Congressman-elect Klein endorses Industrial Birthplace recognition

"It's a great idea!"
Herb Klein, who will take office in Washington, D.C. as Representative of the Eighth District on Jan. gave his endorsement to the ecognition of Belleville as irthplace of The American Indust-al Revolution office on Monday, Klein advised the Belleville Times and representatives of the Belleville Renaissance Committee that he would consult with Representative Robert A. Roe on how to proceed.

Roe introduced a Joint Resolution in the House of Representatives that would have the Congress grant this recognition, and have it proclaimed formally by the President of the United States.

Klein may have to re-introduce the Resolution in the next session

Jan. 20.
Klein spoke with Editor Howard
Klausner and with Louis Cicenia

the Congressman-elect with copies of the House Resolution and with copies of Governor Jim Florio's proclamation, and with copies of the Belleville Times with stories about the celebration of Josiah Hornblower Day. # Fire Chief Beresford is back on job; reinstatement colored by controversy

Fire Chief Walter Beresfor Happily back in command

Ruth A. Welsh. mother of Clerk

Fire Chief Walter Beresford returned to his office on Monday, complete with changed door locks and jimmied desk, after two weeks of suspension on the orders of Interim Manager Stephen Cuccio.

The locks were changed - and his desk was forced open - almost immediately after the suspension was ordered by Cuccio, two weeks earlier, following a telephone conversation in which Beresford used strong language to express his feelings

Cuccio promptly charged Chief Beresford with insubodination and ordered his permanent suspension. This occurred on Thursday, Nov.

That weekend, the personnel of the department were summoned three times to hear three different sets of charges against Beresford, each superseding the previous set of charges.

The first set of charges included he claim that Beresford had made terroristic threats".

Beresford had asked for the purchase of air tanks to be carried on the fire trucks. The department was down to one tank. Beresford said later that he had warned Cuccio he would not send men into a burning house without their being supplied with air tanks. Cuccio apparently interpreted this as a threat to burn down the houses.

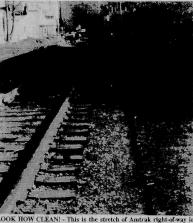

The charge of terroristic threats was deleted, and replaced by char-ges of "overspending" and then of failure to follow guidelines.

On Thursday, Nov. 19, Superior Court Judge Alvin Weiss suggested that an agreement to end the situa-tion be reached between Chief Beresford and the Manager.

It took direct action by Marie Burke to do it, but Conrail finally came to Belleville to clean up the overgrown and littered Amtrak line through Silver Lake.

overgrown and littered Amtrak line through Silver Lake.

After years of contacting government officials from the Municipal Buuliding to Washington, with no luck, Mrs. Burke finally located Conrail headquarters in Pennsylvania and put a call through to the Chairman of the Board.

The chairman didn't respond directly, but he did have a public relations officer respond, and this officer proved cooperative.

He contacted the track maintenance office in Secaucus, and sure enough, railroad track worker crews arrived last week to remove underbrush and litter, and even to put up guard rails and fencing to block easy access to the tracks.

Larry Walsh of the Silver Lake Business Council and Mrs. Burka et also credited Bob Shumayko, Neighborhood Restoration Coordinator, for his role in winning action on the clean up.

It was a brighter, and neater, day for Silver Lake.

Two firemen on a search-and-rescue mission in a burning home on Cortlandt Street sustained inju-ry from smoke and physical stress, early Thursday morning. A young father, his wife and their three-year-old son also were treated for burns and smoke inhalation.

The blaze occurred in a two-family frame house at 252 Cor-tlandt St, with the first alarm-coming into Fire Headquarters at 316 a.m.

Three of the residents, James Helmrich, 39, Dawn Helmrich, 29, and Michael Helmrich, three, were out of the building, as were four persons who resided on the second floor of the building.

The father had sustained burnlier while rescuing his son from the child's bedroom. By the time the family had escaped, father, mother and son had burns and smoke inhalation injury.

Firefighter a Thomas Grande and Anthony LaBruzza entered the burning building to see if any other people were inside. LaBruzza's smoke mask was torn off as he entered a room. Grande wrenched his back forcing open a door. Both men were relieved of duty after being treated for smoke inhalation and injury. Chief Aughenbaugh said the fire apparently began near a television set in a bedroom on the first floor of the bouse.

