Town Mayor defeated in light voter turnout

Frantantoni and Pizzi top field in commission election

Mayday, Mayday!

When you're wrong, you're wrong, and boy was I wrong! Not on who I predicted would get in (I picked three out of five), but on the voter turnout. Way back in March I boldly stated that it would take 3,800 votes to make a candidate a commissioner this year and having eaten those words Tuesday night, I am now having great difficulty digesting it all.

What could have caused such voter apathy?

It certainly wasn't a lack of coverage by the Times or OBC-TV. We ran our campaign forum TV show six times over the last couple of weeks, and in the Times we provided non-stop coverage, pictures and advertising from all twelve candidates.

How can a township electorate, with so many blatant problems and needs, and with such a giant field to choose from, be so indifferent at the polls? Although I disagreed at the time, it seems like last month's sad turnout for the school board election and budget really was an indicator of things to come in May.

But there was an election, and at least halfway, there was a changing of the guard. No matter what the turnout, there had to be at least two newcomers to the board, so the apathetic poll population probably worked in favor of the incumbents. Pizzi and McGreevy hung on, Frantantoni rode in like a white knight, and Fornarotto and Risoli followed him in due at least in part by their longtime involvement in the wacky world of Belleville politics.

The tradition in Belleville is that the highest vote-getter becomes the mayor, and for Vincent Frantantoni it must be a prospect he relishes. After years of frustration "battling these guys," he is now one of "the guys" and will learn first-hand what it means to be a commissioner in Belleville.

He will learn about what it's like to be caught between the rock (not enough money to go around) and a hard place (everything that needs to be done.)

He will learn about the friends (and fair-weather friends) who want favors which may or may not be altruistic in motive.

He will learn about the art of compromise, and how much harder it is to please most of the people most of the time when the decision making process is in his own hands.

prises and light voter turnout.

Community activist-turned-candidate Vincent Frantantoni led the field of twelve to be swept into the very commission he once bitterly opposed on a plethora of issues, notably the proposed Belleville Municipal Complex.

Frantantoni, of Mt. Prospect Avenue, was the only candidate to break the 3,000 mark with 3,288 votes. In previous elections, candidates have lost with 3,500 votes.

Second highest vote-getter was Commissioner of Public Affairs Michael Pizzi, of Columbus Avenue, with 2,677 votes, or some 600 votes short of Frantantoni.

Coming in third was Joseph Fornarotto, of Union Avenue, with 2,654 votes and coming in fourth was Commissioner of Revenue and Finance Joseph McGreevy, of Cleveland Street, with 2,576 votes.

Angelo Risoli, chairman of the Belleville Republican Club, rounded out the list of winners with 2,458 votes.

Outgoing Belleville Mayor Michael Marotti, who was the highest vote-getter in every general commission election since 1971, missed re-election by some 100 votes, coming in sixth place with 2,352 votes. Marotti, of Holmes Street, was considered a sure bet to win another term and his defeat was termed an upset and a surprise by many in Belleville politics.

Coming in seventh place was Douglas Cantarella, of Crescent Terrace with 2,206 votes. In eighth place was Jim Messina, of Brighton Avenue, with 2,159 votes followed by Gabriel Nazziola, of Van Ryeper Place with 2,170.

The rest of the candidates, largely unknown by the township electorate, did not even garner 2,000 votes.

Carol Politz, of Jorammon Street, was the only woman candidate in the unusually large field, and her campaign slogan, "Belleville needs a woman's touch," was seen by some observers as a means of attracting the female vote. Politz managed to pick up 1,340 votes altogether, putting the first-time candidate in the tenth position.

School busing is back...

More than 100 townspeople and township educators crammed the school board meeting room and hallway this past Monday, largely to protest the elimination of school busing for some areas of town and the scaling back of grammar school art and physical education programs for Kindergarten, first and second grade students.

In one area, at least, a compromise solution was worked in advance by the school board, as Board President Phil Linfante began the meeting with an announcement:

"Every youngster who was bused this year will be bused next year," Linfante told a somewhat relieved crowd. However, there were two catches.

First, Linfante explained that there will be less pick-up and drop-off points. In neighborhoods where there are 6 or 7 points, there may now be only one or two.

Second, no private or Catholic school kids will be bused, even if they were enjoying public school busing this year.

"No child will have to walk any farther than the distance to his neighborhood school"

— Board President Phil Linfante

"However, no child will have to walk any farther than the distance to his neighborhood school," Linfante promised. The Board of Education has not yet released a list of actual pick-up points.

Late last week, a group of parents from the Silver Lake area of Belleville had begun organizing to fight the proposed elimination of "courtesy" busing. By "courtesy" the school board and administration refers to those outlying neighborhoods which have long enjoyed school bus services even though they fall outside the state mandate, which rules that all high school children who live 2.5 miles or more from school must be provided with public school busing. For middle school students the limit is 2 miles or more.

Currently, high school students are being bused from Smallwood Avenue south. If the courtesy busing was to be eliminated next year, only the students who lived south of Honiss Street, the very tip of Silver Lake district, would have been bused.

Similar scaling back would have occurred for middle school students.

"It's a compromise," Linfante said, "and I ask for your support."

Teachers Union protests staff cuts

In addition to a crowd of angry parents who appeared somewhat soothed by the compromise move, the school board was faced with another angry faction - several dozen representatives of the Belleville Education Association, who went on record as being against eliminating art and gym specialist teachers for the K-2 grades. Furthermore, the Belleville Education Association went on record as being against any after-school retraining of K-2 teachers to pick up the added responsibilities of instructing their classes in these two specialty areas.

Many parents also voiced their objections to the stormy proposal. "It's unfair to Kindergarten, first and second grade children to take away their art and gym teachers, when their older brothers and sisters still have them," said one parent. Others complained that the quality of instruction in these two areas would be reduced.

Tom Testa, president of the Belleville Education Association said, "the Belleville Board of Education has a responsibility to provide a thorough and efficient education. These proposed cuts (in art and physical education for K-2 children) do not meet the state mandate." Testa added that the board proposal would increase classloads, increase teacher stress and lower teacher morale.

"United and 337 strong"

"We're united, we're 337 strong and we are for the children of this town," Testa stated to a heavy and sustained round of applause.

In other school board news, the revelation that school will begin on September 7 next year and end on June 28 (with four snow days allowed) has renewed debate over certain holidays in the school calendar.

Trustee Barbara Ciccalese suggested that Veteran's Day and Martin Luther King Day be 12:40PM dismissal days instead of full days off, so that schoolchildren don't have to "sweat in the summer

Invention benefits blind people

Student scientist is semi-finalist in national science competition

Belleville High School student John Enriquez was recently selected as a semifinalist in a Duracell Science Project Competition. The contest is a nationwide effort designed to interest and involve high school students to construct electronic projects or inventions which may better serve the public.

Project benefits the blind

John, a senior, currently taking Physics and recently completing Electronics, designed a device for blind people to know when a light is burned out.

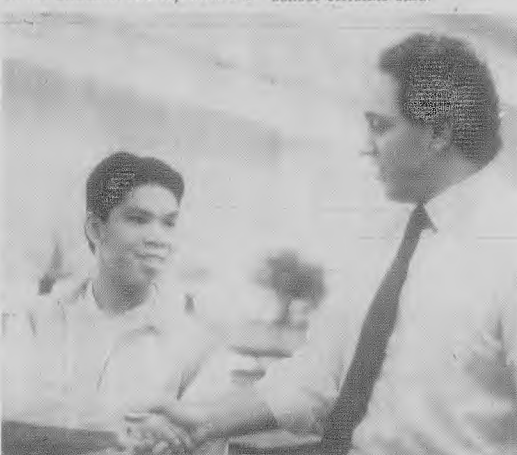

When the light is functional, a particular pitch is emitted, but when it is burned out the audible pitch is noticeably altered. This project is powered as per contest rules by 4 "AA" 1.5 volt Duracell batteries.

Projects of this nature initiate creativity in Science which may lead to future applications to benefit man.

"To date, John is one of 100 semifinalists nationwide; this in itself is a fine accomplishment. Congratulations and good luck to John as he awaits the selection of the finalists. The top award is a $10,000 scholarship. The Science Department at Belleville High is very proud of him," school officials said.

Helping hand - John Enriquez (l) is congratulated by teacher Richard Ruffalo for his invention which has earned him a semifinalist's spot in a national science competition.

17 charges lodged against it

Union Avenue tavern is slapped with 45-day license suspension

By Samuel Williams, Jr.

The Belleville Board of Commissioners voted 3 - 1 for a 45 day operations suspension of NuPlas, a restaurant and bar, during a Excise Board hearing last Friday.

NuPlas attorney Jack Gold countered the suspension by petitioning the state Alcohol and Beverage Board in Trenton for an investigation. The petition must be filed by today.

The board originally proposed there be a 90-day suspension.

If the petition is filed in time, the suspension cannot go into effect until the ABC Board's investigation is complete.

According to Township Attorney Frank J. Cozzarelli, NuPlas had 17 charges lodged against it over a period of nine months.

Commissioner Joseph A. Grande questioned the need for suspension upon the vagueness of a charge statement alleging NuPlas, owned by Jenrich, Inc., "allowed a brawl."

"How does someone who owns and operate an establishment allow anything to happen which might

MEASURING UP

All teaspoons are not created equal. A study done for the American Academy of Pediatrics shows that household teaspoons can hold anywhere from 2cc (cubic centimeters) to 10cc of fluid. The same spoon, in fact, can vary from 3cc. to 7cc., depending on who is doing the pouring and what is being poured. Drug instructions assume that a teaspoon is delivering 5cc. Physicians say that a ten percent difference from the recommended dosage may lead to problems. With all these discrepancies in mind, it makes sense to retire an old household teaspoon from its medicinal duties. Instead, buy a measuring spoon or dropper that measures up. Various kinds of inexpensive syringes/droppers are available from the pharmacist.

