Cops want out of the basement as

Town weighs alternatives

A Times sampling of public opinion indicates that an overwhelming majority of townspeople favors an addition to the back of Town Hall, so as to provide expanded and improved police facilities.

The opinions follow a vote by the Belleville Commission January 19 which scrapped a controversial plan to build a $5 million public safety building on Belleville Avenue, a half block from Town Hall. About $750,000 had already been spent on plans and fees for that project, and additional billings were tabled at the January 26 Commission meet.

"I'm not against spending money for police facilities, I'm just against spending $5 million," said Gabriel Nazzola of Van Reyper Place. Nazzola, a former President of the Concerned Citizens of Belleville, has been a staunch supporter of giving the entire Town Hall to the police, while moving most township offices to School 1 on Cortlandt Street three blocks away. Currently School 1 is only partially used as school administration headquarters. Edith Defeo of Mount Prospect Avenue echoed Nazzola.

"We should leave Town Hall for the police department and utilize School 1 for all town employees except the Mayor," she said. Defeo, who is considering a school board candidacy, added that the town offices at 383 Washington Avenue should also be moved to School 1, and that 383 Washington Avenue be converted to a civic center "which the town desperately needs."

Town Library Director David Bryant supports selling 383 Washington Avenue for immediate capital and future revenue. But he, too, advocates giving the police the entire Town Hall. He'd move school administration to either - or both - School 9 and School 4, which he believes are under-utilized.

While Nazzola, Defeo and Bryant represent a sizable minority of people who support the School 1 plan, the overwhelming majority supports an addition behind Town Hall.

"They should look for a cheap alternative," said Mario Drozd of Bell Street, "A rectangular addition directly behind Town Hall, nothing fancy, just something that will meet the needs of the police department."

Frank Jablonski agrees.

"A moderate addition to the rear that will meet the state mandate as far as elevator requirements, and at a cost not to exceed $2 million" is what Jablonski prefers. He is among a growing number of townspeople who believe that an elevator corridor connecting both structures would serve to make both buildings accessible to the handicapped. Currently, some handicapped people have to be carried into Town Hall in order to conduct business.

Richard Yanuzzi of Greylock Parkway also supports a rear addition.

"Avenues should have been explored to build an addition in the beginning, before all the money was spent. It was a logical first step. I have always supported an economical addition to the back, according to what we can afford and what we need," he said.

Arthur Saulino supported the original public safety building simply because "the cops need it." Now that the plan has been defeated however, the Heckle Street resident says the Commission "should put an extension to the back of Town Hall. That should cost less."

"They should build a box-like structure to the back of the city hall," said Al Cook of Williams Street, "for about $2-3 million."

But Paul Cohen, of Joralemon Street, doesn't support any construction just yet. "I think we should get our finances in order first, before we consider anything."

And how do the cops feel?

"I feel like we're second class citizens," said Officer Vincent Cosenzo of Celia Court. "I was looking forward to a new building. I think they should look into again." Cosenzo said he'd like an addition behind Town Hall, but adds that no matter where it goes up, if it has more room for the police to work in, he's all for it.

"I've had to work on the radiator in the hall because there was no room. The current facilities are terrible. It's unfair to the police department," Cosenzo fumed.

Ann Brave of Mill Street also supports a Town Hall rear addition, but at far less cost than defeated plan.

"It should cost no more than $2.5 million," she told the Times. "We can't afford any more than that."

Mayor Michael Pizzi said he will reactivate the building committee, which was overseeing the last project, to begin exploring alternatives. He indicated that improved facilities for the police is one of the top priorities of his administration.

Mandatory retirement struck down

State rules Sbarra can keep his job

By Christopher Bifani

Later this year, Belleville Fire Chief George Sbarra will be celebrating his fortieth year as a veteran of the township fire department. But if a recent State Court of Appeals decision had not gone in his favor, the fiery fire chief would not have made it that far.

On Wednesday, January 20, the court ruled that Chief Sbarra cannot be forced to retire because he is over 65. This is a direct reversal of a determination by Attorney General Cary Edwards last year which ordered enforcement of mandatory retirement ages.

"I'm elated at the outcome!" The chief exclaimed, "I love this job and I'm dedicated to it."

Sbarra went to court with the help of the New Jersey Paid Fire Chief's Association. His case was considered along with a host of similar actions brought forth by nearly two dozen high-ranking police and fire officials between the ages of 65 and 70, including officials from the Essex communities of Newark, Irvington and Montclair.

Sbarra said he would have been happy if the judges simply extended the age to 70. But instead, the judges went a step farther: The ruling means officials not directly involved in street action never have to retire simply because of age.

As long as they are performing their jobs satisfactorily, they may continue indefinitely.

"I feel great, I'm in good shape. I believe I can go on a few more years here," Sbarra told the Times.

Sbarra and his over-65 colleagues decided to go to court in 1987, after a February announcement by New Jersey Pension Director Douglas Forrester advised them they would have to retire because they are over 65.

The case was heard in November, the 67 year old Chief said, and the officials made a strong case for keeping their jobs - arguing that if there has to be a mandatory retirement age, it should be 70, as required by the federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act. The chiefs believed their lifetimes of experience far outweighed any physical limitations imposed by age.

"I've been on the job 39 years," Sbarra said of a tenure that makes him one of the township's longest-running employees.

The State, meanwhile, argued that a January 1, 1987 amendment to the age discrimination act gave states the right to supersede the act in the area of law enforcement officials. That leeway still stands for police and fire employees who are not in supervisory positions, and even supervisors such as Sbarra are not completely out of the woods.

Each 65-plus official will be evaluated on a case by case basis by the Division of Pensions, according to the ruling.

Had Chief Sbarra been forced to retire his financial picture would not have been bleak, thanks to his pension and a thrifty use of sick and personal days over the course of his lengthy career.

"I've got 465 days owed to me on the books," he said, "because I averaged just 3 sick days per year. How many men today put in that kind of time?"

School Board adds more required credits

Curriculum committee beefs up school standards

Belleville high school students will be considerably better equipped to handle the high-technology society of century 21st America if major curriculum revisions are approved by the Board of Education, school officials say.

A curriculum committee chaired by school board trustee Barbara Cicalese presented a report to the board that would up the number of credits required for graduation from 100 to 120, beginning with next year's freshman class.

Participating on the committee with Cicalese were Assistant Superintendents Arthur Pico and Michael Lally.

"The school board has been receptive to curriculum improvements in the past, and we expect the recommendations of our curriculum committee to be passed," Lally told the Times. The board held a hearing on the proposed revisions at their January 20 meet. The board votes on the revisions February 8. If passed as expected, the new curriculum will be phased in a little at a time.

Current seniors, juniors and sophomores will not be affected by the proposed curriculum revisions, which include upping the math requirement from 2 years to 3 years; the science requirement from 1 year to 2 years and the social studies requirement from 2 years to 3 years.

But this year's freshmen will be required to take at least one additional elective, bringing the minimum of credits for graduation up to 105 for the class of 1991.

The Class of 1992, this year's eighth graders, will be the first to meet the 120 credit requirement. They will take all three years of science, both years of social studies and will choose two additional electives.

The third year of math will be in place for the Class of 1993, bringing Belleville in full compliance with New Jersey Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman's goals.

"Most districts are going to 120 credits," Lally said, adding that today's high school students could attempt the coming requirements voluntarily simply by choosing the necessary courses as electives.

"100 credits is the absolute minimum required for graduation, but most students graduate with more. Some of our better students are graduating with 130 credits."

There are eight class periods per day at BHS, each worth five credits. Theoretically, the maximum number of credits a student can attempt in Belleville is 160, based on 40 credits per year. But with a class period set aside for lunch, the maximum amount of credits is 140.

END OF EARLY DISMISSAL
"We expect to run a full school day next year for all students except those in work programs," Lally said, "There will be no more early release. Every student will arrive at 8PM and leave at 2:36PM."

Lally explained that in past years, there were many more students at BHS and the school back then would have been unable to accommodate the increased credit requirements and full length school days for all students.

"But now, with the enrollment drop, we can implement these things," he said.

A typical year for a Belleville high school student will include six required courses, one free elective and a lunch. Currently, a high school student could get by on five required courses, a study hall, a free elective and a lunch.

MINIMAL COST
Cicalese and Lally both stated that implementing the strengthened ed credit structure would be virtual-ly cost-free.

