Fornarotto stays — for now

By Anthony Buccino

"Mr. Fornarotto should not be seated at any further meetings of the Board of Commissioners and must vacate his office immediately," according to the conclusion of a 3-page legal opinion to the mayor and commissioners from Township Attorney Frank J. Cozzarelli.

However, it would take more than a legal opinion by the township attorney and additional policemen on hand to escort Commissioner Joseph T. Fornarotto from the chambers.

"The mayor barred me to go in there," Fornarotto said. His commission seat empty, as was the mayor's, so far. The start of the meeting was already 20 minutes late.

Fornarotto was seated in the no-man's land between the commissioners and the public, in a place usually reserved for reporters.

"The mayor," Fornarotto said, "forcibly stopped me in the door."

Fornarotto directed his soliloquy at the township attorney, "you got to get a court order." The commissioner said his case was "on appeal."

"He's a judge already," Fornarotto said, "he's not even a lawyer." Only a court order or recall could remove him from his seat, "and you're not a judge," the commissioner said.

Cozzarelli's letter was written last Wednesday and delivered to the mayor and commissioners in time for last Thursday's commission meeting.

Cozzarelli's letter stated that Fornarotto's conviction is classified as a disorderly persons offense.

Also according to the letter, New Jersey law states that "the holder of any public office may be compelled to forfeit his or her elective or appointed office, if that of-ice holder is convicted of an offense involving or touching such office, position or employment."

Fornarotto railed at the attorney, "The same as you did to me, I had to go to court to fight you and the police that time, and the court order, the same is with you now."

Cozzarelli stated in his letter that Fornarotto's "prior conviction" for "interference with a police investigation may well have caused the same forfeiture to have occurred." Cozzarelli was not asked to give an opinion on that case and refrained from doing so in the letter.

"Just like the time he locked me up for 2 1/2 hours downstairs, he didn't know what charge to put up," Fornarotto said. "Following me around, invading my privacy, forget that."

Fornarotto said later that the mayor would remove him bodily, then Commissioner Vincent Frantantoni, according to Fornarotto, said, you'll have to move both of us.

According to Fornarotto, the other commissioners had a "last meeting" and decided they were wrong and decided to let me sit with the commissioners."

Boos from the citizens' gallery welcomed Mayor Michael Pizzi when he entered. He then motioned Fornarotto to join the commissioners.

Let the commission meeting begin.

Public safety project moves ahead; 'Total project' to meet state order

By Anthony Buccino

Township commissioners last Thursday approved a $100,087.50 payment to James Goldstein & Partners, Millburn, for professional services on the public safety building.

Commissioners Joseph Fornarotto, Vincent Frantantoni and Angelo Risoli voted in favor, Commissioner Joseph McGreevy voted against. Mayor Michael Pizzi had left the meeting.

Payment funds are available from the $5 million bond ordinance passed to finance the project.

According to Township Attorney Frank Cozzarelli, there is between $38.3-9 million available from the bond. Where the money will come from to make up the difference between the bond and the actual costs, he said, will be decided "at some point down the road."

Frantantoni said that although the cost of the public safety building is now estimated at $5,395,000, the completed project will accomplish much of the state ordered improvements to town hall.

His estimate does not include approximately $800,000 paid by previous commissions for development of other renovation plans.

The project, Frantantoni said, addresses handicapped accessibility and restroom facilities, emergency smoke and fire detectors, and other requirements under state.

Frantantoni said he received waivers from the state because the township is in the process of the project. He said that all changes mandated by the state "will be accomplished as one total project."

"The previous project was going to be a police station to stay within the $5 million budget," he said. "The bids did come in higher. It did not address one single problem in this present building."

A resident asked, how come it's up to $6 million? She said that it would have been better to renovate a school building and consolidate the school board and town hall to have "everybody in one coop."

Frantantoni said Montclair converted its police station and town hall. He said they went under "the same erroneous assumption" that renovation would be less expensive than a new building.

"I was there three years ago," Frantantoni said, "they were up to $5 million and they are not done yet. They still don't have a viable police station."

The same resident made a few more points. "A lot of things you say, you can't do this, you can't do that, but the whole thing, it stinks. And I want to see one thing, I'll bet you that the $6 million will not hold up, you're going to go up to $8 million before you complete it. What are you going to do about that."

"Are you going to say (to the designers and builders) 'Look, this is it, that's what we're going to put the building up for and that's it. We're not going to pay one penny more.' Are you going to do that? No, you're not going to do that. How much taxes is that going to cost us?"

Frantantoni said that based on a home assessed at $50,000, the cost per taxpayer for the new public safety building is about $65.

It's 12-13 points the first year and it decreases as it is amortized, he said. Even if the cost goes up to $6 million, he said, that would be another point or two.

The resident persisted, "We'll never see it go down. We'll see it go up, plus, you got money from here, you got money from there, our taxes went up, but they never went down, they're still going up. The state is giving us the shaft, because they want to take away our $200 that we're getting on homestead. I mean, what are we, a bunch of jerks around here, that the state comes in and mandates this and mandates that and we have to pay. It's ridiculous."

Frantantoni said, "What goes up every year are all your extravagant salary increases that, contrary to the efforts of this board of commissioners, some state appointed arbitrator awarded."

"Get out there and examine who you're going to put in public office, somebody who doesn't owe political favors, where they can fire people, where they can ask for productivity, that's where your money's being spent, not on this

Project S.A.L.U.T.E. shared

Substance Awareness Coordinator Deborah Meola addressed a guidance counselor workshop Dec. 19, in East Orange, on administrative procedures and counseling tactics to implement a student assistance program.

Meola's presentation included background information, newspaper articles and various proof of the success of Student Assistance Learning and Understanding Through Education, Project S.A.L.U.T.E.

The State Department of Education has been very pleased with the Belleville Schools District's progress and suggested that it be showcased.

Two recovering students attended the workshop. They presented their stories and the incidence of substance abuse among middle and high school students.

Belleville High School Principal Joseph Ciccone attended and spoke about the need for administrative support.

Project S.A.L.U.T.E. is the student assistance program used within the Belleville School District. It is composed of a team of concerned faculty and school administrators trained in the process of identifying chemically dependent adolescents, gathering information related to the adolescent's school performance, and making determinations as to the most appropriate response to the findings.

Project S.A.L.U.T.E. offers preliminary assessment and support service to district students. Chemical dependency is a treatable health problem which does not respect any age group.

Nonbinding resolution tabled

By Anthony Buccino

A resolution with the intent to freeze the creation of new titles for township employees and freeze pay raises except contract agreements and civil service increment increases was tabled at last Thursday's commission meeting.

Township attorney Frank J. Cozzarelli explained that the inclusion of the word "intent" in the resolution would establish the freeze as "policy."

