FILE UP...of debris at the public works yard on Cortland Street needs to be cleaned up to avoid violations with the Department of Environmental Protection.

Spring cleaning needed for Public Works yard debris

By Mike Lazorchak

A problem that has been piling up for the past nine months is now a focus of attention for town officials. Residents and councilmembers alike condemned the condition of the public works yard and are seeking a way to alleviate the problem.

In her address to the town on the council's first six months in office, Mayor Marina Perna cited the improvement of the department of public works as a main priority of the council.

"The council and interim manager reviewed the department of public works, placing heightened emphasis on the pile of debris left at Cortland Street and on the condition of our vehicles," Perna said.

The address came after the public participation session of the meeting during which several residents commented on what they considered the deplorable condition of the yard.

According to the town attorney Vincent Nuzzi, there has been an ongoing danger since last spring of violations with the state Department of Environmental Protection.

That danger became a reality during the second week of January when Town Manager Bertrand Kendall received notice from the DEP to have the yard cleaned up.

"The 15-day notice alleged we were running a solid waste facility without a permit," Kendall said.

In response, Kendall sent a letter Jan. 17, in which he proposed to the DEP that Belleville be given to July 1 to have the yard cleaned.

Kendall had not received an answer prior to the TIMES deadline.

"The DEP is correct and we accept the responsibility to clean the yard," Kendall said, "but we are requesting a reasonable amount of time to do so."

The July 1 date, Kendall said, was picked for two reasons. First, there is the bottom line of cost. Kendall estimated it would cost approximately $100,000 to have the yard cleaned via a sanitation contract. In setting the July 1 date, some of the cost could be defrayed by using town employees and equipment.

The second reason is the time element the new government feels would be both fair and sufficient to enact a workable plan.

In her address, Mayor Perna spoke of the emphasis placed on the debris, but also explained there were many repairs needed for equipment that had to be taken care of first. Kendall felt the July 1 date provided a just amount of time to correct the problem.

The manager hopes the DEP accepts the proposal, especially since there are no real health hazards, such as water pollution, created by the yard, he said.

Should the DEP deny the extension request, Kendall said there were two possible courses of action.

The town could either go through legal proceedings of an appeal or seek the expensive removal contract.

"We hope the DEP will work with us because we are concerned about the cost," Kendall said.

Tax assessor sums up township refund woes

By Mike Lazorchak

Whether it be the result of a sluggish economy or a drastic reaction against higher property taxes, New Jersey municipalities have been hit by a tidal wave of tax appeals, resulting in huge numbers of tax refunds. Belleville is no exception.

According to tax assessor Tom Salzano, the rash of appeals, which has already totaled $356,000 in refunds, hurts the community in more ways than one. Not only does the town need to replace the lost revenue, but the process of defending the appeals also runs a high price.

One possible source for this fountain of appeals is the decline of the real estate market.

The tax base, Salzano said, is determined by the market. When the market boomed in the late 1980s premium prices were being paid for property.

"The explosion of sale prices was there because the money was there," Salzano said, "but the property value really was not there."

Now, with the soft market, people feel they are being taxed above the value.

The recourse is people file the tax appeals looking for a break. However, Salzano feels the tax appeals will only hurt in the long run.

"If you own a company and you need $40 million to run that company," Salzano said, "you have to come up with $40 million."

Translated into tax appeals, when there is such a large amount of refunds granted, the money to pay for services must still come from somewhere. That somewhere is oftentimes a higher tax rate for the next year.

The refunds were the result of reductions granted by the Essex County Tax Board which left Belleville with a total assessed value $4 million less than last year.

Those reductions equate to a loss of almost eight tax points which need to be regained.

Town Manager Bertrand Kendall explained the money will probably come from surplus funds, but it is important to retain a surplus. The surplus rate is another item that directly affects the tax rate.

"The refunds will make it a more difficult budget year," Kendall said. Salzano also stressed the importance of realizing taxes are part of living in a community.

"Property tax is supposed to provide services," Salzano said. Services, Salzano added, are determining factors in creating the value of a property. If services suffer, so can future property value, he said.

In addition, his scramble to replenish the lost revenue, the town also loses money to the expense of defending the appeals. According to Salzano, the preparation for defending the appeal, in addition to the hours lost in tax court, can cost the town thousands per appeal.

"The town is held hostage to the tax appeal," Salzano said. "In the long run, these large refunds will only strangle the community."

Ten biggest tax refunds

Following are the 10 largest refunds among 57 filers of successful tax appeals in 1990:

Consulting contractor hired as grantsman for another year

By Mike Lazorchak

In a decision that received some opposition, Belleville rehired Bruno Associates, a consulting firm from Bloomfield, for 1991 as a grant writing consultant to help the town acquire funds for community improvement. The 1991 contract, however, is $8,000 less than the 1990 contract.

Those against the contract believe with the hiring of a director of planning, Robert Ringelheim, in December, in accordance with the new administrative code, it may be an unnecessary expense.

The contract calls for "the performance of all necessary professional consultation and work involved in the study of County, State and Federal aid for the needs of the Township of Belleville, New Jersey, and the related research, planning and preparation, submission and proceeding with all applications and programs." The cost for these services is $23,000 along with a maximum of $1,000 for expenses.

The council approved the contract with Bruno Associates at the Jan. 22 meeting by a 4 to 3 vote.

Ringelheim's experience in grant writing comes from six years of service in Orange. He said he dealt with a variety of state and federal grants concerning urban development and capitol improvement.

Ringelheim said Bruno Associates could be a "valuable asset" in attaining grants for social and health services.

Councilman Mario Drozd said it was important to retain the consulting firm because it is crucial that Belleville receive the maximum amount of grant aid available.

Senior citizen housing was one area Drozd thought was too important to risk not acquiring aid.

"I didn't feel comfortable shifting everything over to the planner so soon," Drozd said, "but now we have to scrutinize the benefits of Bruno Associates very closely."

Councilman Frank Noonan, the member of the council assigned to grants, thinks increased consultation among the council and the planner could have averted the need for outside help.

"What I don't know about grants the planner would know and we can always go to the town manager," Noonan said. "I can consult with the other ward councilmen and I'm trying to learn as much as I can about grant writing."

