Caruso named M.V.P.

Anthony Caruso was chosen by the Athletic Director of Nutley High School as the Most Valuable Player in the traditional rivalry between Nutley and Belleville. The contest, which has a half century history, has been a Thanksgiving tradition for the last decade. The Belleville and Nutley Optimist Clubs have sponsored the awards for the last 10 years, and trophies were presented on the field after the game by the Athletic Directors and Optimist Presidents Robert Salvatore of Belleville and Ron Kulik of Nutley. ## Plot to photo ambush Spillane charged

Third Ward voters go to polls Tuesday to decide if it is Kennedy or Spillane

By Howard Klausner

The double barreled ballot in the Third Ward on Tuesday will ask voters if they wish to recall Councilman Tom Spillane, and then if they want to give the post to Spillane or to challenger Kevin Kennedy.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

First and Second District voters will cast their votes in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 98 Bridge St.; Third District voters at the Administrative Board office, 190 Cortlandt St.; Fourth District voters at the Wesley Methodist Church, 225 Washington Ave., and Fifth and Sixth District Voters at School No. 8, 183 Union Ave.

The election has been marked by strong degree of negative campaigning, particularly on the part of the Kennedy camp.

After an attack on Spillane's daughter for being hired as a substitute teacher with Community Mental Health of Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield, a supporter of Kennedy, Richard Yanuzzi, took pains to disassociate himself from the campaign publication which carried the allegations of favoritism.

Yanuzzi, who is Legislative Aide to Senator John Scott, came to the Belleville office of the Belleville Times to state: "My only connection with the campaign was to steer the candidate to a professional operative to manage his campaign. I have nothing to do with what appears in the newspaper."

The Newark Post Office reported that the bulk mail permit No. 4532 on the front of the "Belleville Reporter" is that of Richard Yanuzzi.

Louis Messano, Spillane's campaign manager, charged unfair smear tactics to the Kennedy campaign.

In a statement issued to the Belleville Times, Messano stated: "On Tuesday, Nov. 16, Kevin Kennedy, Richard Yanuzzi and Joe Scapporatta, while at the League of Municipalities Convention, attended a lavish cocktail party hosted by a large New Jersey law firm at the Taj Mahal in Atlantic City.

"They were equipped with a camera and took many pictures. While enjoying the drinks and food offered them by their hosts, they were also waiting for Councilman Tom Spillane to show up. They had planned to take his picture doing exactly what they were doing."

"But Councilman Spillane did not arrive at the party. In fact he did not attend the convention at all."

"The next day, Wednesday, Nov. 17, Scapporatta delivered over 2,400 copies of a campaign slander sheet to a mailing firm in Belleville. They still mailed their sheet saying Tom Spillane was in Atlantic City living it up on the taxpayers' expense. They even promised to show pictures of Spillane in Atlantic City." Messano charged a series of false statements to the campaign publication, "Belleville Reporter". "As with most things that Kennedy puts in his rage, there appears to be no relationship to reality. He just pulls figures out of the air," Messano stated.

Kennedy supporters, for their part, said that a campaign publication issued by the Spillane campaign contained allegations of an arrest record which Kennedy says never existed.

The Spillane campaign publication, "The Belleville Truth", showed photos of what it states are absentee ballots in which the name of Kevin Kennedy as a write-in candidate are marked in the same handwriting, or in typewritten letters, which the publication states indicates illegal tampering with the ballot. ## A week at School Nine: 'Grazie per visita!'

By School Nine Correspondent

The Fifth Graders in Mr. Wodopuja's class at School Nine enjoyed their Italian Festival recently. This class has been studying the location and heritage of Italy. What could be a better way to end this lesson ... An Italian Festival!

Mr. Wodopuja's classroom became an authentic Italian restaurant for the day. As people entered, they were greeted by a student dressed in black and white, wearing a flower. Italian music was played, making the atmosphere

ijalve, amici cari - Greetings, dear friend" was heard.

This is what the students had to say:

Michael Ansetta brought in pizza, to share his favorite food.

Gil Barbosa - before this "had never heard Italian music."

Hena Khudo - thinks this is a great way to learn. "Live it for a day. It's much easier."

Dave Henckey - played the role of photographer, capturing all the special moments.

Stacey Trefager - "This way we are sampling the lifestyle of an Italian."

Tabitha Guevarez - "I was provided a better understanding of their culture."

Ricardo Velez - "I just love the food."

Joel Melendez - "Best lesson I ever had."

Robert Swiatkowski - "I'm just having fun today."

Jordan Tora - "I'll never forget this lesson."

WEDNESDAY'S WAY - Youngsters at School Nine put on a variety of headgear for 'Silly Hat Day' recently. Along with the Italian Festival Day, it was one of many events that enliven the school week for pupils and teachers.

Cause of fatal fire is traced; second Belleville home burns

The Belleville Fire Department reports that the cause of the fire that took the life of Mrs. Helen Cetvetello at 15 Stephens St., on Monday, Nov. 22, was apparently exposed wiring in an overhead fan and light on the kitchen ceiling of the frame house.

Fire Captain Carmen Vicari reported that ever an investigation conducted by the Fire Department, the Essex County Sheriff's Office and the Essex County Prosecutor's Office, the determination was made that the fire was accidental.

It was reported shortly after 3 a.m. when neighbors discovered the blaze.

Carmello Rodriguez of 13 Stephens St. tried to enter the burning building from the kitchen entrance on his driveway. Two members of the George McFeely Family at 17 Stephens St. tried to reach Mrs. Cetvetello by going through the front door and then through a rear entrance, but the flames drove them.

Mrs. Cetvetello, 63, died of smoke asphyxiation, and her body was found partly out of her bed, as she apparently tried to escape the flames. Previously, it had been reported that she had reached a window.

On Friday, Nov. 25, a fire swept through the rear wall of a frame house at 237 Holmes St., owned by Joseph Grosso.

The fire apparently was caused by a faulty fireplace. A burning wax log apparently caused a pipe to heat to the point of igniting the flooring under the fireplace.

The fire spread undetected through the rear wall of the building. The owner was awakened by the sound of running water in the basement, when a copper joint in a pipe separated because of the heat.

The flames raced through the walls of the house, and the family made its escape unharmed.

However, the house itself had to be boarded until repairs can be made.

Council holds special session

The Belleville Township Council has called a special meeting for tonight (Thursday) to discuss methods of paying an $830,000 judgment for 1990 water bills owed to the City of Newark.

Superior Court Judge Alvin

Weiss awarded the amount to Newark last week.

