

OVER THE LINE...

"Fuzz as we know it"

By Gregg Friedmann

Let's explore.

What should we explore? How about a tiny world we come in contact with daily.

Do I mean various types of microscopic creatures which lurk in the damndest places? No, although it does have tremendous commercial possibilities...

Do I mean vast, yet unexplained regions of the universe? Certainly not.

Then what in blazes do I mean?

O.K., I'll spill it. I'm talking about fuzz, and to be honest, I bet there's a lot of things about fuzz you didn't know.

For instance, (we'll call this "Fuzz Fact 1") the official dictionary definition (according to Webster's) of fuzz is "fine, light, particles of down, wool, etc."

Another important fact you should know (we'll call this "Fuzz Fact 2") is that even though fuzz is sometimes round, the term "fuzzball" is strictly reserved for the fungus which bursts and scatters dust. Also, the rolling of normally straight fuzz into balls is not an official sport (at least not yet).

But how does fuzz begin? It's not born, nor a benefit of spontaneous generation. It is my guess that fuzz is a result of friction on soft materials, such as cotton, etc. It is also my own personal theory that fuzz is somehow related to dust, but I haven't a clue as to how this can be proved.

Still, fuzz is everywhere. If you don't believe this, either remove a pair of tube socks at the end of a day, reach deep into your jeans pockets, or visit my room. (For this to make sense, you must know that my official title at home is "Mr. Fuzzball.") After either one is accomplished, you'll know. You'll know that fuzz is found in all climates, all regions of the world, and that it has the incredible ability to multiply.

It's been said that the insects will one day rule the Earth. If you ask me, fuzz should be able to give those little buggers a run for their money. Haven't you ever heard of the lost commandment, "Thou shall not underestimate the power of fuzz"? Well, believe it.

Hear me now, and believe me later—you'll appreciate this information some day, and if not, hey, it kept your interest for a few minutes, right?

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

If ever the significance of returning to public office experienced legislators with seniority prerogative rights it is being demonstrated in the instance of our State Senator Carmen Orechio's co-sponsored Senate bill 2281 calling for a $100 million fund to be portioned out on a population basis.

The Assembly, controlled by Republicans, wants to loan money to the state's strapped towns to help them pay for spiraling cost of garbage disposal having passed a bill creating a revolving $450 million fund. Leaders of the Senate led by Senate President John Russo (D-Ocean) and Senate President Pro Tem Carmen Orechio (D-Essex) contend that grants make more sense... if it is passed, compromise negotiations between the two legislative bodies would follow with the likelihood of a final agreement seen possible with more communities about the state facing the sad reality of huge hikes in property taxes inevitable to cover the increased costs of garbage removal.

Should the senate bill formula be accepted in a final compromise bill, Nutley would get a grant of $386,236, Bloomfield 631,453 and Belleville $476,938.

Senator Orechio said, "We decided a measure containing grants had to be introduced after hearing from so many mayors in hard pressed towns who told us that the Assembly loan program only put off the day of reckoning."

The Senate bill is part of three measures designed to ease property taxes. Orechio sponsored bill S1620, passed by the Senate March 3, provides $50 million to implement a state takeover of court costs. The third measure S405, sponsored by Senate Majority Leader John Lynch (D-Middlesex) provides $25 million for the state assumption of welfare costs which is now before the Senate Revenue Finance and Appropriations Committee.

Senator Orechio said, "If these measures come to fruition, property taxpayers will be given substantial relief that I believe to be absolutely necessary."

Senate President Russo, a co-sponsor of the grants measure, said the law specifies that municipalities must pass the relief along to all homeowners, right on their tax bills, whether homeowners pay private garbage haulers or depend on local governments to pick up their trash... "It's the fairest way, garbage costs have skyrocketed and all homeowners are feeling the pinch regardless of who hauls the trash away," said the Senate President.

If passed, the new legislation would guarantee $4.2 million to Newark, $2.9 million to Jersey City, $1.8 million to Paterson, $1.4 million for Elizabeth, $1.2 million for Trenton and an even $1 million for Camden.

Under the Assembly bill sponsored by Speaker Charles Hardwick $150 million would be made available each year for loans to hard hit communities. It was bitterly debated before going to a vote, and was approved 41 to 32, which suggests considerable sentiment exists in the Assembly for the Senate measure.

Assemblyman Joseph V. Doria, a Democrat of Bayonne, summed up the opposition when he said, "This just tries to make people think we are doing something when all we are really doing is passing a measure that will never see the light of day in the Senate."

There can be but little doubt that the Senate version is the most needed bit of legislation to salvage the dilemma of soaring taxes confronting the homeowners of every New Jersey community brought about by the closing of the garbage disposal sites which had been announced several years ago, yet the Kean Administration did nothing about it. WHY? Garbage incineration plants could have helped to ameliorate this situation, yet, nothing was done... results BENIGN NEGLECT.

Correction

In last week's issue it was reported the Department of Public Works would replace sidewalks after they cut roots that have ruined old blocks of sidewalk. This was incorrect; the D.P.W. will cut the roots but will not replace the sidewalk. The Times regrets the error.

Dancing his way to happiness

Dance moves may have come and gone but 75 year-old Wally Hewitt has kept in step with all of them. He has also helped countless others keep up with the everchanging glide and slide movements.

Hewitt, who has lived in Belleville for the past 20 years, teaches ballroom dancing in Nutley High School every Monday night, with one session for the young, at 8:30, and for senior citizens, at 7:30.

"I was dumbfounded to see so many young people," said Hewitt. "It's a trend, young people who are engaged or going steady come and do dances like the cha-cha and the swing."

To ensure the younger generation will not lose interest after the 10 week course, Hewitt is preparing a home video which will allow them to continue practicing while they wait for the fall class. He also hopes the added exposure due to the video will create a greater interest by the younger generation.

"This 'dirty dancing' may have gotten an interest in ballroom dancing," he said. "I'd like to see it mushroom."

"I haven't seen the movie, only parts of it on television," he said about the movie that has brought close dancing back in style. "It's a little sensuous, not like ballroom dancing, but it may have made young people more conscious of dancing."

Humble beginning

Hewitt has seen many different styles in his 55 years of teaching but ballroom remains his favorite, probably because that is what he grew up on. His teaching career began in Paterson, in of all places, the YMCA.

"The girls club had been pressing the Y to allow them in. To have something that both men and women could do they started dance classes. Next thing you know they were having splash parties and little by little it was accepted as co-ed."

He then opened his own studio, "Friendly Dance Studio," in Clifton teaching for the 35 years. When he gave up the studio and re-married 20 years ago, he moved to Belleville.

"You never retire because you

always do something for somebody," commented Hewitt. "In the 20 years I was single before I remarried I really pushed up my dancing."

He has taught students at Rutgers University a move or two also, which came as a shock to their parents. Hewitt said many parents were amazed when graduation parties were held and the graduates did the cha cha and the rumba instead of dancing to rock-n-roll.

The courses he teaches at Nutley High School consist of a fall and spring session, each lasting 10 weeks. He recalls five years ago receiving a dance course flyer in the mail that stated the instructor would be announced. Concluding correctly that the statement meant they had no teacher, Hewitt offered his services. During the summers he travels to the Poconos and teaches classes to vacationers.

Learned from watching

All of this from a man who never took a dance lesson in his life. Hewitt claims he learned from watching and practicing in dance halls around the area.

"I'm what you would call a street dancer, I learned to dance in ballrooms. If you saw somebody dancing and liked their steps you would pull them aside and give them some money and they would show you how to do the dance."

The man has rolled with the changes in dance during the past half-century, recalling how "Bus Stop" dancing and the Latin Hustle became popular in the disco days following "Saturday Night Fever."

"I like all rhythms," he said. "I used to go to 'Crackers' and dance all the time. The little girls were amazed that I could keep up."

Hewitt claims he will probably teach dance until "the end." On Tuesdays he teaches dance in Teaneck and Wednesday afternoons are spent in Mediam Park, passing on his 50 years of knowledge in the simplest form.

"One year at Rutgers I wrote on the blackboard the word 'slow' twice and under that 'quick' twice. There's nothing else to dancing, it revolves around slow and quick movements."

"Dancing makes people happy," Especially Hewitt.

Phone line rings up big bill

Jack DeOliveira is a 23 year-old, blind man who is separated from his wife and going through divorce proceedings. To get back in the mainstream and meet new people, DeOliveira called one of the many social phone lines that have been sprouting up throughout the country.

DeOliveira continued to call. And call. And call. Then he received his phone bill. For over $600, and that was low according to DeOliveira. Friends he has met on the phone line had bills ranging from his low figure to over $3,000 for one month.

"I wondered if they cut down a Redwood just for my bill," he said. "It's between 30 and 40 pages. It's like a manuscript."

DeOliveira admits part of the problem has been brought upon by himself, for he is the one who made the calls. However, he feels the lines, particularly the one he called, Kicks Line, take advantage of the callers and he has begun listing callers' bills on his computer so he can "get the company back for lying."

According to DeOliveira, he was told by an employee of Kicks Line, a subdivision of CMF Communications, once a person's bill was $200 the person was cut off from the line even in mid-conversation. He later found out employees have told others of limits of $250 and $800.

Line monitors

"They have line monitors who listen to the conversations and are supposed to cut off the line if a person gets obscene but they get involved," said DeOliveira. "This one girl, who said her name was 'Misty' but it was really Penelope, said she worked in a beauty salon on Long Island. I found out she worked for the company when she closed our lines so only the two of us could talk."

Penelope told DeOliveira of the limit and when he had not called for a day or two, she called him, according to DeOliveira. After repeated conversations with Penelope, DeOliveira and a friend double-dated with Penelope and a girlfriend. The women, after finishing their meal, left the two men, who had to pay the bill.

Once apparently wasn't enough for DeOliveira as he and his brother went out with a manager of the phone line and another employee. Once again he was stuck with the check, this one for close to $200. He said once the women were finished with dinner one said she had to make a phone call. A moment later the manager's beeper went off and she said she had to go to the phone. Neither woman returned.

"Blind or not, I saw that one coming," said DeOliveira. "They infiltrate your life, get what they can, and move along."

Not all bad

He pointed out he did not feel the concept of the phone line was completely wrong, saying he has met many new friends. He also said he realizes it is legal, but wondered if it was right.

"I started with this 'fad' on February 25 and talked for 10 days straight," he said. "It's worse than a cocaine habit, you have to choose the lesser of two evils."

"I lived a vampire's life," he continued. "From two o'clock in the afternoon to seven in the morning I would talk and from seven in the morning to two in the afternoon I would sleep."

CMF Communications, located in Oak Brook, Illinois, could not be reached for comment because they have an unlisted phone number. The manager of the New York City office could not be reached for comment because she was on vacation.

DeOliveira, who lives in Newark, said he does not have anyone on his bill list from Belleville but remembers talking to some people from town. He just wanted to make people aware of what is happening so what happened to him will not to someone else.

