Perna 'pleased'; Kendall 'disappointed'

SCI report hits former Manager, Fire Chief; says Mayor was in violation of Faulkner Act

By Howard Klausner

"This is not the Lindbergh Case," an official of the State Commission of Investigation told the Belleville Times, as the long awaited report on Belleville Township was released this week.

But the report charged irregularities to former Township Manager Bertrand Kendall and Fire Chief Walter Bereseford; deplored the condition of Township Clerk Mary Lou Hood's office; said Mayor Perna had violated the Faulkner Act, and accused the Township Council of willful ignor-

In the case of the overtime payments, they reportedly were made by Chief Walter Beresford to compensate department members who did carpentry and electrical work on the Fire House in Silver Lake. The SCI alleges that the payments were made without proper authorisations and noted that Kendall had ordered Beresford to cease the practice. Beresford was not available for comment, but he has in the past stated that he acted erroneously, but in good faith.

In the case of the computer equipment, the SCI stated that Kendall had made use of a firm, 248 Advisory Services, which misrepresented itself as having a state contract number. The contract number gave the Township the right to order services without putting them out to bid.

The total cost of the equipment and services was some $20,000, the SCI stated.

Charges of misrepresentation by 248 Advisory Services, Inc.; EGK Computer Systems, and the American Office Equipment Co. will be referred to the State Attorney General for study, the SCI stated.

No accusations were made that Kendall was criminally involved.

Mayor Perna was criticized for personally seizing a Jeep from then Township Engineer Stanley Stier.

The report states: "When Mayor Marina Perna learned of the purchase (of the Jeep) shortly after the Jeep was given to the DPW director, she confronted him and demanded the keys, which he relinquished to her. Not only did she err in light of Council's approval of the bond ordinance, but she also violated the Faulkner Act and Belleville's Administrative Code by inter-fering with the Township Manager's supervisory authority and con-trol over the DPW and its officers and employees."

The SCI report also criticized some members of the Township Council for failing to "understand their proper role that the manager will be able to execute his duties without any unnecessary interfer-

The SCI said that Township Clerk Mary Lou Hood's office was 'overflowing" with papers and that she could not produce documents on demand. Mrs. Hood has denied this was the fact.

Council Member William Cook

responded angrily to the report.
"No one ever questioned me, and I can assure you I have a copy of the Faulkner Act in my possession. The SCI report ignored accusa-tions against Mayor Perna and Dr. Frank Noonan and acted like a kangaroo court," Cook said.

Mayor Perna stated:
"I'm glad the SCI was able to do a thorough and effective job in uncovering the suspicions that had been brought to my attention by residents and employees.

"I was surprized to find the extent of the violations that were committed by both Mr. Kendall and the Fire Chief. I never thought or imagined these things would be revealed.

"It is my position that this report should send a loud and clear message to all the members of the Council that we need to work together in the best interest of the town to try to recover some of the monies that were unlawfully taken or misappropriated, as pointed out by the report."

In response to the statement that she had violated the Faulkner Act,

Mayor Perna said:
"When I had questioned Mr.
Kendall, he abrasively told me that we had authorised the purchase of that Jeep. In my opinion, as was confirmed by the SCI, Mr. Kendall exercized poor judgment when he purchased the Jeep.

"As a result of his flagrant disregard I did the only thing naccourt to stop further waste of the taxpay-ers' money. I asked Stier for the key and I gave them to the Police Chief. I reacted in order to avoid further

"I am greatly disappointed by the SCI report.

"It is a political witch hunt.
"The SCI was brought to Belleville by Marina Perna and Dr. Frank Noonan and none of their misdeeds are mentioned.

"I feel very badly for Mary Lou Hood who has done a great job under adverse circumstances.

"The SCI should be lauding her efforts since the investigation have been impossible would without her assistance.

"Why didn't they investigate Dr. Noonan's residing at 10 Independence Court in Clifton or that he operates an illegally zoned medical office on Holmes Street?

