Aside From That

By Howard Klausner

The police whistle owned by Belleville's first Police Chief, Michael Flynn, who was Belleville's first Constable in 1904, can be seen in the office of Chief George Lister, where it is mounted on a plaque which notes that Flynn served as chief from 1907 to 1936. Flynn's grandson, Joseph Sooy is with the department, in the Records Bureau. And family relations run deep in the department. ●●●●● There were two constables in 1904, and one of them was Charles Pearl. His grandson, Robert Estelle is with the department today. Chief Lister, himself, has strong family ties with the department. His grandfather, James Dunn, was one of a clan of Duns who came to Belleville at the turn of the century to find work with the Tiffany Glass Co. He joined the police department and served until one sleety, rainy night in 1919, when he telephoned from a walking post and asked permission to go home and change his clothes. He was ordered to stay outside on duty. He contracted pneumonia and died within three months, leaving 11 children. ●●●●● Widow Kathryn Dunn was approached by town officials, who offered some financial assistance. There was no such thing as a police pension, then. She spurned the offer. Independence meant that the older children were pulled out of school and sent to work. And every few weeks, supplies might arrive from her parents, who travelled from Brooklyn by foot, rail, trolley and ferry to make the mission. Daughter Mae married John 'Sugar' Flynn, son of Mike Flynn, and a policeman in his own right. Sugar Flynn was also a star semi-pro baseball player, and he faced Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in exhibition games in the days when the New York Yankees could not play on Sundays. So they came to Paterson and faced the Doherty Silk Stockings. They made a few dollars, giving Babe a chance to visit local steak houses and chase local ladies. Lou just went home. ●●●●● Chief Lister's father, Joseph, was one of 13 children who grew up in Belleville. Living with 12 brothers and sisters wasn't exciting enough, so Joseph joined the Army at 15, by lying about his age. He was thrown out after a year, and then rejoined at 17 to fight overseas in World War I. Uncle Tom Dunn also became a Belleville policeman, and it was the influence of Tom Dunn and Sugar Flynn that led George Lister to join the force. "But I never thought I'd reach this rank," says Chief Lister. ●●●●● Tom Dunn is retired, now, and living in Mesa, Arizona, where he has been writing a family history, recalling the days when an Irish widow could raise 11 children, and win the battle. ●●●●● Speaking of heroes, Chief Lister recalls that Everett Sooy, father of Detective Sooy, "Was the most honest man who ever worked." The elder Sooy had a car repair business in which he did his work outside, laboring under cars in all kinds of weather. "And when you asked him what you owed him, he'd say, Oh, fifty cents. Or a dollar."

Restaino, Fontoura lead vote

Less than 10 percent of Belleville's registered voters cast ballots in Tuesday's primary. Belleville Town Clerk Mary Lou Hoop said it was the lowest primary election turnout in her memory.

The results included the dashing of Joseph Fornarotto's hopes for nomination to the State Assembly and a virtual split decision among the Republicans over a choice for sheriff. Anthony Imperiale of Newark edged out Freelholder Arthur Clay, 414 to 406. The choice of the Essex Republican County Organization, Louis E. Greenleaf, trailed with 73 votes.

On the Democratic side, Acting Sheriff Armando Fontoura outdistanced Ralph T. Grant, Jr., 1,228 to 160, for the Democratic nomination for Essex County Sheriff.

For Freeholder-at-Large, Belleville Republicans supported Albert Pannullo over the Essex Republican Party Organization choice, Philip M. Nufrio, 431 to 228; among the Democrats, Linda Lordi Cavanaugh defeated Gerald B. Johnson, 1,024 to 102.

Senator Gabe Ambrosio, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for State Senate in the 36th District, received 1,023 votes. The man he will face in November, John P. Scott of Lyndhurst, also unopposed, received 487 votes on the Republican line.

For Assembly, Assemblyman John Kelly of Nutley received 542 votes and his running mate, Paul Di Gaetano of Passaic County, received 492.

On the Democratic side, Alfred

R. Restaino received 957 votes and Louis J. Gill, 708. Both outpointed Fornarotto, who received 640 votes in his home town.

These totals do not include absentee ballots, which were not counted by press time.

Belleville has 6,310 registered Democrats, 2,684 Republicans and 6,198 independents.

The campaign for sheriff apparently brought out a greater percentage of Republican voters, comparatively, than Democrats. The strong showing of Restaino, making his first bid for elective office, indicated his popularity with local voters.

Fontoura, making his first bid for elective office, received warm support.

Mobile HQ planned by fire department

A Mobile Disaster Headquarters which will increase the Fire Department's ability to deal with emergencies, and a new supply of defensive wear for firefighters dealing with hazardous materials, were unveiled at Fire Headquarters last week.

The mobile headquarters will have its own power supply, and will be available as a communications center, in the event that it becomes vital to have an on-site operation.

An emergency involving a chemical fire, for example, could require having hazard-proof clothing on hand for firefighters, along with supplies of oxygen. It could require a unified command system based at the scene of the emergency.

Chief Walter Beresford said that the mobile headquarters would provide a more flexible response to a major emergency than is now possible.

The trailer has cost $3,500 to renovate, he said.

When its own power supply is installed, it will be independent of power failures that could occur in the community.

"This would have come in handy when the tornado hit last year," Beresford said.

The mobile headquarters has the support of local businesses.

On hand to tour the mobile unit were Alan Miller of Walter Pfister Co., Ed Abrams of Hardman Inc., Tony Bilotta of Wallace and Tiernan, Vince Elkind of Ideal Plating, and Frank Marmo of York Printing.

Beresford said that the department hopes to have the mobile headquarters operational in time for the June 29 Emergency Test, scheduled by the Office of Emergency Management.

Captain Richard Triano and Fireman Joseph Giuliano demonstrated the use of new uniforms in handling hazardous materials. Giuliano donned an 85-pound suit that included an oxygen back pack good for 20 minutes of use.

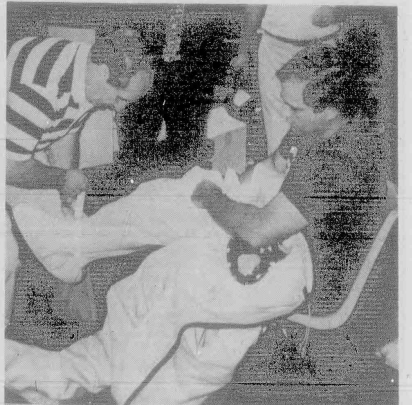

The uniforms would provide protection from dangerous chemicals ranging from acids to PCBs, whose dangerous fumes could be released in a fire or spillout.

Triano said that it would require an assistant to help the firefighter put on the Haz-Mat suit, and then remove it after its use.

Currently, Belleville depends on other towns for assistance in handling hazardous material problems.

PREPARING TO ROLL - Belleville's Fire Department is preparing an Emergency Mobile Headquarters to meet major disasters. The unit will have its own power supply and will be independent of local blackouts.

SUITING UP FOR PERIL - Fire Captain Rich Triano, left, helps fireman Joseph Giuliano put on uniform designed to withstand certain hazardous chemicals and other materials. The Haz-Mat suit is recently acquired.

