Management, workers back to Square One as Wallace & Tiernan proposal is withdrawn

By Howard Klausner

The management of Wallace & Tiernan, makers of water purification systems for the world, has withdrawn a proposal made to the 650 employees in which union rules would have been eliminated in a new method of production operation.

Management urged adoption of the new work rules, stating that modernization of the workplace was essential to competition in the world market.

Local 370, International Union of Electricians, which represents the workers, had balked at the proposal. A voice vote rejected the plan, and efforts to have a new election have failed.

However, sources at W&T have said that no plans are under way for the closing or moving of the Belleville operation.

ille operation.

"We are simply considering our options," a spokesperson for management said.

Earlier, management had stated that rejection of the work rule changes would mean that the plant, established here since 1914, would be moved.

The company was acquired last year by North West Water, an English firm.

Local management said that North West Water would invest some $16 million in plant improvements if the firm decided to keep the plant here.

Nicholas Sicurello, President of the Local, issued this statement:

"Wallace & Tiernan consistently made it clear that there was no guarantee that the company would remain in Belleville for any length of time even if the members accepted the company's proposals.

"While employees' seniority and salaries may not immediately have been affected by the company's offer, an employee's seniority could have been rendered meaningless by other language changes proposed by the Company.

"Further, an employee's pay rate could have been reduced if he was unable to keep pace with the Company's changes to the job performance standards or if the Company's reduction in force language was implemented."

Sicurello criticized what he called the management's tactics in coupling the proposal with a threat to move the plant if it were rejected, and said that the voice vote reject-

Congressman Klein: 'It will be passed'

Final drive begins for Congress' approval of bill for formal recognition of Belleville

By Howard Klausner

With the help of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and the Belleville Renaissance Committee - headed by Louis Cicien - Representative Herbert Klein will contact every member of the House of Representatives to ask endorsement of his bill to give formal recognition to Belleville's role in the American Industrial Revolution.

Packets of information for each Congressman are being prepared by the Belleville Chamber.

Accompanied by a covering letter by Representative Klein, the information will be distributed to the Members of Congress.

In a meeting with Cicien on Sunday, Klein said he believed, "It will be passed."

Belleville has been seeking federal recognition as the Birthplace of The American Industrial Revolution, because steam power was introduced here to America, and the first modern steam engine factory functioned in the Soho area of Belleville, next to the Second River, in the 1790s and early 1800s.

Josiah Hornblower, who gave the name of Belleville to what had been the village of Second River, brought the first steam engine to the New World in 1753, setting it up across the Passaic River to pump water from the Schuylkill Copper Mine.

The Schuylkill property was then considered to be part of New Barbadoes, the predecessor name for Second River.

Subsequently, drawn here by the success of Hornblower's steam engine, Nicholas Roosevelt - a great uncle of both Franklin D. Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt - set up a machine works in Belleville than began the manufacture of engines.

Some of the first steam engines made in Belleville powered the Philadelphia water works on the Schuylkill River.

In 1798, the United States Patent Office granted Roosevelt the patent to the first modern steam engine made in America.

Roosevelt also pioneered in steam transportation, and from Belleville went the technology that produced steamships and railroad engines.

In 1938, President Franklin D. Roosevelt told an audience in Kentucky at the Ohio River, "The first steamboat which navigated this river was built and run by old Nicholas Roosevelt."

In 1814, Roosevelt was granted a United States Patent for the paddle wheel steamboat, which he had developed before Robert Fulton did.

Roosevelt was partner with Robert Stevens, who helped develop the American railroad industry, and Robert Livingston, who backed Fulton in building the Clermont, the first commercially successful steamboat.

Because it was here that steam power was introduced and made feasible for industry and transportation, the Belleville Times asked for recognition of Belleville as Birthplace of The American Industrial Revolution.

This does not conflict with Paterson's claim to being America's first Industrial City. But steam power was the basis of the Industrial Revolution in Europe and in America.

Governor James Florio formally recognized Belleville as Birthplace of The American Industrial Revolution, as did the New Jersey Legislature.

The packet of information will include copies of the Patents of 1798 and 1814 granted to Roosevelt; the Governor's Proclamation; a copy of the Belleville Township Resolution urging recognition, and extracts from the diary of Thomas Cope of Philadelphia, written in 1800, which confirms the existence of the Roosevelt steam engine factory and the use of its products in the new Nation.

Belleville police arrest five in Joralemon St. drug bust

Using a search warrant obtained after an investigation of several weeks, Belleville police entered a home at 362 Joralemon St. late last Thursday and arrested five persons on charges of possession and intent to distribute narcotics.

Three women and two men were found in the apartment, along with an undisclosed amount of marijuana and $130 in cash, police said.

Detectives Michael Giuliano and Robert Capece obtained the search warrant. They entered the apartment of Joyce Ann Willis, 27, at 11:20 p.m., Nov. 11.

Accompanying Giuliano and Capece were Detectives James Giuliano and Vincent Celfo, and members of the Patrol Division.

Arrested with Miss Willis were Jason Aiello, 19, of North Arlington; Donna Carroll, 19, and Sharon Carroll, 18, who resided in the apartment, and Christopher Reed, 31, of Lincoln Park.

All were charged with possession of narcotics. Miss Willis and Reed were also charged with intent to distribute, and doing so within 1,000 feet of a school. School Three is nearby.

All the suspects were released in bail or on their own recognizances, to await arraignment.

Detective Captain William Escott said the investigation was part of an ongoing program of narcotics control by the Narcotics Squad.

The Belleville High School Class of 1943

By Ruth Lockhart Lombardi and Muriel McAllister Hamilton

Saturday evening, Oct. 9, 1993, 68 classmates of the 297 graduates - Class of 1943 - attended the 50th Reunion at the Forest Hill Field Club in Belleville. They were joined by their spouses and children.

It was a most enjoyable evening, with excellent service and excellent food. Leonard Ronco was the Master of Ceremonies and led the classmates in a night of fun and laughter.

Len has served as Superior Court Judge for the State of New Jersey for 16 and one-half years. Brilliant career!

He was assisted in announcements, presentations, etc. by Muriel McAllister Hamilton and Ruth Lockhart-Lombardi, Co-chairpersons. (They attended Grade School Number 5 together.)

After graduation, Muriel went into Nurse's Training and married Edward Hamilton; they still reside in Belleville and have two sons and three grandchildren.

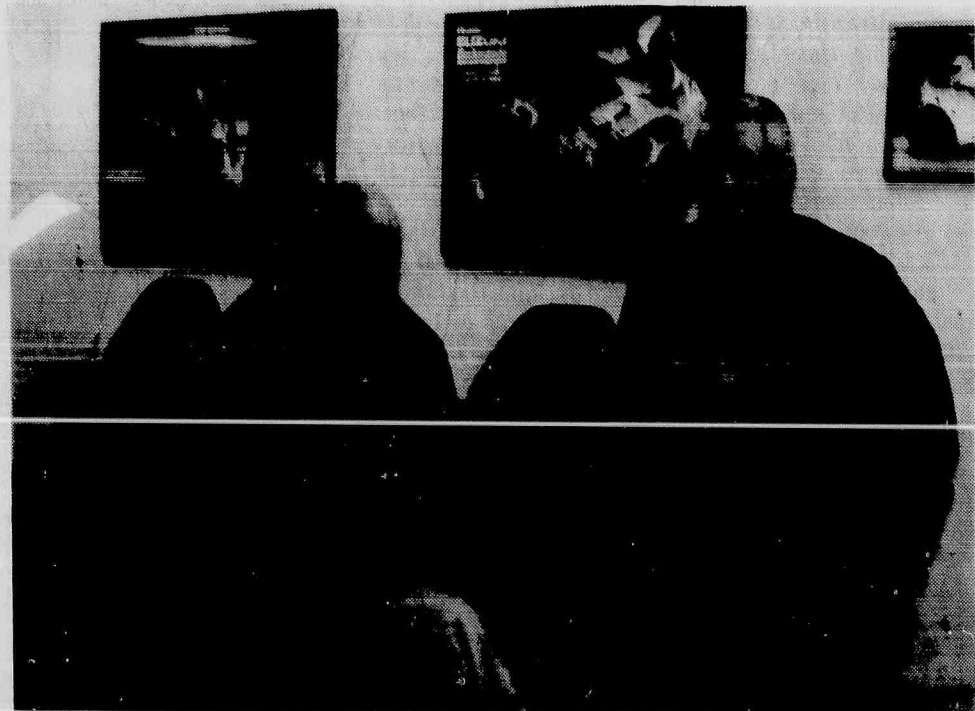

Note: There are still 30 classmates residing in Belleville!

