Municipal fleet inspected, 'conditions above average'

By Mike Lazorchak

Belleville's 34 vehicle maintenance fleet underwent an extensive inspection by a maintenance consultant to determine its quality and effectiveness in comparison with other municipalities.

The inspection and subsequent report, presented at the council work session March 4, were performed by Dennis Meehan, president of Vehicle Maintenance Consultants Inc. The cost of the inspection was $3,000.

Meehan brought a wealth of experience with him on his five-day examination of Belleville's facilities.

Four days were used to observe operations, communication and repair records. The final day Meehan and an assistant spent nine and a half hours inspecting the physical condition of the entire fleet.

He spent 20 years with a major truck manufacturer working in all areas related to truck maintenance. Meehan then worked eight years as a supervisor responsible for all aspects of maintenance for a fleet of 3,500 trucks.

In 1987 Meehan started V.M.C. and has worked as a consultant for private industries and approximately 20 municipalities in the last four years.

"I have worked for Fortune 500 companies and companies that have 8 trucks," Meehan said.

While Meehan did find Belleville deficient in some areas, the overall report was encouraging.

"In general, conditions in Belleville are above average in comparison to other municipalities," Meehan said.

"The age of the fleet is, on average, a little newer and there was no evidence of vehicle abuse by drivers and operators."

One of the areas Meehan found lacking was the repair shop. He cited improper use of space, par-

Layoffs eliminate six positions on May 1

By Mike Lazorchak

Six township positions will be eliminated effective May 1 resulting in the layoffs of six municipal employees. The elimination of these positions creates an anticipated savings of $136,509 for this year's budget.

Town Manager Bertrand Kendall made the announcement of the layoffs during his report to the town at the March 12 council meeting.

The layoffs notices ended two months of speculation after town officials announced in mid-January that a restructuring of the municipal government would result in the probable loss of six to ten positions.

Kendall also announced there would be four title changes in compliance with the new Administrative Code. There are no salary or duty changes expected with the changes in titles.

Three departments, finance, health and human services and planning and development will be affected by the layoffs.

Each department will lose two employees.

According to a notice given to all township employees, the following positions will be eliminated along with their respective departments:

- Supervisor of accounts — Finance
- Superintendent of weights and measures — Finance
- Administrative clerk/registrar

— Health and Human Services.

• Administrative secretary — Health and Human Services.

• Senior clerk — Health and Human Services.

• Field representative housing inspector — Planning and Development.

• Senior clerk (rent leveling) — Planning and Development.

The notice explains the Registrar's office will be reduced from four to two employees and title changes will be made. This accounts for the discrepancy of seven titles being listed but six positions being eliminated.

"This process is an unfortunate fact of life but is certainly not a pleasant one," Kendall said.

According to Kendall all proper procedures of the New Jersey Department of Personnel, civil service, were followed and the BMEA/Local 32 union was informed of the individuals scheduled for layoffs.

The actual savings, at 1990 salary rates, for an entire year would be $204,763. The figure of $136,509 is the savings starting May 1.

The May 1 effective date complies with the 45-day notice period required by civil service.

The layoffs notices come in the midst of budget preparation by the Town Council for 1991. The council has met the past two Saturdays for budget sessions.

Police Chief George Lister and Fire Chief Walter Beresford presented their requests to the council during a budget session March 9.

Lister is requesting five new men be added to the force in 1991. The possibility of several retirements of various ranks has forced the chief's hand in making the request.

When asked how he could possibly reduce his budget the chief pointed out 83 percent of the police budget is salaries, something difficult to trim.

The fire department is facing similar problems as a total of seven firefighters retired in the past year. The fire chief explained with the shortage of manpower there are times when engines need to be "deadlined," out of service.

Beresford also requested a new ambulance to continue providing quality emergency services for Belleville. The council requested a break-down of out-of-town runs the fire department emergency units perform and how Belleville can be compensated for performing these services to neighboring towns.

Beresford also believed selling some equipment and consolidating with more technologically advanced equipment could save the town money and provide better fire protection.

Reviving Belleville business

By Mike Lazorchak

The Department of Planning and Development unveiled its plan to restore the luster to Belleville's center district. The comprehensive project intends to unite Belleville by linking past to present and residents with business.

The first step in the link to residents came with the formation of the Building Development Advisory Council chaired by James Cozzarelli. According to director of planning Robert Ringleheim, the council was formed by the town government to establish a citizen bond.

Ringleheim said the revitalization of Washington Avenue has been his primary focus since coming to Belleville four months ago.

"We are trying to create a partnership between the town, private business, residents, county and state levels of government," Ringleheim said.

The target area for 1991 is between Rutgers Street and William Street on Washington Avenue.

"Once we create a prototype area, the most central area, additional areas will spin-off from there," Ringleheim said.

Economics also determined the project needed to start in a concentrated area where the results could be visible.

Frank Brooks, a consultant from Bruno Associates, worked with the advisory council on the economic aspects of the project, specifically in acquiring grants.

"I've had $2 million we could do the entire avenue," Brooks said. "When you have limited resources, you need to maximize the capabilities."

A grant of $47,343 from the Community Economic Revitalization Program, CERF, will fund the initial phases for the target area. The CERF is a new grant under the Community Development Block Grant program from the county.

Belleville has also established a relationship for assistance on larger projects with the Economic Development Corporation.

Other grants and loans Brooks has applied for include:

- Special Economic Development Areas from the state Department (continued on page 16)

Police help students DARE to say no

By Mike Lazorchak

Sixth grade students at School No. 7 are being dared by Belleville police to say no to drugs. Sgt. Joseph Rotunda of the narcotics squad visits the school every Wednesday to teach Drug Abuse Resistance Education, DARE.

The DARE program began in December after Rotunda attended a two-week course at the Bergen County Police Academy for instruction on how to teach the course.

"This is pilot program right now," Rotunda said, "but the kids have been very receptive so far."

According to the sergeant, the program was created in 1983 through the combined effort of the Los Angeles Police Department and the Los Angeles School District.

The program was initiated in School No. 7 because the school has four sixth grade classes, more than any other in the district.

Rotunda spends 45 minutes with each class teaching the lesson of the week. Some of the 17 lessons are:

- Drug use and misuse.
- Resistance techniques: Ways to say no.
- Managing stress without taking drugs.
- Decision making and risk taking.

ing.

In addition to the prepared lessons, the students also received DARE workbooks, which were provided by the Belleville Alliance for Substance Education. The books contain quizzes about the effects of drugs, cartoons on how to say no, how to choose a value system and other aids to give students the confidence to be drug free.

"We want to start educating children at this age so that by high school they have the knowledge to say no," Rotunda said.

A DARE question box is also placed in each classroom. If students have any questions they do not want to ask in front of the class, they can put them in the box and Rotunda answers them at the beginning of the next class.

He compares educating people about drugs to the anti-smoking campaign that has swept the nation. According to Rotunda, the percentage of Americans who smoke has dropped from 66 percent to 33 percent in the last five years.

Rotunda believes drug education is an equal partner, with law enforcement, in fighting the war on drugs.

"Experts feel law enforcement can't do it alone," the sergeant said. "The answer is the combination of education and enforcement."

The combination appears to be working in Belleville as the number of persons arrested on narcotics charges dropped from 424 in 1989 to 296 in 1990. The number of charges also dropped from 630 to 430 respectively.

"The word on the street is to stay out of Belleville, because you will be arrested," Rotunda said.

Rotunda also attributes the decline in narcotics arrests to new tactics implemented by the narcotics squad.

"We focused more on distribution investigations, going after the dealers, and as a result we made larger seizures than ever last year," Rotunda said.

Rotunda cited three busts as evidence of the success of distribution investigations. Belleville police seized 1,700 cocaine and doridan pills with a street value of $3,400, three ounces of cocaine valued at $2,700 and a seven pound seizure of marijuana valued at $15,000 in 1990.

BHS students participate in math competition

By Dena Lacara

On Tuesday, February 26, 58 students participated in the Forty-Second Annual American High School Mathematics Competition at Belleville High School. The ninety-minute competition, sponsored by the Mathematics Association of America and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, consists of thirty multiple choice questions which require a high degree of skill in algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and probability. Some students competed just for the experience, while others were eager to test their own mathematical ability. The first place winner of the competition will receive a pin from the Mathematics Association of America. First, second, and third place winners will receive certificates of achievement. The winners of the competition are: first place Mark Venezuela, grade eleven; second place Jennifer Best, grade twelve; and third place Marvin Valladares, grade ten. The winners will be recognized for their achievement at the annual Raymond O. Smith Scholastic Awards program to be held on May 29 at Belleville High School.

PEP members visit the Middle School

By Allison Zampino

On the afternoon of March 6, the Peen Educating Peers Club traveled to Belleville Middle School to educate the seventh and eighth graders about the AIDS virus.

