Florio, Lautenberg scheduling visits here to celebrate first Josiah Hornblower Day

By Howard Klausner

Governor James Florio and United States Senator Frank Lautenberg have announced they plan to attend the Josiah Hornblower Day celebration on Aug. 13.

Governor Florio's staff reported that only inclement weather could change the Governor's plans, because he will be travelling by helicopter.

State Senator John Scott announced that he will participate, as well. Louis Cicenia, chairman of the Belleville Renaissance Committee sponsoring the event, said invitations to attend had been sent to the White House and to Governor Bill Clinton, as well.

Cicenia, owner of Charles Jewelers, said that the invitations to the national figures indicated the importance placed on the event by township citizens.

He noted that the French Consulate in New York will be represented by the Consul, Mme. Marie-Charlotte Bolot, and that the French Commercial Attache, Jean-Christophe Pottion, will also attend. Prominent business leaders have been invited to meet with Mr. Pottion in the home of James Cozzarelli, for a discussion of investment and trade possibilities.

Cozzarelli has announced that musical entertainment will be provided at the gathering by members of the Metropolitan Opera.

The French delegation will be met in New York by Cicenia, Jaye Tarantino and other members of the committee, with a limousine provided by Publisher Frank A. Orechio.

A ceremony will be held on the steps of the Municipal Building at 11 a.m., at which tribute will be paid to the memory of Hornblower, the engineer who brought the first steam engine to the New World in 1753, making Belleville the Birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution.

Special honors will be paid to two direct descendants of Hornblower, Joseph Hatch and Adeline Brehm, and the Belleville Historical Society will have a place of honor at the ceremony, represented by Robert MacFayden, Ed O'Neill and Isabel Whitlinger.

Music will be provided by Howard "Duke" Anderson, the Bob Harris Orchestra and singer Jimmie Cicenia.

Following the ceremony at Town Hall, a visit will be made to the Reformed Church, in whose churchyard, Hornblower's remains are interred. A wreath will be placed at the Hornblower monument.

A reception will then be held at the Belleville Public Library, and the business interviews will take place at the Cozzarelli home.

A banquet is tentatively scheduled for later in the day.

The Belleville Township Council showed its endorsement of the event by offering $2,500 to help defray the expenses.

Robert Reiser, owner of the Reiser Courier Service, said that sales of decals showing a silhouette of Hornblower within a laurel wreath, intended to finance the event, have produced nearly $3,000. "We still need more money, and these beautiful decals - designed by graphic artist Dawn Cox - can be ordered by telephoning the Belleville Chamber of Commerce." The Chamber's telephone number is (201) 759-4848.

It was at the suggestion of Cicenia that the French be invited to participate in the first annual celebration of Josiah Hornblower Day. Hornblower had suggested the name "Belleville" to replace the name of Second River. The selection of a French name, "Beautiful Town", reflected the appreciation held for France's contribution to the American cause during the Revolutionary War.

France is today the second largest overseas investor in New Jersey commerce and industry.

The Belleville Times has been promoting the formal recognition of Belleville as Birthplace of the The American Industrial Revolution, resulting in a Proclamation being signed in Belleville by Governor Florio, asking federal recognition of Belleville's place in history.

The Belleville Renaissance Committee is sponsoring Josiah Hornblower Day as part of Operation Uplift, to restore the township's recognition of its historic past and to further the improvement of the community.

Request made in February pays off

State aid knocks 80 points off tax rate; Manager's move blocks 105-point hike

By Howard Klausner

The State of New Jersey announced Friday that it was increasing state aid to Belleville by $3 million, in response to a township request for help in meeting a budget shortfall.

Township Manager Bertrand Kendall had sent off a request for additional aid in February, after auditors predicted a budget gap of more than $3 million which would have meant a tax increase for municipal purposes of more than 120 points.

Kendall estimated that there was still a prospect of a 25-point tax increase, and he and the Township Council would be working to reduce that.

Had the state aid - provided as Municipal Revitalization Aid - not come through, some 27 town employees would have faced dismissal, along with severe cuts in services.

Among those scheduled to be dismissed were four police officers, to save $115,000; four firefighters, to save $123,000; two Department of Health workers, $44,000; two Planning Department workers, $58,000; two Finance Office workers, $42,000; and four Department of Public Works workers, $94,000.

A restricted budget would also have meant a loss of $500,000 in street paving, $300,000 in sewer repairs, $30,000 for a plan to and inadequate water supply for fire fighting, and $200,000 for repair of the damaged exterior of the Town Hall.

The Township had asked for $5 million in aid. It regularly receives $1,462,000 in aid under the Supplemental Municipal Property Tax Relief program, and this amount was continued - plus the $3 million.

The request was drawn up by Auditor Marvin Lustbader, former Treasurer Isadore Padula, and Township Clerk Mary Lou Hood.

The shortfall has been caused by slow revenue payments and by massive court-ordered tax rebates for property owners.

These reductions in rates wiped out the normal budget surplus of $2,250,000.

General revenues are expected to drop from 1991's $11.3 million to $10.7 million for 1992.

The tax picture had thrown some Council members into panic. There was a demand for an immediate 10 percent cut in expenses, which the administration pointed out could have devastating consequences to the township's services.

At Monday's work session of the Council, where Kendall broke the news of the state aid, Deputy Mayor Mario Drozd urged an effort to bring the tax increase to zero.

In the request for additional aid, the Township stated:

● The Township of Belleville had a dramatic reduction of surplus during 1991 because of poor revenue production and payout of tax appeal refunds of approximately $812,000. Lack of surplus funds to apply to the 1992 budget will lead to an unacceptable tax rate increase of over 100 points.

● The percentage of collections for 1991 fell over 1.25 percentage points as a result of economic conditions and the tax appeals.

● Years of neglect have caused tremendous infrastructure problems which are expensive to correct. In 1990, under the old commission form of government, our capital budget did not address several important areas.

● In 1991, after the change in government, we appropriated by Ordinance $2.5 million in capital expenditures, mostly to pave severely pot-holed roads, buy modern fire and DP equipment, and repair sewer and water mains. So far in 1992 we have been averaging almost one major - and expensive - sewer repair a month.

Town Council short circuited

A power failure interrupted service to 2,100 customers of Public Service Electric and Gas, Monday night, and ended a work session of the Belleville Township Council.

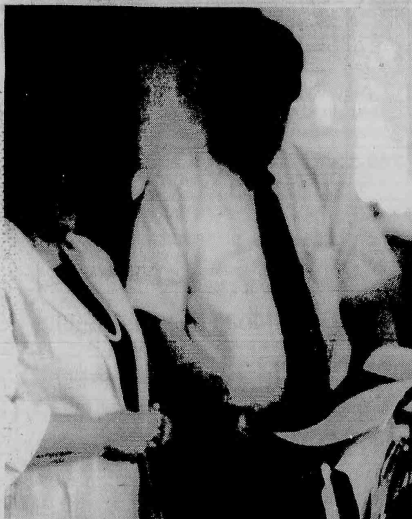

Eugene Murphy, spokesman for PSE&G, said that a capacitor used to switch power from larger to smaller lines "exploded" at 9:14 p.m. in the Washington Avenue sub-station.

Power was restored within 41 minutes, Murphy reported. No one was injured at the sub-station, and Belleville Fire Department trucks converged on the scene in response to alarms.

Burglar alarms began ringing in stores along Washington Avenue from Belleville Avenue to the Nutley line.

At Town Hall, a meeting of the Council came to an abrupt end. The Police Department remained with electric power, using its emergency source. The members of the Council found their way out, assisted by a pen light provided by Council President Dr. Frank Noonan.

"We're no more in the dark than usual," one Council member was heard to mutter as they departed. Township Clerk Mary Lou Hood remained to make sure the downstairs gate was closed.

Peoples Bank backs Hornblower Day fete

Peoples Bank urges all the community to back the celebration of Josiah Hornblower Day, as it provides a $4,500 donation to the event.

A letter from KAW Marketing of Morristown, representing Peoples Bank, to the Belleville Renaissance Committee, announced that a $4,500 account would be opened for the Committee.

"The contribution can be used for underwriting the costs associated with Josiah Hornblower Day, or in any other manner that the Belleville Renaissance Committee deems worthwhile," Peter C. Cary of KAW Marketing wrote, in his letter to Louis Cicenia, Chairman of the Belleville Renaissance Committee.

"As a long time citizen of Belleville, and one that recognizes Belleville's heritage, Peoples Bank is proud to support the efforts of the Belleville Renaissance Committee to revitalize Belleville and help return Belleville to its past greatness."

He added, "The bank would like to issue a challenge to all merchants to get behind the Belleville Renaissance Committee and so help support Operation Uplift." "We are overwhelmed and delighted," Cicenia stated.

