Pizzi challenge to Chamber gets a very quick response

By Tom Sullivan

"Our town is a town with many problems and many urgent needs," Mayor Michael Pizzi said in a short address to members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce at their annual installation luncheon at Three Guys From Italy, "so I am throwing out a challenge to the private sector to help us find solutions and meet these needs.

"I am calling on our business leaders to join elected officials, indeed, for everyone in the town to pitch in and become part of the solutions rather than part of the problems. "In fact, Belleville is coming up on its 150th anniversary next year," the mayor went on, "and that is a fitting anniversary to mark a new beginning and brighter day."

The community leaders who were being installed took Pizzi at his word. In a matter of days new president Jaye Tarantino and other chamber leaders had met privately with members of the Township Commission and managed to get them thinking along the same lines towards solving a crucial shortage of space for the police department and opening up additionally needed work area for the rest of the town departments.

It now appears that Pizzi and Commissioners Joseph Fornarotto, Angelo Risoli and Vincent Frantantoni are unified in support of a plan to build a 20,000-square foot annex to town hall to house the police department and at the same time execute some badly needed renovations to the solid but neglected town hall.

$2 million cost

The idea for the annex isn't a new one. In fact Fornarotto, director of public affairs, had pushed for such a plan even before he was elected. Pizzi, Frantantoni and Risoli were already in favor and Fornarotto's consent this week after a lengthy discussion with Tarantino assures the four votes needed for approval.

"I voted against the proposal to spend $5 million for a new town hall because Belleville just plain cannot afford it," said Fornarotto. "We have a fiscal crisis in the matter of garbage disposal costs, at least until the Essex County resource recovery plant comes on line three or more years down the road, so we have to face the grim reality.

"But my view is that this project can be accomplished for about $2 million, at half the cost per square foot that the other rejected plan would have required. With some restoration on the old town hall, we can meet Belleville's needs well in to the 21st century."

Petition to come

The chamber is gathering signatures from its members and all interested citizens to present to the Board of Commissioners at the next meeting, urging that this plan be adopted as quickly as possible. She said that the chamber would form a delegation to go with members of the commission to Washington if necessary to see if funds are available.

"We're not telling the elected officials what they should build or how much to spend," Tarantino said. "We're merely telling them that it is necessary and that the business community supports them in a wise course of action."

Fornarotto said that if the sense of a new beginning and a brighter day is nurtured, a potential exists to bring more business ratables in to the town, and he says he and his colleagues are not going to let the chamber forget that it pledged its support.

At the installation luncheon David Bryant of Belleville Library, Rita Troise of Troise Insurance and Lou Cicien of Charles Jewelers were sworn as vice presidents, Joseph McGuire of Trust Company of New Jersey is treasurer and outgoing president Shirlee Sherman moved up to chairman of the board.

The directors are John Abbracciamiento, Susan Baturay, Dr. Louis Citarelli, James Cozzarelli, Michael Dell Angelo, Ken Frino, Sharon Jordan, Katherine Lewis, Bill Lynch, Bruno Marino, Carmine Milici, Dorothy Pariso, Elaine Richmond, Henry B. Rosenberg, Clark Ruthroth, Thomas Spillane and David Worrall.

The Chamber also has a new executive secretary, introduced to the gathering that day, Susan D'Ambola.

State Senator Carmen Orechio was featured speaker, choosing to shun local problems and talk about the seemingly unmanageable cost of automobile insurance in New Jersey, which has the highest premiums in the nation. He said that legislation has been drafted that may provide early relief, and he said that the much vaunted no-fault insurance once hailed as a panacea has actually forced costs up.

Exploding drum injures worker

An employee of Calcine Co., located in the rear of 14 Main Street, was injured when a drum he was working with exploded Tuesday afternoon.

According to fire officials, Jeff Wallace was pouring liquid, suspected to be chlorine, either into or out of the drum, when, for an unknown reason, the container exploded, severely injuring Wallace's left foot and leg and destroying a handtruck and the drum.

Firemen Phillip Lazaro and Vincent Abbott attended to Wallace before he was sent to Clara Maass Medical Center for further attention.

The fire department is still investigating the cause of the explosion.

Six candidates qualified

Nardiello picks ballot spots for April 5 board election

There are six candidates vying for two seats in the town's April 5 Board of Education election and Frank Tanco won the draw for top spot on the ballot.

In second place is Nicki Ann Strumolo-D'Andrea, then Ernest Zoppi, Joseph Del Gurcio, Joseph Papisidero and Frank Caputo.

Caputo and Zoppi are incumbents and all were present except for Papisidero as School Superintendent Michael Nardiello did the ceremonial drawing, an occasion fraught with much suspense for the candidates.

HazMat council hopes to make Essex County safer

By Pat Brightman

The newly created Hazardous Materials Advisory Council (HMAT) will attempt to create committees that will better prepare both the public and private sectors in the area in case of hazardous materials incidents.

"If the council is successful, Essex County will be a safer place from hazardous materials," said Elliot Peterkin, vice chairman and Fire Chief of East Orange.

The program was actually two years in the making, according to HMAT Chairman, Senator Carmen Orechio. Orechio has been involved in public safety for the past 15 years, serving as Public Safety Commissioner of Nutley during that time.

"It's for the protection of the people," said Orechio. "Spills have serious repercussions to the area, an example of which is contaminating the water.

"The public at-large should feel secure because we've organized a plan to get the problem resolved."

The ball started rolling in September when members planned a meeting to lay the foundations.

"We were working in terms of structure for the last six months," said Peterkin, "now we need people."

"On September 9 representatives from the private and public sectors met and outlined what we wanted to do," said Andrew Soos, vice chairman and a representative from Essex Chemical. "It culminated with the meeting last week."

Five committees

During its meeting January 26, the structure of the council was announced; five committees, each with a specific plan of action, have been set up and will meet with public safety officials and representatives from the private sector and discuss what needs to be done.

The committees are: Emergency Response; Hazardous Materials; Public Information; Training, and Transportation.

Peterkin said the council hopes to establish standing committees that will know where the hazardous materials are in the county and know what to do during an accident.

"The advisory committees have a mission," said Orechio, "to develop a standard and a plan of action."

The private sector will lend assistance whenever possible, according to Soos, who is also a member of American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AIChE) and Government Interaction Committee (GIC).

"The private sector will assist all the committees whenever possible. Our intent is to work hand-in-hand with HMAT."

HMAT is just another avenue for the public to have questions answered by the private sector. Soos noted on October 17, 1986 the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) passed "Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986," (SARA) which established requirements for Federal, State, and local governments and industry regarding reporting hazardous and toxic chemicals. It is hoped because of SARA and HMAT the "fenced line" separating public and private sectors will be crossed.

Soos admits it took perseverance on the part of the committee and "a lot of phone calls and letter sending" to have individuals and companies to respond. After finding similar minded people the committee was formed.

"It is to forge a relationship between the public and private sectors," said Orechio. "By HMAT having inventory of potentially hazardous materials, we will know what we're dealing with, what's there and how to handle it."

Units are scarce

Presently, only two towns in the county have Hazmat units, Nutley and Newark, and in the private sector, Hoffmann-LaRoche in Nutley owns a unit.

"The Nutley Fire Department has been very good," said Peterkin. "They have offered an arrangement where they will come and help and the towns will assume the costs."

The agreement has worked so far, as Nutley is able to assist other towns which are similar to Nutley in that hazardous incidents are few, but in Newark alone between 105-110 incidents were reported last year. This compares to three for Nutley, a low figure considering there were 13 in 1986, and no incidents for Caldwell, in West Essex.

"We have, on average, between 10 and 15 incidents a year," said Fred Scalera of Nutley Fire Department, who is chairman of the training committee.

That average is solely for Nutley incidents, it does not include the assistance the fire department gave to other towns, such as Bloomfield and Belleville, according to Scalera.

According to Peterkin each committee will draft ideas for solving the problem and a meeting of the committee chairmen and HMAT leaders is set for mid-March will a master plan will be developed.

It seems like only Yesterday

Shopping center fate in doubt

By Gregg Friedmann

25 YEARS AGO

February 14, 1963...Belleville Town Council met Monday night and passed 4 resolutions by a 4-1 vote. It was a brief meeting, and attracted a single spectator, and two reporters.

In honor of Valentine's Day, Debbie Porzio was pictured with Dick Broo who had presented her with a king-sized card, as well as a peck on the cheek.

The future of Belleville's latest shopping center was in serious doubt after the Belleville Board of Adjustment reserved decision on an application for a construction variance. The Board hesitated after residents felt it would endanger kids as well as infringe home areas.

Army engineers might soon begin examining a plan advanced by Mayor Robert M. Laturza which, if found possible, the plan would divert the Third River near its source, and end both Nutley and Belleville's perennial flooding problems.

"Is it worth Belleville public schools' time and money to teach those pesky kid drivers the rudiments of driver education?" asked Elmer Bagnel, a retired businessman from Belleville. The Board of Education wasted no time in shooting down the complaint, stating the program was not that expensive, and definitely worth every penny. Elmer, however, was still not convinced.

The Bellboys gave a valiant effort, but were still upstaged by South Side, 65-48.

An old phone from years gone by was shown in this issue. Commentary under the picture stated "This phone was the cat's meow back in the 20's, but wouldn't do today. Efficient dial phones are the thing now." And still are today.

Little League needs helpers

By Christopher Bifani

There was a time when the Belleville Little League boasted two leagues of eight teams each. Today, however, that number has been cut in half with only four teams per league.

"We lost some youngsters over the years," said the town's American League vice president Frank Caputo, "we need to get more people involved."

Caputo said the rising popularity of soccer programs in town siphoned off some Little Leaguers while changing demographics also had a hand in it. There just aren't as many 9-12 year olds in Belleville as there used to be, even though the overall population, at about 36,000, is the same.

One way to keep the Little League viable, officials believe, is to simply keep the town aware of the program. To this end the Little League is sponsoring a Parents' Night at Belleville High School, March 7 from 7PM to 9PM.

Clay opposes Trantino bid

Essex County Freeholder Arthur L. Clay has sponsored a formal resolution before the nine-member board of freeholders calling the New Jersey Parole Board to reverse a decision of a two-member panel to release convicted cop-killer Thomas Trantino.

"The decision by the New Jersey Parole Board panel is an outrage," said Clay.

"It's an affront to every decent citizen in this state to even suggest that Trantino should be released into society."

Trantino, along with an accomplice, was convicted of killing Lodi Det. Sgt. Peter Voto and rookie patrolman Gary Tedesco in August 1963 and was sentenced to die in the electric chair. His sentence was later commuted to life in prison.

According to Clay's resolution, co-sponsored by Freeholder Carmine Casciano, "There is no documentation to substantiate claims that Mr. Trantino has evidenced any remorse for his crime or has been in any way rehabilitated."

Clay said he is calling on the full seven-member parole board to reverse the decision.

The event takes place in the cafeteria.

Caputo said all townspeople are invited to come and find out more about Belleville Little League, and to hear Frank Fazzini - a former all-state BHS ballplayer - give a talk on baseball.

Kids, naturally, are also invited. And punch and cookies will be served.

"We need new blood in Little League," Caputo told the Times. He added that coaches, assistant coaches, and new members in the Little League Parents' Association are welcomed. Details on volunteering for the Little League cause will be available from league officials at the Parents' Night.

