Roe predicts sure passage of resolution recognizing Belleville's historic status

By Howard Klausner

Representative Robert A. Roe, Eighth District, who introduced Resolution in the House of Representatives urging federal recognition of Belleville as the Birthplace of The American Industrial Revolution, told the Belleville Times this week that he expects the House to pass the Resolution.

He also told Louis Cicien, Chairman of the Belleville Renaissance Committee, that he was sure that the House will endorse the Resolution.

At the same time, he suggested prompt action for introduction of a Senate Resolution to the same effect. Cicien said that the office of Senator Frank Lautenberg had assured him that the Senator would introduce a Concurrent Resolution with that of Roe's Resolution in the House.

The Resolution asks that the President of the United States issue a formal proclamation of Belleville's historic status.

The effect of the passage of these Concurrent Resolutions would be to encourage federal agencies to assist in the preservation of historic sites here, and to develop programs to explore and develop research into the industrial history of the United States, and the study of American industrial development in general.

Hopefully, seminars and research centers could be developed here, the site of the first steam engine to function in the Western Hemisphere, the site of the manufacture of the first steam engine ever made in the United States, and the sailing of the nation's first experimental steamboat, the Polacca, in 1798.

The historic importance of Josiah Hornblower would be established as the man who brought the Age of Steam to America.

Many other industrial firsts took place here, as well.

Samuel F. B. Morse sent the first telegraph message to Washington, D.C. from Belleville over wires made by the Stephens Copper Mills of Belleville.

Thomas A. Edison made the first voltaic battery here. George Eastman made the first commercial photographic plate here.

The Belleville Times has urged that Belleville be the site of an educational institution devoted to study of the American economy and its industrial problems. Here, where the Industrial Revolution in America began, is the logical place to examine, and help restore it.

Interim Manager meets with execs to discuss budget requests for '93

By Howard Klausner

Stephen Curcio, entering his second week as Interim Township Manager, has held meetings with department heads to work out the ground rules for budget requests for next year, and current capital improvement requests.

The major capital improvement request on the table is that of the Fire Department, which seeks a new engine to be located in Silver Lake.

The current engine in the Silver Lake firehouse is called antiquated to the point of being perilous. Fire Department sources stated.

Mayor Marina Perna has expressed reservations about buying a new fire engine at this time, citing the recent acquisition of the Quint apparatus, which carries a 500-gallon supply of water along with its 150-foot ladder and pumps.

Silver Lake, because of its many frame buildings and narrow streets, is considered a danger spot requiring fast action and reliable equipment to meet emergencies.

Initial meetings between Curcio and town employees have been friendly, and for many employees, reassuring.

One discordant note may have occurred when Curcio reportedly replied to an inquiry about raises with the comment, "Be glad you have jobs."

Appointed on an interim basis, at $60,000 a year, Curcio can be dismissed by the Council majority with two weeks notice.

He has been put on notice to keep costs down.

Interference with the previous Manager, Bertrand Kendall, led to disputes which finally pressured Kendall out of office.

How Curcio will fare with the Council majority remains to be seen.

Graziano Family holds 25th annual gathering

The Graziano Family's 25th Annual Picnic was held on Sept. 6 at Kingsland Park in Nutley.

Some 150 family members attended.

Games were played and trophies were given to the participating children.

Among the awards given, according to Edith Graziano and Marie Strumolo, were:

Richard Graziano, on entering high school; Joann Taob, best athlete; Don Kozub and Sam Graziano, originators of picnic; Julie Polito, first granddaughter; Sam Graziano of Belleville, first grandson, and Judy Catena, first baby of the year.

The picnic was dedicated to Julia and Simbaldo, Jennie and Orlando Graziano.

Special awards were given to Don Grubenski and Minnie and Graziano, as the oldest guests, and Mike Graziano, the youngest.

Classical concert proves a hit at Columbus Parade festivity

The night was unexpectedly cold, but a performance of operatic and Italian folk music by Mme Linda Heimal and associates proved dramatically successful with the shivering audience, Sunday, at the Municipal Stadium.

More than a thousand people sat through the cold to enjoy the warm tones emanating from the temporary stage.

The music of Puccini and Verdi, always popular with any operatic audience, proved no exception, and the rendition of Funiculi, Funicula led straight into the first cascade of fireworks that completed the evening.

Many in the audience even added their voices to the singing.

Bows were taken by the beneficiaries who had financed the night's events after the Township Council declined to fund the program.

Essex County Freeholder Vice President Art Clay, a resident of Glen Ridge, provided $5,000 to pay for the event. Belleville Township Council President Dr. Frank Noonan provided an additional $2,000.

Belleville Columbus Day Parade Marshal James Cozzarelli Jr. thanked the people present for the honor of being marshal of the Quincentennial Anniversary of the Discovery of America.

The two-hour parade had included 54 units. The appearance of the well-disciplined Weequahic High School Marching Band from Newark was probably the high point of the parade.

The band performed in strutting dance and crashing music in front of the reviewing stand in Nutley, where General Chairman Mario Drozd greeted them.

Rev. Carolyn Lumbard rector at Christ Church Episcopal

On Sunday, Oct. 18, the Rev. Carolyn Lumbard officiated at her first service as the new rector of Christ Church Episcopal in Belleville.

The Rev. Ms. Lumbard was selected to replace Dr. Fred Long, who retired from Christ Church in 1990.

The church has been functioning under an interim rector since Dr. Long's retirement.

Rev. Lumbard comes to Belleville from St. Paul's in Morris Plains, where she served as the Associate Rector. She has her Master's Degree in Divinity from Virginia Theological Seminary.

Born in North Carolina, Rev. Lumbard grew up and attended school in Orange. She attended college as a music major. At the time, women were not accepted as priests by the Church.

She worked for a time as an excess lines underwriter for an insurance company, and then as the Parish Secretary for St. Luke's in Montclair.

When the Church began to accept women, her children were old enough, and other considerations fell into place. She moved to Virginia and entered the Seminary.

While in Virginia, Rev. Lumbard served at St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church in Washington, D.C.

Rev. Lumbard resides in the Christ Church Rectory with her two sons, Jonathan, 16, and Jeremy, 14, her husband, Tom, their two cats, and their dog.

Rev. Lumbard said that she hopes to help Christ Church "grow and flourish as a church community."

I come to Belleville with a concern for the ways in which the Church can have a positive effect on the people of the Church and the community."

Rev. Lumbard added, "I hope to grow with the Church. I feel that, together, we can make our presence felt in the world."

