Class of 1993 goes forth, despite the weather

By Howard Klausner

Undaunted by threatening storm clouds that drove the Commencement Exercise indoors, the Belleville High School Class of 1993 received its diplomas in the high school auditorium with good cheer and great enthusiasm. Urged by Board of Education President Gabe Nazzola to express their thanks to their parents, the Seniors leaped to their feet and shouted, "I love you!" to their parents in the audience behind them.

The parents responded in kind, but their output was not quite as uproarious.

With an uncertain economy facing them, but with hopes that the worst of the Recession was over, the students seemed relaxed and delighted as the long awaited moment came.

The usual exhortations to take a serious look at their futures were heard from the speakers, along with the announcements that success was theirs at the price of hard work.

But it was a world somewhat brighter than known by previous generations, with the Cold War apparently gone, and ever widening horizons of new technology ahead.

A well planned evening of controlled revelry lay ahead.

A graduation party was held in the gym, and then, at 10:30, the graduates boarded buses that took them to the Spirit of Jersey for a four hour cruise through the night waters of New York Bay.

When they returned, there was a 5 a.m. breakfast awaiting them in the school gym.

BASE - the Belleville Alliance for Substance Education - directed the event.

There were no reports of untoward incidents, although some students complained that the food ran out on the boat too soon, and there were no reports of road accidents involving celebrating students.

But parents did report a lot of late sleepers the next day, as all came safely home.

GIVING THE WORD - Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello addresses the Belleville High School Class of June 1993.

VIEWING THE FUTURE - The Belleville High School Class of June 1993 is attentive as it hears class leaders and school officials speak of the fast approaching future.

Nursery school locks tot, 4, out of graduation ceremony

By Howard Klausner

When 4-year-old Edward Witterschein, son of a Jersey City police captain, tried to attend the graduation exercise at his Little Scholar Nursery School, a Belleville policeman was at the door to make sure he would not get in.

His parents, who had spent $25,000 over the last four years to have their son and daughter attend the day care school, had to take him home. He was still dressed in the blue suit with long pants that he had planned to wear for the ceremony.

Beyond stating that the policeman was on regular duty at the event,

Belleville police have declined to comment.

The decision to deny Edward his graduation ceremony was made by the school's Director, Tina Cameron, who told the Belleville Times she would issue a statement some time in the future.

Earlier Mrs. Cameron had told the Belleville Times that Edward was welcome to take part in the graduation ceremony, but that his parents were putting "obstacles" in the way.

One obstacle was their refusal to sign an agreement whereby they would not make complaints to the State Inspectors from the License-ing Bureau of the Department of Youth and Family Services.

"They're asking me not to do my job," Captain Witterschein said. "It's my duty even as a private citizen to report violations."

According to both sides of the case, the problem began when young Edward fell while playing in his own backyard. A cut on his forehead required several stitches.

He returned to the school, and then an accident occurred - he collided head on with another youngster - and the stitches were reopened.

According to the Witterscheins, the school erroneously assumed that they would sue the school for medical expenses. "We had no such intention," Mrs. Witterschein said.

Mrs. Cameron said that this was not her concern because the school has adequate insurance coverage. She said she wanted the little boy to stay home until his injury was completely healed.

The Witterscheins claim that the school's concern went beyond that, and the intent was to keep young Edward out of school as long as the "threat" of a lawsuit existed.

Angry, Mrs. Witterschein has been picketing the school with signs denouncing it for allegedly expelling her child.

The proposed agreement, which the Witterscheins declined to sign, states: "Whereas Tina Cameron of Little Scholar Nursery School wishes to end certain disrupting and disturbing demonstrations; and whereas, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Witterschein wish to have their son participate in and enjoy the graduation exercise at the School..."

The little boy apparently misunderstood statements made in conversations between his parents and school officials. When he saw a car pass by his house, he shouted, "It's Tina! It's Tina!" and rushed inside. The parents say he was asleep at night and runs to the window, thinking someone from the school is pursuing him.

Council sets budget with 16-point tax hike as Township's ratables continue to decline

By Howard Klausner

The Belleville Township Council scheduled introduction of the 1993-94 budget, Tuesday, with a hike of 16 points in the tax rate.

Expenditures will be $29.3 million, compared to the current outlay of $27.3 million.

The amount to be raised by taxes will be $16.9 million, compared to this year's $16.2 million.

The projected increase in the tax rate would have been higher, except that the Council is taking $660,000 out of the $775,000 in anticipated surplus, and using it to reduce taxes.

One major reason for the tax increase is that there is less of a tax base on which to draw, this year. Ratables total $448 million this year, compared to $450 million the previous year and $465 million in 1991.

The budget includes $4.2 million for capital improvements.

It also includes $1 million in payments into the pension plan for employees, an amount that was not included in the previous budget because the state permitted a one-year deferral of payment.

The budget anticipates state aid in large amounts. Figured into the budget is $8.2 million which is normally provided, and an additional $3 million for Municipal Assistance, which was provided as an emergency aid this year.

Mayor Marina Perna had announced she would not be present at Tuesday's session, stating that she was vacationing in Italy.

We need educated workers Labor commissioner warns

To compete in the new world economy, America has to train its labor force to handle the new technologies, New Jersey Labor Commissioner Ray Bramucci told a gathering at the Belleville Public Library, Monday.

"The jobs are out there," he said "if you have the education to qualify for them."

Bramucci, a guest of the Chamber of Commerce and the Belleville Renaissance Committee, was optimistic about the economy. He said he almost fell down when he saw the most recent employment figures, which showed increased employment in home construction.

He warned the glut in office construction would last well into the next decade. He also expressed strong reservations about agreements with Mexico to lower tariffs. He said it would export needed jobs south of the Border.

But, in general, he saw a turnaround in the economy, which would be hastened if the national debt would be reduced.

His concentration on the need for a trained and skilled labor force brought inquiries from local industry officials. Roy Chesser, a Belleville resident who is vice president of Wallace and Tiernan, asked Bramucci for a meeting on the matter of upgrading employee training.

Chesser said his firm is extremely interested in doing that, to improve its competitive position. A young woman in the audience said she had been graduated from college with high grades but could find no jobs.

She said that retraining made available by the State had helped her find a career.

Bramucci agreed with a statement by Lou Cicenia, chairman of the Renaissance Committee, that the Common Market would displace the United States as the world's largest economy, but he said he saw major problems, particularly in high taxes, that would affect the European economy.

Bramucci said that American technology was the best in the world. He noted that America was now manufacturing Mazda cars to be shipped to Japan.

But with a 60 percent dropout record in American high schools, the country is far short of providing the skilled labor to handle the technology.

But, he said, the opportunity is there.

The event was catered at no cost by Karen Meyers, owner of Meyers Bakery, as her contribution to the local business economy.

Bramucci paid tribute to the efforts of the Renaissance Committee to win Congressional recognition of Belleville as Birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution, citing its importance to the community.

