

Cops nab 12 car theft suspects in one day

Police Captain Bill Escott praised the Night Squad of the Belleville Police Department for the highest score of car theft suspects ever made in a single night. A dozen adults and juveniles were charged with auto burglary tools in three separate incidents, over a two-hour period, on Tuesday morning.

Many car thefts were prevented. The first arrests occurred in Silver Lake. At 1:20 a.m., Police Officers Robert Charles and Dante Pasquale, and Sergeant Nick Krentz, stopped a car lacking a front license plate on Delavan Avenue.

Police found that the driver, Rahim Horton, 19, of Newark, was unlicensed and the vehicle was unregistered. In the car, police found screw drivers and vise grips which are used to pop ignitions.

Horton and two companions, 17-year-old juveniles from Newark, were charged with possession of burglary tools.

At 1:25 a.m., Police Officers Matt Bernardo and Anthony Passarella stopped a car at the dead end of North 7th Street, noting it had no front plate.

The driver had no license, and the car was unregistered, police said. Screw drivers, vise grips and a dent puller - a rubber hammer - which are commonly used to pop ignitions, were found in the car.

Police arrested Carlos Arroya, 20, and Jose Robles, 20, both of Newark on charges of possession of burglary tools.

At 2:20 a.m., Police Officers Pat Goldrick and Joseph Trabucco followed a car which was running stop signs on Bridge Street, halting it at Bridge and William Streets.

A dent puller was found in the car, along with four adults and three juveniles. Police said the car was unregistered and uninsured.

Charged with possession of burglary tools were Onofre Lebron, 18, of Elizabeth, who was also charged with possession of a 14-inch knife; Nelson Gochez, 19, of Rahway; Salustino Deliz, 23, of Elizabeth; Orlando Hernandez, 19, of Elizabeth, and three juveniles, 17, 16 and 15.

Even with the arrests, car thieves managed to break through the township's defenses. On the same night, three cars were stolen, Captain Escott reported.

Junta moves to strip town of Engineer, Planner, Manager questions are raised about Mayor's violation of Faulkner Act

By Howard Klausner

The four-member majority of the Township Council, which last week withdrew a motion to fire Township Manager Bertrand Kendall on advice of counsel, now proposes to eliminate the posts of Township Engineer, Township Manager and Township Assistant Manager.

This would circumvent Manager Kendall, who is empowered under the Faulkner Act to hire the Engineer and Planner.

The move was part of the budget battle looming between the Manager and the Town Council majority.

At the same time, Mayor Marina Perna has been accused by private citizens of being in violation of the Faulkner Act by her interference with municipal employees.

Under the Faulkner Act, which governs the Council-Manager form of government, elected officials are prohibited from having contact with employees, except through the Township Manager - or unless the Council specifically votes to have an inquiry of its own.

Violation of this rule can bring an elected official before a judge, and if the court rules that a violation did occur, the official can be removed from office.

The charges are these:

- Mayor Perna personally ordered Fire Chief Walter Beresford to change his budget estimates, saying that her "political future" was involved.

- Mayor Perna parked her car in front of Department of Public Works equipment to prevent work on the pavement before her home, blocking the work.

- Mayor Perna ordered Engineer Stanley Stires to return a car purchased for his office by the Township, and physically removed the car keys from the office of the official.

- Mayor Perna has made direct contact with town workers on other occasions, without authorization to do so.

Mayor Perna, with Council President Dr. Frank Noonan, Deputy Mayor Mario Drozd and Councilman Charles Cerami, have sought the ouster of Kendall, charging him with failing to heed Council policy.

The response of Council members Bill Cook, Jim Messina and Tom Spillane has been that the Council majority has been exceeding its authority, in defiance of the Faulkner Act.

On Monday, Aug. 7, in a closed session, the Council majority voted to dismiss Kendall as Manager.

Borough Attorney Robert Giordano advised the Council that a public hearing was required, with adequate warning to the Manager, who could be represented by an attorney, before an ouster vote could be valid.

Accordingly, the vote was withdrawn.

Town Planner Robert Ringelheim and Engineer Stires have been under fire from the board majority for - allegedly for incompetence and wasteful spending.

Kendall has responded that the majority Council members simply want to exert direct control over hiring and firing, in defiance of the Faulkner Act.

The Council majority also wants the new budget to deny the 5 percent raises which are written into the contracts of the Manager, Engineer and Township Planner.

Kendall has argued that this would be illegal.

The Council majority's response is to attempt to eliminate the jobs.

Instead, outside "consultants" would be hired - appointed by the Council majority - to do the work of the Engineer and Planner.

Public response has been growing in opposition to the Council majority's policy. (See Letters to The Editor, Page 5)

ADAMPRESQUE - Members of Engle Company 3 and Truck Company 1 rescued a female dog and her puppy from the Second River last week. A.S.P.C.A. Officer Wilfredo Ruiz assisted, and Nanina's in The Park helped with a donation of meat to lure the dogs to the river bank and rescue. Participating were firefighters Frank Hildenbrand, Peter Coppola and Joe Giuliano, and Belleville Police Officer James Del Grosso. Mother and pup are doing well at the Humane Society pound in Newark, hoping for a new home.

Renaissance to fund vests to protect police officers

The Belleville Renaissance Committee has pledged a $5,000 donation to the Belleville Police Department to purchase bullet proof vests and other safety equipment, Chairman Lou Cienicia has announced.

Cienicia, owner of Charles Jewels, said the amount would be paid in stages, with the first check to be given to the department in a month. "This is part of Operation Uplift," Cienicia said. "The police are supported by the community, and the community is well served by the police.

"This donation reflects just a small measure of the respect in which Belleville police are held by the public."

Cienicia said that plans are underway to continue the campaign to have federal recognition of Belleville as the Birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution.

25 Kindergarteners draw winning slips

It was the luck of the draw for 25 youngsters who won places in the pilot full session Kindergarten program scheduled to begin in September.

Their names were drawn from a lottery basket at Monday's session of the Board of Education.

Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardello said it was the fairest way to make the selections.

With places available for just 25 children at School 3, the more than 220 families with pre-Kindergarten children were polled for those who wish their children to attend full sessions, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:05 p.m., instead of the half-day sessions now available for Kindergarten.

Eighty-four parents responded to the inquiry, and their names were placed in the drawing.

Five alternate names were also selected.

The full-session Kindergarten was proposed in response to the request of many parents that the longer day be offered. Most are working parents who otherwise have to place their children with sitters or nurseries.

While it was assumed that the parents whose children's names were drawn would be pleased, there was no comment from the youngsters.

President unveils new national jobs program at Tech Institute

President George Bush last week unveiled his new national commitment to job training before more than 800 cheering students, staff and faculty at Lincoln Technical Institute in Union.

In announcing his new training initiative, President Bush said, "We need better training for young people coming into the work force, better retraining for workers that are changing careers and better training and assistance for workers who lose their jobs."