In other Little League news, fielding tryouts will be held next month at Belleville High School at 6:30PM on March 14, 17, 21 and 24.

Batting tryouts will take place at Clearman Field on Saturday, March 26 at 9:30AM.

Caputo pointed out that the more kids who tryout for Little League, the better the teams will be. A large turnout will ensure that kids who need another year in the farm leagues will be able to stay there while only the "cream of the crop" gets into Little League.

"Belleville's a baseball town," Caputo said, "we just need to get more kids involved."

Local winner lubing a car

Richard Vassallo of Belleville, lube technician at the Jiffy Lube Service Center in Pine Brook, New Jersey, showed his winning Jiffy Lube skills as a member of the best J-team in seven states, defeating J-teams from Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, and northern Pennsylvania in Jiffy Lube's national "The Best There Is" competition.

Richard Vassallo's team was able to complete an oil change, lubricate the chassis, install a new oil filter, check the air filter, check and top off the brake fluid, power steering fluid, transmission fluid, inspect window washer fluid, differential fluid, and battery fluid, check tire inflation and the wiper blades, wash the exterior windows and vacuum the interior...all in under 10 minutes and with no procedural mistakes.

ANTACIDS AS DRUGS

Antacids may appear to be innocuous over-the-counter drugs to the many millions of Americans who consume them. Yet, these "stomach soothers" can have some adverse effects on prescription drugs that are taken at the same time. For instance, mixing an antacid with tetracycline will delay the action of this common antibiotic. If an antacid contains the active ingredient aluminum hydroxide, it will delay the rate at which the stomach empties. This slowing action can affect the absorption rate of certain anticoagulants, barbiturates, and certain anti-anxiety drugs. The FDA realizes the dangers that the interaction of antacids and certain prescription drugs poses. It will soon require a warning label on all antacids.

Whenever you need information concerning the interaction of medications, whether prescription or over-the-counter, don't hesitate to ask our pharmacist at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. Cosmetics, toiletries, baby needs and gift items are stocked. Open: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sundays.

HANDY HINT:
Americans spend one-half billion dollars a year on antacids.

Orechio county aid bill passes Senate

A bill sponsored by Senator Carmen A. Orechio, D-Essex, to help counties with their judicial expenses has been approved unanimously by the Senate.

The measure, S-1664, passed 36-0 and now goes to the Assembly. "We have to take whatever steps are necessary to reduce the judicial backlog of cases in New Jersey without crippling the ability of county residents to pay their property taxes," Senator Orechio said.

Senator Orechio noted that the bill would help a county like Essex which has a large urban population and a sizeable portion of residential property taxpayers.

Current law provides that a judgeship assigned to a specific county is that county's fiscal responsibility in toto for the first year and then a portion of the judge's salary will be paid by the state over the next three years.

The Orechio bill would direct that the state pay for the cost of a new judgeship from the date of its creation.

Amato still seeking State relief of taxes

Essex County Executive Nicholas Amato went to Trenton this week to urge legislators to release funds that will relieve local taxpayers of the financial burden of supporting the courts.

Amato appeared before the Assembly State Government Committee to voice his support for a measure that would provide $120 million tax savings for New Jersey property taxpayers by requiring the state to assume full financial responsibility of the court system within a five-year period.

He estimated that Essex County would save more than $25 million if the state began paying court costs. The measure proposes that the state start taking over county court costs in 1989.

"The county receives absolutely no benefit from the courts," Amato said. "The courts are run by the state, they administer state law, but the county pays the bill. The state only pays for the judges' salaries. That's just not fair to the taxpayers."

Amato added the cost of providing services for the 53 Superior Court judges in Essex County is a major item on his county budget.

Essay contest opens

Essex County Executive Nicholas R. Amato has announced the annual Black History Essay Contest, open to Essex County schoolchildren in grades four through six.

One of last year's winners wrote, "Dr. Martin Luther King's work benefitted the entire world, black as well as white," Amato recalled saying "We believe that an essay competition encourages children of all races to better understand the legacy that Dr. King left this nation."

The theme of the 1988 contest is "Martin Luther King, Jr. Had a Dream—How Can We Make the Dream Come True?". Entries must not exceed 500 words and must be submitted in the student's own handwriting. The deadline for submission is February 29, 1988.

Last month, Amato sent letters to principals of both public and private schools in Essex County which teach fourth, fifth and sixth graders, inviting their participation in the essay contest. Prizes, including United States Savings Bonds and Black History Books and certificates of achievement will be awarded to the winners at an awards ceremony in late March.

Entries must be submitted in the student's own handwriting; they may not exceed 500 words; and they must be postmarked by February 29, 1988. Essays may be mailed to the Essex County Office of Affirmative Action; Room 515—Hall of Records; 465 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Blvd.; Newark, N.J., 07102.

Summer program trains 'future leaders'

BHS students nominated for Governor's School

By Sue DiGuilio

Giving gifted students throughout New Jersey the chance to grow and broaden their horizons is what the Governor's School seeks to achieve.

A few years ago the program for the Governor's School was undertaken by Governor Thomas Kean in order to develop and sharpen students' skills and expose them to a higher level of education. This goes far beyond the normal course work offered in high school. The program seeks to make students more responsible and aware of the world and the resources available to them.

The top 11th grade students from each county, totalling 300, are offered the chance to spend four weeks in the summer in one of three available programs. The expense of sending the students to various New Jersey Colleges is provided through state funding.

Students are divided evenly and sent to one of the following programs: the Future Leader program at Monmouth College; a math and science program at Drew University; and an arts program at Trenton State College. The arts program is divided into theater, visual arts, dance and creative writing. During the intense four weeks of learning, the students take concentrated courses in their subject area, attend seminars headed by noted public figures and take part in various field trips.

In the past, Belleville has been fortunate to send at least one student each year to the Governor's School. This year, Belleville High School supervisors and directors have selected several students to apply.

Hoping to attend the Future Leaders School program at Monmouth College are Sara Mellinger and Rupal Patel. Eric Faragi and Brian Villano are applying to the math and science program at Drew University and applying to the Theater School at Trenton are Margaret Akian (instrumental), Christina Bonacorsa (creative writing), Joe Gonello (theater), Stephanie Robb and Joell Veltre (dance).

To the average student, volunteering four weeks of their summer vacation to attend school would seem ridiculous. But these students are slightly above the norm. They seek to make this unique learning experience an important stepping stone in reaching their ultimate goals.

When it comes to the future, these students are very interested and committed to excellence.

"I feel this program will be extremely useful in teaching me valuable skills that I will utilize in my plans to study engineering," stated Eric Faragi.

Brian Villano echoed these feelings. Sara Mellinger and Rupal Patel both feel the experience will "make us more aware of everyday problems and the proper solutions."

While Stephanie Robb does not plan to study dance as her main interest, she along with Joell Veltre and Joe Gonello is excited about the program, feelings it will prepare them for dance auditions and competitions.

Margaret Akian, who is competing for an instrumental position, said "This school will give me added experience in the music field and will open doors which might not have been there before."

Christina Bonacorsa is excited about being nominated and is looking forward to spending four weeks of her summer in a college program.

Never Alone or Isolated

Independence is more and more difficult for people to hold on to as they face increasing age, handicap or chronic infirmity. To most people, independence is an intensely cherished asset. To help them hold on to that independence, the LIFELINE Personal Emergency Response System was established in our community.

To be old, ill and isolated is a fearful and sad way to live the balance of one's life. "Nighttime is particularly scary for me," says Mrs. T. "It may seem a little silly to say that because I'm blind, but I can see the difference between light and dark. I just can't make out forms or see people. I can get around the house okay because I've lived here for over 50 years."

Mrs. T. is 91 years old. She is frail in appearance, tiny in stature with a sweet and smiling face. She is a bright, fiercely independent and private person who will not consider any kind of institutionalization.

LIFELINE helps Mrs. T. feel safe while she is alone; knowing that in an emergency all she has to do is press the button that she wears on a string around her neck and help will be on the way.

The simplicity of the LIFELINE system is that all it takes is a touch of the button that a subscriber wears on a chain around the neck to bring help in minutes. For children or grandchildren concerned with the safety of their independent elders, it can bring peace of mind.

In our community, LIFELINE is under the auspices of Clara Maass Medical Center. LIFELINE, as "a friend you can always depend on", serves people with a wide variety of special needs.

Among the subscribers are:

- the elderly
- people with chronic diseases
- the wheelchair bound
- mothers with infants or children in crisis
- the handicapped homebound
- those of any age feeling physically or emotionally threatened by living alone.

Subscribing is easy. You must live within 20 miles of the hospital and have a telephone. After you're signed up, a small electronic home unit is connected to your telephone. This home unit will automatically dial the Emergency Response Center when the LIFELINE button is pressed.

This lifesaving service is supported by dedicated volunteers who install the equipment, test it and monitor it on a regular basis. Their assistance helps to keep the costs of LIFELINE within easy reach of everyone who needs it.

If you are interested in LIFELINE for yourself or as an inspired gift for someone you care about, call Carole Spiro at:

The office boom

A recent article in The New York Times contrasts the amount of new office construction in Manhattan, the other four boroughs of New York, and northern New Jersey.

The figures are startling.

In 1980, as one might expect, Manhattan took the lead with about 7.5 million square feet of office space contracted. North Jersey -- including Essex, Bergen, Hudson, Passaic, Union, Morris, Somerset and Middlesex Counties -- was at 5.7 million square feet while the four boroughs were at only .5 million square feet.

In 1986, however, the trend was reversed. North Jersey boasted nearly 12 million square feet of contracted office development, compared to less than 3 million square feet in Manhattan and 1.5 million square feet in the four boroughs.

Over the seven year period from 1980 thru 1986, the total numbers show that North Jersey far outpaced Manhattan and the other boroughs put together. According to New York Times' graphs, only about 45 million square feet of office space was contracted in all of New York City during the first seven years of the eighties.

North Jersey, meanwhile, boasted more than 63 million square feet!

New York officials, increasingly nervous about the office boom over here, have commented repeatedly that the purpose of it all is to lure New York's back offices to the suburbs.

This, of course, is nonsense. To be sure, the Garden is luring its share of Manhattan back office operations -- but more significant is the number of foreign firms headquartering their subsidiaries here.

Many real estate experts believe the steady flow of foreign firms coming into New Jersey will increase to a flood because foreigners are no longer as concerned with being "in the city" as they are with being in the center of the greatest marketplace on Earth -- the megalopolis stretching from Washington D.C. to Boston, in which the Garden State is dead center.

What does all this mean to Belleville?

First, it means that Belleville property, especially some of the larger tracts along Route 21, is going to be more valuable. One big development on the eastern edge of town could solve many of our tax woes.

Second, the influx of office ratables county-wide promises to eventually help stabilize the Essex tax rate, something which tax-strapped Belvillites are sure to appreciate.

Third, it means the job market is going to be wide open in coming years and that salaries for semi-professional office help are certain to become more competitive. The BHS grads of the late eighties should have a much easier time of finding work than the grads of a decade ago.

The downside is that today's Belleville children will be growing up in a region that is becoming more and more urbanized every day, and every effort must be made to ensure that New York's problems don't become New Jersey's problems, although many - such as traffic jams and rising crime -- are already here.

But a lot of tax money - even with abatements - will be generated from the nearly 100 million square feet (that's equal to about 200 medium-sized skyscrapers) of offices which will rise in New Jersey during the eighties.