Aside From That

By: Howard Klausner

We hadn't really thought of Belleville as being a nice place to locate because it is so close to Europe, downtown Europe, that is, but one of the reasons that Susan Narucki came back here from the West Coast was the fact "It's just five hours to France." While this might be important to travelling wine salesmen, in Susan's case, it is because she is a rising star in concert singing, and will be bouncing around the Continent over the coming months and the year after. She is a singer for whom composers create music, and she will be introducing original works by Gyorgy Kurtag, who may not be a household word around here but is considered a major talent over there, and he is setting Shakespeare's sonnets to music with her in mind as the singer. A Netherlands composer, Rob Zuldarn, composed an opera based on the adventures of Patty Hearst, titled "Tania" and Miss Narucki will be singing the title role at its three debuts next year in The Netherlands and in Germany. ●●●●● Composer Mario Davidovsky had her introduce his "Shulamit's Dream" at its premiere performance by the San Francisco Opera, and in 1986, Davidovsky provided her with her debut, singing another Biblical theme work with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. She has since recorded a new work with the New York Philharmonic and her ports of call over the next 18 months will include New York, Los Angeles, Vienna, Barcelona, Madrid, Brussels, London, Strasbourg and Mulhouse. ●●●●● Born and bred in Belleville, she used to sing Western songs and play the guitar, accompanying her father, John who had a beautiful voice and loved Country Westerns. A machinist by trade, he rose to an executive job until he passed away last November. "I was very close to him," Susan says. She credits much of her interest in music as a career to the exposure she had to music in the Belleville schools. "Frank Scelba tried to teach me clarinet, but I wasn't very good at it." Then there were the efforts of Tom Finetti and Wendell Paar and they led her to enroll at San Francisco State College and then a Conservatory to study voice.

For five years after her graduation in 1981, she worked, sang, studied, sang, waited, sang and hoped.) Most of the time she was a secretary, and she also did a stint of delivering singing telegrams. "Being a secretary is easier on the feet." Then in 1986, she was offered her big chance, and the career has accelerated ever since. ●●●●● She married William Burke, a fine tenor, a year ago, and when at home, she hangs around the Rec House, where her mother, Vi Narucki works. As things stand, she plans to keep Belleville as her headquarters. And just to show her gratitude to the Music Department, she sang at Mr. Scelba's recent retirement party. He never threw a clarinet at her.

Not many authors make a buck before their first work is even published, but Helen Kim is working on a semi-autobiographical novel which has convinced a number of foundations that she is worth of financial assistance. The New Jersey Council on The Arts gave her a grant of $12,000 to further her unfinished work of literature. The Wesleyan Writers Conference on the campus of Wesleyan (Connecticut) University awarded her its Jakobson Scholarship, one of the first ever to be awarded, and the Stonecoast Writers Conference of the University of Southern Maine has awarded her its Delogue Scholarship with the accolade of Outstanding Woman Fiction Writer. ●●●●● All these awards have been based on excerpts of her first novel, still to be completed, with the title of "Chong-Ma: The Long Season of Rain". ●●●●● The author is married to Eric Kim, who is employed by Chase Manhattan Bank as a computer architect. Since her maiden name was also Kim, there was no problem with initialling the silverware. A good deal of Korea is named Kim, and she says it is a pretty tightly structured society. "To gain spontaneity, I like to go off by myself, where there are less distractions," she said. Born in Korea, she came to the United States in 1971 at the age of 12, with her parents and three sisters. By no coincidence, the story is narrated by an eight-year-old girl who happens to have three sisters. It deals with what happens when a young orphan boy is introduced into the family, a family longing to have at least one son. ●●●●● Mrs. Kim's father is a former Korean Air Force Colonel who decided to make his fortune as a businessman in America, and succeeded, retiring recently from his import-export business, with a home in Livingston and a summer place on a lake in Pennsylvania, where his daughter finds the seclusion she seeks for writing. "He wanted me to go into business and make loads of money, and he was surprised when I decided to be a writer and a teacher. But now that I have made some money, he is happier. He is also surprised." ●●●●● Susan and Eric came to Belleville in 1987, buying a condominium on the assumption that it would increase rapidly in value. Ah, well. With any luck at all, she will write her way into the best-seller lists.

Kenneth Soriano has had a 23-year career in the United States Postal Service, and is fighting to keep his job. Senior postal worker in the Little Ferry Post Office, he was fired abruptly after an altercation with another worker, which ended in Soriano holding the other man in a headlock. Friends say it followed some epithets from the other man. On any case, the other man was suspended without pay for two days, while Soriano was discharged. Congressman Herb Klein's office is investigating the matter, particularly because Soriano has never had a disciplinary offense charged to him during his entire career. His appeal of the discharge is due to go to arbitration.

Baldassarro DiVincenzo Mitten, our Copy Cat, says the Township Manager is busy getting "Private: Stay Out" signs printed up for the Township Offices. It's on the theory,

"What The Public Ain't Allowed to Know Won't Hurt It." ●●●●● Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch says his organization, the Kool Kukumber Boys is very concerned over a statement made by Vincent Frantantoni at a meeting of the Township Council referring to the Belleville Times as "That roll of (bathroom tissue)." Zilch said, "The boys are rushing him a bottle of ink remover, hoping it gets to him in time."

PASSING THE FLAG — Congressman Herb Klein (D-8th-NJ) presented a United States Flag to Post Commander Nunzio Cupo of the Belleville Disabled American Veteran Center. The Flag was to honor the unveiling of the War Memorial in front of the DAV. Klein is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force.

Salerno congratulates Whitman campaign in Essex

Ralph J. Salerno, a Bloomfield attorney who successfully guided Republican gubernatorial candidate Christine Todd Whitman's primary election in Essex County, has offered his congratulations to Whitman, and expressed his appreciation to the campaign committee members who worked on the Whitman campaign in Essex County.

Salerno, a former State Senate candidate and former Executive Director of the Essex County Republican Organization, stated the Essex County Whitman campaign organized a town by town effort in order to assure victory in the June 8th primary election.

"Christie Whitman's victory in Essex County is a tribute to the great deal of hard work by many individuals who believe that she is the most qualified candidate to lead our state," said Salerno. "It also must be taken into consideration that the Republican Party Organization, and the County Chairman, were not supportive of Whitman's candidacy. Still, many elected officials and other dedicated Republicans joined her team, and gave her a clear victory in Essex County."

Whitman totalled 9,131 votes in Essex County, over 1,500 more votes than her nearest rival, Cary Edwards.

"Christie finished first in 16 of the 22 municipalities in Essex County, and finished second in the other six. Edwards, by contrast, finished first in only four towns, second in nine, and third behind Jim Wallwork in the other nine," said Salerno. "In the Republican stronghold of Millburn, Whitman defeated Edwards by more than a two to one margin."

Salerno concluded by stating he expects Whitman to run a vigorous and effective campaign in Essex County. "When she was narrowly defeated by Senator Bill Bradley in 1990, Essex County was the reason why she lost. This must not happen again."