The resolution would not be binding, according to Cozzarelli, "because it oversteps the boundaries of each administrative department."

Commissioner Joseph T. Fornarotto said his reasons for proposing the resolution were the same as last year. "My aim is, to before the change of government takes effect, we could start here as five commissioners to try to cut down the expenses. If there's a title that we need, a professional title, there's no reason why we shouldn't put that person there. But through attrition economy we don't have to put our people who were there, 8-10-12-20 years that left and retired," Fornarotto said.

"In a way, all I'm trying to do is propose a resolution like some towns have," Fornarotto explained. "Let's try to save some money before the new government takes effect. Let's start now."

According to Fornarotto, "Everybody appointed through all the unions and contracts, the police got their raises, the firemen got their raises, the town employees just got their raises, so everybody, in my opinion, that's in a contract received their increase."

"So now, I feel, everybody's happy," Fornarotto continued, "So, let's work for the taxpayer, now, so I see nothing wrong with this. Why it isn't binding, I don't know. According to our attorney before anything is proposed in a resolution, he's supposed to check the legality of it."

Cozzarelli said he "wouldn't sign off on the legality" of the resolution. "It's your proposal, commissioner, and quite frankly, it's a nonbinding resolution the way it's stated."

"It's not binding because it oversteps the boundaries of each administrative department," Cozzarelli said.

The township attorney said, "By this resolution, it appears to be your intent to control hiring practices in the police department, the finance department, public works, in your department or in Commissioner Frantantoni's department. Now, if the other commissioners agree that they wish to be bound by these terms, that's their prerogative, you can vote on it. Is it legal and binding? I don't believe it is."

Fornarotto said that the township attorney should look into the legality of the resolution before it is presented at a commission meeting.

Cozzarelli said, "Commissioner, commissioner, with all due respect, I did look at it. My opinion is it's nonbinding. I told you this a year ago. I told you this any number of times you proposed it. You're reproposing it, that's your prerogative."

"You never told me last year, you just told me now," Fornarotto said. "I see nothing wrong with it if it can save the taxpayers some money."

Asked if the resolution could be worded to make it binding? Cozzarelli said it could to "state the policy, but clearly the problem you run into is to reword it in such a way so as to complement and take into consideration the nuances of each and every collective bargaining agreement in this municipality. It's not an impossible task, but a very difficult task to accomplish."

The resolution would not be binding, according to Cozzarelli, "because it oversteps the boundaries of each administrative department." The commissioners are not bound by policy, only by law.

Aiello earns merit award

Architect Frank S. Aiello, who was born and raised in Belleville, has been recognized by the Monmouth County Planning Board with its Merit Award for the adaptive re-use of an existing structure.

Aiello, who heads Aiello Design Associates, recently relocated to larger quarters in the Sheldon Gross Building, 1450 Highway 34, Wall, was honored for his unique treatment of two historic homes, which were joined and re-designed to form the headquarters of Trident Ventures, Freehold.

Aiello credits Trident owner, Dick Carter, with the idea of connecting the company's existing quarters with an adjacent Victorian home.

The concept developed by Aiello preserved the elements of Victorian design and repeated them in a gabled roof which extends across the two buildings and the newly-built connecting structure.

In its citation, the Planning Board praised Aiello for saving the two homes from demolition and creating a modern adaptation of early architecture which is in harmony with the historic character of Freehold.

The Aiello firm, which specializes in the rehabilitation and re-use of buildings for commercial use, includes among its clients Worth Construction, for which it converted 100,000 square feet of warehouse space into a retail center in Trumbull, CT.

The firm has also rehabilitated a tool and die factory in New Rochelle, NY, creating executive offices and a showroom for Crabtree Toyota.

Aiello resides in Brielle with his wife, Peggy, and 3 children.

Road grants rolling

By Anthony Buccino

Belleville will receive a $79,000 state aid grant for improvements to be made to Joralmon Street. The township must award a construction contract within 18 months or the moneys may be reallocated by the state, according to a letter sent to Mayor Michael Pizzi from Robert Innocenzi, the state's Acting Commissioner of Transportation.

The amount awarded the township by the state will consist of two allotments made possible by the New Jersey Transportation Trust Fund Authority Act of 1984. The township will receive $60,000 and $19,000. The latter funding would be provided by Urban Aid.

Under the present Municipal Aid Program, the statewide available funds amount to $21,500,000, with an additional $5,000,000 earmarked for depressed urban centers.

Eye exams approved

Township commission approved a contract which will reimburse Dr. James A. Parisi $48 for each eye exam he performs on Belleville Municipal Employees Association (BMEA) members.

The annual eye exam was a provision of a collective bargaining agreement between the township and the BMEA.

Township BMEA members will make their own eye exam appointments. Exams are not to be conducted during business hours of 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, according to the agreement. Employees may make an exception to the exam hours by providing a letter from their supervisor authorizing work at once.

Dr. Parisi, an ophthalmologist, will provide, according to the services agreement, a full eye examination including but not limited to refraction testing, testing of binocular vision and focus flexibility both far and near, contact screening, glaucoma screening and general eye health problems.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

An addendum quirk of Article 4, Section 5 of the state constitution reads: "No member of the Senate or General Assembly, during the term for which he shall have been elected, shall be nominated, elected or appointed to any State civil office or position, of profit, which shall have been created by law, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased by law, during such term."

That provision called the "exclusionary" or "emolument" clause was put in to prevent lawmakers from feathering their own nest by creating a job then going to it, or increasing a salary of a job they then land.

That quirky provision will prevent 40 members of the New Jersey Senate from becoming judges or cabinet members in the Florio administration unless they resign before bills to increase their salaries are voted on in the Senate. However, that constitutional barred wire will not affect the 80 members of the Assembly. They can vote for the pay raises and will not be restricted from becoming cabinet members or judges... the stage has been set for this peculiar shaped application of the law.

Four bills have been introduced in the Assembly to raise the salaries of the governor, Cabinet members, the judiciary and to improve pension and health benefits for legislators.

The state constitution, in layman's language, states no legislator may take any job he or she creates by law or accept a job if he or she jacked up the salary for that post "during the term for which they were elected."

The current Senate terms do not expire until mid-January of 1992. The current Assembly terms expire Jan. 9 next year. The pay raise bills would become effective Jan. 1, 1991 — right in the middle of the existing Senate terms, and long after the current Assembly terms expire.

The legal counsel for the Legislature, Albert Rorroni, said, "The Assembly members could go to the Cabinet or become judges at the higher salaries, but the senators could not,"... he cited the State Supreme Court decision of 1977 that ruled Stephen Wiley, a former state senator, could not become a Supreme Court justice, because while he was a senator the Senate voted a pay raise for the judiciary.

