Scouts camp out...

Boy Scout Troop 301, sponsored by Wesley United Methodist Church of Belleville attended summer camp for 2 weeks from July 18 thru August 1. They attended Crossett Lake Scout Reservation in Fort Ann, New York, which is located in the Adirondack State Park Region in upstate New York near Lake George.

There were three boys attending for one week and two boys attending for two weeks. The boys were escorted by two of their leaders. While at camp, the boys worked hard at earning merit badges as well as working toward advancement in the scouting program. They also enjoyed a great deal of fun time, including swimming, boating, canoeing, fishing and sailboating.

Highlights of their camping experience were a backpacking overnight trip to Buck Mountain, overlooking beautiful Lake George. The boys slept out under the stars and observed a total of 21 shooting stars, which they had never seen before.

Also an overnight canoe trip on Lake George, where again they slept out under the stars on one of the many islands on the lake.

The troop earned the camp's Distinguished Troop Award, which is given to the troop that earns a specific amount of merit badges and/or advancement. For this award the troop must also conduct an inter-troop activity and perform a worthwhile service project to improve the camp.

Patched — There used to be a crater at the entrance to the Belleville Police parking lot behind Town Hall. It was big, deep and no one is sure how many cars were damaged descending into it. The hole was remedied recently by the Department of Public Works. (Photo by Christopher Bifanti)

Local Assemblywoman says

Arts center and ballpark must wait until Essex trash crisis is solved

Assemblywoman Marion Crecco (R-Essex) said plans to build a baseball stadium in Lyndhurst and an arts center in Newark must be put on hold until New Jersey solves its solid waste crisis.

In recent remarks to the Concerned Citizens of Belleville, Crecco said, "We can't think about the opera, we can't think about the ballet, we can't think about baseball. Right now, we have a garbage emergency. When we take care of this, then we can look at these ideas."

Crecco said she has drafted legislation to compensate affected municipalities for the added costs for transportation of solid waste from local transfer stations to the dump site in western Pennsylvania.

"We have to put our priorities in order," she said.

"The most important priority right now is garbage. When our property taxes could go up as much as $500 per year, we have to forget about all this other spending — money for the cities, money for the arts center, and money for baseball, and focus on the garbage crisis, and do it today.

The legislation will be formally introduced before the next session of the General Assembly.

Assemblywoman Crecco represents the towns of Belleville, Bloomfield, Cedar Grove, Glen Ridge, Montclair, Nutley and Verona. A member of the Assembly Independent and Regional Authorities Committee and vice chairwoman of the State Government Committee, she also serves as Assembly Assistant Majority Whip. She is serving her first term in the General Assembly.

Kids "hot-dog it" at fire headquarters

Firefighters host picnic for local special children

Members of the Belleville Fire Department served a hot dog picnic at the fire headquarters to delighted campers and staff of the summer day camp, sponsored by the Community Mental Health Services of Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield.

Belleville firemen receive some of their training adjacent to the Community Mental Health Services, a United Way agency, where the day camp is held. A number of the firemen became aware of the camp and were motivated to plan a typical New Jersey picnic with hot dogs and hamburgers, fresh corn on the cob and watermelon and Koolaid.

Campers were treated to a tour of the fire station and demonstration of equipment. Chief Sbarra provided leadership for this service project and, according to Deputy Chief Beresford, head of the shift who served the picnic, all who participated had a great time.

Thirty campers attended the six-week camp for emotionally and developmentally delayed children ages three to ten. Children attending the camp, which ended Aug. 7, are members of families being served by Community Mental Health Services programs, according to Ellen Zakian, camp director.

One special group attending the camp is made up of brothers and sisters. These family members often carry heavy responsibilities in the home-setting for their handicapped sibling and part of the camp goal is to provide a setting where the older brother or sister can have fun with their family member.

Leadership for the camp draws from the older brother and sister group as well as graduates of the camp. They work under direct supervision of trained educators, helping to maintain the high one-to-one ratio of leader to camper.

The camp program included daily activities. Exposure to self-expression through art, music, water play and outdoor events helped develop individual and interpersonal awareness on the part of the campers.

Citizens protest teacher transfer

Board approves jobs for students

By Samuel Williams Jr.
The Belleville Board of Education meeting highlighted approval of funds Monday night which will help place students in jobs for the upcoming year.

The board approved $19,068 in funds appropriated by the Vocational Education Act for the 1987-88 school year.

The money will be used to finance a computer systems program as well as serve to financially compensate a job placement program.

"We've computerized our vocational education department and supplied ourselves with a computer architectural machine," said Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello.

Nardiello said four teachers will be entrusted with the responsibility of job placement for students involved in the vocational department.

Several reappointments were discussed as well at the meeting.

Lorraine Danchak will remain at School 7 but has been assigned to Basic Skills.

Marie McCusker will teach Home Economics at the Middle School.

Isabelle Villano will be the Basic Skills teacher at the Middle School. Dr. Emilio Delia was appointed team physician while Dr. Mary Mazzarella was named school physician.

Betty Kidon was named elementary physical education teacher.

Mary Sellito was named assistant to the Business Administration director, board secretary and accountant.

Protests lodged

Parents from School 4 lodged verbal and written protest over a proposed involuntary transfer.

The proposal stated that Pat Squaltrito, a highly respected and well liked teacher at School 4 would be transferred to School 10 and Mister Torrerello would move from School 10 to School 4.

Petitions with 250 signatures of parents from students at School 4 along with a second petition possessing signatures of 42 students who have graduated from School 10 were presented to the Belleville Board of Education in hopes of blocking the transfer.

Many of the parents argued that Squaltrito served as an excellent role model for the students and there was no bona fide basis in which to transfer him.

Male role models were important to the school because 65 percent of the families it serviced were single-parent families.

Big 'Rock' show coming to the area

Area participants are putting finishing touches on "Mineral Magic," the 15th annual Gem, Mineral and Jewelry Show, sponsored by the thirteen clubs of the New Jersey Earth Science Association, whose volunteer members range from professionals to dedicated amateurs devoted to the enjoyment and study of minerals, gems and fossils.

Held Aug. 15 and 16 in the Recreation Center of William Paterson College, 300 Pompton Avenue, Wayne, it is a show-case for prestigious museums and private collectors whose dazzling exhibits yearly induce visitors to travel across the United States and Canada.

Belleville to "rock" out

Steve Denkowicz of Nutley is preparing to demonstrate his expertise at silversmithing along with Belleville resident Irv Folk, who is well known for his beautiful faceted gems and is a local favorite for his interesting programs and displays.

Bloomfield is represented by Richard and Elna Hauck whose lighted displays are "The Carbonates" and the "Geo-literary Society."

An unusual addition to this year's show will be the Australian International Challenge Cup. A perpetual trophy, it is the property of the Australian Faceter's Guild and was won by a United States faceting team. It is on tour in the United States, along with the winning gemstones.

The "Crystal Craze" currently sweeping the country has been featured in recent articles in magazines, newspapers and TV talk shows. On Saturday, Aug. 15 at 4 p.m., Ronald Bentley, former curator of the mineral and gem collection of the Texas Museum of Natural History will lecture on "The Magic Lure and Lore of Crystals."

"Crystal Light Sculpture," a pyramid and the all-seeing eye, exhibited by Jim Kaufman of Jim's Gems in Wayne, illustrates imaginative creativity and is a tribute to Kaufman's mastery of delicate lapidary techniques. He blends tiny pieces of green malachite, purple sugilite, clear crystal, blue lapis lazuli and fiery opal, whose beauty is enhanced by light emerging from below.

At Bliss from Rutgers University utilizes fibre optics and lights to create a crystal aura in his display of "Mystics of Minerals."

The world-famous glow-in-the-dark minerals from Franklin, New Jersey, will be seen in "Fluorescent Alley."

These two family days are full of enjoyment for junior and sis, mom and dad and the grand-folks. Bob Salkin's "World of Dinosaurs" will enchant visitors at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

The kids can safely be located in the Children's Corner, where they receive free samples, gaze into microscopes in wide-eyed wonder in the Microscope Corner and can ask for identification of their own rocks or fossils.

Everyone can visit the Public Information Display at the Micro-mountain Corner and get familiar with the pin-head size deer tick that causes Lyme Disease. This insidious disease is prevalent along the northeast seaboard from Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York to New Jersey. Pamphlets will be given out about this danger.

Thirty dealers from 12 states and Canada will have intriguing items for sale. Parking is free, food service is available, also door prizes and free samples of Alaskan sand.

Hours of the mineral show are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday Aug. 15 and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 16.

Donation is $3 for adults and $1 for children. For information call the William Paterson Recreation Center at 595-2777 or 762-9358.

Recovery Inc. aids regaining of life

By Samuel Williams Jr.

Recovery Inc. is a program which enhances self-help for nervous symptoms and fears.