Aside From That

By Howard Klausner

And yet further information on the airplane disaster that occurred in Belleville on July 21, 1967. As our Faithful Readers know, two schools of thought have developed as to the cause of the crash of a private airplane into the front of Belleville High School shortly after 250 Summer School students had left the building. According to Cornelia Vander Zwan, who saw the airplane aloft that day, some kind of explosion occurred, sending the pilot hurtling to the earth and tearing a wing off the aircraft. Council President Dr. Frank Noonan believes there was no explosion, but rather a case of pilot error, in which the flyer lost his sense of direction, and control of the plane. Mr. Vander Zwan also disputes the claim that the disaster occurred amidst haze and low overcast. "We saw the plane quite clearly at 2,000 feet," Vander Zwan said. ●●●●● The pilot was a Rochester, New York businessman, Thomas J. McCarthy, 44, and The Rochester Democrat of July 22, 1967 stated it quite simply in its headline: "City Businessman Dies When Plane Explodes". The story stated, "Federal Aviation Agency officials who investigated said the plane crashed-landed in the school yard after apparently exploding in mid-air." The reprints of the articles sent to us through the good offices of the famed daily newspaper did not go further into the circumstances of the explosion. Perhaps later articles did shed some light on that subject. Mr. McCarthy, who had served as a Navigator in the Army Air Force during World War II, was described as a saxophonist who had been President of Local 66, American Federation of Musicians from 1951 to 1957, founder of the Rochester Music Theater in 1955 and a founder of Rochester's Opera Under The Stars in 1953. He had been founder and President of the Alling Personnel Corporation 10 years before his death, and he had been on a business trip to South Carolina when the tragedy occurred. He left a wife and four children. ●●●●● Mrs. Maggie Joralemon is one of those whose interest in their roots has brought them to the place of their family beginnings. Three of her ancestors are buried in the Reformed Church cemetery, she reports. They are John Joralemon, Nicholas Joralemon, and Maria Joralemon. "I know that Maria helped feed Revolutionary War soldiers. I don't know much about the others," Mrs. Joralemon said. She resumed her maiden name after her divorce. She knew very little about the family history, except that a branch of the family settled in Brooklyn Heights, where Joralemon Street attests to their prominence, and her grandfather, Nicholas Henry Joralemon, operated a newspaper delivery service out of Varick Street in Manhattan. Her father was also named Nicholas Henry Joralemon. The Joralemon shipyard built the Polacca which was outfitted with a steam engine made in Belleville, the first steam engine ever built in the United States, and became the first experimental steamboat to sail in American waters when it maneuvered the Passaic River on Oct. 21, 1798.

This was news to Maggie Joralemon, who now intends to attend meetings of the Belleville Historical Society religiously, and learn all she can about her famous family, which has an avenue named after it in Belleville. She also wants to do what she can to restore the churchyard to its proper splendor, a task even now being pursued by Ed O'Neill and Brud Hanly. "Perhaps Governor Jim Florio would give us some money for the churchyard," the optimistic Mrs. Joralemon said. ●●●●● When Governor Florio attends the celebration of Josiah Hornblower Day on Aug. 13, much of the music will be provided by the Bob Harris Band whose 19 professional members love the Swing Era but are into today's music as well. They recently played the Newark Symphony Hall and hope to bring the power of the Big Band sound to an expanding public. The arranger is Howard "Duke" Anderson, who has played with the greatest in popular music since he started as a kid pianist in Newark music bars in the 1930's. Whether it's Frank Sinatra or Louis Armstrong, Duke was with them. And then there's Rabbi Craig H. F. Anderson, Duke's son. In a version of the popular television series, "Northern Exposure" wherein a young Jewish doctor from New York finds himself in a small, eccentric town in Alaska, Duke's son went to Alaska as an activist in behalf of the Native Americans and through some series of events decided to convert to Judaism, becoming a cantor and then rabbi for the Jewish community in Palmer, a town some 40 miles north of Anchorage. We only report, we don't explain. Duke says that Craig is very happy in his vocation, and the congregants are quite happy with Craig. Of course, they have been away from the Lower 48 for some time now and they may be assuming that this is how a modern Rabbi looks, which indeed is the case with Craig. Craig has a business card which describes him as "Recovering Human Being, Apprentice Person". There is obviously no question but that great things happen in Alaska. ●●●●● Austin and Ruth Rudnick are safely back in Santa Barbara, California after a trip East that took them to the old Schuyler Mine in North Arlington whose depths the Rudnicks had explored and photographed some 40 years earlier. The Belleville Times printed some of their photos in the April 30 issue. The Rudnicks have strong local ties here, by birth and ancestry, and they were happy to make a brief visit to Belleville before attending a Newark College of Engineering, Class of '42 reunion in Newark, and then flying to Hilton Head, South Carolina, then Rhine-Mala and then Cornwall, England. As you may gather, it is hard to keep the Rudnicks penned up anywhere for long, which makes their underground explorations of the Schuyler Mines even more amazing. Austin writes: "Ruth's all for encouraging me to get a ride with the Air Force or Navy back to Newark again and really complete the research (into the mines). I'd love to, except for one small condition. It's too nice here in Santa Barbara!" He also asks, "What's the status of the great Proclamation?" and sends his best wishes to "the lovely lady in the library and that most hospitable lady in Belleville City Hall."

Nutley detective injured in stolen car chase

By Alfred Cook

A Nutley detective received extensive head and facial injuries after being rammed by five young men in a stolen car late in the evening of July 31, said Police Chief Robert DeLitta.

Three of the young men were caught by Belleville police near Greycliff Parkway after the car they were driving crashed.

Two others remain at large, DeLitta added.

Both the unmarked police cruiser and the stolen vehicle were seriously damaged, police said.

Det. Joe Villano suffered a broken nose and facial cuts after his car was rammed forcing him off the road and into a telephone pole before crashing into a wooded area.

He was taken to the University of Newark Trauma Center and later transferred to Mount Sinai.

"A call came in at about 10:50 p.m.," said the Chief. "Det. Villano was in an unmarked car near the boat ramp when he spotted a grey Honda with its lights out approaching over the (Avondale) bridge from Lyndhurst."

As he passed the police car, Villano drove up behind it on Park Avenue approaching the Belleville line. The vehicle turned south on River Road and Villano turned on his lights and siren.

"The car accelerated to about 40 miles per hour," the Chief said.

"Villano pulled up on the left beside him and signaled for him to pull over. Instead, he turned the wheel sharply left ramming Villano so he lost control, forced him into a telephone pole, breaking it off, as the squad car careened into the woods."

The detective called for both Nutley and Belleville units. A half hour later, two men and a juvenile were apprehended near Greycliff Parkway.

Marvell Williams, 20, Sal Leo Robinson and a juvenile, all of West Kinney Street in Newark were taken into custody.

They were all charged with aggravated assault on a police officer, possession of a stolen car, possession of burglary tools while the juvenile was also charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Additional charges are pending.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

Myopia is a word for short-sightedness... but there is no myopia for the Masses! America is in a hole. It would be as deep a hole as the Great Depression of 1929 were it not for the federal guarantees that stabilize the banking system and the $400 billion deficit President George Bush still doesn't get it. The White House inner circle, by all accounts, argues whether he should project optimism about the so-called recovery or concerned about its weakness. But what we face is not a short-term public relations problem that can be fixed by changing negative reports in the media to positive. Spin control is irrelevant to the historic global challenge that America is failing.

The increase in wealth per citizen over the past two decades has been the lowest and slowest of the major industrial nations, with our lifestyle sustained only because most households now contain two wage earners. And things are getting worse. Unemployment approaches 10 million... the highest in eight years. Reaganomics has failed, as demonstrated in a new study by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The exploding deficits of the '80s overwhelmed the small positive effects. They reduced savings and depressed investment, as did a tax system that favored consumption. The economy lost about 3 percent of its output compared to what it might have been had previous fiscal policies been maintained — about $1,760 in 1990 for every American household. Add to that the huge capital losses from failed bank loans, most recently to the real-estate industry, and you know the legacy of Reaganomics is years of weakness.

The great squeeze on us all is not due to high taxation. The record shows that even though our global competitors are paying higher taxes, their economies have done better than ours for decades in the ways that count — savings, investment, productivity, real wages. We have been able to compete only by allowing the dollar to collapse: It has dropped 14 percent in the past year alone.

We pin our faith traditionally on laissez-faire and individual initiative, as we did in 1929. But as in 1932, we may have to recognize these as inadequate for a new world.

The Great Depression changed the public's attitude toward the role of government in managing the economy, and one senses it is changing again. American voters are deeply concerned; They want jobs not only next year but through the '90s, jobs that will offer brighter prospects for their children in the next century.

What must government do? Intervene so that we save more and invest more in people, infrastructure and equipment. To spell it out: Control entitlements. To free resources now going to finance the federal deficit, we must take on the explosive growth of entitlements, especially health-care costs. This is not impossible when you realize that the average benefits from all entitlement programs going to a family earning over $100,000 a year — roughly $5,700 annually — are larger than the benefits going to a family earning less than $10,000 a year. Surely we can consider making Social Security taxable to wealthier Americans taxable as regular income.

Invest in people. Imagine! We have become the source of cheap, unskilled labor for companies from Japan and Europe. Every adult must be taught to read and write — in English — and to understand the elements of mathematics and science. Hurrah, therefore, for Bill Clinton's notion of a national trust fund from which any American can borrow money for a college education, so long as he or she pays it back from a small percentage of income over time or with a couple of years of national service.