Another case dealing with the "emolument" provision dealt with former Assemblywoman Barbara Curran and her appointment to the Board of Public Utilities in 1980... in this case, the Supreme Court held that Curran could become a commissioner on the Board of Public Utilities because Curran resigned from the Assembly three days before the Assembly passed an appropriation bill that raised the salaries of the (BPU) commissioners from $49,000 to $56,000 a year.

Porroni (the legal counsel) feels that the 80 members of the Assembly would also be exempt from the constitutional ban on "emoluments" because the pay raise bills are coming up now and go into effect in 1991.

The term for which they were elected expires Jan. 9, 1990 and the new two-year term for the Assembly does not begin until the afternoon of Jan. 9, 1990 and expires two years later in 1992.

Because the pay raise bills occur in a term that hasn't started and the Assembly members are voting on the measure in a term that is expiring, they would be exempt from the clause, according to Porroni.

The question remains: Why Assembly members who were re-elected Nov. 7th, and will enter new two-year terms on Jan. 9th, can vote on pay raises for jobs that some of them just might get if they are tapped by Governor-elect James Florio for a Cabinet post or judgeship.

It would appear that such rules on pay hikes give lower house members an upper hand over "the upper house" state senators... will there be repercussions?

Heat complaints low

By Anthony Buccino

Belleville landlords take care to keep their tenants warm in spite of the recent spate of cold weather.

According to Belleville Health Department investigator Laura DeBonis, there were a total of 16 heating complaints reported in December.

Camille Domenick, at the health department said that of the 16 reports all were handled immediately on receipt. There were three buildings with boiler breakdowns, Domenick said.

Other complaints involved draining radiators to allow heat to enter apartments, Domenick said.

Martin Luther King Jr. Lecture

The annual Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Lecture will take place Jan. 15, 1990, honoring his birthday, at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center. This is the third year that the library is sponsoring this special lecture honoring Dr. King.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was an American civil rights leader who worked to bring about social, political, and economic equality for blacks by peaceful means. In 1954, he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for leading the black struggle for equality through nonviolent means.

In 1983, Congress approved a federal holiday honoring Dr. King and the first celebration took place the third Monday in January, 1986.

Giles Wright, Director of Afro-American Studies, The New Jersey Historical Commission, will deliver the library's Third Annual Lecture at 1 p.m. in the Meeting Room. The public is invited to attend.

• Curl up with a classic

Wouldn't you like your children to curl up with some of the world's best books? In the James J. Cozzarelli Jr. Children's Room of the Belleville Public Library and Information Center for Grade 1, the following titles are available: "Deep in the Forest," by Brinton Turtle, "Oh, A Hunting We Will Go," by John Langstaff, "Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel," by Virginia Lee Burton, and "Millions of Cats," by Wanda Gág.

If the book is not on the shelf, the Children's Room will put the title on reserve for you.

New titles at the Shafter Branch

New titles at the Shafter Branch Library include "Caribbean" by James Michener, "Daddy," by Danielle Steel, "Holt Oregon Legacy," by Dana Fuller Ross, "It's Always Something," by Gilda Radner, "Macau," by Daniel Carney, "Pillars of the Earth," by Ken Follet, "So Worthy My Love," by Kathleen Woodiwiss, "Some Can Whistle," by Larry McMurtry, "Twenty-five Lessons in Citizenship," by D.L. Hennessey, and "Wishes," by Jude Deveraux.

Ann Hunton, Kathy Dayil, and Camille Simeon relax and enjoy crafts during the recent holiday crafts program at the library.

Forthcoming events

January exhibits

A watercolor exhibit by Olga Obregon will be on display at the library during January. Michaelina Zatoros will provide an exhibition of Metallic Art in the library's display case on the second level of the library. An exhibit of books, cassettes, and videos honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be on display on the first floor of the library.

Unusual careers

The Belleville Public Library and Information Center has added two unusual career books to its extensive career collection. Among them are "The Rosen Photo Guide To A Career in the Circus" and "The Rosen Photo Guide To A Career in Magic." The books are located in the career section of the Belleville Public Library and Information Center.

Claim filing for the hearing impaired

The Telecommunication Device for the Deaf (TDD) has been installed by U.S. Healthcare Inc., a leading operator of health maintenance organizations serving more than one million members in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, New York, Connecticut, and Massachusetts.

A TDD is a portable machine that interfaces with a telephone receiver to enable deaf users to send messages (typed on a keyboard) to owners of other TDDs and to receive messages (printed out on paper) sent by operators of other TDDs. Hearing-impaired and speech-impaired individuals who have difficulty communicating also find the machines useful.

At U.S. Healthcare, member relations representatives will use the machine to receive and respond to inquiries made by members who own or have access to a TDD. U.S. Healthcare's TDD can be reached by calling 1-800-628-3323 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Students hit the slopes

Students from Belleville's middle and high schools have been enjoying the winter weather and the great outdoors.

A one day trip, supervised by teachers Bill Hollis, Carol Giuffrida and Lenny D'Armiento left from the high school parking lot at a very early 6:30 a.m. headed for Montage Mountain in Scranton, Pa., during the week of Christmas vacation. Another trip scheduled for last evening took the students to Vernon Valley, McAfee.

These trips are just two of the many arranged for local students. The usual cost covers bus fare, lift ticket and ski lessons and rentals when needed.

Beginner lessons are available so even the novice ski buff is not excluded from the fun. The ski trips will continue every Tuesday while the cold weather holds up.

EYE EXPECTATIONS

The manufacturers of eye medications take elaborate precautions to ensure that their products are sterile. When a person purchases eye drops, it is his responsibility to keep the drops free of contamination. Even though eye drops contain antibiotics, it is a good idea to never touch the tip of the dropper. To do so may introduce more bacteria to the solution than the antibiotics can control. If the eye drop container does become contaminated, it is better to discard it than risk an eye infection. In any case, it may be a good idea to throw away an eye medication that has been open for more than six months, regardless of the expiration date. Eye drops that have particles suspended in solution or that have changed color should also be discarded.

For friendly, helpful service, it's a good idea to come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1956, 759-1968. All prescription needs are handled and we have a full selection of contact lenses for sale or rent. Baby needs, greeting cards, cameras and film are stocked. Open daily 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Sundays 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Our columns will feature many different topics on health and medicines in the upcoming weeks.

HINT: Each eye can hold only one drop of fluid medication at a time.

OUR OPINION

Feathers in the air

In Sunday school we learned a story about a gossip who spread his tale from house to house, and city to city. He told his tale to all who would hear him, and they listened to him for truth above all. And at the end of his tale telling met the soul of whom his tale was told. There, the gossip learned the falseness of the tale he told. He offered to make amends for his own foolishness. The man who was gossiped about took the gossip to the highest steeple and there tore into a pillow. The downy feathers floated in the breeze and traveled with the winds to the uttermost parts of the land. "When you have returned all the feathers to this pillow, then you will have made amends."