The Recovery program in Nutley meets every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Parks and Recreation Building located at 44 Park Avenue.

Nutley Recovery Group started meeting September 5, 1979 and according to group leader Mia Daire has had a great deal of success.

People who attend the Recovery meeting share one common problem; nervous symptoms and fear.

Nervous symptoms may include heart palpitations, dizziness, shortness of breath, sweats, depression, fatigue, headaches, numbness, tremors, sleeplessness, and chest pressure.

Some fear being alone or in crowds, of people, journey, closed or open spaces, eating, choking and especially the fear of making mistakes.

The Recovery organization was founded in 1937 by the late Abraham A. Low, M.D., who developed the Recovery technique after many years of research, study and treatment of patients.

There are an estimated 1000 weekly group meetings in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, Ireland and the United Kingdom.

Low's Recovery Method is a system of techniques for controlling temperamental behavior and changing attitudes toward nervous symptoms and fear.

Each Recovery meeting has a similar structure: members read a chapter of the book, "Mental Health Through Will Training," written by Low or they hear a taped lecture.

The Nutley Group session uses such wording as spotting, average, sabotage and endorsing one's self throughout the session to identify feeling and thought.

"We feel it is important to talk each others problems out but constructively," said Daire.

Religious Viewpoints "Look Up"

These famous words were spoken by Jesus about 2000 years ago, and I believe He was referring to the very time we are living in now.

He had been talking to His disciples about His return, knowing that He was to leave for a season. He was telling them what things would be like in the world at the time of His second coming.

In one place He said, "In those days it will be like it was in the days of Noah, and in the days of Sodom and Gomorrah." He was referring to the moral standard and moral condition existing in the world at that time.

Do you want to know what the moral condition was like? Then read Paul's letter to the Romans. In Chapter 1, verse 21, "When they knew God, they glorified Him not as God, neither were they thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and the foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools."

This was the condition in the days of Paul, when he wrote these words. This was the condition in Sodom and Gomorrah when God destroyed it because of the immorality and wickedness.

What have we today? The unnatural is being practiced today as it was in the days of Sodom and Gomorrah.

Thus Jesus said, "When you see these things beginning to come to pass, look up, for your redemption draweth nigh."

We must shun evil and flee from it. We dare not be contaminated in any way, in thought, word or deed, with the perversion and lust and corruption that is in the world.

We must shun evil and flee from it. We dare not be contaminated in any way, in thought, word or deed, with the perversion and lust and corruption that is in the world.

For the sake of all Christians, it is the responsibility of pastors, teachers, evangelists, missionaries, apostles and prophets to be diligent in seeking the Lord to intercede for those we cover.

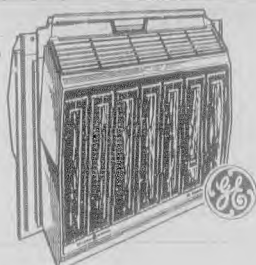

In seeking after Him, pray that we may all be changed into His very image of holiness and righteousness and virtue.

Township Senator to sponsor contamination clean-up bill

Senator Carmen Orechio has introduced legislation that would strengthen New Jersey's Environmental Cleanup Responsibility Act (ECRA).

Orechio said he decided to sponsor S-3625 after meeting with Department of Environmental Protection officials about the discovery of mercury and zinc contamination on the Bloomfield-Belleville border. The contamination is believed to have originated at the McGraw-Edison battery plant in that area.

The ECRA law, which took effect in 1983, requires sellers of industrial property to provide a "clean" site to purchasers, identifying and remedying any contamination problems. The DEP must approve sampling and clean-up plans or issue a "negative declaration" that no contamination exists before any transaction may take place.

Failure to comply with the law can result in a transaction's being voided by the state or the imposition of substantial penalties.

Orechio's bill would provide that cleanup plans submitted and implemented for industrial establishments pursuant to ECRA would be required to address contamination problems off the premises of the industrial establishment if the contamination originated at the establishment.

"The problem in Bloomfield and Belleville was uncovered in the first place through ECRA. However, my bill would ensure that a company would be responsible to clean up any off-site contamination problems, as well as those on the premises itself. Industry has an obligation to help maintain a clean environment," Senator Orechio said.

The bill has been referred to the Senate Energy and Environment Committee.

H&R Block's 1987 Tax Course

You've heard a lot about tax reform and read a lot about the new tax laws. Let H&R Block explain what these phrases mean when you enroll in their 1987 income tax course.

Bert Tobia, district manager for H&R Block, says, "In addition to learning the nuts and bolts of tax preparation, you will also receive clear explanations of the 1987 tax law changes and how they will affect your situation. You will discover how to benefit from the changes and how to use the new tax laws to your advantage. You'll receive this information from some of the finest and most experienced tax preparation instructors in the country. And you'll have the opportunity to expand or enhance your job-related skills."

These are just some of the reasons why the H&R Block tax course has proved so popular for more than 30 years. Many students return from year to year to continually upgrade their tax preparation skills.

"This year, we're ready with all the information you need regarding the 1987 tax law changes," says Tobia. "Classes begin Sept. 10 and 11 and run for 13 weeks. You can choose from morning or evening classes, offered in Essex County. One low fee covers materials, supplies, and textbooks."

Stop by your H&R Block Registration Center at 155 Franklin Ave., Nutley, or call 235-1000 to enroll.

Clara Maass Medical Center

This week, Clara Maass Medical Center, the health institution that helps serve the medical needs of Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield residents, celebrates its 30th year in its Belleville location. The institution is 119 years young.

Originally chartered as the Newark German Hospital in 1968, for obvious reasons its name was changed during World War I to Newark Memorial; and in 1946, it became Lutheran Memorial. To many, "Lutheran" was synonymous with "German."

In 1952, the institution was rededicated as the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital. It had outgrown its home in Newark, and on August 18, 1957, Clara Maass Memorial Hospital moved to Belleville where it established its present-day roots. Its original accommodation of 125 beds has been increased so that today, Clara Maass Medical Center boasts a number in excess of 575 beds. Along with the increase in beds was the increase in expertise which accompanied the medical services made available to area residents.

The hospital was named in memory of Clara Louise Maass, an early graduate of its School of Nursing. Clara Louise Maass is honored for her heroism and dedication to the nursing profession. She began her nursing career in 1893 at the German Hospital School of Nursing. In the early 1900's, Clara Maass volunteered to go to Cuba and participate in the Yellow Fever experiments. She allowed herself to be bitten twice by infected mosquitos — and as a result of the second bite, she died. However, her death was not in vain as it resulted in the discovery of a vaccine to control the disease. In 1976, the centennial of her birth, the United States recognized the heroic sacrifice of Clara Maass with the first commemorative postage stamp ever issued to honor a professional American nurse.

We join the tri-town area residents of Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield in expressing our appreciation to the staff and directors of Clara Maass Medical Center for the life-saving services they make available to us on a daily basis, in our own backyard.

The quality of service is second to none. Clara Maass Medical Center is ranked among the best in America. The nurses, doctors and pharmacists who staff the hospital are among the most dedicated. Other non-professionals are equally dedicated — and we salute these fine people for giving of themselves to ease the burden of pain for those among us who require the services of the hospital. In the selection of board members, management should consider the desirability — and indeed — the need to give greater consideration to residents of Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield.

Nothing beats representation of the grass roots at the highest level of management.

The presence of Clara Maass Medical Center in Belleville has saved an untold number of lives because of its nearness to the population it's now serving. Five minutes' delay could make a difference between life and death. How comforted we are in the knowledge that an outstanding humanitarian institution is only minutes away.

A 21-gun-salute to the people who have made Clara Maass what it is today.

Branch Brook Pops...

To the editor:

Please allow for a great big "Thanks" to First Fidelity Bank, New Jersey Pops, and the Essex County Parks Commission. On Saturday evening, Aug. 1, 1987, these three organizations came together in the Newark side of Branch Brook Park to offer an outstanding musical delight that was accompanied by a beautiful display of fireworks.

While I stood listening to the music and watching the night sky ignite, I realized what a truly wonderful event this was. Newark is a vital city with a world class park. Please, let's have many more such outings in Branch Brook Park. The audience was enchanted, the illuminated cathedral was breathtaking and the fireworks dynamic.

A true renaissance in the park.

Congratulations Newark, and thank you!

Talking garbage III...

To the editor:

Perhaps the most interesting clause in the Township's garbage contract is Section 2:5.1, which reads in part, "Vehicles shall be painted at least once a year." Since Section 2:5.2 requires that, "All trucks shall be conspicuously numbered and maintained in a clean, sanitary condition," we are puzzled why anyone would include such an unnecessary clause increasing the cost of garbage collection to the taxpayer. Do you know of any business or person that paints its vehicles EVERY YEAR? Neither do I! Was this clause in the previous garbage contract? The point is that it doesn't make sense.