Refocus private enterprise. Our businesses are obsessed by short-term profits, hurting investment for the long haul. American firms invest 9 percent of gross domestic products, vs. 14 percent for German companies and 20 percent for Japanese. We invest about half of what our competitors do in research and development and employee training. Prof. Michael Porter of Harvard recently suggested lifting restrictions on share ownerships typical in Germany and Japan, thereby insulating the companies from being swayed by transient share ownership interest. Management compensation must also be based on an array of longer-term incentives... What we do not need, and should reject with contempt, are policies whose time end on Nov. 4.

Getting across the New Jersey political turf

By Bill Gruver

Democrats and Republicans have held meetings, in recent weeks, to see what can be gained by campaigning in New Jersey. Democrats Bill Clinton and Al Gore want the unpredictable New Jersey vote but are aware of the cross currents. Gov. James Florio has offered his help and wants to campaign with Democratic candidates. But because Florio is so controversial, that may be finessed, courteous but keeping some safe distance from a Governor in political trouble. In Northern New Jersey Congressman Bob Torricelli and Bob Roe will be helpful as strong in their own districts. Roe's retirement leaves Democratic would-be successor Herb Klein hoping to get some of the glow for his race. A Democratic win in a normally Democratic seat some day, needs to show how the economically depressed Paterson needs attention. Likewise for scandal-ridden Passaic. We can expect a fast move through Passaic without getting near the indicted mayor. But these two counties have the voter numbers and some Republicans have won here.

The Bush campaign will concentrate on more affluent Bergen County, but now suffering from real estate and land valuation drops. In any case, and by any measure, New Jersey will be a major political prize in this year's election. Democrats hold the State House and Republicans are in control of both houses of the State Legislature. This Presidential year is, another sense, a rehearsal for the 1993 gubernatorial and legislative races. For any of the Presidential candidates, jobs will be the main issue.

Former Gov. Tom Kean has already met with Bush campaign officials and will head the state's delegation to the Republican National Convention in August. Looking at the delegation are some from the former Kean administration. Kean is a major strategist for the fall campaign. For the Democrats, the state party chairman Raymond Lesniak, and retiring Congressman Frank Guarini.

The Presidential candidates need to rely on local political leaders. But they are also concerned that the information they receive is direct and not colored only by local campaigns. For that reason, the Bush-Quayle campaign has taken over control of Convention and campaign matters rather than rely on the so-called regular party organization which may be under the control of one faction in the political scheme of things.

But all of these plans, what issues are of importance to New Jersey voters can be changed. The start of the campaigns may not indicate how frantic they will become towards the end. Winning is not just a part of these plans — it is everything.

Local students in co-positions

Two Belleville residents are participating in the Cooperative Education program at Montclair State. Rich Marino, a psychology major, is employed at Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc. and Lynda DeAmbrose, a management/marketing major, is also employed at Hoffmann-LaRoche Inc.

Montclair State's Co-op program, cited as one of the top in the nation by Better Homes and Gardens, is designed to provide students with actual work experience during their college years, for which they receive both pay and credits.

Some 600 students are placed in corporations, public agencies and industrial worksites each year. Significant numbers of these students go on to assume full-time employment with their Co-op companies following graduation, heightening the program's attraction for an increasing number of career-minded undergraduates.

Republican 36th District Committee elects officers

The 36th Legislative District Committee recently elected its officers, according to District Chairman James Bocchino. The 36th District is composed of Carlstadt, East Rutherford, Lyndhurst, North Arlington, Rutherford and Wallington in Bergen County, Belleville and Nutley in Essex County and Passaic in Passaic County.

Bocchino, a North Arlington resident, was elected to a second term as District Chairman.

"I am very proud of what we have accomplished in our district. For the first time in many years, we have three Republicans representing our area in the State Legislature," Bocchino said.

Assemblymen John V. Kelly of Nutley and Paul DiGaetano of Passaic and Senator John Scott of Lyndhurst represent the 36th legislative district.

The committee appointed the following people to leadership positions:

• Frank Genty of Wallington, Alternate District Chairman

• Phyllis Farino of Passaic, Toni Marone of Belleville, and James Cassella of East Rutherford, Vice-Chairman

• Louise Erhardt of Rutherford, Secretary

• John Gagliardi of Lyndhurst, Treasurer

• Robert DeLease of Carlstadt, Kathy Karolaki of Nutley, and Don Farnella of Passaic, Delegates

• Dennis E. Monks of East Rutherford, John Adduchio of North Arlington, and Barbara Chadwick of Rutherford, Alternate Delegates

• Nicholas Vallila of Lyndhurst, Sergeant-At-Arms

• Jim Piro of Nutley, Parliamentarian

The Committee is composed of Republican District Leaders, who are elected at the Republican primary every two years in the nine municipalities in the district.

"The Committee has elected a wonderful group," Bocchino said. "I have every confidence that we will have a very successful term."

OUR OPINION

A junta, by any name

The Belleville Times is informed by a member of the Township Council that the word "junta" is offensive to the members of the Council majority.

(Incidentally, the word is pronounced "hun-tah", with emphasis on the first syllable.)

A junta, the Council member said, is a group that has taken power by force. Furthermore, the present Council majority is simply a group of people who happen to vote together on certain issues.

Actually, junta is simply a Spanish word that translates as a group, or a joining together. It has come to take on the meaning of a dictatorial cabal because of its constant use in describing revolutions and coups in Latin America.

We use the word junta in connection with Belleville politics because the Council majority, like any banana republic power group, has decided that it knows better than the public.

The public, in the last Municipal election, returned to office three incumbents at a time when turning incumbents out of office has become a national pastime. At the same time, a new Councilman was elected who certainly had never made public any desire to change the administration.

The Belleville Times believes that the vote was as much a referendum on the Council-Manager form of government, and on Manager Bert Kendall, as it was on the individual candidates. The new form of government, and Mr. Kendall, won.

Only a junta would ignore this.

Only a junta would countenance threats by a major supporter against Mr. Kendall.

Only a junta would have its own council of war to decide on joint action.

The idea of council-manager form of government is to have an administration by disinterested experts.

Only a junta would want these experts replaced by political hacks.

A prime example of how an intelligent administration operates is the acquisition of a $3 million increase in state aid, made by making application for it long in advance of the budget crisis which threatened a 120-point increase in the tax rate.

Applying for the aid was not the idea of the Council. It was the idea of the Town Administration, the experts such as Clerk Mary Lou Hood, Auditor Lustbader and former Treasurer Isadore Padula.

Compared with the previous system of government by mayhem, who would want to scuttle government by expert except a junta? H.K.

Something worth celebrating

If all goes as planned, Josiah Hornblower Day will be an opportunity for the world to meet Belleville, and Belleville to meet the world.

Not only a delegation of French diplomats will be here, but such dignitaries as a United States Senator and the Chief Executive of New Jersey.

It should provide an opportunity for the visitors to see the pride that Belleville people rightfully have in their past, their present and their future.

It may also be an opportunity to gain the ear of these influential visitors.

We would like to think that Mayor Marina Perna and the members of our Township Council would use the occasion to urge Senator Frank Lautenberg, hopefully with the assistance of Governor Jim Florio, to press for federal recognition of Belleville as Birthplace of The American Industrial Revolution.

We also want to press on our visitors an awareness of the strategic location Belleville has for any business, and the educated and motivated work force that is available here, to say nothing of the land and factory space that is open for development.

It was right and proper for the Township Council to offer $2,500 to the Belleville Renaissance Committee to help pay the day's expenses. The difference between Josiah Hornblower Day and any other celebration is that this celebration is expected to bring something concrete and valuable back to the township - new investment and new employment opportunity.

And if all it does is awaken more people to the name and the achievements of Josiah Hornblower, it will have served its purpose.

It is said that those who do not read history are condemned to repeat it. Those who forget the heroes of the past have lost their anchors to the present, and their springboards to the future.

It may be hard to believe, but this is where it all began - the mightiest industrial machine in world history, and one geared to freedom. H.K.

YOUR OPINION

'Let's stop this destructive approach'

To the editor:

As a Belleville resident I was perturbed when I read of the mazing of the playground facilities off of Belleville Ave. I asked myself "why did the children have to suffer?" After learning of problems the community had with disrespectful intruders I saw some sense in what was done to the playground and I dismissed the issue as — oh well that's what they had to do — even though I wondered whether any type of constructive and thoughtful alternatives were pursued.

I usually put a good deal of faith in the competence of our town officials, however after reading of the mindless approach to solving the bicycle path problem I now think differently.

I am now angered that such a loss was inflicted on our youth.

I remember as a kid going with my brother and friends to a small strip of trees and bushes wedged between a high rise apartment building and some houses. We called this little spot 'the woods'. To a kid it contained all the qualities of a Sherwood Forest. That bike path must have meant a lot to many kids. To an adult it might not be a big deal but to youngsters it may be a whole new world, and now it is gone because of someone's inability to handle situations sensitively and creatively.