Pat J. Santangelo, LTI president and chief executive officer, said President Bush chose the right venue to deliver his message. Lincoln Technical Institute with 11 schools nationwide, has provided technical training to more than 250,000 students seeking to acquire or upgrade their workplace skills.

"I believe very much in what the president said today and I think anyone who wants a more competitive American work force will likewise support the president's plan," said Santangelo. "For the United States to compete in a global economy we must have workers with the high tech skills to do tomorrow's jobs not yesterday's skills for yesterday's jobs."

Santangelo noted that LTI, with 45 years of training experience, provides customized training throughout the United States in partnerships with major corporations and small businesses that need to upgrade worker skills.

At the heart of the president's new training program are Skill Grants worth up to $3,000 for each eligible individual. The grants will go not only to the unemployed but to "those who worry the next pink slip may be coming their way, to help defense workers rettool and to help workers in declining industries sharpen the skills that they need to stay ahead," said Bush.

"What the Pell Grants (federally funded tuition grants) have done to open opportunities for our younger kids. Skill Grants will do for experienced workers in need of new skills," added the president.

Nearly 20 percent of the 1,000 students at Lincoln Tech's Union site are displaced workers who are obtaining training for new careers, said Larry Brown, vice president of operations for LTI.

"Although we have seen many plant closings in recent years, skilled labor is still very much in demand and that demand will grow as America battles for its share of the global high tech arena," said Brown. "The ability for American workers and families to sustain their standard of living will depend largely on the nation's ability to fulfill the demand for high skill jobs. That means taking displaced workers with relatively low skills and giving them the opportunity to improve themselves. That's President George Bush unveiled his new job training program before a crowd of 700 students at Lincoln Technical Institute in Union, N.J., on Monday. Joining the president on the dais are U.S. Secretary of Labor Lynn Martin, U.S. Rep. Matthew Rinaldo (R-N.J.) and P.J. Santangelo, president and CEO of Lincoln Technical Institute, which is headquartered in West Orange.

Aside From That

Betty Schwenk was among those who hosted a highlight of the Josiah Hornblower Day ceremonies, when a visit was paid to the Belleville Reformed Church and a wreath was placed by the French Consul, Mme. Marie Charlotte Bolot at the grave of Patriot-Inventor Josiah Hornblower. Mrs. Schwenk and her husband, Joseph, are active in the congregation which maintains the church, founded in 1698, making sure that reports of its demise are greatly exaggerated. "When Reverend William Mohelt took over the church eight years ago, he was told by the Consistory he would be lucky if the church lasted a year. Well, every time things seem to come to the point where we'll have to close the doors, something turns up, and here we are. This year, five new families joined the church, and we have several other new people who attend regularly but so far aren't members." ● ● ● ● ● The importance to the community of the church's survival was demonstrated again as people visited the old churchyard where some 65 Revolutionary War soldiers are buried, and where many illustrious families have their monuments, not the least of which are the Rutgers family. Men and women of many faiths have joined to help maintain the old churchyard and the church itself, among them such staunch sons of St. Peter's Church as Ed O'Neill and Brud Hanly. But it is more than a historic monument. It is a living organization, which has given birth to thriving congregations elsewhere in Essex County and which continues to be a house of worship, a community center and a beacon of morality and social conscience. ● ● ● ● ● Not everyone is enthusiastic about the idea of the proposed Bi-County Trolley Line. Indeed, Stanley Fejnass, a photographer by trade, has formed CANNTT: Citizens Against Nasty and Noisy Trains or Trolleys. His house happens to abut the AMTRAK line and he says that many other householders who live near the rail line see no pleasure in having trolleys scooting down the rail line at five-minute intervals. "When I bought my house, I knew that a freight train would run by three nights of the week, and I could tolerate that, but now the plan is to tie in with the Newark Subway and that begins operations at 4:30 a.m. and goes to 12:30 a.m. During rush hours it schedules trolley cars every two minutes, and then at five minute intervals during the rest of the day." ● ● ● ● ● Fejnass sees traffic disruption galore at points where the rail lines now cross streets, and he sees real danger to children and other pedestrians. He predicts: "Noise, congestion and high voltage wires." He also predicts that it will bring crime into the suburbs, providing fast access to thievery less-than-law abiding. One of his gripes is the attitude taken by Belleville's representative to the panel that is analyzing the idea. "Sam Papa is always 'Pro. pro. pro.

He doesn't live in the Valley where the trolleys are going to run. What does he care?" What does Fejnias think would be a better idea for commuters? "Monorail. They could run a monorail down Route 21, and it wouldn't bother anybody." For those who agree with Mr. Fejnias about the problems that would be raised by a new trolley line, he can be contacted at (201) 667-2440. ● ● ● ● ● Opera! Magnificent and inspiring, the music of opera poured through the Maisonetite, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cozzarelli, Jr. at the splendid party celebrating Josiah Hornblower Day and the visit of the French Consul, Mme. Bolot. Providing the music was Mme. Linda Heimall, who sang 35 leading roles on the stages of European opera houses before returning to the United States a few years ago and whose voice has been compared to that of Zinka Milanov and Leontyne Price. A New Jersey native, she was the protegee of the late Mme. Maria Jeritza, one of the greatest dramatic sopranos of the century. Today, she and her husband, composer Ralph Carbone conduct the Linda Heimall Institute of Performing Arts in Lyndhurst. Mme. Heimall, a vivacious and petite brunette, was accompanied by two remarkably gifted singers, baritone Paul Aquino and tenor Ronald Morton. Aquino, a New Jersey man, has performed with the New York Grand Opera under the direction of Vincent LaSelva and recently sang in Cavalleria Rusticana. Morton has performed leading tenor roles with the Brooklyn Lyric Opera and the Verismo Opera of New Jersey. The wonderful thing is that the professional performances they offer are readily available to any organization which would like to enjoy genuine great music, performed by genuinely great artists.

OPERA GREAT - Linda Heimall, who has starred in operatic roles in Europe and the United States for the past decade, provided much of the bravura at the celebration of Josiah Hornblower Day. (See Aside from that above)

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

Scanning the sports pages, to follow the baseball standings, we came across a story about horse racing by Dick Carmody in the Star-Ledger which caught our eye which was captioned "Will politicians solve problems to save racing?"

Always concerned about what our politicians are "up to", we, who don't follow the "nags," decided to follow his story which was most informative ... relating horse racing's seemingly perpetual downward spiral, continues to depend on that most inscrutable of all helpmates — the misinformed politician — for its solution.

Dissected to its basics, this means that racing's future — or lack of one — will be determined by elected officials who may never have gone through a turnstile that guards the entrance to the Meadowlands, Saratoga, Gulfstream or Santa Anita.