Board will appeal budget cut

The Board of Education voted unanimously to appeal the $37,000 cut in its budget ordered by the Town Council.

The decision came at Monday's meeting, on the motion of Joseph Del Guercio, who said the board could not provide "quality education" to the town's students if the budget cut was sustained.

The vote was without debate. The appeal goes to the County Superintendent of Education, and then to the State Board of Education, which can restore cuts which the board considers damaging to the education system.

The vote came as the board heard words of praise for student academic achievements.

It was noted by Superintendent Michael Nardiello that 79 scholarships, estimated to have a total value of nearly $100,000, went to members of the Senior Class.

Senior Tracy Lockwood was winner of the 6th Annual Bill Bradley Student Citizenship Award, a first in Belleville history.

Nardiello said that 99.2 percent of the students tested had passed the state's high school graduation examinations.

Some discussion followed Nardiello's report that 43 percent of this year's graduates would go on to college.

Trustee Dr. Anthony D'Agostino said that the achievements of those who did not go on to college should not be ignored. "This is a blue collar town. We know that a number of graduates go into the military, and we know of those who served in Desert Storm. There are those who go for vocational training, and we know they have careers as good as any of those who go to college. We should be proud of all our graduates."

Trustee Gabriel Nazzola said, "Those people who object to money going into teachers' salaries should see the amount of scholarship dollars won by the students. That is one payoff of teacher salaries."

Vice President Seymour Grossman said, "We have an excellent system." He cited the experience of his son, a graduate of Belleville High School, who was graduated magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania. "He is a product of the Belleville school system."

OPTIMIST AWARD CEREMONY - In observance of National Law Week, Belleville Optimists honored two Belleville police for outstanding work during the past year. From left are Police Officer James Delgrossi, Chief George Lister, Police Officer Nicholas Krentz, and William Colavita, chairman of the event. Delgrossi and Krentz were cited for making the biggest seizure of cocaine in the history of the Belleville police department on Nov. 29, 1990, with the arrest of three suspects.

Times to publish student ads

The Belleville Times will publish free "Work Wanted" ads for high school and college students in special columns to run in the edition of Thursday, June 20.

Ads must be 15 words or less. Copy must be delivered or mailed to the Belleville Times office at 800 Bloomfield Ave., Nutley, no later than Friday, June 14. Phone calls will not be accepted.

Lockboxes to ease entry for firemen

Firefighters will no longer have to kick in doors or chop through walls to enter a burning industrial building, so long as there is a lockbox with an entry key available.

Captain Charles Aughenbaugh Jr., Belleville's Fire Official, introduced the first such lockbox, installed by Belsler, Weidmann Co. at 233 Cortlandt St.

The firm, dating back to 1921, makes specialty packaging, ranging from foam wrap to waterproof paper, and is interested in assisting with fire protection to protect its stock.

The firefighters have the key to the lockbox, which contains the entry key to the building.

Captain Aughenbaugh noted that it is impractical for firefighters to carry every available building key with them as they head for a fire.

"Now, they can pull out one master key, and they're in," he said.

Aughenbaugh said that more than 200 such lockboxes will be installed in Belleville, over the next two years.

HEARING HELP — Free hearing screenings for adults will be offered at the Mountsinclair Hospital on June 12 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. by appointment only. The screenings will be conducted by certified audiologists, Diane Buttlowski, M.S., CCC-A, Staff Audiologist for the hospital's Department of Audiology and Speech Pathology, is shown testing the hearing of Vincent Gambacorta of Belleville. To schedule an appointment for a free hearing screening, call 429-6011.

PREPARED FOR EMERGENCY — Warren E. Belsler, president of Belsler, Weidmann Co., left, and John Weidmann, vice president, show off the first lock-box installed in Belleville. Firefighters will find entry key in the box to which they alone have the key.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

At a joint meeting of the New Jersey Association of School Administrators and the New Jersey School Boards Association held at the spring convention of the two associations, meeting in Atlantic City May 21, New Jersey State Senate President John A. Lynch (D-Middlesex) called for sweeping educational reforms — including a state takeover of all school costs, a sharp reduction in the number of school districts, the elimination of tenure and extended school days and years.

The Legislature's top-ranking Democrat said he intended to make his speech confrontational... "I believe you care first about yourself, and you resent legislators who don't share your 'business-as-usual' attitude."

"I think you're wrong about me, and you think I'm wrong about you. So, for a few minutes at least, let's just agree to disagree," he said.

"I challenge you to focus your considerable clout and resources on fixing the system, instead of criticizing those who expose its flaws."

The takeover by the state of education costs was one of several reforms that should be considered, he said. "Should the state, through broad-based taxation, start paying 100 percent of the cost of educating students?" Lynch asked.

He also questioned whether it is sound public policy to provide tenure to teachers, administrators and superintendents, and whether regionalization would be more beneficial than the current system of 589 operating school districts, each with its own administrative bureaucracy.

Lynch additionally suggested reforms included reviewing the traditional nine-month school year and expanding the school day, especially because most parents aren't at home at 3 p.m. when their children are dismissed from classes.

Other reforms suggested by Lynch indicated that the state look at ways to strengthen cost controls governing school board spending, to make sure the money gets to the students.

Senator Lynch also asked if spending equal amounts of money per student produced equal educational results... "Shouldn't we focus more on programmatic goals instead of money goals?" he suggested. "We all want quality goals for our children and I think we all recognize the need to achieve that goal as efficiently as possible."

"My decision over the past few months is a reflection of the realities of the times we live in: A national recession, a state budget crisis, soaring property taxes, and a growing public cynicism about government, from school board meetings to the Statehouse," Senator Lynch said.

Despite the tone of his address at the outset, saying the association members believed he and other legislators had a vendetta against school administrators and school boards, Lynch was politely received, and the audience applauded at the end of his speech.

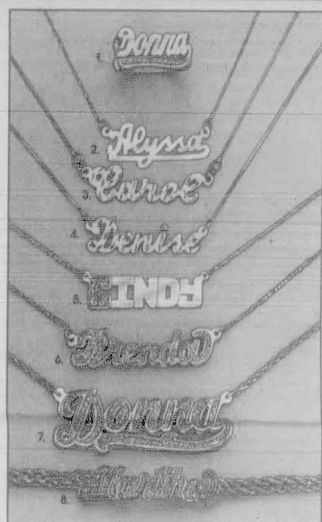

Having studied the educational system in New Jersey, Senator Lynch found that the state spends more money per child than any other state in the nation; teacher salaries are among the highest in the country and local schools are getting the biggest boost in the state aid in New Jersey's history... Of the $10 billion that will be spent on education, $4.5 billion will come from the state, with the remaining $5.5 billion from local property taxes and some federal government sources... of this money 80 percent would go for teacher and administrator salaries and benefits, such as lucrative retirements for retiring superintendents. "New Jersey taxpayers are the only ones in the nation that provide these golden parachutes for school administrators, and they cannot afford it any longer." Another tilt the state's taxpayers can't afford is annual salary increases of 9 and 10 percent, far above the rate of inflation.