This town, as loveable as it is, is not perfect. Let's stop this destructive approach toward dealing with our problems before more of it becomes a victim to someone's mindless decisions.

• A REPUBLICAN 36th Legislative District Committee was recently organized with the following officers: James Bocchino, a North Arlington resident, was elected District Chairman; Frank Genty of Wallington, Alternate District Chairman; and Vice Chairmen Phyllis Farino of Passaic, Toni Marone of Belleville and James Cassella of East Rutherford; Louise Erhardt of Rutherford, Secretary; John Gagliardi of Lyndhurst, Treasurer. Delegates elected were Robert DeLeasa of Carlstadt, Kathy Karolski of Nutley and Don Farinella of Passaic. Alternate Delegates elected are Dennis E. Monks of East Rutherford, John Adduchio of North Arlington and Barbara Chadwick of Rutherford. Sergeant-At-Arms is Nicholas Vailita of Lyndhurst, and Parliamentarian Jim Piro of Nutley. The committee release states, "The Committee is composed of Republican District Leaders, who are elected at the Republican primary every two years in the nine municipalities within the 36th District."

• RECENT national polls indicate that Vice President Dan Quayle is a liability to President George Bush. Traditionally, voters give little attention to the vice president and make their decision on their perception of the candidate for president. I think Bush would make a mistake to drop Quayle.

• BACK home in New Jersey, Governor Jim Florio wound up a weekend hosting governors from all over the country. Florio did a bang-up job and was able to show off New Jersey's vast store of riches.

Governor Jim Florio

• ESSEX COUNTY will get an Afro-American prosecutor. This is the promise of Jim Florio, Essex County Executive Tom D'Alessio has recommended to

Flight #198

A feature of The Nutley Sun, the Belleville Times and Bloomfield Life

By Frank Orechio

Florio took blacks for consideration, Newark's presiding judge, Clifford Minor and Newark judge, Claude Coleman, the former police director. They both have outstanding records as members of the judicial system. D'Alessio has stated both Minor and Coleman are "eminently qualified."

• THE Republican dominated legislature has felt the heat from thousands of unhappy voters. Republicans, with veto-proof majorities, rammed through the legislature a one penny reduction in sales tax which led to a billion dollar cut in the state budget. Florio may be a lot of things, but a study of his public and personal life proves beyond any doubt that he is not a spendthrift. Florio knows the value of working for a dollar. He knows how difficult it is to accumulate wealth. Florio's net worth is under $100,000, and that is not a hell of a lot of wealth for a person who has served years in the New Jersey Assembly, as a member of the United States Congress and for the past two years, as Governor. Florio is very much a part of the middle class, the group that is hurting most in these adverse economic times. The severe Republican budget cuts, among other things, forced an immediate shutdown of a program that provided medication for 1,100 kidney dialysis patients. Family day care was cut from the budget. The state Division of Motor Vehicles suffered a budget cut that forced the department to drop extended hours at inspection stations two nights a week and on Saturday mornings. This "Republican efficiency" has led to four-hour waiting lines for motorists. Cut from the Republican budget was a provision for an emergency medical helicopter program.

Now the Republican steamroller has stopped. It ran out of gas. Republicans have introduced bills to correct their reckless ways. Budget amendments include a bill that would — listen to this — increase the estimated value of pension funds by $47 million — and thus with mirrors. Republicans are adding $47 million to the state budget reserve. In order to further insure the maintenance of a good state credit rating, Republicans wish to transfer $32 million from the Casino Revenue Fund — money dedicated for programs for the elderly — over to the state general fund to cover a shortfall in the Republican budget.

• FORMER Governor Tom Kean's Attorney General Cary Edwards is off and running in his campaign to be the Republican gubernatorial nominee in 1993.

• CRIME victims and their families will have the right to appear before the parole board and offer a personal account of the crime's impact on their lives and argue against the inmate's release under legislation sponsored by Atlantic County Senator Bill Gormley and recently signed into law by Governor Jim Florio.

SO THIS IS GENOA - Belleville Mayor Marina Perna has ancestral roots in Genoa, and she was there to attend a family wedding when she made this appearance with Senator Paolo Emilio Taviano, center, one of the world's leading authorities on Christopher Columbus, accompanied by his aide. Mayor Perna reports that Senator Taviano, who represents Genoa in the Italian Parliament, is seeking a sister city for Belleville Township.

Retirement, Retreat or Reveille

At a special seminar to be held on Sept. 15 and 22 at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Avenue, from 7 to 9 p.m., facilitated by A. Enright Stanley, Ed. D. and Robert Laterza Jr., the topic, "Retirement: Retreat or Reveille" will be addressed. The sessions on Sept. 15 and 22 will review the elements necessary for approaching and living one's retirement years. Techniques and strategies will be explored so that this cycle need not be a retreat from life, but a reveille, a wake-up call, to be enriched. The seminar will deal with the emotional, psychological, physical and financial demands that retirement makes on us. Please call the library at 450-3434 to register.

BIG TREE - AVONDALE NEIGHBORHOOD PICNIC SLATED FOR AUGUST 16TH

The Big Tree - Avondale picnic will be held on Sunday, August 16th at the ITT picnic grounds on Washington Avenue in Nutley.

There will be the usual picnic fare: hot dogs, hamburgers, sausage sandwiches, soda and beer. Sports are also on the agenda with the traditional softball game scheduled.

Tickets cost will be $12.00 for adults and children five years of age to 12 years will be charged $6.00. Under five years of age, children will be admitted free.

For ticket information call Ralph Turano at 667-4025, Frank Capalbo, 667-3827; John Ferrano, 235-1166 or Washington Barber Shop at 235-1114.

Tables will be provided but chairs are required.

Tax notices in the mail

Belleville Tax Collector Stephen Vogel reports that some 10,000 tax notices are being sent out over the next several days.

The notices will carry the same tax figure as the previous quarter, Vogel said.

Vogel noted that third quarter tax bills will be sent out in September. Payments made now can be deducted from any increases shown in the September billing.

Because the budget for the Township has not been finalized, the Tax Department cannot issue new tax bills. The notices being sent out are the best means available to provide needed revenue until the final tax rates can be determined.

To assist taxpayers, Vogel will keep office hours on Monday, Aug. 17, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Pupils rewrite ancient myths

The Second and Third Graders of School Eight were visited recently by 60 students from the Belleville Middle School Reading and Writing Classes.

Mrs. Eileen Albrecht, Reading teacher and Mrs. Miriam Chesner, Middle School Librarian, assisted the students who worked in cooperative groups, to rewrite Greek and Roman myths. The students read the original myths and then updated them to present or future time.

They then took them to School Eight where they read them to the younger students.

The activity was intended to help promote more reading and writing by the younger students.

LIVING BEAUTY - Clara Maass Medical Center has planted several trees on Rocco Street in Belleville in an effort to preserve the environment and add to the beautification of the Township. The trees were purchased with donations from Clara Maass employees and Trustees.

Woodcarvings featured

Currently on exhibit at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Avenue, are the woodcarvings of Ray R. Ver Sprill, a Belleville resident. Although he has also done drawings and paintings, Ver Sprill finds more satisfaction in executing woodcarving. "It's exciting to have an idea and to be able to bring it to life from a piece of wood," he states. "I have used various woods in my carvings, my favorites being mahogany and cedar," he continues.

"I enjoy being able to handle my carvings and their overall visual effect. Most of the carvings have been made for members of my family," he concludes.

Born in Newark, Ver Sprill attended Arts High School before enlisting in the Navy. He served as a signalman in both theaters of war. Upon discharge from the Navy, he was employed with American Bakeries as a route salesman.

Currently retired, he enjoys his wife, Jeannette, his son Robert, his two daughters Karen Gerber and Cathy Voytac and his six grandchildren, Jeannette and Elisabeth Gerber, Thomas, Jenni, Luke and Sharon Voytac.

Books, short stories in audiocassette

The Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Avenue, has a list of books and short stories on audiocassettes, arranged by author. If you wish to know what is available, the Circulation Desk has the list. If an audiocassette is not on the shelf, you can put it on reserve. The list consists of books on cassette by all the best-selling authors.

Rapid weight loss unhealthy for young athletes

Some young athletes carry weight control to unhealthy extremes. They use dangerous rapid weight-loss methods to qualify for competition in lower weight divisions.

Coaches and parents should discourage this practice.

Like everyone else, young athletes require some body fat to maintain normal health and body function. When young people are not overweight and attempt rapid weight loss, they lose mostly water and lean muscle, not fat. This results in dehydration, impaired body-temperature control and diminished strength, endurance and heart-pumping action. All of these changes could lead to poor athletic performance.

For safe body-weight reduction:

- Check with your doctor. He or she will determine how much, if any, weight you need to lose, prepare a sound nutritional eating plan and give you weight-loss advice.
- Do it gradually — taking at least five weeks for every 10 pound loss — through sound nutrition and dietary planning. The goal for athletes is to increase the ratio of lean weight to fat weight — to achieve a high lean-muscle mass and a low body-fat content.

