (4-1) and John Cerza (1-1). Again, both boys are sophomores, but with different wrestling backgrounds.

Siletti is from a wrestling family but has had a number of injuries this year which have curtailed his performance so far. He probably won't be 100 percent until sometime early in February.

Cerza has never wrestled before, but is strong and has the natural heart of a grappler. John has also had four varsity matches to his credit, but needs more time to learn the sport.

Heavyweight Ed Oldak is 8-1 this season and is the heir apparent to Marc Criscione. Eddie has height and great size to his credit, but needs to develop more intensity and mat sense in order to be a success as a varsity performer.

Recreation Roundup

Men's Volleyball Results

Personal Fitness Center I, improved to 7-0 in the Belleville Recreation Men's Volleyball League as they defeated B.F.D. Heat (4-3) last week 12-15, 15-13, 15-8. M.D.A. & Co. (5-2) won by forfeit over the Old Timers; Jo-Lee Nursery (5-2) topped Valenza Opticians (2-5) by scores of 15-13, 11-15, 15-10; and Personal Fitness Center II (3-4) won a pair from B.P. S.C. 15-11, 15-8.

Women's Volleyball Results

Spiked Punch (3-0) holds the lead in the Belleville Recreation Women's Volleyball League after three weeks of action. The Moonlighters (2-1) defeated Cheers 16-14, 15-10; Spiked Punch topped the Friends 15-6, 15-5; the Jammers (2-1) bested the Followers 15-5, 15-6; and Y.B. Busters won by forfeit over the Flamers. Last week, Cheers (2-1) rallied past V.B. Busters 15-10, 15-10; the Friends (1-2) outlasted the Followers 6-15, 15-3, 15-8; Spiked Punch clobbered the Moonlighters 15-6, 15-6; and the Flamers (1-2) beat the Jammers 17-15, 8-15, 15-3.

Basketball League Results

DeBacco's (4-0) remains atop the Men's A Division Basketball standings after defeating Veniero Trucking 59-45. Mirage (3-1) topped STS Car Service Center 61-55 and Nutley Pub (2-2) thrashed Allan's Place 71-42. Troise Insurance (3-1) leads the B Division after edging Peter Guerriero Painting 53-51; while Plaza Travel (2-2) defeated Van Ness Dodge 53-47 and the Falcons (2-2) pounded Nu Plas 81-62.

The Senior Boys League ended their season abruptly and on a sour note last week, with the Teamsters (5-0) finishing with the best record.

Not the best of times for basketball Bucs

These are not the best of times for the Belleville boys' basketball team. If there is a highlight film done on this squad when the season is completed, you can rest assured that film will not include the week of January 19-23. Unless, of course, there is a section in that film for the low points of the season.

The Bucs fell below the .500 mark for the first time since opening night by losing two games to conference rivals. First, Nutley did the honors with an 82-67 shattering and then powerful Kennedy completed the disastrous week with an 86-47 pasting of the Bucs. In between the Nutley and Kennedy games was the big snowfall that hit the area last Thursday, forcing a cancellation of the game with St. Joe's of Montvale. The snow also cancelled a game with St. Al's of Jersey City last Monday. Both contests will be made up at a later date.

Belleville took a 5-6 mark into a critical week of action. The Bucs were in Clifton last Tuesday and will host Bloomfield tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. Next Tuesday, the team will stay home to face Paramus Catholic, at 4 p.m. Belleville needs victories over Clifton and Bloomfield to clinch a berth in the state tourney. Cut off time for state tournament qualification is January 31, when a team has to be .500 or better. To Belleville's credit, the Bucs have already defeated Clifton and Bloomfield in earlier contests this season.

The game with Nutley was supposed to be a tough, hard fought contest. However, the Maroon Raiders had a different idea, coming out strong with the Higgins brothers, Marty and Michael, doing a good deal of the damage. Marty tallied 28 and Michael, 12, to stake Nutley to a big win.

"We had our shots in the early going," Head Coach Don Roll said last week. "They played a triangle and two on Teddy (Sochaski) and Leon (Puentes). We had open shots, but we didn't convert and they did. If we hit those shots, and we should have, then it would have taken away their fast break and could have been a different game."