Payment may require a bonding ordinance, and permission from the Local Finance Board in Trenton.

Pearl Harbor observance

The Veterans Council of Belleville will hold an observance of Pearl Harbor Day at 2 p.m., Sunday, at American Legion Post 105, 621 Washington Ave.

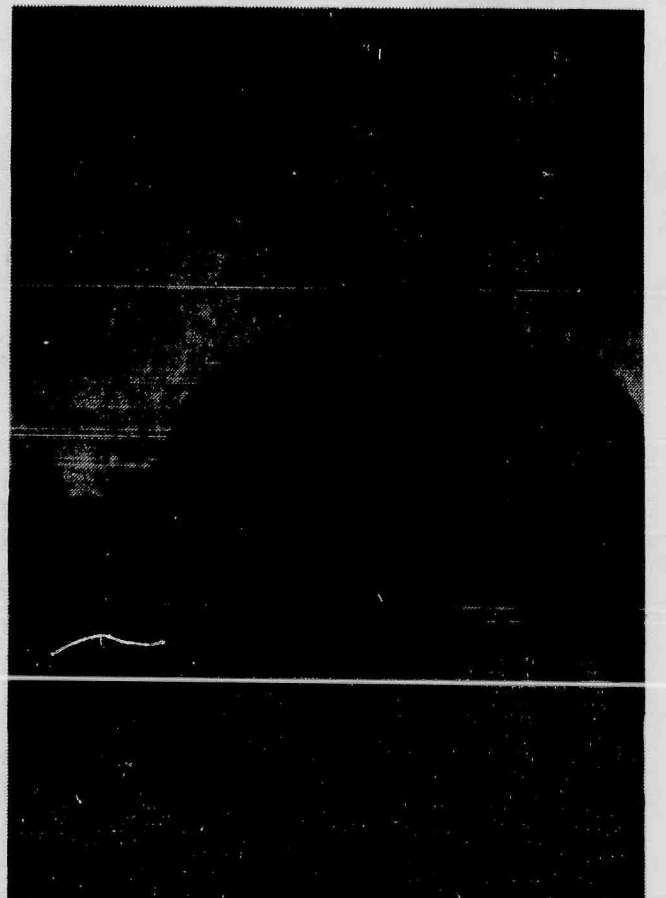

Don Bellog of the Council will be the host.

Speakers will include former American Legion National Vice Commander Joseph Ward of Secaucus and Assemblyman John Kelly.

Pearl Harbor Veterans Commander Constance Minaeff will participate.

Refreshments will be served.

PROUD MARATHONER - Robert W. Drake, an electrician at Beth Israel Hospital in Newark and a longtime resident of Belleville, proudly finished the New York City Marathon on Nov. 14. At 56, he did it "hat-walking", a heel and toe technique that requires 30 percent more muscle use than running does. He did the run in eight and one-half hours, and was cheered when he made his appearance at Monday's Board of Education session. See Aside from That for more on the Marathon. # Aside From That

By: Howard Klausner

It is hard to believe that the opportunity to run 26.2 miles through the streets of New York's five boroughs would attract 26,400 sane persons - and it probably doesn't - but among the courageous souls to enter the New York City Marathon was Michael G. Robinson, 33, who is normally a desk jockey at Calvin Klein Marketing in Manhattan. Robinson, who weighs in at 160 pounds on a five foot seven inch frame is what he would describe as "very health conscious". He's a great consumer of pasta and occasional chocolate for energy, and a devotee of Gold's Gym in Belleville - "It's a great gym!" - and someone who enjoys the company of other bachelor pals as they sample the social life offered to singles in New York. He is also a man of some self will and determination. ● ● ● ● "I've always been a runner," he said, recently. I watched the Marathon on television every year, and this summer, I decided it was time to do it." Doing it seriously meant starting an 18-week program which meant running five to six days a week and logging the weekly mileage - starting at 30 miles and going up to 50. He also attended classes offered by the New York Road Runners which gave helpful hints on how best to make the run, including instructions on how to drink water while in full flight. Up to that time, he had participated in shorter runs of three or four kilometers, or approximately two to three miles. ● ● ● ● "They advised us not to make a run of more than 20 miles before the race," Robinson said. He had signed up for the pasta dinner which is served the evening before the Marathon, but he found so many people there that he decided to eat at home, and then spend the night in a lady acquaintance's apartment in New York before the run. She was also going to take part in the run. Buses were scheduled to leave the New York Public Library at 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue from 5:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. to take runners to the starting points on the Verrazano Bridge. Robinson and his fellow runner reached the bridge in Staten Island at 7:15 a.m. and found themselves in the midst of tens of thousands of runners, well wishers and onlookers. The race was scheduled to begin at 10 minutes to 11.

The intervening hours were given over to drinking water - the day was unusually warm for a Nov. 14, hitting 75 degrees - coffee, smals, ecumenical religious services, and stretching. Three different sections were laid out on the bridge for the runners. One section was for the "elite" runners, the ones who apparently were considered possibilities for the top cash awards; one for the "medium" runners, the group in which Robinson was placed, and one for women and the slower male runners. "It was incredibly well organized," Robinson said. Water was available every mile. Gatorade was provided every two miles, and people on the sidelines offered everything from orange slices to rock candy and bananas. The signal to begin was the traditional starter's gun, and the surge began. The three different masses of runners were scheduled to join at the 8-mile point, which was made famous this year by the wedding ceremony performed there for two of the runners. The water, incidentally, was Vermont Pure Natural Spring Water, which was the official bottled water of the Marathon. Drinking ungraded water is considered a dangerous thing for long distance runners. ● ● ● ● It was to require a monumental effort to stay standing, much less to complete the run, and there were times when Robinson slowed to a walk. But cheering him up were the crowds that lined the streets of Brooklyn, growing in numbers as the Marathon entered Queens and turning into roaring crowds as he mounted 1st Avenue in Manhattan, crossed the East River into the Bronx and then came back into Manhattan, down upper Fifth Avenue in Harlem and into the final stretch through Central Park. "What kept me going was the realization that my sister Eileen and some friends were waiting for me at the finish line, and they had the car. I had not other way to get home." ● ● ● ● A great many runners passed him by, but at the end, he made a respectable finish, coming in with a time of four hours and 42 minutes, while his lady acquaintance arrived in five hours and 15 minutes. He was 18,090 in the list of finishers.