Aside From That

By: Howard Klausner

When Representative Robert A. Roe retires from Congress, he will have completed 23 years of service in that body. Seniority has made him one of the most powerful members of the House, and his loss to New Jersey and the Nation will be enormous. The odd number of years - 23 - is due to the fact that Mr. Roe was first elected to a one-year term when Representative Charles Joelson decided to leave Congress to become a Judge. Roe was then a Democratic member of the Passaic County Board of Freeholders and he took the nomination to succeed Joelson. The Republicans in the Eighth District, which then was mainly Passaic County, came up with Gene Boyle. Boyle was a likable man who knew every politician in North Jersey, if not the world, because he was proprietor of a very successful restaurant, Gene Boyle's, in Clifton. ●●●●● The restaurant was a wonderful place, with a magnificent dining room that included all sorts of recesses and private areas that were ideal for business meetings or just old friends socializing. And Gene knew how to greet people, and more than once he gave the writer the kind of grand welcome that would make the unknown thing we were a person of importance, a myth quickly dispelled on closer acquaintance. Many a Manhattan businessman in the know would take his clients to Gene Boyle's for a power lunch or an impressive dinner. Gene always played the role of Mine Host to perfection, and the restaurant knew he would be given a warm and ego-building reception. ●●●●● Gene Boyle, to our knowledge, had never sought public office before, but he was a formidable foe for young Roe, whose friendships were mainly in his home town of Wayne and the immediate vicinity. But Roe was a dogged campaigner. And he exuded sincerity. Had he ever taken to selling used cars. Passaic County would have been carpeted with them. By the time the results were in, Roe had barely a few hundred more votes than Boyle. And as often happens between two Irishmen who have had a knock-down drag-out fight, the two men earned each other's respect and became good friends. ●●●●● Bob Roe won re-election by a fairly narrow margin, and each time he ran, the margin increased. In fact, it increased to the point where the Republicans ran out of sacrificial lambs and left it to write-in candidates to oppose Roe. One of the blood sports of recent years for Courthouse reporters was to seek out the current candidate against Roe, and then stalk him down to his inevitable crushing defeat. Like most New Jerseyans, people in Passaic County pay little attention to their Representative in Washington, but Roe had managed to bring so much money in federal grants to Passaic County that even the Republicans looked upon him as a local industry, and felt it wiser not to try very hard to dislodge him.

Unbeatable in Passaic County, he tried his luck on the state level, seeking the Governorship in two unsuccessful campaigns. One of the problems he faced was that the political writers for the major dailies simply ignored him. They would write about the chances of every other candidate and never discuss the issues raised by Roe. Perhaps the tipoff should have come at the outset of his first campaign for the Democratic nomination, when he invited the Newark Star-Ledger to attend the campaign kick-off party at a Wayne shopping mall. The Star-Ledger did not send a reporter to the event. It sent an advertising salesman. Roe refused to take the hint, and the editorials of the Newark daily studiously ignored him. As it was, Roe ran ahead of all the other candidates, save one. That one was Brendan Byrne. ●●●●● New Jersey would have been well-served by Governor Roe, but it was not to be. It was probably better for the nation as a whole that he remained in Washington. Roe has been a major force in raising environmental standards, improving highways and transportation and otherwise holding the country together. He has generally voted on the liberal side of most issues and is considered a progressive moderate. The fact that he introduced the Resolution to accord Belleville recognition as Birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution means that he took a long, hard look at the idea, and decided it was the right thing to do. We heartily agree.

Golden Comments

By Jim Golden

As fear of crime escalates, makers of self-defense chemical sprays, high voltage stun guns and hand-held alarms increasingly are promoting their products on the mass market. But sorting out the devices and the claims is tricky. Their legality varies by state — often within states by local jurisdictions. Federal or industry standards for design or for quality do not exist. And most police departments are unenthusiastic about issuing how-to-buy advisories, at least on the record ... some of the following guide should help plug the information gaps.

Chemical Weapons. Tear gas and pepper sprays are legal except in New York, Wisconsin and Washington, D.C. Massachusetts requires a permit, and Californians must pass a state-certified Mace course. Carrying chemical weapons onto a commercial flight is a federal offense.

Method: Sprayed on the face or chest, tear gas produces uncontrollable tearing of the eyes, choking and an extreme burning sensation. Pepper spray, made of hot pepper extract, must hit the face; it is a potent skin and eye irritant and makes breathing difficult. Tear gas can be squirted 5 to 10 feet. Pepper spray is a mist and has a shorter range. A product that combines both may be the right choice for the average person. The effects of either spray or of a combination of both last about 20 minutes.

Pro: Chemical sprays apparently cause no permanent harm and can affectively disable most unarmed attackers, says Mario Casas, an Irvine, Calif., police officer who conducts Mace certification courses. "I teach my classes to maintain their distance, spray and get away to safety," says Casas.

Con: Tear gas will not stop drugged, drunken or mentally unbalanced assailants or vicious dogs. Pepper spray usually will — one reason many police departments use it — but a determined foe might be able to continue attacking nonetheless.

Stun Guns. Increasingly popular, and illegal only in a few states and cities and on commercial aircraft, stunners deliver a high-voltage wallop that can put an attacker out of commission for up to five minutes.

Method: A pair of metal contacts on the hand-held device are pressed against an assailant's body, and a switch is pressed against an assailant's body, and a switch is pressed. Quality stunners will send current even through heavy clothing. A short pulse may be painful; a three- to five-second pulse can bring down an attacker.

Pro: Used correctly, a good stunner will effectively incapacitate virtually any attacker with an infinitesimal chance of death or lasting injury, says Theodore Bernstein, a Madison, Wis., electrical engineer and expert in electrical injury who has evaluated the devices for the government and private industry. And briefly pressing the switch produces a loud, crackling arc across the electrodes, a further deterrent. Police say most unarmed assailants are looking for easy victims, not a shocking confrontation.

Con: Close physical contact with an attacker is required. The user is also forced to inflict pain, that is difficult for many people, even when acting in their own defense. And stunners are only effective when they incapacitate an attacker. Merely causing pain can create a more dangerous adversary.

Personal Alarms: The banshee shriek of a hand-held electronic alarm attracts attention or creates a diversion so a potential victim can run to safety.

Method: Pulling a metal pin or pushing a switch sets off the devices. Pin-operated alarms can often be attached to handbags.

Pro: They are pocketable and nonviolent, require no direct physical confrontation and cannot be turned against the user. Startling an aggressor may give you time to escape.

Con: Wailing car and burglar alarms are urban landmarks, so one more high-decibel scream for help may not attract much attention. Obviously, an alarm may be of little use in a secluded area or in a subterranean garage.

New Jersey is a target for Clinton and Bush

By Bill Gruver

In many Presidential elections, New Jersey has been ignored or left out of major consideration by those running for The White House. But not this year.

New Jersey is highly prized in this Presidential election year. It is, in every sense of the word, a swing state. It could mirror what is happening in the rest of the country. New Jersey is a mixture of the working class and the affluent. Because this is also a commuter-bedroom state, many of those who vote here, work in another state.

But New Jersey has most often, in recent years, voted for Republican presidents but then voted differently on the local and/or legislative level.

We have found, touring the Garden State, that most New Jersey voters are angry. They showed their anger at incumbent Democratic Governor James Florio and mounted a statewide tax revolt that threw out the Democrats who had dominated the state legislature. The anger showed towards Florio has now been directed towards Washington.

