Car dealer fund-drives

for cerebral palsy

By Christopher Bifani

Life has been good to John Abbracciamento, general manager of Crown Chevrolet on Washington Avenue. The 44 year old auto executive is blessed with two healthy children, and he lives in a peaceful Queens home by the beach. He loves his work, and he's active on The Belleville Chamber of Commerce. Yet, he says, something was missing from his life...

"I always thought that when the time came, I would give back something to society," the general manager said, explaining that his father before him had devoted his life to community service, particularly the cause of cerebral palsy.

particularly the cause of cerebral palsy.

One day, Abbraciamentowas in an Avenue dry cleaners, where he saw a woman dropping off cookbooks, the sale of which was to benefit the United Cerebral Palsy foundation.

"I immediately bought one of the books," he recalled, "and I asked the woman to bring me a supply of cookbooks, that I would sell them at the Crown Chevrolet dealership too." However, Abbracciamento realized that after selling out the first batch of 20 books he was only earning $120 for the cause, and he wanted to do more.

"So I called back the cerebral palsy organization and asked to meet with the director personally. I told them I wanted to donate $25 for every new and used car sold at Crown Cevrolet during the months of April, May and June," he said.

of April, May and June," he said.

The United Cerebral Palsy organization was receptive to the idea, and the result is one of the most ambitious charitable endeavors ever undertaken by a Belleville automobile dealership. In fact, if Crown sells its average of 100 cats per month, a total of $7,500 will be raised to help area citizens affected with cerebral palsy!

The story of the Abbracciamento family's commitment to the cause of cerebral palsy dates back to Brooklyn and John's father, Sal Abbracciamento. Sal's own father passed away at the 46, and 18 year old Sal was left to hold the family together, "working three or four like" as John sales of the sales of t jobs," as John relates.

Because Sal Abbracciamento was a "helluva worker," John said, he was able to provide well for the next generation of Abbrac-ciamentos, ultimately opening up a successful Italian ristorante and becoming active in many worthwhile endeavors in the Brooklyn-

In the early sixties, Sal Abbracciamento was appointed Lt. Governor of the Queens/West division of Kiwanis. As is the custom, he had to have a project, a good cause to advance.

"They took him to the Queens United Cerebral Palsy Center," Abbracciamento remembers, "and what he saw there broke his heart. They had no elevator and the children had to be carried up four deed his father had accomplished for the cause of cerebral palsy nevertheless had an indeliable effect on him. When Sal Abbracciamento passed away in 1966, "a part of me died inside," the son said, adding that his father was his idol, the man who had the greatest influence on his life.

And now, a generation after the installation of that desperately needed elevator, the son is carrying the Abbracciamento tradition of service to United Cerebral Palsy.

The ultimate plan is an ambitious one.

"This year, Crown Chevrolet will be donating $25 per car for three months, but next year I hope to get all the dealers on the strip (Washington Avenue) to participate. Then, for the following year, I'd like to see all the township's merchants participate by donating a portion of their profits to United Cerebral Palsy," he said.

The end result, fueled by a successful township businessman seeking to carry on in his father's charitable footsteps, will be many thousands of dollars to help people affected with cerebral palsy

Earlier this month, North Jer- Child Study Team including social sey was shocked by multiple teen suicides which occurred in the Bergen County community of Bergenfield. Last year, Belleville was also the sight of a teen suicide, and while the problem of suicide among young people has only just begun to grip the media, it is a problem which area school officials have been trying to come to grips with for years.

On Wednesday, March 18 the entire faculty of Belleville Middle School participated in a program on suicide prevention, presented by the South Bergen Mental Health Center. Middle School Vice Prin-

"It was a timely coincidence that our program on preventing suicide came on the heels of the suicides in Bergenfield," Catrambone said, adding that the program "was aid, adding that the program "was aid, dding that the program "was plan-ned months ago."

Among the faculty members who participated in the program were the entire Middle School

Commission candidate profile Messina: A time for change

"If Belleville is to advance into the 21st Century, we need ideas, new people and we need to attract more people to Belleville. We have to improve our school system, we have to tighten our belts, we have to spend our monies more wisely. And we have to take care of our senior citizens," says Jim Messina of Brighton Avenue, candidate for commissioner in the upcoming May election

Messina, who was born in Belleville, raised in neighboring Bloomfield, and who moved back to town five years ago, is employed as a building contractor and is a former marine who served in Viet Nam. Upon leaving the serice, Messina earned a degree in English Literature while attending Northeast Louisiana University and University of The Americas in Mexico. He has a wife, Marie, and two children has a wife, Marie, and two children Jimmie, 2, and Chirstine, 8 months.

