Two-year study confirmed

School starting age raised

By Steve Balkin

A final presentation to the board of education and the public, Monday night, culminating a two-year study of kindergarten entrance cut off dates, resulted in a unanimous decision by the board to push forward 91 days to Oct. 1, the cut off date to enter kindergarten, effective September 1990.

Pushing forward the entrance cut off date to Oct. 1 from its original Dec. 31, will, in actuality, make children start school at an older age. This was the central theme of this two year study initiated by the board of ed and co-chaired by Raffaella Saulino, a learning consultant for ages 3 thru 21 and Paula Cummis, a reading specialist, K thru 12.

For clarification purposes the year in use for this example will be September 1990.

Prior to the board revising the cut off dates for kindergarten entrance ance a child born Dec. 30, 1985 would be entitled for enrollment in September 1990 at the age of 4 years and 9 months.

With the revised plan the same child will now have to wait until 1991 to start school at an age of 5 years and 9 months.

Not only did Saulino and Cummis co-chair the study they were proponents of this idea prior to taking on the two year task.

"There is a national trend in preschool programs for more teaching of fundamentals as opposed to simple custodial care," said Saulino.

"At the same time this study was commissioned, another study, one presenting the idea of a more academically structured first year of school was terminating. The curriculum study concluded that children would now be taught to read 20 words that would come from the book, One Potato, Two Potato and to show this, teachers requested a report card that would not only show social readiness and physical readiness but would also illustrate academic skill acquisitions," Saulino added.

"Culturally, society puts emphasis on children starting school at a young age. Nationally, a trend is slowly spreading that older is better," said Cummis.

While most people do not consider three months to make that great an impact on learning the co-chairpersons believe it will and have two years of statistics to support their beliefs.

In a unanimous decision the board decided to put $5,000 from a Bell Telephone easement towards a Here's Looking at You 2000 kit which has a total cost of $7,000.

In other board news the Belleville recreation wrestler's parents' association were granted unanimous approval to sell food items at the two remaining matches of the season.

Assessments appealed

Condo tax refunds wait

By Anthony Buccino

Township commissioners tabled two resolutions for tax refunds and overpayments totaling $167,948.07. They also tabled two appropriations ordinances because they didn't have the four votes needed to approve the ordinances. Mayor Michael Pizzi and Commissioner Joseph McGreevey were absent.

Acting Mayor Vincent Frantantoni said he had requested the tax assessor and the township treasurer be present at the commission meeting to explain the tax refunds. Neither party was at the meeting.

Township attorney Frank Cozzarelli who might have been able to answer the commissioners tax refund questions was reported to have the flu. Assistant Township Attorney Robert Giordano said he was unfamiliar with the tax decisions in question.

Twelve condo owners filed tax appeals with the Essex County Tax Board and were awarded $153,705.46 in tax overpayment refunds. Additionally, six other tax appeal awards amounting to $14,242.61 were also delayed.

Commissioner of Revenue and Finance Joseph McGreevey was not available to elaborate on any of the decisions.

Acting mayor Frantantoni and commissioners Angelo Risoli and Joseph Fomartello voted to table the tax refund resolutions until they could question the history of the decisions. Frantantoni directed the table vote stipulate that an emergency commission meeting would be called if the Essex County Tax Board decision required the township to refund the taxes before the next scheduled commission meeting.

Phil Alampi of Rivermill West Condoms said that the $90,960.01 settlement for the 130 units in his complex was a result of a lawsuit instituted for a refund of $135,000. The lawsuit started in 1988, he said.

The township offered to refund $90,000, and the county tax board awarded that amount, Alampi said. Tax assessment for a two bedroom unit in the complex was lowered to $44,000 from $53,000, he said. Before the appeal each unit paid $4,550 in taxes.

Frantantoni read tax bills paid by several condo units in the township. Incompleted units are not fully taxed, he said, but they do pay taxes. In the commissioner's examples, condo tax assessments ranged from $176 for an unfinished unit to $6349 for an occupied unit. Most other occupied units in his example

Zoning board approves indoor used car lot

The Zoning Board of Adjustment last Wednesday held a reorganization meeting and dealt with two variance applications.

The board, after much debate, approved a request by Thomas Grolimond to operate an indoor used car lot at his mechanic garage at 96 Academy Street.

Board member Carol Smith, who also serves as a member of the administrative board of Wesley United Methodist Church at 225 Washington Avenue, stepped down from the application hearing when the board considered she might be in conflict.

Grolimond needed the variance, he said, in order to obtain used car dealer license plates from the state. That would allow him to test drive cars.

His mechanic repair business comes from area car dealers who drive in cars for repair and leave them there until the work is complete, Grolimond said. The dealers do not leave the temporary plates with the repair cars.

Grolimond said that any cars he would buy, fix and repair, he would sell privately. The board approved the variance but restricted Grolimond to no more than four cars on the premises, no outside storage, not more than one set of dealer's plates, and no auto retail outdoor sign.

The board voted 7-0 to deny a variance to convert an existing attic area into a third apartment at 279 Greylock Parkway.

The board selected Victor Canino to chair a committee that would evaluate and recommend changes in the fee structure for zoning applicants. They are expected to report their findings at the next zoning board meeting.

The board appointed the firm of Albert R. Agostine, Wood Ridge, as the court reporter. The court reporter fee usually runs between $200-$240 per night, with the fee being paid by the applicants heard at the meeting.

The board also requested that a letter be sent to the township construction code office regarding a new house being constructed on the northwest corner of Liberty St. and Franklin Ave. The board instructed that the letter ask the building inspector to "double check" compliance in the areas of rear yard, front yard, lot coverage and other requirements.

PBA gala ball slated for Feb. 16

Detective Tony Wieners, Police Benevolent Association Local 28 President, announced that two 25-year veterans of the Belleville police and two private citizens will be honored at the PBA Gala Ball next month.

The gala ball will be held at Nanina's In The Park, February 16, at 7 p.m. with a cocktail hour, dinner, music and open bar. Formal attire is optional. Tickets are $80 per person and can be obtained from Captains Salmon or Escott, or detective Wieners.

Rev. and Mrs. Lombardo honored at Christian Apostolic Church

Reverend Victor Lombardo, Pastor of the Christian Apostolic Church, and his wife were honored for their tenth year as church leaders by members of his congregation last Sunday.

A surprise special choir presentation during the service and a modest private reception following honored the pastor on his anniversary.

Among other songs, the choir sang An Expression of Gratitude which was written to commemorate the tenth anniversary of David Lane, Minister of Music at College Park Baptist College, Winston-Salem, N.C.

Lombardo had served the church in various capacities for the previous 43 years before becoming ordained and installed as pastor Jan. 19, 1980.

Prior to becoming pastor, Lombardo was employed for 45 years with Becton-Dickinson in Rutherford.

Lombardo met his future wife, Tillie Vincenzi, at a Pentecostal Church Convention in Burlington, N.J. in 1938. In 1940, they were married in Pennsylvania and settled in New Jersey.

Following his service during World War II from 1944 to 1946, he was appointed temporary treasurer of the church.

Lombardo was officially appointed treasurer in 1956. He began to assist then pastor, Rev. Joseph Grinnelli in his pastoral duties, such as visiting the sick and administering communion to shut-ins. Little did he know that his unselfish acts would serve as preparation for a later calling.

Just as every man has a great woman behind him, Reverend Lombardo is just one half of a team. Mrs. Lombardo is constantly beside her husband on his rounds ministering to the sick. Their home is always open to the church members. She is the support for his ministering and counseling and is well-known for her loving hospitality. It is hard to picture one without the other.

The church has been a fixture in Belleville since 1935, although very few residents know of its existence. Much the way Pastor Lombardo is a modest man who chooses to remain out of the spotlight, the Christian Apostolic Church has quietly existed on Wallace Street for 55 years. Physically it appears much the same as it did then with the exception of the stained glass windows.

During World War II, the women of the church met every Wednesday morning to pray for the safe return of their loved ones in service.

According to the church history, written in 1985 to commemorate the 50th anniversary, "As one by one, husband, brother, or son came home from war safely, the sisters wanted to offer a gift of thanksgiving to the Lord. Each week a small amount of money was collected toward the purchase of this gift — the stained glass windows — which serve today to remind us all of the power of prayer."

Reverend and Mrs. Lombardo have lived in Belleville for more than 40 years. They have two children and six grandchildren.

