Recover 3 cars, arrest 5 suspects

Cops strike back at car thieves

By Christopher Bifani

Although the month of July, like June, has been peppered with persistent car crime activity, in two incidents last week township cops scored five arrests and recovered three stolen vehicles.

Belleville Police Lt. William Adelhelm told the Times that on July 16 at 1:39AM patrolmen observed two late model cars driving "suspiciously and erratically" through Belleville south on Franklin Avenue. The vehicles turned right onto Liberty Street and were pulled over at the corner of Liberty and Hill Streets.

The patrolmen, Officers Thomas Rossi and Robert Klein, asked the suspects in both cars for credentials. When they couldn't produce, Adelhelm said, the suspects were arrested without incident.

There were two suspects in each vehicle, and both vehicles turned out to be stolen.

The first vehicle, a 1986 maroon Oldsmobile Cutlass, was stolen from 1 Franklin Avenue, near the Nutley line. The second vehicle, a 1987 Chevrolet Celebrity, had been stolen on July 10 out of East Orange.

Although the car stolen from Belleville had not yet been reported stolen, the East Orange theft had already been listed in the state police computer. Apparently, the suspects had used the East Orange vehicle for transportation to Belleville in order to effect another heist.

Apprehended in the Cutlass were Ronald Shuggs, 19, of Irvington driving, and passenger Benjamin Franklin Newsome, also 19, of Newark.

Apprehended in the Celebrity were Jeffrey Laquill Davis, 23, of Irvington driving, and passenger Keith Lamont Hayes, 19, of Newark.

"After searching the cars, police discovered four cigarette butts believed to be marijuana," Adelhelm added, and the suspects were further charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

The owner of the Cutlass, Joseph Romano, is a Nutley citizen, residing in a Franklin Avenue apartment complex just over the Belleville line. The owner of the Celebrity is Agency rent-a-car based in Allentown, New Jersey.

A court date for the four suspected car thieves has been set for September 2.

Belleville Police Chief George Lister recently said that 98% of the time the suspects arrested in car crimes come from Newark, East Orange or Irvington. Although the July 16 incident seems to bear this out, a few days earlier, on July 12, a township youth was arrested for stealing a car. Another suspect, believed to be his accomplice, got away.

In this incident, a Kearny citizen, Glenn D'Amore, was visiting a residence on Cottage Street. He told police that he had parked his car at 6:30PM and found it missing when he came out at 7:30PM.

Only an hour had gone by, but it only takes a minute to rip off a car.

"While police were on Cottage Street getting the information from D'Amore," Adelhelm explained, "the stolen car was being pursued for going up the wrong way on Clinton Street, a one-way."

Police officers Nicholas Krentz and John Hood heard over the radio that the car had just been stolen off of Cottage Street, but by this time the two youths in the car, a 1984 Buick Regal, had already abandoned the vehicle and were fleeing on foot.

"The cops chased them," Adelhelm said, adding that the driver, Eric Riggers, 18, of Belleville was subsequently apprehended. "The other one got away. We don't know who he is."

At presstime Riggers was being held without bail and had not named his companion. A court date has been set for September 2.

Adelhelm said that the days of hot-wiring cars are over. Today, stealing a car requires only a few tools - an illicit hook-type tool which is used to unlock doors by inserting it into the door's machinery and pulling; and a "slap-hammer" - available legally for pulling out dents, but used by crooks to screw into the ignition lock and bang it out. Once the ignition lock is gone, all it takes is a screwdriver turn and the car is running.

Many professionals can steal a locked (but not alarmed) automobile in less than a minute, crime experts say.

From the editor's desk...

Although it's not yet official, some members of the Belleville Commission are expected to push hard for an alternative to the current $5 million-plus police station plan.

It's not an extension to the left on the Avenue and it has nothing to do with School 1. The plan, sources say, is for an extension to the back of Town, at 5,000 square feet per floor, with four floors.

The proposal calls for an elevator to serve the entire complex, and the paving of the entire back area. It does not call for the construction of a costly parking deck.

Stay tuned...

Velardo was also on the Dean's List and was a member of Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu.

Officials say schools will re-open on schedule

Asbestos clean-up underway in town schools

Asbestos removal work has begun at Schools 3, 5, 7 and at the Middle School in a program that is going smoothly and will not delay the resumption of classes in September, township school officials said.

Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello told the Times, "We're very pleased and the work is moving along. There is no possibility of schools not opening in September, as certified by our removal contractor."

Board of Education Secretary Charles Miele, who is directly supervising the removal efforts, added that "we're just about finished with School 3 and it's going well."

Miele added, however, that a change in government regulations has, in fact, extended the completion dates. He explained that earlier this month the testing procedure which determines the level of asbestos in school buildings has been upgraded. The former testing procedure measured fibers in the air - all fibers - without distinguishing which ones were asbestos. The newer testing procedure, now mandated by the state, uses a sophisticated electron microscope.

This development, which was expected, has forced the school system's asbestos removal contractor to "farm" the testing chores out to a sub-contractor.

Thus, School 3's final completion date has been moved up from July 12 to the middle of August. Schools 5 and 7, originally scheduled to be free of asbestos by July 24 will also be delayed until the middle of August. The Middle School, scheduled to be asbestos-free by July 24, is now expected to be finished by August 3.

Superintendent Nardiello said that there are several steps which must be taken before a certificate of occupancy is given to the schools where the work is taking place. First, state officials do a preliminary check of the preparations, including plastic barriers to isolate the areas where the asbestos is to be removed. Next, the asbestos is removed through a process of wetting it, scraping it off the pipes and fixtures it is attached to, and packing it in special heavy-duty plastic bags. After all asbestos has been removed and carted away, the state comes back and does a final test.

If the inspection determines that the asbestos level is indeed within the .010 fibers per cubic centimeter that the state mandates, then a favorable report is issued to township Construction Code Official Robert Dominic.

With that, Dominic is then authorized to issue a certificate of occupancy.

"If the removal work is not done properly," Nardiello said, "then steps will be taken against the contractor."

In the meantime, administrators of the schools affected have been working in temporary quarters at other schools.

Money for the asbestos clean-up, estimated at $500,000 for this summer and $500,000 for next summer, is coming from a state grant in the amount of $318,000. For the remainder of the funds, school officials are hopeful that an application for federal asbestos abatement funds, scheduled to be filed today or tomorrow, will be approved.

Because of the complexity of the application, Board Secretary Miele said, the application was given to P.M. Keegan, the school system's asbestos contractor, to be filled out.

Clara Maass Medical Center is accredited by hospital commission

Clara Maass Medical Center has been awarded a maximum three year certificate of accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH). Accreditation by the JCAH is evidence of Clara Maass Medical Center's efforts to provide quality health care to the communities it serves. Hospital President Robert S. Curtis said, "The JCAH's inspection and accreditation are voluntary. The Clara Maass Medical Center has sought accreditation because it represents our accountability and commitment to excellence in the provision of health care services."

Hospital managers believe the benefits of accreditation include:

- process that provides an organization with an on-site evaluation based on realistic, nationally-recognized standards.
- recruitment of professional staff

To become accredited, Clara Maass voluntarily requested an on-site evaluation by JCAH surveyors who applied standards designed to further the objectives of quality patient care and the safety of the environment in which that care is provided. These national standards represent a consensus among health care professionals and are periodically updated to reflect changes in health care delivery.

The JCAH survey team consists of health care professionals trained to evaluate the medical center's efforts to provide quality care. In addition, professional and administrative staffs are consulted to help them in their efforts to continually

DRUGS AND THE LIVER

One of the more important body sites where two drugs could influence each other is the liver. This organ is responsible for the detoxification and elimination of a great many of the foreign chemicals that we put into our bodies. Since it is so crucial in decreasing the amount of circulating drug, its size and ability to detoxify often determine whether or not we will experience a negative reaction. On the other hand, if the liver works too well, one might find that the beneficial response of a drug is eliminated far too quickly from the bloodstream. Many drugs actually do have the power to increase the size of the liver and, as a result, intensify its metabolic efficiency.