Ruth started her secretarial and eventual management career with ITT Corp., working for the Presi-

Talk about the troubles that beset a Do Gooder! John Grande has returned from a tour of eye banks in Europe and Asia with a harrowing record of surviving threats to life, limb and liberty - to say nothing of digestive disasters that could have stopped an army. The Belleville native is chairman of the International Committee of the International Federation of Eye Banks and in this capacity, and at his own expense, he and wife Traude visited eye banks from Great Britain to Taiwan, with about 15 stops between. ●●●● The eye banks are just that, reserves of corneas taken from deceased persons to be provided to those afflicted with corneal blindness. In the Czech Republic, a man who had been blinded at the age of seven by an exploding shell he had discovered shortly after World War II had his vision restored through a corneal transplant. Three brothers in an Asian country who had been blind since childhood because of genetic defects were restored to vision at the same time. More than 6,000 people have had their vision restored through the eye banks established by the IFEB, with only 10 to 15 million more to go. "It is the most wonderful feeling in the world to see these things happen," Grande said. It made the suffering worthwhile. ●●●● Things moved fairly smoothly across Europe and into Israel, where the Grandes had the chance to visit Jerusalem and the holy sites, and when they reached Egypt, it dawned on them that the atmosphere for a couple of Americans was not quite what it had been in Vienna or Prague. "The hotels were about 40 percent filled, and of the guests, we seemed to be the only European types. In fact, we were the only ones. We knew the terrorists were targeting European and we started feeling like targets." ●●●● The Grandes were well protected in Saudi Arabia, where the appearance of women in Western style clothing is still a matter for concerned comment. But illness began to strike. "In Asia, we had to have an alcohol rub for our hands whenever we shook hands, or some kind of bacteria could hit when we touched our faces. We needed an alcohol rub after touching money. We had to breathe in dust which was made up of particles of animal dung. There was no way we could avoid bacteria." The Egyptian version of Montezuma's Revenge struck first, and hard. "There were times the pain was so bad I could hardly stand up." But it was important to complete the mission. ●●●● In Bangladesh, a general strike was in progress, and four soldiers were provided as bodyguards when the Grandes went from their hotel to a ribbon cutting ceremony for a new eye bank. "I knew the had orders to shoot to kill, if a mob threatened us, and I pleaded with them not to shoot anybody." After all, he had come to help people, not to kill them. A Cabinet Minister was among those attending the ceremony, and a good thing, too. The next day, at the airport, Grande decided to photograph his wife as she boarded the Bangladesh Air Lines transport. An armed guard immediately tore the camera from his hand and screamed that he was taking pictures of nearby fighter planes, and that he was going to jail. Nearby Bangladeshi passengers said later that they never expected to see Grande again, that being the nature of Bangladesh justice. Traude ran from the plane and tried to tug her husband from the grip of the soldier. Then a passenger rushed forward and showed the soldier a newspaper with a picture of Grande and the Cabinet Minister, taken at the ribbon cutting. The guard relented, and the Grandes were off and flying out of that turbulent country, where mobs riot on two second notice.

In another Asian city, Grande saw snake charmers plying their art in a public square. He took photographs, and when he sought to return to his hotel, the snake charmers, and a supporting mob of onlookers, blocked his way. The charmer demanded 500 rupees for having his photograph taken, and Grande could only produce 100 rupees, which the snake charmer threw scornfully to the ground. The crowd now became more menacing. Grande suddenly began shouting angrily at the mob, and caught off balance, they let him through. "I had to walk across a pavement covered with cobras, and I hate snakes," Grande said. Traude had to unwind a boa constrictor somebody had draped around her neck. It was a fast trip back to the hotel. ●●●● Even something as prosaic as dancing with one's spouse could take on political overtones, the Grandes learned. They were at a restaurant in Burma when the orchestra played an American song that had sentimental meaning for them. So they stood up and danced, and after a frozen silence among the other diners, there was a burst of applause. "We applaud you for the courageous political statement you made," a Burmese said. "What courage? What statement?" Grande asked. "The government has prohibited dancing in public since 1972," the Burmese said. "You were very brave." ●●●● By the time the trip was over, another three eye banks had been opened, and plans were under way for more - in Latin America, Vietnam and what used to be Yugoslavia. But the trip almost came to an ignominious end in midstream. "I was in a street, backing up to avoid being run over by a water buffalo, and as I backed up, I looked around, to see I was about to be run over by an elephant." Well, not much different from the traffic pattern in Boston, we'd say.

Our Frecholder Cat, Baldassaro DiVincenzo Mitten said he asked Church Cat Bonafacchio for guidance on clergy taking money from politicians to discourage their flock from voting. "He said that a $500,000 donation by a political campaign manager to a church is not to be discouraged. It might even lead to church attendance." ●●●● Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch said his organization, the Kool Kucumber Boys, thinks a price policy should be set for payoffs to non-voters. "Considering that the Boys have always been willing to settle for 10 bucks a head, they don't see why they can't get the same amount for staying home," Zilch said.

Woman charges sexual assault

A 59-year-old Belleville man has been charged with sexual assault by a 30-year-old woman employed as bartender at the Go Fish Restaurant on Washington Avenue.

Police arrested the man on Tuesday, on the complaint of the woman who said he fondled her against her will, while she was in the restaurant at 2 a.m., Sunday.

Police did not report the reason for the delay in her making the complaint.

Detective Craig Mack made the investigation.

OUR OPINION

An apology to Kevin

In a previous editorial dealing with the Dec. 7 recall election in the Third Ward, we let Council hopeful Kevin Kennedy fall victim to our confusion over the alphabet.

We stated that he had opposed the change of government, while he actually was a supporter of it, and we apologize to him for that misstatement.

Mr. Kennedy was a charter member of the C.B.B. - Citizens for a Better Belleville - which urged the change of government from Commission to Council-Manager.

The C.C.B. - Concerned Citizens for Belleville - was opposed to the change, and filed petitions against the referendum that was to pass it.

We erroneously put Mr. Kennedy into the C.C.B. camp.

This confusion of letters is the reason for the organization of the K.K.B. - the Kool Kukumber Boys - who don't file petitions for anything, except to raise bail occasionally.

And then, again . . .

To keep the record straight, we must point out that Kevin Kennedy's campaign publication, called Belleville Reporter, states that Third Ward Councilman Tom Spillane said, "I've got more money that I know what to do with," and that this quote appeared in the Belleville Times of Dec. 26, 1992.

Well, it would have been difficult for that quote to have been published in that issue because there was no edition of Dec. 26, 1992, and a careful perusal of the issues of Dec. 23 and Dec. 30 of that year show no such quote.

Aside from blaming Mr. Spillane for the alleged increase in crime in the Third Ward, Mr. Kennedy makes an interesting point in discussing the outlay for engineering work.

Mr. Kennedy states that the last engineer - whom he does not name, but who was Stanley Stier - was paid $61,000 a year. The current engineering firm that was hired as an economy measure by Township Manager Stephen Cuccio has received $270,000 in fees, to date, according to Mr. Kennedy.

Yet Mr. Kennedy puts the blame for this on Mr. Spillane rather than on the Council Majority which sustained Mr. Cuccio in firing Mr. Stier.

Mr. Kennedy also takes Mr. Spillane to task for the payment of more than $170,000 to the previous Township Attorney, Vincent Nuzzi, for one year's work.

He neglects to point out that among the results of Mr. Nuzzi's removal was the Township's agreement to pay Newark $1,000 per million gallons of water, when previously the Township was paying $250 per million. A number of other costly decisions face the Township, in the wake of its dismissal of an attorney who had never lost a case for Belleville.

We repeat our support of Mr. Spillane, who has been one of the voices on the Township Council that has opposed the dismantling of the Council-Manager form of government.

There may be some substance to many of Mr. Kennedy's criticisms of the Township Administration, but he is aiming his attacks at the wrong man.

Speaking out of turn

It has always been our contention that bringing in hired guns from out-of-state to run political campaigns in New Jersey is self defeating.

Every State of the Union has its own nuances, and its own sensibilities.

Ed Rollins is a reverberating example of the loud mouth who is either ignorant of, or totally indifferent to, the realities of New Jersey.

Noted for running particularly vicious campaigns, he repeated the process, somewhat to the embarrassment of Governor-elect Christie Whitman.

Then, in an outburst that is peculiar to Mr. Rollins, he attributed the victory to his "cleverness" in bribing ministers not to encourage their flocks to vote for Governor Jim Florio.

We doubt that he paid any money to ministers, but we strongly suspect that money did go to somebody to lie down on the job of bringing out Democratic voters. It was not just in black districts that the turnout was lower than expected. It was in predominantly white, blue collar areas where this phenomenon occurred.

And it is not something totally unknown to New Jersey politics, to either party.

The probability is that Mr. Rollins' shenanigans, real or imaginary, had little or no effect on the outcome. The economy never did come to the rescue of the Florio administration, and the hurt from the tax increases remained.

But Mr. Rollins' statements have left a legacy of ill will and suspicion that is no fault of Mrs. Whitman and the many good people who supported her.

And from now on, could we not have campaign managers who know New Jersey, and have to live here after the election results are in?

YOUR OPINION

Third Ward's vote

To the editor:

I can't believe what is going on in the Third Ward. Last year, the Council was hopelessly deadlocked over the issue of employee health care benefits. We all knew that we were paying too much for what we were getting in return, but we could not come to an agreement as to what to do about it. We had come to one agreement which would have saved the taxpayers a great deal of money, but the unions perceived it as inferior to what they already had and they got an injunction which prohibited us from implementing that plan. Then the Council considered another plan and the unions threatened to get another injunction.

At that point, Tom Spillane took the bull by the horns and formed a two-man committee with Township Manager Steve Cuccio. Tom Spillane kept me fully informed about what was going on with that committee. He and Steve got eight proposals from five different companies. That is what government is supposed to do. Two of the proposals from Blue Cross were far superior for Belleville's needs than the other six. Steve and Tom then entered into negotiations with Blue Cross to fine tune the best proposal. They then presented their plan to the employees, who agreed that it was in the best interest of the township and also met the conditions of the union contracts.

Finally, they presented their plan to the entire Council and it was accepted by the entire Council by a 6-0 vote with one abstention because of a possible conflict by one of the Council members.

That contract which Tom Spillane rode herd on until it was passed by the entire Council guaranteed savings of $600,000 and will probably save the taxpayers of Belleville $1,100,000 in the 1993 contract year.

