Cook: 'This is totally unethical'

Manager admits bidder wrote recommendation to give itself the Township insurance contract

By Howard Klausner

A bidder for a Township insurance contract was allowed to recommend itself for the award.

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio admitted to the Township Council that a recommendation he gave to the Council urging selection of the Rasmussen Agency as township insuror was written by the Rasmussen Agency itself.

This invoked angry demands by Councilmen Bill Cook and Tom Spillane that an investigation be made into the situation by the Essex County Prosecutor. Township Attorney Robert Giordano told Spillane he would bring the matter before the Prosecutor, but there has been no confirmation that he has done so.

The recommendation which Cuccio presented to the Council stated: "The Rasmussen Plan offers a less expensive plan with better coverages and and uses A-plus rated firms admitted in New Jersey. Both firms have been asked to submit three year quotes. The Rasmussen Plan states we merely triple each coverage cost as delineated in their proposal thereby increasing the overall savings between the two plans."

The use of the word "we" was taken by Cook and other Councilmen as referring to the Township, yet the statement was actually written by a Rasmusten employee.

After reading the recommendation, Cook stated, "It apepars to me that the document we received was not written by Mr. Cuccio at all, but

"To do this, Rasmussen must have had access to Gallagher's proposal.

"This borders on rig bidding and at the very least is totally unethical.

"Since this was distributed by Mr. Cuccio, I feel the devious intent was to have the Council think this document was his recommendation.

"You will notice it was not addressed or signed. "I will be pursuing this further through other channels, including the Ethics Committee and the SCI

(State Commission of Investigation).

At the work session where the exchange between Cook and Cuc-cio occurred, Mayor Marina Perna absented herself from the discussion, as she does whenever the Rasmussen Agency or other insur-ance matters are before the Coun-

Councilman Jim Messina was absent. Councilman Dr. Frank Noonan indicated he would vote to keep Gallagher as insuror for another year.

Councilman Mario Drozdz def-ended the memorandum, stating that Gallagher's bid was public information.

Cook asked if Rasmussen had come to the Council for that information. Otherwise, only the Manager could have provided the information, he said.

Cuccio also said that "at this point in time" he would support Gallagher as insuror, rather than

Two-car collision fatal to Nutley mother of two

A collision between two passeng-er cars at the intersection of Franklin Avenue and Joralemon Street in Avenue and Joralemon Street Thursday night resulted in the death of Mrs. Julie T. Magnifico, 38, of Nutley.

Belleville Traffic Officer Frank Malfatto is conducting an ongoing investigation into the tragedy.

At 10:06 p.m., July 22, Mrs. Magnifico was returning from a Bingo game at Clara Maass Medical Center, driving a 1988 Ford Bronco north on Franklin Avenue.

The Chevrolet apparently impac-ted the Bronco on the left rear side. The Bronco went into the northeast curb of the intersection and rolled over, pinning Mrs. Magnifico at her

The Belleville Fire Department Emergency Medical Service ambulance responded to the accident.
Rescue was made difficult by the danger of the car moving and further injuring Mrs. Magnifico.

A lift truck oversted by Nicholas

A lift truck operated by Nicholas Nicoletti raised the car up and the EMS unit rushed the victim to the University of Medicine and Dentistry Trauma Center in Newark. Mrs. Magnifico was pronounced dead on arrival, the victim of massive internal injuries.

Mrs. Muncelsi was treated at Clara Maass Medical Center when she reported feeling ill.

Mrs. Magnifico, the former Julie Shaw, was born in Fort Lauderdale, Florida and moved to Nutley 16 years ago from Miami, Florida.

She was Receptionist at the Rutherford Animal Hospital in Rutherford for the past three years. Previously, she was Manager for Envelope Products in Fair Lawn for six years.

Mrs. Magnifico was a member of the International Fancy Guppy Association; Girl Scouts of Amer-Association; Girl Scouts of America, Greater Essex Council; Vincent United Methodist Church of Nutley; the Nutley Women's Club; the Nutley Couples Club of Vincent United Methodist Church, and the Washington School Active Mother's Club of Nutley.

Surviving are her husband, James J. Magnifico; her daughters, Courtney and Jocelyn; her sister, Mrs. Hillary Lackner, and her brothers, Carl and Wayne Shaver.

A Memorial Service will be scheduled at Vincent United Methodist Church in Nutley.

Book published in 1857 has history of New Jersey's oldest congregation

By Lizbeth Scordo

Belleville resident Joseph Hatch recently found a book published in 1857 about historic churches in the Bergen area, written by Benjamin C. Taylor, who was Pastor of the Reformed Dutch Church of Ber-

Included in the book is a 17-page history of the Dutch Church of Belleville, which, today, is the oldest functioning congregation in

The Church was founded in 1698, and according to the book, the first known records of the Church were dated in 1725. These records state that in that year, Garrit Wouterse, Frans Van Dyck, Gideon Van Winkle, and Jogannes Koning were appointed to a building committee for the erection of "a new

The work went rapidly after that.
At its erection, the belify was built on the center of the roof. Later, however, the belfry was removed, and a stone tower was built on the North end of the church, mounted on a belfry.

In December 1726, the Rev. Henticus Coens was appointed as the first Pastor of the church. In May 1734, the widow and children of Aarent Schuyler, a successful businessman who came from Holland donated a considerable sum of money to the Church. The Consistory bound themselves and their successors in office never to use the money for anything but to pay the

By 1735, John Schuyler, son of the late Aarent Schuyler, and his family were very powerful in the Church and in getting their way with their money. But by 1753, the congregation was fed up and declared "That the convoking of the whole congregation, made by John Schuyler, is unlawful.... That a note of toleration of the preaching of the English congregation shall be demanded back from John Schuyler and their services be discontinued, and the use in this Church be kept for our own use...'

For some years during the Revolution, the Church suffered severely. Records of the Church were destroyed. It was not until 1790 that the church was named 'The Reformed Dutch Church of the Second River (now Belleville)". In 1792 it was resolved that a schoolhouse be built on the church lot to unite church and school.