Fire Dept. responded to 1240 calls last year

By Anthony Buccino

Belleville's fire department responded to 103 more fire calls in 1989 than the year before. Losses from fires topped $2 million and resulted in one death last year. Additionally, the department responded to nearly 3000 ambulance calls.

The total fire runs for 1989 were 1240, according to preliminary reports. In 1988, the department had 1137 fire runs. Additionally, in 1989, there were 2720 ambulance calls including emergency and transportation, but not necessarily including responses to fire scenes.

Fire runs include the total number of fire runs and responses for every alarm, but not the actual number of building fires. Statistics are being finalized by the department and will be shared with state fire officials.

Last year's fire losses were estimated at $2,143,000. The losses include the Jan. 27 fire at C.V.S. and the July 26 fire at Sussex Barrel & Drum. In 1988, the estimated property loss was more than $5 million.

A fire which started in a clothes drier resulted in the death of a township woman Dec. 17, last year. One township person died as a result of fire in 1988.

Clothes drier fires are usually caused when lint in the exhaust hose or the drier overheats and ignites, according to fire prevention officials. They suggested that the next time a serviceman calls, ask him to check the drier's exhaust line. Do it yourself, may want to disconnect the drier exhaust hose and clean it out with a brush and vacuum, or replace it with a new kit. Cleaning the lint filter after each use does not prevent lint from gathering in the exhaust hose or the unit itself.

Professional laundries also are encouraged to check their lint traps, duct works and screens. Violations can be issued for fire safety hazards, including clogged lint traps.

Heal the Children tour to benefit Nicole Fund

Nationally known comedian and impressionist Pete DeLorenzo today announced that his current tour of concerts on behalf of the 'Healing the Children' foundation will also benefit the fund established locally for 7 year old Nicole Perich of Nutley.

Little Nicole, who suffers from as many as 90 seizures a day, and apnea (the stop-breathing syndrome that takes place while the child sleeps) has a fund established in her name by concerned citizens and community leaders from the tri-town area of Bloomfield, Belleville, and Nutley.

DeLorenzo, who learned of Nicole's afflictions recently, has dedicated some of the proceeds from each show to the Nicole Fund.

The first of these concerts will take place on Saturday, Jan. 27 at the Aspen Hotel and Manor on Route 46 in Parsippany, in the main ballroom, with showtime expected to be 7:30 p.m.

DeLorenzo is the national spokesperson for the Healing the Children Foundation, and has been active in this organization for several years.

His career has brought him to such notable clubs and nightspots in the area as Dangerfields in NYC, Rascals, Catch a Rising Star, and the Tropicana in Atlantic City. He has appeared on the Joe Franklin Show and as the opening act for such rock dignitaries as the Coasters, The Platters, the Five Satins and Jay Black and the Americans. He does voice-overs for radio and TV commercials, and has acted in a number of Broadway musical revivals. His range of impressions of the famous and near famous is legendary.

Appearing with DeLorenzo at the Aspen will be an opening act with Vince Torell singing the 'Sounds of Sinatra', and the Ed Capuano Orchestra. Tickets can be purchased at the Willowbrook Mall 785-0999, and Paramus Park 599-0888.

The tour will continue with the following dates already in place: Feb. 16 at Neil's New York in Mountain Lakes; Feb. 23 at Loews Glenpointe in Teaneck; March 9 at the Tara Sheraton in Parsippany; and April 7 at the Woodbridge Hilton.

The part of the proceeds from each show will go directly to the Nicole Fund, and help save little Nicole's life, and help to alleviate the enormous medical bills under which her family labors every day. The participation of everyone concerned in the Bloomfield, Belleville and Nutley area will help this little girl.

Even though the Catastrophic Medicare Coverage Act was repealed effective Dec. 31, 1989, Medicare enrollees will continue paying, for as many as six months, one of the two premiums eliminated because the government will collect the monthly premium until April or May and the premiums won't be refunded until later this summer.

Owendolyn King, commissioner of the Social Security Administration (SSA) says the delay stems from Congress's late action in repealing the law. She explains that the agency's computers can't be adjusted more quickly to halt withholding of the catastrophic law's basic premium from monthly benefit checks.

To effect the change, SSA must examine 33 million benefit records — an operation that will cost about $45 million. "We're committed to getting that money back into people's hands as soon as possible," King says.

By repealing the catastrophic law, Congress eliminated both the basic premium and the controversial supplemental premium. Both premiums became effective Jan. 1, 1989, the basic premium as a $4 per month charge owed by virtually all Medicare enrollees and automatically deducted from their Social Security checks. The supplemental premium, based on tax liability, was owed by 40 percent of enrollees, those who are more affluent.

The supplemental premiums paid into the catastrophic program in 1989 are refundable. Those who complied with the tax by making quarterly estimated payments in 1989 will get their money back this year. (That's because Congress made repeal of this premium retroactive to Jan. 1, 1989.)

But the money Medicare enrollees paid into the basic premium in 1989 is not refundable. (The money is needed to pay benefits provided in 1989.)

However, with repeal of the program, the basic and supplemental premiums are no longer owed, and that's why it's so controversial that the government will continue collecting the basic premium.

As for the supplemental premium, enrollees are advised by the Internal Revenue Service to ignore line 54 on their 1989 tax return relating to its payment. For those who made estimated quarterly payments last year, the premium will be treated as a credit.

The basic premium money that is collected in 1990 will be returned over a two-to-three month period beginning in June, says King. However, no interest will be paid on the overpayments.

Until that time, enrollees will pay up to $5.30 extra per month for Medicare's Part B coverage, which pays doctors bills. This is the amount they no longer owe and will get back. It consists of a monthly premium of $4.90 for the terminated catastrophic program, along with an additional 40 cents Congress pared off the monthly premium for existing coverage under Part B.

As a result, beneficiaries will, at least for a few months, pay an inflated Part B premium of $33.90 per month. When the $5.30 overcharge is finally halted, sometime around April or May, enrollees' monthly Part B premium will be restored to its correct amount, which is $28.60.

"We knew there might be a problem due to the late congressional action, but we didn't expect that it would take this long to resolve," says AARP Legislative Director John Rother. "Even $5.30 a month is an important amount for those who are most in need."

King says she warned the Congress in October that SSA needed immediate information about what would happen to the catastrophic program so it could revise Social Security checks, saying, "Social Security will have to unscramble this egg, but I have to make it clear that we did not lay it."

By voting to repeal, Congress eliminated virtually all of the benefits provided by the 1988 law, leaving only three modest provisions aimed at helping low-income elderly.

Chief Petty Officer Del Russo proudly serves his country

William and Jean Del Russo of Adelaide Street are justifiably proud that their son John, a 13-year U.S. Navy veteran, has been promoted to Chief Petty Officer.

Chief Del Russo, a 1971 graduate of Belleville High School also attended Holy Family School in Nutley. He is stationed as a submarine tender aboard the USS Simon Lake now homeported in Holy Lock, Scotland.

"It's like a floating city where submarines moor for repairs, replenishment and some rest and relaxation for the crews," Del Russo said.

"The sailors who ride our subs have my respect. Submarines are our nation's best insurance policy against any potential aggression," He said.

Presently assigned as supervisor of the ship's Submarine Quality Assurance Training Team, Del Russo employs his talents as an instructor and graphic artist.

During his off-duty hours, Del Russo relaxes with his wife and two sons taking in the sights of Scottish countryside.

Del Russo met his wife Mary during his first navy tour in Scotland. She is originally from Port Glasgow, Scotland. They married in 1978.

Mary explains life as a Navy Wife, "periodic household moves can be stressful, but after settling in at a new location, this family pulls together and it makes us all the more stronger."

Both boys love living in Scotland, although they'll admit they miss some of the daily conveniences of stateside living. John Jr. is nine years old, and was born in Scotland. William is 6 and was born in Pensacola, Fla.

Del Russo cites the main disadvantage of selecting a military lifestyle is that of family separation, although getting back together makes all the difference in the world.

Del Russo's first set of orders out of boot camp in 1976 were to Scotland. He started out as a draftsman and ship's artist. He spent most of the next 13 years advancing through the ranks as a Navy photographer. Following 2 1/2 years as an instructor at the Naval Schools of Photography in Pensacola, Fla., he entered the optical/periscope repair field.

"My brother Billy deals with precision instruments, so you could say he was an inspiration."

After training for his new job, he was stationed in Charleston, S.C., before returning for another tour of duty to Scotland last July.