It is not a confidence-builder for those who live and love the sport of thoroughbred racing. Here are some of the problems that threaten its future: 1. A lack of quality horses. Too many race tracks and racing opportunities have diluted the supply. And, with every new facility that opens its gates (approximately 30 nationwide in the past decade with even quicker growth due in the next few years), the situation continues to worsen.

At the same time, changes in the tax laws continue to drive owners and breeders away ... the smaller tracks are being hit first ... and hardest. Just the other day, little Charles Town in West Virginia went to a four-day race week, dropping Thursdays from its schedule. The track's management blamed the situation on an insufficient number of horses to fill the races, resulting in declining parimutuel handle and shrinking purses.

2. The law of diminishing returns. Every dollar put through the mutuel machines is returned only 83 percent of less (in some cases nowadays it's as low as 65 percent) to the player through winning tickets. The rest is kept to pay purses, the track's commission and federal/state/local taxes.

Despite numerous lobbying attempts to get state legislatures to reduce this take out to a more fitting range — around 14 percent — the amount deducted continues to go in the other direction. Eventually, the original 100 percent is reduced so low that only introducing fresh money can keep the player in action. This can't go on forever.

3. No time for R&R (rest and recuperation) among horse players.

Back in the pre-off-track betting and simulcasting days, race tracks in the northern climes would begin their seasons in April and run through early November. Conversely, Florida and Louisiana would begin their campaigns in late November and end up in April.

This provided horse players with the time and opportunity to recoup their bankrolls. As a result, the tracks flourished and everybody was happy.

With state legislatures continually calling for additional revenue from racing, though, the tracks extended their seasons so that there was year-round racing in both the north and the south. This left no more time — or opportunity — for the player to rebuild his resources.

The outcome is constantly declining revenues and the failure of some of the new tracks to be profitable enough to continue. Iowa, Minnesota and Alabama have experienced failure in establishing new multi-million racing plants while many tracks in other states are on the ropes.

What are the solutions that can resolve these problems? They lie in government, state and federal... Difficult as it might be to accomplish in this recession economy, states must reverse the tax and take-out trend by reducing instead of increasing these income areas. Only then will the hundreds of thousands of jobs in the racing industry nationwide be salvaged... to stem the game's declining spiral, new faces must be introduced to the sport as patrons and horse owners. Only by making racing more attractive with larger fields and a better caliber of horses can the game thrive and grow.

OUR OPINION

Quiet Moments

*There's such pleasure in the silence of a summer afternoon,
And comfort in the shadows
of a cozy, firelit room.
There is quality in hush at dawn
when morning sunrays steal
Into the waning clouds of night, day's beauty to reveal.
In gentle moments such as these
I have scaled to heights above,
Felt winds of joy upon my face,
and know the peace of love.*

Stop the Junta now

The Township Council majority - the Junta - has finally done its irreparable damage.

It has moved to fire Township Manager Bertrand Kendall, and for no better reason than it wants to do the hiring and firing of officials, in wild disregard of the Faulkner Act.

Even now, attempts are being made to round up petitions seeking the recall of the Junta members.

The Belleville Times does not think that a recall move is necessary.

The Times believes that the evidence is incontrovertible that blatant violations of the Faulkner Act have occurred, and that legal action should be taken to remove the perpetrators.

For some reason, Councilman Bill Cook has never seen fit to order Department of Public Works employees to do a job or desist from doing a job.

Councilman Tom Spillane has never marched into a Fire Chief's office and ordered him to tailor his budget requests to the Councilman's interests.

And Councilman Jim Messina has never physically removed the car keys from a township administrator, on his own impulse.

But Mayor Marina Perna, a practicing attorney, has seen fit to do all these things.

Councilman Charles Cerami has seen fit to follow a town administrator around, to see if office hours were being kept, and he did this without anybody's authorization. That's not what a Councilman is supposed to do, or is allowed to do. It's a violation of the Faulkner Act.

Even good, gray Dr. Frank Noonan has been taking out records from Town Hall without authorization. This is not what a Councilman is supposed to do, or allowed to do. It's a violation of the Faulkner Act.

If a public official, elected or appointed, disregards the law, what right does that official have to hold office?

The damage being done to Belleville by some of its elected officials makes the continued presence in office of these officials intolerable.

The Junta must be dismantled, while we still have a Council-Manager form of government.

H.K.

Why not Justice Cuomo?

The Belleville Times does not understand why President George Bush saw fit to bring the name of Mario Cuomo into his acceptance speech, and to bring it in with such derision. His listeners hooted the idea that Governor Cuomo should ever sit on the Supreme Court.

We can understand that a President who could call Justice Clarence Thomas "the best possible choice in the whole country" might not understand the qualities of a good Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

President Bush, and his predecessor, have done their best to trash the Supreme Court with the appointment of a series of nonentities and ideologues.

But aside from that, we wonder why the President of the United States did not see fit to mention the fact that this is the 500th anniversary of the discovery of America.

Had he done so, he might have had to utter the name of Cristoforo Colombo, and perhaps he did not feel that his white bread audience at the Houston convention wanted to hear that name. Instead, he kept repeating his patronizing "Mario" to a jeering audience. He never refers to Governor Clinton as "Bill" but he is on a first name basis with a man who is not in the campaign, but who would make a far better Justice than anyone Mr. Bush has ever named.

YOUR OPINION

Letting history repeat

To The Editor,

It looks like history repeats itself in Belleville politics.

Thirty-five years ago (or more) Belleville changed the Commission form of government to Council-Manager form of government. We appointed a town manager by the name of Sommers. He had an impeccable record and was a thoroughly experienced Town Manager. Definitely, he was not a politician.

He immediately gained the respect of Belleville citizens. This was not to be for long. The Councilmen, with the exception of James Golden, just ignored the feelings of the people and let the Manager go.

Thus enters a Mr. John Burnett, new Town Manager.

It didn't take long for the people of Belleville to realize this man was a well seasoned politician from the City of Newark.

In order for him to get his job, he was obligated to sign an undated resignation form, which meant if he didn't play ball, the Councilmen would simply fill in the date.

The Councilmen forgot that they were elected by the taxpayers to serve them and help keep taxes down. But the Councilmen completely disregarded the citizens and continued to play their little games with the Manager.

Out came the recall petitions. The people were very eager to sign.

They defeated two Councilmen, breaking the power bloc. Obviously, the politicians did not learn, despite the protest from the people and this brought about the change of government back to the Commission form, and that seems to have been another catastrophe!

The streets were filthy. We had more pot holes in Belleville than, I imagine, in the entire county.

The Commissioners were so entrenched that the people were determined to recall them.

Belleville finally found a good Town Manager in Mr. Kendall, a man who in his less than two years in office has done more for the town of Belleville than all the others combined.

For example, he got $3 million in aid from the State of New Jersey, using the money for repaving the streets and fixing street signs.

Now it seems that four of the incumbents, which is the Mayor and three other Councilmen, have decided to let this man go.