Before going on the trip, the nine seniors went through two days of Red Cross training. The advisors of the PEP Club are Ms. Meola, BHS Substance Abuse Coordinator; Mr. Esposito, BHS guidance counselor; Mrs. Guardino, BHS school nurse.

to educate other peers about the AIDS virus by telling about the disease itself, its transmission and its prevention.

The nine members split into three separate groups and addressed thirty students each. This trip was the first visitation to a school and the members are looking forward to more trips. The club will also visit the sixth, seventh and perhaps the ninth grades. The PEP Club will soon be addressing parents and other adults from the community.

BHS thanks all who helped

By Dena Lacara

Between September 30, 1990 and February 16, 1991, Belleville High School collected a total of $293,406 in ShopRite register receipts. This allows the high school to be eligible through the "Apple For Students"

ShopRite program, Apple IIE computer system and additional selected hardware and software.

Mr. Lemongello, math supervisor, and the BHS staff would like to thank the following people and organizations for their cooperation: parents and staff of BHS who contributed, Mrs. O'Connell and the BHS Home and School Association, the three branches of Peoples Bank, First Fidelity Bank, Wallace and Tiernan, Mansel Ceramics, Mrs. Cammarato and the Belleville Music Parents Association, the Tuesday and Friday social clubs of the Belleville Senior Citizen Club Incorporated, Senior Citizens of Belleville Park-Monday Club, K-Mart, and Vito Sylvestri's Meat Market.

Regional honors for duo

By Allison Zampino

On February 8 at Morris Hills High School, Belleville High School seniors Steve Malato and Ara Akian performed in an All North Jersey Regio I concert. Malato performed with the choir while Akian performed with an 85 piece orchestra. The concert lasted two hours which was divided between the choir and the orchestra.

Tryouts were held on Jan. 15 at Paramus High School with approximately 500 people trying out for Tenor I and II levels. Malato was one of thirty to place in the Tenor I section while Akian took fourth place out of nine other string basses. In order to try out, they had to be active members of their school choir or orchestra and their teacher had to be affiliated with the New Jersey Regional Choir or Orchestra group. For tryouts, the students who entered the competition were graded on performance of a solo, scales, and sight reading.

For one month before the concert, rehearsals took place at Morristown and Morris Hills High School. There were four rehearsals lasting five hours and two lasting eight hours.

Malato has been singing for fun since he was very young and for approximately the past year he has been taking lessons every other week. He recently sang the national anthem at support rallies for the troops stationed in Saudi Arabia which took place at the Amvets Hall and Belleville High School. Akian has been playing string bass for the past seven years. He started studying the string guitar bass in fifth grade and has also been privately studying piano for the past seven years. In 1987 and 1988, Akian performed in the Junior High School Region I orchestra. Neither plan on following a musical career, but both would like to pursue their musical interests while in college.

Ara Akian

Both Malato and Akian said taking part in the concert was a chance to meet a lot of people. As Akian puts it, "It was a musical experience." Malato said, "It was a privilege to be in the choir. Every one was there for one main purpose — to put on the best show possible."

BHS word processors gain inside view

By Kim Dullaghan

On February 28th, Mrs. Montano's second period class went on a trip to State Farm Insurance Company's North Eastern Regional Office in Wayne.

Robert Gagnier, the word processing supervisor, gave the class a tour of the complex. They were first brought to the conference room, where they were served refreshments and briefed about what they were going to see. The students were then brought to the word processing department and placed with a worker. They were shown how to do the work, and were given the practical experience of doing the job themselves.

Gagnier also gave the students a brief tour of the data processing department and accounting department.

Eleventh grader, Helene Cetralo said, "The nice lady with whom I spoke taught me a lot about word processing that will be helpful in the future."

Key Club is growing

When Melanie Bonacorsa was elected president of Belleville High Schools' Key Club, she vowed that by the time her term as president was complete, the Key Club would be one of the most popular and active clubs in school.

Nearing the end of her second term, Melanie's promise has been realized. Membership in the Key Club has reached new heights, increasing from 52 to over 130 members. What is more, the club's activities have expanded and blossomed during this time. The Friday morning "Bagel Breakfast" tradition, which brings students and faculty together, continues to grow in popularity. As a result, the club has successfully raised over $2,000 in the past two years which will eventually be donated to charity.

The club has also contributed the time and effort of its members for the benefit of community service, including sponsoring Halloween parties for the youngsters at the Cerebral Palsy Center, visiting patients at local hospitals during holiday time and raising money for the American Heart Association by participating in the annual Walk-A-Thon. Preparations are underway for the first time ever Senior Citizens Hop to be held in the early spring.

The membership increase of the Key Club has also received recognition outside the school earning the club the Early Bird Dues Award, the GRIP Award, and fourth place in its division. In addition to these achievements, the club ran a candidate for District-wide office, competing with Key Clubs throughout the region. This was the first time that the BHS Key Club was represented in any District elections.

In April, members of the Belleville Key Club will attend the annual District Key Club Convention at the Tannin Resort in the Poconos. This will be the second year that Belleville has been represented.

As the frenzied pace of her senior year begins to slow, Melanie can take stock of her two years as Key Club president. Despite early student apathy, she has enjoyed the challenge of building the club to what it is today.

In the fall of 1990, over 250 students filled into room 114 to sign up for the Key Club. Through all of the chaos and excitement, it was necessary to get everyone's attention and move the meeting to a much larger room. Melanie stated, "At that point, I did not mind the crowds. I smiled at the eager faces and knew that with so many members, I must have done something right."

Clara Maass earns accreditation

Clara Maass Medical Center has been granted renewal of accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Robert S. Curtis, president and CEO of Clara Maass Medical Center.

Accreditation follows an intensive on-site inspection by specially trained representatives of the Association and establishes that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the rigorous standards set by the AABB. By successfully meeting those requirements, Clara Maass Medical Center can join more than 2,200 similar facilities across the United States and abroad that have earned the accreditation rating and recognition.

Curtis explained: "The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a blood bank or transfusion service to be accredited, but for many others, our facility has sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations. The primary goal of the program is to assist facilities like ours to achieve excellence, and thus provide higher quality blood, blood components and other services to patients."

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

President Bush's fiscal 1992 budget proposes cutting another $25 billion in Medicare funds while boosting premiums for the higher-income beneficiaries on top of $43 billion sliced from the program in last year's budget reconciliation act.

While conceding that further reductions were not anticipated when last year's budget agreement was reached, the White House contends that Medicare's growth — up 14 percent to $107 billion last year — forced a reassessment. However, the administration's fiscal 1992 budget proposes little to control rising health costs which account for most of Medicare's growth.

The single biggest change affecting older Americans would cut $2.9 billion from Medicare in the next fiscal year, and a total of $25 billion between the fiscal years 1992 through 1996. Most of the cuts would be in payments to doctors and hospitals — $2.4 billion of next year's total for example.

However, the administration also proposed tripling Medicare Part B premiums for beneficiaries with higher incomes. The monthly tab for Part B, which pays doctors' bills, would rise to $89.70 a month. It's now $29.90. That's for each.

Would not that amount to $179.40 a month for a husband and wife with Medicare? And would it not amount to $215.20 a year? And would it not be tabulated on the Form SSA-1099 — Social Security Benefit Statement under Box 5 Net Benefits for the year which MUST be computed in the Social Security Benefits Worksheet to determine taxable Social Security benefits? Apparently it would.

Would it not eventually, if carried to completion, practically subject most on Social Security to, at least, partial taxation upon their Social Security benefits which President Roosevelt pledged "would never be taxed," but which President Ronald Reagan brought in his "Giants of Industry" who decreed that could be taxed if exceeding certain income levels...all of which with varied changes are bringing most above the poverty level eventually to the point of taxation upon some of their Social Security income.

Concerns are being raised about the future direction of Medicare. The cost increases could backfire by reducing the number of beneficiaries who participate. Some well-off people may question whether it's worth participating. The fact that Plan B is voluntary makes it a problem. They can afford private health insurance coverage which most retired seniors can not.

Studies of how other countries handle and control their health coverage situations should be carefully reviewed with an eye to correcting the spiraling inflationary health care costs in this country.

Efforts, seemingly, in some states, have been invoked to control and equate health care and physician fees which might be studied and reviewed...there is a greater need for some semblance of uniformity for medical fees for both our hospitals and doctors.

Note the Blue Cross disclosures of 7 top executives being paid more than $100,000 a year as one of the principal reasons for needless health care high costs for insurance. Put an end to this "grab-bag" benefits to insurance company executives.

It becomes the incumbent responsibility of the Congress to preserve and protect the sanctity and integrity of the Social Security funds to insure that they will be properly managed in a manner that will insure their liquidity and availability for committed disposal at the proper time. It is not within the province of the President to expropriate these monies without the approval and consent of the Congress of the United States.