Since it doesn't make sense, let's make some hypothetical suppositions. Suppose someone wanted to create 'an irregular atmosphere of opportunity' for one bidder over others. Suppose that someone instructed the person who prepares the specifications for bidding to include therein a clause requiring that 'vehicles shall be painted at least once a year.' Each bidder then must factor into his bid the cost of such painting, assuming that he must comply. However, if a hypothetically 'favored bidder' knew in advance that he need not comply, he could leave those costs out of his bid and have an edge over other bidders. (Notwithstanding the fact the garbage contract calls for the right of inspection of the vehicles by the Director of the Dept. of Public Affairs and/or the Health Officer at any time during the term of the contract.)

Here's a couple of hypothetical suppositions on the mysterious dumping tickets. Suppose they too were included as a bidding cost factor, but it was never intended that all of the dumping tickets were to be delivered to the Township; or if delivered, they were not all made available for use by the Township trucks, and 'merchandised' elsewhere. Who would benefit? The Belleville taxpayers deserve some specific answers to some specific questions.

Respectfully submitted,
Gabriel A. Nazzola
A truly concerned citizen

Why Nazzola lost...

To the editor:

I am writing in reference to Mr. Bifani's letter in response to the letter by Mr. Nazzola regarding 'selective reporting'. Firstly, I feel Mr. Bifani was out of line when he made the comment (directed to Mr. Nazzola) that the Board of Education members "were elected by the people, and you sir, were not." Mr. Nazzola ran for the Board of Education and also the Board of Commissioners. There are several reasons I feel Mr. Nazzola was not elected. Let's take for example the most recent election for the Board of Commissioners.

They are as follows:

1. The fact that an unknown businessman, Mr. Mazzolla, decided to run for commissioner. I feel he was "pushed" into running because of the name similarity. Mazzolla's name was so close to Nazzola's on the ballot. Anyone can make the mistake of hitting the wrong lever especially since MAZZOLLA's came before NAZZOLA's.

2. I believe that Mr. Nazzola was not elected because he is a person who wants change and many others seek to maintain status quo.

Perhaps Mr. Bifani does not understand the purpose of a man like Mr. Nazzola, who is only trying to make a better Belleville. So let's let him do it.

Sincerely yours,

Eyesore Overlooked no more...

To the editor:

In response to the article of August 6, 1987 "Eyesore Tough to Overlook" from C. Drefus, Beech Street, the following is submitted;

I am well aware of the problem and wish to inform C. Drefus and the readers that the owner was issued a summons regarding maintenance of exterior of premises on July 23, 1987.

Due to failure of response to notice within five days, this past Saturday August 8, 1987, at 11:00 a.m., I Joseph Fornarotto, Maintenance and Housing Inspector, made a second physical inspection and demanded the owner to clean up the outside property within 12 hours plus he is to appear in court on August 26, 1987.

Respectfully,
Joseph Fornarotto
Maintenance & Housing Inspector

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

The United States had goals of its own in mind in coming to Kuwait's aid by putting the American Flag on some of that country's oil-tanker fleet, not the least to minimize Soviet influence in the Persian Gulf, and to maintain the principle of free navigation. Yet when Kuwaiti Crown Prince Saad al Abdullah al Salam al Sabah, when discussing the American refueling and escorting of oil tankers through the tense Gulf describes the operation as "purely a commercial transaction," he distanced his country from any possible military confrontation between U.S. and Iran. "These are now American vessels, I am sure that the Americans will defend the American flag."

Largely defenseless and surrounded by covetous neighbors, tiny Kuwait has more crude oil per square mile than any other nation in the world and a foreign currency worth over $85 billion. Protecting these assets by drawing in the superpowers — frequently involves high-risk diplomatic gambles, the Kuwaitis have calculated the odds correctly more often than not.

The Iraq-Iran war is all about them; in the streets of the capital, pounding artillery fire from the fronts of war only 50 miles away can be heard clearly. Iraq, which lays claim to all of Kuwait, is on its northern border. Iran's forces are 80 miles away on the Fao peninsula.

Kuwait probably would have preferred neutrality, but, ethnic and religious factors turned it toward the Iraqis. Iran is close — but Persian. Iraq is closer and Arab. While both are Moslem nations, a majority of Kuwaitis belong to the Sunni sect and with reason fear Iran's militant Shiites. These days Kuwait allows Iraqi Mirage jets to overfly its airspace to attack Iran-bound tankers, Soviet arms bound for Iraq move through the country, and the Kuwaiti royal family supplies billions of dollars to keep Iraq's war-stretched economy from total collapse.

Teheran has retaliated with terror. Targets have included children in a seaside ice-cream parlor and the U.S. and French embassies — blown up by car-bombers on the same day. Several dozen militants now are jailed in Kuwait. Efforts to force their release have included numerous terror attacks throughout the Mideast and Europe.

Those outrages have been blamed by the Kuwaitis on Iranian subversives. But several recent acts of sabotage have been committed by members of the Shiite minority, now one third of the 1.6 million population.

Traditionally, Sunni and Shiite have co-existed peacefully in this New Jersey sized nation, concentrating on making money and sharing the huge oil wealth that provides all citizens with free education, health care and housing quarters for maids imported from abroad.

Now warring neighbors and domestic terrorism have fanned sectarian flames which shaken Kuwaitis self-confidence. The royal family has done little to lower tensions. Newspapers court trouble with exaggerated rhetoric such as "What do these devils (Shiites) really want, and for what evil side to they work? They speak in Arabic but their hearts beat in Persian," wrote the English language "Arab Times" recently.

Shiites are being weeded out of sensitive jobs in the army, police and civil service. Whole families have been rounded up and detained. Some leading Sunnis worry that such discrimination will only polarize the country further. "By regarding every Shiite as a suspect; they are pushing them toward Iran," warns Ahmed al Khatib, a member of Kuwait's suspended National Assembly.

With their superpower gambit, Kuwait's rulers now seem to be seeking solutions to their problems outside their frontiers — in the Ayatollah's defeat or in an end to the tanker war in the Gulf. Others on the Arabian Peninsula remain deeply skeptical, worrying that Kuwait's new ties will antagonize Teheran and spread Iran's terror campaign farther afield. As tensions rise there is strong concern about the wisdom of the American refueling and escorting of foreign owned ships.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Dwell on the Gladness

Life is too short
to dwell on my sorrows, to harbour my grudges
in bitter tomorrows.

Life is too short
to dwell on my pain, to play and re-play
some vengeful refrain.

Life is too sweet to waste precious minutes in nursing resentment, self-righteousness in it.

Then, let me not dwell
on life's sorrow and sadness,
O Lord, let me think of life's blessings, with gladness!

Essex teacher reaches out to special kids

110 Jersey athletes compete in special olympics

By Samuel Williams Jr.

Toni Harvey, a physical education teacher for special education children at Forest Glen School in Bloomfield, reached out to help a state and ended up touching the life of thousands worldwide.

The New Jersey Special Olympics sent a contingent of 110 athletes to compete in the International Summer Games (ISG) held at Notre Dame University and St. Mary's College in South Bend, Indiana recently.

Harvey has been involved in Special Olympics for nine years and wanted to coach in the International Summer Games because it was the highest level of competition for Special Olympics.

She admits a little disappointment because one of her students, Darrell Drake, who currently is the New Jersey Special Olympic record holder for the mile run, was unable to qualify for the Indiana trip.

And though Drake didn't participate, Harvey had a chance to share in the most "incredible experience of peace and love this world has ever known."

The games carried the theme "Uniting The World" and featured nearly 4,500 mentally handicapped athletes and 1,500 coaches from more than 60 nations and the entire United States who competed in 14 Special Olympic events.

Harvey and the New Jersey contingent spent one week participating in the largest sporting event of 1987.

"It was amazing to see people all over the world come out and compete against each other and everyone came out a winner," said Harvey.

"There was so much loving and hugging exchanged on a human basis, not a political basis."

"It took a special education population to accomplish this," said Harvey.

Harvey was touched most by some of the stories heard or occurrences witnessed.

For instance, one African team hiked two days to get to a bus which took them to a plane designated to fly to the Indiana.

Another group from Kenya had trained in their homeland without shoes and competed shoeless during International Summer Games competition. Before their return, a local athletic shoe store supplied them with running shoes.

"They ran without shoes because it was custom not because they were too poor to afford some. I think the shoe store did it just to share some of our custom," said Harvey. Likewise, during the games Harvey noticed the Peruvian athletes spent hours just watching people drink from water fountains. Their coaches said there were no water fountains in Peru and the athletes were simply fascinated.

Preparation

Harvey said New Jersey has one of the most extensive training programs for Special Olympic athletes of the ISG participants.

New Jersey Special Olympic International team (NJSOI) trained for over one year for the competitions.