Looking at the brief but tumultuous history of our present commission, we are not amused. We see fingers pointed, literally and figuratively. We hear invectives hurled. Each member criticizing the mote in the other's eye, yet failing to sense the weight of the beam in his own eye. Who's leading whom down this tired old path? What does Belleville stand to gain from this silt when the muck hardens, cracks and blows away? Who will be swept away with our pride, our children, our good families, our businesses?

Commissioners, take heed. Good citizens, all around you stand, calling for leadership, calling for foresight, crying in exasperation. Set us an example. If you are to be remembered at all, it should be for the good you brought here, not the shame and embarrassment your actions have inflicted.

You must deal with yourselves in the persons of your office, and recognize in your heart what is right for our township. Frankly, your discretionary leadership leaves something to be desired. Belleville deserves better. Politics has become the bane of the community. When people wander around our countryside citing the bad things that happen here, and forget all the good, we then become our own worst enemy. We inflict our own black eyes because people who meet us don't know anything about the soul of this community. That's the soul that configures to strive, that makes our people stay and try, try again. The people you meet across the country believe in the image you project. And it's not always flattering.

If everyone we know in town told one good tale about one good thing that happened in our town, the good word would spread, and our tarnish would start to fade. If we all told the good tale, if we all focused on the successful things around us, that good word would spread. We can be our own best friends.

New businesses would want to settle here to grow. Our development would not be impeded by eyesores. There wouldn't be so many feathers dancing in the wind laughing at us. We could cultivate fresh minds. We wouldn't be so shell-shocked that we would be able to recognize a good idea, and then implement it.

We are not isolated here. There is no Berlin Wall here to protect us from hoodlums to our south who invade, rob, and run. And laugh at us. Politics, politics, politics make us the laughing stock of the state. And probably the nation if they've even heard of us. There is no Berlin Wall here to protect the world from the spreading bad news of our political cancer. There is no Berlin Wall here to protect us from the feathers fluttering outside the windows in our ivory towers.

But, it's not all the commissioners fault. The people who put them in office deserve part of the credit for the state of affairs in town. How many watchdogs are feeding at the trough they are supposed to protect? How many people make it a career of attending meeting after meeting to say the same old thing? To read five year old news clips? Are these loud-mouthed instigators or concerned citizens trying to build a better Belleville? Or are they closet Boozes with their own torn pillows?

Commissioners, Belleville is down, downed by your actions, downed by your gall, downed by how little you've vitalized our heart. Down about the failure of leadership needed to pick us up by our bootstraps and lead the charge up the hill.

A new government is six months away. We're optimistic about the new government. We try to be, anyway. If it's a matter of new faces, same disorder, we may as well have mob rule. That's when you'll see those feathers collected, and perhaps some tar. Until then, your actions may put our town down, but we're not out.

A.B.

YOUR OPINION

Resolving for 1990

By Rev. Gerald Fortunato

Pastor, Silver Lake Baptist Church

It's time again for New Year's Resolutions...Perhaps it would be the part of wisdom to report on the outcome of last year's resolutions and happenings before marching off into a new decade.

Feeling ever more confident that the leaders of our town, state, and nation are thirsting for direction, I suggest these resolutions for 1990. Some are serious and some aren't, and we will leave it to the reader to decide which are which.

1. Manuel Noriega — should say his prayers.
2. Pete Rose — should do more than admit he's got a gambling problem and do something about it.
3. Leona Helmsley — should cheer up and think what her sentence would have been if she were living in Romania.
4. Donald Trump — should stop battling to overcome his feelings of low self-esteem.
5. Zsa Zsa Gabor — should remember that if you slap a policeman terrible things can happen. For starters people might learn your age. She will turn 67 in 1990.
6. Roseanne Barr — and her companions should remain seated and fully clothed during all televised sports events.
7. Governor Kean — should try asking all major drug dealers in New Jersey to turn themselves in for the good of future generations.
8. Governor-elect Florio — should bear in mind that being popular is only part of the job.
9. Belleville Board of Commissioners — should demonstrate by their public comportment the meaning of unity and "goodwill toward all men."
10. All residents — should remember that the 1990s will present ever-worsening social problems and all of us need to become involved in creating solutions. We condemn apathy. Take a firm stand, take action against the decline of morality! We have heard a constant clamor for rights, rights, always rights. But so little about responsibility. The challenge is for a willingness to put aside personal gains and for a spirit of sacrifice and love for my neighbor to prevail. Man's natural inclination is downward, not upward. God grant us to see a reversal of the trend in 1990.

New Year's optimism

To the editor:

It is with extreme optimism that we enter the New Year, 1990. The recent events in Hungary, Poland, East Germany, Romania, Czechoslovakia, and Panama are very encouraging indicators of a new era of peace and freedom emerging throughout the world.

To the families and friends of the many thousands of valiant Americans who gave their lives to defend our country and our style of Democracy, you can see that the world is beginning to reap the fruits of your loved one's sacrifices.

This year, the words "Happy New Year" will have real meaning for millions of people around the world. My family and I extend our wishes for a Happy and Healthy New Year to everyone, especially the residents of our beautiful Township of Belleville.

Commissioner Vincent J. Frantantoni, Belleville

Thanks supporters

To the editor:

At this time I want to thank all our residents that have had confidence in me in the past.

I also want to thank all of them for supporting my endeavors, at all our township meetings.

I also wish all of them a happy and healthy new year. Thanks. Commissioner Joseph Fornarotto

WE WELCOME LETTERS of interest to our local area. They should be short and to the point, they must be signed for attribution and contain the address and telephone number for verification.

Alcohol and drug warning signs

cerns with a knowledgeable person.

- Contact the Substance Abuse Coordinator (450-0418) or the child's guidance counselor to see if he or she can help.
- Be firm with your child by setting up and enforcing curfews and other "house rules."
- Know that with the correct help, your child can overcome this problem and live a healthy life.

Parents Do Not...

- Ignore the signs and symptoms of alcohol and drug abuse and think things will get better by themselves.
- Condemn, judge, or criticize — remember chemical dependency is a disease and your child needs help.
- Give in to your children and accept their excuses and rationalizations of their problem.
- Continue to give your child "another chance." This will only lead to more family pain.
- Cover up and make excuses for your child's behavior.

- Accept the guilt for your child's condition of behavior.
- Take it personally when the chemical-dependent adolescent blames you for his or her problems.
- Expect the situation to get better overnight.
- Shield your child from the realistic consequences of their behavior. They must learn to be responsible for their own behavior.

A Father's Place

By Anthony Buccino

I wasn't more than five years old the night my father grabbed me with his vice-like hands on his jackhammer arms and swung me over the banister of our second floor back porch. Swinging side to side twenty feet in the air, Dad and I were having fun. I was safe, safe from world in his strong hands. My mother's screams of terror stilled my shrieks of joy.