- Avoid severe caloric restriction, fasting, laxatives, diuretics, fluid restriction and self-induced vomiting.

- Ask a physician to help you establish the desirable range of acceptable (DRA) percentage of body-fat values for your sex, age and bone structure.

The desired percentage of body-fat averages 10 to 13 percent of body weight for non-athlete male high school students. Even competing high school wrestlers should carry no less than five to seven percent body-fat.

For non-competing female students, the DRA body-fat percentage is 16 to 25 percent. For female high school athletes, the DRA body-fat percentage is between 12 and 14 percent of body weight.

Don't depend on insurance company charts or popular magazines to determine your "ideal" weight. If you aren't sure what it should be, visit a wellness or fitness center where a health professional can weigh you underwater and determine the exact DRA percentage for your age, sex and activity level.

Summertime TEL-MED tapes highlighted by Clara Maass

The month of July is filled with summertime activities. To learn how to treat or prevent summertime illnesses and spills, contact the Clara Maass Medical Center TEL-MED program. It can help you obtain more information on important health-related topics.

TEL-MED is a special collection of health information tapes provided by the medical center as a free community service. Interested persons can call 751-7000 and ask for any tape by number and receive a brief description of the problem. When the operator answers, simply give the number of the tape you want to hear.

Summertime tapes include 118, First Aid for Animal Bites; 121, First Aid for Bee Stings; 195, Bee Stings Can Cause Death; 111, First Aid for Choking; 108, Fainting; 98, First Aid for Head Injuries; 102, Mouth to Mouth Resuscitation (for children infants); 103, Mouth to Mouth Resuscitation (for adults); 91, First Aid for Severe Bleeding; 94, First Aid for Shock; 99, First Aid for Sprains; When You Find Someone Unconscious; 1173, Lyme Disease.

TEL-MED has over 325 tapes available on a variety of health-related topics. To receive a free brochure of the tapes, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Clara Maass Medical Center, Dept. of Public Relations, One Franklin Ave., Belleville, 07109 or call 450-2116.

Information provided by the Clara Maass TEL-MED program is educational in nature only and not intended to serve as medical advice. Only qualified professionals are equipped to diagnose and treat medical problems. In the event of a medical emergency, contact your physician or your local emergency room.

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lambert

We begin this week with good news a former Belleville High School athlete. Phil Cuzzi, a 1973 BHS grad, is back in the major leagues as an umpire. Cuzzi, who got his first taste of the majors last season, worked the recent Mets-Chicago Cubs series at Shea Stadium last weekend.

Cuzzi has seen a good deal of the major leagues this season and by next year, with the advent of expansion in the National League, he should be a full time major league ump. Cuzzi's chances of being a full time NL umpire should also be enhanced by the upcoming retirements of two umpires at the end of the '92 campaign.

Cuzzi first entered the umpiring game back in 1982. "I remember him calling me one day and telling me he was going to umpiring school," said Cuzzi's long time friend, George Zanfini. "At the time, I couldn't believe Phil was doing this. He was 27 years old, but he just wasn't sure of where his career was heading."

"It's not easy. To just graduate successfully from umpiring school is tough enough. Then you have to start at the very bottom of the professional ranks, usually the rookie league, and work your way up."

"The money is not that good and the travel is tough. It certainly isn't glamorous and a lot of umps never got the "call" to the big leagues. Phil's made good strides, and in less than ten years, he was working in the major leagues. I think he'll be a full timer by next season."

When he is not working major league games, Cuzzi works the minors on the AAA level.

Good luck to Phil Cuzzi as he looks to clinch a spot on the major league umpiring team.

BUC FOOTBALL IN THE 1980's

During the decade of the 1980's, the Belleville football program provided its fans plenty of excitement. Over the next few weeks, as a prelude to the '92 season, we'll look back on some of the big moments during the past ten years.

This week, we'll take a look back at the nine games played between Belleville and Passaic during the 80's. Most fans will probably remember that the Bucs and Indians had a classic rivalry. As a matter of fact, I'll venture to say that the Belleville-Passaic football series in the 1980's was a bigger attraction than the Belleville-Nutley series in the same era.

Let's look back at the series, starting, appropriately, in 1980.

1980: At Passaic Stadium, the Bucs overcame some terrible officiating and rallied for a 13-9 victory over the previously unbeaten Indians.

To give you an idea of how good these two teams were for most of the 80's, from 1980 through 1985, at least one of the teams was undefeated heading into the annual game.

Anyway, in '80, Belleville rallied from 6-0 and 9-7 deficits to win. This was the game that, in my opinion, made the '80 club into a powerhouse. The Bucs had struggled in the early going that year, losing its opener to Livingston 36-12, then struggling past Montclair 7-6 and Nutley, 7-0. A loss to Passaic in week four would have eliminated the Bucs from post season play and would have probably shed a totally different light on what proved to be a memorable year.

This was also the game that Frank Fazzini came of age, moving from halfback to fullback. Fazzini rushed for over 100 yards and quarterback John Melillo hit halfback Paul Scheuplein with the winning TD pass late in the fourth quarter. Scheuplein's catch was a classic, pulling it in with one hand while being closely guarded.

The Bucs used the momentum of the game to dominate the next three opponents. Belleville defeated Marist 35-7, Essex Catholic 34-0 and Seton Hall Prep, 34-8 in successive weeks. Before the season ended, the Bucs would go 9-2 and earn a spot in the Group IV, Section II finals.

For Passaic, it was their only loss of the season. The Indians had a young team in '80, led by sophomore QB Mike Volpe and freshman running back Craig Heyward.

1981: Another classic game, this time in Belleville. Both teams came in 3-0, but this time Passaic would get the final word, winning 7-0. Melvin Ross scored the only TD of the game for Passaic.

Belleville appeared to score the tying TD in the fourth quarter when QB John Borrello hit Eugene Cancelliere with an apparent scoring strike. Cancelliere's catch was good, but he stepped on the sideline en route to the end zone and the official, justifiably, called Cancelliere out at the Passaic 27.

The Bucs got as close as the Indian eight yard line on that drive, but Passaic held tough and prevailed.

Passaic would go on to an 11-0 record while Belleville finished 7-2, missing out on the playoffs by one half game.

1982: THE GAME. A CLASSIC. THE ULTIMATE. UNPARALLELED.

Call it whatever you want, it was without a doubt the (continued on page 12)

Young team was very competitive

Promising season for legion

By Mike Lambert

The Summer of '92 turned out to be a positive learning experience for the Belleville senior legion baseball team.

Nelson Landon's team posted a 9-11 mark against some very experienced Essex County competition. "We had just three seniors on the team," Landon said. "Most of the teams we played had players who had completed their freshman year of college. That's a big difference at this level."

Belleville finished in a third place tie in their division. The team lost five one run games and allowed 5.2 runs per game.

Belleville hitters struck out an average of just two times a game. The team batting average was a solid .312.

"The biggest margin of defeat was a four run game," Landon said. "The team was very competitive."

The coach praised the defensive effort of the team and noted the future of Belleville baseball is good. "The varsity team should be very strong next spring," Landon said. "I think the pitching staff we had this summer was the best overall staff in the county."

Landon felt the team's best overall game was the final contest of the season, a 1-0 defeat to Nutley. In that game, Mike Chirichello pitched a two hitter, but the Belleville offense was limited to just three hits.

Second baseman Charlie Giachetti was enjoying a fine season before breaking his leg in early July.

Giachetti, who will wear a cast until early September, hit .411 and anchored the infield.

When we lost Charlie, we had to make a few adjustments in the infield," Landon said. "The kids responded well to the change, but Charlie's talents were really missed."

Jim Landon had a solid season behind the plate. The upcoming junior at Belleville High hit .320 and threw out 40 percent of the would-be base runners who attempted to steal.

Mike Morgan hit .404 and played a solid right field. When Giachetti was injured, Morgan saw occasional time at third base, also. Designated hitter Mike Melham hit for a .345 average. Third baseman and shortstop Mike Mundy hit

Bucs begin summer football drills

By Mike Lambert

THE QUEST TO BEAT THE BEST

That's the motto of the 1992 Belleville football team, and the prospective players are quite anxious to begin the season.

"The kids are chomping at the bit," head coach John Senesky said. "They're like race horses who are anxious to run. It's a long season and we don't want them doing too much now."

The conditioning and agility camp began last Monday night at Doc Ellis Field and will continue on a nightly basis for the next three weeks. On the week of August 24, the players will take part in the power index testing and the annual decathlon.

Once those events are concluded, uniforms will be handed out and the pre season will begin in earnest.

"Right now, the concentration is on skills and drills," Senesky explained. "The weight room is also open, so the kids will probably be using those facilities as well."

The Bucs will open the "exhibition" season on or about September 9 with a game at Scotch Plains. The following Saturday, it's off to Columbia. The Bucs will also play pre season games with Bloomfield and Livingston. The game with Livingston will be the traditional final tuneup before the start of the regular season.

"Photo Day" is tentatively set for Sunday September 13 at Belleville High. At Photo Day, the players are photographed in their game uniforms. We'll have more on that event in upcoming issues.