"This contract forces our hand for the budget by locking us into a $24,000 expense" 3rd Ward Councilman Thomas Spillane said.

The argument most offered against the contract was that it was a redundant expense. Councilman Bill Cook felt one the purposes in hiring a planner was to have someone writing grants.

"This is perpetuating the duplication of expense and effort," the 4th Ward councilman said.

Deputy Mayor Frank Caputo, one of the supporters of the contract, thought the value of Bruno Associates input and networking would continue to help Belleville.

Cheerleaders garner fourth at competition

By Dawn Rafferty

On January 13, the Belleville High School Cheerleaders took 4th place at the Christen Brothers Academy Competition, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus in Lincoln.

This event was the first competition for cheerleading advice Carol Russo and the BHS cheering squad. The competition was a good experience for Russo and the cheerleaders.

Practice for the competition began in June of last year. However, during the fall fewer practices were held due to the demands of the regular cheering schedule and limited gym availability. Only four practices were held from December to January. Despite limited practice time, Belleville High School cheerleaders accomplished their goal, placing fourth out of a field of nine. Bishop Alt placed first; Roselle Catholic placed second; and Oak Crest placed third. The competition includes two categories: one formal cheer and one dance routine. The BHS squad choreographed their dance to the music of "Vogue," "Dancing in Heaven," and "Everybody."

DECA members take honors

The D.E.C.A. Regional Conference was held on Friday, January 4, at the Bergen County Community College. D.E.C.A. (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is a national high school organization composed of students in marketing, merchandise, and retailing classes. Several regional and state competitions in these specialty areas are held each year. One category of merchandising includes modeling. To enter the male modeling competition, the students first wrote a commentary on their choice of clothing and then modeled the clothing for judges.

Winners are junior Aldo Sanchez, 2nd place; senior Ralph Robena, 3rd place; and juniors Marc Capizzi, Anthony Eschkin, and Jason Apple placed in the top

17. In addition to the modeling competition, a food marketing competition was held. Competitors had to answer 100 questions and role-play situations given to them by the judges. Senior Sau Wah Chan placed in the top 17 for this competition. All of these students qualify to compete in the State competition which will be held at the Parsippany Hilton in March. Junior Jason Apple stated, "I would like to go to the State competition but I can't because I will miss baseball practice." "I was nervous about getting up in front of all those people," senior Ralph Robena stated about the experience. "A lot of kids were there. It was challenging. I was surprised I won and I'm looking forward to the State competition."

Financial aid workshop offered at high school

By Robert Russomano

On January 15, Belleville High School sponsored a financial aid workshop to assist interested parents with form completion and to provide information on procedures and guidelines. The workshop speaker was Lisa Anderson from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Anderson provided parents with information on income, available programs for aid and available bank loans. Anderson stressed that parents and students should document purchases and communicate with their financial aid officers frequently. The workshop was extremely informative.

FBLA students take part in regional competition

By Anna Crocco

Several hundred students of the Future Business Leaders of America took part in the North Central Regional Competition held at Middlesex County College on Monday, January 7.

Four students representing Belleville High School placed in the top ten in four separate categories. Valerie Hutchinson placed second in machine transcription; Joelle Bianchi placed third in keyboard applications; Christine Ferrara placed third in Shorthand I; and Jill McCadden placed sixth in office procedures.

The categories for competition were Accounting II, Shorthand II, business math, business English, information processing, office procedures, and Miss Future Business Leader. The results of Miss FBLA were announced on Jan. 20. The four winners, representing BHS, advanced to the State Competition at Cherry Hill.

His main concern for funding are senior citizen housing and municipal youth activities.

"We reduced the salary about 25 percent and they should bring in well above the salary," Caputo said.

"We can't measure its value now, but rather look at it with optimism for the future."

One thing it seems people do agree on is that Bruno Associates must produce additional funds to insure its worth for Belleville.

PEP club members continue education

By Kristine Villano

On January 14 and 15, members of the Peers Education Peers club attended a two day, HIV/AIDS training seminar held at the Belleville Knights of Columbus. The workshop was conducted by the Essex County Red Cross and attended by Belleville High School students. Substance Awareness Coordinator, Deborah Meola; guidance counselor, Philip Espino; and school nurse Pat Guardino. The workshop provides current information on the transmission of HIV, and the developmental stages of AIDS. The workshop trained PEP members to present HIV/AIDS related topics and to answer questions in a group setting. PEP members received a HIV/AIDS manual and posters to help in their future presentations.

At the conclusion of a two day seminar the group was required to pass a written exam and give a sample presentation. All PEP members successfully completed all requirements and received certification cards.

The PEP Club was originally established to educate school children and teenagers about the perils of substance abuse and the need for substance abuse awareness. Meola has now incorporated HIV/AIDS awareness into the club's curriculum. PEP members will administer presentations on substance abuse and HIV/AIDS awareness throughout the district.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

What role has our European allies taken in closing ranks behind our American military forces in our Persian Gulf war against Saddam Hussein's Iraq military forces? When the bombs started falling, the British, French and Italians were there; others with a stake in the gulf stayed on the side.

As the countdown to conflict began, U.S. commanders surveyed the order of battle with trepidation. British forces would be in at the start, but who else would line up to fight? French air and land units were in place, but at the final hour President Francois Mitterrand had launched what appeared an errand mission: a compromise that offered Hussein his wanted Middle East peace conference. Italy, Spain, Germany and Greece backed Mitterrand. Had Baghdad not turned down the French proposal, the Arab alliance members might have wavered too and deserted the anti-Iraq coalition.

Only when conflict became unavoidable did the Europeans close rank. Even though their show of support was unequal — some contributing much more than others — and that was apt to lead to later reexaminations, within both Europe and the NATO alliance.

In Paris the nine-nation Western European Union defense grouping gave oratorical support to military action, but while British, French and Italian warplanes ran the menace of Iraqi anti-aircraft fire, other European nations with a stake in gulf stability stayed on the sidelines. Germany was conspicuous by its absence in the gulf, even if it had a constitutional excuse for nonparticipation. Warned British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd: "This will weigh on U.S.-European relations for some time."