Aside From That

Last week's story about Hillside Park, which closed in 1920, brought some memories to Lillian Winfield, whose husband, Harry was a Detective with the Belleville Police Department for many years. "My husband told me that he parked cars there for customers - at the age of 12!" Mrs. Winfield said of her late husband. "And his father, Henry, managed the dance ballroom. He invented the glass mirror globe that reflects lights all over the ballrooms, today." Hillside Park was succeeded by The Riviera, which later disappeared under the housing that now graces Belleville. • • • Elleen Brown, Executive Secretary of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, returned this week from a trip to Ireland, visiting Belfast and its environs. "It takes about two days to get used to the British troops and the checkpoints, but when you're out in the countryside, you don't even notice it," she said. "Ireland is a place of beauty, with 40 shades of green. Wherever you look, it's green." Born of Italian persuasion, Eileen accompanied her husband on a visit to his family and a grand wedding. A Protestant boy was marrying a Roman Catholic girl in a Catholic Church, and Eileen had a chance to see the socializing that goes on across religious lines. There isn't much of it, she reports. "Our Catholic relatives pointed out the Protestants to us, and they were the nicest people you could ever meet, but there was no mixing." Yet Eileen received an Irish welcome from everyone she met. "The minute they heard you speak, they knew you were American and they would ask all about America and why you were there." The sadness, the joy and the beauty of Ireland were all there, making for a poignant and wonderful experience.

The Rev. Joseph Hanly of the Paulist Fathers was back home in Belleville recently, going through the memorabilia of his brother, John "Brud" Hanly, the retired Belleville policeman whose funeral brought Father Joe from San Francisco, where he has a Creole parish. "You wonder why someone hangs on to some of the stuff, and then you see how he kept his memories," Father Joe said. "John had photos, photos of the kids he grew up with, photos of the friends who were in military service, photos of the places he saw in World War II." One local mystery was solved when Father Joe found the Bronze Star Medal commendation Brud had been awarded. "It was at Anzio. John and his outfit pulled burning ammunition trucks away from the areas where the troops were." John didn't discuss it afterward. But he had seen the war from North Africa to Germany. 🗗 🗨 🕒 "In some Irish families, you're either a policeman or a priest," Father Joe said. The brothers were the grandchildren of Michael and Mary Louise Dorsey Hanly of Belleville. Their father, Martin Joseph Hanly, was the first Belleville policeman to be killed in line of duty. He was a motorcycle officer, and in 1927 a motorist returning from a party went through a red light and struck him. The Policeman's Benevolent Association made some contribution to the support of the widow and her five children. Madeline became Madeline Griffin. Dolores married Police Captain Tom McNish and their son, Police Lieutenant Martin J. McNish was one of the victims of cancer that struck several policemen about the same time. Brother Michael Hanly became a Belleville Police Lieutenant, and John became a Police Officer. "He never gave out a ticket in 30 years," Father Joe said. He was the youngest, and turned to his own calling. • • • • It so happened that he was among the first dozen priests to be ordained by the newly elevated Bishop Fulton J. Sheen. This made the newspapers, but most of the publicity was centered on a West Point graduate who was taking his vows with them. Since his ordination on May 1, 1953, about the only part of the country he has not experienced is the Deep South. One of his earliest assignments was to Chinatown, San Francisco. He has been chased by giant tumbleweeds in Nevada; he has experienced the rains of Oregon, the winds of Chicago and the wild taxis of New York and seen just about everything in between. He has even bearded the Hollywood celebrity in his or her lair. As head of Adult Education of St. Paul the Apostle in Westwood, bordering Beverly Hills, he has met and sometimes ministered to the likes of Jane Wyman, Loretta Young, Bob Newhart, Bert Convy and Carroll O'Connor. "O'Connor would occasionally take up the collection," Father Joe said. Since the actor was obviously doing well financially, there was no real need to keep an eye on him. There would be occasional dinners with some of the stars, and some family counseling when marriages were upcoming. "Their needs aren't much different than the needs of the people in my Creole parish,' Father Joe said. They wonder about the kind of message they are bearing to the public, Father Joe said. "They are seriously talking with each other to create true value, rather than the indifference to value you find in portrayals of violence and sexuality." • • • Recently, parishioner Raul Julia starred in a movie made by a colleague of Father Joe, Father Bud Kieser, about the life and death of Archbishop Romero, a spokesman for civil rights who was murdered in his trip to Ireland, soon, accompanied by his nephew, the Rev.

Michael Hanly, who is Director of Vocation for the Archdocese of Newark. "I'm told that you will always find two perfed weather days when you go to Ireland. The one that comes seven days before you arrive, and the one that comes 12 days after you leave."

The book is being prepared by the Belleville marketing firm of Buddy DiGuglielmo. Present at the photo shoot, as they call these things in the business, was Blasia, herself. She is Blasia Amacio, a lady with the complexion and the face of a 20-year-old and the figure of the professional dancer she recently was. The native of Brooklyn is of Italian-Filipino parentage and she has become a major player in the world of fashion. She likes to have a unifying theme for her catalogs, and this one will feature the Belleville library. •• • • • "Books are everything to me," the beautiful Blasia said. OUR OPINION

Sterling Forest

It's a fair assumption that most readers have no conception of the impact that Sterling Forest has upon their daily lives. In fact, we would hazard a guess that very few people know anything about Sterling Forest — even the existence of one.

Here are the facts. Sterling Forest is for the most part uninhabited - 2,000 acres in Passaic County and 17,500 acres in lower New York State.

The Passaic County Board of Freeholders is buying the 2,000 New Jersey acres to protect two of the state's most important reservoirs, the Wanaque and Monksville Reservoirs. Two million people depend upon this water supply for their daily allotments.

The New York part of Sterling Forest is owned by the Sterling Forest Corp. which is the holding company for a Swedish insurance company whose primary interest is to develop the lands and make a profit, notwithstanding the fact that such a development would eventually end up polluting the streams feeding the Monksville and Wanaque Reservoirs. The Palisades Interstate Park Commission, under the leadership of Malcolm Borg, publisher of the esteemed Bergen Record, is making an all-out effort to obtain funding to purchase the New York side of Sterling Forest in order to prevent housing and manufacturing developments in that area.