The '92 motto is certainly appropriate this season. Belleville has a very tough schedule on tap, playing the likes of Hackensack, Paramus Catholic, Bergen Catholic, Randolph, St. Joe's, Nutley and Teaneck.

In fact, the Bucs will have a stretch of four games in which the opponents will be Hackensack (away), Paramus Catholic (away), Bergen Catholic (home) and Randolph, away. Belleville will play five games on the road this season. The early part of the schedule is even more difficult when you consider the team will play five of its first seven games on the road. The final two games of the season, against St. Joe's and Nutley, are set for Doc Ellis Field.

The regular season opener will be on Friday, September 25 at Doc Ellis Field against Don Bosco. Kickoff time is set for 7 p.m.

"No question, it's a tough lineup of games," Senesky said. "The kids are looking forward to the challenge."

Senesky, who will be entering his 16th season as Buc head coach, has compiled a record of 74-59-2. His teams have been to the state playoffs four times and have posted winning records in nine of Senesky's first 15 years at the helm.

Giuffrida run set for Oct. 4 at High School

By Mike Lambert

Believe it or not, it's almost time for the annual Sam Giuffrida Run.

Race coordinator Lorraine Leming has announced that the third annual run will be held on Sunday, October 4 at Belleville High School.

The race, in memory of Sam Giuffrida, the Hall of Fame crew coach and Belleville High School teacher who passed away in 1989, was first held in the Fall of 1990 with 125 runners in attendance. Last year, the number of runners doubled.

"We're hoping for another good turnout," Leming said. "We hopefully will have good weather."

The event has been blessed with marvelous weather the first two years. There will be two runs, a one mile fun run which should commence about 9 a.m. and the five mile race, which starts and ends at Belleville High and covers a good part of Belleville in between, which kicks off at about 10 a.m.

Right now, corporate sponsors are needed for the event. We'll have more information about the race in an upcoming issue. In the meantime, contact Leming if you interest in being a corporate sponsor. You can leave a message for her by calling Belleville High School during regular business hours.

Bengals face Giants in pre season opener

Grant 'returns' to Meadowlands Sunday

By Mike Lambert

Former Belleville High School standout Dave Grant has accomplished a great deal in his NFL career. However, there is one thing he has never had the opportunity to do and that will be corrected this weekend.

Grant, a 1984 graduate of Belleville High, will return to Giants Stadium this Sunday when his Cincinnati Bengals take on the New York Giants at Giants Stadium in an exhibition game.

It will be Grant's first appearance at Giants Stadium as a professional football player. He did play at Giants Stadium during his collegiate days at West Virginia and he was a member of the 1980 Belleville Buc team that played at Giants Stadium in the Group IV, Section II playoffs against Morris Knolls and later, West Essex.

Grant is now in his fifth season as a member of the Bengals. A defensive lineman, Grant was a fourth round selection of the Bengals in the 1988 draft. He played a key role for the team as a rookie for then head coach Sam Wyche.

The '88 Bengals were one of the stronger teams in the NFL. Cincinnati posted a 12-4 regular season record, the teams finest mark since the '81 squad also finished 12-4. Like the '81 team, the '88 team won the AFC championship and played the San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl.

Before getting to the Super Bowl, however, Grant was instrumental in providing Cincinnati with the much needed home field advantage in the '88 playoffs. In the final regular season game, the Bengals played host to the Washington Redskins, the defending Super Bowl champs at the time.

Washington was driving for what could have been the go-ahead score late in regulation time. Grant drove in from his defensive line position, jarred Redskins quarterback Doug Williams and forced a fumble. Grant recovered the fumble and it sealed the Bengal victory.

In the Super Bowl at Miami in January of 1989, Grant, a backup to Tim Lincecum at nose tackle, played most of the game after Lincecum suffered a severely broken leg early in the game.

Grant did a solid job and was on the field for one of the most exciting Super Bowl's in NFL history. (The Niners rallied in the last :30 to win the game when Joe Montana hit John Taylor with the winning score).

If you ever watch the highlight film from that Super Bowl, you will see plenty of footage of Dave Grant.

Grant has gone on to earn a starting berth on the Bengals defensive line. In 1989, Cincinnati just missed out on the playoffs, but the Bengals came back to earn a playoff spot in 1990. Cincinnati beat Houston 40-14 in the first round, then lost to the L.A. Raiders, 20-10 in the AFC semis. That was the game where Bo Jackson suffered his now infamous hip injury.

1991 was not a good season for the Bengals, as the team slumped to a 3-13 record. Grant suffered a late season knee injury in 1991, but he appears to be in good shape as the '92 campaign nears.

In 1992, Cincinnati has a new look. Wyche has moved on to coach at Tampa Bay and David Shula, the son of legendary coach Don Shula is now the head coach at Cincinnati.

"I'm looking forward to working with coach Shula," Grant said a few months ago after Shula was introduced as head coach. "He has some good ideas and we're heading in a new direction."

It should be an exciting return to the metropolitan area for Grant. It will not be his last visit to this area as a Bengal this season.

On August 15, Cincinnati travels to Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia for an exhibition game against the Eagles. Grant will then return to Giants Stadium for a regular season game against the New York Jets on November 15.

game of the decade for Belleville. This is the tenth anniversary of that contest, and we have a special feature in store next month to, hopefully, give this game a proper remembrance.

In the meantime, just remember the Bucs won it, 3-2. It was everything a high school football game was supposed to be. Ten years later, anyone who attended that game will tell you there was nothing like it.

Stay tuned.

1983: The Bucs ventured to Passaic with a 3-2 record while Passaic was 5-0 and starving for revenge. No question, the Indians had heard and read about the 3-2 Buc conquest in '82 long enough.

The first half was another classic. It was tied at halftime, 7-7. Heyward scored the Passaic TD (it was the only time "Ironhead" would score a TD against Belleville during his four year high school career) and Mike Murphy found the end zone for the Bucs.

Belleville actually led 7-0 in this game, but the Indians tied at halftime, then dominated the second half, winning 28-7. The story of this game came with Passaic leading 21-7 early in the fourth quarter. The Bucs had driven to the Indian six inch line and a score would put the game up for grabs.

Murphy got the handoff on fourth and inches but the Indians were waiting and stopped Murphy cold. Passaic took over on its one and on the next play, Nate Heyward ran 99 yards for the insurance score.

1984: Mark Walsh hit John Olivieri with the only TD of the game and Belleville won a thriller, 7-0. Passaic had come in undefeated, having not lost a game since Thanksgiving 1982. To give you an idea of how dominant the Indians were in the early 80's, Passaic lost just four games from 1980 through game four of the '84 campaign, compiling a 43-4 mark. The Indians had won three state titles during that span, too.

Three of Passaic's four losses during those dominant years came at the hands of Belleville.

1985: A rebuilding Belleville team could not keep up with Passaic's speed and talent. Indian QB Sterling Henton ran wild and Passaic prevailed 21-0.

1986: The Bucs and Indians hooked up in a beauty at Belleville. The Bucs had started slow that year, losing its first two games. But after a win over Montclair, the Bucs got hot and took a 3-2 record into the game. Passaic was 4-1 and favored to win.

Jim Dunphy scored Belleville's lone TD and a safety gave the Bucs a 9-7 lead late in the fourth quarter. But Passaic staged a miracle rally in the final 1:35, driving 90 yards and scoring the game winner with just :10 left in the fourth quarter.

The Bucs regrouped from that devastating defeat to win its final three games and finish 6-3.

1987: Belleville jumped out to a 25-0 lead midway through the third quarter at Passaic thanks to the passing of Jeff Spilsbury and the running of Jay Marchese.

Suddenly, Passaic ran wild, scoring 22 points in five minutes to narrow the lead to three points. Despite the barrage, Belleville stood tough and played solid defense in the final quarter. Meanwhile, the Bucs scored a TD in the fourth quarter to seal a 31-22 victory.

1988: Sadly, this tremendous rivalry ended with a less than memorable contest. Passaic won, 27-0 on opening day at Passaic. Because of NNJIL realignment, Belleville and Passaic have not played each other since 1988.

It was certainly a great rivalry, and players from both sides will tell you the games had tremendous intensity. However, there was a great deal of respect from both sides.

I'll never forget the Passaic players warming up prior to the 1984 game and chanting "War" during each exercise. At the conclusion of the game, with Belleville having clinched that 7-0 victory, Buc assistant coach Gennaro Russo yelled toward the Passaic sideline, "you wanted a war, you got a war."

It was that type of emotion from both sides that made this rivalry truly something special. Special accolades also to Buc coach John Senesky and Passaic coaches Tom Elsasser (1976-1982) and Ray McCrann (1983 to present). The coaches put together the fine teams that entertained the fans year in and year out.

Next week, I'll talk to Senesky about his top ten games of the 80's.

IGNATS, I'LL NEVER FORGET 8/1

I'm not one to get too crazy about any particular event, but I have to admit that my trip to Great Adventure with Ignats last Saturday night has to rank right up there as one of the best times I've ever had.