Living Well with Asthma— Guidelines for Exercise

An active, energetic lifestyle should be the goal of anyone with asthma, according to the medical staff of Clara Maass Medical Center. Research has shown that asthmatics can and should exercise—under a doctor's guidance.

Exercise—in addition to infections, stress, allergies, sudden changes of temperature, strong odors, and even laughter—can cause asthma. The bronchial passages constrict, or tighten, causing fits of coughing or difficulty in breathing.

The good news is that asthma is treatable. Through a combination of medication and gradually increased levels of exercise, an asthmatic or a person who suffers exercise-induced asthma can enjoy the pleasures and benefits of becoming fit.

At Clara Maass, we believe that asthmatics should exercise to improve their aerobic fitness and general well-being. The more exercise an asthmatic can tolerate, the less frequent and less serious the attacks will be.

The Respiratory Care team at Clara Maass recommends the following guidelines:

- ☐ See your doctor before starting any exercise program. Testing may be advisable to pinpoint the best approach.
- ☐ Take medication exactly as prescribed. Timing can be important.
- ☐ Warm up thoroughly before getting into the vigorous part of your exercise. In cold weather, wear a face mask or silk scarf around your face to warm and moisten the air before it reaches your bronchial passages.
- ☐ Keep asthma medications handy.
- ☐ Cool down gradually—for at least five minutes before resting.
- ☐ Enjoy the benefits of your exercise routine.

My Daily Prayer

If I can do some good today,
If I can serve along life's way,
If I can something helpful say,
Lord, show me how.

If I can right a human wrong,
If I can help to make one strong,
If I can cheer with smile or song,
Lord, show me how.

If I can aid one in distress,
If I can make a burden less,
If I can spread more happiness,
Lord, show me how.

Getting the county land?

The rumor is out. Essex County Executive Nicholas Amato is considering transferring the patients from the Geriatrics Center on Franklin Avenue to Cedar Grove and leasing the property, most likely to Belleville which will use the land for senior citizen housing, apparently.

Though Amato refused to comment on the concept, two reasons were given for the transfer, saving operating costs for the county and receiving money from the leaser, most notably Belleville. For whatever the reason, apparently, hopefully the town will receive the land and put it to good use.

At its March 22 meeting the Belleville Board of Commissioners passed a resolution asking Amato and the county freeholders for any county owned land in Belleville. The original resolution asked for the Geriatric Center property but the final resolution became more general. Obviously, Amato had heard about the proposal beforehand and has been concentrating on what can be done. Apparently a solution has been reached.

One stubbling block is the county psychiatric hospital in Cedar Grove would rather not take in the 325 elderly patients from Belleville unless the facility is upgraded, or so said Regina Palo, president of Concerned Families for Improved Mental Health Services and Arnold Rabin, executive director of the Mental Health Association of Essex County. This upgrading would have to take place nonetheless because in March an inspection team both the staff and the conditions must be improved if the county wished to continue to receive its federal and state reimbursements. So the work must be done and why renovate and improve two facilities when one would be sufficient. It makes sense doesn't it?

So it appears the resolution has worked and within a short period of time, Belleville will have land to build an added senior citizen complex. It seems as if that is the only way for Amato, the county, and the town to go.

Budget allocations flawed

Listening to the Board of Commissioners and Board of Education try to come to a workable solution regarding the school budget, one glaring problem with state school aid has been exposed. It seems the more affluent the community, the less aid it receives, which in concept makes sense but in practice is flawed.

It is flawed because of the way a community becomes more affluent; through its education system. The better the schools in town, the higher real estate values are in that town. Such is the case in Belleville as the district has been losing state aid year after year, which in turn causes the taxable portion to increase. When you add that increase to the property tax increase which occurs because the assessed value of the land has risen due to the increase in the school system, many residents can no longer afford to live in Belleville and will be forced to move.

As more people move away and the remainder reject the budget the school system will ultimately suffer. As the school system deteriorates, the more aid the town will receive, and less money will have to be raised through taxes. In a sense the state is rewarding failure, saying "We'll help you but you first have to suffer." They wouldn't suffer if the aid remained at a constant. It becomes a catch-22, you need aid and funding to have a successful school system but once a successful school system is achieved the aid and funding stops.

A solution is difficult to come by, perhaps basing aid on the amount of students in a district, thereby creating a more steady way to fund all the systems in the state. But that has its difficulties also, as certain school systems will be head and shoulders above other districts. The reasoning behind the present system is to create a similar learning environment for all the districts in the state, so no one system is greatly superior than another. However, as it stands right now it is a case of the rich getting richer, the poor getting aid to become rich and the middle class once again holding the bag. An empty bag.

YOUR OPINION

Waiting for traffic light

To the editor:

Today I had the unexpected honor of meeting your brother, Carmen, at the Open House at the Community Mental Health Center Partial Care floor.

I was just about to leave for home when he stopped off with his associates to visit the Clerical Newsletter group. He asked me whether Mrs. Ruth Schlissel and I were related. He thought her name was Gottschalk. He recognized me by my article about the traffic light in the Times. I smiled and straightened him out on a few pointers and also gave him a tour of the clerical room. He was very impressed and also liked the newsletter issue and bulletin board. I spoke to Ruth and she wanted to know whether he mentioned anything about the traffic light. I said no, because I had to leave for home before I could ask him. This is the reason why I am writhing.

This is an open question to Senator Orechio:

"When will we get the light in front of Pathmark? How many people have to be seriously hurt or killed crossing the street there? There isn't even a guard to direct the traffic.

Please help. We are desperate for an answer and some results. What would you do or say if one of your own people was hurt, or worse, a close member of your own family, like a son, daughter, or relative?!

Sen. Orechio, I have some news regarding Mrs. Schlissel. She just came out of the hospital with a bad infection of the knees. The infection weakened the right arm and fingers and it's difficult for her to hold the telephone receiver. She uses a walker to get around in the house and cannot go out or use the car until she's strong enough. She asked me to tell you this: Ruth will not give up the fight to get a traffic light. Neither will I or her friends. It is we, who garnished the 1,300 signatures last year. Nothing was done, even after the election. Please, I repeat, we need help fast.

Regarding that piece of land in the Valley that Ralph Risoli wanted to purchase for $3,300.

What could he use it for, a large doghouse to house 4 or 5 dogs? C'mon! Quit your kiddin! And please watch your grammar. Due to he who is a relative. Oh, really!

Pearl Gottschalk

Shrinks for canines?

To the editor:

It is a shame, indeed, New Jersey's animal health insurer does not provide psychiatric coverage for our canine population.

It seems to me - a few weeks of "Pavlovian Therapy" could very well transform such vicious species of dogs as the pit-bull, into - pussycats.

Contributions accepted

To the editor:

The members of the Belleville High School Vocational Advisory Council are reaching out to the business community for assistance in helping our graduating vocational students achieve their career goals.

We are all aware of the high cost of post high school education and training. In past years business and individuals have helped to provide scholarships to vocational students who have demonstrated a genuine interest in and the potential to successfully complete this advanced education and training. In May of each year a Scholarship/Scholastic Awards Dinner is held at Belleville High School in order to formally present and acknowledge scholarships as well as other academic awards.

Your contribution to the Vocational Scholarship Fund will help a Belleville High School vocational student achieve his or her career goals. Contributions of $100 or more can be given in the name of your company. Funds received under this amount will be placed in the general Vocational Scholarship Fund and given out at the end of the year to a deserving student.

Any questions regarding the establishment of an individual scholarship or contributions to the Vocational Scholarship Fund should be addressed to Victor De Pauw, Related Arts Supervisor at 450-3464. Checks should be made payable to the "Belleville High School Vocational Scholarship Fund."

The Belleville High School Advisory Council would like to express their sincere thanks to Vacumax and First Jersey National Bank of Belleville, for starting our campaign with their generous contributions.

Proposal for budget cuts

To the editor:

As a citizen who has consistently been watchful of the tax burden of our township, the prospects of a $2,412,870 increase in tax levy for just the Board of Education budget concerns me deeply. That's the equivalent of a 54 tax point increase and equates to about a $270 increase in taxes to the typical $50,000 assessed value home in Belleville.

While I am fully supportive of spending every necessary dollar available to provide a quality thorough and efficient education for our children, I am convinced something must be done about this amount of increase in a single year.

Therefore, having been on the budget committee of the NUTLEY, N.J. — Tuesday, New Jersey officials warned serious problems are on the horizon for us due to low spring rain falls which posed a double threat of possible water shortage and potential forest fires. Because of the vision of Nutley and Bloomfield officials, a threatened water shortage should not affect either municipality. They took out insurance against dry spells by investing in a piece of the Wanaque South Water Project which gave both communities permanent ownership in probably the last water project to be developed for northern New Jersey. Nutley is assured of three million gallons a day. Bloomfield can rely upon its additional two million gallons per day, by being a partner in the Wanaque South Project.

TUESDAY we learned that a sixteen-year-old high school junior killed himself with a gun he had taken to school, despondent over a break-up with his girlfriend and influenced by heavy metal rock music, according to authorities. Officials believe the music might have been an influence, leading to the suicide. The cassette tape found on the body of the victim included a track entitled "Suicide Solution."

The chances are this sixteen-year-old probably was not a member of a Scout troop. One of the answers to juvenile delinquency and juvenile weaknesses is membership in the Boy Scouts of America. Scouting develops character and good habits. Scouting develops respect for one's self and ways and means to survive under the most adverse conditions. Scouting develops leadership at age 12.

While this youth's tragedy focuses attention on the influence of music upon the young minds, I would like to focus attention upon the influence of Scouting upon young minds.

I strongly believe Scout membership of the young is a deterrent to juvenile delinquency. It will help keep the young of our nation on the straight and narrow — avoiding the use of drugs — and alcohol — both killers.

The Orechios are adopting Washington School, our Alma Mater, as our scouting project. We plan to do everything in our power to induce the young students of Washington School to participate in Scout activity. When we attended Washington School sixty years ago, the invitation to join was never extended to us — and we feel sad about that. The opportunity to be a Cub Scout comes once in a lifetime — but the opportunity must be offered — and encouraged. We plan to assist the tri-town "Yanticaw Scout District" area to build up its Scout membership among the young of our communities. Future editions of this newspaper will reveal plans that offer opportunity for every resident of all three communities to participate in this determined effort to provide our youth with an alternative activity to the road to ruin.

A sage once wrote a salute to a Scoutmaster: It's worthwhile reading and repeating:

In almost every community in America, you will find this man.

He is engaged in one of the most exciting tasks known, he works with boys —

And in case you haven't worked with youngsters lately, they are still the most energetic, imaginative, enthusiastic animals ever to grace the earth.

He is an indoor worker who teaches how to get along in the outdoors.

He is a practicing expert in the multi-variety of minute-sized details.

He arms his charges with ideals, tents, cooking utensils and fervor, and guides them into adventure to prepare them for life ahead.