"We already have the teachers and classrooms in place," Lally said.

Other recommendations listed in the curriculum committee's report would also entail minimal costs.

These include a much more thorough testing schedule, including district-wide writing tests at grades 3,6 and 9; a 10th grade proficiency test which would better prepare students for the state mandated 11th grade proficiency tests; and a library skills test at the 9th grade level which would help identify students who could use help in their research skills - essential for a thorough education.

Other recommendations include regular monthly meetings between town grammar school principals, the middle school principal and Belleville Schools Super-intendant Michael Nardiello. Also, a coordinated and beefed-up substance abuse curriculum was recommended for all grades.

But one recommendation emphasized by Cicalese in her presentation would add to the school budget - by about 2 tax points. The trustee wants 3 positions filled at the elementary school level: a remedial math teacher, a remedial reading teacher and a third roving librarian.

Belleville used to have three librarians moving between the township's seven grammar schools. Following a retirement, the system is down to two and this, says Lally, has forced curtailment of library programs for Grades K-2.

The Board of Education meets at Belleville High School on Pas-saic Avenue, February 8 at 8PM.

A cleaner city is better for township

Belleville's future is tied to City of Newark

Bifani on...

County Executive Nicholas Amato is proud of his "no-tax-increase" budget last year, when he held the line on spending through layoffs, wage and expenditure freezes and elimination of some duplicated services.

While many Essex residents welcomed this relief, here in Belleville we got a county tax increase anyway - thanks to rising property values in town which, under the complex county taxation formula, increased our share of the burden.

Of course, the increase was kept to a minimum because Amato held the line. And in recent interviews, he promises to again strive for a "no-tax-increase" budget for 1988, but whether this means "no-tax-increase-for-Belleville" remains to be seen.

Some Essex realtors say property values in our township have stabilized - and have even declined slightly around the Newark side of town. Others point to strong activity on the Nutley side of town and believe that overall, property values have risen slightly. What effect, if any, will this have on our county tax share?

Today, at 3PM Executive Amato, a former Bellevillite, will present the 1988 County Budget to the Essex Board of Chosen Freeholders. Coverage of the proceedings will be included in next week's edition of The Belleville Times.

Amato concedes that his hope of preventing a tax increase hinges upon the state's willingness to pay for some of the key programs it orders the county to administer. The big three are courts, prisons and welfare.

The Executive says the state should pay more rent for its judicial offices and has threatened to evict six judges if the state doesn't come up with more cash. He also believes the state should pay the salaries of all judicial employees, clerks on up, and not just the salaries of the judges. He says Essex would save $40 million if the state complied with his not-so-subtle demands.

Amato further advocates a state takeover of the Essex prisons, the

The Clara Maass Medical Center School of Nursing is a two year diploma school that prepares professional nursing students to take the New Jersey Licensing Examination for Registered Nurses.

Scholarship money will be awarded to the recipients in two stages: $1,000 in September of the first year, and $1,000 in September of the second year.

Applications and information about specific requirements is available from high school guidance counselors or by contacting Mary Jo Candido, director of the School of Nursing, Clara Maass Medical Center.

Completed applications must be received by May 1. Scholarship winners will be announced by July 1.

RESPONDING TO HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

For a young adult, the average blood-pressure reading is 120/80. Depending upon how much a patient's numbers exceed this average, the physician will alter his response to the problem of high blood pressure. The first steps usually do not involve drugs. The doctor will urge a patient to lose weight, stop smoking, and restrict his intake of salt. If these dietary and lifestyle changes do not bring results, the physician will often prescribe a diuretic. The resultant reduction in body fluid will often control a mild elevation in blood pressure. Failing this, a beta blocker may be prescribed. These drugs block nerve impulses which increase blood pressure. The next step may involve the prescription of a vasodilator which dilates blood vessels. A more potent nerve blocker could follow in extreme cases.

The next time you have a prescription to be filled bring it to us. Last year's appointment is this year's first candidate

Caputo announces campaign for board of education seat

Frank A. Caputo has become the first person to officially announce his candidacy for the Belleville Board of Education.

Caputo, a present board member and guidance counselor in the Newark School system, is hoping to be returned to one of the two seats open on the board. He was appointed to the board last year following the resignation of Joseph Carpello.

"As an experienced educator, I've seen what a quality education can bring," Caputo said. "I am a professional who understands education in theory and practice." The candidate feels that the best way to provide a thorough and efficient educational program is to maintain a diversified and caring Board of Education.

Besides his counselor position, Caputo remains involved with youths as he is also a recreation instructor in an after school youth program. In past summers Caputo has worked as a water safety instructor at the Boys Club where he taught blind and neurologically impaired children the basic skills and fundamentals of water safety.

Caputo's work experience is widespread, having been the coordinator of the security forces at Giants Stadium, as well as serving as Events Coordinator at the Byrne's Meadowlands Arena, for a period of six years.

In the community, and on a volunteer basis, Caputo has assisted as a consultant to the Essex County Children's Shelter, and has been a Little League coach of F.M.B.A. for the past five years. "Development of recreational sports programs for boys and girls of all ages also develops character in the individual in addition to keeping our youngsters active," Caputo said.

Caputo, the father of two children, Frank and Danielle was educated in the Belleville school system. He is quick to point out that "the largest part of the Belleville citizen's tax dollar goes to education."

"If this revenue is not spent wisely, it is a waste of not only hard-earned money, but also a devastating blow to the future of our young," Caputo said.

He says education is and should always remain a number one priority in our lives.

The veteran candidate (he has also served on the East Rutherford Board of Education) believes the "improvements come best a step at a time, but the promise of better things in the future is the only way to inspire young people to honorable and fulfilling lives."

Editor's note — Frank Caputo was incorrectly identified as Steven Caputo in the January 21 Belleville Times. The Times regrets the error.

A better curriculum

The improvements recommended by the school board-appointed curriculum committee are a positive forward-thinking step in the "retooling" of Belleville's school system.

The primary recommendation in the committee's report calls for the school board to add another year of science, math and social studies to the high school curriculum, while increasing the minimum number of credits required for graduation from 100 to 120.

This enhancement of the high school program, which would be fully phased in by the time this year's seventh grade reaches BHS, is essential for our youth to compete in an increasingly technical society.

The United States, which once boasted the world's finest public educational system, has been sharply surpassed by Japan, West Germany, and other highly industrialized nations.

Should this trend continue, our national prosperity - and even our security - will be threatened. It is comforting, then, to know that in Belleville at least these concerns are being addressed right now.

Other recommendations are also worthy of mention - and merit. A rigorous testing schedule endorsed in the report would give our schoolchildren an edge in the areas of library research, holistic writing and achievement in state mandated tests.

Improved curricula in health and substance abuse classes will better position our young to meet the challenges of negative peer pressure. Besides learning to "just say no," our kids will also learn why.

The one recommendation we're not convinced of calls for three new instructors at the grammar school level - a third roving librarian and remedial instructors for math and reading, for a cost of nearly two tax points.

While we support the third librarian because it provides for a resumption of K-2 library programs, we wonder why present staff can't be reoriented for remedial instruction, thus saving taxpayers the cost of two more salaries.

Overall, we commend the efforts of Curriculum Committee Chairperson and school board trustee Barbara Cicalese along with Assistant Superintendents Arthur Pico and Michael Lally for their efforts at bringing the Belleville school system into the third millennium.

However, the option of using existing staff for remedial instruction - at no additional cost to taxpayers - should be pursued.

A new ballgame

It's not over 'til it's over.

The Belleville Police Department under Mayor & Police Commissioner Michael Pizzi will continue to push for improved and expanded police facilities and the townspeople of Belleville must support them.

Mayor Pizzi has said he will move quickly to reactivate the building committee, explore alternatives - and to decide on one which will balance cost and need.

Because of the landscape of the Town Hall property, many police and township officials believe the answer lies in an addition behind Town Hall. How large an addition is up to the Commission and how much they are willing to spend.

An artists' rendering on page one of this week's Times illustrates what a 20,000 square foot four floor addition might look like, complete with an elevator corridor to connect the two structures.

Although the Times firmly supports this concept, we encourage readers to submit their own ideas and comments both to the Editor and to the Commission.

Now that the township is no longer tied to the costly vision of the previous administration, it's a new ballgame.

Hopefully, it's one which all sides can win!