"Why didn't they mention that Mayor Perna was under investigation for allegedly working for the Resource Insurance Agency while voting for Rasmussen while

"They showed no interest in political figures who either donate to the party or are running for office. "The report makes it seem like nothing good happened in Bellevil-le from 1990 to 1992 when in fact many improvements were made."

He said that a point by point rebuttal of the SCI charges would be made next week.

Clerk Mary Lou Hood issued this statement:

"I agree that we are understaffed and under mechanized, and I hope this report encourages the Council to remedy the situation.

"However, I am surprized by the allegation that I did not produce documents. I do not know anybody who can say I did not produce a paper on demand.

"And no one has ever confronted me with such an accusation."

Mrs. Hood was the recipient of a flood of supporting letters, telephone calls and even bouquets of flowers that came into the Clerk's Counsel Ileana N. Saros of the SCI, who was in charge of the investigation, said that the charges of conspiracy with Rasmussen were being investigated by "another agency" which she then identified as the Ethical Standards Board of Belleville. A member of the Ethical Standards Board stated: "We want to go very slowly on this matter because we do not want to affect anyone running for office." Mayor Perna is a candidate for the State Assembly.

Cuts in school services bring outcry

By Howard Klausner

The Board of Education put the blame for reductions in after-school activities on the $865,000 budget cut ordered by the Township Council in the wake of the budget's defeat in April.

Mayor Marina Perna and Deputy Mayor Mario Drozdz disagreed angrily.

"We never ordered those cuts, Perna said.

"You have two members of this Board who are seeking election to the Council," Drozdz said.

Board President Gabe Nazziola said the problem lay with the concerned parents who let the budget be defeated. "Not enoughof you let your voices be heard on April 20," Nazziola said.

At least some parents in the audience indicated they would have opposed the budget in any case. One speaker, who said he had three children in the school system, told the Board, "You are not doing Support for the budget cut was offered by former Board President Patricia Pisano. "The Council clearly made cuts that would not hurt our children," she said. "The money is there. Cut it without hurting our children."

Board Vice President Ralph Mazzuca disagreed. "The money is just not there. I warned that we could not cut below the 19-point increase without hurting the schools."

Board members said the Council arbitrarily used the $865,000 figure because that was the amount of the 19 points.

Eloquent statements were offered by representatives of the students, who warned that colleges want to know about applicants' extra-curricular activities as well as their academic records. Student Government President Ami Doshi and Treasurer Albert Alves each asked that cuts be restored. "You are hurting the students," Alves

Trustee Barbara Cicalese said, "People who urged everyone to vote no on the budget have the nerve to complain about the cuts."

Trustee John Notari said, "This time we must work together so that we don't have to go through this

Bridge shows flood damage

Cracks and loosened granite blocks have been observed in the Washington Avenue Bridge over Second River, since the unprecedented flood of Aug. 16 which swamped Mill Street.

"It was the first time in my life that I saw the Second River over-flow its banks." Deputy Fire Chief Charles Aughenbaugh said, on an inspection of the site.

Le pointed out that debris clogged two of the three passages under the bridge. Water brought by a four-inch deluge that took place in a single hour battered the bridge with unprecedented fury.

"The bridge was rumbling, and police ordered everyone off Furth-police ordered everyone off. Further down Mill Street, a police car was under water. On Mill Street itself, there was a foot of water. We rescued a woman driver of a UPS truck," Aughenbaugh said.

The use of Board of Education workers to reconstruct the interior rooms of the High School basement has saved the taxpayers more than $450,000, Bopard of Education President Gabe Nazziola has

Under the direction of Vincent Fiscelli, Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds for the Board of Education, eight maintenance workers and three grounds keepers have devoted part of their work time to the job, which has resulted in six new classrooms to be used for special education, and which will provide new offices for the Board.

"This will free the use of School 1 for either sale or lease, and provide the township with additional revenues," Nazziola said. Fiscelli said that 12,000 square feet of usable space have been provided by the project. "A private contractor would have charged us $500,000 for the job. The cost of all materials was $36,691. The work was done on regular salary, and we managed all other maintenance work as well,"

Fiscelli said. Heating and ventilating work is being done by a contractor. Originally estimated at $235,000, it was rebid to $134,000, Fiscelli said.