He leads boys by arousing their enthusiasm until they run ahead of time to do the job.

He comforts them in perilous times with his presence and stability.

He teaches citizenship by letting them run a camp in the wilderness.

And if he quits, moves away or dies, his is one of the most difficult jobs to fill. Yet, if he does his job well, his only pay will be the deep personal satisfaction of knowing that he has contributed immeasurably to developing the kind of citizen that we consider ideal.

A strong man, who knows where he is going, and an extremely popular man in the eyes of the future generation —

That is the Scoutmaster.

U.S. SENATOR FRANK LAUTENBERG launched his re-election campaign this week declaring he will run on his six-year record. Lautenberg is a Nutley High School graduate and lived in the towns of Belleville and Nutley during some of his growing up years. He has travelled the road of hard knocks — knows what it is to be poor — knows what it is to be the target of discrimination — knows what it is to be persecuted — and knows what it takes to be successful. Lautenberg is an example of what America is all about — Lautenberg's life represents the fulfillment of the American dream. His accomplishments offer a message to the youth of our state — the neglected, the poor and the hopeless — that in America perseverance and hard work go a long way towards success.

DOES life begin at 70? Let's take a look at some of the records: Between the age of 70 and 83, Commodore Vanderbilt added about $100 million to his fortune. Kant, at 74, wrote his Anthropology, Metaphysics of Ethics and Strife of the Faculties. Tintoretto at 74, painted the Vast Paradise, a canvas 74' x 30'. Verdi, at 74, produced his masterpiece "Othello," at 80, "Falstaff," and at 85, the famous "Ave Maria," "Stabat Mater" and "Te Deum." Oliver Wendell Holmes, at 79, wrote "Over the Teacups." Cato, at 80, began the study of Greek. Goethe, at 80, completed "Faust." Tennyson, at 83, wrote "Crossing the Bar." Titian, at 98, painted his historical picture of the Battle of Lepanto.

Like Oliver Wendell Holmes once said, "To be 70 years young is sometimes far more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old."

This past Sunday, attorney Clive Cummins and his wife, Anne, hosted a party at their Llewellyn Park home presenting Lucinda and Jim Florio to their 100 guests. In attendance were Sheriff Tom D'Alessio and wife, Susan, Willy Brown, the Democrat Minority Leader, Don Payne, the candidate for Congress to replace Rodino, Mr. & Mrs. Phil Keegan and Mr. & Mrs. Dan Gaby.

WITH a volume of talk about Aids these days, one wonders if the common use of the "hot tub" is a potential for the transmission of Aids, especially if it is not well maintained.

NUTLEY SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION is converting to a more efficient computer system as of May 23, 1988. The changeover necessitates the mailing of two statements in May.

man books, a Burnese book crafted from palm leaves, engraved with a sharp instrument called a stylus, a Babylonian tablet of cuneiform writing of 2000 B.C., and an ancient Egyptian papyrus, on which the Egyptians wrote.

Also on display is a Japanese brush, ink stick and slab. Until recent times, the Japanese did not use pens and pencils, but did their writing with a brush, using rich black ink. This brush stroke writing added beauty to the characters.

In addition, a yotate, penholder is on display. In India, business was carried on in the streets. Among the tradespeople sat the scribe, who carried his pen and ink for writing in a yotate or penholder.

The exhibit can be viewed during Library hours.

RELIGIOUS VIEWPOINT

Gerald Fortunato, Pastor
Silver Lake Baptist Church

When you have been wronged

While most of us believe we are obedient to the Scriptures, in at least one respect many of us, I think, frequently act in a way that obviously violates the clear instruction of God's Word. And I do not recall ever having heard a Christian confess and repent of this particular evil.

Matthew 18:15 says, "If your brother sins against you, go and show him his fault, just between the two of you." The verse speaks of those occasions when we have been treated unjustly by another individual. Perhaps that person has said something untrue about us. Perhaps we have received from him or her a slight or cutting remark or unfair criticism. We may feel that a member of our family has been treated improperly. We may see that individual as wrongly opposed to something we are trying to do. Perhaps that other person has really attempted to do us harm.

Matthew 18:15 does not specify a particular kind of wrongful action, so all offenses which we suffer from another person are included in the purview of this text. What we are to do when we are so offended is very clearly stated. We are to go to that individual to discuss the matter and no one else. Only later, if there can be no satisfactory resolution of the difficulty, is anyone else to be informed and involved (Matthew 18:16).

Almost all of us react differently. We go first to someone else to complain that we have been mistreated — not to the individual who offended us.

Moreover we are to go with a conciliatory spirit to the individual who has wronged us. The second half of Matthew 18:15 says, "If he listens to you, you have won your brother over." A commentary explains, "You do not go to your brother to establish your own right, to break his will and to bend his neck to admit he was wrong, but to gain him." We approach the other individual not with condemnation but with forgiveness.

Very often we find that there has been misunderstanding. Most often we will be able to clear up the point of disagreement and the matter will be ended. Frequently after an honest confrontation those who have previously been at odds with each other become fast friends.

Admittedly it is not easy to confront individuals who have said or done things harmful to us. It is certainly not easy to go to such people with forgiveness and love. But God's way of dealing with those who have done us wrong is best.

We may be hurt and angered at the sin of an unjust action or word of another person toward us. But we must not sin by the way we respond.

Pastor Gerald Fortunato
Silver Lake Baptist Church

Ten Commandments to make yourself miserable

- I must be liked by everybody for everything I do or say.
- I cannot be happy unless everything is exactly the way I want it to be.
- All unhappiness I suffer is always caused by external events or other people, and I am only the victim.
- It is wiser for me to avoid life's difficulties than to face them and deal with them.
- I should be thoroughly knowledgeable and competent in all situations or I am a failure in life.
- Because a negative experience happened to me at one time in my life, I shall forever be defeated by it.
- I must have certain and complete control over all people and events in my life, or chaos will result.
- I must put my happiness and comfort at the top of my priority list in order to live a fulfilled life.
- I must compare and contrast myself with other people in order to know if I'm successful or not.
- I must have certainty of success before I ever attempt anything.

The Gospel of God's grace to us in Jesus Christ is the antidote to all these "commandments."

THE PLACEBO EFFECT

It has been observed that, when given an inactive substance, some patients will display an observable effect. This is called the "placebo effect." The word "placebo" is derived from the Latin word that means "to please." The placebo effect demonstrates just how great the role of the mind is in overall health. Just the expectation of better health is enough to actually cause a turn in that direction in some people. In comparative medical studies, placebos are given to one group of patients, while an experimental drug is given to another. Neither group knows which substance it is getting. Researchers then chart the effectiveness of the experimental drug against the effect of the placebo.

You know you'll get the finest of service when you come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. We have a complete prescription department, handle the sale and rental of convalescent aids and stock over-the-counter medications. HANDY HINT:

In some cases, the placebo effect can be so strong that a person will become addicted to a placebo.

New park benches on Franklin Ave.

People walking on Franklin Avenue this summer in the hot sun, can find rest and relaxation on the corner of Franklin and Chestnut Street as two new, blue and gold benches have been installed after the town cleaned the Belleville-owned lot.

"People had been complaining about it (the lot)," said Commissioner of Public Works Angelo Risoli. "They said it looked like a mess."

With that Public Works and Parks and Public Property workers embarked on beautifying the corner. Ten dead trees were cut down and removed and replaced with 32 loads of dirt and approximately 15 loads of woodchips. The park has killed two birds with one stone.

"We have a problem getting rid of dirt and we have trouble getting rid of wood chips," commented Risoli.

According to Risoli garbage containers will be placed next to the benches. He also said the owner of the apartment complex next to the corner was told to tear down a shack on the property.

GETTING USED QUICKLY — Frank Jablonski relaxes and reads the paper on a new park bench, as commissioners Angelo Risoli and Vincent Frantantoni look on.

THE WANDERING TROUBADOUR — O. T. Zappo of Belleville will be singing and playing his guitar at Waterloo Village for the Arts and Crafts Festival.

Resident to perform in Waterloo arts festival

A puppeteer captivating youngsters with imaginative creatures acting out magical scenarios; a storyteller weaving fantastic tales, and a wandering troubadour strolling through the crowd — all these will add a special excitement to the Waterloo Arts and Crafts Festival, Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1, from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., at historic Waterloo Village in Stanhope.

The festival of creativity, a benefit for the Waterloo Foundation, will showcase an array of exquisite handmade crafts and fine art, outdoors under tents. The Stella Show Management Company is coordinating the highly anticipated event.

From Noon to 4 p.m., O.T. Zappo, of Belleville, the Wandering Troubadour, will serenade the thousands on hand for the exciting Waterloo Arts and Crafts Festival. A strolling singer-guitarist, who has been performing for more than 10 years in coffee houses, restaurants and nightclubs, Zappo's repertoire spans tunes from the old west, Latin melodies, old-time favorites, songs of the sea and contemporary music.

Musical interludes will also be provided by East Side Dave and the Pine Ridge Boys, a blue grass band, performing from 1 to 5 p.m. Harmony, Grits and Jam will play jug band music from noon to 3 p.m. both days as well.

Shortage of blood in area

A blood drive will be held today at Belleville High School and as the summer quickly approaches it seems imperative that as many people give as possible.

According to the North Jersey Blood Center, headquartered in East Orange, there is an almost constant shortage of blood, particularly during the summer.

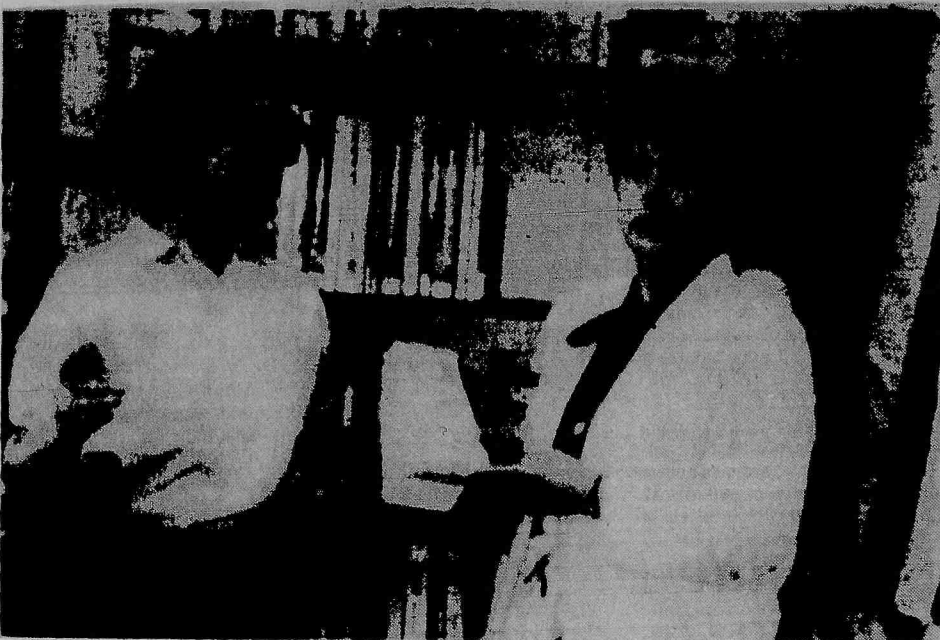

"During the summer there aren't too many drives," said Sue Kemper of the Blood Center, "and people aren't as interested in coming to East Orange to give blood. They usually go out of the house and go to the shore."

