Memorial Day services planned

The Belleville V.F.W. Veteran's memorial program will be held Sunday, May 29, beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the Dutch Reform Church.

Belleville High School Band will accompany the veterans as they will march from Church and lower a wreath in the river in remembrance of those lost during war. The procession will then walk to Town Hall for a wreath placing ceremony. Following the wreath laying at Town Hall, they will march up Greylock Avenue and Union to the monument where a ceremony will be held.

New Jersey State Senator Carmen Orechio (D-Essex) will be the featured speaker. Reverend Gerald Fortunatto of Silver Lake Baptist Church will lead a prayer service.

School objectives discussed

Board of Education lays off three administrative positions

The Belleville Board of Education began the layoffs of administrators the Board of Commissioners required when they slashed the school budget at the Board of Education's meeting Monday night.

The Board also accepted a grant for the creation of a chemical health curriculum program and announced the long term and immediate goals of the school curriculum.

Before voting on the resolutions, Board Attorney Lawrence Schwartz announced the Board had officially filed an appeal of the budget cuts to the New Jersey Commission on Education. Board President Anthony D'Agostino said a committee, including himself, Joe Del Guercio, Business Administrator Edward Appleton and Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello, met with Essex County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Eleana Scambrio to discuss the options available to them. Scambrio also met with Mayor Michael Pizzi and Commissioner of Parks and Public Property Vincent Frantantoni.

By votes of 6-1, 5-2 and 5-2 the Board voted to eliminate the positions of Principal/Assistant Superintendent for elementary schools, Assistant Board Secretary/Operations and Assistant Board Secretary/Accounting respectively. Barbara Cicalese voted against the abolishment of the three positions while Phil Linfante voted against the abolishment of the latter two.

"There have been serious problems in that office (Business Office) the last two years," commented Linfante. "I feel these positions will come back under a different title in three to six months. The positions aren't tenured and I feel we should wait a few months and get the Business Administrator's (Appleton) opinion. The positions of Accounting and Operations are no questionably needed."

Daniel Borgo agreed with Linfante, saying, "I'm voting 'yes' but I hope it doesn't come up in the future as another title. Someone is going to have to pick up the slack."

D'Agostino said it is incorrect for anyone to predict the future, whether they are board members or not and the key word for employees is accountability. "It is time to re-access our priorities. It is time for the persons making the money to be accountable for what they are doing. It is a time for sacrifice. As for the future, it will be done in due course."

School objectives

Assistant Superintendent Michael Lally presented the board with five goals for the 1988-89 school year and five long term goals, with emphasis on increasing writing skills.

"We have written goals based on district and state standards," stated Lally. "The committee contained parents, administration, staff and students."

The five goals for the next school year are: continued emphasis on basic skills; continued emphasis on the process and approach to writing; prepare and implement a third year of math at Belleville High School; revise the district promotional policy, and grades three and 10 students demonstrate proficiency in reading, writing and math.

Lally said by June, 1989, 80 percent of the students in Belleville schools will meet or exceed the state requirement for basic skills. He said it is hoped a similar percentage will show growth in writing in grades four, seven and nine. The third year of math will use techniques and have a similar curriculum as the present math courses. Policy will be checked for standards and articulation. And 75 percent will master an in-house test given on reading, writing and math.

The five long range goals are: continued improvement in math and reading based on the curriculum guide; continued improvement in communication skills, both written and orally, but especially written; continue to explore and investigate means of thinking; investigate how students spend their leisure time, and increase course offerings.

Substance abuse grant

The board accepted a $10,000 grant for the installation of a substance abuse coordinator and curriculum on the subject. The competitive grant will be combined with a $42,000 grant awarded to Belleville and accepted by the Board of Education at its April 25 meeting.

An entitlement of $11,223 from the state Department of Education through the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act will also be used for the program which has not yet been instituted.

"We've been getting this for several year," replied Lally when asked where the entitlement money would be going. "It will be earmarked for similar situations (substance abuse program)."

It was announced to the Board by James Donovan, English and Latin teacher at the high school, that 10 Belleville High School students had earned awards at a recent Essex County Latin contest. Three other students took part in the competition and missed earning awards by one point, according to Donovan. All the students were honored by the Board for their showing and received a standing ovation from the members and audience.

Parents and students protest budget cuts

By Pat Brightman

Parents and children disappointed in the Board of Education Budget cuts showed their displeasure by picketing outside Belleville High School before the Belleville Board of Commissioners meeting Tuesday night.

In the auditorium, it was announced the request by the Belleville Board of Commissioners for Essex County property in town was rejected by the Director of the Essex County Department of Parks.

The Commissioners also passed an ordinance regarding leaf disposal and heard citizen opinion and questions on the municipal budget. There was difficulty throughout the meeting as only one microphone was available and people in the audience had difficulty hearing what the Commissioners were saying.

Approximately 30 people walked with signs outside the front door before the meeting and then filed into the auditorium for the meeting. When the public session opened Kathleen Wazlowski, president of Consolidated Association of P.T.A.'s presented the Commissioners with petitions from each school in town and read a prepared statement voicing their displeasure. Upon her completion those in support of her stood and cheered while those opposed booed.

The picket stems from the Board of Commissioners cutting $886,641 from the School Budget earlier this month.

It was announced that the Commissioners had received a communication from Carmine Capone stating their request for acquiring the Geriatric Center's property was rejected. The Commissioners had requested the property so a second Senior Citizen complex could be constructed.

An ordinance taking effect September 1 regarding leaf pick-up was passed by the Commissioners. The state had mandated the ordinance be passed because of recycling.

"The homeowner must put leaves on the curb," explained Commissioner of Public Works Angelo Risoli. "They can't be bagged. The town will pick them up and take them to Cedar Grove."

When asked if the town was capable of picking up the leaves, Risoli said "No. We will try to work with what we have or borrow from another community."

Municipal budget

For the first time since the budget was introduced May 12, citizens could voice their opinions publicly on the $4,146,965 increase, from $17,180,003.87 to $21,048,029.26.

Ed Torti suggested the budget was illegal because the budget was based on a five percent cap which was not approved until an ordinance was passed by the Commissioners Tuesday night.

It is law that increases in the budget must not exceed a certain percentage of the total budget, in Belleville's case, five percent.

Frank Jablonski noted approximately $57,000 would be added to the budget since the cap was raised from 4.5 percent to 5.0 percent. He roughly estimated the breakdown

Commissioner Fornarotto hearing begins in Cedar Grove courtroom

Objections were the point of order as the hearing on Commissioner of Public Affairs Joseph Fornarotto on harassment charges began in Cedar Grove Court last week.

Frank Pomaco, attorney for Fornarotto, repeatedly objected to early testimony by Michael Giordano ing the hearing.

The case had been postponed on numerous occasions before the May 18 hearing. The charges stem from the letter, apparently containing derogatory statements about Giordano's performance as a school crossing guard, Giordano received in late January of this year.

Giordano's testimony began when Prosecutor Victor Librizzi, Jr. asked him if he was involved in any community activities, whereby Giordano replied, "I'm a member of the Concerned Citizens of Belleville and I try to make sure the taxpayers get a fair shake."

Librizzi questioned Giordano about the letter and when Giordano said it was one of three he received with no return address, Pomaco objected, saying the hearing was not on three letters.

Only one letter

"It is my understanding the case is on only one letter," said Pomaco. "There was one complaint filed by one complainant. Only one (letter) was tested. To include any other letter would be irrelevant and prejudicial."

Scanlon agreed with Pomaco

Giordano gets citations

Michael Giordano looked in his mailbox last week and found two citations citing violations from Housing Inspector Joseph Fornarotto and while Giordano said it is an intimidation tactic by the Commissioner, Fornarotto said he is just doing his job.

"This is a blatant attempt to intimidate me but I won't be intimidated," said Giordano. "He's trying to pit me against my neighbors."

"I was told by my boss (Commissioner of Parks and Public Property Vincent Frantantoni) to hit each street in town and the first street in town is Valley Street," countered Fornarotto. "I'm an inspector, I'm doing my job. I did 19 at that time. I'm doing a district at a time."

Giordano received citations for having a car in the backyard of his home on Valley Street and for not having the proper alignment on his roof. Citations handed out to neighbors dealt mainly with cracked and uprooted sidewalks.

"The car in the backyard is a collector's item," described Giordano. "My son bought it and is fixing it up." He said his son put in a new motor for the 1967 Pontiac but it was defective and he is waiting for parts so it can be driveable. "I'm prepared to take my car out of my backyard if everyone else in town who has cars in their backyards take them out of theirs. I won't move until that time."

The second citation, for having an illegal slope on his roof, was something that was approved, according to Giordano. "Eight years ago I had a chimney fire and I had to repair the roof. The Town Inspector at the time gave me an O.K. It's a little out of line, it's two inches lower than the rest of the roof because there's less shingles."

Fornarotto reiterated he was as Giordano attempted to quote individuals he had conversations with.

Fornarotto appeared very calm and relaxed during the hour of testimony given by Giordano and New Jersey State Police handwriting expert Sergeant William Davis, who said he felt confident it was Fornarotto who wrote the letter Giordano claimed caused him undue anguish. The hearing ended at approximately 11:00 p.m. when Pomaco's request for a dismissal was refused by the Honorable Robert Scanlon. A new date, requested by Pomaco so another handwriting expert can testify, was not set dur-

STAYING HEALTHY — Alesandro Greco of Belleville has his cholesterol level checked during the "Countdown USA," blood pressure and cholesterol screening held recently at Clara Maass Medical Center.

Countdown U.S.A. screenings at hospital

Recently Clara Maass Medical Center joined more than 400 hospitals across the country to participate in "Countdown USA: The National Blood Pressure and Cholesterol Check" - one of the largest health screenings of its kind in the United States.

According to a recent national survey, relatively few Americans know their cholesterol level. Both blood cholesterol levels and blood pressure usually can be controlled by the individual through regular monitoring and lifestyle changes.

The event, which attracted over 300 screeners, consisted of a cholesterol check, blood pressure check, a program on proper eating habits and diet, and counseling following tests results.

The screening was coordinated by Clara Maass Community Services, which provides various health related seminars and lectures as well as health screenings throughout the year.

Countdown USA was sponsored by Voluntary Hospitals of America, a national network of 650 locally owned not-for-profit hospitals and their 170 affiliates.

Assembly passes bill to aid hospitals

A bill that would provide a supplemental appropriation of $15 million to county mental hospitals was approved by the Assembly today by a 75-0 vote.

The measure, A-2767, sponsored by Assemblyman John V. Kelly and Assemblywoman Marion Crecco, both R-Essex, now heads to the Senate for consideration.

The assembly members said the additional funds are needed to provide adequate care to the increasing number of mental health patients seeking outpatient programs on the local level.

"In its budget request for this year, the state Department of Human Services asked for an increase of less than 2 percent for these county-based institutions," observed Kelly. "That's just not enough. Local services are becoming financially overburdened."