The next time you have a prescription filled for a liquid medication be sure to get an accurate dispenser. You'll find a complete prescription department at ROSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. We're Medicare and Blue Cross approved. ## Cancer fighting tool

Mesh procedure is performed at Clara Maass Medical Center

Dr. Edward A. Mercogliano, a general surgeon affiliated with Clara Maass Medical Center has performed a relatively new surgical procedure utilizing a dissolvable mesh.

The procedure is used in cancer surgery where post-operative x-ray therapy is indicated.

The "mesh" procedure is only performed on a select group of patients diagnosed with a cancerous tumor which is localized to the pelvic area. Placement of the "mesh" allows a patient who requires radiation, to receive the full course of treatment without any damage to the small intestine.

Two successful operations in town

To date, only 100 procedures have been performed around the country, including two successful procedures performed by Dr. Mercogliano at Clara Maass. The "mesh," similar to a sling, is placed in the patient's abdomen, lifting the intestine out of the area of possible x-ray therapy. The "mesh" dissolves in six months. A week to ten days after surgery, the patient is released from the hospital. Approximately one month later these x-ray treatment begins. Dr. Mercogliano noted that all follow-up treatment is performed on an out-patient basis, thus cost saving to the patient is substantial.

Decision made on the spot

Dr. Mercogliano stated that the decision to use "mesh" is made in the operating room. Once it is used and the patient is discharged, Dr. Corinne Devereux, medical director of radiation oncology at Clara Maass, takes over the out-patient procedures.

Additional beneficiaries include hemophiliacs, leukemia patients, and other large volume blood users.

Otto Romanski, chairman and Grand Knight Jim Kiernan have set a goal of 50 units of blood. "If we are simply to keep pace with increased demands for blood, especially during the summer months, we must wage a vigorous campaign to increase our collection," they explained.

All healthy citizens between the ages of 18 and 66 are urged to become blood donors. 17-year-olds may donate with a written permission of parent or guardian.

For further information, please contact James Kiernan at 759-5196 or blood bank chairman Otto Romanski.

Our Graduates

Hundreds of our teenagers among us are looking beyond this month to the horizons they see as they approach Graduation Day.

Kindergarten, followed by twelve years of the learning process should prepare most of our young for a Freshman college year.

For those who are dropping out of the system upon receiving their high school diploma, life takes another route. It is to those young people that we address these comments. Most high school graduates are seventeen years of age. They have a right to call it quits and seek employment. If they do, the world in which they find themselves will have limited opportunities. Can these folks make it in life? No doubt about it. Would it be easier if they had a college education? Probably. However, we can't deal with the maybe's in life all the time — we are obliged to face the real world.

And so — high school graduates bent on pursuing the quest for jobs and money should look back upon their seventeen years on this earth and reflect on the kind of lives they led and whether or not a high school education is sufficient to permit them to achieve their dreams and aspirations.

Perhaps, of equal importance is the need for them to look back upon the past with a heart full of love and gratitude for the parents who gave them encouragement during some of the most difficult days of their lives. And in reflecting upon these thoughts, we invite the teens among our readers to share with us the profound prose of an unknown writer entitled, "Teen Creed":

Don't let your parents down,
They brought you up.
Be humble enough to obey,
You may give orders some day.
Choose companions with care,
You become what they are.
Guard your thoughts,
What you think, you are.
Choose only a date
Who would make a good mate.
Be master of your habits,
Or they will master you.
Don't be a show-off when you drive,
Drive with safety and arrive.
Don't let the crowd pressure you,
Stand for something or you'll fall for anything.

And, my dear readers — that says it all.

P.S. For a printed copy of the "Teen Creed," call our newspaper office or drop by and pick one up.

Drinking and driving

All the world knows that drinking liquor and driving an automobile do not mix. It has long been established that an automobile becomes a lethal weapon in the hands of a person who has taken an alcoholic drink. More people are injured or die because of automobile accidents.

In the next thirty days, high school proms will occupy the minds, hearts and bodies of many of our young people throughout the nation. Graduating high school is a time for celebration; but can't the young of today take a page from those of us of days gone by and celebrate the occasion without drinking hard liquor? The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety together with Mothers Against Drunk Driving has printed a card reminding high school graduates they are a class act and they should celebrate soberly.

Intoxication leaves people senseless. They are led to do things and perform acts that they never would think of doing if they had their right minds. We urge our readers to reach out to our high school graduates and encourage them to celebrate the occasion without drinking beer or liquor. High School Graduation is a time to be joyful and reflect upon the past. At the same time, it's an opportunity for men and women of vision to look ahead to the kind of future they want for themselves. There are among us dreamers and doers. Dreamers can be doers — and they can achieve their objectives easier without liquor.

Gary Hart

Well — the presidential contender took the course of action that the circumstances required.

Gary Hart quit his quest for the Presidency. His demise resulted from a Miami Herald newspaper undercover story which led to the discovery that Gary Hart had a relationship — the nature of which no one exactly knows — but of sufficient import to lead the Miami Herald to assign five reporters to sneak up on Hart and place his apartment under surveillance.

While the press reserves for itself the right to pursue leads concerning a presidential candidate's abilities to conduct the duties of the office, we do not think the press has a right to be so intrusive as to place under surveillance a candidate's home. Even the press, with its First Amendment rights, has limitations on how far it could go to invade the privacy of anybody, albeit a candidate for the Presidency. The remarkable thing about Gary Hart during his recent press conference was when he was asked if he had committed adultery, he didn't react by punching the questioner in the nose. We would have. The question is most insulting — the reporter asking the question must have had big brass ears to even conceive the question.

Well — for the moment, twilight shadows have set in to hide from view — at least momentarily — the principal dream and aspiration of Gary Hart.

Perhaps, by withdrawing as a candidate, Gary Hart lives to fight another day. We hope so.

Friends helped us through...

To the editor:

On April 21 our daughter Cathy suffered a brain hemorrhage during a track meet. The living nightmare that we had to endure was eased only by family and friends that never left our side.

Some remained through the long nights at the hospital. Others provided nourishment to give us strength through this ordeal. Many prayers and Masses were offered as good wishes abounded.

There are some special people to whom we will be eternally grateful. Their humanism and caring gave us unrealized strength. This terrible episode has left us with a renewed sense of community.

Our friends in Belleville have responded to our needs with overwhelming kindness.

Sincerely,
Nicholas and Theresa Petti

Angry with town fathers...

To the editor:

Many citizens addressed the Commissioners regarding the pumper, not in opposition to acquire a piece of fire fighting equipment when needed, but rather on why it was necessary to acquire this Bond issue with so much haste, when Chief Sbarra himself volunteered that it would be at least 6 months before this piece of equipment (not even selected as yet), could become available.

Yet, even though one taxpayer after another begged the Commissioners to just hold off till the following Town meeting, all four Commissioners VOTED TO APPROVE the Ordinance.

Why? I ask, and so did all the others...

They couldn't even wait two weeks? So much for their going through the motion of a "Public Hearing." During the "debate" with the taxpayers, begging for postponement of the vote for just two weeks, Mayor Marotti stated: "Just adopting the Ordinance to make the money available doesn't mean we are spending it."

Well, that was precisely the same argument/tactic our Town Fathers used when they adopted the $10 million Bond issue for a Town Hall Complex (now popularly known as the "Taj Mahal" fiasco), for which not even plans existed, leave alone submitted to the Planning Board for "review and recommendation as to need" required by N.J. State Statutes regulating municipalities for the protection of the taxpayers.

In case you didn't know, $600,000 plus is already "down the drain" of this Bond Ordinance, spent on drawings and "concepts" that can never be used.

At the meeting another $5,174.75 of your tax dollars was squandered in payment to Neil Siciliano for Professional Service for "The Belleville Municipal Project." Mr. Siciliano, the consulting engineer you should know, is sitting down with our beloved architects who originally designed the "Taj Mahal" for us. He is sitting down with them to see where they can cut down on the cost of the Police facility, "capped" at $5 million, designed (you guessed it) by the same architects. The bids for their latest design came in $2 million over budget.

Our Town Fathers sure knew which firm of architects to pick, didn't they now! They had to go all the way to New York City for them...

So, seeing how our Town Fathers continue to operate in the same fashion as before, holding "Public Hearings" but approving Bond Ordinances for undetermined "future" expenditures, I can draw no other conclusion, that if reelected the Town of Belleville will experience four more years of the same "treatment" of: "We are the Town Fathers you elected, and these Fathers know best, no matter what facts you come up with..."

OBC is A-ok...

To the editor:

As one of the ten candidate participants in the Candidates Questions and Answer program jointly sponsored by The Belleville Chamber of Commerce and OBC-TV, I want to extend my appreciation for their civic interest and concern in providing this comparative type forum for the citizens of Belleville.

To Ms. Jaye Tarantino, Mr. Joseph Dasaro, Mr. Tony Vincent, and members of the Chamber Committee who selected the questions to be asked, my compliments on conducting a most objective and evenly balanced presentation. This is most noteworthy in light of the fact of the no-shows and partial shows of candidates both announced and unannounced that threw a monkey wrench into the random computer selection of candidates to respond to the questions.

To Reg Wells from Channel 9, many thanks for a most professional job as moderator. I do hope the two-hour program gave the citizens of Belleville sufficient basis upon which to make their voting decisions on May 12th. I hope they will start at the right END of the ballot and make Gabe Nazzola, row 12-A the first of their choices.

Respectfully submitted,
Gabriel A. Nazzola

Sacrilegious abomination...