FACELIFT ON THE WAY?... The Bloomfield Planning Board last week gave the nod to expansion and renovations of the strip mall at 1-31 Belleville Ave. Approvals also are needed from the Belleville and county boards. (Photo by Steve Balkin)

Planners approve proposals for Belleville Ave. mall rehab

By Steve Balkin

The Bloomfield Planning Board unanimously granted final site plan approval Jan. 10 for the expansion and renovation of a strip mall at 1-31 Belleville Ave., pending review by the township engineer of a retaining wall design.

The mall houses three major tenants, A&P, Walgreens and First Fidelity Bank, along with a variety of small to medium-sized shops.

First Fidelity Bank, which now has a 1,400-square-foot branch on site, plans to demolish the existing building and construct a new 3,364-square-foot facility.

Due to the increase in size and a shift in the placement of the new structure, a portion of the bank will straddle the Belleville boundary line.

Appearances before the Belleville and county planning boards are now required because Belleville Avenue is a county road.

"Through experience, I have learned that prior to seeking approval from the county planning board, gaining approvals from the municipal planning boards, where the major impact of the project will be felt, is the best method in which to approach the county," said Verona attorney Ralph Salerno, who represented applicants Bloomfield L. & M. Partners of Wayne.

The board's first concern was an on-site retaining wall.

"Presently, there is a railroad tie-type retaining wall that has deteriorated to the point that when my clients recently purchased the mall, they inherited the violations that had been issued to the previous owners," said Salerno.

"As you know, there are certain areas behind the A&P where a retaining wall will be holding back an enormous amount of soil. What type of wall do you propose to construct in place of the deteriorated retaining wall?" asked Bloomfield township engineer Anthony Marucci.

"We have already begun working on the retaining wall. In the areas where the wall will be below and the amount of pressure needed to hold back the soil less than other areas, we are using a keystone wall," testified David Hals, engineer for the applicant.

"This is a series of interlocked individual stones, actually concrete blocks with a textured look. They're longer lasting, stronger than the present wall and definitely more aesthetically pleasing to the eye."

"In areas where a high wall is necessary and there is an enormous amount of soil to be retained, we propose to construct what is known as a soldier beam and lagging wall," he added.

"The design and construction of these walls must meet the criteria established by Mr. Marucci to remove the contingency and clear the approvals issued by this board," said township clerk John Galvin.

Another area of concern that had to be satisfied was the egress and ingress to the mall which, due to the traffic flow on Belleville Avenue, planners considered dangerous.

"If the size of the bank increases, wouldn't the number of customers increase? My concern here is that, at its present size, I have seen cars waiting to use the drive-up continue their line out of the parking lot onto Belleville Avenue," board member David Tucker said.

"We have addressed this area and also the fact that when a 50- to 55-foot tractor trailer is scheduled to make a delivery, there is no way to negotiate getting to the back of the buildings without making k turns and all sorts of maneuvers," testified traffic engineer Albert T. Rinaldi.

"To satisfy the problem of increased bank business making forcing the drive-up lines to filter out to the main thoroughfare, we have proposed demolishing an existing median island and actually moving the location of the egress and ingress."

"Although our plan calls for an additional 56 parking spaces and for the first time in the mall, designated employee parking, our layout will allow tractor trailers to reach the back of the buildings in a singular motion, by which I mean no k turns when entering or leaving," he added.

The board also approved variances in parking space sizes by allowing the 10- by 20-feet required by ordinance to be reduced to 9 by 18 feet in the employee parking areas.

In addition, the board allowed spaces for compact cars to be reduced by two feet in width and two feet in length from the requirements.

"Without including the $2 million interior renovation that A & P will undertake at their own expense, or the construction of the new bank which will also be at the owner's expense, my costs will run approximately $1 million," said one of the principals of Bloomfield L. & M., Paul Martinielli.

"Aside from additional parking spaces, the entire mall will be given a facelift."

"A&P will receive a canopied entrance plus a 2,000-square-foot addition to the rear of the store, the entire mall will receive new landscaping which will be very pleasing and most importantly, as the owner, I will insist upon cleanliness throughout the entire area," he added.

"We expect to appear before the Belleville planning board next month and an appearance before the county planning board will be requested after we have been granted all the necessary municipal approvals," said Salerno.

Lamberti promoted to VP

Robert M. Kossick, president and chief executive officer of National Community Bank, has announced the appointment of Belleville resident Michael Lamberti to vice president.

Lamberti began his banking career over 10 years ago. Previously, he held a position at United Jersey Bank, joining National Community Bank in 1981.

He holds a BS degree from Fairleigh Dickinson University, Teaneck, and future plans include pursuing an MBA at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Currently, Lamberti is a trustee on the Belleville Board of Education, president of the Ridgefield Manufacturers Association, member of the North Arlington Union, sports editor of the Belleville Times, and community phase chairman for the Northern Bergen County Boy Scouts of America.

As vice president of National Community Bank and Englewood branch manager, his responsibilities include overseeing day to day operations and business development of the branch.

National Community Bank has 111 branches, serving 12 counties.

COLD FACTS

Many people persist in their belief that they can catch a cold by getting caught in the rain. The truth is, however, that colds are not spread by cold, dampness, or climate changes. Neither can a person get a cold as a result of having "lowered resistance." The fact is that colds are transmitted by physical contact. When scientists placed healthy subjects in a closed room with sneezing, coughing, cold sufferers, fewer than ten percent of the healthy subjects were infected. However, when those with colds touched their noses and then shook hands with healthy subjects, more than 75 percent got sick after rubbing their own noses or eyes. This makes a good case for handwashing as a good cold preventive technique.

OUR OPINION

The Swallow

In the Allegheny Mountains
When the apple orchards bloom
I know of eaves in a big red barn
Where I'll find a nesting room.

I'm coming back! I'm coming back!
My wings are on the wind;
I'm coming back with the spring-time
To the hills I've left behind.

I'm coming back! I'm coming back!
To the hills that I know best,
Where the mountains sleep, and the winds walk,
And where my wings can rest.

Thorns in the roses

When will we as a nation find a solution to the substance abuse problem?

This all pervasive problem touches every one of us, and our children. It's the leading cause of crime all around us, and it is bringing countries to their knees.

The way we look at the problem sets the perceptions for how we deal with it. Finding the solution through education is a start. And starting to educate our children younger and younger about the ravages of substance abuse will, in its own way help us reach a solution.

To point and stare and say it's something that happens only to other people is equivalent to burying our head in the sand. The substance abuse problem of drugs and alcohol touches all our lives. It casts its cold morbid hand on people in all walks of lives, and on all levels of the social strata.

The problem is not something that affects only the dregs of society. Its evil clutch stretches from the lowest slimeball drug dealer to the mayor of our nation's capitol and across to the names we know from neon lights.

The problem trickles down through our society like a cancer. Today there are "designer drugs" that suppose the romance of a new perfume. But that love is dead. And there is the new homemade threat called ICE that is supposed to be even more powerful and harmful than crack.

Babies are born addicted to crack and heroin. Children face a tougher time learning and adjusting because their parents did drugs and alcohol. The parents did it because it was easy to get and people looked the other way. And now their children are paying for it. But the parents are oblivious to their responsibility.

Substance abuse is a major cause of crime. Crime is the quickest way to support a habit. More than 90% of today's crime can be tied back in one way or another to substance abuse. And many of the victims are innocent. There's the child who is shot during a drug bust gone bad; the family whose car radio is stolen in front of their own house; whose life's possessions are stolen in the night. That pervasive feeling of violation when something that is ours has been ripped off. And it's all part of this problem.

They are after our kids. Life at the schoolyard is much different these days. The substance abusers need fresh blood to fill their trough. They don't respect their own kids, they're never going to respect ours. They certainly don't respect themselves. They have been taken over by the substances they abuse. Death carries nothing near the fear that missing a high has.

So, all the world is their enemy. They have whole countries on their knees. The names roll off our tongues so readily, Panama, Columbia, Turkey, and on and on. One just has to look around to see the tidal wave of destruction washing its way to our doorstep.

And it's easy to see that our own perceptions are clouded when we consider it someone else's problem. For all too long, the movies have played up to the image of the drug kingpin. Until the second filming of Scarface, the down side of being on top of the ant hill was something all these dreamers left for the obit writers. In the papers and magazines we see actors we have long admired admitting themselves to this clinic or that. Is it because it's the thing to do, or because they've found the thorns in the roses?

Is educating our children about drugs the best we can do? Since we can't follow them around 24 hours a day, it certainly is the least we can do. Children may not always heed the "just say no" approach, but they have certainly memorized it by now. That's a start, but it will take more than a trickling of education to battle the forces rotting within our ranks.