"Over the past several years, at the advice of experts in the psychiatric field, more and more mentally disabled people have been deinstitutionalized," noted Mrs. Crecco. "The state needs to take a more active role in ensuring that these people receive adequate care on the local level."

"A 2 percent increase is not going to meet the needs of outpatient care, especially in light of the increasing number of people who require county services," added Kelly.

"It is unfair for the state to continue to provide funds for state-operated mental hospitals while neglecting the financial needs of similar hospitals in the counties," Crecco added.

If the bill becomes law, each of the existing five county mental hospitals would benefit. The funds would be used to upgrade direct patient care staff levels, including salary increases to nursing staffs.

Additionally, the money would be used to begin capital improvement projects and to purchase much-needed equipment.

The bill stipulates that the counties may not use the additional funds to reduce their overall financial support to the hospitals.

Specifically, the bill would appropriate $7,320,000 to Essex County, $3,930,000 to Bergen, $1,905,000 to Camden, $1,005,000 to Hudson and $840,000 to Burlington counties.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

Responding to mounting concerns of local residents over threatening huge local tax increases brought about by government sanctioned garbage disposal costs, and by Belleville Board of Education budget proposals, rejected by the voters, our town fathers courageously reacted by voting to reduce the school budget substantially.

The meticulous study and research of Commissioners Frantoni and Fornarotto convincingly established their argument of what they saw as excessive administration costs, classroom with less than optimal class size and duplication of administrative positions which they considered needless. The vote of the commissioners was unanimous in paring the school budget.

It can be expected that the Board of Education will appeal to the State Commissioner of Education for restoration of some of the cuts, which are usually granted.

The paradox of Republican policy at the highest levels reveals, President Reagan cutting federal grants for education and Governor Kean calling for higher teacher salaries which severely affects local taxation.

The moot question of whether money alone, without dedication, can improve public education remains unanswered. Must the administrative rank status of public school education positions alone determine salary or should that be determined by talent and ability?

What has happened to the old policy of keeping students after school to freshen up on poor work and how firm is student discipline today? Does the New Jersey Education Association (NJEA) by indirect formulation State policies regarding education and salary guides? Ask our legislators who truckle in trepidation to their every whim or caprice... is the tail wagging the dog? You can bet it is.

We commend our Commissioners upon their fortitude in "standing up to" the educators who apparently went too far in arousing public anger over "top-heavy" administrative salaries and sinecure positions that are unnecessary.

There are too many retired senior citizens in Belleville on fixed income and without children in school who would be unable to afford the tax increase the local school trustees submitted and which was defeated.

There is much merit in Assemblywoman Crecco's proposed bill that would provide that when a local school budget is voted down by the people, that the previous year's budget, with only a "cost-of-living" bonus included, would be retained in effect for the succeeding year.

Municipalities, as individuals, must live within their means. The same applies to school budgets. Belleville is a working class community. It could hardly be considered a rich suburban town. It does want good education for its children and will pay for it, but it is not inclined to provide unnecessary administrative high salaried jobs that do not contribute one iota to the improvement of the student's education.

The disclosure brought out at the meeting of the township commissioners and the school superintendent did much to justify the reduction of the school budget and should serve as an admonition to future school trustees to keep future school budgets within the bounds of the people to pay add without the political "fat" that irritated the commissioners and the people.

The people of this community ask for nothing more than justice and fair play for everyone and that it be dispensed without politics.

Two residents to graduate

Two Belleville residents have graduated from area colleges this month. Jacqueline Rizzolo has received a degree from St. Peter's College while Carmela T. Sperduto received a degree May 26.

Rizzolo received the McNerney Award for demonstrating outstanding qualities of leadership along with her degree in elementary education.

Sperduto was one of 575 students of Union County College who received degrees at the College's 54th Commencement.

OUR OPINION

Blind but can see

The story of Richard Ruffalo should be a story everyone should learn from. He has not let anything deter him from doing what he wants and that should awaken everyone to how minscuel many of their problems really are.

Ruffalo lost his eyesight four years ago, but he knew it was coming. He suffered from a hereditary disease which gradually stripped him from his sight. Instead of feeling sorry for himself and taking handouts he regrouped, created a new gameplan for himself and as he put it, "got on with my life." He will travel to Seoul, Korea to compete in the Paralympic games in October, an experience he would have never achieved if he was not blind.

This is not to say losing eyesight can be a benefit but it shows that nothing, no matter how terrible it appears at first, is earthshattering. Ruffalo may have lost his eyesight but he gained a more valuable sight, seeing what he was all about, finding out what he had on the inside. That can make all the difference in the world. And for Richard Ruffalo, apparently it has. He has set world records and won titles in athletics. He has won a distinguished teachers award. He coaches track and field at Belleville High School. He plans on getting married after he returns from Seoul. He has done more living in the past decade, when he first discovered he was losing his eyesight, than many people who have so-called "perfect" lives have done in their lifetimes.

A very intelligent donation

Members of Belleville Middle School did a very intelligent act. No they didn't win a talent or county-sponsored competition score high on a written test given. What they did score high on was the test of life.

In an effort to help endangered species, in this particular instance sea turtles, the students sent a donation to the Marine Mammal Stranding Center in the hopes it will aid the cleaning of our shoreline. It is a sign of the concern our children have for the environment, an environment that too often seems to be taken for granted. A telltale indication of the disintegrating environment was last summer's shore closings because of garbage floating on the beach.

The donation by the students will not completely stop people from dumping on the shores or in the oceans, but it is an indication the younger generation is very much aware, and deeply concerned, with what is happening around them in society. Their generation seems to have learned something from the generations preceeding them and have decided to attempt to change it.

The donation sent by the students to the Stranding Center dealt with the dangers of balloon launches to the environment, something not many people know about, considering there are balloon launches on more than a few occasions to celebrate. As the thank-you letter sent by the Stranding Center to the Middle School stated their donation was a positive method of cleaning the over burdened shorelines, a method that should not go unmentioned.

With ever-growing businesses and complexes to house the businesses and other complexes to house those who are employed by the businesses taking available land space at an alarming level, the few remaining areas where a person can relax and escape the rat race, most notably the shore or the wilderness, must be kept clean and vacationable. For without these areas, the pressures felt by many will not be reached. By showing they are concerned with the environment, the students are showing concern for life. For that they should be commended.

Remembering the meaning

This weekend, as most everyone knows, is Memorial Day. Everyone is looking forward to a long three-day weekend, and some are even keeping their fingers crossed and doing whatever else they may do for luck in the hopes in doesn't rain on their parade. But in almost every town there will be another parade, a Memorial Day parade with veterans, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other organizations marching, keeping the memory of those who fought valiently for our country and our freedom.

Memorial Day is not unluck many other holidays, such as Christmas, Easter, Fourth of July, Passover. These are all holidays and celebrated, as they should be. But how many people look at Christmas either with excitement or despair, because of the gift-giving done and forget about the birth of Jesus Christ? How many look at the Fourth of July in the same vein as Memorial Day, that it doesn't rain so the barbecue planned isn't spoiled. In many instances it seems that the true meaning of the holiday has become an afterthought to what can be done during a day off.

Sunday morning, people will gather, offer wreaths and prayers to those who fought for the United States. Unfortunately the number of persons offering remembrance will be far fewer than the number who will celebrating the day off. Perhaps during the course of the day everyone should offer a 'thank you' skyward because if it wasn't for those who gave themselves for the United States, there may not have been an opportunity for us to live as we do today.

YOUR OPINION

Pursued tennis question Negative opinion expressed

To the Editor:

One doesn't have to be a recreational tennis player to be genuinely touched and filled with sympathy for Mr. Ray Tirrell, reading about the tragic experience (Times of 5/19/88) he suffered at Belleville's tennis courts on a recent Sunday.

Qualifying as a voter and substantial taxpayer (Mr. Tirrell's standard) I "pursued" the issue by requesting an explanation in an attempt to gain relief for Mr. Tirrell's grief and the devastating effect the tennis courts are having not only on the many recreational players, but also on the Belleville High School tennis team, "facing an uphill battle competing with more affluent towns." I also wanted to find out if the Commissioner of Parks and Public Properties has been "goofing off" as the letter implied.

Commissioner Frantantoni explained to me, that he is well aware of the condition of the tennis courts. Some time ago he met on a consulting basis with the Town engineer and a professional tennis court contractor, for advise and guidance. The fact is, that the courts are situated on "unstable" ground (like the entire High School complex, built in a swamp area) which are the cause of the cracking.

Two years ago the tennis court contractor repaired the cracks "with NO guarantee" at a cost of $4,000. He explained that the repair consists of filling the cracks with a special asphalt base material (not ordinary tar, as Mr. Tirrell stated), which takes a certain length of time to "cure." The cost this year would be $4,500. He also gave an estimate of between $70,000 and $90,000 for new courts. Commissioner Frantantoni claims that this "solution" is currently outside his budget.

Commissioner Frantantoni also added, that he found, on taking over, all playground equipment was in a state of advanced neglect. All equipment has been repaired/replaced. The "Rec. House" has been renovated. The basketball courts can now once again be used. The swimming pool at the Friendly House will be in use again.

Commissioner Frantantoni assured me that Belleville's citizens will once again be able to use the recreation facilities and be proud of them, as well.

Watching us vote

To the editor:

As we enter the voting booth, during this Presidential Election year, let us keep in mind - we are not alone. "Somebody Up There" is watching us!

With this in mind, we would do well to leave our prides and prejudices at home, and in casting our ballots - let our conscience, alone, be our guide.

Chet Dobkowski

To the editor:

Once again, the Belleville Times gave a negative opinion about a positive program! The S.A.D.D. program in Belleville is extremely successful! On the night of the rally, there was also a grammar school music festival for Mr. Evans. Many people were unable to attend the S.A.D.D. program in order to honor Mr. Evans; however, the S.A.D.D. turnout was very good.

As a student of Belleville High School and a member of S.A.D.D., I know that many more than 30 contracts were signed the following day and that number continues to grow. First of all, ONLY SENIORS WHO DRIVE were allowed to sign. This represents only a portion of the club's membership.

I was very insulted by your negative attitude. I feel that my parents care and so do many of my friend's parents, so your rude insinuations are inaccurate.

S.A.D.D. has meetings after school where different guest lecturers speak to the students about alcoholism, drug abuse, and the hazards of driving under the influence. The meeting was held after school and, despite sports practice, there was a good turnout.

The contracts that were signed and the wonderful program created a community awareness about the problem.

I am sick and tired of Belleville never getting any credit in a newspaper that is supposedly for our town. Maybe it's because this paper is published in Nutley, our biggest school rival.

Concerned over cuts

To the editor:

We, the parents of Belleville school children, wish to express our concern with school budget cuts directly affecting the educational well being of our children. Therefore, we would like to express our opposition to any and all teacher cuts and/or guidance cuts (refer resolutions no. 13 and 14) proposed in the April 29, 1988 resolution by the Board of Commissioners. We also would like to express total opposition to any cuts concerning curriculum, at a time when our children are being tested and monitored on all levels (county, state, town) we can and will not condone any cuts directly affecting classroom instruction.