On the home front, Europe, like the U.S., braced for terrorism. Armored vehicles were positioned around London's Heathrow Airport as part of a dramatic increase in security in the capital. Throughout Europe, security forces with automatic guns patrolled government offices, airports, airline offices, train stations and bus terminals. Key potential targets such as U.S. embassies, cultural missions and military bases were heavily protected; schools catering to American students were closed. Other parts of Europe while waiting for what many considered inevitable Iraqi-instigated terror campaign in retaliation for the allied bombing in the gulf, security forces had their hands full keeping antiwar protesters in check. In the days before war began, and every day thereafter, tens of thousands of demonstrators, many of them students, took to the streets in Germany, France, Italy and other European countries. In Berlin they broke windows at the Grand Hotel and the French Cultural Center and hurled Molotov cocktails at U.S. embassies, cultural missions and military bases were heavily guarded; schools catering to American students were closed. At the exclusive resort of Marbella on Spain's Costa del Sol, police and private guards swarmed around the summer palace of Saudi Arabia's King Fahd, transforming the oversized replica of the White House into an armed camp. "Marbella looks like a war zone," complained resident Nigel Bowden, a British writer.

So did other parts of Europe, although, ironically, the belligerents were pacifists. While waiting for what many regarded as an inevitable Iraqi-instigated terror campaign in retaliation for the allied bombing in the gulf, security forces had their hands full keeping antiwar protesters in check. In the days before war began, and every day thereafter, tens of thousands of demonstrators, many of them students, took to the streets in Germany, France, Italy and other European countries. In Berlin they broke windows at the Grand Hotel and the French Cultural Center and hurled Molotov cocktails at a U.S. embassy annex. Even in Britain, where polls showed that the public supported gulf intervention by a 2-to-1 ratio, opponents of military action mounted antiwar demonstrations of an estimated 50,000 people.

Prime Minister John Major said: "We will not flinch in the battle against evil, over the months, we have worked for peace. And hoped for peace. But we are prepared for war."

The events in the gulf, says Pierre Dabiez, head of France's Foundation for National Defense Studies, reconfirm the U.S.'s new status "as the world's only remaining superpower — indeed, as its sole policeman."

OUR OPINION

A Brand New Day

There's a brand new day before me,
And a chance to start anew,
And shiny hours waiting,
With much for me to do.
There's a blue sky up above me,
And sunlight through the trees,
Nobody should grow weary,
With gifts as great as these.
There's a brand new day before me,
And I treasure every minute,
My eager arms reach out to hold
Each quiet joy within it.

No growth, no jobs

During the past 15 years, it has become evident that the loss of manufacturing plants and jobs was the most serious long-term threat to New Jersey.

Yet experts insisted that the Meadowlands or Monmouth Race Track and that gambling at Atlantic City casinos would give the state "clean" services to replace the "dirty" factories.

About ten years ago, as manufacturing in the state plunged even lower — and just about dried up in older inner suburbs like Bloomfield — politicians and professors assured us that "high tech" (whatever that is) would be the solution.

During the 1980s, no one worried about the continuing decrease in industry. Everyone, including the thrift institutions, got hooked on real-estate development, mostly on commercial real-estate development. We now have half-empty office complexes, many of which are bankrupt or have lead to bankruptcies of many thrifths.

The environmentalists preached the gospel of no-growth. New Jersey would be green, again, they said. No one asked them the simple question: Where will the jobs come from?

By 1989 less than 18 percent of the New Jersey working population was employed in manufacturing, down from 38 percent in 1965. Not tens of thousands, but hundreds of thousands of jobs have been lost to other states, especially to the Southeast, to western Pennsylvania and to the highly aggressive Asian Rim nations (Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Singapore). We counted "clean" casino chips, while other states and the Asians took the "dirty" work. So who won this war?

The blame rests primarily with the political parties, both of them. The no-growth environmentalists, secured in public-sector, academic or media jobs, could not care less that the ordinary folks would be without jobs. After all, we were told, we would have no pollution.

It is never too late. New Jersey can become a center of manufacturing of commerce and industry. Corporate taxes must be lowered, tax credits must be given for manufacturing investments, costly environmental regulations must be made more reasonable, transport infrastructure must be improved, and the no-growth ideologists must be shipped to some never-never land to welcome the Age of Aquarius, while New Jerseyans come back to reality to build anew and create the jobs and opportunities our grandfathers and fathers knew.

Family comes first

Governor Jim Florio is mighty concerned with the state budget deficit. He says he will ask for givebacks from state employees and he will ask other public employees for unpaid furloughs and shorter workweeks. He believes layoffs may also become necessary to close the budget gap.

Governor Florio should also include nepotism in his agenda in reducing state government fat. For example, we learn that Gustave Thomas has joined the Florio Administration as a $66,000-a-year chief of "affirmative action" for N.J. Casino Control Commission — an appointive, non-Civil Service job of sorts.

Thomas happens to be the husband of Dr. Frances Dunston, $95,000-a-year state health commissioner, a cabinet level job of sorts.

Until now, poor John Russo, state senator with hundreds of hungry relatives, had been identified with nepotism, as he has more than a dozen family working in state jobs of sorts. Yes, we know, every one of them is a competent and an indispensable cog in the bureaucracy!

Meanwhile, we learn that four other folks have been hired (at a total cost of about $220,000 a year) for jobs of sorts with the casino commission. These folks are paid from the earnings of the casinos in Atlantic City — not from the casino profits, alas! which have become almost nil. Whom are they related to?

YOUR OPINION

Unique town happening

To the editor:

On Tuesday evening, 1-11-91, the citizens of Belleville experienced a happening that I believe was unique in the history of Belleville public meetings. Mayor Marina Perna delivered a "state of the township" speech.

The Mayor's delivery was somber, serious, deliberate and declaratory. Her voice was stronger, and more confident than usual. Absent was the often unwitting appearance of condescension in her tone; she was more the elected public servant than the "lady lawyer" in her address to the citizenry in attendance.

The content of the "state of the township" speech dealt mainly with a recapping of the implementation and installation of the council-manager form of government including the creation and filling of new management employee positions; the usual political patronage appointments to boards and committees necessary to the day to day functioning of government; and, the conditions and problems left behind by the previous administration.

