INNOVATIVE GEOGRAPHY PROGRAM - Belleville's School 10 was recognized Monday as one of the top ten winners in Senator Bill Bradley's third annual Geography Recognition Program. The school was awarded a Special Recognition Certificate for its "Thousand Crane Project," which was researched and created by Genieve Petrillo's 4th grade, Elizabeth Laughney's 2nd grade, and Anna Jannicelli's 5th grade classes. Students gained a unique perspective on World War II history and

Japanese culture using art books, periodicals and other library resources. The students constructed one thousand origami cranes as part of the Thousand Crane Club and sent them to the Children's Peace Monument in Hiroshima. Here, School 10 Principal Nicholas Petty, the three teachers and the three classes are presented with their Special Recognition Certificate by Shelley Walters-Walker, Special Projects Coordinator for Senator Bradley. Planners review subdivision, land-use

The Belleville Planning Board heard testimony on a planned subdivision of property at 29 Rossmore Pl., at its June 14 meeting but carried over their decision until additional information could be presented at the next board meeting July 12.

The Rossmore Pl. site is currently a 2-1/2 story 16-room boarding house where under the current law no more than 6 rooms can be rented. Presently, the building has been "grandfathered" in before the current municipal ordinance as a pre-existing, non-conforming use.

Aldo Virgilio and partners want to divide the property into three separate parcels of land through a subdivision.

"We're seeking a subdivision, there are no violations. This is a conforming subdivision," said the applicant's attorney Robert Gaccione. The applicant intends to break the parcel into three separate properties, which would provide the boarding house property and two build-empty lots.

Gaccione later said that he would like to hear what area residents object to before he entered his planner into the official proceedings. That way, he said, the planner could address the neighbors' objections.

Carmine Mobilio of 19 Rossmore Pl. questioned the number of tenants in the boarding house, and the parking situation.

"We're not asking to put any parking on one-family lots," Gaccione said, we are proposing to provide parking for four cars on the building's current site.

When Mobilio asked why the owner wanted to subdivide the property, Planning Board chairman Joseph Doyle said that the board "is essentially being asked to cut a piece of pie. We have to consider everything he says."

Guy Copaldo of 42 Rossmore Pl. asked, "If the man sells the lots, what type of house is going to be built there? I don't want anyone to come along and build railroad type houses."

Doyle said that if houses were to be built on the property, they would have to conform to the standards of the zoning ordinances.

Copaldo said, "My concern is I want a house to conform to the rest of the neighborhood."

The Planning Board could stipulate that any construction on the lots could not exceed a one-family home and would have to conform to the neighborhood, Doyle said. That would constitute just about the "maximum amount of our authority," he said.

Gaccione said he had a problem with the language. What does it mean to conform to the neighborhood, he asked.

Board attorney Thomas DiBiasi said that by reducing the amount of property tied to the boarding house, it may be "a twist on non-conforming use intensification."

The board decided to allow both attorneys time to review laws which could apply to this subdivision and adjourned the hearing.

In other board business, members of the board said they had received correspondence from the council-elect requesting qualifications if they were interested in continuing to serve on the planning board.

The board also reviewed the Land Use Plan Element of the Master Plan which through a color-coded system identifies the current use of properties in the township.

"We have to plan for the nineties, make every year a step in that direction," Doyle said. "If we do our homework, we should be able to get our share of the pie," he said, referring to state and federal aid.

The Land Use Plan Element is just a review, Doyle said, it will lead to proposals after public hearings.

The Realtors will play the WNEW-FM all-star softball team. Food will be sold and there will be plenty of fun and games.

All monies raised will be donated by the Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville Board of Realtors to the Tishina Rollo Fund.

Tishina is a resident of Glen Ridge suffering from a rare form of cancer, called Wilms' Tumor.

Be sure to listen to WNEW-FM radio, as the date approaches. For more information about the event, or to purchase admission tickets, contact the Board of Realtors of Glen Ridge at 743-5114.

Fourth of July festivities planned

As many flock to the shore to escape the heat and chaos of city life at holiday time, many other Bellevilleites will stay home to experience the traditional ceremonies of the Independence Day celebration here in town.

To begin the festivities on Wednesday, July 4, the Recreation Department will hold its annual field day for youngsters in grades K-8 at the Municipal Stadium starting at 10 a.m.

The events, which will be open to all young Belleville residents, will be divided into three categories. There is a junior division for kindergarten to second graders, an intermediate division for third to fifth graders, and a senior division for the 6th to 8th graders.

Events will include the 50 and 100 yard dashes, an agility race, a three-legged race, sack races, a girl's relay race and a boys' tug-of-war.

All activities will be supervised by the members of the Belleville Recreation playground staff under the direction of Superintendent Dennis Buckley. Patches will be awarded to the winners and all will share in slices of watermelon.

On Wednesday night, July 4, a spectacular fireworks display will be presented at the stadium starting at sundown. The rain date for these events will be Thursday, July 5. In all, it promises to be an exciting holiday and Bellevilleites young and old are invited to share in the glitz of our country's historic day.

Parents rally

BOE dispels rumors, keeps schools on track

By Anthony Buccino

The Board of Education Monday night appointed two elementary school principals and two new department supervisors ending a weekend of speculation among parents in elementary schools.

Parents showed up in force at the board meeting Monday to support their principals following strong rumors that two or more elementary principals and their secretaries may be "realigned" following the appointment of two new elementary principals.

At the beginning of the meeting, BOE President, Dr. Anthony D'Agostino, told the parents that "this board of education has not met in private session to discuss moving administrators." They did meet in private session to discuss recommendations for the elementary school principal and supervisor vacancies, he said.

School Superintendent Michael Nardiello noted that there were four blanks on the board's agenda for the vacancies. He said, "The board of ed will make the decision as to where those two principals will be placed."

Earlier in the day, Nardiello said that the principals could not be assigned to specific schools until after their hiring had been approved by the board.

"That will not take until September or October," D'Agostino said. "There is no anticipated movement of administrators in the district. That is a fact."

Secretary of the Consolidated Association Ann Marie Puglio read a memo to the board into the record. The parents' educators group memo stated that the "possible move of principals and secretaries...are of no benefit to anyone, especially our children."

The Consolidated also charged that the BOE knew since September that there would be two principal vacancies. "Why did you wait until the 11th hour to post the position, interview and finally make your decision? We can only assume that you did not want parental input or challenge to your decisions."

Nina Rubino, president of School 7 O.P.E., presented the board with 375 petitions to keep Principal Marilyn Hawthorne and secretary Anna Marie Perna at School 7. The petition cited Hawthorne's seven years as principal at the school and Perna's five years as secretary.

"I feel it is a travesty to change them," Rubino said.

When contacted Tuesday at School 7, Ms. Hawthorne referred questions to Mr. Nardiello.

From the School 10 Teachers' and School Association, Lauren Dyer said, "our children cannot afford to lose a man of Mr. Petty's caliber...we don't want to lose him."

In his opening statement, D'Agostino addressed the complexities of dealing with rumors, he said, however, that "we do enjoy having you here."

Mary Ann Lopreato, told the board, "we elected you to take care of business, and we show up when you are negligent." She said the board showed no consideration for the transitional change. "You have been negligent in waiting to put in the replacement principals," she said.

Nardiello confirmed that the board was notified of the impending retirements as of September, 1989. But when D'Agostino asked why it took so long to advertise and hire replacements, Nardiello said,

"I can't answer that."