Mementoes of the event include the Marathon ribbon and medal, a Marathon t-shirt, a metallic cape which was intended for colder weather and a CARE package of items for First Aid and nourishment. He also had a good case of stiff muscles. There was the pleasure of confounding his sister, who couldn't believe he had actually accomplished the run. And there were thoughts of new worlds to conquer. "I might enter a Triathlon," Robinson said. "That's 19 miles of biking, six miles of running and a one-mile swim. Another New York City Marathon? Ask me in a month."

Our Copy and Freeholder Cat, Baldassaro DiVincenzo Mitten, came back from the League of Municipalities Convention in Atlantic City with some mysterious luggage. "I just went around the hotel lobbies, waiting for those guys from the supply firms to drop suitcases in front of officeholders and say, 'I have to make a phone call. Mind if I leave this well stuffed suitcase here?' Just call me Speedy." ● ● ● ● Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch says he is sure that his favorite commentator, Plush Limburger, has become involved in the Third Ward recall election, putting out Kevin's campaign newspaper. "I can tell by that wonderful command of the language, and the neat way each copy is wrapped around its brick." Zilch's supporters, the Kool Kukumber Boys, have started a campaign to boost the economy by eliminating street signs. "They say that everybody knows their own address, without the signs, but do their creditors have to know?"

Cosmetology successful

By Lavinia Serrano

The cosmetology program at Belleville High School has been very successful in meeting the performance standards associated with quality education programs. The success of the program was noted at a public meeting of the Belleville Board of Education in September.

The Office of Adult and Occupational Education is willing to work with Mr. Nardiello, the superintendent of the Belleville School District, to ensure that the cosmetology program maintains its quality standards.

The Belleville High School students enrolled in the cosmetology program receive training and knowledge necessary to comply with the standards of the State Board of Cosmetology to receive their cosmetology licenses. This training and teaching is done in Belleville High's cosmetology lab and theory rooms and encompass 1,000 hours of training.

The students are then required to take the State License Exam which entitles them to practice as a professional in salons in the state of New Jersey.

This year's exam is scheduled for May, 1994. Last year's senior cosmetology students were rated number one among all of the schools taking the exam in Northern New Jersey. The class of 1994 is geared to repeat this fact.

Students at Convention

On October 11, the Student Government Organization of Belleville High School attended the New Jersey Association of Student Councils Fall Convention at Rider College. In attendance were SGO President Ami Doshi, Secretary Bill Addis, Treasurer Albert Alves, SungBok Lee, Michelle Cluen, Dan Brunello, Tiffani Parker, Mike Malavara and SGO Advisor Ms. Patricia Pugliese.

The convention was both informative and fun for the students. They attended workshops ranging from subjects like public speaking and media to sexual harassment and multicultural awareness.

The full convention was audience to the keynote speaker, Mr. Eric Chester and voted in a mock gubernatorial election, which was won by Christie Whitman.

Finally, the club was nominated to participate in the Standard of Excellence program for the very best clubs in the state.

New program solves student conflicts

By Kim Capadona

Belleville High School became the second school in New Jersey to adopt the Conflict Mediation Workshop Process in June. Mrs. Deborah Peri, the Substance Abuse Coordinator at Belleville High School, stated, "With today's societal ills, it is necessary for schools to address social skills that quell conflicts. Conflict Mediation is a process that is relatively new to school systems, and I'm proud that Belleville High School has this program."

Mediation allows students involved in an altercation to discuss their problems. A team, consisting of one administrator and two student mediators, listens unbiasedly to the parties as they tell their side of the story. The mediators do not take sides, but allow the parties to negotiate a settlement that is agreeable to all.

Has the program been effective? "Yes," said Jane Ianiro, a participant in the Mediation Workshop. "It helped us solve our differences because it gave us the opportunity to talk about what was troubling us."

OUR OPINION

Third Ward? Spillane!

If there were no other reason for the voters of the Third Ward to retain Tom Spillane as their Council Member, it is the incredible campaign waged by Kevin Kennedy to unseat him.

The campaign publication issued by Kennedy, The Reporter, has steadfastly and unwaveringly expressed his contempt for the intelligence of the Third Ward voters.

Outright falsehoods, misstatements of the facts and a complete disregard for ethics - including attacks on Spillane's wife and daughter - raise serious questions about Mr. Kennedy's ability to function as a public official, should he be elected.

He gives every impression of wanting public office in the worst way, and the worst way is how he is attempting to do it.

The voters of the Third Ward know both Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Spillane, and those who turn out to vote will decide the matter - whether or not there will be a recall, and who will occupy the seat if there is a recall.

We urged the voters to vote No on the recall question, and then to vote for Spillane as his own successor.

It is a case of Spillane's rationality versus Kennedy's irrationality, and Spillane's honesty versus Kennedy's ambition.

A welcome statement

The Rev. Lucius Williams, Pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Belleville, showed grace and courage in apologizing to the Belleville Board of Education for "certain statements" he made in previous public meetings.

In making the apology, the Rev. Mr. Williams did not specify what he had said, but he stated, "You have shown you do have heart."

He had accused the Board of being hard hearted toward the plight of Valley youngsters who had lost their courtesy busing privileges in the wake of a massive budget cut.

Taking the criticism to heart, President Gabe Nazzola and Administration officials worked out a new program that allowed buses to pick up additional passengers, without changing the routes and without adding any costs.

The Rev. Mr. Williams had accused the Board of being racist, because so many of the youngsters affected by the busing cuts were minority children.

We think the Board proved itself to be untainted by bigotry, and we stated previously that it was unfortunate for such an accusation to have been made.

The Rev. Mr. Williams made another statement, which we hope the Board will also take to heart. He asked that the youngsters in other parts of the School District also be provided busing, if only to assure their safe passage to school.

We agree that the safety of the children overrides budgetary considerations, and we hope the Board will take another look at the situation before a tragedy occurs.

We also hope that the atmosphere will not be charged with needless claims of strife and prejudice where they do not exist.

How it happened

By Bill Gruver

The Pundits were wrong. The pollsters misguessed. New Jersey, proved one more time, that it is unpredictable.

The independent voter is the norm not the exception in this state. Talking to Governor Jim Florio a few days ago, he says he has no idea what he will do next. He had centered all of his plans around a second term as Governor. He believed those polls that showed he had come back to a strong lead over GOP challenger Christie Whitman.

But there was almost an arrogance about the Florio campaign believing it's own publicity. Campaign director Jim Carville spent most of his time vocally denegrating Republicans. He engineered the tougher words spoken by the Governor.

This election had little to do with the visible issue of gun control which Florio had carried as his own mantle. He fought the National Rifle Association (NRA) and its' one million dollar campaign. Florio gained national attention matching the same battle going on in Congress and championed by President Clinton.