Congressman Robert Torricelli of Englewood, aided by New York Congressmen Benjamin Gilman and Maurice Hinchey, has introduced a bill that would provide $35 Million for the Palisades Interstate Park Commission to purchase and maintain the New York part of Sterling Forest. These representatives should be applauded for their vision. They must be joined by our New Jersey Representives, Congressman Herb Klein and our two United States Senators, Bill Bradley and Frank Lautenberg. Sterling Forest is worth saving in its pristine condition. Every power must be brought to bear to insure that this property is not developed in a manner injurious to New Jersey. - FAO-

Our forgetful Manager

The lapses of memory attributed to Township Manager Stephen Cuccio defy the laws of mathematical probability.

A budget reduction proposal handed by the Library Board earlier this year to the Manager apparently was never presented to the Township Council for its study.

Instead, the Council acted without this guidance and made a cut in library funds which does not preserve the library, but damages it.

When made aware of the Library's own budget reduction suggestions, members of the Council have stated that they now have a change of mind.

It is too soon to say whether or not the cut will be reduced, but the manager's forgetfulness touched off an angry reaction by supporters of the library, has caused a great deal of ill feeling and is, at the least, embarrassing to the Council.

Now another instance of forgetfulness arises.

Mr. Cuccio apparently forgot to tell the Council that what appeared to be his recommendation for insurance coverage - a suggestion that it be handed over to the Rasmussen Agency was not drawn up by him at all, but was the work of the Rasmussen Agency.

When called to account for this by Councilman Bill Cook, Mr. Cuccio had no explanation.

We assume it was just a slip of his memory.

Otherwise, Mr. Cuccio would be guilty of some serious transgressions.

We quote Mr. Cook:

"This borders on rig bidding and at the very least is totally nethical."

We do not know what the legalities of all this are. We hope that Township Attorney Robert Giordano will at least make a serious effort to find out.

YOUR OPINION

Mayor on Library

To the editor:
I would like to thank all of the residents who wrote me with their concerns for the library budget. I assure you that your fears can be put to rest. I was disheartened, however, at recent efforts exerted by Mr. James J. Cozzarelli in his so-called attempt to save the library. Mr. Cozzarelli, the library board president, has been misinforming residents in our community as to proposed budget cuts the council made and their alleged ramifications for the Belleville Public Library

The most important point to be stressed is that none of the cuts will affect programs, books, materials or services provided to the library patrons. Ninety-eight percent of the cuts deal with freezing salary increases for library employees; reducing appropriations for insurance, which were grossly overestimated by 10,000; reducing the appropriations for the new director's salary; and a small cut in periodicals by 1000.00. No positions

The council should be commended for its efforts to avoid unnecessary increases in the library budget and for trying to reduce taxes for our overburdened taxpayers.

Unfortunately, Mr. Cozzarelli has engaged in an en-masse campaign to alarm residents that programs, materials, and children will be affected at a cost of only 33 cents per month. Perhaps what Mr. Cozzarelli failed to tell the residents is that those 33 cents per month will be utilized exclusively to subsidize raises and to create new salaries. I believe that our Belleville residents should be told the truth; they should not be fooled into supporting a non-issue which will have the effect of raising their taxes. Also I feel strongly that the president of the library board of trustees should have apprised each and every member of the library board prior to posturing under the guise of a "save the library" effort.

Certainly, the library has witnessed tremendous growth in the past three years which was largely attributable to Mr. Cozzarelli, and he is deserving of my utmost respect and esteem in this regard. The township council, however, also played a major role by supporting the Galaxy computer program, the magnetic security system, the CDBG grant for handicapped accessibility and many structural improvements. I am proud of the Belleville Public Library and I am pleased to provide premium services to our children and adults. To the same degree, I am satisfied that the budgetary cuts made by the council are reasonable, even if they call for small sacrifices to be made.

> Marina C. Perna Mayor of Belleville

Honesty appreciated

To the editor:

I am writing you this brief note to let you know of a pleasant thing that happened to me yesterday.

I had gone to the Seven Eleven Store on Passaic Avenue in Nutley on the evening of July 5, 1993 and when I arrived home I realized I had lost my wallet. Going back to the packed store no one saw or no one had returned the wallet. Later that night after I had reported the wallet missing I returned home and for some unknown reason my wife went to the front hallway and there on the floor by the mail slot in the front door was my wallet. I opened the wallet and there was nothing removed from the wallet.

I was so happy and thankful. My only regret is I had no one to thank for their honesty and concern in my behalf.

To this unknown person I want to say "thank you" for returning my wallet.

Police are thanked

On Wednesday, May 19, 1993, our son Edward was involved in an accident at Little Scholar Nursery School. We would like to thank Steve and Tom, the paramedics from the Nutley Volunteer Rescue Squad and Officer Allyn Ciccone of the Belleville Police Department. Their prompt response and handling of the situation made my son's trip to the emergency room less traumatizing.

Unfortunately, I cannot say the same for the Director of the school, Tina Cameron. My son was not traumatized by the accident but by the unprofessional manner in which Ms. Cameron reacated. My son was banned from attending her school and from participating in the Pre-K graduation exercises. He was looking forward to his graduation after completing over two years in her program. He is more upset over the loss of his graduation than he was about his accident. Ms. Cameron should take a look at the professionalism Ms. Cameron should take a look at the professionalism displayed by the Police Department and the Rescue Squad. She could learn something from them. Again, our deepest thanks to Officer Ciccone, Steve and Tom.

 HEATHER CLAY'S permanent guardian status petition will be heard August 12th by Superior Court Judge Murray Margulies. Freeholder Arthur Clay was mugged in Miami and suffered injuries that have caused him to be admitted to Carrier Clinic in Belle Mead, N. J. Clay has been uable to function as a freeholder since the accident in early Spring. Republican Essex County Chairman John Renna is mulling over a decision concerning a replacement for Clay. The freeholder district was changed last year with the addition of North Caldwell and Essex Fells and the elimination of ten voting districts in Belleville. The district includes 274 district leaders residing in Nutley, Belleville, Bloomreading in Nutley, Belleville, Bloomfield, Montclair, Glen Ridge, Cedar Grove, Essex Fells and North Caldwell. Since Mrs. Clay has a court application involving a Competency hearing, Renna believes the action in and of itself indicates that Clay is unable to function as an Essex County freeholder. It is for this reason that Penna is on the uncere of filing. reason that Renna is on the verge of filing a Cause of Action to declare the Clay seat vacant. In the June Primary, Clay was also nominated as a Republican nominee to succeed himself. The question is, can any court set aside Clay's nomination for an election that won't take place until November and for a seat that will not be available until January 1, 1994? These are interesting questions and may be the first of their kind.