To help increase the blood supply a Memorial Day program is held and the Center is in the process of increasing the number of drives, even though many organizations still do not hold drives due to the lack of manpower during the summer months. According to Kemper the Belleville Chamber of Commerce may hold a drive in an effort to increase the supply.

That is what makes today's drive important, as the summer is quickly approaching and the school year is coming to a close. However, the summer is not the only difficult period for the Blood Center.

"During the winter we have trouble," said Kemper. "Because of the weather people have colds and you can't give blood when you're sick. Plus if it snows or conditions are very bad we have to close the drive."

This is not to say it is a lost cause for the Blood Center. Tuesday afternoon a luncheon was held honoring donors who have given over five gallons of blood and there were 500 in attendance, according to Kemper. The organization has approximately 1,600 donors in the Northern New Jersey area, she said.

LIBRARY DISPLAY — Nutley Library is featuring a display on Recovery, Inc. to highlight the theme, "May is mental health month". From left, Mia Daire, Nutley Recovery leader and Susan Persak, library director. Recovery is a self help group formed to encourage individuals to deal with their anxieties. They meet Wednesday evenings at the Parks and Recreation Building, 44 Park Street.

"We usually make an appeal," said Kemper when asked what happens when the supply becomes critical. "People have to be reminded to come out. Part of the problem is just having people remember."

Another part of the problem seems to have been overcome, and that is the fear of getting the AIDS virus when giving blood. Kemper said some people are now coming back, realizing there is no risk of catching the disease when giving blood.

"We use sterile gloves and use needles only once, then throw them away," commented Kemper.

As for preparing for giving blood, Kemper said it should be treated as if it were any other day, almost. She said a person should eat before giving blood but stay away from fatty foods. Afterwards the donor is given a snack and some orange juice and is observed to make sure the donor is not feeling weak.

"Most people have absolutely no problem going back to what they do," said Kemper, "but others who have more hazardous occupations should take it easy."

With so many members it doesn't appear as though there should be a problem with the supply, but as Kemper noted, "there are so many hospitals and so many patients."

So many patients who need blood.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Mrs. Z. of Nutley asks, "Could chewing incorrectly cause my stomach to get upset?" The first place of digestion Mrs. Z. is in the mouth. Mechanically the food is broken down to smaller pieces. If by chewing incorrectly is meant that you are often swallowing large pieces of food then the burden is placed on the stomach. Nature intended our teeth to break the food down to small enough pieces so that the chemical action from our saliva & stomach secretion can further degrade the food on a molecular level. If you are having an upset stomach from too much acid being secreted by your stomach then quite possibly this could be related to your efficiency in chewing. I suggest you consult your physician or a gastroenterologist to make sure no medical problem exists. Thank you for your inquiry

Belleville photographer pictures a new Newark

Newark, N.J. is a much maligned city in the process of shaking off its bad memories and bum raps. The rubble and half-demolished buildings that have been languishing eyesores for over two decades are being replaced by new housing and businesses. The failed and infamous high rise housing projects are giving way to modern townhouses. Newark airport is expanding at record rates. Corporations, developers and government are all making unprecedented commitments and investments in Newark. The city is on the move. And it's citizens have a new, positive outlook on their future. It was in this new spirit of rebirth and pride that 28 photographers spent the 24 hours of September 10, 1987 creating a photo-documentary portrait of that day in Newark. Inspired in part by other recent photo projects such as "A Day In The Life of America," the effort became "Newark, A Day In The City."

Not all the photographers who volunteered for the project are from Newark. One of them lives in Belleville. He is Lawrence Cocco, a longtime resident.

"I heard about it through an article in the 'Star Ledger,'" said Cocco. "The project was such an exciting, vital idea that I called right up to join the group. I was lucky enough to be the last photographer allowed to participate."

Cocco is a freelance photographer/artist. His menu of talents and experiences includes still photographer, video cameraman/production coordinator/editor, writer, radio disc jockey and announcer.

"I grew up in Belleville near the Newark border," he says. "I went to Essex Catholic High School and had a lot of friends and family in Newark. It had a definite influence on me. I'd gotten real tired of the bad press Newark always gets and I jumped at the chance to help publicize the renaissance going on now in the city. Neither I nor any of the photographers involved were paid anything. We all did it as a 'labor of love.'"

The 28 photographers fanned out over Newark's five wards that day. Some of the shooting was planned, a lot of it was spontaneous. For Cocco, his day began at one minute after midnight and ended at 9:30 p.m. Sacred Heart Cathedral, Branch Brook Lake, the Farmer's Market, North Ward Cultural Center, the downtown area, everywhere he went he found usual and unusual photographs of people. Young and old, black and white, at work or relaxing, they all had one thing in common. A new sense of pride long absent in the citizens of New Jersey's largest city.

"I've done editorial photography for almost ten years. This was the most difficult and simultaneously the most rewarding assignment of my career. I shot until I was exhausted," Cocco said.

The group effort paid off. The resulting collection of photographs has already been exhibited at such prestigious galleries as the Schomberg Center in Manhattan and at Cornell University.

The main exhibitions opens May 12, 6:30 p.m. at the New Jersey Institute of Technology in Newark. Approximately 150 photographs, black and white and color, will be displayed, representing work from each of the respective artists. The project has attracted regional and national attention and the opening is expected to be well attended by the media.

"Channel 7's World of Photography had a television crew shooting all over Newark that day," said Cocco. "The interview of some of the photographers, including myself, and the show will be broadcast next month. We also made the news on Channel 7 that evening."

The project has been funded in part by Eastman Kodak, Prudential Insurance, City of Newark, and Tricolor Labs, to name a few.

After the exhibit at NJIT, the show will move on to Glassboro State College and to various locations in Newark. A national tour is also being considered if funding is made available. The group of photographers has been approached about doing similar "Day In The City" projects in other New Jersey cities and possibly in other states and countries.

Housing applications

Mayor Michael P. Pizzi has announced expanded efforts to encourage residents of the Valley neighborhood in Belleville to apply for grants or loans under the Balanced Housing Neighborhood Preservation Program. Applications and information may be secured at the Mayor's Office in Town Hall or by calling 450-3344 weekdays between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Designed to preserve and improve housing, this program is sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs. The Essex County Division of Housing and Community Development operates the preservation project in cooperation with the Township Board of Commissioners. Mayor Pizzi indicates the response by Belleville residents during the winter has fallen below expectations. "It's an ideal way to rehab homes for senior citizens, retired persons or families with low or moderate income," said Pizzi.

"Grants and low interest loans up to $15,000 are available to homeowners meeting income guidelines and residing between Mill Street and Joralemon Street and Washington Avenue and the Passaic River. Spring is the perfect time for home improvement and we are looking to assist as many Valley residents as possible," concluded Pizzi.

Belleville High sets student dress code

It is the purpose of this dress code to promulgate a positive self-image and pride in school among our students. Their health, safety and educational well-being are the primary objectives of this code, which bears a reasonable relationship to the goal of fostering an environment conducive to discipline and to education. Specifically, clothing which is ripped, holey and / or soiled is inappropriate school attire. Undergarments are required. Shirts must be buttoned. Shoes which grip the toe and heel must be worn at all times.

The following are considered inappropriate for school attire:

- 1. Clothing that is too tight so as to inhibit movement and/or cause classroom distraction
- 2. Off-the-shoulder, strapless and spaghetti-strap tops, dresses or jumpsuits
- 3. Midriff (cut-off) shirts that Cozzarelli pointed out over the last few years anticipated revenue has been between $200,000 and $250,000 every year. Anticipated revenue is money accumulated from CD's and investments. Miele said the rates for these financial endeavors has been going down.

Cozzarelli also discussed tuition fees, saying in the 1986-87 year the board anticipated $25,000 while actually receiving $35,000. For next year the board anticipated only $6,500. Nardiello response was three special education students from Nutley had been attending Belleville schools but only one will return next year. When Cozzarelli noted the figure was less than one third of the $35,000 he was told there are different classifications of special education.

Nabbing the culprits

By Gregg Friedmann 25 YEARS AGO

April 25, 1963...Neither Belleville nor Nutley could come away with the "w" in the Miss Cherry Blossom Pageant, as it went to Andra Gale Demko from Irvington.

Slick detective work by two teams of Belleville police ended with the arrest of four former students who had robbed and vandalized the James Shawger School on Saturday. A broken wine bottle under a basement window yielded fingerprints as well as solid evidence, and the group later signed confessions in police headquarters.

Last Friday, high winds rattled windows in Belleville, fanned some brush fires, and flipped an ice cream truck on its side on Route 21. The driver suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Meanwhile, 20 Belleville High students received academic scholarships from the State Scholarship Commission. Last week four of BHS's top math students competed in a field of 530 at Rutgers University.

A month ago, there was a bare field. However, a month later, the basement of the new high school auditorium stood erect, and residents had to be pleased with the progress.

More than 1000 Boy Scouts from the Newark and Belleville area would pitch their tents and test their skills in Branch Brook Park in a three-day event beginning Friday afternoon.

The records of Tommy Dorsey, Frank Sinatra, Nat "King" Cole, and others were available at Nunzio's Music Center this week at the sale price of a mere $.99...a bargain from yesterday.

Letters to the Editor

Proposal for budget cuts

Board of Education for three years, two of which I served as committee chairman, I felt obligated to apply the budgeting experience I had gained, with my business experience and accounting training to see if I could not soften this potential 54 tax point, $270 increase by doing an in-depth analysis of the Board of Education finances.

My proposal, if adopted, would save the taxpayers of Belleville $750,000, approximately 17 tax points, or about $85 per household, and it achieves my goal of doing so WITHOUT a single dollar reduction in classroom programs, extra-curricular programs, faculty, and student supplies. As a matter of fact, it adds $15,000 to the textbook appropriation which had been projected with a $5,000 reduction from $90,000 to $85,000.

There are four essential parts to my proposal:

1. Appropriate $575,000 from the surplus account which now stands projected to be $1,212,000 on 6-30-88; this will leave about $637,000 or the equivalent of just over 3% of the Current Expenses. This will reduce tax levy by $575,000.

2. Revise the projected Investment Interest Revenue from $90,000 to $190,000 to more accurately reflect past earnings experience and the fact that a larger fund of monies will be available for investment. This will save $100,000 in tax levy.