Meadowlands litigation topic of Essex mayors' conference

By Karen A. Lynch
Discussion of a lawsuit filed in an attempt to extend Newark's dumping rights at the Hackensack Meadowlands beyond July 31 occupied most of Thursday's meeting of the Essex County Conference of Mayors in council chambers.

Belleville and six other county municipalities have joined the litigation.

Attorney Alfred C. Constants III told the group the City of Newark and its mayor, Sharpe James, are requesting "emergency, immediate relief" for the solid waste disposal crisis.

"We're asking the courts to issue an injunction to require HMDC to issue more capacity to Newark and stop allowing the dumping of New York trash," Constants explained.

HMDC is the acronym of Hackensack Meadowlands Development Corporation.

Constants said a preliminary report indicates additional capacity — good for three months — exists for Newark in the landfill design. Expanding disposal into a junkyard area of the Meadowlands could provide space for another year, he said.

He said a recent study conducted at the Lincoln and Holland tunnels indicated 6 to 8 percent of trucks, or 32 in a 12-hour period, were headed for the New Jersey landfill to dump loads of trash.

The suit alleges the state guaranteed Newark and other Essex municipalities the right to dispose at the Meadowlands prior to the formation of HMDC in 1968.

It also charges, among other issues, Essex is being treated differently than its neighboring counties. Space has been dedicated at the landfill for Passaic County until December and Hudson until March, Constants said.

Meanwhile, opening of a resource recovery facility has been delayed, he noted.

Newark is also fighting the proposed construction of two solid waste transfer sites within the city.

Newark corporation counsel Glenn Grant estimated cost of the suit will range from $70,000 to $100,000. Municipalities joining "for moral support" will pay their shares based on population, he said.

Glen Ridge Mayor Ed Calahan asked what "absolute assurance" municipalities joining the litigation have that relief will be applied to other communities. Constants replied relief has been requested for "residents of Essex County."

But attorney Theodore Schwartz of Cedar Grove, representing a transfer station operator, contended the lawsuit is an "affront to county government."

"The county is trying to meet its statutory obligation by observing the court-mandated deadline of July 31," Schwartz said.

"A suit filed 20 days before the cutoff date leads one to be suspicious of the motives that would force this type of litigation. I don't think it has meritorious purpose."

He criticized Newark's quest to have the Meadowlands junkyard opened for dumping purposes, saying he knew of only two landfills opened in the state in the last 10 years.

"You're kidding yourselves. It's never going to happen," he told the mayors.

"You have to understand reality. You don't know what it's like to open a landfill. It's almost impossible."

A transfer station, on the other hand, could be up and running in a month, Schwartz said.

When Mayor Frank Long of Millburn, conference president, said transfer station tipping fees would mean "big bucks for communities," Schwartz replied, "You'll pay it anyway."

"If the landfill case is lost and we have to go to transfer stations, I'm for petitioning the state to pick up the additional costs of municipalities for trucking trash to Pennsylvania or Ohio," Long said.

"Emergency funds have been appropriated for many other things, and I think we fall into that category."

Discussion will continue when the mayors meet in Millburn next month.

BHS softball star Tramutola to attend Bloomfield College

Softball standout Tricia Tramutola of Belleville will begin her collegiate career at Bloomfield College in September.

"Tricia has the versatility and the talent to make a significant contribution to our program," says Bloomfield coach Nancy Bottge.

"Tricia is a fine athlete — she's good defensively and she can hit," adds Bottge.

In 1987, Tramutola led Carl Corino's NNJL and Group IV Section II champions with a .361 batting average; she also drove in 35 runs and hit two homers. That fine season resulted in All-Essex and All-State honors for Tramutola, a four-year starter at Belleville.

Coach Bottge also takes note teams in New Jersey," notes Bottge. "As a result, Tricia has not only learned the fundamentals of softball — she has learned how to win, and that quality is consistent with what we'll be trying to do here at Bloomfield College over the next three or four years."

"Last season — with just two seniors — we were champions of NAIA District 31, and we came up just one win short of a trip to the national tournament," says Bottge.

"I'm convinced that Bloomfield College softball is on the verge of challenging for a national championship — Tricia Tramutola will play a big part in that challenge."

"Year in and year out, Coach Corino has one of the top softball of another aspect of Tramutola's experience at Belleville."

Health & Nutrition by Judith Sheldon

A scientist once said the question should not be: why do we sleep? — but — why are we awake? Apparently, we are "wired" to sleep more than we do because when our ancestors lived without the benefit of fire to provide light, there was nothing better or safer to do during the hours between dusk and dawn than sleep. With the use of torches, first, and then with increasingly sophisticated lighting technologies, we have literally turned night into day and continue to cut into our sleep time with activities that take us far into the early morning hours.

However, not everyone falls asleep easily or sleeps well enough to awaken refreshed. Some of us think we have the answers to these sleep puzzles, but many of the answers are myths. We asked the people at ARCO Chemical Company to provide us with an exclusive report on common myths and uncommon facts about sleep. (Since they make the foam that goes into many mattresses, they have a unique opportunity to study the various elements of sleep behavior patterns.) We'll deal with two myths this week and continue to quote from the report in upcoming weeks.

Myth 1: We all need eight hours of sleep each night.

Fact: Not so. Stanford University's Sleep Disorders Center says most adults would be more alert with nine hours of sleep, but some people are alert and function well on just a few hours of sleep time. You probably get enough sleep if you don't doze off during the day, and if you awaken at roughly the same time each day without an alarm clock.

Myth 2: Some foods make you sleepy.

Fact: Surprise! That's true. Carbohydrates, found in grains, fruits, vegetables and sweets, promote sleepiness. Protein foods such as poultry, fish, meat and eggs seem to prevent it. Most nutritionists suggest a protein lunch, and a carbohydrate menu (pasta, vegetables, etc.) for the evening meal. If you eat sweets in the evening, such as cookies, fruit juice, etc., brush your teeth afterward to remove sugary deposits.

Adjusting to heat is more difficult for children. See that they drink cold tap water often to prevent dehydration. Dress them in lightweight, absorbent material (cotton is still the best). Make sure they use sunscreen, especially during the peak hours — 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily. Skin cancer is on the rise among young people.

Run, Peter, Run

When veteran Congressman Peter Rodino campaigned for reelection to his 20th consecutive term last year, he vowed that this term would be his last.

The Reagan administration, he argued, was in need of an ever-present watchdog, and he was the man for the job.

True to his word, Rodino has been keeping an eye on the administration, playing a key role in the Iran-Contra hearings and emerging as perhaps the most vociferous critic of Attorney General Edwin Meese.

That Rodino has been an effective congressman for the 10th district (which includes a large portion of Belleville) is not questioned by political leaders. What is questioned is the change of heart he has had, now that he is publicly - and seriously - considering another term.

Many black Essex political leaders, most notably Newark Mayor Sharpe James, believe that Rodino should keep his 1986 promise and throw in the towel, paving the way for a black democratic candidate to represent this predominantly black district.

Noting that New Jersey currently has no black representatives in its influential congressional delegation, these local black leaders believe that the 10th district represents the best opportunity to begin to turn that situation around.

There has even been talk of denying Peter Rodino the party line!

We think that all of this is an insult to a congressman who has served his constituents well, regardless of color. To insinuate that Rodino is unsuitable to serve his district just because of his color is no better than the bigotry that blacks and other minorities have been fighting for years.

There is only one factor that should be considered if Peter Rodino again declares his candidacy, and that's competence. But even though he is well into his seventies, Rodino still shows no signs of slowing down.

In addition to polarizing blacks and whites in a district which is still very much on the mend, the comments made by Mayor James and other Newark politicians (and potential candidates) rings of another bias besides prejudice against whites.

It rings of prejudice against senior citizens.

This newspaper believes that if a man can serve his district, his state and his country for 40 years straight, winning reelection 20 times, then he should be given the honor, dignity and freedom to make up his own mind.