To the editor:

This is a letter concerning sacrilegious abomination. We visited our son and brothers grave in Holy Cross Cemetery, North Arlington and found our costly perpetual candle gone. We presumed it was stolen, however, looking around we found neighboring graves also did not have them.

Questioning further, we found they were confiscated by the cemetery officials. We found a garage full of these candles and we duly took pictures of them. We questioned cemetery workers and management in the office and we were told we do not own the land or plot and candles were prohibited by signs posted.

Our candle has been there and lit for 6½ years. We visited all the entrances and found no signs prohibiting candles!

In our times of grief is this aggravation necessary? We visit our sons grave at least once a week and don't think a small candle holder buried in the ground should be denied.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. M. Malno

Amerika, Amerika...

To the editor:

Now that TV's "Amerika" is well on the way to finding its niche in history, I hope our television networks do not succumb to political pressures in the future, and once again foist such an intelligence-insulting production (the likes of Amerika) upon the nation's TV viewing public.

Let us, who have been subjected to unprecedented political hullabaloo and hoopla, concerning this propaganda piece of "Amerika" — rise up and shout at the top of our lungs — "Amerika" is dead! Long live America!

Doctor is out

Medicare isn't working in the manner it was originally designed. At best it only pays 40% of doctor bills and compels subscribers to obtain supplemental medical insurance which is costly. $17.90 is deducted from each Social Security monthly payment amounting to $214.80 a year or $429.60 for husband and wife.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Doctors are not disposed to accept assignment payment for services; only 22.1 percent of all New Jersey physicians accept such payment. The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) says, the voluntary programs are "demeaning" to patients and put private doctors in the position of imposing new rules on the public insurance program for the elderly and disabled.

The State of Massachusetts has required physicians to take assignment and doctors are scrambling to do something they can hide behind, to ward off that from happening all over. The legislative spokesman of AARP said, "in addition to imposing a new set of rules on a public program, the doctors are turning Medicare into a welfare program. You have to declare yourself poor to get full benefit." He said Medicare was supposed to be a uniform benefit program.

Doctors' fees for Medicare vary widely from state to state and specialty to specialty and AARP believes that the payment system should be uniformed. The states cannot directly affect the fees of the federal program, but many are trying to tie the assignment to state licensing law.

The medical society is now beginning to realize that someone with $35,000 in the bank and $3,000 (a year) in interest, who is getting $5,000 a year in Social Security really has only $8,000 in income.

The money older people have in the bank is a hedge against the need for nursing home or other care. People should not have to dip into these reserves.

The medical society frowns upon mandatory assignment contending it could make Medicare resemble the situation with Medicaid, the state-federal program for the needy, which pays fees of $7 to $9 for doctor visits. Many doctors no longer accept Medicaid patients at all. It is apparent that health care costs have gotten completely out of hand.

There is an Assembly concurrent resolution listed as ACR-54 which would place the question of a constitutional convention for the purpose of requiring a balanced federal budget. Several hearings have been conducted bringing out strong opinions from both sides.

Were the New Jersey Legislature to approve this resolution, it would make the 33rd state to approve the question, leaving the need for only one additional state to bring about the constitutional convention. It would also open new avenues of congressional and political confrontation in a strong effort to avoid such a convention. Former Governor and retired Chief Justice Richard J. Hughes opposes the convention while Newark attorney Adrian M. Foley Jr. who is chairman of an American Bar Association committee now reviewing the convention question is in favor of such a convention.

Out-of-state proponents of a constitutional convention are hopeful that the resolution will carry in New Jersey, however, there is strong opposition to the proposal in the state Senate. Were a constitutional convention convened then three-quarters of the states must then approve any changes in the Constitution before such amendments can be considered ratified. That procedure has never yet been used to amend the Constitution.

It is expected that if any state legislature were to become the 33rd to adopt the proposal for a balanced budget constitutional convention that Congress will move fast to legislate the issue, as it has on other issues in the past, in order to avoid the convention.

FLIGHT 890

By Frank A. Orechio

Nutley's John Zincola and Andy Andriola are the boys responsible for the essay that follows. Most of the experiences in the life of the anonymous author recalls to us some similarities in our own life's travels:

Days of Wine and Breadmen
I was well into adulthood before I realized I was an American. Of course I had always lived in America, but it somehow never occurred to me that being a citizen of the United States meant I was an American. Americans ate peanut butter on mushy bread that came out of plastic bags. Me? I was Italian.

For me — as I'm sure it was for most third-generation Italian children who grew up in the 50s there was a definite distinction drawn between us and THEM. We were Italian. Everybody else was American. There was no animosity involved in that distinction, only the subtle suggestion that ours was the better way.

For instance, we had a breadman, an oilman, a biancoline man, a fruit and vegetableman and a fishman who brought their goods right to our door. The Americans went to the store to buy most of their food.

I pitted their loss. They would never know the pleasure of waking every morning to find fresh baked crispy Italian bread waiting behind the screen door. And instead of being able to climb up on Corobello's truck a couple times a week and help bag fruits and vegetables, most of my classmates had to sit complacently in a shopping basket at the A&P and watch the parade go by.

When it came to food, it always amazed me that my American friends only ate turkey on Thanksgiving and Christmas. Or rather, they ate ONLY turkey, as opposed to turkey preceded by lasagne, meatballs, and roast sausage and served in conjunction with salad, string beans, corn and mushrooms, as well as the mashed potatoes, stuffing, candied yams and cranberry sauce.

Foodwise, Sunday was the best day of the week, so far as us kids were concerned. That was the day we'd wake up to the smell of garlic and onion frying in olive oil. As we lay in bed, we could hear the hiss as the crushed tomatoes were dropped into the pan. That was our cue to get up and get ready for Mass.

We couldn't eat before Mass because we had to fast before Communion, but we knew when we came home we'd find meatballs frying and meatballs fresh out of the pan were better than anything... except maybe the warm pepper and egg sandwiches we'd take to the beach or zeppole rolled in sugar and cinnamon or sun-warmed plum tomatoes plucked right off the vine.

That was another difference between US and THEM. We had gardens, huge gardens where we grew tomatoes, peppers, basil, parsley, squash. And we had a grape arbor and fruit trees — peach, pear, mulberry and fig.

Of course, those gardens thrived because we also had something else, it seemed to me, our "American" friends didn't have. We had a grandfather.

It's not that they didn't have grandfathers. It's just that they didn't live in the same house as their grandfathers. They visited their grandfathers. We ate breakfast, lunch and dinner with ours.

I can remember my grandfather telling about how he came here as a young man "on the boat." How the family lived in a tenement in Manhattan, how he decided he didn't want his children — two sons and two daughters — to grow up in that environment and he came to Staten Island on week-ends and built a stucco house that was to serve as the family house for about 60 years. And I remember, when it was decided that the family had outgrown the stucco house, how he said he didn't want to leave there. So we built a new house on the lots next door and he agreed to move with us. And I remember how he insisted on speaking English — even though there were times when it would have been easier to understand him in Italian.

I also remember the holidays, when the relatives who had moved off Staten Island would visit with their families and there'd be tables full of food and home-made wine and music and dancing. And I remember how my grandfather would sit in the middle of it all grinning his mischievous smile, his green eyes twinkling, proud of his family and how well its members had done.

He had achieved his goal in coming to America and to Staten Island and now his children and their children were achieving the same goals that were available to them because they were Americans.

When I died several years ago at the age of 94, things began to change. My uncles eventually cut down their visits. It was understandable, of course. They had children and grandchildren of their own. Today they visit once or twice a year.

Lots of other things changed too. The old stucco house has been covered with aluminum siding. My grandfather's garden is gone and the people who were renting the old house complained that the fallen mulberries were staining their shoes so they chopped the tree down. The last of the homemade wine has turned to vinegar and nobody wraps the fig tree with tarpaulin and covers it with a plastic garbage can anymore.

The differences between US and THEM aren't so easily defined anymore. And I guess that's good. I'm an American and proud of it, just like my grandfather would want me to be.

But somehow I always felt more like an Italian before he died.

Religious Viewpoints

Lamp of light...

The place was a little village in southern Europe. The time, several centuries ago. The duke had ten beautiful daughters whom he loved very much. He loved to watch them play as children and to sew and sing and pick flowers in the hills as they grew up. Eventually the daughters married and the father loved to have the home at Christmas.

Then, one of the daughters married a prince who lived a great distance away and could not come home for the Christmas gatherings. The father was sad as he saw his daughter's empty place at the table. Before he died, the duke built a beautiful church in the village. The church was finished except there were no lamps in it. One of his daughters asked him why.

He said, "Each worshiper will carry his own lamp." He had provided small bronze lamps, one for each person in the village. The worshipers bring these lamps with them. If one fails to come, his place is empty, and that corner of the church is dark and lonely.

Four hundred years have passed since that little church was built. The bronze lamps have been passed down from father to son and carefully treasured. When the bell of the church rings, the people come carrying their lamps, for no one wishes his corner to be dark and gloomy.

God has placed each of us in the world to shed His love and sunshine to all who are in need. To tell people lost in hopelessness of the life-giving, sin-forgiving message of Jesus Christ.

Do you spread sunshine? Has the sunshine of Christ's love come into your life or have you rejected it?

Those who trust in Jesus Christ as personal Saviour and Lord find peace within themselves and a message of peace that can be shared with others.

"Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, said the Savior, and I will give you rest." Matthew 11:28.

Bifani on Belleville...

izens of Belleville, the very organization he helped organize, may one day be at odds with him, should it continue after he resigns his presidency to his vice-president, Gabe Nazzola, as many expect.

That's hard to believe now, but Vinnie is the "establishment" now, and he's got a lot of proving to do.