It means more opportunities, but with it comes more challenges.

A horse race

This time around it's a real horse race.

Six candidates have qualified to run for two open seats in the 1988 Belleville Board of Education election. Compared to last year's race, when only Patricia Pisano challenged incumbents Phil Linfante and Sy Grossman, what we've got this year is a crowded field!

Crowded fields can mean that more issues will be discussed as all candidates jockey for the media spotlight. It can also mean a respectable turnout and greater interest around town.

The Belleville Times welcomes press releases from all candidates, while we reserve the right to edit all copy to fit newspaper guidelines. In addition, the Times will provide week-by-week coverage of campaign developments culminating in an all-candidate profile shortly before voting day.

As always, we encourage townspeople to get out and vote - for two candidates and for (or against) the school budget.

Remember - it's your money!

A Boy is Dead

An 18-year-old boy whose life had taken on new excitement because he became a freshman at prestigious Rutgers University, lies dead because he became a freshman at prestigious Rutgers University where mindless fraternity pranks are still allowed to go.

It boggles the mind that these dangerous, assinine rituals are continued year after year, all too often with fatal results, as in the case of James Callahan, but how many more times with pain, suffering and humiliation for young men and women whose indignities don't make the headlines?

A university administration could and should impose a total ban on such activities but that would still be hard to enforce. So how about freshmen having the sense to just say no, and fraternity and sorority leaders having the gumption to impose entry requirements that call for the achievement of something decent and productive for the university or society generally?

No home for Happy Apple...

To the Editor:

After attending the (Zoning Board) meeting on February 2, 1988 for approval of a variance for "The Happy Apple Pre-School" to move to a new location at Union Ave. and Divison Ave., I must say I walked away after the meeting feeling very dismayed.

The variance was not approved because it was felt by some nearby residents and the Board that parking would create problems. It was stated by an Urban Planner (accepted at the meeting as an expert in his field) that there were enough spaces to allow parents to park legally to drop-off and pick up their children.

All other requirements by law were met, such as enough space per child, health and safety codes, etc.

I feel that this ruling was unjustified as all the parents since then have passed this corner on their way to and from school and all have noted numerous open legal spaces available.

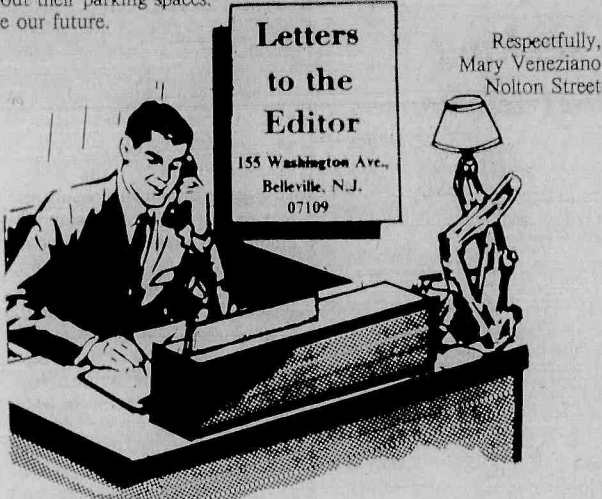

To The Concerned Residents who attended the meeting: Please be assured that no one intended to move this school to hurt your neighborhood. We are residents of this town also and are trying to keep something positive in our town.

With all due respect, the town of Belleville does not offer much if anything to our young children. The only good thing for them will now possibly be gone.

With the general morale being so low in town to begin with, this puts the "icing on the cake" for young families trying to raise children here.

The options I see for us are one: Move out and find towns that care more about their children and less about their parking spaces.

These children are our future.

Protests car insurance hike...

To the Editor:

This is a copy of a letter I wrote together with my co-workers and sent to Governor Kean. It has been distributed all over the state and will be arriving in the Governor's office by the thousands. I would like to have it appear as a letter to the editor.

Respectfully,
Mary Veneziano
Nolton Street

To Governor Thomas Kean:

We protest the recent announcement by the New Jersey Legislature of an average $60 increase per car in New Jersey automobile insurance rates. New Jersey residents are already paying the highest premiums in the country and we do not intend to sit back and watch these premiums skyrocket year after year. Insurance companies and lawyers are getting richer at our expense. The public is well aware that the legal lobby wields an awesome power in this state that has prevented any major legislative reforms to our present system. If the rest of the United States and even the world can provide low cost insurance to the public, then there is no reason New Jersey can't do the same. We challenge Governor Kean and the New Jersey Legislature to require New Jersey Insurance companies to come up with a system for providing all residents with affordable insurance. The time has come for us to unite. We call upon all New Jersey residents to join us in a special effort to reverse this new increase and to defeat the powerful legal lobby.

(Show your support by signing your name across this appeal and mail it to: Honorable Thomas Kean, Office of the Governor, State House Annex CN-001, Trenton, N.J. 08625.)

Facilities geeting worse...

To the Editor:

Last summer, the Professional Nurses of Essex County started publicizing the plight of their patients at Essex County Hospital Center, Geriatric Center, and Jail Annex. All facilities had been grossly understaffed with Registered Nurses for a long time, and it was only getting worse.

The citizens of Essex County responded by supporting the work we do, and demanded quality care for our patients. The freeholders publically agreed and pledged their support, too.

Well, it has been over three months now, but there are no more R.N.s -- in fact, there are many less! The politicians keep blaming the nationwide shortage of nurses, but nationally hospitals are not 50% below standards for R.N.s, as in Essex County Hospital Center.

In truth, no Registered Nurse will come to work in a facility where nurses have been working without a contract for over a year, where the county administration will not even talk to them, where the county administrator talks about no more than 5% raises, which won't bring salaries close to those at comparable area hospitals. Why would any Professional Nurse come to work for a facility that does not respect the nurses they already have, that gives their R.N.s an impossible amount of paper work and then records them as deficient when it is not done; that holds their nurses accountable for whatever happens on the ward when many times they are the only nurse on the ward, doing the jobs of head nurse, medication nurse and floor nurse; that tries to hold their R.N.s accountable for what everyone does, from the doctors to the housekeepers; that tries to take away contracted benefits in order to ease the shortage they have caused; and that undermines their nurses authority and general functioning with many subtle, as well as blatant actions.

We are exhausted from hitting our heads against the wall of indifference that Mr. Amato and the Essex County Freeholders have built around our patients, imprisoning them in substandard conditions. We again must ask the citizens of this county to help us break through the wall that insulates the county administration from the suffering of its citizens.

Please help us by writing as many of the following as possible:

Nicholas Amato, County Executive, Hall of Records, 469 Dr. Martin Luther King Boulevard, Newark, N.J.; Thomas Giblin, Board of Chosen Freeholders, 14 Fairfield Place, West Caldwell, N.J. 07006; Cardell Cooper, Board of Chosen Freeholders, 469 Dr. Martin Luther King Blvd., Newark, N.J.; and Arthur Clay, Board of Chosen Freeholders, 469 Dr. Martin Luther King Blvd., Newark, N.J.

Ask them why they will not talk to their nurses. Why do they continue to publically support quality care for those Essex County citizens that require it, but do nothing to ensure it?

Please help us give quality care. Thank you.

Addie Cheatham, R.N., President
Professional Nurses of Essex County

Councils could cost dearly...

To the Editor:

Ever since the last Belleville Municipal election there has been some talk about a change in our form of government (from a commission to a council). I suspect that most of this talk is emanating from a group of residents who are dissatisfied with the makeup of the governing body and find it intolerable to abide by it for four years.

They reason it would be easier to abolish the commission form of government, which would call for new elections and a chance for Belleville to correct what many perceive to have been a tragic error.

I remember that Newark had a commission form of government and the change to

Golden Comments

By James R. Golden

We all recognize Governor Kean's dedication to the improvement of education, since he has been a teacher and his progenitors founded Kean College in Union. We can recognize his pride in having been commended by President Reagan in a recent TV national address from the White House as a champion of advancement of improved education. However, like many of our state legislators who, knowing of the record $1.2 billion surplus in the state budget, find it incredible to find his administration locking the door on their attempts to tap into the projected surplus and give some of the money to the state's taxpayers through higher rebate checks and increased aid to municipalities to offset the outrageous increased costs of garbage disposal to out-of-state sites.

We also view with alarm his plan to provide state aid to local school districts, that would total $3.5 billion and bring $22,000 salaries for new teachers at a time when many teachers in districts with three or more years of experience aren't even now earning $22,000.

This will raise pressure to increase salaries of experienced teachers to compensate for the higher salaries of the new ones. It happened the last time when the Governor raised starting pay to $18,500 for new teachers. We wonder, isn't it a gimmick to bring in highly trained and experienced pedagogues to by-pass the teacher college graduates?

Already Belleville's school board has granted substantial teacher pay increases over a three-year period... are these to be supplemented by state increases too?

Belleville, along with the surrounding municipalities, has been devastated by the high cost of garbage disposal. The New Jersey League of Municipalities says costs have shot up 74 percent over the past two years and there is no relief in sight.

Assembly Minority Leader Willie Brown (D-Essex) said the distressed cities and towns' aid should be increased from $70 to $140 million to help pay for the high costs of garbage removal. Even Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick (R-Union) said about $170 million of the surplus should be returned to the taxpayers in increased rebate checks and higher tenant credits for the state income tax.

Kean's 1989 budget calls for a $52 million outlay to launch the first phase of his 14-point, five-year plan to curtail ocean pollution and preserving the Jersey shore with massive funding of New Jersey's toxic waste cleanup and additional money for the state's park system and strong efforts of enforcement against polluters, but notably absent from the budget is any reference to helping local governments deal with the spiraling costs of garbage disposal... that's what we need and look for.

With a surplus of $1.2 billion this July, local officials and many legislators are calling upon the Governor to help cushion the rising costs of solid waste disposal, yet, when pressed by reporters, Michael Cole, the Governor's chief counsel, said there is no money set aside to help local governments offset solid waste disposal costs. He also indicated the administration would resist efforts to tap into the budget reserve.

In Belleville's case, with our teachers already scheduled to receive increased salaries for the next three years, it would appear that the first priority to aid our community's dilemma would be to help offset the huge garbage disposal costs, which alone could raise our town taxes about $400 more a year.

We must prevail upon our state legislators, Senator Carmen Orechio and Assembly members Marion Crecco and John Kelly, to strongly intercede on our township's behalf to frustrate the Governor's ambitions to "lobby" for education, to enhance his prospects of landing upon the Republican Presidential ticket as a vice-presidential candidate at the expense of the citizens of his own state, who can't afford to pay these exorbitant garbage disposal bills.

A NEW scientific discovery by researchers at Harvard University indicates that many active female athletes become infertile while training. The Harvard study also raised fundamental questions about the health benefits of intensive exercise. Rose Fisch, a teacher at the Harvard School of Public Health, observes, "You just can't have everything. If you are a marathoner or an Olympian, and you want a baby, you're going to have to stop. Even lower levels of exercise interfere with the reproductive system of women." Well, for scientists looking for a new birth control technique, this is another to consider. Researchers indicate that going beyond sustained regular workouts to more vigorous activity adds little benefit while damaging reproductive ability. The report was presented at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. 5,398 college graduates ranging in age from 21 to 80 were examined.

THIS column was prepared before the New Hampshire Primary. I'm guessing that Bob Dole will win the Primary — but not by much. Dole's majority — and win should increase his advantage in the March southern states sweepstakes. The Republican National Convention is several months off, but I am predicting that Dole will be the Republican Presidential nominee.