Aside From That

As the French say, "The best revenge is living well." In the case of John Grande, living well is only part of the story. For 33 years he has recalled with hurt the day the Principal of Belleville High School called him into the school office and told him: "There are two kinds of people in the world - those who should go on to higher education and those who should be driving a truck. Unfortunately, you are one of those who should be driving a truck." Admittedly, the Principal had some basis for his opinion -although it should be noted that a lot of truck drivers are making better livings than many teachers do. For one thing, Grande was 18 years old and Freshman. He had had been left back in three different grades in elementary school. And the State of New Jersey said you only had to to attend school until the age of 18. • • John Grande knew something else, however. He knew he had an Intelligence Quotient that tested at 135, which is neargenius. He knew that he had a will to succeed. He also knew that he had a learning problem, and that the schools of that time were not capable of helping him. Instead of driving a truck, he found himself unloading produce trucks for a supermarket. With the physique of a young Frank Sinatra, he did not find himself suitable to the job. He started turning his life around, taking course that led to a General Education Degree, enabling him to attend Fairleigh Dickinson University. He attended the Computer Programming Institute. In those days, the early 1960s, computers were as big as rooms, and a programmer did his job with wires. But he was was learning a trade that required more brain than muscle.

He was hired by Arrow Savings and Loan as combination Teller and Computer Programmer, and from there he went to Keystone Savings and Loan in Bloomfield, where he was made Branch Manager. Then he decided to enter insurance and he was hired by Massachusetts Mutual where he specialized in businesses and estates. "I won every award the firm could offer," Grande said. • • • He also attended every school that Mass Mutual could offer, and he was certified by the Life Underwriter Training Council. That prepared him for the investment business. For 11 years, he has been affiliated with Raymond James Associates, one of the leading investment and financial advisory companies in the world, and he subsequently tacked on his own private financial advisory firm in Ocean Township. Giving seminars for multi-millionaires led him into a field in which he counsels people with $2 million to $10 million in assets, and who are concerned about avoiding breadlines. "I decided I could not make a poor man rich. but I could keep a rich man from being poor." This has brought him the fervent gratitude of millionaires who discovered that he did a better job for them than firms with more venerable and overrated reputations. With him in his ventures is his wife, Traudi, a native of Vienna with the looks of a Cover Girl. • • • He is the only financial planner in the country who has an entire organization of physicians as client - this being the American Society of Opthalmologists. and this had helped lead him into a person crusade which has been a source of great satisfaction and even great personal expense. "It is my ambition to see the end of corneal blindness throughout the world in my lifetime.'

Chipping in $25,000 to $75,000 at a clip, he travels the world setting up eye banks. This Fall, he leaves for a trip around the world with Traudi that will take him to Austria, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, India, Israel, Bangladesh, Burma and Thailand and he will dedicate three new eye banks and inspect a dozen existing ones. "There are 10 million blind children in India alone whose sight can be restored through corneal transplant," he said. He is chairman of the Internaernational Committee for Corneal Eye Banks and he credits a client, Dr. A. Edward Maumenee, with interesting him in the light against blindness. • He has other interests as well, from travel to skiing to classical music to reading the classics to tennis, and he runs every day, so that he now has the physique of the young Frank Sinatra, but with plenty of sinew and muscle added. Daughter Cindi studies investment banking at the University of South Florida. Son John is at Lehigh University where he pursues studies that will help him join his father's business. Son Eric is studying photography at Rochester Institute of Technology. • • • John's parents, John and Dorothy Grande, were fervent supporters of Belleville. The father, who passed away five years ago, founded an aluminum window business that still thrives, operated now by John's sister, Joyce Talbot, whom he describes as "One of the best Mothers in the world," raising four children while keeping a business going.

John Grande doesn't drive a truck these days, but he does have a BMW. He would have a brand new BMW, but he decided instead to send the new one to a doctor in India as a gift, and keep the old one. For people interested in enlisting in his war on blindness, call 1-800-722-1258. And if you need some investment advice, that's all right, too.