However, that wasn't the case for Belleville. Nutley jumped out to a 21-6 first quarter lead and never were headed. The Raiders extended the margin to 36-17 at halftime and went on to a 15 point win.

Sochaski played another tremendous game, pouring in 31 points to lead all scorers. The junior has been on a tear lately, hitting his second 30 plus game in his last three starts. His season scoring average is now 23.3 ppg.

Bob Hutchison and Leon Puentes closed with 11 points each. Chris Chiaramonte had seven, Loung La finished with five and Mark Huamani had two. The Kennedy game was no better for Belleville. The Bucs were up against a solid entry from the NNJHL and fell behind early.

The Bucs were hampered by three early fouls to Sochaski. With the junior on the bench, the Knights led, 23-16 after one quarter and 39-27 at intermission.

"We were still in the game, despite Teddy being in foul trouble," Roll said afterward. "They came out strong in the third quarter and put the game out of reach."

Kennedy outscored Belleville, 21-6 in that third frame to take a 60-33 lead, ending any Belleville hope for a comeback. The final frame was more of the same as Kennedy outscored Belleville, 26-14. Sochaski did finish with 20 points to lead Belleville. Puentes closed with seven, Hutchison and Goldrick had six points each. La finished with four and Steve Schwed and Dominick Straface had two points each. For Kennedy, Tom Patterson had 26 points and Antoine Alexander, 17. The Knights improved its record to 12-0 with the win.

The Bucs were without the services of Frank Morrell, who was sick. The senior forward was expected back for the Clifton game last Tuesday.

"We missed him the last two games," Roll said of Morrell. "He plays hard under the boards and pulls down rebounds."

Belleville girls stop Nutley 54-33, snap losing streak

By Mike Lamberti

Playing by far its finest game of the season, the Belleville girls' basketball team ended a three game losing streak by beating arch rival Nutley, 54-33 last Tuesday. The girls weren't as fortunate last Saturday when Paterson Kennedy handed the Lady Bucs a 68-42 setback, at J.F.K. High School.

Belleville took a 5-8 mark into a difficult week of action. The girls played host to Clifton last Tuesday and will be in Bloomfield tomorrow night for a 7:30 p.m. start. Next Tuesday, the team faces a very difficult assignment when it travels to Paramus Catholic for a 7:30 p.m. tip. Belleville jumped out to a big lead against Nutley last Tuesday, taking an 16-1 advantage after one quarter. Even Coach Karen Fucello, not normally prone to dishing praise early in a game, was pleased.

"It was our best quarter of the season," the coach said. "We were able to read the defense, take our shots and execute on offense. We did the things we were supposed to do and got the big lead."

Belleville could not extend the margin in the second quarter and at intermission, the score was 24-9. Belleville put away any doubts with a 12-8 third quarter advantage, taking a comfortable 36-15 lead into the final eight minutes.

In the final quarter, both teams scored 18 points and Belleville had its first victory over Nutley since February of 1984.

"I was a little disappointed with the final quarter," Fucello said. "We gave up 18 points, which means we let up on defense. There were too many lapses on our defensive game. Our offense compensated, but we need to stay strong on D."

There were many offensive heroes in this game. Freshman Stacey Johansen led the attack with 18 points. Sophomore Simone Edwards finished with 14. Laura Caruso had eight, Laurie Dondarski scored six and Racquel Melson and Maria Longobardi tallied four points each. For Nutley, Erin Kelly finished with 10 points to lead the Maroon Raider effort.

"I'm happy with the performance of Laurie (Dondarski)," Fucello said. "She has been working hard at the point position and helping on offense."

As for Johansen, who seems to have her offensive game on track, Fucello said, "Stacey has to learn when to drive and when to take the jumper. She has tremendous natural ability. She is young, but we rely on her for a lot of offense."

After the big win over Nutley, the big snow storm hit the metropolitan area and Belleville schools were closed last Thursday afternoon and all day Friday. Consequently, the Lady Bucs got no practice in before traveling to Kennedy last Saturday morning to face the top ranked team in Passaic County. Kennedy entered the contest with a 10-1 record and a 6'4" center named La Tonya Johnson, who clogged up the middle and gave the Lady Bucs fits on offense.

