Engineer's fee negotiated as

Commission tables police station vote

By Pat Brightman

The Belleville Board of Commissioners, by a 3-2 margin, voted to table the awarding of bids for construction of the proposed public safety building.

Commissioners Vincent Frantantoni, Angelo Risoli, and Joseph McGreevey voted to table while Mayor Michael Pizzi and Commissioner Joseph Fornarotto felt an urgency to vote.

"I say we vote on it," said Fornarotto. "Let's quit fooling the public and get it over with."

"We've been in office for eight months now," agreed Pizzi, "I don't think one more week (of waiting) will make a difference."

"If we don't build the building now it will never be built," Pizzi said, "because in the next couple of years the cost will be double or triple what it is now."

According to Fornarotto and Frantantoni the cost for the proposed building will be about $5.1 million if approved as it is now. The owner's representative contract is being negotiated in the hopes it can be reduced by approximately $150,000.

Neil Siciliano is acting as the owner representative and has advised the board in regards to the construction of the proposed building.

"We have a verbal commitment, but I want to wait until we have something in writing before I vote on it," said Frantantoni.

Bids would have been awarded to five separate companies for general construction; communications and detention; heating, ventilation and air conditioning systems; plumbing and fire protection; electrical, and storm drain lining, for a grand total of $3,685,880.

General construction may incur the largest amount, $2,458,889. The other costs: communications, $495,000; heating, ventilation and air conditioning, $286,000; plumbing and fire protection, $194,000; electrical, $235,000, and storm drain, $16,991.

The approximately $3.7 million does not include such items as furniture, the parking deck, and architectural and engineering fees, which vaults the project over the $5 million cap.

Frantantoni said the parking deck will not be built but vacant land on Valley St. may be bought and turned into a parking area, costing the town $209,000.

Fornarotto offered an alternative plan to the commissioners, suggesting expanding the present building to give more room to the police department and town clerk's office. This idea, which Fornarotto presented with his own diagram, would only cost between $1 million and $1.5 million, according to Fornarotto.

"So we wait another year before the building is done," he said, "but baby...

The first Belleville baby in 1988 is Mark Malanga Jr., born Jan. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in Clara Maass Medical Center.

Mark Jr., seven pounds and six ounces of happiness, is the first child of Mark and Gina Malanga of South Wilber St. and arrived three days ahead of schedule, Gina said.

"Labor was very fast," described Malanga. "I was lucky, it was only five hours. My doctor didn't make it so her husband, who is also a doctor, delivered it instead, it was all in the family," she said with a laugh.

The husband and wife doctor team was John and Tedra Sesta M.D., on Franklin Ave. in Nutley. With the honor of being the first baby born in the new year, Mark and his family were presented with gifts from local businesses by Belleville Chamber of Commerce President Shirlee Sherman.

The contributors were: Belleville Public Library, Crown Chevrolet, Supermarkets General, Sherman's, Washington Hotel, Rossmore Pharmacy, Milts Photo, Orechio Publications, Flowerama, Pro Lumber, Bella Casa, 1st Jersey National Bank, Everready Label, Kondreck Studios, Clara Maass Medical Center, PNC Inc., K-Mart, Plaza Men, Belleville Tea, Gino's, Charles Jeweler's, and an anonymous business.

Senator hails bill to find homes for aged

An important legislative initiative that helps senior citizens find affordable housing has been signed into law by Governor Thomas Kean according to Senator Carmen A. Orechio, D-30th Dist.

Assembly Bill 1644 establishes a five county demonstration program aimed at coordination of information concerning senior citizen housing alternatives, assessment of the housing needs of local seniors and provisions for technical assistance to individuals and groups in the development of more effective and efficient senior citizen housing services.

"Along with health care cost concerns, addressing affordable housing needs for the elderly must be a top priority," said Senator Orechio. "This new law will give counties better resources to provide assistance and coordination in this critical area," he added.

Counties may apply to the State Division on Aging in the Department of Community Affairs to hire staff personnel and pay for administrative costs incurred in the establishment of such programs.

Catastrophic Illness

Orechio was a key sponsor of the second bill signed in to law by Kean, S.1550, which establishes the Catastrophic Illness in Children Relief Fund that will now provide financial reimbursement for the cost of medical treatment, hospital care, drugs, nursing care and physician's services to families with children having catastrophic illnesses.

As defined by the law, a catastrophic illness is any in which the medical expenses are not covered by other state or federal assistance or any insurance contract and exceeds 30-percent of the family's gross income.

"It is quite clear that most families lack protection against the high cost of chronic or single episode illnesses of a serious nature that may destroy their resources," Orechio said. "These potentially devastating financial consequences, however, should not stand in the way of proper medical treatment. This program will reduce the impact of situations that often threaten to push families into bankruptcy."

A look at the roots of the "money tree"

$750 G's spent on municipal construction plans

By Christopher Bifani

"What do they think we got going here, a money tree?"

The citizen was mumbling aloud his displeasure with the Belleville Commission's steady stream of payment resolutions for proposed municipal construction.

The scene was one of the last meetings before the May, 1987 Commission election. The "money tree" comment followed angry charges by another citizen that a half million dollars had already been expended on the planning of the project, which has been bitterly opposed by many tax-paying townspeople.

Nine months later the figure stands at three quarters of a million dollars, and the list of expenditures includes payments to a host of firms that worked on both the originally proposed $10 million municipal complex as well as the current proposal, a scaled-back $5 million police station planned for Belleville Avenue.

Approved by past Commission

Approval for the two projects stems from the previous Belleville Commission, which included former Mayor Michael Marotti, Police & Fire Commissioner Ralph DiRuggiero, Public Works Commissioner Joseph Grande, Finance Commissioner Joseph McGreevey and Commissioner Pizzi, then the public affairs commissioner.

That roster of town fathers appointed the Manhattan architectural firm of Beckard-Richlan Associates to design a new municipal structure and unanimously approved the original plan in 1986, authorizing a $10 million bond to pay for it - which Belleville would return with interest over 20 years. When townspeople mobilized an overwhelming opposition to the plan, the Commission compromised with a unanimous resolution, authorizing only a police facility and a bond of $5 million to pay for it.

A committee of citizens was formed by Marotti to make recom-

Town bank completes stock offering

Michael J. Quigley, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of First DeWitt Savings, has announced the completion of its sale of a 3.175-million share stock offering. First DeWitt converted from a New Jersey mutual savings & loan association to a New Jersey stockholder form of ownership.

Prior to public trading, which started on Friday, December 18th, the stock was subscribed to at a price of $5.50 per share within the communities in which the Association's 11 offices are located. Mr. Quigley stated that the underwriting, conducted by Ryan Beck & Co. of West Orange, was an immediate and total success despite the recent turbulence in the stock market and resulting adverse news. He credited the quick acceptance and strong performance of the community offering to the superior financial position of the Association, its profitability, its excellent liquidity, its strong reserves, its recent rapid growth, and its optimistic outlook for future financial growth expansion. "These factors contributed to the highly enthusiastic response to the community offering," Mr. Quigley said.

Bruce Chodash, Executive Vice President of Ryan Beck said that the public recognized the strength and quality of First DeWitt snapping up the first offering which was oversubscribed.

"This is a well-managed and attractive savings institution," he said. "Investors responded to the opportunity of sharing ownership in it. We are pleased that the sale was concluded expeditiously at a time when thrifths everywhere in the country are finding it difficult to obtain financing for their capital structures."

The stock was listed on NASDAQ, effective Friday, December 18th under the symbol FSFI, where 33,100 shares were traded. FSFI stands for First State Financial Services, Inc., the new holding company for First DeWitt.

First DeWitt, at the conclusion of its fiscal year on November 30th, had $402-million in assets and $330-million in deposits. It earned $3.5-million during the year. Its reserves, prior to the conversion, were double federal regulations. In the past three years its assets have grown at a $50-million per year rate. The Association has 11 offices throughout northern and central New Jersey.

The funds raised through the offering will be used to enhance the Association's lending and investment capabilities, allow further expansion, strengthen surplus capital, and provide access to future capital markets.

Pain in the chest

By Lou Citarelli
Dr. Dan Marucci

Dear Dr. Citarelli:
A relative of mine was recently hospitalized with chest pain, which was eventually diagnosed as variant antina, or Prinzmetal's angina. I also have angina, yet have never heard of this disease. Could you explain it in greater detail? W.A. of Belleville...

Answer:
In order to fully answer your question, you must first have an understanding of angina pectoris, which is the most common type of angina.