To my way of thinking, we don't recall someone who saves us over a million dollars a year. Perhaps we should give him a medal but we certainly don't want to get rid of him. While I can't vote for him, I hope that those citizens who can realize he has served their best interests quietly and effectively. He has my full support and I hope he will still be working for Belleville after the Dec. 7 election.

Jim Messina
1st Ward Councilman

B.I.A.C.A. is thanked

To the Editor,

I would like to thank the Belleville Italian American Civic Association for one of the most rewarding experiences of my scholastic career.

With all the negative attention Belleville receives, it is you and your organization which makes this town as great as it is.

To be honored by people of my heritage was the most important acknowledgment I have received as a student.

Good luck to you and your organization. You deserve the best.

Piu grazie,

Successful I.D. Day

To The Editor,

I would like to publicly thank all of those who have made the 8th Annual Child I.D. Program a success, once again.

On Saturday, Sept. 25, approximately 110 children were processed, by having their personal description fingerprints and photo taken. This program could not have been a success without the interest of the parents who brought their children and the volunteers who donated their time.

I must thank all the following: Officer Dominic Palmari, Essex County Sheriff's Department; Detective Tom Agosta, Belleville Police Department; Sheriff Armando Fontoura, and Chief Raymond Kimble for their continued support in providing the officers, annually.

Thanks to Sergeant Ralph Sarno of the Essex County Crime Prevention Officers Association who donated the use of the equipment.

Also, I must extend my thanks to Kathy Drozd, Marie De Leva, Toni Ann De Leva, Delore Tremarco, Ann Sibilia, Marie DeSantis, Michel Bochenek who represented Governor Jim Florio, and all who made this program possible.

Mario Drozd
Belleville Deputy Mayor

An open line

To the editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my family, friends and all my loyal campaign workers throughout the district for sacrificing their precious time in my successful bid for the 5th District Freeholder seat. All of your hard work is greatly appreciated and will not be forgotten.

Again, I thank all of you for your support. Until such time as my new Freeholder office is set up, I can be reached at 893-0235.

Louise M. Palagano
5th District Freeholder-Elect

The Governor writes

To The Editor,

As Governor of the State of New Jersey, I am pleased and privileged to extend greetings to Mayor Marina Perna, Deputy Mayor Mario Drozd, citizens of Belleville and everyone attending today's event (Children's I.D. Program).

Our children are our most precious resource, and we must do everything possible to ensure their safety. I commend the Township of Belleville for taking the initiative to continue to sponsor the identification program.

Although I hope that none of these precautions will be necessary, I am sure that the parents here today feel safe in knowing that should anything happen to their children, through the help of this program, they will be returned to their families safely and without injury.

Pleased be assured of my ongoing support and best wishes for continued success with this program.

Jim Florio
Governor

Veterans' Day apathy

To the editor:

As a veteran, I must write and let you know how appalled I was at the complete lack of interest people have in the Veterans' Day holiday and the celebration of the day.

Must there be a war on before we are interested enough to honor our servicemen and pay tribute to our veterans?

Each year, veteran groups throughout the United States program events to honor Veterans' Day, usually beginning with a parade. Each year, private organizations and bands agree to march with the veterans and each year the same thing happens. Half of the organizations who said they would participate do not show up and it leaves a group of veterans marching by themselves.

People — please remember — these same veterans marching by themselves now, defended you and your families. They protected a nation's homefront in a time of conflict and war. If the "vets" did not make it possible for you, there would not be a holiday to celebrate or a homefront to celebrate it on. How about some respect and honor for them?

Veterans — join the veteran organizations. Show yourselves, especially for Veterans' Day and Memorial Day programs. These days have been set aside for you. The United States thrives because of the freedom it has from the fruits of your labor. Be proud of yourself and what you did for your country.

Let's we forget.

Larry Bell, member
American Legion Post 105, Belleville
Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 493, Nutley

November photography

exhibit features Tom Babich

The photography of Tom Babich of Fairlawn is currently on exhibit during November in the Trustees Gallery of the Belleville Public Library and Information Center during Library winter hours.

Mr. Babich first became interested in photography in 1961, beginning as so many photographers with a simple plastic box camera, working his way up to a Polaroid Land Camera in 1965 and a 35mm camera around 1970.

In the 70s, he worked with medium and large formats. Today, he works almost exclusively with large cameras.

In 1972, he joined the Camera Club of Fair Lawn, where he learned about the use of the darkroom and black and white printing. This training was augmented over the years by workshops with George Tice of the New School in New York City, Maine photographic workshops with John Sexton, many lectures and seminars and his own constant efforts to refine and improve his craft.

The photographer has had a solo exhibition at the Pondhole Gallery in 1989 in Pompton Lakes and has been in group shows at Nathan's Gallery, Paterson, in 1986, and the Ringwood Manor Arts Association in 1990. With the Camera Club of Fair Lawn, he has exhibited several years at the Fairlawn Public Library and at the Ringwood Manor West Wing Gallery in 1978 and 1979.

With the Camera Arts Group, he has exhibited at the Pondhole Gallery in Pompton Lakes in 1990, the Paterson Museum in 1991, the Nabisco Galleries in 1992 in East Hanover, and the Barron Arts Center in 1992 in Woodbridge.

Currently, he is a member of The Friends of Photography, San Francisco, and The Camera Arts Group in Rutherford.

The exhibit can be viewed on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and on Wednesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. If you are coming from a distance to view the exhibit, please call ahead at 450-3434 to ensure that the gallery is not being utilized for a program.

Summer workshops attended by teachers

Several teachers of Belleville Middle School took advantage of workshops to improve their professional expertise. Marica Miele, the art teacher, attended the National Gallery of Arts Teacher Institute in Washington, D.C. Fifty teachers from all over the United States studied the Modern Art period 1900-1940 through lectures, gallery tours and hands-on workshops.

"This was such a rewarding experience as well as a sharing of philosophies with teachers from all over the country," said Miele.

A Middle School calculator workshop was completed by John O'Brien, a mathematics teacher. This course was given at Montclair State College and will include follow-up sessions. The course was part of the Transit-NJ plan to introduce technology in the teaching of mathematics. O'Brien will be incorporating the course material in preparing students for the Early Warning Test.

Robert Silvera, also a mathematics teacher, attended a two-week workshop at Stevens Institute of Technology, entitled CIESSE, Center for Improved Engineering and Science Education. This was the first year of a three-year program that was developed to seek remedies for poor performance of students with school mathematics. The workshop consisted of utilizing different kinds of computers, previewing software and discussions on strategies for implementation of mathematics skills. Completion of the three-year program will lead to a teacher mentorship program.

Another mathematics workshop was attended by Genevieve Troccoli, a special education teacher. This two-day workshop on multi-sensory math was offered by the Orton-Dyslexia Society. The program offered insight into the need for more student involvement with various manipulatives such as cuisinaire rods, fraction tiles and pattern blocks. Skill at using these tools will help to foster a realistic understanding of mathematical concepts.

These workshops as well as courses attended by other Middle School teachers seek to improve the skills necessary for teaching in today's classrooms. The teachers are to be commended for their interest and concern in preparing youngsters for tomorrow's world.

Dr. and Mrs. Bonato honeymoon in Florida

Mary DeBellis, daughter of Palma DeBellis of Newark, formerly of Nutley, and the late Vincent DeBellis, became the bride recently of Dr. Frederick P. Bonato Jr., son of Frederic Bonato and Ms. Joanne Bonato, both of Belleville.

The Rev. Michael Kreder performed the ceremony in St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Bloomfield. A reception followed at The Landmark, East Rutherford.

Readings at the ceremony were by the bride's uncle, Eugene DeBellis of Clifton and Ken Gruchacz of Clearwater, Fla.

Escorted by her mother, the bride wore an off-the-shoulder long satin gown adorned with lace, white sequins and pearls and fashioned with a cathedral train. The full skirt and train was later removed to reveal a straight skirt accented with lace and sequins.

A tiara of pearls and sequins held her veil and she carried a cascade of white roses and other flowers with strands of pearls.

The bride's sisters, Donna Russo of Clifton and Diane DeBellis of Cedar Grove, were matrons of honor. Bridesmaids included Natalie Crosta of Clearwater, sister of the groom, Karen Keseling of Hoboken, Sherri Hayek of Nutley and Robin Bonato of Carlstadt. Samantha Drees of Passaic, Godchild of the bride, was flower girl.

They were attired in off-the-shoulder black crepe gowns with satin collars and carried red roses, red and white carnations and other white flowers.

Victor Bonato served as his brother's best man. Ushering were Michael Vigilante of Nutley, Vincent Lambriola of Cedar Grove, Joseph Russo of Clifton, Joseph Granata of Blandon, Pa. and Scott Crosta of Clearwater.

Mrs. DeBellis chose a violet crepe gown while the groom's mother was in a black beaded gown.

Mrs. Bonato, an alumna of Nutley High School, is manager of the Investment Operations and Financial Reporting departments at Prudential Fixed Income Advisors, Short Hills.

Dr. Bonato, also a Nutley High School graduate, earned undergraduate, graduate and doctoral degrees from Rutgers University, Newark. He is a professor of psychology at Upsala University, East Orange and a karate instructor at Enshin Karate School, Newark.

Focus now on Thanksgiving Day

St. Joe's too much for Bucs

By Mike Lambert

When it's time to look back on the 1993 Belleville High School football season, you can be assured that when the Bucs lost, they lost to the very best.