On the other side of the coin, a lot of folks in town who have been openly hostile to his beliefs, his style, and his grass-roots activism will have to mend fences with the man who is now their commissioner and probably their next mayor.

People who still want a blight declaration may as well pack up and move to Camden because that's just not going to happen during the next four years.

People who want a $10 million municipal complex or a $5 million police station regardless of the tax hike will have to be content with the more modest $3 million-or-under plan which the freshman commissioner has long supported. Maybe an addition, maybe a small building...but a Taj Mahal? Forget it...

I'm almost afraid to make more predictions (since I was way out in leftfield on my voter turnout prediction) but nevertheless I'll conclude with my picks for which gentlemen will be commissioners of what.

Frantantoni will become Mayor and will assume the recreation department, as recreation has long been dear to his youth-loving heart. Commissioners McGreevy and Pizzi will continue in their roles of Revenue and Finance, and Public Affairs, respectively and that leaves Foranotto and Risoli.

Since Joe is one of the one of the few candidates who made no secret about which department he wants, it's my bet that the Department of Public Works is what he's going to get. And that leaves Angelo Risoli...or should I say Police Commissioner Risoli, the same Risoli who made crimefighting and tough criminal punishment a major campaign theme.

Will your Town Newspaper Editor be redeemed in the prediction department? Stay tuned...

votes followed by Nicholas Mazzola, of Myrtle Avenue, with 1,103 votes in twelfth place.

The light voter turnout and the order in which the candidates placed initially confused political observers in a township known for lively elections, larger turnouts and more predictable outcomes.

Although the totals listed above include absentee ballots, officials in the office of the township clerk stated the totals are unofficial as of press time. A complete breakdown by district and ward, along with official counts will appear in the next edition of the Belleville Times.

A wiser way to manage investments.

The key to success in making your assets grow is to be honest with yourself. When you haven't the time, or the information, or perhaps the experience—to invest your own money wisely and watch over those investments, then you should consider professional assistance.

Many people of moderate wealth simply prefer not to manage their own financial affairs. It does take a great deal of time, and detailed record-keeping. It's also easy to become uncertain about a particular course of action, especially as economic conditions change.

For these and other reasons, The Provident has established personalized services designed to help you maintain a prudent and productive course for your investments. You can select from a number of Provident programs to match the degree of time-saving conveniences or investment management help you need. And while living trusts are perfect for certain legal or financial goals, you can put Provident's trust investment people to work as your agent without the formalities of a trust.

A member of our trust investment staff will be glad to tell you more about our services or discuss your financial goals with you. To arrange for a consultation without charge or obligation, please contact your Provident Office or call 201-743-5000.

BELLEVILLE CITY

Belleville city
is very pretty
When people treat it nice.
I really hate when people start
Drawing on houses, streets, and walls.
I really get mad and furious
But, I can't stop them all
Maybe its not late
We can still make Belleville great.
Everybody lend a hand to make Belleville grand.
To change from old to new
And make it nicer for me and you.

Student poetry

BELLEVILLE

Belleville has new houses and it has some old.
Some are big and some are small
And some stand out bold.
If Belleville wasn't such a great town,
There really wouldn't be
All that people that live here
Like you and you and me.
The streets are clean and long and neat
The houses are too
The people who live here just live it,
And you would too.

— Virginia Rajnes

MY LIFE IN BELLEVILLE

I moved here four years ago
There wasn't anyone living here that I did know.
I entered St. Peter's School in September.
It seemed old to me, I remember
Coming here from St. Paul's in Jersey City,
Which was newer and very pretty.
Not knowing many streets
I had to ask almost everyone I did meet,
How to get back to Academy Street.
I was lost and a fright
When my mother told me that our house was white,
for she forgot to say,
Many houses were white on the way.
I wasn't sure if I would survive,
But then I seen my house number 145.

— Eugene DeLucia

BELLEVILLE

Belleville is my home town
With quiet houses all around.
But each year we have a feast
Near one of its busiest streets.
They always have something new,
For the very young and old too.
I enjoy living here.
And look forward to the feast
Each year.

Vivid memories of American liberation

Essex holocaust survivor describes ordeal

By Samuel Williams Jr.

True stories of bondage during the Holocaust have been featured, photographed and editorialized with terrifying details during years past.

But sometimes, nothing sends shivers through the spine which compare to first-hand accounts of those who have lived it.

For Holocaust survivor David Rosenblum, the memories are all too vivid.

Yet to tell his tale where does one begin?

With the painful experiences of his childhood?

What about the betrayals that marked his adulthood?

Or does one simply forget his past and focus on Rosenblum's life in America?

Recently, Remembrance Week was observed in honor of the victims of Jews murdered during the Holocaust.

Bloomfield Mayor John Greco issued a special proclamation honoring Rosenblum, a survivor.

As David Rosenblum, master of the pen and will to survive was called upon to tell his story.

"I would live through the Holocaust so to tell the world what happened," said Rosenblum.

Racism as seen through oppressed eyes.

Men sometime relate tales of singular misfortune and try to erase the memories.

Rosenblum remembers the scores of atrocities he witnessed and vowed to never forget the atrocities.

His story talks of bamboo sticks shoved between fingers during interrogation in efforts to secure information that would tell where more Jews were hidden.

"I was tortured by other methods as well. I was hung. They would attach handcuffs to a rack and hang me in my room. They wanted to know where others were hiding," said Rosenblum.

World War II began in Rosenblum's life. He served in the army, a Jew in the army.

His role was to stand in line with Germans and Poles who were getting into a ship. He was being rationed. Had he been identified as Jewish, he would have been sent to a concentration camp to die.

Rosenblum's dialect and Polish accent allowed him to go undetected.

Rosenblum recalled his experience in 1938 as a sixth grade student. He remembers that even then, racism existed before the war.

"Even before the war, the Polish government felt that a Jewish fellow should sit separate from a Polish kid. We had 45 students in our class, and there were 10 Jewish kids, and we had to sit in a ghetto, away from the others," said Rosenblum.

"We were called dirty Jew, lousy Jew. Anti-Semitism was worst when Passover came, we were beaten. The reason was that the Polish children were taught the superstition that the dark part of the matzah was really blood drawn from Christian children who had been murdered. They were also taught that we (Jews) were responsible for the death of Christ," continued Rosenblum.

Rosenblum recalled an incident where a Jewish congressman was beaten up on the Senate floor. The anti-Semitism had grown to maximum proportions.

Rosenblum said the life of a Jew during that period was held in such low esteem that the reward for turning one in was a kilo of sugar and a bottle of liquor.

one knew who was next.

Escape became the essential goal for Rosenblum. But where would he go? This haunted him. Surely the Germans would murder him and the Poles would turn him away.

His chance came enroute to his "final solution" in the Alps for execution. American forces halted the expedition by cutting off the route.

"At this point, I said to two other prisoners, one Frenchman and the other Belgian, 'This is the time to escape. But there is one condition: By the train there are wires. You must go under the wire without touching. The wires are like a violin, touch them and the Germans will open fire,'" Rosenblum and the second man to follow went under successfully. The third touched and the Germans opened fire.

"I was at least 500 feet away when they opened fire and I ran crazy, thinking only to make it to the woods. When I did, I climbed a tree and stayed there for one and one-half days. I remember looking down upon passing German soldiers hoping they wouldn't look up. I remember falling once, cutting myself up and bleeding from the face. I secured myself to the tree by attaching my belt around a branch and me," said Rosenblum.

"Sometime later, I saw a tank. It had a star on it. I knew it wasn't German but I was too afraid to do anything. Later another appeared. This time I approached it with my hands up. They stopped and I discovered they were Americans. There was a Jewish lieutenant on board and I told them where the Germans were and they told me to wait there. I didn't. I was going with them," explained Rosenblum.

Rosenblum was then 19 years old. More importantly, he was alive and witnessing the "Liberation."

band, Rosenblum was still a man without a country. Poland was not ready to relent in its treatment of Jews. Thoughts of settling in Germany seemed ludicrous.

After several correspondences through letter with his sister Rosa Acemsky, who had settled in Long Island, Rosenblum migrated to America.

One could only imagine the despair in Rosenblum's heart leaving behind the tragic deaths of his family in Hitler's hideous death camp crematoriums.

Likewise, imagine the joy Rosenblum experienced upon seeing the burning torch of the Statue of Liberty so high in the air to signal freedom for all men who should enter her American harbor.

And now, more than half a century later, Rosenblum and his wife Sandra have lived a life of freedom and prosperity while raising their children Caryn and Steven in Bloomfield. But Rosenblum will never forget...

Thoughts on Remembrance

By Alan Branigan

Let's not forget, let's not forget...

These poignant words echo unceasingly now that Memorial Day is close upon us. We do not need a parade, no matter how full of pomp and circumstance, to remind us to visit several hallowed places in Nutley. They testify to the sacrifice that our local patriots have made in years past. And their names are there on the stones that mark the places where ceremonies will be held.

In our Capitol can be found one of the most touching of these places. It is the long, V-shaped black memorial to the Vietnam veterans war dead on the Mall in Washington. Anyone who goes there cannot but be deeply moved by the memorial itself and by the more than 50,000 names inscribed upon it. On any day, relatives and friends can be seen searching through the myriad names for the one they remember and loved.

Other memorials come to mind, like the quiet graveyard where "some mute inglorious Milton" may lie, in the words of Thomas Gray. Other, more famous persons can be remembered on any day in the year, those to whom we owe a remembrance of their past achievements and glories.