Upon reflection, I don't think active Democrat Presidential candidates will permit the standby candidacy of Mario Cuomo to take the prize at the Democrat National Convention. If Cuomo wants to be the Democrat nominee — at some point, he will have to fight for the prize.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Edwin Meese, a prominent Federal Judge, a well-connected Washington lawyer and a former Attorney General are key figures in an extraordinary bankruptcy case filled with charges of conspiracy, political manipulation and conflict of interest. At the center of this legal storm is a routine contract dispute between the developer of computer programs and the Department of Justice. At the heart of this new charge, is an argument by the contractor that Meese and others in the Department of Justice conspired to drive the computer firm out of business.

Meese and other officials deny they mistreated the company, but a Federal Bankruptcy Judge two weeks ago awarded the plaintiff $8 million in damages and legal fees after finding the Justice Department had abused it through "trickery, fraud and deceit."

The sleaze factor which handicapped the Reagan administration is broadening and may permanently scar the reputation of President Reagan's administration.

AS the New Hampshire Primary Election Day gets closer, the candidates in both parties are more edgy and personal attacks are now taking up space in the printed media and taking time in television commercials.

It is impossible to attempt to grade the chances of the Democrat nominees in terms of who will finish first. Three or four of the candidates are bunched close together — none of whom will be able to beat the Republican Presidential nominee.

Compounding this year's Presidential Election is a current charge by attorneys for Nicaragua's strongman, General Manuel Noriega, that he has "dynamite information that will influence the United States Presidential Election." Noriega's defense attorneys say, "We have files which could affect the upcoming Presidential Election in the United States and the positions of other nations. Right now, we're just gonna sit tight with the files. If we have to use them, we'll use them."

NUTLEY Amvets Commander

Andy Andriola publishes a very lengthy and interesting newsletter. Years ago, I authored a newsletter for the Nutley Elks Club; and from personal experience, I know how time-consuming the job can become. One of the items in Andriola's recent newsletter is the whereabouts of former Amvets Post Commander, George Siegel. Andy tells us that George's new address is Diplomat Towers, 3505 South Ocean Drive, Hollywood, Florida 33109, Apartment 208. And as Andy observes, "Believe it or not, George, we all miss you around town."

We join Andy in mourning the sudden death of Anne Paduta and Russ Fader — two wonderful human beings who gave meaning to Amvets membership.

MARLENE ASHER, Marlene Cocchiola's pen name, saw a feature article she prepared published in a recent issue of Modern Maturity magazine, a publication of AARP. Entitled, "Bye-Bye, Blue Bird," it was a very moving article about nothing more than an old family automobile. Extremely well written, the narrative gave life to an inanimate object.

I was pleased to receive a note from Margaret Mostica in which she informs that the names of Miss Lochart and Miss Turner "brought back a flood of memories." Margaret came to Nutley in 1920, enrolled in Washington School's fifth grade — and Miss Turner was a classroom teacher. Margaret thinks that Miss Turner arrived at Washington School at the same time that she did. Miss Lochart was the principal. She was among students who were honored to be the first to graduate from the new Nutley High School in 1928. Today, the high school that she and I graduated from is known as Franklin School. In her closing sentence, Margaret observes that "a lot of water has gone under the bridge since those days." How true!

THE Mayo Clinic Foundation plans to spend $273 million to build a facility in Florida that will include a 900-bed hospital; a 15-24 stories clinic building; and a $11 million 500-room hotel. The projects are projected for the next quarter century. A Mayo spokesman hastens to add, "It is very much a planning document, not an action plan." Whatever — the plans simply mean that there probably will be greater opportunity for more of the best hospital care for those who call Florida home.

CONGRATULATIONS to our Belleville Times Advertising Director, Jaye Tarantino, upon her reelection as President of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. More than a hundred people turned out to honor the young lady at last week's annual installation luncheon — a tribute to one most worthy.

AND for those who think the cost of Nutley water is too much, there was a recent announcement that Passaic Valley Water Commission is increasing its rate by 8%. And there will be another increase in the near future. The treatment plant upgrade suffered cost overruns which will have to be made up in part by customer cities. In effect, the increase means that customers of Passaic Valley Water Commission will be paying for a filtration plant which they will never own. Fortunately for Nutley, it now owns its own piece of a filtration plant and a total water system. Once the mortgage is paid, the water costs will be substantially lower.

OVER at Parkbrook Mansions, one of the officers complains that she had to make ten phone calls to the Nutley Health Department in order to have dead river rats removed from Nichols Park. The river rats around our neighborhood are bigger than cats. The delay in removing dead river rats probably was due to preoccupation with higher priority items by Health Department personnel.

WE hear that Library change orders have resulted in a $200,000 shortfall. When the addition was undertaken, the Township Commission advised the Library Board no extra funds would be available for change orders.

Rotella named to dean's list

The fall semester dean's list at Bryant College in Smithfield, R.I. includes one Belleville resident, Robyn Rotella, a freshman accounting major of Union Avenue.

Students earning a 3.2 or higher grade point average qualify for dean's list honors.

Bryant College is one of the leading colleges of business administration in New England. It enrolls more than 6,400 undergraduate and graduate students at its rural campus near Providence, and annually provides more than 6,500 business men and women with consulting services and professional development courses through its Small Business Development Center and Center for Management Development.

Recent graduates at Montclair State

Some 600 men and women, among them the following Belleville residents, completed their undergraduate studies at Montclair State College during the past fall semester and are candidates for graduation.

They are: Jeffrey Ballin of Emmet Street, MAT, teaching; Linda Ciallella of Division Ave., BS, business administration; Christopher Cofone of Mary Street, BA, psychology; Charles Eccles of Montgomery Pl., MAT, teaching; Barbara Frederick of Carpenter St., BS cum laude, business administration.

Also, Debra Mangano of Tremont avenue, BS, business administration; Gina Pasquale of William Street, BS, home economics; Paula Penna of Floyd St., BA, English; Philippos E. Philippos of Linden Ave., BS, mathematics; and William Walsh, Jr. of Liberty Ave., BA, sociology.

a council form. The resultant cost to the taxpayers was enormous. The additional patronage jobs added to each councilman did not improve his or her ability to govern but only increased his political base and made it almost impossible to defeat him in future elections.

I would guess it costs the taxpayers in N.J. in excess of $70,000 to keep one councilman in his job in Newark for one year compared to $6000 yearly it used to cost as a commissioner and the cost keeps rising! Belleville, don't compound your mistakes!

Changing image begins with clean-up

There's something about an old working-class town pulling itself up by the bootstraps that makes for good news. The press loves a come-from-behind story, and when a whole town is involved, there is the added all-for-one-one-for-all sentiment.

And so it is with Belleville. Once a fairly prosperous town, the "Bella Villa" suffered a decline in the last two generations in which crime and taxes went up, maintenance of public and private property went down, and the road system went straight to hell.

Outside of the town newspaper, the image of Belleville has been that of a municipal domino, the next town in a ring around blight-plagued Newark that's about to fall.

Articles by reknowned journalists like Carey Londner of the Herald and Jerry Thomas of the Star-Ledger have shown regional readers a Belleville that is continually divided over what to do about bringing Belleville back.

But that come-from-behind story is itching to be told, just as soon as the town decides to DO something.

Recently, articles by Londner and Thomas have been harbingers of the media's changing tune toward our township.

Stories detailing the installation of new chamber of commerce officers and the goings-on at town meetings seem to have a more positive feel. The Commission buys property for conversion to parking lots. The Chamber announces plans to buy garbage cans for the Avenue.

It's things like that getting mentioned - in addition to all the controversy and bickering that's routinely covered by the dailies and by the Times.

In the background, less than a year away, is Belleville's 150th anniversary. There are going to be some big celebrations, but no one wants to party in a pig sty.

Big plans are underway for a variety of events, proclamations, parades, dinners, historical presentations and much more in 1989. It should be the year that Belleville gets "back on the map" but you can be sure if the flip-side to all the hoopla is a town still choked with potholes, garbage, grime and crime, the press will dutifully cover that too.

That's why preparation for Belleville's 150th anniversary, and for Belleville's future in general, must include plans for fixing up the town.

Avenue Clean-up April 2

Talk, speeches, statements, lectures, rhetoric...so much gibberish these ears of mine have endured in my two years as Belleville Times Editor. Everybody, it seems, goes on and on and on about cleaning up the town, and bringing the town back, etc., etc., but what really gets done?

I'm guilty of it, too. I can't count the editorials and columns I have written on the conditions in town. During 1986 and 1987, I used the Times' editorial voice to call for the little "pride" details - repaint the street lines and faded yellow curbing, place some more trash cans throughout town, fine the code violators, pick up the garbage that's making Washington Avenue look like Broadway.

Readers - and even town officials - may have agreed with these sentiments but we all know that Belleville pretty much looks the same as it's been looking: tired and rundown at the ripe old age of 149.

I got to thinking that one day of ACTION could be worth more than two years of talk-talk editorials. So....

Saturday, April 2, will be a day of ACTION.

Stanco holds kickoff rally

Board of Education candidate Frank Stanco Jr., with the slogan "Stanco's the man for the board" will be holding a welcome kickoff rally for his Board of Education bid at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Bridge Street on Tuesday, Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and all are welcome.

This is what I set up: At 9AM two "clean teams" will begin cleaning up Washington Avenue. One team will start at King Street and work south. The other team will start at Mill Street and work north.

When the two teams meet, probably around Holmes Street, Washington Avenue will be cleaned up.

All the garbage will be removed. All the curbs and sidewalks will be swept.

Volunteers for the clean-up will come from various township groups, the high school, and from the Times. Any readers wishing to volunteer may phone the Times at 759-3200.

If you join in, you'll be doing something nice for our town, plus you'll be in the paper for your efforts.

Some Commissioners have already expressed support for the Washington Avenue clean-up. Commissioner Frantantoni said he'll provide a truck to pickup the garbage bags along the way. Recyclables will be separated as we go.

In order for this clean-up to really make a difference, it has to coincide with other ACTION.

If community groups, such as the Chamber of Commerce, are serious about donating trash receptacles, then every effort must be made to place them by April 2, otherwise the Avenue will be back to the way it was in no time.

And the faded yellow curbing simply must be re-painted to compliment the visual effects of the clean-up.

Avenue businesses, meanwhile, should take advantage of county grants and loans to restore their facades. Call the Town Clerk at 450-3310 for details.

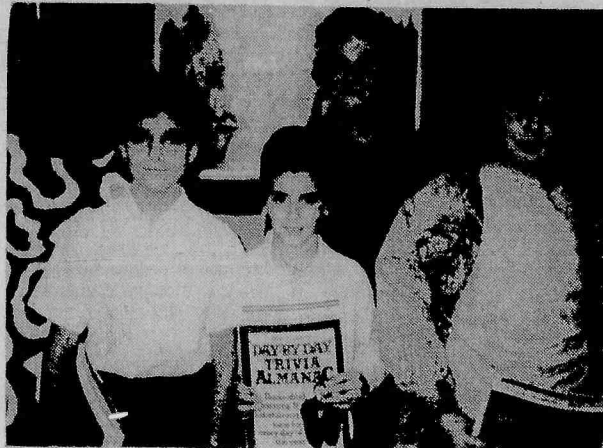

Imagine: a clean, neat Washington Avenue in one day.