The selection process included an individual Sport Tryout Camp in Lawrenceville and a Team tryout at Rider College. Athletes who held a gold medal in their sport in 1985 and 1986 were evaluated on sports skills, behavior and physical fitness to be considered for random selection.

Likewise, the NJSOI was introduced at halftime of a New Jersey Nets basketball game at the Meadowlands Arena in February of this year. Five months of promotion of the team followed as well as multiple athlete training programs throughout the state.

The team participated in international team demonstrations and exhibitions with Special Olympic teams from other states.

Harvey was one of two women out of a unit of five people assigned as athletic coaches for the games.

Harvey graduated from Montclair State College with a B.S. degree in adapted physical education, regular physical education for K-12 and health.

Aside from her duties at Forest Glen, Harvey serves an adapted physical education specialist with Oakview, Berkeley and Carteret schools.

Her accolades for the support the state gave its athletes were resounding.

"It seemed New Jersey couldn't do enough to help our athletes.

They provided the money and time to make us one of the strongest entries into the competition," said Harvey.

The official sports competitions were aquatics, athletics, basketball, bowling, gymnastics, soccer, softball and volleyball.

Demonstration sports included table tennis, equestrian, roller skating, cycling, tennis and weightlifting.

"The coaches involved worked so hard during the competition that we may have gotten two hours sleep per night," said Harvey.

In fact, since their return from the games, one of the New Jersey coaches went to the doctor and was diagnosed as physically exhausted.

"I'm going spend as much time possible promoting the Special Olympics in New Jersey and hopefully build even more interest by the time the next International Summer Games begin," said Harvey.

VITAMINS FOR THE SKIN

In recent years, there has been some controversy regarding the treatment of any sort of skin problem with vitamin preparations rather than with purely anti-septic healing agents. A salve containing both vitamin A and vitamin D is used extensively by some people to promote healing of minor skin cuts and bruises. Others prefer vitamin E to promote healing, and will purchase capsules of vitamin E which they proceed to puncture with a small pinhole and apply the oil-like substance directly to a cut. However, while these products certainly cannot do any harm and might well be beneficial, they should be used only after the cut has been properly cleansed and treated with a suitable antiseptic.

Whenever you have a question regarding a product, whether for skin or other use, feel free to ask our pharmacist. Clara Maass Medical Center

Annual Report 1986

Message from the President

Robert S. Curtis, President
Clara Maass Medical Center

Across the nation and throughout the world, 1986 was a year marked by many changes in both the ways and means health care services are provided to the public. Here in Belleville, our past year was marked by a renewed commitment to establish a center of modern medicine. With new programs, new services and new technologies, Clara Maass Medical Center has positioned itself to meet the challenges of a demanding future.

On May 2, 1986 the State of New Jersey Department of Health approved Clara Maass' $9.9 million Certificate of Need Application for renovation and modernization. This project will enable the Center to downsize its acute care function and upgrade its commitment to the elderly through the establishment of a long-term care facility and the expansion of many other services.

This application represents the first attempt by a major medical center in New Jersey to downsize its acute care beds in response to a position held by The Department of Health that too many hospital beds currently exist in Essex County. This position allowed us to examine the evolving needs of our community and establish a framework within which we could respond.

The major elements of the project are the conversion of 100 acute care beds to long-term care beds, as part of a 120-bed continuing care unit; the addition of eight beds to the Intensive Care Unit; and major renovations and new construction throughout. Same Day Services and Emergency Room departments, as well as an expanded Admitting area.

Our architects have already been retained to spearhead the planning and design of this project. Plans are well underway for the Continuing Care Center with a slated opening in the fall of 1987. The final phase of the project is construction of a building to house a diagnostic services center with completion of the entire project planned for 1990.

1986 marked another milestone in our history. Clara Maass joined the membership of Voluntary Hospitals of America of New Jersey (VHA-NJ). Formed in 1985 as a regional health care system to enable non-profit hospitals in the Garden State to mount business ventures and joint services, share ideas and technologies and develop comprehensive patient care packages with insurance companies and major employers.

VHA-NJ is affiliated with the Dallas-based Voluntary Hospitals of America (VHA), a national organization of more than 700 of the nation's most highly respected hospitals including Massachusetts General, Yale New-Haven and Johns Hopkins Medical Center. Each member hospital will retain local autonomy and ownership.

The shared vision of the VHA regional and national system is to include the highest quality health care organizations which are committed to the social values of their communities and is now well served by the membership of Clara Maass Medical Center.

LIFELINE

"Personal Medical Emergency Response System"

Happy second anniversary to LIFELINE. The month of July, 1987 completes the second year Clara Maass Medical Center offers LIFELINE as an important new technology to the community.

This system is used by people with a variety of specific needs:

- the elderly
- people with chronic diseases (heart disease, asthma, diabetes)
- the wheelchair bound
- mothers of infants and children in crisis
- the handicapped homebound
- those of any age feeling physically threatened with living alone

All of the above and more can benefit from subscribing to LIFELINE as "A Friend You Can Always Depend On." Help can be available within minutes by simply pressing a button worn on a chain around the neck.

To be very old, ill and isolated is a fearful and sad way to live the balance of one's life. "Nighttime is particularly scary for me," says Mrs. T. "It may seem a little silly to say that because I'm blind, but I can see the difference between light and dark. I just can't make out forms or see people. I can get around my house okay because I've lived here for over 50 years." Mrs. T. is 91 years old. She is frail in appearance, tiny in stature with a sweet and smiling face. Nevertheless, she is a bright, fiercely independent and private person who will not consider any kind of institutionalization. Her isolation and loneliness is preferable to her as it allows her still some small measure of control over her life.

"Day by day she faces multiple deficits of health with the comment of, 'Well, I'm doing pretty good for an old blind lady — it's just that my bad days come more often now than my good ones.' LIFELINE offers Mrs. T. the opportunity to feel safe while alone, knowing that in an emergency all she has to do is push the button she wears around her neck.

The number of our LIFELINE subscribers keeps growing steadily as we reach out into the community to educate and to create awareness and interest in LIFELINE.

Clara Maass Medical Center would like to officially welcome two new volunteers to LIFELINE. Rita Troise, a bright and busy lady, runs her own insurance agency, yet still finds the time to serve on the Board of the Chamber of Commerce as well as volunteer her services at the Medical Center and LIFELINE. Bernie McIntee, a retired medical X-ray technician from Western Electric comes in every Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. to talk with and test the subscribers. These volunteers, along with other dedicated LIFELINE volunteers monitor the LIFELINE equipment by testing it over the phone with each subscriber once a month. The Medical Center is fortunate as well to have Betty Squitieri monitoring equipment and Rocky Perna and Joe Ochal, celebrating two years at Clara Maass, doing installations and trouble-shooting the equipment.

Clara Maass Medical Center's LIFELINE Program Coordinator, Carole Spiro, and the community they serve, thank these selfless volunteers.

State of the Art Technology for Cancer Care

During 1986, the Radiation Oncology Department installed the MicroVax II, a computer-operated cancer treatment planning system. This state of the art system is used in conjunction with a patient's CAT scan data to determine the volume of a cancerous tumor. By utilizing both machines, radiologists are able to more accurately pinpoint the area to be treated with radiation.

The Medical Center's MicroVax II provides technicians with a "blue-print" of the exact area to be treated prior to any delivery of radiation. The system thus enables normal tissue surrounding the tumor to be spared excess radiation.

In addition, our comprehensive Cancer Treatment Center provides our Medical Center community with the most up-to-date technologies and treatments available. The Center boasts of specially trained medical personnel along with affiliations with major research centers in both the New York and New Jersey areas.

A support group, Make Today Count, is designed to help people living with cancer or other life threatening illnesses and their families live positive and meaningful lives, one day at a time. For further information, contact our Cancer Treatment Center at 450-2230.

A Medical Breakthrough

One of Clara Maass Medical Center's endocrinologists provided a new solution for one of his insulin-dependent patients. Rose Ann Farina, a North Newark resident, was the first person to receive the mini-med insulin pump at the Medical Center. The pump is a revolutionary medical breakthrough for insulin-dependent diabetics.

Diabetes is a disease in which the pancreas is unable to perform properly causing the body to be robbed of its daily need for insulin. In simpler terms, diabetes occurs when insulin fails to do its job. Insulin is a hormone, a chemical messenger sent to all parts of the body to regulate how incoming food is digested.

The mini-med insulin pump is about the size of a small pocket computer and runs on wristwatch batteries. It contains a digital print-out, special programming modes and various alarms which indicate to the user if more insulin is needed. When needed, the basic function of the pump is to deliver the required dose of insulin at specific times during the day.

Ms. Farina feels that the pump offers such independence that she can enjoy life and not be tied down to periodic insulin injections.

Candidates for the insulin pump must be insulin-dependent, highly motivated, responsible and accustomed to checking their blood glucose levels on a regular basis.