The Nutley Emergency Rescue Squad was called, and took the injured to Mountainside Hospital in Montclair, where all were treated and released.

Bells ring again at old St. John's

When the bells of St, John's Church, Newark, were silenced in 1941 due to mechanical problems, no one thought it would be 50 years before they rang again. St. John's, founded in 1826 and the oldest partist in the Archdiocese of Newark, had the bells erected in 1859.

In the last century the bells chimed for civic as well as religious occasions. They rang out for the Union volunteers in Newark enlisting for the Civil War, and tolled for the deaths of Abraham Lincoln and other Presidents.

The blessing of the repaired bells was another historical event in that Most Reverend Theodore McCarrick, Archbishop of Newark and Monsignor John P. Hourihan, Pastor of St. John's and formerly of Belleville, ascended to the height of sixty feet up the outside of the bell tower in the basket of a Public Service Electric and Gas "Cherry Present for the ceremony of the belessing of the bells with hundreds Picker."

Present for the ceremony of the blessing of the bells with hundreds of friends of St. John's looking on was Dr. Peter Lekos of Belleville who photographed this unique ceremony which was a first for the Archbishop and the Pastor.
During October the photograph of this historic event was presented by Dr. Lekos to the Archbishop at Sacred Heart Cathedral in Newark.

OUR OPINION

Thanks, Herb Klein

Congressman-elect Herb Klein is to be congratulated for his prompt backing of the recognition of Belleville as Birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution.

Representative Robert A. Roe has introduced a House Resolution for this recognition. Herb Klein has met with the Belleville Times and Lou Cicenia, Chairman of the Belleville Renaissance Committee, and has given his endorsement to the Resolution the Resolution.

The rules of the House of Representatives may require Mr. Klein to re-introduce the Resolution, and he has promised to do so if necessary.

The Belleville Times endorsed Mr. Klein for office because of Publisher Frank Orechio's personal appraisal of his character and his ability.

We think that this action in behalf of Belleville is confirmation of that assessment. Herb Klein will be a good Representative of the people of the Eighth District, and in all probability, a great one.

Silver Lake does it

The people of Silver Lake have become tired over the years The people of Silver Lake have become tired over the years of many promises to improve the condition of the community. From unnecessary flooding to the unkempt appearance of the Amtrak right-of-way, it seemed as if there was a conspiracy to make the community look shabby.

Silver Lake people maintain their homes and their businesses with pride.

The Neighborhood Redevelopment Program, under the guidance of Co-ordinator Bob Shumayko, has seen a real improvement in the business section.

New store fronts, better paving and more community involvement are becoming more evident every day, in spite of a slow economy.

These real improvements have come about because of citizen participation, and one outstanding example of this is the work of Marie Burke and Bob Shumayko in obtaining the agreement of Conrail to clean up the overgrown and littered right of way of Amtrak. Underbrush has been cleared. Fences and guard rails are being installed, and the neighborhood looks spruce because of it.

Mrs. Burke deserves most of the credit, single-handedly bearding the Chairman of the Board of Conrail in his Pennsylvania den, and getting action for Belleville. Like the Belleville Renaissance Committee, this has been an action by private citizens to restore the image and improve the quality of life of a town that has contributed mightily to America, and deserves more from the Nation.

By what standard?

According to Dan Weissman of The Star-Ledger, a According to Dan Weissman of The Star-Ledger, a Newark municipal court judge will be named Essex County Prosecutor because of his color. The gentleman in question was declared unqualified for the post by the Essex County Bar Association and the State Bar Association. But the State Bar Association has reversed its finding.

Should the nominee become Prosecutor, he will need the support of the public in order to be effective. Apparently, it is assumed that the color of his skin takes precedence over his judicial experience.

Minority spokespersons may argue with some justice that the color line has been used in the past to bar qualified persons from office. But, if r acial bias was wrong then, it is wrong now.

It has been our assumption that public officials are supposed to represent all of the people, and that the best qualified person is the one who should get the job.

It is unfortunate that anyone as important as a Prosecutor should have to enter office with a question about his or her qualifications. But that is today's politics.