Perhaps, because it was delivered after only six months in office, it was light on substance of accomplishments. Nonetheless, it was a new high in performance by what Belleville has come to know from its public officials.

Unfortunately, it did little to improve the irreparable damage sustained to their individual and group credibility by making their first act of office a majority vote to give themselves salaries, after more than a majority of them made campaign promises not to take more than $750 in expense accounts. The only action in my opinion that could correct that credibility damage, would be to rescind their own salary ordinance.

Meanwhile, nothing much else in the conduct of the Belleville Township Meeting has changed considerably.

There is still that vocal, constantly negative, minority of the same dozen or so citizens who seem bent on criticizing everything with their inept analogies and metaphors and tongue in cheek questioning; with their misinformation and half-truths fed to them by their "leader." There is still the same entourage of three or four of their group who lead them in cheers and jeers. There are still the same "paper heroes" who repeatedly pontificate in redundant nonsense which they pass off on these unsuspecting blind followers of factual substance.

What the council has done to balance or counteract this group is to attempt to fill the town meeting audience with a like number of their solid supporters. But neither is that anything new, positive or constructive.

The meeting agendas still provoke unnecessary questions because of the non-specific agenda blurbs used to identify ordinances and resolutions which are, rarely, if ever, read completely out loud, for everyone to hear and understand the "how" and the "why" of the spending of public monies and the granting of permits, licenses and titles.

While there may be a degree more order in the meetings, the intent, the communication, the mutual trust that should exist between citizens and government in such forums has changed little in Belleville.

My suggestion is that each and every ordinance and resolution be read aloud before being voted upon. Each and every license or permit granted be read aloud. Once this is done they will disarm the "paper heroes" of their main weaponry; their half truths, their self-generated facts, their ability to mislead these blind followers who couldn't identify a political opportunist doing the politically obvious things that political types do to gain and maintain a politically active front!

The council will then have achieved "the spirit and intent" of the open Public Meetings Act. They will not only eliminate the redundant unnecessary questions from the negative minority of the town meeting audience, but will also eliminate the equally inappropriate grandstanding of council members who waste as much time as the constant belly-achers.

Let us hope that the next "state of the township" message will include the substantive results one would expect from a government form that has transferred the every-day running of our township from unqualified, sometimes inept and less than competent part time politicians, to full-time employees who are eminently qualified by reason of education, experience and training. We wait and watch with high expectations.

Gifts for the troops

To the editor:

The Belleville Fire Department F.M.B.A. 29 is going to send packages to our hometown men and women who are stationed in the Middle East participating in Operation Desert Storm. If you would like to join us in supporting our troops, here are some suggestions:

White tee shirts, white socks, playing cards, shaving creams (no cans), shampoo, etc.

Your gifts will be accepted at each of the firehouses. All items must be new and perfectly sealed, or they will not be accepted. With your help we can give our troops the support they need.

Flag burning an outrage

To the editor:

I'm outraged, as every American should be, over the time and attention the media is giving those flag burning demonstrations.

Under the guise of being the caring consciousness of the United States, they are just the opposite. Their message is not a new one. No one wants, likes or thinks war is the best solution. However, now that we are committed and our men and women are putting their lives on the line everyday, the least we can do is give them all the support they deserve from home.

The credibility of the protestors wouldn't be as questionable if they were marching in front of the Iraqi embassy.

The reason the pro-American majority is not as visible at these demonstrations is economically they support themselves, their families and their country. They aren't on a "free ride" where they can leave all responsibility behind and spend days demonstrating their so called "feelings."

Let's at least be honest and call this scum of the earth by their true name, not "Anti-War Protestors" but professional "Anti-American Demonstrators!"

A web of intrigue

To the editor:

I'm surprised at the new Belleville administration's rhetoric transmitted by the managers office on insurance fabrications and employees layoffs - intertwining with retirements and personnel transfers. Quite a web of intrigue and a novelty of provocations about the past administration. I haven't seen in the past (6) months any major improvements worth mentioning but additional set backs in correcting our township problems.

I happened to saunter past the Cortlandt Street yard you were going to clean up, and it's abominable. The enormous pile of debris, 15 feet high or better, is literally bulging against the fence with branches galore. Where is Mr. Soldo and Sires - where is all this quality expertise, approximate $150,000 worth, while Belleville slides into the muck. Where's this money we're to save with the manager and his sidekicks?

Negative I am and for a reason. I'm side stepping pot holes challenging my driving ability - but I'm determined but with little success. Why the big deal - why doesn't our pot hole crew systematically go around and around - then again go around and around - is this so complicated? It is possibly the P.W. director has less control than Mr. Risoli? Could it be there are too many chiefs and too few Indians or too much time spent in the tepee.

I'm disturbed that in the last (6) months our administration and governing body have spent multi-thousands on supervision and matters and getting done in bits and pieces, with outside help. It is this efficiency we were promised? High priced directors and a manager - with new secretaries, new furniture, business machines - quick pay increases - vacations after two months of service? Good lord give us strength. Where is this justice they talk about.

Along the Passaic

Where is the old swimmin' hole?

By Ella F. Filippone
Executive Administrator,
Passaic River Coalition

"When the settlers from Connecticut first set foot on New Jersey soil more than 260 (now 321) years ago, the site of the city which they were destined to found must have presented a charming rural picture of green meadows, wooded slopes and pleasant valleys through which numerous streams made their way to the then crystal waters of the Passaic." So begins a book, The Running Brooks and other Sketches of Early Newark by Edward S. Rankin, C.E. The first chapter entitled "The Vanishing Streams of Newark" begins with the above quote, and has always been one of my favorite descriptions of a place long changed and gone.

Several years ago, our beloved Uncle Tom Filippone, found this book in a closet in the family home on Alexander Street in Newark, and gave it to me to become more familiar with Newark in the days of its beginnings when there was a watering place at Broad and Market Streets. It tells where all the lakes were located (mainly used to provide ice for the people of the community), and how some regions got their rather uncommon or historic names.