Health care is one of those issues which raises the temperature among the voters. There is more support this year for some kind of mandated health care system. Gov. Florio senses that is a GOP weakness and has urged voters to support a wider medical insurance program. Florio wants health care reform and states that only Democrats have the courage to move on such needs at this time. Medical care costs are higher than ever and many have been dropped from programs they can't afford. More than 800,000, throughout the state, have no medical care insurance. Health care has been a mainstay of the Clinton Presidential campaign and has found supporters from both Republican and Democratic Party members.

Because of such family issues as health care, Florio has been able politically to recover much of the ground he lost on the tax issue. Florio, facing a veto-proof legislature, has used the 1992 Presidential campaign for his forum to get his own ideas and programs before the public.

But it is the job loss that most upsets people in this state. A once highly industrialized state, Florio, like presidential candidate Clinton want a jobs program. Republicans, for the most part resist such proposals, saying they would force new taxes. Because there are no state legislative races this year, voter-watchers are monitoring county government elections. In most of the Northern New Jersey county areas, job creation and economic development are the main issues. Counties are being urged to form partnerships with municipal governments to provide a jump-start to business and industry. If New Jersey can come out of the recession, it would be a sign that matters were improving. But so far, that resurgence seems very sluggish.

Small business has been hard hit by the long recession. The cost of doing business has become tougher for the small business operator who hasn't the reserves to get through tough times while trying to compete with bigger companies and shopping centers. We have found thinner lines at the cash registers and more empty spaces at area shopping malls. The discount outlets are doing somewhat better. Voters don't want government to spend more money than it has and are against any heavy indebtedness that might come due in years to come for succeeding generations.

Those who have lived in this area for more than 20 years know industrial production is still the engine that drives the economy. Without production, the whole system breaks down and the in-place labor force, always considered a plus for this region, moves away.

The anger we have found comes from a combination of frustration and despair. When the pocketbook has been hit, voters vent their anger on incumbents. On the national level, that is the Bush administration. And since less is heard now about the anger towards Congress, it is centered on the incumbent national leader. Even those who have normally voted Republican now are saying they will desert their own tradition and vote for change that they hope will be better. There are, of course, no guarantees. Americans, mostly optimists, want to think that by voting for change, they are choosing something better than what is in place today. Voting is their only and the ultimate weapon for change.

Change is in the air and it will probably show up on Nov. 3. Although there is still an average 30 percent undecided, all signs point to a Clinton win in New Jersey on the day that voters bring their anger to the voting booth. Of course, a surprise could take place. In 1980, Reagan was behind Carter by 8 percent at this same time; and in 1988 Bush was 7 percent behind Dukakis at this same time. But we think the anger is deeper this time and no sitting President has ever survived a down economy. New Jersey may be one of major bellwethers this time around.

OUR OPINION

Quiet Days

Quiet days are precious gems
Of treasured peace and calm,
No cares or troubles cloud the sky
The silence is a balm.

My soul is soothed and worry free
Such days in life are rare,
But when they come I feel God's love
And know I'm in His care.

— Dolores Karides

Some music appreciation

The Columbus Day Parade ended with a flourish this year, as operatic talent combined with pop music and a finale of fireworks, to make the 500th anniversary of the Discovery the most memorable in local memory.

It was memorable in that an effort to demonstrate the fruits of Italian culture took on a classical stature, and a crowd of more than 2,000 people could enjoy the kind of music usually heard on the great stage of the Metropolitan Opera.

It was memorable in that private donations - $5,000 from Freeholder Art Clay and $2,000 for Council President Dr. Frank Noonan - made the concert and fireworks possible.

Dr. Noonan, a fervent Democrat, and Mr. Clay, a staunch Republican, united to help Mario Drozdz, Tommy Salzano and the other members of the Parade Committee bring the event to a wonderful climax.

We don't have to agree with them politically to give them their due credit for civic minded generosity.

The element of classical music is not a usual one in Belleville, even if a good part of its citizenry is heir to a magnificent heritage of classical music. The response of the people seated on those cement tiers of the Stadium during an unusually cold evening for this time of year, indicates that the Belleville public is more than willing to enjoy such a feast.

Music, in fact, does play a major role in the town's life. The Belleville High School Music Department has created orchestral and band units which have won prizes and are something of which the town should be proud.

There is a multitude of musicians, many of them professional, who reside in Belleville, or are natives of Belleville. We can cite Bob Harris' band, and Duke Anderson's performances, and the jam sessions at Spinosa's Music Store as examples.

Belleville would enjoy more occasions in which music would be a reason for the event, as well as an adornment.

The concert following the Columbus Day Parade is proof, and, we hope, a forerunner of similar events.

Why the faucet works

We take water for granted, a privilege made possible only by the foresight of those who created the water supply systems now serving us.

The celebration of the 75th anniversary of the Wanauque Reservoir and the co-celebration of the new water filtration plant of the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission, remind us how the battle to preserve pure water goes on.

Even the achievements of the last dozen years in increasing the available supply of drinkable water - without which neither industry nor population could survive - are not enough.

The planners and the administrators must even now think of meeting the water needs of 2000 and beyond.

Up to now, New Jersey has been blessed with an abundant water supply.

Keeping that water supply pure is a constant battle. The necessity of preserving forested areas near the Wanauque and preventing them from being developed commercially to the detriment of the water supply, are problems that face us.

It took particular vision and inventiveness to come up with the idea of a partnership between the publicly owned Wanauque and the privately owned Hackensack Water Company to produce the needed filtration plant, adding tens of millions of gallons of potable water daily to our supply.

For that, the people of North Jersey should appreciate the achievement of the man who had the idea and directed that project. And that man happens to be Frank A. Orechio.

The real MacDonald

To The Editor,

What a surprise! I picked up a copy of the Belleville Times this morning and could not believe what I read in the first portion of your column. Aside from that.

You either have a pretty good memory or work with a concealed tape recorder. One way or the other, it was flattering to see the piece in the paper.

Only one thing would have made it better ... My name is Paul. I am not trying to be critical, just want to set the record straight.

How the gift was gotten

To The Editor,

The Belleville-Nutley parade Committee works very tediously to bring a beautiful parade to the communities of Belleville and Nutley every year.

They meet once a month, all year, to accomplish this, and have fund raisers to help finance the $10,000 - $12,000 parade. This being the quinquennial year of Columbus' discoveries, it is a special historical event.

Our parade was born 10 years ago, with our two dedicated founders, Jimmy Donadio and Joe Romagnoli combining their efforts and joining our towns in a happy, positive celebration. The committee has grown since then to approximately 20 members, who volunteer their time and efforts to accomplish this extravaganza every year.

Our Columbus Ball this year was a huge success, especially in these difficult economic times. We thank the people for coming out to celebrate with us.

The celebration did not stop after the parade. It continued with festivities which consisted of clowns, opera, musical band and good Italian food, concluding with a fantastic fireworks display at the Belleville Municipal Stadium.

This event delighted people of all ages.

Who paid for this?

Due to the constraints on our township budget, Belleville could not afford to have this festival. Needless to say, the Parade Committee was disappointed, especially in this quinquennial year of the Columbus discoveries.