OUR OPINION

Study your paycheck

Have you studied your payroll check recently? Do you know how much the federal government has had deducted from your earnings for Social Security and Medicare? Or have you noted how much you had paid in 1990 in Social Security? Check it out when you do your income taxes.

According to data of Tax Foundation (nonprofit and nonpartisan), the median income family, consisting of two wage earners and two dependent children, paid out $6,357 in federal income tax and $3,934 in Social Security tax. In other words, Social Security taxes have risen to nearly 60 percent of federal income taxes for most middle-class families.

Under current law, employer and employee each pays a 7.65 percent tax on earnings: 6.2 percent for Social Security and 1.45 percent on Medicare. The maximum wages subject to these taxes have risen to $53,400. Meanwhile, Congress is using tens of billions of surplus Social Security funds to help cover up its annual budget deficit — its spending and spending and spending.

Senators Daniel Moynihan of New York (a Democrat) and Robert Kasten of Wisconsin (a Republican) have introduced legislation to have Social Security tax reduced to 5.2 percent in 1996. We should like to see the tax decreased more rapidly, say to 5 percent by 1993.

Coupled with the decrease in percentage rates to employees and employers, we urge Congress to strengthen the rules by which the Social Security Administration operates. We hear and read too many reports of freeloaders being granted "disability" (usually the back or the brain somehow becomes unable to function, but other organs including the hand-held-out continue unimpaired) to persons who should be out earning their daily bread the old-fashioned way — work.

Finally, Congress should increase the amount of income persons on Social Security may receive before hefty levies are imposed. In this way, the elderly would not be punished through taxation on the money they invested during their younger years. Government should stop stealing from those elderly who have managed to save.

In short, Congress should reform Social Security without threatening those who rightfully earned it!

Investigate the 'Blues'

So now we discover that the Blues (Blue Cross and Blue Shield) apparently operate as had the collapsed savings & loan companies: Pay top executives enormous salaries; give out perks galore, including country club privileges to the bosses; award "bonuses" to the managers; and then cry before the state insurance department that it requires another hefty increase in premiums from its customers. Talk about the Turnpike and Parkway executive giveaways!

The Blues want another premium increase, 47 percent higher affecting more than 500,000 individual customers, including more than 243,000 elderly.

In the private sector, when bosses screw up and go bankrupt, or otherwise cannot operate their businesses productively and profitably, company stockholders usually dump the executives, or another company or group of directors oust the incompetent and, sometimes, corrupt ones. Somehow or another, thrift institutions and insurance companies never fire their failed executives. Or when they are let go, executives never jump from the windows in their lush corner offices; no, they are given golden parachutes and their $1,500 portraits are affixed to the walls in the inner sanctum boardroom.

One of these days — but do not expect Congress to do so! — a political leader will lead a probe into the mess in thrift institutions. And one of these days we shall be relieved from 47 percent increases from the Blues as well as 70-100 percent increases in tolls from the Turnpike. Who will clean out these nests of bloodsuckers? Speak, who?

YOUR OPINION

Responsive and efficient government?

To the editor:

Candidate Marina Perna pledged to provide an open, responsive, and efficient government. She even stated at Candidate's Night she would set up a special phone number for citizens to contact her.

Mayor Perna broke every one of her campaign promises. Her first act was to provide herself a $4,000 salary instead of the $750 campaign pledge. Next, an attempt was made to restrict citizens from speaking at town meetings and threatening to send them to jail. Locking people out of meetings and gag orders on municipal employees continued the deception. Mayor Perna and council then proceeded to hire a town manager with salary and benefits close to $100,000, an engineer for $66,000, a planner for $53,000, and a town attorney with a sweetheart deal like the former board of ed attorney had a few years ago. Not one of these individuals lives in Belleville.

Despite all these high-priced "professionals," despite the $809,000 that the council increased the budget in August, despite the $700,000 surplus in the garbage account, the new government now states it is $750,000 in the hole. Maybe the five councilpersons who accepted the $1,500 dinner from the new consulting engineer should have had the money donated to the town coffers instead. (Or the engineer could have reduced his fee.)

Mayor Perna has stated the township only had one working truck when she took over and new equipment wasn't purchased in years. This statement is either the result of poor advice from her directors, or is it an out-and-out lie?

In three short years, the board of commissioners purchased many pieces of new equipment including new sweeper, new fire truck, new front end loader and backhoe, new water truck, new leaf sweeper-mulcher, new pick-up trucks, new police

Loyal representation

To the editor:

First I would like to say thank you Lois Servidio for a job well done.

Upon returning from my winter vacation I was saddened to hear that our Past President of the Belleville Democratic Club had planned not to seek re-election as a Democratic County Committee Member. Lois has always dedicated her time for the citizens of the Valley section in Belleville.

Now to answer last week's letter by Republican Chair Yanzutti to the editor of the Belleville Times, that Belleville Democratic Chairman Chester Prosperi will be hard pressed to find someone to replace Lois as a County Committee Member: Under the strong leadership of Chairman Chester Prosperi and Vice Chairwoman Marie Strumolo Burke, a Democratic candidate will be selected that is just as concerned, loyal and dedicated in representing the Valley section of the Township of Belleville.

Joseph L. Alencio

cars, portable leaf blowers, portable leaf mulcher, glass crusher, new rack body truck (which is presently being used to collect leaves), new senior citizen bus, new mini-van, new paper recycling dumpsters, new tire recycling dumpster, 60 new concrete waste receptacles, new litter pick-up carts, and a list of hand, power and other equipment too long to mention in this letter. Maybe the problem was that the board of commissioners didn't pose for pictures with every piece of equipment, as the new council loves to do.

The debris at the public works yard is another issue of extreme distorted propaganda. The new administration has failed to oversee and enforce the procedures put in place by the board of commissioners. Tires should not be allowed to accumulate because a dumpster was purchased specifically for tires and arrangements to have the garbage contractor haul them to a recycling center is written right into the garbage contract. Appliances were also hauled to a recycling center by Pucillo, as town documents will prove. Leaves were also hauled to a composting facility.

The big question is why was there an accumulation of debris, when there was $700,000 surplus in the garbage dumping fee account? I suspect the plan was as follows:

Make a public statement there is a severe problem at the public works yard (and blame it on the prior administration)! Next, state the cost of the clean-up will be $100,000 to $200,000! Ask the DEP for 150 days to clean up the yard!

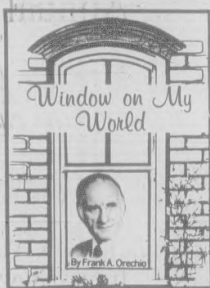

Then, simply recycle the tires, appliances, and leaves as per existing procedures. Put up a new fence, as had been planned for and provided for in the budget by the prior administration. Remove the balance of construction debris, which should not have been picked up in the first place. Then, complete the clean-up in less than 60 days, at a cost of less than $75,000 and do a follow-up press release stating how efficient the new government and town manager are.

Sorry, Mayor Perna and Council, the people of Belleville will not fall for this one. On March 2, 1990, I toured the public works facility with some residents and saw the miraculous clean-up almost completed.

While browsing through old newspapers, I was reminded of Marina Perna's campaign slogan "Let Reason Reign." Webster's dictionary defines "reign" as "to possess or exercise sovereign power or authority; to rule as a king or queen; to hold supreme power." Mayor Perna should wake up and realize that she was only elected a councilperson, not "Queen for a Year."

When my friends and supporters asked who I would support for an at-large candidate, I suggested Miss Perna as a young lady who appeared able to unite Belleville. However, the old cliché is still valid: "You can't judge a book by its cover." If Mayor Perna would abandon her ridiculous limitation on citizens' input, she may discover that sincere, dedicated residents can provide her and the council with information that will benefit her image and the township's welfare.

THE PASSAIC VALLEY SEWER COMMISSION has good news for area taxpayers. A "very long, arduous and intense" litigation process was brought to a successful conclusion this week by Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission Council, Jim Piro of Nutley.

The paying public will save $30 million resulting from favorable terms of a sludge disposal contract.

In the light of bad news from various governmental offices concerning actual or potential tax increases, it is nice to know there is a government bureau that is working at the job of saving taxpayers millions of dollars.

• THE recent passing of Elsie Ciccone brings back more than 55 years of memories. Firstly, Elsie was a gem of a person — and those among us who could call her "friend" are fortunate, indeed. A no-nonsense lady — I first made her acquaintance when Elsie was "Clerk" for the Nutley High School principal who, in the early 1930's, was Dr. Floyd Harshman. But Elsie was more than a clerk. She made Nutley High School students feel that Elsie Ciccone was their best friend, and I was among the lucky ones.