Florio also thought Presidential campaigning would emphasize the importance of the race. Clinton campaigned in New Jersey four times and the First Lady was in the state three times. But Whitman, advised by veteran GOP campaign expert Ed Rollins, stayed with her tax-cutting issue. In the end, New Jersey voters showed clearly that they did not forget or forgive Florio for his tax revolt and sent his popularity rating deep into the single digits.

It was an anti-incumbent and anti-government vote.

It may have some connection with national issues but it was more local and regional. This vote could have an effect on next years US Senate race. New Jersey wants jobs and economic recovery. People didn't see that happening and voted their discontent. It isn't easy to defeat an incumbent New Jersey governor since only two terms are allowed by law. An incumbent has to make some big mistakes to be trashed by voters.

People are saying, all over the country that they don't want higher taxes and they don't want big government.

We can't help but wonder if the incumbents, still in office, are listening.

YOUR OPINION

A word for our schools

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to inform the people of Belleville and elsewhere that the public school system is not as bad as people think. I am an eighth grade student in the Belleville Middle School, and lately I have been hearing bad remarks about all of our schools. First of all, our schools are immaculately clean. Many say our schools are unsafe. There has never been a day that I have not felt safe in school. The administrators in the Belleville school system will not allow any student to get away with any form of improper conduct. They are very strict, but they also are very encouraging to each and every student if those students are willing to learn and are not a disruptive or troublesome influence on others.

Our schools are being "knocked down" tremendously, and I am getting very tired of it. We do have some problems with our Board of Education, but these problems should and do not prevent the pupils from receiving a quality education in the Belleville schools. The teachers have one main goal, and that is to educate their students. The motto in the Belleville Middle School is "YOU CAN LEARN, YOU MUST LEARN, AND YOU WILL LEARN," and this is the administration's as well as the faculty's ambition for all of the students who attend the Belleville schools.

If anyone who reads this article may be considering the Belleville public school system as an option for his children, but is afraid to send his children because of all the negative statements being made about the Belleville schools - then, just call the school of your choice. On the telephone, you can certainly arrange to have a tour set up of the school building while the classes are in progress. I am very sure that you will be permitted to see the school as soon as possible. DON'T YOU THINK THE SCHOOLS IN BELLEVILLE DESERVE A CHANCE TO PROVE THEMSELVES?

Not one of our many schools should be discredited in any way whatsoever. It is not fair to the administrators or the faculty. It is most definitely not fair to the students, many of whom work very hard and take pride in their respective schools.

Michael S. Cesena

Kevin disputed

To the editor:

This is in response to Kevin Kennedy. He accuses Councilman Tom Spillane of partying at taxpayers' expense and not attending workshops during the League of Municipalities convention in Atlantic City. Workshops are held during the day and the various evening parties are sponsored by private organizations and government entities and are not at Belleville taxpayers' expense. Kevin should know. He hasn't missed many of the parties.

Now to the heart of my letter.
1. Kevin Kennedy served on the Belleville Planning Board for four years.
2. In each of those four years, he went to the League convention.
3. During those four years, about 60 workshops and seminars were offered to planning board members.
4. KEVIN KENNEDY NEVER WENT TO ONE OF THEM!
0 for 60. Now that's a batting average!

Al Schmitt

P.S. I have served on Belleville's Zoning Board for 20 years and the Planning Board for 18 years. I am a board member and past president of the New Jersey Planning Officials which runs the Three Days of Planning portion of the League convention. I chaired this portion three times and have been on the committee each year since 1981. I know all about Kevin Kennedy's attendance record.

Fans defended

To the editor:

This is in response to an article written by Steve Patchett on the sports page of the Nov. 11 edition of the Belleville Times.

Mr. Patchett reported that he had attended a Belleville High School soccer game and felt that the fans were "rowdy and obnoxiously vocal."

Well, Mr. Patchett, here are some facts you may not have considered when you came to your conclusions.

Soccer is a fast-moving, exciting, physical game. It is also a game that is played with no protection except for shin guards. Players rely on the referees to make calls on dangerous plays so that injuries are kept to a minimum. If a team plays rough and calls are not made consistently, the game can get out of hand. We know the referees cannot see everything, but the fans, who are mostly parents, react out of parental concern for their child's safety. In the heat of the moment, the fans may get on a referee, but who hasn't gone to a baseball game and not vehemently disagreed with the umpire at least once. Most officials probably realize it's just part of the job.

Mr. Patchett says, "The fans chew out the referees because they want to feel like they have some control over the game," and "parents try to live out their fantasies through their kids." Please, Mr. Patchett, take your amateur psychology somewhere else. But if you ever want to see a great soccer team, come to

Editor's Note: Mr. Patchett's article appeared in the three Orechio newspapers and was meant as a general reminder to follow the NNJIL Code of Behavior. No specific team was named in the article.

Markets thanked

To the editor:

I'd like to personally thank the managers of the supermarkets in this area for their cooperation and dedication to the "Check-Out Hunger" campaign now in progress in our community!

I am inspired, as a volunteer myself, by the universal willingness to help exhibited by the managers and employees of these grocery stores and supermarkets.

"Check-Out Hunger" is a partnership of the Community Foodbank of New Jersey, the Retail Grocery Industry and community volunteers working toward the common goal of fighting hunger in New Jersey. Placards with tear-off "tags" have been placed in each participating supermarket and grocery store, which can be used by shoppers to quickly and easily make a donation of $1 to the FoodBank. Supermarket and grocery store employees and FoodBank volunteers have tirelessly donated their time and talents toward making this fund-raising effort a success.

The Community FoodBank of New Jersey, the state's largest distributor of industry-donated food, is an important link between available food and the people who need it. Every dollar donated represents $12-15 worth of food distributed to the hungry in this state.

Through "Check-Out Hunger," the FoodBank's administrative staff and volunteers, in teamwork with grocery stores, have found a way for each person in every community in New Jersey to show they care. As a volunteer myself, I thank each and every one of you for your inspiration, and I admire you for your generosity!

Monster Mash a bash!

To the editor:

A fantastic event took place this past Halloween at School 8. The Monster Mash was a terrific bash!

Thanks to Lucy Sasso and her very able committee. Without them, we could never have had such a successful event.

Besides all the traditional goodies, there were home baked cakes and cookies, fun games, a haunted cave, prize picks, costume parade and special pictures. What made this extra special? We all knew where our children were (safe and sound).