Not age, not politics and certainly NOT color should have anything to do with it.

If Peter Rodino wants to run, then run, Peter, run!

A grave situation

Among the most popular activities for children at The Belleville Public Library are the trips to the Dutch Reformed Church cemetery. The cemetery, located behind the church on Main Street, is so full of historic treasures it's been designated a national historic site!

The children do tombstone rubbings while library staff tell stories about the "beautiful village" in colonial times.

This is all very nice, but the condition of the cemetery is in such a state of disrepair that it almost resembles Mayan ruins in the jungle! Weeds, including poison ivy, sumac and oak grow rampant. The lawns, if you can call them that, are unmowed. The tombstones are largely uncared for, with some of them cracked and flat on the ground.

This is more than a Belleville tragedy. It is a national tragedy.

For here, in this little cemetery, lie the very roots of our country. Buried here are soldiers - even one of George Washington's generals! - as well as the famous inventors, leaders and scholars prominent in this area during the late 1700's and early 1800's.

In bygone days, church cemeteries were cared for by the congregations. But people move away, parishes diminish and the job of maintaining the grounds becomes more difficult with each passing year.

Since the Dutch Reformed Cemetery is a national historic site, the obvious solution is to appeal to our congressmen, Peter Rodino and Robert Roe, to either help Belleville to obtain existing funds or to create legislation so that funds do exist.

There has to be more to preserving our national heritage than just designating a site a historic landmark.

Maybe if seed funding was provided to bring the cemetery back up to par, volunteers and history buffs, coordinated by the church or the Belleville Historical Society, could maintain the site in a proper manner.

In the meantime, however, the cemetery at the Dutch Reformed Church remains a grave situation indeed.

Dwell on the gladness

Life is too short
to dwell on my sorrows, to harbour my grudges
in bitter tomorrows.

Life is too short
to dwell on my pain, to play and re-play
some vengeful refrain.

Life is too sweet to waste precious minutes in nursing resentment, self-righteousness in it.

Then, let me not dwell
on life's sorrow and sadness,
O Lord, let me think of life's blessings, with gladness

FLIGHT 890

By Frank A. Orechio

Frank A. Orechio is vacationing this week. This column came from the pen of Murray Kempton

OLIVER North carried his statue homeward at last Tuesday; and six days' wear had left it with feet hardly of clay but certainly not of granite.

ROBERT McFarlane closed the long afternoon with the reminiscence of a conversation with North that most tellingly suggested the insecurities of a National Security Adviser in his engagements with a subordinate in many ways admirable but in too few to be trusted.

IN the fall of 1985, the Congressional Intelligence Committees commenced to stir with rumors that North's exuberance had inspired him to violate the Boland amendment's barriers against official United States assistance to the Nicaraguan counterrevolution.

"I said," McFarlane recalled, "Look, Ollie, with some fairly candid Marine Corps expletives, 'This is Bud, this is me. This is not some member of Congress. What's the story? Are you out raising money?' And he said, 'I have never in any fashion breached the law concerning any activities, nor have I raised money.'"

McFARLANE knew North well enough to know that he had no inhibitions when it came to lying to a congressman. It would be a while before time taught him that North could also lie to him as freely, if perhaps less consciously.

CAMOUFLAGINGS of absolute truth were for him expressions of his duty to his country. He lied to Congress. He fudged with the President's National Security Adviser, who was not merely his supervisor but an intimate friend. He even played false with the Federal Bureau of Investigation when, on July 17, 1986, he assured two of its agents, who seem to have been inquiring into a quite different matter, "that he was not involved in any covert operations being run in the United States."

IT is only too often too easy a step from pursuing a felt duty to lie for one's country to arriving at a duty to lie for oneself. In the winter of his discontent after dismissal from the NSC staff, Oliver North canvassed the copybook of his service and found one blot that, in his words, "just didn't look right."

IT was the $13,000 security system installed in his home until then at the expense of Maj. Gen. Richard Secord. There had never been a bill, an oversight that North remedied by having the installer send him a statement back-dated to July and then composing two letters, one back-dated to the spring and the other to the fall, to suggest that he had misunderstood the terms of the transaction and would need more time to meet the payments.

THIS is not a history and a posture upon which virtue can sit assuredly through six days of cross-examination. There was the sense all day Tuesday that, if the congressional leadership had ever been afraid of him, it suddenly was no longer. He was being lectured by committee chairmen like a failing and not undelinquent schoolboy.

ALL the noble invocations of national roots and ideals of polity had passed to the lips of his traducers on the benches before him. He may not have recognized the tidal change. His last words Tuesday were a few words of gratitude to "the American people who have responded with their good wishes, their support, their prayers."

OLIVER North had not been altogether up to the long-distance run. It is sad to say so; soldiers are as a general rule better than most of us; and there is no pleasure in seeing this one heading for the hour when his hopes for comfort come to lodge in the sort of civilians who wear Oliver North T-shirts today and will discard them for Sean Penn T-shirts tomorrow.

Change of government crusade?

Fizz...Fizz...Fizz...It seems like the much-rumored push to change Belleville's form of government via a referendum on the November ballot has fizzed out due to lack of interest.

As my sources tell it, the goal was to get petitions circulating to place the question on the ballot, then have another election in 1988. This, they said, would have given some of the losing candidates another crack at governing the town, this time as councilmen.

For awhile, the story goes, this change of government "committee" was meeting at the Chandelier, but those meetings are no longer taking place.

The problem, it seems, stems from the feasibility of getting signatures for the petition. Change of government proponents would have to go door-to-door literally asking voters to negate their own votes!

Look, if you're for a change of government, that's fine, but the current commission EARNED their terms, and they have the right to finish them out - all four years of them. Want to change the charter? Wait until 1991!

Fornarotto's choice

I had a chat with a prominent Essex newspaper editor on the issue of Commissioner Fornarotto holding two positions in Belleville. He said he had been following the story in the Times, and his opinion was that it seemed like a conflict of interest.

He contrasted the issue with the more publicized dual-office situation of Earl Harris in neighboring Newark. Harris, in addition to being a councilman for the city, is also the Surrogate for the County.

The conflict there, however, stems from holding two ELECTED offices, with one being in a legislative capacity (councilman) and the other being in the judicial capacity (surrogate).

Fornarotto, on the other hand, was elected only for the commission post. He was appointed to his inspector post in 1985. By the way, in last week's article "The Fornarotto Papers" I reported that Fornarotto's position falls under the Department of Public Works. I must have been typing too fast. It falls under Commissioner Frantantoni's Department of Parks and Public Property.

I discussed with my colleague the fact the superintendent of elections for New Jersey did not object to Fornarotto's candidacy; nor did any town citizen file an objection. Given the go-ahead to run, then, Fornarotto proceeded to invest of his time, money and effort to mount and win a campaign for a Commission seat.

Now that that's all water under the bridge, Fornarotto believes that stripping him of one of his posts would be a violation of his rights.

To that, my colleague agreed.

However, we disagreed on one other point: The main concern of the townspeople. Are townspeople more concerned about the legality of the issue and the potential for vote manipulation? Or are they more concerned about Fornarotto's capacity to serve effectively in both capacities?

That's a judgement call. It appears to me that people in this town are most concerned about getting their money's worth. And so far, at least, Fornarotto appears to be working his tail off in both positions.

My Essex colleague, however, insists that the legality of the issue is the thrust. To me, that only comes to the forefront if and when a citizen files a complaint, setting in motion some real legal proceedings, not just rumors.

I guess it's up to the readers to write in and reveal which concerns them more. But for one reader, at least, both concerns - legality and work output - are important.

"How could he punch in and out of work during the day and still find time to run his department. All he has to do is just go downstairs and function as Commissioner (while

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Congressman Jim Florio (D-1st Dist.) is one of New Jersey's outstanding salons and he is angry over a White House briefing for journalism students during which an administration "consultant" treated the students, including a summer intern in Florio's office, to a mix of right-wing ideology and stand-up comedy.