A great memorial can be found in Florence, one of the gems of Italian history and culture. This one is in the Church of Santa Croce, at the end of a long narrow park. In the church are the tombs of many who have immeasurably enriched our lives. They include Michelangelo, Galileo, Machiavelli, Dante Alighieri (who is actually buried at Ravenna, Riom of the great operatic masterpiece, Bruni and Ghiberti, who designed the justly famous doors of the Baptistery in Florence.

Memorials there are all over Europe and the visitor can stand before each and think of how the person entombed there found his place in history. In Paris, at the Invalides, it is possible to visit the tomb of Napoleon in a huge red stone coffin, surrounded by his generals. Across the city is a hillside full of famous folk of the past. It is pere Lachaise, near Avenue de la Republique. In this vast graveyard are the tombs of the fabled lovers, Heloise and Abelard, the composer Frederic Chopin, the wit and playwright Oscar Wilde (in a spectacular tomb by Jacob Epstein), Balzac, Beaumarchais, Delacroix, the artist, and the poet, De Musset. On the east of the huge cemetery is the Wall of the Federes, where more than 200 Communards were executed in the rebellion of 1871. A historic place, indeed.

Visiting graveyards and admiring the memorials may not be everyone's idea of a pastime, but it is something that gives one a sense of time and past glory. Take, for example, the Central Friedhof (Central Cemetery) along one of the trolley routes in Vienna. It is a somber place to visit, to be sure.

But the man at the gate, accustomed to tourists, will exclaim to you, "Ah, Beethoven," and give a wave of his hand up the central lane inside the gate. Walking along past many generals, admirals and statesmen, the traveler comes to an "honor ring." There, with an ornate stone marker above each tomb, are the graves of Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Von Suppe, Johann Strauss Jr. and Hugo Wolf, all of whom have supplied the world with deathless music. Mozart, alas is not present, having been put into an unmarked pauper's grave back in 1791. But his spirit is with all of us.

The best place to find memorials in London is surely Westminster Abbey, where famous names abound in the Poets' Corner. The grave of Handel is there, too, to mention only one of a multitude of great personages.

But somehow, after all these memorable locations, one's feelings come back to Washington's Vietnam Veterans Memorial, a magnet for countless thousands who come there to find a precious figure, to speak a prayer, to leave some flowers, to remember and to weep. There is nothing like it anywhere, a place to ponder on our Memorial Day.

Let's not forget, as Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional" reminds us,

Union Avenue tavern slapped with suspension

hurd their licensing?" asked Grande.

"What if the licensee breaks the fight up? Are they still at fault?" concluded Grande.

Grande also made mention of an establishment notorious throughout the area for "selling liquor to minors" yet hasn't suffered recourse from the board.

"Why should they (NuPlas) be penalized just because it is a popular establishment?" asked Grande.

Grande voted against the suspension along with Mayor Michael V. Marotti who sat quietly through most of the deliberation.

Commissioner Michael P. Pizzi said he understood the position both sides were dealing with yet voted to uphold the suspension.

Likewise, Commissioner Ralph DeRuggiero concurred.

With the vote deadlocked, Pizzi proposed that the suspension be reduced from 90 to 45 days. Grande and Marotti agreed.

DeRuggiero voted to stay with the original proposal.

Charges against Nu Plas included disturbance or an unnecessary noise, argument outside premises, disturbance in parking lot, assault inside premises, fighting in street and remaining open past town sanctions.

New Jersey Bell Technology Has Information Age Off And Running.

By Art Guida
External Affairs Manager

The Age of Information. That's the name generally used to describe the era the computer and communications experts say we're about to enter.

But take a closer look at the technological advances developed and implemented by New Jersey Bell, and you'll realize that we've already taken the first steps into The Age of Information.

This new technology has provided two major advantages to our customers. It allows us to offer you new services and it has made existing service more efficient.

The new technology you're probably most familiar with is fiber optics. In an amazingly short period of time, telecommunications in New Jersey has advanced from a network of single channel communications carried over bare copper wire to a network in which billions of bits of information speed through fiber optic cables every second.

Here's an example.

On a one inch copper cable, we can handle 1,200 simultaneous calls. By contrast, a one-inch fiber optic cable can handle 435,000 simultaneous calls.

Another vital advance is: the ongoing replacement of electromechanical switches with electronic and digital electronic switches. More than half of New Jersey Bell's 210 switches already have been converted and the remainder should be completed by 1990.

An all-electronic network will make it possible for us to provide our new software-based services to just about every residence and business location.

Some of these services are already making their initial appearances. Public Data Network (PDN) allows inexpensive interaction between computers. By using a single communications line and eliminating the need for expensive translation devices and dedicated lines, PDN will allow smaller data users to take advantage of the new technology. Typical uses might include in-home banking and shopping, electronic mail and hookups to databank networks.

Central Office Local Area Network (CO-LAN) enables Centrex customers to economically link computers and terminals and to simultaneously transmit voice and data between buildings or cities.

The emergence of these services marked the beginning of The Age of Information. We've been there for some time now, and through the ongoing development efforts of New Jersey Bell, many more new communications services will be brought on line to become part of your daily life.

Remembering care-givers...

To the editor:

Last weekend we celebrated Mother's Day, a time to say "Thank you" to those special people across America who have nurtured and cared for us all. On Monday, May 18, we in New Jersey will have the opportunity to pay tribute to another very special category: the certified homemaker-home health aide.

The typical Home Health Aide is a trained, state-certified caregiver who travels from home to home assisting the homebound, sick, frail, elderly and disabled in personal care and activities of daily living. It is the home health aide who helps these people with bathing, grooming, walking, cooking, shopping, and house-cleaning — all services necessary in keeping people independent and out of nursing homes.

The typical Home Health Aide is certainly not highly paid — indeed, she can never be fully compensated for the true value of her services — but she is rich in compassion, dedication and concern for the aging clients. Home Health Aide Day on May 12 is an excellent opportunity for all of us to recognize these very special people.

Chil-It Service, Inc., Essex County's only non-profit Visiting Homemaker Home Health Aide Service, since 1948, currently employs over 400 certified Home Health Aides. We are proud to have these dedicated women working for us to help serve the homebound residents throughout the county. Someone in your life — and in someone's life — may need a Homemaker Home Health Aide.

Remember, Monday, May 18 is Home Health Aide Day.

Joan J. Wilcox, President
Chil-It Service, Inc.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Don't Quit

When things go wrong as they sometimes will,
When the road you're treading seems all up hill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest if you must, but don't you quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won had he stuck it out;
Don't give up though the pace seems slow —
You may succeed with another blow.

Success is failure turned inside out —
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems so far;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit —
It's when things seem worst that you must not quit.

School Board News

Board hears citizens' budget-cutting ideas

heat" at the end of the school year.

Board Attorney Larry Schwarz said that since Martin Luther King Day is a national holiday, it would take a special agreement with school employees to effect a 12:40 dismissal that day. Veteran's Day, however, is not a national holiday and could be changed.

Former School Board member Gabriel Nazzola criticized the school board's budget at the May 11 meet, saying that Attorney Schwarz' legal fees ($90 per hour) are too high, and savings could be effected by not having him present at every single board meeting. Other savings could be realized, he said, by cutting out one vice principal at the high school and by eliminating one of the two assistant superintendant posts. Finally, he suggested merging the positions of business administrator and board secretary.

Freshman School Board member Patricia Pisano said that the school board, which formulated the budget before she began her term, is "not hearing the wishes of the people" since they are demanding cuts in administrative staff, not in teaching and maintenance staff.

In a late development, Business Administrator Joseph Atallo has resigned his post, and is expected to issue a statement on his resignation later this week.

Times law

For a limited time only, the cost of a yearly subscription to The Belleville Times has been reduced from the regular rate of $14 to only $9. Senior citizen subscriptions remain at the special rate of only $7.

"The Times costs more than $18 per year on the newsstand, so our spring subscription drive represents a savings of more than fifty percent off the cover price," Belleville Times Editor Christopher Bifani said. By subscribing at this special, limited-time rate, the per issue price drops to only 17 cents per copy, the Editor added.

Bifani noted that in recent years many area newspapers have attempted to cover the Belleville news scene, but that no newspaper has ever come close to providing the amount of Belleville news the Times offers each week.

"We've always had the most Belleville coverage," Bifani explained, "and now we're an even better value. Our special spring subscription drive rate is $1 less than the rate the competing Belleville weekly charges."

Outstanding features

The Editor points to a great many Belleville features within the Times as evidence of the newspaper's outstanding community coverage.

"We've got Belleville Briefly, our page two feature of township news briefs. We've got Bookmarks by David Bryant and Adrea Cohen, a feature of events and news from the Town Library. We've got Recreation Round-up by Dennis Buckley, a weekly column of scores, standings and special events offered by the Belleville Recreation Department. And on any given week, our news pages feature double the number of Belleville news articles offered by other area newspapers. We've got its town news, any of the men's explanations. Frank Golden my own future. A focus on For doing to equal al fe which ship ing the on town ers in nists for de

Clara Maass sponsoring safe tanning seminar

Spring has arrived and with it the beginning of the tanning season. Time to go to the beaches and soak up the sun. But do you know how damaging the sun's ultraviolet rays can be to your skin?

The American Cancer Society has estimated that nearly 400,000 new cases of skin cancer will be diagnosed this year. The risk of getting skin cancer is directly related to unprotected exposure to the sun. Although staying out of the sun significantly lessens chances of skin cancer, many people find it unavoidable or undesirable.

In an effort to address this concern, the Clara Maass Community Health Resource Center is offering an educational forum on how to tan safely. "Safety in the Sun: Guidelines for Safe Summer Tanning," will be presented 7:30 p.m. May 20 at Clara Maass Medical Center, One Franklin Ave., Belleville. The program is free; however, pre-registration is required.