This is a war we don't have to lose. To paraphrase a saying posted in our own police station, the only thing necessary for evil to win, is for honest people to do nothing. The problem won't go away until we as a nation find a solution to the substance abuse problem. And we had better start working overtime on it.

YOUR OPINION

Stop the heckling!

To the editor:

An open letter to Gabe Nazzola:

At the last town meeting, which I attended, I noticed that the heckling seemed to be back to normal. Someone from the audience, without being recognized would interrupt a citizen of Belleville, who was questioning some town issues, by saying, "Oh, shut the hell up, sit down". It was a full house and most of the citizens just sat there, being very cordial and congenial, listening to what was being said by Gabe Nazzola.

I would like to congratulate this man (Gabe Nazzola) for keeping his cool, despite the fact that he was being heckled by someone who told him to "sit the hell down". None of the commissioners asked this woman to remain silent and to wait her turn to talk. But, as for Gabe, this did not stop him from getting his point across. In fact, he politely suggested that they (the few hecklers) should sit down and respect his right to talk.

I know it's always a few of the same people, at every meeting, who get up and start heckling, with whatever they may disagree with. I'm not saying that they don't have as much right as any citizen to express their views, but they have to respect anybody who gets up to talk, whether they agree or not. This is the way we get things done in this democratic country of ours.

This is the third time I attended a meeting and I wanted to get up and say something to the commissioners that I thought was important, but I was afraid to be heckled. Once again, I think it's the commissioners' right to protect our rights as citizens, to be able to get up and express our views, without any heckling.

Even though I didn't get up to say anything, I was happy that Gabe spoke his mind, in spite of hecklers, because what I wanted to get up to say, Gabe said it, as though he read my mind. I was very curious to know how Mr. Frantantoni who was against putting up a $10 million building because he said, "Belleville couldn't afford a $10 million project" (as a result of his position, being against a $10 million project, the taxpayers give him a very high vote). Now, this Mr. Frantantoni, after he was in office two years, has decided maybe we should spend some of the taxpayers money to put an addition to the Town Hall. And, I remember, quite vividly what his figures were — less than $2 million.

There is no doubt in my mind and in the taxpayers mind, that the Town Hall is cramped up and we definitely need an addition. My heart goes out to the police department, because it is disgraceful how cramped up they are, under such conditions. They should have done it years ago. Now, Mr. Frantantoni is up to $5 million and you could rest assured, it will go higher than that, because they aren't figuring the interest, which would be around $7-$8 million, bringing the total to well over $12 million.

I think what they should do is table this until we have a new election. Please, to all you nice men in blue, who are disgusted and to all the employees of the Town Hall, just be a bit more patient, until after the new upcoming election and I have no doubt that some of these present commissioners will get their pink slips. Then we will select a manager who will represent us and use his expertise because it is obvious that some of these commissioners don't know what they're doing. We might find ourselves spending more than the $10 million in the long run. Once again, I would like to thank Gabe Nazzola for saying out loud, what I was thinking and other Belleville taxpayers were thinking, as though he read our minds. So Gabe, keep up your good work because your message is not falling on deaf ears; and to quote President Bush, "We are reading your lips."

The rest of the story...

To the editor:

(The following letter was sent to Donna Spilnik following her letter to Mayor Pizzi.)

Dear Miss Spilnik:

Your letter to Mayor Pizzi was forwarded to this office for investigation and reply.

I spoke to the officer who responded to the scene. He informed me that your father and the motorist who struck your dog were already at the scene on his arrival.

The officer explained to your father that there would be a monetary charge if he had the Humane Animal Shelter respond. The other option was to remove the dog and make your own arrangements. Your father decided to take the dog home and wait for you to arrive home from work. The officer helped your father remove the dog from the roadway to an area less than 200 feet from your home, not a two block distance.

Your father did not tell the officer he had a heart condition. If he had known this, other arrangements could have been made to remove your dog.

The officer working the police desk did make a notification to you at your place of business. He informed you that your dog was struck by a car on Belleville Avenue near your home.

It is unfortunate that the officer's concern on imposing a cost upon you for the removal of your dog led to this complaint. The officer's action was misconstrued as uncaring, when actually he was attempting to be sympathetic in regards to reducing your costs for removing the animal.

I regret the loss of your pet. Feel free to contact me regarding this incident.

Think first...

To the editor:

A new year ... a new decade ... 1990 ... has just begun. Let us all examine our conscience. Have we been helpful to our neighbor ... have we been fair to our fellowman ... have we been honest in our views of a given situation. If we hesitate to answer, let's give some thought to change.

So I didn't like the way my neighbor answered me one day. Maybe he had a rough day, too.

Fairness isn't always easy. But I'll give some effort to this commendable trait.

Sometimes what appears to be is not always the case. If I don't know all the facts in a given situation (sometimes even when you do), remember looks can be deceiving. It is not easy to weigh a given situation if your heart is somewhere else.

So, what's gonna do? The only thing you can do. THINK first and ACT later.

Martin will be missed

To the editor:

New York Yankee baseball fans — be they admirers or detractors of the late Billy Martin — most certainly will miss Billy's charismatic presence in the Yankee organization, during baseball's 1990 season.

I'll wager though — Billy Martin will be missed most of all by old friend, and sometimes foe, Yankee Boss — George Steinbrenner.

Mrs. Finelli thanked

To the editor:

We at the Department of Public Affairs in Belleville want to thank Mrs. Sandy Finelli for her recent gift of toys to the children who attend our WIC (Women's and Infant Care) program. It was a great joy to watch the children's delighted faces as they received their presents — each one so thoughtfully gift wrapped.

Gestures like Mrs. Finelli's help to make one's work here so rewarding — we all share in her gifts.

Don't forget the 'Valley'

To the editor:

We have a new street sweeper but our block does not get swept in weeks. We have one side parking and when and if the sweeper comes, there are cars parked but are not even ticketed anymore. I realize that we are in the valley section (Belleville's stepchild) but we still have to pay our taxes. It is really embarrassing for visiting friends to see the dirty block where I live.

Memories of Brookdale soda

By Anthony Buccino

Back in the days of milkmen, we had strong, young fellows who delivered our twelve pack cases of soda. The men, strong and sure, gripped the cases one in each hand and lugged our soda up the stairs to the second floor.

Yes, I remember those strong young men, and the quiet summers with the "mosquito man" and the summer fireworks to kick off the season. It's funny, here, now, so many years later, how this old soda bottle brings back this memory to me.

We drink Brookdale soda in my house. It's the only kind we buy. I says right on every bottle, "Pride of the Garden State". It satisfies better than the TV hyped soda and it's the soda pop I grew up with. When I was a kid, I called the fruit punch flavor 'blood' and the cherry pit flavor tickled and chilled my chest after a hard day of play.

On my first visit to Ohio, the summer dog day afternoon sun dried me out,

"Soda, please?" I asked my new friends. I waited for them to break out the Brookdale. My throat was parched, my kingdom for a glass of Brookdale soda, I thought.

In the land of the Buckeyes, where they've never even heard of the Garden State, I got a very, very tall glass of club soda! Yuck! It tasted like the sands of Dune. What made matters worse was, it wasn't even Brookdale! How foreign can you get?

The people in Ohio, (it really is in the U.S., though you can't prove it by what they drink) call soda "pop". So, if you're ever out that way and the water doesn't fancy your suit, don't ask, "Soda, please," unless you're on a new diet.

I should put it to collect hazard pay for attempting to put ice in my Brookdale soda. Later, I've favored the Kola flavor. It's not cola, or uncola, it's Kola! And I think it tastes best with lots of ice in a tall glass.

Every time I open the door to my freezer, a rock hard package of Sara Lee's dessert crashes onto my bare feet. I won't say I'm a slow learner, but after about the fourth time around, I tried moving back with the freezer door when I opened it to get the ice.

Good idea, right? I thought so, but that crumb cake was smarter than that. It waited until I stepped around to get the tray, then it crashed. I put some ice in a glass and the rest on my foot.

If it keeps up like this, the soda made from artesian well water may just be my downfall. Unless, and I just thought of this, unless I put the whole bottle in the freezer, then I won't have to get the ice! Hmmm, that sounds like a cool, safe idea for a hot summer night, doesn't it?

But I better remember about the bottle or then I'll really have something to write the folks in Ashbula about. I just remembered, that those sealed bottles tend to explode when they freeze. I grew up with that, too, on the back porch, in the cold, cold nights of Belleville's winters.

