'Save Our Library' banner removed

Librarian asks Council to restore funds; Mayor puts chill on campaign against cut

By Howard Klausner

Acting Library Director Adrea G. Cohen presented the argument for restoration of more than $61,000 in library funding to the Township Council on Tuesday.

"I really think we can work together on this," Mrs. Cohen stated. "We have always found the Township Council to be very cooperative."

If the cuts are not restored, she said, a reduction in staff will reduce services to the point that the Belleville Public Library will not perform the service to the community that it has in the past.

The conciliatory effort by the Librarian followed a week of action initiated by Library Board President James Cozzarelli Jr. to arouse public support for the institution.

A "Save Our Library" banner was placed at the front entrance of the Library on Washington Avenue. Petitions were provided at the Library desk, and more than 800 signatures were realized.

On Monday, Mayor Marina Perna telephoned Mrs. Cohen and asked for a halt to the campaign.

Mrs. Cohen characterized the Mayor's call as "cordial" and that the Mayor was calling in her role as member of the Library Board.

According to Mrs. Cohen, Mayor Perna said the Library Board had not been consulted on the decision to have a campaign launched against the budget cut.

Other sources said the Mayor had announced she would have Township Manager Stephen Cuccio remove the banner if the Library did not accede to her request.

Mrs. Cohen said no threats were made to her by the Mayor.

She said the banner was removed and the petitions stopped because she felt their purpose had been served.

The original salary request presented by the Library Board included $429,580 for salaries and $169,714 for operations.

On Feb. 27, the Library reduced the requested salary budget to $397,629. The Township Council issued its budget, which reduced the salary outlay to $368,380.

Cozzarelli said the library could not sustain this additional cut.

Mrs. Cohen stated to the Township Council:

"We are now 19th in funding in Essex County Libraries and if this cut goes through, will be ranked the lowest, requesting in 1993 $17.96 per capita, as compared to the Essex County average that should be approximately $36. The state average is $26."

Mrs. Cohen noted that in 1988, the Library employed six full-time professional librarians. "In 1993, we lost out Director (David Bryant) and now have only three full time professionals and two part-time professionals, with a Masters in Library Science degree."

"Many libraries maintain two professionals full-time at the Information Desk. We generally have only one professional at the desk in the days, evenings and on Saturdays to cover large areas of the Library.

"In the Children's Room, we have one full-time professional and two assistant librarians. We now have only one assistant, one part-time assistant and a professional librarian who supervises the Children's Room and the Shafter Branch."

"These cuts will affect the Library's ability to provide effective management, informational services, grantsmanship, fund raising and programs to provide adequate coverage."

'We are heading in the wrong way'

Board reports impact of budget cut on class sizes, after-school activities

By Lizbeth Scordo

The 1993-1994 school budget was cut by $865,000 at the Belleville Board of Education private executive session on July 13.

The Board reduced the budget to conform with the action taken by the Township Council.

Protesting the cuts, which he called damaging to the educational process, Superintendent of Schools Michael Nardiello stated:

"Out of fiscal necessity the Belleville Board of Education has appealed the cuts to the Commissioner of Education. In the interim, the cuts must be made."

Nardiello added:

"Personnel and program cuts have been proposed. Academic programs may be cut and the present teachers in those programs may be assigned to other schools to lower high enrollments."

"The sports program will be curtailed and if certain coaching positions are abolished, some sports programs will be cancelled.

"There may also be cuts in Child Study Team personnel as well as club advisor positions which would abolish some clubs."

"In the elementary schools, 21 classes have over 25 students in them, 14 classes have over 27 students, and two classes have over 31 students."

"We are heading in the wrong way. Elementary class sizes must be reasonable to accommodate individual student needs. If I were to use 25 as a maximum enrollment for Grades One, Two and Three, I would need six teachers for September 1993."

In addition, Nardiello said, field trips and bus rides may have to be cut. Vacant secretarial positions may not be filled.

"Our ultimate goal is to provide a thorough and efficient education for our students," Nardiello said. "We honestly don't know if we will be able to meet this obligation during the 1993-1994 school year."

Hillside Park: where the trolleys brought crowds to see the balloons

By Lizbeth Scordo

It started at the turn of the century, and by the end of its 20 years of prosperity, Hillside Park had turned into a true amusement park.

The north end of Belleville was home to Hillside Park 90 years ago. The attraction could draw as many as 10,000 visitors on one clear Sunday. Most visitors were from Newark and arrived by way of the Paterson trolley which ran along a dirt road that is Washington Avenue today.

Hillside Park began as a simple picnic grove adjacent to the Thaller and Crowley saloon. Soon, a few swings and a dance and picnic pavillion were added, followed by a variety of amusements including a merry-go-round and roller coaster. Caged wild animal lined what are now Ploy and Beach Streets.

Perhaps the most popular attraction at the park was the lake, which was man-made but spring-fed. A rowboat rented by the hour was said to be the vehicle of choice for the young man about to propose marriage to the lady he took to the park that day.

Weekly balloon ascensions from Hillside Park were yet another attraction that drew in the crowds. The balloons were filled with hot air and a considerable amount of smoke after being placed over a pit in which a fire had been started.

Some balloons carried baskets, but all came equipped with parachute releasing devices.

A balloonist had to rely a lot more on the luck he had with the wind that day than any skill he had. A horse and carriage had to be sent in whatever direction the balloon was blown in order to fetch back the balloonist. Once, however, a one-armed balloonist "flew off" with one of the park's balloons, only to turn up in a side-show in Delaware later on.

The big annual event of Hillside Park was the Belleville Volunteer Fire Department's Annual Outing. Riley's Band was hired to play at the dance hall each year. Professor Riley worked for the Heller Brothers File Works along with most of the other musicians who all practiced together in a loft of the factory at which they were employed.