3. Change the handling of our Legal Services to a "Pay-as-you-go-basis." Eliminate the $10,000 retainer, the required attendance at all board meeting and negotiating sessions. Reverse legal questions for the private executive sessions or to timely written correspondence and pay for it at a $90 hourly rate. After one year, when the normal legal expense of the school district can be ascertained, advertise for professional proposals for a flat annual legal fee for all services. This will save another $40,000 in tax levy.

4. Eliminate the second (part-time) Assistant Superintendent's position which had been eliminated only a few years ago when our student population was about 800 students greater than it is now. Re-assign the duties of elementary curriculum development to the principal of School No.9 as it was before. This will save $20,000 (salary, secretarial overtime and faculty stipend for acting principal) in tax levy.

Eliminate the Assistant to the Board Secretary position. This will save $30,000 (plus benefits) from tax levy.

These four proposal elements simply employ the concepts of transferring "rainy day" surplus (monies for which we were already taxed) to immediate use, thereby reducing the need for additional taxes and eliminating wasteful or unnecessary positions and expenses.

Help 'Meals on Wheels'

To the editor:

S.O.S. - S.O.S. - S.O.S. - The state of New Jersey has found within their heart to allocate more money to the Essex County Food Nutrition Program, more commonly known by the undersigned as "Meals on Wheels." In order to qualify for extra monies, I have to form a committee of approximately six volunteers, consisting of men or women, their main function being to visit some of the incapacitated people who are confined to their homes. Just one or two hours a week is all that is needed for this worthy cause. The main work is currently being done by volunteers who go out and deliver the meals Monday through Friday. The new monies will be allocated to this additional program. It is on the weekends that these people have absolutely no contact with anybody and we don't know if they have even eaten a meal. For instance, one of our recipients is a blind woman, who has no contact with anybody and we simply would like someone to visit them. All we need now are volunteers. If interested please phone the telephone number listed below and ask for Jackie Rega. The state will pay the cost of the gas that is used for your car during these visits. You know folks this is a rewarding experience and I believe, if you are physically fortunate enough to be able to help in this worthy cause, then I feel the purpose of you being healthy is to help others less fortunate than you.

Sincerely yours,
Jackie Rega

Praises for Clara Maass

To the editor:

I just had to tell someone what royal treatment I received at Clara Maass Hospital. First of all, it started in the labor room. The nurses there are trained professionals who really care; I mean down to the very last detail. They comfort you with affection and most of them are mothers themselves so they know what you are feeling. The nurses in the nursery are absolutely the most efficient loving people I ever met. They helped me get started nursing my new baby. Their efforts went above and beyond their duties. The nurses on the floor helped me recover smoothly from post-partum depression, which I didn't even realize was happening. How can I put in words how wonderful they made my stay there. This is my second child and I didn't expect it to be so wonderful.

My three day stay at Clara Maass was topped off with an elegant dinner for two in their dining room which was filet mignon and cheesecake. My compliments to whoever is in charge. They surely are a four star hospital when it comes to their maternity ward!

Undoubtedly, I'd advise anyone expecting a baby to seriously consider this hospital.

Sincerely,
Michele Russomanno

Cameron third in exhibition

WINNERS — of the Montclair Crafter's Guild Scholarship Craft Exhibition are Gia Konopacki, left, of Cranford and Laura Cameron, center, of Belleville. They received their awards from guild president Cathy Comins. Cameron placed third, and Konopacki placed first in the competition. The awards were made in recognition of excellence in a crafts field and to assist the students in their continuing education.

The Montclair Crafter's Guild recently presented $1,200 in awards to the winners of its Scholarship Craft Exhibition. Gia Konopacki, of Cranford, won the $500 first place award for her work in metal; Pam Dilyannis of Passaic Park, received the second place award of $400 for her ceramic pieces, and a potter, Laura Cameron, of Belleville, took the third place prize of $300. All three winners are students in the School of Fine and Performing Arts at Montclair State College. The awards were made in recognition of excellence in a crafts field and to assist the students in continuing their education.

This is the third year the Montclair Crafter's Guild has sponsored the undergraduate competition and exhibit. This year's winners were selected from nine Montclair State College students participating in the show by Cathy Comins, president of the Montclair Crafter's Guild; Guild members, Jutta Walter and Marie Donnelly, and Montclair Art Museum Curator of Education Janet Cooke.

The exhibit was coordinated by the Arts Council of the Essex Area, Richardson Hall, Room 237, Montclair State College. For further information, call the Arts Council, 744-1717.

WE GIVE YOU THE CREAM.

NOT THE SKIM.

Some newspapers don't get read — they get skimmed. Readers skim the headlines, the pictures, the ads. Not in The Nutley Sun, Belleville Times or Bloomfield Life. They are not filled with "canned" material like many newspapers. No photos from Lebanon, no syndicated columns from Washington, no wire service stories from other far-off places. Our papers are filled every week with local stories and pictures about local people and local happenings. No wonder they're so well read. We give you the cream, not the skim.

Belleville firm one of 18 contractors named on list of quality vendors

A Belleville firm is among 18 defense contractors named by the Defense Electronics Supply Center in its initial list of quality vendors. The DESC action sets in motion a new program which will permit the center to weigh product quality and delivery as well as price when awarding contracts for electronic components.

DESC, the principal Department of Defense procurement activity for electronic spare parts, announced plans for a quality vendor program in 1987 and invited interested firms to apply. For the past several months, the center has reviewed the applications and performance records of responding companies to determine their qualifications for the program. The latter group of 18 firms represents the first in an ongoing series of selections DESC expects to make. Among those qualifying was Spencer Industries, Inc., 60 Holmes Street, Belleville. The company will be working on antennas and waveguides, along with three other companies.

Under the program, contractors who demonstrate they have provided DESC with dependable quality and delivery may be eligible for procurement awards even when their offer is as much as 20 percent over a low bidder not classified as a quality vendor. Specifically, the lists are used by DESC contracting officers as additional factors when evaluating procurement awards.

Initially, DESC has identified five federal commodity classes where it intends to establish quality vendor lists: miscellaneous communications equipment; antennas and waveguides, synchros and resolvers; semiconductors; and microcircuits.

While price has been the most significant factor historically in determining successful bidders, federal acquisition regulations do allow procurement staffs to consider other factors when making awards. DESC has in the past used expedited delivery as an award factor.

Firms applying for the program are asked to list any delinquent deliveries or quality programs they have had on every DESC contract over the past year in the five commodity areas. DESC, in turn, verifies the information with its records.

To be placed on the quality vendor list, companies must meet three general qualifications. They must have delivered on at least three DESC contracts over the past year in the specified commodity areas with the total value of merchandise exceeding $10,000. The firm must further demonstrate it had a 90 percent or higher on-time delivery on the items. Finally, the company must document that it has performed at an acceptable level of quality on its contracts with DESC.

Major quality problems may not exceed one-half percent of contract deliveries during the past year. Major quality problems include items reported deficient by DESC customers, instances of unauthorized substitution parts or over-branding, test failures, or electrostatic and electromagnetic material which has been improperly packaged.

Minor quality problems may not exceed one percent of deliveries. These include parts with incorrect packaging, preservation, package marking or bare item marking.

DESC will review quality vendor lists periodically and eliminate firms which do not continue to maintain required standards. In all cases, firms will be notified of changes in status. Contractors who do not qualify at first and who are removed may reapply.

Further information and procedures on how to apply are available by contacting Eleanor Holland, DESC-PPR, Defense Electronics Supply Center, Dayton, OH 45444.

ing to Commissioner Vincent Frantantoni.

"It's more because I have taken over the engineering department which was with Department of Public Works, and the plumbing inspector who was with Public Affairs," said Frantantoni. "The new positions bring an extra $47,382 but my budget is only going up $41,000."

Public Safety will increase from $6,398,411 in 1987 to $6,848,891 for 1988. Mayor Michael Pizzi, head of the department, said the reason for the increase is primarily a precautionary measure. "We have to make reservations for future negotiations, just in case."

A resolution authorizing payment of invoices in the amount of $3,750 to Neglia Engineering Associates for New Jersey Department of Transportation funded resurfacing projects on Division and Passaic Avenues.

The Board of Commissioners agreed to meet with the Rent Leveling Board to discuss amending on ordinance regarding housing. The original amendment would eliminate three-family houses from the ordinance but Sam Papa of the board suggested more had to be done.

"We go along with the raise from three to four houses but many more things have to be changed," said Papa. "I suggest you table the ordinance and make a meeting so we can sort the whole ordinance."

The Board of Commissioners and Rent Leveling Board will meet prior to the June 28 Commission Meeting.

Trustcompany Bancorp. earnings up in 1st quarter

The Trustcompany Bancorporation, parent of The Trust Company of New Jersey, announced that net income for the first quarter of 1988 rose sharply over the same period last year from $2.84 million to $3.69 million, up 30 percent.

Earnings per share increased from $2.34 for the first quarter of 1987 to $3.04 for the first quarter of 1988, also up 30 percent.

This 30 percent increase follows the dramatic jump in earnings reported for all of 1987, and we look forward to record breaking earnings for the rest of this year," said Sigi B. Wilzig, chairman of The Trustcompany Bancorporation.

Compared to the first quarter of 1987, assets increased by $182 million from $1.26 billion to a record $1.44 billion. In the 12 months ending March 31, 1988, deposits rose by $161 million to a record $1.31 billion, while the bank's loan portfolio reached an all-time high of $926 million.

tion is whether or not the district will be certified."

According to Lally, the committee has established 10 requirements for education that must be met. These 10 requirements are then broken down into subcategories, bringing a total of 43 listings that must be met. If any of the 43 fail to meet the requirements, the district will not be certified, Lally said. The 10 requirements are: annual education plan; relations; staff; comprehensive curriculum and instruction; attendance; facilities; mandatory programs; mandatory basic skills; affirmative action, and finances.

While Lally said most of the requirements have been met, the facilities do not comply with the state health and safety checklist and requested meetings take place to "rectify a potentially troublesome problem." He also said the financial situation is "suspect" and suggested when the new business administrator comes in that the situation is rectified.

He also suggested hiring extra summer employees because there will be much paper work to be done to assure the district is prepared for the evaluation.

Disturbances

Commissioner of Public Affairs Joseph Fornarotto requested to address the board during a discussion on the 1988-89 school calendar but was told by Board President Dr. Anthony D'Agostino he would have to wait for the hearing of the citizens.

The situation occurred after board member Phil Linfante suggested having half a day on Martin Luther King, Jr.'s celebrated birthday, January 16, because the Teacher's Association requested an earlier end to the school year, from Monday, June 26 to Friday, June 23. Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello and Board Attorney Larry Schwartz said since it is a legal holiday a full day off should be given.

After the vote was taken, which ended 3-3 thereby rejecting the proposal, Fornarotto jumped up and said he should be able to speak on the proposal. After some discussion, when Fornarotto said it was point of order he be allowed to speak and D'Agostino said he was out of order. Fornarotto sat down and waited for the hearing of the citizens.