It is a well known fact that if politicians cannot manipulate someone, they get rid of him.

I've never met this man and I am not even sure what he looks like, but driving around Belleville in the last year, I see how beautiful it's become due to this man's efforts.

Other citizens I've spoken to feel the same way.

Congratulate Councilmen Cook, Spillane and Messina for voting for Mr. Kendall.

Stick to your guns and back this man up, but protest loudly so that citizens are aware of what's going on.

He can't be leaving

To The Editor,

My Manager is leaving... he can't be... I had and have such faith in his skills.

When I voted to change my town's form of government, I realized the Manager would make decisions he felt best for Belleville with the opinions of the Council members (as the Council members would be the direct voice of neighborhoods).

I feel it is nice for a town to have a Mayor for formal functions, but I see no need to change our present form of management. Britain has a Queen and Prime Minister, Belleville has a Mayor and a Manager... each having their responsibilities.

The past few years have seen improvements in Belleville. I am tired of hearing only of money and salary matters and the complaints of his salary and the fact that he lives out of town.

I have told my Council representative, Tom Spillane, to spend what it takes to accomplish what this town needs. I don't care where "the best man" lives. That is irrelevant to his credentials.

I thank him for his drive into our town every day. I have all the confidence in him as our manager.

Flight #198

By Frank Orechio

• I have been with the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission 26 years. During those years, I was a commissioner, chairman and eventually project coordinator for the $150 Million joint venture system we established with the Hackensack Water Company. It was the first time in New Jersey's history that a public water supply agency and a private water utility became partners for life. With politics generally having a bad name - and the Water Commission being subject to the vicissitudes of gubernatorial politics, it was with great trepidation that the executives of Hackensack Water Company agreed to the marriage. It was the leadership of Bob Gerber, current Chairman of the Board, George Haskew, retiring Hackensack president, their general counsel, Fred Laurino and the company's liaison engineer, the able Tom McKee, who seized the moment, brushed aside their fears of potential political intrusion and signed on the dotted line.

Much to the surprise of Gerber, Haskew, Laurino and McKee, experience has proven the joint venture was a perfect marriage. George Haskew is retiring September 1st. Unlike most engineers, George Haskew is a realistic businessman and played a major role in the success of the partnership which was reduced to writing on December 16, 1981. That agreement added 79 million gallons per day to the water supply of northern New Jersey, thus contributing to the residential and industrial development of a major area of the country.

• I HAVE a little advance notice from the Girl Scout Council of Greater Essex County to save March 11, 1993 for a "Women of Distinction Luncheon", 12 Noon at the Mayfair Farms, West Orange.

• COMMENCING with September 1, Nutley's Italian-American Civic Association will be meeting the first Monday of every month, and because of the holiday, the September meeting will be Tuesday, September 8th.

The organization is sponsoring its Columbus Day prime rib dinner party October 24 at 8:00 PM at $25 a head.

• IN this week's mail, I received an invitation to the 84th Nutley Invitational Golf Tournament Monday, September 21, at the Glen Ridge Country Club. The invitation also includes the following, "A Nutley Tradition Since 1909." Traditional values were the theme of the Republican Convention in Houston. The Nutley's Town Hall tradition is observed at the whim of the majority.

• THE problems arising from the Creative Playground at Nichol's Park were aired at last week's Town Commission meeting. In response to complaints of neighborhood residents, Nutley's Recreation Director, Tom Pandolfi, observed that, "We intended to develop the playground following which we would address the problem of parking after the facility was operational. That's where we are now." Additionally, Mr. Pandolfi said that the Creative Playground project was a "95% enhancement of the neighborhood." Parks Commissioner Frank Cocchiola, irritated over complaints expressed at the meeting, observed more than once, "This was not picked out of thin air." It is observed that a great deal of planning went into the project; but unfortunately, the decision to address the problem of parking after the facility was operational was flawed. Cocchiola gave assurance that "I will do everything possible (to find solutions to the problems)." Cocchiola further observed that if off-street parking was provided for 25 cars, it would solve the problem.

Nutley has not had a confrontational, problem in many a moon. It is unfortunate that an environmental impact report was not incorporated into the planning.

Everyone agrees the Creative Playground concept is an asset to Nutley. Its location has been the centerpiece of the controversy.

• ESSEX County has been assigned 64 Superior Court Judges, and soon will be assigned another 6 for a total of 70 judges. This means we need 70 courtrooms. There are solutions advanced to solve the space problem - one by Essex County Executive Tom D'Alesio, and the other by the Chief Justice's Impasse Panel.

At a cost of $30 Million, D'Alesio proposed to convert the present Hall of Records which is adjacent to the new County Courthouse. The $30 Million expenditure would give ownership to the County.

The Impasse Panel has recommended a ten-year lease at $6 Million a year with the landlord being Hartz Mountain. The lease terms include a parking fee at $200 per car per month. At the end of the ten-year lease, the county will own nothing. The decision of the Impasse Panel is currently being appealed to the New Jersey Supreme Court by one of New Jersey's most outstanding members of the Bar, Raymond Brown, representing D'Alesio. D'Alesio is pessimistic over the chances the appeal has before the New Jersey Supreme Court. He is convinced the Judiciary has a predisposition toward prejudice in favor of the Judiciary and thus, D'Alesio expects the New Jersey Supreme Court to uphold the decision of the Impasse Panel.

Thomas D'Alesio

• TO call a lawyer "arrogant" might strike some as redundant and others as complimentary. But a California jury called it libel, and an appeals court approved an award of $1,637,000 in damages.

Open A New Account At Peoples Bank Today, And You Can, Too!

Join Operation Uplift...

Peoples Bank recently boosted the efforts of the Belleville Renaissance Committee by making a significant contribution toward Operation Uplift. This project was undertaken by local community leaders and business people to bring recognition to the contributions of Belleville toward the industrial revolution in the United States, as well as to help the community restore its deep-rooted heritage of innovation and greatness.

But Peoples Bank, which has served the Belleville community since 1921, didn't stop there! Peoples also pledged to donate $5.00 toward Operation Uplift for each new personal checking, savings, certificate of deposit and money market account opened at any of its three Belleville offices, with funds from another financial institution, between now and September 4, 1992.

A Bonus For New Depositors...

Open a Peoples Bank personal checking, savings, certificate of deposit or money market account between now and September 4, 1992, and, in addition to our $5.00 contribution, we'll provide you with a free 2 inch by 5 inch safe deposit box for one year and a free MACa card — which, at Peoples, comes with no transaction fees — for one year, as well. We normally charge an annual rental fee of $20.00 for this safe deposit box and $12.00 per year for a Peoples Bank MAC card... so, this offer represents a $32.00 value!

For further details on these money-saving offers... and to help support the efforts of the Belleville Renaissance Committee... complete the coupon that appears below and visit any Belleville office of Peoples Bank today. For information on other Peoples Bank services, call 1-800-257-2265.