Barney O'Connor is the proud recipient of a thank-you letter from the mother of a teen-ager who had lost what is considered to be an essential part of life by many teen-agers today, a personal pager - or "beeper". Barney found it and called the owner. Sharon Leibowitz of Lake Hiawatha said her son, Eric "hunted high and low for days! Your phone call not only relieved his anxiety, but it also showed him there are 'good Samaritans' out there who care about ethics and believe in the 'Golden Rule'. I thank you not only for returning the pager, but for setting a fine example for our family." ● ● ● Deputy Fire Chief Charles Aughenbaugh has been taking a closer look at Second River since it poured over its banks on Aug. 16, the first time he could recall it ever happening. One thing he has learned is that there has been a slow improvement in water quality. Fish are returning to the stream. Sunnies and killies are swimming about in small schools, dodging the wild ducks who have settled in the area around Washington Avenue and crabs are also clinging to the rocks and burrowing in the mud bottoms. "Given a little time, and some effort to clean the river, you could see some fish here," Chief Aughenbaugh said. The Chief is a man sensitive to the flora and fauna of Belleville. There is still much greenery and traces of the forests and fields that only recently covered much of the township, and anything that is left is worth preserving.

Baldassaro DiVincenzo Mitten, our Copy Cat, says that a Bureau of Missing Township Managers may be set up. "The only one who really seems to know where Steve Cuccio is seems to be Assessor Tommy Salzano. He transmits the messages from the bedside in Milwaukee, but nobody in Town Hall knows where Milwaukee is." ● ● ● Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch says the State Commission of Investigation report on Belleville is required reading for the Kool Kukumber Boys. "When it's made into a movie, they want Madonna for the role of Mayor and for the role of investigator they want Inspector Clouzot."

Only half the story

The release of the State Commission of Investigation report seems to be more an attempt to justify the eight months of investigation and the costs thereof than in producing anything that could be called a major revelation.

During his tenure, Manager Bertrand Kendall was involved in the expenditure of more than $50 million.

Yet all the SCI can come up with is a $20,000 transaction in which no hint of profit is attributed to Mr. Kendall. So far as we can judge from the report, a vendor may have used a false state identification number to obtain a contract.

The bottom line is that no charges are suggested against Mr.

In the case of Fire Chief Walter Beresford, the allegation is that two years ago he compensated firefighters who did work on the Silver Lake firehouse by giving some of them overtime.

It is a kind of nickel-and-dime stuff compared to the hundreds of thousands of dollars involved in an insurance contract such as the Rasmussen Agency has been trying to get.

But because the Belleville Board of Ethical Standards is supposedly investigating the Mayor's connections with Rasmussen, the SCI has taken a hands off attitude. Of course, the local Ethics Board has no professional investigators, so it is unlikely to do the kind of investigating that a governmental agency can.

At the end of almost 60 pages, you are left with the final result. The Fire Chief is on the griddle for penny-ante irregularities, and some vendors face investigation for alleged falsification of credentials.

So the SCI says it is all part of a crackdown on sloppy bookkeeping practices which could lead to corruption. And the investigation has probably cost more than the money allegedly lost to the Township by the former Manager and the Fire Chief.

Lyndhurst - Lyndhurst - Lyndhurst

For almost two years, a drumbeat of criticism has been levelled at an action taken two years ago whereby the Lyndhurst Board of Education became enriched by $1.5 Million. The last thing that former New Jersey Attorney General Robert DelTufo did before he left office last month was to issue his final report. He practically blamed everybody in sight for the controversial $1.5 Million grant to Lyndhurst, and DelTufo ends up with the conclusion that the grant was illegal - and Lyndhurst must repay the state. Only this week, Republican gubernatorial candidate Christine Whitman labelled the Lyndhurst grant a scandal and urges the Republican controlled State Senate to conduct a full scale investigation. It makes a handy campaign issue - and it will hang in there until Election Day.

Tom Kean

Former Governor Tom Kean has been asked by national and state Republican leaders to run for the United States Senate seat currently held by Democrat Frank Lautenberg.