Back to work, George

The State Court of Appeals ruling that removed the spectre of forced retirement for dozens of police and fire officials was a prudent one. The wisdom most of these officials amass by age 65 is a valuable asset which should not be wasted.

Belleville Fire Chief George Sbarra, at 67, was one of the fire officials who would have been sent packing if the court had ruled otherwise. Instead, the Chief is back at his desk and "elated" now that he is once again in charge of how he chooses to spend his weekdays.

The way Chief Sbarra is choosing to spend them, of course, is at the helm of Belleville's 70 man fire department. And without a forced retirement looming anytime soon, he can concentrate on some of the internal problems that have been reportedly plaguing the department.

The Times has learned that there is enough in-fighting between the chief's subordinate officers that it is actually causing morale problems both in the firehouse and on the scene at fires.

Thanks to mutual assistance agreements, even firefighters from neighboring communities are aware that all is not well the in the BFD's pecking order.

Had Chief Sbarra been forced to retire, Public Safety Director Michael Pizzi would have had to choose one of the four deputy fire chiefs to replace him. This has led to departmental rivalry, our sources say, although no one is saying that poor morale has actually hampered the department's firefighting capabilities - at least not yet.

But poor morale can indeed hamper the efforts of a uniformed force, be it the army, the police or the fire department. And the only sure-fire way to combat morale is from the top...and that's where Chief Sbarra sits.

The Times applauds Fire Chief George Sbarra in his victory over state-imposed discrimination and wish him well in his future years serving Belleville. Further, we encourage the Chief to investigate and solve any morale problems with the kind of effective and vigorous leadership that can only be gained through long years of experience.

Kean would make good Veep...

To the editor:

In his State of the State address, Governor Thomas Kean, left no doubt, whatsoever, that he views the problem of health care for the poor, the need to upgrade education, cleaning up oceans and beaches, and sheltering the homeless, as being first and foremost, the responsibility of Government. Unlike Ronald Reagan, Gov. Kean does not "pass the buck" to the private sector.

America would have been better served, this past seven years, had Ronald Reagan possessed the integrity of New Jersey's Thomas Kean.

The 1988 Republican Presidential Nominee, whom ever he may be, would do well to choose Tom Kean for his Vice-Presidential running mate.

Resigns from the CCB...

To the editor:

On December 12, 1987, I wrote a letter of resignation to the Concerned Citizens of Belleville for myself and forty-one other members.

It was the feeling of these citizens that the CCB had become a politically motivated and controlled organization. This is something we never expected to happen to our citizens' group.

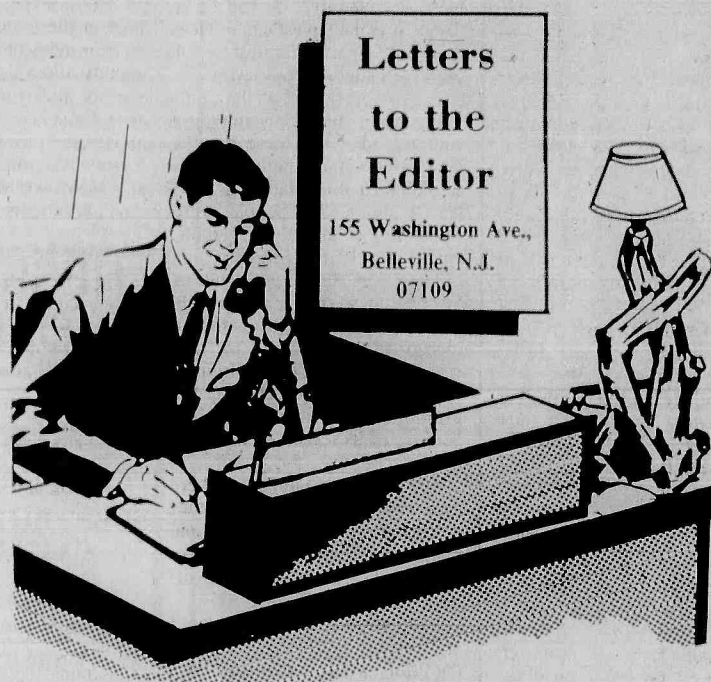

When an organization starts finding a way to exclude any citizen from membership, that is discriminatory. We also feel that this is not what a citizens' organization should do.

Those of us who were in attendance at the last meeting on Dec. 3, were embarrassed and outraged at the kangaroo proceedings that the nominating committee called an election.

It is really unfortunate that something that started out with such good intentions had to be ruined by politics.

Perseverance

By Pastor Gerald Fortunato
 Silver Lake Baptist Church

Perseverance! Hanging in there when it is tough and when you are not sure if you can or cannot. The triumphant fortitude to endure when the circumstances give you every reason to quit. Perseverance! God wants it in His people.

The original word is a combination of two Greek words that literally mean "to abide under." Maybe you have seen the little Mexican burros with a huge load on their backs. Often there is more load than there is burro, yet they "abide under" the load without bucking and falling beneath it. That is a picture of "hupomonee" or perseverance. And that is what God demands of His people in passages like Heb. 12:1 where the writer says, "Let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us." But the word has another idea in it that we often overlook. It describes a quality that takes a testing circumstance and turns it into an advantage. Let me illustrate. Years ago in the movie "Cool Hand Luke" there was a scene that illustrated hupomonee, perseverance, as well as any I have ever seen. Luke, portrayed by Paul Newman, was sent to a prison camp located in the swamps of Louisiana. Upon his arrival, the bully of the camp, George Kennedy, almost immediately picked a fight with Luke. One afternoon the warden gathered all the prisoners in a big circle in the prison yard and put Luke and the bully in the circle to fight it out. The bully beat Luke to a pulp, but Luke would not quit. He kept getting up and kept getting up although he was taking a severe beating. Finally, when the bully could no longer stand beating Luke anymore, he turned his back and walked out of the circle of men with Luke still beating on his back. The perseverance of Luke won the respect of every man in the prison camp - even the bully's. Luke emerged as the leader of the entire camp even though he'd been severely beaten. The reason...perseverance!

The early church had perseverance. Paul commends the Thessalonian church in I Thessalonians 1:3 and II Thessalonians 2:4 for their hupomonee, perseverance. Jesus commends the churches at Ephesus and Thyatira for their perseverance in Rev. 2:2, 19. The first century church awed the ancient world with their perseverance and caused the world to question: "What is it with these Christians? How can they keep going and singing and dying joyfully under this kind of attack?" Many were won to Jesus as they witnessed the perseverance of the early Christians.

God's people of the 1980's need perseverance! It still awes the people of the world and causes them to ask questions and draws them to Jesus. We need perseverance in our marriages, in the face of a terminal ill loved one, with a rebelling teenager, when our business crumbles and when our health fails. We must persevere!

But how? The same way Jesus did - anticipating the joy that will be ours one day soon. The Hebrews writer says of Jesus that He "for the joy set before Him endured the cross" (Heb. 12:2). The Apostle Paul captures the same idea in Romans 8:18 when he says "I consider that our present sufferings are not worth comparing with the glory that will be revealed in us."

The time is soon coming when we will be glorified and receive an inheritance beyond description. But until then we must persevere! Only those who run the race with perseverance can receive the crown.

If you face terribly difficult circumstances now, hang in there. Keep running. Although a big part of you wants to give in and quit, DON'T! Your perseverance will be rewarded! May God's people shout the battle cry...PERSEVERANCE!

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

Both Newsweek and AARP news bulletin, a publication of the American Association of Retired Persons, emphasize the growing sentiment of Congress over the explosive question of cutting entitlements, particularly Social Security. The drive is sparked primarily by Bruce Babbitt, the former Arizona Governor, now seeking nomination as Democratic Presidential candidate, the man who while Governor said regarding the senior citizens, "let them die." He is not alone and supported by many powerful political personalities...even Gov. Cuomo of New York...the man who says he doesn't want to be President, but we think he'd grab it if it were given to him.

This clique of politicians who gleefully want along with President Reagan's extravagant armament program, subsidizing of wars of foreign forces, grants and aid to foreign governments in billions of dollars and other extravagances, which have bankrupt the nation, and even reduced the taxes of the rich, even their own, up to 28 percent; now have the audacity and effrontery to consider taxing all the Social Security benefits that had been pledged by President F.D. Roosevelt to be permanently tax-free.

They and their rich friends benefit taxwise while they would call upon the meager benefits of the elderly to be taxed in their entirety. What a fine bunch of bastards some politicians can be.