Last Saturday, Belleville ventured to Montvale to play powerful St. Joe's, ranked fifth in the state and holders of a 7-0 record. On the line was a shot at the NNJL Pacific Division championship and a chance to finish with six on field victories for the first time in seven seasons.

Despite a tremendous effort, the Bucs fell short to St. Joe's, losing 28-3 on a blustery afternoon. The defeat evened the Bucs record at 4-4 (4-2 in the NNJL Pacific Division) and now sets the stage for THE GAME, the Thanksgiving Day battle at Nutley. There is more on this rivalry in this weeks issue, and there will be plenty of pre game analysis in next weeks issue.

"They're the best team we've seen this year," a gracious head coach John Senesky said about St. Joe's. "They've got all the tools. Good passing game, solid running game, strong offensive and defensive lines and the ability to come up with the big play. They're a super team and will be very tough in the upcoming playoffs."

St. Joe's will be the top seed in their Parochial group this weekend when the state playoffs commence at schools throughout the state.

The Bucs displayed a gritty attitude throughout the contest. They were able to move the ball effectively in the first half, driving from their own ten to the St. Joe's two yard line. Leading the way in that drive was quarterback Mike Mundy, who passed to wideouts Mike Loney, Anthony Frantantoni and Joe DePeri. Running well were Anthony Caruso and Dino Durante.

The Bucs, who trailed 7-0 before starting the drive, faced a fourth and one at the St. Joe's two. The coaching staff elected to attempt the three points, rather than go for the first down, or possible score, on fourth down.

"We felt it was important to get some points on the board," Senesky said. "We didn't want to come away from that drive with nothing."

"On third down, they stuffed our running game at the two," assistant coach Joe D'Ambola said. "There wasn't a question, we needed the points. It wasn't the time to take a chance and come away with nothing."

Mundy came in and kicked the field goal to cut the St. Joe's lead to 7-3.

The Bucs played inspired defense until late in the second quarter, when St. Joe's, with its potent passing game, took over. The home team tallied 21 points in the final 3:35 of the second half and turned a close game into a blowout by the half.

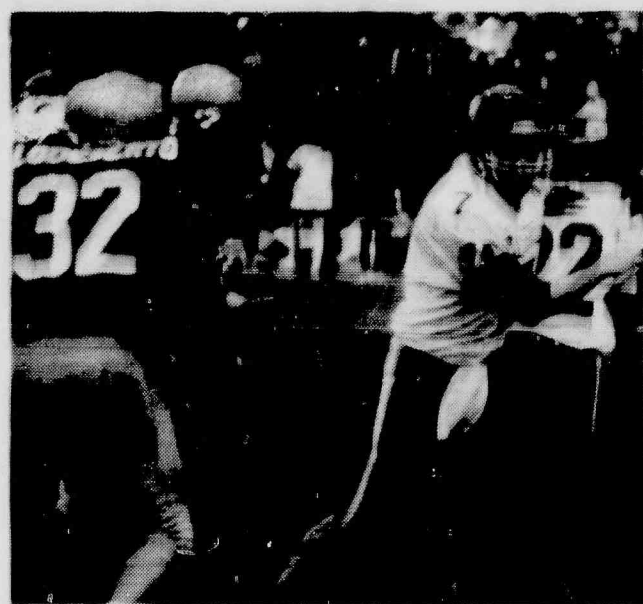

"I was proud of the way our kids played in the second half," Senesky said. "They didn't quit. They played hard and tried to make things happen."

"There's no quit in that locker room," D'Ambola said, pointing to the Bucs locker room back at Doc Ellis Field. "They played hard. St. Joe's is a tremendous team. We'll learn from this game and take it to Nutley. That's a big game for our team."

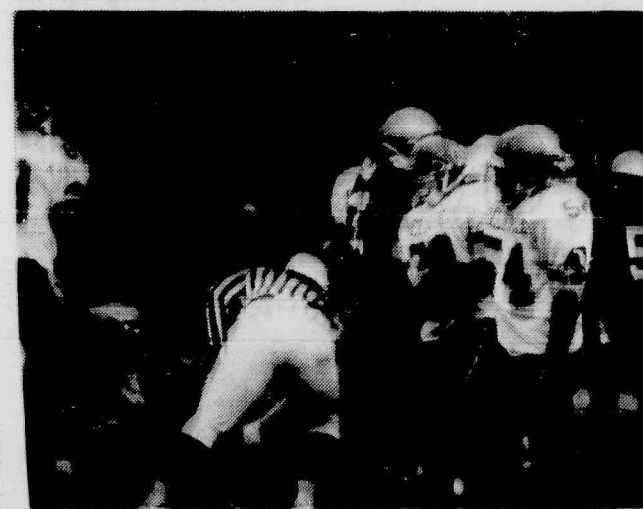

On offense, Frantantoni made an excellent catch on the scoring drive. Defensively, he came up with a big interception in the end zone to deny a St. Joe's touchdown in the second quarter.

"What hurt us was their running game," Senesky said. "They had two big runners who we couldn't contain. Then, when we tried to stuff the run, their quarterback would take over and hit some big

Caruso, Zigarelli epitomize 'the look'

By Mike Lambert

It has to be "the look."

What else could you call it when a Belleville athlete discusses a game, or match, with Nutley?

Belleville and Nutley compete against each other in just about every varsity sport, from September through June. But there is something different about football. It's probably because the teams play each other just once a year, and the result is generally discussed, non stop, for the next 11 months before another chapter in this saga is written.

Welcome to Belleville-Nutley week, 1993!

"There's nothing like playing Nutley," Buccaneer head coach John Senesky said. "The result of that game makes a season for the winner, regardless of the record."

Senesky should know. He has been coaching in this game on the varsity level since 1977. He was a Belleville player in the game in 1962 and '63. He has been the freshman and JV coach in the Belleville system since the late 1960's.

"I remember the game in 1962," Senesky said. "Back then, we played Nutley earlier in the year, but a hurricane moved the game back until the final week of the season, right around Thanksgiving. "We had a good team in '62. We lost our opener (to East Orange) then won the next seven games. But we knew that the season wouldn't be a complete success unless we beat Nutley."

The Bellboys would not be denied that day 31 years ago, beating the Raiders 33-12. Senesky scored a touchdown that day.

Fast forward to 1979. The Bucs are heavy favorites to win at Nutley. But the Raiders hang tough. Belleville leads 7-0 on an Ed Aulisi to Len Mendola TD pass in the third quarter. Late in the game, Nutley rallies, but the Buc defense stiffens and Belleville wins seven zip.

As the Bucs headed to the bus, Senesky talked about the game.

"We should have been able to move the ball better," he said. "We didn't play as well as we would have liked. But it's a win over Nutley. Anytime we can beat them, it's special."

The determination of the Belleville, and the Nutley athlete, when it comes to this game is very special. In 1990, Billy Salvatore wasn't supposed to play because of a badly sprained ankle.

Salvatore not only played, he scored the first touchdown of the game. His play gave the Bucs the momentum for good and Belleville won, 21-6.

Last Saturday, at the Belleville-St. Joe's game, Salvatore was asked about that game three years ago.

"Did you ever think you would sit that game out," I asked him. "Are you kidding?" he responded. "I was a senior, it was my last game. If I could walk, I was playing."

Along with Salvatore at last Saturday's game was Art Caruso. The senior quarterback of the '90 Bucs, Caruso damaged his knee in a violent second quarter collision.

As the doctor worked on him on the sideline, I walked over and said, "are you going back in?"

There was no response. Just "the look", which meant, basically, the question was too stupid to answer.

Caruso not only went back in, he led the Bucs on a tremendous scoring drive which sealed Belleville's victory and clinched a 5-4 campaign.

In 1989, the Bucs had lost a heartbreaking 6-0 decision at Nutley in a brutally cold afternoon. That year, the game had been moved from Thanksgiving to the Saturday after because of a big snowstorm that hit on the holiday itself.

The 1-7 Bucs of 1989 played the playoff bound Raiders tough, but Nutley scored in the fourth quarter and held on to win. As the Belleville players left the locker room for the last time in '89 at Doc Ellis Field, Sean Kimball, then a junior running back who was injured and did not play, came up to me.

"Only 362 more days," Kimball said. "Until what?" I asked. "Until we play Nutley again. I can't wait."

The sights and sounds of Belleville-Nutley speak for themselves. There is the Thanksgiving Day ceremonies, when the senior cheerleaders and band members say goodbye at halftime while the band plays "the party's over." The cheerleaders generally cry, the band plays a little longer, and the parents come out on the field to have their pictures taken with the young adults who are taking part in their final Belleville-Nutley game.

In 1990, the players were loosening up before the Thanksgiving Day game. It was about 10:30 a.m. and the PA system at Doc Ellis Field was testing its audio strength. Suddenly, a song blared out from the speakers, a song that anyone associated with Belleville football instantly knew.

In 1980, it was the Bucs theme song, played at Giants Stadium after the Bucs had beaten Morris Knolls in the first round of the playoffs. Now, ten years later, "Another One Bites the Dust," by Queen was back on the airwaves, and the goosebumps could be felt by anyone who had any idea of the significance of that song.

Russ Cirillo, a coach on the '90 Bucs and a player on the '80 Bucs, turned around instantly when he heard the song and looked at me. We didn't have to say anything. If that song didn't epitomize the importance of that game, nothing would.

This year's game should be another great contest. After the Bucs lost at St. Joe's, fullback Anthony Caruso walked off the field. He had injured his neck in the game.

