Aside From That

Robert Glordano, Belleville's Municipal Prosecutor, pumped iron for 10 years to achieve his goal of making the American Olympic Team as a weightlifter and found himself a national figure, but not for the reasons he had hoped. He is still carrying a torch for the Olympics, the one which the United States did not enter, in 1980. "Everything I had worked for in 10 years was wiped out in 15 seconds," he said.

"That's how long it took them to announce we weren't going." That is nowlong it took their to announce we well at going a the sound of the sound been a matter of individual conscience. "Not all of us would have gone, but in any case, it should have been left to us as individuals to decide." Furthermore, Giordano says, the White House used all kinds of arm twisting tactics to force the 515 American Olympians to go along with the boycott. "There were telephone calls from a Presidential assistant to each one of the 515 athletes. They were told that if they went, their sports would lose government funding. They were told their passports would be revoked." • • Giordano was made the spokesman for the athletes - "I had a big mouth" and his position was that they should go to Moscow. His opposition to the Administration policy got him onto front pages across the nation, to say nothing of television screens.

The situation continued for six months, he recalls. "It was Andy Warhol's idea of 15 minutes of fame for everybody. That was my 15 minutes." • • • • A man of iron will and determination, who expected to attain the goals he set for determination, who expected to attain the goals he set for himself, Giordano felt embittered by the experience. He retired from weight lifting in 1983, worked his way through Seton Hall Law School, during which time he and wife Susan had three children, and coincidentally worked his way down from 250 pounds of solid muscle to 200 pounds of solid muscle. And he still hasn't forgiven Jimmy Carter. (Isn't his name actually James Earle Carter?) • • • Giordano is a an Olympian who was born and bred in Belleville, and had all his training here, as well. It was Phil Grippaldi who got him interested in weightlifting, enough to make him give up a scholarship in another sport. He should have carried a Belleville flag, if he had ever gotten to the Olympics. He recalls that an Australian athlete whom he had outpointed in a competition, had gone to Moscow and place seventh. He says he would easily have done better. If there were a competition for sheer determination, he would have taken the Gold. • • • and now a word for Dorothy Freid who for the past 10 years has coordinated the Meals on Wheels in for the past 10 years has coordinated the Meals on Wheels in Belleville. The unpaid job requires her to stay on top of every step of the operation which reaches some 50 shut-ins a day

The food is prepared at the Rev. Howard Day's church, the Montgomery Presbyterian, under the auspices of the Essex Montgomery Presbyterian, under the auspices of the Essex County Nutritional Meals Program and is another example of the unsung good works that are a daily occurrence in Belleville. • • • • If you need a kidney in a hurry, or a supply of blood, call Bob Reiser, whose firm, Reiser's Courier Service services hospitals and health organizations, transporting organs and medical supplies on rush notice. "We're on the road within five minutes," Reiser said, recently. It's a far cry from a decade ago when he was desperately seeking employment in the wake of the Ford Mahwah Plant closing. After 10 years in a "lifetime" job, he was out of work at the age of 42, and he went through some serious times. "There were people who were jumping from towers," he recalls. He finally became a courier for the Venet Advertising Agency before going into business for himself. "Zal Venet was a very fine going into business for himsel of "Zal Venet was a very fine going into business for himsel of "Zal Venet was a very fine gan say," I'm really kind of proud of what I've accomplished."

Florio delivers the cash in person; launches Silver Lake revitalization

Governor Jim Florio handed a check for $94,500 to Mayor Marin. Perna, Tuesday, at the old Silver Lake firehouse, with the promise that revitalization of the neighborhoods was a top priority with his administration.

He also told the Belleville Times: "I see an upswing in the economy soon. There's been a big pick up in home sales, and retail sales are up, too."

An upswing in the economy would be a major help in balancing the budget which had been signed the previous midnight. Florio noted that $1.9 million in Fione noted that $19 million in property tax relief had helped Belleville reduce its tax rate. In addition, he cited $9 million in school aid coming to Belleville.

"A reduction in property taxes, after all these years, is a pleasant relief," the governor said.