Middle School students raise $567 in Easter Seals contest

Sixteen Belleville Middle School students participated in the 1993 Easter Seals Spell-A-Thon and raised a total of $567, school officials reported.

The students found sponsors to donate pledges based on the number of correct answers they had on a spelling test.

Mrs. Millie Di Nardo and Mrs. Dawn Buccino then gave a 100-word quiz.

The money raised goes to the Easter Seals Society of New Jersey to benefit 2,700 children with disabilities.

Those participating in Grade 7 were Daria Chumas, Bruno Coviello Jr., Kolen Myers, Cesar Rosado, Lauren Rosenfeld, Jen Spano and Toni-Ann Unis.

Participating in Grade 8 were Tejas Bhatt, Ernie Campusano, Joe Caporella - who had the highest score, Karyme Cheda, Tim Hands, Bhunkia Patel, Mary-Jo Pignatario, Jennifer Price and Cheryl Vogel.

OUR OPINION

A note to the graduates

This is a bittersweet moment, the final departure from high school.

It is a rite of passage that is peculiar to the United States. Every other civilized nation in the world has graduation ceremonies, but the concept of education in America is not quite what it is elsewhere.

And that gives rise to problems.

Belleville Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello, put it this way: "Given the same teachers and the same educational facilities, the educational results are vastly different among different students."

While we have created wonderful physical plants to house our schools, and while our teachers are probably more capable than ever to teach, there are simply too many young people who drop out of the system.

The idea of the American school system was always to prepare young people to participate in a democracy.

This meant providing as good an education as possible for as many people as possible. But if 60 percent of our high school population across the country is dropping out before graduation, how can we maintain a society of responsible, free government?

If we have managed to do so up to now, it is because we have been spared the kinds of disaster that disrupt and destroy society.

America survived a Civil War because it had a strong basic society, and was protected from foreign intervention by the Atlantic Ocean.

America won World War II only because geography and the resistance of other nations gave us the time to arm.

We cannot expect our luck to hold forever.

And we cannot tempt fate by letting our system of free public education fail.

Commissioner's warning

In a further example of the importance of education to our survival, New Jersey Commissioner of Labor Ray Bramucci told an audience here that the American work force must match the capabilities of foreign competitors.

He said there is nothing wrong with our technology.

It is just that we do not have enough people capable of using it.

Europe and Japan have always invested heavily in technical training. Where America has always been ahead has been in inventiveness. Even today, the inventions we are buying so feverishly from foreign makers were originated here.

Giving even more weight to Mr. Bramucci's words were officials of a famous and long respected local industry, Wallace and Tiernan. In a real sense, this was a high tech firm when it began operations here in 1913, making water purification devices using chlorine.

An executive of the firm, Roy Chesser, spoke eloquently of how important it was to upgrade the technical know how of today's worker, and he approached Mr. Bramucci for help in doing this.

Mr. Bramucci's message was that there is plenty of opportunity for Americans, but only if they have the educational preparation.

This takes us back to the importance of maintaining and always improving our schools.

The schools are there not simply to enable people to find jobs. The caste ridden societies of other nations have always provided that kind of education to their people, to make sure they had efficient workers.

The schools are there to enable people to mold their own lives, make their own decisions and live as free men and women.

Both kinds of know-how are essential to our survival, and our prosperity.

YOUR OPINION

On teacher bashing

To the editor:

And so it goes — another round of teacher bashing by a taxpayer who blames the economic problems of the world on teachers, ("Unhappy with teachers," June 3, 1993). Yes, the world.

The leaders of the seven industrialized nations got together and decided that labor was getting too big a slice of the pie. The signal went out to start firing workers and busting unions. The air-traffic controllers were the first to go. More recently, GM is closing a plant in Michigan, Ford is opening a plant in Spain, BMW is opening a plant in the United States. They will all be non-union plants with lower wages.

So, we fight against one another for lower wages and fewer benefits, while the captains of industry earn seven-figure incomes and get bonuses for firing workers. The planned decline in the standard of living of workers is in full swing. Meanwhile, the Federal government cuts funding to states, which cuts funding to municipalities, and the crunch is on. Am I negative — you betcha.

Now, here's the truth about teachers. First, we are also "lowly" taxpayers. We not only pay local taxes, but also fund Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid and a host of other programs on the state and national levels. Second, take the work year of a business person, subtract week-ends, paid holidays, sick days, and other assorted days off, and the difference is not as great as it seems.

Third, salaries are only now becoming fair, considering the required level of education and expertise, and the serious professional responsibilities. Verbal and physical abuse against us is on the increase, even in "better" schools. Fourth, there are no perks. What keeps us going is the very deep and real satisfaction of making a difference in the lives of young people.

Instead of fighting against one another, let's fight together and insist that government and business create jobs so that all workers have good salaries and benefits.

Mary E. DeAgazio

Angry at Board

To the editor:

The Belleville Board of Education elected and salaried members have the audacity, after the budget was voted down by almost a 3 to 1 vote, to try and appeal the taxpayer's decision. These, the same BOE members, refused to meet with our town council and are now blaming the council for refusal to negotiate. These members must acknowledge the recession that is affecting most of the citizens of this town. We are forced to make concessions while some of the administrators are making incredible amounts of money and enjoying fabulous medical benefits and other perks most of us could only imagine. Do these arrogant members think the school system is an unaccountable monopoly with their refusal to meet with the taxpayers, the same people who pay for their salaries and benefits? The state of New Jersey does not pay it's administrators as much and these people have a lot more responsibility.

Why is it in the past 10 years our pupil enrollment has dropped by 1,157, two schools have closed and we now have an increase in staff members and the BOE wants to add more? I agree that changes must be made but adding to our staff would not be one. Voter turn out at the BOE election was not very successful. A suggestion could be to hold the vote until the November elections. This could also be an economical move and hopefully have more people involved in the vote.

It is in my opinion that it is a conflict of interest for a BOE member to vote for salary increases when they have family members working as teachers and clerical workers within our system. I don't see how a member could vote in our best interest when they either have family members or are attempting to infiltrate family members into our school system's staff. I feel this personal involvement impairs judgement and reduces them to self serving, self satisfying greedy individuals.

Belleville needs a School Ethics Act like the one the state has for its school board to govern the conduct of its members. I'm sure that with some members of our board members the Ethics Act will have no shortage of work.

CBB correction

To the editor:

Allow me to correct the article about the Citizens for a Better Belleville Inc. running a fund raiser breakfast honoring Mr. Frank Orechio and donating to a memorial fund for John Sczyrek Jr.

With all due respect to Mr. Orechio and to Mr. Sczyrek's family, this affair was not sanctioned by the officers or executive board of the CBB.

Further "Barney" is not and never was, a member of the CBB. Also, any correspondence to the organization comes to 834 Joralemon Street, Belleville and not a P.O. Box.

We are sorry for any inconvenience this may cause the residents of Belleville.

Carol Politz, President

Where are the parents?

