Aside From That

By Howard Klausner

Only Hollywood could come up with a plot in which a teenager is plucked from his Belleville home for a week-end on the town in Beverly Hills, fortified with a $20,000 check, all because he made a lucky telephone call. It all happened to George DelGrande, 18 and fresh out of high school, who was at a girl friend's house one evening watching the Showtime channel when he saw an announcement for the Pretty Woman Weekend Sweepstakes. The grand prize included a trip for two to Beverly Hills and $20,000 cash for a Rodeo Drive shopping spree. All you had to do was make a telephone call, and your name was put in the hopper. And the name drawn from the hopper by the folks of Showtime Network was that of George. What some people work for a lifetime to achieve was in George's eager grasp. But he needed a companion. So he contacted pal Bill Auriema to accompany him. He needed a man of the world to show him the ropes, and Bill is at least 19 and a college student. Pretty Woman, of course, is the film that made Julia Roberts famous as the co-star with Richard Gere. It was the boys' fond wish, when asked by the publicity people for Showtime, to meet Miss Roberts. Came July 19, and the happy pair were on their way. ●●●●● Where they arrived was the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Los Angeles, once the classic residence for visiting stars and producers, and today a popular place for tourists. Julia Roberts was not there, but an attractive brunette, Cathy McGuinness, representing Showtime, was on hand, and she carried an oversize check in the amount of $20,000 made out to George DelGrande. It was impractical to cash the check on the spot, but a couple of thousand dollars for spending money was made available to the boys from Belleville, and they were turned loose on Hollywood. "To the Sunset Strip!" was the cry, and they grabbed a taxi and went.

Unfortunately, as someone has once described Los Angeles as Newark, with palm trees, Sunset Strip was more like Times Square without the class. "I was talking with a policeman, while across the street someone was getting beaten up, and nobody was doing anything about it," George recalled. There was still no sign of Julia Roberts. ●●●●● As the night wore into morning, the boys tired of reading the paperbacks in the drug stores and went back to the Beverly Wilshire. Well, the next day would be the day to tour glamorous Rodeo Drive. And there was always a chance that Julia might be doing her shopping there. As it turned out, the boys picked up a few items for parents and friends, but the stores were about what you would find in one of the better malls in New Jersey, and in some cases not quite as nice. And the shoppers had a remarkable resemblance to the people who had accompanied the boys on the airliner. Certainly, no sign of Julia. The last night of the adventure was coming on them. And finally, paydirt! A couple of young ladies were interested in helping George and Bill spend some of that money, a process that can take a long time if you are under legal drinking age. But there were places to go, and the boys went, and there was still no sign of Julia. Since teen-agers do not need sleep, they turned up for the flight home without a stop in their relentless pursuit of pleasure, or at least a good hamburger, making up for it by catching up with their rest on the jet. The $20,000 was virtually intact, which might not have been the case if the glamorous Julia Roberts had actually turned up.

A local businessman who prefers to remain anonymous tells of his own trip to fabulous Rome, and the unexpected consequences. He went with his family to buy the finest wedding dress possible for his daughter's impending marriage, and in the Rome hotel they met another family from New Jersey with whom they became fast friends. "We were walking down the street outside the hotel when a car came whizzing right at us. We jumped out of the way, and then we saw a crowd gathered up the street. They were gathered around the lady we knew from the hotel. She was lying in the street, knocked down by the people who had grabbed her purse and gotten away in the speeding car." In the purse was all the cash and credit cards the family had brought with them. On the spot, our friend offered a thousand dollars to the husband, enabling the family to get home safely, but not before the family had another mishap. A young son was hit by a motor scooter, and because of the vagaries of the law in Rome, the boy received a summons and a fine. And something else arose from all this calamity. Our friend's daughter fell in love with the older son of the beleaguered couple, broke off her engagement to the boy back home, and married the boy she met in Rome. "And it's been a very happy marriage," says the Belleville businessman. "Frankly, I wasn't so crazy about the other boy."

Council balks at awarding contract; delays approval of salary ordinance

Meeting in a special session, Tuesday, the Municipal Council raised questions about a street improvement contract that had been awarded to a local firm, and showed reluctance to approve a salary increase for 17 administrators.

In a 4-to-3 vote to table the salary ordinance, questions were raised about funding for a coordinator of the Silver Lake neighborhood rehabilitation project.

The project, financed by federal money, calls for the hiring of a coordinator at an annual salary of $17,000.

The hiring of the coordinator is mandated by the terms of the grant, which provides some $250,000 for an improvement program expected to take three years.

Mayor Marina Perna asked where the money for the job would be raised, after the first year's grant was spent. Town Manager Bert Kendall said the payments would come from the grant.

Kendall said that he would like to pay the coordinator up to $34,000 a year, because of the importance of the job. He has suggested a candidate for the job. Reportedly, some members of the Council have their own candidates. The question of where the money would come from to bring the salary up to $34,000 was left unanswered at the public session, but would probably be aired at the work session scheduled for Sept. 5.

Also included in the ordinance is provision for a state-mandated post of Registrar of Vital Statistics, at $5,000 to $10,000 a year. The job would probably go to someone now employed by the town, officials said.

The vote to table the salary ordinance was supported by Mayor Perna, Deputy Mayor William Cook, Mario Drozd and Jim Messina. Drozd and Messina were particularly vocal in questioning the ordinance.

Opposing the decision were Councilmen Dr. Frank Noonan, Frank Caputo and Thomas Spillane.

Drozd and Messina raised questions about the ability of a contractor to do the paving job awarded to the firm.

T. Ritiaco Construction of Belleville was low bidder for the Belleville Avenue - Valley Street paving contract, with a bid of $172,615. The bid was $15,000 under the next offer, that of Marvec Construction of Verona.

Messina said the firm had no previous experience in paving streets, but was basically a home repair firm.

Kendall and Town Counsel Vincent Nuzzi said that the council would have to interview the low bidder before deciding to withdraw the bid award. If the interview convinces the council that the firm cannot do the job, then the next bidder could get the job.

Nuzzi warned that not awarding the job to the lowest bidder would raise questions by the county and state, and could lead to lawsuits.

Drozd responded that the town already had experience with someone inexperienced in construction attempting to put up a building for the town. "We don't need to have people learn on the job, at our expense," he said.

The council voted approval of an Early Retirement Incentive program that would affect 16 employees, allowing them to receive a 25-year pension if they retired early, after 20 years on the job, at age 55.

Savings would come to the town through the lower salaries that would be paid to those taking the vacated posts.

Chamber to honor Senator Orechio

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce has announced that Senator Carmen Orechio will be the honoree at its annual dinner dance on Oct. 5.

he senator, who is also a Councilman in Nutley, is retiring from the state legislature at the end of the year.

The honor is based on community service, and a spokesperson for the Chamber cited Orechio's contributions to the quality of life in the community, both as a public official and as an individual.