"Are you okay," I asked him. "I'm fine," he said. I knew the answer to the next question, but had to ask him anyway, because I wanted to see if "the look" in 1993 was any different than that of previous years.

"Do you think you'll be able to play at Nutley?" I asked him. "Are you kidding," Caruso asked. "Nothing keeps me out of that game."

The enthusiasm doesn't stop at the players. Maria Zigarelli is a senior captain of the '93-94 Belleville cheerleading squad. She could not cheer last week because of a sprained knee.

During halftime, I was talking to a few of the cheerleaders and asked Zigarelli if she would be okay for Thanksgiving.

"Of course," she said. "Do you think I'd miss this game? It's my final football game. We've (the cheerleading squad) been together for three years. It's our final game together. No way do I miss this."

No matter how you cut it, Belleville-Nutley is special. Back in 1981, when the Bucs and Raiders played in the third week of the season, junior quarterback John Borrello was set to make his first varsity start.

The night before the game, Borrello was at the varsity gymnastics match.

"Are you nervous about the game," I asked him. "What?" he said. "Are you kidding?" To which he then flashed "the look", the look that said Belleville-Nutley is something special.

Since this rivalry was moved to Thanksgiving in 1984, the Raiders have held the upper hand, winning six times to Belleville's two with one tie. The game has actually been played on Thanksgiving just four times over the past nine years. In 1985, '86 and '89, the game was moved to the Saturday after the holiday because of bad weather. In 1991 and '92, the playoff format moved the game from the holiday because Nutley qualified for post season play. In '91, they played before Thanksgiving, last year, it was the Saturday after.

As the players boarded the bus after last Saturday's game, assistant coach Gennaro Russo asked me the following question. "When was the last time we won at Nutley?"

"1983," I said. "We've scored just six points there the last four meetings combined."

Is ten years long enough? Is it time for Belleville to win at Nutley?

"I don't think the road game matters," Senesky said. "Nutley's had some good teams over the years. We'll get ready for this years game and see what happens."

Whether your last name is Zigarelli, Caruso, Salvatore, Borrello or Kimball, there's one constant.

It's "the look".

By the time Thanksgiving Day 1993 rolls around, it will probably be upgraded to "the stare".

"It's, THE GAME," Senesky emphasized. "Forget the records here. There's a lot at stake."

THE WINTER SPORTS SEASON is just around the corner. We'll have the schedules for girls' basketball, boys' basketball, wrestling, indoor track and bowling, hopefully, in next weeks issue. If they don't make next week, they definitely will appear the following week.

IS THANKSGIVING DAY JUST A WEEK AWAY? I guess so, even though the temperature today (Monday) hovers around the 75 degree mark. Since the calendar insists Thanksgiving Day is next week, then we might as well get the hype started about the traditional football game between the Bucs and Raiders.

This years game will be at the Oval, with the kickoff set for 11 a.m. There is more on the rivalry in this weeks issue. Next week, we'll have a preview on the series and a look back at some of the great games of this series.

WE'LL HAVE A FEATURE STORY coming up in the next few weeks on the 1993-94 cheerleading squad. This year, the team has two captains, Maria Zigarelli and Kelly Talbot along with two co-captains, Donna Driggers and Kristina Galloto.

The cheerleaders are a senior oriented squad this year. Of the 17 athletes, 13 are seniors, two are juniors and two are in the sophomore class.

"We're going to miss this," Zigarelli said about the end of the football season next week. "We've had a lot of fun."

The cheerleaders were certainly opinionated about cheering, football and all the hard work it takes to be successful in this sport. And don't forget, cheering is a very competitive, difficult sport to master.

"We go to cheering camp and put in a lot of hours," Talbot said. "It takes a lot of practice to learn the routines."

Most of the girls will take part in cheering competition next month and through the first three months of 1994. They will also be cheering for boys and girls' varsity home basketball games.

Anyway, I'm sure you'll find the article interesting.

THE BELLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL BAND has done an outstanding job this year, as usual. Joe Kramer's team competed at Giants Stadium recently in a band competition and does an outstanding job in entertaining the fans during halftime.

Next week, we'll have photos of the band during their halftime performance at St. Joe's last weekend. It's great to see so many talented musicians in our township. If you attend the Belleville-Nutley game on Thanksgiving, make sure you watch our band perform. You won't be disappointed.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL CONTINUES TO INTRIGUE. Notre Dame surprised Florida State last weekend in South Bend. Already, the experts are calling for a rematch between the two schools in the Fiesta Bowl on New Year's Day. Well, before that happens, Notre Dame must stop Boston College, which it probably will, while Florida State has to defeat Florida in two weeks, which is not at all a sure thing.

The key to the bowl coalition this year is this weekend's game between Miami and West Virginia. Should Miami win, the Hurricanes have to be considered a serious contender for the national crown and might warrant a shot at Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl, ahead of Florida State, even though Florida State beat Miami a month ago.

If West Virginia wins and Florida State gets by Florida, then look for West Virginia to go to the Orange Bowl and play Nebraska while Notre Dame gets the rematch with FSU in Tempe.

My theory about UCLA quite possibly being the best team in the country went out the window last weekend when the Bruins lost to Arizona State, 9-3. Now, the Bruins need to beat arch rival USC this weekend to gain a berth in the Rose Bowl. Michigan and Ohio State play this weekend as well, and there's nothing Michigan would love more than to beat OSU and deny the Buckeyes a shot at Pasadena.

If Ohio State loses, then Wisconsin would have the inside track, provided Wisconsin can win its final two league games.

And what about Nebraska? Despite its 10-0 record, the Huskers are not getting much respect from the pollsters. They are ranked third, but not many people are giving them much of a chance to beat Notre Dame, FSU or Miami in the Orange Bowl.

Instead of predictions, let's see what happens on the field. This weekend is big, with West Virginia-Miami, Ohio State-Michigan and UCLA-USC on the docket. The results of those games will go a long way in determining the bowl picture come January 1.

THE JETS HAVE WON 3 STRAIGHT. Before we order the playoff tickets, a little history is necessary. The '91 Jets, who also made the playoffs, had a home game in the tenth week of the season against a winless team, the Indianapolis Colts. The Colts prevailed by one point. The victory turned out to be the Colts only victory of the year. The Jets finished 8-8 and still managed a wildcard berth.

Now, two years later, the Jets enter a key home game against another winless team, this time, the Cincinnati Bengals. This is a very dangerous game for the Jets. I think they should win, but the upset is not out of the question. Don't laugh, this is exactly a game the Jets can lose.

Remember one more thing. The Jets have a habit of providing a team with their only win of the year. In 1980, they lost by one point to the New Orleans Saints at Shea Stadium in week 15. The Saints ended up 1-15.

Even the year they won the Super Bowl, 1968, the Jets ended up losing a game to the Buffalo Bills, 37-35. That Bills team finished the season 1-12-1.

While we're on the subject of professional football, my Philadelphia Eagles will snap their five game losing streak this weekend when they play host to the Giants. The Eagles, who should have beaten the Dolphins last weekend, will win, let's say 20-17.

THIS WEEKS QUIZ

In the 1990 Belleville-Nutley game, who scored the first Belleville touchdown? How did that player score the TD? What was the final score of the game. Who was named MVP of the game for Belleville?

AND FINALLY....The high school football playoffs begin this weekend. If you get a chance, try and stop by one of the stadiums and see a game. You'll see some quality football from possibly future college and professional stars.

Bucs getting ready for 'THE GAME'

St. Joe's improved to 8-0 following the victory. To give you an idea of how strong the four teams are that have beaten the Bucs, consider the following facts. The combined record of the four teams that Belleville has lost to is 28-3-1. St. Joe's and Randolph (7-0-1) are undefeated. Hackensack has one loss (that to St. Joe's) and Bergen Catholic is 6-2. All four teams are headed to the playoffs, with St. Joe's, Randolph and Hackensack assured of top seeds in their respective divisions.

"We knew it was going to be a tough schedule," Senesky said. "But we have an opportunity to finish with a winning record if we beat Nutley and we also have the chance to have a 5-2 record in the league, which is something to be proud of."

And now, the preparation for Nutley begins.

"It's THE GAME," Senesky said. "This game can make or break a season. Nutley has struggled the past few weeks, and a victory over us would make their year. If we can beat them, it would be a great ending to our season and assure a winning record."

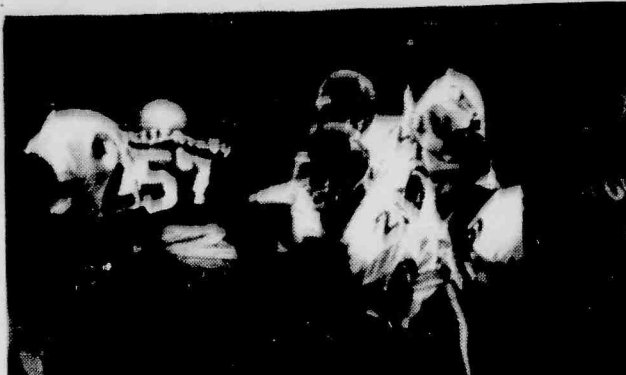

Incentive, anyone?

NOTES: Bucs and Nutley have played some great games over the years. We'll have more background on the series in next week's issue. Last year's game was a beauty, with Belleville and Nutley finishing in a seven all tie.

No serious injuries to report from last week's game. Caruso sustained a neck injury, but he's sure he'll be able to play at Nutley.