To the editor:

I write this letter in hopes that the parents of our children who attend our schools in the township of Belleville will join me in attending our school board meetings. Since the reorganization of our school board fewer than 25 citizens have shown up to offer comment. I can't believe that with over 3,000 children attending our schools the turnout is so small. We all want quality education for our children, however unless we speak out to those elected to guide our children's future words spoke at home, on street corners and out of view of our elected officials fall on deaf ears.

Phil SanFilippo

• LAST week in this space, I indicated that the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission was contemplating the award of a contract to former Congressman Bob Roe for a period of one year at a cost of $120,000 at the rate of $10,000 per month plus expenses. Because of the publicity, Bob Roe asked that his offer be withdrawn, thus saving taxpayers $120,000.

• WITH state aid for education a hot subject, the township of Lyndhurst takes center stage as a result of Republican senate action. Lyndhurst may face another scrutiny concerning state aid it received a couple of years ago. The full story was reported by Margaret Myre, a staff reporter for the Lyndhurst Commercial Leader. Margaret's article reads as follows:

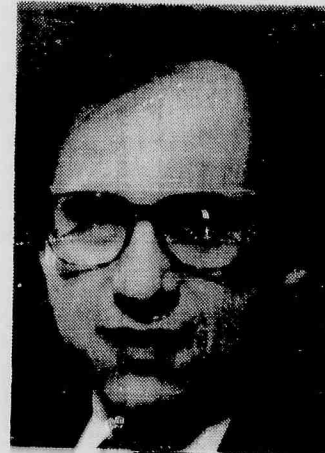

"With the Governor and a powerful Democratic candidate for the Legislature key figures in the matter, Republicans in the state Senate voted last Thursday to ask the New Jersey Supreme Court to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate how Lyndhurst came to receive school aid that the state Board of Education said it did not deserve.

The Senate squared off largely along party lines in the 27-10 vote, taken just two days after the primaries, and with only five months to go before the gubernatorial and legislative elections. State Sen. Raymond Zane (D-Gloucester) was the only Democrat to vote for passage. Zane held out the possibility he might vote to support Gov. Jim Florio on a veto, however — a move which would almost certainly kill the measure. Thursday's vote was exactly the number needed to override a veto.

If it survives, the bill would bring about the fourth investigation of the politically charged controversy, which began in late 1990 when a computer error in the state Department of Education overestimated by $1.7 million the amount of aid the township would receive under Florio's Quality Education Act.

Lyndhurst eventually got $1.4 million from a discretionary fund controlled by then state Commissioner of Education John Ellis, through the efforts of former state Sen. Gabe Ambrosio.

Gabe Ambrosio

The aid was rescinded in November 1991, however, when the township used it to reduce property taxes rather than maintain school programs. Eventually, through Ambrosio's insistence and the lobbying of other Democratic legislators, the Florio administration arranged a transfer of $1.5 million from a state employee benefits fund to the township. The township then turned the money over to the school district.

The legal committee of the state Board of Education investigated the circumstances surrounding the transfer of funds and called for a probe by the State Commission of Investigation (SCI). The SCI blamed Ellis for bowing to political pressure and exonerated Lyndhurst officials of any purposeful wrongdoing. Ellis labeled the SCI probe a whitewash.

Last April, the state school board, in apparent disregard for the SCI's findings concerning Lyndhurst, ordered that the school district return the second grant of $1.5 million to the township.

That decision gave impetus to powerful Republicans in the Senate to call on Florio to appoint a special prosecutor, and threaten to impose one if the Governor refused to act by May 6. Florio, conceding something "wrong" occurred in Lyndhurst, asked Attorney General Robert DeLuca to conduct a grand jury investigation of the matter. Senate President Donald T. DiFrancesco then introduced the bill, which now goes to the Assembly for a vote."

• NEW YORK TIMES MAGAZINE Sunday featured an analysis by its star political reporter, Bill Safire, on the "players and ciphers in the Clinton Administration". Safire rated the political influence of the members of the Administration on a scale of 0-10. Forty-three players were pictured and the only one that received a 9 or better was Hillary Rodham Clinton who scored a 9.2. Al Gore received an 8.4 rating. Secretary of State Warren Christopher rated an 8.0. And these three I cannot understand. David Gergen was rated at 7.2; George Stephanopoulos 7.1; Lloyd Bentsen 7.2. Chief of Staff Tom McLarty was rated at 7.5. Attorney General Janet Reno rates a 6.1. Hollywood friends, Harry and Linda Thomson, rated a 3.7. Of the 43, apparently, only three would be considered by some of my political friends as insiders — Hillary Clinton, Al Gore and Warren Christopher. The analysis merited a four-point spread and rated seven pages.

Incidentally, Bill Safire was hired by the late Dr. Virginius Mattia and myself as our consultant in our successful 1967 Primary challenge against the entrenched political GOP machine led by the late Bill Yeomans and Herman Blank.

• FROM OTHER PENS:

• Too bad all the people who know how to run the country are busy driving taxi cabs and cutting hair.

• AT age 86, George Siegel, a member of a Nutley pioneer family, keeps very active. It takes no time at all for George to pick up his effective pen and tell off his U. S. Senate representatives what he thinks of their votes. George writes from Hollywood, Florida. Recently, he went to the Hallandale Racetrack — and surprise of surprises — No. 10 horse's name was Nutley! George is still trying to find out how come?

An aside to George — Did our Nutley horse turn out to be a winner?

George, for many years, was editor of the Nutley Amvets "Foxhole" newspaper — and a rather prolific, talented writer.

• PASSAIC COUNTY Sheriff Eddy Englehardt won big with Christie Whitman.

ALL-AMERICANS - Fifth graders at School 4 celebrate their ethnic diversity and their American heritage.

Many nations contribute to our culture

Miss Rossi's 5th grade class at School No. 4 recently celebrated the many nationalities represented in the class by having a "multicultural festival." Each student wrote a short report telling interesting facts about the country that either they or their ancestors hailed from. The class listened to "ethnic music" and enjoyed some favorite ethnic dishes, including eggrolls, empanadas, tiramisu, pansit antipasto, tortilla, pepperoni bread, fried chicken, and cookies and desserts.

The main theme of the festival was that although the students have backgrounds in and celebrate traditions of such countries as Italy, Ecuador, The Philippines, Portugal, Ireland, Germany, Liberia, Costa Rica, Poland, Colombia, Spain and France, we all can (and do!) live peacefully together as proud residents of the U.S.A.!

It was a terrific experience for everyone, and Miss Rossi would like to thank all the students and parents who helped to make it a success!

Bwana Benton's Beastly Night

Young Benton loves animals and helps the Baldwins care for animals at the Environmental Center. Judith Kaiser, author, camper and educator, will present this humorous story on July 1 at 10:45 a.m. at the Shafter Branch Library. The use of many props will be utilized to enhance this humorous story. Please call the Shafter Branch at 450-3439 to register for this summer program.