Belleville fell behind 6-0 in the first quarter before Johansen nailed a jump shot. After six more Kennedy points, Caruso converted a layup for the final Belleville points in the frame.

The first quarter ended with Kennedy ahead, 14-4.

Belleville could not get into an offensive rhythm. Kennedy scored the first four points of the second quarter before Caruso and Johansen converted jumpers to narrow the deficit to 18-8. The Lady Knights then tallied the next ten points to put the contest out of reach, leading 26-8 before Johansen and Dondarski converted baskets. The half ended with Kennedy leading, 30-12.

In the second half, Fucello used some of her junior varsity players, in an effort to give the younger athletes a chance at varsity ball. The girls responded, with Carol Morrison, Longobardi, Thelina Espiritu and Joann D'Ambrose seeing time and playing well.

Kennedy outscored Belleville, 18-13 and 20-17 in the final two quarters to win by 26 points, 68-42. Once again, Johansen led the Belleville attack, this time with 13 points. Edwards was held to eight, Dondarski and Melson finished with six each, Caruso had four, D'Ambrose and Morrison had two a piece and Longobardi closed with one. For Kennedy, Johnson led the way with 26 points.

After playing last Saturday, the snow came back on Monday, once again cancelling school and basketball practice. Thus, the girls went into the Clifton game last Tuesday having not practiced in nearly a week.

NOTES: Edwards leads team in scoring with 13.2 ppg average. Johansen now has her average up to 10.4 and Dondarski is third with 7.6. Rounding out the starters, Caruso is averaging 5.4 and Melson, 2.8. At the foul line, girls are shooting 45 percent, with Edwards hitting 60 percent to lead the way. Johansen is second on team in free throw percentage at 50. Team averaging 44 points a game.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Q. Mrs. K. asks: "What is fluoride and how does it work?"
A. Fluoride is a chemical which in some areas is naturally in the drinking water. Fluoride is like calcium in its chemical structure so sometimes it takes the place of calcium in molecules. When teeth are formed they are mostly made up of molecules containing calcium. If the child has fluoride either naturally or in their vitamins the fluoride is substituted for some of the calcium as the tooth grows. Fluoride is incorporated into the tooth making it part calcium and part fluoride.
Teeth that have fluoride in their makeup are stronger chemically and decay cannot penetrate as quickly. Therefore when plaque lays on the teeth it is harder for the bacteria to eat into the enamel.

Our Freeway will be a 21st century road

The responses were surprising. DOT Assistant Commissioner James Crawford said, "We're planning an overall corridor improvement. We consider an improved Route 21 as significant in generating job growth, stabilizing the tax base, and attracting more development to the area."

The improvements the assistant commissioner referred to were elaborated on by hands-on DOT officials:

Said Ted Fisher, the man in charge of "redesigning" the existing portion of Route 21: "We plan to widen the route through Newark, eliminate some traffic signals, and implement barrier curbs." These plans, the road designer said, are contingent upon the results of a DOT-authorized environmental impact study. Public works officials in neighboring Newark must also agree to the plans.

And what about repaving? "Yes, the repaving of that part of Route 21 is planned," Fisher said.

What this means to Belleville and other Route 21 communities is a smooth, easy road to the airport and other locations in the county seat. Potential developers are sure to notice that Belleville is the next town up from a thriving international airport if the road to that airport is improved through Newark. Property values are likely to rise at an even faster rate.

But what about where Route 21 meets Route 280? Motorists throughout the county have long complained about the limitations of that interchange. Driving east on Route 280, one must turn around in Harrison - across the river and in Hudson County - in order to pick up Route 21. Route 21 motorists, meanwhile, can pick up only Route 280 East directly. If 280 West is desired, the driver must choose between turning around in Harrison or driving up to North Newark, where 280 West can be accessed near Sacred Heart Cathedral.

Fisher said the Route 280-Route 21 cross will be improved under the DOT's plan, but only part of the way. He explained that motorists travelling east on Route 280 will be able to access Route 21 south, but not north. The new ramp will serve the rapidly expanding Gateway business district, but motorists looking to get from Route 280 east to Belleville and points north will still have to make a cumbersome u-turn. The problem, says Fisher, is that there's just not enough room to construct the kind of full-access cloverleaf common to the wide-open spaces of the outer counties.