Thirty Years in Belleville

Clara Maass Medical Center is a 575-bed facility located on Franklin Avenue in Belleville. This year we celebrate a special anniversary — thirty years in Belleville.

On August 18, 1957, Clara Maass Memorial Hospital moved to Belleville and the original hospital's name was formally changed. This marked the first time a nursing professional was honored for her contributions to mankind. The actual move was a well-coordinated effort involving each and every member of the hospital staff, along with hundreds of volunteers from the Belleville, Nutley, Bloomfield and Newark communities.

In 1981, the hospital's name was changed again to Clara Maass Medical Center, representing tremendous growth in the scope of facilities available to serve the community.

Clara Maass Medical Center is named for one of the early graduates of our School of Nursing, Clara Louise Maass. Miss Maass is honored for her dedication and heroism to the nursing profession. Through her courage and devotion, the country was able to discover a vaccine to control yellow fever.

Having a Baby?

FAMILY-CENTERED MATERNITY CARE — The Family-Centered Maternity Care Program at Clara Maass Medical Center is an innovative program providing a sensitive and supportive atmosphere for family interaction throughout pregnancy. We offer modern options to assist you with the birth of your baby — Expectant Parents' Classes, Maternity Teas, Weekend Tours, Birthing Rooms, Birthing Chairs, Modern Labor and Delivery Rooms, Room-In, Bonding, Family Visitation and gourmet dinners for new parents at our own Stork Club. Our maternity staff, experts in the field of family-centered maternity care, assisted in the delivery of more than 1,800 babies in 1986 alone.

EXPECTANT PARENTS' CLASSES — In small, informal classes, expectant parents are given a comprehensive orientation covering the normal process of pregnancy, labor and delivery, post-partum adjustment and care of the new baby. The sessions are conducted by highly trained maternity nurses. Prospective parents register for these courses in the fifth month of pregnancy. Class size is limited to ten couples and priority is given to mothers delivering at Clara Maass Medical Center.

MATERNITY TEAS — Our "Tea for Two" is held once a month for mothers nearing their last month of pregnancy. Expectant parents are invited to tour the maternity suites and nursery, ask last minute questions, and get acquainted with our labor and delivery nurses. Tea and refreshments are served and additional educational materials are distributed to address any last minute questions.

THE MATERNITY UNIT — Once admitted to our unit, expectant mothers can enjoy the features of a family-centered program. The program offers the expectant mothers the best of both worlds — all the comforts of home with the reassurance of a state-of-the-art medical facility.

During the beginning stages of labor, the Early Labor Lounge provides a relaxing atmosphere for expectant parents before they are ready for labor and delivery.

Our Birthing Room offers a pleasant alternative. Nothing is structured and we try our best to accommodate special requests. Complete with brass bed, rocking chair and hanging plants, the Birthing Room contains the necessary equipment and facilities for soon-to-be parents to remain in a comfortable environment throughout the entire birth process.

Traditional, yet tastefully decorated Labor and Delivery Rooms, as well as a birthing chair, are also features of the Clara Maass Family-Centered Maternity Program.

BONDING AND VISITATION — After a baby is born, "bonding" is encouraged; eye-to-eye and skin-to-skin contact between mother, father and newborn. Older brothers and sisters are allowed to meet the new sibling, spend time with their new brother or sister, visit with their mother, and even hold the new baby with parents present. Grandparents are permitted the same privileges as siblings.

SPECIAL CARE NURSERY — High risk newborns have special needs. In 1978, our Special Care Nursery was designated by the New Jersey State Department of Health, as a Level II Perinatal Center, the only one in the area. It is fully equipped and readily accessible should your baby be born in distress. This area is under the direction of a full-time neonatologist, a physician specially trained in providing care to newborns requiring special attention.

THE STORK CLUB — To celebrate the birth of a new baby, parents are invited to enjoy a complimentary dinner for two, complete with waiter service, in our private dining room.

Parents may select from a special gourmet menu specifically designed for The Stork Club. This experience provides new parents with a relaxing evening alone before mother, father and baby will settle into their new routine when they return home.

The Kid's Place — Our Kids' Place

As peoples' values and beliefs change, society is requiring more and more of us as individuals. Mothers are no longer staying home with their children, but rather are beginning to work outside the home for both financial and personal reasons.

To assist the Medical Center community in this changing environment, in July of 1986, THE KID'S PLACE, a child day care center was introduced. Clara Maass Medical Center believes it is important for children to be in a comfortable and secure environment which fosters growth and enhances individual potential.

THE KID'S PLACE provides an early childhood educational program for infants, toddlers and preschoolers, offering a comprehensive developmental program aimed at the growth of the whole child. Our physical environment is set up to facilitate the child's exploratory needs as children benefit most when they are offered appropriately stimulating experiences.

The children are encouraged to explore and investigate our specially planned surroundings and the people in it. It is of equal importance for each child to have individual attention in addition to plenty of opportunity for group interaction. Our staff selection process is based on these concepts, as well as a standard of educational and professional qualifications.

THE KID'S PLACE is committed to developing close working relationships with the parents of our children. Parents are a child's primary influence. We supplement and enhance your teaching when you entrust your child to our care. We encourage visits to the center at any time and hope parents will come often and participate actively in our development program. We are always open to thoughts and suggestions regarding the program and the care our children are receiving; in fact, we encourage it.

The center provides a hot lunch and two nutritious snacks within an eight-hour time frame. It has permanent state certification as a child day care center and currently enrolls children from the Belleville, Bloomfield, East Orange, Edison, Elizabeth, Garwood, Glen Ridge, Highland Lakes, Irvington, Jackson, Livingston, Montclair, Newark, Nutley, Oakland, Oak Ridge, Passaic, Rutherford, Short Hills, South Orange, Totowa, Verona and West Orange communities.

CLEAN CORN — The easiest way to remove the corn silk from the cob before cooking is to dampen a paper towel and brush downward on the ear. Every strand comes off at once. Janie G. East Liverpool, Ohio.

HANDY SPICE BAG — In lieu of using a cheesecloth bag to keep spices in when canning, I put the spices in a coffee filter and tie with thread or string, NOT a twist-tie. Put it in the pot as you would a cheesecloth bag and, when finished with it, toss it in the trash. I also use this method with loose tea for homemade tea bags. Nadia L. Hudson, N.C.

TOP IT OFF — When you have a pie with meringue on top and you want to cover it with plastic wrap, first spray the plastic wrap with a non-stick vegetable spray. The plastic won't stick to the meringue. Denise F. Warsaw, Ky.

EASY CUPCAKES — When I have to make cupcakes for my kids to take to school for parties, etc., I make very small ones because they are just right for little hands to hold. There is also less waste since the smaller size seems to be the only size many of the children will eat. However, the problem is filling the cups. The batter seems to get on everything. To combat this, I bought a baster. I just squeeze the bulb, put the tip into the batter and slowly release to let the batter fill up the tube. Then, I squeeze out the amount I need in the tins and bake. Carol V. Monroe, Wash.

DE-WRINKLING PLASTIC — To remove wrinkles from plastic tablecloths, just put them into the dryer on low along with a couple of bath towels for a few minutes. They come out smooth and wrinkle-free. Winnie K. Homer, Mich.

BROWN IT — When your gravy doesn't brown properly, it's usually because the meat is a bit on the rare side. Simply add one-fourth teaspoon of instant coffee to the gravy and heat. It works like magic. Marilyn E. Johnson City, Tenn.

CLEAN REFLECTORS — To keep cooking range reflector bowls looking nice, I cover mine with aluminum foil. The burner pan continues to reflect and I just tear off the foil when it becomes soiled and replace it. Francine P. Barre, Vt.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Mrs. K. asks: "Why are my teeth sensitive after I have fillings done?"

When decay is removed from a tooth, the nerve inside the tooth is stimulated or woken up.

As teeth decay, the decay acts as a protective layer in between the nerve, and the outside. No pain is felt till the decay gets very close to the nerve.

When this "protective layer" is removed and a fresh filling is put in its place, temperature changes are felt more easily, at least for a few weeks afterward. After a while, depending on how large the filling is the nerve settles down and the sensitivity will go away.

If however, the sensitivity does not go away in a few weeks there may be a problem, so it is very important to contact your general dentist as soon as possible.

If there are any further questions, that you're unsure of, just give us a call.

PAIN — PAIN — PAIN —
How would you like to live with intermittent pain for forty years, and no medical doctor around to give comfort, except through an operation? Well — I was a certified tri-facial neuralgia patient via the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center's Neurological Institute. My first visit to the Medical Center in New York was in 1940. It wasn't until a visit in 1943 that hospital doctors subjected me to a spinal tap. The French gave a word for tri-facial neuralgia — it's called trigèminisme douloureux. I was told by medical doctors it was a disorder of the fifth nerve, and to make me forever free of the pain, they would have to open the skull, lift the brain, and cut the nerve at its root. The end result would be no feeling on the left side of my face — I wouldn't even feel a lighted cigarette against my cheek. The doctors warned me I stood a 50/50 chance of going blind in my left eye if I submitted to the operation. I found no comfort in that warning. As a matter of fact, it gave me great concern. What if I agreed to

It may be hard for some medical people to believe, but acupuncture solved my facial pain. I have reason to be a great advocate of acupuncture. It helped me. After forty years, I am no longer required to live with the pain that kept me sleepless these many years.