RELIGIOUS VIEWPOINT

Gerald Fortunato, Pastor
Silver Lake Baptist Church

God's Team

Are you a member of the team or merely a spectator? We were meant to be players on God's team, in His church. God has given each one of us abilities to be used to expand His Kingdom, to make it grow.

A well-known coach was questioned as to how much football contributed to the physical fitness of the nation. He replied, "Nothing! The way I see it, you have 22 men down on the field desperately needing a rest and 40,000 people in the stands desperately needing some exercise."

The same situation exists in many churches today. It is not unusual to see a small group of exhausted Christian workers struggling down on the field while the rest of the congregation is cheering on the sidelines while eating hot dogs and popcorn.

God's strategy is for all to participate. That is why the Holy Spirit gave each believer at least one Gift to be used for the profit and edification of all (1 Corinthians 12).

Are you using the Gift(s) which have been given to you, or are you content with being a spectator and ignoring your God-given Gift with its corresponding responsibility? You are needed in the field! Join us in fulfilling the Great Commission given to all of us by our Lord Jesus Christ!

Mrs. Rose DeMeo

A Mass of Requiem for Rose DeMeo of Belleville was offered Jan. 22 at St. Anthony's Church, Belleville, after the funeral services from the Zarro Funeral Home, Bloomfield.

Mrs. DeMeo died Jan. 18. She is survived by her husband, Morris; a son, Louis DeMeo, and six grandchildren.

Interment was in Hollywood Memorial Park Cemetery, Union.

County literacy agency looking for volunteers

"I can read it myself." There are an estimated 34,500 older adults in Essex County who cannot honestly utter these words. These are men and women who have raised families, held jobs, worked in their churches and contributed to their communities, all without being able to read above the 4th grade level.

Every day most of us rely on pieces of paper to help us through the day. We look up phone numbers, read interesting articles, follow written recipes, and know that we can learn to do virtually anything by reading. We read for pleasure, we read for work, we read to make our daily lives fuller and more meaningful. What if we couldn't read?

Studies have shown that there is no age limit to learning. A person can learn to read at any age if given the opportunity. Most of today's older adults who do not read well were never given the opportunity to acquire the skills of literacy. Essex County's Older Adult Literacy Program offers free, individualized literacy tutoring to anyone over the age of 60 who would like to improve their reading abilities. Improved literacy skills leads to an improved life. When asked why she wanted to take reading lessons, one of our new students replied that she was always envious of people who could learn something new by reading. We'd like to tell her that it's not too late, SHE CAN LEARN.

If you love reading, and enjoy people, you can teach another to read. The majority of our tutors are not certified teachers. They come from many varied backgrounds and careers. What they share is a genuine concern for others and the knowledge that they can make a difference. The Essex County's Older Adult Literacy Program, funded by the Essex Co. Division on Aging and sponsored by Senior Service can train you to become a tutor in a free, one day workshop. We will provide you with all of the materials needed to work with another to pass on the gift of literacy, and match you with an interested, motivated student. To find out more information on how you can get involved, call Holly Shader at 673-0640.

State Police's Project Recall

The State Police has been awarded a $15,510 grant to continue Project Recall, a safety program that aims to reduce the misuse of alcohol and drugs. Division of Highway Safety Director William T. Taylor announced recently.

Officers give safety presentations regarding the dangers of alcohol and drugs in over 450 schools each year. They also give presentations to various community groups and driver education classes.

At the conclusion of each presentation, everyone who attended the lecture is given a memento, such as a keychain, book cover or poster, which has a safety message printed on it. When the person uses this safety item, it helps them to "recall" the alcohol and drug related safety lecture.

The funding for this program was issued by the Division of Highway Traffic Safety.

Mr. Wodopuja's entire fifth grade class hold letters for their pen pals in Iowa. (Photos by Anthony Buccino)

Students have pen pals in Iowa

Did you ever notice how hard it is to get a youngster to write a letter? Well, the students in Steve Wodopuja's fifth grade class at School 9 are all busy writing letters — and not grumbling one bit about it.

The class is participating in the Weekly Reader Writing Pals program by writing to pen pals in the fifth grade class at Spirit Lake Elementary School in Spirit Lake, Iowa. Both classes are learning that writing assignments can be fun.

Wodopuja's students write to children who live in a rural country area of Iowa. They compare their own urban environment with the descriptions in the letters they receive.

"It's great to see how excited the children get about the Writing Pals program," Wodopuja said.

Their Writing Pals in Iowa have described their state and many hobbies.

"It's not just fun," Wodopuja said. "It's also very much worthwhile. The program builds friendships across the miles. It teaches kids about other parts of the country. And it gets them writing."

The Writing Pals program is sponsored by the editors of Weekly Reader. The program has matched more than 3 million children in the nationwide letter exchange program during the last eight years. Through the program, students exchange letters with children of similar ages but different backgrounds located throughout the country.

Student council convention trip

Twelve members of the Belleville High School Student Government Organization attended the 64th Annual Student Council Convention, held Jan. 3, at Trenton State College, joining with students from high schools all over New Jersey.

S.G.O. officers, Diane DiVincenzo, president; Kim Fraone, secretary; and Anh Bui, treasurer attended the day's activities. Also included were seniors Danielle Collet, Leon Koski, Julie Pedalino, Mike Trezza; junior Kristine Villano; sophomores, Debbie Cialle-la, Lisa Galloway and freshmen Sue Battista and Virginia Rajnes, along with advisor, Patricia Pugliese.

The convention provided a training ground for the students to understand the responsibilities of student government and share ideas.

Dec Hartman, a writer from Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, led the seminar. There was a wide variety of morning and afternoon workshops, which ranged from Student Council elections to getting students involved.

During the day, the Student Council presidents met to elect state Student Council officers and Honor School Awards were presented. For the ninth consecutive year, Belleville High School has met the criteria to receive this commendation.

The day was one of learning, meeting new students, and swapping ideas, but also a lot of fun. All the students in attendance are actively involved in the B.H.S. Student Government and share the common goal of looking for ways to make it better.

Teachers at acceleration workshop

Two Belleville High School teachers attended the annual Project Acceleration workshop held last fall at Seton Hall University, South Orange.

Josephine Mlodzienski of the Foreign Language Department and Bruce Kemnitz of the Science Department participated in the workshop where they met with other high school teachers and college professors in the program.

Educators at the forum discussed the program's successes and problems and exchanged information.

The program offers Belleville seniors enrolled in advanced academic courses an opportunity to earn college credit while still in high school.

Belleville offers four courses in the Project Acceleration program. College credit is available to students enrolled in Spanish IV, Italian IV, Calculus and Enriched English IV.

The courses are examined and approved by Seton Hall and are based on the syllabi, faculty, textbooks and examinations.

Various school districts in the state participate in Project Acceleration. Many colleges and universities accept the freshman level college credit.

Belleville High School teachers Bruce Kemnitz and Josephine Mlodzienski attended Project Acceleration Workshop at Seton Hall. The program allows seniors to earn college credits in high school.

New Jersey 'firsts' at School 9

In addition to learning about New Jersey's geography, economy, history and government, the fourth graders at School Nine are learning about New Jersey's 'firsts'.

Each student in Bess Mineo's class researched one 'first' and presented a written and oral report. The written reports are displayed on a special bulletin board in their room.

Some of the New Jersey 'firsts' the students learned about in their research included the first baseball game played under organized rules, the first boardwalk, the first college football game, the first movie ever made and shown, and the first wax paper used.

Mrs. Mineo's entire fourth grade class at School Nine researched New Jersey.

Belleville Times SPORTS

BUCK SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

This week, we'll continue our look back at the decade of the 1980's by reviewing the years 1987-88. Before we do that, however, I forgot to mention Janine Luzzi, who had an outstanding season for the '88 softball team. She became the first player in softball history to win 20 games in a season.

1987: On the national sports level, the Giants win the Super Bowl, beating Denver, 39-20. The St. Louis Cardinals lose their second world series in three years, this time bowing to Minnesota in seven games. (The Cards would have won if Jack Clark was able to play in the series). The Los Angeles Lakers win the NBA title, beating Boston in six games and the Edmonton Oilers rebound to win the Stanley Cup over Philly. Indiana wins a thriller over Syracuse for the NCAA basketball title and Penn State wins the college football championship, beating Miami in the Fiesta Bowl.

The year starts with the Belleville boys' basketball team jumping out to a 9-6 record. Juniors Ted Sochaski, Leon Puentes and Chris Chalmers continue to develop into solid all-around players. Sochaski becomes the second player in the history of the Belleville boys' basketball program to break the 1,000 point mark in his junior year. The other player to do it was Phil Colalillo in 1983.