 THE pundits are at it again speculating on who will win the gubernatorial election. They point out that Florio carried Essex County in 1989 with a 74,000 majority - a result that is expected to be difficult for Florio to achieve in 93. A 50,000 vote majority looks like a possibility. But that all depends on where the votes come from. If the urban vote is high and the suburban vote is low, Florio's majority is expected to be at its high. If the urban voters stay home and the suburbs are stimulated by the Whitman candidacy, the Florio majority may well drop to the 35,000 vote level.

 REPUBLICAN gubernatorial candidate Christine Whitman visited Nutley and Belleville last week in support of State Senator John Scott's re-election effort. She made two stops in Nutley the senior citizen complex at 44 Park Avenue and Meyer's Cafe on Franklin Avenue. Whitman was introduced by Nutley Board of Education member Bob Rusignuolo. Although Whitman made two stops in Nutley, Republican Town Chairman Jim Piro made a very brief visit at the Meyer's Cafe event and did not participate in the campaign arrangements. Absent from both events was Republican Commissioner Frank Cocchiola. Attending both Nutley events were two Republican town commissioners, Walter Smith and John Kelly who is seeking re-election to his Assembly seat.

Belleville E

Bob Kossick, husband father and fan

I'm now beginning to know how the Los Angeles Dodgers "family" is feeling.

For the second time in two months, the professional "family" of which I have been a part of for 121/2 years at National Community

Bank, has endured a crushing loss.
Our Chief Excecutive Officer, one of the more well known business men in the state, Robert M. Kossick, suddenly passed away on July 20. He was just 53 years old.

Back in May, we lost another friend, Rich Cavaliero, who was enduring a long illness.

But this, to a man who was in the best of health, is beyond

I won't bore you with the logistics of banking and what we did on a day to day basis over the years to make NCB a good place to work and flourish in.

I will tell you that I was able to advance under Bob Kossick's system of entrepreneurial management. Do the job, put in the extra hours, be a team player, and success will follow.

This man didn't ask for anything but a 100 percent effort and the willingness to go above and beyond the call to make the company a success. In return, you had the ability to advance, because the company would continue to grow and everyone worked hard to reach the goals set forth.

It was a sound business setup that appears simple, but requires people to be self motivated and driven.

Those words, self motivated and driven, perhaps best describe Robert Kossick. He only asked that those around him aspire to greatness, as he had. You can only be an effective leader if you lead by example. Needless to say, Bob Kossick did that, and then

Many who drove down Route 80 or other interstates in New Jersey, saw his picture on billboards for years. Even if you didn't know him personally, he was known by many professionally. But I'm here to tell you a story about Bob Kossick, the sports fan and loving husband and father. Last fall, I had the opportunity to cover some NNJIL Atlantic Division games on Saturday afternoon's when Belleville played on a Friday evening. A few of those games were at Ridgewood and one was a game at Montclair against Ridgewood.

Bob Kossick's son, Mark, was a standout running back for Ridgewood High. He led the team in scoring and was also a Division I candidate for his punting abilities.

Every Saturday afternoon, regardless of unending business commitments, Bob Kossick would be at a Ridgewood High School football game. He would often be on the sidelines watching, intensely, his son play football. Since it was Mark's senior year last fall, every game would mark a step closer to the end of a tremendous high school career.

Mark's last game came at Ridgewood against Hackensack, in a Group IV, Section I semi final in late November. Ridgewood lost, 14-7. Late in that game, they had a first and goal with a chance to tie, but Hackensack played solid goal line defense and stuffed Afterward, as the players left the field, people lingered in the stands, probably worn out from the emotion of the game. In the stands sat Bob and his wife, Sherry. They both looked stunned and obviously dissappointed for their son, whose career had just ended on the high school football level.

I walked over to tell Mark's parents that their son was outstanding and it was a great game. As usual, Bob and Sherry were gracious and Bob spent a few minutes going over the game with me and lamenting on key plays that would have turned the game around.

This wasn't a CEO of a major company talking to a VP and branch manager, this was a father talking over a game with a member of the media. And it was a side of Bob Kossick that I really never knew before, because he was always "Mr. Kossick" in Looking back on the events that took place last week, I am grateful for the opportunity to have spent a few minutes talking sports with this man eight months ago.

Bob Kossick leaves his wife and four children, Mark being the youngest. He leaves a family at NCB that still doesn't believe he's

But while Bob Kossick is no longer with us, he wouldn't want people to mourn his loss. He would tell you there's work to be done, and in our case, a merger to concentrate on.

"The money is the same at any bank," Kossick once said. "It's the people that make the difference." Bob Kossick made a difference in many lives, both personally and professionally.

And, I'm happy to say, I had the chance to know him on both counts

AUGUST HIGHLIGHTS

Well July is just about history. Next weeks issue will be dated August 5 and that means, to the dissapointment of many kids, that school is just a month away from starting.

Anyway, in August we'll have some photo coverage of the Belleville Little League team, results of the high school football lift-a-thon and we'll also begin publishing the schedules for the fall sports at Belleville High.

I'll also be working on some feature stories and we'll wrap up the legion baseball teams and look at the Buccaneer basketball team which is playing in Linden this summer.

If you have any press releases or photos from sporting events in our township, please contact me and I'll get them in the paper.
THIS WEEKS QUIZ

Let's do a little Belleville High School football trivia. Who did Belleville play in its first game as the Buccaneers? What year was that game played? Who coached Belleville and the opposing team? How did Belleville fare that season? Finally, who quarterbacked the Bucs in that first game and who scored the first touchdown for the Belleville Bucs?

Constantino, Bravette, Lenzi named All-Stars

By Mike Lamberti
There has been a long standing love affair between the our township and the sport of baseball. It has spanned decades and has drawn hundreds upon thousands into its

If you follow Belleville sports. then you know of the success of the high school baseball teams throughout the years and the phenominal accomplishments of the girls' softball team over the past

If the sport will remain popular, and successful, it must draw from its youth. The little league program in our township speaks for itself. You just have to look at the field on Mill Street to know why the players feel it is a field of dreams.