Story, parade at Shafter

Independence Day is the birthday of the United States of America, and on that day, July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress. Everyone is invited to share the Independence Day story, July 2, 10:45 a.m. at the Shafter Branch Library. If you wish to decorate your bicycle, please consider doing so. If weather is permitting, those assembled will participate in a brief parade. The Independence Day celebration will conclude with refreshments at the Shafter Branch Library, 30 Magnolia Street. Call 450-3438 to register.

Teen Book Discussion

Frederick Lewis, Principal Librarian, is initiating a Teen Book Discussion on July 20, 27, Aug. 3 and 10, from 2:15-3:00 p.m. Bring in your favorite book to discuss. Mr. Lewis will show you other new titles to enjoy. Call the Circulation Desk, Main Library, at 450-3434 to register.

K.T. Productions celebrates 10th season

As K.T. Productions begins its 10th summer season, its 25th show will be aptly titled "Celebrate" — and audiences are invited to join the party!

Thousands of local theatre-lovers have enjoyed musicals presented by K.T. Productions since 1983 with Rodgers and Hart's "Sing For Your Supper" and have shown their support over the years as audience numbers have grown.

Begun in 1983 by director Kathy Thomas, the players of K.T. Productions have presented musicals of all types: revues saluting Cole Porter, Jerry Herman and other Broadway greats as well as full-scale scripted shows, including "Godspell" (1985, 1988), "The Fantasticks" (1988), "Annie" (1990), "The Wizard of Oz" (1991) and "The Sound of Music" (1992). The company has also presented the classic "Babes in Toyland" since 1986, the same year the K.T. Productions Touring Company began.

A two-act musical revue lasting under two hours, "Celebrate" features highlights from almost all of the shows that have delighted the public for the past ten years. The cast of 13 have all previously appeared in K.T. Productions presentations, and many are reprising their original roles.

The evening will be co-hosted by Bloomfield resident Maryann Thomas-Daw, who has appeared in each production and Nutley resident John Hall, who has appeared in every show except one.

Other actors include Belleville resident Jennifer Cianci, Bloomfield residents Marion McGinty, Robert Ruffalo and Ernest C. Daw; Montclair resident Anna Schiavo, Glen Ridge resident Nicholas Emma, Rutherford resident Lois Sobers, Maplewood resident Kerry Smith, Spotswood resident Denise Jimenez and Philadelphia residents AnnMary Thomas and Kate Neiman.

Showdate is June 26 at 7:30 p.m. at Lacordaire Academy, located at the corner of Park Street and Lorraine Avenue in Upper Montclair. Tickets are $7 and can be reserved by calling 372-1308.

THE SPACE STAYS - While Township officials promise more parking for shoppers, Township officials still keep their private parking spots on the public lot next to the Municipal Building. This is still reserved for the Township Manager.

Flynn attends Elks reunion

James Flynn, exated Ruler of Belleville Elks Lodge 1123 attended the annual reunion of the New Jersey State Elks Association of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at Wildwood.

The state association reported distribution of $100,000 in scholarships to youth, and the raising of thousands of dollars for the construction of the Viet Nam Memorial at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel.

More than 600 children attended Elks Camp Moore, a summer camp for handicapped children.

Flynn had the honor of leading his lodge in the Elks Parade in Wildwood.

George Miller III of North Arlington Lodge 1992 was installed as State Association President by Grand Lodge Sponsor, Past Grand Exalted Ruler Kenneth Cantoli.

Students need host families

Host families are being sought for high school students from around the world for the 1993-94 school year in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange, a non-profit tax exempt organization.

Exceptional students, ages 15 through 18, will arrive in the United States in August, attend a local high school, and return home in June 1994.

All are fluent in English and have been screened by local representatives in their home countries.

They have their own medical insurance and spending money. Host families may deduct $50 a month for income tax purposes.

DOMINIC S. CERRETO

Dominic S. Cerreto received the degree of Doctor of Chiropractic from Life College of Chiropractic in Marietta Georgia on Saturday, June 12, 1993.

Dr. Cerreto attended Rutgers University from 1985 through 1989, where he wrestled for four years. He was the captain of the team in 1988-89 and was the Scholar-Athlete in 1986. Dr. Cerreto graduated from Belleville High School in 1985 and has credited the high school's science department for their excellence in preparing their students for professions in the sciences.

Dr. Cerreto will practice in Michigan.

This Week At... Clara Maass Medical Center

• A Community Benefit Standards Hospital •

• Congressman Herb Klein of the 8th District (center), recently visited Clara Maass Medical Center. During his visit, he toured the Clara Maass campus and met with Medical Center administrative personnel. Kathleen Scoble, vice president, Nursing Service and Milton Prystowsky, M.D., Clara Maass Medical Staff President are shown in the photo chatting with Congressman Klein.

• The Clara Maass Maternal Child Health Department now has a catalog of its Parent Education Classes available free of charge to all community members. Clara Maass Medical Center offers a wide variety of parent education programs. Some of the programs offered are Infant/Child CPR; Pregnancy Fitness; Grand-parenting Classes and Sibling Preparation Classes. Clara Maass also has a car seat and beeper rental program for new and expectant parents. To receive a free copy of the catalog or for more information, call 450-2929.

• Clara Maass Medical Center held its first annual Road Rally on Sunday, June 6, 1993. The Road Rally, a scavenger hunt/clue game in a car, was held for employees and was designed to instill a sense of family togetherness and celebrate the 125th Anniversary of the Medical Center. 27 car teams participated in the Rally and many of the participants and their vehicles were decorated. In order to successfully complete the Rally, the participants learned a great deal of trivia about the Medical Center and its namesake, Clara Louise Maass. The overall winners of the Rally were: 1st place - Barbara Benjamin, Ken Benjamin, Dorothy Verna; 2nd place - The Calandriello Family; 3rd place - Vincine and Bob Kelly. Prizes for Best Decorated Car and Costumes went to "The Malaria Mobile" (Colleen Aurori, Beverly Cohen, Ellie Lezynski, Leslie Thompson, Kyle Fiore) and Little Deuce Coupe (Mike Menendez, Zofia Bielaska and family members). Honorable mention went to the entire Radiation Oncology Department who coordinated their costumes.

• Three loyal employees of Clara Maass Medical Center recently retired and were honored by the Medical Center at a special retiree luncheon. The luncheon honored the three individuals for their many years of outstanding service to the Medical Center. The honored employees are Hester McBee, who worked in the Environmental Services Department for 22 years; Elizabeth Molinare, an employee of the Clara Maass Laboratory for 20 years; and Mattie Frances, who worked in the Laundry at Clara Maass for 22 years.

Belleville residents cited with Sheriff's Awards

Three Belleville residents, employed by the Essex County Sheriff's Department, were the recipients of awards presented by Sheriff Armando Fontoura during the law enforcement agency's Annual Awards Ceremony and observance of National Police Week. Detective Vito D'Alessio, Sheriff's Officer Joseph Ferrara and Sgt. Gary Fisher were among the 33 members of the department recognized during the ceremony for acts of valor, meritorious service, and dedication above and beyond the call of duty.