One committee member, in particular, was extremely disappointed, so she decided to do something about it. At the Ball, she approached the Belleville Grand Marshal, Jim Cozzarelli, and expressed her deep disappointment in the cancellation of our festivities and went on further to suggest that maybe one of our distinguished politicians, in attendance that night, would donate the $5,000 we needed to produce it.

Jim Cozzarelli then asked her why don't you say this politician. She thought about it a minute, then said, "Sure, why not? He could only say no, or possibly yes. We have nothing to lose."

The three met in the lounge, discussed it and then later on that same night at the Columbus Ball, Freeholder Art Clay gave Camille Nazzola the answer she was hoping for. Art Clay generously donated the $5,000 for Belleville's post-parade activities.

The committee was delighted and excited that night. Thank you, Camille.

Help to hurricane victims

To The Editor,

Thanks to all at School 7 who helped make the relief collection for Hurricane Andrew a success. We collected 25 boxes of desperately needed items which United Parcel Service generously packed and shipped at no charge. Their help was greatly appreciated.

To former Belleville resident Sheryl White, thanks for being the go-between and speaking to the people in Miami. She found out the important items they needed so that nothing we collected would go to waste. She has been volunteering her time there so she knew exactly how bad things were.

A special thank you to the following people:

My friend at U.P.S., Jim Poplaski, who went to the managers of U.P.S. on my behalf and asked for the shipping donation.

Glenn Senatore, who saved me a lot of time and leg work by collecting the items from the classrooms.

Last but not least, my friends Elaine Perinotti, Anna Somma, Tricia, Alyssa and my daughter, Jessi-lyn, for their help with organizing and packing everything.

My heartfelt thanks to all of you. It's nice to know that people will still band together to help those not as fortunate.

Thanks from Christ Church

To The Editor,

We at Christ Church would like to thank everyone who helped to make our Fall Fair a big success this year.

We could not have done it without the vendors and patrons who came out to support us.

Thank you.

• ON my recent trip to New Orleans via Continental Airlines, Flight #1427 was captained by Bill Kelley, and service in the cabin was provided by crew members, Flight Officer Britt Owens and Senior Officer Lisa Johnson. Captain Kelley maneuvered the 200 passenger plane through the skies like it was a Rolls Royce. The flight was very comfortable, and Continental should consider itself fortunate to have Britt Owens, Lisa Johnson and Bill Kelley in its employ. The narrow aisle made it somewhat difficult for the girls to handle the food and beverage carts, but they did it very skillfully. Commissioners Tom Cifelli, Dominic Cucinello and I were more than satisfied with the service. If your future plans take in a voyage on Continental Airlines, look for the name tags of Kelley, Owens and Johnson. You will be assured of a comfortable ride and satisfactory cabin service.

In the adjoining seat to me was A. T. Wolf, Chief Executive Officer of the Tower Commercial Corporation of New Orleans. If any one of our readers has reason to visit New Orleans, pick up the phone and call Wolf at 504-525-9717. A. T. is a great ambassador for the city of New Orleans. He thinks it's the greatest place in the world, and I'm sure there are hundreds of thousands of other people who agree with him. I think it's a quaint, beautiful city that one will want to revisit.

• CONGRATULATIONS to Nutley High School's football team for doing the unexpected, and according to some accounts - the impossible - beating Montvale's St. Joseph High School's eleven. The Nutley boys weren't expected to win, but those news accounts obviously got the adrenalin flowing - and the rest is history. Every player on the Nutley team was a star Saturday. If the team continues to take one game at a time, 1992 may prove to be an undefeated season for the Nutley eleven.

Rummaging through old Nutley Sun issues, tracking down historical high school football news, I came across a 1948 news item which caught my attention. The headline read, "Pencilin Helped Testa Make All-State Selections". The paragraph follows. "They dope race horses to win big stakes, but Allan Testa, Nutley's great center, took shots of penicillin and made the All-State selections of several pickers. There was a story behind his resurrection for the Kearny game and now it can be told. For a week before the Turkey Day windup of his scholastic career, Allan had had the gripe. On the eve of the game, Dr. Gaito gave him $16 worth of penicillin and it worked wonders. The next day, Allan was fit as a fiddle and played the best game of his career. His sparkling work as a defensive center, busting Kearny's best plays before they got started won him considerable points for the mythical all-county and all-state elevens."

• NUTLEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE has another "Business After Hours", October 22, 6:00-9:00 PM at the Recreation building at 44 Park Ave., Nutley. These events have been successful and well attended. It's open and free to the public. Chairman Joe McGuines expects this year's Show to be the best ever. You are even invited to bring along a friend.

• CREDIT Jim Florio for making an outstanding appointment by designating former D.E.P. Commissioner Bob Hughey of Atlantic County as Coordinator of a state effort to create jobs and stimulate the business economy by using the financial capabilities of thirty independent authorities for the development of public projects. Florio's appointment of Hughey received high marks from Republican and Democrat legislative leaders. Hughey could have as much as $3 Billion during the next three years for projects which will create an estimated 200,000 jobs. In complimenting the Governor on Bob Hughey's appointment, State Senator William Gormley said, "Bob Hughey can cut through red tape but not at the expense of the environment. In my opinion, Florio simply picked the best person." Hughey's experiences include five years with Stockton State College as a teacher and administrator. He also restructured Atlantic County government and became its first full time administrator 17 years ago.

BELLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Belleville teacher visits Russia

By Marcy Cucinello
Ann Schneider, a Social Studies teacher at Belleville High School, along with 74 other teachers from other parts of the United States, is in Russia participating in the "Hands Across the Water" national education program.

Thanks to the support of her colleagues and especially BHS principal, Dr. Ciccone, Schneider is spending 16 days in Russia. Schneider first traveled to Helsinki, Finland, then flew to Moscow and spent two days there before going to Kirov. Schneider is staying with a Russian teacher and her family during her visit. She will be introduced to Russian schools and children thanks to Tatyana Melnikova, the Russian teacher. While there, Schneider will be teaching fifth to ninth graders about American focusing on National Parks.

To prepare for the trip, Schneider has studied some Russian and hopes to teach some Belleville High School students a little of the language.

Schneider plans to present her Russian students with a few gifts that include hats, T-shirts, about 300 pens and pencils and a lot more. Belleville High School and Elementary School students will be sending letters and pictures to their Russian pen pals acquired through the program.

Schneider's Russian teacherhost will be coming to America as part of the reciprocal agreement of the program.

Computer scientist visits Belleville High School

By Tom Blake

The students in Miss Partoz and Mrs. Barra's computer classes received informative lessons on Computer Technology. The guest speaker who gave the presentation was Dr. Mary Hesselgrave of AT&T Bell laboratories. Dr. Hesselgrave is a former math teacher and computer programmer who now specializes in computer science and the mathematics involved in the use of computers.

The presentation, which focused on the hardware used on today's computers was an interactive, hands on program. Dr. Hesselgrave gave a talk on computers while the students examined cables, silicon wafers, included a talk on floppy and hard disk drives and the different sizes of memory used by computers; Megabytes and Gigabytes.

