Town challenges U.S. Census after report shows drop of 1812

By Joyce M. Steel

Mounting concerns over the ramifications of alleged undercounting by the U.S. Census Bureau have led many officials on state and local levels to cry, "Do over!" But census workers are trying to defuse the situation and assure them that the real figures are still being tabulated. According to U.S. Census Bureau spokesperson John Connelly, the initial figures, which were sent to the country's municipalities in late August, are guidelines officials should use in contesting the counts. "These numbers are preliminary, and all numbers are expected to rise," Connelly said. "The ball is now in the courts of the local officials." Municipalities have 15 working days from the day they received the primary counts to challenge them.

And that's exactly what Belleville plans to do. According to Thomas Salzano, the township's tax assessor, Belleville will file its opposition to the figures by Friday, the deadline imposed by the U.S. Census Bureau.

"There seem to be some inequities," Salzano said of the initial totals. While Salzano estimates the census bureau is about 3,500 people shy of the actual population, interim Town Manager Charles Burns said, "The exact magnitude is difficult to estimate."

According to the preliminary report, Belleville has 33,555 residents living in 13,998 housing units. The population count was tabulated by multiplying the number of housing units by an average of 2.397 persons per unit.

Salzano said he believes the census may have come up short because of Belleville's buildup of condominium complexes on formerly industrial and commercial property.

"It just stands to reason that, since people didn't have to move out for us to put those new units up, and there are people living in them now, that we must at least come out even," Salzano said, referring to the 1980 population count of 35,367.

Stemmer guilty in hit and run of Belleville man on Parkway

A Superior Court jury deliberated for 40 minutes in Newark last Friday morning before rendering 19-year-old Robert Stemmer guilty of aggravated manslaughter in the death of a Belleville man killed last November on the Garden State Parkway.

Stemmer, of Mountainside, was convicted of striking and killing Joseph DiGiovanni, 31, of Belleville, on Nov. 4, 1989, at the Essex Toll Plaza in Bloomfield. Di Giovanni, a toll-taker on the Parkway was crossing between toll booths when he was hit and thrown 30 feet by Stemmer's car.

Stemmer's car was pursued by an off-duty State Trooper into Bloomfield where he abandoned the vehicle. Stemmer surrendered to authorities several hours later.

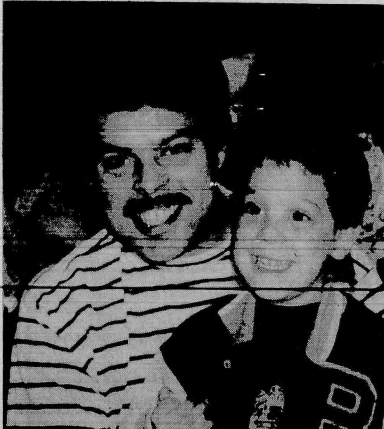

Assistant Essex County Prosecutor Thomas A. McTigue told the jury that Stemmer had been playing a form of "vehicular Russian roulette" when he struck and killed DiGiovanni. The prosecutor also said Stemmer and a 17-year-old companion in the car had been drinking that night.

"We are extremely pleased with the verdict," said John Daidone, a Di Giovanni family spokesman.

"The prosecutor presented an excellent case. We feel the decision was fair and just, although nothing will take away the pain of this loss."

Stemmer, who faces 15 to 30 years in prison, was released on bond pending sentencing scheduled for Sept. 17.

DiGiovanni and his wife Suzanne were the parents of four-year-old son, Joey Jr.

FATHER AND SON—Joey DiGiovanni and his son, 4-year-old Joey Jr. in a happy moment together. Joe Sr., 31, a Parkway worker, was struck and killed last November by a 19-year-old driver who authorities said had been drinking.

Council passes amended town budget; municipal tax jumps 17 points for '90

By Anthony Buccino

The township council last Thursday voted 7-0 in favor of adopting the amended 1990 municipal budget representing a 17-point tax increase in their portion of the tax bills. The change represents an additional $7 per month (about $85/year) on a home assessed at $50,000.

When the 17-point municipal tax increase is added to the 55-point school tax increase and the estimated 17-point minimum equalization Essex County increase, township taxpayers can expect a $450 increase in their tax bills for 1990.

The amended municipal budget represents an increase of $69,521.36 from $25,500,991.94 to $25,570,513.30.

Township auditor Marvin Lustbader of Sam Klein & Co. explained that $450,000 of the increase will be raised by local taxes. The additional $350,000 is offset by a state grant for the Neighborhood Housing Preservation, he said.

The township received the grant after the commissioners introduced their budget, Lustbader said. The grant replaced the Distressed Cities Grant which the township was denied.

He added that the reserve for uncollected taxes was increased partly because "your tax bills are not going to go out until maybe September. Taxes are not going to be paid for the third quarter until October, and then the fourth quarter payment may be delayed."

Isadore Padula, township treasurer and chief financial officer, said of the budget amendment moneys, "We redistributed most of the money. The prior commissioners kept it pretty tight, that's the way we tried to keep it."

Fourth ward councilman Bill Cook explained that transfers of personnel to fit the new administrative code accounted for much of the budget amendment.

Joseph Celfo, president of the Concerned Citizens of Belleville told the council that after they restored over $600,000 to the school budget, they were accountable for 32 tax points. "I could see you had to make amendments for your salaries. I could see that."

"Five minutes is nowhere enough time," Celfo said as he was told his chance to address the council was over.

"Stop choking us to death," said resident Edith DeFoe. "You only have three months left to go this year. If you can't manage, have your lawyer until you can manage."

Mayor Marina Perna explained that the amended budget was for the entire year, not just the four months remaining.

Legal fees

Former commissioner Vincent Frantantoni addressed the council for 25 minutes at one point before he was asked to be seated. The former commissioner, who ran unsuccessfully for a seat on the council, questioned a $95,000 increase in the law dept.

Township attorney Vincent Nuzzi reminded the commissioner, "during your administration, you, by resolution hired a number of outside attorneys on behalf of the town."

Frantantoni then asked for a list of the attorneys hired and owed money in 1990.

Nuzzi said the money was put

Tasco sentenced for bomb threat

By Anthony Buccino

Geraldo Marc Tasco, 39, of Nutley was sentenced to 540 days in jail last Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to two charges of lewdness in a local incident May 2 and one charge of causing false public alarm after he admitted calling a bomb threat to Town Hall Aug. 22. The third charge had been downgraded by the Essex County Prosecutor's office in exchange for guilty pleas.

Tasco, who waived his right to an attorney, retracted his not-guilty plea of June 6 to both lewdness charges.

Municipal Court Judge Frank J. Zinna reviewed Tasco's parole report and asked if the defendant had anything to say before sentencing.

"What can I say your honor? I'm sorry for what went on," Tasco said, "I apologize to the court."

"You apologize to the courts," Zinna interrupted. "How about apologizing to (the two young ladies). Tell me what, if anything you can say, in order to keep you from jail."

"As you know, I'm trying to straighten out," Tasco said. He added that he had been off parole since 1980, but the judge corrected that to 1987.

Teachers return to school; await contract settlement

Belleville's educators, more than 300 strong, returned to the business of educating Belleville's youth on Tuesday. Opening day began at 8:45 in B.H.S. cafeteria for coffee and a renewing of friendships put on hold for the summer.

The town's teachers were anxious to hear from their union leadership, the Belleville Education Association, as to the status of their negotiations.

The B.E.A. won an overwhelming victory earlier this year when the American Federation of Teachers lost its attempt to become the teachers' bargaining agent.

The teachers returned to regular classroom duties despite the fact that the Board of Education and the B.E.A. have failed to reach a settlement after eight negotiation sessions. The three-year contract which ended June 30 remains in effect until the new contract is negotiated, then approved by the B.E.A. membership.

Responding to a citizen's question at the Aug. 23 board meeting, School Superintendent Michael D. Nardiello said that depending on contract settlements, which could be from 0% to 9%, the moneys budgeted for salaries could change. He stressed at that time, "We are involved in negotiations."

Items under negotiations between the board and the teachers and the board and other bargaining units have been kept out of the press according to both parties.

According to N.J.E.A. representative Kathy McQuarrie, Belleville's teachers pay ranking in the county's 23 school districts is 18th. Belleville's teachers salaries average $2,500 below the county, she said.

This is not the first year Belleville's teachers returned to work without a contract. The teachers are not alone as other B.O.E.

factions have not reached settlements either. Other negotiations continue for administrators, supervisors, and secretaries.

Following the opening day pleasantries, a formal meeting was held for the traditional "welcome back" speeches by school administrators and a keynote address by Essex County Schools Superintendent Peter Carter.

Carter had moderated the school budget cuts between the board and the town commissioners following the school budget defeat by 33 votes April 24. The two groups agreed to cut $210,000 from the current expense tax levy of $19,321,532. The commissioners later increased the cuts to $1,043,527, the school board appealed the commissioners decision.

The school board later negotiated a settlement with the township council which took office July 1. The council last month restored $633,527 to the school budget.

The budget, including the council's changes and restorations leaves the current expense tax levy at $18,911,532. This represents a 55 point estimate earlier for the school budget.

Estimates earlier in the year predicted a 63 point tax increase due to a $2.9 million dollar cut in anticipated state aid. Nardiello said then that Belleville is spending $358 less per student than the state average.

Carter, who finds himself between the laws and the schools said, "In New Jersey the envelope for 1990-91 is still sealed. There are many things that are going to bother us about the new law...our

Belleville POLICE BEAT

A 16-year-old Belleville youth was arrested and charged with burglary when he was discovered in a Washington Ave. gas station at 4:30 a.m. Sept. 3. The youth was released in his parents' custody.

Following a motor vehicle accident at 5:11 a.m. Sept. 2, on Mill St., one of the vehicles involved left the scene as police arrived. The vehicle continued when officers tried to halt it. The suspect vehicle, which turned out to be stolen, stopped when it crashed into a house on Carter St. in Newark. The suspect fled the scene on foot and was apprehended a few blocks away. Charged in the theft of a 1990 GMC from a Mill St. residence, was Patrick Northover, 26, of Elwood Pl. in Newark. He was released on his own recognizance and is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Sept. 26.