In 1930, the author still perceived Newark as a country area, and thus included a chapter on "The Old Swimming Hole." "How incomplete would be the life of any normal village or country bred boy without that veritable fountain of youth, immortalized in song and story, the old swimming hole?" As the village grew into a city and the city moved farther and farther into the country, "the boys must search for, urtil, in the end, the seashore or lake resort or perhaps the club tank must take the place of the river and the woodland pool." Where was the favorite swimming hole? No specific place is identified. "They had the whole river, with its wooded shores and its crystal waters..." In a later time, people from the Lower Passaic area would drive all the way to Wayne for a day's outing and swimming in the Passaic River. Many recreational areas had been established in this portion of the watershed and summer bungalows lined the banks of the river. And for those who wanted more wilderness, they would find campsites in the highlands of Morris and Passaic Counties. Now the romance is gone. The days of swimming in the Passaic River remain in the memories of people we meet from time to time who tell stories of their childhood and the river. So many sincerely would like to see the return of those days when the waters were "crystal clear."

Reminiscing like this builds on our dream to bring the river back to its former glory. While we can never go back, we can rebuild using designs which are in harmony with nature. We can begin to preserve certain special areas, which still remain, and not overdevelop. We need jobs and all the good things that come with progress, but we also need a healthy place to live. Everyone in a while we must look back at what once was and take account of what we have done, good and bad, and pursue a course to correct the mistakes. We at the Passaic River Coalition are on such a course. Come join us!

A Prescription For Helping Children
It may surprise some people to learn that some 13 million children and teenagers have some form of medication prescribed during any given two-week period. However, it is alarming to realize that nearly half this number are either administered the medications incorrectly, or fail to take it at all. According to the non-profit National Council on Patient Information and Education, the problem lies with a failure in communication between doctors, parents and children. Specifically, doctors are blamed for failing to counsel parents properly. Parents often do not understand their children's illnesses and/or treatments well enough to follow instructions. The solution lies with parents taking greater responsibilities.

If you have any questions on the instructions for taking medications, feel free to ask our pharmacist at ROSS-MORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1956, 759-1968. We are Blue Cross and Medicare approved. Be sure to check our selection of greeting cards, gifts, Timex watches and transistor radios for Valentine's Day. Watch our column in the upcoming weeks for many different topics on health and medications. Open: Daily 9am - 10pm, Sundays 9am - 9pm.

NOTE: Parents should be aware of what their children's medications are, their possible adverse reactions, and what to do about missed doses.

Positive Pregnancy Fitness course offered at Maass

Promoting comfort and reducing stress during pregnancy is of prime concern to many expectant mothers. In order to meet the needs of these women, the BirthDay Suite at Clara Maass Medical Center is offering "Positive Pregnancy Fitness."

"Positive Pregnancy Fitness" is an exercise program designed to provide safe exercise instructions to pregnant women during their prenatal and postpartum periods. The program is held 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays in the Morris Canal room at the medical center. It meets the guidelines of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and is taught by certified Positive Pregnancy Fitness instructors.

The focus is to alleviate common discomforts of pregnancy and to increase a sense of well-being. Belleville resident and mom-to-be Lourdes Balboa said, "I know the benefits of the class. I know it's really going to benefit me. It (the exercise program) really conditions your body."

The program is also beneficial to mothers in the postpartum period who are eager to get back into shape. Belleville Times SPORTS

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

Give the New York Giants credit. When they engage in close football games, they certainly give their fans a ton of memories. The diehard Giant fan had to have aged 30 years in two weeks of exciting games. Since the results were a second Super Bowl championship, the aging factor should be somewhat curtailed.

For, maybe, the third time in Super Bowl history, a fan can walk away from the game and say, "that was a good game." For perhaps the first time in Super Bowl history, that same fan can probably say, "that was a great game."

The Super Bowl was indeed, super. It had excitement and plenty of suspense. It wasn't decided until :04 remained and Scott Norwood missed a 47 yard field goal.

The NFL, in its infinite wisdom, has already decided that it will return to its old setup in 1992, meaning that there will be two weeks between the conference championships and the Super Bowl. It seems that the players and coaches were happy with the one week format this year, thus avoiding a lot of the hype that is associated with a two week layoff. The end result, not so coincidentally, was the closest and most intense game in the 25 year history of the Super Bowl.

Why the NFL is returning to a format that usually brings lousy Super Bowl games is hard to understand. Perhaps the vendors could get the T-shirts delivered to the various malls quickly enough.

The only two games in the previous history of the Super Bowl that could even come close to last Sunday's game were Super Bowl III, when the Jets beat the Colts, 16-7 and forever changed the evolution of professional football, and Super Bowl XXIII, when the San Francisco 49ers rallied to beat the Cincinnati Bengals, 20-16 in the final :34.

An Honorable Mention to fine Super Bowl games of the past could also be awarded to the 1980 game, when Pittsburgh rallied in the final quarter to beat the Los Angeles Rams, 31-19 and clinch its fourth Super Bowl crown.

In an effort to stay in the news and continue its suffocating insistence that it is sensitive to the going on in the Persian Gulf, the NFL announced in mid newspapers as late as last Saturday that it might postpone the Super Bowl if events in the War warranted it.

Once again, the NFL, who is so veiled in these issues, made a follow up call to President Bush, and Jack Kemp, a former NFL quarterback and now a member of the Presidents cabinet, responded that President Bush felt the game should go on as usual.

The result was an absolutely classy performance by the fans, a tremendous rendition of the National Anthem by Whitney Houston and a stirring halftime performance by a group of children whose parents are serving in the Persian Gulf.

And, by the way, the troops got a chance to watch the game and appeared to thoroughly enjoy it. It was, (here comes that word again), a diversion. And if the league would just remember that its game is for entertainment and a diversion for a couple of hours, they would be much better off.

Security at the game was apparently impeccable. From all indications, everyone had a good time. The War hasn't gone away, but for a few hours, everyone got a chance to be entertained. The NFL did its job.

Hopefully, the next American celebration will come with a ticketprice parade for about 400,000 American troops.

TEN YEARS WENT BY FAST

Last Monday, I went over the previous weeks basketball games with Buccanear head coach, Don Roll. He told me that his team played three games last week and lost two of them by one point each.