Respectfully submitted,
Consolidated Association of P.T.A.

PRESIDENT REAGAN is reported to be negotiating a deal with General Noriega of Panama to get him to resign and leave his country. Part of the deal requires the United States to drop its drug related charges against the General. There are two mistakes involved with this latest development.

In the first place, Panama is a sovereign country, and the U.S. has no business directing a sovereign country to get rid of its leader. That's the first mistake Uncle Sam has made. We should stop a moment and wonder how the other small countries of South and Central America are viewing Uncle Sam from where they sit. Their conclusion must be obvious — what right does the United States have to direct a sovereign country to rid itself of its leader? I believe the Reagan administration went too far, too fast — and as usual — it ends up with egg on its face. Now, the Administration is doing its darndest to wiggle out of a tough situation of its own making.

WELL, the defrocked television evangelist Jimmy Swaggert returned to the pulpit Sunday, ninety days after he made a tearful confession of sin. Swaggert was accused of consorting with a prostitute — to what extent and what shape the consorting took is to be left to the imagination — because details were never made public.

TELEVISION evangelism is now perceived as a sham — with spokesmen establishing double standards — one for the audience and one for themselves. "Do as I say, don't do as I do" — that appears to be the philosophy of most television evangelists. Jerry Falwell and Robert Schuller are standout exceptions. When these gentlemen speak — I listen. They are men of integrity and serve a great need for the people of this country. Despite the fact, I certainly think our readers would be better off by supporting their local religious organizations. At least we know how the contributions are spent — and by whom — and for whom. Less dollars to the television evangelists and more dollars in the local collection cups would serve humanity better.

A SURVEY of streams in the eastern United States by the Environmental Protection Agency indicates acidification of fresh water is much more widespread as was previously known. A draft report on the survey indicates a significant number of acidified streams stretch from New Jersey to North Carolina with special emphasis on the New Jersey areas. The report indicates that half the streams in the area have a potentially low capacity to neutralize acid rain. I can assure our readers that no one need push the panic button with respect to the quality of water available to residents of Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield, the area covered by our publications. The water entering these communities is the best quality filtered water in America. The filter process leaves nothing to chance.

DESPITE published warnings that Eastern Airlines equipment leaves much to be desired, I continue to commute between New Jersey and Florida via Eastern and see no reason to stop. I am convinced no airline captain would fly equipment that wasn't perfectly safe. The other half of a flight is the quality of personnel responsible for the plane and passengers. Last week, returning to New Jersey, I boarded Eastern Flight 890 and was very happy to see flight attendants Elaine Rubenstein, Terry (Teresa) O'Connor, Pamela Patch and Mary Ann Richberg. Mary Ann and Terry are two ladies with whom I have flown many times. Saturday, on my return flight to Palm Beach, Terry O'Connor was the senior stewardess, assisted by Marianne Kussavage. Marianne and I go back more than fifteen years of flying Eastern Airlines, and people like Marianne Kussavage, Mary Anne Richberg and Terry O'Connor are some of the reasons why I prefer Eastern. They make you feel at home — like one of the family. Eastern management may not know it, but it is fortunate to have good will representatives like these three young ladies for customer contact. Even under the most difficult of circumstances, these ladies make passengers feel very comfortable and at home.

The week before, I was privileged to enjoy the services of stewardesses Kyra Lawrence, Linda Morehouse, Susan Frisco and Cheryl Kaminski. Yes, although Eastern management is reported to be doing everything possible to demoralize its personnel, the fact of the matter is nothing has changed during my quarter century of commuting between New Jersey and Florida via Eastern Airlines. On my trips, personnel morale is very high.

STATE and Essex Democrat Chairman Ray Durkin is unhappy over the criticism that Newark Mayor Sharpe James aimed at the Essex County Freeholders. Durkin is concerned over the Sharpe turn.

RE-EVALUATION of real estate is just over the horizon. Newark and practically every Essex suburban community are already in violation of the existing laws that require re-evaluation every five years. It's almost a sure bet that Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield will be heading for re-evaluation in the next year or two. Glaring inequities come to the fore upon resale of existing homes. If the house next door is sold tomorrow, chances are it will bring $200,000 - $300,000, the purchaser will be obliged to pay a real estate tax based upon the most recent purchase price. The neighbor next door pays taxes based upon an older value. There is a built-in equalizer, but in practice, the system doesn't work.

NUTLEY'S new Township Commissioners are settled in, and as Mayor John Kelly said in his acceptance speech, "We will act as one to keep Nutley the wonderful town it is, was, and always will be." The affairs of the Nutley community continue to be in good hands, even though we have lost the valuable services of Commissioner Jerry Amiano and his professional expertise as a Certified Public Accountant and a Registered Municipal Accountant.

THE MAN believed to be responsible for the purse snatchings in Nutley, Belleville, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Irvington, Maplewood, Newark, South Orange, West Orange and Union was apprehended by East Orange police. The alleged thief robbed eight women in Bloomfield and additional victims from the other communities.

A PROPOSED ambulatory care center to aid out patients for Clara Maass Hospital was rejected by the Belleville Planning Board. The vote was 3-3, with Kevin Kennedy, Chris Albanese and Frank Simeone voting against. Let's hope Kevin, Chris and Frank never need the services of Clara Maass. Clara Maass attorney Robert Gaccione submitted adequate proof that parking accommodations were available to accommodate the proposed facility. In voting against the project, Kevin Kennedy, Chris Albanese and Frank Simeone performed a disservice to the community.

Belleville award winner

Five of New Jersey's outstanding high school students have won 1988 Englehard Corporate Scholarships. Joseph Lui of Parlin, Lisa Monteleone of Westfield, Kristen Blamble of Martinsville, Jennifer Zarra of Belleville, and John Lee of Edison, each will receive $6,000 to help with college costs.

"Englehard has always been a strong supporter of education," said Warren E. Smith, administrator of the program and Director of Community Affairs for Englehard. "But the amount of change we have experienced around the world in just the last decade is staggering. Today, more than ever, a good education is imperative for our young people."

For the past 20 years, Englehard has been sponsoring scholarships to help the sons and daughters of its employees through college. This year, eight scholarships totalling $48,000 were awarded. High-school-age children of Englehard employees nationwide compete for the scholarships.

Choosing eight winners from a large group of such involved, energetic students is not easy. Englehard relies on an experienced panel of independent education professionals, which includes a high-school principal, guidance counselor, college professor and admissions officer. In evaluating applicants, the panel uses a point system that takes many variables into account, including SAT scores, academic credits, rank in class and extra curricular activities.

Jennifer Zarra is a talented musician who plays the flute, piccolo and tenor saxophone. Needless to say, she is an enthusiastic member of the marching band of Belleville High School. Jennifer is also a member of the student government, Italian club, senior senate and national Honor Society. She still finds time to volunteer for the March of Dimes and a geriatrics center.

"Every experience has brought me closer to being the person I want to be," said Jennifer on her scholarship application. She will be a student at Rutgers University next fall. Jennifer is the daughter of Carmine Zarra, a chemical operator at Englehard's East Newark facility.

"These students have a clear sense of what they want to do with their careers," said Mr. Smith. "We are proud to have the opportunity to contribute to their futures. These are people who will make a difference in the years to come."

Englehard Corporation is a world leader in the creation of specialty chemical and engineered materials products and technologies. The company also engages in precious metal dealing and management, which complement its industrial businesses.

which set the stage for Pomaco to place stipulations on future testimony by witnesses Gabe Nazzola and Belleville Detective Vincent Cappeta.

"My reaction was one of utter horror," replied Giordano when asked by Librizzi how he felt when he received the letter. When Librizzi asked him what he did next, Giordano said he showed the letter to Officer Vincent Coscenza. Giordano attempted to quote Coscenza but Pomaco objected. When Giordano continued, he once again attempted to quote Commissioner of Public Works Angelo Risoli and once again was stopped by an objection by Pomaco.

At this time Giordano said he was under oath and would only speak the truth and he didn't need a "hot-shot lawyer" to interrupt. Judge Scanlon interceded Giordano and said he would suspend the case and send it back to Belleville if Giordano disobeyed the court.

Under cross-examination from Pomaco, Giordano said he had known Fornarotto for approximately two years. Pomaco then brought up the position of Housing Inspector, which both Giordano and Fornarotto had applied. He then asked Giordano about his crossing guard position and asked if he had quit the job.

"Yes," replied Giordano. "I was ill. I couldn't stay out on the street for long hours." Giordano blamed a relapse of the illness on the letter.

When asked why the letter was horrifying, Giordano said, "It discredited my qualifications as a crossing guard. It being an anonymous letter I was fearful of what the person might do. Because there was no signature I felt threatened."

Handwriting expert

Davis, who took 50 hours of class in the FBI Academy in 1980 and a Secret Service course in 1982 on handwriting, said there was little doubt in his mind who wrote the letter. He said habits he noticed were a combination when there was a letter e and a capital R, the horizontal stroke in the letter H and the capital G, which Davis said was, "most unique, one I had ever seen before."

"These three of four things are just some of the many identifications I found," he concluded. "There's no question in my mind."

As part of his comparison Davis, used the letter sent to Giordano and inspection cards with Fornarotto's signatures.

At that time Pomaco said the case should be dismissed because the legal term of harassment said it is something that annoys, alarms and harasses and one letter could not do these things.

"Each and every element has not been proven," stated Pomaco. "This case has political overtures and doesn't belong in the courts quite frankly."

Judge Scanlon disagreed, saying one letter can annoy, alarm and harass. He allowed the case to continue on a later date so Pomaco's expert witness can testify.

Joy...key to life

By James J. Cozzarelli, Jr.

Isn't hope, despite everything, the key to the human state, the logic of pure being on a universal level? Joy is the very substance of this extensibility. The more one realizes that joy is linked to happiness and wellbeing, to a feeling of inward satisfaction; to such an intense feeling that its repercussions can be felt at all levels of our own awareness; in the appreciation of the beautiful, spiritual insight, the pleasure of the senses. The collective mind, too, knows the joys of the assemblage, of the festivals and the pageants. Joy is not exclusive property of youth; its bright path marks our reason for being.

Between the climaxes of mystic self-denial and the excesses of popular rejoicing runs a more delicate, subtler daily path, the sign of a basic connection between man and the world: an approval of the creative process, the idea contained in its right form, the joy of work well done.

This course of signs and paths leads unconsciously back to the mind where creative energies are rejuvenated. Without this necessary combination of worry and effort, the world would be a desert of thought and a cold chamber of sentiment.

And so we have waited for the everyday, and have searched continuously for this pure gem of deep humanity. The quest has been as passionate as it has been enslaving. Here I offer you an account of my findings. But something else too: an invitation to journey, to adventure, to the revelation of the secret maze where all forms of language, the style of life, are embellished. I leave you to dream of joy, without complexes and without taking yourself seriously... Seriousness is the surest antidote to joy. The rightful measure of man is not his constraint but his freedom.