He said that his budget meant $2 billion - "That's with a B" - in property tax relief throughout the state.

Florio told the Belleville Times,

"The closing of the Philadelphia shipyards will affect 3,000 jobs in South Jersey, That's another problem we'll have to meet."

Senator Carmen Orechio was introduced to the gathering by Senator Gabe Ambrosio, who was master of ceremonies.

Senator Orechio thanked Florio for enacting Orechio's bill into law, calling for 10 additional judges for Essex County, "Essex will realize $5 million through escalation of fees," his said. Councilman Jim Messina presented Florio with a baskerful of bread from Cataldo's bakery, in Champagne corks popped as the Town Council launched its second year under the new council-manager form of government. It may have been no accident that Town Manager Bert Kendall was popping the corks.

The party followed a brief session at which Mayor Marina Perna was re-elected by unanimous vote, and William Cook was elected Deputy Mayor, also unanimously.

The unanimity belied the reports

Mayor Marina Perna

of dissension that have circulated since an "unofficial" meeting was held by the Council members three weeks ago at the home of Councilman Frank Noonan. It was at the meeting when the decision reportedly was made to reelect Mayor made under her leadership. Councilman Jim Messina seconded the nomination.

Councilman Frank Noonan was smiling with delight as he nominated cook, an engineer with Hoffman-LaRoche, to be Deputy Mayor, a motion seconded by Councilman Mario Drozdz.

Noonan reportedly had expressed concern that Caputo, a school administrator in Dover, was getting too much publicity.

In her inaugural address, Mayor Pema said:

"For the first time in a very long time, the Township of Belleville is viewed by its members and by other governing bodies as a community seriously laboriths for the improvement of its framework.

"The Council and I have taken major steps toward the acquisition of a tract of property which we hope will be the proposed site for our senior citizen housing complex."

"This having been done, we made the appropriate application to obtain federral funding to get the project started.
"Of critical import is the fact that our municipal budget was subnitted for approval with a reduction of 12 points. This has been the first decrease in the history of our township in nine years."

New leads reported in Petaccio murder

The murder one year ago of Belleville businessman Anthony M. Petaccio is very much in the police active file.

New leads have come in, in response to the $10,000 reward offered for information by Mr. Petaccio's family. Detective Peter Fraone has been busy pursuing these leads in recent days.

these leads in recent days.

Mr. Petaccio, 57, was found with a single stab wound to the chest near his car in the parking lot of People's Bank on Washington Avenue, the morning of July 3, 1990. He had been seen locking his car at 8:06 a.m. A passerby came upon him at about 8:20 a.m., Jying at the rear of the car. There were indications he was still allive when found, but he was pronounced dead at the University Hospital, Newark.

Mr. Petaccio always parked his car, a 1988 Jaguar, in the second spot of the bank's driveway, at a location obscured from the road by tall hedges.

Detective Edgar Panier of Beleville's Criminal Investigation Department, said, "He gave up his wallet and money before he was apparently senselessly stabbed at the rear of the car."

Police reported finding fingerprints on the car which were not those of the victim or family members.

Hornblower, an English-born engineer credited with bringing the steam engine to America in 1753, was considered so dangerous by the British that a bounty of 100 pounds was placed on him, and he had several narrow escapes.

Shortly after the outbreak of the Revolution, one son, Joseph, died as a soldier, Another son, James also served with the Continental Army, and he is the direct ancestor of Joseph Nelson Hatch, who, with his sons, are the only known descendants of Belleville's patriots still residing in town.

The U.S. Treasury may be losing millions of dollars in unpaid taxes from foreign-owned companies doing business in New Jersey, experts said, and the nationwide total could be as much as $30 billion itigating, operating out of offices in Mountainside, Hackensack and Edison.

She would not identify the companies involved, but some are international - conglomerates" with well known names, she said.

In New Jersey, there are more than 1,000 foreign-owned companies from 31 different countries with wholly owned subsidiaries or partly owned operations doing U.S., business. And these companies provide 120,000 New Jerseyans with jobs, according to Leonard J. Goldner, chief of the state Department of Commerce Office of Financial and Management Assistance.