Sheriff's Officer Ferrara, of the Courts Division, was presented with an award for Excellent Police Duty. Officer Ferrara and his partner investigated and arrested an individual who was attempting to speak to jurors and influence their views on a pending court case while the jury was on break during a trial in April of last year.

Detective D'Alessio of the Sheriff's Fugitive Squad and his partner were investigating several tips provided by citizens who had seen a fugitive the department had featured on the Suburban Cablevision TV-3 program "Crimewatch." The subject had been arrested by the East Orange Police Department for armed robbery and drug possession, but failed to show up for trial. Based on their investigation and viewers' information, the suspect's whereabouts were pinpointed to a girlfriend's apartment on S. 14th Street, Newark.

Fontoura said the detectives went to the apartment and questioned the girlfriend. During the questioning the suspect, who apparently was hiding in the apartment, tried to escape by jumping out the bathroom window but was nabbed before he could do so and arrested. Detective D'Alessio was awarded the Excellent Police Duty Award for his actions.

Sgt. Fisher of the Courts Division was presented with a Meritorious Police Duty Award for his role as a supervisor in the Courts Division. "The demands of our busy Court Division are ever increasing and challenging. Manpower shortages, more judges and cases, and high profile cases which sometimes require special security arrangements all add up to a most difficult assignment. Sgt. Fisher is a mainstay at our assignment desk whose administrative expertise and demeanor helps us stay on top of these demanding responsibilities," said Fontoura.

NJAWBO seeking new members

The Essex Chapter of the New Jersey Association of Women Business Owners (NJAWBO) is looking for new members.

A local chapter of the National Association of Women Business Owners, NJAWBO provides the tools its members need to operate financially successful businesses. NJAWBO offers opportunities to maximize business growth and profitability, gain publicity and achieve recognition, participate in educational and informational workshops, affect legislative issues which concern businesses, capitalize on group rates for goods and services, and expand contacts through networking.

NJAWBO's Essex Chapter currently has more than 75 business owners on its membership roster. NJAWBO has nearly 1,000 members in 15 counties and provides resources, support and a "legislative voice" to women business owners in the state.

Dinner meetings are held at 6 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month. Admission for dinner meetings is $23 for members and $25 for non-members. For more information, contact Essex Chapter president Diane Israel at (201) 783-8666.

Palagano says she will increase county/municipal cooperation

Increasing the cooperation and interaction between county and municipal governments will be a priority for Bloomfield Councilwoman Louise Palagano when she becomes freeholder, she said.

Palagano, a fourth term Bloomfield Council member, is seeking her party's nomination for the Fifth District Freeholder seat. She is running on the Essex County Democratic Organization Line B in the June 8 Primary Election.

Palagano, who has been actively involved in government on the municipal level throughout her political and professional career, said as a freeholder, she will use her municipal government experience to help communities tackle their problems.

Palagano has worked as a municipal grants consultant and has been a member of various Bloomfield boards and organizations, including the planning, library and local assistance board, in addition to her council position.

As a district freeholder, she said she would work to institute more formal cooperation between the county and the municipalities. She said she favors the creation of a standing municipal liaison committee on the freeholder board that would require district freeholders to meet with local government officials at least once every quarter and report those meetings to the freeholder board.

"As a council member myself I know how difficult it can be to attend freeholder meetings," said Palagano. "I think the municipalities would benefit from more regular and structured contact with their county representatives."

Palagano said the trend in government is toward more regional and intergovernmental cooperation tion as a method of providing services at less cost to taxpayers. "County government is the logical choice to spearhead regional cooperation. I know Essex County has already taken a leading role in some regionalized programs. I would like to expand the intergovernmental regional cooperative efforts in Essex County."

A Corporations / Foundations specialist for the Easter Seals Society of New Jersey, Palagano holds a degree in Public Administration from the New York University School of Public Administration. She has served as a grant's consultant and recycling coordinator for several municipalities in the state.

She is also a former securities broker and a former administrative aide to the vice president for Academic Affairs at Essex County College.

Essex County's Fifth Freeholder District is composed of Bloomfield, Cedar Grove, Essex Fells, Glen Ridge, Montclair, North Caldwell, Nutley and portions of Belleville.

I Can Make A Difference By Jennifer Price

I can make a change in this world today.
I know there is a brighter way.
Just give me the power, the strength to believe
That there are goals out there that I can achieve.

Ask me: for this world, is there hope?
How much longer can we cope?
I see an answer — I see a light.
What is needed to make things right?

Knowledge, trust and understanding
To create a love that is outstanding.
We must come together as a nation
And put an end to discrimination.

All this violence, all this hate —
Stop Before it is too late.
We're destroying our own home.
I want to help, but I'm alone.

Why can't everybody see?
How careless can the people be?
Our environment is slowly dying.
It's just me, but I'll keep trying.

All the people, all the children,
Help me fix this world we live in.
Everyone must realize
That we need to compromise.

I am weak, but we are strong.
Together we can write this song.
A song that we as family, sing,
So that our dreams may soon take wing.

I Can Make A Difference By Michelle Gangeruso

I can make a difference
By helping others to conceive
New ideas about the future
By saying what I believe.

What is right and what is wrong
About many different things.
Things as major as laws about abortion
And as minor as when the school bell rings.

Should we let gays in the military?
Must we fight wars overseas?
Can we put it up for adoption?
Is AIDS a social disease?

How about pollution?
Is the death penalty right or wrong?
Are family values taught at home?
Do today's heroes simply sing songs?

Can we fix the ozone?
Should women have equal rights?
Are people getting smarter?
Why the unnecessary fights?

Questions of the world are asked
So I have finally said,
I can make a difference
By using my own head.

I'll speak out for what I believe in,
Never let the others get me down,
Approaching every situation
With a smile rather than a frown.

I'll register as a voter,
March in Washington for what's right,
Be a leader in my community
And never let problems out of sight.

I can make a difference
And make a world of good
Just by sticking to my guns
Like everyone everywhere should

Governor calls for national welfare reform

Governor Jim Florio urged Washington and the nation's governors to look toward New Jersey as a model to replace the nation's failed welfare system, in an effort to encourage greater self sufficiency, break the cycle of poverty and strive to keep the family unit intact.

"Welfare as we know it is a failure and we have to change it. There's no support for the system as it exists today — not among taxpayers, not among elected officials and not among those who are on it," said Governor Florio, during a recent National Governors' Association welfare reform policy forum. "Across our nation, governors are experimenting with new approaches to replace a system that breeds dependency, with a program that helps people help themselves, and become productive members of our society."

"We built this state and nation with hard work, with individual responsibility and self-reliance. We harnessed that energy with a spirit of community and shared opportunity," the Governor said. "The foundation of our new law is mutual responsibility — the idea that both the welfare recipient and government share a responsibility to help people become self-sufficient."

N.J. Jersey's Family Development Act, signed by the Governor in January, 1992, strikes a balance between rights and responsibilities, Governor Florio said. The program rewards, instead of punishes, work and self-efficiency. It removes disincentives to marriage and it ends the practice of automatically providing extra money when a woman has more children.