Notes referable to joy

Joy is connected with the deepest part within each person; where peace and calm rule, where there is no need for self-defense reactions.

Joy is perhaps the deep sleep of human aggressiveness.

Joy has been too often identified with pleasure. Pleasure is the material, physical and wordly sense of the world. And this gives rise to many uncertainties.

Joy is always the common denominator of these types of situations that are in themselves more complex. Joy is wellbeing. But wellbeing is not happiness. So, where does wellbeing begin and where does happiness begin?

I suppose that we must come back to the idea of overcoming difficulties. This is the joy of the successful competitor against all rivals. But it can also be the joy of the mystic who has gone beyond the demands of the flesh, and has managed to carry himself beyond the state of needing.

Yes, joy is related to this idea of balance after action. Of course, joy on the spiritual plane has another dimension. The joy of being in union with the superior requirement, with the eternal. The mystic's joy is that of higher communication. The mystic joy may be quite close to the ecstasy of all creators and artists. It is partly joy in work well done, but also in the creation of a work that is the source of joy for others. Living as we do in a mass-production society, our products are reasonably designed for certain functions; the more functional they are, the more beautiful and useful they are as well. Nevertheless, there is still space for joy even in this extreme industrialization of the product. This is possibly the most important point.

RELIGIOUS VIEWPOINT

Gerald Fortunato, Pastor
Silver Lake Baptist Church

Worship and Praise

Pastor Gerald Fortunato
Silver Lake Baptist Church

The Pharisees were a model of those who worship without worship. That has always been a danger to the church, a danger not solved by adding more rhythm to music or more emotion to the service. The term worship has been corrupted to an exercise for blessing. Mark Buntain observed some of our services in America and remarked that he had been in places where people were "praising praise" and "worshiping worship." While this is not easily received, its longer ranger consequences can be devastating to the believer and to the church.

I have often heard and been guilty of repeating the statement, "If you want to receive something from God, praise Him." While it is true that God responds to praise, the motive is wrong thereby nullifying the whole exercise. Worship is not a means of receiving but of giving. Petition, prayer, supplication, intercession (forms of praise in themselves), are the disciplines for receiving something from God; worship is the discipline of giving to God our adoration and love. Actually, worship and praise given with the end of receiving something in return is no praise at all. It is seduction. It is perhaps one of the more common sins of which we are unaware — putting God under obligation by praise: "I've given You praise and worship, now You owe me one." The Bible warns us, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God."

Jonathan Edwards said, "Having received what they call spiritual discoveries or experiences, their minds are taken up with self and the admiration of their experiences. What they are chiefly excited about is not the glory of God or the beauty of Christ, but the thrill of their own experiences. They keep thinking, 'What a wonderful experience this is! What a great discovery that is! What wonderful things I have encountered!' And so they put their experience in the place of Christ and His beauty and all-sufficiency. Instead of rejoicing in Christ Jesus, they indulge in their own wonderful experiences." That is humanism.

Worship is not for us, it is for God. Praise is not for us, it is for God. If I praise a person to solicit something in return, I am not praising him at all. The praise is insincere; it is a manipulative means to a personal end. The goal of worship and praise is to say something to God and to declare to all others His attributes of majesty, sovereignty, affection. He has already done great things of which He is worthy of worship.

Belleville hunters track down turkeys

Thanksgiving came a little early for three Belleville residents as they traveled to Missouri to hunt wild turkeys and came home with a few that should make good eating.

Nick Nicolette, Pat Buccino and James Fusaro drove 21 hours to Mansfield, a town of only 1,500 people and almost 75 miles from the nearest airport, to a friend's home April 19 and for the next week and a half dressed in camouflage and searched the woods looking for "gobblers."

"I have a friend (Jerry Adamson) who has about 600 acres and I've been going there for the past 14 years," said Nicolette. "This year I took my nephew (Buccino) and he did a good job. He got two good gobblers."

Buccino shot a 19 and a half pound turkey and a 22 pounder, while Fusaro tracked down one weighing 22 pounds. Nicolette came away empty this trip but said he has six or seven to his credit.

"I do a lot of small game hunting but this was the first time for turkey," said Buccino.

"I never had anything more exciting because you have to call them in and they're smart and have great eyesight, they can see you before you can see them" described Buccino. He said a turkey's eyesight is similar to a human looking through binoculars and Nicolette said a turkey can see a person blink from 40 yards.

To compensate for the turkey's sight advantage the hunters are completely camouflaged. They even have a net to place over their faces and camouflage for their gun, a 12 gauge shotgun with a three inch magnum. Because of the need for such disguising clothing, the hunters do not wear anything orange, as they do in states such as New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

"You gotta be perfectly still," noted Buccino. "It's an awesome site because you have to call them over with the hen call and when they come, they strut, they gobble and then fan their tails."

Added difficulty to the challenge of the hunt is the fact the turkey must be shot in the head or neck area because their quill, which Nicolette described, as "like armor." Only male turkeys can be shot and they must have a visible beard, a piece of hair that hangs from the turkey's chest.

"They're very quick," said Nicolette. "I think they can outrun a deer. Deer is a sinch to get compared to turkey."

With the hunting completed, the season is two weeks long, the three returned with the birds. Buccino said his brother, who has gone turkey hunting, is in the armed forces and stationed in Atlanta.

When his brother is on leave and comes to Belleville they plan on having a turkey dinner.

As for next year, the hunters are already anticipating the walks in the woods, looking for turkeys. "As long as I'm able to go, I'll go," predicted the 63 year-old Nicolette. "When we left, Jerry said to Pat 'make sure you bring the old man next time.'"

Assembly approves Crecco legislation

An Assembly package of constitutional amendments which would cap state expenditures has been approved by the Assembly State Government Committee, reports Assemblywoman Marion Crecco (R-Essex).

Crecco, who serves as vice-chair on the committee is a sponsor of this legislation. Other sponsors include Assemblyman Robert Martin (R-Morris), Assemblyman Rodney Frelinghuysen (R-Morris) and Speaker Chuck Hardwick (R-Union).

A total of four concurrent resolutions were combined to form one constitutional amendment which would place a cap on state spending. The four bills and resolutions were: ACR-73 (Crecco, Frelinghuysen), ACR-77, ACR-82, and ACR-83 (Martin, Hardwick).

"This cap is long overdue," explained Crecco, Assistant Assembly Majority Whip. "For too long, the state has indulged in wasteful spending and this must be curbed. We are experiencing a strong economy now, but we must be prepared for any future events."

Under provisions of the constitutional amendment, spending and expenditures would be capped or limited to the raise, or fall, of the per capita income in New Jersey, based on three year moving average. For example, if the per capita income rises by two percent, a cap of two percent would be placed on expenditures. Crecco added that certain items, such as costs imposed on the state from the federal government, capital improvements, the property tax relief fund, retirement plan costs, Casino Revenue Fund monies and general bonding are to be excluded from the cap by the legislature.

Emergency appropriations

Another provision allows for an appropriation in excess of the cap to be made. Any such items must be for a single purpose and must be approved by a two-thirds vote of both houses. This allows for emergency appropriations to be made.

Under this bill, 60 percent of the state budget would be capped. This means about $7 billion of the current budget.

"I am urging Speaker Chuch Hardwick to quickly post this package for a vote," concluded Crecco. "We must present this important bill to the voters in the November election so accountability can be returned to the state."

This bill heads for a full vote of the Assembly, where it must pass by a three-fifths vote. If approved by the Senate as well, the amendment is presented to voters for a referendum.

Stiffer law for auto thefts

Crecco has written another bill in response to increased automobile thefts committed by juveniles.

Under provisions of A-3086, a mandatory 90 day jail sentence would be imposed on a juvenile who is convicted for the theft of an automobile for a second or subsequent offense.

"Currently, many municipalities are experiencing an increase in auto thefts committed by juveniles," said Crecco. "Many of these juveniles are being employed by adults knowing that they will not be incarcerated. This bill imposes a mandatory minimum jail term of 90 days for those repeat offenders."

Under current law, theft of an automobile is a fourth degree offense. This means that in the case of juveniles, the preceding judge has the right to impose a penalty, and a term of incarceration is not required. This bill makes the repeated theft on an automobile by a juvenile a third degree offense, which requires a 90 day jail term.

"By deterring young people from this act, we can also make a positive impact on auto insurance. If companies are paying less claims for stolen cars, then perhaps we can see an improvement on insurance rates," Crecco concluded.

This bill was formally introduced on May 2, and was sent to the Assembly Education Committee for review.

Some 150 black and white residents attended a meeting sponsored by the Belleville Fair Housing Council. They found that housing was available for the asking. ## Increased profits for First DeWitt Bank

First State Financial Services, Inc. (NASDAQ-FSFI), parent holding company for First DeWitt Savings, reported substantial increases across the board in all the benchmarks of a profitable and progressive financial institution:

Michael J. Quigley, III, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, stated that he and his staff are gratified by the excellent showing. "It's a pleasure to present such an optimistic report at the end of our first quarter of being a publicly-held company," he said. First DeWitt converted from a mutual savings & loan association to a publicly held financial institution in December 1987.

"We have a superior financial position supported by healthy growth, profitability, and progress. We have excellent liquidity, strong reserves well in excess of Federal regulations, and an optimistic outlook for future financial advancement and expansion. And to top it off, we have the confidence of the people in the four New Jersey counties comprising our market area as well as the trust and reliance of our rapidly expanding stockholder group - with a combination like that, you've got to win," Mr. Quigley stated.

The Association reported income of $1,021,000 or $.32 cents per share for the first quarter of First DeWitt's public ownership. In the same period, assets grew to $396-million, up $53-million from a year earlier, a 15 percent increase. Loans rose to $317-million from $246-million, while deposits rose $338-million from $307-million and the Association paid out over $5-million in dividends during the quarter.

All of this progress came about despite major investments in expansion, modernization, the opening of new offices, and the completion of the new 26,000 sq. ft. Corporate Headquarters in West Caldwell.

The Association's most recent development was the Grand Re-opening of the greatly-enlarged Brookdale office in Bloomfield, which occurred on Saturday, April 30.

Management looks forward to serving the business community with a newly-installed commercial loan and business development department. A complete line of services will be offered by an experienced staff of commercial personnel who recently joined the organization.

First DeWitt has been outstanding in customer service throughout the 103-years of its history. Now in the midst of a most healthy financial environment, the Association looks forward to increased growth as a result of the funds raised through its public offering. The lending and investment capabilities generated through the offering will allow further expansion, strengthen surplus capital, and provide access to future financial markets.

First DeWitt operates out of eleven offices in Essex, Morris, Sussex, and Ocean Counties.

Bellevillites explore future of space travel

Huntsville, Ala. — Genny Andrews and Jennifer Salmon of Belleville explored the future of space travel while training for realistic Space Shuttle mission simulations at U.S. Space Academy Level I.

Space Academy trainees in grades seven through ten use mockups of the shuttle orbiter, cockpit, Spacelab, mission control and the Space Station during realistic two-hour mission simulations.