It promises to be a nice head start for Belleville's anniversary celebration.

And it sure beat talk, talk, talk!

The Sands of Time:

Memories of Hillside Park

By Pat Brightman

Most people recall Palisades Amusement Park in Bergen County, a hub for colorful amusements and sideshow activities for several decades, and there are some older citizens who even remember the dazzle of Eldorado on the palisades in Weehawken, with a ferris wheel visible from Manhattan.

But few seem to recall the wonder that once was Hillside Park on the Nutley - Belleville border, a place to which people came from all over Essex County journeyed to almost every weekend in the early part of this decade, traveling by street car, tin lizzies, bicycles, even horsedrawn vehicles, for all the fun of the fair or to watch balloon ascensions, with the fast talking operator leaping out of the basket to gasps from the crowd.

There were even wild west shows to rival the Buffalo Bill aggregation, which used to pass its winters not too far away on the Clifton racetrack.

This kind of entertainment was par for the course at Hillside Park, which was the center of entertainment for Nutley, Belleville and surrounding towns in those days.

"Back then Nutley only had the Park Theatre," said Mayor Harry Chenoweth, "and there was only one theater in Belleville. People who enjoyed the outdoors congregated there, it was only natural.

"It was quite a mecca, there even was a lot of semi-pro football games played there."

Up up and away

The balloonist's name was "Hickey" Woodruff, and every Sunday he would sail up to the clouds, then delight and terrorize the crowd by jumping out, parachuting to the earth below, never knowing where he or his balloon would land.

"Hickey" believed in audience participation, so he would offer $10 to anyone who would return his balloon.

"I'm telling you that was a big bag to bring back," said Chenoweth.

"Every week I would sit on the lawn with my family and wait for the balloon to go up," recalls Chenoweth. "Some days we wouldn't see it because of the wind but most of the time we did. We would see the man jump off and the balloon turn upside down, and black smoke would go everywhere because the air in the balloon was caused by fire.

"We even had an ordinance on the books that dealt with jumping out of balloons because people were complaining about the smoke."

"The one thing I remember about the balloons was a parks worker named 'Satcho' would tie the balloon down while it was being filled with hot air," said John Crowley, whose father Thomas, was one of five original owners of the park.

10 cent admission

A patron paid 10 cents for admission to the park, which was on land where a McDonald's now stands and the Pathmark shopping center, on the border of Nutley and Belleville. For those 10 pennies a person could take in not only the balloon ascension, but wild west shows, a daredevil bicyclist, and dance marathons, just to name a few activities.

Roller coasters, a carousel and other rides, a bowling alley, and a roller skating rink were also in the park, but they had an extra charge. The wild west shows usually had an Indian village in the infield of a track and cowboys riding horses on the track itself, creating a mock battle. Shooting and roping tricks were also a part of the shows.

"When I was very young, one of the cowboys gave me a lasso," said Crowley. "It was so big I could barely hold it."

"My aunt told me she saw John L. Sullivan in one of the wild west shows," said Chenoweth.

The cyclist would climb to a platform at the top of a hill and started down on a wooden incline. At the base, the incline went up a few feet, throwing the bike in the air and the rider jumping off and landing in a bucket of water.

Dance marathons were held in the hall during the depression, according to Chenoweth, superseding roller skating.

"I remember going down and watching the dancers keep going until they collapsed, falling all over themselves or making feeble motions on their feet while actually falling asleep," said Margaret Lish.

For many the rides were the most enjoyable, screaming from both fear and excitement on the roller coaster, daydreaming about riding a real horse while on the carousel, or getting wet on the "Old Mill."

"On the 'Old Mill' you would be in an amusement car and you would go up and down these hills in the dark," recalled Lish, "and at the end of the ride you would land in a pool of water."

Sports field

The park also had an athletic field, used by youngsters from both Belleville and Nutley for football and soccer. The natural rivalry between the towns was apparent from the beginning, with fans and players often times fighting more than cheering or playing.

"People told me about the terrible fights on the sidelines at those football games," said Chenoweth. "There was this guy who wasn't big enough to play and he told me he used to go down just to watch the fights.

"One day my friends and I went down to play some soccer but there were these cars with big bumpers and they were playing something like polo with this huge ball," recollected Chenoweth.

Even though thousands of people visited the park each week, it eventually lost out to bigger, better financed ones such as Palisades Park and Olympic Park in Irvington, at the south end of the trolley line that brought people to Hillside.

It was that trolley line that sprung up another amusement-type business, according to Chenoweth.

"Right across the street from the park, on the east side of Washington Avenue, there was a one story house that had a gypsy woman who told fortunes. The trolley cars would drop the people off right in her front yard."

But as the park became a thing of the past, so did the gypsy and the park was replaced by the Port Authority garage and other modern "improvements." All that remains are memories and memorabilia.

"My dad owned the roller coaster and Edmund Guthrie, his partner from Nutley, owned the carousel," said Crowley. "When the park closed down Guthrie stored all the horses in his house on Highfield Lane, and they've just stayed up there."

Hoffmann-LaRoche chief targets worker drug abuse

Irwin Lerner, president and chief executive officer of Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc., has called on the leaders of corporate America to support a major initiative to address drug abuse in the workplace.

The goal of the initiative is to define appropriate business policies and programs to address this critical issue, Lerner said. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce estimates that companies lose approximately $35 billion a year directly due to drug abuse problems in the workplace.

In letters to the CEOs of the Fortune 1000 companies, Lerner cited President Reagan's call, in his State of the Union Address, for a "renewed commitment" against the use of illicit drugs and said: "I am urging you to join me in responding to this challenge."

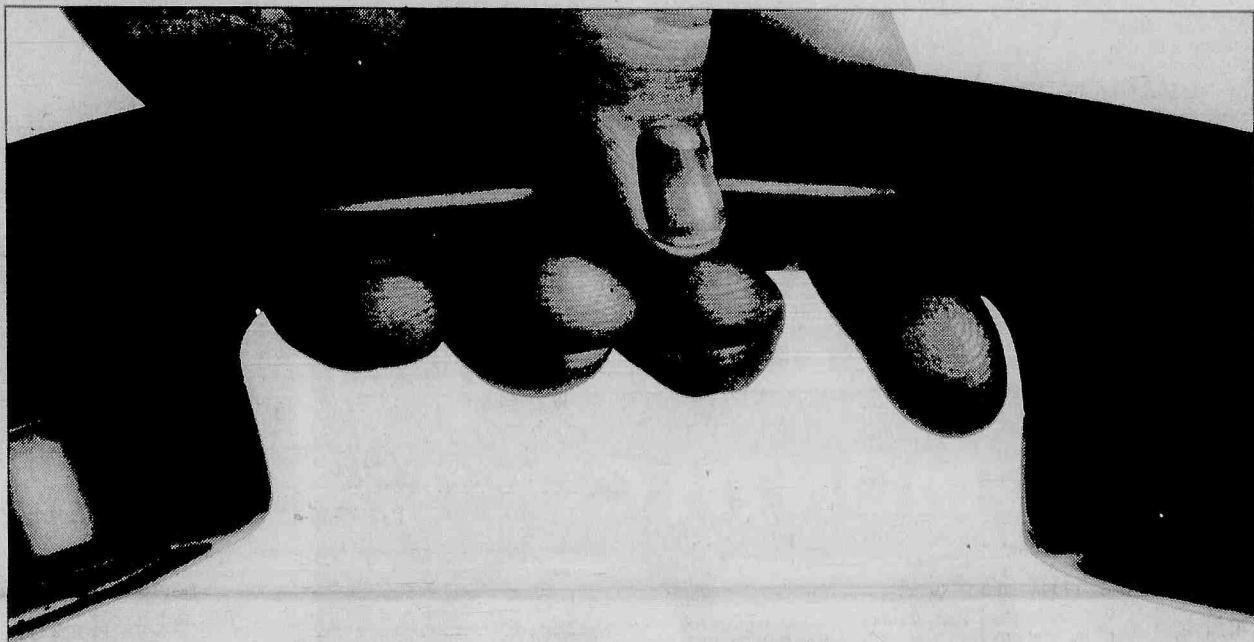

Lerner said Hoffmann-LaRoche would act as a catalyst to bring together other companies to examine the key issues surrounding drug abuse in the workplace. Multi-company task forces would then develop guidelines for management and union leadership "to take action in addressing drug issues in their own organizations."

The task force recommendations, covering medical, legal, legislative and other issues, would be presented at a one-day national conference to be held this spring. According to Lerner, "the meeting would demonstrate that corporate America is taking aggressive steps to address the drug abuse problem in our country."

The goal of the conference would be to define "appropriate business policies and programs through which to guide the handling of this challenging and complex issue," Lerner wrote. Furthermore, he said the meeting would complement the White House Conference for a Drug Free America, which will be held this month.

Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc., headquartered in Nutley, is known for original research and development in the health care field and is a leading producer of prescription pharmaceuticals, bulk vitamins and animal health and agricultural products. In addition, one of its major businesses is to provide unique tests and clinical laboratory services for detecting the presence of substances abuse.

Great Americans and the Bible

George Washington: It is impossible to rightly govern the world without God and the Bible.

Abraham Lincoln: I believe the Bible is the best gift God has ever given to man. All the good from the Savior of the world is communicated to us through this book. I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. I can see how it might be possible for a man to look down upon the earth and be an atheist, but I cannot conceive how he could look up into heaven and say there is no God.

Daniel Webster: If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will prosper. But if we and our posterity neglect the instructions and authority in this book no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overtake us and bury our glory in profound obscurity.

Holy Bible — This is the Book that inspired thousands of men and women to travel to the New World where they could live and worship God in freedom. This is the Book our forefathers drew upon for the great principles included in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. This is the Book that the people of America — in every walk of life — have turned to for strength, for comfort and for guidance. This is the Book that is in every court of this broad land, a reminder of America's ideal of freedom and justice for all. This is the Book that its enemies burn — the Book they smear and fear, because it proclaims the dignity of the individual and teaches that all men are created in the image of God.

America still needs the Bible. We need courage to face today's problems and divine wisdom to solve them, just as our forefathers did.

Let this Book revive in us the spirit of our fathers to face tomorrow unafraid. Let us, too, turn to the Book that reveals the mind of God, His holiness, His love for lost sinners and His salvation through Jesus Christ. Dust it off! Believe it! Today could be a new beginning for you if you would believe the message of this Book: "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

This wonderful message of hope has changed all of history, bringing life and blessing wherever it has been believed. If it is believed once again it would bring blessing and life and hope to our nation, and to you, today!

The simple, yet profound message of the Bible is that God loves you, and He gave His only Son Jesus Christ to die for your sins so that you might have new life, real life, eternal life. Will you not believe the life-giving message of this Book today?

Washington, the man of prayer

"My son, neglect not the duty of secret prayer." That was the admonition of the pious mother of George Washington to her noble son, then 21 years of age, as he left home to carry a dispatch from the governor of Virginia to a French commander stationed in western Pennsylvania. That the son followed this advice throughout his eventful life, there is ample evidence.

Both the father and mother of George Washington were devoutly religious, members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which was almost the only denomination in Virginia in their day.

An eminent authority says: "Washington lived in an atmosphere of the Christian religion. From his earliest childhood until his illustrious career closed, he was given to communion with God. Prayer was a habit of his life, and in it he found a source of strength, guidance, and spiritual refreshment."