An honorable mention must be given to Alfredo's Pizzeria for the wonderful donation of pizza for all the children. An extra special thank you to Officer Greg McDonald of Belleville, Allan Bartosiewicz (for that great cave), and Mr. Pico and the Board for their permission to open School 8 on a Sunday.

Hopefully, this will be an annual event. School 8 is great!

Julie Murnock

A School 4 thank-you

To The Editor,

This is an expression of appreciation to the Home and School Association of School 4 for the excellent job it did in organizing the Halloween party held in October.

The parents as well as their children had a wonderful time. The D.J. was very good since he maintained the interest of the crowd throughout the night. Both the young and old participated in the games and dancing. All refreshments were readily available. The idea of having the parents at the party certainly enabled them to monitor the behavior of their children.

Moreover, this kind of activity also provides an excellent opportunity for the students of School 4 to socialize with one another and their parents simultaneously beyond regular school hours.

With the huge success of this party, may we look forward to having more wonderful experiences like this one at School 4?

The Parents of Annavi and Alexa Siroy

Praise for Mike

To the editor:

It is with an enormous amount of respect that I write this letter to the friends of the Township of Belleville regarding a truly unique individual - Michael Nardiello, Superintendent of the Belleville Schools for the past 11 years. Having served on the Belleville Board of Education and having lived in the town for over 30 years, I can attest to this man's love and dedication toward the children and the entire community of Belleville. Mike Nardiello was the key that unlocked many educational doors affording youngsters unique and inspiring experiences. He stimulated intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, and at the same time developed a positivism that recognized how to release the energies of teachers, make them feel secure, appreciated and loved, no matter what the circumstances. His accomplishments were numerous and his conscientiousness, effectiveness and professionalism will surely be missed.

Mike Nardiello has been my mentor and a friend. He has sparked in me a love for learning combined with a feeling of self worth. He made me realize the importance of other human beings and as a board member he instilled in me that the role of the Board of Education is not to run the school but to see that the schools get run well. How easy it was for board members to forget this important concept...to try to act as pseudo-superintendents. He taught me that if the chain of command is used properly by citizens and board members, it improves communication and leaves the Board of Education free to act as a final arbitrator on issues which could not be resolved at other steps along the chain.

Daniel A. Borgo
Former Member of the Belleville Board of Education

It's not like 'Northern Exposure' and the moose are not Bulwinkle

(Craig H. F. Anderson, son of Belleville's Jazz Great, Howard "Duke" Anderson, has been a civil rights activist for Native Americans in Alaska since 1965. He writes about his experiences in America's Last Frontier.)

By Craig H. F. Anderson

The first thing about the last frontier is that it bears no resemblance to "Northern Exposure", which is filmed in Oregon, with no Alaskans in the cast.

Some of the antics portrayed would bring instant death, hurt, harm and danger. The least said about that program, the better. It is a program hated by most Alaskans.

My Alaskan adventures began with my getting off the plane in January of 1965. When I saw the mountains to the east of Anchorage for the first time, I knew that this would be the place for me.

Here I am, 28 years later, with the same awe inspiring sight on a daily basis and I still can't get used to it. I live at the base of a mountain, one of those same ones I saw first. In May of that year, I learned how to use a Bow, an 80 Bear Bow. My barracks roommate was an avid hunter, so I was inducted into the ranks of Bow Hunting.

After I had mastered the basics, my roommate informed me that it was time to practice hunting under real field conditions. I asked him, "How is that going to work?" He replied, "Out beyond the Barracks with another friend of mine, Jim. We will be using blunts." A blunt is a rubber tip, a thick rubber on the end of the arrow.

So, out back we went. We met up with my roommate's friend, Jim, as soon as we got into the brush.

Now I found out how this process was supposed to work. The trees were green and the underbrush was thick, this time of year. Visibility was maybe 20 feet in every direction.

My roommate gave us instructions to be on the alert for the sounds of a moose coming in our direction because he was going to scare one up. He turned around and disappeared into the thicket.

Jim and I took up positions with our bows and blunts at the ready. A slight breeze came up, the smell of the newly green bushes passed by us with the distant sound of camp robber birds fussing among themselves.

Then, as the breeze died down, a squirrel came down the tree behind me and scolded us for being in his territory. His arguing came to an abrupt end, as we heard my roommate running through the brush towards us.

As he flew through the trees, he shouted, passing us, "The moose is on my tail! Turn him!"

Jim and I both took aim in the direction of the moose. The noise level of the area seemed to rise about 10 times. Then, I heard the music - you know the kind they always play at the scary part of the movie. Da Da Duh Don't Don't Don't Dahl! - and the biggest moose in the world broke through the trees about 20 feet behind my roommate. He was a magnificent specimen, with a gigantic rack at least 16 feet across, with tips that looked like snow shovels.

He weighed at least four thousand pounds, and was he mad! With his head down and all that huffing and puffing, he bounded ahead, sounding like a steam roller stumping and leveling as he made a beeline toward the runner.

Jim let go a blunt. It struck full, sounding like the slap we hear and feel when you have said something that Mom doesn't like.

The moose hesitated and everything seemed to go into slow motion. His head turned toward me. At the same time, out of the corner of my eye, I saw Jim go in the direction of my roommate.

I drew back to take aim. It seemed to take so long to complete the draw. As I reached position to let the blunt go, the string broke. Then things seemed to go fast forward.

My roommate got to a large birch tree and began to climb as fast as he could. I had never seen him move so fast. He shared his displeasure as he flew up the tree. I think he called that moose everything but his name.

The music became louder, my heart beat faster. I heard Jim step on a fallen branch. The moose heard him, too, and headed in that direction.

I think the moose got back on track because he looked up the tree and found my roommate holding on for dear life about 15 feet up that tree.

That old moose reared back like you see horses do in the cowboy movies and charged that tree. He hit that trunk like he was trying to knock it into next week. My roommate howled down at us, "Do something before he knocks me down!"

Jim was in position on the far side of the moose. I, with my bow restrung, was on this side of the moose.

I still think he looked like a mini-van, with a rack. Jim motioned to me to shoot at the rib cage the same time he did. I motioned to him farther back on the rump. We agreed as the moose smacked that tree for the sixth time.

We knocked the blunts and let fly almost at the same time - aiming at the hind quarter about mid way. The two arrows clearly struck their marks; for the moose grunted and jumped up, turned around and headed away from that tree, off into the bushes.

It's strange how the sudden silence was ear piercing, and everything became still.

"Is he gone?" questioned my roommate, twisting on his perch trying to see the direction the moose went.