Kean is expected to make an announcement concerning his decision this week. If Kean decides to respond to his party's request, the unpopularity of the Clinton administration probably will be a factor in his decision. A campaign by Kean will undoubtedly have Kean running against the Clinton administrapolicies — at this writing, Frank Lautenberg would have a very difficult time defending Clinton.

YOUR OPINION

Recycling can save big bucks

To the editor:

Now that Essex County guarantees $72.75 per ton for dumping fees to the municipalities, I still believe that the Township of Belleville can save the taxpayers next year, by planning now, to do our own garbage pick up and recycling

Our garbage contract for 5 years, I believe, is $3,444,791.40. Next year the contract is up and I know it will be more. If we buy three trucks, pick up only once a week, like other towns do (like Bloomfield), have another truck follow and pick up glass, paper and cans, we can save money we pay to pick them up — about $112,000 per year. Plus another $300,000 per year for garbage. Trucks are about $100,000 each - buy four. Salaries for nine men about $225,000 with benefits, to start. So far, trucks and men are $625,000. Tipping fees will be the same -

Pick up garbage once per week — Monday to Friday. Split the town into five districts — every home and business will have service guaranteed. Plus pick up their recycling items the same day by another truck.

I spoke to an official in Montclair. They were going to contract out their garbage but they changed their minds. With the outside cost of labor and other costs, they can do it cheaper. They are now buying bigger trucks.

Maplewood, Millburn and Livingston are towns, I'm told, that are looking into doing the pick-up of their own garbage.

On teachers' 'demands'

To the editor:

I am writing to reply to Mary DeAgazio's letter, particularly the last few paragraphs.

I recall when there were twice as many students and then some, in each classroom (thus discounting how hard teachers work today). She fails to mention how many of her teacher friends get summer jobs, how many people can do this, and still get paid from their primary job?

wonder if Mary DeAgazio thinks she'is the only one driving an old car? I suggest she buy a newer used car, or leftover model, she certainly could afford it on a teacher's salary.

Nary DeAgazio and other teachers fail to realize how they are forcing many residents, senior citizens and other working people out of town because of the excessive taxation, partly due to the unending money demands by teachers and board of education. It certainly is the truth, face up to reality!

Mr. Emil (Buzz) Voga

State grants are available to buy trucks and our town will be much cleaner by picking up everything — newspapers, junk, garbage, furniture, appliances and other recycling materials. Let's look into these savings

Joseph Fornarotto A Concerned Citizen Who Cares

On Wallace & Tiernan

I appreciate the balanced reporting Wallace & Tiernan received in the August 25 edition of the Belleville Times, as well as the insightful front-page editorial. I would, however, like to use this forum to respond to some of the questions and comments raised in the article attributed to Nick Sicurello, President of Local 370 of the IUE.

Nick has suggested that union workers are being asked to make concessions, but that management and salaried workers are making none. I cannot go into the negotiations process in this letter, but I would like to make the following comments.

1. We have not asked our unionized employees to take a pay cut. Furthermore, Mr. Sicurello's claim that the upper management of Wallace & Tiernan received a 9% wage increase is without any basis in fact and nowhere near reality.

2. Consistent with what other companies have had to do to react to the ever-increasing cost of medical benefits, our salaried work force is provided with a competitive level of benefits at a reasonable payroll deduction. The union hourly work force has a higher level of benefits and a much lower payroll deduction.

3. The salaried work force, which has been reduced by 40% over the past four years, has been going through a constant change in operational procedures during this time in order to improve their efficiency. We are now asking our union workers to give us more operational flexibility.

I am empathetic with Mr. Sicurello's feeling that the union workers have a gun held to their heads. Unfortunately, we all have a gun held to our heads, and it is in the hands of the competition. The competition have been changing and improving their operations at a faster pace than Wallace & Tiernan, and we need to catch up if we are to survive in today's competitive environment.

George N. Rufenacht, President Wallace & Tiernan, Inc.

I know you've been waiting all summer for this.