Accountants specializing in international tax issues said the government would concentrate on the large, multinational corporations first, because they comprise a potentially larger revenue source.

The IRS crackdown has come in the wake of a nine-month probe by a House Ways and Means oversight committee of 36 foreign-owned firms that reported $35 billion in U.S. sales. But half of these firms paid little or no taxes in the U.S., the committee reported.

These companies were in the automotive, motorcycle and consumer electronics industries. But the practices are found in all industries and trading nations, experts said, and the stakes are high. Companies based in the United Kingdom draw some $400 billion of their revenue from America, and Japanese firms do S644 billion in U.S. sales, according to Claude Fusco Ir, a tax expert with Ernst & Young's Iselin office.

Richard Moriarty, an international tax expert with Arthur Anderson & Co. in Roseland, not-ed that "the key issue is inter-company transfer pricing," in which the parent manufacturer sells goods to its U.S. subsidiaries "at prices that do not permit the U.S. subsidiaries of the third on the print the U.S. subsidiaries and the company transfer pricing," in which they carn income on the resale."

The House committee report, he added, pointed to IRS data for 1986 in which foreign companies reported $550 billion in U.S. income, but losses of $52 billion.

Conflict arises partly because regulations call for oversea parent corporations to "bare their souls" to the Internal Revenue Service despite laws in their own countries that ban disclosure to other governments. Conversely the IRS regulations specify that records and documents. Conversely the IRS regulations specify that records and documents. Conversely the IRS regulations specify that records and documents. Conversely the IRS regulations specify that records and documents. Conversely the IRS regulations specify that records and documents. Conversely the IRS within 60 days of the agency's request. "In Switzerland and some other European countries, it's a criminal offense to sends such corporation documentation out of the country it is contended, however, that while the parent considered to be American companies, and are treated as such.

While there is some question about the clarity of the law and the validity of the government policy, the reality is that it is in place and must be dealt with... the deck is stacked in favor of the IRS, if a stacked in favor of the IRS, if a company can't prove a reasonable price in transferring goods from an overseas unit to the U.S. subsidiary the IRS will come up with a number... whoever bears the costs should be assigned the income and documentation should be available for IRS auditors.

Crime rose here in 1990

The Uniform Crime Report for ed 1990, issued by the New Jersey State Police, indicates an increase in every category of crime except one, during 1990. The only decrease reported was in rape.

The total number of reported crimes rose from 1,690 in 1989 to 1,580 in 1990.

Violent crimes went from 147 to 185. Non violent crimes went from 1,543 to 1,795. The number of crimes per thousand population rose from 46-9 to 57.9. In neighboring Bloomfield, the rate went from 49.5 to 60.2.

OUR OPINION

Thursday, July 4, 1991

Snap out of it, my friend, rejoice In this a brand new day! What difference does it make, if in The past you've erred some way? Your friends all understand, they know How difficult it's been. Snap out of it, my friend, why you're Just ripe now to begin.

There's so much work for you to do, And life goes by so soon, She's bound to pass you up unless You keep your step in tune.

A little failure here and there,
Why, they should add more zeal! Snap out of it, my friend, and show The stuff in you that's real.

We're bound to err for life is full of tempters crowding in, It's difficult at best to keep Serene amidst the din, And who is fit to judge your sin Or throw a stone your way? Snap out of it, my friend, there's no Such thing as yesterday!

Belleville on the move

The joyous beginning of the new year for the Town Council nplete with champagne and pastries - was a celebration with good reason.

a sense, a group of political amateurs suddenly inherited a city. It may be called a township, but there are plenty of cities with less than 34,000 population.

And they have managed to survive. More than that, they have been able to show what amateurs can accomplish. Of course, one of the smartest things they did was to obtain a professional to run the town. Town Manager Bert Kendall essentially showed them the ropes.

In a way, he is in an ideal situation for a town manager. He has far more experience than any of the elected officials. They have to listen to him.