When the park first opened, there were no other exciting diversions to take away from the park's popularity. However, as the years went on, movie theaters came into town along with other more modern entertainment to amuse the local residents.

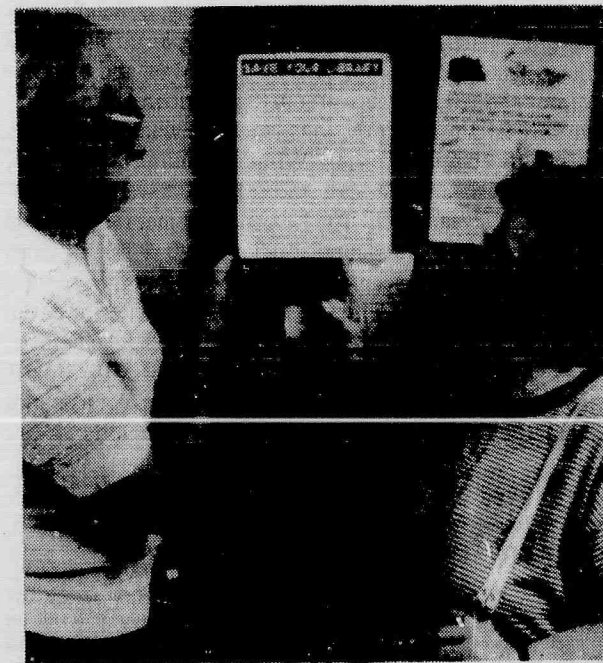

By 1919, Prohibition was in force, and the saloon was closed.

Land was growing more valuable for building purposes, as well.

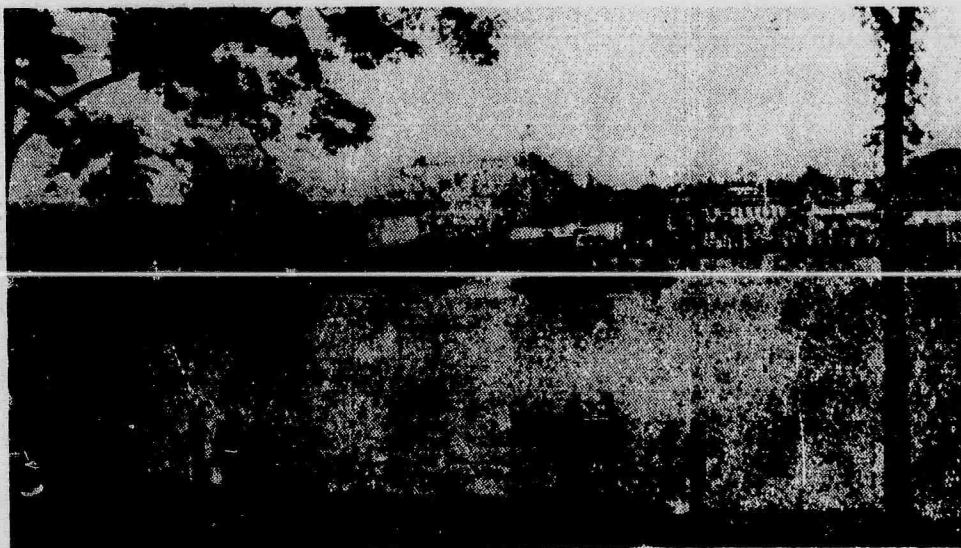

Whatever the factors, Hillside Park closed forever around 1920, leaving behind a lot of memories for those who had enjoyed it.

REMEMBRANCE FLAG - Gertrude Trimarco, right, dedicated the new Flag of the Senior Citizens Club in memory of her son, Joel, a veteran of Vietnam War who died two years ago.

RALLYING FOR LIBRARY - Members of the Belleville Senior Citizens led the way in signing petitions to restore cuts in the funding for the Belleville Public Library. Fred Riccio and Gertrude Trimarco point to poster message 'Save Your Library'.

POST CARD VIEW - This photo of the lake at Hillside Park was made by Thomas H. Ward, meter reader in the Belleville Water Department, naturally, and was printed on a 1903 Post Card.

Aside From That

By: Howard Klausner

As is well known, all Australians are named Greg. We have Greg Norman, the Great White Shark of the golf links, and we have Greg Bury, (pronounced Boo-ry) who holds forth as Sales Manager of Bigelow Motors on Washington Avenue. Mr. Bury is the first Antipodean native we have encountered in Belleville, and he is engaged in the very American pursuit of selling cars, which is what he was doing in Sydney, New South Wales when he met Mark Pfeffer eight years ago. Mark, whose family has owned the Chrysler-Plymouth franchise since the Harding Administration, if not before, found a kindred spirit in Bury. ●●●●● Young Pfeffer was on some sort of work and pleasure trip in Australia at the time, and both were working for a BMW dealer. Pfeffer invited Bury to Belleville and since all Australians have a taste for wanderlust, Greg Bury was here quicker than you can say Paul Hogan. His wife and children gave it a go for a while, and then returned to Australia, while he decided to stay. ●●●●● Australians can live practically anywhere, provided there is a supply of beer somewhere in the neighborhood. Greg reports that there are enough Australians in North Jersey to support two taverns in Hoboken, the Down Under and the Koolbah. They need their own taverns, or pubs, because they take their drinking seriously, and like to couple that recreation with a few games of chance whose rules are only known to the Australians. The market for American cars over the past eight years has been something that only an Australian might tackle. But Greg sees improvement in the situation, due to the ever improving quality of American cars in general, and Chrysler cars in particular.