Angina pectoris is chest discomfort which results from a temporary loss of blood flow caused by poor circulation in the coronary arteries. These coronary arteries, which supply the heart tissue with blood, are often narrowed as a result of atherosclerosis. The usual cause of atherosclerosis is the build-up of fatty deposits within the walls of the blood vessels. Some of the well-known factors of atherosclerosis include smoking, high blood cholesterol levels, and heredity.

Classically, the symptoms of angina pectoris occur in response to physical exertion of emotional stress, and are relieved by rest. These symptoms include chest pain or pressure, tightness, or a squeezing sensation, most commonly localized to the mid-chest, but often traveling to the neck, arm, or shoulder.

Prinzmetal's or variant angina, describes a syndrome of chest pain often unrelated to exertion, and appears to be due to a spasm of the muscles in the walls of the coronary arteries, as versus the blockage of the coronary arteries in the angina pectoris as described above. The cause of this coronary spasm is unknown. Often patients may have a component of both types of angina. A careful history and physical examination, as well as an electrocardiogram, is helpful in allowing the doctor to be able to correctly diagnose which type of angina the patient may have.

Remember, when you are confused or unclear about your medical condition, ask your doctor. Dear Dr. Marucci:

I am a middle-aged female who has been under treatment for diabetes mellitus which was discovered almost a year ago. Since being on medication and watching my diet, the diabetes has been well-controlled. On a recent visit to my doctor to check my condition, he questioned me if I had been to my eye doctor for any annual exam. I replied that my vision has been fine, and I felt no need to be checked. He then insisted I get checked anyway. What is the reason I need to be checked, and is it related to my diabetes in any way? C.F. Belleville.

Answer:
Your doctor is absolutely correct in asking you to have a regular eye exam. Diabetes mellitus is a disease with many associated complications, some of which can affect the eye. These include cataracts, glaucoma, and diabetic retinopathy, which is an inflammation and degeneration of the retina of the eye. The longer you have diabetes, the greater the chances of developing these eye complications. Fortunately, treatment is available, and the earlier these complications are discovered, the better they may be treated. In our practice, we recommend to our diabetic patients to undergo yearly evaluations by their eye doctor, in hopes of preventing these complications.

Officials plan for potential emergency chemical situations

A group of state, county and local officials from around Essex County will meet with representatives of the chemical industry January 26 to discuss ways of meeting possible emergency situations involving hazardous materials.

Officials from all 22 communities in the county have been invited to the meeting, which will be held at Nutley Town Hall at 7:30 p.m. said State Senator Carmen A. Orechio, who will serve as chairman. He is also a member of the Nutley Township Commission and serves as public safety director.

The goal is to create a Hazardous Materials Advisory Committee (HMAC), which would explore the potentials for hazardous material emergencies and devise ways to counter the dangers.

"HMAC's are already active in other counties," Orechio said, "and are very successful in suggesting strategies to reduce risk and to maximize the use of available federal, state, municipal and private resources during emergencies."

Ray Visconti, coordinator of emergency management for Essex County, has invited members of all local police and fire departments as well as personnel from the sheriff's office to join municipal officials and industry representatives at the session.

Peterkin co-chairs

Serving as co-chairman will be Chief Elliott Peterkin of the East Orange Fire Department, who described the HMAC as "...a bridge between government and industry."

"Industry can always use better relations with government and conversely, response agencies and government can use the resources and expertise that industry can provide. And the beneficiary is the public at large, because our communities are better protected," Peterkin added.

Peterkin said that HMAC's prepare for emergencies in a number of ways, compiling a thorough list of all chemicals and other materials that could be hazardous, and finding out what resources exist to deal with an emergency. From this data plans can be made for special training for personnel who would respond to emergencies.

On the meeting's agenda will be the formation of committees to identify the potential hazards, development of coordinated response plans and training sessions for public safety personnel.

Visconti said that members of the public are welcome to attend the session and can obtain further information from his office at 857-3925.

25 YEARS AGO

January 10, 1963...Police were able to bag a $1100 a day bookmaker this week as detectives raided a bookie joint and arrested one man as he hid behind a living room sofa.

Belleville schools entered their second non-accredited year because the Middle States Association Commission on Secondary Education felt they lacked adequate facilities, in addition to a shortage of teachers.

Meanwhile, it was announced that the 40 hour week was set to go into effect for Belleville's town hall and its workers.

The Varsity basketball team dropped a close one to West Orange in overtime, 61-59. In the next game, they found themselves outdone by Montclair, 73-66.

And in a week brimming with bad news, not even Spot the family dog was spared—pet licenses would cost $2.25 in 1963...what a relief this week was not almost yesterday!

AN UNWANTED LIFT

The debate has gone back and forth as to whether or not caffeine is good for a person's health. There is one indisputable fact, though, concerning caffeine. It is a drug. Most people do not need a scientific study to tell them that caffeine makes them anxious and jittery. Pregnant women usually wish to avoid caffeine as a precautionary measure. People should bear in mind that thousands of medications contain caffeine. Some use this ingredient to suppress the appetite. Some use it to speed a drug's active ingredient through the bloodstream. Regardless of its intended purpose, consumers who are concerned about caffeine intake should check the labels on all over-the-counter medicines. The pharmacist should be asked about the inclusion of caffeine in prescribed medications.

If you are concerned about your intake of caffeine our pharmacist will be glad to check any medications you're taking. Complete service is available at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. The sale and rental of convalescent aids are handled. This includes walkers, wheel chairs, crutches and canes. Hours: 9 am - 10 pm daily, 9 am - 9 pm Sundays.

HANDY HINT:
It is not unusual for a dose of some analgesics or decongestants to contain the same amount of caffeine as found in a half-cup of instant coffee.

Clean Belleville

There are many occasions when civic, social and governmental groups in Belleville unite. Parades are a good example of this often fleeting unity. Good causes are another.

Now The Belleville Times is seeking to unite the township's organizations, government and citizenry in another good cause...the cleaning up of Belleville.

What we propose to our readers, our sponsors and the government of this town is simple: Set aside a day - Saturday, April 2 - as Clean Belleville Day. On this day, weather permitting, and during the days preceding April 2, we are hoping for a flurry of spring cleaning activity. We'd like to see, support and sponsor a time of intense Belleville pride, a week culminating in Clean Belleville Day which will result in a visible town-wide improvement.

Organizations like boy scouts, high school clubs, womens' clubs, fraternities and houses of worship may participate by volunteering to help clean up areas of town that have long been neglected. Much of the litter and debris that is collected can be recycled, so the town (and the fire department's "cans for burned children" drive) can benefit in an extra special way.

The government can participate by purchasing trash cans for placement throughout the township's commercial areas. Streets and curbing which sport faded paint can be re-painted at this time. A flurry of pot-hole filling can commence. Perhaps the street-cleaner which Belleville has ordered can be ready to roll in time for Clean Belleville Day.

Citizens can participate by improving the outside appearance of their homes, or by joining in projects undertaken by organizations.

The Times, like any township business, has a stake in the continued economic viability of Belleville. If Belleville begins to be associated with other Newark neighbors that have declined in recent years, that economic viability will be hampered.

But this is a challenge we can meet head on.

In fact, a well-publicized, coordinated effort of town-wide clean-up cooperation will go a long way to dispelling talk of Belleville's decline. Times coverage of this effort we are proposing will naturally be extensive. It would be our pleasure to provide multiple pages of photo and text reporting. After all, good news sells newspapers and a cleaner, neater Belleville would be very good news indeed.

And to suggest that outside media might pick up on this event is not unrealistic.

But most importantly, we believe a week of positive activity, culminating a Clean Belleville Day will simply make our township a nicer place in which to live and raise families.

Since this is a proposal to our readers and leaders, we welcome written input and suggestions. Address all comments to the address above.

Let's strive for a Clean Belleville in 1988!

No laughing matter

An editorial cartoon in the Times this week takes a humorous look at a problem that's really not very funny, except for the laughing stock it has turned our municipal government into.

The problem is that Belleville has now spent $750,000 - three quarters of a million dollars! - for municipal construction plans that shouldn't (and probably never will) become concrete.

Citizens effectively mobilized against the first municipal construction plan (a $10 million municipal complex that would have been wedged into Washington Avenue like a baby shoe on size 12 foot) causing the previous Belleville Commission to cut their plans in half, and authorize only a 24,000 square foot public safety building on Belleville Avenue. A Commission resolution set a $5 million ceiling on the project but when the plans went out to bid none of the bidding construction firms could meet the mark.