Throughout her employment with the Nutley public school system and continuing after her retirement, Elsie Ciccone participated in every civic event that touched her life. She was a walking encyclopedia of Nutley history. During the years that I went to Nutley High School, Elsie came off as a tough disciplinarian, but those that knew her were aware of her soft heart — for she was very compassionate. During the last couple decades, whenever a civic organization held a meeting to improve the quality of life in Nutley, Elsie Ciccone was sure to be present. Though Elsie may have passed out of our lives, memories of Elsie as a wholesome, beautiful, caring person live on forever. May her soul rest in peace.

• As this column goes to press, we learned of the death of two individuals I have known during my entire adult life time. Mrs. Anna Rose, of Nutley and Hallandale, Fla., the widow of the late Sal Rose, died Sunday. The Rose family local roots go back to the turn of the century when the family settled on the Nutley side of King Street, just south of St. Mary's Place. I grew up two doors south of the Rose home. Industriously and law-abiding, the Rose family was in the soil contracting business almost from the beginning of the Great Depression in the early 30's. For decades the late Sal Rose enjoyed a warm and close relationship with Hoffmann-La Roche officials; and back then, he probably was the only contractor whose equipment was used and stored on Roche property. Character, trust, integrity, competence were — and are — the qualities that made the Rose name a legend in the contracting business throughout the area.

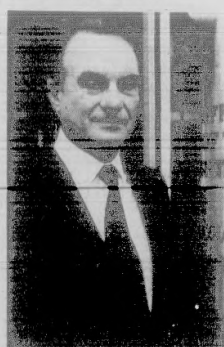

• CONDOLENCES to the family of the late Frank Scarpelli of Belleville who, during his senior years, was very active with the Belleville and Essex County senior citizen groups.

I also received news that an old and dear friend, former Passaic Mayor Nick Martini, died rather suddenly. I have met many competent attorneys during my lifetime — Nick Martini was among the best. He served a long period as Passaic County Counsel. In 1954, I hired his services in a vote recount which enabled Cliff Case to take the oath of United States Senator. The recount, conducted under the guidance and supervision of Nick Martini, was responsible for Case's ultimate victory. Nick Martini didn't mind traveling from the northernmost part of our state in Sussex County to the southern tip of Cape May County, supervising the counting of paper ballots — all in the name of good government. He received no compensation for his services which extended over an intense six-week period.

• I SEE by the newspapers that my friend, Essex County Executive Tom D'Alessio is having trouble trying to produce a budget without overburdening the troubled taxpayers. If the truth were known, D'Alessio probably would be more content in the job he did so well for a number of years as Essex County Sheriff. But life goes on — the move ment for proud and ambitious people is upward and onward, and Tom is no exception to the rule. No job — public or private — is neither joyful nor sorrowful — most jobs that I know of have a mixture of both — hopefully, we try to find more joy than sorrow in the job we undertake. Despite its troubles, Tom D'Alessio's smile — thoroughly sincere — remains his trademark. Apparently, nothing gets him down — even budget bad news.

• STATE Police Superintendent Col. Justin Dintino has just completed his first year in office, and the period has been marked with major changes. Dintino defied the primary mission of State Police as that of "crime control and protecting life and property." Among his priority items was ordering troopers to avoid illegal searches and seizures on the highways. He emphasized a need for troopers to give a greater respect for the rights of citizens. He tripled the number of state police instructors in the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program. Major racketeering investigations were undertaken against "previously ignored" organized crime groups. He cut back on administrative positions and reassigned personnel to road service. He eliminated State Police responsibility to serve as casino "bouncers." Dintino reduced the overall trooper strength from 4,544 to 4,022. With one year's service behind him, Dintino has proven to be an excellent choice to succeed the former State Police head, Col. Clinton Pagano, who held the post for 15 years.

Arts exhibition

Currently on exhibit at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center is a Touring Art Exhibit of the New Jersey School of the Arts, 1990-1991. The New Jersey School of the Arts is a state-legislated program, based at the New Jersey State Department of Education, which provides advanced training in the arts for students in grades 9-12. These programs are run in college, school districts, and community centers. This current art exhibit includes work produced in the NJSA summer visual arts programs at Glassboro and Montclair State College. Among the four professional artists that worked with the students at these locations were Dr. Herbert Appelson, Yolanda Burke, William Goricca, and Walter Swales.

Among the students on exhibit are Vickie Beggs, Vineland High School, Karen A. Blake, Kingsway Regional High School, Shawn Breen, Eastern Christian High School, Daniel Chen, Parsippany High School, Paul Del Polito, Belleville High School, Jynell Denby, Vineland High School, Candace DeStefano, Kingsway Regional High School, Kristen Geene, Nutley High School, Brian Gerber, Woodstown High School, Eric Gerdau, Chatham High School, Terrance Harrell, Rosa Parks High School, Tamina King, Irvington High School, Marianne Kolodji, Montville High School, Eric Lunkpist, Glen Rock High School, Renee Miller, Plainfield High School, Darcy Omeus, Irvington High School, Elizabeth Robinson, West Morris Central High School, Nicole Saladino, Cranford High School, Stephanie Siebert, West Orange, High School, Donny Siple, Cedar Grove High School, Erica Streit, Montclair High School, Amanda Taylor, Montclair High School, Victor Tente, Kearny High School, Lori Townsend, Kingsway Regional High School, Gregory Welner, Pasack Hills High School, and Kirsten Yadousa, Sparta High School.

The exhibit thus far has toured Glassboro State College Art Department Gallery, Montclair State College Art Gallery, the Capitol Plaza Building Lobby in Trenton, Academy for the Advancement of Teaching and Management, The Business Center, in Edison, Ocean City Art Center, Automatic Data Processing, and our library. The exhibit will proceed to Camden County Cultural and Heritage Commission, and the Gallery 50 in Bridgeton.

The exhibit can be viewed during regular library hours in the library's Trustees' Room.

New encyclopedias added

New encyclopedias to the Belleville Public Library and Information Center include "Academic American Encyclopedia," the only complete new general encyclopedia added in more than a decade, with 9 million words, 32,000 entries, and 16,000 illustrations. In addition, "World Book Encyclopedia" has been added in 1991, which is 22 volumes in size, with thousands of pages of revision. Still another reference, the "New Encyclopedia Britannica" has been added, which is the 15th edition, providing the Microfiche of tens of thousands of shorter articles on persons, places, and things, arranged in alphabetical order, and the Macropedia, which provides longer articles. These encyclopedias are available in the Ready Reference Section of the library. They do not circulate, but articles can be xeroxed from the encyclopedias. Remember many articles in the encyclopedias have been prepared by experts in the field. Many articles have been signed by the experts.

Hodes to perform

In honor of National Women's History Month, Elizabeth Hodes, of the Elizabeth Hodes Vocal Theater, will present a special program on March 21, at 1 p.m. at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Avenue, entitled "A Woman's World." In the program the singer, actress, and dancer will challenge the myth of the "man's world" in works of composers and writers, both women and men. Hodes is known for her past performances at the library of "La Musique de Piaf" and "An Evening With Fred Astaire."

Funding has been made possible, in part, by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts through grant funds administered by the Essex County Division of Cultural and Historic Affairs. Call the library at 450-3434 to register for the program, which is also co-sponsored by the Friends of the Belleville Public Library.

Anna Rosa Mazur recently addressed the library on the art of crocheting. She also conducts an active crocheting class on Tuesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. If you wish to register as a beginner or intermediate. She has been conducting classes at the library since 1974.

Book discussion series

Registration is being taken for the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities' and the library's book discussion on Lust for Life, which will run from April 3 to November 20, on Wednesdays at 1 p.m. Among the books in the series are "Lust for Life," "The Odyssey," "Don Quixote," "Twelfth Night," "Taming of the Shrew," "Anna Karenina," "Great Expectations," "The Old Man and the Sea," "Sophie's Choice," and "Christopher Columbus." Call the library's Circulation Desk at 450-3434 and register with Carrie Stahl and Barbara Dombrowski.

National Women's History Month

In honor of National Women's History Month, the Belleville Public Library and Information Center will be offering a program entitled "A Woman's World," by the Elizabeth Hodes Theater. Funding for this program has been made possible in part by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, through grant funds administered by the Essex County Division of Cultural and Historic Affairs. Call the library to register for the program on Thursday, March 21, at 1 p.m., at 450-3434.

Town truck fleet inspected ticularly storage area for parts and tools, as the primary problem.

However, the consultant also believes inexpensive modifications and a gradual program of upgrading could transform the repair shop to more efficiently meet Belleville's needs.

An example is the lack of proper files recording repair work. This is something that could be implemented at very little cost and save money by avoiding unnecessary repair work.

The consolidation of the William Street facility into the Cortland Street facility would also save on time and storage and better suit Belleville's needs.

Meehan thought the mechanics were knowledgeable and doing a "good job under existing conditions," and could be trained to run an efficient shop.

He suggested three main areas of training for the mechanics to receive:

- Preventative maintenance training.
- Repair shop paper work training.
- On-going training on all equipment done free by manufacturers.