Following the completion of the DOT's environmental impact study, Assistant Commissioner Crawford says a public hearing will be scheduled for later in the spring. The date will be published in The Belleville Times when the announcement is made.

In addition to planned renovation efforts on Route 21 south of the Belleville line, an ambitious expansion is planned at the northern end of the highway.

Doug Webb, project head for the Route 21 expansion told The Times that the road may directly link Paterson to Newark "by the early 1990's." Currently, the road abruptly terminate details of this plan built on the theme that the best welfare system is a good job.

REACH may ease welfare

"The New Jersey taxpayer spends hundreds of millions of dollars every year on a welfare system that has failed. But, through REACH, our tax dollars become an investment in a better future for the women and children on welfare," Gov. Kean added.

"We will require that able-bodied welfare recipients take reasonable steps to support themselves and their families, and we will invest in providing the opportunities and supports they need to better their lives," he said.

Commissioner Altman said, "Government must do more than write checks, and recipients, if circumstances allow, should do more than merely cash them. Our welfare bureaucracy must do more than process paper. It must work with people as individuals and provide the opportunities and assistance they want and need."

Get a job

At the heart of New Jersey's REACH program is the concept of a contract or a mutual obligation between government and the welfare client.

Able-bodied welfare recipients whose children are two years of age or older will be required to look for a job or choose an educational or job training program leading to employment. The state, in return, will provide job training and placement services, child care and transportation, and will extend Medicaid coverage for up to one year after employment to ease the transition to work.

Counseling and training

Mothers with children under age two will register for REACH, participate in counseling and vocational assessment, develop a plan for self-sufficiency and will be encouraged to voluntarily participate in education, training, and employment programs.

An individualized plan for self-sufficiency for all able-bodied welfare recipients will be developed and formalized in a written contract between the individual and the state.

The REACH Program, Altman said, is expected to cost $12.5 million for the first year.

3165 GENERAL OPPORTUNITIES

BANKING OPPORTUNITIES

Find Out What's Happening At The Kingsland Branch Of First Fidelity Bank!

We're New Jersey's largest financial institution and still expanding. When you join our team, you'll discover just how vast your career possibilities may be. We'll encourage you to learn, recognize your talents and reward your achievements.

BRANCH ASSISTANT

This is an ideal opening for a good communicator who enjoys dealing with people. To qualify, you must have good typing skills, a pleasant telephone manner and the flexibility to handle diversified responsibilities. Some business experience is necessary; banking background helpful, but not essential.

PART TIME TELLER

Hrs: Mon 8:15am-5pm Thurs & Fri 8:30am-5pm With Possible Monday Evenings & Saturdays We would prefer 6 months to 1 year teller experience; however, we would seriously consider a beginner with cashier experience who is eager to learn the banking business.

BOTH POSITIONS RECEIVE COMPETITIVE SALARIES!

To be considered, please call Human Resources at: 201-984-2412

—We have the Home For You—

Real Estate Briefcase

By Jack Reilly, G.R.I.

Even though interest rates are low, prices are so high that I can't afford a home. How much higher can prices go? Will they ever come down? — B. Kusack, Bloomfield.

Affordable housing seems to be a very elusive commodity these days, but historically it always has been. The housing market specific to our area (suburban Essex county) enjoys a few ingredients of economic influence that will continue to buoy housing values for years to come.

A simple and most basic economic principle is the law of supply and demand.

In our area we have a relatively fixed supply of housing, yet an ever increasing demand. Largely, it is this single reason that real estate values will rarely be affected to any appreciable degree by changes in our economy which have radical effects on other investment commodities. Gold, silver, stocks, bonds and oil all fluctuate in value and investors bear a degree of risk when buying them.

In real estate, however, appreciation is consistently at work, with homeowners often reaping huge rewards both in increased equity and through favorable tax treatment. Due to these and other factors, I don't think we'll soon see the day that suburban Essex county will suffer any deflated values.

In as far as your inability to afford a home, keep this in mind: you must crawl before you can walk. All too often I meet purchasers who claim that they can't afford housing when in reality they are choosing not to afford housing because their goals are set too high for their first home. Even those houses that are older, in need of rehabilitation, and in a section of town that perhaps isn't as 'prestigious' as would be your dream house, still grow constantly in value. The return on your investment is always relative to what your initial cash outlay is.