Each team of 20 trainees participates in two missions. Half are in mission control, monitoring activities aboard the shuttle. Each person in mission control has a specific task: mission director, flight director, weather and tracking officer, principal investigator, and more. All must work as a team with the shuttle crew to ensure a successful mission.

The orbiter crew includes a commander and pilot, whose controls move the hydraulically-powered cockpit. Mission specialists don space suit mockups and climb into space walk simulators for work outside the orbiter. Others perform experiments using Spacelab and Skylab hardware that was used for actual astronaut training.

More than 16,000 young people from all 50 states and around the world will participate in U.S. Space Camp programs this year, including Space Academy Level I. Trainees also tour NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, where the U.S. Space Station is being developed and experience the sensation of Space Academy's astronaut training simulators.

The five-day program begins with an orientation in the shuttle cockpit and in ground control simulators developed exclusively for Space Academy. The full-scale Spacelab module uses hardware from the actual payload crew, mockup used during training for the Spacelab I mission.

Trainees are carefully matched to assignments in mission control and in the orbiter before intensive mission training begins. By mid-week the first teams are ready to start their missions.

Trainees discover the problems caused by disorientation as they spin in the Multi-Axis Training Simulator. They also operate the large Remote Manipulator Arm, and use tiny thrusters to guide the Ground-Mounted Manning Maneuvering Unit as it "flies" a fraction of an inch above the Training Center floor.

Talks by leading aerospace engineers and scientists provide insight into the development and operation of spacecraft, plus a glimpse of future space projects. And exciting Omnimax movies in the Spacedome Theater, including film shot by the astronauts in orbit, give a feeling of life aboard the Space Shuttle.

Family members are invited to graduation ceremonies on Friday, where each trainee receives Space Academy wings, a certificate, and a group photo. Special team and individual awards are presented, concluding an exciting week.

Other U.S. Space Camp programs include Space Camp for youths in the fourth through seventh grades; Space Academy Level II for high school juniors and seniors, and college freshmen; Adult Space Academy; and "Teaching the Future: Teacher's Space Orientation Course."

Recycling continues to grow

Commissioner Vincent Frantantoni extended his personal thanks to all those citizens who have participated in the township's volunteer recycling program.

"There is a steady flow of people who are recycling in our yard at 48 William Street, and there are many regular 'customers.' I would like to thank everyone who is taking the time to recycle in our township. Your materials are bringing additional revenue to us, and this will have a positive effect on our future dumping costs."

The department also announced that there has been a steady increase in the amount of materials being recycled. Collections of newspapers, glass, and aluminum cans, the main source of recycled items, has also continued to increase.

Recycling coordinator Joe Scaparrotta added that the adding of Saturday to the schedule has given the program a tremendous boost. Saturday has turned out to be the most popular day for people to recycle at the yard," he stated. "Citizens are now starting to save their newspapers on a weekly basis, along with bottles and cans, and bringing them to the yard on a regular basis, and as always, we will pick up for those who are disabled or handicapped."

The recycling yard is located at 48 William Street, Belleville and is open from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

In addition to paper, glass, and cans, corrugated cardboard, phone books, scrap metals, and magazines are accepted at the yard.

The Belleville Recycling Department has announced that all businesses who recycle goods, and all people, recyclers, that is, those who collect materials from their neighborhood and sell them; should submit tonnage figures on what they recycled in 1987.

The department stated these figures are needed for the purpose of applying for tonnage grants from the state.

The department also stressed that they are not trying to discourage anyone who wishes to collect newspapers, cans, or bottles, and sell them on their own in order to earn extra money.

"This is a time consuming process," explained Commissioner Vincent Frantantoni. "I am asking all businesses and recyclers to please help because we must accumulate these records. By submitting 1987 figures to us, you can be of great assistance to the township of Belleville."

"Tonnage grant applications are due July 1, so it is important that this information be compiled quickly. The greater amount of recycled items that we receive documentation for, the greater the size of our grant will be," Frantantoni added.

"I do not want to hinder anyone from recycling on their own to earn some extra cash, in fact I encourage it. I just ask that you let the township know how much you recycled for the purposes of this grant," Frantantoni concluded.

The department also stated that anyone wishing more information or assistance may contact the Recycling Department at 450-3322. Figures may be submitted to the Recycling Department at 152 Washington Avenue, Belleville.

The department also thanks everyone in advance for their cooperation.

Commission meeting

to be $11,000 per department and asked the Commissioners if their departments could run without the increases. Mayor Michael Pizzi said he did not think it could be done.

Jerry Del Guercio noticed that while some departments stayed even with or less than the five percent cap, other departments were increased by as much as seven percent.

"This shows that it doesn't pay for another commissioner to cut because there will be another commissioner to use it as gravy."

Ed Torti agreed with Del Guercio, saying he thought it was wrong to have the cap be compared to the entire budget and not individual departments. He said in previous years all the commissioners could not go over five percent and wondered why the policy changed.

Torti also wondered why there was an allocation of $1,000 for the Belleville Redevelopment Agency. He was told the money was the least amount allowed to be put in for an agency and would be used in case of meetings. When Torti said the group has not had a public meeting in quite some time, he was told it would be better to have the money in case the group decided to meet instead of having to make an emergency appropriation.

Gabe Nazziola asked how an increase of $1,627,000 in Other Expenses could be justified when the interest rates have been around the three percent mark for the last few years. He said the increase should be more in line with the inflation rate. He was told Other Expenses includes taking into consideration transfers of funds and if they did not the budget would come up short.

Common equity terms defined

By Thomas P. Madaras
Financial Consultant
Shearson Lehman Hutton

What's in a word? Plenty, especially if the word is directly linked to your investment planning.

The financial services marketplace is constantly changing, but fortunately the terms used to describe stocks — one of the most common investments — remain constant.

Following is a glossary of some of the terms you may encounter in the process of buying, selling or even reading about stocks (or equities, as they are also known). This is the first in a two-part series. The second column will focus on terms that are less basic but equally vital for an understanding of the stock market.

Blue Chips: In poker, blue chips have the highest value. Similarly, blue chip stocks and the companies they represent rank highest in terms of earnings, payment of quarterly dividends over a long period of time, industry leadership, growth prospects and overall reputation.

Book Value: Simply stated, this term refers to the net asset value of a company's securities and is calculated by subtracting the firm's liabilities from its assets, then dividing by the number of shares held in public hands. Book value is not the same as market value, and generally has little if any relation to it.

Common Stock: The number one security in our economic system, common stock is a share in the ownership or equity of a corporate business. The majority of stocks traded in this country are common stocks.

Dividend: This is a payment made to a company's stockholders in cash, additional shares of the issuing company's stocks, or securities of another company that it owns. In the case of common stocks, dividends can vary or may not be paid at all. These payments are distributed to stockholders on a per share basis in amounts voted by a company's board of directors.

P/E Ratio: "Price/earnings" ratio refers to the relationship between the price at which a stock is selling and the company's earnings per share. In general, a high P/E indicates that investors expect future earnings will be greater than present earnings, and vice versa.

Preferred Stock: As the name indicates, these stocks are "preferred" because they carry a specified dividend rate and their holders receive dividend payments or asset distribution before common shareholders if the company is liquidated.

Yield: A stock's "yield" is its percentage of return per year. For example, a stock that sells for $20 and pays an annual dividend of $2 per share has a yield of 10 percent. Yield is sometimes referred to as "return."

These are but a few of the terms used in the buying and selling of stocks. In the next column, I will define additional commonly used terms and techniques.

Editor's Note: Thomas Madaras is making available to our readers a free copy of the Shearson Lehman Hutton booklet "Eleven Common Errors in Investing." To get your copy, call him at (201) 635-4427 or write to him in care of Shearson Lehman Hutton, 127 Main St., Chatham, NJ 07928.

Coping with a learning problem

By Carl Lefevre

You get a call from your son's teacher, "I'm sorry to bother you at home, but your son is just not doing his homework. I know he has the ability... would you talk to him? Many have had calls such as this. How we deal with what may be an early sign of a learning problem is very important.

Realizing that your child has a potential learning problem is often very difficult to accept. This is because our children are a reflection of ourselves, and, after all, we never had learning problems... or didn't our parents know we did? So, if you get a call like this, don't panic. Put on your problem-solving hat and let's go to work.

The first step in helping your child is to find out what specific ly is the problem. In the case of not doing homework, the problem may be more centered at home than in school and a relatively easy problem to solve. For instance, how much television does your child watch? When does he do his homework? How much does he have? Have you asked your son about these things... even if you haven't had a call from the teacher? Now it's time to talk to your son and this is often the most difficult part of solving the problem.

We all have defense mechanisms that are triggered when someone tells us that we're doing something wrong. So don't trigger them. Discuss in a friendly, firm way the conversation you had with the teacher. Detail the teacher's concerns, and assure the child that by working together the problem will be solved. This is a point where many parents tend to punish their children, and this is a normal reaction. However, don't do that!

Imagine if you came home from work and your spouse said, "You haven't done the yard work yet!" and then you were told that there would be no television for a month and no tennis or golf for two months. Surely the punishment would not fit the crime, if there ever was a crime. You probably didn't do the yard work because you gave something else a higher priority, like working late and feeding your family. Your son is giving something else a higher priority than his education and he probably likes this about as much as yard work.

You can help him in several ways. For example, have you considered limiting the amount of television he watches daily? That's right, I said it! Limit the amount of television. Have him select some television shows to watch and build into his schedule some homework. If you do this, you may also find yourself reading more and enjoying it.

In summary, an identified problem such as not wanting to do homework is normal behavior. Getting your son or daughter to do homework is the challenge both you and the teacher face. Getting your son or daughter to do homework doesn't have to be an all-out battle. Approaching problems such as this in a rational problem-solving manner is the key to success.

MORE LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Nancy's 'undesirables'

To the Editor:

In the past, First Lady Nancy Reagan has been instrumental in ridding the Reagan White House of its "undesirables." They whose presence seemed to taint her husband's Presidency.

The First Lady, however, has been extremely hesitant in calling for, hubby's buddy, Attorney General Edwin Meese's resignation.

I would advise Nancy Reagan to once again resort to some "Presidential arm twisting" that would force Ol' Ron to oust Edwin Meese.

The continued presence of Mr. Meese as the Attorney General will only further stigmatize the Reagan Administration and greatly demean the meaning of American Justice.

Revised recreation

To the Editor:

Our Recreation Department policy for 1988 is being revised to provide a more enjoyable atmosphere in which our youngsters can learn a sport.

Winning will always be the object of any contest. However, we are charged with the responsibility of shaping our youngster's future attitudes. Our coaches shall be directed to encourage fair participation, good sportsmanship and fun.

We shall be rewarding all our children with team patches which will acknowledge their participation. Trophies will be reserved for those who choose to pursue sports on a more competitive basis. For those who invest the time and energy to excel in a certain field, the trophy will be the goal to strive for. It will be a more prized possession.