They backed off when they were unable to gain enough political support for cost of living adjustment cuts when Advocates of older Americans, including AARP, kept pressure on the negotiators, pointing out that Social Security is a solvent, self-sustaining system that is not contributing to the deficit.

Before the ink had dried on the budget settlement another plan was started by Sen. Nancy Kassebaum (R-Ks.) and 21 others from both parties offered a plan calling for reducing the 1988 Social Security COLA from 4.2% to 2% (for a saving of $4.2 billion) and imposing a freeze on all federal programs.

Most believe the COLAs are safe at least through the 1988 elections. But that the war isn't over...the temptation to go after it will be very great after the 1988 elections...that is why it is so important that those who would protect the rich at the expense of those on Social Security, should not be re-elected to Congress. Find out who they are and dump all of them.

Already Medicare payments had been reduced 2.3%, meaning that claims were processed more slowly and beneficiaries who bill Medicare were being cut by 2.3% from Medicare-sanctioned funds. Unfortunately Medicare is a target for significant cuts under all the plans being worked out; meaning cuts to providers (doctors and hospitals) for which the patients will have to ante up more from their meager benefits.

Programs affecting low-income elderly are also likely to be hurt, as part of the $2.6 billion reduction from domestic programs that the budget summit called for. These programs include housing, energy assistance and activities under the Older Americans Act.

The major threat, however, is aimed at the Social Security COLA's. The folly of the Reagan Administration has come home to roost upon the backs of the nation's elderly and poor...something for them to consider when the 1988 Presidential election comes around in November...Whatever happened to President Roosevelt's promise that Social Security would never be taxed?

The AARP should request contributions from members to fight this abrogation of contract through the highest court in the land.

Congressman Bob Roe is one of the most influential members of Congress. He is chairman of the Science and Space technology Committee and chairman of the Congressional Subcommittee on Investigations and Oversight — and also chairman of the Subcommittee of Congressional Public Works and Transportation. Roe is also a member of the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence.

Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield are lucky to have Bob Roe represent them in Congress. Congressional redistricting is due in 1991 to reflect the census of 1990. That event will probably remake congressional districts and lead to the possible elimination of Roe from Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield, a loss that would be hard to take, since the likelihood is that a newcomer probably will be elected to represent the foregoing communities.

PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN delivered another fine talk this week — no new ideas, some substance — and a lot of glitter. I admire the man and agree with about 65-percent of his philosophical beliefs. He is going to be a tough act to follow — what with the successor inheriting an unbalanced budget, a deficit trade balance and a debt that three or four future generations will be burdened with paying off. Despite this dismal future, there are a dozen guys running around the country telling people why each of them is best qualified to be president of the United States. Frankly, there is no candidate who measures up to 100-percent in my book. At the outside, I might give a 75-percent grade to the best among them. My guess is that voters in November will elect a president by voting against a candidate rather than cast an affirmative vote.

CONGRESSMAN JIM FLORIO is a new Jim Florio. The experts tell me that Jim is more patient, reflects a deep feeling of humility, and will not make a political promise to gain support. No one I know questions Florio's integrity — even when he lost to Tom Kean by 1,500 votes seven years ago. The trouble with Jim Florio of 1982 was a perception that he appeared to be arrogant and condescending. Today, he is anything but that. He is warm, friendly and humble. Jim Florio has what it takes to go all the way. It remains to be seen who among his fellow Democrats will seek to challenge him in the primary. As for Republicans, they have a guaranteed primary fight — and hopefully they will do justice to the 11th Commandment and not attack each other. It's the only way a Republican will have a chance to win in 1989. If 1989 economics leave much to be desired, the chances are a Republican could win.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE Nick Amato is still stirring up the monkeys — still involved with reforms and continues to enjoy the support of independent voters. Democrat State and Essex County Chairman Ray Durkin has national Democrats beating a path to his door seeking advice — and why not — Durkin is among the best political pros in the country. His record speaks to it. On the Republican side, G.O.P. County Chairman

John Renna is not taking anything for granted. He started last year at the grass roots trying to elect councilmen and township commissioners in contests around the county. Renna struck oil in a couple of places, and in others, he could not dislodge entrenched Democrats. However dismal the future in trying to change heavily Democratic Essex to a Republican county, Renna does not give up. He keeps trying.

NUTLEY AND Belleville have commission form of government governed by the Walsh Act, which is about 60 years old. We think there should be a charter study committee for both towns. There must be a better form of government to serve the people than the one we now have. I have believed for a long time that there should be a direct election of mayor rather than the present system which has tradition dictating the Mayor of Nutley and deals dictating the Mayor of Belleville. The form of government that separates powers from the executive and legislative is the best. The present form lends itself to passing the buck from one commissioner to another. Moreover, the 400-percent increase in garbage disposal costs will lead taxpayers to force public officials not only to examine expense items, but also to examine the form of government that could best serve the needs of our people as we enter the 21st century.

SOME BELLEVILLE officials are moaning that they lost a chance five years ago to become a partner in the Wanaque South Water project. Forever and a day Belleville must be resigned to being a buyer of water rather than owning its own water resources. That is to say, it will be at the mercy of Newark or Passaic Valley Water Commission. Part of the money Belleville will pay for its water will go towards the cost of constructing filtration plants owned by either Newark or Passaic Valley, and Belleville taxpayers will never see the day when all the money they are paying out for water would not go down the drain. Nutley and Bloomfield were most fortunate to get a piece of the action and own their own water supply. For example, Nutley's prime cost of water is in the neighborhood of $700, but $450 of that sum goes to pay off the mortgage. The remainder, approximately $250 to $275, is the actual cost of the water. That sum, my friends, is among the cheapest water prices in the state of New Jersey — and it buys the best quality of water.

SPEAKING OF water, Nutley is the only partner member of the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission that has refused to pay its assessment. The failure of the Commission to pay the assessment opens up taxpayers to a law suit which may require Nutley to pay 21-percent interest, forego an $80,000 gift from the Township of Wayne and additionally, incur over $100,000 in legal fees.

AN INDIGNANT woman called police to complain about a naked man in the apartment across the way. When they responded and looked out her window, they could see no naked man. The policemen expressed bewilderment and disgust to the complaining woman. "Oh," she said, "you have to stand on the chair to see him."

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK:

Kean, Orechio, Amato, James, Giblin, Kelly, Crocco, Clay, Rice...

Does Essex still have clout in Trenton?

One of my peripheral duties as Editor of the Belleville Times is participation on the Editors' Committee of the New Jersey Press Association.

Once a month, the committee meets at luncheons to discuss endeavors such as seminars for reporters, scholarships and contests, newspaper industry concerns and other matters.

For most of last year, the Editors' Committee was meeting at those conference-type restaurants that lurk in the big hotels along the Turnpike, the advantage being easy access from all points of the state. The disadvantage is the somewhat sterile environment that gets, well, boring after awhile. At one meeting late last year, possible future meeting sites were discussed.

I proposed having the committee, which is made up of daily and weekly newspaper editors from throughout the state, meet in Newark.

"There's a lot of changes taking place in Newark," I had said, "Since it is the largest city in New Jersey, it might be interesting for the state's editors to pay a visit."

The powers that be on the Committee were sufficiently intrigued with the idea and three months later, at noon on January 22, a substantial representation of Garden State media people were assembling at the Priory Restaurant on West Market Street.

The Priory Restaurant is part of St. Joseph Plaza, a remarkable urban renewal project less than a mile from the Belleville line that was recently developed from a historic brownstone church, the exterior of which can not be altered because of its registered historical significance.

The inside is magnificent. There is an indoor courtyard of quaint tables, along with a professional pianist whose peaceful strains take full advantage of the acoustic environs of a former church.

Around this indoor courtyard are various businesses including the Priory, a deli, and offices.

Lunch consisted of a buffet of roast chicken, barbecued spare ribs, rice and salad. A traditional Newark repast! Following a brief business meeting, the editors boarded a special NJ Transit bus for a tour of the city sponsored by the Newark Landmarks and Preservation Committee. Elizabeth Del Tufo, a north Newarker who is Chairwoman of the Preservation Committee and a director of the Newark Boys Chorus, was our guide.

"We're going to show you the good side of Newark as well as the warts," Del Tufo told the editors.