He is noted for his response to humanitarian causes, as well as being an effective defender of local interests.

Numerous honors have been given him by local and state organizations.

As President of the Senate, Orechio has served as Acting Governor of New Jersey when the Governor had left the state, the only one from this area to have that honor in this century.

He is sponsor of a bill to have Belleville recognized as birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution.

NEWER AND BETTER TO COME - Except for the music store at the southwest corner of Washington and Belleville Avenues, some eight stores are empty in this business area near the Municipal Building. Owner Ken Olin of the GTE Corp. has shown town officials plans for the reconstruction of the storefront into a more modern and attractive building. Approval of the architect's plan is the only step left before application is made for state matching funds to do the job. Enhanced parking facilities are expected to boost retail activity.

DUE FOR A FACELIFT - These stores at the northwest corner of Washington Avenue and Belleville Avenue, owned by Franchesca Brusco of New York City, are scheduled for storefront rehabilitation, town officials said. Only final approval of the architect's plans are needed to get state funding for it. If the cost of the job, with the owner to pay the rest, to replace the present unsightly frontage. The Belleville Times and the Belleville Chamber of Commerce maintain offices between the liquor store and the delicatessen.

GOOD CITIZENS PAY UP - The lines were long at the Tax Collector's office this past week as property owners responded to the late mailing of tax notices this month, caused by late approval of the budget by the state. If the rate of tax payments holds up, it would be a help to the town budget. Tax Collector Steve Vogel said, "Collections are excellent."

Man killed in car accident

A 27-year-old Belleville man died of severe neck injuries almost four hours after he struck a utility pole at the corner of Passaic and Satterthwaite avenues in Nutley Aug. 25, Nutley police reported.

Abdurrahman Bahattab of Harrison Street in Belleville was driving south on Passaic Avenue at 3:09 a.m. when he failed to negotiate the curve, Nutley Police Chief Robert DeLitta said.

It is not known if drugs or alcohol were involved, he added.

Police Officer Brian Jernick who was headed north on Passaic at the same time said he observed a 1980 Chevrolet coming toward him.

Jernick said he thought the driver didn't realize there was a bend and struck the pole.

Bahattab was treated at the scene by the Nutley Volunteer Rescue Squad and transported to University Hospital in Newark where he died at 7 a.m.

Nutley police had issued a summons for being an unlicensed driver before the accident victim died.

Harris Band concert tonight

The Robert Harris Orchestra, the Belleville-based musical group that has the Big Band sound of the Swing Era, will present its first formal concert tonight in Riker Hill Park, Livingston, starting at 7 o'clock.

The park, providing a high vantage point overlooking West Essex and Morris Counties, may be reached off Route 10 and Eisenhower Parkway.

The 17-piece orchestra will present one of three musical acts. The other acts will be presented by a guitar group, the Doug McDonald Trio, and the Bob McCoy Dixieland Band of Manhattan.

The Robert Harris Orchestra features arrangements by jazz great Duke Anderson of Belleville, who has worked with virtually every major jazz figure since the early 1930s, including Louis Armstrong and Dizzy Gillespie.

There will be a nominal admission fee and listeners are urged to bring lawn chairs or blankets.

THE NEW PASTOR - The Rev. Gregg Horn, 28, has been installed as minister of the Fewsith Presbyterian Church. The son of a retired Air Force career officer, he was raised in various parts of the world but calls Spokane, Washington his home. The former varsity halfback - "I was a student jock" - has joined a small but very active church with a lively role in community life, a tradition he said he expects to continue. With a committed membership and a large school he hopes to draw many young couples who are "shopping" for a church into the congregation.

Cops battle 30 rioters

A riot involving more than 30 people on Forest Street early Tuesday morning brought police from as far as Nutley and ended with the arrest of five persons.

Police said they responded to complaints of neighbors that a wild party was in progress at the Forest Street house. A 16-year-old who seemed to be under the influence of alcohol answered the doorbell, and said he was the resident of the house.

No adults were present, police said, and when they asked the party goers to leave, they were greeted with shouts of "Pig!" "Sieg Heil!" and "White Power!"

Bottles were thrown, and a window of a police car was broken.

At this point, three Belleville police units were on hand, and because of other demands on the police, help was requested from Nutley, which sent a unit.

When the crowd refused to disperse, police announced the participants were under arrest. The crowd then broke up in all directions, and police had to chase suspects through streets and backyards.

By the time the street was cleared, four adults and the 16-year-old juvenile were under arrest.

The adults were charged with riot, failure to disperse and obstruction of government, and were released in $200 bail, each, for Municipal Court hearings. The juvenile was released in the custody of an older brother. He is charged with under-age drinking and serving alcohol to minors.

Sergeant Scott Sim was in charge of the operation. Other Belleville police at the scene were Officers Robert Charles, Paul Long, George Geyer, Patrick Goldrick and Jack Baumgartner. Nutley Police Officer Eric Anderson also assisted.

Damage was done to the walls and ceilings of the basement. Two knives were found driven into an upstairs door, and neighbors reported receiving verbal abuse from the party goers.

Cop nabs 3 suspects

Police Officer Thomas Agosta captured three suspected car thieves in one unassisted arrest action Sunday. Two juveniles and an adult were reportedly found in the act of forcing open the trunk of a stolen car on the Mill Street extension in Branch Brook Park.

Agosta was on overtime duty at the time when a passing motorist told him of the suspects, busy trying to break into cars on the dead end street.

Agosta's portable radio failed, so he could not contact headquarters for a backup, so he asked a civilian who was entering Naneena's Restaurant, nearby, to telephone for help.

He approached the three suspects, alone, and made the arrest. A police unit then arrived to help him. The car had been stolen in Newark, police said.

Several arrests of car thieves caught in the act have been made in the past few weeks, police said.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

Barely a month has gone by after economists claimed the end of the 1990-91 U.S. recession, now some are beginning to wonder if they might have been wrong. Their doubts came on the heels of some disturbing evidence - rising layoffs, a shaky banking system and crippling debts - that the economy may be in worse shape than anyone suspected.

The pessimists believe the recovery could soon sputter out and turn into another recession, the second half of a so-called double dip. That happened in five of the past eight recessions, as the economy recovered for one or two quarters before suffering a relapse.

For now, most forecasters see enough life in the economy to keep it out of new trouble. The sale of single-family homes increased to an annual rate of $25,000 units in June, up 27% from January's low. The surge in home buying may boost new construction and stimulate sales of such durable goods as furniture and kitchen appliances. Business inventories have been trimmed down, so any increase in demand could rev up new factory production. "A double-dip recession can't be ruled out, but it's not a high risk," says Gordon Richards, an economist with the National Association of Manufacturers.