That night, Dad and I bonded — though neither of us knew the lexicon. The image of that night dangles daily in the bitersweet memories my father left me. After nearly thirty years, I am still feel the strength with which he safely held me over the precipice. Little did I know then that there was more to a father's place. Now, I have my own daughter, and I realize just how much there is to this father business.

I am the image my little girl trusts. Everything I do, and everything she sees me do, contribute to that image. I am her trusted friend who knows all and can do all. They're pretty big shoes to fill.

Dads are the smartest people in the world (after mothers). Every school day morning I help her study her spelling. She sits on the couch reviewing and I sit in the recliner, reclining. When she's ready to be quizzed, she flips the notebook in my lap. "Test me, Daddy." Because she is so good at spelling, because she studies, I like to throw in a word that's not on the list to keep her on guard. In amongst the regular words such as "ball, tall" and "fall," I occasionally slip in "pusillimous." After asking me how to spell it, which I couldn't do, we looked it up, and she memorized it.

Other times, I help her with her school-work but I sometimes take the questions too literally, and she gets them wrong. She does allow me to check her homework when Mom's too busy.

Dads explain what's fair and unfair. Moms decide when it's okay to go out and play. When she tells her friend she has to go in but goes back out five minutes later after ditching a playmate, Dad says how would you feel if they did that to you. She knows how she would feel and pledges not to do it again. But dad knows that she will,

and when she does, she'll remember what her dad said. Maybe.

Dads are their children's protectors. Dads chase the monsters out of the closet at night. Dads have a special hug that resolves a nightmare's terror. Dads are as tall as the sky and can reach the cookies moms hide on the top shelf.

Dads have to be dads sometimes. That means they have to yell and spank. Any child can tell you that nobody hits as hard as daddy can hit, (daddy's love taps) not even grandpa. Yet after every reprimand comes the guilt of being a daddy. Dads want to be kids, but too often they get trapped into being adults.

Dads are as old as forever. They listen to "old people" music like Led Zeppelin and the Beatles, and their car radios are tuned to news and talk stations. Yet, with their own children, dads are forever young. They play horse, hide and seek, and checkers when they are in the mood. They don't like to play checkers too much because they lose a lot. On a hot summer day, dads will chase you around with a water pistol, and sometimes even let you sneak up on them with the garden hose.

Dads have the largest, strongest hands in the world. Little girls in their cradles tightly grab their dad's index finger and it's as big as the world outside. But for dads, they see that those small hands hold so much. They hold the future and all dad's hopes. They instill the fear of God in Dad when he senses the responsibility in that precious grip.

Dads fix everything. But, what they actually do is take it to their side of the basement and put it on a shelf until everyone forgets whatever it was that was broken. Sometimes dads can't get out of it that easily. Sometimes dads have to really fix something. That's when the carpenter's glue comes out of the closet and the broken gadget sits on the workbench for a few days. Dads know that a few gobs of glue will fix just about everything.

It's obvious, dads have all the money. He pays for groceries, gas and ice cream sundae. That's why dad is such a soft touch for a quarter when his little girl helps sweep the sidewalk. A quarter is pocket change to dad. It's a fortune to his little girl. While mom is struggling with toothpaste coupons at the cash register, Dad is a big spender giving his little girl a penny for the gumball machine.

Little girls grow up, as mine has.

Enjoy the proud days, come what may, of "that's my dad!" Before you know it, you'll hear: "Who? Him? I don't know him... Yeah, well, if you don't tell anyone, we, sort of, know each other. Okay. Okay, he's my, uh, Dad. But don't tell anyone."

Together at breakfast, my daughter and I are like an old married couple. We eat quietly. Pass the milk. Read the cereal boxes. Make goofy faces in the reflection on the side of the toaster. I see us differently in reflection.

I can offer no protection from the real world, only a way to ease into it. I am little more than a resource to rely on in order to regroup and gather reserves before striking out again. I can only offer to help her discover what she's good at. On her own she is learning what the world is about. She has her own heartbreaks and her own small triumphs. I can only remind her that there is plenty of time to change her mind about what she wants to be.

Babies are heaven's treasures. They become Dad's treasure. We mold them into our own image, graven or golden, and live with the results.

Dads lift you high, high enough to smear fingerprints on the ceiling, and high enough to test the smoke alarm button. But he can only hold you for so long, then you're on your own.

The father inside gets me out of jams. He wakes me from my nightmares. He answers my prayers with yeses and nos. He listens to me when I talk to him. He talks to me when I talk to him. He talks to me when I would hear no one. He watches everything I do, his presence always with me. He hears me when I pray in vain and in earnest. He is the child who is the father of this man. He is holding me while my legs dangle above the bottomless pit of life.

DENTALLY SPEAKING

By Drs. James D. Muglia and Paul N. De Maio

Mrs. Z. of Nutley asks: "Could chewing incorrectly cause my stomach to get upset?"

The first place of digestion, Mrs. Z. is the mouth. Mechanically food is broken down to smaller pieces. If by chewing incorrectly, it means that you are often swallowing large pieces of food, then the burden is placed on the stomach. Nature intended our teeth to break the food down in small enough pieces so that the chemical action from our saliva and stomach secretion can further degrade the food on a molecular level. If you are having an upset stomach from too much acid being secreted by your stomach, then quite possibly this could be related to your inefficiency in chewing. I suggest you consult your physician or a gastroenterologist to make sure no medical problems exist.

Thank you for your inquiry.

BUCC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

We begin the new year and decade by looking back at the 1980's in Belleville sports. Keep in mind, we have already looked back at the basketball programs of the 80's and hopefully, Joe Piaggio, our resident expert in Belleville wrestling, can give us a synopsis of the outstanding grappling teams in the 1980's in an upcoming issue.

This week, we'll take a brief look back at each year, mixing in some national news to our local forum.

1980: The new decade began with the United States being held hostage in Iran. The United States hockey team won a gold medal at the Lake Placid Olympics and in late 1980, the people of America made its choice on who would lead our nation as president. Ronald Reagan was elected president in a landslide over incumbent Jimmy Carter.

Locally, the Belleville baseball team, under coach George Zanfini, advanced to the GNT finals, where it lost a heartbreaker to Livingston, 10-8. The Bucs were paced by Mike Nicotia, Anthony Coco, Ed Aulisi and a sophomore named Frank Fazzini. All three of those men are today members of the Belleville Hall of Fame.

The softball team had a new coach named Carl Corino, who, ironically, took over for his wife, Eve. The Lady Bucs put together a surprising 20-8 record and made it all the way to the county finals, where the team lost to powerful Cedar Grove.

Future Hall of Famer Joyce Iacullo paced the Lady Bucs in '80. Other key players on the team were Marilyn McCaffrey, Nancy Coffey, Rose Leonidis, Kathy Woods and Debbie Jinks.