Joe Hatch, the direct descendant of Patriot-Engineer Josiah Hornblower, was off celebrating another ancestor over the week-end. The event was Botsford Day, celebrating one of the founding settlers of Milford, Connecticut. Joe's grandmother was a Botsford. The New England town was settled in 1639, which is about the same time that Dutch settlers were entering the Passaic River Valley and building homes in what is now Belleville. ●●●●● Hatch was accompanied by Bob MacFadyen, Belleville's official Historian, who always enjoys an opportunity to delve up some more American history. Some 100 descendants of the Botsfords were expected at the event. Joe and Bob planned to make their headquarters in the Hatch Family summer home on Long Island Sound where Joe's son, David is now in residence. The Hatch winter home is itself on historic territory. It is on land that once was owned by Joe's ancestor, Josiah Hornblower. ●●●●● Joe didn't plan it that way. He was happily located for many years in a house at Washington Avenue and Joralemon Avenue. Then he was offered four times its market value for the house, and he accepted. It seems that the nearby motel wanted to expand, and was willing to pay the price to acquire and then demolish Joe's old house. He promptly found the fine brick house which he calls "the best house in Belleville", in a beautiful tract of water front property on the Third River. Once the site of Camp Carragher, it has been left peacefully vacant since the closing of the recreation center many years ago, reportedly after a tragedy in which a young camper lost her life in the camp swimming pool.

It was only after Hatch bought the house that he learned of its connection with his ancestor, the man who brought the Steam Engine to the New World. Another point of interest is that almost the entire land border of the park is protected by a wall of native granite, a wall that is at some points more than seven feet high. It was built in 1936 by the old Works Progress Administration and its cost to Belleville, Hatch was told, was less than $800. The wall creates an enclosure in which some of the tallest trees in Belleville give their shade to grass-covered slopes that touch the river. The Hatch family has been mowing the grass, although, technically, it is not private property. It was purchased in 1981 by the State of New Jersey under the Green Acres Preservation program. As a result, Belleville has a beautiful park of which the public is almost completely unaware. It would be a great place for picnics and public celebrations, or a summer camp program - an inheritance from Belleville's Colonial beginnings.

Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch reports that his organization, the Kool Kukumber Boys, is pushing for recognition of one official language, namely, Official Joisey. "There are parts of the State where people do not speak Official Joisey," Zilch said, "like in Cape May, and the Boys are upset about it. They are preparing a lexicon of commonly used Official Joisey expressions, such as, when asked by a Traffic Officer for a license - 'Whaddayanuts?' followed by 'Butlminnarush' which can then be followed by 'But-Icantmakethatkindabail!' The Lexicon will meet a real need and won't sell fermoranacupplabucks." ●●●●● Our Copy Cat, Baldassaro DiVincenzo Mitten reports that the member of the Planning Board who was Mario's appointee and who had the nerve to write a letter urging that Bob Ringelheim be kept as full-time Assessor is now an ex-member of the Board. "Mario said he thought he would give someone else a chance to be on the Board, someone who doesn't write letters."

New York and New Jersey bar examinations in July and will be associated with the Roseland based law firm of Ravin, Sarasohn, Cook, Baumgarten, Fisch & Raime. D'Agostino is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Anthony C. D'Agostino of Belleville.

FORGOTTEN PARK - Joseph Hatch has his home abutting this park of several acres which was the former Belleville Recreation Camp on the Third River. It was almost completely walled in under a Works Progress Administration project back in 1938.

FORGOTTEN WALL - Built in 1938 by the Works Progress Administration at a cost to Belleville of $875, this wall of native granite runs hundreds of yards around the old Belleville Recreation Camp, now a little used park by the Third River. The actual cost was $7,741, according to documents provided by historian and neighbor Joseph Hatch. (Photo by Howard Klausner)

Parked car burns with ignition off

The ignition was off, but a parked car burst into flames, in an unusual case of car combustion, last week.

Fire officials said the vehicle, a 1979 Cadillac, was in the Belleville Kar-Kare Auto Service at 73 Washington Ave., where it was to be serviced for a broken water pump.

About 7:15 p.m., Tuesday of last week, a fire broke out in the car. The fire set off an overhead sprinkler in the garage, dousing the car and keeping the flames in check. and employees pushed it out into the street.

Deputy Chief Robert Caruso

directed 10 firefighters in putting out the blaze before it spread.

Fire Captain Carmen Vicari said that the presence of the sprinkler and the quick arrival of the firefighters prevented a far worse fire.

The cause of the fire, Vicari said, was the "hot" wire connecting the positive diode of the battery to the alternator. Electric current is always present in the wire, even if the ignition is off.

The wire's insulation was apparently worn, leaving the wire in contact with grease and oil that covered the old engine, and this resulted in the fire, Vicari said.

David DeNotaris, blind by definition only

David DeNotaris, of Belleville, was like any other college graduate, searching for a job, sending out resumes, and interested in making a difference. However, blind since birth, Dave felt he had a larger hurdle to cross. But, after searching his unique field, he found what he describes as the perfect job. "For the first time in my life I feel that being blind is a true advantage," says Dave referring to his new position as Technical Assistance with Project Horizons.

The First Occupational Center of New Jersey recently established a separate division, Project Horizons, representing the Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired. Project Horizons will provide technical assistance for the blind and visually impaired seeking or participating in Adult Education programs throughout New Jersey. The Center's newest program is designed to improve the communication between the New Jersey Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired and the Adult Education Community.

This new technical Assistance Division will be providing technical assistance to adult education programs throughout Essex, Passaic, Hudson and Union counties and will increase the knowledge of adult education programs regarding the latest techniques and materials that are available in teaching visually impaired students.