Nardiello added that as late as March, the board had not decided if School 9 would be closed. If the school were closed, he said, the tenured principal from there would have gone to fill one of the other elementary principal vacancies. In effect, it had not been determined if one or two new principals would be needed.

The board directed Nardiello to notify the incoming principals of their school assignments Tuesday morning.

Nardiello told the board that standing principals are not notified unless there is a change in their school assignment.

The board also directed Nardiello to notify all other principals by the same deadline of their assignments, whether or not they have changed.

A.J. Gallombardo, principal at School 5 said Tuesday that the memos had been sent and he introduced the incoming principal to the faculty and staff at the school. A spokesperson at School 3 said Tuesday that the incoming principal visited there and met the faculty.

The board in March consolidated four supervisory positions into two. They combined the English/Language Arts K-12 department supervisor and the Reading K-12 supervisor positions into Supervisor of Language Arts/Reading K-12. The two supervisors 1989-90 salaries were reported at $57,098 and $55,998, respectively, for a total of about $113,000.

A resolution adopted by the board Monday night stated that the supervisor's salary would be determined through negotiations. The combination of positions is expected to save more than $30,000 in salaries, board sources said.

The board in March also abolished the position of Supervisor of Physical Education/Health K-12, and the position of Director of Athletics. They then created the position of Supervisor of Physical Education/Health K-12 and Athletics 9-12. The two supervisors' yearly salaries were $66,620 and $59,490 for a total of about $126,110. The figures include $900 in longevity pay for each supervisor.

The board appointed Karen Fuccello to the new position. The salary guide for first step supervisors is in the mid 50's, Nardiello said, which represents a savings of about $70,000.

The board appointed Raffaella Saulino as elementary school principal at School 3. She replaces retiring principal Austin MacArthur. Saulino had been an elementary teacher for 19 years in Belleville and for the past seven years has been a learning consultant in the school system. She has 26 years working in the Belleville School District.

The board appointed Frank Catrambone as elementary school principal at School 5. He replaces retiring principal A.J. Gallombardo. Catrambone had been a science teacher for 20-1/2 years, and vice principal at the Middle School for 6-1/2 years. He has 27 years working in the Belleville School District.

Catrambone's appointment as principal at School 5 creates a vice principal vacancy at the Middle School, which the board directed Nardiello to post for a replacement as soon as possible.

In other board business, the board approved amendments to the proposed 1990-91 budget which

NOTHING TO LOSE SLEEP OVER
A number of surveys indicate that nearly one-third of the general population has difficulty either falling asleep or staying asleep. Half this number go to their physicians with their problem, and half of these people get prescriptions for sleeping medication. However, in the recent past, many doctors have been reluctant to prescribe sleeping pills on a long-term basis. Many sedatives may be habit-forming when used on a long-term basis, or carry other side effects. Currently, prescription drugs known as benzodiazepine hypnotics, when used properly, are very effective in helping short-term sleeplessness. As for over-the-counter medication, a recent FDA review found diphenhydramine hydrochloride, diphenhydramine, zalcitabine and doxylamine succinate (all antihistamines) to be safe and effective.

A full selection of prescription and over-the-counter medications can be found by coming to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 750-1956, 750-1968. The sale and rental of convalescent aids are handled. This includes walkers, wheel chairs, crutches and canes. We also carry baby needs, gift items and greeting cards. Open: Daily 9am - 10pm, Sundays 9am - 9pm. Watch our column in the upcoming weeks for many different items related to health and medications.

HINT: Patients should ask doctors to help look for an underlying medical or psychiatric cause for chronic insomnia.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

Some advisers to President Bush are suggesting that opposition to tax increases is softening. That isn't so. Voters are rejecting most of the tax hikes on their ballots, and property-tax revolts are spreading all over the country.

Across the nation, voters have rejected tax hikes at the ballot box almost every chance they got. Republican pollster Lance Tarrance says "The truth of the matter is that when you get down to the street, people are still resistant to broad-based new taxes."

Another tax revolt has already taken shape, and the increasingly heated battle between governments that want and need to raise money and their antitax citizens will dominate the nation's politics for the next few years. Yet this tax revolt is different from the 1970s version led by militant, ideological conservatives like Howard Jarvis and Paul Gann in California. The '90s version seems to be broader and deeper. It is directed against government at every level, including localities, and stems from intense public cynicism about governmental effectiveness, regardless of whether the Democrats or the Republicans are in control. It is spawned by a sense of unease about the future and despair at politicians' capacities to manage money.

This national antitax sentiment flies in the face of a new conventional wisdom that has taken hold, especially in the Democratic Party, that voters will approve new taxes as long as they are convinced money will be spent for worthy or critical purposes like fighting crime, improving schools and specific environmental programs. Yet, in the past year, voters in Michigan rejected two proposals that would have increased the sales tax to improve schools. In Washington State voters rejected nearly 2 to 1 to expand education and social programs. North Dakota voters torpedoed proposals to increase the sales, income and gas taxes, even though all the proposals were billed as necessary to maintain funding for education and human services forcing Democratic Governor George Sinner to cut $98 million from the state budget.

The antitax sentiment is strongest at the local level. Local taxpayers throughout the country have rebelled against a wide variety of proposed local tax increases — especially property taxes, which are the single most important revenue source for local governments but also one of the least popular with voters, particularly those on fixed incomes. Property taxes always are hot-button issues because they are ratcheted up automatically in most places as assessments rise, and homeowners believe they don't have control over them.

Despite assertions to the contrary from the architects of the Reagan revolution, the overall tax burden for most Americans has increased over the past 10 years mainly because payroll levies for Social Security have gone up steadily. Meanwhile, states and localities, deprived of revenue from Washington for social programs, have increased a variety of their own taxes.

The local tax revolt has serious ramifications in Washington. In most states, the largest single source for new revenue is the sales tax, followed in many cases by so-called sin taxes on cigarettes and alcohol. Those are precisely the tax sources that President Bush and congressional budgeters are eyeing to relieve the federal budget deficit along with increased gasoline taxes. Most voters have a sense that government at all levels is "piling it on."

Perhaps one of the few bright spots for local and state budgeters is the prospect that voters seem willing to vote for bond issues for specific issue projects.

The difference in taxpayer sentiment seems to lie in the fact that bonds appear less painful because, unlike taxes, they are debts that taxpayers do not immediately feel in their pocketbooks. The use of their funds is more tightly regulated than general revenues, too, so voters can be more sure that the politicians won't mispend the cash.

Hereby lies the warning for Bush and congressional leaders: Taxpayers aren't sleeping anymore... neither should any of us.

Trustees room rededication carries on library tradition

The newly renovated Trustees Room of the Belleville Public Library and Information Center was dedicated Sunday, June 10. Library Board President, Joseph T. Casale, officiated and called the beautiful new room "a fitting tribute to the hard work of the library's seventy-one trustees who have served the people of Belleville."

Nearly one hundred people present heard tributes to the library and its place in Belleville's cultural life from Senator Carmen A. Orechio, Assemblywoman Marion Crecco, Assemblyman John Kelly, members of Belleville's Council-elect, Frank Caputo, William P. Cook, Mario Drozd, James Messina, Dr. Frank Noonan, Marina C. Perna and Thomas J. Spillane and Assistant Township Attorney Robert Giordano.

The Trustees Room will serve as a meeting place, a site for library programs and an art gallery. The dedication included the display of the paintings of Belleville art teacher, Marcia Miele and music provided by the Belleville High School chamber group directed by Edwin Black.