The age of the fire engine fleet also concerned Meehan. Three engines are 26-years-old and one engine is 21-years-old. The life expectancy of most fire apparatus is twenty years, Meehan said.

In his report, Meehan recommended a replacement program for these vehicles be put into effect and no major refurbishment of the units. Reducing vehicle repair through preventative maintenance, optimum fleet use and proper replacement schedules are the goals Meehan tries to achieve with all of his clients. He would like to see that done in Belleville by having department heads review the services the fleet must provide.

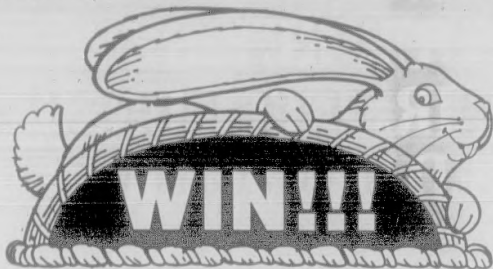

"The department heads need to justify the right truck for the right job in order to make proper use of your fleet," Meehan said.

Meehan is also a firm believer in assigning responsibility. Department heads should be responsible for inspecting their fleet and drivers should be responsible for their vehicle.

Meehan concluded his report by outlining 17 recommendations he thought would benefit the Belleville fleet.

If the town retains his consulting services for the year, an approximate cost of $5,000, Meehan would take responsibility for putting his suggested programs into practice.

He would be in Belleville one day for three months and then one day a month for the rest of year. He would also maintain an open line of telephone communication to answer any questions.

Belleville man arrested impersonating officer

A Belleville man has been accused of stealing $1,000 from a Bloomfield resident after the suspect fraudulently represented himself as a police officer, detectives said.

Bloomfield Police Chief John McNiff said the suspect, identified as 29-year-old Anthony Cagnina Jr., was arrested Thursday. He was charged with impersonating a public official and theft of moveable property, McNiff said.

Cagnina faces similar charges in Newark and East Orange, the chief noted, adding the case will be referred to an Essex County grand jury.

He said the victim left his North 17th Street home 1:25 a.m. Jan. 22 and was about to get into his car when the suspect approached.

Cagnina showed the victim a badge, identified himself as a police officer, and asked the victim for proof of vehicle ownership, McNiff said.

At Cagnina's direction, the victim emptied his pockets — including $1,000 cash — onto the hood of the car.

He then was told to get the requested information from the glove compartment, and as he did so, Cagnina fled with the money, the chief said.

He said the suspect was arrested as a result of a cooperative investigation by the Newark, East Orange and Bloomfield detective bureaus.

A complaint was signed in Bloomfield by Det. Sgt. Thomas Bianco.

Tax-free income for senior citizens. Are tax rates lower for seniors?

No income is tax-free solely because you reach age 65, says Bert Tobia, District Manager of H & R Block. Whether or not income is taxable depends on the source of that income, and sometimes on how much other income you have. Social Security benefits, for example, are non-taxable for many retirees. For others, up to 50 percent of these benefits are taxable, depending on the amount of other income reported on their income tax return, says Tobia.

Tax rates are the same for everyone. Taxpayers age 65 or older do get an extra standard deduction, $800 or $650 if married or a qualified widow(er). Also, if you or your spouse is age 65 or older, the Credit for the Elderly may save you as much as $4,125, depending on your circumstances.

According to Tobia, sources of tax-free income include most municipal bond interest, the portion of your retirement income that represents a recovery of your contributions to a retirement plan, and gifts and inheritances you receive.

Whenever you have questions, call your local H & R Block office or call Tobia at 365-0999.

CCB essay contest open

The Concerned Citizens of Belleville will be sponsoring an essay contest open to all Belleville residents who are high school seniors at any school.

The title of the essay is "What I Would Do To Better My Community." All essays must be 300 words, typed, double spaced, and submitted by April 17. The winner will receive a $100 cash prize, an award plaque, and 3 tickets to the annual scholarship fund raising dinner dance.

Send all entries to: Concerned Citizens of Belleville Inc., P.O. Box 353, Belleville, N.J. 07109.

Orechio bill passes Senate, moves on to Assembly

The Senate has approved a bill sponsored by Senator Carmen A. Orechio (D-Essex) that would "improve" the state's Right to Know Advisory Council by adding a member of the Fire Safety Commission, according to a press statement.

The bill, S-1939, would increase the council's membership to 12 by the addition of a fire safety commissioner.

"It's only logical to have a member of the Fire Safety Commission serving on a council that advises state departments and agencies on issues concerning hazardous substances in the workplace," said Senator Orechio, an advocate of fire safety issues and chairman of the Fire Safety Commission.

The commission has issued comprehensive recommendations that have augmented the state's Uniform Construction Code in fire safety.

The group has pushed for installation of smoke detectors in all residential dwellings and the banishment of unsafe space heaters. The commissioner would serve for three years. The bill passed 35-0 and now goes to the Assembly.

Sen. Carmen Orechio

"Serving The Community For 40 Years"

Pharmacy Footnotes

SOMEONE TO WATCH OVER YOU

Pharmacists from a New York hospital recently derived great benefit from a computerized check of doctors' prescriptions and the computerized medical histories of the hospital's patients. The cross-check revealed that three prescriptions out of every 1,000 had been entered without the doctors realizing the potential for a problem. Either the possibility existed that the drugs would be taken in dangerous combinations with others, or the patients were allergic to the drugs prescribed. This chance for error points out the value of a neighborhood pharmacist who supervises the prescription activity of his or her customers. With or without a computer, your pharmacist can keep track of all your family's prescriptions. As long as all prescriptions are filled at a single pharmacy, patients can expect neighborly care and concern.

We hope you'll make us your family prescription center. All your needs are handled quickly and efficiently at ROSS-MORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. Wheel chairs, walkers, crutches, canes and other convalescent aids are rented or sold. Stop by for your Easter needs. Greeting cards, Russell Stover candies, cosmetics, toiletries and Timex watches are stocked. Opens: 9am - 10pm daily, 9am - 9pm Sundays.

HINT: The pharmacist can also help patients by anticipating their need for a prescription refill.

'Vietnam syndrome' alive

To the editor:

First let me state for the record that I did in fact support President Bush, the U.S. and all the armed forces during the Gulf War. I believe it was the right thing to do. What does bother me, however, is that in a recent press statement, President Bush said, "because of all the support and patriotism shown by the American people, we have finally kicked the 'Vietnam Syndrome' once and for all." It may be more wishful thinking than a true fact. I am a Vietnam veteran. I served with the 1st Inf. Div. in 1969. I can say for myself, and probably many others will agree, that 6 weeks of war with Iraq will not silence 12 years of war in Vietnam. If the President does believe what he says, he is sadly mistaken. Nothing will ever erase the horrors, mistakes and the insanity of Vietnam, or the 56,000 American dead, and 2,400 still missing or listed as P.O.W.'s. We did not come home hailed as the "conquering heroes," to parades, and celebrations. We came home to be spat upon, and to be called criminals and baby killers. We learned to keep quiet, walk softly, and carry a big hurt inside. One vet said it perfect, whether you're for a war, or against a war, you must at least be for the warior.

To the Vietnam vet the war will never be over. We will always be looked upon as the war America lost. Well, we did not lose the Vietnam war, we were never allowed to win, thanks to the lack of leadership and incompetence in Washington.

As for the "Vietnam Syndrome" being kicked by the victory in Iraq... not hardly Mr. President... not even close!

Letters to the EditorRemembering Dwyer's

To the editor:

Year after year, the arrival of Saint Patrick's Day never fails to evoke warm, pleasant memories of the once highly popular, no longer existing, Newark Bistro "Dwyer's Elbow Room." The celebration of Saint Patrick's Day at Dwyer's Broad Street restaurant was, indeed, an unforgettable experience.

Dwyer's Elbow Room had it all on Saint Patrick's Day. Leprechauns, a Blarney Stone, bag-pipers, authentic Irish singers and dancers, and clover galore. You name it, if it is Irish, Dwyer's had it. And believe me, the corned-beef and cabbage, the Irish stew, and Irish coffee, were all out-of-this-world treats. Truly, dinner at Dwyer's on Saint Patrick's Day was four-star dining at its best.

Upon leaving a Dwyer Saint Patty's Day party, the late restaurateur Ed Dwyer, would send you on your way with his favorite farewell "Go with God, He's Irish!" This may not be so, but one thing was for sure: All non-Irish attending a Dwyer Saint Patrick's Day celebration definitely became Irish for the day. Yes, even God.

I'll wager, like many a Dwyer patron, 'ol Saint Pat himself, shed a tear or two, on that sad day Dwyer's Elbow Room closed its doors — forevermore.

'Drop this charade'

To the editor:

Open letter to Dan Ippolito — You made it very plain that you do not believe in originality! Dan, don't you have ideas of your own?