American kids truly care

"The youth of the '90s are concerned about their world. With creativity and ingenuity, they're taking positive steps toward correcting problems facing their communities and making their own futures look brighter," reports an executive of one of the nation's largest youth programs.

Michele Macchia, one of the judges for the 1992 Youth for America campaign says, "Millions of today's kids are using their energy to solve problems in their own hometowns and create a better place for themselves and future generations. To often their responsible actions and deeds are overshadowed by today's negative headlines."

For 19 years, thousands of youth clubs and troops across the nation have developed unique community projects for the annual Youth for America campaign established by Colgate-Palmolive. The company rewards the best executed ideas with grants of up to $2,000.

Along with Macchia, who coordinates the program, this year's judges included Kirk Cameron and Chelsea Noble, co-stars of TV's "Growing Pains." Chris Burke of TV's "Life Goes On," and screen star Ethan Hawke.

"Winners in the recently concluded campaign reflect the concerns of today's kids," she says. A Kentucky unit of Girls, Incorporated, sponsored a handicapped awareness and education program, while a North Dakota 4-H club initiated a farm safety campaign. A Minnesota Boy Scout troop educated their community about mental illness and an Arkansas Girl Scout troop started a reading and literacy program. One Ohio Camp Fire group enhanced their community's teen suicide prevention programs and a North Carolina Boys and Girls Club implemented a series of environmental conservation programs.

Macchia points out that the Youth for America campaign is part of a world-wide network of Colgate-sponsored youth programs. It has been honored by the White House, Congress and governors and mayors across the country. Through it, Colgate has contributed some $5.5 million to U.S. youth organizations.

Each year the campaign is open to all clubs and troops of six national youth organizations: Boy and Girl Scouts, Boys and Girls Clubs, Camp Fire, 4-H, and Girls, Incorporated. Units of these organizations interested in entering the 20th anniversary 1992-93 campaign may write for entry forms to: Colgate's Youth for America, P.O. Box 1058, FDK Station, New York, NY 10150-1058.

Tips to help you ease into fall

Pre-season football practice and freshly waxed school hallways are signs that the duty-filled days of autumn are upon us. Children are getting ready to hit the books, but for most adults, "back-to-school" doesn't mean heading to the classroom. Instead, it means cleaning up from the summer and preparing for the fall.

"It's amazing to see how peoples' mind-sets change around Labor Day. It must stem from our school days, when fall meant vacation's over. But, over the years I have found certain ways to ease from the lazy days of summer to the busy days of fall," says Nancy Rogers, President of Liz & Co., a division of Liz Claiborne Inc.

Rogers offers the following tips to help ease into fall:

- Before you add to your wardrobe, add to your closet space. Give away clothing that you haven't worn over the past year.

- Keep the taste of summer all year round. Harvest and can summer fruits and vegetables. Consult a cookbook, such as the Joy of Cooking, for recipes.

- Update your wardrobe. Trade in your summer white t-shirt for a vibrant yellow one. Top it off with the jacket of the season: a menswear-inspired plaid bomber from Liz & Co.

- Prepare for the cool autumn nights ahead. Throw another quilt on your bed.
- Banish the odor of mothballs. Unpack and air out your fall & winter clothes as you pack away your summer wardrobe.

- Spring clean in the fall. Wash down the storm windows, check the gutters, and get out the rake.
- Be fit for fashion. Make the transition into fall with a great pair of navy slippers.

GET "IN THE SPIRIT" with Liz & Co. — The cotton reversible solid/plaid jersey jacket has pockets on both sides, ribbed trim and a navy zipper. It's teamed with navy rib jersey stirrups and a cotton white tee.

Parents: you can prevent your child from being stressed-out

Many kids look forward to fall and the start of the new school year. But for others, the end of summer vacation can mean the beginning of stress. Parents can help their children overcome difficulties such as "school phobia" and anticipating the "toughest year of school."

School phobia is what psychologists call the behavior of younger children who stay home on school days with vague stomachaches and headaches. These symptoms peak in the morning before school and usually disappear by noon. About 10 percent of children have this problem during the early school years. The cause is mainly homesickness and a fear of new settings.

Dr. Barton Schmitt, a pediatrician affiliated with the National Parenting Center, has some advice. The National Parenting Center (NPC) is a nationwide advice and information service providing parents with child-rearing guidance from pregnancy to adolescence.

In the newest twist on the industry begun by Dr. Spock, the NPC offers child-rearing advice by computer. Hundreds of articles by NPC experts are available on the PRODIGY service for families with home computers.

Dr. Schmitt suggests several ways to help children get over feelings of school phobia.

- Send the child to school every morning, even if she has symptoms. She'll overcome these fears by facing them. Once she masters separation fears, she'll enjoy school again.

- For symptoms at school, arrange for the child to be down for 10 minutes to regroup. Don't bring her home.

- Help the child spend more time with kids her own age. Help her play at other children's homes and, eventually, to stay overnight with friends.

Remember that attending school can be stressful. Children need to learn to cope with problems, rather than retreat from them.

If the child is starting seventh grade this September, the NPC's Dr. Charles Wibleman has some online advice. Wibleman, a specialist in adolescent medicine, says that for many children, seventh grade is the toughest year of school.

This is the year when many young people make the change from the personal atmosphere of the smaller elementary school to one teacher to the larger, less personal junior high, with many teachers.

This also is a time of great physical change. And not all of these changes are taking place on the same timetable.

Boys are about two years behind girls in physical development, which means there are a lot of short boys and tall girls at seventh-grade dances. Social skills are evolving slowly at a time when social changes are escalating. Boy/girl dances and pairing off are occurring at a time when young people still feel shy and insecure with one another.

How can parents help? Reassure the teenager that she is normal. Help him or her find ways to meet challenges — from keeping track of expenses to scheduling study time. If a teen is physically or emotionally immature, consider sending her to a school with grades one through eight, to avoid junior high altogether and give the child a few extra years to catch up with peers.

In addition to on-line advice from the National Parenting Center, bulletin boards are also a good way to exchange information and opinion. It's like a back fence stretching across the country.

Many parents use the bulletin boards on the PRODIGY service. With more than one and a half million members, PRODIGY is the nation's most-popular online service. Prodigy maintains a special toll-free consumer information number: 1-800-PRODIGY.

Back-To-School

A BACK TO SCHOOL CHECKLIST EVERY STUDENT WILL NEED

Being prepared is the best way to start the school year off right. Even if you think of everything, there could be one or two things you may forget. The best way to prepare yourself for the new year is to make a list of what you will need. Although all students have different needs depending on course of study, follow this list as a basic guideline:

- ✓ Pens, pencils and markers
- ✓ Notebooks, binders and pads
- ✓ Something to carry books in
- ✓ A wardrobe update
- ✓ A vision exam (to make sure you can see the chalkboard!)
- ✓ A watch (to make sure you get to class on time!)