This is fortunate, as long as it lasts. Kendall's administration of the town shows what can happen if a professional is allowed to operate without political pressures.

Well, practically without political pressures.

Certainly, there was pressure to eliminate as much of the Old Guard as possible from the town's administration.

But a lot of the veteran employees are practical folks with a grasp of the town and its needs. Also, they have certain job protection.

So, an interesting mix of new thinking and old wisdom has resulted.

The open-eyed innocence of a new administration unversed in politics ultimately dissipates, and there seems to be a rule in politics that where a political vacuum exists, it quickly gets filled by some group or individual.

The members of this Council have formed loose alliances and have taken steps to eliminate threats to the leadership that now

Certainly, Frank Noonan has emerged as the good, gray eminence of the Council. And the direction in which Belleville's government moves may well depend on hex Noonan decides to put the wheels in motion.

But, the situation is still fluid, the players are still on their own, and with any luck, Belleville will move ahead, buoyed by a reduced tax rate and the renewed confidence of the amateurs who found they could run the town after all, with a little help from their friends.

YOUR OPINION

Clay is defended

To the editor:
Your recent article in "Window on My World" attacking Art Clay, the Republican candidate for county sheriff, was grossly unfair. Not only did you wrongly call Art a racist, but you also managed to insult the entire suburban Republican electorate as well. I don't believe that even Cliff Case would agree with your contention that suburban voters are racist, particularly since he got his majority votes from these same suburban towns and voters that you claim will not support black candidates. Cliff Case never believed these voters were racist, and he was right.

The simple fact is that Art Clay did not run a racist campaign. His campaign mailings accurately pointed out the fact that his opponent had recently switched parties and had not voted Republican in previous elections. Nowhere in Clay's literature did he suggest anything of a racial nature. Clay won because his argument that he had served the GOP for over 10 years as a frecholder struck a chord with Republican voters, it is clear that those voters supported him in large part because of his dedication and service to the Republican voters, it is clear that those voters supported him in large part because of his dedication and service to the Republican of his had contained the same properties of the second of his decicion amont be blamed or racisms. Rather, the late switch of his opponent to the GOP which he emphasized and Clay's personal name recognition and popularity, especially in his freeholder district where he received large pluralities, were the deciding factors in his victory. Although I personally recommended Lou Greenleaf for sheriff based on his law has my full support, as well as the entire Republican organization.

Practically everyone knows or has heard the story of the Roman Emperor Nero. While Rome burned, he played a musical instrument as he watched the conflagration. Rome was almost totally destroyed.

Today, we have a modern version of a Nero 'fiddling' while the world burns.

'Project Graduation'

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the Belleville Police Department, and myself to commend the "Project Graduation Committee." In particular, I would like to extend my garitude to Mrs. Part Taib; who coordinated the entire project. It has been my pleasure and honor to observe the many hours Mrs. Taib in and the committee have put into this most successful project.

I participated in this project on graduation night, I observed and was enlightened by the spirit of the students which permeated throughout the evening. This confirmed my belief that all the hard work and efforts on the part of the B.A.S.E. Committee to create a drug-free community can and does work.

* JOHN RENNA says that Republican Sheriff candidate Art Clay "did not run a racis campaign," In his Letter to the Editor, he further states, "His campaign mailings accurately pointed out the fact that his opponent had recently switched parties and had not voted Republican in previous elections."

My dear friend John, that's where you go off the deep end. Mr. Clay did not have "an opponent." Mr. Clay had two opponents — white Anthony Imperiale of Newark and black Louis Greenleaf, also of Newark.

John Renna has acknowledged that Clay campaigned solely against one of his two opponents — black Louis Greenleaf, also of Newark.

John Renna has acknowledged that Clay campaigned solely against one of his two opponents — black Louis Greenleaf, inferring that suburban Essex County voters had a choice between white Clay and black Greenleaf. The fact of the matter is they had three choices, Clay, Imperiale and Greenleaf. Whould the majority of suburban Essex community Republican voters pick a black Greenleaf over a white Clay or Imperiale?