The warts consisted of most of the urban disaster sites that drove much of Belleville's current population out of Newark in the last generation. We saw the abandoned high-rise projects, the burned-out streets decorated with litter and weed-choked vacant lots and piles of rubble and rubbish.

We saw boarded up businesses, bums, and broken glass.

For me, these were sights I've seen many times before. When I first came to Essex in 1986, I toured some of Newark's most downtrodden neighborhoods with the Essex County Sheriff's Department. But although most of the deterioration was still evident two years later, there are positive signs of renewal almost everywhere.

One example is the University Heights condominium project currently underway by the Hovnanian Corporation in conjunction with local minority firms based in Newark.

Much daily press has been devoted to this undertaking, which involves the construction of some 600 middle-class townhouse condominiums in the heart of the embattled Central Ward — virtually ground zero during the riots of 1967.

No doubt many Bellevillites — who have been taking Newark comeback stories with a grain of salt all these years — have been skeptical about the University Heights project. But a few blocks of housing are already up, and they are fine looking homes indeed — built in the traditional townhome style reminiscent of turn-of-the-century urban architecture. It's the kind of stuff you'd expect to see near the main drag of a Morris suburb, not on a hill in the heart of Newark overlooking the downtown skyline!

All around the development site are cleared lots awaiting similar development, and there is already a waiting list for people — predominantly Newarkers — to purchase the homes, which are about $90,000 but which would probably cost twice that here in Belleville.

Nearby, a lot has been cleared that will be the site of a new shopping mall, maybe about a dozen stores. On Broad Street, another mall is going up that will have about three dozen stores. Called Renaissance Mall, it's going up right in the heart of the shopping district — between City Hall and Market Street.

Another Gateway skyscraper is going up, as is the Newark Legal & Communications Center. Although Mrs. Del Tufo believes the architecture of the four-building Gateway complex is detached and inconsistent with the cityscape, she says "anything that brings revenue into the city is positive." And there is no doubt that the district around Penn Station (also a site of refurbishing) has been revived thanks to the Gateway development.

Newark has been going multi-level over the past few years. Although some experts believe parking decks discourage mass transit use and invite increased traffic problems, they still fill an immediate need of the city: They allow people from anywhere to come in to town and conduct their business.

A gigantic five level parking garage is rising fast right across Market Street from the Gateway complex. Other decks have been built on West Market Street to accommodate college commuters. But a key lot, situated on Market Street between the Essex government office district and Market

Street's heaviest concentration of shopping, has yet to go multi-level. If and when the City lays down a few layers there, it will be easy for Bellevillites to enjoy a day of old-fashioned city shopping. Newark still has more stores by far than any Garden State mega-mall, and in many cases the values are outstanding.

If this lot's capacity was tripled or quadrupled, Newark's retail parking problems would be over. In the meantime, the best way for townspeople to visit Newark is to park for free at the Belleville subway stop at Franklin Street and take a five minute, 85 cent train in.

Mrs. Del Tufo showed the editors many of the historical sites, such as monuments, colonial-era churches, extensive neighborhoods of prosperous upper-class housing, parks... all subtly (and not-so-subtly) aimed at convincing the state's opinion leaders that Newark deserves to be saved, and is in fact making more progress than ever before in that direction.

My own editorial perspective is, naturally, a Belleville perspective. Newark needs to come back because if it doesn't, Belleville is going to go down.

"First East Orange went, then Irvington, and pretty soon it's going to be Belleville," said one resident recently. This fear of Newark-triggered township decline is reinforced by a nationwide trend of center city blight spreading to the first ring of suburban communities.

Already there are signs of deterioration in the Silver Lake section of Belleville, which is bordered by Newark to the east as well as to the south. More deterioration is evident at the south end of Washington Avenue, although there is considerable redevelopment going on there too.

The symbols of classic Newark-style decay is filth. Nowhere in Belleville is there the kind of panoramic filth that there is in much of Newark.

The upsurge in Newark's economic picture is quite nice, but why is the city so filthy and when are they going to clean it up?

Our tour included a stop at City Hall — the most magnificent Romanesque municipal structure in New Jersey — and an editors' conference with Richard Monteilh, the City Manager. Mayor Sharpe James was scheduled to be our host, but His Honor had to go to Washington D.C. on mayoral business. Monteilh was the pinch-hitter.

I asked Monteilh why so many vacant lots were piled high with weeds and filth, and when they are going to be cleaned up.

"Those lots will be cleaned up when buildings go up on them," Monteilh replied. He said most vacant city lots — we passed dozens of them, and city-wide there must be hundreds — are already committed to development in the near future. He said city auctions of the lots were attracting 1200 bidders at a time. Just a few years ago, he said, there was hardly any interest in the properties at all.

But in the meantime, why aren't the lots being cleaned up?

"We do clean them up," Monteilh said. "And you know what happens? A week later they're dirty again." Monteilh contends that Newark's vacant lots are serving as illegal dumping grounds. He seems to believe that most of the filth in those lots is coming from out-of-town people looking to unload their refuse.

"I don't buy that," I politely replied, sounding far more like an editor than a reporter. After all, we had just passed by plenty of lots that obviously hadn't seen a rake or a shovel in years. And if you want to do illegal dumping, you're best bet is the swamps, not the heart of the city!

Monteilh's vision for Newark was fascinating, based on the fact that it is one of the world's best locations.

"There are 60 million people within four hours of Newark," he said proudly. Which means there is just as many people within four hours of Belleville, by the way.

He said crime was down more than 30% in the business district, and was down by a lesser percentage city-wide. A police kiosk was installed recently at the intersection of Market & Broad Streets, and he says that has had an immediate positive effect.

This, of course, does nothing to stem the tide of Newark suspects raiding Belleville homes and ripping off Belleville cars. The largest number of arrests in Belleville, according to Police Chief George Lister, are Newarkers.

But the more Newark comes back, the more jobs will become available — and every job is potentially one less Newark criminal crossing the Belleville line for his loot.

Overall, the picture of Newark presented by Elizabeth Del Tufo and Richard Monteilh was promising. In fact, the potential of 21st Century Newark seems truly greater than any city of its size in America. Belleville properties are sure to be worth substantially more if the township once again has the fortune to be situated next to a thriving non-threatening metropolis.

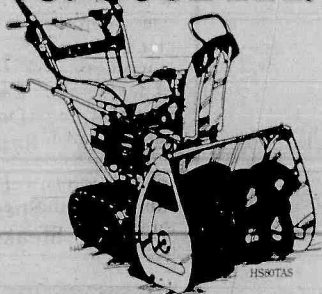

Newark's population is showing signs of stabilizing at slightly over 300,000 — down from a peak of nearly 500,000 thirty years ago, but up from the dire predictions of 10 years ago, when some people suggested the decline would fall to below a quarter million.

At 300,000 the population density of Newark would be roughly equal to that of Belleville. At its peak, Newark packed in about 18,000 citizens per square mile. Now the square mile density is down to 12,000, following perhaps the greatest urban population exodus in American history.

Belleville, which has never suffered a population decline, is pushing 11,000 per square mile, based on a

Daudelin completes Marine recruit training

Timothy Daudelin, son of Leo G. and Gloria J. Daudelin of Linden Ave., Belleville, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11-week training cycle, Daudelin was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1984 graduate of Belleville Senior High School, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1987.

Lorec promoted to vice president

Gloria Lorec has been promoted to Assistant Vice President of Peoples Bank, an Essex based institution with a branch in Belleville.

Medically Speaking

By Dr. Lou Citarelli
Dr. Dan Marucci

Dear Doctor: I often go to the pharmacy to have my prescriptions filled. On some occasions, I notice I receive a generic brand of my medications. Is this o.k.?

ANSWER:

It is important to realize that every medication has a chemical structure from which its generic name is derived. There may be one or more pharmaceutical companies which manufacture medication giving it their own trade or "brand" name. Each time a physician writes a prescription for a patient, there are several important items which are included. One of these items is whether or not a "substitute" or non-brand medication can be used to fill the prescription. In the State of New Jersey, a physician must clearly indicate on the prescription by one of several means what the pharmacist may or may not use.

If your physician desires that you receive a specific preparation, it is important that it is so indicated on the prescription. Equally as important is that a patient be aware of how his or her physician feels regarding "substitution" medication.

The most essential point to remember is that any prescription written by a physician is filled exactly as intended. If you have any questions regarding prescription or non-prescription medications, you should discuss them in detail with your physician.