"Project Horizons is working to increase the number of persons who are blind or visually impaired in competitive employment by multiplying the education and literacy opportunities available to them through the local adult educational programs," stated Mark Stevenson, Vice President of Program Services, "we will serve as a liaison between the Commission for the Blind and the Adult Education Community, providing a support system for the Commission's vocational rehabilitation staff and its clients."

Project Horizons offers all literature in Braille. Please call and request copies on the toll free phone at 800-894-6232.

OUR OPINION

Ignoring Faulkner, again

The interest of Mayor Perna in the Belleville Public Library and Information Center is two-fold.

As Mayor, she is a permanent member of the Library Board.

As a member of the Township Council, she votes on appropriations for the Library.

She is also bound by the Faulkner Act not to interfere with the day-to-day activities of the Township Manager, except with the express consent of the Township Council.

The allegation by a pretty responsible source that Mayor Perna warned that she would have Township Manager Stephen Cuccio remove a banner from the Library which urged opposition to an announced crippling budget cut is pretty much in line with the Mayor's casual attitude toward the Faulkner Act.

While Acting Library Director Adrea Cohen says it was her own idea to remove the banner, and stop distributing petitions, her decision came minutes after Mayor Perna's telephone call.

Now, the Mayor may claim she was acting as a member of the Library Board, but in fact she obviously was using the weight of her position on the Council to stifle an example of free expression.

When you wonder why it is so important to have a Constitution and rule of law, you have only to observe the actions of petty officials to see how quickly our freedoms would be eliminated without those guarantees.

Shut up, Ralph!

The stalwarts who are always on hand to attack the school system at public sessions of the Board of Education usually couple their appearances with violations of decorum, as a badge of honor.

The rules seem to be:

Never give up the microphone without a good show of vituperation.

Never behave courteously to a Board Trustee or anybody else.

And always shout your indignation, regardless of the facts.

But a new dimension to this outrageous public behavior was provided by the lady who told Vice President Ralph Mazucca to "Shut up!" as he tried to reason with her.

Furious at being held to a time limit of eight minutes, the lady screamed that she had more questions.

Then she gave her exhibition of the real contempt she feels for the Board of Education, the schools, the teachers and the students.

Those who exhibit the kind of breeding that allows them to tell an elected public official to shut up also tell us the amount of credit we should give their opinions. The sum of both is zero.

Surviving the weather

The heat spell we experienced last week, with five days in which the thermometer readings hit 100 degrees and more, was one of the worst in memory.

But by comparison with what is going on in the rest of the country - from searing drought in the Southeast to incredible - almost Biblical - rainstorms and floods in the Midwest - all we received from Mother Nature was a tap on the wrist.

We do not know, of course, if these erratic climatic conditions portend something worse than the normal shifts of temperature and rainfall.

We know that the Weather Bureau earlier this year warned that hurricanes would be felt earlier than ever in this country, and there was some hint of extreme weather conditions being expected.

But the rainfall in the Midwest is unprecedented.

It is also a mark of our common bond that people here have been raising money for the Red Cross to meet those disaster conditions.

If we cannot stand side by side with our fellow Americans on the levees, we can at least give them our financial support.

And in view of the immensity of this catastrophe, we are certainly going to meet increased taxes to ameliorate the disaster.

YOUR OPINION

A call to save the library

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to urge your support in either writing or speaking with Belleville's Township Manager, Mayor and members of the Town Council to urge their restoration of approximately $61,200.00 that has been cut from the library's 1993 budget. Our original salary request had been $429,580.00 for 1993, which the Town Council asked us to cut. The Library Board of Trustees acted in good faith with a revision of $397,627.00, which at the time was still very injurious to the proper functioning of the library.

The Library Board of Trustees assumed that the revision had been accepted and were never contacted for further negotiations only to hear in the first reading of the budget that there had been an approximate 14% cut in the salary budget.

These cuts will affect the library's ability to:

1. Provide effective library management of informational services, grantsmanship, fund-raising and programs;
2. Provide adequate coverage by the library pages and professional staff on three nights a week and all day Saturday that the library is open.

Not selected

To the editor:

This letter is in response to the Board of Education meeting that I just attended at the Board offices on Cortlandt Street in Belleville. The reason that I attended the meeting was in hopes that my daughter Christina would be one of the "lucky" children to be able to be a student in the all day kindergarten program being conducted at School 3.

Unfortunately, she was not picked. In fact, no child from School 7 was picked. Nor were there children picked from several other schools. The majority of the children picked were from, you guessed it, School 3!

Now, let us analyze this. I'll bet that every child's name that was registered at School 3 for regular kindergarten was in that Bingo roller. Not because they were qualified for the program but hey, why not? You live right there. Why let them go for a half of a day, when they can go for a full day?

I'm not saying that the drawing was unfair per se, it just wasn't done very fairly. What makes those children more qualified just because they live near there? Have they had three years of all day Nursery School? (My daughter has). Did they miss out on kindergarten last year by 30 days? (My daughter did). Are they being raised by one low income struggling parent? Now, that is the MAJOR issue here. How many of those children are financially in need of this type of assistance? What if the location of the all day kindergarten were not disclosed prior to the drawing? How many of those children from School 3 would have been in that lottery bin?!

You might say now that I'm a poor loser, and you're probably right, but just when I thought things would get a little better, they just got worse. Thank you for letting me get this off my chest.

Ellen F. Sammarco

At the present time the library is functioning with three full-time professional and two part-time professional librarians, a cut from the 1988 level, when the library employed six full-time professional librarians. The present budget would further reduce the professional staff, one of the finest in the state, exceeding every standard for service established by the state, considering we are 19th out of 20 Essex County libraries in funding, requesting in 1993 $17.96 per capita, as compared to the Essex County average which is approximately $36.00; the state average is $26.00.