The beautiful neo-classical design of the Trustees Room is the work of Library Trustee James J. Cozzarelli Jr., whose use of rich detail, varied lighting, and architectural elements seems especially graceful in the dazzling white finish he chose for the space.

Library Director David Bryant made special recognition of present Trustees Kenneth R. Broo and Michael D. Nardiello and welcomed former Trustees including Commissioner George F. Kiernan who served from 1959-1962 and Mayor Michael V. Marotti, a Library Trustee from 1975-1987. Former Library Director Gerry Hickey was recognized also.

In summarizing the day, Trustee President Joseph T. Casale called it "A great day for our library and for Belleville. We only regret that Trustee Mrs. Richard A. Shafter, who suffered a stroke in February, could not have been here to share it with us."

CMMC summer volunteer program

Teens who are at least 13 years of age and graduated from the 8th grade, may apply for the summer teen volunteer program at Clara Mass Medical Center.

Participants are oriented to the Medical Center; trained to escort patients, deliver mail and flowers, play with children, feed patients, and assist in clerical areas.

Teens must be willing to volunteer 4-6 hours a week and comply with hospital rules and regulations. This summer, two optional programs will be offered for teens, a four-hour course in Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation, and a Health Careers Workshop.

During the course of the summer program, teens make friends with students from other schools, learn new skills, develop commitment, responsibility, and compassion. They also have a good time; and at the end of the summer the experience is celebrated with awards and a party.

Teens who are interested in the volunteer program may call the Volunteer office at 450-2150 for an application.

Over the top again

25 Years Ago
June 24, 1965...The American Cancer Society reported that for the third consecutive year, Belleville had gone "over the top" in its annual Cancer Crusade.

The Essex County Chapter American Cancer Society announced that Belleville had exceeded its 1965 quota of $9,500, but donations were still pouring in.

Mark Anton, 1965 Cancer Crusade chairman, singled out the "exceptional leadership" of former Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo, who headed the drive for the last three years.

"It was Strumolo's dedication and the town of Belleville's cooperation which has resulted in the wonderful success," Anton said.

Belbolls honored

The 1965 Belleville High School baseball team, Big Ten and Section IV champions, had seven of their players honored with all-county and all-group selections.

Catcher "Big Len" Luongo was placed on the first team all-state, as well as all-county and all-group for the second straight year. Second baseman George DeBrowski, also a relief pitcher, made first team all-group and all-county, while outfielder Nick Grande was tabbed for first team all-county and second team all-group. Pitcher and third baseman Art Sheridan made second team all-county, while left fielder Tony Landolfi was placed on the third team. First sacker Frank Mino and hurler Rich Pucciarello earned honorable mention all-county.

OUR OPINION

Cutting out the fat

State Senate Republicans have come up with a plan that would save the homestead rebate check program. They say their elimination of programs would save $305 million in the Florio Administration budget.

The Republicans would center their cuts on obviously useless state spending, including $65 million in efforts to obtain about 6,750 jobs for welfare mothers — as if the mothers could not obtain the same jobs on their own, and without the state bureaucrats!

Among other items:

- Merging several departments in state government, including the combining of N.J. Department of Higher Education with the N.J. Department of Education. For Heaven's sake, why not?

- Elimination of the N.J. Office of International Trade, now spending $2.57 million. This is an outright welfare subsidy to business and it has no right or reason to rip off taxpayers.

- Keeping the mileage reimbursement for state employees at 18 cents, instead of 25 cents. One wonders if the employees using state automobiles are further reimbursed for mileage (here is a scandal awaiting its exposure).

- Ousting the Office of Telecommunications and Information Systems, a bungling bureaucracy that should leave computer updating and networking to the private sector. The economies here would be $50 million.

As can be readily seen, the state budget can easily be reduced by $305 million — and we could easily find double that amount! — beyond the Florio reductions. Only bureaucrats and special interests would mourn the passing.

What troubles us about the Republican proposal, however, is why present their plan now? Why did they not present these budget reductions when Tom Kean was running wild in Trenton? After all, the state spending the Republicans wish to eliminate now was proudly voted for by the same Republicans when Kean was governor.

All this is evidence that Republicans and Democrats have used the increased state revenues of the Reagan years to add on numerous state programs, instead of applying the revenues to infrastructure projects (sewers, incinerators, roads, bridges, water distribution, etc.) and to a rainy day surplus.

The Kean tax hikes to finance useless programs can now be seen as unnecessary. Governor Florio should learn from this lesson by continuing to reduce the Kean fat in the state budget.

Where are the young going?

Vast numbers of young married couples and single young people are moving from northern New Jersey, and generally from the Northeast (except New Hampshire), recent surveys indicate. This new migration has been underway hereabouts during the past two or three years.

Young people have many reasons to flee to more hospitable locales:

- Excessive health care costs, including discriminatory health plan rates against younger people.
- Excessive automobile insurance costs, with all young adults forced to subsidize the reckless few.
- Excessive tuition costs as colleges more and more cater to the rich and to subsidize minorities.
- Discriminatory state income tax rates, including those recently proposed by the Florio Administration.
- Proposed expansion of the state sales tax and an increase of the sales tax rate to seven percent.
- Increasing use of affirmative action and other discriminatory hiring and promotion practices not based upon merit.

These are but some of the complaints of young adults. To be sure, many of these complaints exist in other regions of America, but not perhaps with such incessant pervasiveness. Not a few elderly folks can cite their grievances against one or another higher or expanded tax.

Nevertheless, this generation of young adults does not want to make the mistakes of the generation of the 1960s: a counter-revolution that started out questioning the establishment and then — as is so evident today — has become the establishment itself and refuses to have itself questioned.

No, this young generation is moving out. No John Steinbeck — or Jack Kerouac — has come along yet to document this migration, this flight if you would, of young Americans dispossessed of most of their earnings and divested of their spirits.

Young people are packing up and leaving. They are not buring Flags in the streets or on the campuses, as in the 1960s. They are taking Flags with them to those few remaining areas of America where young people and young families may express their spirits and aspire to their dreams ... and where they will not be robbed of their earnings!

YOUR OPINION

Indebted to police

To the editor:

On Monday, June 4, 1990 at 8:00 AM I faced a crisis that every mother dreads. My 9 month old son Joey was in the bathroom with me as I proceeded to get ready for the day, to us this was natural because we do this every morning. Joey is learning to walk and he had pulled himself up into a standing position holding on to the bathtub, without cause he fell hitting his head on the bathroom floor.

At first I did not panic because I didn't want to upset him but when I picked him up he was stiff, his eyes were rolling back in his head, he was drooling, lifeless, and sweating profusely. I thought he was going to die.

The first aid and CPR I had learned when he was born went right out of my head and yes, I did panic, the only thing that I could do was pick up the phone and dial 911. I was so upset all I did was scream "help me, help my baby" and cry. The officer on the phone somehow calmed me down enough to get my address, within minutes officers George Sheridan and Louis Pompino arrived at my door, their response time and their attitudes were commendable, they checked my son and immediately transported us to Clara Maass Hospital. It is a comfort to know that the officers of Belleville are so quick in responding to emergency situations such as these.

I am very grateful and deeply indebted to these fine officers and the Belleville Police Department. Thanks to them, my son is fine today. I feel that officers such as these deserve recognition. Many thanks to the Belleville Police Department.