The various recreation programs have also done well on the lower levels. About five years ago, the legion baseball teams returned to Belleville in two forms, junior and senior.

The players who compete in the legion game pick up valuble experi-ence which is beneficial when the high school season commences the following year.

This season, the junior legion team, under the direction of coaches Chris Cantarella and Charlie Glachetti, have been quite competitive, despite a roster which has a number of young and inexperienced players.

"We have all new faces on this years team, except one player," Cantarella said. "It takes time, but the kids have improved, especially toward the end of the season. This is good experience for them and will help them next season. We played some really good teams this

Cantarella has a few players that will not even be in high school when school starts in five weeks. A few more will just be starting their freshman year at BHS in Septem-

In the past, the junior legion team has been made up of mostly players who had a year of high school ball on their resume. This year, some of them could be competing in little league, had it not been for the age cutoff. A good example of that is Ricci Bello, who will enter the eighth grade this fall and did quite well on the junior legion level this summer. Bello played first base and pitched. He earned his first victory against Lyndhurst a few weeks back. 'Ricci has good stuff," Cantarella said. "He let's the fielders do their job and his control is very promising. He also has good pop on during the school year, so local fans will only see him compete on the opposite sideline next April.

"He has good baseball instincts," Cantarella said. "He goes after tough bounces on the infie! 1."

Bravette was named to the Junior Legion All Star team.

Freshman outfielder Rob Caputo was slowed by illness in the first half of the season. Nonetheless, he played well upon returning to the ineup, going 3 for 3 in a victory over Clifton. In that game, he scored twice and drove in a run.

"Rob has excellent speed," Cantarella said. "He has the talent to play this game well on the high school level."

A sophomore, James Constantino played first base, pitched and played in the outfield.

"James has a strong arm, a good glove and hits well," Cantarella said. "He also made the all star team.'

Mike Corino, the lone returning player from the 1992 roster, provided a key leadership role on this years team.

"Mike has good skills, good instincts," his coach said. "I believe he could possibly play a role on the 1994 varsity team.

Just an eighth grader, Thomas "Fred" Dyer was a key utility man. Dyer blasted a homer against Secaucus and was 2 for 2 in the win over

"He has excellent size and plenty of potential," Cantarella said of Dyer. "He should be a good player for the '94 freshman tear

Belleville then lost a heartbreakmissed some of the season due to injury and illness. But he did show good range at second base and will be a varsity candidate next spring.

A seventh grader, David Ilaria was solid at second base.

"He has an excellent attitude," Cantarella said. "It was a pleasure to coach him. I wish every kid was just like him.'

Freshman Anthony Lenzi earnearned a trip to the all star game. He played first base and excelled on the mound.

"He became a more effective pitcher toward the end of the season," the coach said. "He consistently hit the ball hard and high. He could be a pitching prospect for the '94 high school team."

Domenick Ralmondo, an out-fielder and pitcher, provided excellent speed and hit well down the stretch. His best game was against Glen Ridge, when Raimondo was 3 for 3, including a double and scored a run. He also provided solid relief pitching.

"Another kid with a great attitude toward the game," Cantarella said. "You hate to lose someone

Mike Sauchelli, a pitcher and third baseman originally started the year at third base. He pitched a solid game against Lyndhurst and during the year, hit in ten straight

Against Clifton, Sauchelli was 2 for 4 with a homer, triple and four ribbies. He was also the winning pitcher in that game. Cantarella m a good prospect for the '94

Entering the eighth grade this fall, Greg Sheridan pitched very well in games against Park Ridge and Secaucus. He also provided range at second base when not on

"Greg used the breaking ball very well," Cantarella said. "He gained a lot of confidence and became more comfortable as the year went on."

Sal Vitale earned all star status this summer with his play behind the plate.

"He calls a good game and handles the bat well," the coach said. "He's going to make a lot of noise in the future for BHS baseball."

Another eighth grader to-be, Anthony Vitanzo was the backup catcher and started in the season finale against Bloomfield two weeks ago.

"Anthony blocks the ball and handles himself like a pro behind the dish," Cantarella said. "He was made to be a catcher."

As for the waching staff, Cantarella completed his second year with the team, his first as head caoch. Giachetti finished his first year as assistant. Giachetti, a 1992 graduate of BHS, is almost 100 percent after a broken leg put him on the shelf last summer.

Needless to say, the 1993 junior legion team was made up of young talent, that will only improve with playing time. Belleville baseball looks like it

Belleville Bruins complete successful week

The Belleville Bruins ended the second to final week in the season by winning 3 out of 5 games and regaining third place in the very competitive Essex County Baseball League.

On Monday, Belleville faced first place, The Verona Twins in Cedar Grove and came away with a Pitcher, Fran Gallagher went 6 innings and picked up the win and former major leaguer Paul Mirabella picked up the save in relief. The Belleville Bruins put together some timely hitting and excellent defense. Belleville scored two unearned runs in the first inning with base hits by Sal Tremel and Mike DiBiase. Both runners scored on an error.

In the second inning, lead off hitter Francisco Ortiz was hit by a pitch and later scored on base hits and errors and a double by Michael DiBiase. Belleville scored its final two runs in the seventh inning as Jason Nardachone reached on an error and RBI double by Pat Grady, Belleville defense was solid Grady, Belleville defense was solid along with good pitching by Fran Gallagher. Belleville middle infield turned two important double plays, one in the third inning and one in the fourth inning. Paul Mirabella came on to relief in the seventh inning.

er to Millburn in extra innings by a score of 4 to 3. Millburn had taken the lead in the second inning by scoring two runs on three hits. Belleville scored for the first time in the fourth inning on a homerun by Pat Grady. The Bruins tied the score in the fifth inning on a walk to Mark King and a base hit by Jason Nardachone and a sacrifice fly by Joe DeLanza. In that inning Belleville had second and third with no outs and was only able to score one run, a key turning point in the ballgame. Belleville scored the go ahead run in the sixth inning on a base hit by Pat Grady and an RBI single by player coach Bill Ingraham. Belleville held the lead going into the top of the seventh when two hit batters and an infield error caused the tying run to score. In the bottom of the seventh inning, Jason Nardachone led off with a base hit and was sacrificed to second but was stranded there on an infield grounder and a pop up to the third baseman. Millburn scored the go ahead run in the top of the eighth on three successive base hits and a suicide squeeze. In the bottom of the seventh, Pat Grady hit a shot in the right centerfield gap which the centerfielder made a diving catch and saved at least a double. Mike Salvanto was walked and stole second base and was stranded there with the next two Belleville batters striking out.