You may not be able to sell the less prestigious home for that huge price tag when you move, but then again you didn't pay the huge price when you bought. The percent of equity gain will be the same, and will become the stepping stone you need to your dream house.

Real Estate Briefcase is a weekly column which will be glad to respond to topics suggested by readers. Please address correspondence to: Real Estate Briefcase, c/o this paper. Jack Reilly is a broker with Reilly Realtors in Belleville.

Schwartz open office in Meadowlands

The Archie Schwartz Company, New Jersey's largest real estate brokerage firm specializing in industrial real estate and corporate office space, has opened a satellite office at 600 Washington Ave., Carlstadt.

The facility will serve as a field office for the 30 sales executives in the East Orange-based realtor's Bergen County industrial and office space division.

In announcing the opening, president Elmer Schwartz and senior vice president Tony Baseil said a 30 percent increase in the firm's sales and leasing activities in Bergen County this past year lead to the decision.

"This new office will enhance our service to both owners and customers in Bergen County," said Schwartz. "While our organization has always been one of the leading brokers in this area, we are dedicated to further enhancing our presence through this additional office and also our plans to considerably add more salespeople to our Bergen division in the coming year."

Baseil said that in addition to the increased activity this past year, his division has been handling as many as 50 exclusive listings per month and closing 30-35 transactions each month.

"The Meadowlands market was a strong one in 1986 — and will be even stronger in 1987. By opening this office and adding more salespeople, we are assuring the Archie Schwartz Co. will be part of this region's growth."

In a similar announcement the East Orange based realtor heralded a stepped up advertising effort in the region.

Vice president of corporate communications Stan Steinreich and senior advertising director Robin Schwertfeder said the firm will expand its present volume of direct mail letters and flyers to the rate of 600,000 per year. Coupled with the other three Schwartz sales division, the company will mail more than 2.5 million pieces of literature in 1987.

"Schwartz has long been known in the real estate community for its extensive in-house advertising and public relations. With a staff of 15 professionals and an annual budget of $1.5 million, our results have paid off handsomely for the owners and customers," said Steinreich.

The other key aspect of the enhanced Bergen marketing plan are more than 150 Schwartz signs on buildings and highways in the territory. Under the direction of property sign manager Ben Colandrea, a team of six controls an annual budget of nearly $2 million and scouts for locations in the Bergen/Hudson area.

The Meadowlands office will also be used by Schwartz ECRA procedural director Joseph R. Douglass. The former State Department of Environmental Protection official joined the firm to provide practical guidance on ECRA matters in industrial property transactions. He also coordinates an in-house ECRA training program for all the company's sales representatives.

Those wishing to telephone the Carlstadt office may do so by calling 460-8719 or 460-9025.

The Archie Schwartz Company, with a staff of more than 150, is New Jersey's largest real estate brokerage firm specializing in industrial real estate and corporate office space.

ALL THE FAMILIAR TOUCHES that make weddings fabulous are here — the flowers, the adoring looks, the touches of lace on her gown by Jena and the warm wishes of their guests. But there's more. Internationally renowned designer Pierre Cardin advocates total elegance for the groom and provides him with notable formal attire. Cardin's trim Full Dress with matching trousers is shown in a fine all wool French Gray Shadowweave with subtle satin notch lapels. Uniquely patterned satin cummerbund and tie frame the designer's perfectly proportioned wing collar shirt. Cardin and the formal wedding — perfect go-togethers.

Plan wedding in keeping with your personal taste and lifestyle

A wedding is a celebration universal yet diversified in style and presentation. No other event creates as much joy and excitement — not only for the bride and groom but for everyone involved!

What makes it even more exciting today are the different options that are available to couples. Marriage today has no one formula. Whether you opt for getting married when you are older or younger, decide to have a dual-career marriage or a more traditional union, the one thing most brides and grooms agree on is that you can make your marriage what you want it to be.

This idea also carries over to the actual planning of the wedding. Most couples today share the responsibility of planning a wedding.

Getting involved in the planning of the ceremony as well as the celebration afterwards is the best way to make your wedding a personal statement of whom you are.

Choosing the vows with which you feel comfortable, or writing a good deal of the ceremony yourselves, can help make you feel that your wedding is a reflection of whom you are as a couple.