Senator Lynch stated: "I say it's time for a reality check. It's time you broke this cycle of 9 and 10 percent wage hikes before these salaries break the backs of the property taxpayers. This cycle of outrageous pay hikes must stop." He also criticized school boards for granting those increases and then turning around and cutting programs for students.

Popularity of reading

In a recent Gallup Poll surveying the attitudes toward reading, the results seemed to suggest that despite television and its pervasive influence on today's young people, reading may be coming back into favor. More than nine out of 10 Americans state that they find reading a good use of their time, while 58 percent say that watching television is a good use of their time. If you are looking for suggestions as to what to read, why not try some of the new fiction best sellers, such as "Love Music, Loves To Dance," by Mary Higgins Clark, the story of two Manhattan women who get caught up in the snare of a serial killer, "Heartbeat," by Danielle Steele, the tale of a chance meeting of a man and a young lawyer who learns that his friend is engaged in secret, and possible illegal activities, "As the Crow Flies," by Jeffrey Archer, the attempt of a man to create the biggest store in the world, and "The Seventh Commandment," by Lawrence Sanders, an insurance company investigator that probes the murder of a millionaire. Non-fiction best sellers that might interest you include "The Commander," by Bob Woodward, the story of the President and his high military commanders and how their decisions were made during the first two years of the Bush administration, "You'll Never Eat Lunch In This Town Again," by Julia Phillips, life in Hollywood, as experienced by an Academy Award winning producer, and "Moving Pictures," by Ali MacGraw, the film star of the 1970's who looks back on her checkered career.

If the book is not on the shelf, the library staff will put the book on reserve for 25 cents per copy.

Welcome Friend

Welcome friend, how good of you to come,
What pleasant memories your face recalls.
Pull up a chair and let us sit and talk,
Stay long, for you bring sunlight to these walls.

Welcome friend, the pot is on the stove,
I'll set another place beside my own.
Forget your cares, remember two can share
A burden one could never bear alone.
Welcome friend, I say this from my heart,
You take away the chill of winter days.

I hear the warmth of springtime in your voice,
And after, you have gone the wonder stays.
The fact that you have cared enough to come,
Means more to me than words can ever say.

The light of friendship glows within your eyes,
...And that is why I welcome you today.

Don't raise taxes, try lowering costs

Everyone knows the old adage about the inevitability of taxes. But the New Jersey taxpayer has been battered with higher taxes and with no letup in sight. But look out folks, here comes some more of the same.

Governor James Florio has suggested putting tolls on the New Jersey connector of I-80 - I-95 as a way of gaining new revenue. That would take federal approval to put this state's portions of the Interstate highways under state control.

And, on yet another front, Congressman Bob Roe says we need an extra five cents added to the gas tax to pay for repair and rebuilding of the highways and mass transit system. Roe, chairman of the powerful House Public Works Committee has run into some heavy criticism due to the present federal gas tax. One might ask when enough is enough. New Jersey motorists have been the targets of a battery of new taxes.

We don't quarrel with the need to repair our roads, but why on the backs of those who are already paying the bills for the bureaucracy of government agencies spending our money.

The Florio plan would be to sell 4.7 miles of the I-95 for $400 million or if that doesn't work, lay off 13,000 state employees. The ticket onto I-95 connection to I-80 would add another toll on our road system.

The besieged commuters face another added $1 to travel the George Washington bridge. If you are poor, you simply can't get from here to there. The road sale that Florio proposes is a one-time event. What do we do after that? The road purchase would be made by the New Jersey Turnpike Authority, a state agency that is officially independent.

But none of these plans have any long range aspects. Everything is done on a patchwork basis. How about cutting down the cost of government, do a manpower study of everyone's state job, and reducing the number of high-salaried executives. When government is in trouble, it reverts to taxing the public. It never cuts its own operating costs.

We are not therefore very surprised to hear about some polls showing a 77% public disapproval of Florio.

We still say that the system is not at fault, but only those who try to bend it to their own political will. The public still has, in its hands, the ultimate weapon — the vote. And when the public has had enough, it exercises its own judgement. That may yet happen.

Change-of-Government faulted

To the editor:

A few weeks ago this paper published my letter to the editor, addressed to "Those Belleville citizens concerned about the future of our town." My letter told you that as far as reporting building code violations to the town manager and council is like "talking to a brick wall," as far as looking for cooperation to get the violations corrected, because "the planning and zoning board are quasi autonomous" and the town manager and his council "have no jurisdiction over them." This is another letter to "those citizens concerned about the future of our town."

The "change of government" advocates, the present town council members, in addition to falsely promising us they would serve for only $750 — stated that they would hire a town manager for about $55,000 a year. It turned out they hired the town manager from Ridgewood, who had traveled to Belleville to campaign for them, extolling the benefits of Manages/Council form of government at a rally at the high school. Since his salary is almost double what we were told, the citizens of Belleville are entitled to learn his background, his past performance, how he operates, if you will.

Mr. Bertrand Kendall came to Belleville from Ridgewood, after a stint as town manager of Montclair. Montclair's financial records show that when Mr. Kendall left in 1986, that town was carrying municipal long-term debt of some $20 million (exclusive of any local school district debt). This year, those taxpayers will see $2,285,000 go to pay principal and interest for municipal bonding, plus $1,246,000 for local school district debt service, a total staggering "mortgage" payment of $4,064,480. Of course, in addition they now also have to pay the cost of running the town.

While it is not known (yet) for what purpose this huge debt was acquired, what should concern us, that in the short term Mr. Kendall has been here, he already has proposed bond issues in excess of $13 million, including to pay for such relatively minor items as a copy machine ($10,200), police oxygen units ($2,450). From the published list of items to be paid for by floating bonds, it appears to me that Mr. Kendall and his council are buying a loaf of bread or a slice of toast by putting it on our "Master Card!!!"

Are we to conclude that most of our municipal expenses are to be deferred to the day Mr. Kendall and his council leave office, when the taxpayers will have to pay a huge mortgage bill?

Knights ask for help

To the editor:

One of the most favored charitable undertakings of the Belleville Knights of Columbus Council No. 835, along with many other State Councils in New Jersey, is the annual drive to raise money for the retarded citizens.

Since you and I cannot personally assist each and every "special person" in God's select group, we sponsor this fundraiser to try and make their lives and the lives of their families happier and more comfortable.

Belleville Council No. 835 is honored to sponsor several of these "special people" groups. The following is a list of the different groups that we sponsor and fund.

1. The Belleville Special Olympics.
2. The Mal Condon Canteen — A group of young Special adults that meets in our council home every other Thursday of the month.
3. A "Very Special" Boy Scout Troop No. 364, made up of the retarded from the Essex County area.
4. Camp Fatima. This camp is for retarded children, and staffed by qualified volunteers who give up their summer vacation time each year out of love for their fellow man.
5. The West Essex Rehabilitation Center — The center is where the retarded go and are given work to do and receive compensation for that days labor, giving them a sense of accomplishment.