We are currently open 2800 hours annually, servicing every Belleville resident and CECLS member (County of Essex Cooperating Library System). If the proposed budget is passed as is, the library may have to close certain days during the week along with closing the Shafter Branch Library.

The library is everyone's university. Please, help us insure the future of this historic Carnegie Library that has received commendations from Governor Florio, The New Jersey State Assembly, The New Jersey State Senate, three successive Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders, The State Librarian, Louise Minervino, President Reagan, and three successive Township of Belleville Administrations giving proclamations and awards as well as recognition from Prince Charles of Great Britain.

Please write to insure restoration of the $61,200.00 in funding for the Belleville Public Library and Information Center.

James J. Cozzarelli Jr.

Board of Trustees

Mrs. Sczyrek sends thanks

To the editor:

Dear residents:

On behalf of the entire Sczyrek Family I would like to take this opportunity to apologize for any inconvenience that my husband's funeral procession may have caused. I wish to publicly thank all of you and especially the members of the Nutley and Belleville Police Departments who coordinated my husband's wake and funeral in conjunction with Newark Police Director William Celesten.

I firmly believe my husband did not die in vain. He would want me to remind all of the citizens to be aware of the dangers that face all police officers and to be thankful for the fine job that they do everyday.

Again, I wish to thank all of you for being understanding and express thanks to the outpour of sympathy and support from the residents of Belleville and Nutley.

Mrs. John Sczyrek, Jr.

• I AM sad to note that Governor Florio's Chief Counsel, Bob DeCotiis, resigned the office due to failing health. Ever since former State Senator Al Driscoll was Governor of New Jersey in 1946, I have had some passing relationships with succeeding governors' Chief Counsels and Chiefs of Staff. Bob DeCotiis had the personal qualities to build an effective bridge between the Governor's Office and a Legislature of the opposite party. Much was accomplished legislatively because of Bob DeCotiis' abilities. I pray that his recovery will not be a long one. Bob DeCotiis was among the best.

• NORTH JERSEY DISTRICT WATER SUPPLY COMMISSIONER, Henry Martinez, who also doubles as Newark City Councilman, has a photograph with President Clinton seven years before Clinton took over the White House.

Together with fellow Newark Councilman Anthony Carrino, Martinez was asked by fellow Hispanic San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros to take a picture with the then Arkansas governor. Little did Martinez think he'd be in a picture with a future American president.

• ESSEX /County Executive Tom D'Alessio has revamped the transportation system serving thousands of elderly and disabled residents in Essex County. Examining one of the wheelchair-lift vans that will be used to transport elderly and disabled residents in Essex County are, from left, Michael Vieira, program development specialist for the county's Division on Aging; County Executive Thomas D'Alessio, and Hal Katz, president of Van Go Inc., which will operate the vehicles.

• SEVERAL years ago, I suggested that Bloomfield, Nutley and Belleville residents were lucky to have in walking distance Bloomfield College, a higher education institution making available to all residents the opportunity to attend college within the shadow of their homes. I still feel the same. It had its beginnings as a religious educational institution — and over time, it evolved into a secular college. It is also offering adults the opportunity for weekend attendance — and beyond that — it's offering Continuing Education for adults who need a few more credits to earn a college degree. The college administration leaders ought to be congratulated for putting an educational package together that well serves every citizen with the ambition to further his or her education.

SUNSCREENS, FROM A TO B

With summer here, outdoor enthusiasts begin to pay particular attention to application of sunscreens to protect their skin. The better formulations protect against both UVA and UVB, the two forms of ultraviolet light. Some sunscreens protect the skin only from the well-known UVB rays, which are at their strongest between 10AM and 3PM. The lesser-known UVA rays also pose a significant risk. These longest of ultraviolet rays are at full strength all day long, and prolonged and repeated exposure can lead to photoaging and even skin cancer. Sunscreen ingredients that provide UVA protection include: Oxybenzone, Dioxbenzone, Bisoxlex 6300, Bisolex 8020, Parsol 1789, 2-Ethylhexyl, 2-Cyano-3, 3-Diphenylacrylate, Sulisobenzene, Red Petrolatum, and Titanium Dioxide.

Fruits and vegetables can lower cancer risk

If we eat nutritiously, we can lower our cancer risk. That's what scientists are finding out as they study the link between diet, nutrition and cancer. As more evidence of the cancer-fighting properties in fruits and vegetables is found, the more hope we have for fighting America's second deadliest disease. In the 1980s, fiber made news when researchers discovered it could help protect us from cancer by reducing our exposure to carcinogens in the digestive system. Now, along with the fiber in whole grains, fruits and vegetables, scientists are finding that vitamins, minerals and other elements in plant-based foods also have cancer-fighting abilities.

You may have heard of enzymes in high school biology class. They are among the food elements that scientists are discovering may protect us against cancer. Other examples include sulforaphane, found in broccoli, cabbage and other vegetables, that helps generate enzymes that protect against carcinogens. Antioxidants, especially in yellow and green vegetables, work to clean up potential cancer-causing molecules. And genistein, in soy foods and cruciferous vegetables, has discouraged tumor growth in experiments. More familiar nutrients, like vitamin C and beta-carotene, also show cancer-fighting potential.

Put together, nutrient studies like these, many founded by the American Institute for Cancer Research, are indicating that the healthiest diet we can eat is rich in fruits and vegetables. But does five servings a day sound like too much? It isn't really.

One serving equals only about half a cup of most vegetables (for leafy greens, one cup) or one whole medium-sized fruit or half a cup of small fruits like berries. Even a 3/4 cup of juice counts (although it lacks the fiber of whole produce). The recommended balance is three servings of vegetables and two servings of fruit each day.