On Friday, Belleville faced South Orange, the second place team and lost a 6 to 2 ballgame. The score was a lot closer than what the final outcome should have been as South Orange stranded 15 base runners in six runnings. The Bellev-ille bats did not come alive and as a result of this loss Belleville was dropped from third to fourth place.

On Saturday, the Essex County Baseball League All Stars defeated the Metropolitan All Stars for the first time in five years by a score of 8 to 4. The game was played at Breslin Field in Lyndhurst and perhaps this is a showing of things to come in the future.

On Sunday, Belleville traveled to the Crescent Eagles field at King College to play an important dou-ble header. Player Coach Bill Ingraham started the baseball game for Belleville and pitched a complete game, 6 to 3 victory. The Crescent Eagles scored in the bottom of the second inning on a series of hits, taking the lead 2 to 0. Belleville went ahead by the score of 4 to 2 in the top of the third and a series of walks issued to Rich Quine, Jason Nardachone, Sal Tremel and Joe DeLanza and a two RBI base hit by Mike DiBiase.

Belleville scored two additional runs in the fifth inning, a pair of walks and a double by Mike Sal-vanto. Player Coach Bill Ingraham caused an inning ending short to second to first double play in the seventh inning to preserve the vic-

In the second game of the double header, Belleville took advantage of some tired pitching, timely hitting to score a 16-8 victory over Crescent and regain third place as a result of a split between a double header between Cranford and Millburn. Belleville scored 16 runs on 15 hits, some key hits being delivered by Coach Bill Ingraham who was 2 for 2, sacrifice and hit by pitch and three RBI's and Catcher D.H. Mike DiBiase, two doubles and a triple and 3 RBI's.

Belleville's record at the start of the present week's action is 22 and 14 and they are in third place. Belleville received some pitching, solid defense and timely hitting and ended the week with 3 victories and 2 defeats.

The key participants over the last week were Pat Grady, Coach Bill Ingraham and D.H. Catcher Mike

Rare surgery enables girl to eat

For 10-year-old Santa Rosario of the Dominican Republic, injured during birth when forceps crushed her temporo-mandibular joints (TMJ) and left her incapable of opening her mouth, it had been a life marked by an inability to eat properly. Along with liquids, her meals necessarily consisted of the types of foods that she was able to virtually force through her teeth, and consequently her diet was heavy in carbohydrates. In addition, the crushing injury had retarded the growth of her lower jaw, leaving her disfigured.

Realizing surgical care in the Dominican Republic would not help Santa, she was referred by her local physician in late 1992 to Healing The Children, a non-profit volunteer organization servicing children in the United States and throughout the world. Evelyn Dudziec, founder and director of the mid-Atlantic chapter, in turn reached out to Dr. Martin Turk, a North Arlington physician and chief of the Oral and Maxillo-Facial Service at West Hudson Hospital, who specializes in the treatment of TMJ disorders.

Dr. Turk agreed to donate his expertise to the case, and had no problem convincing officials at West Hudson Hospital to provide the necessary services for effective TMJ surgery and a high quality preand post-operative stay. He next recruited an able team of physicians to assist his cause, including Dr. Satish Madan, director of surgery, Dr. Edmond Saad, chief of the Orthodpedic Service, Dr. Ramish Shah, anesthesiologist, Dr. Prakash Doshi, internal medicine specialist, and Dr. Tyrone Cabalu, a member of the Pediatrics Service. Each agreed to volunteer his time and talents to help Santa. Even the alloplastic implants, the false temporo-mandibular joints implanted during surgery to replace those crushed during birth, were donated.

temporal bones, which form part of the side and base of the skull and contain the middle and inner ear, meet with the mandible, a horseshoe-shaped bone forming the lower jaw and carrying the lower teeth.

In preparing for the surgery, a literature search revealed less than a dozen cases with a diagnosis and injuries similar to those of Santa had been recorded since 1935.

With everything in place at West Hudson Hospital, Santa was flown to the United States through the Healing The Children program and placed with her temporary host family.
Scheduled for surgery, she arrived at the hospital in poor health and a poor nutritional state. Surgery was postponed while she spent several weeks on medications and a diet high in nutritional value.

But on a sunny morning in mid-June, the surgical team assembled in the West Hudson Hospital operating suite and not only opened and implanted the false temporo-mandibular joints but advanced the lower jaw so that Santa would be cosmetically acceptable during growth and development. After eight-plus hours of sophisticated and highly specialized surgery, Santa is now restored - thanks to the benefits of the technology available in the 1990s at West Hudson Hospit-

Dr. Turk credits the operating room nurses, along with the staff in the Intensive Care Unit and the Surgical Nursing Unit, as extending themselves far beyond the norm to make the hospital experience for Santa more comfortable. He quickly points out that many staffers on all levels of the hospital, from Nursing Service to Administration. speak Spanish and/or Portuguese, which alleviated much of the fear Santa was facing.

Today, back in her native Dominican Republic, her prognosis is excellent. After 10 years, Santa can enjoy a nutritionally sound diet, and can look forward to a higher quality and healthier life thanks to Healing The Children and the West Hudson Hospital facilities and professional staff.

West Hudson Hospital has become a leading health care facility for TMJ surgery and reconstruc-tive surgery of this magnitude in the entire metropolitan area, a fact recognized by Ms. Dudziec when searching for a physician to perform the surgery on Santa. For 20 years, Dr. Turk has been actively engaged in upgrading the type of surgical care available for patients with TMJ disease and dysfunction.

Those with TMJ disorders suffer many common symptoms, including pain on the side of the face, headaches, dizziness, clicking and/ or grating jaw joint sounds, a feeling of fullness or swelling in the ear(s), and an inability to move the lower jaw easily. Invariably, the problem involves boney and/or soft tissue components with associated dependency on overlying muscle interactions.