What happened next is a black spot on the township's recent history: The architectural firm of Beckard-Richlan Associates in Manhattan took an axe to the plans, reducing the quality of the planned structure so that it could come in under bid.

Meanwhile, the outrage of citizens never abated. Townspeople criticized the design of the building arguing that a simple, sturdy rectangular building would have attracted lower bids than the U-shaped design Beckard-Richlan developed. Others complained that the proposed building - separated from Town Hall by a parking lot - was poorly conceived simply because it would be too far away from Town Hall. What if townspeople or employees had business in both buildings? Wouldn't time be wasted moving to and fro, and what if it was raining or snowing?

Since Belleville owns all the property to the back, why not build police facilities ADJACENT to Town Hall?

We couldn't agree more.

While we watched the Commission pay thousands of dollars at almost every meeting for plans that make no sense, we recognized that a proposal brought forth by Commissioner Vincent Frantantoni (then president of the Concerned Citizens of Belleville) was more in the interests of our town than a police station built down the block.

Frantantoni proposed building the police station directly behind Town Hall, a free-standing structure connected by a corridor which would have an elevator in it.

With this plan, Belleville would benefit by having an elevator that could serve both buildings, saving the township the future expense of making Town Hall accessible to the handicapped.

Further, Frantantoni's proposal called for four floors of 5,000

Help for the asking...

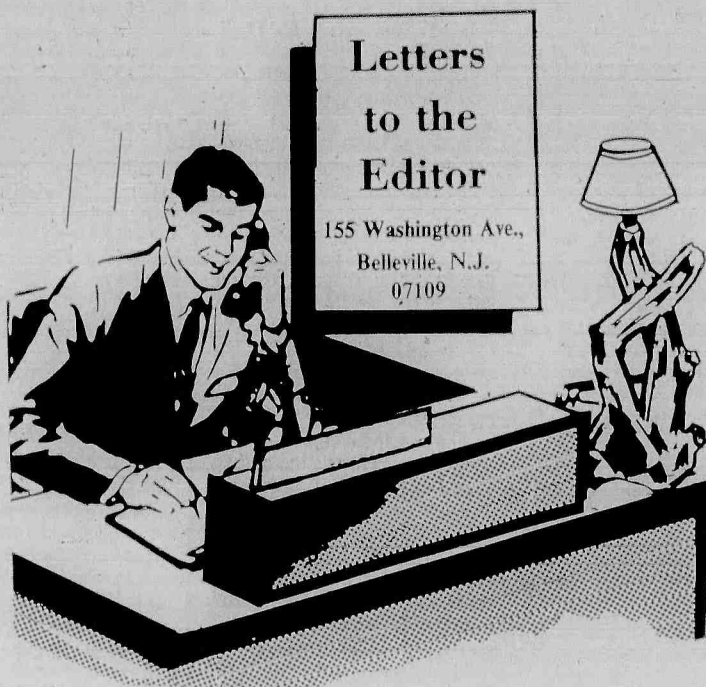

To the editor:

I am writing this letter in response to the recent unfortunate death of New York City ballet star Patrick Bisset. Information presented in the media about his apparent cocaine abuse prompted hundreds of people to call (800) COCAINE, a national cocaine abuse hotline. As a counselor who works with people with eating disorders and substance abuse, it struck me as very sad that it takes something like the death of an artist such as Patrick Bisset, Len Bias, or Karen Carpenter before people with problems call for help.

Like cocaine and other drugs - including alcohol, anorexia nervosa and bulimia - if left untreated they can kill. Free information counseling and referral for eating disorders can be obtained by calling 1-800-624-2268.

Thank you for printing this and possibly helping to save lives.

Jim Weichert says thanks

To The Editor:

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many gifts donated to the ninth annual Weichert Realtors Toy Drive to benefit needy children.

The kindhearted generosity of the public has helped brighten the holiday season for many underprivileged children and to make this year's toy drive the most successful ever!

Almost 10,000 toys were collected at our offices and distributed to local charities in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

We extend our warmest thanks to the people who gave to this effort, to the staff and volunteers of the charities through which these toys were donated, and to the community for its continued support.

James Weichert, President.

Volunteerism at Christmas

To The Editor:

Every patient at Essex County Hospital Center received Christmas gifts donated by church, club and organizational members, as well as from individuals. Volunteers did all the wrapping and volunteer Santas reached out to every ward. Thousands of homemade cookies in decorated cans from women's clubs were relished by our patients.

One hundred and thirty patients attended luncheon parties sponsored by volunteers at local churches and several volunteer groups provided or assisted with holiday parties in our wards.

The joy of the season will be remembered for months to come because those in our care were remembered by you. Your contributions are an indication that the spirit of generosity is alive and well.

On behalf of those who you have helped, thank you for your kindnesses. May the new year be one of good health, hope and happiness for everyone who shared their blessings with the patients at Essex County Hospital Center.

Inez C. Walsh,
Coordinator of volunteers.

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

This is for those of our community who are indifferent to rising taxes on the patent premise that the schools do not have enough money, that classes are too large, that teachers (pedagogues) are not paid enough, that the increased proportion of minority students accounts for the decline in SAT scores and - the claim most often made - that a larger proportion of high school seniors are taking the SAT test and, since the best students always took the test, the increased numbers come from the students with lower aptitudes.

We'd like to quote excerpts from a recent speech by John Silber, the president of Boston University, to Connecticut school board members, "None of these claims (the above) stands up under examination. For instance, a variance analysis demonstrates that the participation rate - the number of students taking the test - can account at most for 1.4 percent of the variance in SAT scores.

"Teachers salaries can account for exactly zero percent of the variance in scores; there is literally no correlation between teachers' salaries and the performance on the SATS. Probably that is explained in part by the motivation that brings people into teaching: The best teachers are motivated less by money than by idealism.

"We also are told that if schools are to get better, classes must be smaller. But class size at most accounts for six percent of the variation in SAT scores - and, more importantly, as test scores were getting worse, classes were in fact getting smaller, dropping from 22 students per teacher in 1972 to 18 students per teacher in 1985.

The evidence I have surveyed suggests strongly that there is no easy and simple explanation for which schools perform well and which do not. But local control and funding is clearly a dominant factor."

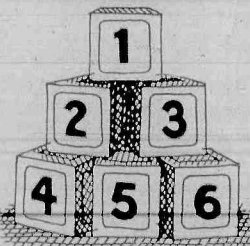

Were the bill introduced by Assemblywoman Marion Crecco enacted into law, school budgets, when defeated by the voters, would bar any school budget increase and preclude any appeal to the State Commissioner of Education as was the case in the restoring of $95,000 cut by the Commissioners after the defeat of the school budget in April.

Relaxing after another prosperous, land office volume of Christmas sales at Jackie's Corner, popular "boss" Rega, known for his prowess in garnering votes for candidates backed by him, was honored by another powerful political figure, as a customer recommended by County Executive Nick Amato, when Hon. Earl Harris, Republican County Surrogate and Newark Councilman, stopped by to extend the season's greetings and make a few purchases to add color to his Christmas decorations...making Jackie's corner the Mecca of most successful politicians within miles of Belleville.

If it's politics, flowers, lemon ice, pumpkins or Christmas supplies "Boss" Rega is the man to see and if someone seeks a public office it becomes a MUST when they tabulate the votes...he has the magic of getting them in good supply.

Now that the joys of the Holiday Season have passed, you can settle down to pay the bills that are piling up and start working on your new income tax form that recently arrived.

square feet each - 4,000 square feet less than the current plan. The current court chambers could still be utilized, while court employees (now working among the most cramped conditions at Town Hall) could stretch out in the back office space.

Even without pointing to the benefits of a dual-purpose elevator, ease for the handicapped and all-weather access between buildings, most townspeople we've surveyed prefer a simple, rectangular police facility simply because they believe, correctly, that it will cost them less.

Taking all of this into consideration, the new Belleville Commission is caught between a rock and a hard place. They have an agreement with Beckard-Richlan and with consulting engineer Neil Siciliano to keep on paying them for the work they've done on the plans.

And that $750,000 has already been spent on the Beckard-Richlan plans without a shovel hitting the dirt. And the bills keep coming. On top of that, township employees and officials have had to contend with the paperwork and countless manhours connected with the "project."

Two years into this pathetic fiscal mess, the Commission (which includes only two of the men who originally voted for the project) must now decide: Do we throw good money after bad and proceed with an endeavor that is impractical and over-priced simply because we've paid so much already? Or do we chop down the money tree right now and move on to what we REALLY need: A functional public safety facility right next to Town Hall with the right amenities at the right price?