The talk also included information on new emerging technologies such as laptops, palmtop computers, and pen sized units. Miss Partoz felt that Dr. Hesselgrave's presentation was an effective reinforcement of the student's recent study of the history of computers and other components over the last eight days.

Mock election

By Cathy Soccimarro

Belleville High School students will participate in a mock Presidential election. Election day will be on Oct. 29, and the winner will be based on popular vote. Students who want to vote must register before election day. Students may register during lunch periods on the 26th, 27th and 28th in the library.

The mock election allows students to cast their ballot for one of the Presidential candidates. Students will also vote for candidates running for the House of Representatives of the 8th NJ Congressional District.

"This election is a definite part of the curriculum of the U.S. History II classes," said Mr. Graves, history department chairman. Graves said that, "It is important for everyone to get out there and vote. For those students under 18, this is their chance to voice their thoughts."

More 'Letters to the editor'

Kennedy vs. Spillane

To the editor:

It was good to see Court appointed Councilman Spillane and Mrs. Marone's stooge, Board of Education member Joe (vote yes on every raise) DelGuercio's letter in the paper. If Mr. DelGuercio knows of any fraud or deception in the past two elections as this windbag states, he should produce it or keep his mouth shut!!

It's easy to fight a cause when your lawyers are probably free? It is no doubt the 3rd Ward under the leadership of Mr. Spillane, will continue to go down the tubes, and that the Republicans, under the present leadership, will go back to their losing ways.

Mr. DelGuercio, you're right in one statement. You said "Good always wins over evil" and before you know it Mr. Spillane and Ms. Marone may be gone. In fact in two years, maybe you too will be gone.

Kevin G. Kennedy

(elected by popular vote to the 3rd Ward council)
P.S. I hope since you are such a good friend of Mr. Spillane you will abstain from the vote to make him a substitute teacher in the Belleville school system.

D'Alessio tours storefronts

Essex County Executive Thomas J. D'Alessio toured 19 businesses along Washington Avenue that received "facelifts" using grants from the county's Community Economic Revitalization Program (CERP). Joined by Belleville Mayor Marina Perna and Council President Frank Noonan, the County Executive viewed the new facade improvements that were completed during 1991 and 1992.

During those two years, Essex County was awarded a total of $207,343 to the Township of Belleville for CERP projects in the Washington Avenue business area. The funds come through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and Essex County currently received the second largest block grant from HUD in the state of New Jersey.

The Essex County CERP program now includes the municipalities of Belleville, Nutley, West Orange, Montclair and Orange. Each town submits criteria for the facade designs in their business districts. Items such as signage, building materials and colors are addressed. The Essex County Economic Development Corporation directly administers the CERP renovation program in Essex.

The CERP program provides

50% of the cost of the improvements with the rest of the funding supplied by the business owner or through loans from the Economic Development Corporation which are available at 80% of the prime rate.

Among the projects visited by D'Alessio were nine stores owned by G.T.E. Realty at 137-145 Washington Avenue. Another project located at 151-161 Washington Avenue includes seven stores owned by Giovanna Brusco. The latest facade renovations are located at 129 Washington Avenue in the Belleville Farm Fresh store.

The County Executive praised the appearance of the new storefronts and thanked Belleville township leaders for their initiative in seeking these grants.

"The entire downtown business district of Belleville — and the citizens of the township — will benefit from the revitalized appearance of these establishments," said D'Alessio.

The Immigrant Experience

Part 4

By Michael Rosamillia

Second-Generation Children

It becomes the obligation of her parents to keep her (the daughter) "pure" for her husband-to-be. For this reason, she is not allowed to spend the night at a girl friend's house; spend time at a camp; or go away for a vacation without her family. If she spends one night away from home, how can the father assure her future husband that his daughter is a virgin? Her father or brother is often seen outside her office, factory, or the department store where she works to escort her home and defend her against any advances, unwelcome or otherwise.

When she is married, the first night is spent in her new home before leaving on her honeymoon. This makes it possible for the mothers of the bride and groom to visit there the next day to examine the bedsheet for further "proof" of her virginity.

Chapter III

IMPACT OF CONFLICT

Pre-school Age:

During the pre-school age, the second-generation child brought up in an ethnic community has no more problems than the average child. He is then being exposed to only one culture in all or almost all of his associations. An older brother or sister may be undergoing some conflict but that isn't usually shown in that person's overt relationship with the rest of the family. As a matter of fact, an older child in the family can be some advantage to the younger since a slight "conditioning process" may take place before the child enters school.

Dual Cultures:

Once in school, a new life opens up for the second-generation American. He is now coming in contact with another culture and, although it's basically similar to his own, there are sufficient differences to make conformity to both cultures impossible in many instances. "What of the children of the Italian immigrant? Their position in life has thrust culture conflict upon them. They lacked the protective loyalties their parents had to a small but compact group in Italy, or the familiarity and congeniality their older relatives had with the familia." Whether they reflected upon their position or not, it was a marginal one in which they were urged by school companions and the promptings of their playmates to leave the older cultural traditions behind and enter into the full stream of American life.

Confronted by these obstacles, the child is at a psychological disadvantage in the learning process and can develop an early dislike for school. The school offers him little to approximate his home atmosphere. "The effect of the school system, it has been shown, is to force the individual of the second generation to take part in many social situations where rewards and punishments are administered by persons who are thoroughly American in background and whose behavior is frequently determined by a deliberate policy of encouraging him to act like an American. Adoption of American traits and expression of allegiance to American ideals are rewarded by approval on the part of the teachers and by specific acts of friendship on the part of the classmates, and are thus reinforced." He is faced with the task of acquiring habits which are foreign to him. "The second generation Italian... is socialized under the impact of two different cultures, and so acquires conflicting habits and attitudes."

If this involved a simple change from one culture to another, the problem might be easily resolved after repeated exposure to the new culture. However, the child is still an integral part of a family unit with parents who are also requiring conformity. As time goes on, the child finds that the pressure of his attempts at "duality of conformation" increases the conflict. "Frequently when the parents speak the ethnic language the child replies in English. Each understands the other but persists in using the language to which he is predominantly oriented. This language difference is an undisputed source of conflict and antagonism between parent and child and symbolizes the fundamental difference in the orientation and pattern of their personalities."

He tries to reconcile the new-found culture in his parents' minds but meets with little success. This can result in a feeling of resentment toward his parents who "refuse to understand" that he is an American and wants to act as an American.

As a young boy, "Antonio was annoyed with his parents. Every time he earned a dime, they expected him to bring it home, like an infant, and give it to them.

CHICKENING OUT
Each year, over three million youngsters in this country experience the itching and fever caused by chicken pox. According to a report published in the "New England Journal of Medicine," kids may now be able to do more about this viral disease than merely scratch. When 815 children, ages two to twelve, were treated with either the anti-viral medication acyclovir or a placebo, the group treated with the medication experienced fewer lesions and less duration than the placebo group. The acyclovir, which is prescribed for the treatment of herpes, was also found to be responsible for shorter bouts of the childhood disease. Treatment with acyclovir may be considered for those children who are likely to experience bad cases of chicken pox. When your doctor suggests prescription treatment you can be sure of fast service by coming to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave., 759-1968, 759-1956. We are Medicare and Blue Cross approved. ## BUC SHOTS

By Mike Lambert

The Belleville volleyball team took a big step toward the state playoffs by winning two matches last week.