Discussion will include basic facts about skin cancer, its occurrence in the population, review of risk factors that are associated with the disease, methods of prevention and an opportunity for questions. A special part of the program will focus on the effects of tanning salons and home tanning booths.

If you plan to tan this summer, learn how to tan safely! Education and prevention are the best tools in the fight against cancer. For further information on this and other health education programs, and to pre-register, call the Community Health Resource Center Office at 450-2119.

Belleville Times SPORTS

On Monday night, May 18, our own Jim Silvestri will be honored by his peers as the Essex County Athletic Director of the Year. It's an honor that Silvestri receives with pride. He's been at his trade for 11 years and has learned a great deal about the student-athlete on the high school level.

"I'm very honored about the award," Silvestri said last weekend. "To be recognized by your peers is the ultimate. Anytime you're honored by those you work with, it's something special."

Oddly enough, Silvestri is just the second Athletic Director in Belleville High School history. He assumed the reigns in September of 1976, replacing the legendary Herman "Jitty" Wische, who retired after the 1975-76 sports season.

Before becoming the A.D., Silvestri was a highly successful wrestling mentor, coaching the team for 11 years. He started as the junior varsity coach in the 1965-66 campaign and assumed the title of head coach the following year. Silvestri stepped down as the head coach after the 1975-76 season, so he could become the new A.D.

Silvestri's wrestling teams were memorable. Perhaps his best seasons were his last two, the 1974-75 and '75-76 years. In '74-75, his club was 13-2 and Silvestri was named Coach of the Year.

"That season, we lost our first and last match," said Silvestri of the losses to Becton on opening night and Pascack Hills in the season finale. "In between, we were perfect."

The team was led by Jack Vogel, Carl Arlt, Robert Villano, Vinnie Mustacchio and George D'Allesandro. Perhaps the biggest victory of that campaign came against arch rival Essex Catholic, when, with Belleville trailing 24-19, D'Allesandro recorded a heartstopping pin in the heavyweight bout to give Belleville a 25-24 win.

The following season, Belleville was even better, record wise, posting a 13-1 mark. The Bellboys only loss that year came to Essex Catholic, but when you think of '75-76, the Pascack Hills match brings back the most memories.

It was the final match of the regular season, and Pascack Hills came to Belleville with a 56 match winning streak. In the early stages of the match, it appeared the streak would be 57 by days end.

Arlt and Mustacchio provided early wins in the lower weight classes, but Pascack Hills began to pull away, and after Villano drew at 140 pounds, the Bellboys trailed, 25-10.

One more loss, and Pascack would clinch the victory. The Belleville fans certainly lent their vocal support to the effort, and Chris Tremmel gave the fans hope by pinning his man at 158 pounds. Today, Tremmel is an assistant coach for the Buccaneers grappling team after a standout collegiate career.

Belleville trailed, 25-16, entering the 170 pound class. There, Keith Waddell provided more hope with a majority decision, closing the gap to 25-20.

At 188 pounds, senior Ken Milano had to win to keep Belleville in the hunt. A three point win would clinch the title for Pascack Hills. Milano gave it his all, and pulled out a decisive victory, cutting the Pascack lead to 25-23 and setting the stage for D'Allesandro in the heavyweight class.

Could the junior do it again? This time, he didn't need a pin to assure a Belleville victory, but George left no doubt as to who would win when he recorded a second round pin, giving Belleville a 29-25 win. The Belleville gym nearly exploded. It was a like a scene from an award winning movie, with Silvestri being carried off into the sunset.

Silvestri took over the A.D. position in the fall of '76, but he feels his coaching days have never left.

"It's a continuation of coaching," he said of being an A.D. "Now, you have to work with more kids. When you're coaching, you basically work with one group of athletes. Now, you're involved with all the kids, in all the sports."

He has noticed a big difference in the high school athlete over three decades.

"They're more complex now," Silvestri said. "There is a big change from 20 years ago. There are more working parents now and a lot of single family parents. You spend more time with them now than you did 20 years ago. That's what makes this job so rewarding, the communication with the kids."

Since Silvestri became Belleville A.D., a number of varsity sports were added to the agenda. Since 1976, volleyball, gymnastics, girls track, boys and girls tennis and indoor track have been added. Also, there is more freshman and junior varsity programs. Is there a plan for more sports in the future?

"I don't know," Silvestri said. "There's girls soccer, but I don't know if our girls are that interested in the sport. I think lacrosse might be a sport that our kids might be interested in."

He does concede that football, wrestling, basketball and baseball continue to be the top draws at Belleville High.

"They're probably our most successful," he said. "Basketball hasn't had too many winning teams, but we're competitive and we usually have good turnouts."

In addition to Silvestri, Belleville athletes Chris Goldrick and Laura Caruso will be honored as top scholar athletes at the Mayfair Farms. Goldrick is a three letterman and Caruso excelled in basketball and softball.

It should be a big night next Monday. Congratulations to Silvestri, Goldrick and Caruso on their marvelous accomplishments.

Team wins first round of Greater Newark baseball tournament

Bucs blank Verona

After splitting its first two games last week, the Belleville baseball team won a big game with Verona last week in the first round of the Greater Newark Tourney.

The Bucs took a 13-6 mark into games with Bloomfield, Nutley and Eastside earlier this week. Tomorrow afternoon, the team is host to Montclair, at 4 p.m. On Saturday, the Bucs will host Barringer in a quarterfinal GNT contest from Belleville High. Game time is 2:30 p.m. Next Monday, the Bucs are at Passaic and next Wednesday, will host Nutley. Both of those games commence at 4 p.m.

Last week, George Zanfini's club defeated Kennedy, 16-6, then lost at Clifton, 10-1. Last Saturday, the Bucs upended Verona, 10-0 in the GNT.

As for the Clifton game, Zanfini had nothing but praise for the Mustangs.

"They are an excellent ball club, the best balanced team we've faced all year. They seem to have our number, they beat us twice this year and twice last year. In all fairness to this game, however, Jimmy (Dunphy) reinjured his leg and it was a psychological letdown for the team."

As most Belleville fans know, the Mustangs ripped the Bucs, 17-3 two weeks ago at Belleville High. This time, it appeared the game would be much closer, with Dunphy hurling a strong game.

The senior southpaw struck out the side in the first inning and fanned two of three in the second frame. However, he reinjured his hamstring in the third inning, when Clifton tallied for one run, even though he struck out a batter in the frame.

"I could see he was laboring in the fourth inning," Zanfini said.

"I took him out at the end of the frame."

With Dunphy favoring his leg in the fourth, Clifton erupted for four runs, only two of which were earned.

After the fourth, Michael Thompson came on to pitch for Belleville, with Al Best finishing the game.

Clifton scored once in the fifth and four more in the sixth to pull away to victory.

Belleville's only run came in the sixth, when Dave Mc Neil walked with the bases loaded, scoring Lou Lucante.

Zanfini was happy to have Mc Neil's bat back in the lineup. The senior has been hampered by a blood clot in his leg, but he is beginning to play after a three week layoff.

"We hit the ball well," Zanfini said of the Clifton game, "but right at people. Jimmy struck out eight in four innings and appeared to be in top form before he hurt his leg. That's the way it goes in this game. They (Clifton) are playing excellent ball right now."

The victory kept Clifton's conference mark unblemished. The Bucs now trail the Mustangs by two games in the NNJIL race.

Last Saturday, the Bucs defeated Verona, 10-0 in a game that was much closer than the final score would indicate.

"The score is no indication of the type of game it was," Zanfini said. "They (Verona) battled us tough. It was anyone's ball game going into the sixth inning."

The Bucs scored once in the first inning in support of starting pitcher Jay Marchese. The junior pitcher started things off with a walk. He went to second on a single by Lucante and scored on a hit by Al Best.

The score remained 1-0 until the sixth inning, when Belleville tallied two more runs.

Marchese started that rally with a single and Lucante singled him to third. When Lucante attempted to steal second, the catchers throw was wild and Marchese scored. Lucante went to third on a sacrifice fly by Best and scored on a sac fly from Dean Mauro.

In the seventh, Belleville, which was the visiting team even though the game was at BHS, tallied seven more runs. Singles by Jamie Galioto, Jeff Spilsbury, Marchese, Lucante, Best and Mauro accounted for the Buccaneer offense.

Verona's biggest threat came in the bottom of the fifth, with the Bucs nursing a 1-0 lead. The Hillbillies loaded the bases, with two outs. Zanfini summoned Dunphy from the bullpen and the senior retired the Verona hitter on one pitch to end the threat.

Lucante hurled two strong innings to pick up the save for the Bucs. On offense, Mc Neil was 2 for 4, Marchese was 2 for 4 with 2 runs scored, Lucante was 3 for 4 with 2 runs, Best was 2 for 3 with 2 RBI's and Mauro delivered 2 RBI's.

"They were superb," Zanfini said of his team against Verona. "They played excellent defense, we had good pitching and got the key hits."

The coach was also happy with Marchese's performance.

"He's been outstanding, a very pleasant surprise."

Last Monday, the Bucs won a sloppy game with Kennedy, 16-6. Belleville had 10 hits in the game and took advantage of seven Kennedy errors.

Frank Orrel was the winning pitcher. The sophomore hurled six impressive innings, allowing two runs and just four hits. He struck out five and walked three. Kennedy scored four runs in the last of the seventh to cut the deficit to 16-6.

Belleville scored two runs in the second, three in the third and six in the fourth to pull away. Mauro hit a solo homer in the fourth. On offense, Best was 2 for 4 with 3 ribbies, Lucante was 2 for 3 with 2 RBI's and Dunphy was 2 for 3 with one ribbie.

Zanfini expressed gratitude to two former Belleville stars who have been helping this years team. Michael Nicosia and Frank Fazzini have been assisting this year's club and Zanfini feels their help has been invaluable.