Yet this recovery is unlike most others. In a survey, 31 top economists predicted that the economy would grow at a 2.7% rate in July-September quarter, less than half the speed of the average postwar recovery. New signs of weakness emerged a few weeks ago when the Federal Reserve Board's "beige book," a document summarizing economic conditions around the country, reported that the recovery "has lost some momentum" since last spring. To supply more fuel, the Fed dropped the influential Federal Funds rate from 5.34% to 5.12%, its lowest level in more than a decade.

A small but anxious group of economists, however, believes the latest Fed tactic is too little, too late. They say the economy is now structurally damaged and incapable of bouncing back anytime soon.

Hanging ominously over every sector - individuals, business and government - is a crippling pile of debt that amounts to $10 trillion, double the size of the entire U.S. economy. Consumers, far and away the most powerful stimulant in the economy, seem determined to slash spending and pay off loans. The government said recently that consumer installment fell 3% in June, the sixth drop in seven months.

Businesses are under great stress as well. Regulators have cracked down on banks, prompting them to cut back drastically on their lending. Companies drowning in debt are slashing capital investment and firing employees. Nearly one million workers have been laid off so far this year. Even the government, usually a reliable spender of last resort in a recession, will be absent this time because of record deficits at every level - local, state and federal.

Lacking any other solutions, most economists look to the Fed and its newly appointed chairman, Alan Greenspan, for the next move. "I consider the tight monetary policy pursued so far by the Fed as blatantly irresponsible," says Philip Braverman, chief economist of DKB Securities. "Inflation is not the enemy any longer. The real enemy is recession." So far this year, wholesale prices have fallen at a 1.7% annual rate, a trend that will give critics of the Fed more leverage in arguing for interest rates even lower than Greenspan has already pushed them. And as the 1992 elections approach, the political clamor for easier credit may grow deafening.

OUR OPINION

The bashing of Belleville

It is bad enough when real events put the community in a bad light, but when non-events are given publicity, the town has a right to cry Foul!

An example is the recent tale about the telephone credit card of Councilman Mario Drozd which was used by unknown persons to run up a bill of over $5,000.

The situation was made known to town officials last April, and the telephone company is still conducting its investigation.

A rumor was apparently spread that the bill was over $25,000, and the councilman's photo was run on the front page of an out-of-town publication, leaving the impression that some new development had come to light, and giving the equally false impression that Mr. Drozd was somehow implicated in wrongdoing.

You would have to read the fine print of the article to realize that Mr. Drozd was in no way under suspicion.

But the effect of the publication of the story is to raise questions about the integrity of an honorable man and respected public official, to say nothing of doing damage to Belleville's reputation.

Another example of this heedless attitude was the recent publication of a letter attacking a private citizen's motives in assisting an athletic program for youngsters. The Belleville Times declined to print the letter, in part because it seemed to be libelous, and in part because the person attacked in the letter was not an official, and the nature of his business practices was not a matter of public interest.

But the flurry of letters that followed up the first one only added to the impression that Belleville is rife with unethical behavior.

The publicity showered on childish displays of temper in public meetings, and the equal childishness of damaging the cars of political foes, with additional poor publicity, make for short term excitement and long term disrepute.

Irresponsible reporting leads to irresponsible behavior, drives responsible people from public life, and leaves Belleville out of the progress that has benefited neighboring towns.

Belleville really deserves better.

How we faced tyranny

A syndicated columnist has suggested that it might be healthy for Americans to have to stand up to an attempted coup d'état such as has been experienced in Russia, to see how we would measure up.

This is a little like suggesting that we try going over Niagara Falls in a barrel, to test our mettle.

The fact is that Belleville has, in its history, stood up to military takeover and this occurred in the lifetime of Josiah Hornblower and scores of other patriotic men and women during the American Revolution. We mention Hornblower because the British and their Loyalist sympathizers put a one thousand pound reward on his head, and he had to make more than one escape from capture.

Hornblower, who lost a son in the war, was not the only one who had to battle a ferocious government. The era of the Revolutionary War was a time of ambushes, arrests, betrayals, executions, pillaging and rape. It was a time of starvation and impoverishment. And it was a time of incredible courage and perseverance.

Russians who took to the streets to defend their freedom are to be applauded. But a Stalin or a Lenin would have had no compunction about slaughtering them in the streets and in their homes. The difference between 1921 and 1991 was that the army and the police units - the KGB itself - refused to fire on their compatriots. They had found the courage to say no to authority.

We forget that Hungarians and Poles and East Germans did take to the streets in revolt and were crushed by the ruthlessness of the Soviet Union.

We saw hundreds of thousands of young Chinese scattered by military force.

What saved Russia was a combination of courage, as exhibited by Boris Yeltsin on the barricades and tens of thousands of citizens with him; disaffection among the troops who were supposed to enforce the takeover, and luck. Police who came to arrest Yeltsin at his home missed him by 40 minutes.

Then there was the fact that the government did not take over all communications, allowing Yeltsin to stay in touch with the world.

We can assure the columnist that Americans are capable of standing up to tyranny, but we cannot count on pitting defenseless bodies against tanks and machine guns.

As in Russia, our basic defense is a common respect for decency and a love of freedom among all of us - and staying alert to all attacks on freedom.

Let us never have to learn the value of freedom the way the Russians have. Rather, let us look to the founders of this nation, and keep their ideals alive.

YOUR OPINION

On unemployment benefits

To The Editor,

The unemployment crisis has been getting a lot of press, lately. Although most economists believe that the rebound has started, there are still 6.5 million people without work, many of whom have exhausted benefits. As one of those with less than a month of unemployment coverage to go, I think it fair to say that I have more than an academic interest in this subject.

The "solutions" that I've seen for this crisis seem to come in two flavors. The first, public works, is an old socialist favorite. This proposal requires government to make up reasons to put people to work.

More often than not, they are pretty stupid reasons. If they were good reasons, the new people put to work would only displace people already on the public payroll. That means that taxes for everyone else would have to go up to pay for the bridges and roads to nowhere, the public housing that will be ripped down as soon as it is finished and other assorted projects no one except some special interest wants or needs.

The second solution is to extend unemployment insurance benefits. This has become extremely popular with Democrats who smell 6.5 million potential voters.

Unfortunately, the problems with this approach are twofold: to the extent such largess increases the federal deficit, interest rates will go up on the portion that is borrowed and inflation will go up on the portion that is paid with newly created money.

Praise for Cook

To the editor:

I would like to submit an open letter to Deputy Mayor William Cook.

We would like to applaud you for your progressive leadership in having cats licensed. We appreciate your sharing our concern for the control of rabies with our children and grandchildren in our back yards.

Regarding senior citizens, I would hope if there is a senior citizen in Belleville that does have a cat and does not have the money for the license that their sons or daughters would be supportive for the minutiae cost (some people just need a cause).