If elected to serve on the board of commissioners, Messina said he would prefer to head the Department of Public Works, a position now held by Joseph Grande, who is not seeking re-election.

In addition to taxes, which Messina believes is a present issue, he an addition to takes, which Mes-sina believes is a pressing issue, he also sees the proposed Belleville Public Safety Building as a con-cern. Unlike other candidates who support, a moratorium on develop-ment of the building, Messina says "Let's take bids first, and see what the cost per square, foot is, if we the cost per square foot is. If we have to go to a new design we'll have more architect fees." In a general sense, Jim Messina believes that Belleville's biggest problem is a lack of unity between the community and the commis-sioners. He also feels that although rising taxes is a problem, people may be "belating the issue."

"The upside to the tax issue is that 10 years ago, the average cit-izen was paying about $1500 in taxes, but his house was worth $60,000. Now, taxes have doubled but property values have more than doubled." He continued, "But that doesn't that's a very big problem.

Another aspect of the town that Messina sees as a problem are the township's roads.

"Our roads are not in very good condition," he says, adding that when he takes his children out in strollers he has to "dodge the cracks and potholes" in the sidewalks and Messina says he is civic minded, and notes that he served on the Bloomfield Board of Education in 1978 and 1979. Referring to the issue of party endorsements for school board candidates, Messina said the parties should "keep the politics out of education."

Overall, the candidate feels "It's time for a change in Belleville. There's alot that has to be done,' and Jim Messina believes he's the man to help do it.

about having kids in grammar school get involved in donating A lesson in censorship, too?

The decision by Expo '87 com-mittee members to exclude the Concerned Citizens of Belleville from participation in this landmark event is unwarranted, unjust and just plain unfriendly.

It's a cruel slap in the face to a non-profit, non-partisan, non-viol ent citizens group that's always had the township's best interests at heart: They're for easing the tax bite, spending money wisely, haz-ard free school environments, commercial renewal...you can argue their politics but you can't argue their goals, for their goals are good goals.

Not directly involved with educa-tion of our children Mr. Linfante?

Let me tell you something, sir. The CCB is an experiment in true all-American democracy and as such it is perhaps the finest lesson we can teach our young. The CCB does not incite riots, support communism or engage in

The lesson our schoolchildren will learn from barring the CCB is censorship, Censorship, as students are taught in their U.S. Constitution lessons, is the enemy of democracy. In this case, censorship of the CCB will result in picketing (and really, can you blame them?) and the destruction of the peacefu harmony we had envisioned for this truly intriguing affair.

Does anybody really think the CCB table would have been filled with Frantantoni-Nazziola election stuff? Their table, no doubt would have been heavily laden with Strong enough to inspire school officials who supported barring the CCB to write a public response to my opinion. And that would be a fine idea. Perhaps Mr. Linfante can take time off from his Expo '87 preparations, re-election bid, and school board duties to explain in his own words why barring the CCB. own words why barring the CCB, rather than actively seeking their inclusion, isn't censorship.

Mr. Linfante is a fine writer and perhaps some eloquence in his own

Thanks to our readers, the Belleville Times enjoys one of the livliest letters sections of any newspaper in the state. We have a few steady writers who ended. steady writers who explore various themes running from the cyonservative to the liberal. We have occa-sional letters from people of statewide stature such as Senate Presi-dent John Russo. We have political letters running from flowery praise to bitter criticism. (Childish name-palling, of course, is still un-accepta-ble.)

The most optimistic conclusion to this public drama would be if the Expo '87 committee reconsidered their decision to deny a table to this community group that wants to be involved in this wonderful community affair

Amato/Parlevecchio make sense

When County Executive Nicholas Amato took office, he was confronted with four employee bargaining agreements signed last October — a month before Election Day — by then County Executive Peter Shapiro. In order for the agreements to be fully effective, they required the signature of the County Executive. It is obvious that Shapiro signed the contracts on Election Eve in order to gain the support of those benefiting from the pay adjustments. And the county employees were 100 percent behind Mr. Shapiro. Whether the terms of the contract induced this support is a question best answered by the professional politicians who were responsible for putting together the package.

County Executive Nick Amato properly points out that the prob-lem with the salary agreements is a $28 million budget deficit million representing negotiated or projected salary increases for all county employees, including the $3.3 million for the four contracts rejected by a majority of the Board of Freeholders and County Execu-Amato

We can sympathize with the workers who have earned the right to a wage increase. But, the cold facts of financial life are such that reality is to be recognized.