Florio dashed off a letter to White House Chief of Staff Howard Baker saying the office of the White House Political Liaison, which conducted the briefing, "is acting as a loose cannon, causing what I think you will agree to be embarrassment to the President."

Florio also inserted in the Congressional Record a recap of the briefing, during which Dolf Droge, identified as a consultant, told the students Rep. Stephan Solarz (D-N.Y.) "has not finished counting Imelda Marcos' shoes yet," and "the Congress is childish. There is no one less informed than (House Speaker) Jim Wright (D-Texas), he's ignored."

Florio quoted Droge as saying the only difference between Soviet Leader Mikhail Gorbachev and his predecessors is that "he's the first leader to weigh more than his wife."

Not finding the remarks funny, he wrote, "I hope you will take steps necessary to rein in this office, particularly its use of irresponsible outside 'consultants' who cast aspersions on members of the Congress," Florio wrote in his letter to Baker.

Congressman Robert Torricelli (D-9th Dist.) wants regulations governing development along the Hudson River shoreline the same on both sides of the river. So he is calling on Congressman James Howard (D-3rd Dist.), the chairman of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee to bring his committee to the Hudson River for a field hearing.

According to Torricelli the problem is that the Army Corps of Engineers has one set of standards for New York developers and another set of standards for New Jersey developers. In a letter to Howard, Torricelli suggested calling the Army Corps in to answer the accusations.

"More stringent regulations for New Jersey have affected landfills, pilings, and other projects...I believe we should seek to understand the reasons for these guidelines," Torricelli wrote.

At a time when federal grants for education are cut off and the state has cut school aid we still read about local school boards granting ridiculously high salary raises to top school administrators at a time when overburdened taxpayers are complaining vigorously about higher taxes being imposed upon them.

In Nutley, despite the opposition of three Board of Education trustees, the secretary-business administrator, won a pay boost from $49,500 to $56,000. The assistant superintendent's salary went from $66,895 to $71,000. The superintendent salary rose from $77,000 to $82,625.

A new salary agreement was negotiated with bus drivers and other transportation workers, and cafeteria employees. The transportation contract runs for three years and grants 8% pay hikes in both 1987-88 and 8.5% in 1989. The three year cafeteria salary package offers 8.5% pay hikes for each of the coming three years...these are all pyramidal, building upon itself each succeeding year.

These salary increases provoked trustee Jerry Restaino to say, "The school budget this year was defeated by our voters and certainly these salaries are not in keeping with the best interest of our taxpayers." He is exactly correct.

The time has come to do away with elected school boards...they give everyone raises to get reelected. It is time to go back to appointed school boards run by competent administrators conscious of the problems besetting the heavily burdened local taxpayers.

Firefighters commended...

To the editor:

I'm writing to commend the Belleville Fire Dept. for a job well done.

On June 26 the tree on my neighbor's lawn caught fire. The tree is located between his house and my house. My neighbor was away at the time.

Within minutes of being called, the firemen were at the scene of the fire. The two engines that responded were Engine No. 2 located on Washington Ave. and the Engine Company located on Franklin Ave.

Also, a special thanks to John Centruolo, a neighbor of mine who happens to be a fireman, for keeping the fire under control until the fire department arrived.

Student test scores improve...

To the editor:

The High School Proficiency Test is a competency test of mathematics, reading and writing skills that students are expected to master by the time they graduate, given to the present ninth grade students. It is a test of those skills which they have developed and mastered during grades kindergarten through grade nine. The State's HSPT includes higher order thinking skills as well as those skills that are rote.

The Minimum Basic Skills Test (MBS), the forerunner of the HSPT, was also a competency test administered at the ninth grade level; however, the MBS required only minimum or lower order basic skills in mathematics and reading.

The transition from a test of "minimums" to one which is more aligned with those skills of an increasingly complex and technological society was long overdue.

To function in our present society, students must be prepared to solve problems, think critically, infer meanings, draw conclusions and express themselves in an organized and clearly written essay.

The MBS did not test those higher order skills; the HSPT does.

The High School Proficiency Test (HSPT), prepared by the State Department of Education, was administered officially at Belleville High School on April 7, reading section; April 8, mathematics section; and April 9, the writing section.

The 1987 HSPT results were received recently from the State Department of Education. Two-hundred seventy (270) eligible ninth grade students were administered the HSPT. The results were as follows: In reading, 95.9% of the students passed; in mathematics, 87% of the students passed; and in writing, 94.8% of the students passed.

Dramatic improvements have been made in the areas of reading, mathematics and writing as the HSPT results indicate.

Columnist Golden defended...

To the editor:

I would like to respond to an article appearing in the Belleville Times where Mr. Vander Zwan attempted to ridicule Jim Golden, referring to him as a man, who doesn't know what is going on politically and makes jest of his vocabulary.

Mr. Vander Zwan, let's go back thirty-five years; that's when I came into this town to start my business. My first encounter with Mr. Golden was at a town hall council meeting, where five commissioners were being attacked by this man, for various reasons. The five commissioners were trying to keep their cool and suggested to the taxpayers in the town hall chambers that this man didn't know what he was talking about.

About one month later, I picked up the Newark Evening News and read that some of these commissioners who were laughing at Mr. Golden were, in fact, being indicted for, amongst other charges, malfeasance of office. That night, at the meeting, these same commissioners were laughing, suggesting that he didn't know what he was talking about. However, the District Attorney and the Prosecutors' office understood him clearly and so did the Grand Jury. Mr. Vander Zwan let me give you some background on this man, Mr. Golden.

He devoted practically half of his life to fighting the politicians. He checked more vouchers and stood up to more ridicule and harassment by the politicians than anyone I know.

They deflated his tires, ripped out his ignition in his car and he received hundreds of prank phone calls at all hours of the night, was physically assaulted by the politicians in front of town hall, who slapped him in the face and here's something else, Mr. Vander Zwan — while driving a '3 Broad St. bus, a bullet barely missed him, going right through his windshield. In spite of all this, Mr. Golden did not yield his position in fighting what he thought was right.

At that time, the Newark Evening News was considered the Bible of N.J. They had no trouble understanding his vocabulary. Mr. Golden ran for office at least three times, losing to the big guys. I decided that this man should be given a chance and backed him. He received no campaign donations from anybody, I and a hand full of friends and just a few dollars appealed to the taxpayers of Belleville, the grass roots people. I suggested that we elect this man to see if he could do anything, as a councilman.

As a rule, politicians who run for office immediately forget their campaign promises. By the way, he had such a resounding victory, close to 7,000 votes. That's where the name, "BOSS REGA" came into play. Goldie and many of my friends congratulated me and that's when I was baptized "Boss Rega" by my friends for a tremendous victory.

Now, let's get back to Mr. Golden.

For four years he sat as a councilman at town hall and fought them bitterly. He did not get in and change his position. He refused to play ball, so the politicians did a job on him in the next election. They banded against him and he lost by 35 votes.

Nevertheless, back down at town hall Mr. Golden continued, as town critic at every board meeting, yelling and checking vouchers. Some of the politicians asked me if I could handle him and my response was, "We would not be friends if I could handle him."

So, what I can say to you is, if you don't understand this man's lingo, I suggest you attend night school.

Very truly yours,

on town time from his regular job) Something wrong here..." writes the reader who asked that his name not be used because "I have relatives who work for the town."

That's his opinion on the work situation. On the potential for vote manipulation, he writes, "While acting in his Commissioner's capacity, how can he not run into conflict with Commissioner Risoli's voting issues, when in essence Mr. Risoli is his boss. Also, Commissioner Risoli's uncle is the Town Registrar, who works under Commissioner Frantantoni."

Actually, Fornarotto works under Frantantoni, but his point is still the same.