The basketball team, under first year coach Joe Papasidero, jumped out to a 9-3 start and were paced by Ron Wittmann, Gary Farar, Wayne Bubel and Richard Cook. The girls' basketball team lost a tough game to number one ranked East Orange, failing to the Lady Panthers by a controversial one point.

The girls were 12-10 in the '79-80 season and were led by Iacullo, Leonidis, Maria DiPaolo, Carolann Salerno, Barbara Gundry and Robin Giordano.

The '80 football team had its best year of the decade, finishing 9-2 and advancing to the Group IV, Section II title game. The Bucs lost to West Essex, 22-7 on December 7, 1980. Despite the loss, the season was quite memorable.

Fazzini rushed for 100 yards and the linemen, led by Anthony D'Agostino, Luigi Chimento and John Cataldo did the job on both sides of the line.

Other key players on the '80 team were Rick Racioppi, Paul Scheyplein, Dan Palumbo, Phil Cerza, Ken Constantino and Bill Walsh.

In November of 1980, the girls' basketball team began practice with some outstanding freshman who would lead that program into prominence. Players like Jennifer Apicella, Dina DeAgulino and Loreli Wells were keys to four excellent seasons.

1981: Reagan is shot just two months into his first term as president, but makes a quick recovery. The 52 American hostages are released on January 20, 1981. Baseball is hit by a strike, but in the end, the Dodgers win the series. The Raiders beat the Eagles, 27-10 in the Super Bowl. Indiana wins the NCAA basketball championship. Marcus Allen wins the Heisman Trophy.

Locally, the baseball team wins its first GNT championship, beating Glen Ridge, 10-4 in the finals. Coco is the winning pitcher. Fazzini has an outstanding season, hitting over .500 and cracking 100 homers. Cerza does an excellent job as the Bucs' catcher.

The softball team finishes with an 18-8 record, the only team in the 1980's that the program does not win at least 20 games. The soccer team posts a record of 5-5-4 and Brian Woods turns in an all state campaign for coach Tony DeAgulino.

The football team finishes with a 7-2 record and misses the playoffs by a half game. The teams two losses come to Passaic and Seton Hall Prep. Both of those teams finished undefeated in '81 and won state titles.

It is announced in late 1981 that Belleville, after five years as an independent school, will become a member of the NNJIL (Northern New Jersey Interscholastic League) for the 1982-83 season.

The golf team, under first year coach Rocco Colucci, posts a 9-2 record and finishes second in the Essex County tournament.

The boys' basketball team posts a 4-18 record, but the Bucs will lose seven games by five points or less. The team will earn the "Cardiac Kids" award for their determined play in the 1980-81 season. 1982: The 49ers win the first of three Super Bowls in the 80's. The St. Louis Cardinals (honored) win the World Series. North Carolina wins a thriller over Georgetown to win the NCAA basketball title. The Lakers win their second NBA title in the 80's. The Islanders take their third straight NHL title in the 80's.

Locally, the baseball team struggles to a 12-11 mark in Zanfini's last season as head coach. Fazzini overcomes a hamstring injury and has another excellent season. He is bound for Florida State to play baseball.

The girls' basketball team finishes 17-6 in 1981-82 and Apicella, a sophomore, eclipses the 1,000 point mark.

The girls' crew team wins its first of three National championships, winning in the eight shell. The entire team is made up of underclassmen. Its coaches are Sam Giuffrida, Sam Fusaro, Teresa Cassin, Joan Pennetti and Scott Fabian.

Members of that championship boat are Maureen Russo, Diane Black, Donna Marinelli, Stephanie Aiello, Jackie Mele, Ann Skrutskie, Cheryl McCarthy, Sue Post and Karen McGuire.

The softball team had an excellent season, finishing 24-2-2 and winning the Essex County championship. The girls are led by Leonidis, Coffey, Donna Brooks, Tracey Buono, Dina De Agulino, Luisa Diels, Woods and Mona Stampe.

The volleyball team finishes its last spring season with its best season in its short history. The girls, led by coach Grace Worley, finish 9-10. The team is paced by Jocelyn Villaladillo, Patti Vangieri, Jessica Llamas, Runda Esquillo, Allison Burdard, Faith Adams.

In the fall of '82, Belleville becomes a member of the NNJIL. The football team wins a share of the league title, finishing 8-1 in regular season play. The Bucs, paced by David Grant, Mark Walsh, Craig Mack, Robbie Cancelliere, Ron Charles and John Borrello, lose a heartbreaker to Union in the playoffs, 12-7.

The volleyball team, led by coach Grace Worley, moves from a spring to fall sport and finds immediate success. The girls finish 14-4 in its first season of fall play and are second in the league.

Next week, we'll continue our look back at the 1980's with a remembrance of the mid 80's. If any of you would like to give some input to our heroes of the 80's, feel free to contact me at 759-3200. I'm usually at the newspaper on Monday or Tuesday evenings.

Nardone, Ombalsky, Hywell win crowns

Bucs romp to tourney title

By Joe Piaggio
Belleville's wrestling team added a bit more glitter to this young season by running away with the Bloomfield Holiday Tournament. The Bucs totaled 162.5 points to landily outdistance second-place finisher Caldwell High School. The Chiefs' total was 134 points, followed by Passaic Valley's 132.5 points, Bloomfield's 130.5 points, West Essex' 82 points, Kearny's 78 points, Clifton's 62 points, and Nutley's 59.5 points.

Head Coach Joe Nisvoccia's charges had three firsts, three seconds, three thirds, two fourths and two sixth-place finishers as every member of the squad contributed directly to the final team total. Eleven of the 13 starters made it to the semifinals, which is basically where this event was won.

A brief description of each weight class:

103 — George Del Grande (third place) pinned Joe Devlin of Kearny, was pinned by Blake Maffei of Caldwell, and pinned R.J. Galioto of Bloomfield.

112 — Mike Miele (fourth place) defeated Chris Hricko of Caldwell, 7-1, was defeated by Jerry Allora of Bloomfield, 10-3; and was defeated by Anthony Gencarelli of Passaic Valley, 4-3.

119 — Ralph Perna (second place) pinned Mike McCormick of Passaic Valley, defeated Nick Fiore of Caldwell, 6-4, and was defeated by Anthony Mielnicki of Nutley, 11-10.

125 — Junior Nardone (first place) pinned Ryan Kravich of Nutley, scored a technical fall over Mark Vilarado of Kearny, 16-1, and defeated Bob Fiore of Caldwell, 15-6.

130 — Joe Ombalsky (first place) pinned Mike Artim of Clifton, defeated Brian O'Donnell of Kearny, 9-4, and pinned Charles Rudy of Passaic Valley.