The monies pledged, enable these youngsters and young adults to participate in field trips, camping trips, museum visits, and other activities, many too numerous to mention here. These funds are also used to refurbish the living quarters of Camp Fatima, as well as to purchase the provisions needed to run the camp. On occasion, we have also donated funds to those in need of financial assistance.

The success of this drive in the past has been because of people like you, and your generosity and benevolence in providing the much needed financial support. We are once again asking you for your help in supporting the 1991 campaign. Won't you please consider sending a donation to help God's special people? Any amount you give will be greatly appreciated. Remember, your gift is tax deductible!

Please make all checks payable to: Belleville Council No. 835 Retarded Drive; forward to: Belleville K of C No. 835, 94 Bridge Street, Belleville, N.J. 07109.

• GOVERNOR Jim Florio is asking local municipal officials to keep property taxes at existing levels or lower them. At a recent press conference, Governor Florio said, "No one should resent the effort to provide the people of New Jersey property tax stabilization and even property tax relief." Approval of the State Division of Local Government Services is required for municipal budgets. Florio's comments came on the heels of an enactment of a new state law putting $2 million in new money to help local governments cut property taxes. Florio's position needs no defense. What it needs is unanimous support.

• HOW many people do you know that head up a $3.4 billion organization? Well, I know one. He is Nutley resident Thomas P. Infusino, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Wakefern Food Corporation, the food cooperative that supplies ShopRite supermarkets. The ShopRite organization is a world marketing leader. Much of its success is due to the leadership provided by Tom Infusino. Among the men I have known in my life, Tom Infusino is among those who I admire most. He is the model of the self-made man. Tom would be my nominee for an Horatio Alger award. And, Tom, belated Happy Birthday greetings.

• THE Carmen Orechio Civic Association picnic is scheduled for Sun day afternoon, June 9th at the IT&T grounds. In the past, the event has been well attended and weather permitting, a sunny afternoon should draw another fine group of people from the area to enjoy a day of fun and games.

• Michael Paolino reminds us that the organization made up of wonderful young people, the Nutley Jaycees, will celebrate its 35th Anniversary Installation Dinner and Dance June 22nd at the San Carlo Restaurant in Lyndhurst. The event always has drawn the presence of an overwhelming number of Nutley VIPs. At $35 a head, it's a real bargain. Reservations are limited; and if you are interested contact Dr. Steven Clark at 667-8118 or Michael Paolino at 667-7345.

• SOME readers of this column may have misinterpreted an off the cuff comment I made recently about giving some thought to retiring — an observation that occurred in discussing Bill Parcel's sudden decision to retire. Parcel's decision was not for him to cut out and sit by the sidelines until he made up his mind concerning his future. He quit at the top.

The thought occurred to me that — hey — I'm not only a senior citizen, but I'm even beyond that; and isn't it time that I should be thinking about removing myself from the loop and be an observer instead of an activist? This thought engendered in the minds of some readers the idea that I would soon remove myself from the newspapers and put a "For Sale" sign up.

It just won't happen. It's easy to understand how some people can misinterpret an observation. So — let me assure my friends and foes alike that I'm not ready to give up my post now or in the foreseeable future. So, my foes will have to put up with me for an indeterminate period — my friends can rest assured that I will continue to write on subjects that I believe need an airing beyond just coverage by reporters.

• UNITED STATES Senator Frank Lautenberg is sponsoring legislation that would restrict triple trailer trucks to the twenty states in which they now operate. New Jersey is not one of them. Triple trailers already are barred from New Jersey by state law. The National Trucking Industry wants Congress to give the fifty states authority to determine whether or not to allow a triple trailer truck which can weigh up to 65 tons. A recent study found that 84 percent of truck drivers thought triple trailers were less safe than single trailers. One need not be an expert to conclude that triple trailer trucks will pose a greater danger to the motoring public. As it is, double trailer trucks give me a scare. They should be barred from New Jersey highways. New Jersey has an existing ban against triple trailers.

• THE abortion rights organization endorsed 21 candidates in 13 legislative districts for Senate and Assembly nominations. The only Essex County endorsements made by the group was that of Democrat Mildred Barry Garvin who opposed Senator Richard Cody in the 27th District. GETTING READY - David Chu, left, and Alex Scignano prepare to open Gold's Gym at 471 Cortlandt St., Belleville, a huge center for total health.

Gold's Gym offers a world of health

"It's not body building. It's a fitness center."

It is also 26,000 square feet of state-of-the-art physical exercise equipment, with 26 personal trainers and an array of offerings that range from a baby-sitting service to an aerobics center with shock-absorbing floor. It's Gold's Gym, the family oriented physical health center that opens this month at 471 Cortlandt St.

It is operated by a couple of Nutley High School classmates, advertising manager David Chu and president Alex Scignano. Both make excellent advertisements for their business.

Scignano, who was Mr. New Jersey of 1990, has a poet's face on a man bouncing around on steel springs. Their health center almost dwarfs Disney World in dimensions and appeal.

"We have everything," says Chu. The original Gold's Gym is in Venice, California, where many health ideas seem to originate. Scignano and Chu operate under a franchise, and the idea seems to be that if you really want to get into shape, you have to follow a regimen of proper diet and appropriate exercise.

You put yourself into the hands of a trainer who decides what the best formula is for you, and then works out a detailed program.

"It gets results," Scignano says. Also, it works for everybody who can still walk upright, in most age categories.

If you have trouble convincing the neighbors that you're finally doing something about your indolent ways, there is a fine karate school available.

While Scignano seems capable of bending any customer into a pretzel, he says the real secret of the health program is not muscle but diet. He is quoted as saying: "Diet is the main thing in fitness and not a lot of people know it."

Bridal registries are proving popular with wedding guests

As more and more couples decide to marry each year, wedding guests are looking to bridal registries for help in choosing the right wedding and shower gifts for them.

Many brides-to-be are reluctant to register at their local department store or specialty shop. They feel that they will give their guests the "wrong impression," the impression that gifts are the only thing that they are concerned about.

Not so, says Oster's Bridal Registry Coordinator, Elizabeth Kathan. She believes that many wedding guests prefer to look at the couple's bridal registry list to look for ideas for that perfect gift. "Most guests want to purchase a gift that the couple really wants," Kathan says. "A bridal registry print-out is the easiest way for them to be comfortable with their decision."

Kathan suggests listing a wide variety of items on the registry. She suggests registering for some small, inexpensive items such as kitchen utensils, decorative coffee mugs, or dish towels/pot holders for shower gifts. The majority of the items on the registry should be in a medium price range ($25-$75). This category could include many typical wedding gifts: Sheets, towels, casual dinnerware, silverware and bar ware, small electric appliances, cutlery and decorative pieces like vases and floral arrangements.

Couples should be willing to let their imaginations take hold when they register. An item that they might never purchase for themselves, but would love to have, is the perfect item to place on the bridal registry. A certain piece of art, an espresso/cappuccino maker, a handy egg cooker or an elegant set of champagne flutes would fit the bill.

It is important to register for more expensive items, too. Things like a VCR, a microwave, an all in one Kitchen Center appliance or a set of luggage may be too expensive for one guest to purchase, but, many times, groups of guests (like co-workers) like to join forces to buy one large gift.