Freeholder Joseph Parlevecchio articulated well the problem confronting the county when he told employee representatives that it was Shapiro who "lied to you, deceived you and set you up" - adding "to do the right thing is not to vote for something that cannot be paid for. The right thing is that we can't vote for something if the money isn't there." Parlevecchio called for a renegotiated settlement leading to a legitimate con-tract which would be reasonable based upon available funds.

The intersection of Division and DeWitt Avenues has long been a source of concern for all of us who live in the area. This particular intersection is so often the scene of accidents which appear to have been caused by ignoring the stop signs (by drivers on Division) or excessive speeding (DeWitt Avenue drivers) as though it were a drag strip. The sound of screeching brakes and crunch of metal is by no means an uncommon sound. Since Division Avenue is such a busy street used by all sorts of traffic, and since School 3 is just a block away at DeWitt and Joralemon, wouldn't it be more appropriate to make DeWitt a stop street and Division the through street? I might add that one of the latest accidents at this intersection occurred only minutes before the children were to be released from School 3.

Seniors in need...

This past week was a public meeting of the State Appropriations Committee to express concerns of our Senior Citizens.

The meeting was held in the basement of the Lyndhurst Health Center. The concerns were about housing, home health, hot meals and finances.

Ann Zahora, State Director of the New Jersey Office on Aging, told the committee her office needed about an additional $5 million more in 1988 to provide assistance to Senior Citizens throughout the state.

She also said the number of Senior Citizens in New Jersey is growing by 56 every day.

In Belleville I questioned the proper person and I believe he said we have about four to five thousand seniors over sixty and about 12 to 16 percent of that number is in need I believe the time is now to take care of the aged, the sick, and housing for our

It isn't that we didn't warn you this was "in the works" and had arged you to write your Senators and Congress persons in Washington to prevent this outlandish "ripoff." This will eventually cost the subscriber of every phone $3.50 every month for an "access charge" which in most cases is seldom, if ever, used. .. just im agine paying $42 a year needlessly for the privilege of raising $17 billion so that the rates of long-distance users (mostly corporations and business subscribers) can be lowered while we (the home tions and obsiness subscribers) can be lowered while we (the home subscribers throughout the nation) "fork out" three and a half bucks every month to make Mark Fowler, the FCC chairman, hap-

Essentially the government is shifting costs to local telephone customers on the theory that longdistance callers had underwritten local use. While local costs would rise (that's us), long distance rates would fall equally.

"Subscriber line charges will go, dollar for dollar, for reductions in long-distance rates," Mark Fowler said...the hell with that! Already, three (3) rate reductions have been extended commercial long-line users art's a fetid, fallacious principle and theory predicated upon the reasoning that "big business carried you insignificant little bumpkins long enough, now you're all going to pay dearly"....
Big business is the "in crowd"

New.

Well, that isn't necessarily so, but you, the folks who are going to pay this unprincipled $42 a year "access charge" can do something about it ...get off your buttooks, buy a 22 cent stamp, write the most searing letter denouncing this inequitable "access charge" you can compose, and send it to U.S. Senators Bradley and Lauterberg and Congressmen Roe, and Rodino, Tell them to stop it.

They can ... the people in Corr communications subcommittee of the Energy and Commerce Com-mittee, said "While I applaud the arduous efforts of the joint board to shape a compromise between consumers and industry. I remain unconvinced that today's action is fair or justified."

He announced a hearing on March 25 to determine "whether this compromise advances long-term consumer interests or is simply an F.C.C. flimflam."

"It's another case of raise the rates first and justify the increase afterward," said Congressman Ron Wyden, an Oregon Democrat and sponsor of a bill to freeze the charge at $2.

It is to be noted that Big Business is not charged the "access charge" only we, the local line-use subscribers are being made the "suckers" to pay this $42 a year charge most consumer groups regard it a rip-off since most consumer groups regard it a rip-off since most consumer groups. sumers make very few long distance calls and end up paying much more in their monthly bills than they'll ever save on long-

Telephone bills have already risen 40 percent since divestiture of AT&T. Charges of services and installation have mounted con siderably today a phone is ro longer a necessity it has become a luxury to the extent that some are buying home base CB's for emergencies and short range

Don't sit back and be a sucker paying to subsidize big business phone rates. Write that letter telling the people in Congress that we don't want this damn stupid penal ty arbitrarily assessed against our telephone line for something we don't use — just to make the cor-porate interests that are friendly with the White House crowd hap-py and richer than they already

No barring the truth..