Mr. Renna conveniently forgets just a few days before the Primary Election Clay charged that Renna stole the nomination from him. Clay has never-etracted this accusation. After Clay won the Party's nomination for Sheriff, Renna met with him. and the Republican County Chairman accepted Clay's request that an executive steering committee to recommend by laws to govern the County Commented "We are going to insure that what happened at this year's screening committee for candidates will never be allowed to happen again."

Renna responded, "I am still the chairman and will set the Party agenda. Renna further observed that Mr. Clay will not set the agenda, or the tone for the one for the tone for the need to the primary begins or the tone for the conference or the conference or the tone for the tone for the need to the party and or the tone for the to disclaimer that Clay "did not run a racist campaign" — the evidence is too much the other way. Clay needs to apologize to the voters of Essex County for his racist, scurrilous campaign.

• CONGRATULATIONS to Newark Councilman-at-Large Donald Tucker upon his election as President of the Newark Municipal Council. Tucker has a vast reservoir of governmental knowledge, and on a day-to-day basis is a practical, resourceful political leader. Tucker is also Chairman of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission where he has demonstrated proven leadership. As befits a popular leader, a standing-room cocktail reception was held at Don's 21. Most amy politician of any importance to the City of Newark and the County of Essex was on hand to pay tribute to Tucker, a man of impeccable integrity and common decency.

• ESSEX COUNTY Executive Tom D'Alessio has filed a law suit against the State to force a takeover of all judicial costs. Senator Carmen Orechio introduced legislation during the Kean administration which was passed, 45° both Senate and Assembly, only to be vectored by Governor Kean. Legislation is currently pending to have the state pick up the costs.

senate and Assembly, only to be-vetoed by Governor Kean. Legislation is currently pending to have the state pick up the costs.

Filing a law suit costs money, If the County wins in the first go-around, obviously, there will be an appeal — and another appeal — and up of the lawyer's fees. D'Alessio may not realize it, but what he has done is create a machine to produce big bucks for lawyer's fees.

This year, the New Jersey State Law Revision Commission proposed changes which the Legislature unanimously approved and the Governor signed. The law was not intended to make any substantive changes in the law that existed at that time. Inadvertently, three paragraphs that were intended to be included in that bill were omitted. These sections stated that: I) the counties are to pay for the countrooms and chambers, of the judges sitting in the Law and Chancery Divisions in their country; 2) the countroom; and 3) the country sare to provide security in the courtrooms in their countries.

A Senate committee amendment restored these three paragraphs back into Title 28 of the state laws.

County Executive Tom D'Alessio expressed suproject that Senator Carmen Orrection would sponsor the corrections in the stateut. D'Alessio claims it could cost Essex taxpayers $20 million. Here are the facts: 1) The Essex County Budget, approved by D'Alessio, includes the $20 million. 2) Would D'Alessio eliminate flags in courtrooms which Orechio's corrective law requires? 3) Would D'Alessio eliminate security in the courtrooms and place judges' lives at righ?

risk?

Some people call this a cheap shot at a Senator who initiated the upward movement of a friend who now holds the highest office in the county. I've said it before, and I'll repeat it again — in politics, if you look for gratitude, the best thing to do is buy a dog.

* CONGRATULATIONS to Bloom-field's Brian Lindner, Nutley's Mike Salvanto and Belleville's Jason Narda-chone for making the Ledger's All Essex County Baseball First Team. Lindner was shortstop; Salvanto played first base; and Nardachone was a second

Texas oil firm meets

Wishire Oil Co; of Texas (NYSE) held its annual meeting July 1 at which 90 percent of the total outstanding shares were represented and 98 percent voted for management.

The board of directors declared a 3 percent stock dividend on the company's common stock, payable Aug. 16, to shareholders of record as of July 15, 1991.

During the first six months of 1991, oil and gas operations have benefited from 12 new successful wells in the United States and Canada, which will enhance profits, a company has a major new development in the Silo Field in Laramic County, Wyoming, utilizing horizontal drilling, which results in high production rates and substantial reserves. In fact, Exxon just completed a well directly next to Wilshire's acreage, capable of producing over 1,000 barrels of oil per day using this technique," chairman Siggi B. Wilzig said.