Bucs haven't won at Nutley in ten years. Since the series was moved to Thanksgiving Day in 1984, Nutley holds a 6-2-1 edge. Belleville's last victory in this series was in 1990, when the Bucs won 21-6 at Doc Ellis Field. That victory enabled Belleville to finish 5-4 on the season. A month later, that mark improved to 6-3 when the loss to Bloomfield in week two of the '90 season was overturned because the Bengals used an ineligible player.

Joe DePeri looks for someone to block as Buc runner gets some daylight during early action last Saturday.

Buc players converge on St. Joe's runner and stop him for short gain in third quarter.

Carissimo, DiGuglielmo head Jersey Jammin show

When does halftime at a Giants game become an extravaganza to help children with asthma breathe easier?

Sunday, November 28 when the football Giants clash with the Phoenix Cardinals.

The occasion will be the Giants 5th Annual "Jersey's Jammin'" benefit show for the American Lung Association of New Jersey (ALANJ). More than 230 aerobic athletes from the tri-state area will perform an 8-minute country-western theme "workout". The performers represent Jazzercise, the Fitness Professionals and the East Coast Alliance of Aerobics and Fitness Professionals.

Kim Carissimo of Nutley, president of the Target Zone and director of aerobics at Classic Athletic Club, Lyndhurst, is event director; Buddy DiGuglielmo of Belleville is the choreographer, and Stephanie Akers of Hackettstown is the Jazzercise coordinator.

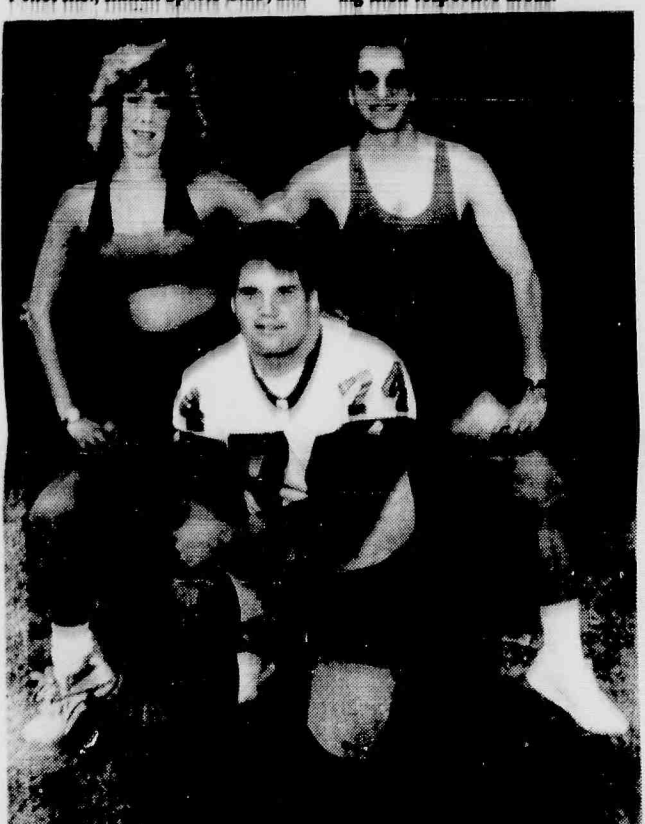

Associate sponsors include Vision Cable of Bergen County, Bergen Home Fitness, Coleman & Pellet Inc., Inman Sports Club, and Erik Howard's Neutral Zone Restaurant.

Since its inception in 1989, this Giants event has raised more than $230,000 for the ALANJ. Proceeds are dedicated to "Camp Superkids," the ALANJ's summer camping program for children with asthma. Erik Howard, Giants All-Pro lineman who has asthma, is chairman of "Camp Superkids" and is honorary director of the event.

"This is an extraordinary volunteer effort," said Tom Power, Giants Director of Administration. "The participants will log more than 5,000 hours getting ready for the show, and each performer has to raise at least $125 for the Lung Association."

Because of its success and spectator appeal, several NFL teams including the Chicago Bears, San Diego Chargers, Miami Dolphins, Green Bay Packers, and New England Patriots have taken a play from the Giants community service game plan and sponsor similar benefits for the ALA groups serving their respective areas.

Silicone implant controversy causes concern for many

Since the silicone breast implant story hit newspapers a few months ago, The Bloomfield Radiological Center has received numerous calls from women who express concern about their implants, or who want more information regarding silicone implants.

"It's important for women to realize that mammograms and ultrasound are effective in detecting irregularities due to silicone leakage," Marianne Centanni, MD, said. "However, be sure that the person performing the mammogram is experienced in dealing with breast implants."

At this point, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) voted to restrict silicone breast implants until further studies are done. They advise women who have implants to watch for symptoms of rupture—pain, swelling, a change in the shape of the breast, or autoimmune disease such as arthritis and lupus in which the body attacks its own tissue. Those symptoms include fever, weakness, joint pain and skin rashes.

"If you notice any of these warning signs, you should contact your plastic surgeon immediately," Dr. Centanni advises.

The FDA panel said women who are considering breast implants should be aware of the following:

- ▶ Implants deteriorate as they age and won't last a lifetime.
- ▶ All of the devices "bleed"—some components of the silicone leak through the enclosed sac.
- ▶ Estimates of rupture rates vary. Implant manufacturers claim that less than one percent of implants rupture. The FDA cites figures as high as 14 percent.
- ▶ Young women with implants need not start their mammograms early, but the procedure should be done by a radiologist experienced with implants.

Maternity care in a shoebox Separating fact from fiction is essential to good health

The most common complaint of America's four million pregnant women is pain and discomfort in the lower back, legs and feet. Despite the tremendous advances made in prenatal medicine, the solution to this age-old problem comes from an unexpected source. In fact, it comes in a shoe box.

O.B. Gees, the first-ever line of footwear designed specifically for pregnant women, offers surgery-free, drug-free relief for one of the mother-to-be's most common ailments.

"In pregnancy, the center of gravity shifts forward," explains Judy Brady, the registered nurse and childbirth educator who invented the inserts. "To compensate, expectant mothers have a tendency to lean back on their heels, and this change in posture can lead to back pain and leg fatigue."

All O.B. Gees shoe styles are designed to accommodate the patented, interchangeable inserts. O.B. Gees 1 and O.B. Gees 2. Colored foam pads on the bottom of the inserts vary in thickness and density and offer different levels of support.

O.B. Gees 1 is for the first six months of pregnancy, when weight gain and a shifting center of gravity are just beginning. It offers maximum support in the arch and moderate support in the heel and toe areas.

After the sixth month of pregnancy, when muscle tension is the greatest, the pregnant woman replaces the O.B. Gees 1 insert with O.B. Gees 2. The placement of more weight on the heel and arch is offset by increased support in the second insert.

O.B. Gees are available in a variety of styles for work, home, evenings and weekends. Dress and casual pumps, sandals, athletic shoes and sneakers in fine leather and suedes are among the styles featured in the collection.

In addition, Brady makes the following suggestions to help relieve back discomfort:

- When lifting, don't bend at the waist, but at the knees, putting the leg muscles to work rather than the back;
- While sitting, put feet up no higher than footstool height; otherwise there is increased strain on the back;
- Exercise can help minimize back discomfort. Check with the doctor for the best routine before starting any exercise program; and
- Good posture is very important for a more comfortable pregnancy.

O.B. Gees are manufactured by Thorpe Shoe and are available at selected maternity shops across the U.S. and by direct-mail catalogue. To find the nearest store location or to order an O.B. Gees catalogue, call toll-free: 1-800-877-6347.

Early detection: the key to cure

We don't know the cause, and prevention is a mystery. But what experts do know is that the best and only tool available to detect and prevent breast cancer is early detection.

And fortunately today, advanced technology allows women and doctors to detect breast cancer early, saving thousands of lives each year.

Here's what you can do to help yourself:

1. Know your risks. Any woman can develop breast cancer, but some are more at risk than others. Your risk is higher than average if one of these apply to you:

- ▶ Your mother, sister, grandmother or aunt has had breast cancer;
- ▶ You are over 50 years old;
- ▶ You began to menstruate before age 12;
- ▶ You were older than 30 at the birth of your first child;
- ▶ You have never given birth;
- ▶ You are 40 percent above the weight that is normal for you;
- ▶ You have had cancer before.

2. Be aware of the warning signs—a lump or thickening in the breast, a change in breast shape or discharge from the nipple. See your doctor immediately if you notice any of these signs.

3. Perform breast self-examination (BSE) every month. Become familiar with your own breasts so that you can recognize if any changes occur. The best time to do your BSE is at the end of your menstrual period. If you don't have periods, do your BSE on the same day each month. If you do notice a change, call your doctor.

4. Have a mammogram. A mammogram is the most reliable method for discovering breast cancer. It can detect a tumor the size of a pinpoint—long before it can be felt.

To make an appointment for your mammogram, you can call Bloomfield Radiological Center directly at (201) 748-7799.

or in N.J. 1-800-286-1133

The new year is upon us, and with it our plans to keep the New Year's resolutions we've made. If you are like so many Americans, one of those decisions will have something to do with your own health and fitness.

But, with so much conflicting information circulating, it's hard to know what's right and what's wrong. This is particularly true of nutrition. Information: It seems that almost every week a new study is released, offering information which contradicts the findings of previous studies. It's sometimes tempting to just give up and eat whatever you want.

It's important not to let yourself get too confused by conflicting information. It's generally accepted that the key to good health is to eat a variety of foods, while cutting back on your intake of fats of all kind and of salt, and eating more fruits, vegetables and whole grains such as brown rice and whole wheat bread.