Your reception, too, should be planned according to what you as a couple want and enjoy.

There are many types of receptions from which today's bride and groom can choose. A traditional sit-down dinner is as popular as ever. Many couples like the orderly, organized feeling this type of seating arrangement conveys. Large as well as small groups can accommodate themselves to this type of arrangement.

A buffet dinner is also very popular. More casual in feeling, this type of reception allows people to move freely amongst the other guests.

A buffet dinner also allows the bride and groom more freedom when choosing a menu. With this type of dinner, an appealing variety of dishes can be served. Also, in many cases, a buffet dinner is less expensive than the traditional sit-down reception.

Another alternative that is becoming increasingly popular is a cocktail hour reception. Similar to a buffet reception, a cocktail reception usually includes champagne with hot and cold hors d'oeuvres being circulated, or a buffet table with hors d'oeuvre that people can help themselves to, and a bar complete with wine as well as hard liquor.

For those more interested in a reception with a "country feeling," outdoor luncheons complete with tent or awning are always nice. You might even want to serve a picnic lunch complete with individual baskets that would make the event fun as well as easier to serve!

It is always the small details that really stand out when it comes to judging which receptions are the most special.

Balloons, ribbons or netting — all relatively inexpensive — can add a special flair when it comes to decorating for a wedding reception.

Flowers — whether exotic or wild — add to the ambiance, as does music. Both flowers and music can run into some money, so it is best to research the different types available to you.

Flower arrangements range from potted plants placed on tables and arranged strategically throughout the reception area to wild flowers strewn in baskets, to the very delicate single white lily in a vase.

There is music to suit everyone's taste and, because it is a universal language you can be sure that no matter what type you choose, it is sure to be enjoyed by most everyone.

With so many options to choose from in terms of both lifestyle and types of weddings, today's couples have to remember to follow their hearts and do what reflects their personal taste and style.

Origins of beloved customs lie in ancient marriage rites

It happens in every wedding: The bride and groom exchange rings. They share cake. The bride throws her bouquet. But do you know how these customs began?

THE BRIDE: A Celebration (Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), a new book by Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's magazine, reveals their sometimes surprising origins.

The bride throws her bouquet so an unmarried friend can "catch" some luck in romance, goes the modern explanation. But the custom actually started as a form of self-defense.

In times past, belief in the mystical value of a bride's adornments prompted friends and strangers alike to try to grab a piece of her outfit.

Eventually, some clever bride found that by flinging her flowers away from herself, the crowd would have something to fight over — and she would escape intact!

The wedding party originally served the serious purpose of protecting the bride and groom from the curses of evil-wishers. They dressed in clothes exactly like those of the bride and groom, so the identity of the happy couple was kept secret on the way to the church and until they were safely married.

The first piece of wedding cake is cut and eaten by the bride and groom as a carry-over from the time when the sharing of food or wine often was the marriage.

Teutons, for example, were considered wed after drinking mead together for 30 days. (The word bridal comes from bride-ale.)

The aisle runner protected the bride from evil spirits who, it was thought, lived below the ground. These demons were also feared to lurk around doorways, hence the bride is carried over the threshold of her new home.

Rice symbolizes the age-old hope that the couple would be as fruitful as the earth. In France, guests shower the bride and groom with wheat; in Morocco, with raisins, figs and dates.

People clink glasses when they toast the bride and groom in order to produce a bell-like sound. (Bells, it was believed, were repellent to the devil).

"The kiss" as a significant moment in the wedding dates from the Roman Empire. At that time, the betrothal ceremony consisted of a kiss and the exchange of rings, with the kiss being the actual legal bond.

The trousseau, or dowry, was actually an early form of life insurance, since it was meant to ensure that the bride could survive without her husband if the need arose.

We wear the wedding ring on the third finger of the left hand because the pharaohs of Egypt believed a vein, the "vena amoris," ran from that finger directly to the heart.

The honeymoon began, when, in ancient marriages by capture, the groom kept his bride in hiding to prevent searching relatives from finding her.