Personally, I don't think anybody is going to influence a Fornarotto vote because the guy is his own man. I also think that since a Commissioner post is a part time job that pays beans, all five of the Town Fathers have full-time employment. Thus, if a Commissioner happens to have his job within town it's a plus, theoretically, because he's easier to access in the event of an emergency.

The bottom line in this mess is that the people of Belleville democratically elected all five men to the Commission. In fairness to the voters, it behooves the critics to give them a fair chance...

History repeats on you

They say that history repeats itself. In Belleville a more apt description is that "history repeats on you." To be more specific, the way historic landmarks are treated is enough to make you sick!

Last week I had the pleasure of "cruising" Belleville with Ed O'Neill, a lively town elder who drives a shiny red Camaro sports car.

As we drove down Washington Avenue, O'Neill had unkind words for past town and school administrations who approved "monstrosities" for additions at both the old Belleville High School (now the middle school) and the Belleville Public Library.

Before the school addition, O'Neill recalled, the Washington Avenue frontage had a "campus atmosphere" with a rolling lawn adding greenery and spaciousness to the Avenue. Now there is just a big block of brick there, housing the gym.

The same holds true for the library. Originally, the library had a beautiful Roman-style facade along with a nice front lawn. When they built the addition they simply plopped a sixties-style brick and

A piece of history...

To the editor:

A grist mill stone was found in Belleville Park by Paul Ciccone of Cedar Hill Avenue who recognized it for what it was when he saw it. The stone is 6 feet in diameter and about a foot thick. The weight is unknown at the present time.

He called the Belleville Historical Society and the Society believes it was used in one of the grist mills which was along the Second River back in the 1800s. It may even come from the Holmes Mill. Hugh Holmes was the first mayor of Belleville.

A grist mill grinds grain into flour. Grinding grain by hand was extremely tiring and time consuming in Colonial days, so they built mills to have their grain ground. The first mill was on Nantucket Island off the Massachusetts' coast, built in 1666 by a sailor, Nathan Wilbur. He used a windmill for power.

In Belleville, the Second River was used for power. A mill's second level had a heavy millstone turned against a stationary nether stone. Corn dropped from a wooden hopper into a hole at the center of the moving stone. Ground into flour, it moved outward off the edges and fell down a chute to the sifter on the lower level where coarse grits were separated from fine flour. The flow of corn needs careful adjustment; too much and it is not ground fine enough. Too little and the stones can overheat and damage the corn.

The Society has received permission from the Essex County Park Commission to move the stone down to the Reformed Church on Rutgers and Main streets where 62 Revolutionary soldiers are buried. It will be a fitting shrine to honor the veterans.

The Society asked Commissioner Risoli for help and he had his men move the stone and put it on the front lawn of the church, behind the flag pole, for all to see.

A ceremony is planned in the future to coincide with the church's 290th anniversary. A plaque will be put on the stone.

The Society at this time would like to thank Mr. Michael Hamberlin, Essex County Park Superintendent and Commissioner Risoli and his department for granting our request.

Edward W. O'Neil, president
Belleville Historical Society

A piece of my mind...

To the editor:

After 73 years living in Belleville and born here, I have seen, heard, voted, and at times expressed my opinion at town meetings but to no avail. I also paid my taxes since I started to work.

Now I would like to say the most sensible thing to do in Belleville about the new building is to build the new police department next to the Town Hall, in the parking lot and let the other town employees use the old building after a few renovations and clean out the back of the Town Hall and build a parking lot in back of the new police department and old Town Hall.

They will both be on Washington Avenue.

I think that will keep down our taxes which we are over-taxed. If the new commissioners want to keep their promises to the citizens of Belleville they will come up with this proposal, if they are sincere about keeping down expenses.

Thank God we don't have to look at that monster of a building that the other commissioners wanted to do. It would stick out like a sore thumb. Let alone paying for it in 20 years! Boo at that! I do hope they will listen to the citizens for once, because they could be right. Thank you for listening.

Pretrial detention is not the issue...

To the editor:

The issue should not be the legality of pretrial detention and excessive bail. A bigger concern to the public is speedy trials or lack of them.

A defendant - innocent or guilty, detained in jail or out on bail - should not have to wait months or even years to go to trial. The accused person's constitutional right to make bail is less important in general than his constitutional right to a speedy trial.

The guilty should then go to jail and the innocent can get on with their lives.

Yours truly,
Mona Santiago

School Trustee wanted...

To the editor:

Dr. Joseph M. Cappello has resigned his seat on the Belleville Board of Education. Anyone who would like to be considered as his replacement should send a resume to Mr. Charles Miele, Board Secretary, 190 Cortlandt Street, Belleville, New Jersey, 07109, before August 3, 1986.

Don't 'colorize' Kane...

Dear Editor:

As a newspaperman you very well might have a soft spot in your heart for the late Orson Welles' famed black and white film classic "Citizen Kane," which was based on the life of newspaper tycoon, the late William Randolph Hearst.

A recent consensus of movie critics and historians have voted Welles' film masterpiece to be the best American movie ever made.

I can recall Orson's vehement objection to the "colorization" of black and white film classics, which is so prevalent today.

I sincerely wish the newspaper industry would do something to prevent those responsible for adding color to black and white movie gems from desecrating Orson Welles' work of genius, "Citizen Kane," with demeaning colorization.

Sincerely,
Chet Dobkowski

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Mrs. L. of Belleville asks: "I feel a tooth is bothering me but I don't want any x-rays. Are there other ways of finding the problem tooth?"

Before we answer, the third person to call Dentally Speaking will be awarded a prize. Sometimes Mrs. L., if a tooth has an obvious decayed area, a fracture or missing filling and the tooth is one that hurts then x-rays may not be needed. We use the word "may" because if a tooth is fractured the dentist needs to know the shape and size of the root or roots as well as the condition of the surrounding bone before an extraction is performed. And if the tooth has a large decayed area and you want the tooth saved then the dentist needs to know the length of the root or roots to assure a proper root canal filling is done if, if the problem is not obvious, which is often the case, then the dentist needs to have a complete picture of what's going on in your mouth. X-rays help to make the picture complete. If Mrs. L., you're concerned about the harm from an x-ray, please understand that a problem left undiagnosed in your mouth can cause more destruction than an x-ray.

Thank you for suggesting this column with that excellent question.

Clean up historic cemetery

glass box in front of the classic architecture.

"Yuk," I said.

The real purpose of our cruise, however, was to view a grist mill stone (used for grinding flower 150 years ago) which was discovered last year in Branch Brook Park off Mill Street.

This summer, Commissioner Risoli's Public Works men moved the two-ton behemoth to the Dutch Reformed Church on Main Street. It's right in front on display, with flags to commemorate its historical significance. That's nice, but while we were there, O'Neil took me for a tour of the graveyard in the back. And here is where it really started to "repeat on me."

The Dutch Reformed graveyard is more than just a town or state historical landmark. It is a NATIONAL landmark. For here, right in Belleville, are buried a host of soldiers of the Revolutionary war. My God, even one of George Washington's generals are buried here!

You would think that an area of such obvious historical significance would be maintained in a manner equal to its importance. The men who rest below the surface, after all, shaped the history of the world because those soldiers forged the country that would eventually become the undisputed leader of the western world.

Unfortunately (in fact, disgracefully), the cemetery is overgrown with weeds, poison ivy, poison sumac, poison oak, dead tree branches and all sorts of debris. Plaques and markers are half buried in some instances, while many tombstones of America's earliest heroes are tipped over or crumbling or cracked.

Of course, wear and tear on these early non-marble monuments is inevitable, but certainly the federal government could come in and at least bring the grounds up to par.

This cemetery should be required visiting for any Americans coming into the metropolitan area for vacationing and touring.

Once again, it's something which puts Belleville in a bad light, even though the negligence is apparently the federal government's.

Perhaps the Belleville Commission could pass a resolution abhorring the conditions of our historic cemetery, and pass same on to Congressmen Rodino and Roe.

We are quite fortunate that our two congressmen have considerable influence in Washington, and I'm confident that bringing this matter to their attention at the Commission level would yield some kind of positive action.