Belleville Times SPORTS

Part Two of a Series

As the Belleville freshman wrestling team entered its third season of existence in 1970, coach Dennis Villano felt the program was beginning to take off.

The interest in wrestling was beginning to pick up in the early 70's on the lower level in town. The Bellboys competed in the prestigious Essex Catholic freshman tourney in the '70-'71 season and while the team didn't fare too well, the athletes battled hard.

"It wasn't from a lack of effort," Villano said of his teams low showing in that first tourney. "Some of it was inexperience on my part, I was new to the sport and I made some mistakes as well."

In 1970, the team captains were Craig Davis and Kenny Ferris. Ferris was an excellent grappler, as was Ralph Fabiano, Chuck Rilli and Bob Cozzarelli.

"We finished 3-2-1 that year," Villano recalled. "The tie was against Essex Catholic, the only time in my career that we didn't beat Essex. My brother Kenny wrestled for Essex during his career. That season, he pinned Steve Andrews at 136 pounds and that led to the tie. We had excellent success against Essex Catholic on the freshman level, but the varsity had some huge battles with them."

Buc Shots

By Mike Lamberti

In the early 70's, Essex Catholic was known as one of the best teams in the county. In the 1974-75 season, Belleville posted a big win over the Eagles, rallying from a five point deficit in the heavyweight class when sophomore George D'Allesandro pinned his man for the win.

Jim Silvestri was coach of that team. Two years later, Silvestri resigned his post as wrestling mentor to become Belleville Athletic Director. Replacing Silvestri was Gene D'Allesandro, who had led the Essex Catholic machine for many years. After D'Allesandro arrived, the Bucs dominated the Eagles for the next ten seasons.

Bucs Post First Undefeated Season in '71-72

After a promising 3-2-1 season in 1970-71, Belleville began a string of three straight undefeated seasons. In 1971-72, the Bellboys finished 7-0 and were third in the Essex Catholic tournament.

"The Essex Catholic tourney had some excellent teams," Villano said. "It was the premier freshman tournament in the area. West Essex, Seton Hall and Essex Catholic were some of the top teams in the tournament."

Leading the '71-72 squad were captain Anthony Villano, Roger Luzzi Tom Cairo and Mark Cosenzo. Cairo was an eighth grader that season and wrestled at the 115 pound slot. Cairo, a 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, is still wrestling today. However he is a little heavier than the 115 he grappled at some 15 years ago. Approximately 115 pounds heavier.

"That team was the beginning of a three year dynasty," said Villano. "It put us on the map."

'73 Bellboys Win Essex Catholic Tourney

Take a look at the 1973 team and you'll see the names of athletes who went on to stardom on the varsity level. The '73 freshman were the high school graduating class of '76 and in the winter of '76, the Bellboys posted a win over Pascack Hills that will go down as one of the biggest wins in school history.

Pascack Hills was a wrestling machine that had won 56 straight matches over a six year period. In 1976, Belleville beat Pascack, 29-25 and many members of the '73 freshman team contributed to that win.

Some of the leaders of the '73 freshman were, Carl Arlt, Vin Mustacchio, Keith Waddell, Robert Villano, Chris Tremmel, Michael (Meech) Ferrara, Michael De Joseph, Ken Milano and Andy Schenke.

The Bellboys were 7-0 that year and breezed through the Essex Catholic tournament, taking six first place medals.

Villano had some good memories from that team. "Robert (Villano) had a nose for the big matches, he knew how to win. Chris (Tremmel) was tough, he knew his moves and was a punishing wrestler. Vinnie (Mustacchio) was smooth and slick on the mat."

Villano tells a story about Waddell and his amazing success in his freshman year.

"Keith was a worker, people bled when they worked with him in practice. He always gave 125 percent. Anyhow, he was 1-3 heading into the Essex Catholic tourney. I really didn't know what to expect from him. He pins one of the top wrestlers in the quarter finals. He continues to do well, pinning his man in the semi finals."

"He gets to the finals, and the opponent is a very tough wrestler from Nutley. I knew Keith couldn't outmuscle him, so I told him to use finesse. He used his moves beautifully and pinned his man for the championship."

"The success he had in that tourney really picked up his career. It boosted his confidence and he went on to a very good season. Keith never quit on himself, and that was a trademark of all the teams."

While Villano is known as the coach of the Belleville freshman teams, he is quick to admit that he wasn't alone in the success of the teams.

"I received a great deal of help from Gerard Risoli and Bobby Arlt. Those guys gave everything to the program. They worked with the younger kids and dedicated so much of their time. We couldn't have been as successful if it weren't for their dedication."

Another trademark of the '73 team was the new warmups that were presented to the athletes.

"We were a good looking team," Villano recalled. "Sy Grossman (then the principal of the Junior High School) outfitted our team back then. That was the beginning of the warm up era."

Next week, we'll continue our look at the program by checking out the 1973-74 squad. That team also marked the beginning of the "family". More on that and other teams will appear in next weeks issue. Stay tuned.

Summer hoopsters take 2 out of 3

Good week for the Bucs

The Belleville boys' basketball team had a good week in the Elizabeth league, winning two games in three tries, including a victory in the first round of the playoffs.

The Bucs were scheduled to battle Ferris High School last Tuesday in the playoff quarterfinals at Dunn Arena, in Elizabeth. If Belleville won, it would advance to the semis, scheduled for last night. The championship game is slated for tonight, at 7:30 p.m. from the Dunn Arena.

Last week, Don Roll's club up-ended Don Bosco Tech and Clark, the later victory coming in the first round of the playoffs. The only loss was a close 64-60 setback to Elizabeth last Tuesday night.

Versus Elizabeth, the Bucs gave a good account of themselves against a solid club.

"We stayed with them," Roll said. "Elizabeth was playing its top club, so this was a good test for us. We could have won. We played without three of our regulars (Ray Zamloot, Chris Chiarmonte and Steve Schwed). It was a good test for the kids, though."

Ted Sochaski played another fine game for Belleville, scoring 36 points. Doug Hoogendyke continued his fine play in the summer league, scoring eight points. Leon Puentes and Dominick Straface had six points each and Dom Trezza and Chris Young had two points a piece.

The Don Bosco Tech contest was a back and forth affair, with the Bucs winning in the final seconds. A turn around jumper by Sochaski with :10 left in regulation time, was the game winner for Belleville, as the Bucs won, 46-45.

Once again, Sochaski led the Belleville attack, this time with 18 points. Puentes played well, hitting for 12. Straface closed with seven points, Zamloot had five, Trezza finished with two and Hoogendyke had one point.

In the playoff game with Clark, Belleville used a steady scoring attack and advanced with a 58-49 win.

The Bucs had only five players for the contest, but each athlete gave an excellent account of himself.

"The odds didn't look too good coming in," Roll said. "We had no substitutes. We played with two seniors and three sophomores. The younger kids really did a good job. It was an excellent effort."

Puentes led the Belleville offense with 26 points. He sank two three point baskets. Sochaski finished with 22 and played an excellent game on the boards.

Hoogendyke and Tommy La had four points each and Andy Duhaime had two points.

"We shot well from the foul line," Roll said. "Leon and Teddy hit some big shots down the stretch. I think we hit 9 of 10 from the foul line in the last quarter, which is where we won the game. Duhaime had some key rebounds for us."

Some of the players were on vacation and Trezza was out with a sprained ankle. Roll was hopeful that Schwed and Chiarmonte would be back for the quarterfinal contest with Ferris last Tuesday.

NOTES: In the win over Clark, Bucs scored 14 points in the first, second and third quarters and 16 in the final frame. If Belleville beat Ferris, it was slated to play the winner of Bridgewater West-Roselle Catholic in the semis last night. Ferris was undefeated in summer league play heading into Tuesday night. Bucs have been playing very well of late in the Elizabeth League, which has to be encouraging to coach Roll.

Coach Senesky recalls his best game

Flashback! '62 Bellboys

Buccaneer football coach John Senesky recalls the 1962 Belleville-Nutley football game as his most memorable as a player. The '62 Bellboys had an outstanding team, one that lost just one game all season. The game with Nutley had been rained out from its original date in October and was rescheduled for Saturday, November 17, 1962. The article appeared in the November 20, 1962 issue.