"Yeah, he is gone, long gone!" I hollered as I hurried to the tree and met Jim at the base. "You okay?" Jim asked, looking up the tree. "I'm good to go now," he said.

As we helped him down from his perch, I noticed a stream of liquid inching its way down the trunk of that tree.

Here I am, 20 some years later, and I remember the moose, and Jim, but I can't remember my roommate's name. Oh well, I mellow with age.

That moose was probably 1,800 pounds, with a four-foot rack, but at the time he was enormous.

And so, another episode of the Chronicles of Tundra Craig or Yukon Pete.

High School Challenge Team

By Lisa Jablonski

Belleville High School Challenge Team is a group of students who compete in question and answer academic competitions against other high schools in the area. It is important to have the B.H.S. Challenge Team in order to demonstrate Belleville's unique academic talents.

The four senior members for the 1993-1994 year are Bill Addis, Michael Mattoon, Jonathan Blake and alternate Ami Doshi. The Challenge Team members were selected at the end of their junior year based on nominations made by teachers and Vice-Principal/Advisor Mrs. Marilyn McGrath, who meets with the team for their practice sessions.

The Challenge Team competes and is filmed at the TV-3 Station in Avenel. The Belleville High School Challenge Team defeated Verona High School on September 27. The second round of Challenge Team competition is scheduled for some time in January of 1994.

Overnight Amino Acid Diet Plan Sweeping The Country

Researchers have located a specific hormone that can cause fat cells to be burned. Researchers have reported that this FAT BURNING HORMONE the HUMAN GROWTH HORMONE, or HGH, is dormant in many overweight people, but can be activated by an amino acid combination of arginine and ornithine.

Consumers reported when given growth Hormone alone, they were able to eat their regular foods, yet still lose weight. In addition to the burning of fat cells, many credible researchers believe a HGH released may help improve muscle tone, convert cellulite to leaner muscle and produce a more youthful, shapely physique.

Belleville K. of C. honors Detective Michael Giuliano

By Pete Mackiewicz

The Belleville Knights of Columbus recently held their Fifth Annual Shield Award Program with members of the Belleville Police Department, their spouses and friends in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Shield Award Chairman George Lynch presented Detective Michael Giuliano with a plaque and Savings Bond for outstanding service.

Detective Giuliano has been a police officer for a period of four years. He was with the Essex County Police Department two years and two years with the Belleville Department.

He was awarded the "B" Commendation in October for his part in an armed robbery investigation. He placed his life in jeopardy by using himself as a decoy to be held up at gunpoint by several men who were committing armed robberies in our Township. His action resulted in the arrest of four suspects and the recovery of a .22 caliber handgun which was reportedly used in the holdup.

Detective Giuliano has attended and completed the following schools: Drug Enforcement, High Intensity Drug Trafficking and Auto Theft School.

He is a member of the New Jersey Officers Association, the International Narcotics Enforcement Officers Association, Policeman's Benevolent Association Local 28 and Knights of Columbus Council 835.

Detective Giuliano has received several Department awards while with the Essex County Police Department and the Belleville Police Department.

Frantantoni makes key tackle, DePeri 'catch' ruled out Bucs tie Nutley, Caruso MVP

By Mike Lambert

All things considered, it could have been a lot worse.

Belleville and Nutley renewed its bitter football rivalry at the Oval on Thanksgiving last week, and when the final gun had sounded, two things were evident. One was that the Bucs are still winless at Nutley since 1983, the other was that for the first time since 1983, Nutley had not beaten the Bucs at the Oval.

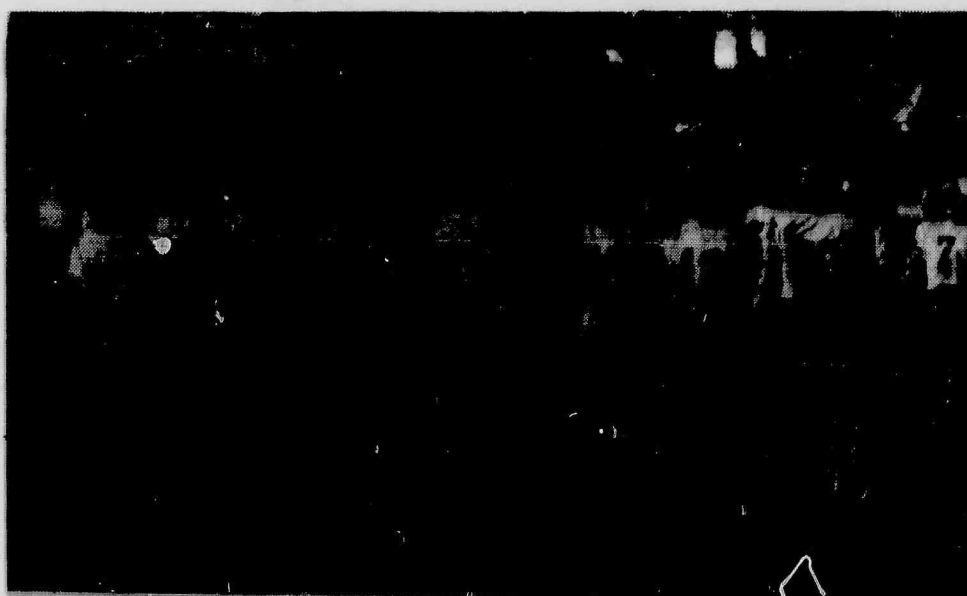

Confused?

By now, you probably know that the above referenced scenario was only possible because the Bucs and Raiders played to a 14 all tie. It was the second straight year that these two teams have finished in a tie. The draw ends Belleville's season at 4-4-1 (4-2-1 in the NNJIL Pacific Division). Nutley, for the second straight year, posted two ties in their record. The Raiders were 2-5-2 for this season.

"I guess you could say it was a fitting ending," Belleville head coach John Senesky said. "Our kids did a good job in coming back from a first half deficit. Nutley did a real good job in containing our offense in the first half and their line play was excellent in the early going."

Nutley jumped out to a 14-0 first half lead thanks to a touchdown pass by Raider MVP Bill Von Roth and later a Von Roth run from nine yards out.

Whatever was said at halftime certainly gave Belleville new life in the second half. The Bucs, who were listless for most of the first half and were clearly dominated at the line of scrimmage, played with tremendous intensity in the final 24 minutes.