I live on Parkview Ave. which has Branch Brook Apartment facing my back yard. There is a minimum of 30 cats that do not belong to anyone and are sick. Mr. Longo of the Health Department has been working on this matter.

The cat lovers could come and take the cats and care for them that would be a simple solution.

Thanks again for leadership.

Carol Smith
and neighbors on Parkview Ave.

Secondly, to the extent increased benefits are paid with higher taxes on business, businesses have to find other ways to reduce costs. Either of these events would prolong the recession and cause additional layoffs.

The real answer to this crisis is new jobs, honest-to-goodness private sector jobs, not the phony ones governments dream up to keep people busy and make them think they are doing something productive. The only way to get them is through low inflation, low interest rates and low taxes.

These conditions encourage people to invest in new businesses and expand existing ones, putting more people to work. The only way to lower inflation, interest rates and taxes is by dramatically cutting government spending.

Fire department thanked

To the editor:

I want to express my sincere thanks to Fire Chief Walter Beresford and his wonderful staff for the terrific care and concern that they exhibited in transporting my grandmother, Mary, from Clara Maass Hospital to the Lahey Clinic in Burlington, Massachusetts. The entire fire department deserves to be commended for their genuine support and quick response to my family's urgent request. I am happy to report that the expert doctors at the Lahey Clinic have accurately diagnosed my grandmother's condition and she is responding to the treatment. Grandma personally wishes to thank Victor Meillo, Dominic Scrimo and nurse Joanne for making her trip to Massachusetts as comfortable and pleasant as possible.

Once again, thank you so much for a job well done.

• IT is with sadness that we learn of the passing of Elizabeth "Libby" Chatham, the Nutley Red Cross Executive Director from 1947 to 1965. In 1934, she joined the Nutley Chapter as a volunteer and worked closely with the late Mrs. Emil Miller, a Red Cross stalwart. Libby was a household name to thousands of Nutley people who were fortunate enough to call her friend. Libby was the Nutley Red Cross Chapter's first Executive Director. In searching our morgue, I turned up a photograph of Libby accepting a citation from my brother, Carl, on behalf of my brother, Carmen, who at the time was New Jersey Senate President.

• ECONOMISTS are predicting interest rates to rise over the next six quarters. If you are thinking about borrowing money, current interest rates are very favorable - but they won't be for long.

The stock market recently reached an all-time high, but it didn't take long for it to bounce back. The prediction is that the see-saw pattern will continue over the balance of the year. My guess is that the national economy will start to turn around in September because it must reach a peak in September of 1992, thus getting the wrinkles out of the bellies in time for President George Bush's election in November. The hungrier voters are, the more tempted they are to throw out the incumbents. George Bush can't afford that luxury.

• IBM's Chairman, John F. Akers, circulated a message to the company's employees that's worthy of greater distribution. It is one that could apply to any business:

"In recent days, we have had a great deal of experience with communications, unfettered and otherwise, especially concerning what I said to a small group of the Advanced Management School in Armonk. Here is the gist of what I want to communicate to everyone in the company.

IBM exists to provide a return to its shareholders. We do that by creating satisfied and delighted customers - more of them than our competitors. Those facts of business life are as plain now as they were more than 45 years ago when Thomas J. Watson Sr. reminded people of them, saying, "It becomes increasingly apparent, and I conclude the company as a whole, that the average IBM'er has lost sight of the reasons for his company's existence. IBM exists to provide a return on invested capital to the stockholders."

Not a Fraternity or Club
He added: It is the success of IBM.

as a business that enables the company to provide good salaries and benefits. When everyone realizes that I.B.M. is a business, run by businessmen and affected by the business environment and not a fraternity or club they've joined with lifetime benefits, then we can parade into the future to reap earned rewards."

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

My own comments had to do specifically with the quality of work in our business. As I have been saying for some time, I believe it must be improved.

While I know many I.B.M.'ers have never worked as hard as they are working today, I am convinced that some of our people do not understand that they have a deeply personal stake in declining market share, revenue and profits. A healthy level of concern and urgency, which I call tension, is essential for everyone in I.B.M.

If our development and manufacturing teams deliver competitive quality, function, usability, and costs are timely and reliable suppliers, our business will prosper. If our marketing and service teams are skilled, beat the competition, and delight our customers, our business will prosper. Our stockholders have every right to expect us to have a prosperous business. We must deliver - not some of the time, but all of the time - to this level of expectation.

Simple Propositions
That expectation begins with a few simple propositions:

• We will measure our success in two primary ways: customer satisfaction and balanced growth in market share and profitability.

• We expect to grow with the industry in every market and every segment in which we compete.

• I.B.M. is a worldwide, integrated computer systems company, but we expect every part of I.B.M. to be competitive in its own right: every product, every service, every unit, every country, every individual.

• We will invest in and reward success and contribution; this accountability means we will not expect successful contributors to subsidize those who are not.

The best and only assurance of personal reward and job security is to be part of a successful, prospering business.

It is in our hands - individually and collectively - to have delighted customers, delighted stockholders, and proud I.B.M.'ers. Would we have it any other way?"

Film class and discussion

Do you enjoy the art of film? The September film series on Thursdays at 1 p.m. at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Avenue, commences with "Brief Encounter," starring Trevor Howard and Celia Johnson, a transcription of the Noel Coward Drama of a mature woman, who suddenly finds the beginning of an affair with a dance acquaintance, unknown to her husband, on Sept. 12. On Sept. 19 "Gross Anatomy," starring Matthew Modine, Daphne Zuniga, and Christine Lahti, tells the story of a brilliant first-year medical student, whose casual, non-conforming approach to life gets tested, when he enrolls in "Gross Anatomy," the toughest course in medical school. On Sept. 26, "Funeral in Berlin," starring Michael Caine and Oscar Homolka, shot on location in Berlin, shows the authentic footage of the Berlin Wall and adds to the suspense of the story of the possible defection of the head of Russian Security.

To register for the films, call the library's circulation desk.

Buying a home, condominium

"Buying a Home or a Condominium" will be the topic of the first lecture in the "Ask a Lawyer Series" on Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Avenue. AAA stresses back-to-school safety for kids

It's that time again. Time for early morning chaos while trying to get everyone off to school and work. Time for back-to-school shopping. Time for backpacks, notebooks, pencils and pens. The AAA New Jersey Automobile Club says it's also time to sit down with your children and review back-to-school safety rules.

"Although the first few weeks of school are among the busiest for parents, they're also the most dangerous for children," said Paul Kielblock, safety manager for the Florham Park based Club. "Now is the time to make sure your children understand school bus and basic traffic safety rules."

When speaking with your child, Kielblock asks parents to remember that children have a different perspective on traffic. "Children are smaller than adults and often have difficulty seeing over or around cars and shrubs and assessing gaps in traffic."