Eternity sign

To the editor:
Italy — Oh, Italy,
You were made for culture
And the notes of time
Follow the genius of your citizens.
Artistic yearnings seem to surge from you.

The spirit of the Empire It is deep within your soul;
It has need to conquer those around,
And so it touched the margins of the known world.
And then the world came praising back to you,
Praising back to you in form and beauty.

But within your heart are unfinished dreams, As on the empty page of music Are hidden scores of songs, All held beneath the pattern of your thoughts, To be free, to create,
To influence and enrich worlds
With profound splendor.

Italy — Oh, Italy, You have a gift, a reason to be proud, The creator's talent for lasting gifts to time; And this I wish for you:

sh that all the gods and their legions I wish that all the gods and their legions Will triumphantly go proclaim your glory, So that more than trees bend down And more than the pride of years Kneel at your feet, For you will always be Life to me.

Oh Great Contributor, let the truth be heard, And all your deeds re-echo to applause, So that you are known for what history sings.

Italian presence — Eternity Sign — Waiting for consummation of your soul To bring a renascence passion again.

Italy, you were made for culture, And the notes of time Follow the ancient past To favor you,

Veterans Day - 1992

To the editor:
How many of you remember? What we call Veterans Day now was originally called Armistice Day, when the Armistice was signed on Nov. II, 1918, World War I.
Located in the Arlington National Cemetery, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier has been a national landmark since the 1930s. The United States Marine Corps War Memorial depicting the American Hag at Iwo Jima during World War II is also situated just north of the Arlington National Cemetery.
During World War II, I served with Desmond Doss, He is the only living conscientious objector to win the Congressional Medal of Honor, presented by President Harry Truman. Desmond Doss, who resides in Georgia, said that, "Patriotism is lacking in this country, "It was an honor to serve. I have seen many of my comrades pay the supreme sacrifice so we could enjoy the freedom we now enjoy.
For more than fifty years residents filled the streets and sidewalks on Veterans Day. Floats and marching bands coursed through the towns and cities. Each year some towns and cities have turned their annual John Phillip Sousa's styles march into a dreary Veterans Day dirge. Our veterans have paid for our security and freedom with blood, sweat and their lives. We owe them so much. We should honor them on Veterans Day with ceremonies, parades, visits to the cemetery, veterans hospitals. Each and every one of us need to pause to think what service to our country means. Remember, observe and honor.

The Immigrant Experience

By Michael Rosamillia

Chapter V CONTRIBUTING FACTORS

TO CRIME AND DELINQUENCY Parental Guidance:

Parental Guidance:
When a juvenile delinquency case comes up, the authorities or social workers look for the causes in the home of the delinquent. On the basis of many repeated experiences, they have found the delinquent time, the same of the delinquent of the delinquency traceable to some lack in the family institution. It may be divorced or separated parents; it may be that both parents are employed, leaving insufficient time for adequate attention or guidance; it may be some difficulty with one or both parents or brothers and sisters; or it may be a combination of these and many other factors.

There have been many instances when American parents are the same of the

There have been many in-stances when American parents have found it difficult to unders-tand their children. In an attempt to appeal to the children's 'better judgment," the response is often unsatisfactory. The child, while considering that his parent was once young, feels that things have changed so much since then that changed so much since then that his father cannot appreciate the position of the younger person in our society. Perhaps this is partly true as a result of changes in accepted behavior. If, however, the American parent is to be rejected for not recognizing these few changes, what chance is there for the immigrant parent whose starting point is so remote from American ways? We return to the chagrined Italian father who gives went to his frustration by saying "mannaggia America." What is the reaction of the child whose parent's comprehension is limited to another culture? In a situation such as this, the atmosphere for parental guidance is limited, creating a fertile field for orime and delinquency.

"It is the native-born children of immigrants, those of the second generation, who are involved in delinquency and crime. They find an adjustment most difficult since they are enmeshed more directly in conflicting cultures than those of the first generation. They are supposed to conform to one culture at home and another at school, with the result that they do not have a world in which to live but have to vacillate between two cultures."

If the child were simply to reject the parental guidance, he might cultures."