The meeting was dominated by discussion of Wilshire's major investment in the stock of Jacobs.

This stock, which Wilshire purchased for $2.25 per share, has increased to $23 per share. Wilshire owns 2,100,000 shares of Jacobs for a gain of $43 million. The chairman also said the board is exploring plans for its Jacobs investment to "... maximize both the profits for Wilshire and the benefits for the share-holders."

Students get head starts

Students from 22 area high schools, including one Belleville resident, are getting future college credits while attending high school. Project Acceleration, a program of Seton Hall's University College since 1978, enables high school students to get a start on a bachelou's degree as they complete their high school course work. Up to 16 credits can be earned and accepted by almost 200 colleges and universities.

by almost 200 colleges and universities.

A total of 536 students registered for the fall 1990 semester. In 1978 when the program began, there were seven participating high schools.

Project Acceleration students have the opportunity to take credits in English, foreign language, mathematics, science, psychology, computer science, history or education courses. All courses offered adhere to the New Jersey Board of Higher Education guidelines and are approved by the academic departments at the University.

To be eligible, students must be juniors or seniors capable of Advanced Placement (AP) or Honors course work. Project Acceleration offers students an opportunity to earn University credits at dramatic savings over standard futition costs.

Success stories of students who Nazziola, who is graduating this Italian while in the Project Acceleration program, so I did not have to repeat these courses in college and could move on to other courses."

Dr. William A. Smith, project acceleration coordinator, said, "Eric has identified two great advantages of the program. Since some freshman courses are very similar to Advanced Placement senior high-school courses, students are bored and feel they have wasted their time."

Belleville Times SPORTS

This week, we'll wrap up the 1991 sports year at Belleville High by looking back at the just concluded spring campaign.

Before we do that, however, a final look back at the winter sports season. In last weeks issue, the varsity wrestling team was reviewed. Accidentally forgotten in the wrapup was senior Chris Talbot. Wrestling in the 130 pound class, the senior put together a solid record of 13-4-1. He was also quite versatile, moving from 125 pounds, to 130 and, on versaile, moving from LS pounds, to 130 and, on occasion, to 135 pounds.

Talbot was a very valuble wrestler for coach Joe Nistvoccia this past winter. When the team was hit by injuries in January and early February, Talbot provided some key victories.

My apology to Chris for missing him in last weeks article.

SPRING SPORTS HAD SOME BIG MOM-

The Belleville softball team put together another fine season, winning 16 games. Head coach Carl Corino was named the NNJIL Pacific Division

Coach of the Year in 1991. Not much was expected of the Lady Bucs this spring. The team had lost just about all of its starters to graduation and the nucleus of the '91 squad would be freshman and sophomores.

The only senior on the team, Judy Krych, did a The only senior on the team, Judy kryen, and a fine job in providing leadership. Corino called the '91 season one of his most enjoyable. The team showed marked improvement as the year progressed against some very good competition in the NNJIL.

The baseball team, led by coach Nick Grande had a tough campaign. The team finished 7-18, with eleven of those losses coming by two runs or less.

Jason Nardachone earned first team NNJIL

Other players who did well for the baseball team include Art Caruso, Jim DuHalme, Carmen Spina, Rich Ferruggia, Mike Melham, Bill Salvatore, Mike Capasso, Anibal Rodriguez, Richard Quine, Bill Gray, Mike Alfano, Mike Kimball, John McAloon and Jason Apple.

Although the varsity had a tough season, the future looks good for Belleville baseball. The JV team put together a 16-6 record and the freshman team (see related story in this weeks issue) was 15-5.

The golf team, led by veteran coach Gene D'Allesandro had another outstanding season. The team finished 13-5, marking the 12th straight year the program has produced a winning record. Only the wrestling team has been able to produce more consecutive winning seasons at Belleville High.

P.J. Taibi, a junior, was the top golfer with an average of 44.6 over nine holes. Mike Escott, Jerry Mahoney, Vic Talamini, Dan Hywel and Anthony Papantonio all turned in solid seasons for the linksters.