I won this huge stuffed animal at one of the concessions and we have to figure out what to do with it. Ignats has photos of us on the roller coaster. Let me tell you, if you like roller coasters, then you have to try the one at Great Adventure. It's something else.

As for Ignats, you're something else, too.

Oh by the way, she won at ping pong, in overtime, 13-11, two weeks ago. I forgot to mention that last week.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The Pirates and Reds have met five times for the N.L. crown. Cincinnati won in 1970, '72, '75 and '90. Pittsburgh won in 1979. Danny Murtaugh managed Pittsburgh in '70 and '75. Bill Virdon led the Bucs in '72. Chuck Tanner managed the Bucs in '79 and Jim Leyland led the team in '90.

For Cincinnati, Sparky Anderson managed in '70, '72 and '75. John McNamara was the skipper in '79 and Lou Pinella led the way in '90.

Cincinnati lost the '70 World Series to Baltimore and the '72 Series to Oakland. The Reds won the '75 Series against Boston and won in 1990 over Oakland. Pittsburgh won the '79 Series against Baltimore.

FOR THIS WEEK

What batter did Tom Seaver retire for the final out in his 300th victory? Where was the game played? What year did it happen? Who did Seaver play for that year? Who made the catch for the final out of Seaver's 300th victory?

Silver Lake is organizing

A citizens meeting at the Moose Hall Wednesday night on the crime situation in Silver Lake, and Monday's meeting of the newly organized Silver Lake Business Association, indicate a rising sense of civic responsibility, Dennis Gualtieri, civic activist, reports.

Gualtieri, who led a long fight for control of flooding conditions in the neighborhood, said the problem of stolen cars has brought a demand among citizens and officials for some action.

"The no-pursuit policy in Newark is bringing crime to Belleville, and to Silver Lake in particular," Gualtieri said.

At the same time, a movement toward upgrading the commercial area is growing, Gualtieri said.

Under the leadership of Larry Walsh, owner of the Crossing Inn, some 100 area merchants and business people have been contacted to join the association, and some 20 have sent in their dues payment, Gualtieri said.

He credited Bob Shumeyko, coordinator of the Neighborhood Preservation Program in Silver Lake, with helping galvanize community action.

Goals of the Association, Gualtieri said, are off-street parking, and an improvement of store fronts. "If Washington Avenue can make a comeback, so can we."

Shumeyko said that improving the business climate required a theme, similar to the South Street Seaport theme developed in New York.

Shumeyko said a beginning is being made in the acquisition of trees to be planted along Franklin Street in September; new trash barrels and a collection system, and better street lighting.

Those interested in joining the Silver Lake Business Association may contact Walsh at (201) 751-5364.

THE EXPLORERS - Austin and Ruth Rudnicki, whose photographs of the interior of the old Schuyler Copper Mine appeared in the April 30 issue of the Belleville Times, are back home in Santa Barbara, California. See Aside From That on Page 2 for more about them.

THE HOSTESS - Belleville Township Clerk Mary Lou Hood greets a visitor to her office in the Town Hall. Mrs. Hood has been named Irish Woman of the Year by the Belleville Irish Society. Nov. 1 is the date of the big party in her honor. The descendant of a Revolutionary War surgeon is also busy putting things into shape for Josiah Hornblower Day.

Gordon D. Mattern, 65

Gordon D. Mattern, 65, formerly of Belleville, died July 25 at Clara Mass Medical Center.

Born in Marysville, Washington, he moved to Nutley 15 years ago from Belleville. For the last 13 years he had been employed as a machinist by Wallace and Tiernan, Belleville.

He served in the Army from 1945 to 1947.

The funeral was held Wednesday from the S.W. Brown and Son

Funeral Home, 267 Centre St., Nutley. A funeral Mass was held at St. Mary's Church, Nutley, with interment at Brig. General William C. Doyle Veteran Administration Cemetery, Arnetown, N.J.

Mattern is survived by his wife, Norma; a daughter, Mrs. Michele Thompson; two sons, Robert and Daniel McKnight; a sister, Mrs. Hazel Bollie; two brothers, Julien and Palmer Mattern; and two grandchildren.

Christopher Moraski, 29

Christopher R. Moraski, 29, of Belleville, died Friday at Columbus Hospital, Newark.

Born in Belleville, Moraski lived there most of his life.

He was a student and a tutor with the Writing Center at Upsala College, East Orange, and an actor with Workshop "90" at the college, just completing his participation in the "Summer Playwrite Workshop" at Upsala.

Private cremation took place at Fairmount Crematory Monday. Visitation was held at the S.W. Brown and Son Funeral Home, 267 Centre St., Nutley, on Sunday.

He is survived by his mother, Janet Bjrgan; his father, Robert Moraski; his grandmothers, Jeanne Bjrgan and Ann Moraski; and his fiancée, Kathy Higgins.

Florence Sabie, 73

Florence R. Sabie, 73, formerly of Belleville, died July 21.

Born in New Oxford, Penna., she lived in Belleville most of her life before moving to New York City 20 years ago.

She worked as a dietitian for the Salvation Army in Newark, Jersey City and New York City for 25 years, retiring in 1985.

Funeral was held at the Irvine-

Cozzarelli Memorial Home, Belleville, with services in the funeral home's Imperial Chapel.

She is survived by a daughter, Miss Holly Sabie; a son, Michael Sabie; a brother, Earl Berkeheimer; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Hoffman, Mrs. Anna Rebecca Downin and Mrs. Lorene Mercier; and three grandchildren.

James Pittilla, 81

James Reid Pittilla, 81, of Belleville, died last Wednesday at Somerset Medical Center, Somerville.

Born in Scotland, he moved to Belleville 34 years ago from Jersey City.

Pittilla was a member of Hiram Lodge 17 F & AM, Bayonne. He worked for Western Electric as an expeditor for 46 years, retiring from the Kearny facility 19 years ago.

The funeral service was held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the S.W. Brown and Son Funeral Home, 267 Centre St., Nutley, with interment at Arlington Cemetery, Kearny.

He is survived by his wife, Charlotte A.; two sons, James R. and Richard C.; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Anthony Cicalese, 77

Anthony M. Cicalese, 77, a lifelong resident of Newark, died July 21 of a long illness.

He worked at Wayne and Co., Livingston, for many years as a maintenance engineer until his retirement three years ago.

Funeral was held at Biondi Funeral Home, Nutley, with Mass at St.

Peter's Church, Belleville.

He is survived by his wife, Madeline Marcantonio; two daughters, Mrs. Josephine Spagnuolo of Belleville and Jean Masnik of Massachusetts; a brother, Michael Cicalese of Belleville; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Sabatino and Mrs. Anna Schaefer; and six grandchildren.

Anthony DiQuattro, 70

Services for Pastor Anthony DiQuattro, 70, of Belleville, a pastor with the Belleville Assembly of God Church, was held July 27 in the Belleville Assembly of God Church, following the funeral from the Biondi Funeral Home of Nutley.

Pastor DiQuattro died July 24 in the Montclair Community Hospital.

He was pastor with the Belleville Assembly of God Church for the past 34 years. Previously, he served as a pastor in Rosedale, N.Y., and Rochester, N.Y. He served in the Army Air Force during World War II.

Pastor DiQuattro was a graduate of the Central Bible College and the Valley Forge Bible College extension class, both in Pennsylvania. He was ordained as a minister in 1951.

Pastor DiQuattro was active in prison visitation and was superintendent and presbyter of the Italian district of the Assembly of God Church. He also was a member of the Belleville Ministerium.

SWIMMER'S EAR

Patients who swim in pools, both indoors and outdoors, sometimes complain of pain and swelling of one or both ear canals. If pushing against the protrusion of cartilage in front of the ear (the tragus) produces pain, it is quite likely that the ear canal is infected. The name given to this condition is "swimmer's ear" because swimming in pools is a common precipitating action. When water is allowed to remain in the ear canal after a swim, the inner skin may become macerated, and the way is open for bacteria to gain entrance and cause an infection. Scratching the ear canal can have the same effect. Once the painful infection associated with swimmer's ear establishes itself, a physician should be consulted.

To cure an ear infection, it is generally necessary to administer an antibiotic. For all your prescription needs see us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 759-1556, 759-1565. "Your Doctor Knows Us—Your Doctor Trusts Us." Blue Cross and Medicare 3rd party prescriptions are welcome. Gills, canisters, transtips, radars, baby needs, cosmetics and toiletries are carried. Hours: Daily 9am-10pm, Saturdays 9am-5pm. HINT: To prevent swimmer's ear, insert five drops of isopropyl alcohol (70 percent) in each ear canal after a swim, lie head, and immediately empty the canal.

A radical idea

Gov. Jim Florio

This April 22 marks the 22nd anniversary of Earth Day. Earth Day began at a time when cleaning up the environment was probably a radical idea to most people. Offices like the Department of Environmental Protection were nonexistent in most states. People weren't recycling bottles, but throwing them during protest marches.