From the time the sun rose at approximately 6:55 a.m., you could tell it was going to be an ideal day for football. Unlike the terrible weather that millions of us saw at Dallas on Thanksgiving Day 1993, the skies at Nutley were perfectly clear. It was cold, but very comfortable in the sunshine. And at 10:30 a.m., a half hour before the kickoff of the annual Belleville-Nutley game, it was very apparent that the tradition of this game was going to dictate the emotions, and most likely, the final outcome.

Nutley head coach Rich SanFillippo, a Belleville High School grad in the mid 1960's, said hello during the warmups and quickly remembered his days as a Belleville player in this rivalry.

"I was 1-1-1 in this series as a player," the coach said. "We lost my senior year on a long pass at the end of the game. There had to be 10,000 people in the stands that day. I'll never forget it."

With those words, "I'll never forget it," SanFillippo echoed the sentiments of hundreds of players from Belleville and Nutley who had competed in this game over the past 50 years. And after last week's encounter, you can be assured there are plenty of players from both sidelines who will tell you they "will never forget it."

Officially, the game ended in a tie for the second straight year. Belleville trailed 14-0 at the half and the large contingent of fans on the Buccaneer side were far from pleased. It's also safe to say that the Belleville players weren't too impressed with themselves. After the halftime "chat", the Bucs came out with a much higher intensity level.

Belleville used its size on the offensive and defensive lines to wear down the Raiders in the second half. Meanwhile, the improved play on the offensive line helped to spring senior fullback Anthony Caruso. Playing in his final varsity game, number 29 ran for two touchdowns in the second half and finished the game with 101 yards rushing.

Had it not been for a knee injury early in the season, Caruso would have finished the season with nearly 800 yards rushing. Nevertheless, he was not going to be denied in this game, and he played as if it were his responsibility to ensure the Bucs would not lose.

After Belleville tied the game in the fourth quarter, it appeared the momentum was clearly on the side of the Blue and Gold. The Bucs held the Raiders, got the ball back and began a drive upfield that, according to the hypothetical script, would result in a last second score of some sorts.

Belleville got near midfield. Nutley, which played this game with a tremendous amount of pride and determination, stiffened on defense. The Raiders forced a fourth down situation.

Belleville head coach John Senesky, himself a veteran of so many Belleville-Nutley wars, called a time out and put in a double reverse play. The play called for quarterback Mike Mundy to hand off and before the play was over, Mundy would have the ball back again and throw a pass down the sideline.

The play worked to near perfection. Mundy threw deep. He found wideout Joe DePeri. DePeri caught the ball by the Nutley sideline and appeared to go, untouched, into the Raider endzone.

The Oval, at least on the Belleville side, erupted. And I mean, it erupted. The cheerleaders went crazy, the players on the bench, needless to say, went ballistic. The players on the field, wearing the blue pants and white jerseys, were beside themselves.

But the official closest to the play had another view. And his determination, which counts the most, was that DePeri did not catch the ball in bounds. Consequently, the play was ruled incomplete, Nutley took over at midfield and the gust of wind you might have heard was the air coming out of the proverbial balloon.

To his credit, DePeri did not question the play after the game. "It was close," J.D. said. "I thought I was in, but the official said no. It was too close for me to call."

Okay, so the game ends in a tie, right? Nutley runs out the clock, which had just about a minute left at the point of DePeri's non catch.

Forget it. Reminiscent of the 1992 game with Belleville, Nutley tried a desperation pass in order to set up a touchdown or field goal. And it worked. The Raiders, on 4th and 17, connected on a bomb to the Belleville one. Had it not been for Buc safety Anthony Frantantoni's tackle, it would have been a Raider TD. (Talk about losing your appetite on Thanksgiving!)

But Frantantoni made the tackle, and with time running out, Nutley tried a running and passing play from the one. Both attempts were stopped by a stunned, but still determined Belleville defense.

Three seconds remained in the game. Nutley set up for a field goal from 18 yards out. The Belleville players on the sidelines, in a classic scene, were on their knees, hands held, in a prayer like vigil. The place went deathly silent. The ball was snapped, the kick was up, but...wide right.

That next gust of wind you might have heard was the biggest sigh of relief this side of Franklin Avenue. Game over. Bucs and Raiders tie. And as I said after last year's heartstopper, so be it.

The Belleville cheerleaders optimized the feelings of the moment. Some cried, because it was their last game. Some hugged and were grateful for the tie. Some were just ecstatic at the moment.

It was Belleville-Nutley at its finest moment once again. Caruso was named MVP of the game for the Bucs, Bill Von Roth earned similar honors for the Raiders.

This game was Mike Mundy leading the Belleville offense, it was Anthony Caruso, who after his first touchdown announced there was no way the Nutley defense was going to stop him. It was cheerleading co-captain Donna Driggers, trying to cheer but mostly watching the game and yelling at the players to win this game as they got to the sideline. It was Kristin Galloto a co captain for the Buc cheerleaders, happy with the tie but emotional about this being her last football Belleville MVP Anthony Caruso, who finished with over 100 yards on the ground, scored both Buccaneer touchdowns. Caruso ran in from 34 yards out in the third frame, then scored from two yards out to cap a long drive midway through the final quarter. In both instances, Mike Mundy converted the point after kick.

The game took nerve racking turn in the last :30. Nutley drove deep into Belleville territory when Von Roth converted a 45 yard pass to the Buccaneer one yard line. Anthony Frantantoni made a saving tackle on the pass play to prevent what would have been a devastating touchdown.

Nutley tried to stuff the ball in from the one, but the Buccaneer line met the challenge and halted the run. Vonroth then attempted to pass for the score, but the ball went incomplete and the clock stopped with :03 left in the game.

It set up a field goal attempt from the one yard line, but the kick sailed wide right, and the game ended in a tie.

The Nutley rally preceeded a near Belleville touch down with 1:45 left in the game. On a double reverse, Mundy threw long to wideout Joe DePeri, who appeared to catch the ball and run in for the touchdown.

But the official ruled that DePeri had not caught the ball in bounds and since the play came on fourth down, Nutley took over on downs.

"Their passing game hurt us," Senesky said. "They were able to take advantage of their height on the long pass. But give our kids credit. They were down 14 points, on the road, in a place where we haven't done well recently, and they came back to tie the game."

It wasn't a win. But oh yes, it could have been a lot worse.

Buc players enter the field for the start of last week's game with Nutley at the Oval. When it was all said and done, the game ended in a 14-14 tie.

Anthony Caruso breaks into the endzone as Sal Bernardi (22) celebrates the score. Looking on is Joe DePeri (25).