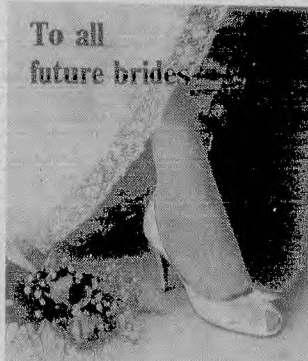

The word itself comes from the early Teutonic custom of couples drinking an aphrodisiacal honey drink for 30 days, or one cycle of the moon.

Paul D'Aloia and Antoinette Cullari on their wedding day, Oct. 2, 1934

A half century plus — Paul and Antoinette

Paul D'Aloia and Antoinette Cullari were married Oct. 2, 1934 in Holy Family Church, Nutley, the town they emigrated to over 60 years ago. Mr. D'Aloia still owns and operates the Blue Bird Barber Shop on Passaic Avenue.

The couple raised four children, Margaret Sages of Whippany, Lucille Tabasso of Edison, Daniel of Wayne and Carmine of Nutley. The family includes 10 grandchildren: Victor, Paul and Pam Sages, Karen and Anne Tabasso, Daniel, Danielle and Darren D'Aloia and Paul and Dana D'Aloia.

Letitia Baldrige offers...

Ten wedding gift dos and don'ts

1. The bride should register only with one store of a kind.
2. The bride should quietly inform a relative about some larger expensive items that she would love to have.
3. No bride-to-be should allow the store at which she is registered to send out notices to her friends and wedding guest list that she is registered there.
4. It is improper to open gifts at the reception.
5. The bride should write thank you notes as soon as she possibly can, but not on cards that say "Thank You" on the top fold.
6. Gifts from the immediate family of either the bride or groom should never be returned to a store in exchange for something else, as feelings could easily be hurt. (The exception is if there are duplicate gifts.)
7. When an engagement is broken or a wedding does not take place, the gifts, especially gifts of great value must be returned to all senders with brief and tactful notes of explanation.
8. Both bride and groom give their attendants some lasting memento of the occasion. While these gifts are often silver or gold, a gift of crystal, such as Steuben, is an excellent idea.
9. The wedding party gives the bride and groom some lasting memento of the occasion, such as Steuben's Marriage Goblet, engraved with the couple's initials.
10. The groom usually gives his bride a personal gift just before the wedding. The bride in turn gives something to the groom. If one of the pair is far richer than the other, the one with more money should "tone down" for his or her present. There will be plenty of time for lavish presents later.

Fifty years together — Salvatore and Antoinette

Salvatore Celidonio and Antoinette Franco exchanged wedding vows Nov. 15, 1936 in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Newark. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1986.

Before his retirement, Mr. Celidonio owned a gas station in Belleville. The couple, residents of Nutley for over 40 years, are parents of Diane D'Aloia of Nutley and Richard Celidonio of Freehold Township. They also have five grandchildren, Lisa, Linda and John Celidonio and Paul and Dana D'Aloia.

A mini European clinic for skin and body care

At the end of February, right here in your hometown you'll have the chance to experience for yourself some of the latest and the most exciting beauty therapies that perhaps you have seen in Vogue, Bazaar, Elle and other beauty magazines.

The name of the place is "Balneo Esthetic" and the location will be at 521 Franklin Ave. in Nutley, on the second floor.

The clinic will be more than a regular skin care salon, due to the special professional background of its new owner and creator, Mrs. Elena Beloit.

Recently having moved to Nutley from New York City, Elena came from a European country with the best tradition in skin care. With a degree in the history of oriental medicine, 12 years experience in skin and body care based on natural therapy, with international diplomas in different aspects of the beauty field and also being a respected educator in the beauty industry.

Balneosthetic meaning the idea of spa in conjunction with beauty care, Elena will offer those who understand the importance of real beauty, a pampering and successful European spa program in her mini-clinic geared on the use of very fine quality seaweed, seawater, mud and herbs combined with special methods of treatment.

The program includes six different types of facials: regular maintenance, acne and blemished skin, sensitive, dry skin and early aged condition, also intensive care and rejuvenating facials.

The time of these facials runs between 45 min. to 1 1/2 hour, starting from $29 up to $40. A regular facial treatment for 1 hour and 15 min. costs $35. During a facial, the skin will be cleaned of all impurities such as blackheads and whiteheads, with no marks or redness left, and is painless.