So five a day really isn't that much. But if you're still worried about how to fit fruit and veggies into your daily schedule, here are some helpful tips. Keep fruit on hand at home and work for snacks or, when you're headed out the door, take a piece of fruit to eat on the way. Thicken sauces by adding pureed vegetables and jazz up soups with raw, frozen or pureed vegetables. Add raw, grated carrot or apple to ground meat dishes, or mix chopped vegetables with pasta or rice during the last few minutes of cooking. Keep bags of frozen, chopped vegetables and fruits on hand so you can use as much as you want per meal and not worry about spoilage. And take advantage of supermarket salad bars, which stock ready-to-eat vegetables and fruit salads of all kinds.

To order a free brochure with more than a dozen tasty fruit and vegetable recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents postage) envelope to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. FV, Washington, DC 20069.

Stop West Orange, Grady clouts grand slam

Bruins win on 21 hit attack

By Mike Lamberti

They're on such a roll these days that a loss can even be overturned.

Such is the case for the Belleville Bruins of the Essex County Baseball League, who won two more games last week and had a loss from the previous week reversed on a protest.

Bill Ingraham's team was 19-12 entering this week's action. Belleville battled top ranked Verona yesterday and will be host to Millburn this evening at 5:45 p.m. Tomorrow evening, second place South Orange comes to town for a 5:45 p.m. contest. On Saturday, the fifth annual All Star game between the Met League All Stars and the ECBL stars will be contested at Breslin Stadium in Lyndhurst, starting at 3 p.m.

On Sunday, the Bruins play a key double header at the Crescent Eagles, beginning at 2 p.m. Next Monday, the team plays Hillside at Kean College and next Tuesday, the team hosts Millburn at 5:45 p.m.

First, news regarding the second game of the July 11 doubleheader against the Nugent Black Sox. To recap, Belleville had taken a 7-0 lead in the third inning and were threatening for more. A wild Nugents throw ended up in what the home plate umpire ruled dead ball territory, even though the territory in question had been ruled live during the pre game ground rules.

Because the ball was ruled dead, a Bruins runner who had scored on the throw was sent back to third and consequently, did not score what would have been the eighth Belleville run.

Nugents rallied for eight runs in their half of the third inning and took an 8-7 lead which they held for the rest of the game.

After reviewing the protest, the powers-to-be in the ECBL ruled in Belleville's favor, and the game will continue with the Bruins ahead 7-0 in the third inning at a later date. Originally, the 8-7 setback was Belleville's 13th loss of the year, but now that defeat has been lifted, albeit on a temporary basis. As far as the record is concerned, the game is not completed.

Last week, Belleville continued playing outstanding baseball, defeating Hillside on another pitching gem by Fran Gallagher, 7-0 and downing West Orange 20-6 in a 21 hit barrage.

Against Hillside, Gallagher was once again phenomenal. Two weeks ago, he had one hit powerful South Orange. This time, Hillside did manage four hits, but runs were not in the formula for the Union County team.

Belleville scored once in the second when Mike King hit a sacrifice fly that drove home Mike Salvanto.

In the third, the Bruins added two more runs. Jason Nardachone singled and was sacrificed to second by Sal Tremel. Mike DeBlase, who was named to the ECBL All Star team, walked and Pat Grady lined a double to score both base runners.

In the fourth, Salvanto walked and Anthony Mielnicki singled. King singled to score Salvanto and Nardachone sacrificed Mielnicki to third and King to second. Tremel then hit a sac fly to score Mielnicki with the fifth Belleville run.

The Bruins closed out the scoring when Jim LaRose belted a two run homer in the seventh inning.

This was more than enough for Mike DeBlase (left), who is having a tremendous season for the Bruins, exerts pitcher Mike Chirichello during game earlier this season. DeBlase has been named to the ECBL All Star team, along with Paul Mirabella, Fran Gallagher and Pat Grady.

Gallagher, who fanned four and improved his season record to 3-3. As mentioned, Gallagher allowed just four hits.

The Bruins had seven hits in the Hillside game. Against West Orange, they tripled the hit output and won by two touchdowns.

Glen Agens (4-1) was the beneficiary of the offensive output. Agens pitched the middle three innings in relief of starting pitcher Rusty Pace, who hurled the first three frames.

Paul Mirabella, who was also named to the ECBL All Star team, pitched the final frame.

DeBlase, Nardachone and Grady all had three hits to lead the way. Nardachone had a triple and two ribbies among his hits, Grady blasted a grand slam homer and finished with five ribbies while DeBlase collected three singles.

King collected two hits and two ribbies, Joe Delanza was 2 for 3 and player-coach Bill Ingraham was 2 for 2 with a triple and double. Ingraham started at third base in the game for the first time this season.

With the victories, Belleville moved closer to second place South Orange in the ECBL standings. This week will be a good test for the team, as they will face first place Verona amongst its opponents.

Senior legion team gains consistency

Coach Chuck Martin gives the "stop sign" to a legion runner at third base. Martin is one of the most astute baseball men in this area.

Dan Brunello rounds third base en route to home run during recent game.

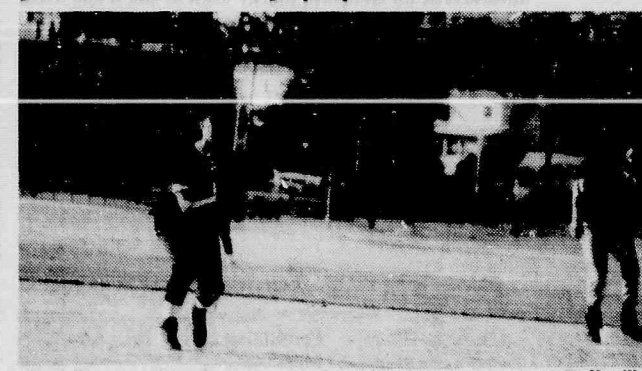

Players meet at mound to discuss strategy during key moment of game.