Because $750,000 has already been expended, the current Commission has only $4,250,000 left in its bond for construction of the current project or for the design and construction of the project Belleville has needed all along.

Based on the facts and figures we have seen, we believe a simply designed adjacent structure would cost less than the current plan even with the wasted $750,000 factored in.

But which way will the Commission go?

Perhaps it is time for the citizens of Belleville to again rise up and let their voices be heard.

Because this is no longer a laughing matter.

THE Belleville Times reported that Shirlee Sherman, Belleville's beautiful business leader, was the first female Rotarian in the area. Shirlee is the first woman Rotarian in Belleville, but First Fidelity Bank's Marie Beline of Nutley was inducted as a member by the Nutley Optimist Club this past December. My congratulations to both of these marvelous gals!

EASTERN AIRLINES Flight 890 of January 6th from Palm Beach to Newark was another exercise in pleasure. It was especially so because a veteran, Eastern Airlines employee Ron Brennan, was the senior steward in charge of the passenger cabin. Ron was assisted by some very able stewardesses: Peggy Abbott, Debby Tortoriello, Pat Andersen, Brigitte Hall-Beissel, Carleen Giles and Michelle Brown. Throughout the two-hour and twenty-minute trip, Ron's commentaries over the loudspeaker system reflected a fine sense of humor. Ron is one of Eastern Airline's great secret assets — probably underpaid, but the guy appeared to be happy. Ron returned to Cabin Service after serving in an administrative post for seven years. If you fly Eastern between Newark and Florida, and see a name badge with the name of Ron Brennan, sit back, relax, because you're in for a good time.

THE Republican 11th commandment is being violated by both Vice President George Bush and U.S. Senator Bob Dole. Dole is implying that George Bush subscribed to a policy of trading arms for hostages; Bush disclosed his income tax returns for the past ten years and is demanding that Dole do likewise. A member of Bush's staff brought to the attention of the press a newspaper article from Dole's hometown that relates to a sale of property owned by a Dole blind trust.

Republicans have a chance of winning the White House this year. Can't the main gladiators just for once stop criticizing each other and emphasize what he would do when elected President of the U.S.? In my fifty years of politics, I have learned that the best political campaign — the most successful political campaign, is the one that emphasizes the positives and ignores the negatives. If they keep attacking each other, I would be inclined not to vote for either one of them; although, my deep abiding preference is to insure the election of a Republican President in '88. I think I'll write a letter to both of these gentlemen asking them to stop fapping each other.

WHILE on the subject of politics, the 1989 N.J. gubernatorial election is receiving as much attention in 1988 as the presidential election. The Democrats have a half dozen outstanding members who want to be Governor of New Jersey. Among them are the able Senate President John Russo and the distinguished Congressman from south Jersey, Jim Florio. There may be another four or five starters from the Democrat ranks, but for the Democrats, the choice will be either Florio or Russo. At this time, the result of that political race is too early to call.

THE Republicans have an abundance of candidates — Attorney General Carey Edwards, Congressman Jim Courter and Dean Gallo — N.J. Turnpike Chairman Bo Sullivan, Republican Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick; Republican Assemblyman Robert Franks, the Republican State Chairman who is also mentioned as an attractive candidate in '89, along with State Senator Bill Gormley of Atlantic City. The guy I would love to see as Governor is the fellow who isn't even thinking about it — Hudson County Democrat Senator Chris Jackman. He is a caring Senator.

When Chris speaks, the Senate listens; when Chris speaks, the Governor listens.

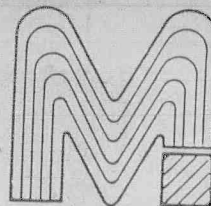

ONE of my fondest memories as a little boy was helping my father make wine and beer. For the wine, we would visit the Newark Farmer's Market and my father would make a selection of white and red grapes. When the crates were delivered, I loved to eat the grapes right out of the boxes. Sadly, I paid no attention to my father's technique and how he made the wine or the beer. As for the beer, my job was to fill the bottles and cap them — a task which I enjoyed very much. I would doubt that today few, if any, homemakers concern themselves with brewing their own beer or manufacturing their own wine. However, it's a memory that brings back many pleasant scenes of my childhood. It gave me the opportunity to spend many hours with my father — an opportunity that neither one of my brothers nor my sister were to enjoy.

A NEW JERSEY Assembly investigating committee headed by Republican William Schuber is making an effort to embarrass Governor Tom Kean. Senator Carmen Orechio, as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Independent Authorities and Agencies, has his committee involved in the affairs of the Garden State Parkway. Carmen Orechio is chiefly interested in determining whether or not the Garden State Parkway can justify an increase in a proposal to hike the tolls. As for the infighting among members of the Garden State Parkway Authority, Carmen Orechio says, "I will do nothing to deliberately embarrass Governor Tom Kean. My Committee is concerned over the issue of toll charge increases. The bickering within and among the Garden State Parkway Commission members is no excuse for me to try and embarrass Kean." Carmen Orechio has resisted partisan pressure to criticize Governor Kean over Garden State Parkway issues. If there are Democrat party members who want to travel the low road in an effort to embarrass Kean, they will not find Carmen Orechio among them.

Contemplating the big picture

If a picture is worth a thousand words, then the one which accompanies this first Bifani on Belleville of 1988, taken by veteran township critic Mike Giordano, is worth a column full.

It's a picture that's been shuffling around the editor's desk for a few months now, overlooked over and over again much in the way Belleville is overlooked in the suburban-urban scheme of the greater Essex region.

One day last week, during my monthly desk organizing ritual, I again came across the picture and at last took some time out to contemplate it. (Contemplation, a dying form of thought in this hi-tech computer age, is something which comes natural to newspaper editors even though we seldom have time for it.)

After some minutes of study, I concluded that the Giordano photograph is interesting not only for what's in it...but for what's missing, as well.

First of all, where are the people? With 36,000 people in town and a daytime population that's probably closer to 50,000, wouldn't you think a few people would be strolling by? The picture, by the way, was taken during the warmer months of the year past.

But of course - the reason for the scarcity of townspeople is obvious! There is no business there! No business, no people.

That's a good-sized storefront. How come, I contemplated, no one has moved? The condition of the property, with garbage strewn around the lot, is indicative of the disrespect many township landlords have for Belleville's codes on cleanliness and maintenance. Just because the building is unoccupied doesn't mean that owners may allow it to deteriorate into a shabby, unkempt appearance.

And then my contemplation is interrupted by thoughts of all the pro-Belleville see-no-evils saying "There goes Bifani, dumping on the township again."

What about all the POSITIVE developments on the Avenue?

And indeed there many worthy of note. For one thing, the Avenue's automobile dealers are beginning to show their faith in Belleville with cold, hard investment cash, and plenty of it. Bigelow Chrysler is putting the finishing touches on a million dollar expansion that featured the demolition of a row of boarded up storefront eyesores, a happy by-product. Since Bigelow Chrysler is at the south end of Washington Avenue, the redevelopment is considered particularly significant because it can help prevent the spread of Newark's blight into Belleville.

Uptown, meanwhile, Mead Ford is well into an expansion of its own, one which will include the adjoining property to the south.

Yerg Printing, Kerner's Stationary and Yudin's Art Supply are long-time fixtures on lower Washington Avenue. Optimists, no doubt, would prefer to point to those examples instead of Giordano's photographic subject.

All the way uptown, the law firm of Gruhin & Gruhin is doing extensive work to their building...new pavement, a second story and a new retaining wall. Expansion for professional quarters is also seen by experts as desirable because a profession doesn't require foot traffic for commercial success as many retailers do.

Across the street from Gruhin, the American Legion Post 105 (once the target of a controversial Times eyesore-of-the-week photo only one is occupied. The occupant is a fruit basket retailer, subject of a Times grand opening picture late last year. What kind of foot traffic can this business expect when all the stores around it are vacant? Fortunately, some more firms are planning to occupy some of these storefronts.

But from one end of Washington Avenue to the other, the sad truth is that there are many dead spots like the frontage which Giordano chose to immortalize on film.

Around Overlook Avenue there is a row of five storefronts in which an even sadder sight...a row of storefronts which are open for business, but where the sidewalks are often littered with trash and where the general appearance of most of the businesses is shoddy at best.