If the child were simply to reject the parental guidance, he might find an adequate substitute elsewhere with the result that, while a minor conflict remains, the damage, won't be irreparable. However, in addition to rejection of the parental guidance there can also be rejection of the parent's authority in all matters, resulting in further demoralization. "A derivative aspect of the conflict affecting the parent-child relation is that of the child's challenge to the father's authority. Not only does the child resent the fact that his parents do not act after the American behavioral modes; not only does he resent pressure to act after the ethnic behavioral modes; infused with the American logicish he implicitly questions the right of his father to dominate and control his behavior."

his father to dominate and control his behaviors."

The immigrant parent who has lost the respect of his child is to be sympathized with. His own has been, and continues to be, a difficult adjustment and he is now faced with what seems to be an insurmountable problem. "When habits, attitudes, desires, interests, and philosophy of life have aiready developed in relation to one cultural complex which indicates a complete adjustment in the social organization, these human factors usually lead to maladjustment in another cultural situation." That which he thought is dual to the constant of the control o numan factors usually lead to maladjustment in another cultural situation." That which he thought had been respect for him as a parent when the child was younger now proves to be only an obedience based on fear.

The ensuing bitterness in the parent is reflected in the lack of understanding and the disrespect of the child who says of his father, "Oh, he gets me sick. Every time I have some friends up to the house, he wants to sit with my mother in the parlor. You know what that does to a crowd of young people. What have we in common with hem? Nothing, So then they sit in the kitchen, with the door open, so they can hear everything that goes on. Peeking on us! As if we can't be trusted, or need watch dogs.

Besides, at every little thing I do, he preaches at me." After a few experiences of this type, the child will hesitate to invite his friends to his home. This eliminates an important opportunity for wholesome recreation in what could be a wholesome surrounding.

An even more serious situation arises when the economic condition of the family is involved. In addition to a denial of the parental authority, there may be a rejection of the home as well, stemming from insufficient financial means for acceptable living accommendation. from insufficient financial means for acceptable living accommodations. The problem of living in a slum area, superimposed upon family conflict, produces an environment which is not conducive to good behavior. "Born for the most part under circumstances of economic stringency, surrounded from the beginning by influences that encourage disrespect for their parent's traditions. In the native born children of the less fortunate Italian-born immigrants often find the cards of life heavily stacked against them."

That area of East Harlem serv-

against them."

That area of East Harlem served by the Benjamin Franklin High School presents a most dramatic example of these two factors combining with others to result in frequent physical expressions which serve to agitate the existing problem and provide ammunition for those who are of the opinion that assimilation is hopeless. As a result of a gang fight, the Herald

IT'S NOT WORTH THE WEIGHT

American Heart Association

Tribune said editorially: "There are several reasons for the bad repute of this bit of territory. Poverty has a good deal to do with it. Living conditions there are almost incredibly bad — comparable in misery to the worst of the lower East Side of long ago. Racial antagonism, which apparently was at the bottom of Sunday night's piched brawl, exists there to a degree that is downright terrifying. The section, for the most part, is sunk deep in squalor. It is not safe for a well-dressed man to walk there at night. It leads the rest of the city in dope addiction, sluggings, stabbings, holdups, and prostitution. Thousands of persons, most of them merely unfortunate but many of them vicious, live in the rows of dilapitaded old houses which are unfit for human habitation. This may be a dreary picture, but it is true, as every investigator who has looked into the situation will agree." The Tribune went on to give a blanket condemnation of the area and this evoked a response from Doctor Leonard Covello, principal of the Benjamin Covello, principal of the Benjamin Franklin High School.

Belleville S

Okay, so it's not Thanksgiving. But it's the next best thing. When Belleville and Nutley play football, the prognosis of an exciting game is quite relevant.

For years, this game was played on week three of the football season. In 1983, it was played in the season opener for both teams. The following season, it was moved to Thanksgiving and has been played on Thanksgiving week ever since.

Looking back, it's hard to believe that these two teams ever played on any week but Thanksgiving week week.

When Belleville and Nutley play, the results are remembered for the rest of the year. Since the game is played on or around Thanksgiving, the significance is even more real because it's the final game of the regular season. When the game is played midway thanks a company there are other conjects that will through a campaign, there are other contests that will sometimes override the rivalry.