Matt McGough throws one home. McGough hurled shutout in this game and is one of Bucs' bright prospects for next season.

Carl Piscatowski, who just completed his freshman year at Belleville High, gets ready for chance at third base. Look for Piscatowski to be a key member of future Buc baseball teams.

1993 has been a good year for major league baseball. Attendance is up (this area being an exception), the expansion teams in Denver and Miami have attracted a great deal of attention and most importantly, there are some tremendous pennant races heating up in at least three of the four divisions.

On the downside, if you will, the decision by major league owners to change the playoff format in 1994 has reached the ire of the "baseball purist". But you really can't fault that decision too much, because it will add a few new teams to the post season and, in today's market, it is necessary to keep the game competitive with the other major sports.

In the recent issue of the Sporting News, there were some excerpts from the upcoming book about Cincinnati Reds' owner, Marge Schott. Without question, the more you read about this idiot, the more you have to say that there is no place in major league baseball for her. Not knowing where the United States military was stationed during the 1990 World Series, (first it was the "Middle West", then the "Far East", rather than the "Middle East") was bad enough, but her seething about the '90 World Series going just four games is beyond the scope.

Schott's team swept the '90 World Series from Oakland. Because the Series was a sweep, additional revenue that would have been gained if it went two more games, was denied the owners. Even though her team won the Series, she was outraged that the extra monies wouldn't be coming her way.

We all know about Schott's current suspension from the game because of racial comments. If the owners are serious about game integrity, get this "person" out of baseball, and do it quickly.

But without question, the dustmite of the year in baseball goes to one Donald Fehr, the head of the players union, who has hinted, rather loudly, that he will instruct his players to go on strike on Labor Day of this year, if a collective bargaining agreement is not in place.

Hey Don, go ahead! Have a good trip!

Pull the players off the field, and ruin what has become a very enjoyable summer, and you can be assured that when you decide it's time to play ball in 1994, there will be no one in the stands to watch "your" guys play.

Fans have endured strikes in 1981, 1985 and the 1990 lockout. Between 1981 and this season, player salaries have ballooned. Consequently, the prices of tickets have gone up, so much so that today, it can easily cost a family in excess of $100.00 to attend a game.

Last weekend, a friend of mine, Joe Vagnone went to the Yankees-Oakland game at Yankee Stadium. Joe took his son, because it's a yearly ritual that Joe and his son attend a game on his son's birthday.

"Mike, do you know how much it cost us, with a hot dog, a few beers, parking, etc.," Joe said to me. "About $100.00," was his reply.

While people in the real world endure unemployment and a long climb back from a brutal recession, major league players are making, on the average, nearly $1 million a year to chase a baseball.

Now, we hear the players might strike. Mike Francesca of WFAN put it perfectly last week when he said that it's clear that the owners and players association don't give a hoot about the fans. Francesca also pointed out that without fans in the stands, there is no ticket revenue, and, by the way, no television revenue because why in the world would CBS, NBC or ABC want to televise these games and spend millions of dollars for the rights if no one cares?

And that's exactly what will happen, because the baseball consumer has had enough.

So, Don, go ahead and strike. Labor Day weekend is a perfect time to do it, because you know what happens on Labor Day weekend? It's the opening of the NFL regular season.

Baseball will be gone, but we'll have football to entertain us from September through January. After the Super Bowl, college hoops will be a big draw, along with the NBA and even the NHL. The Final Four takes up March, and then the NBA playoffs begin to take center stage from late April through June. (In case you haven't noticed, the NBA is marketed far better than major league baseball these days).

So that leaves us July and August without a major sport in 1994. But the World Cup will be here next spring and summer. And since football training camps open up in mid July, somehow the pre season games will get us through to the start of the regular football season next September. (Let's not, of course, forget about college football, which usually starts in late August).

Oh, Don, by the way, fans will find a way to cure their baseball fix. In cities and townships throughout this great country, there are games in sandlots and little league fields played daily. And they're played by kids who love this game for the sake of playing this game. Baseball is played on the high school level, legion level and collegiate level.

There's semi pro leagues and softball leagues and games where people just grab a mit, ball and bat and play on an open field.

And guess what, Don. It won't cost someone $100.00 to watch those games. And chances are, they will be just as enjoyable.

So go ahead and plan that strike. Show those owners where you're coming from. Pull those players off the field. And when no one shows up next year to watch them play, you can call that a fan strike.

And let's see if you think you have the power to order the fans back to the ball park.

With that in mind, I'm going on vacation tomorrow morning. I'll be in Denver this weekend, for, you guessed it, baseball. The Cardinals and Rockies will be playing at Mile High Stadium.

After the weekend, I'm heading out to San Diego for a few days, and while there, I'll drive up the coast to Anaheim for an evening and see the Angels and Oakland A's play.

It's not easy to give up this sport that so many of us love. But there will be a breaking point, mark my words.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ

The starting pitchers in the '88 All Star game were Dwight Gooden for the N.L. and Frank Viola for the A.L. The game was played in Cincinnati. Terry Steinbach of Oakland was the MVP of the game, which the American League won 2-1. (I was at that game and sat in the top row in right field, but it was an event). Anyway, Whitney Hershog managed the National League and Tom Kelly was the A.L. skipper.

1993 playgrounds open

The Belleville Recreation Department's summer playground program began June 30 and will continue through Aug. 6.

The five playground sites are located at School No. 9, the Municipal Stadium, the Recreation House, Clearman Field and the Friendly House. The special education playground is set up at the Belleville Little League Field.

The playgrounds will be open daily to all Belleville residents in grades kindergarten through nine from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Playgrounds are closed noon to 1 p.m. for lunch and when it rains.