• Donald Mulford, the publisher of the Monclair Times died Sunday morning, June 3rd. Mulford was a giant in the weekly newspaper profession and established for himself and his newspaper properties the highest standard of journalism. Throughout his adult life, Don Mulford was an avid fan of national political conventions. He attended both Republican and Democrat National Conventions with voluminous picture news coverage of events for publication in his newspapers. He possessed a bubbly enthusiasm which was contagious. A great patriot, Don Mulford will be remembered not only for the fine person he was, but also for his contributions to raise the level of weekly newspaper ethics to a higher standard, reflected weekly in his newspapers, the Monclair Times and the Verona Cedar Grove Times.

Today, age 72, is a point in life when a person is really too young to die — but when the final curtain call comes in the life of each of us, hopefully, we are ready for that long trip into the unknown. During his 72 years, Don Mulford squeezed into his lifetime an abundance of activities that the average person would require two lifetimes to accomplish. The profession of journalism has lost a respected member who enriched the world about him while taking joy from doing it.

• THE Florio tax package that was on the table Monday morning benefited Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield. The benefits exceeded the costs. Bloomfield would be about $300,000 to the good; Belleville would benefit about $500,000, and Nutley would gain $750,000.

• IT has been decades since the state and Essex County Democrat party have reached the pinnacle of strength enjoyed today. Under the crafty leadership of Essex County Democrat Ray Durkin, the party is virtually defeat-proof. The only two Republicans — incumbent Freeholders, Art Clay and Monroe Lustbader, may lose their seats because of the unusually strong Democrat ticket.

Headed by U.S. Senator Bill Bradley, who usually wins by a million votes — this year, he may increase his majority — and right alongside his name appears Congressman Bob Roe. Next to them is the most popular person in Essex County, incumbent Sheriff Tom D'Alesio, a candidate for County Executive. It is quite possible neither Clay nor Lustbader can survive what appears to be a certain Democrat landslide. It was Durkin who led the march back to success at the state level as Democrat State Chairman for the past three years.

As State Chairman, Durkin engineered the Florio landslide. There is no doubt Durkin's inexhaustible inventory of stratagems makes him a leading contender for the title of "Smartest Political Leader in New Jersey." He has melded urban and suburban organizations into a mighty army. The Republicans, with no political base except an indifferent White House, and no patronage to use to discipline the troops, must start rebuilding process from the bottom up.

First, Republican leaders have an obligation to field candidates for county committees in every district in the State of New Jersey. Secondly, Republican Election Board members should be selected on a basis of broad based voter support. Achieving both these objectives should give the Republican organization four leaders in every district in the State of New Jersey to be used as a base for the building up process. State Republican Chairman, Assemblyman Bobby Franks, needs a top-notch, resourceful executive director to quarterback the operation. I don't see anybody on the horizon available to qualify for this spot. If former State Chairman, Frank Holman could be induced to lead such a team effort, he is one person who can make it successful.

• MANY thousands of people have lost a dear friend when retired Newark Postmaster Joseph J. Benucci died on Sunday, May 27th. In 1948 and 1954, I worked closely with Benucci for the election of Congressman Peter Rodino. In 1954, I was Campaign Director for United States Senator Clifford P. Case, a Republican, and Joe Benucci was Campaign Director for Democrat Congressman Peter Rodino. Realizing that both men were superior public servants,

Joseph J. Benucci

Benucci and I worked together to elect Republican Clifford Case and Democrat Peter Rodino. In my political life, my association with Joe Benucci was one of the most heartwarming experiences during my half century of political activity.

• GERARD DESIDERIO, a native Nutleyite, has established himself in Sea Isle City, Cape May County. Last week, Gerard was elected chairman of the powerful Cape May County Republican Committee. At age 27, Gerard is the youngest person ever elected to this post — one of the most powerful in the state. When the time comes that the New

Gerard Desiderio

Jersey Republican Party makes a comeback, you will find that Gerard Desiderio was among the leaders who will have made it possible for the Republicans to reach the top of the mount once again. Gerard and his brother, Lenny, operate several family owned businesses in Cape May County. Among them, they are the Sea Isle Inn, L.G. McNutley's Nite Club and KIX Package Goods Store, all located between 63rd Street and 65th Street on Landis Avenue in Sea Isle City. Currently, Gerard has been serving as campaign manager for his Sea Isle City neighbor, John C. Gibson, who is fighting to become a member of the New Jersey State Senate.

• THAT ever smiling, popular Lorraine Novak, co-owner of Nutley Travel Agency, is now a grandmother. Her daughter, Linda, is a proud mother of a son, T.J., born June 11th. If she waited another few hours, I would have shared a birthday with a newborn!

RELIGIOUS VIEWPOINT

Gerald Fortunato, Pastor
Silver Lake Baptist Church

The Tracing of the Cross

The Washington Post quoted President George Bush after he returned from a visit to Russia: "An amazing thing happened at the funeral of Soviet leader Brezhnev. Things were run with military precision; a coldness and hollowness pervaded the ceremony — marching soldiers, steel helmets, Marxist rhetoric, but no prayers, no confronting hymns, no mention of God. I happened to be in just the right spot to see Mrs. Brezhnev. She walked up, took one last look at her husband, and there — in the cold, gray center of that totalitarian state — she traced the sign of the cross over her husband's chest. I was stunned. In that simple act, God had broken through the core of the Communist system."

Mrs. Brezhnev's simple act as she traced the cross, whether in secret belief or tremulous hope, showed that the message of a crucified, risen Savior cannot be excluded by an iron curtain or an atheistic regime.

An old American spiritual asks the question: "Were you there when they crucified my Lord?... Were you there when they nailed Him to the tree?" All three types of people — those who watch things happen, those who don't know what is happening, and those who make things happen — stood at the foot of the cross on the day we call Good Friday. The crowd consisted of watchers, takers and mourners. The watchers were the "religious" group. They who should have been most receptive, had been hostile. Jesus did not fit their image of what Messiah would be. They shouted, if He was Messiah, why didn't He prove it by coming down from the cross. They were close to the cross, but far from Christ.

The soldiers were the takers. In early hours of the morning, they had played cruel games at Jesus' expense, trying to take His dignity. Now, after they nailed Him to the cross, raising it to take His life slowly and agonizingly, they gambled over what was left — His garments. They took all He had except the one thing that would have made all the difference. Jesus asked His Father to forgive those who followed the orders of a pagan government, because "they know not what they do." The soldiers were near the wood of the cross, but far from the blood.

A group of mourners was also there: John, the disciple; Jesus' mother, Mary and several others who had followed Him. They were not there just to watch — the scene was almost unbearable. They did not understand why it was happening. Days filled with grief would elapse before they saw the reason for it. But then, they and the other disciples would make things happen. They would "turn the world upside down" with the news of the One who came back from the dead to give life to all who would accept it.

Jesus Christ traced the sign of the cross across our cold gray world nearly 2000 years ago. Since that time, countless individuals and governments have tried to bury Him, but He always proves Himself alive, just as He did that first Easter morning.

Years ago, a Communist leader addressed a large "anti-God" rally in Kiev. With powerful rhetoric, he attacked the Christian faith and its doctrines. At the end of the speech, he asked questions from the audience. A minister of the Orthodox Church got up, faced the crowd, and shouted the traditional Russian Easter greeting, "The Lord is risen!" The "anti-God" rally came to an abrupt close as the entire crowd triumphantly shouted back, "The Lord is risen indeed!"

Ana Valladares, 48

A Mass for Mrs. Ana Valladares, 48, of Hackensack was offered June 16 in St. Peter's Church, Belleville, after the funeral from the Kiernan Funeral Home, Belleville.

Mrs. Valladares, who died June 13 in her home, was born in Colombia and lived in Belleville before moving to Hackensack 15 years ago.