When he finally did speak, Fornarotto said last year he requested Labor Day off for schools, which is a national holiday, but the idea was turned down and he didn't understand why it would apply to Martin Luther King, Jr. Day and not Labor Day. He also asked what the schools do to commemorate the holiday.

Nardiello said Labor Day is a day off for the 1988-89 school year.

The other outburst occurred when the board voted on a resolution terminating the employment of Joan McCann, a high school math teacher. As the board was voting on the resolution McCann stood up and said she lost her job because she was attacked by another teacher. Saying she was not from Belleville and couldn't speak during the hearing of citizens she felt it was the proper time. However, the board disagreed and after McCann said, "the sign says good things are happening in Belleville schools, well one less good thing is happening because Joan McCann is not working in the schools" she left the auditorium.

To your good taste — New parents, Kathleen and Glenn Miller of Belleville, are served a complimentary gourmet meal at Mountainside Hospital. Also pictured are Yvonne Coker, (standing left) waitress and Martha Stewart, R.D., director of Food and Nutrition Services. The meal is served in the candlelit dining room in the hospital's Birthing Center, located on the third floor of the newly opened North Pavillion.

Mountainside's parents enjoy a gourmet meal

A special attraction of new mothers in The Mountainside Hospital's Birthing Center is the complimentary gourmet meal.

The meals, prepared and served by the hospital's Food and Nutrition Department, have been available to new mothers and their guests since 1981. Served in an intimate, candlelit setting, the meal is a time for relaxation and reflection.

Entrees available on the gourmet menu include marinated lamb chops, surf and turf, chicken Kiev and a gourmet antipasto salad. Dessert delicacies include French cream cheese pie and an assortment of cakes, pies, fresh fruit and ice cream. Chablis or Burgundy wine is also available with a physician's order. A white chocolate confection with Mountainside's monogram completes the meal.

The gourmet meal service is also available, for a nominal fee, to other patients in the hospital. According to Martha Stewart, R.D., director of the Food and Nutrition Department, "We began offering the gourmet meal service to all patients in the hospital in 1985. Some people enjoy the option of giving a gourmet meal as a gift, in lieu of flowers and candy. Even though the cost of the service is not covered by hospital insurance, the program is very well received and many people have said how much they appreciate having this option."

Belleville Times SPORTS

It was October 2, 1982. Municipal Stadium was packed to capacity for a high school football game between Belleville and Passaic. The stands were filled beyond capacity and many of the fans were lined around the fence of the football field. It was an electric atmosphere, as two of the states better teams were ready to square off in what would be a classic confrontation for all times.

If you're a fan of Belleville football, then I don't need to remind you of the outcome of that game. But since it's a contest that deserves special mention, why not bring it up again. Belleville, billed as a rather large underdog, defeated the powerhouse from Passaic, 3-2, in what was just a fabulous game.

The game brings back special meaning, because last Sunday, the NFL draft was held in New York City, and two of the stars from that game were selected by NFL teams. Passaic's entry was Craig Heyward, a 1984 graduate of Passaic High School and a man who had a standout career at the University of Pittsburgh. Heyward actually had another year of eligibility, but opted for the professional ranks now.

He was selected in the first round by the New Orleans Saints, an up and coming franchise that made the playoffs for the first time, ever, last fall.

While Heyward led the Passaic offense, there was a man on the Belleville defense who held Heyward in check on that October, 1982, day. He was a 1983 graduate of Belleville High School. After graduation, this talented young man went on to a standout football career at the University of West Virginia, where he excelled on the defensive line.

Of course, I'm referring to David Grant, who was selected by the Cincinnati Bengals in the fourth round of last weekend's draft. Grant, a nose tackle, was the 84th player chosen overall.

Grant is the first player from Belleville to be selected in the NFL draft during the coaching tenure of John Senesky. He is also the first player from our township to be selected by an NFL team in over 20 years.

I first remember Dave Grant as a quiet young man in the fall of 1980. He was a sophomore who saw a limited amount of varsity playing time. The 1980 club, as you probably remember, was one of Belleville's better teams. It won nine ball games and advanced to the Group IV, Section II title game. It was a veteran squad, and Grant, like most youngsters his age, had to wait his turn.

As a junior in 1981, Grant earned a starting nod and did an excellent job. He played on both offense and defense and his size began to attract the attention of opposing players and scouts.

In his senior year, the fall of 1982, Grant led a Belleville defense that was simply outstanding. It didn't allow a touchdown until the fourth game of the year. As mentioned, Belleville held the vaunted Passaic attack to a safety in week number two. The '82 Bucs were 8-2 and won the NNJIL title. The team lost a heartbreaker in the playoffs to Union High School.

Through it all, Grant continued to earn accolades. Along with teammates Craig Mack, Robbie Cancelliere and Ray Kimble, Grant put up some outstanding numbers.

The colleges came calling and Grant decided on West Virginia. After being red shirted in his freshman year, Grant started out on an excellent career. He earned accolades from many college football writers for his quickness and strength on the line.

While everyone knows Grant is an outstanding football player, not many people will remember that he was an excellent basketball player in 1982 and '83. He came out for the team in his junior year, and by the middle of his senior campaign, he had established himself as one of the best pivot men in the conference.

"He was one of the best centers in the area," recalled his former coach Joe Papasidero.

Grant's basketball prowess didn't come overnight. It came because he dedicated himself to the sport, the same way he did with football. Hard work prevailed, and now, Grant is ready to move on to a circle that few men have attained.

Next week, we'll take a look at Grant's career through the eyes of his coaches and hopefully, Grant and his family. In the meantime, congratulations to this outstanding young man on a simply outstanding accomplishment.

LOCAL TEAMS BATTLING HARD

The Belleville baseball team enjoyed an excellent week of action, winning three games in four tries. Nick Grande's club was 5-5 entering this week. The Bucs broke an offensive slump by ripping past Paramus Catholic, Clifton and Caldwell last week.

The softball team had a tough week on the field, losing three games and losing the services of Carol Morrison for the remainder of the year. Morrison, a junior, went down with what could be a severe knee injury early in last Saturday's game with Livingston. She was scheduled to undergo surgery this week. Our best wishes to her and the hope that her injury isn't too serious.

It was a very quiet week of action for the Belleville track team. After performing very well in the last two weeks, the Bucs were overmatched by a powerful Montclair team and lost, 118-13. John Tosato's club was hoping to get back on "track" this week.

The tennis team won its first match of the season, beating Elmwood Park last week. The Bucs have received some good performances from Jonas Imprago, Andrew Cuevas, Dawson Bloom and Gus Lijo.

The crew team appears to be in top form as the regattas near. The Bucs had a good race with Kearny and Upper Merion last week and will vie in the City Championships this Sunday, May 1. May is "championship month" for crew, with all the major regattas scheduled on various weekends. Good luck to coach Scott Fabian and company.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The Islanders won the Stanley Cup from 1980-83, beating Philadelphia, Minnesota, Vancouver and Edmonton respectively. The Islanders were coached by Al Arbor, and lost in the '84 Stanley Cup finals to the Edmonton Oilers.

FOR THIS WEEK

This quiz comes from one of baseball's biggest fans, Cynthia Axtotes, from the baseball capital of the world, Cincinnati, Ohio. For this week, what was the name of the Houston baseball franchise before it was named the Astros in 1964 when they moved to the Astrodome. Also, who hit the first homer in the Astrodome.

Even record at 5-5

Buc bats wake up as team wins four of last five competitions

After dropping another one run ball game, the Belleville baseball team exploded on the offense and won three straight games. Belleville improved its record to 5-5 on the season, and the Bucs have now won four of its last five contests.

The Bucs battled Bloomfield and Eastside earlier in the week. Tomorrow, the team is host to Montclair in a 4 p.m. start. On Saturday, the team is host to Randolph in an 11 a.m. start. Next Monday, Belleville travels to Passaic for a 4 p.m. game and next Wednesday, it's a home game with arch rival Nutley in a 4 p.m. start.

Last week, Belleville lost to St. Joe's of Montvale, 3-2, then came back to defeat Paramus Catholic, 11-4, Clifton, 9-0 and Caldwell, 11-10. The win over Caldwell was especially gratifying because Belleville rallied to win a one run ball game.

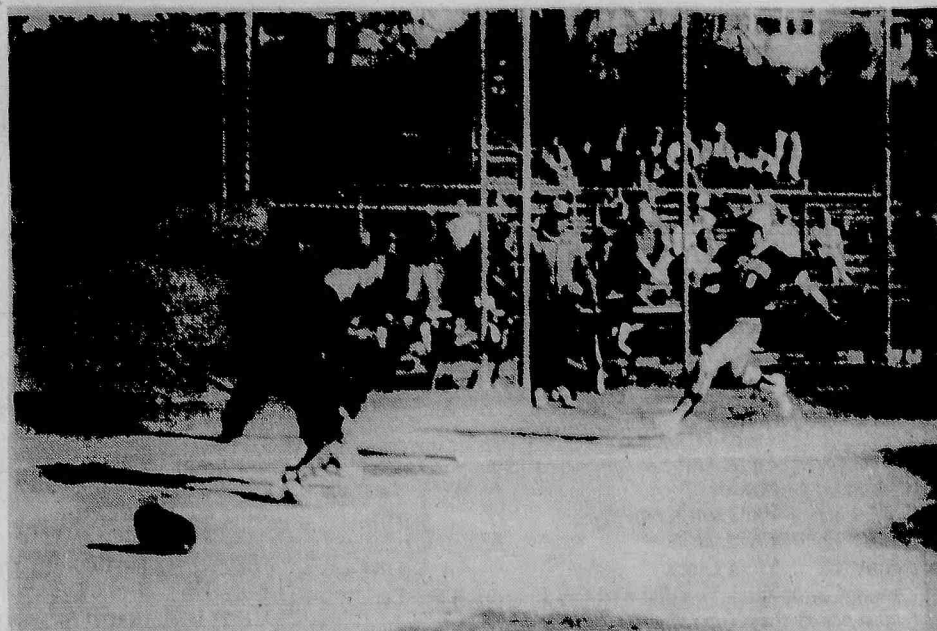

"It was a good week for us," said coach Nick Grande. "I felt that sooner or later, we would break out of it, and after the St. Joe's game, it seemed like the team just turned it around. We got some good hitting and beat some good teams."

The week started with the loss against St. Joe's. In this game, Belleville hurler Jay Marchese threw another outstanding game, but the Bucs weren't able to get its offensive game in motion.

Belleville took a 1-0 lead in the second inning. Anthony Rodriguez reached safely on an error and George Speer walked. Mike Thompson then lined an RBI single for the first run.

St. Joe's came right back, scoring twice in its half of the second inning. The Bergen County school scored once more in the fourth to take a 3-1 lead, but Belleville cut the deficit in the sixth.

Marchese led off with a walk and stole second base. He advanced to third on a passed ball and scored when Rodriguez hit into a double play. The Bucs came up one run short and the game was called because of rain before St. Joe's could bat in the bottom of the sixth.