A 16-year-old juvenile from Newark was charged with criminal sexual contact Sept. 1 following an incident at 5:30 p.m. on Washington Ave. The suspect had touched a woman and was pursued east on Joralemon St. to the railroad tracks by an eyewitness where the youth was apprehended by police. He was released to a guardian.

A woman reported her wallet was removed from her purse as she was preparing to move from her apartment on Main St. Aug. 31. She told police she left the pocketbook on the table and when she returned, she noticed that her wallet containing cash and credit cards was missing.

Henry Efford, 22, of Newark was held on $200 bail Aug. 31, after he was charged with shoplifting $43.00 worth of merchandise from a Belmont Ave. supermarket. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Oct. 22.

Zoemia Barrientes, 24, of Newark was released on her own recognizance Aug. 31, after being charged with shoplifting $19 worth of make-up from a Belmont Ave. supermarket. She is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Oct. 17.

Barry Rainford, 40, of Belleville was held on $500 bail Aug. 29, after he was charged with shoplifting $33.00 worth of merchandise from a Belmont Ave. supermarket. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Sept. 12.

Charles Tolliver, 43, of Newark was held on $200 bail Aug. 28, after he was charged with shoplifting $115 worth of meat from a Belmont Ave. supermarket. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Oct. 31.

Chere Wilson, 21, of the Bronx was held on $500 bail Aug. 31 after she had been charged with shoplifting $14 worth of merchandise from a Main St. drug store.

Michael Clemmons, 38, of Newark was held on $250 bail Aug. 28, after he was found to be driving while on the revoked list. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Oct. 10.

John March, 52, of Newark was held on $250 bail Aug. 29, after he was charged with driving while on the revoked list. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Oct. 17. A 17-year-old Newark youth was released to a guardian Aug. 30, after he was found to be in possession of a 6" fixed blade knife. Police had been called to Washington Ave. and Essex St. on the report of several youths on bicycles who were carrying an extra bike. The youths could not explain where the 20" Red Line red and gray bike belonged.

A 15-year-old youth reported that an 18-year-old white male tried to steal his bike on Heckel St. Aug. 30. The victim reported he was able to ride away even though the suspect chased him.

John Verden, 19, and Ronald Zaragoza, 24, both of Belleville were charged Aug. 30 with two counts of receiving stolen property. Each of the suspects were held on $2500 cash-only bail. The two men were among five who had been arrested earlier by area authorities investigating at least seven burglaries in Belleville. Police revealed Tuesday the Zaragoza was wanted by the Hunterdon County Sheriff's Dept. for violation of probation.

Motor vehicle thefts were reported Aug. 27 on Franklin St., Aug. 28 on Williams St. and Greenwich St., on Aug. 30 on Washington Ave., on Aug. 31 on Belmont Ave., N. 8th St. and Watchung Ave., on Sept. 2 on Mill St. and Sept. 3 on Brighton Ave.

Note: Police Beat is a representative sample of police calls in Belleville. The department responds to hundreds of calls each week and it is impractical to list every call.

Tasco aimed for straight & narrow straight and narrow," Zinna said. "You were on parole for sexual assault. You did six years jail time. You go on parole. Get off parole in 1987, and you go out and commit a similar offense to two ladies. After that, you call a bomb scare in. You tell me that's how you go about behaving on the straight and narrow?"

"Your honor," Tasco said, "I work everyday."

"What does that mean?" Zinna said. "You work every day, you can go out and break the law?"

Tasco admitted, "I drink once in a while and get carried away."

"Mr. Tasco, I think it's a little too often you get carried away. Your background leaves me absolutely no choice but to impose upon you the maximum I can. That's what I intend to do," Zinna said.

"In addition, I'm going to recommend to the authorities that you receive psychiatric treatment." Zinna then meted out three 180-day jail terms to run consecutively, plus $30 for each offense to the Violent Crimes fund.

"Mr. Tasco, if I had the ability to give you more time, I would. I take if you have learned absolutely nothing from your jail sentence or parole," Zinna said. "One and a half years, Mr. Tasco." Tasco had been held in the Belleville jail for six days on a $26,500 cash-only bail. He had been arrested at work Aug. 23 on a contempt of court warrant when he failed to appear the night before. Tasco was also charged with causing false public alarm when he was identified through police investigation as the caller who told police, "I planted two bombs in that building, they better clear out now."

Tasco was charged May 2 with lewdness following a complaint from two females who gave police a description of the male and his license plate numbers. He was released on $1,000 bail.

On June 6, Tasco entered a not guilty plea. The suspect was scheduled to appear in Belleville Municipal Court Aug. 15, but when he didn't show up, a letter was sent telling him that he must appear Aug. 22 or his bail would be forfeited and a new warrant would be issued. Following the confusion with the evacuation, Tasco did not appear in court.

Following the bomb scare call to Belleville police, Captain Michael A. Petrillo ordered the Town Hall cleared and about 100 people waiting for Judge Zinna's night court were evacuated to the street. The Essex County Sheriff's Dept. Bomb Squad searched the building and declared it all-clear after an hour-long search.

Further Belleville police investigation led to Tasco's arrest. After his arrest Thursday, Tasco told police he had called from a public pay phone a block away from Town Hall.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

F.D.R., Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the most dynamic President of the United States in the twentieth century, had the peculiar quirk of insisting upon "Must" legislation to correct and improve the myriad ills of that depression era — his sterling quality of leadership led this nation to its crowning glory of world renown.

Today this pitiful township of Belleville, New Jersey seems to be wallowing in sorrowful despair, overburdened with excessive taxation, pot-holed streets badly in need of resurfacing, many of which should be designated one-way in opposite directions. Through streets poorly monitored for speeding motorists who blatantly ignore legal 25 mile-per-hour speed laws.

An irate citizenry "burned-up" over ever increasing taxes ousted the old commission type of local government which presented a "hold-the-line" budget, for a new Council-Manager form of local government, which came in with an even higher town budget and even gave a "giveback" ($633,527) restored amount of money to the local school board... all of which means MORE taxes for Belleville's devastated home owners... they also plan to pay $85,000 to a town manager and also paid attorney Joel A. Pisano counsel fees arising out of several lawsuits involving the township. Did we go from bad... to worst?

We read in the papers of a "gag rule" where town employees can't speak to the press to air their views and a five minute "gag" is imposed upon the citizens in discussing town matters... what happened to freedom of press?

Is Belleville to become a police state? Instead of moving the town meetings to a local school to accommodate citizens wishing to attend these sessions... as was the past practice. They post police to bar many others who would desire to be present.

The populace of Belleville are restive and many are not pleased with what they find. The school budget was defeated by the people of Belleville who voted it down. The commissioners, by majority vote, cut the school budget substantially. The school board appealed the decision which normally would have been reviewed by the new State Commissioner of Education, John Ellis to resolve.

Mayor Perna, who is a member of the Bar, said she had been advised that 80 percent of the monies taken out would have been restored by a judge. We respectfully beg to disagree in that such decisions are not litigious, since they are within the purview of the State Commissioner of Education, solely.

We roughly estimate that the $633,527 windfall granted the local board of education by the unanimous vote of the Council amounts to about an additional 15 point tax increase in our local municipal tax bill, bringing it to around a 32 point local tax increase over last year's tax bill... $160 more on a home assessed at $50,000.

Tolerance is hardly a redeeming quality of aggrieved and angered taxpayers overburdened by shattering taxation on every level of government. Higher local taxes can bring about the precipitous demise of a gregarious local government body that plays footsie with its counterpart on the board of education.

Even now, there are rumors of discontent and a possible regrouping of past enemy forces to go the recall route, after one year's incumbency, of some of the new Council members... too many of previously entrenched personalities were by-passed on local government agencies to "sit by" and countenance this political carnage... they may come back to fight another day with reinforcements.

Time will tell.
Heavy is the head that wears the crown. Is too little consideration being given to potent forces angered by loss of significant power and influence? Perhaps.

Child Emergency I.D. program on Sept. 15

A free Child Emergency I.D. Program is being sponsored by township councilman Mario Drozd at the Belleville Little League Club House, 92 Montgomery Place, Sept. 15, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The photo and fingerprinting is voluntary, Drozd said, but parents must sign a permission slip to have the service done.

The child's photo, personal description and thumbprint will be placed on an I.D. card about the size of a credit card, then laminated. Parents are encouraged to store the Child Emergency I.D. card in a safe place and then be made available to police to aid in location efforts.

The Child Emergency I.D. program is sponsored in cooperation with the Essex County Crime Prevention Officers' Association, the Belleville Police Dept. and the Essex County Sheriff's Office. The three law enforcement groups will supply equipment and officers. Also on hand will be volunteers from the Citizens for a Better Belleville.

Drozd urged all parents to have their children receive the free Child Emergency I.D. The free service is being offered to the community and is available to non-residents also, Drozd said.

This is the fifth year he has been directly involved with the program, Drozd said. The annual event's success is due to the public's response and the efforts of the volunteers who make it possible, he added.

Michael Chertoff

The acting United States attorney for New Jersey is Michael Chertoff who has been serving as first assistant to the United States attorney, District of New Jersey since 1987.

In that position, he serves as chief deputy to the United States attorney, with office-wide supervisory responsibility. During his service as first assistant to the U.S. Attorney, Chertoff was the lead trial counsel in two major trials involving a racketeer-murder charge and a labor racketeering trial of a former New Jersey state senator.

In the former, Chertoff was able to win a conviction of a Genovese family member, Bobby Manna, the top general family leader in New Jersey, and several of his lieutenants.

In another trial when Chertoff was the lead trial counsel, his efforts led to a guilty plea by David Friedland, a former State Senator and international fugitive, during the course of the trial.

Prior to his New Jersey service, Chertoff was assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York. He was responsible for the conviction of three mob bosses and five other members of the Mafia's ruling body on charges of racketeering, murder, extortion and labor corruption. Seven defendants were sentenced to prison terms of 100 years.

The people of New Jersey who believe in good government and a United States Attorney's office of integrity need have no reservations about the integrity and ability of the New Jersey District U.S. Attorney's Office under the leadership of Michael Chertoff.