The crew team had another successful season, with the pairs team of Lee Hands and Sean Kimball winning silver medals at the Stotesbury Regatta and the National Championships.

Cassin credited the senior class for making the '91 crew season so memorable. In addition to Hands and Kimball, the other seniors on the team were Heather Appruzzese, Jim Mastropoalo, Danlelle Groeling, Justine Ernst and Krissi Villano.

The Belleville tennis team concelled by Toward.

Spilsbury is named MAAC player of year

By Mike Lamberti
From 1985-88, Jeff Spilsbury delighted Belleville sports fans with his brand of determination in both football and baseball.
Spilsbury was the varsity football quarterback in 1986 and '87.
Although he stands 57", Spilsbury kept opposing defenses off balance with his roll out style of passing. In 1986, the junior passer led the Bucs to a 6-3 record and the championship of the NNJIL.
As effective as he was in football, it was baseball that Spilsbury really with Jay Marchese paced the offensive attack. The '87 team won 21 games for coach George Zanfini and advanced to the semi finals of the Greater Newark Tourney. The team also staged a tremendous rally in the last two weeks of the season and won the NNIIL crown when it appeared there was no chance of victory.

After graduation, Spilsbury took his baseball talents to Iona College and the results have been outstanding.

Playing second base, Spilsbury set an all time Iona record for base hits with 73. He was named the Player of the Year in the Southern Division of the Metro Atlantic Atlaletic Conference. This season, he hit. 422 as a leadoff hitter and helped the Gael's become one of the top offensive teams in Division I baseball. He also hit seven homers, drove in 36 runs, hit 14 doubles and had on base percentage of .537. Spilsbury led the team in average, hits, on base percentage and runs scored. He was second on the club in RBPs. In addition, he was first in the conference in hits and on base percentage, third in RBI percentage and tied for first in batting average with Luis Garcia from Fairfield University.
Spilsbury was selected by the New York State College Baseball Coaches Assn. to play in two All Star games In late May. One was played at Yankee Stadium and the other was contested at Columbia University.
Iona enjoyed a fine campaign in 1991, putting together a 24-19 overall record. In the conference, the Gael's finished second, four games behind front running Pairfield.
The team was also near the top of the national offensive statistics, hitting, 356 as a team through mid.

"It's very gratifying to see the team playing well, "Turi said. "The key word is team. Everyone is contributing to our success."

Last week, Belleville used a 16 hit attack in defeating West Paterson by ten runs. Actually, West Paterson had an early 2-1 lead after one inning of play. However, Belleville used a four run third, a two run fourth and a five run fifth inning to put the game out of reach.

Mike Mundy continued to pitch well this summer, hurling four innings and gaining credit for the victory. Mundy struck out eight batters and walked six. Kevin Johnson pitched the fifth inning for Belleville. The game was called use to darkness after the fifth.

Robert Dena and Munday led the offense with three hit's each. One of Mundy's hits was a triple and he had three RBI's in the game. Ken Johansen had two hits and two ribbies, Jim Napolitano blasted a homer and Brian Dena had a triple. At Glen Ridge last Sunday, Belleville took advantage of the unearned run and socred five times in the second inning. Belleville did all the damage with two outs and no one on base in the second.

Although the season opening game is not for another 2 1/2 team is hard at work in preparation

"I was very pleased with the turnout of athletes and the results were quite positive," Senesty said.
"The lift-a-thon is our way of getting together with the returning players before school ends and giving them an idea of what has to be done during the summer months.

"We won't see the kids officially now until near the end of August.
What they do between now and then will determine how much preliminary work the coaching staff will need to do when we start regular practice sessions. Also, the

The lift-a-thon is a voluntary event for the football players. Each player went out to obtain pledges at a minimum of a penny a pound for each pound the player lifts at the event. After the event is over, the players then collect the pledges.