Let's look back on the series, beginning in 1970, long before any of the current players were born. Even though the players change from year to year, the game though the players change from year to year, the game remains constant.

1970: The Bellboys played host to the Raiders and fell short, 23-8. Belleville had gotten off to a good start in '70, winning its first two games over Bayonne and Bloomfield. But Nutley was too good this day. Belleville finished the year at 5-4.

1971: At the Oval, Belleville's Joe Lotriglio scored the lone TD and the Bellboy defense did the job, leading the way to a 7-6 stunner.

1972: At Municipal Stadium, Nutley scored the only touchdown in the fourth quarter and held on for a 7-0

1973: In Catone's final year as head coach, Nutley dominated the game, winning 21-8. Belleville's only score came late in regulation time. The Raiders had a good team in '73 and were ranked second in the state before playing nubmer one ranked Westfield at the Oval. In that game, the two teams finished in a scoreless tie. Nutley never recovered and lost its final two games to finish 6-2-1.

1974: Tom Testa returned to the Belleville coaching ranks, but Nutley continued to win in this series. The Raiders prevailed 7-3. Anthony Speer kicked a field goal for the Bellboys.

1975: The Bellboys and Raiders played to a scoreless tie at the Oval in a driving rainstorm. Belleville's Anthony Biafore returned a punt for an apparent touchdown, but the play was called back because of a penalty.

1976: In Testa's final year as head coach, Nutley prevailed 14-0.

1977: The John Senesky era begins, but Nutley wins again. The Raiders prevail 7-0 in a rainstorm at the Oval. The only score came on a blocked punt which Nutley fell on in the Belleville end zone.

1978: Now known as the Bucs, Belleville dominates
Nutley, winning 31-0. It was the first time Belleville

Raiders in five years. Mike Nicosia and Angelo

1980: In the only night game of the series, the Bucs win on a late score by quarterback John Melillo, 13-7.

1981: Belleville wins for the fourth straight year over the Raiders 26-0.

Bucs host Raiders Saturday

By Mike Lambert!

And now, it's come down to Saturday. One game to determine a football season. Throw the records aside. When Belleville and Nutley get together on the football field, it's an event. And this Saturday will be no different as the Bucs and Raiders meet in the final regular season game of the year. Kickoff time is 1 p.m. from Dox Ellis Field. For Nutley, this is the next to the last game of the season. The Raiders (71-1) defeated West Morris last Saturday in the Group III, Section II playoffs, 21-10 at the Oval. The victory elevates Rich SanFillipo's team into the state of the season of the year. Nutley will play host to a good Morris Knolls team on December 5 at the Oval. For Belleville, there is plenty of incentive. The Bucs will enter this game with a 3-5 record, having dropped a tough 16-10 decision to St. Joe's of Montvale two weeks ago. Once again, Belleville will be facing a team that qualified for the state playoffs, a team with good size and tremendous offensive ability. This is nothing new to Buccaneer head coach John Senesky and his troops. The Bucs have faced a tough schedule this year, battling the likes of unbeatens Bergen Catholic and Randolph, once beatens Hackensack and Paramus Catholic and Paramus Catholic and Paramus Catholic and Paramus Catholic and respective state finals while Bergen Catholic and Paramus Catholic and representation of the NUIL. A win would also send some very valuble seniors out on a tremendous note.

"There's always something special about Belleville victory here would clinch a winning record in the rugged Pacific Division of the NUIL. A win would also send some very valuble seniors out on a tremendous note.

"There's always something special about Belleville defense has been marvelous of late. The Bucs played a stalwart game against powerful St. Joe's, holding the Bergen County team to just one offensive drive for a touchdown. The other St. Joe's score came on a Buc fumble deep in its own territory.

A second Belleville fumble set up a scoting opportunity for St. Joe's deep in Buccaneer territory. However, the Buc defense rose to the occasion, keeping St. Joe's out of the end zone after the visitors had a second and goal at the one. The Bucs also played strong defense in a 24-8 win over Paramus and in losses to Bergen Catholic and Randolph. In the season opener, the Bucs pitched a shutout over Don Bosco, 12-0.