Of course, if you have a medical condition such as high blood pressure or high cholesterol, it's important to follow your doctor's orders, which may involve sticking to a restricted diet.

Achieving fitness goals

It's also easy to be confused about exercise. There are many myths circulating, spread by well-intentioned but misinformed people. To help you reach your fitness goals, the President's Council on Physical Fitness has reviewed and clarified some often-misunderstood fitness myths:

Myth #1: No pain, no gain. Many of us are still working out to the point of real discomfort, believing that if some exercise is good, more is better. Actually, this is how injury may occur. Research and case studies continue to support a moderate approach to exercise for health and performance benefits.

Listen to your body

This means regular well-balanced workouts that leave you feeling invigorated, not aching. When you exercise, you should feel like you are exercising—your heart and breathing rates should increase during aerobics, your muscles should feel the effort during strength and endurance work, and you should stretch to the point of tension, not pain. If your body hurts during or after, adjust your workout.

Myth #2: Exercise turns fat into muscle. Those extra inches of fat on your waist or thighs cannot be converted to muscle. Fat is fat, and muscle is muscle and they are two different substances. When you combine the right amount of aerobic work and muscle conditioning exercises with proper eating, you lose fat and build muscle.

Although muscle weighs more than fat, with the right combination of diet and exercise you should be able to reach your optimal weight and have a good ratio of fat to lean muscle.

Myth #3: Playing sports keeps me in shape. It depends. If you play an occasional (once a week) game of golf, you will not be getting enough of a workout to improve your strength, flexibility and endurance. Of course, if you walk the course briskly you will be burning extra calories. But the stop and start nature of the game prevents it from being a true aerobic workout.

Add regular workouts

Many recreational sports are important for relaxation, socialization and as supplements to a fitness program. Depending on your goals, you may want to add some regular workouts to your week. You may even find you'll do better in your sport.

Myth #4: The best time to exercise is before dinner. While some have reported an appetite suppressant effect of exercise one to two hours before a meal, the best time to exercise is the time that is best for you.

Early morning risers often find sunrise to be the best time for exercise. Many office workers welcome their workout as a mid-day break. The important point to remember is to warm up and cool down properly and to avoid exercising immediately after a meal.

Myth #5: It's not good to drink water during a workout. Losing too much fluid, which is possible when you exercise in hot, humid weather, can be very dangerous. Drinking small amounts of water or other recommended sport drinks keeps you hydrated and makes you more comfortable during your workout.

Myth #6: "I'm too old to exercise." It's never too late to exercise and the benefits are just as important. As Americans live longer, they need to maintain their health and physical and mental fitness to enjoy these added years.

Exercise programs for older Americans continue to spring up at recreation centers, hospitals and other community outlets. For seniors, improved strength, flexibility and endurance mean greater independence and a better outlook on getting older.

When bad winter weather drives you indoors, don't hibernate—stay healthy with an aerobic walk

Walking has gained increasing popularity as an effective yet injury-free alternative to running. But with cool, often damp weather creeping across the nation's temperate areas, and the first snowflakes flying in the northern "snowbelt," many people prefer to get their exercise indoors.

"It's dark by the time most people get home from work, and in many areas, that translates into unsafe situations," says Ed Paul, inventor and founder of NordicTrack. "Icy streets, oncoming cars, and even muggers create hazards to outdoor exercise. Those same conditions also make it uncomfortable for some people to go out to health clubs," says Paul.

When you're looking for the exercise that gives you the maximum aerobic and toning benefits in the least amount of time, remember that cross-country skiing is considered by experts to be the most efficient form of exercise.

You can get those same benefits indoors with NordicTrack, which offers the same total body aerobic motion. NordicTrack exercises all of the major body muscles, including the arms, shoulders, back muscles and trunk rotators, which are neglected in running or walking.

"NordicTrack's patented flywheel distinguishes it from shuffle-type ski machines because it gives a smooth, continuous motion that makes a vigorous workout easy and pleasant to sustain," says Paul.

"You get a better aerobic workout with NordicTrack in just half the time it would take if you were walking. In just 20 minutes a day, three days a week, you can tone your body, achieve cardiovascular fitness and maintain your weight," says Paul.

Prices range from $499 for the economical NordicTrack 505 model, to $599 for the popular Pro, to $699 for the Achiever. The Achiever's calibrated gauges, speedometer and accompanying slide chart also allow you to calculate the calories you burn.

Treadmills are an in-home alternative to walking, but experts note that they're expensive. Motorized treadmills, which range in price from nearly $1,000 to more than $3,000, are most often recommended. "The cheaper ones are propelled by the friction of walking on rollers. They're uncomfortable on the feet, it's hard to walk fast, and if they break down, it's difficult to get them serviced," explains Michael L. Pollock, director of the Center for Exercise Science at the University of Florida, Gainesville.

Treadmills, exercise bicycles and stairclimbers also have the disadvantage of thoroughly exercising only the lower body. Stairclimbers also carry a heavy price tag—up to $4,500 for a motorized machine.

Space for in-home exercise equipment is often a consideration for those considering an investment in fitness. "NordicTrack is only 23 inches wide and 70 inches long when set up, and can be folded up and rolled away for easy storage," says Paul.

So, to keep your exercise program going, or to get going on an aerobic exercise fitness program, get on track with a total body exerciser like NordicTrack.

NordicTrack, a CML company, sells its total body exercisers and pulse monitors throughout the country and the world through direct marketing and a toll-free number, 1-800-328-5888.

The facts and fallacies about headaches: Gender and heredity play important roles

Virtually everyone suffers from headaches now and then, but for some, the pounding pain is more of an annoyance than we realize. The National Headache Foundation emphasizes a need for people to recognize and treat headaches and corrects some of the common myths about them:

1. Myth: Headaches are "all in your head."

Fact: Of course they are; however, headaches are often thought of as an excuse or as a purely psychological phenomenon. The fact is, more than 45 million Americans each year suffer from chronic, recurrent headaches and between 16-18 million suffer from the most severe type of headache—migraine—with a loss of approximately 64 million workdays because of the pain.

2. Myth: All headaches are alike.

Fact: Not true. There are numerous types of headaches including sinus, cluster, tension, and migraine, which is the most debilitating. Your specific symptoms will help a physician treat and determine your headache type.

3. Myth: Migraines can't be prevented.

Fact: According to Dr. Seymour Diamond of the National Headache Foundation, there is preventative medicine for migraine sufferers. Inderal LA can be taken daily to eliminate attacks completely. It provides continuous protection against migraine and significantly improves the quality of life for sufferers. Also, modifications in diet and lifestyle have proven effective in preventing migraine.

4. Myth: Men get more headaches than women.

Fact: Women experience three times more headaches than men. In fact, 70 percent of migraine sufferers are women. Scientists suspect that changing hormone levels during menstruation and ovulation can be a factor in provoking an attack.

5. Myth: Food has nothing to do with headaches.

Fact: Certain foods can indeed cause headaches. Common culprits include: Chocolate, caffeine-containing drinks, nuts, Chinese food containing monosodium glutamate, and processed meats made with preservatives, such as hot dogs, salami and bacon.

6. Myth: Headaches aren't hereditary.

Fact: According to research, there appears to be a hereditary component to the disorder. In fact, 70-80 percent of people with migraines have a family history of the ailment. If both parents suffer from migraines, there is a 75 percent chance that their children will have migraines; when only one parent is a migraine sufferer, there is a 50 percent chance the child will be afflicted.

7. Myth: Weekends and holidays offer relief from headaches.

Fact: Unfortunately, those late-night parties during weekends and holidays are a prime cause of headaches. Amidst all the merriment, headaches thrive in smoke- and perfume-filled rooms. Also, excess amounts of alcohol and poor lifestyle habits, such as irregular sleeping and eating patterns, can contribute to the onset of headaches.

The myths continue, but to obtain additional facts about headaches, you can contact the National Headache Foundation to obtain a copy of their new brochure, "How to Talk to Your Doctor About Headaches." Send a self-addressed, business-size envelope with 50 cents postage on it to: National Headache Foundation, 5252 N. Western Avenue, Chicago, IL 60625, or call 1-800-843-2256.

Radiologist cautions women: Laxity about breast cancer is dangerous

Simply because it's never been in her family doesn't mean a woman needn't worry about getting breast cancer. In fact, most of the 135,000 diagnosed with the malignancy last year possessed no risk factors at all, according to Dr. Paul Rodriguez, a Kansas radiologist.

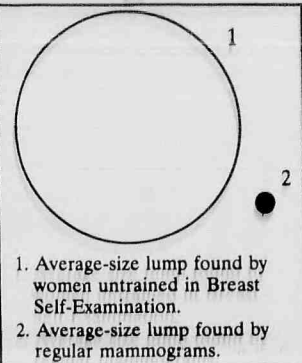

Dr. Rodriguez lists and elaborates upon those factors as well as dozens of other facts about the condition and its treatment in his recently published book, Breast Cancer, What Every Woman Should Know.

He says that one out of every ten women will develop the disease, which was fatal to an estimated 42,500 in 1988. In fact, it is the leading cause of death to females between 40 and 44.

"Tragically," he says, "fully 90 percent of these deaths could have been prevented by early detection." According to Dr. Rodriguez, far too many women wait until they feel a lump before seeing a doctor. He says that whereas self-examination is critical, it is estimated that in some cases the disease has been present for up to eight years when the tumor is large enough to be felt. He explains that since a million cancer cells would fit on the head of a pin, billions are present in a palpable tumor and by that time, there's a good chance the disease has spread.