Teens can win a contact lens makeover and a scholarship

Here's your chance to go back to school with a new look: Contact lens industry leader Bausch & Lomb has teamed up with Barbizon International modeling schools to give away a contact lens "makeover" and a tuition scholarship to any one of Barbizon's 235 schools across the country.

The essay competition — "Why I need a helping hand to switch from eyeglasses to soft contact lenses in 1992" — is open to young men and young women, ages 12 to 18, who wear eyeglasses. The entry deadline is August 31, 1992. Winners will be announced in September 1992, timed to coincide with the back-to-school season.

For more information, interested teens can write to Bausch & Lomb/Barbizon Makeover Contest, Cone Communications, 90 Canal Street, Boston, MA 02114.

President unveils

what LTI is all about."

Santangelo agreed with the president's emphasis on retraining. "We have to re-train our adult workers to be proficient in challenging and financially rewarding new careers," said the CEO. "We can't be a prosperous country when workers in their 30s, 40s and 50s don't have the ability to perform adequately in the 21st Century workplace."

Santangelo said he was inspired by the president's four track America 2000 education reform strategy, which was issued in April 1991. Taking a cue from the president, Santangelo helped initiate LTI's own education reform strategy called Lincoln 2000, which incorporates classroom and workplace expectations, resource management skills and critical thinking skills needed in the workplace.

President Bush, accompanied by U.S. Labor Secretary Lynn Martin, U.S. Rep. Matthew Rinaldo (R-NJ), and former N.J.

Gov. Thomas Kane, toured the 60,000 sq. ft. facility and met with students and instructors. Afterwards, the president declared "the spirit at Lincoln Tech is great. The people at Lincoln, students and faculty alike, seem to understand the need for training for jobs that exist and moving people up the ladder."

Technical schools, said Santangelo, will likely play an ever increasing role in America's drive for global competitiveness. "Publicly funded community colleges can't change as fast as we can. They can't buy the latest machinery or the newest textbooks as quickly as we are able to do. There is too much bureaucracy in the way."

"Private technical schools can change more rapidly to meet the latest industry demands for technical skills, that's why I am glad to see the president unveil a voucher plan that will help adult students get the career training that will translate into jobs for which there is a market," added Santangelo.

EFFECTIVE FLAKE FIGHTERS
It would seem that dandruff-sufferers would find it easy enough to combat their scalp conditions with over-the-counter dandruff shampoos. However, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) threw this assumption into question when, in November of 1990, it banned 27 ingredients in dandruff shampoos because they were not deemed to be safe and effective. After a review, the FDA came back (in December, 1991) with a list of safe scalp-scrubbing ingredients that it found to be safe for treating dandruff. They are: coal-tar preparations, pyritione zinc, salicylic acid, or selenium sulfide.

For the treatment of severe dandruff (seborrheic dermatitis), the FDA has approved coal-tar preparations, pyritione zinc, salicylic acid, or selenium sulfide.

It's easy to find over-the-counter or prescription medications when you come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 138 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. Your Doctor Knows Your Doctor Trust Us. Camera and film. Timex watches, gifts, Russell Stover candies and baby needs are stocked. Open: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sundays.

HINT: The FDA has found that the active ingredient methylenethionium chloride is not an effective treatment for infants' "cradle cap."

BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

Just when you thought you were 100 percent sick of major league baseball, leave it to the commissioner of the game, Fay Vincent, to add a little more nausea to this fiasco of a season.

Major league owners are meeting this week in an effort to fire Mr. Vincent. It was broken on WFAN radio last Monday evening by legal correspondent Dan Wasserman that the owners will, in essence, announce Mr. Vincent's firing on or about September 3. After that, Lord knows the legal maneuvering that will take place.

Vincent has already hired a top notch attorney and announced he will, in no way, resign. So Vincent is dug in for perhaps the long haul. The owners are attempting to fire the commissioner, which might not be legal.

So, the battle lines are drawn and major league baseball will continue to drown in a sea of litigation, which is just what this game doesn't need now.

When you think about the '92 season, the following aspects will quickly come to the surface. 1) Vincent's handling of the Steve Howe situation. Yes, Vincent was 100 percent correct in suspending Howe for life. Seven chances are more than enough.

But Vincent's subsequent action in which he called Gene Michael, Jack Lawn and Buck Showalter down to his New York City office on the day of a game to berate the three for having the nerve to testify at a grievance about Howe.

It was the arrogance attached to Vincent's action which drew the more ire. The three were late arriving to the game because Vincent, acting like a king more than a commissioner hired by the owners, felt he needed to chide the three men at that time.

Lawn, by the way, was the DEA director during the Reagan administration and probably got a good laugh at Vincent's attempt to intimidate the three.

Next, Vincent's handling of the attempted divisional setup, moving St. Louis and Chicago to the N.L. West and Cincinnati and Atlanta to the N.L. East. Once again, the move was right, the Cubs and Cards should be in the West, but the Cubs have fired a grievance in U.S. District Court and this could linger for quite a while.

Because of the grievance, the schedules for 1993 can not be completed. Vincent's idea was good, but he went about it in the wrong fashion and used his supposedly almighty power to supercede the N.L. constitution and "order" the Cubs to play in the West.

There is the upcoming labor issue, in which a lockout appears very possible to start the 1993 season, a la 1990. Another lockout or strike will turn the taste of the fans totally sour toward major league baseball.

Attendance is dropping drastically, especially in the big ticket cities. It will continue to fall even more next season, and if a labor dispute disrupts the '93 season, you can imagine the level of disgust that will transcend the fan base.

Player salaries are at a ridiculous level. Players are averaging almost a million dollars a season. This, during perhaps the worst recession in 50 years that has put many Americans out of work and losing their homes.

Mike Francesca of WFAN said last Monday that the owners could care less about the fan, and he's probably right. But if fan support continues to drop at the current it level it has, the T.V. revenue will also begin to fall.

There has hardly been any talk of T.V. negotiations for 1993. That package figures to be significantly less than the one signed before the '90 campaign.

Off the field, a player, Gary Sheffield, admitted that he made errors while a member of the Milwaukee Brewers last season in an attempt to get the Brewers to trade him. Sheffield has been phenomenal this season and is a prime candidate to win the triple crown.

Vincent has been a huge advocate of the "best interest of the game". However, he has done absolutely nothing about Sheffield. Not even a warning, a reprimand, nothing.

Expansion is coming to baseball next year, and while that means more jobs in the big leagues, the quality of the game, which is already declining, will get worse. The games are already lasting in excess of three and a half hours. Wait until two new teams enter the National League next season.

It's already been noted that the youth of today are more interested in basketball and football. Baseball, the national pastime, is falling into a distant third in

Buc football begins 15th year

By Mike Lamberti

It's a milestone season coming up for the Belleville football team. It's the 15th season of Buccaneer football and the 1992 Bucs are looking forward to the challenge of this seasons schedule.