AAA's Kielblock recommends parents discuss the following school bus and basic traffic safety rules with their children:

- Pay attention to traffic at the bus stop and on your way to and from school. Playing around can put you in danger.
- Don't yell and jump around on a school bus. The driver will have difficulty hearing surrounding traffic and might be distracted.

- Cross the street only at a corner or crosswalk, not in the middle of the block. Traffic signals will help provide a break in traffic and indicate when to cross.

- Obey the direction of police officers, adult crossing guards and safety patrols. These people are there to help you cross the street safely and must make sure all traffic is stopped before allowing you to cross.

- Use sidewalks whenever possible, but when none are available, walk facing traffic on the shoulder of the road. This will allow you to see oncoming cars and give you time to react to them.

- Never dash into the street to retrieve a dropped book or personal item. Look both ways to make sure it's safe, first.

"School's Open — DRIVE CAREFULLY!"

Dependent care credit tax saving allowed

For tax years beginning after 1990, you may be able to claim a new Young Child Credit on your Federal tax return. You must be eligible for the Earned Income Credit (EIC) and have a qualifying child who is under age one at the end of the tax year. The maximum Young Child Credit for 1991 is $357.

You may choose to take either the Young Child Credit or the Child and Dependent Care Expenses credit for that qualifying child but not both. You can still claim the Child and Dependent Care Expenses credit if you have qualifying expenses for another qualifying dependent.

Determine the amount of credit you would get under each provision and choose the one that benefits you the most. Keep in mind also that, while the Child and Dependent Care Expenses credit can only reduce your tax to zero, the Young Child Credit may reduce it to zero and you may get a refund on any remaining credit.

To qualify for the credit and dependent care expenses you must 1) keep up a home that you live in with one or more qualifying persons; 2) pay day-care expenses so you can work; 3) have employment income; 4) make payments for day-care to a person who is not your dependent; 5) file a joint return if married, unless an exception applies; 6) identify the care provider(s) on your return; 7) have income that is not more than the dollar limit for the year; and 8) file Form 1040 or 1040A.

To claim the credit, you must complete Form 2441, "Child and Dependent Care Expenses," and attach it to Form 1040, or use Schedule 2, "Child and Dependent Care Expenses," and attach it to your Form 1040A. You cannot claim the credit on Form 1040EZ. Generally, you must file a joint return if you are married.

The Federal tax law states that for tax years after 1990, taxpayers who claim a dependent who is at least one year old by the end of the year must include the dependent's social security number on their Federal income tax return. If the dependent does not have a number by filing time, a return should be filed anyway. Write "applied for" in the space provided for the number, and attach Form SSA-5028, "Receipt for Application for Social Security Number." Pick up a copy of Form SS-5, "Application for a Social Security Card," from your local Social Security Administration office, or call 1-800-829-3676 (IRS distribution center) for a copy of Form SS-5.

Belleville Times SPORTS

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

This Sunday, the NFL regular season will kickoff with a full slate of games. Week number one will be culminated by the Giant-San Francisco contest on Labor Day evening at Giants Stadium.

Annually, I make my NFL predictions, with an ultimate Super Bowl matchup. In 1990, I came relatively close, picking San Francisco and Buffalo and wouldn't you know that San Francisco and Denver would pull major upsets and get to the big game.

Well anyway, let's take a look at the 1991 season, starting with perhaps the toughest division in the NFL, the NFC East.

The Giants are considered by many to be the strongest team in the division, but I've got to go with the Philadelphia Eagles to win the division for the second time in the past three years. I know the Eagles have three key defensive players holding out, but those players should report soon and the early part of Phil's schedule isn't too difficult to add, the offense, paced by quarterback/track star Randall Cunningham has to be good.

Many people are picking the Washington Redskins to be the surprise team of the NFL. If their performance against the Jets last weekend is any indication, you can be sure that the 'Skins will not be very competitive.

The Giants will be a solid entry, and they will make the playoffs, but look for them to place second in the division.

Dallas is much improved, but many expect this team to be challenging for the divisional crown and the Super Bowl. The Cowboys aren't that good, yet. They aren't that far away, however.

Phoenix appeared to be on its way to a good year, based on a 4-0 pre season. However, the Cards lost its top QB to injury and that will certainly set the Big Red back in its comeback plans.

NFC East Predictions: Philadelphia (11-5), Giants (11-5), Washington (9-7), Dallas (7-9), Phoenix (5-11).

In the NFC Central, I really think this will be the Minnesota's year to do big things. Why? Because this is the first time in four seasons that many are overlooking the Vikes. Minnesota has been the perennial league disappointment since 1988 and the experts are going with Detroit, Chicago and perhaps Green Bay. Look for Herschel Walker to have a good year and the Vikings to reach the expectations long awaited. Don't forget the '92 Super Bowl is going to be held in Minneapolis next January.

Chicago will be competitive, as usual. Green Bay has the "Majik Man" back this season and that should make the Packers an exciting team.

In the NFC Central: Minnesota (10-6), Green Bay (9-7), Detroit (9-7), Chicago (7-9), Tampa Bay (4-12).

The NFC West could be the leagues weakest, with a close second going to the AFC East. The Niners should win this by default, with the Rams playing better and the Saints being competitive. Look for Atlanta to improve on its 4-12 mark of a year ago, also.

In the NFC West: San Francisco (12-4), New Orleans (8-8), Los Angeles (7-9), Atlanta (6-10).

Over in the AFC, the Buffalo Bills should receive some competition from Miami, but the Bills will have the advantage in winning its fourth straight AFC Eastern Division crown. Buffalo came within six inches of winning the Super Bowl last January and it appears the Bills are on a mission to return to the big game. There is only one team which, in my opinion, has a shot.

In the AFC East: Buffalo (12-4), Miami (10-6), Indianapolis (8-8), Jets (5-11), New England (4-12).

For the past few seasons, the AFC Central has been a story of at least three teams battling for division supremacy. There is no reason to believe that that scenario will not come true in '91. Houston appears to be the divisions best, but Cincinnati and Pittsburgh will be right there and Cleveland should improve.

In the AFC Central: Houston (10-6), Cincinnati (9-7), Pittsburgh (7-9), Cleveland (5-11).

Finally, the AFC West, the Denver Broncos should be a much better team than the one which wore the Orange and Blue last season. With John Elway, you can at least expect a competitive team.

The L.A. Raiders should be strong once again, even without Bo. However, the team to watch, not only in the division but in the conference, is Kansas City. I really think the Chiefs are the only team that can beat Buffalo in a playoff game. It doesn't even matter if that game is played in Buffalo in mid January.

The Chiefs could be in line for its first Super Bowl in 22 years.

In the AFC West: Kansas City (12-4), Denver (9-7), L.A. Raiders (8-8), Seattle (6-10), San Diego (4-12).

Now, for the playoffs, in the NFC, the divisional winners are Philly, Minnesota and San Francisco. The wildcards are the Giants, Washington and Green Bay. The Giants and Washington play in one wildcard game, with the Giants winning 24-14. In the other wildcard, Green Bay takes on Minnesota and the Vikings win 27-16.