Parents are encouraged to be cheerleaders and rally support for their child's team. We ask that coaches and umpires be respected, and ugly confrontations be avoided. Remember, our children learn what they see and hear.

Parents and children are requested to care for uniforms and equipment. All uniforms and equipment must be returned following the last game of the season.

We wish everyone a good season and ask that we all keep in mind our department's name... "RECREATION."

Thank you,
Vincent J. Frantantoni, Commissioner
Dept. of Parks & Public Property
Municipal Building, Belleville

Vote on the bill!

To the editor:

As a professional nurse and citizen of Essex County, I urge the members of the New Jersey Senate Revenues, Finance and Appropriation Committee to release Bill S1981, sponsored by Senator Richard J. Codey, among others, so it can have a full Senate vote.

The bill is the companion bill to the Assembly passed bill, sponsored by Assemblypersons Kelly and Crecco. They call for state aid for county mental hospitals, including $7,320,000 for Essex County Hospital Center. The money is to be used to upgrade direct patient care staff levels, including salary increases to nursing staff, to undertake capital improvements and to purchase needed equipment.

Of course, even after it is released from committee, it has to be approved by the Senate, and then Governor Kean. But the faster it is released, the faster the rest of the process can go, and since Essex County Hospital Center is on notice from the Health Care Financing Administration, a federal review agency, that it stands to lose almost $2 million in Medicare and $14 million in Medicaid funding, if staffing and physical deficiencies are not corrected, time is of the essence.

I would also like to ask the citizens of Essex County to, once again, help us. Please call the chairman of the Revenue, Finance and Appropriation Committee, Lawrence Weiss (201-826-1900) and urge him to release S1981, for a full Senate vote.

Thank you,
Sally Isreal, R.N.

Boning up on Osteoporosis

When one thinks of osteoporosis, the image of a hunched-over elderly woman may come to mind. However, this mineral depletion of the bones affects the feet as well as the spine, hips, and limbs. Women in particular are vulnerable to brittle bones because of life-long dietary deficiencies. Many times, not enough attention was paid to calcium supplementation during early years of life. When this calcium deficiency meets up with the decreased production of the female hormone estrogen in later years, the stage is set for osteoporosis. Estrogen has a regulating effect on calcium in the body. Because osteoporosis can be dealt with on a variety of fronts, the podiatrist can help. Estrogen therapy, exercise, and orthotic devices can all lead to stronger bones.

Although osteoporosis is more common in women, men can also suffer bone loss. Along with calcium supplements, a program of exercise is recommended. Walking and swimming are excellent choices for anyone trying to avoid osteoporosis. For a consultation, call DR. PAUL A. CAPUTO at 759-6560. My office, including surgical facility and x-ray, is nearby at 345 Washington Ave., Belleville. Office hours by appointment.

HINT: Stress serves to make bones stronger.

NOT THE SKIM.

Some newspapers don't get read — they get skimmed. Readers skim the headlines, the pictures, the ads. Not in The Nutley Sun, Belleville Times or Bloomfield Life. They are not filled with "canned" material like many newspapers. No photos from Lebanon, no syndicated columns from Washington, no wire service stories from other far-off places. Our papers are filled every week with local stories and pictures about local people and local happenings. No wonder they're so well read. We give you the cream, not the skim.

Consumers: test knowledge of your rights

Test your consumer knowledge and skills. Ask yourself if the following statements are true or false. Then check below for answers.

You must either pay cash or write a check payable to the post office for collect-on-delivery (C.O.D.) orders delivered by U.S. mail.

False. Postal regulations were recently changed so that, if you receive a purchase by C.O.D. delivery through the U.S. Postal Service, you may pay cash or by check made out to the mailer, rather than the post office (as was previously required). Then, if there is a problem with the merchandise, you can immediately stop payment on the check before it is received and cashed.

Once a charge is listed on your credit card bill and you receive it in the mail, you must pay the bill, even if the charge is in error or the quality of the merchandise is not as you expected.

False. If you report to the card issuer, in writing and within 60 days, any billing error on your credit card, you can withhold payment on the disputed portion of your credit card bill. The card issuer has 90 days or two billing cycles, whichever comes first, to get back to you with a decision. If you have a problem with the quality of an item purchased by credit card, you must make an effort to resolve the dispute with the merchant first, before notifying the card issuer.

Telephone sales personnel are under no obligation to send you written materials about an offer.

True. But neither are you under an obligation to buy something on which you have no written information. Ask for written details, and look for restrictions or conditions you were not told about on the telephone. This will also help you avoid con artists who really have nothing to sell, and who just want access to your credit card accounts.

Cable television shopping programs can substitute comparable goods if the item you ordered is unavailable.

True. If you are thinking of making purchases through a television shopping program, be sure to ask when you place your order whether the company reserves the right to substitute comparable goods. You might also want to

Berkeley in Bahamas — Students from The Berkeley School of Garret Mountain in West Paterson took part in a vacation to the Bahamas arranged by The Berkeley Schools for the spring break between school quarters. ask about the company's cancellation and refund policy. And keep a record of your order in case you have a question or complaint.

When you order by mail, the company has 30 days in which to ship your complete order.

False. If you order by mail, your order must be shipped within 30 days after the company receives your complete order, unless another period is agreed upon when placing the order or is stated in an advertisement. If your order is delayed, a notice of delay should be sent to you within the promised shipping period, along with an option to cancel the order.

All home improvement contractors must be licensed and bonded.

False. Check with your state, county or city housing authority to see if licensing and/or bonding is required of contractors in your area. If so, make sure the contractor you choose is properly licensed and bonded — it's one step you can take toward assuring quality work.

Junior women garner awards at Federation's state convention

Members of the Junior Women's Club of Belleville attended the annual convention of the Junior Membership Dept. for the State of N.J. May 13 to 15 at the Somerset Hilton.

The three day event included workshops, business meetings, elections and award banquets.

The local club garnered several awards including 1st place, good government award; 1st place, best work in crime prevention; 1st place, public affairs; 1st place, music; 2nd place, membership; 3rd place, conservation and 1st place, best craft for the annual Santa train ride. Mary Lou Marrone won two 2nd place awards for personal crafts.

The Belleville Juniors also received a community excellence award for sponsoring the charter for the Belleville High School chapter of S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving.) Co-chairmen Maryann Lopreato and Donna Branca were instrumental in getting the program started. An award was also won for raising money towards the $100,000 donation to the Tourette Syndrome Association, this year's state project.

Seventeen of the 24 members of the club attended the convention including president Julie Paoella and Maryann Flor, 8th District advisor and Linda Caputo, state project chairperson.

This year, the juniors contributed over $8,000 to charity and gave more than 4,000 hours of volunteer service. Paoella called it "a phenomenal year" and attributed the success of the club to a true "team effort."

Belleville Times SPORTS

One record was set and another was tied on the girls' track scene at Belleville High.

Tina Miller, a senior shot putter, set a new school record in that event at the NNJIL championships. Miller threw the shot 30'2 1/2" to establish the new mark and eclipse the prior record by 1/2".

"She's done a good job for us all year long," said Miller's coach, Karen Fuccello. "It's especially nice, however, when they set a school record along the way."

While Miller was setting a new mark, Erica Townes was tying a rather old record when she ran the 400 meters in 64.0 at the Essex County championships, held last weekend.

Townes tied the school record which was set back in 1977 by Peggy Gilday, who was then a sophomore at Belleville High. Could it possibly be 12 seasons since Gilday set that mark? Obviously it is, but you can't help but wonder where the time has gone.

Gilday set the mark in the spring of '77, which was also the first season of girls' varsity track at Belleville High. Some of her teammates from the '77 club were Sue Smith, Re Herter, Dorothy Widuch, Jackie Wis, Sue Kosturko, Jill Harris and Dina Arise.

That first team was coached by Debbie Meola, who still coaches the girls' junior varsity basketball team, and assists Fuccello on the varsity ranks in hoops. The '77 team didn't do too well in dual matches, it won two meets, but the girls established the sport for future seasons.

Smith is perhaps the best known athlete from that team. She was a junior in '77 and before graduating in 1978, she would set school records in the half mile and mile.

Smith was also an outstanding cross country runner, the first female athlete to excel in the sport at Belleville High.

After Smith, athletes like Dana Caruso, Barbara Gundry and Patty Bliss excelled on the cinders. Currently, Joyce Luongo has been a standout on the team. Luongo, a senior, has run all three track seasons (cross country, indoor and outdoor track) during her varsity career.

During the summer months, the Times will present a feature on female athletics at Belleville High School from the early 70's, to the present. We'll talk to the coaches who have helped shape the various programs, and look at where the programs are going over the next five years.

SOFTBALL TEAM BACK IN COUNTY FINALS

You have to hand it to the Belleville softball team. Despite a tough season, the girls have somehow found their way back to the county championship game for a record seventh straight season. Belleville will battle Caldwell this weekend in the title game. It's the third straight season that Belleville and Caldwell have faced each other for the county crown.

Caldwell has held the upper hand in the previous two finals, winning, 2-1 in 1986 and 3-2 last year. In last year's final, Belleville held a 2-0 lead heading into the last of the seventh inning, but Caldwell rallied with three runs and came away victorious.

In the '86 title game, the two teams went into extra innings before Caldwell scratched across a run and won.

This year, Caldwell will be considered the favorite to win the crown again. The Lady Chiefs were undefeated entering this week and were ranked third in the state. However, Belleville is a team that has faced adversity all year long and prevailed.

Carl Corino's club was 19-7 entering this week, and Corino is optimistic about his team's chances. He also points out that the '88 club is young, but has gained a great deal of experience over the past four weeks.

"They have battled hard, I have to hand it to them," Corino said of his team. "We only have two players who were a part of last year's team (that finished 28-4 and won the sectional crown). We've had to make some adjustments, but the team has responded."

Laurie Dondarski and Natalie La Bella are the only players in this year's starting lineup that saw extensive action last season. La Bella, an outfielder last season, has been moved to first this year after the injury to Carol Morrison.

Dondarski, a second baseman, has been outstanding all year long. She has been getting on base consistently and gets the Belleville offense moving from her leadoff position.

Jennifer Bridge, a sophomore, has done well at shortstop in her first year of varsity action. Behind the plate, Laurie Moyer, a sophomore, has done well in her first year of varsity.

Another soph, Diane Di Vincenzo, had a key hit against Livingston in last week's county semi final victory. Simone Edwards, a junior, is out for the team for the first time and has done very well.

Anne Carlucci, a first year senior, has played well in the outfield. Corino has also received an excellent performance from another first year senior, Michele Milano.

"The team has been playing intense, hard nosed softball," said Corino. "I like our chances this weekend. Caldwell is an excellent ball club, no doubt, but we have been playing well."

Win or lose, the county title game with Caldwell on Saturday night at Pulaski Park is the final game of the season for Belleville. The Lady Bucs were eliminated in state tournament action by a very good team from Union last Friday.

Good luck to Corino and his team on its attempt to regain the county championship.