The key to successful bridal registry? • Register for a variety of items. • Keep your guests' budgets in mind. • Don't just register for what you need... register for items that you really want. • Have fun with it!

BY ADHERING FAITHFULLY to a skin care regimen including natural products such as Dickinson's® Witch Hazel Pads, any bride can have a beautiful, radiant complexion, no matter how hard she's worked beforehand to make her wedding as perfect as can be.

Take time from planning your wedding to take care of yourself

Many young women, fantasizing about their upcoming wedding day, imagine that it will be entirely blissful, a time when everything will go smoothly without any problems.

Unfortunately, this may not be the case. The bride is often shocked to learn that planning a wedding can take as long as six to eight months, sometimes even longer. Setting a budget, choosing the wedding and reception sites, selecting a gown, flowers, food and music, and attending to all the other details that make up a wedding, can be as much a source of stress as of pleasure.

An overwrought bride

And, it's not unusual for a bride to become so caught up in planning her wedding that she neglects herself in the process.

It's important at this time for the bride to keep everything in perspective. Above all, she should remember that it is her day, and she should look and feel her best for the occasion. Realistically, if she is going to devote six months to planning her wedding, she should also plan time to take care of herself. After all, what's the point of having a beautiful wedding if the bride is too exhausted to be beautiful herself?

Natural products are best

One way for a woman to be sure she'll look her best on her wedding day (no matter how hard she's worked beforehand) is to begin a regular skin care program.

"A healthy, smooth complexion can do wonders in offsetting the effects of stress and strain," advise the skin care experts at the E.E. Dickinson Witch Hazel Company. "And the time to start is as soon as possible!"

"For a fresh, glowing complexion, it's best to use natural products based on botanical ingredients," the skin care experts state. "As we learn more about the skin, we realize that our ancestors who relied on nature's own plants and herbs to care for the skin were right. Natural is best. So, when anyone asks us how to obtain clear, healthy-looking skin, here's what we tell them:"

1. Daily skin care: Wash your face twice a day with a pure and mild, glycerin-based cleanser such as Dickinson's® Transparent Cleansing Bar with Aloe. Aloe, a natural skin conditioner, helps skin feel supple and smooth, while glycerin is a natural humectant that helps retain moisture.

Use this bar instead of soap to cleanse thoroughly without stripping the skin of its own natural lubricants.

Tone your skin after cleansing with a non-drying astringent such as Dickinson's® Witch Hazel Pads. These handy, economical pads are saturated with pure Dickinson's® Witch Hazel, a natural botanical astringent that refreshes the skin without irritation.

Moisturize: For daytime, use a light facial moisturizer, an oil-free type unless your skin is very dry. Before going to bed, use a richer variety.

Don't forget the body

After your bath or shower, smooth an extra-rich moisturizer over your entire body, allowing the steam from the warm water to help the lotion to penetrate. It's important to keep body skin looking great too, since many wedding gowns tend to reveal lots of shoulder and neck! 2. Shun the sun: Try to stay out of the sun as much as possible. We know that even occasional exposure to the sun can cause skin damage. If you must sunbathe, remember to apply a sunblock with a SPF of at least 15.

3. Once-a-week care: Use an exfoliant such as a loofah or natural cleansing grains to remove deep-down dirt. Follow with Dickinson's® Witch Hazel Astringent to remove all traces of the exfoliant and to tone and protect the skin.

The payoff -

By adhering faithfully to this skin care regimen, any bride can have a radiant, glowing complexion on her wedding day. Even when her wedding plans don't unfold as smoothly as she expected, she'll look as beautiful as though they had.

Beauty and the bride: How to choose a hairstyle as radiant as your smile

At a time when more and more brides have full-time careers, it's easy for a woman to overlook a simple detail like her hair. With lunchtime and after-work hours spent rushing from dress fittings to showers to meetings with caterers and florists, it almost takes a superwoman to do it all.

"There are so many details involved in planning a wedding that even the most organized bride might overlook her hair, particularly if she's trying to keep her career on track while planning the event of a lifetime," says Xenon, international creative director for the Helene Curtis Professional Division.

The easy approach

According to Xenon, it's easy to have a wedding hairstyle that is as radiant as your smile and flattering as your dress—if you count on the skills of a professional hairstylist.

"Today's working woman, more often that not, counts on a professional hairstylist to give her a look that is polished and professional," he says. "It only makes sense to leave the worry over your wedding hairstyle to the person who keeps you looking great every other day of the year."

Helpful tips

Xenon offers these suggestions to help you look your beautiful best on the big day:

• Consult with your stylist soon after you've set the date. You will want to discuss hairstyle options, including whether or not you want to grow your hair out.

• Your stylist may be at the church, or wherever you plan to dress for the wedding, so that he or she can arrange his or her schedule. And, see about having your stylist do your bridesmaids' hair as well. There may be a fee, but the finished results will be well worth it.

Nuptial glamour

ACCEPTING AN INVITATION TO DANCE, our bride looks radiant in her "Mirror Tiffani" gown with pleated V neckline and "Silly Valentine" lace midriff worn here with a cascading beaded white veil. From the After Six Bridal Gown Collection. Her groom, suave and sophisticated, is wearing the Henry Gresham Commodore by After Six Formal, made of 100 percent wool, with black and grey striped trousers. His pure cotton wing collar shirt and black satin bow tie complete the look of post-modern traditionalism. Whether you're the bride or the groom, when you're wearing After Six, you're sure to dance the night away.

Weddings today: Traditional but not at all old-fashioned

The word for weddings today is "traditional," and anyone who attends a nuptial '80s style can see why right away. The barefoot-in-the-park ceremonies of the '60s and '70s have disappeared as completely as flower children and love beads. Elegant clothes, age-old ritual and a spirit of nostalgia are the rule.

But does this swing-back mean that all innovation is out of style? Does the all of today really have a wedding that is indistinguishable from the one her mother or grandmother had?

You need to look more closely to see what's happened," says Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's Magazine. "Today's weddings do seek out the best and most beautiful traditions of the past — in contrast to a few years ago, when anything old was automatically suspect. But, at the same time, they're very modern in that they express new ideas."

Fewer "rules" of etiquette plus a climate that favors personal expression have led couples to add their own creative touch.

"But today's individuality is very different from the 'do your own thing' brand of the last decade," says Tober.

Couples don't throw out the whole ceremony and start from scratch; they must change or add little things. For example, they have their own special music played, personalize their vows, or pass out printed ceremony "programs."

Modern weddings also break with the past over the ideal of equality. Today's bride may be dressed in a demure, turn-of-the-century style, but that isn't where her head is.

The working bride may have helped pay for that Victorian gown herself, and the ritual phrase of "love, honor and obey" has largely disappeared from the ceremony.

The "giving away," a part of some ceremonies in which the celebrant asks, "Who gives this woman in marriage?" has also changed with the times. Today, a couple might rewrite the question to read, "Who blesses this marriage," with both the bride's and groom's parents answering "We do."