An adult director will be on hand at each playground to organize games, parties and other activities and an arts and crafts supervisor will travel from site to site.

Tentatively, tennis lessons, "Open Swim" and special tournaments are planned throughout the summer. These programs are all pending the hiring of qualified instructors/supervisors.

Applications for all summer program participants must be completed and signed by a parent. Registration forms are available at the Rec House office and at all playgrounds.

Football conditioning camp

The Belleville Recreation Department will be sponsoring a Football Conditioning Program for boys who will be playing during the 1993 season. Held at the Municipal Stadium in conjunction with the Belleville High School Football program, these workouts will help prepare all prospective football players, age 8 and older, for the upcoming season.

Conditioning clinics will be held weeknights at 6 p.m., beginning Aug. 2 at the Municipal Stadium. Weather permitting, conditioning sessions will be run Monday-Friday evenings from Aug. 2 through Aug. 13.

Boys ages 8-13 must register for the Junior Bucs football program at the Rec House before participating. Additional information can be obtained by calling football coordinators Joe DeRiggi and Vin Strumolo at the Recreation Department (450-3422).

Tennis lessons — 1993

The Belleville Recreation Department announces that tennis lessons will be provided free of charge to all Belleville youngsters ages 8 to 16. Tennis lessons will be given at the Belleville Municipal Stadium on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Lessons began July 7 and will continue for five weeks. Participants must wear sneakers and provide own racquet and balls.

The schedule is as follows:

Ages 8-11: 9 to 10 a.m.

Ages 12-16: 10 to 11 a.m.

Registration will take place at the courts. There will be no lessons when there is rain.

Belleville senior citizens visit Essex Court Complex

Essex County Sheriff Armando Fontoura announced that his department has initiated a program for senior citizens called "Senior Citizen Field Trip in Criminal Justice." He explained that the effort provides a tour of the Essex County Court Complex, including the Sheriff's Department and Court Rooms, "for a first hand look at the busiest Criminal Justice System in New Jersey." A group of 15 senior citizens, from the Belleville AARP, visited the Courts Building in Newark recently.

The program began with an explanation of the duties and functions of the Sheriff's Department which includes court security, transportation of inmates, fugitive apprehension, real estate sales relating to foreclosure proceedings, a Bureau of Narcotics that annually makes 1500 arrests, a K-9 Unit consisting of 7 specially trained dogs that can detect narcotics, firearms, and explosives, a Bomb Squad, the volunteer Deputy Sheriff's Division, and Crimestoppers program that offers rewards to help locate criminals. The department also maintains vital links with other law enforcement agencies, through special task forces in such areas as auto theft, fugitive apprehension, and narcotics enforcement. These agencies include the U.S. Marshal Service, U.S. Postal Service, U.S. Secret Service, State Police, Prosecutor's Office, and local Police Departments. The services of the K-9 Unit, Bomb Squad, and Narcotics Bureau are available to all Essex municipalities.

During the visit, informative presentations, including the latest videos, were made by experienced police officers from the Sheriff's Department's Public Education Unit on such topics as Crime Prevention in the home, Personal Safety, and Fraud Prevention. From there, visitors received a tour of the Sheriff's Department and went on to observe a trial in progress in one of the courtrooms.

Great Moments In American History

A Round Trip Into The History Books

FLINT, MICH.—It wasn't just any weekend trip to Detroit and back. It was a drive that would go into the history books. David Buick's fledgling Buick Motor Co. wanted to test the first Buick built in Flint on a Detroit-Flint round trip. Buick engineer Walter Marr would be the driver; Buick's son, Thomas, his passenger.

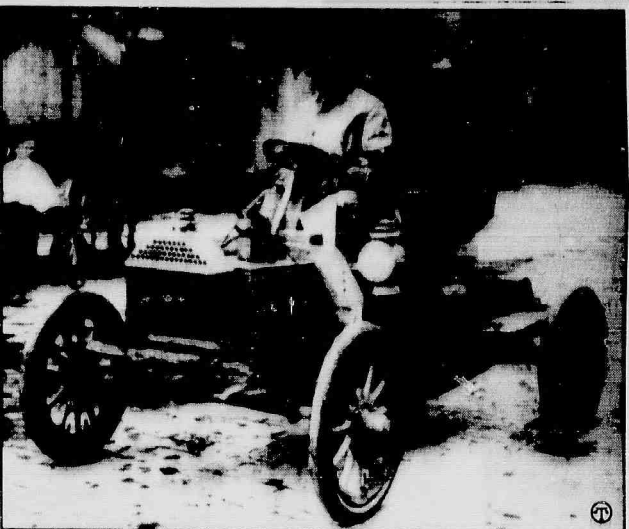

They started out on Saturday, July 9, 1904. They arrived in Detroit on Sunday. The Flint Journal reporting "the distance from Pontiac to Birmingham being covered in ten minutes." They headed back to Flint on Tuesday.

Marr decided to see how fast he could go. Driving in a steady rain through the small towns of Pontiac, Oxford and Lapeer, Marr was able to average more than 30 miles an hour. "The roads were deep in mud every mile of the way," Marr said.

In one town, they were challenged to a race by an electric car but the Buick "showed them the way," Marr said. Marr was so excited about the first test of the first Flint Buick that he drove it directly to the office of The Flint Journal on his return. "The machine made the run without a skip," he boasted. "It reached here in the best of condition. We took the hills handily with our high-speed gear and the machine sounded like a locomotive. It simply climbed."

When Marr arrived back at the plant, and told Buick's financial backers, "well, here we are," they replied, "so are we." And they found the money to begin production of the Buick automobile. It was July 12, 1904.

Buick, incorporated in 1903, celebrates its 90th anniversary this year.