Chertoff is currently involved in several major probes involving northern New Jersey investigations. Chertoff's aggressive efforts to bring criminals to the bar of justice have earned him a permanent appointment as United States Attorney for the District of New Jersey.

President George Bush should sign off on this appointment without delay.

The state of our educators

Once again Belleville teachers have had to begin a new school year with no contract. Once again, schools all around town have opened scheduled despite the fact that the "fuel" for the educational engine is not forthcoming either in kerosene or high-test unleaded. We hear over and over about tests scores, our standing in the county and state, the quality education the Belleville student gets, but quality education costs money, something the Board of Education must deal with at great pains.

Belleville teachers are among the lowest paid teachers in the area. That isn't rhetoric, it's a fact. Of the county's 23 school districts, Belleville's teachers rank 18. Their pay is $2,500 below the county average.

We have heard BOE members complain that it is hard to get new people to work in town because of the low wages. Unfortunately, this BOE can't make up for years of lagging behind. But it is something that walks into negotiations with both sides. Everyone wants nice schools, good faculty, supplies...but quality education costs money.

Where were Belleville parents when another budget went down by 33 votes? Belleville's 12% senior citizens were certainly out in force. Of the town's nearly 16,000 registered voters, only 2,367 cast their ballots in the school board election, and only 1,795 of those voters checked yes or no on the budget.

Stop comparing Nutley schools to Belleville schools. Nutley has passed its budget every time for the last 20 or so years that Belleville has defeated theirs. That kind of monetary disparity, after all this time, makes comparing the two school districts similar to comparing apples and oranges. You can't compare a school district that passes its school budget year after year with a school district that predictably defeats its school budget.

Every year that Belleville's school budget gets defeated translates into some infrastructure maintenance project that must slide for at least another year, a roof that is not repaired, a parking lot not repaved, etc. It translates into salaries throughout the system lagging further behind other districts. It translates into the short shrift on supplies and staff.

We want Belleville to be a competitive force in New Jersey. We want high test scores. We want to be proud of our schools. We want the school system in Belleville to be a selling point for the new generation of home buyer. We demand quality education. But quality education costs money.

How can we expect our teachers to give 100% day-in and day-out, having pride in what they do, when we give them so few reasons to feel proud? We've heard senior citizens say that if the school board (and township) employees don't like their salary, they can leave. It's a fact that every year, a few more take up that advice and head into the brave new world of private industry, and thus leave the future of our schools and our town in new hands.

Your child spends a majority of his waking hours not with you, the parent, but with his teacher. These people hold the key to your child's success in life. We pay laborers $40,000 per year to take away our trash, but we aren't willing to pay the professionals who shape and mold our most precious commodity — our children and our future.

Although the B.O.E. and the Belleville Education Association have met in eight negotiation sessions without any final agreement, we enter a new school year with no contract for the teachers. There are no job actions this year, and there are no picket signs or picket lines. The teachers are on the job, doing their professional best. Are they proud of what they do to help our kids learn? You bet! But pride doesn't put food on the table or make for happy campers.

YOUR OPINION

Rev. has been asset

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Rev. Gerald Fortunato for all of his community support and involvement. As a community member who has been involved, I know all too well how much time and effort is necessary to put forth one's community and civic responsibility.

The Rev. Fortunato has been an involved citizen and an asset to the Township. He unselfishly worked for the betterment of Belleville. He will be sorely missed. I want to wish the Rev. Gerald Fortunato and his family good luck in their future endeavors.

Thanks supporters

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank all the people who supported me by taking out congratulatory ads in my state pageant book. Each name or business card serves as a memory of all those who believed in me.

I would also like to add special thanks to my speech coach, Mrs. Mary Ann DiGuglielmo, for her help in preparing for speech, my former teacher Mrs. Della Ferrand for her continued support and special interest in me, my dance instructor, Mrs. Andrea Stivali, for her special instructional preparation; my special friends MaryAnn and Michael Caputo, Julie Damer, Karen DeVivo and Virginia Sibello for giving up their time to help in the preparations for pageant weekend; Jack Kondreck for printing of some special photos and of course Mom and Dad for the time and effort they spent getting me ready for the big day. Without them, and all of you, July 7th, 1990 would still have been just a dream. Thus far, being the state's Hostess, has been very exciting and has already brought me some pleasant opportunities that I never thought possible. I plan to make myself available for photos, ribbon cuttings, parades or whatever I can do to show my gratitude and pride in representing our great state and my family and friends.

Once again thanks, and I hope I can count on your continued support in competing for the Nationals.

Fortunato an inspiration

To the editor:

Reverend Gerald Fortunato has served as an inspiration not only to the Township of Belleville, but to all of the people that have come to know and respect him.

Personally, we have known Gerry for four years. When times were tough he was always there, when times were good he remained as always; he cared. As individuals we measure our achievements meritoriously, and we measure our good friends accordingly.

It isn't often that someone like the Reverend Fortunato comes to a township such as ours and blends so splendidly with the general populace as he did. He shall be missed and we should hope that he will keep a special place in his heart for Belleville and its people.

To Reverend Fortunato and his family we extend our wishes for a bright and happy future. Your friends,
Jim and Maria Messina

Labor Day monument

To the editor:

With each passing Labor Day, I am left with the impression that America's labor unions, most certainly, do not render the proper tribute — due their late-great leaders, Walter Reuther, John L. Lewis, and Philip Murray.

I would suggest that organized Labor give serious thought to finding itself a mountain, the likes of Mt. Rushmore, and upon its face proceed to carve the heads of Reuther, Lewis, and Murray. That, indeed, would be a most appropriate way to honor Labor's past greats.

One thing is certain! Walter Reuther, John L. Lewis, and Philip Murray, most definitely, contributed far more to the economic well-being of America's working-poor and middle-class — than did, most Presidents of these United States.

The Safe House thanks

To the editor:

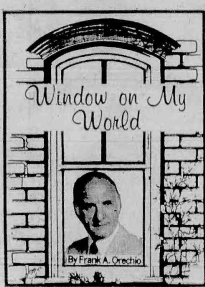

The staff of The Safe House, a domestic violence shelter serving Essex County, would like to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt thanks to everyone who so enthusiastically responded to the First Annual Tricky Tray Night to benefit The Safe House.

Very special thanks go to Toni Gotto who conceived the idea and organized the event, Moose Lodge No. 237, Newark, who so graciously donated their hall, and to all the businesses and individuals in Belleville, Nutley, and Bloomfield who so generously donated goods and services.

The Safe House shelters over 500 victims of family violence each year. The outpouring of community response to the Tricky Tray Night demonstrates a caring and concern for these women and children that touches us deeply. We are truly grateful for this support.

• PUBLIC OFFICIALS say they are looking around for means of saving taxpayers money. Here goes...

The Commission form of government structure creates five separate and independent governments. Each commissioner runs his department as an island of activity unto himself. If the archaic commission form of government is to remain in Nutley, at the very least, the commissioners should consider the appointment of a business administrator — and that appointment could come from the inside — it need not be an added expense.

Essex County owns and maintains Yanticaw Park in the center of town. An idea. The Nutley Parks Commission could maintain the park and charge the county for the maintenance cost via the voucher system that would be offset by a decrease in the county's assessment to Nutley.

As it is now, the county government is obliged to truck equipment and manpower to Nutley — and by the way — the same requirement applies to all parks throughout the county — when this could be made totally unnecessary by the county, contracting with the municipalities to maintain county property within the municipal border. Also, county roads are to be found in most communities that make up the county. The local Public Works and Parks Department are the best facilities and the cheapest available to maintain county parks and roads.

At the very least, a pilot program should be initiated by the county to determine whether or not the foregoing is a feasible plan. The county could start with asking the Town of Nutley to take over the maintenance of the isolated Yanticaw Park as a pilot program. If it works, the county government should be induced to adopt such a program by law. Patronage consideration should go out the window when every public official is expected to help the overburdened taxpayer.

• IF GIANTS' quarterback, Phil Simms this year can perform as well as he did last year, he will become a member of a very exclusive group — the NFL's alltime Top Twenty in three passing categories — through his eleven seasons. Phil has attempted 3,658 passes, completed 1,980 and thrown for 26,235 yards. He will become a member of football's nobility for he will have surpassed various football players such as Joe Namath, Len Dawson, George Blanda and a few others. In pass attempts, Phil would move up to 4,058 on 400 attempts in 1990, giving him 15th place in the all time list, bettering the records of Namath, Dawson and George Blanda. His completion record would jump to 2,208 upon reaching 228 in 1990, and ahead of Bradshaw, Joe Theismann, Dawson, Craig Morton and Ron Jaworski. In passing yardage, Phil's 1989 3,061 yards, if duplicated in 1990 would increase to 29,296, placing Phil 13th on the alltime list and bettering the records of Namath, Ken Stabler, Morton, Bradshaw, Jaworski, Dawson and Roman Gabriel. • SOME OF US have seen the name of Attila the Hun banded about recently. A sixth-century historian, Jordanes, described the Huns this way. "They made their foes flee in horror because their swarthy aspect was fearful and they had a shapeless lump instead of a head, with pinholes rather than eyes." Regarding Attila, King of the Huns, Jordanes commented. "He was short of stature with a broad chest and a large head; his eyes were small, his beard was thin and sprinkled with gray. He had a flat nose and a swarthy complexion; revealing his origin." Attila, whose name meant "Little Feather," and his tribe could neither read nor write. But by the middle of the fifth century, they had conquered their way from the plains of Mongolia to the threshold of a Roman empire. Attila massacred entire towns. He planned to invade Italy again in 453 in what well could have slaughtered the development of Western civilization.

But that winter Attila got married. He added a beautiful young girl, Hildic, to his harem. During the wedding celebration Attila, who usually restrained himself during feasts, ate and drank heavily, then retired to the wedding tent with his bride. There he was found dead the next morning, his bride weeping over him. Attila had burst a blood vessel in his nose, and being drunk, had choked to death as the blood pooled in his throat. Some have speculated that Attila's blood vessel broke due to the King's overeating, shall we say, with his bride. Or possibly it was simply a bloody nose like others that had bothered him before. Either way, Western civilization was saved.