The proceeds from the event go to the Belleville football program

The lifting is limited to threerepetitions of bench pressing. The results were quite impressive.

optimistic about the '92 team

One thing the coach wasn't too happy about was the lack of playing facilities at Belleville High this season. Because the courts were not kept up properly, the facilities were unplayable and the Bucs had to play its entire schedule on the road. Hopefully that situation will be rectified and the team can play some matches at home next season.

Don't forget, the girls' tennis team plays its varsity schedule in the fall, so let's hope any repairs to the courts can be made in time for the girls

The boys' track team was led by some outstanding performaces from Steven Caponi, Emilio DeGuia, John Alvarado, Mike Jannicelli, Brian

As we bid farwell to the '90-91 sports year, a final word about the senior class. When you talk about the just concluded sports year, you can't help but use senior and class in the same sentence. The Class use senior and class in the same sentence. The Class of '91 produced some fine athlites, such as Carmen Spina, Sean Kimball, Steve Caponi, Art Caruso, Jason Nardachone, Judy Krych, Lee Hands, Dan Hywel, the cheerleading squad (which graduated ten seniors), Jim DuHaime, Bill Salvatore, George Wallace, Carl Harris, Franco Vitello, Brian Doyle, Danielle Groeling, Krissi Villano and Zulay Ffallos. However, these people should be remembered first as outstanding young men and women who represented their school with a great deal of class and pride. They might not have always won on the field or court, but they gave it 100 percent every time out and wore the Blue and Gold with dignity. Sell your home faster: Weichert brochure tells how

Weichert brock

For homeowners considering putting their homes on the market, a free new brochure from Weichert, Realtors could prove invaluable.

In announcing Weichert's "Sell Your Home Faster" program, company president James M. Weichert observed that while more homeowners are seeing an opportunity to sell in today's improving market, many are "needlessly hesitating."

"The enocuraging news we can offer people is that many homes are now being marketed by our offices in very short timespans," he said, "and how fast their own home sells is something they have more control over than they realize. There are, in fact, proven steps they can take to get the quick sale they want."

Among the key issues the brochure addresses is pricing, which Weichert describes as "critical." The brochure cautions that setting an unrealistically high price will only lead to disappointment. On the other hand, sellers who inaccurately price their home too low will not realize their fair gain from this major financial investment.

The Weichert brochure notes.

The Weichert brochure notes the complexity of factors that go into determining "fair market value" and explains why pricing should never be left to "guess-value" and explains why pricing should never be left to "guess-work,"

"Sell Your Home Faster" also looks at how sellers can prepare their home for a successful "market debut," to make it more competitive with comparable homes available. "Foday's buyers are comparison shopping," the Weichert president stated, "and you've only got one chance to make a favorable first impression." In addition to the useful marketing information, the prochure outlines the many special services Weichert, Realtors offer sellers to help their homes sell more quickly. Homeowners may also mail in a coupon for a complimentary" Competitive Market Analysis to determine their home's current value. The "Sell Your Home Faster" brochure is available by calling your local Weichert, Realtors is a full service real estate company, whose divisions include mortgage, insurance, relocation, rentals, commercial, new homes and land, and moving services. According to a national report, Weichert is the top-ranked independent real estate broker in the Northeast.

The Home Front

Did You Know??

Super-expensive contemporary homes are selling in some areas. One developer in New York City's northern suburbs expects to do well with classic-style houses of 5,000 to 7,000 square feet. Prices will range from $1 to $1.5 million.

Even in July, you can add color to a garden or entry with pots of annuals. "Plant" an aisle of color up the front steps with geraniums, petunias, hydrangen and nicotiana.

Simplest window treatment uses fabrics looped over tension rods fastened on the window frame. For a softer, more formal look, use lace runners.

Though spackling is adequate for small repairs in wallboard, larger holes require patches made from scrap wallboard. Fit spack carefully, slightly below all level; fill with compound or spackle.

It doesn't take a lot of space to turn a neglected garden area into an Eden. Annuals and perannials add color where you need it.

How much space are you selling? Count on our experts to find a buyer who wants Just what you've got. List with Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Avenue, Nutley, Call 235-9000.