Offensively, the Bucs have been effective over the past few weeks. Against Randolph, there were three key scoring opportunities. In the victories over Paramus and Teaneck, the Bucs scored 24 and 35 points respectively, the 35 points the most scored by Belleville on the road in ten years.

the most sored by Belleville on the road in ten years.

In the St. Joe's game, Belleville staged a fourth quarter drive from its own one that got as close as the St. Joe's 30 before time ran out. Buc quarterback Mike Mundy has played very well over the past five games. His ability to read defenses and his clutch passing give the Bues a number of opportunites. The running game, paced by Ricky Constantino, Anthony Cartus and Sal Berrardi has been effective. The receivers have been consistent. Brian Harvey and junior Joe DePeri have good hands and can catch passes in crowded secondaries.

The offensive and defensive lines are solid. Mike Citarella, Joe Citarella, John Engdahl, Joe DeRiggi, John Kuebler, Rich Romano, Brian Dena, Robert Dena and Billy Zigmund have provided good pass protection on offense and solid pass rushes on the defensive side. In the defensive secondary, John Alvarado has played to an all county level while DePeri leads the team in interceptions.

For Nutley, this game is a continuation of four tough weeks. It all started with the tie game at Hackensack, when then undefeated and untied Nutley raillied in the last seconds to tie the Comets at 14.

The following week, the Raiders traveled to Paramus Catholic and 16st a thriller to P.C., 32-27. The victory all but assured Paramus Catholic and Catholic of the NNJIL Pacific Division title. Nutley still has an outside shot of winning the title, but the Raiders have to win this Saturday and hope beyond hope that Paramus pulls an upset and defeats P.C.

Last week, Nutley won its first round playoff game. Now, the Raiders get ready for an emotional battle with Belleville. After this Saturday's game, the team must focus on Morris Knolls.

Nutley is no stranger to the state playoffs. The Raiders first gained entry in 1983, losing to Union in the first round. In 1988, Nutley made it to the state finals, taking a 9-0-1 record into the title game at Randolph. Nutley led late in the game, but Randolph came back to win the championship.

In '89, the Raiders went back to the playoffs but were defeated in the first round, also at Randolph. After an off year in 1990, Nutley defeated West Essex in the first round of the '91 playoffs, but fell short in the title game.

This year, a seasoned Raider squal looks to finish the job against Morris Knolls. But it will be a big challenge. Morris Knolls has been a state power for the past 12 years. The team won the Group IV, Section II championship in 1980 and made the state playoffs in Group IV in 1990. Last year, the team missed out on the playoffs by one game and this year, M.K. is playing in Group III and features a solid offense run out of the veer.

But first things first. Belleville and Nutley will tee it up this Saturday at 1 p.m. And, in this game, anything goes.

Joe DePeri (25) attempts to pick Kuebler (86) and Brian Dena (77)

Richardi optimistic about gymnasts

By Mike Lamberti
The Belleville gymnastics team ended the 1992 season with one victory, but head coach Donna Richardl is quite optimistic about the future of the program.

"The most important thing is the team showed improvement throughout the year," Richardi said. "The girls were happy with the season. We got better and I feel that next year we can be very competitive in the league."

There were two seniors on the coster. Colleen Hutchinson and Isabel Santos excelled in the beam and floor exercise respectively.

Sophomore Gina Conte competed in the all around, meaning she took part in all four events, the floor exercise, balance beam, uneven parallel bars and vaulting.

"Gina has a great deal of potential," Richardi said. "She did very well in the floor exercise and showed most improvement in the balance beam."

Conte was named Honorable Mention, NNJIL for her fine season.

Junior Kim Piscatowski concentrated on the uneven parallel bars and showed marked improvement over the course of the season.

Piscatowski, a fine all around athlete, should be a major contributor to the 1993 team.

Junior Davina Corio worked on the balance beam and vaulting.

"Davina did some very tough routines," Richardi said. "The more difficult the routine, the better chance for a high score. Davina is another girl with a lot of potential."

Christa DeBenedetto, a junior, transfered to Belleville this fall and made an immediate impact in the uneven parallel bars and the balance beam.

A freshman, Maria Bonomo has the potential to be an all around performer next season and beyond. Bonomo concentrated on vaulting this fall, but Richardi feels confi-dent she can take on the other three events as well.