Surviving are her husband, Miguel; two sons, Michael and Luis; her parents, Jorge and Carmen Reyes; a brother, Hernan Reyes; six sisters, Mrs. Mariela DeGutierrez, Mrs. Blanca Neno, Mrs. Lidia Manzo, Mrs. Priscilla Mendia, Mrs. Maria Canessa and Mrs. Rosalba Soto, and a grandchild.

MEDICALLY SPEAKING

HOARSENESS

- Q: What is hoarseness?
A: Hoarseness is an alteration in the normal production of the voice by the vocal cords.
- Q: What are the causes of hoarseness?
A: Most cases are caused by infection (laryngitis). Some others are related to voice abuse, environmental exposure, or smoking, which can cause vocal cord nodules and polyps.
- Q: Who should have an examination by a throat specialist?
A: Anyone who has hoarseness persisting for two weeks.
- Q: Have there been recent advances in the diagnosis of hoarseness?
A: Yes. With the FLEXIBLE FIBEROPTIC LARYNGOSCOPE, a complete examination of the voice box can be done in the office without discomfort.
- Q: What if I need surgery?
A: Surgery can be done under general anesthesia on an outpatient (same day) basis. All removed tissue is sent for a biopsy study. Modern techniques such as the OPERATING MICROSCOPE and, in indicated cases, LASER, allow accurate and precise surgery. Recovery is rapid with patients able to resume most activities the next day.

Belleville Times SPORTS

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

The softball, crew and golf teams highlighted the 1990 spring sports campaign at Belleville High School. Strong individual performances were also turned in by the baseball, track and tennis teams.

The softball team had established a tradition of winning in the 1980's that is almost unparalleled in high school sports. During the 80's, this team posted over 230 victories. It's "worst" record over that span was 18-8.

Head coach Carl Corino, who took over the program in 1980, didn't quite know what to expect from the 1990 team. Although it had a large senior contingent, Corino admitted that his team lacked offensive punch in the early going.

"No problem," his team responded. "We just won't allow the opposition any runs at all."

That wasn't quite the case, but it was pretty close. Behind some superb pitching from Trecca Donnelly and Stacey Johansen, Belleville jumped out to an 18-1 start and finished 23-4 on the year. Donnelly finished 9-1 and had an ERA under 1.00. Johansen was just as impressive, posting a record of 14-3 and striking out 136 hitters in 114 innings of work.

The offense wasn't too bad, either. Johansen led the team with a batting average of .561 and dished out 10 homers. She blasted round trippers in her last four varsity games.

Jennifer Bridge also had an excellent year, hitting .329 and playing a solid game at shortstop. Senior catcher Laurie Moyer hit .282 and drove home 20 runs.

Johansen was recently named to the first team, All County. Moyer and Bridge were selected to the second team and Bridge earned honors on the third team.

Belleville won a second straight NNJIL championship. The Lady Bucs did miss out on the county finals, the first time in nine years that the team did not play in the title game.

The team advanced to the sectional championships, where it lost a 3-4 decision to Morris Hills.

The crew team had another solid season under first-year head coach Bob Cassin. A 1982 graduate of Belleville High, Cassin was an assistant in the program under coaches Sam Guiffreda and Scott Fabian. He was named the head coach when Fabian stepped down in late February.

The Bucs responded well to the new mentor. The team sent four boats to the nationals and rowed well in the preceding regattas.

It was also a team of transition for the girls' varsity crew team. Fabian had basically worked with the girls' varsity, so when he resigned, Dennis Villano, a veteran coach in wrestling and crew, took over.

At the recent Varsity Club dinner, it was noted that the transition wasn't so smooth early on. However, by the time regatta season started in early May, the team and its new mentor were hitting on all cylinders.

As promised a few weeks ago, this is the roster of the entire team, both boys and girls. The senior boys are Derek Chullandana (manager), Leon Koski and Dale Watkowski.

The senior girls are Sue Aufiero, Joyce Burke, Liz Morris, Jessica Nappi and Laura Nardone.

Junior boys include Jason DeMeo, Lee Hands, Ramon Hernandez, Sean Kimball, Jim Mastropaulo and Tom Pontrella. The junior girls are Justine Frost, Danielle Groeling, Kristine Villano, Jackie Warnock and Heather Apruzzese.

Sophomore boys who rowed varsity are Mark Glosson, Kharim Iliwa, Angel Marin, Anthony Mastropaulo, Sal Minardi and Joe Morris. Sophomore Jim Schmidt rowed the year with the novice team, which enjoyed tremendous success.

Sophomore girls on the varsity are Danette Eccles, Sharon Trefser and Kelly Losgar.

The freshman boys, who helped make up the fine novice boat consisted of Bobby Gauthier, Anthony Gaccone, Matthew Kastner, Frank Koch, Jack O'Connell, Daren Peterson, Michael Woodward and William Zigmund.

The freshman girls also had an excellent year. Those rowers are Alexandra Lyach, SueAnne Battista, Kamallli Shanira, Deanna Casella, Kim Gantz, Tiffany Lennon, Dana Nelson, Ceci Piacenti, Geri Ravelle, Christine Rodriguez, Melanie Spillane and Stephanie Vaccaro.

Dennis Villano and I were talking a few months ago about crew and the great kids that make up this sport. We commented that it seems the names never change. The kids graduate, but names like Trefser, Aufiero, Burke, Nardone, Apruzzese, Eccles, Villano, Watkowski, Ernst, Nappi and Hands continue to be a part of Belleville crew. It's safe to say that crew has indeed become a "family" sport.

When I heard that Sue Aufiero, Liz Morris and Company were graduating this spring, I thought these were the same athletes who were on the '82 national championship boat.

The golf team concluded its best season ever, and that's saying a great deal. Quietly, the Belleville golf team has put together a tradition of excellence on the links. In the 1980's, the team won three league championships and had posted ten straight winning records.

In 1990, it all came together for the Bucs. Gene D'Allesandro's team finished 19-14, tying for the league title with powerful Don Bosco. Belleville and Don Bosco tied in a dual match and a long tie breaking procedure gave the league championship to Don Bosco.

Sal Taibi was the only senior on the team '90 linksters and he averaged 43.7 over nine holes. Peter Taibi led the team with an average of 43.4.

The baseball team went through a rebuilding season after six straight winning campaigns. Nick Grande's club finished 5-18, but a majority of the players will be back in 1991, with a full year of varsity experience behind them.

The only two seniors on the team were Andy DuHaime and Ken Salnz, whom Grande praised as outstanding leaders in a difficult situation.

Underclassmen returning in 1991 who should be key players include Carmen Spina (.348 batting average), Art Caruso (.327 average), Mike Melham (.439 average after starting year on JV), Mike Alfano (.351 average), Bill Salvatore, Rich Ferruggia, Jason Nardachone and Jim DuHaime.

The boys' tennis team, coached by Tony Satese, was paced by

1990: A great year on the links

Over the past decade, the Belleville golf team quietly put together a phenomenal record. From the period of 1980-89, the team, under the direction of coaches Mike Salzarulo (1980), Rocco Collucci (1981-'86) and Gene D'Allesandro (1987-present) had compiled three conference championships and ten straight winning records.

The '90's have gotten off to a phenomenal start. The Bucs posted its finest season, ever, in 1990, finishing with a mark of 19-14. The Bucs only lost this season was to Nutley, by four strokes, in a non-conference match. Belleville avenged that defeat a few weeks later, halting the Raiders by 11 strokes in a conference matchup.