"I can't say enough about both of them," the coach said. "They're the rewards of my profession."

NOTES: Other quarterfinal games of the GNT this Saturday feature Cedar Grove and top seeded Irvington playing at Belleville High, starting at 11 a.m. The Bucs and Barringer will follow at approximately 2:30 p.m. The other two games will be played at Glen Ridge. The first contest, at 11 a.m., features Bloomfield and Nutley. The second game will match West Essex and Glen Ridge. If Belleville defeats Barringer, it would face the West Essex-Glen Ridge winner in the semi finals, which are scheduled for May 23 at Verona. Zanfini expects a tough game with Barringer. The Bears have good pitching and play strong defense. Zanfini expects to start Dunphy on Saturday. Dunphy was slated to start last Monday's game with Bloomfield, but if his leg wasn't 100 percent, he would be held out of pitching duty until Saturday's game.

"He might pitch an inning or two during the week," Zanfini said. "But he won't start again until the Barringer game."

Softballers take 15-2 mark into busy week ahead

Critical time for girls

The Belleville softball team won two of three games last week, but head coach Carl Corino wasn't all together happy with his teams performance despite a 15-2 mark.

The Lady Bucs are in the midst of a critical week of action. Belleville battled Bloomfield, Nutley and Eastside in earlier games this week. This afternoon, the girls are host to Bloomfield again, in a 4 p.m. start. Tomorrow afternoon, the team travels to Montclair at 4. On Saturday night, the focus of attention is Pulaski Park, where Belleville will compete in the county semi finals for the sixth straight year. The girls will take on a powerful team from Cedar Grove in a 7:30 p.m. start. The first semi final will match Nutley and defending champion Caldwell. Next Monday, the girls host Passaic, at 4 and next Tuesday, will play a first round, Group IV, Section II game, at Clearmon Field. The opposition has not yet been determined.

If the girls win that game, they will play a second round state game next Thursday. Next Wednesday, the team is at Nutley.

"We could be playing twelve games in the next thirteen days," Corino said, noting a game with Kennedy next Friday and a possible county championship game next Saturday. "These are important games right now, and we'll be playing some tough teams. Just about every team we'll be facing for the next two weeks is in the state tournament. There will be no easy games."

Last week, Belleville breezed by Kennedy, 18-0 in five innings. The girls used a good offensive display to beat Montclair, 14-3 in the quarterfinals of the Essex County tourney last Wednesday. However, the team lost to Clifton, 4-2 last Thursday and Corino wasn't happy with his teams performance.

"We made mental mistakes," the coach said of the Clifton defeat. "It was an upsetting loss. We had a chance to pull ahead in the conference race, but we didn't play well. I don't think we've been very consistent over the past few weeks. We'll see how we react with the upcoming games. I hope we can get ourselves back to the type of softball I know we can play."

Corino has great respect for Cedar Grove, whom Belleville will face in the county semis this weekend.

"Let me tell you," the coach said, "they have an outstanding club. I saw them last week (against Verona) and they were excellent. They are very well coached and are very hungry. I can't say enough about them."

Belleville and Cedar Grove have a good rivalry in ECT play. Cedar Grove beat Belleville, 4-0, in the 1980 championship game. In 1982, Belleville won, 14-4 in a quarterfinal contest and in '83, the Lady Bucs were a 9-0 winner in the county semis. However, Cedar Grove destroyed Belleville's hopes for a third straight county title in the '84 championship by beating the Bucs, 8-5.

The possibility of a Belleville-Nutley championship game also exists. Nutley is in the ECT semi final round for the first time since 1980 and Corino feels the Raiderettes are an outstanding team.

"They're going to be tough to beat," the coach said. "Nutley is 13-2 (entering this week) and solid. I haven't seen a Nutley team this good in seven years."

Belleville and Nutley will see each other twice in ten days in NNJIL play. Belleville also has two battles in four days with Bloomfield.

The Lady Bengals are struggling a bit this year, but when it comes to playing Belleville, the records are cast aside.

"It's an intense rivalry," Corino said. "Forget the records, when you play them, it's a tough game. There is a lot of intensity there."

Corino feels his club can move it up an octave this week.

"We have the talent, don't get me wrong," he said. "We're 15-2, which isn't that shabby. It's just that we have to be mentally sound in these games. We can't give games away."

The coach is happy with the performances of Laurie Donarski, Stacey Johansen and Laura Caruso on offense. He also feels that junior Natalie La Bella is starting to come around and that junior Racquel Melson is doing an excellent job at the plate. Cindy Ruggiero has been impressive all season long and the pitching tandem of Jeanine Luzzi and Johansen has been excellent.

Luzzi was 8-2 entering the week and Johansen was 7-0. Who Corino will use in the Cedar Grove game this Saturday was up in the air as of last weekend.

"I haven't decided, yet," the coach said. "Both of them have the potential. We'll just have to wait and see who is stronger come game time."

NOTES: Johansen was winning pitcher in Kennedy and Montclair games. Luzzi took the loss in Clifton contest. Belleville had 2-1 lead in sixth inning of that game. Corino was guest on TV-3 Time-In Show last week. "I got off to a slow start there," Corino joked, "but I picked up some steam as the show progressed."

Crew team wins championships

The extraordinary success of the Belleville crew team continued last week, with the Bucs winning two team championships at the Mid Hudson Regatta in Upstate New York.

Head coach Scott Fabian and Company will now prepare for the most prestigious race of the season, the Stotesbury Regatta, which will be held in Philadelphia tomorrow afternoon and all day Saturday. The following weekend, the Bucs will conclude the 1987 season by taking part in the Nationals, which will be held in Delaware.

Last weekend, Fabian and his team left the boathouse in Belleville at 4 a.m. to compete in the Mid Hudson Regatta.

"The Mid Hudson begins its races at 7:45 a.m.," Fabian explained. "The reason is the waters are calmer in the early morning. By the afternoon, it gets a little rougher and most of the races have been concluded."

The Bucs brought home two titles, with the Novice Eight boys and the Junior Four girls capturing titles.

The Novice Eight boys are coached by Dennis Villano.

"This is Coach Villano's first year of coaching crew in over 20 years," Fabian said. "To come back and do the job that he did is unbelievable. It was quite an accomplishment."

The Junior Four team, made up of Kim Treisger, Beth Demgard, Carolyn Giuffrida, Joyce Burke and Laura Nardone, is coached by Maureen Russo.

"Maureen has done another excellent job," Fabian said of the girls' coach. "I would also like to congratulate Bobby Cassin for the outstanding job he did with the boys."

One of Belleville's strongest shells, the Lightweight Four Boys, took a second place competing in the Junior Four category.

It seems there wasn't a Lightweight race set up at the Mid Hudson, so Fabian put the team in against bigger competition in the Junior Four category. Despite strong odds, the shell took second place overall, and just missed the top spot.

A Junior Four boys team, made up just three days before the Mid Hudson, garnered third place.

"Both shells did an excellent job," Fabian said of the boys' team. "They were in against some tough competition and did very well."

The final Belleville entry, the girls' Novice Eight, finished out of the running, however Fabian was very happy with their performance.

"There wasn't a novice race for the girls, so we moved them to a higher division," Fabian said. "The girls were giving away size and experience. I felt they did an excellent job. We were very pleased with the effort."

For that matter, Fabian was very impressed with his entire squad.

"We're down to 37 rowers on the entire team," he said. "These kids have been doing an outstanding job all year long. Two weeks ago, we went to the City Championships and won two titles. This week, we win another two. Hopefully, we'll have more athletes out for next years squad, but I can't say enough about this years team."

The coach refused to take credit for his teams success.

"The coaching can only go so far," Fabian said. "It's the rowers who have to do the job when the race starts. They're the ones who do the work."

The team is now gearing for the Stotesbury Regatta, which will be held in Philadelphia starting tomorrow afternoon.

It's not unusual for 10,000 fans to view the Stotes, which is a highly prestigious race. Teams from all over the United States and Canada take part in the race and this years battle figures to be big.

Belleville will field a Junior Four girls, a boys Lightweight Four, a Midweight Four and a Junior Four boys.

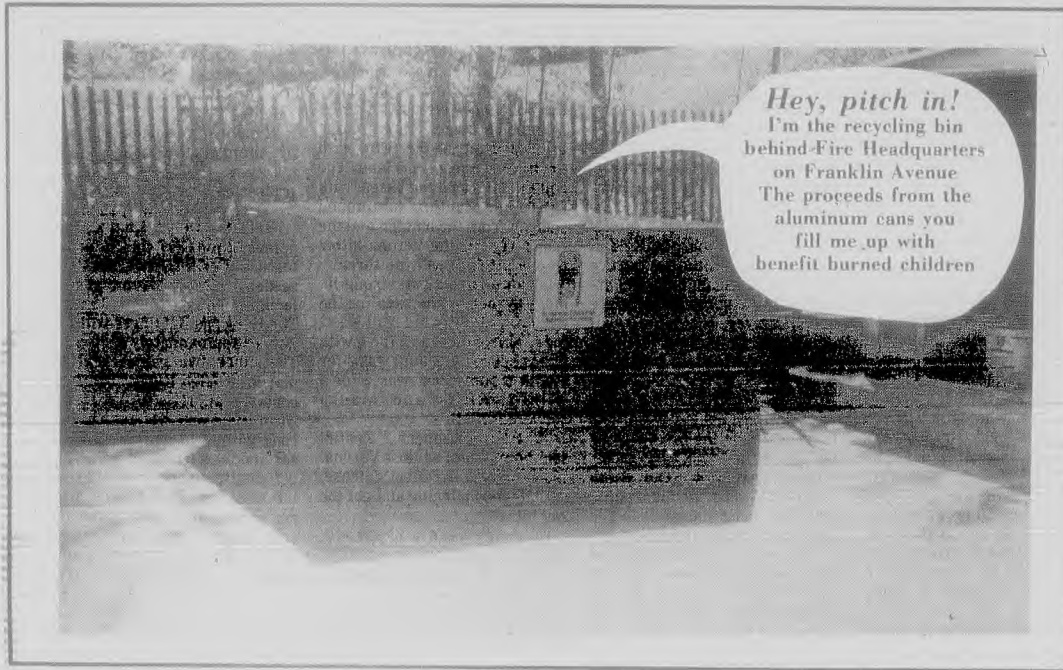

"We'll be doing a lot of juggling with the Midweight and Junior Four," Fabian said. "Right now, I'm not sure who will be in those shells, so this week is a big one in practice."