Although the Bucs jump out quickly, the team fades in February and loses its last nine games. In its season finale in 1987, a state tourney contest against Union, the Bucs played an inspired game but fell by one point. Seniors Bob Hutchison and Frank Morral play excellent games for the Bucs.

Improvement is also shown on the girls' basketball court. Karen Fucello's team jumps from a 2-18 mark in 1985-86 to 10-15 in 1986-87. Sophomores Simone Edwards and Laurie Dondarski have good seasons and give more hope for the future of the program.

In the spring time, a legend returns to his coaching duties. George Zanfani, who had retired after the 1982 Belleville baseball season, returns to coach the Bucs in 1987. He has a good season, leading the team to a 21-9 mark and the NNJL championship.

The Bucs stage an incredible late season rally to overcome Clifton and win the crown. Jim Dunphy concludes a marvelous career by leading the Bucs and juniors Jay Marchese and Jeff Spitsbury have a excellent seasons.

The crew program undergoes a major change. Sam Giuffrida, the coach for over 20 years is forced to step down from his position because of heart attack suffered by the coach in the fall of '86. Giuffrida recovers from the attack and will resume his teaching position later in the school year.

The track team is paced by Loung La, who leads the team in scoring with 66 points. He runs his best times in the 100 and 200 meters as well. La also sets a school record, which still stands today, in the triple jump. His leap measured 38'4".

The field team has an excellent season. The team is paced by Jon Paul Lesny, Gerard Corbo, Anthony La Vista and Carmen Jaculo. In the distance running events, Craig Burden runs the mile in an excellent time of 4:47.

The story of the spring season is the play of the softball team. Carl Corino's team finishes with a 28-4 record, breaking its own team record for most wins by a varsity team in a season.

The Lady Bucs win the Group IV, Section II championship and advance to the Group IV finals, where it loses to Edison. The girls also advance to the county finals, losing a heartbreaker to Caldwell, 3-2.

The team is paced by Laurie Dondarski, Janine Luzzi, Stacey Johansen and Laura Caruso. In addition to state honors, the Daily News also honors the team at seasons end.

Gene D'Alessandro assumes the position of head coach of the Belleville golf team and leads it to immediate success. D'Alessandro, of course, was a legend as the wrestling coach at Essex Catholic and Belleville.

In the fall, the football field at Belleville High is renamed after the late William "Doc" Ellis, the trainer for the Belleville football team for many years. Ellis died suddenly in 1986.

The Bucs win its gridiron opener over Don Bosco, then lose a controversial game to Ridgewood, 12-7. On the final play of the game, it appeared Spitsbury hit Marchese with the winning TD pass, but the officials ruled that Marchese trapped the ball and Ridgewood won.

The Bucs finish 3-6 in '87, beating Passaic and Bloomfield later in the year.

The volleyball team has an excellent season, finishing 22-3. The girls lose its first two games, then embark on a 22 match winning streak. Raquel Melson, Edwards and Dondarski lead the way for Belleville.

The gymnastics team has a new coach, Gina Lemongello, who takes over for Ray Iannuzzi.

Lemongello, a 1985 graduate of Belleville and a top gymnast for the Bucs, inherits a young but enthusiastic team.

Tony DeLuque concludes a very successful career as Belleville soccer coach in 1987. His assistant, Gino DePinto, will assume the reins in 1988.

1988: The Redskins win the Super Bowl, beating Denver, 42-10. The Los Angeles Dodgers surprise Oakland in the World Series. Edmonton wins its second straight Stanley Cup and fourth in the past five years. This time Boston loses in four straight. The local fads are encouraged by the play of New Jersey Devils, who make it all the way to the Stanley Cup semi finals.

The Lakers win a second straight NBA title, the first time in 19 years that a team repeats as champs in the NBA. In college sports, Kansas wins the basketball title and Miami beats Oklahoma for the football crown.

Locally, the boys' basketball team posts its first winning season since 1975. Sochaski breaks the all time boys' scoring record, set by Abdel Anderson. Before his career is over, Ted will finish with over 1700 points. Puentes also eclipses the 1,000 point mark. The Bucs finish 15-10 and advance in the county tourney. The team beats Glen Ridge before losing to eventual county champ, St. Albans.

The girls' basketball team also excels, posting a 16-12 record. Edwards breaks the 1,000 point mark in her junior year. She becomes just the second player in Belleville girls' basketball history to eclipse the record.

In the spring, Zanfani resigns as head baseball coach and assistant coach Nick Grandt moves up to the number one slot. The Bucs respond with an excellent campaign.

Marchese and Spitsbury both enjoy solid seasons and will go on to play baseball on the collegiate level. Others who play well are Michael Thompson, Frank Orrell, Gary Villano, Mike DiBiase, Anthony Rodriguez and P.J. Grande.

The softball team "cools" off to a 21-8 record. Once again, the team advances all the way to the county finals, marking the seventh straight

Grapplers stop Paramus 35-22

By Joe Piegaro

Well, boys and girls, here we are at mid-season and everything is coming up roses for the BHS wrestling squad. A 7-0 dual meet record, wins in two tournaments, two undefeated grapplers and 3 first every victory over Paramus High School.

Oh, there are tests ahead on the schedule, like the County Tournament and a head to head collision with neighboring Bloomfield High. But they are down the road a piece. Let's get back to the good stuff.

That 7-0 record includes shutouts (over Paramus, Catholic and Hillsborough), two near shutouts (72-6 over Jamesburg and 69-3 over Hackensack) and a win over Region 1's top ranked squad, Paramus.

The victory over the Spartans was a long time coming. BHS and Paramus opened their series in the 1983-84 season, but the Belleville squad could do no better than two losses and a tie. The Bucs finally broke the ice this past Saturday with a 35-22 victory at Paramus. This particular triumph needed a total team effort, but three individuals must be singled out for performances over and above the normal call of duty.

Head coach Joe Nisovicci did some extra homework and set up a strategy which worked like a charm. His flip flopped the 125 and 130 pound weight classes and came away with six extra team points. Joe Omalsky and Junior Nardone did the rest for the Bucs.

Omalsky lost an extra five pounds and dropped from 130 to 125. Then he made the weight loss pay off by pinning Matt Lombardi at 3:10 of the second period. Nardone wrestled five pounds over his normal weight and moved up a class, from 125 to 130. Junior finished his end of the bargain by scoring a 7-2 decision over tough guy Joe Mancusi. The win for Nardone kept his record perfect, now 12-0 with five pins.

Danny Hywel, Belleville's second undefeated wrestler, added to the victory by pinning Tim Tabor at 4:07 of the final period. Amazing as it may seem, Danny had pinned every opponent he has faced this year and matches Nardone's 12-0 record. At this point in the season, the rugged 152-pound appears just about unstoppable.

Both team captains showed what leadership is all about as each man won big at crucial moments in the meet.

119 pounder Ralph Perna scored a fall over Mike Mulligan at 3:43 of the second period. Perna's victory was critical as Paramus opened the meet by dishing out losses in the first two bouts to a 7-3 decision by Steve Taranto over George Del Grande at 104 and a

5-4 decision by Craig Ross over Mike Miele at 112 pounds.)

160-pounder Ken Henry scored a 15-0 technical fall over Pete Maier to force the necessary points for his team's victory. What made Kenny's win so important was the ensuing losses for Belleville at 171 and 189 in a 6-2 decision by Steve Jablonsky over Mike Costa and a 18-6 decision by Anthony Aiello over Angel Marin.

Soph Vinnie DeSimone contributed with a 9-3 decision over Roland DeGuzman at 140 pounds and Heavyweight George Wallace sealed the victory for Belleville with a pin over Jeff Lessner at 1:30 of the opening period.

BUCK NOTES: Here is the varsity lineup with records at mid season.

103 George Del Grande	9-4 4 pins
112 Mike Miele	8-5 2 pins
119 Ralph Perna	11-2 6 pins
125 Junior Nardone	12-0 5 pins
130 Joe Omalsky	12-1 5 pins
135 Lee Hands	11-2 6 pins
140 Vinnie DeSimone	8-2-1 4 pins
145 Phil Albanese	5-7 3 pins
152 Dan Hywel	12-0 12 pins
160 Ken Henry	11-1 4 pins
171 Mike Costa	5-5 4 pins
189 Angel Marin	3-6 2 pins
HW1 George Wallace	11-2 5 pins

Today's match is at Teanock starting time 4 p.m. Wrestler of the Week is a draw, going equally to Joe Omalsky and Junior Nardone for their extra effort and extra sacrifice at Paramus. Great job guys!... Bruce Moran of the Star Ledger now has Belleville ranked 13th, up four spots from last week. Ralph Perna now has 36 varsity wins in his career, tying him with George D'Alessandro for 11th place on the all time list. Dan Hywel has also crept up in the Top 20 by recording his 48th varsity win, tying him for spot No. 14 with Chris Tremel and Anthony Villano. Thanks Kim, for doing so well this year on the scorebooks. We don't know what we would do without you. See you next week!!!