O'Neill said that the graveyard grounds were once well-maintained by the the congregation of the Church, but that changing ethnic patterns have caused the number of parishioners to decline.

For my part, I've written an editorial on the conditions at the cemetery and I'll have that sent to both our congressmen. That, along with perhaps a letter from the Belleville Historical Society, could provide more clout to add punch to a hoped-for Commission resolution.

The result would be a clean and famous national treasure to really put Belleville on the map. And wouldn't that be something for the history books!

'Betcha don't care

And, finally, there is a one-sheet rag going around town called "Betcha didn't know..." which combines grammatical errors, silly innuendo, bargain basement opinions, and rumors to make for some lively throw-away reading.

The anonymous author(s) of this rag wrote that a third newspaper is going to be coming into town, indicating that "Betcha didn't know..." will be a featured column in it.

Hmm...another newspaper? To this I can only say, "Go ahead...make my day!" Until next week...

Dollar theatre is back at Library

Act One Theatre Productions, in its sixth year of presentation, will open its first summer mystery, "End of the Road," by Craig Sodaro on Monday, July 27, at the Library, 7:30 p.m.

The show is being sponsored by the Friends of the Belleville Public Library. $1.00 admission will be collected at the door by the "Friends."

In the play, through a variety of clues, two sisters are out to find their missing father, only to find themselves in a desolate little fishing village with some of the town's characters.

To register for tickets, call the Library's Circulation Desk at 450-3434.

Food and Culture

Food is an integral part of American culture. However, to many people American food is a burger, fries, and a shake. Real American food is a lot more than just "fast food." America has a long and rich gastronomic tradition!

On Monday, July 20, from 7-8:30 p.m., Doug Poswencyk, Assistant Professor at Bloomfield College, will present the program, "Food and American Culture."

In this program the audience will examine this tradition and take a close look at some of the ethnic and religious groups that have made vital contributions to American eating practices. Included in the program will be a short film, a cooking demonstration, and samples of some of the food eaten by these groups.

There will be a $1 charge, payable to the Friends of the Belleville Public Library.

Call the Circulation Desk of the Library to register for the program at 450-3434.

Library to host program for disability awareness

A special family program from the New Jersey Department of Human Services, including activities and skits for children of all ages, and discussions and "take home" materials for children and adults, will be presented at Belleville Public Library, 1:30-2:30 p.m. on Monday, July 27 in the James J. Cozzarelli Jr. Children's Room.

Included in the program will be performances of the internationally acclaimed disability awareness puppet show, "The Kids on the Block." Games, coloring sheets, brochures and other materials will be available free of charge.

The focus of the program will be to provide families with a better understanding of disabling conditions, the myths and misconceptions about people with disabilities, and how attitudes about persons with disabilities are changing. The program will be presented by a team of educators experienced in presenting informative, entertaining disability awareness shows statewide for elementary, middle school and high school students, and adults.

"Don't miss this exciting and educational program, presented free for your family by Belleville Public Library and the department's Division of Developmental Disabilities' Office of Community Education," a library spokesperson stated.

For more information please call Belleville Public Library, 450-3434, and ask to speak with a member of the Children's Room staff.

On September 30, Dr. Jane Brown, Professor of English, Trenton State College, will lecture and discuss the book, "For Whom the Bell Tolls" by Ernest Hemingway.

On October 14, Dr. Geraldine Smith, Assistant Professor of English, Drew University, will present a discussion about the book, "Their Eyes Were Watching God," by Zora Neale Hurston, while on October 28, Dr. Michael Rockland, Professor and Chair, Department of American Studies, Rutgers University, will present a discussion concerning the novel, "The Grapes of Wrath" by John Steinbeck.

The series will conclude on November 18, with the book "The Best of Simple," by Langston Hughes, discussed by Dr. Giles Wright, Director, Afro-American History Program, New Jersey Historical Commission.

Free texts will be made available to participants in the book discussion group, which is also free. For further information, call Adrea Cohen, Program Director, at 450-3434. All sessions will begin at 1:00 p.m. on the Wednesdays previously designated.

Chico the Hearing Ear Dog

Jean, a regional representative for the Hearing Ear Dog Program in West Boylston, Massachusetts, will show slides and give a presentation on what a hearing ear dog is, who is eligible to get one, and how these dogs are trained.

Everyone is welcomed to attend this free program at the Belleville Public Library. For more information, call Adrea Cohen at 450-3434, or Fred Lewis at 450-3434.

Legion squeaks into playoffs

By Samuel Williams Jr.
If the shoe fits, wear it!

That is what the Belleville American Legion Post baseball team did in "cinderella" fashion during the month of July by winning five of their last seven games to qualify for the Essex County American Legion playoffs.

This was the same team that at the end of June possessed a 1-6 record and looked anything but playoff bound.

But July seemed to be the "slipper that fit" and Belleville improved their record to 6-8; good enough to finish eighth in the standings and earn them a chance to compete for the pennant.

"Our two primary goals this season were to win more games and make the playoffs," said manager Frank Stanco.

It was Belleville's 6-4 victory over South Orange American Legion Post on July 18 that clinched the eighth place position.

Pitching was the key. "I think that Mike Thompson pitched the best game of his high school career," said Stanco.

Thompson hurled a three hitter and fanned five batters while going the distance.

No one scored until the fourth inning when Vin Orrei and Thompson singled while George Spears advanced on balls to load the bases.

Jeff Spillsbury singled to drive in Orrei and Thompson.

Jay Marchese blasted a sacrifice fly to score Spear who had advanced to third.

However, South Orange countered with four runs of their own.

Belleville tied the game in the fifth when Marchese tripled and scored on a single by Mike Finan.

The game was decided however in the seventh inning. Gary Villano lead off with a walk and advanced to second on a sacrifice bunt by Frank Orrei and scored on a single by Finan to score the winning run. Ray Caruso stroked a single to score Finan.

"After our poor showing in the first half of the season, we're lucky to make the playoffs," said Stanco. "We just have to hit the ball consistently," said Stanco.

Belleville will play number one seed Caldwell in the first round of double elimination play.

"Anything can happen from here. They beat us 17-7 in regular season play and I think the key for us is scoring early and staying in the game," said Stanco.

The result of Tuesday night's encounter was not available at press time but depending on the outcome, Belleville will play either Verona or Irvington.

By Mike Lamberti

gave the kids a chance to compete at a younger level and prepared them for the varsity."

If you're a Belleville fan, you know the success generated on the varsity level. Anytime the varsity does well, chances are those wrestlers excelled on the freshman level.

Villano is a Belleville man at heart. He and his wife, Issy, live near the High School and have three children, Brian, age 16, Kristine, 14 and Caren 10.

Villano himself graduated from Belleville in the spring of 1963. He did not wrestle at Belleville but got a taste of the sport while attending college at Bloomfield College. He was graduated from Bloomfield with a degree in biology in 1967.

Back in the early 60's, Belleville High School was located at the sight of the present day Junior High School.

"I went to school number five from first grade through eighth grade," Villano said. "I went to the old high school from freshman year through senior year."

After Villano's graduation from Bloomfield College, he landed a teaching job and ended up back at the Junior High School again.

"By 1967, the high school was up and the old school was used as the junior high school. I got my first teaching job as a junior high school teacher."

As Villano continued his coaching exploits, his teams became stronger. From 1973-75, Villano's freshman wrestling teams would win 30 straight matches.

"Our streak was stopped by Seton Hall Prep," Villano recalled. "We came back and won the Passaic Valley Tourney that year."

When he first became a coach, conditioning wasn't as strongly emphasized, although the athletes were in good shape.

"I was always big on working out," the coach said. "Our teams did a lot of road work and calisthenics. We stressed basic moves at first. I think we had only four, the sit out, sit in, stand up and switch."

As the years progressed, the gym classes began to emphasize wrestling more. Today, it's one of the most popular sports at the junior and senior schools.