Frank Morrison, owner of Belleville Laundrette (which is in the middle of this letter-strewn block) says he tries to keep up with the litter by sweeping, but unless all of

So if the sad truth is that there are many dead spots, the happy truth is that there are just as many bright spots. Which brings us to the point of this month's column, and the real story behind the Giordano picture:

The powers that be in this township have to respect, preserve and nurture the good development that is occurring on Washington by cleaning up ALL that is bad.

Where to begin?

First, by cleaning up the areas that are Belleville's legal responsibility. The area in front of Town Hall, for example, was long a symbol of official neglect. The curbs were crumbling. The steps were crumbling. The landscaping was slipping. There were no benches or trash receptacles.

Thankfully, all this has been corrected. Whatever one feels about freshman Commissioner (and former CCB President) Vincent Frantantoni, one would surely agree that he and his department have done a heckuva job with the front of Town Hall. The new, permanent benches and trash cans, at a cost of about $1200, are a useful addition to the town's public property portfolio...fixtures which will endure as long as Town Hall does.

But the township's obligation to Washington Avenue does not end with its own property. The township is responsible for enforcing the property maintenance code, a document which deals FINES OF UP TO $200 PER DAY and even jail sentences to property owners AND OPERATORS who fail to comply. Non compliance includes routine township-wide infractions such as peeling paint, weeds, litter, ripped awnings, deteriorated signs, and anything the township deems is not "in good repair." The owner of the property above, for example, could have been fined for the garbage left behind by the last tenants.

Many of the Avenue business people who are reading this column right now must undoubtedly be thinking that if the Commission did authorize a crackdown, they would be among the violators.

Well, the good news, according to Commissioner Frantantoni, is that offending merchants will be sent letters - kind, friendly letters - ASKING them to clean up their acts.

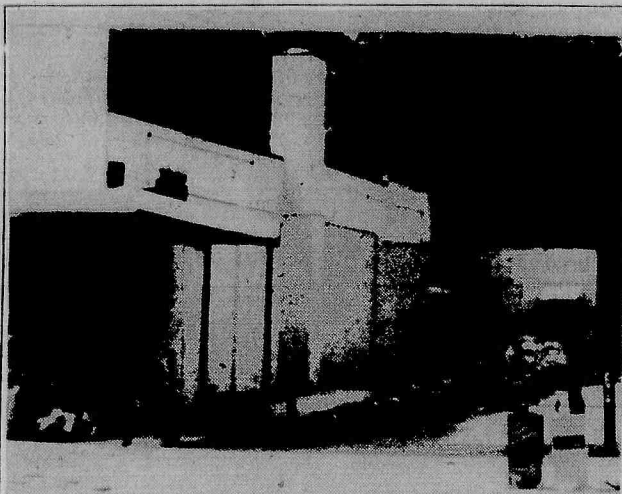

"It's better that way," Frantantoni says, explaining that a positive attitude is sure to yield more results. Frantantoni, a man who has provided this writer with a wealth of good advice, even says the editorial tone of the Times can affect the resolve of the town's Avenue business community to clean up. Catch more flies with honey, that sort of thing.

But I wonder what other readers think. Should we expose the most obvious township code violators with pictures and text in the Times? Should we bring back the popular-but controversial "eyesore" feature? Are flagrant code violators (read: law-breakers) newsworthy, especially if the town has allowed them to remain that way? Readers may send their comments (and photos) to the Times, 155 Washington Avenue, Belleville, N.J., 07109.

In the meantime, The Belleville Times - armed with cameras and a fresh copy of the Belleville Property Maintenance Code is set to tour Washington Avenue from one end to the other.

As Commissioner and Inspector Joseph Fornarotto says, "Enough is enough, it's time to start cleaning up."

This, I contemplated, was what Giordano's picture was saying all along.

No business, no people!

This vacant storefront is also a code violation because of piled debris and sloppy maintenance. (Photo by Mike Giordano)

On the next block down, there is hus business neighbors do the same, more debris will blow onto his frontage. Meanwhile, there is no municipal trashcan on the block.

But a block below that is Jiffy Lube, a fine, neat new business that occupies the former Transmission City property, a tract which was once the sloppiest parcel on Washington Avenue!

LaMin's collector mugs

A display of collector mugs, provided by Marion LaMin of Belleville, is currently on display in the large exhibit case at the Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Avenue.

The collection was built during travels, by gifts from friends and relatives and covers mugs from the various states in the union, various islands and countries, the Belleville Fire Department, the Belleville Centennial Mug, and mugs from fire and first aid conventions.

Currently Marion travels with her husband Joseph in their conversion van to different parts of the United States and develops her collection at various gift stores they visit. Most of her collection is on-display in her house at the mantle and bookcases in the living room, or on the shelves in her kitchen.

The exhibit can be viewed during regular library hours.

Beware of phony IRS agents

Submitted by
Det. Sgt. Robert DeBello

The following article appeared in the Nov. 8, 1987 issue of the Star Ledger. Read it over carefully, it could save you money:

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is warning residents to be on the lookout for persons who may illegally pose as IRS agents and try to collect money for allegedly unpaid taxes.

The IRS says it receives about a dozen complaints each year from New Jersey taxpayers who have been victimized by such imposters. However, the problem may be more serious because the IRS believes most of these incidents are not reported.

The IRS suggests taxpayers request to see the credentials of any individual who claims to represent the agency. Employees making public contact are required to show distinctive identification when conducting official business.

In addition, taxpayers owing the IRS money will normally receive written notification before they are visited by an IRS agent.

Taxpayers who doubt the credentials offered by a visitor, or who doubt the identity of a telephone caller, can verify the person's employment status by telephoning the IRS personnel office in Newark. If such a person comes to your home and refuses to show proper identification or claims not to have it with him, do not let him into your home. Instead, contact the police department and let us check him out.

For further information on this or any other crimes prevention topic, contact the Crime Prevention Bureau at 284-4946.

Lloyds of London, the company that insures everything from the crown jewels to an actor's nose, once did an odd piece of research; they tracked 73,000 paper clips to how they were used. If you think the idea itself was strange, look at the results. Out of 73,000: 19,143 were used as chips in card games; 7,200 clipped garments together; 5,434 served as toothpicks or ear scratchers; 3,916 cleaned pipes; 25,000 fell ingloriously to the floor.

The revealing part, I found, was that only about 12,000 were used as their makers intended, to clip papers together.

A paper clip is a remarkable little instrument - simply one piece of wire twisted three times. Yet nothing else can do the job as cheaply and efficiently. So it strikes me as a little sad that something of such marvelous design should end up as a toothpick or, worse yet, get swept up with the trash.

It further troubles me to realize that the fall of the paper clip is a parable of life. God tells us in Scripture that we are designed by Him in a special way for a unique purpose. A small percentage of men and women find that purpose and the calling for which they were created. But the vast majority, for one reason or another, get swept along in life and end up, so to speak, in the trash.

Why is this so? Why are some used by God and some not? How is it that a life with such tremendous potential can be frittered away? We can find a few answers to that in the life of Saul. Something happened to that promising life and career that brought it to a tragic end. Let me retell the familiar story.

The Philistines had gathered an army "as numerous as the sand on the seashore" against Saul at Micmash. When Saul's men began to desert and Samuel didn't show up as he had promised, contrary to Samuel's instruction, Saul offered the burnt offering himself. Of course, no sooner had he done that than Samuel returned to the camp. And was he angry! "You acted foolishly," he told Saul. "You have not kept the command the Lord your God gave you...now your kingdom will not endure." He might have said, "You'll end up just like one of those paper clips." A little rough, perhaps? After all, his troops were heading over the hill and the Philistines had a formidable force out there. But that's exactly where Saul was wrong. He had his eyes on the Philistines and his own troops, rather than on the Lord. That led to a lack of faith and that in turn to disobedience.

In pro football the offensive end is a similar spot. He has to run a pass pattern exactly as he's told so he'll be at the right spot when the ball is thrown. Then, even with a 250-pound linebacker charging at him, he has to keep his eye on the ball. It takes concentration, discipline and commitment.

Disobedience is disobedience. And religious acts - going to church, supporting the right causes, reciting the right creeds - won't change anything. Saul's life ended in tragedy because of a lack of faith that grew into simple disobedience. Like the literal paper clip, it took a few wrong twists and turns and ended up on the floor of God's kingdom, wasted and lost to its original purpose. Those who have ears to hear, let them hear!

Bill passes as district's

Delegates split
on 31% increase in gasoline tax

Two of the legislators for the 30th District opposed a 31-percent hike in the state's gasoline tax and one supported the measure, which won approval in the New Jersey legislature this week.