FIGHTING BACK... Frank Martorelli, whose wife, Linda, was stricken with Myasthenia Gravis several years ago, charges 25 cents to put air in his customers' tires. He has donated more than $500 to the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation.

Buying air for good cause

By Joyce M. Steel

When a local man's wife was stricken with a chronic, debilitating disease, he decided to strike back.

Linda Martorelli developed Myasthenia Gravis five years ago. Her husband Frank, who owns the small Gulf service station at 535 Union Ave., has found a way to help his wife as well as other victims of the disease. He charges 25 cents to fill a customer's tires with air, and so far has collected $573.50, which he donated last week to the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation, Inc.

"Some people, the steady customers, don't even get air in their tires...they just come in to donate the quarter," one customer said. Martorelli had initially placed canisters for donations in the station, but said they "weren't doing any good."

Myasthenia Gravis, commonly known as MG, is a neuromuscular disease which affects a patient's ability to control voluntary muscle activity. The disease can develop mildly and affect only the eye muscles, or, in the most extreme cases, attack every voluntary muscle group, including the muscles responsible for breathing.

Mrs. Martorelli's case is a fairly severe one. Her husband said she has been hospitalized intermittently over the past five years, and is currently functioning with the help of medication. Doctors and researchers are still hard-pressed to find the cause or cure for MG.

Martorelli said many of his customers are unaware of the disease or its effects, but celebrities like Ann-Margret, whose husband was afflicted with MG, and Tony Randall, the Foundation's National Campaign Chairman, are working to raise consciousness and research funding for MG. The foundation estimates the disease strikes one in 2,500 Americans.

"We know of about 700 cases in New Jersey alone, but there could be more," one foundation spokesperson said, adding that the only records kept are those of patients who have contacted them for assistance in the past.

For more information about Myasthenia Gravis, or to make a donation, contact the Garden State Chapter of the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation, UMDNJ-Building 16, Suite 1608, 30 Bergen St., Newark, N.J. 07107-3007.

Teachers return business as educators is to work with each of those beautiful children...let the bureaucrats worry about the rest of it. I don't want my teachers in Essex to worry about anything but the children."

The county superintendent, who has been in education 24 years, said the best thing for teachers to teach students is for them to think. "We can all get children to get right answers on a piece of paper...the tough part is to get students to think."

Carter said if students master the "art of thinking, they'll not do things they know they shouldn't, it will prevent them from experimenting with chemicals."

He reminded the teachers that the students "cannot get to where they want to go without you."

Board of Education Trustee Gabe Nazzola said Carter was "most instrumental in saving the school district" from the former township commissioners' $1 million cut. "We would still be sucking wind for the million dollars."

Nazzola then explained that the commissioners had cut all salary line items down to 4%. The trustee then referred to the state's Foundation Funding as a "shell game." "Yes, we'll get an increase but it's going to cost taxpayers considerably more."

"You are inspired people," Nazzola told the teachers, "if you weren't, why come here when private industry will pay you $8-10,000 more. Teaching has to be something you want to do. I wish that inspiration stays 180 days because we need you."

Nardiello invited the teachers to attend the Board's Public Executive Session Monday night at the high school when Assembly members Marion Crecco and John Kelly are expected to address the effects of the state's Foundation Funding.

He said that he had been contacted by the governor's aide and was told that Florio had a conflict he would try to resolve. The aide told Nardiello that Commissioner Ellis may show up in Florio's stead.

The school board had sent letters to Florio, Crecco, Kelly and Senator Carmen Orechio inviting them to the Public Executive Session. Only the Senator's office had not responded as of Tuesday morning.

After a break for lunch, the educators reported to their assigned schools for meetings with building principals. Teachers were then given schedules and room assignments and set to the task of getting everything ready and in place for Wednesday's opening day.

As the new day dawned, the youth of Belleville could be found scrubbed, shining and nervous about the new school year. All around town, at all grade levels, you could see clean sneakers, new lunch boxes and children sporting 'school' haircuts. Mothers breathed a collective sigh of relief as summer vacation officially ended.

As that same new day dawned, the teachers of Belleville could also be found prepared, professional, but also anxious and unsettled, looking forward to a successful year despite funding cuts and fiscal crises.

HELP FOR SHINGLES SUFFERERS

Until recently, anyone who suffered from the painful viral condition commonly known as "shingles" could only look to pain medication for a measure of relief from its symptoms. Now, however, the FDA has approved the drug acyclovir (used to treat genital herpes) for the treatment of shingles. Herpes zoster, the medical term for shingles, is caused by the same virus that also causes chicken pox. It is believed that the virus lies dormant in the nerve roots of recovered chicken pox patients, "to emerge later in life. If it does, the virus descends down nerve fibers that originate in the spinal column and extend laterally around parts of the chest and back. The skin along the nerve path develops a painful rash. Acyclovir, when taken for 7 to 10 days in 5 daily doses, was found to prevent the virus from reproducing in infected cells."

We maintain a wide variety of prescription medications, including newly approved FDA ones, in order to have them available for our customers. Complete prescription service is provided at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759/1956, 759/1968. Our stock also includes greeting cards, gifts, Timex watches, transistor radios, cameras and film. Hours: Daily 9am - 10pm, Sundays 9am - 9pm.

HINT: Acyclovir is most effective in treating shingles when treatment is started as soon as the rash appears.

Census count challenged

In addition, township officials estimate the census count of 744 vacant dwellings is biased. "If we have 150 vacant units in town, that would be a lot," Salzano said.

As the tax assessor, Salzano was asked to review the census figures because officials believed he would know which areas of the 3.3 square-mile town were heavily populated, and which areas weren't. "I found some discrepancies along those lines," he said.

With federal funding to state and municipal governments drying up, many officials are fearful that smaller population counts will lead to smaller dollar amounts. But Connolly said that, in addition to possible increases stemming from challenges to the original count, several fractions of the population have not been completely tabulated.

"Those residents living overseas, serving in the Peace Corps or the military, as well as state department personnel, embassy personnel and their dependents, have yet to be counted," Connolly said. Elements of the homeless, such as doubled-up and tripled-up families, have not been counted.

Connolly said the results of those counts, along with any changes in the initial reports, will be compiled and presented to President George Bush on Dec. 31. In the meantime, the census bureau has started a drive to collect data on people the workers may have missed, called "Were You Counted." Anyone who did not fill out a census form or speak with an enumerator should call (800)999-1990.

Lupo honored at Mountainside

By Joyce M. Steel

Michael G. Lupo, a Belleville resident and project manager for Mountainside Hospital in Montclair, was recently selected as one of the hospital's CARE award winners.

The CARE award, which honors employees for their Courtesy, Achievement, Resourcefulness and Enthusiasm, is given four times a year by the hospital administration. The winners are nominated and chosen by their coworkers and peers.

Lupo was presented with the award and a $500 savings bond at a reception on June 28. He also received a letter of appreciation from the hospital's Board of Trustees Chairman, Josh S. Weston.

Lupo began his career with Mountainside Hospital in 1983, working on computer systems in the human resources department. In 1988, after earning his Master's Degree in Computer Science from Montclair State College, Lupo began working as the hospital's project manager of Microsystems.

Michael G. Lupo

Lupo will be a guest of Bernard G. Koval, President and Chief Operating Officer of Mountainside Hospital, when he hosts the annual CARE award winners' luncheon later this year.

Letters to the Editor

Budget burden

To the editor:

With utter disregard to the pleas of the taxpayers of Belleville, who filled the chambers, our Mayor Marina Perna and her cohorts passed their version of the Town Budget.

This letter is addressed to the thousands of taxpayers who also disregard their Township by failing to appear at these public budget hearings. You are not looking at an $80 to $85 increase as "advertised" by the Mayor. The total increase will be more like between $250 and $400 for the year. Quite a difference!!!

Shutting the ears to the one individual in the audience who had the facts "cold" to dispute their claims, by forcing him to curtail his comments without finishing, caused much resentment.

Mr. Frantantoni held a folder filled with all the facts. Neither the town treasurer nor the town auditor could come up with legitimate answers to his very pertinent questions. Under duress by the attending police force, directed by the Mayor, of course, Mr. Frantantoni never had a chance. And they call this Democracy? The Mayor simply overruled.

This witness to the ludicrous reasoning (?) from the mouths of such learned men as the treasurer and the auditor, caused many to wonder where Belleville is really heading with the new "improved" form of government, when the first thing they did was to improve the budget by increasing the tax burden. Well, actually this is the second, the first one the attempt to gag the taxpayers, by not allowing them to speak on the resolutions till after they were passed!

Not to belabor the issue, I must address one most ludicrous point. The Mayor and her Council constantly badgered us with the statement "The previous administration left the surplus depleted." The town treasurer confirmed this statement. When Mr. Frantantoni confronted the treasurer with the fact that Belleville did not receive a financial grant because the Township DID NOT USE UP its surplus, then the glibbie-dog began. Speaking of a circus atmosphere, the Mayor, the Council, and the "legal eagles" simply could not explain or give an appropriate answer.

For the thousands who do not attend, you now receive government put into power by the "silent majority" who have no say whatsoever in where your tax dollars go. Last night's demonstration by the Mayor and her cohorts says it all. We are simply going down the drain. Remember, you who do not attend, put them there. In fact, at one time during much turmoil, our Mayor simply looked at the audience and said: "You people elected us" (to do as we want). In retrospect "The Public Be Damned." How long do we have to put up with this attitude?

Michael Capanear

Thoughts regarding the Budget

To the editor:

The budget that was passed on August 30th extended from January 1, 1990 until December 31, 1990.

As Mayor Perna noted it is more than half spent.

The budget must be balanced. In January 1990, a $500,000 raise was given to town employees. That is over 10 points. Lawyers must be paid and the bill of the previous administration must be paid.

The 1991 budget should be addressed now so that we will be able to run our town efficiently in the coming year.

Suppose the Manager and Council, along with the various department heads, plan for specific goal of reducing the budget by 5 percent, 10 percent, or even more for 1991. This goal can be made in a realistic manner like any other $25 million dollar a year business. A 5 percent reduction would mean that the municipal rate would go from 334 points to 318. On an average single family house the municipal tax would go from $1336 to $1272. A $64 savings.