A very pleasant steam with herbs such as chamomille, lavender, rosewood, thyme, calendula, will open the pores, soothe the skin, improve the circulation as well as decongesting the respiratory system.

Different products and techniques are used to remove the dead cells and leave the skin smooth and refined. The application of masks, depending upon the type and condition of the particular skin; the clinic has an exciting line of masks for face, neck, eyes, shoulders and back.

A very pleasant moment of the BALNEOSTHETIC skin care treatments will be the facial massage. You'll experience an unforgettable and unique facial massage with very relaxing effects on your whole body. The face, neck and shoulders are going to be covered with a very fine seaweed, which has the property to improve the main functions of the skin. An amazing result will be noticed right after the first facial.

Also some spa techniques, using real seawater are going to give wonderful results, especially for those sensitive skins that hardly can tolerate cosmetic products. Seawater combined with herbs, plant extracts, seaweed and special type of mud, are the best natural elements of treating the body in a right and healthy way.

A very important part of the skin care program will be the Balneosthetic acne treatments. The owner, Elena Beloit likes to point out that acne is a skin disorder that can be prevented and treated if it is taken care of at an early age. Because of this fact, she will encourage all the young people (men and women) to come for free consultations and she will even arrange convenient prices for these customers. Special gift-prizes will be offered to the customers who will follow the treatments regularly.

A good appearance means a healthy skin and body, and this will be kept through a home routine and professional expertise. After each skin and body treatment, every customer will have her/his individual home care program, including nutritional advice, type of sport that your specific body problems require, anti-stress techniques, along with "when" and "how" to use the cosmetic products.

A complex body care program will be available for cellulite, flabby skin, heavy arms and legs or for reshaping the body in a healthy way. All the treatments will be done only externally through the use of seaweed, mud wraps and spa therapies. Nutritional advices are necessary to be followed. Again, you'll be surprised how fast the results are noticed.

"Balneosthetic" will also have manicure and pedicure at the price of $8 and $18. A nail care program based on plant extract and seaweed will be available at the convenient price of $5. A spa treatment for feet with poor circulation (heavy, tired or having spider veins) will be not just a very pleasant treat, but also a therapeutic one. This foot spa service will cost only $10.

The list of the services includes waxing, at very reasonable prices. Full-legs and bikini is $28, half-leg $15, bikini $6, eyebrows shaping $5, lip wax $3, underarm $10.

The clinic will carry a famous French line, all hypoallergenic, for the most sensitive skin and eyes. All make-up application for adults will be $10 and $5 for teenagers. For anyone having a facial, application is free.

The skin and body care products are coming from France and Germany and they are used in some of the well-known European spas.

Look for the Nutley Sun's advertisement for the opening date and phone number.

Your crowning glory

Julius Caruso, New York's foremost hairdresser, who has been styling New York's society brides for more than 40 years, has the following tips for your big day:

• Consult your hairdresser at least one week before the event, and bring your veil.

• Keep your cut and style simple; an elaborate hairstyle detracts from the beauty of your dress and the day.

• Keep the style soft. All brides, no matter their age, should look "soft, shiny and sweet."

• Try and keep the length of your hair above shoulder length. It's simpler for both the wedding and the honeymoon.

• Avoid heavy hair sprays and mousses. This is a day you want your hair to be soft to the touch and to smell clean and fresh.

• Don't forget your bridesmaids. It's important for the whole bridal party to feel beautiful, and arranging appointments for everyone will make hairdressing easier and the whole party more attractive.

And our own bride-to-be, Diane, who will marry Robert this July Orechio Publications has a bride-to-be of its own. Graphic artist Diane Lembo of Belleville is engaged to marry Robert Lombardy of Kearny July 19 in St. Anthony's Church, Belleville.

Diane is an alumna of Belleville High School and Kean College, Union, where she majored in fine arts and visual communications. She has been working with us for over five years and is responsible for designing and putting together most of the ads you see in our papers. A talented artist, Diane paints in oils, specializing in animal portraits and has won several awards for her work in local art shows.

Robert, also a graduate of Kean College, where he majored in elementary education, teaches fifth grade in Franklin School, Kearny. A former wrestling coach, he is a free lance sports and wedding photographer and a member of the Kearny Police Reserve.