On Monday Senator Carmen A. Orechio voted against the measure, which will hike the tax from 8-cents a gallon to 10.5 cents, but his Senate colleagues approved it 30-9. It went back with Senate amendments to the Assembly, which had already passed it, and won approval again, 53-13, with Assemblywoman Marion Crecco voting against and Assemblyman John V. Kelly voting for.

It now awaits the governor's signature and will take effect July 1, with its revenues earmarked for highway and mass transit construction.

mendations for the smaller project, and that committee subsequently supported a separate building on Belleville Avenue because they believed it would be less expensive than building a separate building on Washington Avenue. The committee reportedly believed an addition to Town Hall would cost the same, if not more. Others disputed this.

Many citizens, however, were not satisfied. The Concerned Citizens of Belleville, the township's largest activist group, argued that $5 million was still too much to spend, pointing to a 1983 plan for a police station of equal size (to be built on Franklin Avenue) which was estimated at less than $2 million.

"Even allowing for inflation," remarked then CCB Vice President Gabe Nazzola, "the price still seems high."

Nazzola, and several of his outspoken CCB colleagues, advocated giving the entire Town Hall to the police and courts, while moving most Town Hall operations into School 1, a retired schoolhouse three blocks away which is currently less than half-occupied by the Board of Education.

Many other townspeople, also opposed to the Commission's $5 million plan, offered other options for the Commissioners to consider.

Vincent Frantantoni, then President of the CCB and a home-improvement contractor by profession, supported a new structure but insisted that it could be built for less than $5 million.

"You give them $5 million to play with, and they're going to spend it," he'd say.

But the $5 million bond, already nearly $500,000 lighter due to the cost of the previous plans, remained in force. The Commission ruled out any reduction of it, or any plan to move out Town Hall offices.

Nine months later the cost of planning new municipal construction is up to three quarters of a million dollars and, according to township officials, the bills are still coming.

About $400,000 was spent on the ill-fated $10 million plan with the remaining $350,000 spent on the current plan.

So far, Siciliano's engineering firm has received more than $130,000 between both projects, although the engineer points out that "more than $20,000" has been transferred to engineers and other professionals sub-contracted by him.

Beckard-Richlan has received nearly $550,000 for their work on both projects.

Other firms who have received payment for work on the municipal construction plans include Elson T. Killam Associates, sewage engineers who received $2,113 for their work and Robert Carlin Associates, soil experts who received more than $5,000.

In addition, there have been several fees in relation to the preparation of the project bond and a host of smaller costs.

Scrapped project would cost

Most of the expenditures already paid out would have to be repeated if the project was scrapped for a different or more modest design.

Scrapping the project now would also entail another cost: Buying out the agreements with Siciliano's firm and Beckard-Richlan. Under the town's agreements with the two firms, Belleville is obligated to pay the architect and engineer an extra fee equal to about 10% and 5%, respectively, if the town wants to get out.

This would amount to about $7,000 in the case of Siciliano and $55,000 in the case of Beckard-Richlan.

"But that's negotiable," Siciliano indicated.

Siciliano, who was retained by Belleville in 1986 to be the project's representative, said that the plan's budget provides for up to $1 million for architectural, engineering and other fees and up to $4 million for hard construction.

At presstime, the current Belleville Commission - which includes only two members who originally authorized the project (Pizzi and McGreevey) - was set to vote on the awarding of five contracts to five firms who bid within the town's $5 million cap.

Frantantoni, elected Commissioner in the May election, will be among the town fathers casting a vote. He was a vocal opponent of the project long before his election.

Lisa Sammaro married to Matthew Van Loon

Lisa Sammaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Salvo of Orange and Louis Sammaro of Belleville, became the bride Oct. 3 of Matthew Van Loon, son of Mrs. Jean Van Loon of Maplewood and James Van Loon of Essex Fells.

Msgr. Louis Fimiani performed the ceremony in Holy Family Church, Nutley. A reception followed at the Chanticleer, Short Hills.

Escorted by her father and stepfather, the bride wore a satin candlelight gown appliqued with lace and beads and fashioned with an illusion neckline and cathedral train. A beaded headpiece held her veil and she carried white roses.

Debra Hundley of Lebanon, Ind., aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Cathy Robertello of Bloomfield, Jean Hanly of East Hanover, Denise Gorman and Darlene Marotto of West Paterson, Susan LaRocca and Emily Nottle of Belleville and Susan Cutillo of South Plainfield. Flower girl was Chrissy Step-iello of South Orange.

The honor attendant was in a royal blue two piece gown fashioned with a long skirt and rhinestone studded blouse. Her headpiece was a "Dynasty" hat and she carried royal blue and white silk flowers. The others wore royal blue full length gowns with open backs and bow sashes.

James C. Van Loon III of Jeffersonville, N.Y., was his brother's best man. Ushering were John Sammaro of Orange, Peter Van Loon of Connecticut, Maurice Burke of Missouri, Ronnie Carallo of Union and Anthony Gargano of Springfield. Ringbearer was James C. Van Loon IV.

Mrs. Salvo chose a pearl gray gown accented with beaded floral appliques and fashioned with an illusion neckline and lace skirt. The groom's mother was in a green silk gown. Wristlets were of white orchids.

Mrs. Van Loon, an alumna of Caldwell College, is with Johnson & Higgins, New York City.

Mr. Van Loon, a graduate of Essex County College, is in the sales department of Gallo Wine, Elizabeth.

The couple is living in Kearny after honeymooning in Cancun, Mexico.

Belleville Times SPORTS

I have always said that the true measure of a good basketball team at Belleville High wasn't always the record. As you know, there haven't been too many "winning" records at BHS during the past 15 years, but there has been a brand of athlete at Belleville who gave everything he had to the program, even if the victories were few and far between.

A team that epitomized that hard work ethic was the 1980-81 squad, under the direction of Joe Papisidero. The Bucs were 4-17 that season. Poor record, you would think. However, there were some memorable games that year, turned in by some determined athletes that never gave up. They were a group of athletes that were truly a pleasure to watch on a day to day basis.

"Those kids were something," recalled Papisidero last week. "I couldn't ask for a more determined group of kids. We had some talent on the team, but the kids just played hard, every night. They practiced hard, they worked hard. They were a super bunch of kids. I just wish they could have won a few more games. They deserved it."

Buc Shots

By Mike Lamberti

The Bucs entered the 1980 season on a high note. The team had posted a respectable 11-13 mark the previous year, Papisidero's first as Belleville head coach. The team returned some talented players, and Papisidero was looking forward to the arrival of a talented football player named John Melillo to the Belleville lineup. Melillo was a guard in basketball who could score with consistency.

On December 7, 1980, Melillo's basketball career ended before it even began. He was hurt at Giants Stadium in the waning minutes of the Group IV, Section II championship game between Belleville and West Essex. A knee injury kept the senior on the shelf that year, even though he did try and play early in the season.

The Bucs opened the year at home against Weehawken in 1980 and lost. The team then traveled to Caldwell and lost a tough ball game, dropping the record to 0-2. The Bucs traveled to Livingston for the first round of the now defunct Essex County Holiday Tournament. The opponent was Livingston, and the game was a thriller, typical of the games Belleville played that season.

"We held a five point lead with :10 left in the game," Papisidero recalled with a grimace. "I don't know how we lost. Well, yes, I remember. The officiating was horrible. They called Wayne (Bubet) for traveling. That's fine, except for the fact that he didn't have the ball when he was called for the travel. I couldn't believe the calls that official came up with in the last few seconds."

Belleville lost, 57-56 and the following day, lost to Irvington by 13 points in the consolation game of the tourney.

The starting five from that '80-81 team was Bubet, Ron Wittman, Anthony Coco, Rich Wilkes and Sam De Capua. Coming off the bench was Scott Murray, Mike Isler, Todd Talmadge and a freshman named Phil Colalillo.

With an 0-4 mark, Belleville started the year 1981 with a January 2 contest at Irvington. The results weren't too good, as the Campers beat Belleville for the second straight time, this time by a whalloping 76-41 count.

The Bucs were ripped in its next game, this time by Wood Ridge, 86-61. Wood Ridge was Papisidero's old stomping grounds. He was the assistant coach there before landing the Belleville job in the Summer of '79.

At 0-6, Belleville won its first game, against Essex Catholic, 71-56. On Friday night, January 9, the Bucs played at home against Kearny and opened a big lead in the first half. However, the Kards came back in the third quarter and won the fight marred game, 67-62.