I read your front page article in the March 19 issue of the Belleville Times entitled "CCB is barred from Expo '87" and was provoked into making this response.

Beleville Times entitled "CCB is barred from Expo 8/" and was provoked into making this response.

It seems to me that fewer and fewer people these days have a genuine appreciation for the complete and unadulterated fruth! All too many go from 'little white lies' to medium grey lies, to 'big black lies' and try to justify them to themselves and to others in the name of everything from expediency to 'ignorance is bliss'.

I am puzzled how the Supt. of Schools could say that "the CCB had made its request (to be included in Expo '87) too late' and then concede that there was no deadline for request. I am puzzled by his statement that "all the schematics have already been set" and there was no table space available. Especially since they have space for profit-making businesses who sell products to the Board of Education, I am puzzled about both Mr. Linfante's and Mr. Nardiello's statements about the CCB not being within the "school-education framework" or a group "not directly concerned with children or the Belleville School System." It makes me wonder who has been paying attention to the CCB speakers who come to the podium to speak at Board of Education meetings week after week and month after month.

Now, to the facts and the truth. The facts of the matter are that the Board of Education, under the signature of board member Seymour Grossman, sent out letters of invitation to participate to all civic and service organizations in Belleville or ticipate to all civic and service organizations in Belleville on December 22, 1986. All, that is, except the Concerned Citizens of Belleville; the largest civic association in town with over 500 members. The CCB was summarily and deliberately excluded! Hence, the Board of Education did the inviting by letter, and those receiving the letter needed only to reply. No one needed to initiate a request.

Why would they do this you might well ask? Are their 'after-the-fact' excuses justifiable? The truth is that the Concerned Citizens of Belleville cared enough about the health, safety and welfare of all 4,025 students of the Belleville School District to spend countless hours over a period of weeks and months to prepare a 23 page report entitled "The Asbestos Hazard in the Belleville School System" This exposed a 3½-year coverup of the facts by certain key administrators of the school district since February 1983. A report that the Board of Education has done its best to subvert It also exposed a failure to comply with proper notifications to It also exposed a failure to comply with proper notifications to reachers, custodians, maintenance men, parent organizations, and parents at large. This report was delivered to the Board of Education on October 27, 1986 at a public meeting. Don't take our word for it, ask to see the report; we have the documented proof. These proofs and the truths that they reveal are supported by the fact that our Board of Education has been cited by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on four specific violations of notification requirements of the Federal Asbestos In Schools Rule and their fine is being negotiated. We wonder, from what budget line item, that fine is to be paid! More wasted tax dollars?

More wasted tax dollars??

The truth is, that is why the CCB got no letter inviting them to participate in Expo '87. The truth is that the CCB commends and respects those civic and service organizations of our town who sponsor contests, scholarships, donations and contributions and hope they will continue such worthwhile education support endeavors. As a brand new civic group, the CCB looks forward to the time that our financial position is such to enable us to do likewise.

The truth of the matter is that while the idea and the concept of Expo '87 is, in my opinion a terrific way for the school system to demonstrate the good things that are happening in the schools, and I personally wholeheartedly support it, however, the timing of this one makes it look like Mr. Linfante's primary goal was a political one. . to enhance his run for re-election and therefore it taints the whole thing.

Especially in light of his handling of the CCB.

But this is not the first time we have experienced a lack of regard for the truth from Mr. Linfante. He also said at Public Board of Education meetings that the job posting for the Assistant to the Business Administrator job was not charged (to accommodate the political patronage job for Charles Miele.) He also said on 10-27-86 that the Board of Education had been in contact with the EPA regarding the asbestos problem and the availability of federal grants and interest free loans to pay for asbestos abatement work.

We have proof that neither statement was the truth.

We have proof that neither statement was the truth. Do the taxpayers of Belleville deserve the truth? Certainly they do. Are they going to get it? Not if they stay home with their apathy and don't go to Board meetings and ask questions.

The truth is, what Mr. Linfante said about himself in his letter to the Editor last week about disb being a "young and dedicated leader" is accurate. He is young, perhaps too young. Since he lives with his parents, he has never had the occasion to pay a single dollar of real estate taxes on his own and therefore can't begin to comprehend the impact of his careless spending of the hardearned tax dollars being paid by everyone from young families to earned tax dollars being paid by everyone from young families to

Speaking of young families, since Mr. Linfante has none of his own to support, one could hardly expect him to have understanding of, or compassion for, a breadwinner's ability to live under ding of, or compassion for, a breadwinner's ability to hve under such oppressive taxes; especially when you see him propose the firing of 27 of the 'little people' (teachers, custodians, secretaries and maintenance men) in the 1987-88 School Budget. And, at the same time, leave the high-priced administrative salaries of his political and financial supporters as 'untouchable', including a $60,000 appropriation for the Board Attorney.