If we could cut 10 percent, the saving to taxpayers would be $128. Governor Florio promises to let the state government pay for the courts and welfare next year. This would mean that the County levee on our property would be less.

Property tax as it stands now is intolerable. It must be addressed now at the State and County level. Most importantly to us here in Belleville, it must be reduced at the Municipal level.

Resident honored by county

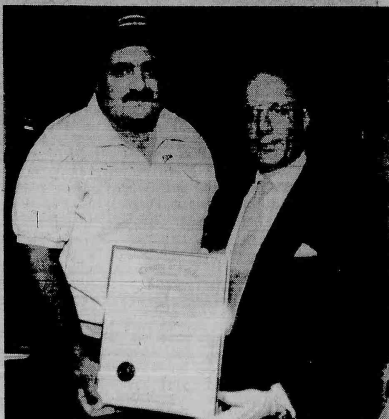

Belleville resident Angelo DiModica was recently honored for his heroic rescue of a man from a burning van following a three car accident on John F. Kennedy Blvd. in Millburn.

DiModica, a Vietnam veteran, who works for the County's Dept. of Public Works, observed the accident while he was completing maintenance work on a county road shoulder.

DiModica reacted immediately to the accident by dousing the flames inside the cab of the van and assisting paramedics in pulling the unconscious man to safety.

A first-year County employee, DiModica was honored by a proclamation from County Executive Nicholas Amato which named a day in DiModica's honor.

Crecco supports Lithuania

An Assembly Resolution co-sponsored by Assemblywoman Marion Crecco (R-Essex) which urges the President and Congress of the United States to officially recognize the sovereignty and independence of Lithuania was favorably released by the Assembly State Government Committee. The resolution also urges the United States Government to establish diplomatic and economic ties with the nation.

"I'm pleased that the resolution has strong bi-partisan support," said Crecco. "The citizens of Lithuania, as well as the people of Estonia, Latvia, and other Eastern European countries have displayed a strong desire for freedom."

Oldies groups in benefit for Nicole Fund at BHS

By Joyce M. Steel

Several Rock legends are ready to roll into Belleville to support a cause close to residents' hearts - the Nicole fund, a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping area resident Nicole Frerichs.

Nicole, 8, is afflicted with severe epilepsy, and often has up to 90 seizures a day. She needs consistent medical attention, and the family's medical expenses are being offset by the fund.

The Nicole Fund, after hearing of a benefit concert for another terminally ill local child, contacted Music Masters, a West Orange booking agency that organized that benefit. Dan Luongo, the manager of Music Masters, said he sprang into action to help.

"The performers are great about these kinds of things - they really love to come out and help kids," Luongo said, adding that Music Masters has garnered nearly $1 million over the past six years for critically ill children.

Among the performers slated for the Sept. 26 concert are the Marvallettes, Shirley Alston Reeves, The Drifters and Uptown, Luongo's band. Luongo said other performers, such as Belleville High School alumna Connie Francis, former Supreme Mary Wilson and Ben E. King, have a tendency to show up at the benefits.

Luongo said the performance begins at 8 p.m. in Belleville High School's auditorium, which seats 900. Tickets, $12 each, can be purchased by calling Helen McGuire at 667-2100.

"We really want people to get out there and enjoy the show, because it's really going to be phenomenal, and it's for a great cause," Luongo said.

Correction

On page 2 of last week's Belleville Times, Joseph Petrone and Barry Masi were incorrectly identified during a swearing-in by Mayor Perna. The Times apologizes for any inconvenience the error may have caused.

NICOLE FUND BENEFIT - Nicole Frerichs, 8, will benefit from the Oldies Concert being held Sept. 26, at Belleville High School.

PLEASE MISTER POSTMAN - was the smash hit for the Marvallettes, who will be appearing with several other Rock-n-Roll stars at a benefit for eight-year-old Nicole Frerichs.

Back to school safety

Before school bells ring, be an old-fashioned parent and dust off that rule "Stop, Look and Listen." Whether youngsters travel to school on foot, by bicycle or bus, you drive them, or they have their own "wheels," now is the time to have a heart-to-heart talk about good safety habits.

Especially important is getting the child who is entering the first grade off to a good start, advises the New Jersey Safety Council. Guide the student carefully along the route, pointing out the signal lights, cross walks and danger spots.

At the same time instill in the child a healthy respect for the traffic officer or school patrol, suggests the Council. If you have moved into a new neighborhood and the children are attending a new school, this "dress rehearsal" is most important. On the way, check to see that the school area has been properly posted with warning signs for motorists.

Drivers, too, should be alert to the reopening of school. Learn to watch for areas where children wait for the school bus, the playgrounds and other places where children congregate. Get to recognize these "slow down" spots. Expect the unexpected.

It's up to all of us to get the kids off to school with a safe start.

Cynthia A. Lillis, Gerard Sica are married

Cynthia A. Lillis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Lillis of Belleville, and Gerard Sica, son of Mrs. Mary Sica of North Arlington and the late Gerard Sica, exchanged wedding vows recently in Holy Family Church, Nutley.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with a Queen Anne neckline and cathedral train accented with beaded sequins and pearls. A pearl headpiece held her veil and she carried white and pink roses.

Mary Ellen Morrell of Nutley was her cousin's matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Jill Lillis of Belleville, sister of the bride, Tricia Serritella of Nutley, Doreen Gonnello of Belleville and Jennifer Lillis of Wayside, cousin of the bride.

They were in turquoise tea length gowns and carried pink and white roses and carnations.

Matthew Sica of North Arlington served as his brother's best man. Ushering were Drew and Billy Lillis of Belleville, brothers of the bride, Bobby Willis of Belleville and Dino Mezzina of North Arlington.

Mrs. Lillis chose a mauve cocktail length dress trimmed with lace and sequins while the groom's mother was in an aqua cocktail length dress accented with beads and sequins.

MEDICALLY SPEAKING

SINUS DISEASE

- Q: What is sinus disease?
- A: Sinus disease is an inflammation of the air-containing cavities of the nose, face, and forehead.
- Q: What are the symptoms of Sinus Disease?
- A: Chronic sinusitis can include nasal congestion, pain or pressure of the eyes and forehead, nasal obstruction or nasal drip, or simply the sensation of a cold that doesn't go away.
- Q: How is sinus disease treated?
- A: Most sinus disease resolves with medical treatment, which includes antibiotic and allergy therapy.
- Q: What about sinus disease that does not respond to treatment?
- A: In more severe cases with chronic blockage or polyps, surgery may be indicated.
- Q: Are there recent advances in the diagnosis of sinus disease?
- A: Yes. With fiberoptic examination of the nose and sinuses in the office and advanced CT scan imaging, doctors are able to accurately diagnose sinus disease.
- Q: Are there any recent advances in sinus surgery?
- A: Yes. Recently introduced endoscopic sinus surgery is a major breakthrough in the treatment of sinus disease. This surgery makes use of micro-telescope techniques with no external incisions. These new techniques allow the surgeon to perform safer and more effective surgery. Most often the surgery can be performed with anesthesia on an outpatient basis. Recovery time is usually rapid, with patients returning to their normal activities within days.

BUCC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

School has begun, the weather has changed for the cooler and the baseball season is hot with pennant races. Those are all sure fire clues that the football season is ready to commence.

On the college scene, it already began in late August, with a thriller between Tennessee and Colorado. A few days later, USC stopped Syracuse in the Kickoff Classic at Giants Stadium.

The NFL season began with exhibition games in early August. It's now time for the real thing, with regular season games set to begin this Sunday. This week, we'll do our annual predictions for the division winners and the ultimate Super Bowl matchup. Later, we'll begin our weekly predictions of the scores of the weekly games.

In the NFC East, the Giants and Philadelphia Eagles are the early favorites to fight for division supremacy. However, the pick here is the Washington Redskins to pull out the title. The Skins played perhaps the best football in the league over the final six weeks of the '89 season, but because of a poor start, Washington missed out on the playoffs in a tie breaker.

Dallas should improve in 1990, they should win more than one game this year, but they probably won't escape the cellar. Thus, the predictions in the East should see 1) Washington 2) Philadelphia 3) Giants 4) Phoenix 5) Dallas.

In the NFC Central, many fans are predicting the Detroit Lions to be the surprise team in the league. Perhaps, but it's hard to pick against the Minnesota Vikings in this division.

Detroit finished '89 with a flourish, winning five straight. They have what is considered the offense of the 90's, the "Run and Shoot", and they could have the best personnel in the Central, in a year.

Right now, we're going with Minnesota to repeat. Green Bay finally signed Don Majkowski and he should give the Pack some much needed life, but Green Bay isn't as good as the '89 record indicated.

The Vikings seem to have the cohesiveness they lacked in '89. The Bears could be a surprise this year, hoping to turn it around after a 6-10 season in '89. The Bears lost 10 of its last 12 last season after a 4-0 start. In the Central, 1) Minnesota 2) Detroit 3) Chicago 4) Green Bay 5) Tampa Bay.

In the NFC West, there should be a real shoot out in store. Until someone beats the San Francisco 49ers, it's impossible to pick against them. San Francisco has the best personnel in the game and they know what it takes to win.

Many are picking the Rams to win it all this year, but at this point it's difficult to see how they will beat the Niners. Injuries could change that scenario, however.

New Orleans could win ten games this year and still miss out on the playoffs. You know what? New Orleans will not win ten games and will finish in the cellar in the NFC West. That's because Atlanta will pass the Saints in 1990 and could challenge for a wild card spot.

In the West 1) San Francisco 2) Los Angeles 3) Atlanta 4) New Orleans.

The AFC definitely lacks the quality of the NFC, although there are some good teams in the division. Last year, I picked Philadelphia and Buffalo to play in the Super Bowl. Good pick, huh?

Buffalo should win the AFC East this year, again. That's basically out of default. Don't laugh, but the New York Jets could be a big surprise in this weak division. As a matter of fact, I'm picking the Jets to finish second in the AFC East this year.

In the AFC East, 1) Buffalo 2) Jets 3) Miami 4) New England 5) Indianapolis.

In the Central, quality is a little more in evidence. Pittsburgh is the choice here, based on the Steelers fine late season run of a year ago. The smarter money is on Cincinnati. This could be one of those division races where the difference between first and fourth place could be two games.