The season made its turnaround the following Tuesday, when Belleville played host to Seton Hall Prep. The Pony Pirates won a laugher, 79-35, but the game would be the turning point of Belleville's season.

On Friday night, January 16, Belleville came back with its second win against Essex Catholic, 65-51. The following Tuesday, January 20, Belleville would begin a week that could best be described as unbelievable.

Nationally, the week of January 19-23, 1981 would go down as historic. Ronald Reagan was inaugurated as our nation's president and the hostages were released from Iran that week. It was a week of celebration in our country.

Belleville basketball took on a new meaning that week. On January 20, the Bucs went to Nutley, and held a one point lead, with :05 left in regulation time. Nutley's Dave Siepert drove the length of the court, took an off balance shot at the buzzer from the top of the key and found paydirt. The ball swished the net and Nutley won, 57-56.

"The clock read :05 when Siepert got the ball," Papisidero recalled. "I just can't believe he made a length of the court drive, in traffic, and then took a jump shot in that time span. It was more like :08."

The following night, Belleville played host to Weehawkin. The Bucs had lost earlier in the year to the Hudson County school, so the incentive was high. Also on tap was a special night for Bubet. The senior forward was just 17 points shy of the 1,000 point mark for his high school career.

Like Abdel Anderson, Bubet's points came in a three-year varsity career. I remember when Wayne sank the historic basket. At the time, he became the second man in BHS boys' basketball to eclipse the mark. He presented the ball to his parents, and I remember the pride his mom and dad had in accepting the ball. Wayne's mom, a class act in every sense of the word, passed away a few years later to cancer. However, the night of January 21, 1981, was a special night for Wayne and his family.

The Bucs played St. Benedict's on that Friday night, January 23. Once again, it was a heckuva game. St. Benedict's led by a 16-0 margin in the first quarter, but Belleville came back. The Bucs tied the game in the third quarter and it went down to the final :01 of regulation time. With the score tied at 52, a St. Benedict's player sank the bank end of two foul shots to win the game, 53-52.

The Bucs lost a tough game to powerful Montclair the following week, with Wittman at home with the flu. Bubet had 29 points in the game and Colalillo had his first big game of his career, with 14. On Friday, the 30th, Belleville traveled to Seton Hall for a rematch with the Pony Pirates. This time, the Bucs came to play. Belleville held a 57-55 lead with :04 left in regulation time. Murray missed the second of two foul shots and Seton Hall drove

Lady Bucs tough even in defeat

First, the good news. The Belleville girls' basketball team battled one of the states best last week and made a very strong showing, even though the end result was a defeat. The girls then rallied two days later and defeated Eastside.

Now, the bad news. Although the team stopped Eastside last Thursday, it lost a key contributor to the starting lineup to injury. Last Saturday, Belleville lost a game it should have won at Montclair by one point. A difficult week now awaits the team and the girls are not at full strength.

Karen Fuccello's troops took a 6-2 record into a game with Columbia last Monday. Last Tuesday, the girls battled Passaic and tomorrow night, the team travels to Nutley for a 7:30 p.m. contest. Next Tuesday, the opponent is league powerhouse Paterson Kennedy, ranked second in the state of New Jersey. The game will be played at Belleville, in a 4 p.m. tip off. Next Thursday, it's off to Clifton for another difficult assignment. Game time is once again 4 p.m.

The week started off with a lot of promise. Belleville took a 5-0 record into Bloomfield for a key test. The Lady Bengals hold a lofty status in the state rankings and had beaten Belleville in its last six meetings, dating back to the Fall of 1984.

Belleville came into the game with a lot of enthusiasm and played strong basketball for three quarters. It was 15-14, Bloomfield after one quarter and 30-27 in the Lady Bengals favor at intermission.

Belleville came back strong in the third quarter, outscoring the Bengals, 19-17 and cutting the margin to one point, 47-46 heading into the final eight minutes.

"We ran out of gas in the final quarter," Fuccello said afterward. "We played hard for three quarters and our starters lost a little steam in the final eight minutes. We played very well, I was very happy with the effort."

Simone Edwards, a junior forward, led the Belleville scoring attack with 22 points. Another junior, Laurie Dondarski, finished with 14. Carol Morrison tallied seven, Stacey Johansen and Maria Chanley had four points each and Leslie Dowling closed with two.

Belleville shot 14 for 20 from the foul line against the Bengals, who are ranked seventh in the state.

The following game was against Eastside and Belleville pulled away early and won easily, 75-37. However, the game was marred by an injury to Johansen, a sophomore forward. She suffered a hyperextended knee, and her status was unknown heading into this week's action.

"Losing Stacey hurts, no question," Fuccello said. "We now have two starters out of our lineup. Racquel (Melson) has been hurting and we're hoping to get her back into the lineup soon."

Versus Eastside, Belleville jumped out to an 18-6 first quarter lead and extended the margin to 37-12 at intermission. It was 60-29 after three quarters and Belleville coasted to a big win.

Edwards had her best offensive game of the year, scoring 31 points. Dondarski and Morrison had 17 points each. For Morrison, the 17 points was a career high for the junior forward. Mia Hanos had four points, Johansen scored three before her injury and Nicole Wright had three.

Last Saturday, Belleville traveled to Montclair and lost a heartbreaking 48-47 decision to the Lady Mounties. This was a game that Belleville should have won, but the girls, rusty from the snow day the previous day and the loss of two starters, fell one point short.

"There were some terrible calls at the end," Fuccello said, referring to the officiating. "However, we lost this game at the foul line. We shot 9 for 24 at the line. How can you win close games when you shoot like that from the line?"

Montclair led, 13-12 after one quarter, but Belleville rallied to take a 28-25 lead at intermission. The Belleville lead increased to 39-35 after three quarters, but Montclair used a strong fourth quarter and rallied to victory. Belleville was held to eight fourth quarter points while Montclair tallied 13 and won by a point.

Dondarski topped the Belleville scoring attack with 20 points. Edwards finished with 13, Morrison had eight, Melson scored four and Wright closed with two.

"Our lack of depth has hurt in the fourth quarter," Fuccello said. "It's going to be even more tough without Stacey in there. We're just going to have to compensate and do the best we can."

NOTES: Johansen was on crutches last week and is just starting to walk without the assistance of crutches. It's going to be a few weeks before she can even consider playing again. Her knee will be further examined to make sure there is no ligament damage.

Belleville Devils

Township soccer teams score three division titles

Belleville 'soccs' it to 'em!

The B.S.A. won the 4th, 5th, and 6th division titles in the Garden State youth Soccer League.

Leading the B.S.A. to one of the three titles were the Belleville Devils representing the 6th division. The Devils were led offensively by Lawrence Martin scoring 16 goals, John Dias 10 goals, Danny Rispoli 8 goals and Joe Tyskiewicz with 6 goals.

The Devils were led defensively by goalie Anthony Conte who had an outstanding season in goal, William Buist and Justin Morgan who also scored one goal each, Nick Tyskiewicz, Eric Vogel, Craig Goldstein, Michael Bond and Joe Sciacchitano.

The midfield was played by Jason Alfano and David Auerback. The Devils finished this season with an impressive undefeated record scoring 45 goals while allowing 2.

In the 5th division the Belleville Bandits claimed their second division title. The Bandits have also won an indoor title making them the first B.S.A. team to win three divisions titles.

In the 4th division the Belleville Spirit won its first title after a strong 3rd place finish in last year's competition.

In other league action the Belleville Blast placed second in the Mid N.J. league missing the division title in division 3 by a half game.

The Blast team had an outstanding season under the direction of coaches Joe Christ and Frank Ferry.

Many of the Blast players will be representing the Belleville High School team in the 1988 season.

7-2 Bucs host Nutley rivals in key game tomorrow night

Following Belleville's victory over Montclair last Saturday, head basketball coach Don Roll sat back in his chair and assessed his teams' situation.

"We should be 9-0 right now," the coach said. "8-1 at least. The kids know that. We have some tough games coming up, and it's important to win these types of games."

The Bucs battled Passaic last Tuesday. Tomorrow night, the team is host to Nutley in a 7:30 p.m. tip off. There should be a large crowd on hand for that game, so fans are reminded to arrive early at Belleville High. Nutley is one of the top teams in the NNJIL this winter and had only one loss entering this week. Next Tuesday, the Bucs are at Paterson Kennedy for a 4 p.m. tip off.

Last week, Belleville boosted its record to 7-2 by beating Bloomfield and Montclair in NNJIL contests. The Bucs were upended by Eastside last Thursday on the road.