Why did you have to "carbon copy" my sayings in your letter and use my quips? I strive for individualism!

But I noticed your letter of rebuttal to me was entirely a different style of writing than the rebuttal to Gabe.

Did you have assistance of drawing up the draft for it? One can hardly believe it was your sole essay.

Your reference to Vincent Frantantoni in your letter had me bewildered — as I did not refer anything to Frantantoni in my letter. Though he wasn't elected to any office in the past election, in my opinion he still takes a sincere interest in the civic affairs of Belleville. I also give credit where credit is due.

So, let's just drop this charade — and all become united in harmony for the good of Belleville — without differences towards each other.

To be understanding means never having to say you're sorry — but I accept your apologies.

I hint upon closing — in the train of thoughts — be an engine and do your own "shik." Never a "caboose" to follow or copy another person's ideas.

I bid you peace.

Legion dinner dance honors Joan McCarthy

A dinner dance Feb. 16 honored American Legion Auxiliary County President Joan McCarthy for her many years of service on the local and county levels.

McCarthy joined the American Legion Auxiliary in 1966 and served as chairman of Veterans' Affairs and Rehabilitation, Activities, Waitress and Poppies and as corresponding secretary before becoming president of Nutley Unit 70 for three terms.

On the county level, she served as sergeant at arms, first, second and third vice president and held chairmanships in Children and Youth, Veterans' Affairs and Rehabilitation, Membership and presently serving as the Essex County president for a second term.

McCarthy has been married to David McCarthy for 38 years. He is commander of Post 70 and active in Veterans' Affairs. They are the parents of four children, Sharon Conway, a past unit president and David, Michael and Kenneth, members of the Sons of the American Legion. Six grandchildren complete the family. Brian, Brennan,

Joan McCarthy

Jarret and Justin are also members of the Sons of the American Legion and Kim and Ashley are junior members of Unit 70. McCarthy is currently employed by Peoples Bank in Belleville.

Several honored guests attended the testimonial including Department President Alma Wilson and County Commander Raymond Brown.

Marcia Miele

Marcia Miele is named Artist of the Month

Marcia Miele, a resident of Belleville, has been named Artist of the Month at Montclair Community Hospital. Her work will be part of a two-woman show with Gina Cetrulo of Newark.

Miele, a fine arts teacher at Belleville Middle School, has taught in the school system for 10 years. She attended Marietta College in Ohio and received a masters of arts, printmaking, last year at Montclair State College.

Her most recent exhibits have been at the Belleville Public Library and the Sprague Gallery at Montclair State College. Her work features prints in black and white and color as well as etchings and will be on display in the hospital lobby through March.

Artists interested in exhibiting at Montclair Community Hospital

STORK CLUB

Elizabeth Frances Davis

A first child, a daughter, Elizabeth Frances, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Davis March 10 at Mountainside Hospital, Montclair. Birth weight was 9 pounds, 13 ounces.

Mrs. Davis is the former Sally O'Connell. Grandparents are Annamie O'Connell and Joan Sara Davis. Great grandmother is Ann Griffiths.

FIRST RIDE — For Scott Petrillo, the first child born at St. Barnabas Medical Center during National Child Passenger Safety Awareness Week, Feb. 10 to 16, his first ride home was a safe one, thanks to the New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety. The Florham Park based foundation presented Scott and his mother, Michelle Petrillo of Belleville, with a free child safety seat prior to leaving the hospital. The foundation sponsored the program at St. Barnabas and nine other area hospitals to remind parents to make child safety seats a priority in their new babies' lives.

SUPPORT FOR THE TROOPS — Carnival Cruise Lines and Travel Time of West Orange donated decks of playing cards and mini address books to send overseas to troops in the Persian Gulf. Jaye Tarantino of Travel Time and Pat Dunn of Belleville FMBA 29 (far right) received the packages to be sent overseas. Also involved in the project were, from left, Ann Watson, Marilyn Marcus, Joan Jaquin, Carol Goldsammer, Pearl Lesser, Debbie Ricardello and Leslie Amsterdam.

March is designated as National Nutrition Month

Clara Maass Medical Center and hospitals across the country will observe March as National Nutrition Month, sponsored by the American Dietetic Association.

"Healthy eating doesn't have to take a lot of time and effort. Many economical meals are very nutritious and we just want to let people know how well, they are already eating," said Pat Ortlieb, clinical nutritional manager at Clara Maass. In conjunction with this event, the medical center's Clinical Nutrition Services Department will conduct a nutrition education program titled, "Bite Into a Healthy Lifestyle." The program will be held 4 to 5 p.m. March 20 in the Belleville Founders Room at the medical center. Topics to be discussed include the recently revised U.S. dietary guidelines, recipe modification and menu planning and a cooking demonstration incorporating the topics discussed. Cost is $10 for the general public, $5 for Clara Maass employees and free for seniors or citizens. Interested persons should register by calling 450-2290.

Belleville Times SPORTS

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

College hoops will take center stage in the national sporting scene over the next three weeks as March Madness is underway. NCAA tournament games commence this afternoon and this weekend will be chock full of games on CBS. Fortunately for those people who don't enjoy the NCAA, there will be plenty of other stations to watch on television. CBS is the only station that will carry the tournament.

Some predictions here for the Final Four. In the East region, I like Princeton to be the Cinderella team of the '91 tourney. I think Princeton will become the first Ivy League team since Penn in 1979 to advance to the Final Four.

In the Midwest, I like Duke to once again make its annual trip to the Final Four. In the Southeast, Arkansas is the top seed, but the pick here to advance to Indianapolis is second seeded Indiana. If that happens, can you imagine the home court advantage the Hoosiers would have in the Dome on the final weekend in March?

Finally, the west, it is my opinion that UNLV will not get out of its region. In what has to be the toughest bracket in the tournament, I'm going with Arizona to defeat UNLV in the west title game. This, after Arizona upends Seton Hall in the western semis.

In the national semis, I'm looking for a Princeton-Indiana matchup in one game with Duke playing Arizona in the second contest.

The Princeton-Indiana game could be one of those coaching clinics, as Bobby Knight and Pete Carril match wits and years of experience. In a game that will probably be played in the high 40's, Indiana should win and advance to the title game for the third time in 11 seasons.

In the other semi, Duke will avenge an earlier season loss to Arizona and beat the 'Cats. Arizona, which expended a lot of energy and emotion in stopping the UNLV express will fall short to a disciplined Duke squad.

The title game will match teacher and student with Knight and Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski. Knight was Krzyzewski's coach at West Point in the late 60's and later Krzyzewski was an assistant coach to Knight.

When it's all said and done, look for Duke to win that elusive national title.

DEJA VU for the Seton Hall Pirates. In 1989, the Pirates were the three seed in the west region behind Arizona and Indiana. Seton Hall breezed through the region, romping by Indiana in the west semis and UNLV in the west title game.

Seton Hall is the last team to beat UNLV in the tournament and the Pirates were dominant over a young Rebel squad in '89, winning by 22 points.

This year, Seton Hall is the third seed again, with UNLV first and Arizona second. Seton Hall is also coming off a Big East post season title and the Pirates could be very difficult to handle over the next two weeks.

The strength of Big East competition will benefit the Pirates, who will give Arizona a serious run in the western semis. The only problem with Seton Hall could be its youth and the fact that the front line is not that big.

CONGRATULATIONS TO COACH Ted Fiore on leading St. Peter's to its first NCAA tournament. The Peacocks were scheduled to play Texas in the first round. St. Peter's might not go too far in this '91 tourney, but Fiore deserves a great deal of credit for getting St. Peter's to this level.

I remember Fiore when he was the head basketball coach at Valley High School in the late 70's and early 80's. He had some outstanding teams there and they were always well disciplined on fundamentals.

Valley won the Essex County tournament in '78 and '79, beating bigger teams in Shabazz and Orange respectively. In 1980, Valley advanced to the county title game once more, but this time it lost in the finals to Weequahic. In the county semis in '80, Valley and Barringer staged one of the most memorable games in county history, with Valley winning at the buzzer. Barringer had erased a ten point deficit in a two minute span late in the fourth quarter to forge a lead, but Valley came back to win a thriller.

Don't be surprised to see St. Peter's give Texas a tough game in the NCAA's. And, don't be too surprised if the Peacocks find a way to win.

SPRING SPORTS GETTING STARTED AT BELLEVILLE

Despite the cold weather, spring sports began practicing at Belleville High last Friday. The forecast of snow for yesterday could hamper practice for teams like baseball, softball, track, tennis, golf and crew. But, spring will be here soon and the fans should

Caponi, Citarella excel

Indoor track records fall

By Mike Lamberti

Indoor track coach John Tosato put it best when he said "we had a busy month of February. It was also an encouraging month, as the Bucs fared quite well in a number of tough indoor meets.