The pick here is 1) Pittsburgh 2) Cincinnati 3) Cleveland 4) Houston. Like 1989, all four teams in the AFC Central should finish at .500 or better.

In the AFC West, unless some team turns it around overnite, this could be a very mediocre division. Denver will probably win, but after that, it's anyone's guess. Kansas City has been chosen by many to be the team to watch in the AFC West, but if the pre season is any indication, the Chiefs won't be doing much of anything.

The Raiders could be on the verge of returning to the playoffs, and could go in as a wild card team this year. San Diego has improved and Seattle is very difficult to figure.

So, in the West 1) Denver 2) Los Angeles 3) Kansas City 4) San Diego 5) Seattle.

In the playoffs, the NFC wild card picks are Philadelphia, the Giants and Los Angeles. The pick for the NFC championship game is San Francisco and Washington.

In the AFC, wild card picks are Cincinnati, Cleveland and Los Angeles. The AFC title game pick is Pittsburgh and Buffalo. When it comes to the Super Bowl, next January in Tampa, Florida, the pick here is Buffalo and San Francisco.

For this week, Giants 24 Philadelphia 21, Dallas 17 San Diego 14, Washington 27 Phoenix 12, Chicago 17 Seattle 10, Detroit 27 Tampa Bay 10, Los Angeles Rams 20 Green Bay 13, Minnesota 24 Kansas City 14, Atlanta 21 Houston 20, San Francisco 28 New Orleans 26 (Monday Night), Buffalo 24 Indianapolis 17, New England 23 Miami 16, Jets 27 Cincinnati 24 (this week upset), Cleveland 24 Pittsburgh 20, LA Raiders 19 Denver 17.

SPORTS NEWS

Did you see some of the U.S. Open last weekend? It was good to see John McEnroe back to his old style of hard play. When McEnroe was in his prime, I didn't particularly like his game, but now that he's an underdog, I find myself rooting for him. I think I did the same thing when Jimmy Connors went from bad boy to elder statesman.

It should be a tough draw to the finals for McEnroe. He'll have to beat old nemesis Ivan Lendl in the semis. The other semi could match Boris Becker, the defending champ, against Andre Agassi. I know Agassi is an American, but I just can't seem to enjoy his style of play.

In the women's bracket, Steffi Graf is number one until someone says otherwise. The media is trying so hard to make

Scrimmages start tomorrow

Soccer team opens next week

School has just begun, but the Belleville soccer team is already preparing for its first scrimmage of the 1990 season. Gino De Pinto's team will battle Harrison tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. from Clearmont Field, the Bucs home site.

Belleville is rebounding from a 1-12-2 season of a year ago. DePinto was happy with the turnout this season and is encouraged by a number of players returning from last season.

"We have a lot of kids coming back with varsity experience," the coach said. "Overall, we have 34 or 35 players out for the team. About 12 of them are freshmen, and that's a good sign, too."

"The one thing that I'm concerned about now is depth. We have a good starting 11, but if someone goes down with an injury, we could have problems in the early going."

The team has been practicing with double sessions for the past two weeks. Now that school has begun, it will work out in the afternoons. The Bucs open the 1990 regular season next Friday, September 14, when the team travels to St. Joseph High School in Montvale.

Two seniors and one junior have been named tri captains for the '90 squad. Seniors Enzo Vian and Richard Preto and junior Frank Crocco have been named as captains.

DePinto has two goalies that are working with the varsity. Rocco Constantino, a junior and Emanuel Anjo, also a junior, are vying for a starting position. Both men should play in tomorrow's scrimmage.

"We only have three seniors on the team," DePinto said. "We'll be a young team, but one with varsity experience. Also, most of the players have been playing in the BSA (Belleville Soccer Association) during the winter and spring."

On defense, Crocco, Preto, Alex Moreno and Matt Kastner should get the starting nodes. The midfield will probably consist of Vian, Franco Vitello and Milton Lopez. The fourth midfield position is still up in the air, according to DePinto.

At the forward positions, Paul Moro and Steve Vogel have been the top candidates.

"We're going for speed at the forward spot this year," DePinto said. "Vogel is one of our quickest players. He missed all of last season with an injury, but he is ready to go this year."

Because the turnout for the team was strong, DePinto will be able to once again field a varsity and junior varsity roster.

George Tortorello will lead the JV troops in '90.

After the scrimmage with Harrison, Belleville will take on Rutherford next Monday afternoon, also at Clearmont Field. Kick-off for that contest will be at 4 p.m.

"These two scrimmages will tell us a lot," the coach said. "Harrison is one of the stronger teams in the state and will be a good test. Rutherford is a solid team that we should be competitive against. I'll know a lot more about this team after next Monday's scrimmage."

As for the regular season opener with St. Joe's, DePinto doesn't quite know what to expect.

"I've never seen them play before. I do know they have a new coach there, but I don't know much about their program. I'm sure they will be a strong team, though. Every team in our league is tough."

Bucs scrimmage Columbia Saturday

"The biggest opponent this year will be ourselves."

Those are the words of Belleville football coach John Senesky when discussing the upcoming 1990 football season.

The Bucs, who open the regular season on September 21 with a home game against Hackensack, will begin pre season play on Saturday morning with a game at Columbia. Game time is 10 a.m.

The following day, September 9, will be team photo day at the high school. That's a good opportunity for the parents and fans to come out and photograph the team. The photo day will begin around 10:45 a.m. and should be concluded by noon time.

Next Tuesday, Belleville will have a controlled scrimmage with Hanover Park, scheduled at Belleville. Game time is approximately 4 p.m. Next Thursday, the team will play at Bayley Ellard, also at 4. The final pre season game is next Saturday, September 15, against Livingston. The time and location of that game has yet to be determined.

"So far, everything has gone okay," Senesky said. "This is the toughest week for the players because they're having two-a-day practices every day. We concluded the week with an intra squad game last Saturday."

"Overall, we found out we have good depth at some positions and we're a little weak, depth wise, at other positions. We're teaching techniques right now, rather than specializing on certain positions."

The coach noted that in the past, players learned a position and worked to improve their skills at that particular spot.

"Now, for instance, we're working with the defensive line and teaching all three linemen, the nose guard, contain tackle and slot tackle the different techniques of all three positions. Therefore, we have a little more versatility because all three positions are interchangeable."

"We're doing the same thing with the linebackers and defensive secondary. There isn't much change in the assignments, but different techniques are necessary."

The coach feels the main challenge will be within the players, rather than from the opponent.

"We're not concerned as much as who we're playing and what players our opponents have back, we're more concerned about our own players learning to deal with different situations, to learn the mental part of the game."

"Physically, they're in good shape, but we have to learn how to deal with the good and the adversity that the game sometimes brings."

Many of the veteran players are working hard to deliver that message to the team.

"We have something to prove this year," senior running back Carmen Spina said last week. "There is a real good attitude on this team."

Senior running back and defensive safetyman Sean Kimball sees a cohesive attitude on the team.

"Everyone is sticking together and encouraging each other. It's early, but you can see that everyone is anxious to start playing. I can't wait to get back."

Kimball missed most of the 1989 season with a knee injury. He is fully recovered from that injury.

"We'll know more after the first two scrimmages," Senesky said. "Right now, we're looking to establish some depth at various positions."

Fuccello ready to start work

Her past accomplishments have been well documented. Hall of Famer, nationally recognized as a high school basketball coach, long time teacher with plenty of accolades.

However, as Karen Fuccello begins her new job as Director of Athletics and Physical Education at Belleville, it's the future which concerns Fuccello the most.

"I'm looking forward to the new school year," Fuccello said. "I have plenty I want to accomplish, but the number one thing for me is to see the pride in Belleville athletics continued and perhaps improved upon."

There are so many opportunities afforded our young people today in the field of athletics and physical education. With so much available, there is an extra curricular activity for every student. No one should be left out."

Fuccello takes over an athletic department at Belleville High School that features 17 varsity sports covering three seasons. In the fall, there is football, cross country, soccer, gymnastics, volleyball and tennis.

In the winter, there is girls' basketball, boys' basketball, indoor track, wrestling and bowling. In the spring, there is baseball, softball, track, tennis, golf and crew.

"The opportunities afforded the present students, both academically and athletically, are more than any generation of student at Belleville High were fortunate enough to have," Fuccello said. "I hope more students get involved with sports. I believe that participation in athletics and phys ed will help confidence and esteem. That's an issue that has to be addressed in the 90's."

Fuccello has a concern about the conditions of the various playgrounds in the township, too.

"I'd like to see the playgrounds improved upon. One of my objectives will be to look at the elementary phys ed programs. We have some excellent phys ed teachers in the elementary levels and I feel with their cooperation, we can establish a curriculum that will keep with the needs of the kids as we move on in the 90's."

The new director also feels the need for communication with township officials.

"I'd like to establish a good rapport with the township," Fuccello said. "We need that effort to help oversee the athletic fields."

And finally, Fuccello would like to see that same communication directed to parents.

"I would like the parents of the high school and very importantly, the elementary schools, to know of the opportunities available to their children in sports in Belleville. You know, the movie only plays once and as many kids as possible should get that opportunity."

Fuccello feels the message will be best passed by enthusiastic coaches and teachers who have the dedication to make the township the best it can be in both academics and athletics.

"There's a lot to do," she said. "And I'm looking forward to starting."

TAKING OFF — Members of the Belleville High School cheerleading squad look like they're ready to fly. Actually, they're working on a cheer for upcoming football season. Girls have been practicing since May.

Runners signing up for Sam Giuffrida run in Oct.

When he was a teacher and coach at Belleville High School, Sam Giuffrida epitomized charisma and energy. When he suddenly and tragically passed away on May 21, 1989, an entire township grieved the loss of the man it simply called "G."

There are many who say that "G's" presence in Belleville is still very strong. His personality and ability to communicate with the youth of our township was legendary. His work as the crew coach at Belleville from 1965-86 still draws raves from those athletes who performed for him.

The people of the Township of Belleville have not forgotten Giuffrida's contributions. The township plans to honor the coach on October 21 with the first annual Sam Giuffrida Five Mile race through Belleville.