CREW, GOLF TEAMS DOING WELL

The Belleville crew team will take part in the national championships this weekend in Virginia. Last weekend, the Bucs ventured to the Stotesbury Regatta, which was suddenly moved to Delaware after the original location, Philadelphia, was beached because of rough waters.

Despite the move, Belleville fared well, with the midweight four capturing the championship. The boat features Jerry Russo, Mike McGuire, Tom Eccles, Brian Villano and Sue O'Donnell. Belleville will have five boats at the nationals this weekend. Congratulations to midweight coach Bob Cassin on winning at the Stotes, and congrats to varsity coach Scott Fabian for an excellent season on the high seas for Belleville crew.

The golf team is vying for a second straight conference championship. The Bucs battled Montclair yesterday in what was supposed to be a show down for the title. Gene D'Allesandro's team had won 11 straight matches entering this week and were 13-2 overall. D'Allesandro also announced that Anthony Alvino advanced to the state individual golf championships, which were held earlier this week. Congrats to Anthony on an excellent accomplishment.

Lady Bucs return to county finals

Perhaps destiny is on the side of the Belleville softball team in 1988. The Lady Bucs are back in the Essex County championship game for a seventh straight season after posting an 11-2 triumph over Livingston last Sunday night at Pulaski Park.

Carl Corino's team took a 19-7 record into the final week of the season. The girls battled Nutley last Tuesday and were at Passaic yesterday. The team will then have a couple of days to prepare for the county championship game, which is slated for Saturday night, at Pulaski Park, starting at 7 p.m. Once again, the competition is powerful Caldwell. This marks the third straight year that Belleville and Caldwell have met for the Essex County championship. Caldwell won in 1986, 2-1 and last year, 3-2.

The fact that Belleville is playing once again for county supremacy should be of little surprise. During the decade of the 80's, Belleville has been a constant entry in the title game. This Saturday's contest will mark the eighth time in nine seasons that the Lady Bucs have appeared in the championship game. Only in 1981 did Belleville not make it to the finals.

However, the 1988 club has had to overcome a little more than previous entries and Corino feels a certain amount of pride for this year's group.

"I give these kids all the credit," he said. "They have gained a great deal of experience over the past couple of weeks. The kids are playing on a mission. They're playing their hearts out, and are playing good heads up ball. I couldn't be more prouder of a team. It's been great watching this team advance."

Corino admitted he didn't feel this year's club could make it back to the finals.

"I had my doubts," he said. "With the injuries this year, I didn't think we could get back. But the kids proved me wrong. We're back in the title game, and we'll be playing a great team in Caldwell. But I truly think we can beat team. If we play our game..."

Corino didn't finish that last sentence, but you could tell what he was thinking. In a year of anything goes, a one game championship is certainly anyone's ball game.

"I really felt this team had a chance after we stopped Verona (in the quarterfinals of the tourney)," Corino said. "That was a tough match up for a quarterfinal round and we were able to beat a very good team."

Last Sunday, Belleville never trailed in defeating an old nemesis in Livingston.

Earlier this year, Livingston had beaten Belleville in a regular season contest and the Lady Bucs were the number two seed in the tournament.

The game was scoreless for three innings, with Tricia Donnelly on the mound for Belleville.

In the top of the fourth, Belleville scored twice. Jennifer Bridge started the scoring when she walked and stole second base. Laurie Moyer singled Bridge home, but Moyer was later erased when Simone Edwards reached on a fielders choice.

Edwards stole second and advanced to third on a passed ball. Natalie La Bella then lined a single, scoring Edwards and Belleville's second run.

In the fifth, the Lady Bucs increased the lead to 3-0. Laurie Dondarski singled and went to second on a hit by Michele Milano. Bridge then singled and a throwing error allowed Dondarski to score the third Belleville run.

In the sixth, Belleville scored twice more to increase the lead to 5-0. Edwards singled and stole second base. With one out, Anne Carlucci singled to drive in Edwards. Carlucci advanced to third on a stolen base and past ball and scored run number five when Amalia Fabiano grounded out.

In the top of the seventh, Belleville broke the game wide open, scoring six times. Diane Di Vincenzo had two RBI's in the frame and Carlucci, La Bella, Edwards and Moyer all had one RBI in the inning.

On the evening, Dondarski was 3 for 5, Edwards, 3 for 4, Moyer, 1 for 2, Bridge 1 for 3 with two runs scored and Di Vincenzo had one hit and drove home two runs.

Donnelly was outstanding on the mound, striking out three, walking four and improving her record to 8-2 on the year.

"She has done very well," Corino said of Donnelly. "She pitched very well all week."

Earlier in the week, Belleville lost in the state sectional tourney to Union, 2-0. Last year, Belleville won the sectional championship and played in the Group IV title game where it lost to Edison.

"Union was outstanding," said Corino. "But once again, I've got to hand it to our kids. They played a real gutsy game against a very powerful team. Both of Union's runs were unearned and Donnelly pitched very well."

Belleville was limited to two hits in the contest, those hits coming from Dondarski and Carlucci.

Belleville defeated Montclair, 4-3 in an NNJIL game last Tuesday. In that game, Donnelly allowed

Alvino qualifies for golf state championship

Anthony Alvino, a junior for the Belleville golf team, qualified for the prestigious state individual championships last week by firing an 82 at the state regionals, held at the Essex County Country Club.

Alvino's performance highlighted an outstanding week for the Bucs, a week in which the team won two more matches to increase its winning streak to 11. Gene D'Allesandro's club took a 13-2 mark into a big match against Montclair yesterday. If Belleville won that match, it would clinch a second straight NNJIL Essex-Passaic championship. Should Montclair have won, the Mounties would garner the league crown for 1988.

This afternoon, Belleville's top two golfers will travel to the NNJIL individual championships at Farmstead.

Last week, Belleville qualified for the Region 3 state golfing championship and performed very well.

"We were up against some outstanding teams," D'Allesandro said. "Last year, we had a pretty good team, but didn't fare well in the regional match. This year, we did very well there. I was very pleased with the results."

Belleville finished seventh in a field of 16 teams in the regionals. The Bucs were led by Alvino, who fired that 82 which propelled him to the state championships, which were held last Monday. Mike D'Allesandro also did well at the regions, finishing with a 90.

Joe Cerreto and Chris Duhaime completed the lineup for Belleville at the regionals.

As of presstime, D'Allesandro

Strong pitching usually beats strong hitting and such was the case last Monday when Cedar Grove upended the Belleville Bucs, 5-0 in the quarterfinal round of the Greater Newark Tournament.

The defeat lowered Belleville's record to 12-9-1 as the Bucs entered this week's action. Belleville battled Bloomfield in back to back games last Tuesday and yesterday. Tuesday's game was a state sectional match up and yesterday's contest was an NNJIL encounter. This afternoon, the team will be host to Passaic in a 4 p.m. start. Tomorrow, the team is at Eastside to make up the tie game the teams played earlier this year.

While the Bucs are winding down its NNJIL schedule, the team might have to fit in a second round state game, assuming it defeated Bloomfield last Tuesday. Belleville also has a game with Paterson Kennedy to get in before the season concludes. The teams were supposed to play last Monday, but the GNT game was rescheduled and that took priority.

Last week, the Bucs were scheduled to play a full slate of games, but steady rain cancelled all but two of those contests. The Bucs defeated Nutley, 4-2 last Friday, then lost to Cedar Grove last Monday.

Versus Nutley, Belleville received a well pitched ball game from

Michael Thompson in picking up the win. The Bucs swept the season series from the Raiders, but needed a good game from its pitching corps to do so.

Thompson hurled six innings, allowing just six hits. He struck out six and walked three. Jay Marchese came in to pitch and seventh inning and earn the save.

"Michael did a nice job," said head coach Nick Grande. "It was a good win for us, and the kids responded with the bats when they had to."

Belleville used the long ball in prevailing, socking two homers and a triple to account for three of the four runs.

Belleville scored once in the first inning, when senior shortstop Jeff Spillsbury hit a home run.

The Bucs second run came in the fourth frame, as George Speer followed Spillsbury's lead with a solo homer of his own.

Belleville increased its lead to 3-0 in the fifth inning. Jay Marchese lined a triple and Anthony Rodriguez came through with an RBI single.

Nutley cut into the lead, scoring two runs in the bottom of the sixth and narrowing the deficit to 3-2.

The Bucs scored an important insurance run in the seventh, thanks to an array of walks. Ernie

Track team wraps up season shortly

The Belleville track team took part in the NNJIL and Essex County championships last week. The Bucs also battled a very strong team from Paterson Kennedy in a conference dual match.

The Bucs faced West Essex last Tuesday and will travel to the sectional championships on Saturday. The boys will venture to Plainfield High and the girls will compete at Morristown High School. After the sectionals on Saturday, the 1988 season will be completed for the Bucs.

At the league championships, some good performances were turned in by the boys and girls.

In boys action, Mario Lemongello and Jerry Padula ran the 200 meters and finished with times of 24.5 and 25.6 respectively.

In the 3200 meters, Greg Moriello ran an 11:05.4. Moriello also competed in the 1600 meters and finished with a strong time of 5:00.6.

Lemongello recorded a personal best in the 400 meters, running the event in 54.3. Another personal best was turned in by Ray Zamloot, who cleared 5'8" in the high jump.

Jerry Padula ran the 100 meters

Crew team does well in Stotesbury

It's been said that the sport of crew is a difficult, exhausting sport. It takes up many hours on sometimes very choppy waters and tests the endurance of every athlete who takes part in the shell.

It's the ultimate team sport and sometimes, you never know what to expect.

Such was the case last weekend when Belleville traveled to Philadelphia to take part in the Stotesbury Regatta. Coach Scott Fabian and company knew the Stotes would be the biggest test of the season thus far and would feature some of the best crews in the country.

What Fabian didn't expect was the craziness that happened after everyone arrived. When the teams arrived in Philadelphia, it was decided that the waters there were too rough for competition. Thus, the officials of the Stotesbury Regatta decided to move the race, along with the 1,500 participants, to Delaware.

"It was an interesting weekend," Fabian said. "We started in Philly last Friday and ended up in Delaware. Because of the move, they had to cancel the semi final portions of the races. So it was the qualifying race, then the championships. We had a couple of shells that did well in the qualifying heat, and would have had a shot at the finals if there was a semi final race. But, it was a one shot deal to the championship race."

The Bucs are hoping for a more sane set up this weekend. The team will travel to Virginia for the national championships. The Bucs leave today for the race and should be back on Sunday.

Despite the odds, Belleville left the Stotes with a championship. The Midweight Four, which has been outstanding all year long, captured the championship in the boys race and will be favored to win the Nationals this weekend, in Virginia.

The midweight four's roster features Jerry Russo, Mike Mc Guire, Brian Villano, Tom Eccles and Sue O'Donnell. Its coach is Bobby Cass. "He really deserves the credit," Fabian said of Cassin. "Bobby has done a great job with that boat."