The first meet in February was the Ridgewood Winter Games and four Bucs earned medals. Steve Caponi and John Alvarado excelled in the shot put. Alvarado also set an indoor school record in the high jump with a leap of 5'3".

Jennifer Citarella had a phenomenal month. She started it by earning a medal in the 60 meters at the Ridgewood games. Also, her time of 41.2 in the 300 meters set an indoor school record.

Also doing well in the 60 meters at Ridgewood was Michael Trupia.

At a tri meet with Bloomfield and Nutley, Emilio DeGuia finished first in the high hurdles.

At the Nutley Field Invitational, Caponi did well in the varsity shot put. Danielle Utter and Stephanie Fraone were impressive in the women's shot put.

At Seton Hall Prep, Caponi set an indoor school record in the shot put with a throw of 45'3".

At the Group III boys' state championships, Alvarado competed in the 60 and 400 meters. Caponi threw the shot put, DeGuia ran the high hurdles and Trupia ran the 60 meters. Trupia's performance was good enough to earn him a spot in the semi finals of the Group III championships.

In the Group III girls' championships, Utter threw the shot put, Cynthia Adams ran the 800 meters and Citarella competed in the 60 and 400 meters, advancing to the semi finals in the 60 meters.

At the Essex County championships, Carmen Spina ran both the 60 and 400 meters. DeGuia concentrated on the 400 meters and high hurdles. Trupia tied the school indoor record with a strong time of 6.7 in the 60 meters and Citarella tied her own school indoor record with a very impressive time of 7.5 in the 60 meters.

Caponi finished fourth in the county in the shot put and drew the praise of coach Tosato.

"Jimmy has worked hard all winter long. He's a good athlete and very intense competitor."

The senior members of the indoor track team include Caponi, DeGuia, Brian Doyle, Andy Hutchinson and Sony Bhamu.

Doyle concentrated on the long distance events, namely the 1600 and 3200 meters. Hutchinson and Bhamu threw the shot put.

"I was ecstatic about the season,"

Tosato said. "Caponi was outstanding and the performances of Trupia and Citarella were also very encouraging. DeGuia's versatility was a big help, also. He competed in the relays, the jumps, the hurdles and sprints."

As for the upcoming outdoor season, Tosato is encouraged.

"We have about 26 boys coming out and many of them competed indoors. We also have 26 girls coming out, which is a very good turnout."

Tosato's indoor assistant coach, Mike Popovich will be the girls' head coach this spring. Karen Portuese will remain as the girls' field coach while Rich Ruffalo returns as the boys' field coach. Also joining the coaching staff this spring is the incomparable Gino DePinto.

The indoor season commenced last Friday and we'll begin coverage of the spring sports in next weeks issue.

As for the indoor season, school records fell quite often. Here is a list of the records that were set this winter.

Mike Trupia tied school record in 60 meters with a time of 6.7. Jennifer Citarella set the girls' school record in the 60 with a time of 7.5 and later tied her own record. Citarella also set the school record in the 300 with a time of 41.2.

In the 200 meters, Trupia (25.0) and Citarella (28.7) set records for the boys and girls respectively.

Steven Caponi set the shot put record, throwing 45'3". The two man shot put team of Caponi and John Alvarado set a school record with a combined throw of 83'1".

Alvarado also set a school record in the high jump (5'3"). In the long jump, DeGuia set a mark of 15'11" and in the triple jump, DeGuia rewrote the record book again, this time with a mark of 36'8 1/2".

Bulls unbeaten in regular season

CHAMPS — The Bulls finished their season in first place in the Boys 'C' Division of the 1991 Recreation Basketball League. The Bulls had a regular season record of 6 wins, 0 losses, and 1 tie. Their only defeat was to the Suns, 27-25, in an exciting playoff championship game. The players are (front row) Michael Porreco, Ryan Sheridan, Anthony Marcantunio, Peter De Santis. (Back row) Louis Alfieri, Joseph Chesser, Doug Wallis, Joseph Lelinho. Missing from photo is David Wilson. The Bulls were coached by Bill Buist, Ken Spera and Anthony Roberto.

Freshman hoopsters show improvement

By Mike Lamberti

It wasn't the easiest of winters for the Belleville freshman boys' basketball team, but the Bucs made impressive strides during the '90-91 campaign under first year coach John Fortunato.

Fortunato, a Belleville High School grad, noted that his team showed marked improvement over the course of the season.

"This season was a learning experience, both for the kids and myself," the first year coach said. "But it was a good experience. The kids improved a great deal and we had fun playing this season."

The Bucs finished the year with a 2-19 record. The team defeated Kearny 64-44 and Paramus Catholic 54-47. The win over Kearny was impressive because earlier in the season the Kards had beaten the Bucs by 16 points.

"At the freshman level, we weren't too concerned with records," Fortunato said. "Don (head coach Don Roll) told me there would be games where we would have a tough time. The most important thing was to get the kids playing and get them some experience on the high school level."

Two of the Bucs better players, Michael Mundy and Frank Means were impressive enough on the freshman level that they moved up to the junior varsity plateau.

"They were my two best scorers early on," Fortunato said of Mundy, a power forward and Means, the teams' starting center. "They could both be varsity players next year."

Jimmy Landon was the Bucs leading scorer, averaging 12 points a game. Landon, the Bucs point guard, should be a key player on the JV and even the varsity level next year.

Thare Sumpter, a 6'0" center, also showed marked improvement over the course of the season.

"Sumpter came a long way from the first practice," Fortunato said. "By the end of the year, he was playing well under the basket and rebounding well."

Kevin Kleas, a small forward, has also progressed nicely since the beginning of the year, according to Fortunato. The same can be said of Jerry Turi, who was Belleville's best defensive player.

"He plays a lot like Mike Kimball," Fortunato said, comparing Turi to Kimball, a junior guard who thrives on intensity. "He never lets up. He was also our assist leader. He gave up a lot of his own shots so that other players could score."

Wayne Zelma was a consistent outside shooter at the off guard position this season. Sun Bok Lee did a good job as the back up center.

Other players on the roster included Joe O'Connell, Emile Zoppi, Eddie Cabrera, Michael Asuna, Mustafa Mahmood, Rudy Espritu, Roger Hanos and Mike Sobanko.

In the victory over Kearny, Mundy led the Bucs with 24 points. Landon scored 18 and Means finished with ten. Versus Paramus Catholic, Mundy led the way again, this time with 17 points. Means scored ten and Landon tallied eight.

"I'd also like to thank John Morille for his help in coaching," Fortunato said. "It was a good year working with the kids. They were a nice group of players."

Speaking of snow storms after the spring sport season began, do you remember the blizzard of 1982? That occurred on April 4, after the games had begun and the 14 inches of snow caused about a ten day delay in the schedule. Nonetheless, the games were played made up without much of a problem.

1,000 POINT SCORERS AT BELLEVILLE HIGH
This week, we remember the "Train", Wayne Bubet. The first time I met Bubet was in the winter of 1977. He was an eighth grader who was already 6'2" tall. I was his coach in the Belleville recreation basketball league.

We had a lot of fun that winter, making it to the semi finals of the playoffs before losing. It was obvious even then that Bubet was going to be a key player on future Belleville teams.

Like Abdel Anderson, Bubet could not play on the varsity team as a freshman. In his sophomore year, he moved up to the varsity and earned a starting spot. Bubet quickly became a scoring machine for then coach Danny Grasso. The following year, playing for a new coach in Joe Papisidero, Bubet continued his scoring prowess. More importantly, he was developing into a team leader.

He, along with Ed Aulisi, Gary Farar, Ronnie Wittman and Rich Cook helped that '79-80 Buc team to an 11-13 record. Belleville qualified for the county and state tourney that season.

The following year, the Bucs were a snakebit team, losing six games by four points or less. It was still a special year for Bubet, who broke the 1,000 point mark for his career in a game on January 21, 1981 against Weehawkin.

Bubet liked to be called the "Train" because it rhymed with Wayne and because he could power through opposing defenses like a train during rush hour.

By the end of his senior year, Bubet was scoring points at will. He was almost unstoppable and he finished with over 1200 points. Bubet attended NJIT after graduating from Belleville. He had a good freshman campaign, averaging over 10 points a game.

Wayne was a class act. He came from a super family and represented the Blue and Gold with integrity.

Oh, by the way, he could also eat. One day at a diner, his order went something like this.

"Let me have two eggs with bacon, orange juice and a milk shake."

The waitress took the order and began walking away. "Oh, and one more thing," the Train said. "Can I also have a cheeseburger deluxe and a bowl of onion soup?"

"Do you want that in place of the eggs and juice," the waitress said. "No," the train said, "I'd like that with the eggs and juice. And, can I have the milk shake now?"

I remember that day well, because Wayne conveniently forgot his money. Guess who picked up the tab for that lunch?