"It was a very satisfying season," D'Allesandro said. "The kids had the opportunity to play on some of the finest courses in New Jersey. We faced some very good teams and held our own."

Belleville's lone tie this year was against powerful conference rival Don Bosco late in the season. The match, contested at Hendrick's Field in Belleville, was a thriller. However, due to a tie breaking procedure in high school golf, Don Bosco was declared the winner of the conference championship.

"That doesn't take away from our kids playing so well against them," D'Allesandro said. "Don Bosco won its regional championship and finished ninth in the entire state tourney. We played that team even, and Don Bosco was good enough to beat Bergen Catholic, who finished number one in the state last year."

"Our kids can be consistent. They were a very consistent bunch. There was no dominating golfer this year. Instead, we had four or five kids who could shoot in the 40's and keep up in those close matches."

D'Allesandro pointed to the fact that his team played at prestigious courses such as Upper Montclair, Cressmont Country Club and Montclair Country Club.

The team will lose just one senior to graduation, but D'Allesandro admits that senior won't be easy to replace.

Sal Taibi, a standout golfer and student at Belleville during his high school days will take his talents to Rutgers next fall. Taibi averaged 43.7 over nine holes in his senior year, ranking second on the team.

Taibi, by the way, was the play by play announcer at the Belleville High School football games last season at Doc Eells Field.

Sal's younger brother, Peter Taibi, was the leading scorer on the team this year. Actually in golf, the leading scorer is the man with the lowest tally. Peter averaged just 43.4 strokes over nine holes in this, his sophomore year.

Peter Taibi shot a solid 89 for 18 holes at the NNJIL championships in late May.

Junior Jerry Mahoney was the Most Improved Golfer on the Bucs this season, according to D'Allesandro. Mahoney ended the season with an average of 45.4 for nine holes.

Another junior, Mike Escott, put together a good campaign. Escott averaged 48 and should be one of the top golfers on the '91 team.

Junior Vic Talamini also came around strong in the later stages of the season. He finished the year with an average of 49.1.

The sixth player on the varsity roster is junior Anthony Papanicolaou, who lowered his average by almost six strokes from the beginning of the season to the end.

"They're all a good group of

Martin pleased with progress of frosh Bucs

Under the tutelage of second year coach Chuck Martin, the Belleville freshman baseball team put together a record of 6-9.

Due to heavy rainfall during the month of May, a multitude of games were cancelled and therefore the season was cut short. A small turnout of players (13 were on the final roster) left the team thin in the depth department.

"We had to move different players to new positions in order to fill team needs," Martin said. "Many kids moved to a different position every game and that hurt the defensive nucleus of our ball club."

The team captain for the '90 freshman Bucs was Mike Morgan.

"Mike played five positions this year and did a fantastic job," Martin said. "He came to the field everyday with enthusiasm and a great mental attitude."

Kevin Johansen and Kenneth Johansen also played key roles for the Bucs. Both men have excellent talent. Ken Johansen led the team in hitting and also split time pitching and catching.

Kevin was a solid pitcher and he anchored a good defense with his play at shortstop.

"Kevin had excellent range," Martin said.

Dennis DeWork was the leading RBI man for the Bucs.

"He hits the ball a ton," Martin said of DeWork. "He's big, strong and can run. He carried the ball club on his shoulders the entire season with his clutch hitting. He also did a great job pitching this year."

First baseman Mike Puleo and second baseman Jim Napolitano anchored the right side of the infield.

"Mike has great baseball savvy as well as a dynamite glove," Martin

Legion baseball team wins first game of year

The Belleville American Legion baseball team won its first game of the summer after four losses, beating Nutley 16-5.

Nelson Landon's team battled West Orange and East Orange earlier this week. This evening, the team plays Vailsburg at 5:45 p.m. The game will be played at Seton Hall. On Saturday, Belleville returns home to face South Orange. Game time is 2 p.m. Next Monday, the Legion team travels to Eastside for a 5:45 p.m. game and next Wednesday, it's a home game with Montclair, also at 5:45 p.m. All Belleville home games will be played at the varsity diamond at Belleville High School.

"We're just starting to hit the ball," Landon said. "We've got a good team, but we started pretty slowly."

Before beating Nutley, Belleville had lost to Bloomfield 11-1, Caldwell 10-0, Verona 2-0 and Cedar Grove 9-2.

Against Nutley, the Legion Bucs were led by Ryan Wells. The Belleville High School junior clouted three homers and drove home 11 runs in the uprising.

The roster this summer is made up mostly of Belleville High School varsity and JV players. Mike Alfano is the catcher, Rich Ferruggia and Mike Melham will play first, Art Caruso is at second, Chris Marcantuono is the shortstop and Jason Nardachone is playing third.

In the outfield, Carmen Spina is in left, Wells is the centerfielder and Bill Salvatore is working in right.

Other players who should see time in the outfield include Rocco Constantino, Charley Giachetti and Bobby Roselli. Joe Marino will get some action behind the plate and Mike Kimball is expected to see action at third base.

The designated hitter should be John McAlloon.

The pitching rotation will feature Jason Apple, Mike Chinchella, Ferruggia and Nardachone.

All told, the Belleville Legion team will play 24 games this summer. It should give Landon the opportunity to play a lot of athletes who are hopeful of continuing their baseball careers on the varsity and JV level.

Reds defeat Pirates 11-5, tie Angels for league title

In Belleville Pigtail League action, the Reds continued its run for first place by stopping the Pirates 11-5.

The victory assured the Reds a first place tie with the Angels. Both teams finished 6-2 on the year.

Susan Donnelly tossed a complete game, holding the Pirates to just three hits after the third inning. The coaching staff praised the entire team on a strong effort in beat the Pirates.

kids," D'Allesandro said of his varsity team. "The key is they all improved during the year and we have a good nucleus of players coming back next year.

"We'll miss Sal, he provided a great deal to this team and his leadership was a key factor to our success this year."

NOTES: Bucs finished fifth in the counties this year. Last season, the team was third in the county tournament. Buc golfers have fared well in the NNJL championships over the past two years. In 1989, Anthony Alvino tied for the individual title and in '88, Joe Cerreto and Mike Dasaro of Belleville tied for the conference title.

The 19 wins by this years club is a team record. The '88 team had posted an 18-3 mark.

REGIONAL UPDATE

A message from Steve DiGiovanna, who says he would have beaten Hale Irwin at the last U.S. Open if he didn't have to attend a loan meeting. The message says that Steve, Mike Vega and Greg Bevere are back on the golf links again for their fourth season. They still haven't found a steady fourth for their group.

Vega and Bevere, by the way, are Belleville High School grads who for some reason are hanging around with DiGiovanna, who didn't graduate from Belleville.

By the way, if you ever need Steve to do any work for you, just pay the price. The man sells out to the highest bidder. Forget loyalty. If Steve's not in the office, you'll probably see him cruising Bergen Boulevard. (The Don is watching you Steve). My man Mark Murray has become a diehard Mets' fan. The football Giants are next.

If anyone has seen John Engel's copy of last weeks Belleville Times, contact John as soon as possible. By the way, only 345 more days to the next picnic at John and Jan's house.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

In 1986, the Boston Red Sox were without the services of pitcher Tom Seaver. The Sox had acquired Seaver from the Chicago White Sox late in the '86 campaign for the pennant race. Seaver hurt his knee, however, and could not pitch in post season. I often wonder what kind of reception Seaver would have gotten at Shea Stadium if he pitched there in that series. Today, Seaver is a broadcaster for the Yankees.