It was ten years ago, almost to the day, when then coach Joe Papasidero told me the same story about his 1980-81 Buc. In the span of a week, the Buc's lost to Nutley & St. Benedict's by one point each. Ten years later, Roll's team lost to Nutley and Don Bosco, by one point each.

Although the '80-81 Buc lost some heartbreaking games ten years ago, I'll never forget that week, because it was so memorable, both for members of that Belleville team, and for our nation.

In the week of January 19-25, 1981, Ronald Reagan was sworn in as our Nation's President, the hostages were released from Iran and a feeling of ecstasy reigned on our nation after two years of tremendous frustration. You could just sense a new era was about to begin.

The '80-81 Buc was a crazy group. That team didn't know the meaning of the word quit, and although they were usually overmatched, height wise, they made up for it with tremendous intensity.

That team was led by Wayne Buhet, Ronnie Wittman, Sammy DeCapua, Anthony Coco, Rich Wilkes, Scott Murray and Robbie Cancelliere.

Rocco Colucci was in his first year as an assistant coach to Papasidero. That Belleville team was snake bit, as it lost four games by one point, two of those losses coming in overtime.

But it was a team that wouldn't back down, and that intensity made for some very exciting games against teams that Belleville wasn't supposed to be even close to.

That was also a year that Buhet attained his 1,000th career point, ironically during that week of January 19-25, 1981. Buhet reached the milestone in a home game against Weehawkin, and presented the ball to his parents after eclipsing the mark. It was especially memorable, because Buhet's mother later succumbed to cancer.

Those were the days when a freshman girls' basketball player named Jennifer Apicella would play one on one basketball with a Belleville Times sports editor until midnight on Jenny's home court, which was also the driveway. Apicella never lost a game on her home court, and I've got the bad ankle to prove it. (Those games were wars. Jenny didn't know the meaning of an easy game, even a driveway game. It was that type of intensity that made her an All American who, today, still holds the state scoring record.)

Now, ten years later, life is somewhat different, but the League title on line this week

Wrestlers piling up wins

By Joe Piegaro

If every week went as well as last week, head coach Joe Nivocchia could run the wrestling team by remote control while sitting in his living room watching reruns of Star Trek.

His Buc matmen extended their record to 10-1 by pounding Paramus Catholic 63-3 and Teaneck 70-4. Almost everyone on the roster got a chance to fatten up his record and prepare for tonight's very important matchup with St. Joseph's of Montvale.

This week's schedule won't be quite as easy, for tonight's meet and Saturday's contest with Paramus will decide who wins the conference title in the N.J.I.L. It will also decide if the Buc qualify for Group 3 Section 2 State playoffs, and if they do qualify, how high they will be seeded.

Going into the last 16 days of the regular season, BHS still has three undefeated grapplers. Josh Cardinale (103 lbs., 15-0), Mike Miele (119 or 125 lbs., 8-0), and Danny Hywel (160 or 171 lbs., 8-0). All will be prepping for top seeds in the District 7 championships on Feb. 22/23.

Cardinale opened both of last week's cakewalks with easy victories. A fall over Paramus Catholic's John Ziomek took only 1:42 and Teaneck forfeited their 103 bout rather than send a wrestler out to face Belleville's sterling sophomore. With 10 pins to his credit, Josh has scored more team points than anyone on the squad, totalling 85 points on his pins, two forfeits, two technical falls and a decision.

The second half of Belleville's opening 1-2 punch, Mike Conte, also won both his bouts easily. A 15-0 technical fall over Andy Sellers of Paramus Catholic was followed by a forfeit win in the Teaneck dual meet. With a record of 14-2 and eight pins, Mike has a great chance of gaining the top seed in the District 7 tournament next month.

Tom Pontrella split weights this past week but won both times in the easiest of fashion. Wrestling at 125 lbs., Tommy was awarded a forfeit versus Paramus Catholic. Against Teaneck, he was the recipient of a no-sweat victory as Brian McKay stalled on five occasions, forcing referee Joe Longo to disqualify the Highwayman senior.

Freshman Enrico Della Merced got his varsity baptism and emerged with a 1-1 slate. Competing at 119 lbs. versus Paramus C., Enrico was awarded a forfeit victory. Two days later against Teaneck, Della Merced lost a 13-0 major decision to senior Ilin Martinez. This novice wrestler will fit in beautifully next year as part of an opening 1-2-3-4 punch, combining with Josh Cardinale, Isiah Cardinale and Mike Conte to form an imposing lower weight division.

The 130 lb. division has been, at least temporarily, the home of Angelo Torromeo. An 11-0 major decision over Paramus Catholic's Joe DiOrto was followed by a fall at 46 over Teaneck's Felipe Acobes. Now sporting a 6-3 record, Torromeo every day makes strides towards becoming the District 7 BHS entree at 130 lbs. With every bout he approaches the levels expected of him since his freshman year. Although his comeback is not yet complete, he certainly has made up a heckuva lot of lost ground.

Senior Chris Talbot has been elevated to 135 lbs. the last two weeks and has now improved his stats to 13-3 with three pins. After losing a 7-1 decision to Paramus Catholic's Tony Danna, Talbot rebounded by dominating Dave Solomon of Teaneck, 11-3.

Following Talbot in the lineup is Carlo Ritacco, now 12-3 after pinning both his opponents in a relatively easy manner. Wrestling up a weight at 140 lbs., Carlo decked Jay Arneson of Paramus C. with a 3-4 Nelson, then flattened Teaneck's Eric Olsen at 2:55 of the second period.

Vinnie DeSimone, wrestling both matches at 145 lbs., needed only to show up and make weight as both schools forfeited in his fight division. With a 11-4 record and five wins in a row, Vinnie appears to have gotten back on track after a shaky mid-season slump.

Captain Lee Hands showed his versatility by recording two pins, one at 152 lbs. and one at 160 lbs. The 152 lbs. bout was won over Paramus Catholic's Robert Jimenez by 147 of the opening period. Lee followed that up by decking Teaneck's 160 pounder Dave Spiegel in only 30 seconds with a cradle pinning combination. With a 15-1 record and 10 pins, Lee has established himself as the man to beat in the 145 lb. class when districts time rolls around.