George Washington's Prayer (written at the age of 20)

Almighty God and most merciful Father... Since Thou art a God of pure eyes and wilt be sanctified in all who draw near unto Thee, who dost not regard the sacrifices of fools, nor hear sinners who tread in Thy courts, pardon, I beseech Thee, my sins, remove them from Thy presence, as far as the East is from the West, and accept me for the merits of Thy Son, Jesus Christ; that when I come into Thy temple and pass Thine altar, my prayer may come before Thee as incense; and as Thou wouldst hear me calling upon Thee in my prayers and give me grace to hear Thee calling on me in Thy Word, that it may be wisdom, righteousness, reconciliation, and peace to the saving of my soul and the day of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Grant that I may hear it with reverence, receive it with meekness, mingle it with faith, and that it may accomplish in me, gracious God, the good work for which Thou hast sent it. Bless my family, kindred, friends, and country; be our God and guide this day and forever, for His sake who lay down in the grave and rose again for us, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Belleville Times SPORTS

Last Tuesday afternoon, Leon Puentes added his name to the Belleville record book when he scored his 1,000th career point. For the four year varsity performer, it's the culmination of years of hard work.

Puentes joins teammate Ted Sochaski and former BHS greats Abdel Anderson, Wayne Bubet and Phil Colalillo as members of the 1,000 point club for Belleville mens' basketball.

But Puentes will tell you that individual achievement takes a back seat to team goals. Puentes is, and has been, the point guard of the Belleville offense and thus, gives up a lot of potential points to find the open man and set up the Belleville offense.

That he achieved the coveted 1,000 point mark is even more remarkable under those circumstances.

Puentes' coach for the past two seasons, Don Roll, isn't surprised by his point guards success.

"He runs our team," Roll said. "Other teams know that, too. They know if they can cut him off, they will effectively slow down our offense. He does such a great job of breaking the press and setting up our offense. He's been the leader of the offense for four years."

Buc Shots

By Mike Lamberti

When Puentes first arrived on the scene, in the Fall of 1984, things weren't as organized as they are today. Rocco Collucci had just arrived on the scene as head coach, having taken over for Joe Papasidero. Puentes, Sochaski, Donald Washington, Bob Hutchison, Chris Goldrick, Michael Sochaski (Ted's older brother) and Frank Morrell were trying to establish a program. The '84-85 Bucs were a very young, inexperienced group.

Many of their losses that year were in the blowout style. The team won just twice that year, but Puentes and Ted Sochaski, both freshman, had saw extended playing time and Collucci decided that the future would be in their hands.

It wasn't all roses for Puentes. There were games where the point guard did not perform to standard and Collucci would be quick to bring that to his attention. Usually, it would be a ride on the bench. But you could see that this talented player was getting better.

While Puentes struggled at times to become an outstanding player, there was never a question about his work ethic, both on and off the floor.

On the floor, Puentes could be found putting in extra hours after practice. During the summer, he competed in various summer leagues and attended basketball camps. He was known as a gym rat, the first man on the floor, the last man off of it.

Off the floor, Puentes discipline and dedication was evident in the classroom, where this young man holds a near straight A average and is at the top of his class.

You might think that Puentes dedicates his entire 12 month calendar to the sport of basketball. Although it is obviously his favorite sport, Puentes is a three letterman at Belleville High.

In the fall, he runs for the cross country team and last season, he earned Honorable Mention for his performance. In the spring, he can be found on the track team, where he has developed into a fine miler.

In other words, anything Puentes does seems to come out pretty good. He is a person with extraordinary work habits who doesn't know the meaning of second gear.

Such was the case last Friday night when the boys' basketball team battled Shabazz in the quarterfinal round of the Essex County tournament. Puentes was suffering from a case of the flu, an ailment that was keeping him in bed for most of last week.

He started the game, but needed breaks during the course of the contest to catch his breath.

"He battled hard," Roll said of Puentes. "He never gave up, he just kept trying. I can't say enough about his effort. The kid only knows one way to play."

Puentes ended up with only three points. Early in the fourth quarter, he fouled out on an absolutely horrendous call by a set of officials who put new meaning to the word controversy.

Even on the bench, Puentes never put his head down. He cheered his players on, encouraged his teammates on the bench to stay in the game, mentally. There were plenty of times he could have felt sorry for himself. He chose not to.

When the season comes to an end in a few weeks (hopefully around late March), Puentes and Sochaski will have concluded some marvelous basketball careers. For Leon Puentes, his act will be hard to follow at the point guard position. He gives new meaning to the words class and determination, both on and off the floor.

ZAMLOOT, CHIARMONTE, SCHWED AND STRAFACE EXCEL

Hats off to Ray Zamloot, Chris Chiarmonte, Steve Schwed and Dominick Straface for an outstanding game last Friday night against Shabazz. Although the Bucs ended up on the short end of the scoreboard, there was nothing short ended about their performances.

Zamloot, playing against a very talented point guard, turned in a solid defensive game. With Puentes playing time limited due to illness and horrible officiating, Zamloot took up some of the slack. He nailed a three point basket and ended up with five points on the night. You could tell by the look in his eyes that Zamloot wanted this game. He was determined and his effort certainly gives encouragement for next season, when Zamloot should be the starting point guard.

Schwed, a senior forward, continues his strong play on the boards. He has also become a solid offensive player. Ditto for Chiarmonte, a senior forward, who is developing into a very consistent player on both sides of the floor.

Straface, a junior, shows signs of becoming a fine all around player. He can be used at either guard, or forward, and is gaining confidence with each game.

Congratulations to the entire team for a hard fought effort, against all odds.

Wrestlers lose two matches to Bridgewater, Bloomfield

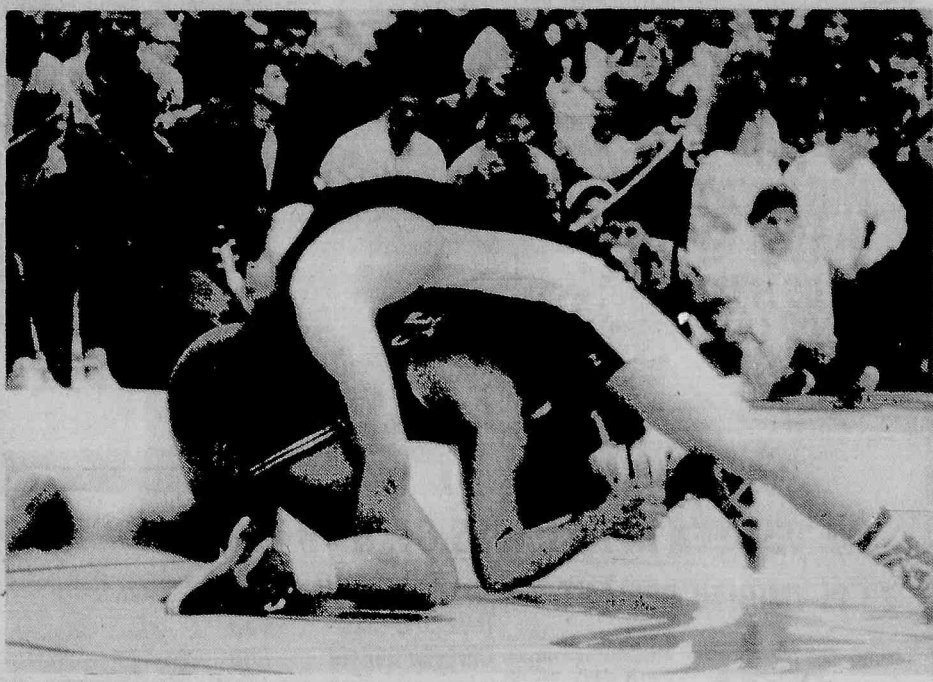

By Joe Piegaro

This past week was filled with news, good and bad, for the BHS matmen. The good news was a 64-6 trouncing of a young Ridge-wood team, followed by an invitation to compete as one of four schools in the Group 4, Section 2, North Jersey State Sectional Championships. There was also the crowning of a new all-time victory leader as Armando Nardone registered his 90th career win versus Bloomfield High School.

The bad news were two very embarrassing losses to Bridgewater West and to Bloomfield High School. The defeat at the hands of Bridgewater was by the score of 31-28. The Bucs needed to win this match to stay unbeaten and force a showdown with Bloomfield for all the marbles on Saturday. They were ahead 28-16 with four matches left in the meet. All they needed was to have all four grapplers stay off their backs and an easy victory was assured, but it never came. Two losses by decision at 160 and heavyweight plus two losses by fall at 171 and another decision at 189 cost the Bucs their undefeated season.

Three days later, an even more galling loss was given to the Bengals of Bloomfield on a silver serving tray. Ahead by 28-10 with only four bouts remaining, Belleville needed to have all four grapplers merely stay off their backs to ensure the victory. Again, the same four wrestlers failed, as they were pinned to give Bloomfield the N.N.J.I.L. title, the Region 2 Championship and the first undefeated dual meet season in their history.

Even the invitation by the state to compete in the sectionals became tarnished, as the Bucs learned their first round opponent would be top ranked Phillipsburg. This is the fourth year in a row the Bucs have made the playoffs and the fourth year in a row they will be facing the Liners from P-burg. The Warren County power has beaten the Bucs handily in each of the previous meets.

On an individual basis, Armando Nardone notched three easy wins to reach victory No. 90 against only 12 defeats in his illustrious varsity career. Now at 22-0, Mondo is chasing the 100th victory to become the first Buc wrestler to do so.

Joe Cerreto saw his undefeated season disapper as he lost a 6-3 decision to Gary Foti of Bloomfield. Still, Cerreto has a 20-1-1 slate for the year, second only to Nardone in career wins with 88-12-4. Cerreto has a solid chance to reach the 100 victory mark, but needs a strong showing in the sectionals and a revenge win over Foti to do so.

Team Captain Mike Iuliano won all three of his bouts last week to equal Nardone's 22-0 season. Iron Mike scored his seventh and eighth technical falls and now holds a lifetime 67-12-1 won-lost record. He is in a sixth place tie on the BHS win list with Marc Criscione and appears to finish his career in the top four with Nardone, Cerreto, Mike Gibbons and Dominic Cerreto.

125-pounder John Stampone also won all three bouts last week and improved his personal record to an impressive 17-3-2 with 11 pins. John has this season's most difficult Regional schedule ahead as Robert Morales of Paterson JFK, Chris Janish of West Essex and Dave Cahill of North Bergen will post roadblocks for Stampone on his way to the state championships in Princeton.

Sophomore Ralph Perna, has established himself as one of the Buc's top six wrestlers this year with a 18-4 record. He also won all three bouts last week and became the top rated 103 pounder in District 7. Perna will be tested severely in P-burg, as Kevin Dilts is considered one of the top three 103 pounders in the state.

Senior Nick Keykurun's style is awkward, his demeanor cocky and even arrogant at times, yet he enters the last week of the season with a mark of 16-4 and four pins. With his nickname "Turk" being chanted at recent matches, Nick has a great chance to win a district title if he can duplicate his 8-0 decision over Bloomfield's Mike Volpe.

The remainder of the starting lineup for the Bucs and their season records: 112 Freshman Angelo Torromeo 3-7-2; 140 Freshman Danny Hywell 12-9; 152 Sophomore Ken Henry 13-6-1; 160 Senior Frank Pacheco 1-3; 171 Senior Joe DeCeglie 8-6; 189 Junior Tom Eccles 0-3; Heavyweight Senior Ed Oldak 6-11.