The same kind of thinking has likewise revised the idea of who pays for a wedding. Traditionally, the bride's parents shouldered the whole bill.

"But for the first time," says Tober, "there's a definite trend toward the sharing of expenses by the groom's family."

This is partly economic — inflation for some families means everyone has to chip in for there to be a wedding at all. But it's also a sign of the times. A bride's parents are no longer considered to be "marrying off" their daughter. Rather, the wedding is seen as a joining of two people and two families.

Finally, equality means a new role in the wedding for today's groom. In the past, a groom often felt like a spectator at his bride's "big day." Modern couples simply take for granted that it's his wedding too!

Grooms have new responsibilities: They help pick the wedding site, choose china patterns, address invitations and write thank you notes. And, they bask in a larger share of the limelight. Some men wear engagement rings, appear with their fiancées in newspaper announcements, and even have showers thrown in their honor.

Financial aid for the bride's family

It's traditional in the United States for the parents of the bride to cover the entire cost of a couple's wedding. But, according to Bride's magazine, this situation is changing.

For the first time, there's a definite trend toward the sharing of wedding expenses, says Bride's. The groom's family, as well as the bride and groom themselves, are taking on a chunk of the financial responsibility.

One reason for this may be changing attitudes toward the nature of marriage. In this era of liberation, a bride's parents are no longer considered to be "marrying off" their daughter. Rather, the wedding is seen as the joining of two people, and two families, with everyone contributing to the festivities.

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lambert

Ten years to the day it won the Greater Newark Tournament championship, the 1981 Belleville baseball team held a reunion in town. Just about everyone who contributed to the team was there, and many a story was passed about the magical season.

Jerry Ross, a rightfielder on that '81 championship team and today a successful attorney, arranged the evening. He had help from Anthony Coco, the winning pitcher in the title game against Glen Ridge and Dave Starr, one of the most underrated outfielders in Belleville baseball history.

Ross was able to obtain the TV-3 tape of the championship game, and the entire team watched the game, remembering where they were ten years ago.

Each player who was there had a special memory of the game. In addition to the mastermind of that team, the coach George Zanfini was at the reunion. Also attending was Carl Corino, today the softball coach, but in the late '70s, he was the freshman baseball coach who worked with many of the players who eventually played varsity ball.

Third baseman Joe Corbals continues to play softball today, even though he has a knee that says he should not be playing. Call it that Belleville intensity, one that doesn't allow an athlete to quit.

Corbals was a key member of that '81 team. Frank Fazzini, who had a marvelous year in 1981, hitting 10 homers and driving home 48 runs while hitting .536, noted Corbals' contribution.

"There's no way I would have had the season I did if it weren't for you," Fazzini told Corbals at the reunion. "With you hitting in front of me, opposing teams had to pitch to me because you were usually on base."

Ken Constantino has somehow managed to look exactly the same as he did ten years ago. He was one of the players interviewed TV-3 after the Glen Ridge game and to see him then and see him today, you would never know that ten years have come and gone. Ken's father also stopped by the reunion and he pointed out an interesting fact about Kenny's senior year.

Constantino scored the first touchdown of the 1980 Buccaneer football season in late September against Livingston. He also scored the last TD of that magical season, on December 7, 1980 at Giants Stadium against West Essex.

Kenny then made the final three put outs in the GNT championship game the following spring against Glen Ridge.

As for his football exploits and scoring the TD on the Giants Stadium turf, Constantino put it simply. "I'd trade that TD for a win anytime."

It's been over ten years since Belleville lost that Group IV, Section II title football game to West Essex, but the athletes still remember the hard work it took to get to the championship.

Fazzini, the second baseman, was featured in the pregame show before the GNT title game. Fazzini took little glory for himself ten years ago, choosing to give his teammates the credit. He did the same thing last Friday evening, giving the coaching staff the credit for his success and remembering the fine players who were a part of that '81 team. Frankie went 3 for 3 with a walk in the championship game, but he remarked that the balls weren't well hit at the reunion.

Eugene "Fu" Cancelliere, the first baseman, had a simply tremendous ball game against Glen Ridge. He made three incredible plays at first base, one which ended a Glen Ridge rally when it appeared the Group I school was getting back into the game. Then, the following inning, he hit a blast to deep left field that broke the game wide open.

I kidded with Coco that if it weren't for Cancelliere, this reunion might not be happening. It was Cancelliere who pitched a whale of a game in relief of Coco in the second round of the GNT against Columbia.

Phil Cerza did a tremendous job as the Buc catcher in '81. People don't always remember that Phil was one of the best defensive catchers Belleville ever had.

Starr, like Constantino, has not been affected by the calendar. Put a Belleville uniform on him and you would think he was one of today's players. Starr was a tremendous contact hitter with excellent speed in the outfield.

Ross, as mentioned, arranged the evening and gave a stirring speech at the end of the tape about the meaning of the GNT championship. (More on that at the end of the column).

Paul Scheuplein, today a successful accountant, remembered that he had a heck of a time hitting a curve ball in high school. He got off to a slow start in the championship game, striking out the first two times at the plate. But he had some key ribbies in the late stages of the game, when Belleville pulled away for good.

Joe Zangari was at the reunion. Even though he didn't play in the title game, he made some important contributions to the team in '81. Ditto for Billy Zelmer, a pitcher on the '81 team. He didn't play in the title game, but he pitched some good games that year.

A junior in 1981, Billy Cook was a utility player. He was a three sport letterman the following year, excelling in football, basketball in baseball.

Cook remembered some of the football was that Belleville took part in back in '80 and '81. He especially remembered the Passaic games, the '80 contest won by the Bucs in Passaic 13-9 and the '81 game, when Belleville lost 7-0.

"I remember Paul Scheuplein making a tremendous catch in the end zone in the '80 Passaic game," Cook said. "That '81 game was unbelievable. Eugene (Cancelliere) made that catch and appeared to score the tying touchdown. But the trail official said he stepped out of bounds. We still had a chance to tie, or win the game. We had first and goal at the nine yard line with three of the best running backs in the area (Fazzini, Jeff Walsh and Angelo Centanni). But Passaic met the challenge and held on to win. It was really a great game."

As Cook talked about that play, Cancelliere was walking by. He knew right away what the conversation was about. "I had a feeling I stepped out of bounds, but I wasn't going to stop running," Cancelliere said. "The official running along side signalled a touchdown. I just nicked the sideline after I caught the ball."

Dennis Galasso, the backup catcher on the '81 team was at the reunion too. He had a pinch hit single in the seventh inning of the championship game.

Bobby Grogan, who pitched a no hitter during the '81 season, gave Zanfini some good natured kidding for most of the evening. Zanfini used to refer to Grogan as "Wilbur Wood."

Michael Calabrese, who kept score for the '81 team and who was also the Belleville High School class president in 1981, still knew all the key stats.

Finally, there was Coco, of whom I can write a book. It's true, he

Cuzzi heading for big show

By Mike Lambert

He's umpired hundreds of games on the professional level for the past seven years. And now, he has received "the call."

For Belleville native Phil Cuzzi, "the call" is the ultimate opportunity for any umpire on any level of baseball. It's the chance to umpire on the major league level.