Yes, Mr. Linfante is dedicated. He is dedicated, in my opinion, to politics first, education second. But what else could you expect from one who has been coached and schooled in politics all the way by his two political bosses; one currently in office and one no longer in office.

If some of the parent groups took a step back and started to analyze Mr. Linfante's actions from the viewpoint of his possible political motivations they might get a totally different picture of whose here is a started to a st

Mr. Linfante's conduct toward taxpayers who speak out at

Mr. Linfante's conduct toward taxpayers who speak out at Board of Education meetings show that he is also cunning, vain, egotistical, condescending, unyielding and sometimes downright insulting and arrogant; and his wristwatch needs servicing because it keeps prejudicial time.

I urge all faxpayers to come out to vote in the April 7 school election. I urge you all to vote on the budget because it does include an increased tax levy of over $837,600 (approximately 20 fax points, or a tax increase of about $125 on an average home). DENTALLY SPEAKING By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

A Reader asks: "Is it necessary to have your teeth cleaned by a hygienist twice a year if a person is faithful to brushing, flossing, and dental checkups?"

dental checkups?"

Hygienists are specialists at cleaning all 5 surfaces of a tooth above and below the gum. In so doing the professional cleaning can take from 30 to 45 minutes. Afterwards and during the hygienist can evaluate the condition of the gums, bone, lips, tongue, cheeks, and palate. Finally Xrays can be taken to locate any decay that can not be detected between teeth and under existing fillings. Even the most 'mithful' brusher will not spend the time cleaning individually every tooth and physically be able to get to all surfaces as well as the hygienist. Hygienists can only add to the healthy state of the mouth and for that reason we believe every 6 months you should be seen by your hygienist and dentist. Thank you for your excellent question.

Child sexual abuse affects families from all walks of life and Marsha Helman, Ph.D. The sexual abuse of children is a The sexual abuse of children is a highly charged emotional issue which has recently gained greater public attention through the media. Unfortunately, child sexual abuse is pervasive, affecting families from all walks of life. Experts estimate that one in four girls and one in nine boys are the victims of sexual abuse before they reach the age of 18. Accurate statistics are hard to come by because not all Child sexual abuse runs the gamut from non-physical sexual activities such as indecent exposure to children or a sexual request that to children or a sexual request that might include picture taking to more physical activities such as touching or fondling, oral-genital stimulation and sexual intercourse. Incest refers to sexual activity which occurs within the family and includes anyone in a parenting role (e.g. father, step-parent, foster-parent.) Although our stereotype of a child molester is the "dirty old man in a raincoat," this image is far from true. Most child molesters are males who know their victim and males who know their victim and are often in a position of authority over the child. They are members of the child's family, a friend of the family, or a trusted authority figure such as a teacher, baby sitter, coach, minister or scoutmaster.

By Maggie Clune, A.C.S.W.

Another myth or misconception about child sexual abuse is that girls are the only victims of abuse. Although girls are more likely to report being abused, boys are just as vulnerable to being targets. Boys, however, are less likely to report the abuse, particularly since the abuser is often a male. A parent who is unaware that both girls and boys can be victims will not be alert minister or scoutmaster. boys can be victims will not be alert to the signs and signals of a boy in

Welleville Times SPORTS

Another league champion was crowned at Belleville High School this past winter when the Belleville bowling team captured its first ever title.

Under coach Mike Early, who has been at the helm for eight years, the team posted an incredible mark of 96-16 this winter, winning the conference by 15 games over second place Clifton High School.

"It was an incredible season," Early said, "We got on a roll in a late January and it really carried us."

That "roll" that Early refers to was a stretch in late January and early February when the Bucs posted nine straight shutouts.

In bowling, a shutout is when a team wins all three games against an opponent. A team gets two points for each game won and one point for gaining total wood. Thus, a team can take a maximum of seven points per match.

The Bucs, in essence, earned 63 straight points without a loss before a defeat at the hands of Clifton.

Needless to say, there were many players who contributed this success. Four bowlers made up the varsity roster, while another four took part in the junior varsity rogram.

Leading the way for the varsity was senior Mike Di Benedetto. He led the team in average with an impressive 190. He had the league high game, a 278 and bowled 20 200 games this past season.

"He will be tough to replace," Early said of Di Benedetto.
"Mike was an oustanding bowler."