Hoopsters' woes continue, lose two more

A season of frustration continues for the Belleville boys' basketball team. The Bucs dropped two more conference games last week, bowing to Don Bosco, 64-56 and Bloomfield, 73-54.

Belleville took a 1-11 record into a game with Nutley last Tuesday. This afternoon, the Bucs take to the road to play Paramus. Top off time there is 4 p.m. Next Tuesday, Paramus Catholic comes to town for a 4 p.m. game.

Head coach Don Roll has indicated he will be using his younger players a little more, in preparation for next season. "I want to give the younger kids some time in varsity games," the coach said. "I don't know what to say at this point. I know we're better than this, but we just can't seem to get started."

The Don Bosco game was a good example of what Roll just stated. The Bucs led by four points in the fourth quarter, only to lose by eight.

"We commit six turnovers down the stretch and make a costly lane violation after a missed foul shot," Roll said. "We had three lane violations in the game and that just can't happen if we expect to be successful."

Belleville led, 16-15 after one quarter and 32-31 at halftime. The lead actually increased in the third quarter, to 46-41, but the fourth quarter was a disaster, with Don Bosco outscoring Belleville 23-10.

The Bucs missed five foul shots in the fourth quarter alone, not counting misses on the front end of one and one situations.

Jim Krupka led Belleville with 13 points. Andy DuFaine scored 11,

Troy Talmadge and Doug Hoogen-dyke scored nine each, Michael Trezza had five, Tom Klena scored four, Mark Nakashima finished with three and Dennis DeWork had two.

The Bloomfield game was decided early, as the Bengals jumped out to a 17-11 first quarter lead and extended the lead to 36-19 by halftime. It was 55-32 after three quarters before the Bucs staged a mini rally, cutting the final deficit to 19 points.

"We were real flat in the Bloomfield game," Roll said. "We shot out to a big lead and they shot the ball poorly from the field (The Bucs shot just 32 percent from the floor in the game)."

"We shot 7 for 17 inside the key in the first half alone," Roll said. "That's 20 points we missed out on from close range."

The Bengals received a solid game from Dave Thomason, who finished with 27 points. Mike Viscel and Bob Skorupski scored 12 points each.

For Belleville, Talmadge had a solid game, scoring a career high 18 points. DuFaine finished with nine, Art Caruso scored seven, Krupka and Hoogen-dyke tallied six points each. Trezza scored four and Francisco Ferman closed out the scoring with two points.

As for this week, the Bucs have three conference games that they are capable of winning. If the team can keep the turnovers down and hit the close range shots a little more consistently, it should be able to light up the win column a few more times this season.

Lady Bucs stopped by Bengals, I. Heart

The outstanding talent in the NNJL Pacific Division continues to take its toll on the young Lady Bucs basketball team. Last week, Belleville lost two more games, bowing to Bloomfield, 77-25 and Immaculate Heart, 60-27. The losses dropped the team record to 0-11.

Karen Fucello's troops battled Nutley last Tuesday. This afternoon, the girls are host to Paramus in a 4 p.m. start. Next Tuesday, the team travels to Paramus Catholic for a 7:30 p.m. tip off.

"I've said all along that this league is one of the toughest in the state this year," Fucello said. "Bloomfield, Teanock, Immaculate Heart, they all have solid teams. What can you say? The key right now is to keep the confidence factor up with the kids."

"They have the ability, they're young and up against some good teams. I've been giving our freshmen and sophomore players time on both the JV and varsity level. I feel good about the future of the program. It's just going to take time."

Last week, Belleville went up against two of the best teams in the Pacific Division. Bloomfield is ranked highly in the states and boasts one of the better players around in Laura Leacy.

"Leacy was outstanding," Fucello said. "She does so many things on the court. She is a complete player."

Leacy finished as game high scorer, with 29 points. Laura's younger sister, Eileen, also played a solid game, hitting for 15.

Bloomfield, which has beaten Belleville 11 straight times dating back to December of 1984, jumped out to an 18-5 first quarter lead and was never headed. The Lady Bengals increased its lead to 39-11 at halftime and 62-21 after three quarters.

For Belleville, Danielle DeWork led the way with eight points. Colleen Mannion scored seven, Amalia Fabiano finished with six and Thelma Espirito scored four.

In the Immaculate Heart contest, Belleville played a strong first quarter, then fell victim to a bad second frame.

It was 13-9 in favor of Immaculate after one, but the lead ballooned to 33-16 by intermission. It was 51-23 after three quarters, with the final score of 60-27.

"Immaculate Heart has a nice year that the Lady Bucs have played in the finals. Unfortunately, the team will lose again in the finals to Caldwell. It's the third straight year that Caldwell beats Belleville in the final.

Trecia Donnelly, Natalie LaBella, Anne Carlucci, Michele Milano, Jennifer Bridge and Laurie Moyer play well for Belleville. Carol Morrison and Johansen are struck down by injuries, however, and miss a good portion of the season. They both will return for the 1989 campaign.

The track team is paced by Greg Mortello, Jerry Padula, Mario Lemongello, John Sternik and Dominick Tucci.

The golf team is led by Anthony Alvino, Michael Dasaro, Chris Duffaime and John Stampone.

In the spring of 1988, David Grant a 1983 graduate of Belleville High is drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals on the fourth round. Grant not only makes the team, he plays in the Super Bowl in January of 1989 and sees extended action when Tim Krumrie breaks his leg early on.

In the fall of '88, the football team finishes 2-6-1. The Bucs defeat Paramus and Don Bosco and play well in three other games. The team is led by Andre Graham, Paul Aurlema, Rui Andre, Jason Silletti, Michael Toro, Gerard Tucci, John Sternik, Nick Turano and Michael Senesky.

Joe Barreiro, Tim Cook and Robert Ricci earn conference honors for the soccer team.

The volleyball team has its seventh straight winning season, posting a 19-5 record. It lost in the state tourney to the eventual champion, Paramus Catholic.

Edwards, Dondarski, Kathy Eng and Chris Bonacorsa have excellent seasons for the girls.

The cross country team is paced by John Matos, Paprop Rafanosoontorn, Garuav Nangila and Diane DiVincenzo.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

Four teams from the old NFL guard (not three) have never made it to the Super Bowl. The four teams are Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis and Atlanta. The Browns came the closest to attaining the Super Bowl, losing in three AFC title games to Denver. Detroit lost in the '83 playoffs to San Francisco and St. Louis and Atlanta last made the playoffs in the strike season of 1982, losing in the first round.

club this year," Fucello said. "We had a tough time with them last year and they didn't have the experience factor. He (Immaculate Heart coach Jeff Hornavich) has done a good job with that team."

DeWerk led Belleville again, this time with 10 points. Mia Hanos, Jennifer Bridge and Fabiano scored four each, Espiritu and Dana Damiano had two each and Mansion scored one.

"We still need to develop the leadership factor, especially at point guard," Fucello said.

"We're still lacking that court sense that is vital, but the kids are trying and playing hard. That's all I can ask."

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Coaches needed

The Belleville Recreation Department is seeking coaches for its boys' baseball and girls' softball leagues. Men or women interested in coaching a baseball or softball team in youth leagues for ages 8 through 14 are urged to contact the Recreation Department at 450-3422 as soon as possible.

Sportsmanship, basic skills and fun are the objectives of the leagues. Every player on each team who attends required practices will play in every game. Come volunteer your time and share your interest and knowledge with the youngsters in town.

All potential coaches will be required to attend a training and certification course given by the Recreation Department.

Participants at these clinics will be given instructions on psychology of youth sports, first aid, maximizing performance and organization of practice, as well as tips on specific coaching techniques in the sports of baseball/softball. Participants will be certified by the National Youth Sports Coaches Association upon completion of the clinic. An attractive benefit afforded to all Certified Coaches is a $500,000 liability insurance coverage. The exact dates of the clinics will be announced in late February.