Now that the regular season is over, the athletes will continue their training in camps and gym-

"Many of the girls will be working in the high school weight room," Richardi said. "This is a sport that must be worked on all year long. Some of the girls attend Ray (lanuzzi's) gymnastics school in town. Most of all, I hope all the returning gymnasts continue working during the off season."

Ianuzzi coached the Lady Buc gymansts from 1984-87. He gave up the head coaching duties so he could work on developing the program at the younger levels. Ianuzzi is the owner/operator of the Perfect 10 Gymnastics School in Belleville. "It's important to get the program started on the lower levels," Richardi said. "Ray's school is a big help toward that development."

Life on the Home Front

Kids in World War II

Do you collect paper, glass and aluminum cans? Like most kids, you probably feel that recycling helps protect our environment and our natural resources. You want to do your part.

Scrap metal drives

years ago, back when your grandparents were growing up, kids felt strongly about recycling too. Many did their part to help the war effort by eollecting scrap materials
• rubber for tires

- iron and steel for helmets and guns
- tin cans for planes · rags for cleaning weapons
- grease for explosive
- paper for packaging

World War II began in 1941 and ended in 1945 Now, 50 years later, a grateful country remembers those years the men and women who served on the home front, and those who fought and died on the front

Victory gardens

These kids are planting a garden in New York City. Citizens grew one-third of all Victory gardens sprang up in parking lots, vacant lots or anyplace there was an empty plot of land. Families worked to grow their own vegetables so that food could be sent.

This is a question that you might want to ask your grandparents

Japan's surprise attack on Pearl Harbor shocked and united the country. People old enough to remember can probably tell you what they were doing on that day.

WHAT DID YOU DO IN WORLD WAR II?

This is another good question to ask older folks in your family.

Many Americans have memories of those trying times, a time when most of the country pitched in—including the kids

V Homes

Your family might have been awarded a V home sticker to display in a window

It would show that your family did its best to help out.

Below are some pictures and ointers from a poster of the ideal home. We have explained what

1. This home follows the instruc tions of its Air Raid

Although two oceans separated us from our enemies, people took no chances

If your father was not in service, he might have served as an air raid warden. He would make certain the blackout rules

2. This home conserves food clothing, transportation and health.

Families were encouraged to conserve. "Use it

3. This home salvages essential materials.

You would collect cooking grease and take

5. This home buys War Bonds and Stamps.

The war bonds and stamps helped pay for the war

You would save nickels and dimes to buy stamps. When you filled your book you turned in the stamps for a bond.

Where did our Christmas tree custom come from? Read next week's Mini Page to find out.

Rationing

Many items were scarce becau they were needed in the war effort or because they had to be shipped in from foreign countries.

The rationed items included gasoline, coffee, sugar, rubber, beef, cheese, butter, oils, some canned foods and leather.

Rationing was an effort to give everyone a fair share of scarce goods and to keep the prices low Families were issued ration books that held stamps. The stamps were worth different

Transform Walls Into Gallery With "Print Room" Wallpaper

Modern wallcoverings recreate an old English print room.

The "print room," one of 18th century England's most popular and inventive trends in wall deceration, is being revived in a new wallcovering collection, Mary Gilliatt's Faux Finish

"At that time," says designer Mary Gilliatt, "people began acquiring prints on their travels and delighted in displaying them in highly decorative arrangements. Walls made a social as

"Formal reception rooms were ppered with engravings of Old Master portraits of kings and courtiers, arch tectural renderings, and scrollworl then cut out in interesting shapes an used directly on a pale wall, "she add "Wallpaper borders were used frame the prints for an overall pictur gallery effect."

Richard Felber of Sandpiper Studroy, a division of Design Directions, collaborated on this collection of wallcoverings, borders and fabrics in which the print room pattern appears. "Bestides the one-of-a kind print room design, we hand-picked antique frescos, architectural motifs and decorative painterly finishes," says Felber, adding, "The mood of this exciting new collection is Old World but the application is universal."

The print room pattern shown here is available in six colorways and borders, each ideal for hall, library, bedroom or most any room in the house For more information on Seabrook Wallcoverings, call toll free 1 800 238 9152. In TN, call 1 800 582 6233.