Dr. Rodriguez strongly urges every woman 35 and over to get a mammogram, which is simply an x-ray of the breast. "It enables the cancer to be seen before it can be felt, which is the key to cure and recovery," he says. He adds that if a woman feels she is unable to afford a mammogram, the local chapter of the American Cancer Society can advise her as to where she can get it for free or at a sliding rate.

"Often, a woman is afraid to see a

1. Average-size lump found by women untrained in Breast Self-Examination.
2. Average-size lump found by regular mammograms.

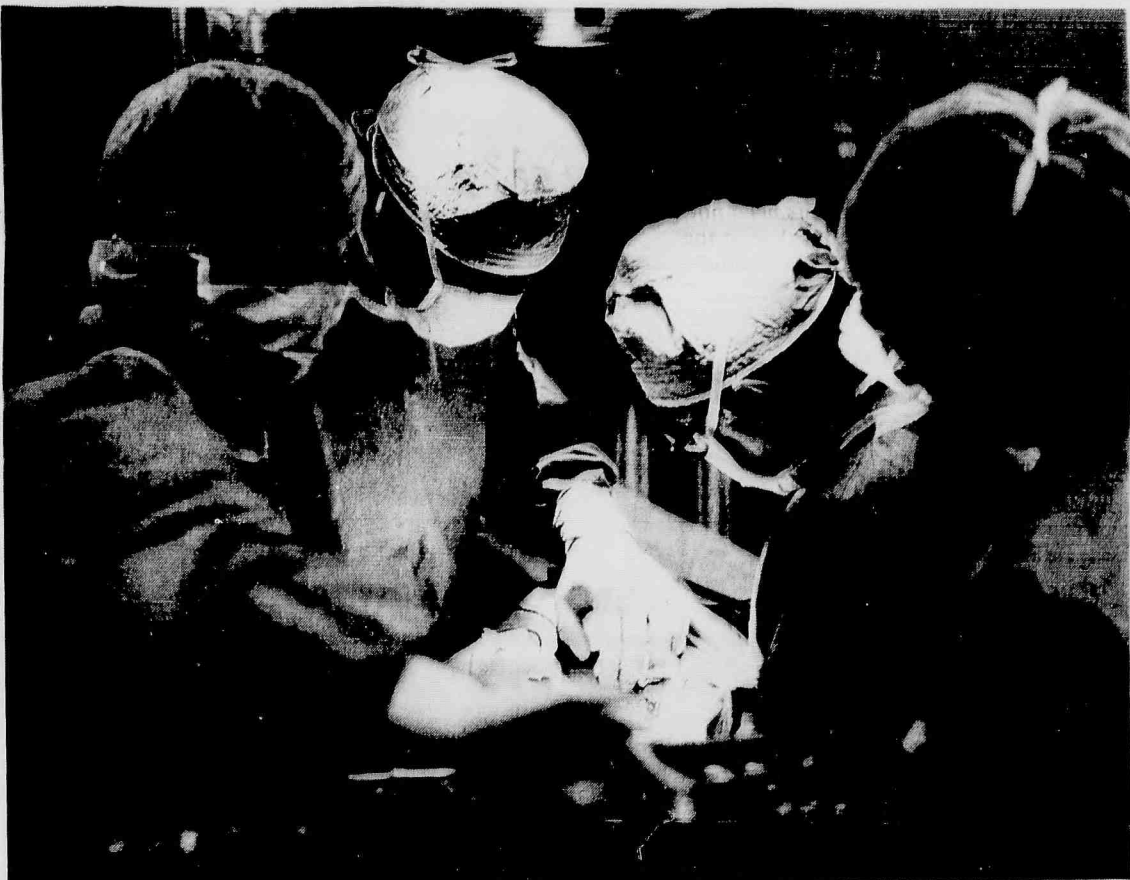

physician for a mammogram or when she finds a lump because she doesn't want to hear bad news," Dr. Rodriguez says. "But a delay could turn what might be a very treatable condition into a fatal disease."

He adds that it is no longer necessary that every breast cancer be treated by mastectomy. In some cases, only the portion surrounding the tumor is removed, and still others are treated solely by radiation and/or chemotherapy.

Even when a mastectomy is warranted, procedures have improved dramatically in recent years. "The days are long past when a woman need fear the treatment more than the disease," he says.

Breast Cancer, What Every Woman Should Know is available in book stores nationwide or by sending a check or money order for $9.95 plus $1.50 for shipping and handling to: Breast Cancer, P.O. Box 2537, Garden City, KS 67846, or call 1-800-535-5111 for Visa and MasterCard orders.

PREVENTING FEBRILE SEIZURES IN CHILDREN

In a happenstance that is sure to alarm any parent that witnesses it, between three and four percent of young children suffer seizures when they have fevers in the range of 101 to 104 degrees F. Aside from traumatizing both parent and children, an epileptic-like attack of a febrile seizure can cause injury due to falls or cessation of breathing. The findings of a study begun in 1986, however, should help reduce fever-related seizures and alleviate fears. The study, which followed 406 febrile seizure-prone children, found that the drug diazepam could reduce the risk of recurrent febrile seizures by 82 percent. Children who had experienced at least one febrile seizure in their lives were given diazepam only when they came down with a fever, and stopped the medication when the fever subsided.

You'll find all types of prescription medications and friendly, helpful service when you come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Avenue, 759-1968, 759-1956. We handle the sale and rental of convalescent aids, including walkers, wheelchairs, crutches and canes. A box of Russell Stover candy makes a great hostess gift if you have been invited for Thanksgiving dinner. Open: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sundays. Enjoy your Thanksgiving holiday.

HINT: Previously, pediatricians have prescribed the sedative phenobarbital to prevent repeated febrile seizures.

Know What You Spy When It Goes By

Fire Trucks

Pumper

The pumper (also called the engine or wagon) builds up the pressure so the water will spray out of the hose.

Hazmat

"Hazmat" stands for hazardous materials truck. It carries special equipment to accidents that involve hazardous materials.

Aerial platform truck

Oct. 3 through 9 is Fire Prevention Week.

This special week always includes the date of Oct. 9. That was the date in 1871 of the Great Chicago Fire, in which 250 people lost their lives.

Sparky is the symbol of fire safety. Dalmatians have been the mascots of firefighters for years. They used to run alongside the fire wagons to scare other animals out of the way.

Aerial ladder truck

Aerial ladder trucks do not have platforms. They have ladders with ladder pipe that can carry water up nine stories or higher.

GET ANOTHER COPY OF THE MINI PAGE. CUT OUT OR COVER UP THE LABELS. SEE IF YOU CAN IDENTIFY THE EQUIPMENT.

The Mini Page thanks the National Fire Protection Association, the District of Columbia Fire Department, Emergency One and Pierce Manufacturing for help with this story.

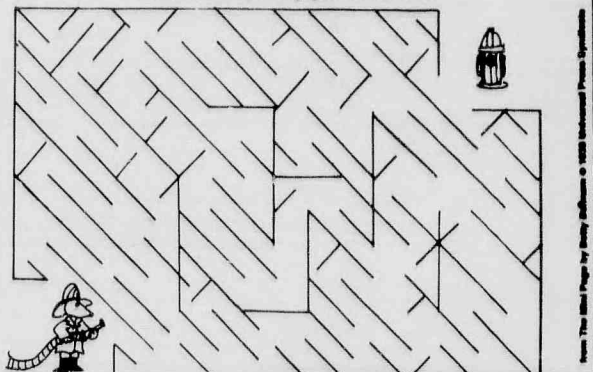

The platform truck carries ladders and other firefighting equipment. Two firefighters can stand in the bucket. This truck often is used to rescue people. Most models reach as high as six stories.

Enjoy Low Voltage Lighting Year-Round

Low voltage lights such as these Intermatic Malibu models, add a distinctive touch to homes in any season.

Most people associate low voltage outdoor lighting with summer activities on their decks or in their yards and gardens. But once winter's cold weather and shorter days begin, wouldn't you prefer coming home to the soft glow of outdoor lights instead of a dark, uninviting house?

Homeowners are increasingly realizing that the benefits of low voltage lighting—beauty, safety and security—apply throughout all four seasons of the year. In fact, a low voltage lighting set makes a great holiday gift that can be enjoyed soon after it's opened.

"Low voltage lighting is an easy, economical way to brighten up the appearance of your home any time of year," says Phil Kinzer, marketing manager for Intermatic Malibu. "Whether you simply enjoy gazing out your window on a winter evening or want to highlight your drive, walkway and landscape for guests, low voltage lighting adds an exciting new look to any home."

Each low voltage lighting set contains several fixtures, a power pack that converts 120-volt house current to a safe 12 volts and length of low voltage cable. Designed to be used around children and pets, the lights cost just pennies per evening to operate. The systems can be obtained at hardware stores, home centers, discount outlets, and lawn and garden centers.

A homeowner can install a low voltage lighting set in about an hour using ordinary hand tools. The wide selection of styles will suit any taste. The choices include traditional tier, mushroom, well and floodlight models, plus newer bollard, globe, carriage and crystal lights. Deck owners will also love the wide assortment of deck lights now available. In addition, power packs can be obtained with photo controls and motion sensors.

To help homeowners design, select and install their low voltage lighting system, Intermatic offers an informative 52-page booklet titled "Light Up Your Life." Each copy includes a coupon that can be redeemed when purchasing a Malibu lighting system.

To obtain your copy, send a check or money order for $1.75 to: Lighting Book, Intermatic Inc., Department SSA, Spring Grove, IL 60081.