135 — Lee Hands (third place) defeated Frank Hunko of Clifton, 9-7; was defeated in OT by

Bucs blitzed in tri-county tourney

It wasn't the best of holiday seasons for the Belleville boys' basketball team. Don Roll's club lost two games in the Tri-County holiday tourney last week, bowing to Ridgewood, 80-74, and Queen of Peace, 62-52.

The two losses dropped the Bucs' record to 1-4 on the season. Belleville battles Paramus Catholic tonight, at Paramus Catholic, in a 7:30 p.m. start. On Saturday evening, Belleville plays a rare contest at St. Aloysius of Jersey City. Tip-off time there is also 7:30 p.m. Next Tuesday, the Bucs come home to face Teaneck in a 4 p.m. game.

Last week was a good example of Dave Kaiser of Passaic Valley, 11-9; and defeated Tom Maunone of West Essex, 8-2.

140 — Vinnie DiSimone (third place) pinned Tom Lynes of Clifton, lost by a technical fall to Dean Giese of Passaic Valley, 15-0, and defeated Mike Piacenza of Bloomfield, 11-4.

145 — Phil Albanese (sixth place) was pinned by Stan Klotz of Kearny, pinned Chris DiMaggio of Nutley, and was pinned by John Pivari of Clifton.

152 — Dan Hywel (first place) pinned Paul Scutti of Nutley, pinned Dan Holman of Bloomfield, and pinned Gene Richard of Kearny.

160 — Ken Henry (second place) pinned Ron Luongo of Clifton, defeated Dana Shaw of Caldwell, 13-2, and was defeated by Paul Szep of Bloomfield, 11-0.

171 — Mike Costa (sixth place) was defeated by Mike Mazza of Nutley, 4-2, pinned John Mooney of Caldwell, and was defeated by Pablo Aconda of Clifton, 10-2.

189 — Angel Marin (fourth place) drew a bye in the first round, was pinned by Tom Bolen of Passaic Valley, and was defeated by John Nosti of Nutley, 8-1.

HWT — George Wallace (second place) defeated Scott Cramer of West Essex, 9-8, pinned Mike Cairns of Kearny, and was pinned by Lou Fontana of Passaic Valley. The complete list of winners:

103 — Blake Maffei, Caldwell

112 — Jerry Allora, Bloomfield

119 — Anthony Mielnicki, Nutley

125 — Junior Nardone, Belleville

130 — Joe Ombalsky, Belleville

135 — Pete Volpe, Bloomfield

140 — Mike Kwapietewski, Caldwell

145 — Joe Zarillo, West Essex

152 — Dan Hywel, Belleville

160 — Paul Szep, Bloomfield

171 — Matt Szep, Bloomfield

189 — Carl Scheuten, Bloomfield

HWT — Lou Fontana, Passaic Valley

BUC NOTES: Nutley's Anthony Mielnicki was voted the tournament's Outstanding Wrestler by the coaches. Ralph Perna now has 50 career varsity wins, placing him 12th on the all-time list. He needs seven more wins to pass George D'Alessandro. Dan Hywel has also broken the top 20 as he recorded his 42nd win, tying him for 20th place with Ed Lijo. Bucs remain ranked 70 by the Star-Ledger's Bruce Moran. Dual meet this Saturday with tough Group 4 school and longtime rival Montclair. Mounties are undefeated and come to Belleville at 1 p.m. as champions of their own Christmas Tournament. Wrestler of the Week goes to Dan Hywel for recording three pins in Bloomfield. Dan is now 6-0 for the season. See you next week!

Girls' basketball team stopped in tournament

The Belleville girls' basketball team is finding the early stages of its new era a little trying. The Lady Bucs, entering the 90's without some stalwart offensive performers from the late 80's, lost two games in the Tri County Holiday tourney last week. Belleville was beaten by Queen of Peace, 66-20 and Kearny, 46-29.

Karen Fuccello's team took an 0-5 record into this week's action. The girls battled Columbia yesterday and will be host to Paramus Catholic this afternoon at 4 p.m. Next Tuesday, the team heads off to Teaneck for a 4 p.m. tip off.

Last week, Belleville ran into a solid Bergen County club in Queen of Peace. The host team in the Tri County tourney, Queen of Peace took on prisoners in the opening round.

"Queen of Peace has a talented team," Fuccello said. "They were the class of the tourney this year, no doubt. They played a strong man to man defense and forced us into a lot of turnovers."

The Queenswomen led, 14-4 after one quarter and 35-11 by intermission. It was 53-13 after three quarters with the fourth quarter being the closest, a 13-7 advantage for the home team.

Danielle DeWork led Belleville with six points. Colleen Mannion had four, Amalia Fabiano finished with four, Mary Campbell and Mia Hanos scored two each and Thelina Espiritu and Kim Salernitano scored one each.

Versus Kearny in the consolation game of the tourney, Belleville fell victim to a bad second quarter and lost by 17 points. It was 10-7 Kearny after one quarter, but the second frame saw the Kards outscore the Bucs by a 17-4 margin. The second half was virtually even, with Kearny gaining a 19-18 advantage.

Foul shooting was the deciding factor, with the Lady Bucs shooting just 11 for 29 at the charity stripe.

"In a 17 point loss, 18 missed foul shots can be a factor," Fuccello said dryly. "But it's not just the foul shooting. We're not making good decisions on offense. We'll get a steal, then throw the ball away trying to convert a fast break. It's going to take time. This is a young team and the conference we're in doesn't allow for many breaks."

Mannion played a strong game for Belleville and led the way with 12 points. DeWork and Hanos scored six each. Fabiano and Espiritu scored two points a piece and Nina Calvi finished with one.

as the Ridgewood game."

Versus Ridgewood, the Bergen County power jumped out early, taking a 22-12 lead after one quarter and extending the margin to 41-29 by halftime. However, the Bucs cut into the deficit, which hit a high of 20 points early in the second half.

By midway through the fourth quarter, Belleville had narrowed the margin to one point, but Ridgewood managed to quell the rally and held on for a six-point win.

Andy DuHaime led a balanced Belleville scoring attack with 18 points. Jim Krupka tallied 17, Art Caruso had 12, Troy Talmadge and Tom Klena scored eight points each, Michael Traza scored five and Jim DuHaime closed with four points.

Versus Queen of Peace, Belleville fell behind early, then had to play catch-up the rest of the way.

It was 12-4 after one quarter and 31-14 by intermission before the Bucs found any rhythm in its offense. Belleville did manage to trim a 20-point deficit down to as little as eight points before losing by 10.

Krupka led Belleville with 15 points. Andy DuHaime scored 12, Caruso had 11, Trezza tallied six, and Doug Hoogenyky, Talmadge and Francisco Furman scored two points each.

"Our decision-making on shots has to be improved," Roll said. "We shot 13 for 58 in the Queen of Peace game and many of those shots came at bad opportunities."