FOR THIS WEEK

In the 1986 AL playoffs, one of the best games in major league history was played in game five of that series. You probably remember the Red Sox and Angels playing in that series. The Angels appeared to have the series wrapped up. What was the score in the top of the ninth inning when the Red Sox were getting their final at bats? Who was the Angels' pitcher at the beginning of that inning. Who hit homers in that inning for the Red Sox? What was the final score of the game?

CMMC plastic surgeon donates girl's operation

Recently at Clara Maass Medical Center, an innovative plastic surgery procedure was performed on a young girl by Vincent Giampapa, M.D. Successful completion of the plastic surgery procedure, utilizing the material Gore-Tex, resulted in the creation of a synthetic sling which enabled the teen to once again make use of her facial muscles.

Sara Ramos, like most 18-year-olds enjoys listening to music and watching videos on television. She looks forward to becoming a physical therapist after her high school graduation.

Unlike most teenagers, however, Sara was bitten on the left cheek and the corner of her mouth by a donkey at the age of one month. Sara, who is originally from Mexico, where the accident occurred, now lives in Passaic. As a result of the accident, Sara developed and was treated for a severe infection. Unfortunately, due to the unavailability of reconstructive surgery in Mexico, Sara was left with a significant deformity.

To correct the deformity, Sara underwent three operations to restore and reconstruct the corner of her mouth and her upper and lower lips, and to reconstruct a large defect on the left cheek. During the first two operations, a relatively new technique in plastic surgery, which involves plastic balloon-like devices called tissue expanders, was used. Placed below the skin, the expanders stretched the surrounding skin over a course of six to eight weeks to allow the reconstructive plastic surgeon to bring extra skin into the damaged areas, once the scar tissue was removed. Sara's tissue was removed from Sara's cheeks and new tissue was transferred externally to reconstruct her lips.

The final surgery was performed by Vincent Giampapa, M.D., plastic surgeon, and Makrim Ghorbal, M.D., anesthesiologist, at Clara Maass Medical Center. The surgery, anesthesia and hospital stay were donated by the physicians and Clara Maass Medical Center.

The final surgery, which lasted approximately two hours, consisted of the final reconstruction of the upper and lower lips, the lateral border of the mouth, and the placement of a synthetic sling to elevate the corner of the mouth and cheek and to take the place of facial muscles which were destroyed during the accident. The material used is presently being utilized for artificial arteries and veins with the human body. The sling, created from the Gore-Tex material, mimics the facial muscles that were destroyed and allows Sara to smile symmetrically.

Today, Sara anticipates her future after high school graduation and enjoys the good things life has to offer and now she can enjoy them with a smile.

Clara Maass Medical Center celebrates namesake's birthday

On June 28, Clara Maass Medical Center will celebrate the birth of its namesake Clara Louise Maass, on her 144th birthday.

Clara Louise Maass, a graduate of the Medical Center's original School of Nursing, volunteered for service during the Spanish-American War and later in the Philippines and, in 1900, Cuba. There she heroically participated in yellow fever inoculation, during the course of which she lost her life.

Among the observances scheduled for the day are:

- A special dinner for visitors and employees in the Medical Center's cafeteria featuring foods from Cuba, the Philippines, and the United States. A Venetian dessert table will also be available during the dinner hours of 4:30 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

- A wreath-laying ceremony at the gravesite of Clara Louise Maass in Fairmont Cemetery, Newark, at 11:00 a.m.

• An exhibit featuring photos of Clara Maass, commemorative stamps, and other memorabilia, in the Medical Center lobby, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

- Commemorative buttons with a portrait of Clara Maass and stamps featuring the famous nurse will also be on sale in the Clara Maass Gift Shop.

For more information on Clara Maass Day events call 450-2106.

Bill eases local taxes

Sen. Carmen A. Orechio (D-Essex) said legislation approved in the Senate to have the state pay for county and local costs of welfare, psychiatric care and other social services will save more than $20 million for taxpayers in the 30th District.

"At last, our residents will have property tax relief by having the state assume the costs of services which should be lifted from residents' shoulders," Orechio said in a press statement.

As chairman of the County and Municipal Government Study Commission for the last 10 years, he has worked to ease the burden on local taxpayers by having the state pay such costs.

"Support for mental health, welfare and other social services are responsibilities of the state. They should be funded on a statewide basis," he said.

Sen. Orechio said his bill S-2724, which passed the Senate 31-4, and S-2725, which he co-sponsored and which passed in the Senate 30-6, would have a "substantial impact" on the local and county tax burden.

"The combined savings in this legislation demonstrates our commitment to finding ways to help the local property taxpayer," he said.

Under the bills, tax savings would be: Montclair, $5,307,319; Bloomfield, $1,199,554; Nutley, $3,256,091; Belleville, $2,274,283; Verona, $2,005,523; Cedar Grove, $1,493,514, and Glen Ridge, $1,033,444.

Savings to the average residential property owner in those municipalities would be $469 in Montclair; $421 in Glen Ridge; $360 in Verona; $320 in Cedar Grove; $312 in Nutley; $268 in Bloomfield, and $239 in Belleville.

What Does Your Home Mean To You

By Paul Parmenter
Belleville High School, Grade 12

In the Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, "home" is referred to the social unit formed by a family living together, but who can understand that. What "home" means to me is "peace and comfort," "a place where one can talk about anything without being yelled at." Now that is a well organized answer.

In today's society, people have forgotten all about the true meaning of home. People are too worried about making money and paying bills rather than talking. When a family does not talk to each other, it builds individual barriers that no one can break.

Home is not just a building or social unit, but the people inside. People living and caring for each other make up a home. Now by talking, families all around the world can open up and create the real "home."

In conclusion everyone must take a step back and determine at what point is their definition of "home" at. Is it just a social unit or peace and comfort? Everything that everyone says or does originates at home, now if home can just be a little better place, so can the rest of the world.

PAUL PARMENTER, second place winner, is shown with Lucietta Monteleone and Nina Kaeser of the Board of Realtors.

SECOND PLACE WINNER, Paul Parmenter, and his guest, Mike Derro.

RECEIVING HIS AWARD from Celeste Federico is Paul Parmenter.

LUCIETTA MONTELEONE, president of the Board of Realtors, and Nina Kaeser, community service committee chairman, congratulate Diane.

What My Home Means To Me

By Diane DiVencenzo
Belleville High School, Grade 12

Driving up the road I think back to when I was a child. Returning home was always so much easier than leaving it. Now, here I am, driving! As I look through the car window up ahead, I see a familiar sight. Home. The fresh spring grass gleams, blossoms on the shrubs are ready to burst, and the white aluminum siding shines. I remember the day we planted those little bushes in our front yard. Look at them now — they have filled out and grown so tall. Look at the house — as a little kid I always thought it was huge, but now I think it's small. Even the driveway, which now looks short and narrow, used to seem so long and wide to me. I can remember when I first learned to ride my bike. It took forever to reach the other end.

Many happy, carefree days were spent playing in this little yard of ours. As I park the car I see the basketball net hanging over the garage door. It reminds me of the many hours I practiced as a little girl thinking, yes, I can get the ball into that basket. Now, if I jump high enough, I can touch the ends of the straggly faded-looking net which still hangs proudly, a survivor from years of bad weather and use. As I turn around I envision the orange heart I drew on the side of my house with my newly sharpened Crayola crayon. How proud I was — I finally drew a perfect heart! Then Mommy saw what I was doing and promptly sent me to my room. She was very upset with me since the white paint was only one day old.