How were things back in '62? Well, the average rental for a three room apartment was $75.00 a month. A new house in Belleville or Nutley ran for approximately $20,000.00. You could buy a used '57 Chrysler for about $450.00. Today, if you tried to buy a used '57 Chrysler, or any '57 auto, it could run you into the thousands.

John F. Kennedy was our nation's president. William A. Sommers was the Town Manager. James R. Golden, in a speech made at the annual convention of the League of Municipalities in Atlantic City, publicly endorsed off track gambling as a means of raising revenue. The article on the Belleville football game was written by Ray Fersko.

For the first time in nine years, the Bellboys stunned Nutley's Maroon Raiders by an impressive 33-12 score. Led by the outstanding running of Grecco, Luzzi, Tomaszewski and Senesky, Belleville proved its strength as a Group IV championship contender.

Richie Benciveni kicked off for Nutley and Belleville's Pat Valesse ran it up to the 50. After a quick dive play by Tomaszewski and a 30 yard run off tackle by Luzzi, Senesky misused and Nutley took over.

With Tommy Bogdon at control, Nutley couldn't move an inch against the sturdy Bellboy defense.

Three plays later, Belleville took possession inside the Nutley 40. From here, the Bellboys worked up field with a pass to Pomponio, an end run by 130 lb Grecco and a Senesky dive play. Then, with third down and six yards to go, Latore beautifully mastered a handoff to John Senesky, who paced six yards around right end for the tally. Luzzi's placement was good.

Senesky kicked off for Belleville and Nutley's Bob Lembo ran it up to his own 23. Two plays later, alert Luzzi intercepted the ball for Belleville and the Blue and Gold began patterning toward the goal with two runs by Grecco and finally the score by Tomaszewski, who barreled over the middle, taking three Nutley men with him. Luzzi's kick failed.

Blasi Di Girolamo received the next kick for Nutley and ran it up to the Maroon 40. Once again, Nutley was forced to get rid of the ball and the Bellboys took over.

Hard at work raising money

Crew Bucs plan for '88

The crew season isn't scheduled to begin for another seven months, but those associated with the program are beginning preparations for the 1988 season.

The Belleville Crew Parents and Alumni Association is hard at work in raising money for the team. The President of the Association, Teresa Cassin, writes in the latest newsletter, that the fund raising is underway.

Cassin notes the excitement generated from the championships at the Statesbury and Goodwill Regattas and the national titles brought home by the girls team in the early 1980's.

"That feeling is alive and well and is continuing as the athletes of Belleville Crew continue to dominate the rivers of the Northeast. What is missing, however, is the financial support from the Board of Education due to the many budget defeats and cutbacks in the athletic budget."

The report also states that the team shells are becoming outdated. What Cassin and her Association are asking is that the friends and parents of the crew team purchase a shell for an inch at a time. For $10.00, you can help to buy new equipment and insure that winning tradition that has become synonymous with Belleville crew.

The names of all the participating people in the drive will be placed on the plaque in the boathouse. Any persons, family or business that purchases a foot or more will have a name plate in their honor installed inside the shell itself.

The newsletter concludes by saying that the Bucs compete against much larger teams from tremendous resources and a larger number of athletes to choose from. Belleville, on the other hand, has smaller resources, but superior athletes. Please help to support the team with the inch a time campaign that is beginning in earnest.

There will be more on the campaign in upcoming issues.

Don't Expect Him To Sit Still — The only walk spot in Whiteley's mind is that his starting pitching is somewhat suspect. If the Mavs start to make a move on the Cards after the All-Star break, look for Herge to swing a deal. Currently, there are such pitchers as Eric Show of San Diego, Rich Dotson and Alamo Banister of the White Sox, and Mike Smithson of the Twins on the trading block. However, don't be surprised if Herge swings a longer deal let us all remember that Whiteley is the same man who scored deals for Bruce Sutter and Rollie Fingers in the same winter, nearly a few years back.

Belleville is the town known for its blue and gold. It was just 150 years old.

A town once known for its hills and farms. But all has changed without alarm. It has a lot of people and a lot of houses, too. Something still old, but many things new. Where once were fields now are streets. Belleville is a town that no one beats.

State senate approves Crecco child abuse and neglect bill

Legislation introduced by Assemblyman Bob Franks (R-Union) and Assemblywoman Marion Crecco (R-Essex) that would amend the state child abuse and neglect laws to strengthen the investigative process has been approved by the State Senate and sent to the governor's desk for approval.

The bill, A-2575, focuses on child abuse in public and private institutions in the state. It would require anyone with a reasonable belief that a child has been abused to report that incident immediately to the state Division of Youth and Family Services.

"Child abuse is one of society's worst evils. We need to remove child abusers from our state institutions, and do it as soon as possible," said Crecco, vice-chair of the Assembly State Government Committee.

The bill would define "abuse" in an institution as "the willful isolation of a child from ordinary social contact under circumstances which indicate emotional or social deprivation; or the using of excessive physical restraint on the child under circumstances which do not indicate that the child's behavior is harmful to himself, others or property."

The bill would also amend the definition of "neglect" to include the continued inappropriate placement of a child in an institution with the knowledge that the placement has resulted and may continue to result in harm to the child's mental or physical well-being.

The legislation would provide that a teacher, employee, volunteer or staff person of an institution who is alleged to have committed an act of child abuse would be temporarily suspended with pay, or reassigned to other duties which would remove the risk of harm to the child, if there was reasonable cause to believe that it was in the best interests of the child or other children.

Pet Care

by Cleo & Brad Conrad

Talking to people who run animal shelters is a heart-rending experience. They tell sad stories of animals who are given to shelters because the owners simply didn't want the responsibility of them anymore. The excuses ranged from the animal not being housebroken to being tired of walking them, etc. Many of these pets are already two and three years old. Also, as anyone knows, a dog who is not housebroken by that age (the fault of the owner, of course) is not desirable as a pet. The animal shelters do the best they can, but many of these animals are destroyed because there simply isn't room to handle all of them. If they're not adopted within a certain amount of time, they have to be killed. Many of the attendants we spoke with wept openly when telling of how sad it is to do that to an animal who is gentle and loving and an innocent victim.

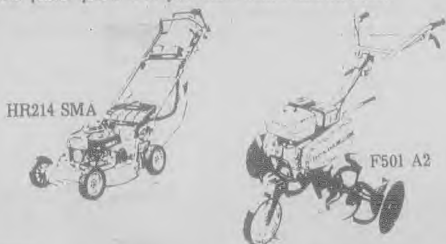

While this situation is abominable, at least these people think enough to take their unwanted cats and dogs to a shelter. At least there, the animal has some chance. However, there are many people who simply take the animal for a ride and just abandon it. That's why we see so many dead cats and dogs along highways. That is beyond cruel; it is inhuman. Those abandoned animals suffer fear, hunger, pain and an eventual painful death, either by malnutrition or by getting hit by a car.

Please, those of you who are perhaps contemplating such a thing, or know of someone who is, consider taking the animal to a shelter or the local S.P.C.A. Better yet, if you see such an incident, try to get the license plate of the car and report it to the police. There are laws in many states against this atrocity.

Attention Realtors!

This special section was created for you and contains editorial copy submitted by you, geared to your local market. An interesting and appealing section that our readers look forward to each week and keep as a handy reference guide. This section is the perfect advertising vehicle for you, the realtors.

If you believe that the only place to publish your listings is in the larger circulation dailies, or your town paper only, you're missing out on a market that is right at your fingertips. When a family is looking to purchase a home, they are willing to move outside of their town — if the price is right and the location near enough to meet their needs.

We all know that:

visibility opens the door to sales.

What better way to be visible than to publish your weekly listing right here in this special realtor's page where it will be seen by a select readership with one of the highest degrees of purchasing power and discretionary income in Essex County.

The readers of:

The Nutley Sun
Belleville Times
Bloomfield Life

American School holds courses

American School of Real Estate is approved by the New Jersey Real Estate Commission to conduct license preparation courses for the real estate salesperson and broker.

The economic importance of real estate today demands a higher professional level for all persons dealing real estate with an increased emphasis on educational requirements. Also, every state requires that a person engaged as a professional in the real estate business, either as a broker or a salesperson, must be licensed, and in each case, a state examination is a prerequisite for a license.

The owners and teaching staff at American School of Real Estate have been involved in education and sales throughout the country for many years.

Charles E. Davies is a recognized leader in the real estate education field. A nationally known trainer of sales and management through seminars and office programs has assisted more than 10,000 salespersons in obtaining their license and improving the sales skills.

American School of Real Estate is located at 642 Bloomfield Avenue in Verona.

Please call for more information and a free brochure, 239-1216.

Going back to school: A signal that another summer has ended

The end of summer means the start of another school year and with this, the start of a new semester. Students are already being introduced to the first semester of a new school year.

Along with the popular notebook and pencil, students should consider some other materials to ease the oncoming school year.