Grace Worley's team defeated Bloomfield in two tough sets, 15-8, 17-15 and dound Teaneck, 15-2, 15-5.

The girls were defeated by Paramus Catholic 1-15, Paramus 3-15, 5-15 and Immaculate Heart, 15-5, 13-15, 7-15.

Entering this weeks action, the team had a 9-6 record. Belleville takes on Eastside this afternoon at Eastside beginning at 4 p.m. Tomorrow, Paramus Catholic comes to town for a 4 p.m. game. Next Monday, it's off to University and next Wednesday, Teaneck comes to Belleville. Both of those matches also begin at 4 p.m.

"The kids are doing well," Worley said. "Offensively, we're playing well, especially at the net. Defensively, our blocking has improved and we're making fewer mistakes. It would be nice to make the states this year, it's been a few seasons since we've qualified."

Injuries have hampered the team somewhat. Melanie vanDam has an ankle injury and Colleen Mannion has been slowed by a leg injury. Both girls are hopeful for this weeks action.

Senior Chris Sansano, playing varsity volleyball for the first time this fall, has done very well on the back line.

In the Teaneck win, seniors Carolyn Sagbay and Nancy Blauvelt did a good job in their first extended varsity performance.

Worley has also been pleased with the performance of the JV team.

"We had a very good turnout of players on the lower level this season," the coach said. "Consequently, we've been able to field two JV teams and the kids are playing on a consistent basis. This is also good because the younger kids are getting used to playing together and that has to help when they move up to the varsity."

N.F.L. UPDATE

If you're a fan of New York teams in the NFL, then your autumn has quickly turned sour. Like the Yankees and Mets in baseball, the Giants and Jets have made 1992 a forgettable season and the campaign isn't even half over yet.

All those experts who picked the Jets to be one of the top AFC teams had better regroup and hope the team can once again rebuild. The Giants are getting old at once and unless there is a major turnaround, the team should have a new look in 1993.

Let's take a look at this weeks games.

SEATTLE AT GIANTS: This should set the TV ratings on fire. If Giants don't win here, look for season ticket fans to start burning the tickets again, a la 1979. Giants 20-3.

CHICAGO AT GREEN BAY: Pack is playing better and Bears are very erratic. Green Bay 23-17.

CINCINNATI AT HOUSTON: A rematch of a game two weeks ago. Bengals never play well in Houston and Oilers are hurting after loss to Broncos last week. Houston 31-10.

DETROIT AT TAMPA BAY: Both teams are struggling, the Lions more noticeably. Detroit should find a way to win here after a bad start. Detroit 17-10.

PHOENIX AT PHILADELPHIA: My Eagles are suddenly struggling. Hopefully they'll win here since I'll be going to this game. Philly 24-10.

WASHINGTON AT MINNESOTA: A good interdivisional matchup. Vikes blasted Skins in preseason finale 30-0. Both teams are playing well now. Washington 28-27.

DENVER AT SAN DIEGO: Broncos don't play well on road, but they should have enough to win here. Denver 20-10.

CLEVELAND AT NEW ENGLAND: Browns are playing excellent defense. Patriots aren't playing well in any phase of game. Could be ugly. Cleveland 24-0.

DALLAS AT L.A. RAIDERS: The upset special. Raiders are playing very well of late, ditto for Cowboys. Home field should help here, late field goal will probably decide it. L.A. 24-21.

INDIANAPOLIS AT MIAMI: Believe it or not, I like the upset. Colts have been playing pretty well and Miami hasn't beaten anyone of note, with the exception of Buffalo. Indy 21-20.

PITTSBURGH AT KANSAS CITY: A good matchup, but Chiefs have too much firepower in Kayce. Chiefs 24-14.

BUFFALO AT JETS: Take no prisoners. Bills have been blown out of last two games and Jets will have to pay. Buffalo 34-3.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The '81 Jets lost to Buffalo 31-0, Cincinnati 31-30 and Pittsburgh 38-10 in the first three weeks of the season. The Jets then went on a roll, starting with a 34-13 victory over Houston in week four. Walt Michaels coached the Jets in '81. The Jets lost to Buffalo, 31-27 in the wildcard game at Shea Stadium.

Team advances to county quarters

Bucs blank West Essex, 6-0

By Mike Lambert

Greg Groeling continued his scoring roll with three goals and the Belleville soccer team played outstanding defense in stopping West Essex 6-0 in the first round of the Essex County tournament.

The Bucs had a good week overall, tying Hackensack at one and downing Paramus 4-1 in NNJIL play. Gino DePinto's team entered this week with a 10-1-1 record.

The Bucs will be at Paramus Catholic this afternoon, starting at 4 p.m. On Sunday, the team will host Montclair in the quarterfinals of the county tournament. Kickoff time is 2 p.m. from Clearman Field. Next Tuesday, it's off to Nutley for a 4 p.m. game.

In defeating West Essex, the Bucs got off to a slow start, then broke the game open early in the second half.

The only score in the first half came on a Giuseppe Manella penalty kick. In the second half, the Bucs pulled ahead on goals by Redy Perez, Matt Kastner and three off the foot of Groeling.

For Groeling, the three goals gave him 21 for the season. He is within one goal of Santiago Borja's single season mark for a Belleville player, set in 1983. Borja is also the all time leading scorer for BHS soccer, with 45 goals. Entering this week, Groeling is within three goals of tying that mark.

"We played much better in the second half," DePinto said. "It was a good win for our team."

Manella had three assists and Alex Alexandre had two in the win over West Essex.

"Manella and Alexandre have played very well in the midfield," DePinto said.

The week started with a one all tie at Hackensack. The Bucs expected a tough game with the Comets and the contest lived up to the billing. Hackensack held a 1-0 lead late in regulation time, but Groeling tied matters off an assist from Manella. The goal came with just three minutes left in regulation time.

Goalie Mike Percio turned in a solid game in the nets. Percio allowed just two goals in three games last week and has been outstanding all season long.

Against Paramus, Ivan Martin put Belleville ahead 1-0 in the first half. Paramus tied the game, but Kastner gave Belleville the lead late in the first half.

In the second half, Groeling scored two goals to seal the Bucs win in this important NNJIL matchup.

"Hackensack and Paramus were tough games," DePinto said.

"There is never an easy game in the league."

Assists in the Paramus game were turned in by Alexandre, Manella, Anthony Vitello and Joe Colucci.

The J.V. team tied Hackensack at two, Jim Berg and Ruben Guevara scored for the Bucs. Against Paramus, the Bucs prevailed by a 3-0 count.

On the freshman level, the Bucs finished in a scoreless tie with both Hackensack and Paramus.

NOTES: Bucs were seeded third in the county tournament. Columbia is the top seed, St. Benedict's is second. Millburn is seeded fourth, West Orange is fifth and Montclair, the Bucs opponent this Sunday, is the sixth seed.