Marchese allowed three runs on six hits in five innings of work. He struck out six and walked two and struck out St. Joe's top hitter three times. Belleville was limited to two hits, with Thompson and Jeff Spillsbury credited with singles.

There was some controversy regarding the Bucs total output of hits. One newspaper called the game a no hitter for St. Joe's, but Grande was quick to disagree with that call.

"The two hits were solid," he said. "There's no way they could be called errors."

With its record at 2-5 and the frustration mounting, Belleville exploded for an 11-4 win against Paramus Catholic.

This was a game where Belleville trailed, 3-0 after 2 1/2 innings, but the Buccaneer bats finally began to catch fire.

Belleville tallied four runs in the third inning and added six more in the fourth to break the game wide open. In the third inning, Michael Thompson started the rally with a double. Mike Di Biase walked and P.J. Grande reached on an error, scoring Thompson. With runners on second and third, Spillsbury singled to left, scoring two runs. The fourth run of the inning was scored by Marchese, who had singled and stole a base. He came around to score when Mike Finan hit into a force play.

In the fourth inning, Belleville had three singles, two walks and two hit batsmen to account for the six runs. In the sixth, Belleville added one more run when Marchese singled, stole second and third base and scored on a hit by Rodriguez.

Belleville had ten hits on the afternoon, with Rodriguez, Spillsbury and Marchese leading the way with two hits each. Rodriguez and Spillsbury also had 3 RBI's in the game.

The winning pitcher in the game was Frank Orrel, who threw a complete game. He walked just one and struck out six. Orrel also allowed just six hits on the day.

Belleville began defense of its NNJIL title last Friday by stopping

Lady Bucs lose to opponents and to injuries

The last thing Carl Corino and his softball team needed now was more injuries. But that's exactly what happened last week, when the team lost three games in five attempts and two starters went down to injury.

The girls defeated Teaneck and Bloomfield by scores of 15-3 and 9-1 respectively. In between those victories, however, the girls lost to Paramus Catholic, 7-1, Clifton, 11-1 and Livingston, 3-2.

Belleville took an 8-4 record into a game with Eastside, which was played yesterday. Tomorrow, the team plays at Montclair and next Monday, will return home for a 4 p.m. start with Passaic. Next Wednesday, Belleville travels to Nutley for what should be a big game against the Maroon Raiders.

Last week, Belleville lost the services of first baseman Carol Morrison (knee) and pitcher Janine Luzzi (wrist). Morrison's injury is the more severe and she will undergo surgery tomorrow on her knee to determine the severity of her injury. Morrison hurt her knee while sliding in the first inning of the game with Livingston last Monday.

"It's a bad injury," Corino said. "We had the feeling it wasn't good and it was confirmed later. She's out for the season, no doubt. Our only concern now is that the injury isn't too severe. She's a great kid, and I wish her the best in her recovery."

As for Luzzi, her injury could be game to game. Luzzi was hit on the wrist by a line drive in the Clifton game. She was x-rayed, and luckily, it was not broken. However, her wrist is sore and Corino wasn't sure when she would be ready.

"I'm not sure," he said. "I'm hoping that maybe she'll be ready by tomorrow, but I don't know. It's a day to day thing."

As for last week, Belleville started off with a 15-3 drubbing of Teaneck. In the game, Laurie Don- darski had two hits, Racquel Melson had three hits and drove home five runs, Jennifer Bridge delivered two hits and had two RBI's and Natalie La Bella finished with two hits.

Luzzi was the winning pitcher, despite not pitching one of her better games. The senior hurler walked a season high nine batters and hit three batters.

Versus Paramus Catholic, Belleville ran into a solid ball club and lost by a 7-1 margin.

"They were a real good club," Corino said of P.C. "They hit the ball all over the place and just outplayed us. No excuses."

Luzzi suffered the defeat, her second of the season. Belleville's offense was limited to just three hits.

Things didn't get much better in the Clifton contest. Belleville was pounded in its league opener, 11-1, by the Lady Mustangs. Corino expected a difficult assignment with Clifton and sure enough, his prediction was on target.

"We knew they would be a good club," Corino said of Clifton. "We didn't play well either. We made some sloppy errors and didn't play a solid game. We lost Janine for a while, but Tricia Donnelly came in and pitched well."

Donnelly hurled the final 3 2/3 innings and looked good in her first extended varsity performance.

Last Saturday, Belleville lost a tough game to Livingston, 3-2. Donnelly started and pitched a complete game for the Lady Bucs, but Livingston tallied two runs in the top of the seventh to negate a 2-1 Belleville lead.

"I thought we should have won," Corino said. "Livingston has a nice ball club this year. They're 9-2 and will be a tough club in the counties. Tricia pitched an excellent game for us, but we didn't get the breaks this time."

Belleville took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning. Jennifer Bridge, who suffered a bruised hip in the game, singled and stole second base. Laurie Moyer then singled Bridge home for the first run.

Livingston tied the game in the fifth inning and Belleville regained the lead with a run in the bottom of the sixth. Once again, it was Bridge who started the rally, and once again, it was a single. Diane Di Vincenzo sacrificed Bridge to second and Melson singled to drive home the second Belleville run.

Livingston tallied two runs in the top of the seventh. With two out and runners on second and third, Livingston went ahead on a clutch single, 3-2. The Lady Lancers held the lead in the last of the seventh.

As for Bridge's injury, it was not serious, and the sophomore shortstop was back in the lineup for last Monday's game with Bloomfield.

Against Bloomfield, Donnelly hurled her second straight complete game and looked very impressive. She allowed just two hits and improved her record to 1-1 on the season.

Belleville scored two runs in the first inning. Dondarski singled, stole second and came around on a double by Melson. Bridge then lined a triple, scoring Melson.

In the second inning, Belleville added a third run when Simone Edwards walked, stole second and third base and scored on a throwing error. It was 4-0 in the third inning when Michele Milano walked,

Netmen post first win, defeat Elmwood Park

The Belleville tennis team won its first match of 1988 season, beating Elmwood Park last week. The Bucs dropped a close match with Bloomfield last Monday, and were 1-7 entering this weeks action.

Tony Salese's team battled Eastside yesterday and will be in Montclair tomorrow afternoon. On Monday, the team is at Passaic and next Wednesday, the team heads to Nutley. All matches begin at 4 p.m.

The Bucs posted a 3-2 win over Elmwood Park, with Jonas Imprago winning at first singles, Andy Cuevas victorious at second singles and the doubles team of Gus Lijo and Dawson Bloom capping the afternoon. Lijo and Bloom play first singles and are experienced seniors.

Last Monday, Belleville lost a heart-breaking 3-2 match to Bloomfield. Imprago won at first singles, 6-4, 3-6 and 6-2. At second singles, Cuevas swept past his opponent, 6-2, 6-2. At third singles, sophomore Choa Pham was defeated in straight sets, 0-6, 2-6.

Bloom and Lijo were defeated in two tough matches, 5-7, 4-6 at first doubles and the second doubles team of Mark Mellinger and Hoa Ly lost in two sets, 0-6, 3-6.

"We've had some real strong performances from our senior players," said Salese. "Imprago, Cuevas, Lijo and Bloom have done well for us, and they have played very competitively. That experience of playing for a couple of years really helps."

Salese feels his team has a good chance of winning a few matches this week. The coach was optimistic about the Eastside and Passaic matches and feels the Nutley match, next Wednesday, could be a toss up. Tomorrow's match with Montclair will be a difficult assignment for the Bucs. Montclair and Clifton are the favorites to win the NNJIL title this year.

Crew team to battle for city championship

With the big regattas just around the corner, the Belleville crew team is beginning to pick up the pace. Last week, the Bucs battled Upper Merion and Kearny and turned in some good results.

Scott Fabian's team will battle for the City Championship this weekend in Philadelphia. On May 7, the team travels to Upper Merion for the Upper Merion regatta.

The boys team had three winning boats in last weekend's tri match. The boys senior four, midweight four and midweight eight all posted victories, while the novice eight was second in its race and the junior place placed third. In the girls category, the junior and senior four both finished second.

"We did pretty well," Fabian said. "I think the kids are gearing up for the regattas. We're working with a number of different combinations, and hopefully, we'll be ready for May and the big races."

The senior four, made up of Vin Colaninno, Len Linfante, Gus Leming, Dale Watkowski and Heather Apruzese won by 6.5 seconds over a good Kearny boat.

The midweight four continues its outstanding performance this spring. Made up of Tom Eccles, Brian Villano, Jerry Russo, Mike McGuire and Sue O'Donnell, the undefeated shell breezed by Upper Merion by 15.

"That boat is doing very well," said Fabian of the midweight four. "They have been rowing together for two years and look to be in real good shape."

The midweight eight proved to be a very pleasant surprise for Belleville. The team won by five seconds over a seasoned Kearny boat.

"That shell was just put together," said Fabian. "They rowed four, maybe five miles, in practice heading into last weekend's race. Kearny's boat was an experienced shell, and we managed to beat them."

That midweight eight boat consists of Eccles, Villano, Russo, McGuire, Colaninno, Mike Romano, Sean Kimble, Watkowski and O'Donnell.

Dennis Villano, who coaches the boys novice shell, saw his team take a second in the novice eight race. The athletes in that shell are, Tom Pontrella, Tim Witt, Steve Caponi, Lee Kazista, Mike Costa, George Scimokawa, Ken Iadimarco, Lee Hands and Tom Spillane.

The boys junior four is made up of Pontrella, Romano, Caponi, John Del Russo and Kimble.

In the girls category, the senior four placed second with a shell consisting of Laura Nardone, Joyce Burke, Carolyn Giuffrida, Kristine Villano and Kim Trefsgar.

The girls junior four is made up of Apruzese, Liz Morris, Charlene Santora, Sue Auferio and Jessica Nappi.

So on Sunday, the "big" races begin for the Belleville crew team. This week, it will be the City Championships in Philly. On the 7th of May, it's the Upper Merion Regatta. On the 14th, the Bucs make the long haul to the Mid Hudson Regatta. On May 21, the team takes part in the prestigious Stotesbury Regatta and on the 28th, it's the ultimate, a date in the national championships.

Umpires needed

The Belleville Recreation Department is in need of adults and boys or girls, age 16 or older, to umpire games in the recreation baseball and softball leagues. Games are played on weekday nights and Saturdays during the months of May-June. For more information or to apply, please call the Recreation Department office at 450-3422 or stop at the Rec House on Joralemon Street before 4:00 p.m. on weekdays.

a good Clifton team, 9-0. In this game, Marchese was brilliant, hurling a seven hit shutout and striking out nine batters.

"We played an excellent ball game," Grande said afterward. "The kids were up for the game. They knew that beating Clifton would be important toward league play and it was a new season for us. We were done with the Bergen County teams and can now concentrate on the Essex-Passaic division of the league."

Belleville lost twice to Clifton last year, and both games were one sided defeats. The Bucs rallied in the final week of the regular season last year and passed Clifton on the final day of the campaign to win the conference crown.