The race is dedicated to Giuffrida's memory. The proceeds of the race will benefit the students at Belleville High School through the Sam Giuffrida Scholarship Fund.

The race, like the man it is named after, is being run in first class fashion. The course will be water stops at the beginning of the race, at the two mile point and at the conclusion.

The timing will be computerized and all the athletes will receive his, or her time at the end of the race.

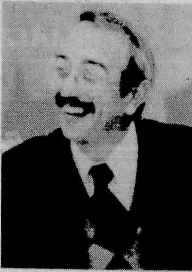

Tee Shirts will be given to all those who register for the race before October 10. The registration fee, before the 10th of October, is $8.00. After the tenth, the fee will be $10.00 and tee shirts will be distributed on a first come, first serve basis.

The race will commence promptly at 10 a.m. Preceding the race will be a one mile health walk or sprint, which should begin at about 9:30 a.m.

The race will start, and end, at the courtyard at Belleville High School, a symbolic location indeed. Part of the courtyard is dedicated to the memory of Giuffrida.

Although the final course has not been determined, the race should go up Greycliff Parkway, down to Washington Avenue, off to Mill Street and then to Franklin Avenue before coming back to the Courtyard at the High School, where the finish line awaits. Please remember that the exact course has not been finalized. It should be within two weeks.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three overall finishers for both men and women. Prizes will also be awarded to the top three men and women finishers in the final age brackets: 10 years and under, 11-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, 60-69 and 70 and over.

Jiffy Lube in Belleville will be providing the Tee Shirts for the race.

The race committee is seeking contributions, gifts and volunteers in order to make the day a success.

Applications for the race can be picked up at the following locations: Belleville Sport, Tom Flemings' Running Room in Bloomfield, Fleet Feet in Montclair, The Sneaker Factory in Millburn and through various running clubs.

After completing the application, send it to Sam Giuffrida Five Mile Run, c/o Tom Moore, 190 Park Street, Montclair, N.J. 07042.

Turn on your gas heater now and save $25.

We know the heater is the last thing on your mind right now.

But now's the perfect time to check it. You'll discover any problems it may have long before the cold weather arrives. And should you need us, call before September 17th, and we won't charge the $25 turn-on fee.

How to give your gas heater the once-over:

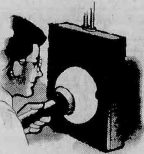

— If pilot light is on, set thermostat five degrees above room temperature. Heater should come on.

— If pilot light is off, re-light it, following instructions on heating unit. After it burns a few minutes, set thermostat five degrees above room temperature. Heater should come on.

If your gas heater doesn't come on:

- Make sure thermostat is set at least five degrees above room temperature.
- Make sure all heater electric switches are ON. (They're usually located on or near heating unit or at head of basement stairs.)
- Make sure all fuses and/or circuit breakers are ON and OK.

Be sure you check your whole system:

- For steam systems, check water in sight glass. If low, turn on water supply valve to bring level up to halfway mark. Then turn valve off.
- For hot water systems, listen and make sure circulating water pump is operating.
- For warm air systems, check whether blower is operating. Clean or replace air filters.

What if your gas heater still doesn't come on?

Return thermostat to original setting and call us at the number listed on the front of your monthly bill.

Please remember, during the September 17th through October 31st peak period there will be a $25 charge for turning on your heat.

Block's income tax course provides a job skill

Graduates of the H & R Block Income Tax Course have learned that experienced income tax preparers are always in demand.

Military spouses, in particular, find that as graduates of the course they have a job skill that's useful anywhere U.S. citizens prepare and file income tax returns, according to Bert Tobia, District Manager of H & R Block.

Income tax preparation provides preparers with work that is both satisfying and profitable.

Each year, according to Tobia, thousands of people take the first step toward an exciting new career by enrolling in the H & R Block Income Tax Course. Block's income tax course gives them hands-on experience in preparing individual income tax returns.

"They learn how to handle increasingly complex tax situations as the term progresses and they learn which tax strategies can save them the most money," Tobia said.

Block's experienced instructors have trained thousands of tax preparers.

Classes begin Sept. 10. Morning, afternoon, evening, and weekend classes are available. Qualified graduates of the course may be offered job interviews with H & R Block, but are under no obligation to accept employment.

Those interested in more information about the H & R Block Income Tax Course may contact the H & R Block office at 155 Franklin Ave., Nutley or call 235-1000.

What if...

What if...

You would like to name your teen-age children as the beneficiaries of your life insurance, must they be of legal age?

You may choose anyone you wish to be a beneficiary of your life insurance. However, your life insurance company will more than likely insist the money go to a guardian of the children until they are of a legal age. A guardian should be chosen in your will anyway, to insure protection for your children.

What if...

You are buying a house and don't wish to use a lawyer, do you truly need a lawyer when taking a title?

It is not always necessary to have a lawyer at the closing of a house sale, but it is certainly advisable to use a lawyer for the negotiations that occur up to that point. A lawyer represents your interests and protects you in unforeseeable ways. For example, there are literally hundreds of mortgage programs available to a borrower. An attorney can help assure that the program you think you are applying for is what you are getting. Also, he is there to insist on an escape clause in the contract in the event that excessive radon is found in the house, or something of major concern shows up in the home inspection, or in case you cannot obtain financing, etc.

Health Dept. responds to local rabies questions

During the past week, the Belleville Health Department has been besieged by callers asking about rabies, and what should be done if anyone is bitten by a animal. Thomas Longo, Director of Health and Human Services, answers some of your questions.

1. What is Rabies?

Rabies is a disease caused by a virus. It is transmitted by a bite from an infected animal, if the animal's saliva comes in contact with mucous membranes or breaks the skin. Once it enters the body, it travels along the body's nerve fibers. Fortunately, there is a treatment available that can prevent the development of rabies if a person has been exposed to the saliva of an infected animal.

2. What animals can be infected by rabies?

Dogs, cats, and raccoons can spread rabies, as can foxes, bats, skunks, woodchucks, opossums and other wild animals that bite. Rabbits, however, are at low risk, while squirrels, rats and mice are generally never infected.

3. How can I prevent rabies?

Have your dog and your cat vaccinated. If your pet is sick, take it to a veterinarian. Keep pets from running loose. Report stray animals to the Health Department.

Fr. Saltarelli auxiliary bishop

By Joyce M. Steel
Most Reverend Michael Saltarelli, who spent the first 17 years of his career as a priest in Nutley's Holy Family Church, was recently ordained an auxiliary bishop in the Archdiocese of Newark.

The ceremony, which took place at Newark's Sacred Heart Cathedral on July 30, was attended by some 2,500 parishioners and friends. The two-hour ancient rite of the Roman Catholic Church was performed by Newark Archbishop Theodore McCarrick. Afterwards, Saltarelli was presented with a ring and a staff to signify his new position.

Saltarelli, a native of Jersey City, was ordained a priest in 1960, and immediately took his services to Holy Family Church. He remained there until 1977, when he was appointed pastor of Our Lady of Assumption Church, Bayonet Point. From 1982 to 1985, Saltarelli served as the archdiocese's executive director of pastoral services, including family and children's services as well as religious and worship development. He was assigned to St. Catherine of Siena parish, Cedar Grove, in 1985.

RELIGIOUS VIEWPOINT

Rev. Gerald Fortunato

Antidote for despair

"Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him." Psalm 37:7. Since we all share a deep motivation to live, we can be quite sure that a person who commits suicide must have been in deep, deep, despair. When we hear of someone who has taken his life, we wonder what led to such hopelessness? How could it have been avoided????

These questions have prompted many individuals to take a closer look at how to really cope when the pressures of life become to the point of driving one to end it all. Dear reader, in ourselves we cannot cope with all of the circumstances, pressures, disappointments, and injustices that come our way. We ask ourselves "Why...why...is this happening to me." "What did I do to deserve this kind of punishment." However, let me share some good news with you.

The psalmist wrote in the midst of his own personal tragedy, "Rest in the Lord, wait patiently for Him." And anyone who rests in the Lord and waits patiently for Him will not despair. I saw this truth lived out in a friend who lost money he needed desperately. Although he lost it through another man's dishonesty, he said, "God has promised to meet my needs. Therefore, I will not destroy myself with anger or worry." It is so easy to give in to just that feeling.

You may not be thinking of ending your life, but despair takes many other forms. Let me urge you to follow the advice of Psalm 37:7. It's the antidote for despair, and in your despair...just pray this little prayer.

Dear God, we pray for faith anew,
For greater trust in all we do,
For hope that never knows defeat,
For victory at Your mercy seat. Amen.

Seven named to order at NJIT

Seven Belleville residents were inducted in to the Order of the Engineer at New Jersey Institute of Technology in Newark.

Wilfred Baylon, Kenneth Chan, Robert Dillon, Louis La, Steven Platt, Akhil Shah and Michaelis Sideras declared their commitment to upholding the ethics, traditions and practices of the engineering profession during the induction ceremonies.

The ceremony was sponsored by the N.J.I.T.'s chapter of Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honor society. The initiation included a commitment to 'obligation' and acceptance of a stainless steel ring to be worn on the little finger of the working hand. The ring symbolizes the wearer's calling to engineering and the unity of the profession in its goal of benefiting mankind.

Spillanes tour Berlin, Prague, two Germanies

By Barbara Spillane

The following is an article submitted by Barbara Spillane on a trip she and her husband, Councilman Tom Spillane recently took to Europe.

Little did we know in the early fall when my husband Tom and I selected a seminar tour, sponsored by the Institute for Foreign Cultural Relations of the Federal Republic of Germany that the places would be the hot spots of summer European travel. The seminar, "Berlin, Prague, and the Two Germanies" was for North American educators and their spouses. The group consisted of 29 Americans and Canadians.

Having arrived three hours prior to our scheduled time to meet the group at Frankfurt Airport, we spent the time "people watching." Slowly a small group began to gather at the information desk, and then our seminar leaders, Claudia and Norbert, arrived and formal introductions were made. Everyone was eager to begin and find out more about the problems and decisions now facing Germany and Czechoslovakia because of the recent political upheavals in these countries.