The championship shell raced the mile in 5:15.7, beating second place T.C. Williams of Virginia by eight seconds.

The boys' junior four and the boys' senior four did well in the qualifying race, but did not make the finals. The girls junior four did make the finals and finished fifth overall.

That boat is made up of Jessica Nappi, Sue Aufiero, Liz Morris, Charlene Santora and Denise Ives.

"There were some tough circumstances at the Stotes," said Fabian. "All the boats rowed well, the numbers just weren't there because of the limited races."

Fabian is quite optimistic about the National Championships this weekend in Fairfax, Va.

"We're taking the same boats down to the Nationals," said Fabian. "I like our chances at the nationals. The team is geared for the race."

Belleville track

in 12.5, Mark Tonelli ran 800 meters in 2:15.5 and Lemongello finished a busy day with a 17'8" jump in the long jump.

For the girls, the big news of the day came in the shot put, where Tina Miller set a school record with a throw of 30'2 1/2". Joyce Luongo, the senior distance woman, ran the mile in 6:35.1 and the two mile in 14:38.2.

At the county championships, Padula ran the 100 meters in 12.2 and Zamloot jumped 5'6" in the high jump. Lemongello matched his personal best in the 400 meters of 54.3.

In the girls category, Luongo ran in the 1500 meters and finished in an impressive time of 5:38.3. Erica Townes tied a school record in the 400 meters with a time of 64.0. Townes tied the mark set by Peggy Gilday back in the 1977 season. Townes also ran in the 200 meters and finished in 28.5.

Belleville lost a dual match to powerful Paterson Kennedy, 110-12. Kennedy, which finished second to Montclair in the NNJIL championships, was too much for Belleville, taking first place in all of the events.

Belleville got a second place showing from Garuv Nanjia, who was second in the 3200 meters at 12:00. Moriello took a third in the 1600 meters (5:11) and a third in the 800 meters (2:16.0).

Lemongello took three third place finishes in the 100 meters (12.0), 400 meters (57.0) and long jump (18'11"). Angelo Silva took third in the two mile (12:01) and Ted Sochaski finished third in the high jump (5'6")

Officer installation

North Essex Post 146, Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A. will hold its 53rd installation of officers 9:30 a.m. May 29 at Temple B'nai Israel, 192 Centre St., Nutley.

Commander-elect is Nat Daniels. Senior vice commander is Ben Kolstein and junior vice commander is Norman Feldman.

Guest speaker will be Harvey S. Friedman, past national commander of the JWV. The installing officer will be Albert L. Cohen, past national judge advocate.

At the installation, a special presentation will be made to Bloomfield Mayor John Crecco.

Now in his 26th year of service to the JWV, Friedman served in the Navy during the Korean War.

He served three terms as the chairman of the JWV National Action Committee, where he led campaigns to combat racism and anti-semitism. He served 10 years on the National Executive Committee and the board of directors of the JWV-USA National Memorial.

Friedman was awarded JWV "Man of the Year" in 1962, by the Elin-Unger Post of Springfield; in 1968, by the Department of New Jersey, and in 1976, by the Essex County Council.

Friedman is a life member of Disabled American Veterans and member of the American Legion. For the past three years he has served on the Allied Council of New Jersey Veterans Organizations.

He has served on the Governors Task Force to help Vietnam era veterans adjust to civilian life and is a member of the Liberty Park Monument Committee which was created to erect a statue to commemorate the liberation of Nazi-occupied Europe by the Allies.

Upon his discharge, Friedman attended Seton Hall University, majoring in business administration. For the past 15 years he has been a sales manager for Teletograph Corp., a world-wide distributor of facsimile equipment.

A native of Newark, he lives in Oakhurst with his wife Sandi and their three sons, Steven, Michael and Brian.

Buc golf

had not decided on which golfers would compete at the NNJIL championships this afternoon. The coach was more concerned with yesterday's match against Montclair. Both the Mounties and Bucs were undefeated in conference play entering that key match.

"Montclair should decide the league championship," said D'Al-lesandro. "They have a very good team, but so do we. It should be a good match."

Belleville will be looking for its third NNJIL championship over the past four years. The Bucs won the league title in 1985, under the direction of Rocco Collucci. D'Allesandro took over the team last spring and guided it to the league championship.

Churches will conduct a Nutley-Belleville census

Twelve churches are going to conduct a census of Nutley and Belleville next weekend to see if they can measure changing residential patterns in the area.

They are Bethany United Presbyterian Church, Bethel Assembly of God, Franklin Reformed Church, Grace Episcopal Church, Holy Family Roman Catholic Church, Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Nutley assembly of God, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, St. Mary's Church, St. Paul's Congregational, Temple B'nai Israel and Vincent United Methodist Church.

Holy Family, which draws a great many of its congregation from Belleville, will conduct the census there.

Simple questionnaires have already been mailed out and with them a request that they be filled in and left taped to an outside door on either June 4th or 5th.

They ask for the names of all persons living at each address, which religious denomination they go to and whether they are affiliated with a specific congregation.

"Please take a moment and complete this simple census form," says the message. "We are very interested in the people who make up our community. We are also very interested in energizing the faith life of our community. We are neither soliciting nor proselytizing - we are simply trying to identify who you are. By doing this, we can better serve you. Your Local Churches and Synagogue."

Softball

three unearned runs and Belleville scored the winning run in the fourth inning when Milano walked with the bases loaded to score Carlucci.

Edwards had a big hit in the second inning, a triple that scored Moyer and La Bella. Di Vincenzo then hit a single to score Edwards with the third Belleville run in that second inning.

So, win or lose, the 1988 season will conclude after the county championship game for Belleville.

In Caldwell, Belleville will face a powerhouse team that was 21-0 entering this weeks action. The Chiefs are ranked third in the state and, as usual, feature a solid attack.

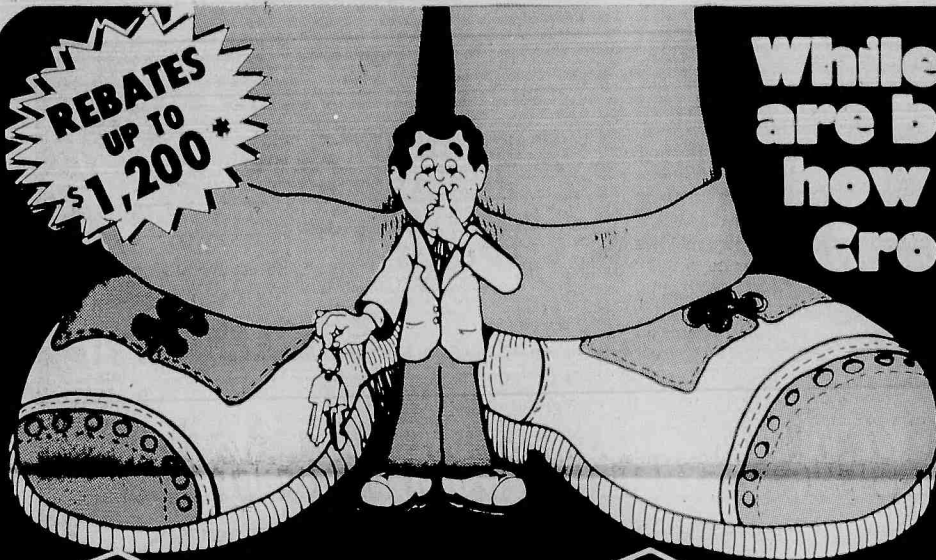

"Hey, we're going in to the game with no pressure," Corino said. "If we just play our game..."

And again, Corino's words just trailed off. On Saturday night, the coach is hoping he can finish that sentence.

To Dream a Dream

If I could swim a thousand seas
If I could feel a cool, fresh breeze,
If I could climb a mountain high,
If I could be a bird and fly,
To dream a dream, if it be true,
We all must dream, like me and you.
Live each moment as it should,
Don't ever say... "If I could."

— Danielle Mazzuca
9th grade

"Try to Understand"

If I could find the words to tell you just how much I care
If I could find the words to tell you all my thoughts I'd share.
If you could just be patient and try to understand
If you could just be patient and take me by the hand.
I would find those many feelings
hidden deep within my heart
I would find those many feelings and we'd no longer be apart.

— Justine Ernst
9th grade

"If I Could Fly"

If I could soar like a bird in flight
Amongst the billows of snowy white,
My dreams would become the dawning sun
Who has risen glorious, and day begun.
If I could just wing gently across the land
And wallow aimlessly over soft sand,
No longer a barrier would the seas be to me
And the earth would bow down its hills to me.
If I could glide, my heart would race wild,
Carefree and playful like a precious child
Floating as a feather, soft in the breeze
Circling swiftly among lofty trees.
Oh! If I could fly for just once in my life,
I would be filled with happiness and no more strife.
And though this dream can never be,
I still can say, "I'm proud to be me."

Costantine Realty welcomes Perrone, Danduone, Strumalo

This past month Costantine Realty has expanded its professional staff with the addition of three seasoned pros.

Rosemarie Perrone is a highly respected and sought after trainer and past manager for Century 21. She is a Bloomfield resident and will hold the position of trainer, to instruct new sales associates with the firm plus handling her many clients.

Michael Danduone will give the real estate office his twenty plus years of experience in the banking field. The Belleville resident formerly held upper management positions with both Howard and Anchor Savings. He is more than capable of handling a first time buyer's questions about financing.

Thomas Strumalo, after 10 years with a Century 21 office in the area, rounds out the new additions to the staff. Since joining Costantine Realty, Strumalo has placed three condos under contract. This Bloomfield resident will lend his experience and knowledge to the staff.

They join a sales staff that includes Susan Costantine, a two-time "Million Dollar Sales Club" award winner, and Skip Bottino, a Nutley resident with several years of experience. Bottino has a masters in business administration and is a member of the Nutley Elks Club and affiliated with the local Little League.

As of May 1st, Costantine Realty offers a one year warranty to both home sellers and buyers on such items as hot water heaters, furnaces and all major appliances, with no cost to homeowners. Anyone with questions about the Home Warranty Plan can call any of the sales associates.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Elegant home in a Florida resort surrounds an atrium 20 feet square, planted with palms, fern, anthuriums and other tropical plants that climb toward the stained glass skylight 32 feet above. Special feature: built-in sprinklers that "rain" on the plants.

To remove oil stains from an asphalt driveway, scrub with a strong detergent and flush away the suds. For stubborn stains, pour on liquid detergent and top with cat litter; let sit overnight. The absorbent material will pick up much of the stain.

Wicker chest or trunk is a good-looking "table" under a hall mirror (And it's a great place to store toys, galoshes, or other messy things).

It's a good idea to change fluorescent bulbs as soon as the ends of the tube get black inside. At that point, the bulb's energy efficiency has dropped.

Almost all the homeowners in a Louis Harris national poll said their homes are the best investment they've ever made - or one of the best.

When it's time to cash in your housing "investment," list with the experienced professionals at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley 235-9000.

O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God had given great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and call you to be invoked. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid.