Belleville started quickly against Clifton, scoring once in the top of the first. Marchese, as usual, was instrumental in the attack. He singled, stole second base and scored on a hit by Finan.

In the third inning, Belleville scored another run when Spilsbury singled, stole second, went to third on a ground out by Marchese and scored on another Finan single.

The Bucs increased the lead to 3-0 in the fifth. Spilsbury started the rally with a single and stole second base. Marchese had an infield single, and Spilsbury was forced to hold at second. Both men then pulled off a double steal and Spilsbury scored when Rodriguez hit a sacrifice fly to center field.

The game became a blow out in the sixth when the Bucs scored five runs. Marchese, Gary Villano, Finan, Di Biase and Grande scored the runs for Belleville. The Bucs got six singles and a double in the sixth inning.

Marchese, who started slowly, was in top form by the fourth inning. He was untouchable over the last part of the game and his teammates certainly gave him plenty of support.

The Bucs had 17 hits in the game, with Finan accounting for four of those hits. Di Biase and Spilsbury had three each and Marchese, Rodriguez and Ernie Brodie had two a piece. Speer went down in the sixth inning of the game with a pulled muscle, but he should be back in action shortly.

After beating Clifton, Belleville won a thriller with Caldwell last Saturday, 11-10.

In the game, the Bucs took a 10-4 lead after just two innings of play, but Caldwell rallied back, scoring twice in the fifth and four times in the sixth on a grand slam homer.

The Bucs won it in the bottom of the sixth. Rodriguez walked and went to second when Brodie was hit by a pitch. Orrei reached safely on an error, loading the bases and Di Biase hit a sac fly, scoring Rodriguez and giving the Bucs a one run lead.

Belleville survived a Caldwell score in the seventh inning. The leadoff hitter lined a double and a sacrifice bunt moved the tying run to third base. With one out, Caldwell attempted a suicide squeeze. Alert fielding by Brodie, the Bucs relief pitcher, avoided the run. Brodie fielded the bunt in the air for the second out, then threw to third base to get the runner, who was trying to get back on base.

"It was a helluva way to end the game," Grande said. "But it was a big win for us. We needed to win a one run ball game."

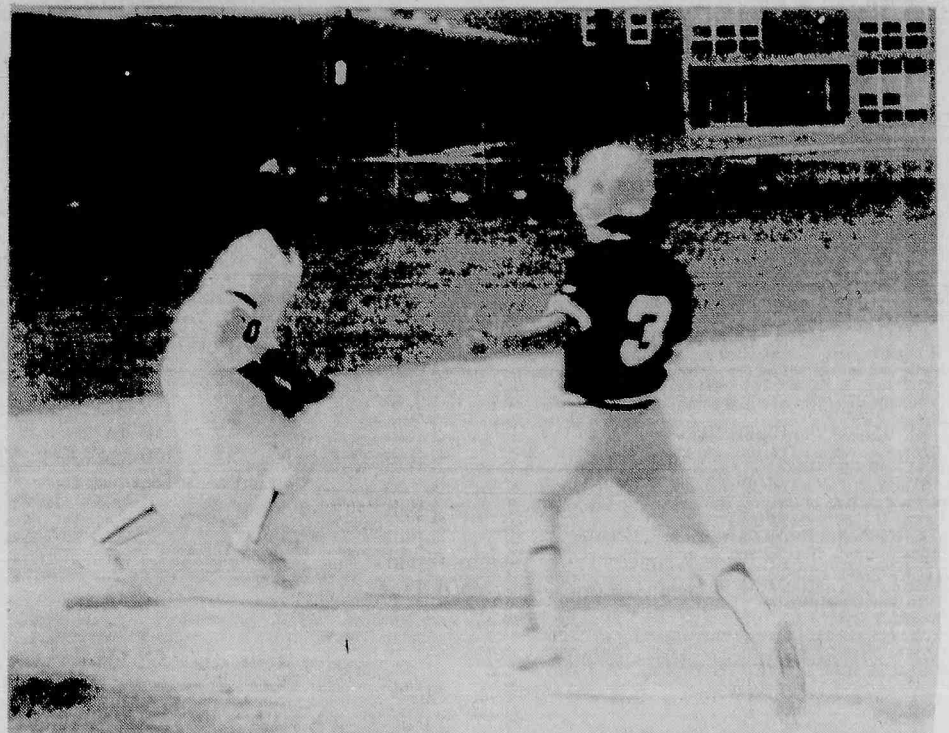

Thompson started the game and pitched 5 1/3 innings. He gave way to Brodie, who pitched the final 1 2/3 innings and was credited with the victory. On the offense, Villano hit a three run homer in the second inning, scoring Rodriguez and Thompson ahead of him. Thompson also had a two run single in the first inning.

Thus the Bucs take a modest three game winning streak into a big week of NNJL play. The team has been getting consistent play from a number of players and with the offense now getting in gear, the future certainly looks promising.

CONCENTRATION — P.J. Grande gets ready to stroke a base hit against Paramus Catholic last week. The Bucs won 11-4.

stole second, went to third on an infield single by Moyer and scored on a sacrifice fly from La Bella.

On the afternoon, Dondarski was 3 for 5, stole three bases and scored two runs. Melson finished with two hits, scored two runs and had an RBI. Milano scored three runs in the game and Edwards stole two bases.

Despite the injuries, Corino has been pleased with the effort from his team. With Morrison out, La Bella has been moved to first base. Edwards is now playing in the outfield and Milano is at third base. Di Vincenzo is also playing the outfield.

"Simone has been doing well," Corino said of Edwards. "She has shown a lot of improvement. (Laurie) Moyer has been looking real good behind the plate and Melson has developed into a steady, clutch, hitter. The same for Dondarski, she has been hitting the ball very well."

of home equity loans

AND WHY

you'll get more

with a Howard Powered HERO.

If you own your home, let a Howard banker show you HOW to use the equity in your home for home improvements, bill consolidation, automobile purchases, education expenses and personal investments.

Your home is your financial castle.

We'll show you WHY a Howard Powered HERO® (Howard Equity Reserve Option) can free up your home equity to qualify you for a line of credit from $5,000 to as much as $500,000. With a HERO you can have up to 75%
of your home's appraised value (less any outstanding mortgages or liens), to spend on whatever you need most.

The tax benefits of a HERO.

Under the new tax law, interest paid on HERO home equity loans and your existing mortgage balance remains deductible, provided that the loan is on your principal or second residence, in an amount up to the purchase price of your home plus improvements. Interest on additional home equity borrowing for education and medical expenses also is deductible.

Call for current low rate!

That makes a HERO even more valuable to you, since consumer interest deductions on personal loans, credit cards and other borrowing are being phased out. It's another way you're better off, Howard Powered!

It's easy to be a HERO.

It makes sense to apply for a HERO today, so you'll have your equity available whenever you need it. When your application is approved, your HERO money is at your fingertips — all you do is write a check.

Unlike some other home equity credit lines, the Howard charges no application fee, no points, and no closing costs, and, until you use your HERO, no minimum monthly payment is required.

Find out more about HOW you can tap your home equity and WHY so many New Jersey residents are getting more out of life with a Howard Powered HERO. Call toll-free and let the Howard give you more credit for living.

8am-6pm Monday thru Friday, 9am-1pm Saturday

the Howard SAVINGS BANK®
It's Great to be Howard Powered.

Equal Opportunity Lender Member FDIC

Serving you locally at 726 Washington Avenue, Belleville.

*The APR as of 2/18/88 was 10.4%. The APR on your HERO loan will be the APR in effect when your line of credit is approved. Your interest rate may change. However, the Howard will give notice at least 30 days prior to the rate change. Monthly requirements are as little as 1/8th of the outstanding balance or $100, whichever is greater, plus the accrued interest for the month. Or, you may repay any amount over the minimum up to your outstanding balance. And, you only pay interest on the money you use. All principal payments automatically replenish your line of credit. HERO is available to New Jersey property owners only.

Realtors sponsor essay contest for high school students

During the week of April 24-30, Realtors, homeowners and business people nationwide will be celebrating American Home Week, an annual celebration of our constitutional freedom to own property and the need to protect the rights that come with ownership.

Sponsored by the National Association of Realtors, the New Jersey Association of Realtors and local Board of Realtors, American Home Week calls for the public to participate in activities which will benefit the community and demonstrate "Pride in Property... Our Nation's Heritage."

The New Jersey Association of Realtors is sponsoring a statewide essay contest for high school juniors and seniors. To enter the contest, a student must go through the local board of Realtors in one of the following counties: Burlington, Central Bergen, Eastern Bergen, Greater Eastern Union,
Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex,
Ocean, Pascack Valley, Plainfield area, Somerset, South Monmouth, and Wildwood/Cape May County Board of Realtors.

The local board will choose three winners from its entries and then pass those winners on to the state association, who will then choose three winners from the statewide entries. NJAR will be awarding the following:

1st place: $500 savings bond and trip to NJAR's Convention in Atlantic City for winner and family.

2nd place: $250 savings bond
and certificate.

3rd place: $100 savings bond
and certificate.

NJAR will turn its state winners over to the National Association of Realtors for entry in their essay awards competition. Last year, New Jersey student Thomas Bernard Ellis of Martinsville won first place in the national competition. This year, NAR will be awarding the following:

1st place: $1,000 savings bond and trip to NAR's convention in San Francisco in November.

2nd place: $500 savings bond.

3rd place: $250 savings bond.

According to NJAR's community service chairman, Phyllis Matthey, "This essay contest provides an excellent stimulus for students to combine their knowledge of civics and American history with new thinking about concepts of shelter, property rights, and perhaps, their own prospects of becoming property owners."

The theme for this year's essay is: "How the right to own property contributes to American's pride in their heritage."

Students should submit essays to local boards during April. For more information call Donna Jean Schrattwieser at (201) 494-4717.

The New Jersey Association of Realtors, based in Edison, is comprised of over 46,000 real estate licensees covering all of the recognized specializations within the industry, and is one of the state's largest trade associations.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs) represent about a quarter of the mortgage market. That's somewhat less than a few years ago when interest rates were about twice what they are today.

Sandpaper is less likely to crack if you dampen the paper backing and then wrap it around a block of wood. Staple the ends in place.

Researchers at Purdue University designed an energy-efficient house with extra-thick insulation, an air-infiltration barrier and a super-efficient furnace. It costs about $7,000 more than an ordinary home, but was expected to save $28,000 over 20 years in energy costs.

Polyurethane is a tough coating for wood floors, but the finish will wear away in high-traffic areas unless it is waxed now and then. Waxing and buffing hide scratches, too.

Do it yourself - today's low-voltage outdoor lighting systems are easier and safer to install, and cost less to run, too. They're sold in kits for easy installation.

Why do it yourself? It doesn't cost any more to have our real estate professionals help you find the just-right home for your family. Come see us at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley 235-9000.