Belleville's future is tied to Newark

1986 estimate of 36,000 people town-wide.

Most every problem that falls under the municipal sphere of influence (the pitiful problem-plagued school system is another story entirely) is being addressed by Newark City Government. Monteilh says they're even petitioning the state for a widening of Route 21 and the modernization of the Route 280-Route 21 intersection.

They're bullishly seeking corporate involvement and investment. They've renegotiated their arrangement with Port Authority for a bigger city slice of the airport action: Landlord Newark is getting more than $20 million this year, and the figure is on an upward sliding scale.

They're pushing hard for a rail link from Downtown to the airport, and they're rapidly changing the city's ragged image nationwide, thanks to a dynamic publicity and business-minded mayor who lives, breathes and thinks Newark.

But the flaw to all this planning is the filth. Any visitor to the city, be it newspaper editors, investors or higher government officials will remember the grime and filth of Newark with as much recall as the new development.

"Newark is a city of contrasts," Del Tufo asserts. But in the case of filth, it is a contrast that can easily be removed.

Why can't a city, which pays $400 million in taxes, put a few trucks and clean-up crews to the task of removing the filth from the streets and vacant lots?

Is waiting for new construction the answer or merely an excuse for immediate clean up action? Whatever happened to the sixties belief that garbage and filth are breeding grounds for vermin and roaches? What, that's not true anymore?

Isn't it the city's obligation to provide a humane and sanitary environment for its residents? Doesn't every American deserve the dignity of living in an environment free of filth?

During the tour I admit to dwelling more on than filth than anything else. How much can it cost, really, to send a few truck crews out every week to clean up Newark, block by block? 10 annual salaries, some trucks, rakes and shovels - how much? - a few hundred thousand? a fraction of a percent of Newark's budget?

Despite all the actually-happening developments taking place in our county capital, I think the people of Belleville will still their urban neighbor (and for many, their former hometown) with a grain of salt.

You want to know when Bellevillites - and all out-of-towners - will sit up and take notice? When they send out some men and some trucks and simply clean that town up!

In coming weeks it will be interesting to see how many of my editorial colleagues agree.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

February, 1988 is National Children's Dental Health Month. Nutley Dentist of Essex County Dental Society professes Nutley knowledge and preventive techniques throughout the Nutley grammar school system this month. Through this type of public knowledge and in office teachings there is a dramatic decline in dental decay in the general population. Of particular interest is that the incidence of dental disease is practically non-existent in the 3 to 12 year olds. This reduction is attributed to a great part to the better use of dental hygiene at home, supplemental fluoride in both vitamins and toothpaste, preventive dental sealants, and better public education.

As in past years a group of Dentists of Nutley will visit all the grammar schools to support good dental health ideas. In particular this year Doctors James Muglia, Phil Tualdo, Robert Rayner, Michael Lassaw, Fred Applebaum, Phil Wasserman, Gary Vitalelli, and Bruce Oline will be making visits. If any school would like a dental speaker please contact the Nutley Chairman Dr. James Muglia at 697-4421 and a speaker will be provided from the Essex County Dental Society.

BHS wrestlers still unbeaten

By Joe Piegario

Belleville's undefeated wrestling team is finally learning how Rodney Dangerfield has felt over the past 25 years. With a perfect 6-0 record and three undefeated matmen in the squad, head coach Joe Nisivoccia is wondering what he has to do to break into the Top 20.

The Star Ledger, which publishes the most popular and most read rankings each week, had the Bucs ranked 17th after a 1-0 start. The Bucs then won two more matches to improve to 3-0 and the Star Ledger dropped them to number 20. Then the Belleville wrestling team had the audacity to win a fourth match without a defeat and the Ledger dropped them from the ratings altogether. Now the wrestling team is 6-0 and wondering if they will ever get back into the Top 20.

Last week, Joe Nisivoccia's charges battered Paterson JFK and Paramus Catholic by respective scores of 51-16 and 46-18. Additionally, they finished third in the Elizabeth Minutemen Tournament with three individual wrestlers earning 1st place trophies.

With the season at midpoint, it's once again time to evaluate the team and its immediate future.

Ralph Perna has been leadoff man all year at 103 pounds and is a carbon copy of his older brother, Joe, last year's Region 2 gold medalist. Perna is 10-2 with six pins and a forfeit for his credit. It would not be surprising if Ralph were to match his big brother's District and Regional victories.

The 112 pound weight class seemed to be a strong point as the season opened, but is now a prime source of concern for coach Nisivoccia. Lou Coco had the job all to himself but a series of minor injuries and a bout with the flu have forced Coco to withdraw for the rest of the year. Freshman Angelo Torromeo has replaced him and built a 1-2-1 record in limited action.

Torromeo is a future star, but not yet a consistent varsity performer. With a bit more seasoning and some on the job training, Angelo has the talent to become a force in the 112 pound division before the season ends.

Senior team captain Mike Iuliano is one of the three undefeated Buc grapplers with a 12-0 record for the year. He won the Bloomfield Holiday Tournament, the Elizabeth Minutemen Tournament and leads the state in giving bloody noses and headaches to his opposition.

Easily the most physical Buc wrestler in the past 10 years, Iuliano has two pins and three Technical Falls so far this year and established himself as a legitimate contender for the state title at 119 pounds.

At 125 pounds, junior John Stampone has forged a record of 8-2-2 with six pins. He placed second at the Bloomfield Holiday Tournament and third at the Elizabeth Minutemen Tournament. After a come from behind 4-4 tie with state ranked Roberto Morales of Paterson Kennedy, Stampone has given notice that he is not about to back down to any wrestler, regardless of his record and his press clippings.

Last year, Armando Nardone finished second in the state at 130 pounds and fashioned a 33-3 record in the process. This year, the senior captain has still not been tested and has a perfect 11-0 record. Mondo has piled up five pins and two technical falls as his quest for the state title at 130 pounds continues.

As difficult as it may be to believe, Nardone vastly improved over last year. He is bigger, stronger, in better shape, and most of all, more physically intimidating than at any time in his career. He must be considered one of the two or three best 130 pounders in the state.

The Bucs' third undefeated grappler is senior Joe Cerreto with a spotless 12-0 record and has recorded six pins, a Technical Fall and two forfeits.

As good as Iuliano and Nardone have been this year, Cerreto has been better. He has been aggressive, physical and above all, a leader to younger wrestlers. If his intense style of wrestling continues, there is no reason why Cerreto cannot challenge for a state title in the 135 pound division.

Danny Hywell, the Bucs' second freshman starter, has held the 140 pound slot all year and compiled a 5-6 record so far. He has three pins in that total and the ones against Edison and St. Joseph's of Montvale were crucial in the Bucs' team victories. Hywell, like Torromeo, needs only seasoning and some upper body strength to become a star.

Nick "the Turk" Keykurun sports a 9-2 record for the year as he has wrestled at 140, 145 and 152 pounds for coach Nisivoccia. It is safe to assume Nick will compete at 145 pounds in the districts. His two losses were both by a point, 4-3 to Passaic Valley's E.J. LaGuerra and 2-1 to Elizabeth's Angel Gonzalez. His dramatic pin at 152 pounds versus Montclair helped the Bucs score a 35-30 victory.

The Bucs have not had much luck this year at 152 pounds, other than Keykurun's two triumphs. Seniors Jeff Apple and Gus Lijo have competed in this class, but have not yet won a match. Both are 0-3 but are admittedly wrestling above their normal weight classifications.

Sophomore Ken Henry is the resident 160 pounder and has a 5-4 record with a match winning pin versus Montclair. Kenny too is probably wrestling up one class too high and should compete at 152 pounds once Frank Pacheco becomes eligible this week.

Weight classes 171 and 189 have been a problem for the Bucs this season as injuries and weight difficulties have limited positive production. Joe DeCeglie bounced back and forth between 160, 171 and 189 and has a 3-3 record. Joe is coming back from a year and a half layoff from the sport and is progressing toward the form he displayed as a sophomore.

Two sophomores, George Villano and Mike Zacarella have wrestled briefly at 171 and 189 pounds respectively and give hope for the remainder of the season at those two troubled divisions.

Finally, heavyweight Ed Oldak has fashioned a 4-6 record in his first varsity season against some of the better heavies in the area. Matches against Lou Fontana of Passaic Valley, Dan Horincovich of Edison and Cory Triplin of Montclair should toughen Eddie up for his match against Clifton later in the season.