In the second round, San Francisco plays host to the Giants and wins in overtime, 20-17. In the other game, Philly beats Minnesota by, let's say, a 24-20 count.

The NFC title game features Philadelphia at San Francisco and in a big upset, the Eagles win the game, 27-20.

In the AFC, divisional winners are Buffalo, Houston and Kansas City. The wildcards are Miami, Cincinnati and Denver. Miami plays Cincinnati in one game and the Dolphins win 26-20. Denver takes on Houston in the other game and the Oilers prevail 24-23.

In the second round, Buffalo, the top seed, faces Miami and the Bills win 34-27. Kansas City plays host to Houston and the Chiefs win their first playoff game since 1970, 17-14.

In the AFC title game, Kansas City travels to Buffalo and upsets the Bills on a last second field goal, 23-20.

Thus, the Super Bowl in Minneapolis will feature Philadelphia and Kansas City.

THIS WEEK'S NFL PICKS

Okay, here are the picks for week one in the NFL. Kansas City 26 Atlanta 10, New Orleans 24 Seattle 20, New York Jets 27 Tampa Bay, Dallas 20 Cleveland 19, Philadelphia 31 Green Bay 27, Houston 37 L.A. Raiders 33, Buffalo 34 Miami 31, Minnesota 20 Chicago 17, New England 24 Indianapolis 23, Pittsburgh 30 San Diego 10, Cincinnati 24 Denver 21, Washington 30 Detroit 17. I'll be in Anaheim this Sunday to see the Rams and Phoenix Cardinals play. I'll go with the Rams, 28-10. Finally, on Monday night, a doozy between the Giants and Niners, with the Giants winning 24-20. This weeks upset is the New England-Indianapolis game.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The Jets and Giants made the playoffs together in 1981, '85 and '86. The '81 Jets lost in the first round to Buffalo and the '81 Giants beat Philly before losing to San Francisco. The '85 Jets lost to New England in the first round while the '85 Giants beat San Francisco before losing to Chicago. In '86, the Giants won the Super Bowl. The Jets won their first round game with Kansas City, then appeared headed to a victory over Cleveland in the next round. The Browns rallied to beat the Jets in double OT. The '86 season was the closest we have gotten to a Jets-Giants Super Bowl.

Football practice underway

Decathlon results impressive

By Mike Lamberti

Workmanlike performances were turned in by members of the 1991 Belleville football team at last week's annual decathlon. Although none of the players reached the exclusive 1,000 point plateau, a very impressive 29 players earned scores ranging between the 700 and 979 point plateau.

"We were very happy with the performances at the decathlon," head coach John Senesky said.

"With the renovations at the stadium and the wet field due to all the rain, we had to make some alterations to the course. But overall, it didn't affect the scoring too much."

The decathlon is made up of ten events that tests the players' overall athletic ability and conditioning level. The first four events are made up of weight lifting exercises. The players' power index was measured by cleaning, push pressing, squatting and bench pressing.

The remainder of the events consisted of the mile run, half mile run, quarter mile run, 400 yard shuttle run, the 20 yard shuttle run, the "Husker" drill and the 50 yard shuttle run. The "Husker" drill is from the Nebraska Cornhusker college football team. It is a speed and agility drill using cones.

In the power index, senior J.V. Faliveno was the top scorer, with a rating of 6.28. The power index is determined by the total amount of weight lifted and divided by the players body weight.

Faliveno lifted a total of 1,195 pounds, cleaning 230 pounds, push pressing 245, squatting 405 and bench pressing 315. Faliveno, a linebacker and offensive lineman, weighs 190 pounds.

Faliveno was the only player to break the exclusive 6.0 mark. Ten more players reached or exceeded the 5.0 plateau. Any score of 5.0 or better is considered outstanding.

Seniors who hit 5.0 were Hector Daniluk (5.28), Brian Salmon (5.04), Michael Kimball (5.03) and John McAloon (5.0).

Daniluk, a defensive end, was having a good season last fall before he sustained a broken thumb in the Paramus game. He was forced to miss the remainder of the season.

Salmon, Kimball and McAloon all played key roles on the '90 team. Juniors who hit the 5.0 rating were John Kuebler (5.12), John Alvarado (5.08) and Rick Constantino (5.05). All three of those players saw extensive playing time last fall in their sophomore campaigns.

Senesky was very pleased that three sophomores reached the 5.0 level.

"It's difficult for the sophomores when they first compete in the power index," Senesky said. "They try and keep up with the older guys, which is only natural. We tell them to give it their best, but not to overdo it."

Mark Bianchini scored a 5.32, Sam Marino finished a 5.17 and Anthony Caruso tallied with a 5.17.

"We instituted a new club, the 1,000 pound club," Senesky said.

"Many of the big guys will have a difficult time reaching 5.0 in the power index due to their size. But anyone who lifts over 1,000 total pounds has done an excellent job."

This year, the 1,000 pound club members are Faliveno, Salmon (1,090 pounds) and Scott Mayers (1,040 pounds).

With the completion of the power index, the decathlon continued. Overall, five players scored 900 or better, led, once again, by Faliveno, who tallied 979 points.

Daniluk scored 971, McAloon was third at 963, Constantino followed at 941 and Bianchini finished with an even 900.

The 800 point club had 11 members, starting with Anthony Caruso (895 points). Other 800 point scorers were Sam Marino (884), Bill Prosperi (870), Rich Romano (867), Kimball (862), Alvarado (857), Richard Quine (822), Rocky Russo (818), Mike Citarella (811), Robert Deni (807) and Abdel Ileivat (801).

Citarella's score was even more impressive when you consider he missed most of the power index portion because of a knee injury.

"He hurt the knee last spring," Senesky said. "He's fine, but we didn't want to take a chance of further injury in the weight room."

The 700 club had 13 inductees this summer. Salmon led the way with a 789. Other players included Jason Caruso (778), Brian Harvey (771), Mike Mundy (758), John Engdahl (751), Mayers (752), John Durr (741), Mike Morgan (736), Robert Cetrulo (732), Cliff Mann (735), Mike Janicelli (711), Jason Christy (704) and Joe DeRiggi (701).

With the decathlon completed, uniforms were issued and practices commenced last Monday. Senesky planned on two a day practices all this week. The first session is from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The second session is from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

"We'll also practice Saturday morning, then give the kids off Sunday and Labor Day. We'll start practicing again on Tuesday."

The Bucs first scrimmage is set for Saturday, September 7, at East Orange. The following day, the players from all the fall sports will gather at Belleville High School for the annual "photo day" session.

That should begin at 11 a.m.

The regular season opener is slated for Friday night, September 27, at Hackensack. Originally, the game was scheduled for the following Saturday afternoon.