The annual NFL predictions, which are usually as accurate as a snow fall during Memorial Day weekend. Nonetheless, I'll give it an effort, as I do every year around this time. Last year, I went with Houston and Philadelphia in the Super Bowl, which wasn't too bad considering both teams did make the NFL playoffs.

This year, we'll look at each division in the NFL, beginning with the NFC EAST: Until somebody beats them, the Dallas Cowboys are the best in this division. (And this from an Eagles season ticket holder). Dallas will probably sign Emmitt Smith before the start of the regular season, and while he probably won't play in the opener against Washington, Smith will eventually make an impact in the division.

The popular sentiment is the Eagles will be terrible this year after losing a number of free agents. But Philly still has a strong nucleus and if Randall Cunningham steps up like a lot of people feel he will, the Eagles will be much better than anticipated.

Phoenix might be the most improved team in the division while Washington we hotice the loss of coach Joe Glbbs, not to mention mammoth lineman Jim Lachay.

The Giants will struggle, especially with the lack of a pass rush. The offense should be more creative, but you know Dan Reeves' success against NFC East teams of late when he coached at Denver.

In the NFC East: Dallas 11-5, Philadelphia 10-6, Phoenix 9-7, Washington 8-8, Giants 6-10.

NFC CENTRAL: Popular sentiment says this is Green Bay's year. While preseason is not always the strongest barometer, there are noticable weaknesses in the Pack. They spent a lot of money during the off season and finished just 1-4 in the exhibition games.

The Lions are the favorites here, thanks to a rebuilt offensive line and a year to recover from tragedies incurred during the '91 season and the subsequent off season.

Minnesota will be tough, and they easily can be divsional winners. But the quarterback situation is iffy, especially with the fragile Jim McMahon. The Bears and Bucs have a long way to go. In the NFC Central: Detroit 10-6, Green Bay 9-7, Minnesota 9-

Chicago 6-10, Tampa Bay 5-11.

NFC WEST: The Saints will once again be close, but the Niners are still the best here, and once again, could be the best in the conference. San Francisco's early season QB woes shouldn't affect the team too

New Orleans will be a playoff calibre team again, but the Saints can't seem to overcome the big hurdle. The Rams and Falcons will probably battle or third place.

In the NFG Vest: San Francisco 10-6, New Orleans 9-7, Los Angeles 6-10, Aranta 6-10.

AFC EAST: Another division where the popular sentiment points to a particular team. This time, it's Miami, where a number of former Eagles have migrated south. The Dolphins have a potent offense and improved defense, but, and I know people don't want to hear this again, the Buffalo Bills will still be the divisions best.

The Bills have a solid team returning, and the only question will be the scars suffered from last January's Super Bowl.

The Indianapolis Colts will continue to be competitive while the Jets will struggle again and the New England Patriots, with Bill Parcells leading the way, will be entertaining but still last.

In the AFC East: Buffalo 10-6, Miami 10-6, Indianapolis 9-7, Jets 5-11, New England 4-12.

AFC CENTRAL: The Houston Oilers blew that 35-3 third quarter lead in Buffalo during the playoffs last year and they haven't heard the end of it yet. The Oilers have a talented team, and with Buddy Ryan coaching the deense and the offense primed for a final run at the big time, the Oilers should win the division and have home field advantage throughout the playoffs.

Pittsburgh will be strong and could be a wild card team. Cleveland will come close and Cincinnati will struggle.

In the AFC Central: Houston 11-5, Pittsburgh 9-7, Cleveland 7-

AFCE WEST: It should be a two team race, maybe three if Denver returns to prior season success. San Diego will be strong and many have already picked them to be the AFC champ in 1993.

But the choice here is Kansas City, and for one reason: Joe Montana. He's still the best in crunch time and he's looked very good in pre season. Joe might be the last hurdle the Chiefs need to clear to get to the Super Bowl

Denver should break .500 while the Raiders and Seahawks should take fourth and fifth place respectively.

In the AFC West: Kansas City 10-6, San Diego 9-7, Denver 9-7, Los Angeles 7-9, Seattle 4-12.