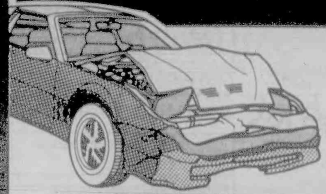

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The four teams who played in the '87 Final Four were Indiana, Syracuse, Providence and UNLV. Indiana and Syracuse met for the championship game. Jim Boeheim coached Syracuse, Bobby Knight led Indiana, Rick Pitino coached Providence and Jerry Tarkanian guided UNLV.

ment of Community Affairs.

- Historical preservation from the State Office of Community Heritage.
- Neighborhood Preservation Program which could provide home improvement funds as well as facade improvements.

Ringleheim said the town is also trying to form a partnership with local banks to set up a program to buy down the interest to stimulate business loans.

Storeowners in the target area can receive up to $5,000 for supplies and equipment and labor to improve facades. One applicant, The Belleville Pub, has already been approved and Ringleheim said several other owners have contacted the planning department.

"We've already seen positive response by merchants on the avenue," Cozzarelli said.

"We are encouraging anyone interested to come in to discuss the possibilities," Ringleheim added.

The possibilities have been drawn up in an 11-page report prepared by the advisory council stating the purpose and guidelines for the facade improvement program.

"Our intention is to create a theme for Washington Avenue that will visually connect one block to the next," Cozzarelli said.

The advisory council did not need to search beyond Belleville's borders to find the Georgian theme they chose.

"The Georgian style facade is easy to work with because it fosters interpretation and it has a historic link to the town with the nationally acclaimed Branch Brook Park," Cozzarelli said.

Cozzarelli credits the park's designer, Frederick Law Olmsted, for giving Belleville a sense of community pride and a firm historical basis on which the town can build.

"When the project is completed it will not be forgotten because a future criteria for review is already in place," Cozzarelli said.

"Olmsted gifted Belleville with more than civic consciousness," he gave it continuity.

The guidelines are comprehensive, but user-friendly so owners will not be discouraged with burdensome paperwork and detail. The council also provides design mock-ups for free and owners can choose which elements of the design are to be used.

Cozzarelli said the council also wants to implement "focal development," to create landmark buildings. A landmark building would be an identifiable feature, a place the consumer can start.

The idea would be to have several retail landmark buildings with each one creating its own web of influence.

"Landmark buildings act as magnets to draw people and then they will move away to other places," Ringleheim said.

The desired effect is increased foot traffic.

Another incentive planned to produce foot traffic is "street scavenging." Installation of designed benches, light poles, and trash cans are just some of the ways the aesthetic appearance and practicality can be enhanced for the walking consumer.

"We want to know what will bring people back to Washington Avenue," Cozzarelli said.

Medicare call-in program set for March 20th

State Senator Carmen A. Oreocho (D-30th Dist.) is encouraging Essex County residents who have been denied Medicare benefits to take part in a call-in program March 20.

Sponsored by the state Department of Community Affairs Division on Aging and the Community Health Law Project, the Legal Assistance for Medicare Patients (LAMP) Program will use a toll-free number, 1-800-792-8820, to allow residents to phone in their inquiries.

The number will be in service 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

LAMP, in addition to accepting clients who wish to appeal denials of Medicare claims for home health and skilled nursing facility care, will accept clients who wish to appeal any type of Medicare coverage issue.

This includes items and services provided for beneficiaries who have obtained coverage but are dissatisfied with the amount of their Medicare payments.

LAMP also provides Medicare outreach and educational services, including educational materials and presentations.

Surveys ready

The business revitalization efforts will take a step forward in March with three surveys designed to let residents and merchants voice their opinions on how to improve the Belleville business community.

An intercept business survey will take place March 16, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at six locations around town:

- Pathmark shopping center on Washington Avenue.
- Town Hall on Washington Avenue.
- The Belleville Public Library on Washington Avenue.
- The corner of Joralemon Street and Union Avenue.
- Grand Union shopping center on Main Street.
- The fire station on Franklin Street.

A telephone business survey will be conducted from March 16 to March 23. Approximately 100 residents from each ward will be called at random to participate in the survey.

A survey of area businesses will also be conducted to supplement the resident surveys.

All personal opinions and comments will remain confidential and the Department of Planning and Development encourages participation so they can have an accurate reflection of resident opinion.

Senate passes Orechio bill

The state Senate voted recently to endorse Senator Carmen A. Orechio's bill that would grant full municipal police authority in county parks.

The legislation, S-1955, cleared the Senate 38-0.

"Citizens who live near a county park have a right to expect they will be safe," said Senator Orechio (D-Essex).

"However, county police departments are not always equipped to patrol county parks as well as many city and municipal police forces. As a result, we must provide citizens with an added layer of protection."

Orechio said the bill would give a town the right to authorize its police force to use police powers in any county park situated wholly within the municipality's borders.

The bill would require the consent of a county's board of chosen freeholders before a municipality may assume the police duties. It would also require the municipal clerk to notify the county board after its ordinance has passed first reading.

The Senate County and Municipal Government Committee unanimously approved the bill Jan. 17.

The measure now moves to the Assembly.

Valvano a 4.0

Veronica A. Valvano has attained a 4.0 GPA for the seventh consecutive semester at Rutgers College of Pharmacy and has been named to the dean's list.

Valvano was inducted into the Phi Lambda Sigma Pharmacy Leadership Society last month and elected secretary of the group. This month, she was elected into Rho Chi Pharmacy Honor Society.

She is also a member of the Honors Program where she is working on an independent research project for which she will prepare and present a thesis. In her sophomore year, she was the recipient of the Rho Chi Honor Society award. She is also a member of the Phi Eta Sigma Freshman Honorary Society, the Pharmacy Governing Council, Lambda Kappa Sigma, the fraternity for women in pharmacy, the Academy of Students of Pharmacy and is also vice president of the Drug Abuse Committee.

Orechio announces free income tax assistance available

Free income tax information is available to Essex County residents, State Senator Carmen A. Orechio announced this week.

Those who need assistance in preparing federal and state income tax forms can obtain free help through the state's Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program (VITA) and the Tax Counseling for the Elderly Program (TCE).

The programs are being provided by the New Jersey Treasury Department.

"VITA is open to anyone," Sen. Orechio said.

"In the past, this program has provided help to many lower income, older, handicapped and non-English speaking taxpayers across the state."

The TCE program, he said, is designed to help senior citizens with special tax needs. It is open to taxpayers 60 years and older, he said.

Help is available at the following sites:

VITA - Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Ave., 6 to 9 p.m. Thursdays through April 12; Bloomfield Public Library, 90 Broad St., 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays through April 12.

TCE - Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington Ave., by appointment, 450-3434, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to noon through April 15; Bloomfield Public Library, 90 Broad St., by appointment, 429-9292, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. through April 15.

Nutley Parks and Recreation Building, 44 Park Ave., by appointment, 284-4967, Mondays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesdays and Fridays from 1 to 4 p.m. through April 15.

The Department of Treasury soon will distribute a brochure on the new Homestead Rebate Program. Copies will be available at Orechio's legislative office at 800 Bloomfield Ave. in Nutley.

To apply for the program, hom-owners must complete and file an income tax form.

For further information, contact the New Jersey Division of Taxation regional offices, 1207 Raymond Boulevard, 2nd Floor, Newark 07102.

Century 21 Stanford Agency uses recycled paper stationery

NUTLEY, N.J. MARCH, 1991
— Century 21 Stanford Agency will join 6,000 Century 21 offices in the United States in using recycled paper for all business cards and stationery.

The Century 21 system is said to be the largest user of business cards in the world! An estimated 100,000,000 cards were used by the system in 1990.

"This is one small way that our office can contribute to the ecological well being of our community and planet," noted Broker Nina Kaeser.

"As the largest user of business cards, we feel this is a positive gesture."

In addition to business cards, all stationery used by the individual offices, regions and international headquarters will be on recycled paper. The changeover to recycled paper has begun this month. Century 21 Stanford Agency is proud to be one of the first offices in the area to begin making the switch, evidencing their commitment to the environment.

The Century 21 system is the largest real estate sales organization in the world with approximately 7,000 independently owned and operated offices. World wide, real estate valued at more than $85 billion was sold last year by Century 21 offices.

Did You Know??

New grass "carpet" goes down more easily than sod. Seed is grown with bark that contains resins, instead of in soil, to create lightweight strips or squares that go down quickly and resist weeds.

Cedar shakes should be stained or treated with a clear preservative. Untreated shakes are eventually discolored by dirt and uneven weathering. They must be cleaned well with power washing or a special wood cleaner before staining.

Most toilet blockages can be cleared with the old-fashioned flange-type plumber's plunger.

Selling houses: One real estate broker ran a special promotion to draw potential customers to homes-for-sale with a cookout, a clown and balloons for the children, and a raffle for visitors.

No gimmicks here. We specialize in personal interviews and realty knowhow to help you choose the perfect home. See us at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley. 235-9000.