Bucs have never played in the county semi final round. Team trails Don Bosco by one game in NNJIL Pacific Division standings.

Bucs fall to B.C. despite strong effort

By Mike Lambert

Although it will go down in the books as a loss, the Belleville Buc football team played a very good game last Friday against number two ranked Bergen Catholic at Doc Ellis Field.

The scoreboard read 34-3 when all was said and done. However, what the final score does not indicate was B.C. led 14-3 in the fourth quarter and had all it could handle against an inspired Buc defense that wore down as the final quarter progressed.

This monster of a 1992 schedule continues tomorrow night. The Bucs will travel to Randolph for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff. Randolph comes in with a 4-0 record and is ranked sixth in the state. More on the matchup later in this article, but fans are reminded to get to the game as early as possible.

"The kids played a spirited game," head coach John Senesky said of the Bucs, now 1-3. "We hung in there and played very well for the first three quarters plus early in the fourth quarter. Bergen Catholic has some very skilled players and their overall talent was able to pull away in the fourth quarter."

Belleville trailed 14-3 at halftime, but the Bucs actually outplayed the Crusaders in the first half.

On Belleville's second offensive series of the first quarter, quarterback Mike Mundy handed off to Ricky Constantino who found a hole and ran 60 yards for an apparent touchdown.

While the fans, players and coaches celebrated what appeared to be a 6-0 lead, the trailing official called a holding penalty on the Bucs, negating the score.

The call was questionable to say the least. Constantino was 20 yards ahead of the phantom call and the hold was noticed by the official with the poorest angle on the play.

Nevertheless, the holding call denied Belleville an important score and gave Bergen Catholic a little momentum back.

The Crusaders officially scored first in the first quarter when quarterback Mark DeRosa pssed 54 yards to Mark Fabish. For those fans who saw the game, they saw one of the most talented receivers in the game in Fabish, who personally kept B.C. out in front in the first half.

After Fabish's score, the Buc roared back. Sal Berardi, who was injured against Paramus Catholic, returned the ensuing kickoff to the B.C. 30 yard line.

The Bucs moved to the B.C. ten yard line before the drive stalled. Senesky opted for a field goal and Mundy came through, booting the ball 30 yards through the up rights, cutting the Crusader lead to 6-3.

It was the first field goal by a Belleville kicker at Municipal Stadium in ten years. The last three pointer by a Buc at home came in THE GAME, the 3-2 victory over Passaic in 1982.

The Bucs were fired up following the score, but Fabish quickly changed that, returning the kickoff 87

Janicelli, Anderson, Rykowski lead CC

By Mike Lambert

Improvement continues to be seen on the cross country course for Belleville High School. John Tosato's Bucs competed in tri meets last week and did well, with the girls team pulling out a win against Montclair.

The Bucs took on West Essex and University High School at West Essex next Monday beginning at 4 p.m.

The Bucs took on Hackensack and Paramus in an NNJIL Pacific Division race. The boys team was led by Mike Janicelli, who finished sixth against Paramus and seventh against Hackensack. Janicelli's time for the 3.1 mile course was a very good 19:17.

Senior Ketan Chauhan was the second Belleville runner across in 20:48. He was followed by John Cariaga (21:19), Nelson Pazmino and Juvalin Rodriguez.

The girls team was paced by Christine Rykowski, who took fifth overall in a time of 24:32. Freshman Rena Silva was next across, in 25:43. Silva was followed by Kim O'Mara and Jennifer Citarella.

In a tri meet against Teaneck and Montclair last week, the girls team came through with a victory over Montclair.

Rachel Anderson led the way against Montclair and Teaneck, finishing in a time of 23:22. Anderson's performance was good for first against Teaneck and second versus Montclair.

Nicole Marinelli crossed the line next for Belleville, finishing with a time of 27:07. Rykowski, Silva and O'Mara rounded out the Lady Buc lineup in the victory.

The victory improved the girls record to 2-7 on the season.

For the boys, Janicelli led the way again with a time of 19:36. Cariaga was next in 20:26 and Chauhan crossed the finish line in 20:37. Pazmino and Dan Rykowski closed out the Belleville effort.

"The boys are consistently improving," Tosato said. "We have a lot of freshman on the boys team. What I'm encouraged about is we're bringing more runners to the various races than a lot of our opponents. The turnout is very good here.

"The key to doing well in cross country is running all year long. The girls team has begun to show the benefit of working hard the past few years. The team is beginning to come around and do consistently well."

"Illness has hurt the girls team a little, but we're hopeful of having the entire team back for the tri meet at West Essex."

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Basketball leagues for grades 3-8

The Belleville Recreation Department is forming basketball leagues for children in grades 3-8 and applications are now available at the recreation office.

Boys and girls shall attend these clinics together.

Interested players should pick up application forms at the Recreation House, 407 Jorammon Street, and return them with birth certificates before participating. The registration deadline for the basketball leagues is Nov. 25.

Basketball team needed

The Belleville Recreation Department is presently seeking teams to play in its Over 30 Men's Basketball League beginning in November. The league plays on Wednesday nights at the Middle School, using primarily high school rules. There is a residency requirement, mandating that three-quarters of the team be Belleville residents. For other information or if interested, please call 450-3422.

Registration for Rec wrestling

Bucs travel to Randolph tomorrow

yards for a touchdown and after the two point conversion, it was 14-3 B.C.

The lead remained that way at the half and the feeling in the Belleville lockerroom was that the Bucs could be leading 10-7 at the half instead of trailing 14-3.

B.C. coach Fred Stengel felt the same way.

"We didn't do much in the first half," Stengel said, "except for the long pass to Fabish and his kick return. If it wasn't for him, we would have been shut out in the first half."

Considering Bergen Catholic's ability to score points almost at will, Belleville's first half performance certainly deserved merit.

The third quarter was scoreless, with Belleville snuffing out a B.C. rally when John Alvarado intercepted DeRosa's pass in the end zone.

The Bucs attempted to penetrate the tough B.C. defense, but the Crusaders had made adjustments at halftime and Mundy's ability to pass was limited in the final two quarters.

The Crusaders scored three times in the last six minutes to make the final score appear one sided. Those who were at the game knew differently.

"We outplayed them in the first half, we gave it our best shot," said linebacker Mike Citarella, who was named Homecoming King during halftime ceremonies.

Constantino, who had a 60 yard touchdown run called back, noted his team was right there for most of the contest.

"We had the chance to pull ahead in the first half. It's a shame the touchdown was called back. The momentum was shifting in our favor."

Senesky noted the fine play of Joe DePeri, who was assigned the task of covering Fabish.

"Joe did a real good job on him overall," Senesky said. "He was beaten on one long bomb. Other than that, he was able to stay with Fabish."

Fortunately, the Bucs were able to avoid injuries. DePeri left the game after having his bell rung in the fourth quarter. Anthony Caruso suffered bruised ribs, but both men should be okay for tomorrow night's out of conference game.

As for Randolph, Senesky expects to see a very disciplined team.

"I've always admired their program," Senesky said of Randolph. "They aren't very big, but they have some good athletes. This year, they have a very talented running back. He has good speed, and is very shifty in the open field."