In the NFC, Dallas will get home field for the playoffs. The wildcard teams are Philadelphia, Green Bay and New Orleans. In the NFC championship game, San Francisco plays at Dallas and the 49ers return the favor and beat Dallas to advance to the Super Bowl.

In the AFC, Houston gets home field. The wildcards are Miami, Pittsburgh and San Diego. The AFC title game will be in Houston, with Kansas City playing Houston. Once again, I'm going with the visiting team to win.

Thus, the 1994 Super Bowl, set for Atlanta, will feature Kansas City and San Francisco. 300 should make for quite a story.

LAST WEEKS QUIZ and San Francisco. Joe Montana against his former teammates. It

The '68 Jets lost to Buffalo, Denver and the Oakland Raiders. All three losses were on the road. In the playoffs, the Jets beat the Oakland Raiders 27-23 to win the AFL championship. Back in '68, the playoffs were much shorter, with just one game for the title. The Jets beat the Raiders at Shea Stadium that year.

In the Super Bowl, Matt Snell scored the Jets only touchdown. The Jets won, 16-7 at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

FOR THIS WEEK

In that 1968 season, the Jets played just one game to win the AFL title. However, the Oakland Raiders had to play an extra playoff game to get to the title game. Why did Oakland have to play that extra game? Who did the Raiders play? Where was the game played? Name the Raiders quarterback and head coach in '68.

T.V. PART 3 The saga con hues. "Just when you thought it was safe to go back in the water" 1, "she's back". Or, "T.V., 2 1/2, the Smell of Fear." Whatever the saga, T.V. continues to drive me crazy.

Stay tuned.

Pasterchick, Dena, Kuebler excel in liftathon

93 Bucs begin full practice

By Mike Lamberti

You know the high school football season has officially begun when the dreaded "double sessions" commence.

Such is the case at Belleville High as the 1993 Buccaneers began two-a-days last Monday and will continue until the start of school next Wednesday

Head coach John Senesky, entering his 17th season as the varsity mentor, was very pleased with the summer camp, which concluded last week with the annual decathalon. We'll have complete details of the decatablon in next weeks issue. We will tell you now that the results were very good, with eight athletes passing the 1,000 point plateau.

"We were very pleased with the summer camp," Senesky said. "We enjoyed working with the Junior Bucs as well. It gave the younger kids a chance to see what is expected on the varsity level. The kids are in good condition, and that's important because we have a lot of young players this year who need to learn positions, and it's imperative to be in good shape first."

The coach is also pleased with the enthusiasm put forth by the

"We have a small senior class this fall," Senesky said. "We'll have 13 seniors on the team, which is one of the smallest senior contingents we've had in a long time. The team is very enthusiastic about the season. They're a good group of kids."

The Bucs open the pre season next Wednesday, September 8, when they play at Scotch Plains beginning at 4 p.m. On Saturday September 11, the team is at Colum-bia for a 10 a.m. start. On September 14, it's off to Bloomfield for a 4 p.m. game and the pre season ends on September 18, with the annual game at Livingston.

The regular season kicks off Friday, September 24, with a night game at Don Bosco, starting at 7

In late June, the annual lift-athon was held at the Belleville High School weight room.

Brian Pastercick led the way, bench pressing 255 pounds for three repetitions. Robert Dena cleared 250 pounds, Ray Kuebler finished at 245, Amir Darwish lift-ed 220, Frank Marrero and Dan Christoforatos finished at 215 pounds, Cliff Mann cleared 210 and Joe Berg closed out the 200 pound

lifters with a bench press of 205

The lift-a-thon is designed to raise money for the Belleville football scholarship fund. This year, Kuebler led the way, raising $306.00 for his weight lifting efforts.

Others who earned $110.00 or more include David Chululandana ($210.00), Pasterchick ($200.00), Jason DiCosta ($185.00), Sal Berardi ($180.00), Tom D'Elia ($166.00), Mike Mundy ($122.00), Joe Citarel-la ($115.00) and Ed Molina ($110.00).