"What New Jersey's law says to someone on public assistance is that we'll make a strong commitment to the education and job training you need to get off welfare and into the mainstream. But in exchange for that opportunity, you've got to take responsibility and if you fail to live up to your part of the bargain, there will be consequences," Governor Florio said.

At the same time, the Governor noted, the state is beefing up its efforts to collect delinquent child support. "By making deadbeat parents support their kids, we're doing more than enforcing the law. We're helping single mothers get off welfare and we're helping lift kids out of poverty," he said. "We simply can't afford to have anyone in our state or this nation fail to live up to their potential or meet their basic responsibilities. We're competing with the rest of the world in a new, tough, high-tech marketplace and we need everyone to be able to pull their own weight."

In recognition of his pioneering work on welfare reform, earlier this year Governor Florio was named to a national panel that will work with President Clinton to develop a national welfare reform strategy. During this year's winter meeting of the National Governors' Association, President Clinton cited New Jersey as one of a few states making strides to reform welfare.

Governor Florio made his remarks during the opening session of an NGA welfare reform policy forum held in Jersey City, which he led as chair of the NGA's Human Resources Task Force. Joining Governor Florio were Governors Arne Carlson of Minnesota, John Engler of Michigan and Pedro Rossell of Puerto Rico, all task force members. The day-long conference also featured Carol Rasco, Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy, and U.S. Rep. Harold Ford (D-Tennessee), Chair of the Subcommittee of Human Resources, House Committee on Ways and Means.

CABINET CONSULTATION

Heat and humidity are the enemies of most medications; however these are precisely the conditions that medications must endure if they are stored in bathroom medicine cabinets. Aspirin is particularly susceptible to deterioration when subjected to hot, moist conditions. A better place for medications may be the kitchen, which is an especially appropriate location for those pills and liquid medications that must be taken at mealtimes. While only such medications as liquid-formulated antibiotics and insulin actually require refrigeration, may find the refrigerator to be a good repository for medications. Regardless of where they are stored, all medications should be out of reach of children and stored in childproof containers.

Because medications lose their effectiveness it's a good idea to check the expiration dates on a regular basis. If you have any questions give us a call at 759-1688 or 759-1956. ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave. We have been serving this area for many years. Greeting cards, cosmetics, toiletries and baby needs are stocked. Hours: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sundays.

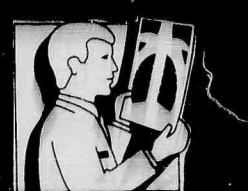

HINT: Rid medicine cabinets and other storage locations of medications that have outlasted their expiration dates.

Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery in North Arlington.

Governor calls for national welfare reform

Governor Jim Florio urged Washington and the nation's governors to look toward New Jersey as a model to replace the nation's failed welfare system, in an effort to encourage greater self-sufficiency, and into the mainstream. But in exchange for that opportunity, you've got to take responsibility and if you fail to live up to your part of the bargain, there will be consequences," Governor Florio said.

At the same time, the Governor noted, the state is beefing up its efforts to collect delinquent child support. "By making deadbeat parents support their kids, we're doing more than enforcing the law. We're helping single mothers get off welfare and we're helping lift kids out of poverty," he said. "We simply can't afford to have anyone in our state or this nation fail to live up to their potential or meet their basic responsibilities. We're competing with the rest of the world in a new, tough, hightech marketplace and we need everyone to be able to pull their own weight."

In recognition of his pioneering work on welfare reform, earlier this year Governor Florio was named to a national panel that will work with President Clinton to develop a national welfare reform strategy. During this year's winter meeting of the National Governors' Association, President Clinton cited New Jersey as one of a few states making strides to reform welfare.

Governor Florio made his remarks during the opening session of an NGA welfare reform policy forum held in Jersey City, which he led as chair of the NGA's Human Resources Task Force. Joining Governor Florio were Governors Arne Carlson of Minnesota, John Engler of Michigan and Pedro Rossell of Puerto Rico, all task force members. The day-long conference also featured Carol Rasco, Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy, and U.S. Rep. Harold Ford (D-Tennessee), Chair of the Subcommittee on Human Resources, House Committee on Ways and Means.

are precisely the conditions that medications must endure if they are stored in bathroom medicine cabinets. Aspirin is particularly susceptible to deterioration when subjected to hot, moist conditions. A better place for medications may be the kitchen, which is an especially appropriate location for those pills and liquid medications that must be taken at mealtimes. While only such medications as liquid-formulated antibiotics and insulin actually require refrigeration, may find the refrigerator to be a good repository for medications. Regardless of where they are stored, all medications should be out of reach of children and stored in childproof containers.

Because medications lose their effectiveness it's a good idea to check the expiration dates on a regular basis. If you have any questions give us a call at 759-1968 or 759-1956. ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Ave. We have been serving this area for many years. Greeting cards, cosmetics, toiletries and baby needs are stocked. Hours: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sundays.

HINT: Rid medicine cabinets and other storage locations of medications that have outlasted their expiration dates.

Sr. Legion team home this weekend

By Mike Lambert

The Belleville senior legion baseball team has started the summer by playing .500 baseball for coach Jim Landon.

The Bucs will be home this weekend, taking on Cedar Grove on Saturday and playing Millburn on Sunday. Both games start at 11 a.m. Next Monday, it's off to Livingston and next Wednesday, the Bucs host Caldwell. Those two games commence at 5:45 p.m.

Landon, who has returned to the helm after a four year hiatus, is being assisted this summer by the incomparable Chuck Martin. Martin has been the JV baseball coach at Belleville High the past five years.

Landon is pleased with the performance of his players thus far. Many of the players are familiar names to Belleville High School baseball fans. They competed on the varsity, JV or freshman squads this past spring.

"We're playing 19 games, plus a few pick up games," Landon said. "It will give the kids plenty of opportunity to play. We're trying to play as many as possible in each game."

The catching position will be manned by Jim Landon (Jr.) or Joe Alfiero.

Dan Brunello will be in the pitching rotation and look for Anthony Caruso in his now familiar position in centerfield.

Joe Cotugno should be the third baseman and Ken Davis is doing a tremendous job on the pitchers mound thus far, having compiled a 2-0 mark in the early going.

Anthony DiMeo will be the shortstop and Matt McGough will either pitch or play the outfield.

Sam Marino will be in the outfield and also could see time at first base. Ivan Martin, a very talented player, is slated for the outfield.

Jerry Turi, who saw varsity action in the second half of the '93 season, will be the starting second baseman. Mike Mundy will lead the pitching staff, and when he's not on the hill, look for Mundy to play third base.

Jim Napolitano, the veteran of the team, will play shortstop. Jimmy Nap was the second baseman for the Bucs the past two years and Landon will look to him to provide infield stability.

Anthony Pace could be used at first base or on the mound. Carl Piscatowski, who just completed his freshman year of baseball, will get time at shortstop.

Chris Rickey rounds out the roster. Rickey, who played for a very talented Queen of Peace team this past spring, will be the designated hitter and will also see action in the outfield.