Back in the fall of 1978, the Belleville sports program had changed its name from the long standing Bellboys to the Buccaneers. With the change seemed to come a new attitude of winning in Belleville football.

John Senesky, then the second year head coach at Belleville, had a good mix of juniors and seniors on the 1978 team.

"A lot of the kids on that '78 team had played on the '77 team and remembered the tough games, especially the 63-0 loss to Seton Hall Prep. A lot of the kids on the '78 club would go on to be key players on the '79 team that made the state playoffs."

The '78 season was indeed one of transition. It marked a new era in Belleville football. It was a season in which the team did surprisingly well after a 2-6-1 campaign in 1977. The '78 season turned out to be the prelude to the marvelous campaigns of 1979-84, when the Bucs put together a combined record of 45-1 and earned playoff berths in four of those six seasons.

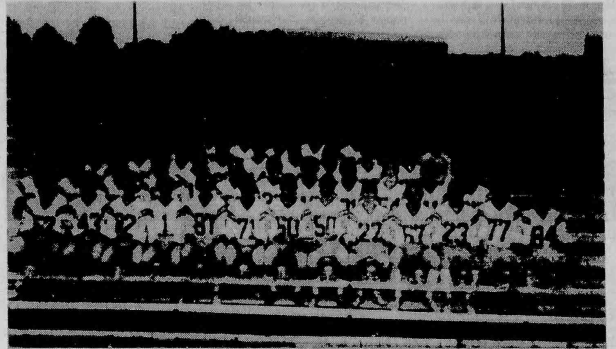

This week, it would be nice to look back at the nine games of the 1978 campaign, beginning with the home opener against Livingston.

BUCS 28, LIVINGSTON 14, AT BELLEVILLE: In the 1976 and '77 openers, Livingston had beaten Belleville by a combined score of 60-0. Thus, in 1978, Belleville was looking to get its new name off to a good start by beating a very good Lancaster team.

Livingston was a dominant team back in the late 70's and early 80's, but on this night, the Bucs were the better team. Belleville recovered a fumble early in the game to set the stage, then jumped out to a 21-0 lead before Livingston could tally late in the first half.

Quarterback Ed Aulst led a solid offensive attack and Mike Nicosia paced the Buc running game.

MONTCLAIR 27, BUCS 6, AT BELLEVILLE: Montclair had a powerful team back in '78 and too much speed for the young Bucs. Lenny Mendola scored the only Members of 1978 Buccaneer football team. The Bucs finished the season with a 6-3 record under second year coach John Senesky. Team captains were Joe D'Agostino (first row, holding ball No. 60) and Angelo Santinelli (No. 50, holding ball). This was first season that team was called the Bucs.

Lineman Scott Grant stands for National Anthem prior to kickoff.

Belleville TD. Montclair used the long bomb to its benefit, scoring twice in 65 seconds in the second quarter.

BUCS 31, NUTLEY 0, AT BELLEVILLE: This was a huge win for the Bucs. Nutley had dominated the rivalry in the past ten years, putting together an 8-1 record against Belleville from 1968-77. Belleville's only win during that span came in 1971, a 7-6 triumph at Nutley.

Belleville had not beaten Nutley at Belleville since 1962. They had not scored a touchdown against the Raiders since the waning moments of the '73 game, a 21-6 Nutley win. Furthermore, the Bucs had not scored a point against Nutley since a field goal in the second quarter of the '74 contest.

It all changed as the Bucs, behind key running by Nicosia and great defense by co-captain Angelo Santinelli won decisively.

PASSAIC 38, BUCS 13, AT BELLEVILLE: The Buc homeshow continued with a loss to powerful Passaic. The Indians had blinding speed and a marvelous quarterback named Mark Stevens.

BUCS 27, IRVINGTON 7, AT IRVINGTON: In its first game away from Belleville in 1978, the Bucs blasted the Campers. Using a good running game, Belleville grounded out the points and the defense dominated.

BUCS 19, ESSEX CATHOLIC 0, AT BELLEVILLE: Belleville pulled away in the late stages of the fourth quarter and prevailed over a good Eagle team. The win improved the Bucs record to 4-2, assuring the team of its best record in the past four seasons. The following week, as Belleville prepared for a big game with powerful Seton Hall,

Cross country, yesterday and today

By Mike Lamberti

Veteran Belleville cross country coach John Tosato announced that the first day of practice for the 1992 season will be on September 1. All runners will meet at Belleville High that day.

"We're hoping for a good turnout," Tosato, beginning his ninth season as head coach, said. "As usual, the conference will be very tough."

The Bucs have fielded some competitive teams over the years in the NNJL. Although the won-loss record doesn't show it, the Bucs have battled hard in the conference and have received some good individual performances.

The last team to post a "winning" season was the 1974 Bucs, coached by first year man Rich Ruffalo.

Bear in mind, winning in this article reflects only the won-loss record. It, in no way, lessens the accomplishments put forth by runners since the '74 campaign.

Ruffalo was a 24 year old first year science teacher at Belleville High back in the Fall of 1974. He replaced legendary Ray Haneke as both cross country and track coach in '74. He had a veteran cross country team in '74, with a good mix of seniors and underclassmen.

"There were some crazy guys on that team," laughed Ruffalo the other day. "Cross country and track back then was like football. Those guys would battle, almost physically, for position during a meet. It was like a hockey game sometimes, with elbows being thrown and guys battling for position in the final yards."

"We had crazies like Mike Fortino, Jimmy Bradley, Jimmy Beck, Nelson (Seda), Walt (Siubus) and

'B' (Brian) Wood. There was never a dull time coaching that group."

And then, of course, there was that skinny kid, he was about 5'6" tall and weighed about 125 pounds. He was a junior that fall, I think, and I told him he needed to grow a few inches, so I flipped him in the air and did the old back breaker on him. Would you believe a year later he was 6'3" tall?"

That runner, in case you're interested, was named Mike Lamberti.

Anyway, the '74 Bellboys went through the cross country campaign impressively, posting a 7-5 record overall. The turnout of runners was such that fall that many of the underclassmen, runners like myself, Keith Allum and John Matara, were relegated to the JV race for experience.

I remember taking a second place in one of the JV races against Glen Ridge. It was a big thrill, considering there were over 20 runners in that race.

On the varsity level, Siubus, Beck, Seda, Fortino, Bradley and Doug Wamsley, along with the now legendary "B" Wood, were the top runners for the Bellboys. Beck, Seda and Wamsley were juniors that year while Fortino, Siubus, Wood and Bradley were seniors. The Bellboys also had a "secret" weapon in Joe Vincent, a senior who gave spirit and guts a new name.