Thus, the Bucs start the decade a little behind the eight ball. Roll is hoping his team can get back in gear this week against Paramus Catholic and St. A's.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Softball Clinic Registration

The Belleville Recreation Dept. will again sponsor a Girls' Softball Clinic for Belleville girls who are students at Belleville High or Middle schools.

The program will be held on Fridays from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Middle School boys gym on the following dates:

January 5, 12, 19, 26; February 2 and 9; and March 2. The intent of this clinic is to prepare girls who plan to try out for the Suburban Girls and/or the High School girls softball teams.

Each session will be supervised and an aspect of the game will be demonstrated and practiced to provide all interested girls an opportunity to better learn the game of softball.

Participants must provide their own gloves and must wear sneakers. No advance registration is required.

Registration time for pre-school

The Belleville Recreation Department is now accepting registration for the pre-school play program for 4-year-old children.

The program consists of games, stories, songs, art, outside play when weather permits, short rest periods and occasional holiday parties especially designed for pre-school children.

A session is from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. five days a week with class limited to 25 students. The cost of the 15-week session is $45. The mothers of the children accepted will serve one duty day about every 8 or 9 days according to a published schedule.

School will begin on Monday, Jan. 22, 1990, under the leadership of Mary Anne Lopreato.

For further information and enrollment, contact the Belleville Recreation Department at 450-3422 as soon as possible — Monday-Friday 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

OBITUARIES

A. Trabucco Jr., 78

A Mass for Anthony A. Trabucco Jr., 78, of Belleville was offered Jan. 2 in Holy Family Church, Nutley, after the funeral from the Biondi Funeral Home, Nutley.

Mr. Trabucco, who died Dec. 28 in his home, had been a quality control inspector with the Continental Can Co. in Paterson for 20 years before his retirement 13 years ago.

He served in the Army during World War II. Born in Bloomfield, Mr. Trabucco lived in Belleville for many years.

Surviving are his wife, Frances; a daughter, Mrs. Michele Dominguez; three brothers, Nicholas, Albert and Jerry; a sister, Mrs. Louise Bambo, and a grandchild.

Elizabeth Viti, 86

A Mass for Elizabeth Viti, 86, of Lancaster, Pa., who had been a Belleville resident, was offered Jan. 3 in St. Peter's Church, Belleville, following the funeral from the Kiernan Funeral Home, Belleville.

Mrs. Viti died Dec. 30 in the Lansdowne Hill Convalescent Center, Lancaster.

She had been in the accounting department of the Continental Can Co. in Paterson for 40 years before retiring in 1964. Born in Jersey City, she lived in Belleville before moving to Lancaster 13 years ago.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Margaret Doran.

Services for Joseph David DiLeo, 85, of Palm Beach, Fla., a native of Belleville and retired as an attorney, were held Jan. 2 in St. Peter's Church Cemetery, Belleville. Arrangements were by the Kiernan Funeral Home, Belleville.

Mr. DiLeo, who died Dec. 28 in the Palm Beach Regency Hospital, maintained a private practice in Washington, D.C. for 48 years, retiring in 1977. He was a graduate of Notre Dame University in Indiana and received his law degree in 1927 from the Georgetown University Law School in Washington, D.C., where he was the vice president of his graduating class.

He served as a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in 1928 and 1929. Mr. DiLeo was a major in Army Air Force during World War II, serving in Intelligence and in the Judge Advocates Division.

Born in Belleville, he lived in Washington, D.C., before moving to Florida in 1977. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Doris Crawford, and a son, Joseph.

L. Jeffers Jr., 57

RELIGIOUS VIEWPOINT

Gerald Fortunato, Pastor
Silver Lake Baptist Church

Assurance in the Midst of Uncertainty

The stock market crash, the escalating spread of the AIDS virus, the open and aggressive evangelism of religious cults, the lack of courage among believers to become involved in the ethical issues we face, and the ever increasing drift toward liberalism in our churches and educational institutions — all combine to send an uncertain signal for the new year.

How are we as believers to respond to all this confusion, doubt, and insecurity which plague our society? We can become paralyzed with fear. We can throw all restraint to the wind and join in the world's ungodly indulgences in order to forget it all. Or we can walk amidst our ever changing circumstances with a peace which will baffle the unbelievers around us.

But how? By applying the truth of one of the most familiar passages of Scripture in the entire Bible: the twenty-third Psalm. If you will allow me to interpret this Psalm in the light of our surrounding uncertainties, I believe you will begin to experience a peace and confidence which no changing circumstance can disturb.

"The Lord is my shepherd." He is our Personal Shepherd. We belong to Him. We are His purchased possession. He says the Father gave us to Him and no one can pluck us out of His hand. (John 10:29) Only those who have received Him as their Savior can claim Him as their Shepherd.

"I shall not want." He is our Providing Shepherd. One of the primary tasks of the Shepherd is to feed and water His flock — "green pastures" and "quiet waters." Does He promise us that our God "shall supply all your needs according to His riches in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 4:19)? Did He not say, "Delight yourself in the Lord; and He will give you the desires of your heart" (Psalm 37:4)?

"He restores my soul." He is our Pardoning Shepherd. Retrieving us from our foolish wanderings. Guiding us "in the paths of righteousness." He not only forgives our sin, but He restores us to the intimate fellowship that was once ours. Sometimes He is forced to chasten us because of our wandering, but it is always the discipline of love and restoration.

"I will fear no evil." He is our Protecting Shepherd. He, like the shepherds of old, leads us from mountain to mountain, through valleys that are often dark and dangerous — "the valley of the shadow of death." But we never walk alone. He is always with us, and that is our reason for being fearless in the valley experiences of life. The presence of our Heavenly Shepherd dispels all fears. Even in the midst of great turmoil, unrest, and violence, we are assured that His goodness and loving kindness will accompany us throughout our earthly journey and into glory.

If we will but appropriate by faith the promise of this Psalm, we shall be able to face great uncertainty with greater assurance.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Did You Know???

The family room — an area for family activities, has been around a long time, but it got its formal name just 40 years ago. Today's home is often designed around it.

Good habit: unplug power tools every time you set them down. Never make adjustments or change saw blades, drill or router bits, or sandpaper until the tool is unplugged.

Lovely embroidered handkerchiefs, sewn together with strips of lace, make elegant curtains, throws, decorative pillows and lampshades for a bedroom. Decorate with lace ruffles and/or grosgrain ribbon.

Concrete floors are easier to keep clean if they're smooth. Rough floors can be resurfaced with latex-reinforced concrete mix — usually a job for a professional masonry worker.

New homes are getting smarter, as builders are installing computer systems that can adjust temperature and lighting room by room, close curtains on schedule, even run bath water on telephone command.

Smart houses, smart sellers — and the smartest homeowners list their home with the can-do real estate pros at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley. 235-9000.