The week started with a 58-52 win against Bloomfield at Belleville. The game marked the first home contest for the Bucs this season after six games on the road.

"We started quickly in the game," recalled Roll. "We knew it was a game we had to win. Bloomfield has a tough team, and we never have an easy game against them."

The Bucs jumped out to a 14-7 first quarter lead and extended the margin to 28-18 at halftime.

However, Bloomfield came back strong in the second half, cutting the lead to 41-34 after three quarters and narrowing the final margin to six points, 58-52.

Ted Sochaski led the Belleville attack with 21 points. Dominick Straface had a season high 12 points, Leon Puentes finished with nine, Chris Chiarmonte and Ray Zamloot had eight points each. It was the third straight victory for Belleville over Bloomfield, dating back to last season.

As has been the case for Belleville in most of its games this year, the Bucs were not able to put its opponent away with a furious second half rally. However, the team did manage to pull out the victory and took a 6-1 record into a pivotal game with Eastside last Thursday.

This was a game that Belleville should have won. The Bucs jumped out to an early lead, but didn't maintain the necessary intensity in the second half to put away the talented Eastside club.

Afterward, Roll was noticeably angry at the outcome, a 56-52 Eastside win.

"We let them right back into the game," the coach said. "No excuses for losing this game. You can't blow a 12 point lead and expect to win. We're not that strong. We have to maintain that level of intensity that got us that lead. Maybe this game will teach our kids that nothing comes easy, especially in this league."

Indeed, Belleville had control of the contest in the early going. The Bucs led, 17-7 after one quarter and 26-19 at intermission. But in the second half, you could see the momentum of the game switching to Eastside. It didn't happen quickly, rather it was a steady comeback by the Paterson school. Eastside tied the game at 32 after three quarters and outscored the Bucs, 24-20 in the final eight minutes to win by four.

The usually potent Belleville offense was held to 15 points in the second and third quarters combined.

Once again, Sochaski led the Belleville attack, this time with 20 points. Puentes and Zamloot had nine points each, Chiarmonte finished with eight, Steven Schwed had four and Straface closed with two.

The Bucs shot just seven times from the foul line in the Eastside game, hitting three.

Last Saturday, Belleville regrouped to defeat Montclair, 56-47 at Belleville. It wasn't a classic game, with both teams a little rusty after the snow day last Friday cancelled school and practice.

The Bucs turned in a strong defensive game, holding the Mounties to 15 first half points. It was 21-15 at intermission. Montclair rallied in the second half, behind some good outside shooting.

The Mounties closed a 34-27 deficit to a 34 all tie, but Sochaski

the length of the floor and tied the game at the buzzer on a layup. The Bucs won the game, 65-63 in overtime. Bubet popped home 31 points in that game.

As the season wound down, the Bucs lost a seven point decision to Irvington, the same Irvington squad that had beaten the Bucs by 35 earlier in the year. Bubet was a terror again, this time scoring 35 points. Wittman had a strong game, too, hitting for 20. A few days later, the team lost a four point game to St. Michael's of Jersey City.

Belleville lost for a second time to Nutley, and dropped a seven point game at Kearny, 72-65. That was the infamous game where a certain official named Jack Neupower first made himself known to Belleville basketball.

The season ended with a defeat to Queen of Peace, the famous "they've got guys back who weren't even there last year," game, and a victory at home against Arts in the season finale.

"We had some good talent on that team," recalled Papisidero with a smile. "We didn't win too many, but that can be attributed to the fine talent we were up against every time out. There was a lot of talent on the floor, like there is now. For a team that won just four games, it was a very enjoyable year. They were super kids."

THIS WEEK'S QUIZ

With the San Francisco 49ers losing in the NFC playoffs last week, it marked the first time in many years that the team with the home field advantage throughout the NFC playoffs had not made the Super Bowl. When was the last time an NFC team made the Super Bowl by winning the title game on the road.

Water Commission returns $752,796 to partner towns

The North Jersey District Water Supply Commission celebrated the new year by sending out refund checks totaling $752,796 to the cities and towns which co-own the Wanago Reservoir system.

There is more to come, said Commission Chairman Carl Orechio of Nutley. "In a month savings of $1 million will become a reality as that much is trimmed permanently from our budget for each of the coming 19 years."

The $1 million annual savings is contingent upon refinancing previously issued bonds under a plan tentatively approved by the NJDWSC and scheduled for final adoption this month.

Among the surplus monies already distributed was $30,112 to Bloomfield, $5,646 to Glen Ridge and $304,883 to the City of Newark.

Annual operating budgets have remained fairly constant under Orechio's chairmanship for the past six years.

"Since 1982, we have consistently managed to keep the budget total less than $10 million, except for 1986, when it reached $10.5 million, and this year, when we anticipate spending of $10.2 million," Orechio said.

The anticipated $1 million savings from refinancing is not included in the current $10.2 million budget, but Orechio stressed that the annual reduction will not come through extending debt, "...but is an honest savings each year through 2017."

Finance Commissioner Robert Rubino of West Caldwell, who oversaw the budget's preparation, called the spending program a reflection of sound fiscal management, and he complimented his staff, which is headed by Finance Director Gerald F. Volpe of Haledon.

"We all take pride in the fact that the towns, collectively, are paying only $285,844 more today than they were six years ago," Volpe said.

Orechio, a lifelong resident of Nutley, served eight years as parks and recreation commissioner here and 10 years in the New Jersey General Assembly prior to his selection by Governor Thomas Kean to be chairman of the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission.

Bucs are neck in neck with Nutley

gave Belleville back the lead when he nailed a jump shot just before the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, the Bucs ran off the first five points on a Puentes foul shot, a Sochaski hook shot and a layup by Chiaramonte. Later in the quarter, with Belleville leading, 47-40, Zamlot put the finishing touches on the Mounties by hitting a big three point basket to give the Bucs a ten point cushion.

Sochaski finished the game with 23 points. Puentes scored 15, Straface had seven, Zamlot closed with five, Chiaramonte had four and Schwed, two. Sochaski needed just nine points to surpass Abdel Anderson's all time scoring record for Belleville mens' basketball.

It's another critical week of action for Roll's club. The game with Passaic last Tuesday was expected to be a touch and go contest. The Nutley game tomorrow night will give a strong indication of how far the Bucs have advanced in the NNJIL standings.

Next Tuesday, the team will battle Kennedy, considered to be the frontrunner in the race this winter.

NOTES: Bucs were 3-1 in the NNJIL entering this week, tied with Nutley for second place. Bucs two losses this year have been by a total of ten points. Puentes and Zamlot have been the teams top three points shooters. Sochaski was expected to break Anderson's mark at Passaic last Tuesday. Tomorrow night, he should be presented the ball, hopefully by Anderson, before the start of the Nutley game.

we won't have the tax bracket we will if the present proposal is passed."

Pizzi appreciated the idea but suggested that Fornarotto may have underestimated the cost of his proposal.

The board tabled two other resolutions that tied in with the building, deciding to delay paying Siciliano and Herbert Beckhard, Frank Richlin and Associates, which is the architectural firm hired for the proposed building, for their professional services.

NOTICE OF HEARING TO OTHER PROPERTY OWNERS

Please Take Notice:

That the undersigned has appealed to the Board of Adjustment of the Township of Belleville, for a variance from the terms of the Articles and Sections of the Zoning Ordinance so as to permit the construction of a two-story four (4) family apartment complex in an R-B zone (2-family district) on the premises 703-709 Mill Street, Belleville-Block 706-Lot 4 which is within 200 feet of property owned by you. This appeal is now 616 on the Clerk's Calendar and a public hearing has been ordered for February 2, 1988, at 7:30 P.M., in the Meeting Room, 383 Washington Ave., Belleville, N.J., at which time you may appear either in person or by agent, or by attorney, and present any objection which you may have to the granting of this appeal.

This notice is sent to you by the appellant, by order of the Board of Adjustment.

DENTALLY SPEAKING By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Ms. Laurie of Nutley asks:
"What are impacted wisdom teeth?"

Well, Laurie, wisdom teeth are the last set of molars we get. Throughout our lives, we get three sets of molars; the first at age six, the second at age twelve, and the last set between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one.

Due to the mixing of large teeth and a small jaw, there sometimes isn't enough room for the last set of molars, the wisdom teeth, to fully erupt. The wisdom teeth then get locked into the jaw below the second molar. When this happens, there is a possibility of pain, abscess or a cyst developing around the unerupted tooth. This tooth should therefore, be extracted.

Thank you.