Perhaps the biggest win of that fall came in the second race of the season. The Bellboys had lost its season opener to powerful Columbia. The next race was against Mountain High School in West Orange. Ruffalo, in preparation for the Mountain race, had the team run up hill sprints at Belleville's home site in Belleville Park.

The reason for that was Mountain's home course was indeed a mountain. There were two killer hills on the course, at the 1.2 mile mark and again near the end, at the 2.6 mile post. The race was about 3.1 miles long.

Mountain's runner led at the 2.6 mile mark. Beck and Seda were second and third as the runners disappeared on to the hill. When the runners were next seen, coming down the hill, Beck and Seda were well ahead and their placement set the stage for a Bellboy win.

Ruffalo's hill work proved to be the difference and the Bellboys were on their way to a memorable season.

Now, 19 seasons later, a new group of Belleville runners, who weren't even born when the Mountain race started, will look to make their own mark in Belleville cross country history.

Senior Kevin Bradley crosses the finish line during meet at Belleville Park in 1974.

Brian Wood, known as "B" Wood to his teammates, finishes race during '74 season.

'78 Bucs finished season at 6-3

The Star Ledger printed a feature article on the team, calling the Bucs the "Romper Room Kids" for being young and aggressive. SETON HALL, BUCS 6, AT SETON HALL, PREP: The Pony Pirates were led by powerful runner John Merklinger, Belleville, looking to avenge the 63-0 loss to Seton Hall in 1977 felt short despite a good effort. Sophomore linebacker Ricky Racioppi scored the only Belleville TD when he picked up a fumble and ran it 60 yards into the end zone.

Belleville's hope for revenge against Seton Hall would wait until the following season.

BUCS 16, CLARK 7, AT CLARK: "This was a big game for our team," Senesky said. "We had never played Clark before and it turned out to be a real tough game."

Nicosia scored Belleville's first TD on a 95-yard scoring run. Late in the game, Ralph DePasquale intercepted a pass and returned it 50 yards for a touchdown, sealing the win.

The Bucs lost Racioppi to a broken leg in this game. He would return in 1979 and '80 and have excellent seasons.

The victory over Clark guaranteed a winning season for Belleville, the first winning season since the '74 Bellboys finished 5-4.

BUCS 21, KEARNY 0, AT KEARNY: Played on Thanksgiving Day, the Bucs wrapped up a 6-3 season by blanking the Kards. This was the first season that Belleville and Kearny would play on Thanksgiving.

While players like Aulis, Nicosia, Mendoza, DePasquale and Racioppi would go on to play on the great '79 team, the seniors on the '78 club set the stage for future success by leading the way to victory.

Some of the seniors on that team included Santinelli, co captain Joe D'Agostino, Scott Grant, Perry Mayers, Jim Galasso, Jerry Fazzini, Tom Henry, Anthony Dondarski, Mike DiMeo, Joe Francheschi, Alex Donna, Maria, John Pravata and Weddy Tramulola.

Some interesting sidelights to those seniors: Henry was a standout linebacker, teaming with Santinelli to lead a good linebacking corp. Mayers was a fine tight end, catching 14 passes. Galasso was a good wide receiver, but his season was cut short by a broken leg.

Fazzini was the quarterback of the '77 team, but moved to the defensive secondary in '78 and did very well. Dondarski was a marvelous special teams player who recovered at least four fumbles while covering kicks.

DiMeo was a fine split end, as was Tramulola. It should be remembered that Tramulola did not play football until his senior year. Prior to that, he was a standout runner on the Belleville cross country team.

Francheschi played a crunching defense from his defensive end position. As for Pravata, he was an inspirational story. The offensive lineman was legally blind, but it did not stop him from being one of the best blocking linemen the Bucs had in 1978.

Grant was an outstanding lineman who did his job in a quiet and effective manner. Scott also was a tremendous heavyweight wrestler for the Bucs during the winter months. He is the older brother of Dave Grant, a 1983 graduate of Belleville High and today a member of the NFL's Cincinnati Bengals.

"They were a good group of players," Senesky said of the '78 Bucs. "We had a lot of players on the honor roll. The kids worked hard and wanted to make Buccaner football something special."

Needless to say, that mission was accomplished, and then some.

fan interest.

This game needs a shot in the arm, and perhaps a new commissioner, someone who is concerned about the game today and not legal battles, will do the job. Vincent's shining moment came in 1989, during the earthquake in the World Series. Since then, he has presided over a game that is deteriorating badly and is marketed very poorly.

When you think of basketball, you think Michael Jordan, Karl Malone and Charles Barkley. In football, it's Joe Montana, Barry Sanders and Dan Marino. Baseball's top individual story, Sheffield, admitted throwing games.

Thank goodness for the Atlanta Braves and Oakland A's. They're two teams that have put together good performances on the field and hopefully, they'll meet in the World Series come October and put some luster on an awful baseball season.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The Houston Oilers went to the AFC title game in 1978 and 1979. In 1967, the Oilers played in the AFL title game, losing to the Oakland Raiders. In '78, the Oilers defeated Miami and New England before losing to the Steelers in the title game. In '79, Houston stopped Denver and San Diego before losing to Pittsburgh again.

FOR THIS WEEK

The New York Jets and New York Giants have played six times in regular season action. Who won those six games? Where were they played? Who coached the respective teams during those games? What was the score of the first pre season game ever played between these two teams?

Meet Natalie Cole

One of the most popular singers in the '40s and '50s was Nat King Cole. One of the most popular singers today is his daughter, Natalie.

Last year Natalie recorded one of the year's top albums. It is a collection of Natalie singing songs recorded by her father.

The album, "Unforgettable," won many awards, including the Grammy for the Album of the Year.

Natalie first appeared on TV when she was 5. Her first singing performance was at 11 in a show with her father. When she was a child, her father would play all types of music at home.

She recorded her first album in 1975. About 26 million copies of her albums have been sold.

DID YOU KNOW?

Nothing lightens and brightens a room like airy prints in pastel colors.
Pale colors help you keep summer all year round.

Pave a patio or a path with bricks laid on packed sand instead of mortar. After all the bricks are in place, sweep more sand into the crevices between them to prevent shifting. Best bet: more - durable pavers, harder than ordinary bricks.

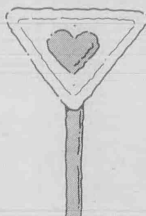

Shirred fabric, stretched on rods that are braced to the wall at floor and ceiling and around windows, can dress up a room dramatically. Best of all, fabric can be removed for cleaning or a change of mood.

To save water during the dry season, irrigate flowers and vegetables during the coolest part of the day. Most lawns can weather a drought better than other plantings can.

What's new? A window with liquid crystals in the panes that turn from clear to opaque at the flip of the switch. Ideal for bathrooms, or anywhere else you want to combine light and privacy.

What's new? You'll find a terrific selection of homes-for-sale waiting for you at Century 21 Stanford Agency, 86 Union Ave., Nutley. Call 235-9000.