Basketball fans fault bad officiating

High school basketball fans throughout the area have complained vehemently of late about the sub par officiating that has been dictating their favorite winter game.

Last week, the complaining and disappointment reached an all time high for members of the Belleville boys' basketball team. The Bucs were defeated by Shabazz High School, 66-52, in the quarterfinal round of the Essex County Tournament. Afterward, Belleville head coach Don Roll couldn't mask his outrage.

"They were terrible," Roll said of the officials. "Let the kids decide the game, not the officials. They (the referees) took it away from us tonight. This was a game we could have won."

The Bucs record dropped to 13-

6 with the defeat. Belleville lost to St. Joe's of Montvale, 59-48 earlier in the week. Belleville battled Paramus Catholic last Tuesday and will host Kennedy tonight at 7:30 p.m. Next Monday, the Bucs host Passaic in a make up game and next Tuesday, it's off to Nutley. Both of those games begin at 4 p.m.

The Bucs went into the Shabazz game at a slight disadvantage to begin with. The teams point guard, Leon Puentes, the newest member of the 1,000 point club, was suffering from the flu. Although he started the game, it was noticable that Puentes was not 100 percent.

"Not having Leon at full strength hurt," admitted Roll. "But our other kids really picked up the slack. They played their hearts out."

Indeed, the team put forth an outstanding effort. There was the 24 point performance of senior forward Ted Sochaski and 10 points from senior forward Chris Chiarmonte.

Junior guard Ray Zamloot turned in an excellent defensive game. Another junior, guard Dominick Straface, also played an excellent ball game. Senior Steven Schwed added four points and was tough on the boards.

There were a few instances, however, that left a bad taste in the mouths of not only Belleville fans, but basketball fans, in general.

Puentes had been in early foul trouble and missed the entire third quarter. Despite his absence, Belleville hung tough and trailed, 46-42, entering the final quarter.

It was at that stage that two no-calls and one very disputed call turned the stage of the game in favor of Shabazz.

The first no-call came on a Belleville possession. Sochaski drove hard for the hoop, was noticably fouled, but no whistle was heard. Shabazz drove down court, but couldn't convert.

Seconds later, Belleville came down again, drove toward the basket and despite an obvious foul, no whistle was sounded.

"One of the officials had his hand up (signifying a foul), but never blew the whistle," Roll said. "How there wasn't contact on those two possessions, I'll never know."

The third time there was a call, but against Belleville. Puentes drove to the hoop and began to ascend for a layup attempt. As he went air borne, a Shabazz defender went up with him, in an honest attempt to block the shot.

Usually, when an offensive and defensive player are contesting a shot and a foul is committed, the foul will be assessed to the defensive man. The defensive man will have an edge if he is in a set position and draws the foul.

Well, since both men were in the air on the play, one would assume Puentes had position for a possible foul. The whistle did blow, and the official promptly put his hand behind his head, signifying an offensive foul.

What transpired next was also interesting. After calling Puentes for the foul (which happened to be his fifth), the official immediately informed Puentes that that was his fifth foul and he was out.

Usually, an official will call the foul, approach the desk and give the number of the player. The desk, after checking with the official book, will then notify the referee that a player has fouled out.

In this case, the official took care of the entire package in one motion. Most of the fans at the game found that call both very interesting and somewhat unbelievable.

Those turn of events swung the game in favor of Shabazz, who by the way, is a very talented ball club. The school from the South Side of Newark, ranked number two in the ECT seedings this winter, outscored Belleville 20-10 in the final eight minutes and came away with a 66-52 win.

"I feel for these kids," Roll said afterward. "They deserved better. I can't say enough about the effort and determination. They never gave up. They know they could have won this game tonight."

Under control - the Buc wrestlers took one on the chin against Bloomfield last Saturday in Belleville. The Bucs had a solid going into the final four bouts, but managed to let it slip away. The team is preparing for the upcoming districts next week at Kearny. (Photo by Michele Suchomel).

"They're not as big as they were last year," she said, "but they do have speed, experience and good outside shooters. They're also ranked 12th in the state rankings, so they have to be considered a very good club."

NOTES: Sochaski continues to lead Bucs in scoring with 23.2 ppg average. Puentes averaging 14.6 ppg. Bucs drew Barringer in first round of state tourney and game will be played at Barringer.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Carol from Nutley asks: "I'm afraid of needles. Do I need to have one if I go to the dentist?"

Carol, many patients do well without any need to be numbed. I know of several who have had fillings, extractions, and even nerve removal without an injection.

Please be assured that the purpose of an injection is to facilitate treatment by relieving your apprehension about pain. Talk over your fears with your dentist so he'll know what part of the injection process you are not fearful. Perhaps he'll try treatment without any injection and if you do well he'll finish it. Should you both decide that treatment would be easier with an injection of xylocaine then you'll be happy to know that during the administration of injection either slight or no pain is felt. Also the injection process is quick. I'm sure you'll do well, Carol. Thank you.

Century 21 Homes R Us joins Centurynet system

Century 21 Homes R Us, Inc., of 549 Washington Avenue, Belleville is pleased to announce that it has joined a computerized network of Century 21 offices all over the country which will be linked together through the exclusive Centurynet computer system. The Centurynet system will allow a Century 21 office in one state to communicate via the computer with another Century 21 office across the country. The system will make the Century 21 VIP referral system more accurate and efficient.

If a client wishes to buy, sell, lease or receive mortgage information, his requirements would be entered into the Centurynet computer. The computer would then match his needs with the inventory in the computer and pick the properties which match his needs. In the case of a seller, the computer would count the number of buyers in the system looking for this particular type of home. In both cases, only those buyers or properties which match the clients qualifications would be picked.

Century 21 Homes R Us, Inc., is inviting anyone needing to buy, sell or lease property to stop in their office located at 549 Washington Avenue, Belleville, or call 751-8800 for further information.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Skylights let in more light than ordinary windows, in places that ordinary window light won't reach. To avoid problems, choose skylights carefully, and have them installed by experts.

For a clear finish on bare wood, use a penetrating finish — a Danish or other rubbing oil gives a matte finish, polyurethane a gloss. Because finishes tend to darken wood color somewhat, it's advisable to test them in an out-of-the-way spot.

Combination do-over is in the works in the Chicago suburb of Evanston, Illinois. A major department store is being refurbished: two floors of stores at the base and three stories residential loft space on top.

Prewash laundry stain remover works to remove crayon marks from walls and woodwork; tough spots may need a dry-cleaning solvent. On tile floors, rub with silver polish.

Where's the building boom? United States developers are breaking ground for hotels, apartments and office complexes all around the Pacific rim, from Beijing to Indonesia, South Korea to Malaysia.

Where's the buying boom? Right here at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley, 235-9000.

Honeymooners survival kit

Late in your wedding day you'll both drive off with tin cans clanking, while friends and relatives pelt your car with rice or bird seed for good luck. Alone at last!

Somehow the breakfast you both missed for pre-wedding jitters, and reception dinner missed for all the dancing and excitement of the day, begin to catch up with you. Now that the day's events have come to a close, you find yourselves hungry and relaxed for the first time all day.

Stopping at a restaurant would hardly seem magical, and even ordering room service at the hotel would be another unwanted interruption.

Ah, but you find a gaily decorated basket in your getaway car en route to the hotel.

A note attached reads: "Food Is Love," and is signed by a thoughtful member of the wedding party who packed the surprise.

The basket is filled with all the essential treats for two famished honeymooners: Fresh French bread, cold lemon chicken, a wedge of cheese and luscious strawberries.

There is sparkling Perrier for pure thirst quenching, and Lindt bittersweet chocolate truffles for pure indulging. The final ambrosia is two slices of wedding cake and a split of champagne.

And tucked into the side of the basket is a small bunch of daisies, because daisies don't tell...

Ten wedding gift dos and don'ts

1. The bride should register only with one store of a kind.
2. The bride should quietly inform a relative about some larger expensive items that she would love to have.
3. No bride-to-be should allow the store at which she is registered to send out notices to her friends and wedding guest list that she is registered there.
4. It is improper to open gifts at the reception.
5. The bride should write thank-you notes as soon as she possibly can, but not on cards that say "Thank You" on the top fold.
6. Gifts from the immediate family of either the bride or groom should never be returned to a store in exchange for something else, as feelings could easily be hurt. (The exception is if there are duplicate gifts.)
7. When an engagement is broken or a wedding does not take place, the gifts, especially gifts of great value must be returned to all senders with brief and tactful notes of explanation.
8. Both bride and groom give their attendants some lasting memento of the occasion. While these gifts are often silver or gold, a gift of crystal, such as Steuben, is an excellent idea.
9. The wedding party gives the bride and groom some lasting memento of the occasion, such as Steuben's Marriage Goblet, engraved with the couple's initials.
10. The groom usually gives his bride a personal gift just before the wedding. The bride in turn gives something to the groom. If one of the pair is far richer than the other, the one with more money should "tone down" for his or her present. There will be plenty of time for lavish presents later.

Marriage and pearls: A love affair

The wedding day symbolizes the beginning of a life-long commitment and everlasting love shared between two people. It's a time of joy and celebration, a day in life when perfection is a must.

It is important, then, that nothing on that hallowed day be faked. Jewelry chosen for the bridal pair should be central to the occasion and no less real than their heart-felt love.

Traditionally, the pearl has been long associated with love, marriage and good fortune. It's no surprise that precious pearls given to the bride on her wedding day have become the most treasured of heirlooms for generations after.

From Mark Antony and Cleopatra to Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor, these cherished gems have woven an almost magical spell of romance since the dawn of time.

Cultured pearls possess a lustre and beauty that reflect and intensify the radiance of the bride's inner glow. They are available in a wide variety of flattering lengths.

A single strand choker, for example, is well-suited for a high, round neckline, while a matinee or opera length necklace has better proportions for a high standing collar or a plunging neckline. A luxurious bib of several stunning strands of cultured pearls is an opulently alluring way to highlight a deep, scooped neckline.

To achieve an extra note of refined elegance, add to that treasured necklace a pair of cultured pearl earrings.

For the groom, a pair of cultured pearl cufflinks is elegant and handsomely appropriate.

Whatever type of cultured pearl jewelry is chosen, experts advise purchasing the highest quality cultured pearls affordable.

Choose color to go with skin and hair tones: Rose hued for fair blondes and cream colored for darker hair and complexions.

POSSESSING A RADIANCE AND BEAUTY that reflect and intensify the bride's inner glow, cultured pearl accessories are the perfect jewelry choice for her special day.

Perfectly symmetrical, round pearls are most expensive, but an off-round or, baroque shape has an intriguing naturalness.

Very few pearls are completely free of surface blemishes, giving each pearl its own unique character. But the most important factor for enticing beauty is a cultured pearl's lustre, the deep-seated inner glow that gives the jewel warmth and life.

Whatever length or style you choose, the beauty and value of cultured pearls, like the love promised on that special day, will endure for years to come.

Overview of bridal fashions for spring/summer '88

The landscape for spring/summer '88 bridal fashion is shaping up to be purely feminine and romantic with a "less is more" approach that will substitute the ornamentation of past seasons, according to Bride's magazine.