Entering the side door I see the outdoor light. Daddy has procrastinated for 17 years about hooking up the wires to make it work. He doesn't have a drill bit long enough to make the hole needed to get the wires to the box in the basement. I wonder if he ever will find one. I fumble in my purse for the keys — at last I was big enough to have my own set. Finally, I learned which way to turn the key. Half the time I would lock myself out!

The screen door slams shut — I am home. In this hallway, which leads up to the kitchen and down to the basement, I pause to remember how it looked when I was little. Mommy had it decorated with graffiti — she even painted my name on the wall. Above the last step hung her funny sign — "Disaster Area." This was where I played school, the piano, my records, watched T.V., and just hung out. It was usually cold and damp down there, but deep down inside I always felt warm. Here were the things I enjoyed.

Then I smelled the food. Somehow Mom's cooking would lure everyone to the kitchen. This room is decorated with bright yellow trim and striped wallcovering. The cabinets, chipped and dulled from repeated cleanings to remove fingerprints, hold lots of goodies. The shiny floor leads into the breakfast room which has two windows overlooking our backyard. The appliances, stove, refrigerator and dishwasher, match the color of the sink. Oh, even the dishwasher brings happy memories — I always climbed on top of it to reach for the cookies Mommy "hid" in the cabinet above it.

Next to the kitchen is the dining room where we ate whenever we had company for dinner and at all special occasions and for our holiday meals. Here is that long table where everyone sat around and sang Happy Birthday to me. Two feet out the door and there is the living room — our family room in essence. The focal point, our fireplace, was the best; it could heat the entire house. The crackling fire sparks always lulled me to sleep. Here's where we watched the Brady Bunch, Sesame Street, My Three Sons and Mr. Rogers on the "big" T.V., in color.

The living room has a changed decor, but the memories of the activities that took place here will linger forever. The holidays, Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas brought forth such pretty decorations and excitement. Christmas was my favorite. In the week before the big holiday the house smelled like a bakery. The aroma of Mom's special cookies, especially the gingerbread boys, is something I will always treasure. The stockings were hung neatly, four across the mantle, waiting for Santa to fill. Every December 25th it looked like the room was saturated with millions of presents! Ribbons, wrapping paper, toys, gifts — everywhere. The tree, illuminated by colorful lights, and all the decorations in the room created such a beautiful scene.

There, along the inside wall, is the foyer, with its stairs leading to the second floor. That is the famous staircase my parents always told me not to run on. This is where I broke my leg. One little step did it! Six weeks in that ugly fiberglass cast! Climbing the stairs, the fragrance of hairspray remains in the air, coming from the bathroom — first door to the right at the top of the stairs. Straight ahead, finally, there is my room. This is my place. My turf. So many dreams, nightmares, tears and happiness were shared in this room. So many times I stood in front of the mirror, placed behind the door on my pink walls, trying to fix the one piece of hair that just wouldn't do what I wanted. Next to my bed, on the night table, sits my precious phone. Stories gossin, secrets and so much more were expressed here. My dresser, placed next to my desk, with its bookcase hutch is positioned on the back wall. This is where my homework is done. Then it sits, waiting to be taken to school in the morning. My room — my security blanket. Somehow I always felt safe here.

Home, my home. So many memories were formed in this house. This is my life. This is where I played, learned, grew and matured. This house is so special and a huge part of me that can never be taken away. My home sweet home.

CELESTE FEDERICO, advertising manager of Orechio Publications, presents the award to Diane.

3rd Place

What My Home Means To Me

By Jodi Prosperi
Belleville High School, Grade 12

My home — the only place I can rely on. No matter what problems I come across, I can always seek security in my home. My home fulfills me with a sense of safety and privacy when I need to get away from the rest of the world. My home allows me to release all of my tensions and pressures. My fears deteriorate when I enter my home.

My family is the greatest aspect of my home. Under any circumstances, I am able to speak to my family members and they will always give me love, comfort and support. Without them I would be lonely and I would possess a feeling of self-worthlessness. On special occasions my entire family visits my home. We talk, laugh and share and express our strong love for one another.

My room is the most important place in my home. I can sort out my problems by just sitting and thinking — alone. My room contains all of my most worldly possessions. My room is a place where I can unwind.

Without my home I would have nothing. After living in my home for eighteen years I have grown to love and depend on my home. My home is a security blanket which I could not live without.

JODI PROSPERI, third place winner, brought her mother, Pat, to the dinner.

ORECHIO PUBLICATIONS' advertising manager, Celeste Federico, presents her award to Jodi.

NINA KAESER and Lucietta Monteleone extend best wishes to Jodi Prosperi.

Diane DiVincenzo places first in NJAR essay contest

The New Jersey Association of Realtors subcommittee on the "Yes You Can" High School Essay Contest presented the results in this year's contests. Students were asked to write on "What Does Your Home Mean To You?"

"Students, regardless if they live in an apartment, condo, or single-family residence, were able to take advantage of this theme," said Arleta Lombardi, subcommittee chairman. She said the judging was very difficult to the extent that two first-place winners were announced. The following are this year's winners of the NJAR High School Essay Contest:

First Place (tie):
Diane DiVincenzo, Belleville High School. Sponsored by the Belleville, Nutley, Glen Ridge, Bloomfield Board of Realtors.

Mary McGuire, West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. Sponsored by the Mercer County Board of Realtors.

Each student will receive a check for $500.

REAL ESTATE FORUM

By Jim Fares

Q: I have recently sold my home in Ringwood and plan to relocate in Arizona. Although I am building a beautiful home there, it is still $50,000 less than the one I am selling. I realize that if I sell my home for more than my new one costs, I will be liable for the tax on the difference. Is there any other way of sheltering the money?

A: When selling a principal residence, sellers can defer recognition of all the gain if they buy, build or substantially improve another home, costing at least as much as the adjusted selling price of the previous home.

By being able to use all the tax deferred profit for the purchase of your new home, it enables you to acquire a bigger and better home. This will increase your net worth faster. But remember, this boon is only a deferral, not a forgiveness. It must be reconciled some day with the IRS.

My suggestion to you is to upgrade your new home as much as you can, add an extra garage or pool or finish the basement, etc.

(Some of the questions may contain legal or accounting matters. Mr. Fares is not an attorney and advises you to consult the proper authority before any decision is made.)

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Did You Know??

Instant "antiquing" for pilasters and other architectural elements: scratch-coat (unbleached) plaster tinted with instant coffee.

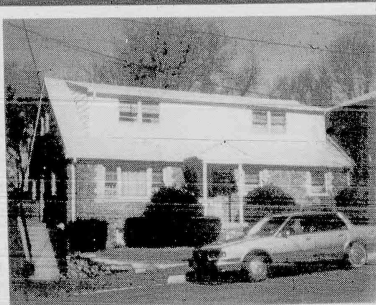

It's not hard to build a corner closet in a room. The key is finding or paying points and studs to which you can attach the framing for the new closet. Electronic stud finder makes it easy.

Old-fashioned thatched roofs are showing up in America these days, thanks to three young Irishmen who have brought the craft here. These roofs are energy-efficient, long-lasting (up to 60 or 70 years).

A lending instrument which makes home-buying affordable for some is the seven-year extendable balloon mortgage. Borrower makes payments as if on a conventional 30-year loan, but a balloon payment is due after seven years.

What's new is that the loan can be extended without requalifying or paying points and closing costs again, and that Fannie Mae will buy back many of these mortgages from lenders, making them more available.

New loans make homes easier to buy — and easier to sell, too. Now's a good time to list at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley. 235-9000.