Winning twice was a habit for most guys last week and Jimmy Mastropolo was no different as he pinned Jason Zube of Paramus Catholic, then was awarded a forfeit against Teaneck. Now at 8-6, Jimmy must stay above .500 so coach Nivocchia can get him seeded in the Dist. 7 championships. That may be quite a task as St. Joseph's and Paramus both boast excellent upper weights.

Not to be outdone by Hand's versatility, Danny Hywel exhibited some of his own by gaining a forfeit at 171 lbs. against the Paladins, then moving up to the 189 lbs. division to pin Carl Thrower of Teaneck. Danny has improved to 8-0 for the year and looks almost 100% recovered from his knee surgery. As stated earlier, this week's opponents are solid up top, so Hywel's presence is absolutely necessary if the Buc are to challenge for the N.J.I.L. heavyweight title.

Two losses by one point each

1981 or 1991? Bucs lose three games

By Mike Lamberti

Yogi Berra once said, "it's déjà vu, all over again." And, for faithful followers of the Buc's boys' basketball program, Berra's words proved quite prophetic.

Ten years to the week when the Buc played three games and lost two of them by one point each, Don Roll's 1990-91 club apparently felt a twinge of nostalgia and decided to honor the anniversary in grand style. The Buc lost to Don Bosco, 38-37 and Nutley, 58-57 in NJIIL action while losing a more conventional game to Montclair Immaculate in the county tournament, 79-65.

All kidding aside, the three losses put a big damper on the Buc's state playoff hopes. Belleville took a 4-9 record into this weeks action and the Buc have now lost four straight games.

Belleville took on Paramus Catholic last Tuesday. Tomorrow, the Buc are at Teaneck in a 4 p.m. game. This Saturday afternoon, Belleville plays host to St. Aloysius at 1 p.m. (This game was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but was postponed due to the county tournament.) Next Tuesday, Belleville is home to St. Joe's of Montvale in a 4 p.m. start.

For those Belleville basketball historians, the week of January 19-25, 1981 was a week of tremendous highs and lows. It started with a one point loss, at Nutley on January 20, 1981. The following evening, Belleville returned home and beat Weehawkin in a game that featured Wayne Buhet's 1,000th career point. The following Friday evening, January 23, the Buc lost by one point to St. Benedict's on a free throw after time had run out.

Those Bucs were coached by Joe Papasidero and the former coach still remembers that week as if it were yesterday.

Now, ten years later, the Buc were at it again. On the week of January 21-26, Belleville lost a one point game at home, to a parochial school and dropped a one point decision, again, at Nutley. The only difference in a decade is that Belleville didn't win the third game of the week, but a check of the stats indicates the Buc should have won.

"Three games, three losses," Roll said last Monday night. "Just look at the missed free throws in all three games, along with the missed layups and you'll see where we lost them. We're 4-9, and if we hit our shots, we should be 7-6."

In the Don Bosco game, Belleville appeared to be in good shape, taking a 35-27 lead early in the fourth quarter. However, the Buc offense, which was staggering throughout the game, stalled all together in the final six minutes of regulation time.

Don Bosco, who had lost to Belleville at home earlier in the season, rallied for 11 unanswered points and a 38-35 lead before the Buc cut the deficit to one point.

Belleville was outscored, 11-4 in the final frame after outscoring Don Bosco for the first three quarters.

Sal Straface, who shot well from three point range, led Belleville with 14 points. Troy Talmaidge scored nine, Dennis DeWork and Jim DuHaime scored six each and Michael Vista tallied two. The Buc missed five layups in the game and converted just five of ten from the free throw line.

Against Nutley, the situation was somewhat similar. Belleville outscored the Maroon Raiders for three of the games four quarters, but the one bad quarter, this time the third, proved quite costly. Belleville led, 26-24 at halftime, but Nutley game out strong in the third quarter and outscored Belleville 18-10 to take a 42-36 lead heading into the fourth.

The Buc regrouped to outscore Nutley, 15-11 in the final eight minutes, but it wasn't good enough and the Raiders won by one point.

It was also the second straight game in which a team Belleville had beaten earlier in the season had come back to avenge the defeat. DeWork and Talmaidge paced the Buccanear offense with 17 points each. DuHaime had 12, Ken Johansen tallied seven, Straface was held to three points and Art Curcio scored two.

In this game, Belleville missed eight foul shots (5 for 13).

Last Saturday, the Buc took on Montclair Immaculate in the first round of the Essex County tournament. And, for the second straight year, M.I. knocked the Buc out of the tourney in the first round.

Montclair led, 15-12 after one quarter and 40-28 at halftime. It was 66-46 after three quarters before Belleville cut the deficit to 14 points in the final frame.

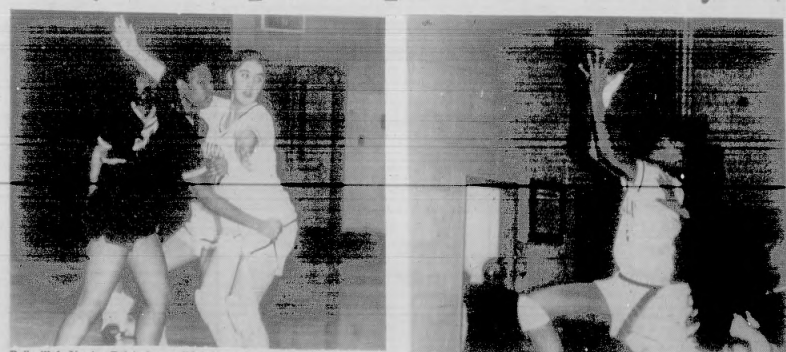

The most glaring stat from this game was, once again, Belleville's sub par foul shooting. The Buc missed 19 shots from the "charity stripe." The team was 14 for 33 from the line and it doesn't take Kim Juliano to figure out that 19 missed foul shots in a 14 point defeat is pretty conclusive.

"We had 26 turnovers, ten missed layups and the foul shots," Roll said. "What can I say? We work on these things in practice, but we haven't been executing in the games recently."