Junior Vinnie Orrei turned in an excellent performance, with a 182 average. Orrei will be back next season and should continue to improve.

Another junior, Michael Roskiewicz, finished with an impressive 180 average. A sophomore, Lou Bruno, came through with a 180 average and had the league series, a 686.

All four varsity bowlers for Belleville earned first team,

NNJIL honors.

The junior varsity roster was made up of juniors Anthony La Stella and Ray Bacek, sophomore Chris Duhaime and freshman Rich Haug. Haug led the junior varsity with a 163

"The team was very suportive of one another this season," Early said. "Winning the league title and placing all four bowlers on the first team was excellent. It was a fantastic

NCAA Tournament

It's now down to the Final Four for the NCAA mens' basketball division. The focus of attention now heads to New Orleans, where the party starts in earnest this week. The games on Saturday feature Big East rivals Syracuse and Providence battling in the first game and UNLV and Indiana playing the second game.

The first game features two clubs who weren't expected to go this far. Syracuse has had some outstanding ball clubs throughout the years, but weren't able to win the big game. The Orangemen proved its ability by stopping North

Despite all the fanfare about Carolina and the mystique of Despite all the fanfare about Carolina and the mystique of the Carolina Blue, the Tar Heals have won one (1) national title during Dean Smith's long regime as coach. This isn't to say that Smith isn't a fine coach, because he is, but it's hard to figure why Carolina is not a strong post season club. The Heals won its only national championship under Smith in 1982, when Carolina stopped Georgetown in a thriller at New Orleans. In that game, Georgetown had the final shot, but the Hoyas point guard accidentally threw the ball directly at James Worthy of Carolina and the Heals sealed the win. Nothing comes easy in post season.

Providence is in for the first time since 1973 and could upend Syracuse in the semis. At this stage, there is no such thing as an upset.

The second game could be a masterpiece. UNLV and In-The second game could be a masterpiece. UNLY and indiana could both light up the scoreboard for 100 points. The Hoosiers might have a little more muscle under the boards, but can UNLV ever motor up court. Last Sunday, they cut an 18 point defecit into a two point lead in a little over six minutes in the second half.

Baseball

After a long, cold winter, the baseball season is upon us and with it, the warmer weather of spring. Anyone who has followed Buccaneer baseball knows what an outstanding player Nicosia was during his days at BHS. Nicosia was graduated in 1980 and set many records at Belleville during his three years. Nicosia continued his success on the collegiate level, where he had an outstanding career for Montclair State College. His expertise in baseball should certainly be beneficial to our team.

Last Weeks Quiz

The last team to win the NCAA mens' basketball championship that wasn't associated with a conference was the 1977 Marquette Warriors. Under coach Al Maguire, the Warriors beat UNC-Charlotte in the semi finals and North Carolina in the championship game.

For This Week

Back in 1976 (that wasn't that long ago, was it?), the Indiana Hoosiers won its first national title under coach Knight. Indiana stopped UCLA in the semis and finished an undefeated season by beating Michigan in the championship game. Although the Hoosiers had a number of talented players, none of them made it really big in the NBA. Today, they are allower from that Mexica. Armando Nardone

Piegaro's pick for BHS top wrestler

Mondo's the man!

By Joe Piegaro

Armando Nardone became the second wrestler in BHS history to reach the finals at Princeton. The amazing 130 pounder finished second to Todd Young of Haddon Township, ending his junior year with a record of 33.3. The 33 wins mark the highest one season victory total in the history of the sport at BHS.

Four of the six Buc grapplers who entered the three-day event in Princeton won at least one match. Heavyweight Marc Criscione won two matches and lost two. Mike Iuliano beat Bill Lee of Wayne Valley 4-1, before losing to Drew Black of Mahwah, 10.5.

John Stampone won his first match, 8-4 over Anthony Sherman of Roselle Park before falling to third place finisher Brett DiNovi of Heavyweight Marc Criscione pinned Marty Milbourne of Millville in his first bout, then was pinned himself by eventual state champ Doug Arena of Paul VI, Haddonfield. In the wrestlebacks, Criscione beat Rafael Hackett of Livingston 6-1 before losing 6-5 to Robert Barnes of Both Joe Perna and Lou Lucante were beaten in their only bouts. Perna finished the year with a 27-5 record, Lucante closed out his senior year with a 23-9 slate.

But the top story for his year's tournament centered on Nardone. "Mondo" had finished third in both the District 7 and Region 2 championships to St. Benedict's Pat Napoli and had to compete in the preliminary round against second place region finishers.