Cuzzi, a 1973 graduate of Belleville High School, was scheduled to work on Harry Wendelstedt's umpiring crew that is in St. Louis this past Tuesday, Wednesday and today. After that series, Cuzzi will venture to Houston and work a weekend series at the Astrodome.

"He's really excited about this opportunity," said George Zanfini, Cuzzi's high school baseball coach and a close friend today. "He received a call from Ed Vargo, the head of the major league umpires, who told him to pack his bags and be in St. Louis for the upcoming three game series."

Cuzzi, who has been a minor league, triple A umpire this season, will work on the major league level through this Sunday's game in Houston. Then, he will probably go back to the AAA level next week.

"He doesn't know, but chances are he will work at least six games on the major league level," Zanfini said. "This is a great opportunity for him. He loves the game of baseball and he's worked very hard for this chance."

"Phil has gone through a lot of road blocks to get to this opportunity. He went to umpiring school, then had to go back a second time. It's not easy and some people would have been frustrated. But Phil stuck with it."

Cuzzi played freshman ball for Zanfini in the spring of 1970. He then played varsity ball for then coach Charley Travers in 1972 and '73. After graduating from Belleville, Cuzzi attended Glassboro State College. Upon graduation, he began teaching and did some coaching on the high school level.

He gave up teaching and moved into private enterprise, working in sales. However, he did not enjoy the career change and decided to make a major change in his life.

"Phil was at a Yankee game," Zanfini said. "And he liked the idea of being an umpire. Well, some people have dreams but don't really think they will come true. Phil was different. He called me one day and announced he was going to umpiring school."

So, in 1982 at the age of 27, Cuzzi attended umpiring school. A few years later, he was umpiring on the professional level in class A ball.

"He has moved up the ranks pretty quickly," Zanfini said of Cuzzi. "A few years on the A level, then AA, then AAA. I don't think he was ever on one level for more than two seasons."

Cuzzi contacted one of the major leagues best young umpires, Frank Palermo, to talk about his decision to become an umpire.

"Phil called Frank's house and fortunately, Palermo was home," Zanfini said. "Palermo spent about an hour telling Phil about umpiring. It really helped Phil in those early days."

Cuzzi got a taste of major league baseball this spring, when he worked on the big league level in Florida for 20 days. After that experience, he moved back to the AAA level and worked there until he got the news that the major leagues would be his next stop.

Belleville softball coach Carl Corino remembers Cuzzi's early days as an umpire.

"He used to umpire Belleville's freshman baseball games when I was the freshman coach (back in the late '70s). Phil and my brother Mark were good friends from high school and we became good friends later on. I'm really happy for Phil, it's a big step."

Another friend of Cuzzi's, Buccaneer football coach John Senesky, remembers the "early" days when Cuzzi was a student at the junior high school.

"Phil used to do extra work for the school in the print shop," Senesky, who was the print shop teacher at the junior high then, said. "He did the work but sometimes didn't do the class work in print shop. Then he would get on my case if he got a B in the class instead of an A."

"But Phil was one of the best students I've ever had. We're close friends to this day. He has been a substitute teacher for me at the high school. As a matter of fact, he was subbing at Belleville High until February of this year, when he went down to Florida for spring training."

Cuzzi played freshman football for Senesky and Zanfini in the fall of 1969. (Zanfini was an assistant football coach to Senesky until 1973).

Senesky noted that Cuzzi was a very persistent person, both in the classroom and on the athletic field.

"Phil's sport was baseball, but he worked hard at football too," Senesky said. "He worked very hard at the sport and he strived to be a success at anything he does."

Cuzzi's hard work ethic during his junior high and high school days at Belleville has carried over to his professional career.

When you read the sports page this week, take a look at the Cardinals-Dodgers box score or the Houston Astros box score this weekend under the umpire section. You'll see the name of a Belleville native who has paid his dues and is living a dream.

Girls have talented team returning in '92

Corino pleased with softball progress

By Mike Lambert

A good baseball or softball coach recognizes when he, or she, must make changes in a team's philosophy. For years, the Belleville softball team dominated with experienced players in key positions. At the end of the 1990 campaign, however, eight valuable seniors were lost to graduation and coach Carl Corino, knew that '91 would be a new experience for him.

"Coming into this season, we had just three players back with any type of varsity experience," Corino said. "As it turned out, one of those three players played in the same position they did last year. So really, it was nine new players on the diamond this season."

The '91 Lady Bucs had just one senior on the roster. Of the key players returning next spring, two of those players will be seniors.

"We were a very young team this season," Corino said. "We'll be a very young team again next season, but we'll have girls in the lineup with a year of varsity experience. That should make a difference."

For a rebuilding campaign, Belleville did quite well. The Lady Bucs posted a 16-12 record and finished 6-6 in the very competitive Pacific Division of the NNJIL. Belleville's season was so impressive that the Pacific Division coaches named him the Coach of the Year. (See related story for more details).

Let's start a recap of the players with the only senior on the '91 roster.

JUDY KRYCH: A two year varsity performer, Krych had ten hits this spring. According to Corino, Krych was a very valuable player.

"She did a little bit of everything," the coach said. "Judy was a great kid to have on the team. She was respected by everyone."

Krych contributed a key hit in the state tournament game. She also did a fine job defensively.

A top student, she will continue her education on the collegiate level next fall.

DANIELLE DE WORK: A junior, DeWork did a good job on the mound and at the plate. As a pitcher, she posted a 6-3 record. DeWork hurled 54 innings, striking out 16 and walking 30. She gave up 52 hits.

Her pitching was good enough to earn second team, NNJIL honors.

At the plate, DeWork hit .255, with 16 RBIs. She had a homer, one double and two triples while scoring 17 times. At first base, DeWork showed excellent defensive ability.

CAREY WOODRUFF: A junior, Woodruff completed her third year of varsity action. She began the year at third base, then moved to second before eventually settling in in the outfield.

Woodruff hit .230 and scored 25 runs. She hit a homer and drove in 19 while collecting two doubles. Woodruff led the team with 31 walks.

COLLEEN MANNION: Only a sophomore, Mannion enjoyed a fine campaign. She started the year as a centerfielder, but Corino asked her to take over as the catcher in late April.

"One day, she was playing centerfield, the next day she was catching against Ridgewood," Corino said. "It was not an easy transition, but Colleen did a fine job."

Mannion was so good that she earned NNJIL first team honors. Her offensive skills were also superb. She hit .365, with 27 runs scored. Mannion hit one homer, four doubles and drove in 19 runs.

She appears to be continuing the

Addis, Scassera chosen for AAU team

Two sixth graders from School Seven are members of the eleven year old AAU basketball team, the Monarchs. Deana Addis and Christina Scassera were chosen for the team in March and have been traveling with the team since.

The Monarchs won the State Championship on May 5th which entitles the girls to compete in the National Tournament in Orlando, Fla. The team will be one of forty teams competing for the national title.

The Monarchs also won three of four games in the Lehigh Valley Tournament in Pennsylvania and are looking forward to another Pennsylvania tournament and a Jersey tournament in June.