The electronic voice recorder is a popular item for students. It can be used to record lectures, notes, and other information for use in the classroom.

Another item of interest for students is a calculator. It can be used to calculate grades, interest, and other financial information.

Students of the middle level should also consider a dictionary. It can be used to look up words and definitions, and it can be used to check spelling.

It is a good idea to have these items on hand at the start of the school year.

GIVE YOUR CHILDREN THE EDGE THEY NEED...with a personal computer that helps them reach their educational goals. With Commodore's powerful, yet easy-to-use Amiga, students will find book reports, term papers and special projects more enjoyable and easier to prepare. They also can perfect math skills, learn foreign languages, create colorful artwork and even compose music with the growing library of affordable software. Priced under $700, the Amiga 500 can be used by young children, students and adults, too.

Students of any age will benefit from good organization. It takes some work, but concentrated study and planning will yield rewards well worth the effort. Here are some "ABCs" to help keep study time hassle-free.

• Appoint a time — It may not be possible every day, but a basic schedule for hitting the books creates a routine that will build good study habits.

• Be ready — Keep necessary supplies (tape, scissors, ruler, pens and pencils, stapler, paper clips, stamps) at your fingertips to save time and avoid frustration. Use plastic interlocking drawer organizers or baskets to separate small items.

• Cancel interruptions — Keep a message center handy by the phone. If you get a call, plan a time to return the call so you can talk freely without the burden of work waiting. Let friends know your schedule so they're less likely to call during study hours.

• Desk privacy in demand? — Put up a memo board to let others know you prefer not to be disturbed; kids will be more inclined to leave a message if you make it fun to write it down.

Plan your most taxing projects during hours when the house is quiet. Screen off your desk area if necessary.

Tip: A new memo board product by Con-Tact® Brand Coverings is self-adhesive, and comes in a two-yard roll so you just cut and apply what you need. Then write and erase messages with an erasable felt-tipped marker.

• Excellent support — Choose your desk chair wisely. It should swivel and offer firm support. The back should be adjustable, as should the height.

• Find a good light! — A good study lamp is a must. A shade open at the top can minimize glare; adjustable lamps offer flexible lighting. A 200-watt incandescent bulb is best.

• Get it together — A new home office system from Rubbermaid lets you design your own space to suit your needs. Build vertically with such units as stationery and letter trays that stack.

Or store horizontally with organizers for envelopes, file folders, magazines, messages and card files. File boxes are designed to hold hanging files, cancelled checks, tape cassettes and more.

• Hum a tune — If music helps you study, go for it. If not, the soft whirr of a fan in the background may mask other sounds. Pick a spot that works for you, whether it's in the den, the bedroom or a corner of the kitchen.

• Identify with color — Color code file folders for each school subject. Today's office products come in colors like red, slate blue, smoke and almond so you can color code the products that hold your paperwork as well.

TREAT YOURSELF TO SOMETHING SPECIAL NOW THAT THE KIDS ARE BACK IN SCHOOL

With summer over and the kids back in school, now is the perfect opportunity to take advantage of those extra hours and do something just for you!

The list of possibilities is endless. Spend the afternoon in the serenity of a local museum or, for something completely different, get your heart pumping in an aerobics class.

Investigate doing volunteer work, get tickets to your favorite ballet or the theatre, or go back to school yourself!

It's also time to reclaim the refrigerator. Cut down on the fattening goodies stored for the children all summer long, and fill it with healthy, low calorie foods you like, such as fresh fruit and vegetables, salads and, for a bit of remorseless indulgence, a Shamitoff frozen fruit novelty!

Made of fresh fruit and 100 percent natural ingredients, they are delicious, nutritious and very low in calories.

It may well take you the entire school year to try all the Shamitoff treats in their mouthwatering array of flavors.

But don't worry, even the sinfully rich Chocolate Fruit Sundae Bar has a mere 200 calories — the same as a Dannon vanilla yogurt!

So, no matter how you've decided to spend the school year — writing the great American novel, getting ready to become the new Jane Fonda at the gym — enjoy! But, don't delay! Summer will be back before you know it.

COLLEGE BOUND

Where can prospective college students get the best deal on a bachelor's degree?

The best deal is at conveniently located Kean College of New Jersey, a four-year State college that offers the advantages of high quality, low cost and great variety.

When classes begin on Sept. 8 full time students carrying a load of 12 credits will be paying $55.25 a credit including fees for a total semester (half year) at $663. That's 1,326 including fees for the year.

Many Kean graduates go on to prestigious graduate schools of law, science and business. Kean graduates also land good jobs in local business and industry.

Quality is assured because Kean College is in its third year of pursuing its mission of excellence and equity under $3.9 million Governor's Challenge Grant. What this means is that the College is recognized as being committed to perfecting high standards of teaching.

Kean College also has been perfecting its programming to guarantee that its graduates will be "educated" as well as "trained" in their specific fields of expertise. Kean's required course structure undergoes continued upgrading with great emphasis on liberal arts courses for students in all areas of study. In addition, everyone is computer competent at graduation.

The aim is to prepare Kean students to function as productive members of the 21st century society which will be global and in constant change. A foundation in the underpinnings of Western civilization and an understanding of other cultures gives Kean graduates a solid base.

With that base in mind, the students also train in such areas as technology, health sciences and business. This year the technology department will build a $1.8 million dollar addition to house more facilities for computer integrated design and manufacturing and robotics.

Close ties have been formed with industry and with labor to share equipment and training in the technology department. Ties with business also are growing through the Co-operative education program that draws largely on the College's business majors.

As a matter of fact, Kean College's business curriculum is one of the largest in the State of New Jersey and beginning Sept. 1 will be the center piece of a fourth academic school — the School of Business, Government and Technology.

Kean's other schools are the School of Liberal Arts, the School of Natural Sciences, Nursing and Mathematics, and the School of Education. Kean College also offers several masters degrees in education, liberal arts and public administration.

Kean College offers opportunity to people of all ages, backgrounds, and interests. Some other areas of study at Kean include communications, theatre, fine arts, computer science, music, mathematics, sociology, physics, chemistry, health-related sciences, meteorology, geology, oceanography, medical record administration, athletic training, physical therapy, occupational therapy.

Additional information is available from admissions, 527-2195.

Excellence at Kean College is central, but Kean also is committed to equity. To accomplish this, Kean reaches out into the inner cities with 20 full urban scholarships each year for highly qualified high school graduates.

Kean also reaches into the urban areas to nudge average high school students into a "college attitude" with its bridge program. This year 80 students will be taking college courses at Kean while still in high school. Last year 40 students were involved and achieved a 90 percent success rate.

Kean College is a big/little school. It's big because there are so many career choices and options open to its students. There also is a "big school" social life with top rock and classical acts making appearances and numerous social, professional, fraternal and athletic activities — (two swimming pools).

It's little because Kean is aware that the College experience can be bewildering to freshmen, transfer students, and re-entry and first entry adults. To ease the transition there is the Freshman Center, Adult Advisory Services, and the fact that there are no teaching assistants. Each professor, most often with the highest degree available, teaches his or her own course and classes are relatively small.

In addition to that, Kean College people believe their motto — "We Take Your Future Personally."

Although there is housing for some 1,200 available on campus, most of Kean's 12,000 students reside at home and commute to the College which is located at North Avenue and Morris Avenue in Union at the convergence of Union, Hillside and Elizabeth (Routes 82 and 439).

Major roads convenient to the College include the Garden State Parkway, the New Jersey Turnpike, Route 1 & 9, Route 22 and Route 78. The College also is accessible by train and bus.

We take your future personally.

At Kean College of New Jersey, more than 350 full-time professors take an active interest in you and your future. Their commitment to excellence means your assurance of a quality education that will put you ahead in the job market.

"The education I received at Kean was a quality one. Its diverse curriculum, coupled with the extracurricular activities on campus, afforded an excellent balance to prepare me for the business world."

M. Diane Seymour
Assistant Vice President
Personal Financial Services Division
Jardine, Ernst & Chandler, New Jersey

"I took an adult student and received the personal attention that enabled me to graduate a year earlier than expected. My college degree has given me opportunities I would not have had otherwise."

James O'Connor
Manufacturing Consultant
Hewlett-Packard Co.

In keeping step with the ever-expanding uses of computers, Kean offers relevant course work in each of its major disciplines. All Kean graduates are computer competent... prepared for the future with both a professional and a strong liberal arts background.

Close, cooperative ties with local business, industry and governmental agencies enable Kean students to gain a working knowledge in their various fields of interest. Together with easily accessible academic, financial and career counseling, the Kean experience personalizes the road to success.

We invite you to visit our campus and discover first-hand what Kean has to offer you. Tours are offered at 10 a.m. every Friday.

The Kean campus is centrally located in suburban Union County, easily accessible from the New Jersey Turnpike, Garden State Parkway and US Route 22.