This new clean-lined, sculpted attitude will feature details like open necklines, pleating, wasp waists and ballgown skirts. Picture a well-tended garden, carefully thought-out...controlled...always neatly groomed.

Softer colors

The pastel story that emerged last spring continues for brides and wedding attendants—only, this season, the garden palette is in full bloom. Look for whispier pales, along with classic whites.

• Pale Floral Pastels—Delicate, barely-there pales such as Pink Carnation, Morning Glory Blue, Buttercup, Palest Peach and Silver Mint Green are cool-looking and soft.

• Budding Brights—Irresistibly delicious hues such as Yellow Freesia, Magnolia Peach, Seafoam Green, Peony Pink, Lilac, Cornflower Blue are vibrant, yet controlled.

• Sun-Kissed Brights—High-intensity hues such as Daffodil, Marigold, Tiger Lily, Poppy, Pansy, Plum, Violet, Shamrock, Delphinium, Hydrangea make a very rich, strong statement.

• Striking Bi-Colors—High contrast color combos such as navy paired with white or beige provide a fresh, clean look.

Emphasis on textural interest

Texture is key, this coming spring. It's so important that the fabric itself becomes the story, its look and hand clearly influencing the resulting design.

Watch for last spring's move in the textural direction to really blossom.

Among the standouts: Fabric with puckers or crinkles, flocked fabric, ottoman, damask, cloqué, matelassé, brocade, jacquard, dupione, shantung, gazar, and crunchy paper silk.

Also watch for high-contrast fabrics played together—especially textures against sheers. The ultimate contrast is a textured sheer, employing texture to add newness to a traditional bridal fabric like organza.

Of sheer importance this season are organza, organdy, voile, georgette, chiffon, ribbon sheer, shadow-striped and coin-dotted sheer, placed sheer, point d'esprit, embroidered and flocked tulle, sheer with re-embroidered lace and textured cotton batiste.

Additional fabric trends to note:

• Laces with added texture—such as soutache or ribbon lace used as accents—on a bodice, a skirt panel, a train;

• Toned-down metallics—always with texture;

• Three-dimensional textures;

• Texture combined with stretch—the absolute newest combo around.

More refined silhouettes

Sprouting up this season are romantic, new soft silhouettes that go hand in hand with the new softened colors and lighter fabrics.

Among the key trends are:

• The Goddess—Inspired by mythology, this classic, draped look couples simplicity with romance. Flowing lines and diaphanous fabrics reveal the figure in a tasteful way.

• The Deb or Ingenue—Feminine, with a naive but naughty sexiness, this '50s-inspired style features a wasp waist, exposed shoulders and a full skirt, complete with flirty crinolines.

Key shapes and details include:

• An appealing new softness, characterized by the cinched waist, the trapeze back, the fit and flare of the princess silhouette, elongated peplums and body-wrapping styles.

• A focus on décolletage, evidenced by off-the-shoulder looks, straplessness, sweetheart and face-framing portrait necklines, and flyaway collars.

• Gentle skirting, in the form of full skirts with sweep trains, swingy A-lines, tulips, uneven hemlines and updated sheaths with floaty, petal-shaped overskirts that reveal the body line underneath...perfect for the informal bride.

Style note: Cascades of soft tiers look fresher than ruffles for spring.

A sense of whimsy

Among the continuing trends are:

• Bows, still cropping up at the shoulder, on a bustle. They're even newer in profusion—almost woven into a neckline or hem.

• Silk flowers as adornment on dress, blooming in pale pastels against white.

Fresh approaches to watch for include:

• Fabric rosettes—saucy new touches for dresses, hair, shoes.

• Butterflies—especially for the truly adventurous—such as a sheer butterfly delicately poised upon a shoulderful of flowers.

When you look your best, you feel your best

Color by Angela

A unique service offered to brides on their wedding day. Certified in color and make-up, Color by Angela will make you over using a unique line of seasonally coordinated cosmetics.

These cosmetics are designed to enhance your personal coloring and complete your total look. The service itself starts some time before your actual wedding date. An appointment will be scheduled at which time you will preview your wedding day make-over. On your wedding day, the make-up application will occur at your home, based on a color chart prepared at your preview. Thus, ensuring that the desired impression as pre-determined at the preview are realized. With all the fussing and nervousness on your wedding day, Color by Angela will give you added confidence on looking your best on that special day.

In addition, Color by Angela offers cosmetics and a color analysis service. This service will help discover all your best colors so that you look fantastic all the time. By determining your season (spring, winter, summer, fall), you will be able to create desired impressions and influence reaction of those around you by choosing certain colors.

Your crowning glory

Julius Caruso, New York's foremost hairdresser, who has been styling New York's society brides for more than 40 years, has the following tips for your big day:

* Consult your hairdresser at least one week before the event, and bring your veil.

* Keep your cut and style simple; an elaborate hairstyle detracts from the beauty of your dress and the day.

* Keep the style soft. All brides, no matter their age, should look "soft, shiny and sweet."

* Try and keep the length of your hair above shoulder length. It's simpler for both the wedding and the honeymoon.

* Avoid heavy hair sprays and mousses. This is a day you want your hair to be soft to the touch and to smell clean and fresh.

* Don't forget your bridesmaids. It's important for the whole bridal party to feel beautiful, and arranging appointments for everyone will make hairdressing easier and the whole party more attractive.

Origins of beloved customs lie in ancient marriage rites

It happens in every wedding: The bride and groom exchange rings. They share cake. The bride throws her bouquet. But do you know how these customs began?

THE BRIDE: A Celebration (Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), a new book by Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's magazine, reveals their sometimes surprising origins.

The bride throws her bouquet so an unmarried friend can "catch" some luck in romance, goes the modern explanation. But the custom actually started as a form of self-defense.

In times past, belief in the mystical value of a bride's adornments prompted friends and strangers alike to try to grab a piece of her outfit.

Eventually, some clever bride found that by flinging her flowers away from herself, the crowd would have something to fight over — and she would escape intact!

The wedding party originally served the serious purpose of protecting the bride and groom from the curses of evil-wishers. They dressed in clothes exactly like those of the bride and groom, so the identity of the happy couple was kept secret on the way to the church and until they were safely married.

The first piece of wedding cake is cut and eaten by the bride and groom as a carry-over from the time when the sharing of food or wine often was the marriage.

Teutons, for example, were considered wed after drinking mead together for 30 days. (The word bridal comes from bride-ale.)

The aisle runner protected the bride from evil spirits who, it was thought, lived below the ground. These demons were also feared to lurk around doorways, hence the bride is carried over the threshold of her new home.

Rice symbolizes the age-old hope that the couple would be as fruitful as the earth. In France, guests shower the bride and groom with wheat; in Morocco, with raisins, figs and dates.

People clink glasses when they toast the bride and groom in order to produce a bell-like sound. (Bells, it was believed, were repellent to the devil).

"The kiss" as a significant moment in the wedding dates from the Roman Empire. At that time, the betrothal ceremony consisted of a kiss and the exchange of rings, with the kiss being the actual legal bond.

The trousseau, or dowry, was actually an early form of life insurance, since it was meant to ensure that the bride could survive without her husband if the need arose.

We wear the wedding ring on the third finger of the left hand because the pharaohs of Egypt believed a vein, the "vena amoris," ran from that finger directly to the heart.

The honeymoon began, when, in ancient marriages by capture, the groom kept his bride in hiding to prevent searching relatives from finding her.

The word itself comes from the early Teutonic custom of couples drinking an aphrodisiacal honey drink for 30 days, or one cycle of the moon.

A PERENNIAL FAVORITE for wedding flowers, American grown roses symbolize the loving sentiments of the wedding day.

The significance of the diamond engagement ring

Since the turn of the century, the solitaire diamond ring has been the American engagement symbol. Even today, as many traditions are toppling, the diamond ring tradition is stronger than ever. Where did it begin and how did it evolve?

Jewelers of America, Inc. (JA), the national organization dedicated to consumer information and education about fine jewelry, offers the following historical notes about the engagement ring:

The ancient Romans were the first civilization to use finger rings as a sign of betrothal and marriage.

Solitaire rings were popular, as were bands of "opus interrasile," the Roman's technique of open-work chiselled from sheet gold (much like contemporary "filigree" designs), and rings similar to today's popular "eternity" ring with stones set all round a simple band.

However, it was not until 1477, when the Archduke Maximilian of Austria gave a diamond ring to Princess Mary of Burgundy, that the tradition of the diamond engagement ring began.

The reason a woman wears it on the third finger of her left hand is traced back to the early Egyptians who believed that the vena amoris (vein of love) ran directly from the heart to the top of the third finger, left hand.

The Greeks believed the fire in a diamond reflected the constant flame of love. The name "diamond" comes from the Greek word "adamas" meaning unconquerable. Is it any wonder that the diamond has come to symbolize the eternity of love?

This year, brides and grooms will spend over $1 billion on engagement and wedding rings. And, because the diamond engagement ring is usually the first piece of diamond jewelry a woman owns, it is important to solicit the assistance of an expert—your local jeweler—to counsel you about the qualities that should be considered when purchasing such a gift.

Diamond cuts as well as ring styles have changed throughout the years since Maximilian made his presentation to Princess Mary. Before the invention of the diamond saw in 1910, diamonds were polished to give them their shine. When the saw was used to break up the crystal, experts created optically efficient diamonds that held more brilliancy and dispersion than ever before possible.

Today, lasers enable diamonds to be cut not only as rounds, marquises, pears, ovals and rectangular shapes, but also to be fashioned into such unique designs as horse heads, stars and initials.

Styling changes have been subtle and gradual. In colonial days the engagement ring was a diamond hoop called the "keeper ring," because it was worn over the wedding band, acting as its "keeper." The next style was the cluster ring, designed like an old-fashioned bouquet with a rose (of rose-cut diamonds) in the center.

The Victorian rings were more ornate, sometimes using black enamel with gold in the diamond settings. Then came the princess ring, with three to five diamonds in a row across the finger. This was popular for many years, until the turn of the century and the introduction of the solitaire setting.

Whether you select a round or one of the "fancy" cuts, such as marquise or pear shapes, you should have your jeweler explain the importance of the "Four C's" which determine the quality of the gem—carat, color, clarity and cut:

- Carat—refers to the weight, and therefore the size, of the gem. One carat is divided into 100 points, so that a diamond of 150 points weighs 1.5 carats.

- Color—Totally colorless diamonds are very rare and represent the highest color grade. The various gradations, from exceptional white to yellowish, are barely perceptible to the untrained eye.

Occasionally, diamonds with strong colors such as green, red, blue and amber are recovered. These "fancy color" diamonds are rare, fetching commensurate prices.

- Clarity—refers to the degree to which a diamond is free of interior blemishes or inclusions. The size and position of inclusions affect the value of a stone according to whether they interfere with the passage of light through the diamond.

- Cut—The art of cutting a diamond is so refined that a precise mathematical formula was developed. It called for most stones to be cut with 58 facets, each placed at a precise angle to one another.

How much should you spend for this gift of love that lasts forever? Consider the fact that most of your purchases depreciate in value and may not even last over the years.

A diamond, on the other hand, has lasting value, will always be the enduring symbol of your love, and will surely become a family heirloom for generations to come. It can be remounted in another ring, pendant or pin in the future and enjoyed over and over again.

Jewelers of America (JA) recommends a two-month salary guideline, to allow you to purchase the biggest and best diamond that you can afford without straining your budget.