The patient approved as a can-didate for surgical intervention has already sought conservative treatment, including medication and physical therapy, with no relief of the symptoms. None of this was available to Santa.

For additional information concerning Healing The Children, you may write to Ms. Dudziec at Healing The Children, P.O. Box 420, Butler, NJ 07405. For more information on TMJ problems, symptoms and surgery, contact the Medical Staff Office at West Hudson Hospital, (201) 955-7004.

TIPS ON -HOW TO WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT SELLS

REFRIGERATOR/FREEZER, General Electric, 19 cu. ft. three years old, sold, automatic toe maker, automatic defrost, like-new condition, $400 or best offer Movins. must sell immediately. Call Saturday between SAM and 9PM 000-0000

1. Use a KEYWORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what it is you have

CLEAR and FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color, size, and tell what condition the item is. Also state the special features.

3. State the PRICE. Successful Classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances

4. If there's a genuine sense of URGENCY, say so. The words, "We're Moving" or "Must Soll Fast" suggests that readers respond immediately.

8. Include your PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 6 PM" or "Before 11 AM"

If you need assistance ask one of our friendly AD-VISORS to help you word your ad.

Our Office Staff: The Backbone of Ref-Fuel

They are the first ones who deal with American Ref-Fuel's many publics and make sure the operations staff has everything it needs to keep the plant running. We'd like you to meet them: American Ref-Fuel's office staff.

Sue Foligno

New employees sometimes think her first name is "Ask," as in "Ask Sue." That's what people tell them to do when they have any questions about almost anything at the Essex County Resource Recovery Facility. And

Sue Foligno

Sue knows just about everything there is to know about the operation.

She was the second permanent employee hired back in 1989, when her "office" consisted of a room in a trailer at the construction site. Now the administrative secretary to Plant Manager Curt Hurst, Sue supervises a small staff and makes sure not only that supervisors at the plant have the office support they need, but also that executives traveling from Ref-Fuel's other plants or from company headquarters in Houston receive the same office services they would at their home bases.

Besides the usual phone, typing and filing duties, Sue makes travel and hotel arrangements for executives and business visitors. "Sue has a knack of being able to track me down, wherever I may be traveling," Curt says.

One of the adjustments she had to make, Sue said, is wearing a hard hat when she goes into the plant. "At first, it was embarrassing, I was very self-conscious; now I'm used to it," she said.

Now, Sue dons her hard hat for one of her "extra" duties: giving tours. "I learned a lot about the plant through construction. I enjoy dealing with the tour groups. Visitors are amazed at the technology of our plant, all for garbage! I especially like children's groups, kids get a lot out of the tours," she said.

Sue knows just about everything there is to know about the operation.

Linda Hinton

Like many of today's Ref-Fuel staff, Linda originally came as a temporary worker in the fall of 1990, doing data entry one or two days a week. That November, Linda was asked if she'd like to move into the office of administration to work on the filing system. A few months later, she took on a secretarial position and became a permanent employee.

She learned about the business, and learned the office systems. Hers is the voice that people first hear when they call the facility. Linda provides office support for the plant's environmental scientist and safety and training supervisor. "Two of the things that impressed me about this company is that everyone works together as a 'team' and the safety of any worker on site is the number one priority," Linda said.

First Quarter results good despite blizzard

Essex County Resource Recovery Plant Manager Curt Hurst reported another excellent performance record for the first quarter of 1993.

During that period, the plant processed 215,500 tons of solid waste and generated 115,700 megawatts of electricity, or enough to power 50,000 homes during that period. The facility maintained a 96 percent availability and a 99,995 rate of compliance with our environmental permits.

"I'm very proud of our staff and the effort they produced in the first quarter," said Curt.
"That period included the March 20 blizzard, one of the worst snowstorms this area has seen in recent years. Our people rallied to keep the plant running. Some of our employees couldn't get in, so others who were here stayed on for extra shifts. Still others who live close and could get home brought fellow employees home with them to stay overnight.

"Everybody pitched in. Our people shoveled snow nonstop for two days, with plow trucks and by hand. We were ready to receive trucks at 7:30 Monday morning, although very few trucks actually made it to the plant that day.

"The weekend of March 20 was exceptional, but the extraordinary effort our employees put forth every day is what enabled us to have such excellent results for the entire three month period."

Plant Manager's Messege

Curt Hurst

It sometimes comes as a surprise to people visiting our plant that we're such big supporters of recycling. They often assume that we want all waste brought here for burning.

On the contrary, we firmly believe in what people in our industry call an "integrated system of solid waste management." That means, in order of preference: source reduction, recycling, waste-to-energy, and landfilling. After we reduce the amount of garbage our society generates and recycle as much as possible, there will be plenty left for us to deal with at the Resource Recovery Facility. Moreover, some recyclables —such as glass or metal containers — make poor fuel for resource recovery.

Climbing the paper mountain

Here at the plant, we recycle just like you do at home — if 80 people happen to live there. We have bins for employees to recycle newspapers, soda cans and juice bottles. Running the operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week gives our employees the chance to generate a lot of recyclables.

In addition to our operating functions, we also perform the same office functions most businesses do, probably magnified by all the reports and other paperwork required by regulatory agencies. So, along with our "household" recyclables, we also have office recyclables. I describe it as dealing with a "mountain of paper." We have implemented an extensive recycling program for our office waste.

At one time, businesses simply threw everything out once it was of no further use. As recycling technology has developed, we find more and more of the office waste stream can be reclaimed. I still have to go through the mental process: "White paper over there, other paper over there, no staples, no yellow stickies." In 1992, we recycled 11.7 tons of cardboard, 1.9 tons of glass and aluminum, 31.2 tons of scrap metal, 1,700 pounds of white paper, 640 pounds of newspaper, 45 yards of concrete, and 200 pounds of batteries.

We soon will be recycling our fluorescent bulbs. They contain mercury, and should be separated from the regular waste stream. We're constantly looking at our office waste stream to try to identify other materials we can recycle.

We're also working to improve our office procedures to reduce the amount of waste we generate. When possible we route memos and documents around, rather than making individual copies for everyone. We try to use both sides of the paper for correspondence and other documents. Of course, faxes are still one-sided.