The team as a whole has established a reputation for gaining a large early lead in dual meets, then holding on as the upper weights continue to fight off the furious charges of the opposition.

BUC NOTES: Two weeks ago the Quiz Question was "Who is the only Buc wrestler to win three Bloomfield Holiday Tournament titles in his varsity career?" By now you should all know it was Armando Nardone in 1985-86-87.

Wrestler of the week goes to Joe Stampone for earning a 4-4 draw with state ranked Roberto Morales at Paterson JFK. Stampone escaped late in the third period to tie up the match and just missed a late takedown as he knocked the cocky Morales down a notch with his performance.

Joe Cerreto now has 80 lifetime wins to place him second behind brother Dominic Cerreto, the all time leader with 83. Mondo Nardone has 79 wins, good for third place. Mike Iuliano now has 65 wins to break into the Top 6. Coach Nisivoccia extends his heartfelt congratulations to Mondo Nardone for being the recipient of a bloody nose. It was a familiar scene to see Dennis Villano on the Buc bench as our team bet up on Paterson JFK. Can't somebody convince that guy that his heart and soul belong to the BHS wrestling tradition and that he should come out of retirement? Congratulations are in order for the Recreation wrestlers as they are undefeated and loaded for bear. Al Henry, Gerry Patrizio and Lou Riccardi are to be commended for their great job of handling these youngsters and making them into fine competitors and young men. See you next week.

Bucs down Clifton

THE MATCH turned out to be a dud, but the week wasn't all bad for the Belleville boys' basketball team. Don Roll's club rebounded from a loss to Paterson Kennedy and downed Clifton and Bloomfield in NNJIL action.

The Bucs took a very impressive 11-3 record into a game with Eastside last Tuesday. Belleville is at Montclair tomorrow afternoon in a 4 p.m. tip off. Next Tuesday, the team returns home for a game with powerful Teaneck.

Last week, Belleville and Paterson Kennedy met in a conference game at Paterson, with first place in the NNJIL on the line. A Belleville victory would mean a first place tie with the powerful Knights and an incredible confidence booster. The Bucs were coming off an emotional victory against Nutley the previous Friday and were confident of giving Kennedy a run for the money.

Belleville didn't have it, however, and Kennedy stormed out to an early lead and was never headed. The final count was 78-45 and afterward, Roll was offering no excuses for the setback.

"They're the most talented club in the NNJIL, no question," Roll said. "(James) Hargrove is a super talent. We tried to play a box and one defense on him and nothing worked. He was bombing away from three point range and was tough inside. And their other key player, (Tom) Paterson is phenomenal. He can jump to the moon."

Kennedy led, 17-5 after one quarter and extended the margin to 35-17 by intermission. It was 54-35 after three quarters and a 24-10 Kenendy run in the final eight minutes produced the final tally.

The loss dropped Belleville to 9-3, 5-2 in the NNJIL. Kennedy improved to a perfect 7-0 in the league and has lost just one ball game this season.

Leon Puentes led the Belleville attack with 21 points. Ted Sochaski was limited to 10, Steve Schved had six, Dominick Straface scored four, Chris Chiarmonte had two and Anthony Rodriguez had two. For Kennedy, Hargrove led the way with 34 points.

To Belleville's credit, the Bucs came back strong in its next contest with Clifton. Belleville needed the game to get back on the winning track and were without the services of Sochaski, who didn't play due to disciplinary reasons.

Chiarmonte took up the slack in the game and turned in a superb effort. The senior forward, who is a good rebounded and strong defensive player, poured in a career 22 points to lead the way. Belleville won the game, 65-64, when Puentes nailed a foul shot with :04 remaining in the game that broke a 64 all tie.

Clifton's Bill Shaughnessy had tied the game for Clifton seconds earlier when the senior guard nailed a three point basket with his team down, 64-61.

"We were working the clock down," Roll said. "Leon made a good move to the hoop and was fouled. He hit the first, but missed the second and they had a chance to win the game. Our defense did good job holding them without a shot in the final seconds."

The Bucs showed a lot of character by rebounding from an early deficit. Belleville trailed, 22-20 after one and 38-31 at halftime. The Bucs cut the lead to 46-43 after three quarters and outscored Clifton, 22-18 in the final eight minutes to win by one point.

Puentes led the Belleville scoring again, this time with 29 points. Chiarmonte, as mentioned, had 22, Schved finished with six, Straface closed with five and Ray Zamloot had three.

"Chris (Chiarmonte) played a great game," Roll said. "It was the kind of game we've been telling him he could play in his varsity career."

Last Saturday, the Bucs defeated a fired up Bloomfield squad, 65-62 at Bloomfield. Sochaski was back in the Belleville lineup and paced the victory with 24 points. Chiarmonte and Puentes had 16 a piece, Straface closed with five, Schved had two and Zamloot, two.

The Bengals took the early lead, 18-13 after one quarter, but the Bucs narrowed the Bengal lead to 31-29 at intermission. Belleville took the lead in the third quarter, 47-44 and held on for a 65-62 win.

"We came out flat for the game," Roll said. "We don't play well in Saturday afternoon games. Bloomfield was shooting the ball real well and giving us a lot of problems. Their home court has always been a tough place for us to play."

Despite the obstacles, the Bucs once again had enough to win.

"That's the important thing," Roll said. "We won, and in previous years, we wouldn't have won these types of games had we played not up to our ability. The kids have played well."

The Bucs 11-3 start is the best by a boys' basketball team in 20 years at Belleville High. The 1979-80 club started 9-3 and the 1974-75 club was 9-6 before finishing 13-10. Last years team was 9-6 at one point, but lost its final nine games and was 9-15.

This week's action will be tough. Eastside, whom the Bucs played last Tuesday, has already posted a win over Belleville. Montclair, tomorrow's opponnet, is very difficult to beat in Montclair.

Although this past week wasn't one to write home about, the Belleville girls' basketball team has certainly performed well this winter. Karen Fuccello's team was 8-6 entering this weeks action. The team started off with a 5-0 record and has been competitive in the strong NNJIL. The girls were 4-4 in the league entering this week.

Despite a recent slump where the girls have lost three straight games, the team is still enjoying its best season in four years. Fuccello has been working on a steady rebuilding plan since the end of the 1983-84 campaign when seniors Jennifer Apicella, Dina De Aquino, Lorell Wells and Tracy Buono graduated after leading Belleville to a 22-7 mark. The '83-84 team advanced to the finals of the Essex County tournament and later, the sectional tourney.

By Mike Lamberti

"We've improved this year, but injuries have slowed us down," Fuccello, who had 190 career victories entering this week, said. "I feel we can have ten or eleven wins now had we shot better from the foul line. We've lost a few close ones this winter."

Despite that, Belleville is very close to clinching a berth in the state tournament, something the girls haven't done since the '84 campaign when it advanced to the sectional finals against Plainfield. Reaching the states was something Fuccello was gearing for since the outset of this season.

Running the basketball program is a 12 month job for Fuccello. When not coaching the girls varsity at Belleville, she is busy with various AAU teams and summer clinics. Recently, the township of Belleville recognized her undying efforts by naming her to the Belleville Hall of Fame.

The girls' basketball program at Belleville seems to run in cycles. When Fuccello first took over, prior to the 1971-72 campaign, she led Belleville to immediate prominence. That first club was 10-2 and one of her players was Debbie Meola, who has been Fuccello's assistant coach since the 1976-77 season.

Back in the early 70's, girls hoops was not nearly as prominent as it is today. National television would not have dreamed of showing the NCAA womens' basketball finals back then. Today, it not only is telecasted nationwide, the games are complete sellouts.

Perhaps the only failure in womens basketball has been the lack of a professional league. About seven years ago, it was attempted, but the league failed to draw the crowds and folded after one season.

"They made mistakes," Fuccello said about the professional league and its setup. "You can't have games in the middle of the week, at night. You have to play when it is most convenient to people to come out, which is the weekends."

Fuccello feels the league could work, but needs a better game plan before it will ever come off.

Meanwhile, back at Belleville, the program enjoyed continued success in 1973 and '74. The girls posted back to back 12-4 records, and the sport began to pick up interest.

Some of the early heroes for Belleville were Donna Stone, Carol Jackson, Nancy Skrutskie and Fatima Anderson, Abdel Anderson's younger sister. The team was a part of the Big 10 and played well.