The Monarchs AAU basketball team was started by Karen Fucello, Belleville's Athletic Director. There are teams on every age level from eleven to eighteen, practicing from Belleville to the shore area.

Fucello has helped many girls improve their basketball ability, and she has given them wonderful opportunities and experiences in this program. Thank you from all the girls.

Anyone wishing to send donations to help defray the cost of the trip, which could run as high as $800 per athlete, can do so by sending them to: Monarchs AAU Team, 100 Passaic Ave., Belleville, NJ, 07109.

A CHILDHOOD FRIEND

The respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) is responsible for producing the type of pneumonia that most commonly occurs during the first three years of a baby's life. Although some cases of this type have been known to clear up on their own, the infection has the potential to be life-threatening. Fortunately, there is an antiviral prescription drug on the market that can clear up this type of pneumonia. Ribavirin is administered via an aerosol delivery system which allows the drug to get into the lungs instantly. This FDA-approved drug for RSV infections of the lower respiratory tract carries no side effects nor instances of tolerance buildup. We carry a wide selection of medications at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. Convalescent aids are rented and sold. This includes walkers, wheel chairs, crutches and canes. There is a fine choice of gifts, Timex watches, transistor radios and other items for Father's Day and graduation. Open: 9am - 11pm daily, 9am - 5pm Sunday.

NOTE: Evidence suggests that ribavirin may be effective in fighting many common flu viruses, but these applications await FDA approval.

Buc Shots

gets on my case for talking about that Columbia game, but let me tell you that he was a tremendous competitor.

Coco's heart and determination was spelled out in the Bloomfield game in the GNT semis. This is a man who was determined to help his team win a championship.

"I remember Anthony after the Bloomfield game," Starr said to me. "We went out a few hours after the game and Coco was exhausted. He had pitched his heart out and we were going to the finals. While we were out, he just started to cry. The emotion of that game didn't hit him until five hours later."

Coco is today a member of the Belleville Hall of Fame. Seeing him last Friday brought back a lot of good memories. This guy is a class act in every sense of the word. I was proud to have seen him pitch ten years ago.

The players spoke of Jim DiGiovanna, who coached the freshman team along with Corino. They also spoke of Dino Ibelli, the statistician for that '81 team. The players weren't able to contact DiGiovanna and Ibelli about the reunion.

Ross toasted his teammates at the end of the night, saying how winning the championship in 1981 has probably more meaning in 1991. The love and respect that these players have for each other is quite evident, even though the calendar says time has passed by.

Zanfini seemed genuinely touched by the events of last Friday night. Fazzini imitated Zanfini at times while watching the tape and seeing a Belleville error. "These are things I keep talking about," Fazzini said in a Zanfini voice.

Scheuplein remembered the freshman coaches and thanked them on behalf of the team for all the work they did some 13 years ago.

The players then posed for a picture. Zanfini had the championship trophy. It was as if time had stood still.

Call it a championship evening, ten years after the trophy was first presented.

Bucs open 1991 football season at Hackensack

following days for payment. All sponsors will receive a Belleville football bumper sticker.

Head coach John Senesky announced the 1991 schedule. It's basically a carbon copy of the '90 slate, with the locations reversed.

The Bucs open the season on September 28, at Hackensack in a 1 p.m. start. The Bucs lost a 34-0 decision to the Comets in last year's opener at Belleville.

In week two, the Bucs are home to Bloomfield on October 4 at 7 p.m. Last year, Belleville lost to Bloomfield 17-7, but the game was later declared a Belleville victory because the Bengals had an ineligible player in the game.

The Bucs will stay home on October 11 to face Paramus Catholic in another 7 p.m. game. Belleville beat P.C. 21-6 last year.

In week four, the Bucs travel to St. Joe's Montvale for a 1 p.m. game on October 19. This is the first time Belleville has ever played St. Joe's on the road. Last year, the Bucs lost a 19-0 decision to a very strong St. Joe's team.

The Bucs return home for the next three weeks. On October 25, they take on Paramus in a 7 p.m. game. Last year, the Bucs and Paramus played a thriller, with Belleville rallying for a 19-18 win.

DECORATING

Stars Shine Indoors With Latest Trend

(NU) - It might not have been in the astrological forecast, or even in the weather report, but it's certainly in the air. Stars are shining throughout the home.

So says anyone who's set foot in a design center or accessory shop lately.

Stars are aglitter everywhere, from floor to ceiling, and barely missing a twinkle in between. The motif is showing up on everything from lampshades to wallpaper borders, pillowcases and bed sheets, chair fabric and buffet serving pieces.

Stars work well as a design theme because they translate easily to a range of styles and prices. In the Metropolitan Home Showhouse in New York City, stars made from Armstrong's vinyl floor tiles — found at the neighborhood floor store — were set next to pricey Aubusson-inspired rugs and precious collectibles sold in fine designer showrooms.

More Million Dollar Club members at Weichert

MORRIS PLAINS, N.J. — For the 16th consecutive year, Weichert, Realtors has had more New Jersey Million Dollar Club members than any other real estate firm in the state.

In a recent announcement, company president James M. Weichert reported that 327 Weichert sales associates attained entry into the prestigious New Jersey Million Dollar Club in 1990.

Membership is based on a sales associate's annual sales volume and total marketing listings.

Most significant about the number of associates attaining that honor, according to Weichert, is that the figure represents a nine percent increase over the previous year's record.

"In what was a very challenging year for home sales, not only was our company able to maintain our number one position for the 16th year in a row, but we actually recorded a substantial increase in our number of Million Dollar Club producers," the Weichert president emphasized. "This is a remarkable achievement for these individual associates who met a tough market head-on, with determination, hard work, and genuine dedication to the needs of homebuyers and sellers."

According to figures supplied by the New Jersey Association of Realtors, 2,289 sales associates from the approximately 3,500 real estate offices throughout the state qualified for the New Jersey Million Dollar Club in 1990. Sales associates with Weichert, Realtors accounted for almost 15 percent of that total.

Weichert, Realtors is a full service real estate company, whose divisions include mortgage, insurance, relocation, rentals, commercial, new homes and land, and moving services. According to a national report, Weichert is the top-ranked independent real estate broker in the Northeast.

Did You Know??

The Shakers, a religious community of the 19th century, were famous for their elegant, simply designed furniture. They emphasized the efficient use of space: to make their communal houses easy to clean, chairs were hung on a line of pegs on the wall.

What cleans fancy outdoor furniture made of enamel-sprayed metal without scratching the surface? Try the same non-abrasive scouring cleanser you use in the bathtub.

How to make a small room seem larger: paint walls, ceilings, and floors one color — even a dark color. Monochromatic scheme makes corners and edges disappear.

"Repointing," restoring mortar joints in brick, is a good early-summer job before it gets too hot. Chisel out loose mortar before refilling.

The title insurance you buy to satisfy a lender may cover only the loan amount; its value drops as the mortgage is repaid. It's wise to take out further coverage to protect market value of the property.

You'll always get good advice about real estate from the professionals at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Avenue, Nutley. Call 235-9000.