Our first stop was Lambrecht, a small village southwest of Frankfurt, with accommodations at the Pfalz Akademie, a dormitory-like structure used for students' and teachers' seminars. Activities in this area on the Romantic German Wine Road included a wine-tasting session and a tour to Neustadt, a town known for its vineyards dating back to the 15th century.

Independent tours of this region took us to Frankfurt, the financial capital of West Germany, and Heidelberg, the home of the oldest university in Europe.

Frankfurt is a metropolitan city of 617,000 people that still retains its historic traditions. Tourists can readily see the contrast between the many large financial institutions and the historic center Römerbergplatz (square).

The square has half-immortal buildings surrounding the Römer, or townhall, all of which have been rebuilt since World War II when much of Frankfurt was destroyed. The Church of St. Paul is a round, modern building that hosted the first German Parliament in 1848. Today it is still used for various ceremonies and exhibits. Germans are proud of this building because it was here that democracy was born.

South of Frankfurt, we enjoyed a Rhine River cruise aboard the "Theodore Hesse." Our ride on the beautiful Rhine took us past many castles dating back to the 12th century, as well as acres and acres of grape vineyards and small villages. We then relaxed at a leisurely dinner of traditional schnitzel in a tavern with an umbrella band.

The most striking vision of Heidelberg, our next destination in this region, was its massive castle high above the Old Town's ruins. These fortress ruins served as the residence of many sovereigns with great political influence for over five centuries. Various parts of the castle and its environs still stand.

The morning of July 10th we departed for the German Democratic Republic (East Germany). Our excitement on this bus ride was enhanced by the personal narration of Claudia, the seminar leader, who frequently visited her grandmother in East Germany. She told us about the barbed wire fences across open pastures; the many delays at the border crossing; and the unfriendly guards. We were fortunate not to have any problems as the bus was merely waved through by smiling guards.

Our first stop in the GDR was Eisenach, where we visited the Lutherhaus. It was here that Martin Luther studied as a young man. This city, as well as many others of the east, are depressing. Houses are run-down, stores lack many consumer goods, and the people dress in unfashionably styled clothes. Most of their automobiles are two-cylinder models called Trabant. They cough and sputter, pumping hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide into the air. It was not unusual for the East Germans to wait between ten and fifteen years to get a new car.

Our hotel was the Gastehaus in Erfurt, formerly owned by the trade union of the Communist Party. By East German standards it is one of the better hotels, by our standards it was far from modern. However, we did find it clean and staffed with people who were eager to please their first western visitors.

We took interesting excursions in this area to Bad Frankenhausen, Weimar, and the concentration camp Buchenwald. Werner Tubke's panorama, the largest in the world, depicting the Peasant's Revolt, is located in a modern showplace in Bad Frankenhausen. The 12 meter long panel took three years to complete and has thousands of figures and scenes in it.

Weimar was delightful to visit. For me it represented what I thought German cities would look like — that is a combination of the old and new worlds. Weimar is the proud home of two of Germany's most famous writers — Goethe and Schiller.

One cannot travel in Germany and not be reminded of the war. A somber visit was made to Buchenwald. At this camp over 65,000 people met their death at the hands of the Nazis. A large memorial bell tower is seen first in the wooded area. Up the road a bit, the gate house, opens to empty fields were barracks once stood. Visitors can tour the crematorium, disinfection quarters and medical buildings. Many artifacts are housed in a large museum on the grounds. All of our group agreed that this was a most humbling experience, vividly portraying the horrors of war.

The evening of July 13th found us in Wenceslas Square, Prague. It was here that the Czechs this past November were successfully able to overthrow the Communist government of the past 21 years. The narrow winding streets, surrounded by historic buildings make this a city to stroll through and savor.

In Lesser Town hundreds of people gather to hear the bells and watch the figures on the Old Prague Astronomical Clock. A stroll across the crowded Charles Bridge, where various vendors peddled their wares; reminded us of New York City on a warm summer day.

Certainly one of our most memorable events in Prague was a visit to the home of the Canadian Ambassador, Barry Mahiunary, and his wife, for a formal tea in the garden. After a concise assessment of the political events going on in Czechoslovakia, the Ambassador took the time to further mingle and converse with our group.

The final destination of our tour was Berlin. Everyone was excited to see and feel the vibrations of this great city. After World War II, Berlin was divided into four

Budget hearing hits legal fees

into the law dept, to show where the money was being spent. "I have no idea where your legal fees were hidden in your dept. budgets but they were obviously hidden somewhere," said Nuzzi.

"Furthermore, former commissioner, you gave the town attorney, your previous town attorney received a $26,000 vacation subsidy. That money came out of the legal dept. There is no money left in the legal dept. There is $8,000 left to pay salaries for six months. So, if you have money to put in the budget, you have to put it in the legal dept. to keep the town running."

Frantoni pressed for the list of lawyers and their fees and received it from Padula on Friday.

The list detailed eight attorneys and their fees paid or due by the Township of Belleville for the years 1989 and 1990. The funds encumbered or earmarked by a particular resolution amounted to $98,483.35. The list also showed that $65,981.05 had been paid including two final bills. This left an open encumbered balance of $25,143.63.

The list did not include $25,922.40 which was paid to former township attorney Frank Cozzarini through payroll by then Mayor Michael Pizzi. The funds were reported to have been paid the attorney in lieu of unused vacation time.

According to the resolutions authorizing most of the legal payments, a ceiling amount was set for the fees. Then the fees were charged to one or all of the five departments set up under the commission form of government.

The largest single payment to an outside attorney went to Joet Pisano, a partner in the law firm of Schwartz, Pisano, Simon, Edelstein and Ben-Asher of Livingston. The payment of $25,000 was a settlement made by the council in resolving four separate lawsuits involving the township before the council took office July 1 of this year.

The next largest single payment, $14,500, was made on March 13, to the law firm of Rena Rothfield, of Livingston to settle an accumulated sick leave lawsuit on behalf of retired township employee Frank D. Rowell.

"I thought we got rid of all the hassling with the new election," resident Frank Stanco said and was shouted down by the capacity crowd in town hall. "If you people would listen and stop being stupid... On the budget, I heard a question asked by the former commissioner about the lawyers fees, and everybody in this room and everybody knows of all the lawsuits that were constituted last year. This is why these people have put it all in one pot to find out who's got to get paid and for what."

"It's a 50-year-old problem," said Dennis Gualtieri, of Belmont a good reason."

Perna said after the meeting there were 22 speakers at the hearing. "Many questions were asked and answered several times. They just don't understand the budget. The purpose of the budget hearing was for the people to voice their opinion on the appropriations we have made."

The council took office July 1 following a referendum vote to change from the commissioner form of government.

School lunch programs at CP Center

A new in-house School Lunch Program will begin later this month at the Cerebral Palsy Center on Sanford Ave. Until now, lunches were prepared at a local elementary school and brought in to feed the nearly 60 children from 21 school districts who attend classes daily.

Now, however, food will be purchased and prepared in the building by a food service worker specially trained in food preparation, safety and storage. Guidelines for meal planning and menus come from the State Dept. of Education Bureau of Child Nutrition.

Due to the special need of students at the Cerebral Palsy Center, the lunch program and meals are a vital part of learning and socialization. Preparing meals at the Center will make feeding easier and more efficient. With one person cooking and serving daily, changes can be made that fit special feeding requirements.

This on-premises food preparation will allow students to have experiences with new foods, and eventually parents can use the food service experience and suggestions of the school staff to help them with feeding concerns at home.

In this way, food service at the Cerebral Palsy Center is a part of the academic program, teaching students how they can eat properly, develop skills in preparation for independent life, and can even help them begin on-going and life long weight management. Each disabled student can receive a daily nutritional meal and an opportunity to practice proper feeding techniques.

In this way, the school lunch program offers many possibilities for the betterment of disabled school children.

Gathering pieces of the Berlin Wall

zones of occupation by the United States, Great Britain, France, and the Soviet Union. The eastern and western sectors developed quite differently — one under a communist government and one under a democratic government. West Berlin developed into a vibrant, modern city, whereas East Berlin lagged behind economically.

Truly the Berlin Wall, built in 1961 by the Communist government to prevent East Berliners from leaving, divided the city in more ways than one. We were an excited group of North Americans exiting the bus that day at the Berlin Wall near the Brandenburg Gate. All of us eagerly gathered up pieces of the wall. Tom used a huge metal object found nearby to chop away his pieces.

Today travelers can freely cross into each sector. Such was not the case several months ago when citizens had to wait many months for permissions to cross the wall at such points as Checkpoint Charlie.

Other interesting sites in this city are the Alexanderplatz, the square from which East Berlin spirals out. It is here that the Communist government was overthrown. In the western sector, the Olympic Stadium, where Jesse Owens won his gold medals while Hitler watched, is still used. And who could forget the Plötzensee Memorial, where a Nazi prison once stood, 2,500 people were guillotined or hanged here.

Our tour came to an end with a farewell dinner at the famous "Windows on Berlin Restaurant". While viewing this magnificent city, we said our farewells to our tour leaders and fellow travelers.

This proved to be a very interesting and educational trip to Europe, filled with wonders and awe at the many historic and modern sites in two great countries.

We are looking forward to returning to Germany and Czechoslovakia in several years to see the changes and improvements that are sure to come. And yet, it was an exciting time to visit at the birth of Democracy once again.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Did You Know???

We've heard of bicycle owners hanging their bikes on wall hooks for storage. But one homeowner took an old bike, painted it white (even the tires) and hung it up as a piece of art!

When oak kitchen cabinets get dirty, paint thinner does a good job of removing wax, grease and oil. These solvents are flammable, though. Be careful of gas pilot light or electrical sparks.

Now's the time to test doors and windows and see if cold air will sneak in this winter. Move a lighted candle slowly near frames and sashes. When the candle flickers, you need caulking or weatherstripping.

If a leaking toilet must be repaired repeatedly, consider overhauling it with new, more modern insides. Do-it-yourself kits are available.

Doing it right: when a Washington architect wanted a country-type home with a river view — right in the city — he built it himself, creating a penthouse with a pool atop a six-story apartment building that incorporated parts of two old canal workers' houses.

Doing it right: to find a wonderful home that meets your needs and your budget, see the helpful folks at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley. 235-9000.