Talmaidge led Belleville with 22 points. DeWork had another solid game, scoring 17. Straface scored 11. DuHaime had eight, Ken Johansen scored three and Mike Kimball and Bryant Jimenez scored two each.

Thus, in a week where Belleville could have excelled, the team endured three tough defeats. If the Buc can overcome their foul shooting woes, the team could win some of those close games.

Rec wrestlers are dominating

Belleville Recreation Wrestlers continued their assault on the Essex County League. At home the boys rolled to a solid victory over Cedar Grove, 8-1-2. They registered seven pins by Frank Zarro, Chris Zarro, Dominic Tafari, Jorge Hernandez, Ed Miranda, John Fitzgibbons and John Spina.

Back on the road the matmen met their toughest opponent in Caldwell (2-0). Again, Belleville rose to the occasion and blasted Caldwell, 63-24.

Eight pins were chalked up by Tim Hands, Anthony Conte, Luke Cardinale, Keith Hands, John Perna, Chris Zarro, Tafari and George Hernandez. Fine efforts by J. Fitzgibbons and Anthony Frantantoni and F. Zarro helped ice the victory.

The J.V. and novice wrestlers followed in the footsteps of their varsity brothers as they went into Glen Ridge and registered nine pins and one major decision: Recording falls were: Wayne DeMet, Joey Cassera, Mike Paolo, Brian Rafferty, Chris Amico, Mike Tremel, Greg I. aria, Lou Scanzillo and Mike Biasi, with Mike Wallace scoring a major decision (14-1). Next week, look for J.V./novice results from their match in Caluwell. The Midget and Bantam Recreation Wrestlers invaded Roselle Park and needed a truck to cart home the medals. Mike Wallace showed exceptional aggressiveness in winning first place at 70 lbs. Mike Paolo won a tough decision over teammate Joey Cassera for 1st place. Joey took second. Anthony Conte was second place winner along with F. Zarro (2nd place), David Lara (2nd), J. Fitzgibbons (4th), Mike Fitzgibbons (4th), and Karl Meyers (4th).

against Paramus Catholic, upping his record to 8-5. But against Teaneck, JV heavyweight Anthony Mastropalo was given a chance to taste varsity competition and he responded in a most wonderful manner. Using an aggressive, straight ahead style, Anthony flattened an overmatched Matt Devlin in only 4:40. It was a refreshing change from most heavyweight matches, and Mastropalo's style could earn a few more trips up to the varsity before season's end.

BUC NOTES: Answer to last week's Trivia question: Rod Gobson transferred from Glen Ridge and won a Dist. 7 title at 101 lbs. in 1977-78. Carmine Trione transferred from Fair Lawn in 1985-86 and won a gold medal at 148 lbs. A third wrestler, Eddie Camuso, transferred from Essex Catholic in 1976-77 and won a title at 129 lbs. But Eddie never moved out of the town of Belleville. A wrestler of the week goes to Anthony Mastropalo for his debut on the varsity. It's been almost 15 years, back to the days of George D'Elia, since a BHS heavyweight showed so much movement, aggression and desire. Great job Anthony! Danny Hywel now has 7 career wins and is in 6th place on the all-time win list. Mike Miele with 43 wins and Lee Hands with 48 wins have broken into the top 25 Trivia Question of the Week: Who was the first ever Belleville wrestler to win a varsity tournament? Answer next week.

THIS WEEK'S QUIZ

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM WINS

Who scored the first touchdown in the history of the Super Bowl? Where was the first Super Bowl played? In the third quarter of the first Super Bowl, a member of the Green Bay Packers made a key interception that turned the game around. Who made that interception, and what was the score at the time of the interception?

(Wasn't Super Bowl I played during Vietnam? Did the league almost cancel that game, too?)

The Belleville girls' basketball team won its third game of the season, beating St. Vincent's of Newark last Monday afternoon, 43-22. Liz Ramirez led the Lady Bucs with 12 points.

Colleen Mannion scored eight, Danielle DeWork and Jennifer Abrams scored seven each, Zutay Fiallos tallied four, Adrienne Walsh scored three and Yanina Calvi finished the game with two points.

Earlier in the week, in a 55-32 Belleville loss to Nutley, Abrams played an excellent game, scoring 16 points for the Lady Bucs.

State tax law changes make filing more complex for New Jersey taxpayers

"Changes in state income tax law make filing more complicated for New Jersey taxpayers this year," says Bert Tobia, H & R block district manager in Clifton. "For example, the residential property tax deduction/credit and tenant credit were repealed effective Nov. 1, 1990.

"In addition," says Tobia, "the Homestead Rebate program was revised and now covers both tenants and homeowners. The amount of the rebate can be up to $500, depending on the taxpayer's New Jersey gross income and amount of property tax or rent paid. Any resident who wants to apply for the Homestead Rebate must file a New Jersey 1040, even if he or she would not otherwise be required to file an income tax return."

Tobia also pointed out that New Jersey tax rates will increase in 1991. In order to avoid an unpleasant surprise a year from now, taxpayers, especially two-earner married couples, may want to review their withholding for the coming year or to increase the amount of their estimated tax payments.

Tobia said that taxpayers with questions about the changes are invited to contact their local Block office or call Tobia at 365-0999 for free information regarding their individual situation.

The Home Front

By Nina Kaeser

Did You Know??

To hide ugly walls, one designer drilled dowels into the top edge, and hung silk panels from them — some flat and some draped. Panels can be taken down for cleaning now and then.

New synthetic concrete weighs only half as much as the regular kind. It comes in almost any color and is smooth enough to use for bathtubs and counter tops.

Ready for a new furniture arrangement to change the "feel" of your home? Before you start shoving sofas, it's smart to plan out the move with graph paper and cut-outs of furniture shapes.

Old, worn kitchen counter tops can be re-covered with another layer of plastic laminate. Painting is not advised because scratches or nicks might leave toxic particles in food.

Ever wonder how linoleum got its name? It was originally made with sheets of flax ("linum" in Latin) coated with a mixture of linseed oil for "oleum".

Ever wonder what's available in a house around town? We'll show you the nicest ones at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley, 235-9000.