For further information or to register, contact the Belleville Recreation Department at 450-3422 between 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Recreation softball clinic

The Belleville Recreation Department will again be sponsoring a Girls' Softball Clinic for resident Belleville girls who are students at Belleville High School or Belleville Middle School. This program will be held on Fridays at Middle School Boys' Gym from 6 to 8 p.m. on the following dates: Jan. 19 and 26; Feb. 2 and 9; and March 2. The intent of this clinic is to prepare girls who plan to try out for the Suburban Girls' and/or the High School girls' softball teams.

Each session will be supervised and an aspect of the game will be demonstrated and practiced. This clinic will provide all interested girls with an opportunity to better learn the game of softball. Participants must provide their own gloves and must wear sneakers. No advance registration is required.

Power 36 Review

By Vokaye Parker

This week's review includes a series of interviews on "News & Views" with a representative from H&R Block about preparing tax returns, a new contract with Garden State Park for flat racing and information about our free ticket giveaways to the "Ice Capades."

Tax season is here and many of us are about to begin the yearly task of preparing tax returns. Join me this week on "News & Views" for my interview with Bert Tobia, of H&R Block Inc. in Clifton.

The segments will focus on such topics as recordkeeping and charitable contributions and will give viewers some suggestions on ways to prepare before filing their 1989 tax returns.

Power 36 - The Sports & Entertainment Network has just signed a new contract with Garden State Park in Cherry Hill, for television coverage of "flat racing" from the Park.

The agreement allows Power 36 to bring viewers 102 exciting races and coverage will begin on Feb. 1.

The Ice Capades 50th Golden Anniversary Edition is coming to the Meadowlands Arena from Jan. 30 to Feb. 4 and Power 36 has been giving away free tickets to our viewers to see the show. Tickets are still available and if you would like the opportunity to see the Ice Capades on us, watch Power 36 for information on how to obtain them.

Super Mario Brothers are featured in this year's 50th anniversary show of the Ice Capades at the Meadowlands Arena. Power 36 viewers can win free tickets to see the show.

Fruncillo's in Marines

Marine Lance Cpl. Luigi Fruncillo, son of Antonio and Vincenza Fruncillo of Lake Street, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with 4th Marine Division, Dover.

A 1985 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Marine Corps Reserves in April 1988.

New Key Three in the Scouts Yanticaw District (Belleville, Bloomfield, Nutley) are David Olmsted, district chairman; Jack Dante, district executive; and David Malchuk, district commissioner.

Boy Scout Council elects David Olmsted

Jack Dante, district executive of the Boy Scouts local Yanticaw District of the Greater Essex Council, announced the election of David Olmsted as the new district chairman for 1990.

"We were looking for a doer," said Dante, "someone who knows the value of 'spirit' when contributing to the community, and Dave Olmsted embodies that kind of personality. We're very happy he is going to be working with us in this most important post."

Olmsted, in turn, appointed David Malchuk as his district commissioner. As chairman for the district, Olmsted will be responsible as administrative head for membership, training, finance, advancement and outdoor camping. Malchuk will be responsible for programs for the various packs and troops, and keeping services up to date for them. Both positions are volunteer, and, together with Dante, will be working under the heading of the "Key Three" for the progress of the Yanticaw District.

This district contains 50 packs, troops and posts," said Olmsted, "and covers the three towns of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley. I look at it as quite a challenge, and I am encouraged by the vitality of the programs in place right now. I hope to infuse more energy into them, so that our kids in these three communities will find Scouting all that much more vital to their own lives as growing citizens."

Also elected to be vice-chairmen of the various divisions in the district are Joyce Roberts as head of the Cub Scouts; John Tosato of the Boy Scouts, and Joe Bassett Jr. as head of the Explorers.

"The programs in the district are very active," said Dante, "and cover boys from the ages of six through 17. First, there are the Tiger Cubs, which encompasses first grade boys and gets them working together with a parent on various projects. Then, the Cub Scouts, which meets once a week in appointed dens, and once a month as a Pack. By the time the Cubs get to the ages of 9 or 10, they are really raring to go with outdoor camping and other outdoor activities."

Dante also pointed out that the Boy Scout program, which has been in existence since 1910, is still going strong.

"This runs from 11 to 17, and concentrates on those outdoor skills that mean so much to a growing boy," said Dante. "Survival skills that will keep them alive anywhere in the world; first aid training; and the comradery of camping together under one of God's night skies."

Also active in the district are the Explorers. This program starts at the freshman year in high school, and holds seminars where career specialists and other professionals come and work with the students to help them choose a career in life.

"Most important of all," Dante said, "the theme of all Scouting is to be prepared for the rigors of life, and to have that discipline and strength of character that so typifies the spirit of this country. That is why it is so important to have men like Dave Olmsted on our team. We're glad he's here."

ITT strike settled?

25 Years Ago
January 21, 1965...Hopes were high for a quick settlement of the 20-week strike of 2,800 employees of the ITT Federal Laboratories in Belleville, Nutley, and Clifton.

A strike settlement was hammered out by company and union representatives at a two-day session with Governor Richard Hughes in Princeton.

Company officials, international representatives of the striking IUE employees, and the presidents of the three locals involved in the strike reached an agreement on a proposed settlement, but the strike was not officially ended.

Library branch to open
Rev. Frederick Long, chairman of the board of trustees of the Belleville Public Library, announced the impending opening of Belleville's first branch library, located at School 4, Magnolia Street, in the Silver Lake section.

The official opening, in the form of an "open house" party, was scheduled for Feb. 12. Rev. Long appointed Mrs. Richard A. Shafer, secretary of the library board, as chairperson for the arrangements.

Mrs. Helen Strumolo, president of the School 4 PTA, informed the library board that the mothers of School 4 would act as hostesses for the event.

Hoopsters break skein
The Belleville High School basketball team broke its two-game losing streak with a pair of victories over Columbia and Bloomfield.

Runs of nine and eight points in the first half broke open a tight game as the Bellboys went on to defeat Columbia, 55-42. Bill Rush led Belleville with 22 points.

Against crosstown rival Bloomfield, Rush scored 33 points — just three shy of the school record, to lead a 65-55 upset of the Bengals. After Bloomfield cut a 12-point Belleville lead to just one point, the Bellboys held on to win. The loss knocked Bloomfield out of first place in the Big Ten Conference.

REAL ESTATE FORUM

By Jim Farese

Q: What is the basic difference between a co-op and a condo and why are co-op maintenance fees so much higher?

A: The basic difference is in the legal application. In condo ownership, you actually take title and own your apartment. It is by definition: the individual outright ownership of a single unit in a multi-unit property together with an interest in the common elements of the property.

A co-op or cooperative ownership usually takes the form of shares of stock in a corporation owning the entire building and a proprietary lease giving the stockholder / tenant the right to occupy a unit for which he pays a proportionate share of the maintenance and operating expenses. In a co-op, there is only one deed and one tax bill.

Co-op maintenance fees are generally much higher because they include not only normal area maintenance, but also a share of real estate taxes, insurance and often, heat and air conditioning, as most co-ops were converted apartment buildings with one central heating and/or air conditioning system.

Q: We have a resident in our condominium complex who is a total misfit. He refuses to obey most of the house rules, except those that fit his mood for the day. The board has decided to sue him for compliance and collect fines. We also want him to pay for the cost of attorney. Is this the proper approach?

A: The good news is that the association can bring action in court against the violating member for damages and injunctive relief. The bad news is that you probably cannot recover the attorney's fee incurred to assist with your enforcement program. Legal expenses of this type would have to be borne by all unit owners.

Q: I own a multi-family building in Passaic. I've heard of some kind of government program where there are funds available for new windows. Do you know anything about this and if so, how do I go about getting information?

A: Yes, there is a program for buildings where tenants pay their own heat. If windows are old and causing heating bills to be higher, the Federal Government will pay for replacement windows. This is known as the CAP plan (Community Action Program). There are applications and some requirements. You can call 473-1033 or stop in at 68-72 Third St., Passaic.

Video cassette recorders have been generally available for only the last ten years or so, yet 65 percent of United States households already have one or more of the devices.

If latex paint peels, it's usually because the paint did not bond properly to the surface. Moisture is not the problem; latex is water-thinned, and can be applied on damp surfaces.

A long, narrow room will look larger if you divide it visually into several sections with a rug, the back of a chair or sofa, even with a table placed across the width of the room.

Polished marble should be washed with a gentle detergent that contains no soap (which could dull the marble) or abrasives (which would dull the finish). Rinse, let dry well before waxing.