We've learned a lot since that time. We've learned that there's a hole in the Earth's ozone layer, caused by carbon dioxide emissions, which poses serious health threats and concerns. We've learned that in many areas, it's no longer safe to simply turn on your kitchen tap for drinking water. Years of inefficient garbage disposal have cost us precious open space and dollars, and created their own costly environmental problems.

Each Earth Day has served to remind us just how fragile our ecosystem is and what we should be doing to help preserve and protect it.

This June, in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Earth Summit will be held and convene what is expected to be the largest gathering of world leaders ever, who will chart a course to tackle some of Earth's most devastating problems: air, water and land pollution, and the threat of extinction to thousands of plants and animals.

We have a real opportunity — a mandate — to make a difference over the next few years. It is an opportunity that we can each undertake individually as well as on the part of nations. By taking responsibility for our own actions, to exercise "the power of one" to borrow a phrase, we can collectively make a difference. I'm not talking about monumental tasks, but in most cases simple actions that add up to a whole lot.

Recycle, recycle, recycle

Here in New Jersey, we've adopted an aggressive and comprehensive recycling program that will see us recycle 60 percent of our garbage by 1995. We simply can't afford to continue to dump garbage into landfills. We're running out of space and we're running out of resources. I've read that each year, people throw away 28 billion glass and jars — enough to fill the twin towers of New York's World Trade Center every two weeks. It takes an entire forest — over 500,000 trees — to supply Americans with their Sunday newspapers every week, according to the Earth Works Group. That doesn't make economic sense, and it surely doesn't make environmental sense.

Keep the cycle going. Buy products made from recycled materials and products that can be recycled.

Simply recycling isn't enough. We're also looking for new ways to open up the markets for recycled goods to encourage people to buy materials made out of recycled products or products that can be recycled. At the same time, we have also stepped up our efforts to crack down on manufacturers who take advantage of consumers by misleading them with vague labeling on the extent of a product's environmental benefits.

Also, when going to the supermarket, use a cloth or string bag to carry your groceries, to conserve paper bags. According to Save-A-Tree, it takes one 15-20 year-old tree to make enough paper for only 700 grocery bags. Some stores even give you a discount for bringing your own shopping bags or re-using paper bags. Carpool or use mass transit to get to work or school.

Many companies, including the state, use van pools as an efficient as well as environmentally sound way to get people to work. This system not only cuts down on traffic, but on the air and ground pollution emitted from cars and also saves wear and tear on your car. If each commuter car carried only one more additional person, it would save 600,000 gallons of gasoline each day and prevent 12 million pounds of carbon dioxide from polluting the atmosphere.

Educate yourself and get involved.

When it comes to the environment, it is our children who in many ways are teaching their parents — how to recycle, about the rainforests and global warming, endangered species and about the importance of clean drinking water. It's often children who you'll find cleaning up parks, streets and our beaches through their schools, or organizations such as Youth Environmental Society and Kids Against Pollution.

They are learning valuable lessons that not only expand their knowledge, but teach them to recognize the consequences of their actions. And that is a lesson that many people did not have the foresight to learn.

These children will likely be the first generation of truly environmentally conscious adults who will practice and incorporate daily the basic principles that will help us protect this Earth for future generations. Perhaps that is the best investment we can make in the long run. This year, take a lesson from your kids. It's never too late to learn. And Happy Earth Day.

Red Cross slates CPR, First Aid courses

The American Red Cross Essex/Passaic Chapter is offering the following Standard First Aid and Community CPR courses to the public, said Chandra Lilley. The courses are being held throughout Essex and Passaic counties.

Benefit concert for Richie Gough

Thursday, Aug. 13, there will be a Benefit Concert held for Richie Gough, a Belleville resident suffering from Hodgkin's disease, a form of cancer that effects the lymph glands and is usually treated through a combination of chemotherapy and radiation treatments.

However, in some cases, this treatment is not effective and a bone marrow transplant is necessary. Needless to say, this is a painful and very expensive operation. In order to raise money, we have brought together many local bands and musicians, including members of Trixer, Ted Pooley, Daisy Chain, Magic, Intuition, King Penguin, Fossem Evee, Sawva Fare, Little Sister and many more.

Richie has been a musician in the local music scene for many years, having played in such bands as Shannon, Burnt Offering and Never Say Die.

Doors will open at 7 o'clock. There will be a $10 donation at the door. Studio One is located at 89 Verona Avenue, North Newark.

All proceeds will go directly to the Gough family to help in Richie's fight against Hodgkin's disease. For more information, call 1-800-57-CHAIN.

Scott's Mutual Benefit bill becomes law

Legislation sponsored by Senator John P. Scott (R-36th District) that guarantees the payment of claims to Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company annuitants was signed into law this week by the Governor at Mutual Benefit Headquarters in Newark.

The bill, S-719, provides the Commissioner of Insurance with specific and uniform guidelines for handling insolvent insurers. Scott explained that his bill is based on model legislation from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners which has already been enacted in several other states.

"Because of the recent difficulties at Mutual Benefit and Executive Life, the need to establish a comprehensive, well-defined process for overseeing financially impaired companies was clearly illustrated," said Scott. "This bill streamlines the rehabilitation and liquidation process."

According to Scott, the Legislature enacted a new law in the 1970's that covered insolvencies for property-casualty companies, but until now, there was no protection for the state's life and health insurance consumers. "This bill finally remedies that situation," Scott stated.

Scott pointed out that individuals who invested in Mutual Benefit placed their money in what they perceived to be a safe and secure investment. They never intended to take a risk, and deserve to be protected against undue loss and hardship. "There is no greater fear for a person than the possibility an insurance claim cannot be paid because their company is insolvent," Scott continued. "This bill enables the state to be in a better position to protect the interests of the buying public."

Scott explained the bill was also necessary due to the fact that much of the unpaid claims to policy holders are pension funds and annuities. For example, the New Jersey Hospital Association has all of its pension funds invested with Mutual Benefit. Payment of these funds has been suspended until the rehabilitation takes effect.

"Early intervention into the financial affairs of an ailing insurance company is the best way to ensure that a company's creditors and policy holders do not have to endure a substantial loss. This new law enables the Insurance Commissioner to intervene in a timely matter on behalf of those who have a stake in the company," Scott concluded.

Senator Scott presently serves as Vice-Chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee, and as a member of the Senate Law and Public Safety Commerce Committees. He represents Belleville, Carlstadt, East Rutherford, Lyndhurst, North Arlington, Nutley, Passaic, Rutherford and Wallington in the 36th Legislative District.

Space-saving sinks with all the frills

By BARBARA BOSSE

New approaches to kitchen design have made the sink area a focal point. Whether your kitchen is a spacious tub incorporating other living areas, or a cramped cubby hole, your sink selection can enhance the look and function of your space.

If your kitchen area is spacious and has ample counters, your options are as numerous as the designs available. A single large bowl or the popular bowl and a half, and even three-bowl design options are available. Blanco, a European sink manufacturer, produces a full line of sinks known as food preparation centers because of their many functions.

Regardless of size, these sinks take every inch of the sink top into consideration. Dish drainers, soap dispensers, chopping boards, waste chute systems and colanders are just some of the convenient features that assist in food prep and clean up tasks. Space under the sink is used to house the sink's waste system, connecting a chute from the sink deck to pull out bins underneath for waste disposal or recycling.

Again, if space is not a problem in your kitchen, you might even opt for a second food preparation area with a second sink in the kitchen. In this case, you might choose the larger sink as a central prep and clean up area, and a secondary, smaller sink for vegetable cleaning and preparation, or a bar sink. Blanco offers a full line of bar sinks in brass, chrome, and Silacron for this type of use in the kitchen or in other rooms.

However, if your counter space is already limited, you might want to consider a single bowl, the "mini" models of certain sinks, or another popular choice: the corner sink. These smaller sinks will most often fit comfortably in a 24" to 27" inch base cabinet — a feature that makes placement of the sink considerably easier. Although smaller in scale, many of these models include waste chute systems, built-in colanders, cutting boards and drain boards like their larger counterparts.

Blanco offers these options in durable, easy-to-clean Silacron 2000 quartz material and 18/10 stainless steel. Color-through, Silacron 2000 is one of the most durable and easy-to-clean sink materials available in a variety of colors, including a new metallic onyx color.

A corner sink is a good choice when counter space is a consideration. More often than not, the counter is a wasted area in the kitchen. By changing the position of the plumbing to make use of the corner, you can gain valuable counter space for additional food preparation tasks. Most corner areas can handle a larger sink while leaving room for some decorative accessories or plants.

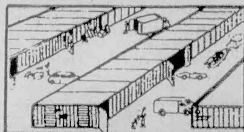

No matter where you position your new sink, first consider which functions you want it to perform, and then choose the sink model that best suits your needs. Don't forget that, if you are remodeling your kitchen, the work areas can be repositioned for convenience.

The main sink or water appliance should relate to other appliances involved in food preparation. The stove top and dishwasher should be nearby for easy food prep and cleanup.

A full-color sink and faucet brochure is available for $2.00 to help in your selection. Write to: Blanco America, Village of Pine Run Commerce Center, 1001 Lower Landing Road, Blackwood, NJ 08012.