NOTES: As mentioned, Bucs left boathouse at 4 a.m. for the Mid Hudson last Saturday. What wasn't mentioned was what time the team arrived home. The Bucs didn't reach the friendly confines of Belleville until midnight Sunday morning.

"We finished racing by 2 p.m. on Saturday," Fabian recalled. "I figured this was going to be a breeze. We would get home quickly and I would be home by 5 or 6 p.m. However, the van broke down and with all the delays, we didn't get into the boathouse until midnight. I didn't get in until 2:30 a.m."

Needless to say, the coach slept pretty well on Sunday. "I got up at 2:30 a.m. on Saturday to leave for the race," Fabian said. "It was a 24 hour day."

Alfonse Schweer earns accounting scholarship

The New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants announced this week that 18 future accounting students will be the recipients of more than $33,000 in Scholarship Awards.

The scholarship recipient from Belleville was Alfonse A. Schweer, Belleville High School, winning $1,000.

Ranging from $500 to $4,000, the scholarships are presented to high school seniors for their performance on an examination which was administered last December. More than 700 students took the exam at 16 sites throughout the state.

William J. Owen, Jr., CPA, president of the Society, said, "We offer these awards to assist some very deserving and ambitious individuals in realizing their goal of becoming certified public accountants. They should be very proud of their achievement."

Susan Aschauer to sing in University theatre

Susan Aschauer of Belleville will perform in the chorus of Bucknell University's production of "The Pirates of Penzance" to be played May 1 through May 4.

The daughter of Joseph and Gertrude Aschauer, Van Reyper Place, Aschauer is a freshman majoring in business administration. She is a 1986 graduate of Belleville Senior High School.

At Bucknell, Aschauer is a Dean's List student, and a member of the Rooke Chapel Choir and Concert Chorus.

Bucknell University, located in Lewisburg, Pa., is a liberal arts institution with professional programs in engineering, management and education.

The North Jersey Blood Center held its Fourth Annual Awards Luncheon at the Birchwood Manor in Whippany. 1987 marks the Blood Center's fortieth year in operation. Joining the celebration were the altruistic volunteers who have donated forty or more units of blood. This figure equals five gallons of the life-saving fluid.

Throughout the Blood Center's history, there have been more than 500 donors to reach this impressive level.

Blood banking experts throughout the country continue to emphasize that it is impossi-

Tracksters drop final to Kennedy

The Belleville track team lost its final conference meet of the 1987 season to Kennedy and took part in the NNJIL championships last weekend.

John Tosato's team concluded the regular season last Tuesday with a meet at Livingston. This weekend, the Bucs will compete in the Essex County championships, at Montclair High School.

The meet with Kennedy was a rain shortened one, but the Knights had enough time to build up a 94-20 advantage. The Bucs did receive two first place performances on the day.

Senior Lou La won the long jump in 20'14". La has been enjoying an excellent season on the cinders for Belleville High and is the team's leading scorer.

Another senior who is doing very well is Gerard Corbo. He won the discus event with a throw of 120'7".

La and Corbo garnered second place in the 200 meters and shot put respectively. Corbo's throw of 44'7 1/2" in the shot put was his personal best. La ran the 200 in 24.2.

La also took a third in the 100 meters, with a time of 11.9. Craig Burden took a pair of thirds in the 1600 and 3200 meters, with times of 5:04 and 11:23.3 respectively. Finally, Mario Lemongello was third in the 400 meters with a time of 56.4.

In the NNJIL championships, held last weekend, Belleville took three points, with La and Corbo leading the way once again. La was fourth in the long jump with a personal best of 20'11 3/4". Corbo took fifth in the shot put with a throw of 43'7".

Other athletes who did well in the NNJIL race were Burden in the mile and two mile (4:47 and 10:40.5), Craig Jackowski in the 400 (54.7), Greg Moriello in the two mile (10:41.5), Mark Huamani in the high hurdles (17.7, a personal best) and La in the 200 meters (23.9, a personal best).

"Lou (La) has been doing very well," Tosato said. "We're looking forward to his performance in the counties this weekend."

NOTES: A former Belleville track star, Nick Complitano, has been doing a fine job at Bergen Community College. The freshman recently won the Region 19 Junior College high hurdles championship. He is a 1986 graduate of Belleville High School and was an excellent performer while wearing the Blue and Gold. Congratulations to Nick on an outstanding accomplishment.

Real Estate Briefcase

By Jack Reilly, G.R.I.

Dear Mr. Reilly:

What is the "Multiple Listing System" and why is it better than listing "exclusively"? — E.M., Belleville.

The term "Multiple Listing Service (MLS for short) refers to a service by which a group of Real Estate Agents share properties for sale with each other. There are many such services in New Jersey, each governing a specific geographical locality. In our area, the towns of Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield and Glen Ridge are served by a ML service which focuses on property for sale within the boundaries of those four towns. Any given MLS is independently controlled, so the rules for one may not hold for another.

In our area, the MLS is actually administered by a committee of the Board of Realtors of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville. Their rules mandate that any residential property for sale within the borders of those four towns must be submitted as a multiple listing within 72 hours of receiving a signed listing contract. Infractions of this rule are greeted with stiff financial penalties as the integrity of the system depends on each member maintaining a strict sense of fairness so as not to have an undue advantage over the other members of the system.

In as far as your question and the subject of "exclusives", please note that, in essence, that type of listing is extinct, at least in New Jersey. Both the Real Estate Commission and the Attorney General's Office have mandated that every licensed broker in this state must share their listing with one-another, regardless of whether or not that property has been multiple-listed.

In our area, should a homeowner request that the broker take their house as an "exclusive," the broker is compelled to advise them against it, since it really is not in their best interest. The broker's primary duty is to obtain the highest possible price in the shortest amount of time for the seller. Certainly that goal is hindered should the property be held back from the eighty-plus offices which fall within the boundaries of the service area. The exclusive concept also violates the old real estate adage: "Untold - Unsold." If only one broker has knowledge of a property for sale, the seller has to hope that the buyer for that property is going to stumble into that real estate office.

The primary benefit offered by this area's Multiple Listing Service is that anyone looking to purchase residential property in Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield or Glen Ridge simply has to enter the real estate office of their preference and have at their disposal every piece of property available for sale in today's market.

Real Estate Briefcase is a weekly column which will be glad to answer topics suggested by readers. Please address correspondence to: Real Estate Briefcase c/o this paper. Jack Reilly is a broker with Reilly Realtors in Belleville.

Social Security Number Is Key to Protection

A person's Social Security number is his or her key to future protection against loss or reduction of income because of retirement, disability, or death, a Social Security manager said recently.

This is because future Social Security benefits will be based on the record of earnings kept under the name and number shown on the Social Security card during a person's working lifetime. A person should always show his or her Social Security card to his or her employer when starting a new job to make sure records are correctly kept, the manager said.

Many people have the same name, but each person has his or her own Social Security number which singles out that record from more than 200 million others.

A person should keep a record of his or her number in a safe place. Then, if the card is lost, there will be a record so the person can apply for a new card. A person can apply for a new card by mail. Just call any office and ask for an application. When it is received, it should be filled out according to instructions and mailed along with evidence of identity back to Social Security. A list of the documents that are acceptable as evidence of identity is included with the application. The evidence will be returned. Immigration and Naturalization Documents should not be mailed.

A new card, with the same number, will be mailed to the person about 11 days after the application and acceptable evidence of identity are received.

A person who changes her or his name should also apply for a new card. Evidence showing both the old and new names is required.

It is against the law to use another person's Social Security number. It is also against the law to use a Social Security number obtained by giving false information on the application.

More information about Social Security numbers can be obtained at any Social Security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest Social Security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Q. My son and daughter-in-law live in Germany and have invited me to come stay with them for a month. If I go, will Medicare pay for any medical services I might need while I'm there?

Q. My wife and I have been thinking about joining a nearby health maintenance organization that contracts with Medicare. We both have Medicare. Are there any other requirements we have to meet to join the HMO?

We answer cries for help from charities you know and cries from people you've never met.

Your United Way gift helps many organizations in your community. But it also helps the children, the elderly, the homeless, the destitute—the individual people who need individual responses to their problems and the people who need United Way to step in before a problem happens.

In fact, your United Way gift does more things for more people who really need help than any other single gift you can give.

Thanks to you, it works for all of us.

WHERE THERE'S A NEED, THERE'S A WAY.

WATCHES

Mr. Sears and Mr. Roebuck got together because of a classified ad!

In the late 1800's, Richard W. Sears had a pretty good business going selling watches and needed someone to handle his watch repairs. He placed a classified ad in the newspaper and Alvah C. Roebuck got the job. That's how the nation's biggest retailer got started... through a classified ad!

If you need a good helper, try advertising in our classifieds. Who knows? You may spark the beginning of something big!