"I spoke with Hackensack's coach the other day and it's pretty well set for a Friday night game," Senesky said.

The coach also said that the turnout of players on the '91 team was very encouraging.

"The freshman team alone has 35 to 40 players," Senesky said. "And that should probably go up before the start of school. The kids are pretty optimistic. We have a good group of seniors here and it's up to them to provide the leadership."

"We have players back from last years team, but the key will be developing depth at positions. That's always the most important factor."

Flashback! '90 Bucs win thriller, 19-18

By Mike Lamberti

This years Flashback doesn't take us too far this time. We go back to last season, and a Belleville football game at Paramus. It turned out to be one of the most exciting games in recent Buccanier history. Belleville went into Paramus with a 1-3 record and the team was struggling to find an identity.

What followed on a beautiful autumn afternoon was one of the most intense, hard fought games Belleville has played.

This article appeared in the October 25, 1990 issue of the Belleville Times.

There have been some memorable football games at Belleville High School throughout the years. The '82 game with Passaic comes to mind right away. Ditto for the '79 Seton Hall contest and the '80 game with Morris Knolls in the state playoffs.

However, it will be difficult to match the game played last Saturday at Paramus High School for pure excitement. The Belleville Bucs beat Paramus 19-18 in a game every bit as exciting as the final score would indicate.

John Senesky's team will take a 2-3 record into Morris Knolls this Saturday. Game time is 1:30 p.m. from Morris Knolls. The Bucs will have their hands full as M.K. is 5-0, the defending Group IV, Section II champs and a team loaded with speed.

"This was a great victory for our team," an emotionally spent Senesky said after the final gun. "For our kids to overcome so many odds near the end of the game and win, it's just incredible. I can't remember the last time a Belleville team came back from an 11 point deficit and won."

The last time Belleville trailed by 11 points or more in a game and came back to win was in 1977, Senesky's first year as head coach. In a game against Essex Catholic, Belleville came back from 12-0 and 18-6 deficits to beat the Eagles, 26-18. Frank Pizzi led the Belleville attack in that game with three rushing touchdowns.

This time, it was two Art Caruso touchdowns passes in the fourth quarter that wiped out an 18-7 Paramus lead. The go-ahead touchdown pass went to Carmen Spina with just 55 left in the game. The pass culminated a see-saw ride of emotions for the Bucs and their fans, who saw no less than two touchdowns called back by the officials in that eventual scoring series.

The winning drive started when Jim DuHaime, who would be in the center of some unbelievable action later in the series, recovered a fumble at the Paramus 35.

Spina picked up one yard and Caruso passed to DuHaime for nine yards and a first down at the 25. A five yard penalty against the Bucs moved the ball back to the 30, and after an incomplete pass, Belleville faced a third and 15 situation.

Caruso took the snap, rolled out to his right and threw to DuHaime, who was open in the end zone. DuHaime dove for the ball and appeared to make a beautiful catch. The official on the play, however, ruled the pass incomplete with no hesitation.

"I don't know if he (the official) had the best of angles," Senesky said. "I thought he had it."

So did the Belleville players, coaches, fans and DuHaime himself, who lay on the field in disbelief. To compound matters, the officials flagged the Bucs for unsportsmanlike conduct, a 15 yard infraction that moved the ball to the Paramus 45.

The situation was simple enough, but almost impossible to fulfill. The Bucs had a fourth and 30. To make matters more interesting, Senesky inserted John Alvarado, a sophomore who has excelled on specialty teams and on defense, into the quarterback position.

"John is a little taller than Art and has a good arm," Senesky said. "We felt he could get it downfield quicker."

Caruso stayed in the game, playing split end, a position he played a good deal last season. The ball was snapped to Alvarado, who was lined up in a shotgun formation. The sophomore scooped up the low snap, then was rushed as he looked downfield. He spotted DuHaime and hit the senior tightend with a beautiful pass. DuHaime hauled the pass in at the 15, then appeared to fumble. The loose ball was picked up by Caruso, who was trailing the play and Caruso went in with what appeared to be another Belleville score.

Once again, the officials said no, but this time gave Belleville the yardage it earned on DuHaime's catch. The reception was just good enough for the first down, as the ball just eluded the stretched chains.

The score was negated because the official ruled that DuHaime's fumble was a forward lateral, which of course is not allowed.

Alvarado's pass had a touch of Hollywood attached to it. The sophomore, who is loaded with talent, had no idea that it was fourth down when he came in to take that one snap.

"I didn't know until I went back to the sideline after the play," Alvarado said afterward.

With new life, a first and 10 at the Paramus 15, Caruso wasted no time. Back in at quarterback, he rolled out after taking the snap and passed to Spina, in traffic, at the one yard line. Spina caught the ball, then bulled over for the go-ahead tally. He just barely stayed in bounds as he went into the end zone.

The Belleville stands exploded with joy and this time, there was no penalty flag on the play. The Bucs attempted a two point conversion, but the attempt failed.

Paramus tried one last pass with three long bombs, but the Belleville defense was more than ready this time.

The game started rather innocently. The Bucs won the opening kickoff and moved downfield impressively. Starting from its own 38, Belleville used the ground game well. Spina picked up 25 yards on three carries and Caruso passed six yards to Bill Prosperi. Bill Salvatore gained 12 yards to the Paramus 11 and a penalty on Paramus moved the ball to the 8.

From there, Caruso hit Prosperi with a six yard pass and then Caruso finished the drive with a two yard keeper. Mike Kimball hit the point after conversion and Belleville led 7-0.

The Bucs defense came out fired up and harassed the Paramus passer. Carl Harris applied excellent pressure on the quarterback, as did DuHaime and sophomore Mike Citarella. Also playing well on defense was Hector Daniluk and J.V. Faliveno, both of whom are juniors.

However, Paramus got its offense in order and scored twice before halftime, the second score coming on a "Hail Mary" pass just before the half, and took a 12-7 lead into the intermission.

The lead increased to 18-7 late in the third quarter on another sustained drive and things appeared bleak, as the Bergen County team, coached by former Nutley mentor

TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE
PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the following proposed ordinance was introduced and passed on first reading at a meeting of the Municipal Council of the Township of Belleville, N.J. held on Tuesday evening, August 8, 1991, and further notice is hereby given that the second and final reading of said ordinance will be considered by said Municipal Council at a meeting to be held at the Town Hall, Washington Avenue and Belleville Avenue, Tuesday evening, September 10, 1991, at eight o'clock p.m. when all objections to the passing of same will be heard and considered.