I can safely say I've known Villano for all my adult life. He and I were neighbors at Bridgebrook Gardens in Belleville some 17 years ago.

When I fouled up in biology while attending BHS, he was my summer school teacher in 1974. In 1975, he saved my neck in chemistry by tutoring me for ten weeks during the winter months. Needless to say, I wasn't a great science student, but Villano was a pretty darn good teacher.

Over the next three weeks, or so, I will speak with Villano about his teams. He has a lot of memories and hopefully, we'll be able to print some pictures of some of the teams and individuals that have made Belleville wrestling the success it is today.

Stay tuned, it should be an interesting feature.

All Star Blunder

Did you see the All Star game last week? For those of you who witnessed the entire 13 inning affair, you saw one of the most boring games in history. So much for the lively baseball theory. The shadows around home plate during the twilight were a problem, but it was dark by the sixth inning and the pitchers remained in control.

As we head into the second half of the season, the Yankees have been hampered by the loss of Willie Randolph. The second sacker was enjoying his best season to date with a .309 average, but knee surgery will keep him on the shelf for four weeks.

It's hard to believe that Randolph, who was experiencing pain before the All Star game, opted to play the game and then have surgery. You can bet you haven't heard the last from George Steinbrenner on this matter, especially if the Yanks fade in the second half of the season.

Bo's Hobby

Is Bo Jackson kidding, or what? How can this man expect to play baseball, perhaps through late October, then run over and play for the L.A. Raiders from mid November through possibly late January. Does he realize that spring training begins in late February? That would give him about one month rest in a twelve month period to heal his body.

No matter how good an athlete he is, there is no way this man can endure that kind of punishment and be successful in either sport. The pro football players have not taken too kindly to Mr. Jackson's comment that football will be a "hobby" for him. Getting hit by the likes of Laurence Taylor, Mark Gastineau and Chip Banks isn't the type of hobby that most men would entertain.

Flashback!

Those 1960's alumni games

Some of our old time Belleville football fans will remember the Belleville-Nutley alumni football games that took place in the mid 1960's.

Current Belleville football coach John Senesky recalled the games as exciting and high in fan interest. This week, we flashback to September 21, 1967 and take a look at the fourth annual contest between the Belboys and Maroon Raiders.

Where were you 20 years ago? Some of the newlines back then included the continuing escalation of the Vietnam "Conflict", the riots that engulfed the larger cities in the United States, the first annual NFL-AFL Championship game which was later renamed the Super Bowl. Not too many people expected the Super Bowl to last for more than two or three years because of NFL domination. However, the Jets of 1969 changed the course of football history.

Our country's president was Lyndon Johnson and a young man named Robert Kennedy was getting ready to make a run at the presidential primaries the following year. The Apollo space mission began with tragedy when three astronauts perished in a fire during a simulation.

Now, we turn back the clock and recall the Belleville-Nutley alumni game of '67. The article was written by Tom Perrotta.

The Nutley alumni football squad, under the guidance of coach Mario Cocchiola, blitzed a veteran Belleville eleven with bursts of speed and a rock ribbed line Saturday night. With Mike Geltrude piloting the offense and Tom Malloy spearheading the defense, the Nutley squad showed its superiority before a crowd of 6,000 fans at Belleville's Municipal Stadium.

Nutley scored on its first play from scrimmage after Johnny Lucas, who played an aggressive game at his end position, blocked a Belleville punt inside the 10 yard line. The ball rolled into the end zone with no one in pursuit. The lighting was dim in that area and the Nutley players were running in circles trying to locate the pigskin. Finally the kicker, Richie Longo, picked up the ball and ran it out to the nine yard stripe.

Cocchiola's men took over and Steve Lamprou reeled off the nine yards for the touchdown with a flash of speed. Tom Malloy booted the extra point and Nutley led, 7-0.

Belleville capitalized on a freak break later in the first quarter when a Belhoy punt skidded inside the Nutley 10 yard mark. The ball grazed Lamprou's body and was recovered by Belleville on the Nutley 4.

Nutley's line repulsed Roger Caruso and Phil Galioto on short line thrusts that gained only one yard. Del Guercio faded back to pass on the third down but was trapped by the Nutley lineman. He managed to escape miraculously around the 15 and then outsped a host of defenders into the end zone. The kick was good and it was all tied up at 7-7.

Tony Pietoso ran the ensuing kick off to the Nutley 45 as the last man tripped him up to save a Nutley TD. The local squad hammered down to the Belleville 22 where Geltrude calmly ran to his right and looped a soft pass into the arms of Mike Russoniello on the Belleville 10. Mike neatly hot-footed past a couple of Belleville defenders into paydirt. Malloy was wide to the right with his PAT as he injured his leg in the process, leaving the score at 13-7.

Pass interceptions by both teams bolted scoring chances late in the second quarter. Mike Ritacco picked off a Del Guercio aerial on the Nutley 2 as the first half ended with Nutley in front, 13-7.

Second Half

A pass interception by Tom Malloy late in the 3rd quarter set up the third Nutley touchdown. Tom grabbed a Belleville pass on the Belleville 20 with a clear field in front of him but a bad leg forced him to limp to the 16 where he was stopped. After a five yard penalty, Pietoso reached the 12 and Lamprou promptly sped into the end zone for his second touchdown. Ritacco missed the extra point but Nutley had a 19-7 lead.

Belleville mounted its first honest threat of the day after Ritacco's kick off. With Caruso and Galioto carrying, Belleville reached the Nutley 6. Then play became a bit sloppy as both teams exchanged penalties with Belleville being aided by two Nutley pass interference plays. Galioto finally crossed the Nutley goal line from the five yard stripe. Rocco Della Luna booted the extra point try and Nutley led, 19-13.

That was final Belleville scoring chance as the Nutley eleven dominated the game with Pietoso, Steve Lamprou and Jim Ippolito churning out the yardage. Geltrude kept the game in hand by keeping the ball on the ground.

Geltrude sealed matters in the final seconds by sneaking over from the 10 yard line line from his quarterback spot. The versatile former Maroon Raider star also kicked the extra point with his soccer style effort. The ball sailed high and clean above the uprights to make the final score 26-13.

Pietoso was the leading ground gainer with 80 yards in 12 attempts. He also ran back kickoffs for 66 yards. Lamprou scored twice and gained 55 yards in 10 tries. Aiding Malloy on defense were Della Luna, Ralph De Piro, Joe McGuinness, Carl Graziano, Frank Del Guercio and veteran Mark Hallam.

Nutley's victory evened the series at two wins apiece.

EDITORS NOTES: Tom Apicella coached the Belleville alumni in '67. His assistants were Mike Marotti and Paul Mayers. Apicella's youngest daughter, Jennifer, would go on to make basketball history at Belleville High School some 17 years later. Galioto is now an assistant football coach at Belleville High School and his son, Jamie, just completed an outstanding high school career in football and baseball.

Senesky would love to see a return of the alumni game, but admits the rising cost of liability insurance would be a deterrent.

"A game like that could draw 6,000 easily, today," Senesky said. Senesky, a 1964 Belleville High grad, played in one of the alumni contests. One week after the alumni game, the Belleville High gridiron team hit the field and lost its opener to East Orange, 32-0. Two years later, Belleville would post a big upset over East Orange but a riot following the game forced a cancellation of the old time series. Belleville and East Orange have not met in football since that fateful day in 1969. However, that story is for another episode of Flashback.

Little League All-Stars 2-0

By Philip B. Di Meo

Belleville's Little League ten-year olds, recording victories in their first two games in the Nutley Invitational Tournament, topped a team from Bloomfield Midtown, 10-7 on July 15.

In a game which, in the early innings, appeared to have all the makings of Belleville's 22-0 blow-out over Harrison, spectators were treated to an exciting hour and a half of baseball as both teams repeatedly reached back for that something extra to stay in the contest.