At the end of the '73-74 campaign, Fuccello took a one years leave of absence, turning the reigns over to Mike Cieri. Under Cieri, the team jumped out to an 8-4 record, but lost its final three games, including a loss to Mendham in the state tourney. At 8-7, the team had a winning year, but it was mostly a senior oriented club in 1975.

When Fuccello returned, she inherited a young squad. Junior varsity play wasn't as involved as it is today, so the younger players didn't get the necessary playing time. In addition, girls' basketball camp wasn't as detailed as it is today.

When Fuccello returned in the Fall of '75, she took over the varsity, but planned her future with the grammar school. Under the direction of some very dedicated teachers in the grammar schools, the young girls began to learn the sport of basketball at a critical age.

The varsity showed improvement as the years progressed. After back to back 6-16 seasons, Belleville was 13-7 in 1977-78. Included in that season was a big win over Nutley in the state sectionals. Nutley, in 1976-77, was 31-0 and won the state championship.

Players like Karen Portuese, Karen Sciacca, Joyce Iacullo, Toni Sperduto and Robin Giordano began to lead Belleville back to prominence.

On the lower levels, youngsters like Apicella, De Aquino, Wells, Barbara Gundry and Rose Leonidis were tearing up the lower level basketball leagues. By the time Leonidis and Gundry arrived on the varsity scene in the Fall of 1979, the mold was beginning to take shape.

The '78-79 club was 16-7 and went all the way to the county semi finals before losing to Barringer. By now, the county championships were picking up steam, and Belleville was quite enthused about its performance.

In 1979-80, the team was 12-10, but that record was a bit deceiving. Belleville was 9-1 at one point in the year and played a pivotal game with powerful East Orange in early February that would turn the tide of the year.

East Orange was ranked number one in the state and would eventually win the state championship and finish undefeated. However, Belleville played the Lady Panthers tough in Belleville one February afternoon. Had it not been for some horrible officiating, Belleville would have won the game. There's no telling what kind of momentum would have been gained by winning that game. However, East Orange won by one point, and the Lady Bucs reeled from that point.

In the fall of 1980, Apicella joined the team and a new era began in Belleville basketball. Without question, it has been the glory era in Belleville basketball. For the next four years, the team posted a combined record of 74-27. It gained stature in the state and county rankings. It moved up steadily in the county tournament, however the team could not beat Shabazz in county play. For three straight years, Shabazz defeated Belleville in the counties. First it was the quarterfinals in '82. Next, the semis in '83 and lastly, the championship game in '84. For good record, Shabazz upended Belleville in the first round of the counties in 1986.

Critchley, Marlene Talmadge and Carolann Salerno also contributed to the success of the team in the early 80's.

After the glory era, Belleville began to reload. The team was 9-13 in '84-85, with senior Donna Brooks, the last remaining starter from the glory era, having a solid campaign. Brooks, who broke onto the scene as a freshman in 1981, had excellent leaping ability and was very quick. She was having a standout softball career at Montclair State College, but suffered a severe knee injury and is on the mend.

In '85-86, the team was 2-18, with youngster like Simone Edwards, Laurie Dondarski, Racquel Melson, Judy Nehila and Laura Caruso gaining playing time. The '85-86 season was the senior campaign for Desiree Johansen, who was a solid contributor to the varsity for 2 1/2 years.

Last year, the team was 9-15, with steady improvement evident in the second half of the year. The team won the Tri County Holiday tournament and did well in NNJIL play.

This season, the improvement continues, and with Edwards, Dondarski, Carol Morrison and Stacey Johansen coming back for next year, you have to believe that the team will continue that upward mobility. Perhaps a Glory Era, Part II is about to unfold.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The Dallas Cowboys have been to five Super Bowls, winning two of them. The Cowboys beat Denver and Miami and have lost to Baltimore and Pittsburgh, twice.

Lady Bucs drop three

Mustangs of Clifton. Belleville had beaten Clifton earlier in the year, but Fuccello was wary of the rematch.

"We always have a tough time with them, especially on their home court," Fuccello said of Clifton. "I was concerned about this game and I was not happy with our defensive effort."

Clifton took an early 17-12 advantage and held a 30-27 lead at halftime. Although Belleville made a few runs at the lead in the second half, Clifton managed to hang on for a five point win. The Lady Mustangs outscored Belleville by 14-13 counts in the third and fourth quarters to hold on.

Edwards led Belleville again, this time with 19 points. Laurie Dondarski had 12, Maria Chanley scored eight and Carol Morrison finished with six.

Last Saturday, the girls lost a tough game to powerful Bloomfield, 65-53. Bloomfield was ranked sixth in the state entering last week's action and should be a favorite to repeat as state sectional champions.

"I thought we played a much better game against Bloomfield," Fuccello said. "Our effort was much better. Bloomfield is a very good team, no question."

Belleville trailed by four points, 55-51, in the fourth quarter, but a missed Belleville layup and a subsequent Bloomfield tally turned the tide in the Bengals favor.

Dondarski had 21 points in the game, Edwards closed with 16 and Morrison had six for Belleville.

Belleville was expected to rebound against Eastside last Tuesday and could beat Montclair tomorrow afternoon. Two victories this week would ensure a berth in the state tournament for the Lady Bucs. Next Tuesday, Belleville faces a buzzsaw in powerful Teaneck, so this week's action is very important for the Lady Bucs.

Freshwater Wetlands Maps
The Freshwater Wetlands Protection Act signed into law by Governor Kean on July 1, 1988, is intended to preserve the purity and integrity of wetlands from random, unnecessary or undesirable alteration or disturbance. State permits under this act will be required as of July 1, 1988.
Maps are currently available to determine the general location of freshwater wetlands. These maps, produced by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), are part of a National Wetlands Inventory and can be used as a preliminary guide to generally locate the presence or absence of wetlands but are not sufficient to identify precise boundaries between uplands and wetlands. The Department of Environmental Protection will also be refining and mapping freshwater wetlands using 1988 aerial photography and state-of-the-art photographic interpretation techniques. This process may take up to three years. The National Wetlands Inventory maps are available for inspection at: Town Clerk's Office, Municipal Building, Belleville, N.J. between the hours of 8:30 AM and 4:00 PM Monday through Friday.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Ever wonder how adobe brick, perfect for desert living, first came to the Southwest? It was introduced by Spanish settlers, who in turn had learned about it from the Arabs who controlled Spain in the Middle Ages. ***

If painting trim leaves spots on brick or fieldstone, you can remove it with a paste-type paint remover. Spread it on a small area at a time, let stand 10 minutes, then scrub it off with detergent and water. ***

Imaginative put-together: decorators topped a simple frame on legs with a large silver-plated tray. Result: a coffee table. ***

If you're shopping for a wood-burning stove, be sure it meets the standards of a recognized testing outfit such as Underwriters' Laboratories. Make sure it's installed correctly. ***

What costs what? In metropolitan areas, one-third the price of a new house represents the land it's on. Five years ago, it was only 15 to 25 percent. ***

What costs what? We'll find you a well-designed home that meets your family's needs - AND your budget. You can depend on the friendly househunters at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley, 235-9000.

Schlott offers free guide for shore rental properties

If you own a home at the Jersey shore that you're planning to rent this summer, Schlott Realtors has a brochure that can help.

"Making the Most of Your Rental Property" provides valuable information to shore property owners who rent their homes to vacationers. The brochure explains in detail how to maximize the potential of your rental property. In addition, rental procedures are completely explained and a list of amenities renters have come to expect in vacation properties are included.

"Lots of families would like to offset the cost of owning a home at the shore by renting it in the summer, but they aren't sure how to go about it," said Jeff Gamble, manager of Schlott Realtors' Long Beach Island Central office. "Our brochure serves as a guide for homeowners and explains what to expect if you want to rent your home in the summer."

Schlott Realtors' complimentary brochure, "Making the Most of Your Rental Property," is available at the firm's Long Beach Island Central office, 2421 Long Beach Blvd. in Surf City, telephone 1-800-523-0576, and the firm's Long Beach Island South office, 11501 Long Beach Blvd. at Idaho in Haven Beach, telephone 1-800-523-0564.

Four times cited by INC. magazine as one of the fastest growing privately held companies in the nation, Schlott Realtors maintains more than 170 offices throughout the New York metropolitan area, Pennsylvania and Florida.