We'll begin regular coverage of the '93 football Bucs in next weeks issue with the decathalon results and Senesky's report on the first week of full practice.

We'll also have photo coverage of the just completed summer camp in next weeks issue.

PETROLEUM JELLY IS ON A ROLL

PETROLEUM JELLY IS ON A ROLL
First, it was noted by scientists at the University of California, San Francisco School of Medicine that petroleum jelly not only moisturizes, but repairs damaged skin. Now, researchers at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine have concluded that petroleum jelly protects mice from the harmful effects of ultraviolet B light. The Pennsylvania researchers noted that the petroleum jelly-coated mice had ten times fewer jelly-coated mice had ten times fewer tumors than untreated mice after 20 weeks of exposure to UVB radiation. Repeated applications of petroleum jelly also caused skin to become thicker, which in itself helps shield the skin from UV damage. While no one is advocating that petroleum jelly be used as a beach sunscreen, nightly applications can help repair skin damaged by SUN EXPOSITE.

Aluminum Privacy Fence Is Homeowner's Dream

Every year an increasing number of property owners are discovering how to turn their "chore time" into enjoyable "trisure time" by installing a new Jerith maintenance-free aluminum privacy fence. This remarkable fence never needs painting or costly repairs because the finish won't crack, chip, or peel. Aluminum extrusions are combined with sturdy aluminum panels to produce a fence that is beautiful, strong, and durable.

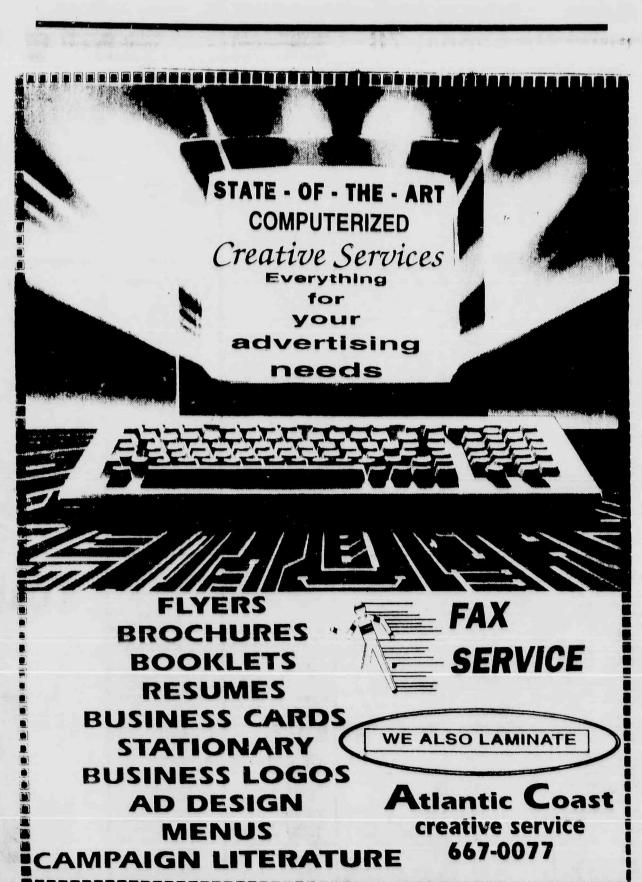

The Aluminum Privacy Panel

The Aluminum Privacy Panel Fence is perfect for pool enclosures because even years of repeated splashings from chlorinated water will cause no damage—not even rust! Those without pools will enjoy this privacy fence because it provides the ultimate in security and protection against intruders and unknown outsiders. And it creates a lovely retreat for family activities.

As a manufacturer of aluminum products for over 40 years, Jerith is well known for its high quality and product reliability. This is why Jerith guarantees its aluminum fences as long as you own your fence! A wide variety of attractive designs which complement all types of architecture is available. Other Jerith aluminum fence styles include their Ornamental Fence and Picket Fence.

For a free color brochure displaying Jerith's full line of maintenance-free aluminum fences, write to Jerith Manufacturing Company, Dept. HTV3, 301 G Street, Philadelphia, PA