The junior grappler opened his quest for a gold medal by scoring a 16-2 superior decision over Glen Newman of Toms River East. In the preliminary round, Nardone beat Ken Carmichael of Paramus 6-4. Carmichael came into the match with a 25-0 record and the Region 1 crown under his belt.

In the quarterfinal round, Mondo beat another region champ, Carmen Catullo of Summit High and Region 3 by the score of 4-2. The semis saw Mondo score a 10-8 decision over Mike Van Doren of No. Hunterdon, Van Doren is the Region 5 champion and owner of a 30-0

The quest ended in the finals as Young of Haddon Township was a big stronger and a bit quicker than Mondo and scored a 7-2 triumph to win the 130 pound championship.

Because Armando Nardone fared so well in the state tournament and fashioned a 33-3 record while winning the Bloomfield, Elizabeth and County tournaments, he is this writer's choice of the 1986-87 Most Valuable Wrestler.

So far, so good Things have been going smoothly, thus far, for the 1987 Belleville softball team. Head coach Carl Corino reports that his team has been working hard in practice and got in four scrimages last week as the regular season rapidly approaches.

The girls will open the regular season next Wednesday, when it plays host to Hackensack in a 4 p.m. start.

Belleville returns an experienced squad at five positions and Corino is working hard at fil-ling the volds that graduation left last spring. The three out-field positions and the shortstop slot are still up in the air, but the coach is happy with the can-didates who are vying for the

"We have about five or six girls who will be seeing time in the outfield," Corino said. "I think the outfield will be a rotating system most of the season. I'm also trying a few options at shortstop."

Racquel Melson, a junior, should also see extended time. Melson is coming around after knee surgery in 1986 and should help the team a great deal.
Corino is also happy with the play of Natalie La Bella, Giovanna Malazzi and Maryanne McArthur. All three girls will also see playing time in the outfield. Another potential outfielder

Another potential outfielder will be Jeanine Luzzi. The junior, an outstanding pitcher, will be used in the outfield when she is not pitching. Luzzi is an excellent hitter and Corino can't

At shortstop, Cheri Vallese, Stacey Johansen, Morrison and Trish Tramultola have been working. Johansen could play the position when she is not pitching. Morrison, as mentioned, will probably play a good deal in the outfield and Tramultola is the regular third baseman. Vallese should get the nod, especially when Johansen is nod, especially when Johansen is on the mound nod, especially when Johansen is on the mound.

"I'm working on a few options there," Corino said of the short-stop slot. "I'm even giving Trisha (Tramultola) some work, just in case. She has three years experience and we might need her in certain cases."

Other than that, the team looks to be in solid shape. Cindy Ruggiero is at first, Laurie Dondarski will play second and Tramultola is at third. The catcher is Laura Caruso and the pitching is in excellent hands with Luzzi and Johansen.

The girls played North Arlington, Cedar Grove, Lodi and Verona last week and fared well, according to Corino.

"We faced four teams, all of which had good pitching," the coach said. "They were all good tests for us. We're starting to come together and this week, I'll get a better idea of what the team can do. Luzzi and Johansen have minor Injuries now, so we'll see what happens this have minor injuries now, so we'll see what happens this week. All they need is some time to-develop timing before the

The girls battled Westfield last Monday and will host Bayonne this afternoon in a scrimage at Clearmon Field. Game time is 4 p.m. On Saturday, the team will travel to Roxbury and next Monday, the presence according to the property of the control of th season concludes with a game at home against North Arlington at 4 p.m. That scrimage will be un-der game conditions and should provide Belleville with a good test.

Star-studded BHS squad goes to the States

Victories mark the end of wrestling season

Up until the Region 2 championships were held in Kearny Figh School, it was thought that all the exploitives that could be written had been written. How wrong we all were!

Belleville's star studded wrestly squad sent half of its 12-man ing squad sent half of its 12-man roster to the state championships at Princeton's Jadwin Gymnasium. The Bues had two Region champs the Peria and Marc Criscione), two seconds (John Stampone and Mike Iuliano) and two thirds, (Mondo Nardone and Lou Lucante), as they added one more glowing performance to the season of shining successes.

As has been the case throughout the year, records were again broken and set in the Region 2 championshop. Joe Perna notched his 27th victory of the season, winning the gold medal at 102 pounds. That makes him the most successful 101 pounder in a single season in BHS history. It also makes Perna the only wrester in Buc history to win a regional title in his only varsity season.

In his only varsity season.

Perna earned the gold medal by beating Ryan McNeil of North Bergen by a score of 9-6 in the quarterfinals. In the semis, he dominated Dom Alessio of Cliffside Park 17-5. In the finals, he met Kearny's Steve Hull in a thrilling bout that ended in overtime.