With its lead-off batter the victim of a Jim Topetta strike out, Bloomfield Midtown's catcher, Joe Caletta reached first base on a walk. Scott Bennett followed with a base hit and Bloomfield opened with runners in scoring position. Topetta K'd the next batter to cool the potential threat and an alert Belleville infield ended the inning unscathed.

Bruzzo struck out 2 of the 5 batters he faced as Bloomfield was unable to produce the rally it needed in the top of the sixth, and the Belleville team had another "W".

With its 10-7 defeat over Bloomfield Midtown, Belleville is now 2-0 in Tournament play.

Last Weeks Quiz

In the top of the ninth inning of the '77 playoffs, Whitey Herzog brought in Dennis Leonard, his best starting pitcher, to attempt to save the game. The score was 3-2 in K.C.'s favor at the time, but the Yanks went on to score three runs and win the game, 5-3.

For This Week

Speaking of the Yanks and Royals, let's go back to the '76 playoffs. In the exciting fifth and final game, the Yanks led, 6-3 and seemed in control. Manager Billy Martin took Ed Figueroa out of the game and brought in a relief pitcher to face a Royals batter with runners on first and second base. The Royals hitter crushed a ball into the seats to tie the game. Who was the Royal hitter and who was the Yankee pitcher that was victimized.

Help make your community a SAFE PLACE TO LIVE

ARE YOU just standing by watching...while crime invades your community? What are you doing to combat the problem? How much local crime finally becomes "too much"? Are you eager to support and participate in law enforcement programs which are designed to protect you, your loved ones, and your possessions? Are the organizations to which you belong, aware of the problem? Will they help...with manpower, commitment or finances?

Crime is a sore that festers and must be checked if our society is to be preserved. Law and order is the only medicine we know.

The idea of widespread respect for law and the rights of others, simply will not work unless the vast majority of citizens support, and when necessary, assist local law enforcement actions to control or deter the non-complying minority.

Crecco supports two years mandatory for first offense

Delegate wants no-parole jail time for criminals who attack seniors

Assemblywoman for Belleville Marion Crecco has endorsed legislation that would provide for a mandatory minimum sentence with no parole for anyone convicted of aggravated assault on a person 65 years of age or older.

As...blywoman Crecco, vice-chair of the Assembly State Government Committee, said that the legislation, introduced by Assemblyman Thomas Paterniti (D-Middlesex) would provide for a minimum term of two years for a first offense and five years for a second and subsequent offense, without eligibility for parole, for any person convicted of aggravated assault on a person 65 years of age or older.

"Crime against the elderly is one of the cruelest criminal acts known. The perpetrators of such acts cannot be allowed to roam the streets," Crecco said.

Assemblywoman Crecco said that the legislation is now being considered by the Assembly Judiciary Committee headed by Assemblyman Walter M.D. Kern of Bergen County. She said that people supporting the legislation should contact Assemblyman Kern at 171 E. Ridgewood Avenue, Ridgewood, N.J. 07450.

Republican Assemblywoman Marion Crecco represents the towns of Belleville, Bloomfield, Cedar Grove, Glen Ridge and Montclair.

Plan to limit bureaucratic growth

Assemblywoman Crecco has signed on as a sponsor of legislation that would limit growth in the size of the state bureaucracy.

Assemblywoman Crecco said that the legislation, Assembly Bill 3987, the "State Employee Growth Limitation Act," would limit the growth in the number of State employees to the rate of growth in the state population.

Assemblyman Bob Franks (R-Union), is the main Assembly sponsor of this bill.

"The rapid growth in the state bureaucracy must be controlled. A major purpose of this bill is to ensure that the State workforce be considered in its entirety when governmental needs and priorities change," said Assemblywoman Crecco, vice-chair of the Assembly State Government Committee to which this bill has been assigned.

Real Estate Briefcase

By Jack Reilly, G.R.I.

What is a survey and why must one be performed when I purchase property? — P. Reese, Bloomfield

When you enter an agreement to purchase a home, many steps are taken either by your Realtor or your attorney (depending on custom) to be very careful about exactly what it is you are purchasing. One of these steps is the land survey, which is instrumental to determining a precise, legal definition of that particular parcel of land which the house sits upon. Even if the purchaser of a property is relatively secure with a general knowledge of the boundaries, other parties usually involved in the transaction will demand that a precise description be given prior to passing of the title.

The exact history of surveying is unknown, though it is known that modern day surveying still incorporates principles and techniques first applied by the Romans thousands of years ago. The surveyor reduces the exact perimeter of a given piece of property to a written description using measurements of distance, angle, and direction. Through this description, precise legal boundaries can be determined between land owners. A scaled down drawing of the property is then engineered, which gives an overview of the boundaries and notable improvements and fixtures upon it. Buildings, paved drives, sheds, patios, pools, ponds, streams, etc. will all be noted on the drawing in relative position to the boundaries.

Also, "invisible" easements or right-of-ways which are passed by deed will appear on the drawn survey. These are things which are sometimes common to all properties such as power lines, telephone lines, and such. Occasionally, an oddity will appear, such as underground tunnels used by utilities or easements granted to a neighbor to access a certain strip of land at will. Perhaps even a past owner had allowed a neighbor's garage to sit slightly across the line, without changing the deed to reflect it.

All of these reasons and more may be the cause for a purchaser to re-think the transaction and highlight the importance of the survey to be performed. However, more importantly, it may often times be impossible to obtain a mortgage loan for the purchase unless the purchaser can obtain a title insurance policy to indemnify the mortgagee (bank). All title insurance companies will demand and carefully review a recent survey to determine if there is an acceptable risk to insure.

In our area of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville, the custom is that the attorney for the purchaser is responsible for ordering and reviewing the survey. A visit to your attorney will clear up any questions you may have regarding your individual property survey.

Tax-deductible home equity loans best bet for home improvements

With the most sweeping federal income tax overhaul in more than 40 years in effect for only a few months now, many consumers are still bewildered by its many changes.

Perhaps one of the hardest items to swallow with the new tax plan is the fact that the deductibility of interest charges on consumer loans and credit cards is gradually being phased out.

If you were planning a home improvement project, and have temporarily put it on hold because you thought you could no longer deduct the interest from charging such work, consider a home equity loan.

The interest on home equity loans, which are loans secured by homes or condominiums, is still deductible under the new tax plan. Therefore, home equity loans have become a better way to finance home improvements than credit cards and other types of bank loans.

With a home equity loan the amount you can borrow is calculated on a percentage (usually 75 to 80 percent) of your home's appraised value minus the unpaid balance of your mortgage.

One of the best home improvement projects to consider right now, in terms of increasing your home's resale value, is the addition of energy-saving products such as fiber glass insulation.

Increasing your home's energy efficiency pays immediate dividends in the form of lower fuel bills. Adding CertainTeed's Fiber Glass Batts or Rolls yourself to an entire house will cost roughly $1,200, but will add approximately $1,000 (83 percent return on your investment) to its equity financing value in the eyes of a mortgage lender.

If you're interested in more information on insulation home improvements, write to The CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482, for a free copy of "How To Insulate."

Wave of the future? New California law requires sellers of one-

We don't know how to solve every problem in the community, but we know the people who do.

Wherever you live there are people with problems to be solved.

Your United Way volunteers include resourceful leaders uniquely qualified to deal with community problems, however complex. But if, for some reason, they come up against a situation they're not equipped to handle, they are also adept at finding the best help possible.

With your support we'll continue to find the right people with the right answers. So that more people who really need help will get it. For which we say, "Thanks to you, it works for all of us."

Portrait of the Great American Investor

She's never in one place for long. Wherever the story takes her, she'll go. She invests her time in her work and her money in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Over 23 million Americans like her invest in Savings Bonds. They are the Great American Investors. People everywhere are discovering that Bonds have changed. When held five years or more, Bonds pay competitive rates, like money market accounts. And they're free from state and local income tax.

Bonds are easy to buy. You can purchase them at most banks or through Payroll Savings at work. So, whether you are investing $25 or $5000, buy U.S. Savings Bonds, The Great American Investment.