"Also, Randolph runs their plays very well. They execute and make very few mistakes."

NOTES: This will be the fifth straight week in which the Bucs opponent is undefeated. In week one, both Belleville and Don Bosco were 0-0. In week two, Hackensack was 1-0, in week three, Paramus Catholic was 2-0 and last week, Bergen Catholic was 3-0. Randolph, as mentioned earlier, is 4-0.

Randolph has a tremendous following of fans and its stadium is usually filled to capacity, so fans are reminded to get to the stadium as early as possible to ensure a good parking spot.

More on Randolph. The team won the 1990 state championship by beating Montclair 22-21 on a miracle finish. The team had the longest winning streak in state history before falling to Union in the 1991 Group IV, Section II championship game, 24-14. Prior to that loss, Randolph was unbeaten in 54 games.

Mundy did a good job passing the ball against Bergen Catholic, especially in the first half. Senesky noted that the junior QB is releasing the ball much quicker now.

In a big NNJIL contest, Nutley defeated St. Joe's of Montvale 14-13 in Montvale. The Raiders now have to be considered the favorites to win the NNJIL Pacific Division crown, although the team still has to play the likes of Paramus Catholic and Hackensack.

Did you see the score of the Union-Newark Eastside game last weekend? Union won, 71-3. But it should be noted that Newark Eastside led at one point, 3-0.

Homecoming king Mike Citarella and queen Isabel Santos greet their court following judges decision.

Top Man Tidbits

Presidential Fact-a-Roonies

It's hard to realize that presidents are folks much like you and me. Interesting facts make them seem more human. (The number by each president shows the order in which he served.)

George Washington (1) was the only president to have a state named after him.

- He gave the shortest inauguration speech ever, 133 words at his second inauguration in 1793.
- Washington did not have wooden teeth. His teeth were made of the best materials available at the time.

Records show that Washington spent a lot of money on taking care of his teeth. However, like many people in his day, he had many dental problems. His set above was made of ivory.

This life-size model of Madison shows his size when compared with a chair! He spoke in such a soft voice that people often had to ask him to speak up.

James Madison (4) was the shortest president. He was only 5 feet 4 inches tall. He weighed 100 pounds.

Theodore Roosevelt (26) was our youngest president. He took office at the age of 42. He became president after McKinley was assassinated.

- Roosevelt had six kids, and they had many pets, including a bear, a lizard, guinea pigs, a pig, a one-legged rooster, a barn owl and a rabbit.
- He had a toy named after him.

Roosevelt loved to hunt. One day he refused to shoot a bear cub. A newspaper cartoonist drew a picture showing this incident. The cub became famous. A toy maker started making bears, calling them "Teddy." One of the first Teddys is shown above.

Abraham Lincoln (16) was the tallest president. He was 6 feet 4 inches tall. He weighed 180 pounds.

William Henry Taft (27) was the biggest president. He weighed more than 300 pounds.

Presidential Fact-a-Roonies

John Adams (2) was the first president to live in the White House. He moved in before it was completely finished in 1800.

Rutherford B. Hayes (19) and his wife, Lucy, began the tradition of the Easter Egg Roll on the White House lawn on Easter Monday. The year was 1878.

John Tyler (10) had more children than any other president. He was the father of 15! He had two wives. He had eight children by his first wife, Letitia, and seven by his second wife, Julia.

John Quincy Adams (6) was the only son of a president to become a president. His father was John Adams (2).

Benjamin Harrison (23) was the only grandson of a president. His grandfather was William Henry Harrison (9).

James Buchanan (15) was the only president who never married.

William Henry Harrison (9) was in office for the shortest time, only 30 days. He died of pneumonia delivering the longest inaugural speech ever — 8,443 words. He also was the first president to die in office.

Franklin D. Roosevelt (32) was the only president elected for four terms. He was a cousin of Teddy Roosevelt (26). He was the first president to fly in an airplane while in office. He also loved the hobby of stamp collecting.

Calvin Coolidge (30) was the only president to be sworn in by his father. He was visiting his father in Vermont when President Warren Harding died. His father, a notary public, administered the oath of office in his living room.

Ronald Reagan (40) was the only Hollywood star, and the oldest man ever elected to the office of president. He was 69 when he was elected to his first term.

Harry S. Truman (33) had a middle initial that did not stand for anything. It was just the letter S.

Natural Gas Fireplaces Are Cleaner, Cheaper

Consumers concerned with the affect of wood burning on air quality and forest resources are increasingly turning to natural gas fireplaces for extra winter warmth, according to the American Gas Association.

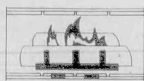

Wood smoke contains a number of pollutants. Natural gas, on the other hand, produces only water vapor and carbon dioxide when burned completely. Pollution caused by wood smoke has become so large a problem that the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has established emissions standards for all woodburning stoves and manufactured fireplaces. The first requirements went into effect in 1988, and more stringent rules became effective in July 1990. All woodburning equipment sold after that date must be equipped with emission control devices that reduce pollution. There are no EPA emission requirements for natural gas fireplace equipment.

In addition to environmental advantages, gas fireplaces also can save consumers money. According to a survey of 40 cities, gas fireplaces allow homeowners to save as much as 57 percent over the cost of using firewood. Furthermore, masonry fireplaces are only 10 to 25 percent efficient, compared with efficiencies as high as 72 percent for gas fireplaces.

The cost of heating an average room with a gas fireplace ranges from 22 cents to 81 cents per hour, and averages about 37 cents. The cost of using firewood ranges from 55 cents to $1.44 per hour, and averages about 88 cents.

Natural gas fireplaces come in a variety of configurations including see-through, two- or three-sided, direct vent and freestanding. Most can be turned on with the flip of a switch, and many new models have a remote control feature.

Currently, 23 percent of new home builders are offering natural gas outlets in fireplaces. In a home with natural gas service, a gas outlet in the fireplace can be added for between $50 and $200 in most areas.

As with all natural gas equipment, consumers should look for the American Gas Association Laboratories seal before purchasing a gas fireplace. A.G.A. Labs Blue Star Design Certification seal is your assurance from the manufacturer that the equipment design complies with national safety standards.

Natural gas fireplaces should be installed by a qualified plumber or gas contractor, and in compliance with local building codes and standards.

DID YOU KNOW?

Easy elegance: cover ordinary cardboard storage boxes with decorator weight fabric and assorted fabric trims like lace and fringe. It's a snap to apply with fabric glue.

****

Now's the time to winterize the house, when it's cool enough to install attic insulation, yet warm enough so that caulking compounds are easy to apply and bond well.

****

If an indoor tree is at a window and gets light from one side only, it will thin out on the unlighted side. Rotate it every week so it will maintain an even shape.

****

If caulking needs to be smoothed, use a wet finger on latex caulk or dip in solvent for other types. Let it dry well before painting over it, or the shrinking caulk may cause paint to crack.

****

Certificate of title, issued by a title company, indicates that the seller has a good marketable and insurable title to the property being offered for sale. Title insurance gives more protection.