For me, and anyone who grew up in the era when we just threw things away without a second thought, it's been an education. I have to make a conscious effort to think about whether something goes in the trash or gets separated for recycling. I don't always get it right, as our Environmental Scientist, Laurie Cooper, regularly reminds me if she happens to sneak a look in my waste basket when she's in my office.

For the next generation, it will come more easily. At home, recycling comes as second nature to my children. They know what to separate and which bin it goes in. They've been taught recycling at home and at school from the time they were first old enough to understand. They've grown up with recycling. They didn't have to unlearn any old habits, and they don't consider it an inconvenience.

Recycling is only going to increase.
The educational process will continue.
Essex County already has one of the best recycling rates in the country. We can all work together to make it even better.

Keep yard waste out of household trash

At home, recycling comes as second nature to my children.

They know what to separate and which bin it goes in.

After one of the roughest winters in recent years, gardeners took to their work with extra enthusiasm when warm weather came.

Essex County Resource Recovery Plant Services Supervisor Joe Alston reminds all the "green thumbers" to separate their grass clippings and other yard waste from regular household trash.

"Those items don't really belong at our plant," Joe said. They don't burn well, and inhibit the combustion process." Joe noted that most towns ask people to separate yard wastes and have special collections for them. He recommends that residents check with their municipal solid waste coordinator for the regulations in their town.

One lawn care technique that has gained increasing popularity is to cut the grass more frequently, so the clippings are short, and leave them in place on the lawn. "Short clippings decompose very quickly and return nitrogen to the soil," said the facility's Environmental Scientist Laurie Cooper. "It's actually good for the lawn. A schedule of frequent mowing can be beneficial to your lawn."

Joe Alston

However, Laurie added, if you let the lawn go for a long time between mowing, you should collect the grass. "Long clippings don't decompose. They don't help the lawn and they're unsightly. Just make sure to dispose of them properly."

DID YOU KNOW ...?

Health risks posed by emissions from modern waste-to-energy plants equipped with advanced pollution control technologies are "negligible," according to a recent study performed by the German Federal Medical Society.

The study, printed in the January 11 issue of the German medical journal Deutsches Arzteblatt, examined inorganic gases, metallic compounds and organic compounds emitted by the country's 50 municipal waste combustion plants.

New EPA Head Supports Integrated Waste Management

The Clinton administration's new administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, Carol Browner, cited a role for waste-to-energy (WTE) as part of an integrated approach to waste management in her Senate confirmation hearings.

Browner said that while the U.S. must increase its recycling and source reduction rates, WTE will continue to play an important role in solid waste management for the foreseeable future.

Although Browner supported a temporary moratorium on new WTE capacity in 1992 as Secretary of the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation (DER), she told a state panel in 1992 that Florida could not rule out additional WTE capacity in the long run. "We're not suggesting incineration will not be a part of Florida's long-term waste management system," she said. "It will be. It has to be."

In a memo to the state Environmental Regulation Commission, Browner defended

Florida's position that combustion ash is not hazardous "Florida has followed EPA's lead in this regard, and regulates ash as special waste, but not as hazardous waste," she wrote.

In her Senate testimony, Browner also reiterated her belief in government/industry cooperation, saying she favors "flexibility in compliance" and "market-based approaches for environmental protection."

LEGISLATOR VISITS — State Senator John Bennett (R.-12th Dist.), center, visited the facility recently. Vice President for Project Development Bill Glover, left, and Controller Roland Brown explained the procedures for bringing garbage into the tipping hall. The legislator's visit was arranged in cooperation with the Intergrated Waste Services Association.

Office Staff

One of the experiences Linda enjoyed most was the media attention the plant attracted during construction and start-up. As the official "greeter" for Ref-Fuel, she got to meet New York newscasters Vic Miles and Reggie Harris, weatherman George Lindsay Young, and an entire crew from CNN.

Pat Hanlon

Pat is secretary to Vice President for Project Development Bill Glover. She is the principal contact with government agencies, contractors, attorneys, purchasers, and others who are involved in Ref-Fuel's current or prospective business dealings.

When Pat came on board in January of 1992, she was amazed at the complexity of both the operating and business ends of the plant. "Truthfully, I never gave garbage much thought," Pat said. "I used to put it out twice a week and it disappeared. Now I understand more about it — for instance, how to dispose of batteries. I make sure I separate them."

"You have to check every little thing ... a lot of different people and agencies are involved"

Pat's work involves a lot of detail. "There are so many phone calls when you're negotiating. You have to check every little thing, especially government regulations. A lot of different people and agencies are involved in even the simplest things we do. You have to make sure everybody has the latest information."

Ref-Fuel hosts SWAC meeting

The Essex County Resource Recovery Facility held its annual open public meeting on May 25 in conjunction with the monthly meeting of the Essex County Solid Waste Advisory Committee (SWAC). The committee consists гергеsentatives from the county and each of its 22 municipalit ies. SWAC serves in an advisory capacity to the Board of

Laurie Cooper

Chosen Freeholders on all aspects of solid waste disposal in the county.

Plant Manager Curt Hurst reported on the facility's activites in the fiscal year ended September 30, 1992: 875,000 tons of waste processed, 477 megawatts of power generated, and 7,900 tons of ferrous metal recovered. The plant maintained a 94.4 percent on-line availability and a 99.995 percent environmental compliance rate.

The plant maintained a 94.4 percent on-line availability and a 99.995 percent environmental compliance rate.

Environmental Scientist Laurie Cooper discussed the methods the plant uses to assure that high rate of environmental compliance, including careful inspection of incoming waste for prohibited materials, controlling the combusiton process to assure efficient burning, state-of-the-art pollution control equipment, and monitoring by the state and third party consultant firms.

BRAIN TRUST - David Ruiz has been named the third recipient of the American Ref-Fuel of Essex County Scholarship. The four year grant is given annually to a graduating senior at Newark's East Side High School who is enrolled at a four-year college. During a tour of the Ref-Fuel plant, Control Room Operator Alfredo Austin (seated) and from Plant Controller Roland Brown (right) explained to David how plant functions are monitored and adjusted in the control room. In the fall, David will enter Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken to study computer engineering.