Perna pulled out a 7-2 decision and a trip to Princeton.

At the other end of the lineur.

At the other end of the lineup, heavyweight Marc Criscione won his gold medal by breezing through the field of challengers. Mike Kangas of Cliffside Park and Nate Irving of Passaic both were pinned early in their bouts with casy 13-7 decision over Palisades

In the semis, Lucante lost a 6.5 decision to Mark Steinmeyer of Passaic Valley, but earned a trip to Princeton by pinning Brett Lockward of Caldwell in the consolidation round.

Finally, Mondo Nardone earned a bronze medal in the 130 round, qualifying for the trip to Princeton the second consecutive season. He was again beaten by Pat Napoli in the semis on a last second near fall. Mondo had lost second near fall. Mondo had lost to Napoli in the semis of the District 7 championships a week before the Regionals. To qualify for the states, Mondo beat Leo Rossi of Fort Lee in the prelims 18-2; scored an 11-6 decision over top seeded Roberto Morales of JFK in the quarterfinals; scored a 5-4 *decision over Gary Foti of Bloomfield in the consolidation round on a near fall at the buzzer.

Nick Keykurun was beaten at 148 pounds in a preliminary round bout at the hands of Ridgefield's Tim Sergeant, District champ Phil Zamloot was also beaten in the 141 pound division as he lost a 8-2 decision to Jim Dorey of West Orange. Eric Nazziola also was defeated in the quarterfinals as he lost a 10-4 decision to North Bergen's Ed Rodriguez.

Peoples Bank has announced the winner of its $1000 Sales Superbowl contest.

David W. Fulda received a $1000 check from Kathryn Lewis, main office manager in Belleville, and Doreen D'Arcio, customer service representative, who assisted Fulda in opening an account. The contest, which ran during the month of January, was the bank's way of greeting the New Year. Anyone who came to any Peoples office and opened an account was automatically entered in the contest. The drawing was held late February.

Peoples Bank, a member of Peoples BanCorp, had 14 full-service banking offices in the Greater Essex area, including three branches in Belleville.

Real Estate Briefcase

By Jack Reilly, G.R.I.

When I sell my home, I'd like to take the stove hecause it is brand new. Is it true that I must leave it behind or replace it? — C. Statmore, Bloomfield

In order to answer your question correctly. I must first explain a little about property ownership and how different items are treated differently in the sale of a home. First, there is personal property, that is property which you own and is not affixed to land, like cars clothes furniture, kit like cars, clothes, furniture, kit chen utensils, etc. All these things are personal property not affixed

Secondly, there is real property. which is, simply put, land and everything attached to it. Under everything attached to it. Under this category fall houses, garages, driveways, patios, trees, etc. The house has inside both personal and real property. The difference between the two is detectable by determining whether or not the item is a fixture. The test used to determine what is a fixture and what is not, is answered by a rule of thumb, if it requires a tool to remove it, it is most likely a fixture.

A television set or a refrigerator are not a fixture. These items can be unplugged from the wall and removed without the use of a tool.

Now, all personal property is automatically excluded from the sale unless specifically included by contract. For instance, the free standing refrigerator is excluded from the sale because it is per-sonal property. However, if pro-vided for by contract, it may be left behind as part of the sale. The same is true with real property, only in reverse. All real pro-perty is automatically included in ed, such as a dining room chan-delier the owner wants to take along. This must be provided for by contract, otherwise the chandelier remains in the house as a of sale that it is excluded. You need not replace it or any other fixture which has been excluded, unless you have-a specific duty to do so by contract. Your broker or lawyer will guide you in the best route to take.

Now to your stove Now to your stove. You now probably realize that it falls under the category of real property. You are expected to leave it behind unless you specifically exclude it from the sale by contract. First, you would have your broker mention the exclusion within the listing agreement, and then again specify in the contract of sale that it is excluded. You Congratulations !!

The year-end figures show that Lucille Palis Finamore is eligible for the Realtor Million Dollar Sales Club Award.

Sales Club Award.
Since the prices of homes have risen so astronomically, it is not sufficient to sell one million dollars of real estate to belong to this prestigious group. A recipient must also have a minimum of 15 transactions, for this, the Bronze transactions, for this, the Bronze Plaque Award. Lucille is entitled to a Silver Plaque. These requirements are a minimum of $2.5 million and at least 20 transactions. She has far surpassed these requirements and has qualified for the Silver Plaque by having listed or sold 44 properties this past year.