Mary Lou Hood,
Municipal Clerk

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND "AN ORDINANCE CREATING PERMANENT POSITIONS AND ADOPTING RECLASSIFICATION AND COMPENSATION PLANS PROMULGATED BY THE NEW JERSEY DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL SERVICE IN AND FOR THE TOWN OF BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF ESSEX, STATE OF NEW JERSEY," ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 12, 1966 AS ORDINANCE NO. 151; AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 187 ON JUNE 10, 1968; AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 184 ON MAY 23, 1977; AMENDED BY

Ordinance No. 184 on February 10, 1976; amended by Ordinance No. 217 on February 21, 1984; and amended by Ordinance No. 276 on May 7, 1984.

WHEREAS, the Municipal Council of the Township of Belleville, County of Essex, State of New Jersey seek to reduce the cost of providing municipal services to the citizens of the Township of Belleville and reduce that portion of the municipal budget which is heavily burdened by salary expense; and

WHEREAS, the prior governing bodies of the Township of Belleville first provided longevity payments to township employees in 1964, later abandoned same and then reestablished a longevity policy in 1968, which was again abandoned in 1977, only to be reinstated in 1984, thereby reflecting a rather short and uncommitted desire to provide longevity payments to long term employees; and

WHEREAS, the current financial restraints facing all municipalities in the State of New Jersey has caused a reevaluation of the current longevity policy.

BEFOREFORE BY THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF THE TOWNSHIP OF BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF ESSEX, STATE OF NEW JERSEY,

SECTION 1. No employee or official, full time, part time, certified, uncertified, or permanent of the Township of Belleville hired after the effective date of the ordinance shall be entitled to receive any longevity payments pursuant to the 1968 schedule of longevity payments or any other Township schedule of longevity payments.

SECTION 2. The current longevity policy most recently mentioned in Ordinance No. 276 adopted on May 7, 1984 shall be deemed repealed, void and of no further effect upon the retirement of the last person entitled to longevity payments, hired immediately prior to the effective date of the ordinance.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall take effect on January 1, 1992 for all non-union employees and/or officers; for all union employees, this ordinance shall take effect upon expiration of any collective bargaining agreement signed and in effect between said union in which the employee is a member, and the Township of Belleville upon the final passage and publication of this ordinance in accordance with the law.

Inspect Your Roof Shingles Before Leaks Cause Damage

Nothing causes more aggravation and expense than a leaking roof. Treasured possessions can be ruined, furniture and carpeting soaked, and family routine upset for days.

Homeowners can help prevent leaks before they begin with regular spring and fall inspections of their shingle roofs.

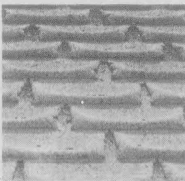

Some common danger signals to look for include damaged shingles, roof bare spots, loosened nails, deteriorated flashings, and granules washing off the roof.

If some of these problems exist, the homeowner may want to consider re-roofing. Not only will damage from leaks be avoided, but also a new roof will add to the beauty and value of the home.

To help make the job go smoothly, the makers of Manville Fiber Glass Shingles have published an illustrated, pocket-size guide that provides quick, easy-to-follow steps for re-roofing, as well as putting a roof on a new home.

The guide lists the tools and materials that will be needed, and how to prepare the roof before the shingles are applied. With simple sketches, it explains how to install the new shingles, types of fastening methods, and how to handle flashing, valleys and even dormers.

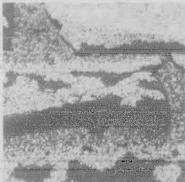

You can obtain a free copy of "How to Apply Manville Fiber Glass Shingles," No. RF-278B, from your building supply dealer, or by writing to Manville Inquiry Dept., 1601 Park Ave. West, Denver, CO 80216.

Problem: Damaged shingles.

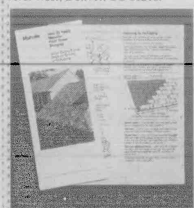

Problem: Roof bare spots.

Problem: Loosened nails.

Problem: Washed-off shingle granules.

Handy, pocket-size guide provides quick, easy-to-follow steps for roofing or re-roofing.

Shut Out Unwanted Noises In Your Home

A door slams. The pitter-patter of little feet echo through the house like a stampede of wild elephants. Whatever happened to the peace and quiet of "home sweet home?"

More and more homeowners are asking that question these days because people are spending more time at home. The desire for a quiet and comfortable atmosphere is inspiring people to search for ways to soundproof their homes and diminish unwanted noises that come from inside as well as outside the home.

There are many ways to make your home quieter. Adding fiber glass insulation is one of the most effective and economical. If you are undertaking major renovations or adding a room to your house, consider soundproofing by adding CertainTeed Fiber Glass Insulation. It can be a relatively simple and inexpensive procedure.

and can add greatly to the comfort and value of your home. With the current real estate market favoring buyers, people are becoming more demanding and seeking out the homes that can offer the most amenities. A quiet, soundproof environment is at the top of many homebuyer's lists.

Soundproofing helps to control the two different types of sound that exist—airborne and impact. An example of airborne sound is a loud stereo or television. Impact sound is the noise made by pounding feet or hammering.

When using fiber glass insulation to control these unwanted noises, the key areas to insulate are exterior and interior sidewalls, ceiling/floor assemblies and the perimeter of any room addition. Interior walls are especially important to insulate in order to keep noise from traveling between rooms. In addition, insulating the walls of an

Heat Pumps Provide Summer Cooling, Winter Heating

Thinking or buying a new home or planning to retire an old furnace or central air conditioner? Consider a heat pump. Heat pumps provide summer cooling as well as winter heating, replacing both furnace and central air conditioning with a single heating-cooling system, according to the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute (ARI).

In summer, a heat pump operates as a standard, electrically driven air conditioner, collecting heat from the air in your home and expelling it outside. In winter, the process is reversed so that the heat pump collects heat from outdoor air to warm the air inside your home. The heat pump can do this because heat exists in all air down to absolute zero (-460° or -273°). Even cold winter air contains heat.

Heat pumps save energy because, unlike a furnace that turns fossil fuel or electricity into heat, the heat pump collects heat that already exists in the outdoor air. This means that the heat pump can supply from 1.5 to 2.5 times more heat than the energy it uses, depending on the efficiency of the heat pump and the geographic location.

ARI's pamphlet, "Heat, Cool, Save Energy with a Heat Pump," helps homeowners understand how to save energy and money with heat pumps. For a copy, send a stamped, self-addressed business envelope to ARI, Dept. U-169, P.O. Box 37200, Washington, DC 20013.

New financing resource makes it easier for first-time homebuyers to finance both the purchase and renovation of fixer-uppers, homes that need repair. There are income guidelines for eligibility for the loans from Fannie Mae and GE Capital Mortgage Insurance.

Pre-pasted wallpaper is easier for the amateur to use than unpasted papers, because it requires less handling. You will need a water box, a shallow trough in which to dampen the paper.

No one wants old refrigerators because refrigerants and other chemicals in their works can contaminate groundwater and damage the ozone layer. Now a New England utility company is recycling the appliances, preparing chemicals for reuse and scrapping the metal.