"This team has the ability to be solid all around," Landon said. "They play good defense, run the bases well and I like the potential of our pitching staff."

The staff should feature Mundy, Davis, McGough and Pace.

"We're playing all the kids," Landon said. "I'm still getting to know the JV players, but with coach Martin here, he can help with the younger guys because he coached them this past season."

Belleville was 3-4-1 entering this weeks action. The Bucs have posted victories over Essex Catholic (twice) and Montclair while losing to Montclair, Nutley and Bloomfield twice.

"Three of our losses have been by two runs or less," Landon said. "We're hanging in there and we'll only get better as the season goes on."

Jerry Turi slides back into first base ahead of throw during fourth inning of game last week. Turi executed perfect squeeze bunt which led to Belleville run.

Meet Your Mayor

News, talk and information is what OBC-TV is all about; and we are hot, hot, hot! If you are interested in what's going on around you; if you want to know what the issues are, and have a lot of questions; watch Meet Your Mayor with Lee Spinelli. OBC-TV is Channel 20; TCI of North Jersey and Channel 36 Suburban Cable.

Meet Your Mayor is going live for the first time. Mayor Carmen Orechio of Nutley, Mayor Paul Calocino of Wood-Ridge, and Mayor Richard Mola of Elmwood

Park will participate in this live episode. In addition to being live, this will also be a call-in show. If you are a resident of Nutley, Wood-Ridge or Elmwood Park, please call 201-661-0055 during the show; and ask any of the Mayors questions about the issues and the problems.

To participate, tune in to Meet Your Mayor with Lee Spinelli on OBC-TV, Channel 36, Suburban Cable and Channel 20, TCI of North Jersey on: June 24 at 7 p.m.; June 27 at noon.

What's Cool ?

More and more Americans are dining at home these days; and more and more they are cooking with recipes from their favorite restaurants. Lee Spinelli joins Chef Larry Esposito, owner of Formia Restaurant in Bloomfield, who teaches how to make delicious pastas and sauces.

More specifically, Chef Larry prepares fettucini with a fresh tomato sauce, cannatella with a porcini mushroom cream sauce, and ravioli with a brown butter sage sauce. This half hour program is fast paced and lively, however the recipes are simple enough for any viewer to follow.

Tune in to OBC-TV, Channel 36, Suburban Cable and Channel 20, TCI of North Jersey on: June 25 at 8 p.m.; June 26 at 10:30 a.m.; June 28 at 8 p.m.

Joe Cotugno should be the third baseman and Ken Davis is doing a tremendous job on the pitchers mound thus far, having compiled a 2-0 mark in the early going.

Anthony DiMeo will be the shortstop and Matt McGough will either pitch or play the outfield.

Sam Marino will be in the outfield and also could see time at first base. Ivan Martin, a very talented player, is slated for the outfield.

Jerry Turi, who saw varsity action in the second half of the '93 season, will be the starting second baseman. Mike Mundy will lead the pitching staff, and when he's not on the hill, look for Mundy to play third base.

Jim Napolitano, the veteran of the team, will play shortstop. Jimmy Nap was the second baseman for the Bucs the past two years and Landon will look to him to provide infield stability.

Anthony Pace could be used at first base or on the mound. Carl Piscatowski, who just completed his freshman year of baseball, will get time at shortstop.

Chris Rickey rounds out the roster. Rickey, who played for a very talented Queen of Peace team this past spring, will be the designated hitter and will also see action in the outfield.

"This team has the ability to be solid all around," Landon said. "They play good defense, run the bases well and I like the potential of our pitching staff."

The staff should feature Mundy, Davis, McGough and Pace.

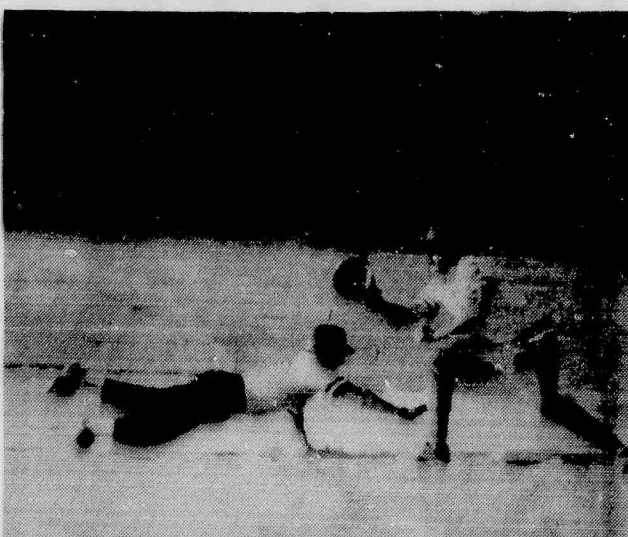

"We're playing all the kids," Landon said. "I'm still getting to know the JV players, but with coach Martin here, he can help with the younger guys because he coached them this past season."

Belleville was 3-4-1 entering this weeks action. The Bucs have posted victories over Essex Catholic (twice) and Montclair while losing to Montclair, Nutley and Bloomfield twice.

"Three of our losses have been by two runs or less," Landon said. "We're hanging in there and we'll only get better as the season goes on."

Jerry Turi slides back into first base ahead of throw during fourth inning of game last week. Turi executed perfect squeeze bunt which led to Belleville run.

Meet Your Mayor

News, talk and information is what OBC-TV is all about; and we are hot, hot, hot! If you are interested in what's going on around you; if you want to know what the issues are, and have a lot of questions; watch Meet Your Mayor with Lee Spinelli. OBC-TV is Channel 20; TCI of North Jersey and Channel 36 Suburban Cable.

Meet Your Mayor is going live for the first time. Mayor Carmen Orechio of Nutley, Mayor Paul Calocino of Wood-Ridge, and Mayor Richard Mola of Elmwood

Park will participate in this live episode. In addition to being live, this will also be a call-in show. If you are a resident of Nutley, Wood-Ridge or Elmwood Park, please call 201-661-0055 during the show; and ask any of the Mayors questions about the issues and the problems.

To participate, tune in to Meet Your Mayor with Lee Spinelli on OBC-TV, Channel 36, Suburban Cable and Channel 20, TCI of North Jersey on: June 24 at 7 p.m.; June 27 at noon.

What's Cool?

More and more Americans are dining at home these days; and more and more they are cooking with recipes from their favorite restaurants. Lee Spinelli joins Chef Larry Esposito, owner of Formia Restaurant in Bloomfield, who teaches how to make delicious pastas and sauces.

More specifically, Chef Larry prepares fettuccini with a fresh tomato sauce, carpaccio with a porcini mushroom cream sauce, and ravioli with a brown butter sage sauce. This half hour program is fast paced and lively, however the recipes are simple enough for any viewer to follow.

Tune in to OBC-TV, Channel 36, Suburban Cable and Channel 20, TCI of North Jersey on: June 25 at 6 p.m.; June 26 at 10:30 a.m.; June 28 at 8 p.m.