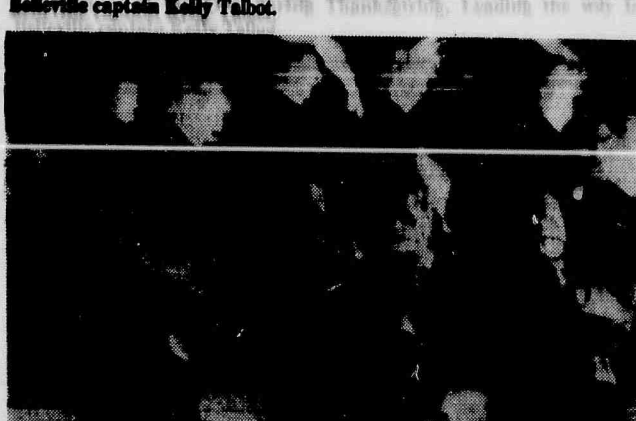

Mike Mundy hands off to Anthony Caruso during third quarter scoring drive. Caruso eventually scored touchdown on the drive.

Quarterback Mike Mundy looks to pass during second quarter of game with Nutley.

The Belleville and Nutley cheerleaders took part in a halftime performance at the Oval during Thanksgiving. Leading the way is Belleville captain Kelly Talbot.

Belleville band members were once again outstanding during Thanksgiving Day game.

Cadillac NFL Golf Classic donates to charities

In its first year as an official event on the Senior PGA Tour, the Cadillac NFL Golf Classic presented by Time Magazine generated over $200,000 for a variety of charities, both in New Jersey and throughout the country.

The top 26 NFL golfers, participating in the inaugural NFL Players Championship, split a purse of $100,000 which went to various organizations under the auspices of NFL Charities, the official charity of the tournament.

In addition, Tomorrow's Children's Fund, the tournament's designated charity, will receive $105,000 from the tournament. Contributions were also made to several other local organizations selected by the host Upper Montclair Country Club, including the Clifton Boys & Girls Club, the General Hospital Center at Passaic and the Epilepsy Foundation of Trenton.

"We would like to thank NFL Charities and Tomorrow's Children's Fund for inviting our local charities to participate," said Peter Van Norde, President of Upper Montclair Country Club. "We were proud to have a hand in the success of the event."

Played at the historic Upper Montclair Country Club in Clifton, the Cadillac NFL Golf Classic pairs 78 of the top senior golfers with 56 NFL superstars. This year's tournament was won by Team Cadillac member Lee Trevino, who defeated Raymond Floyd and Bruce Crampton by two strokes.

The tournament featured numerous stars including Arnold Palmer, Ray Floyd and Chi Chi Rodriguez of the Senior PGA Tour and Lawrence Taylor, Steve Young and Jim Kelly of the NFL.

Kicker Al Del Greco of the Houston Oilers won the inaugural NFL Players Championship with a three day total of 229 (+13). Giants quarterback Phil Simms was the top local athlete, shooting a combined score of 234 (+18) for a third place finish among NFL players. Lawrence Taylor finished 17th (+46).

Next year's event is scheduled for the week of May 16-22, 1994.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Santa's Mailboxes-1993

Belleville boys and girls are encouraged to get out their pens, pencils, crayons and start writing their lists to Santa Claus now.

Special mailboxes are set up from Nov. 24 until Dec. 21 to accommodate the expected heavy mail. One is at Town Hall on Washington Avenue and the other is in front of the Silver Lake Firehouse on Franklin Street.

Children can't miss the mailboxes. They're bright red and clearly marked SANTA'S MAIL so no one has an excuse for not writing early.

By very special arrangements made between Mr. Claus and the Dept. of Recreation & Cultural Affairs, all letter writers are guaranteed an answer. No stamp is necessary and this special mail box is for BELLEVILLE RESIDENTS ONLY.

If children are too young to write, they are urged to draw a picture and Santa will get the message. Be sure to have someone print the child's name and address so that Santa can answer the letters.

Gymnastics program starting

The Belleville Recreation Department will again offer its always popular gymnastics program for girls on Saturdays at the Friendly House. This activity is slated to begin on Saturday, Dec. 4 and will continue through March. Girls in grades 1-6 will participate from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Friendly House on Frederick Street. There is no fee required but girls must be Belleville residents. Interested participants should wear sneakers and sign up for the program with the instructors when they arrive. College and high school gymnasts will provide the supervision and will teach the basic fundamentals and routines.

BUC SHOTS

It was about the Buc players, who dedicated the game to their defensive coordinator, Joe D'Ambola, who had to miss the game due to an illness in his family.

It was about character, as the Bucs rallied from two touchdowns down in the second half in a place where success hasn't been a Belleville foothold in quite some time. It was about the senior players, who stood together at midfield for the coin toss in their final game.

And the game pretty much summarized this series over the past 20 years. From 1974 through 1993, Nutley leads the series 9 to 8 with three ties. Since Senesky took the head coaching reigns in '77, Belleville holds a slight 8-7-2 edge. During the decade of the 80's, the teams split ten games. So far in the 90's, the series stands one victory for each school with two ties.

This is a great rivalry. And once again, this was a super football game. And, as the famous philosopher Sean Kimball said on a cold day four years ago, "only 362 days until we play Nutley again."

We'll need that much time just to recover from this years game.

The 1993 Belleville-Nutley game, to paraphrase Natalie Cole and more recently Rich SanFillipo, was unforgettable.

Lung Association launches campaign

The 1993 Christmas Seal campaign — the state's oldest voluntary health appeal — is underway as the American Lung Association of New Jersey (ALANJ) launches the 86th annual drive to "stamp out" lung disease.

Frederick Hammond Jr. of Belleville, member of ALANJ board of directors, said that the Christmas Seal contributions support year-round efforts to combat and control all lung diseases and their causal factors, such as smoking, air pollution and occupational factors.

More than 40 million households across the country will receive Christmas Seals in the mail this holiday season.

Hammond noted that campaign donations support Family Asthma programs, "Better Breathing" support groups for adults with long-term respiratory diseases, Freedom from Smoking cessation clinics, "Camp Superkids," a summer camping program for children with asthma, air conservation efforts and lung disease research.

"By responding early and generously," Hammond said, "everyone can play a significant role in fighting lung disease and in supporting services for children and adults with asthma, emphysema, chronic bronchitis and lung cancer."

The Christmas Seal is the nation's symbol of good health, and its tradition provides an opportunity to join in the holiday spirit of giving and caring. A donation to the campaign is a demonstration of support and appreciation for the American Lung Association of New Jersey which has served the people of New Jersey for 87 years.

For additional sheets of seals, contact the American Lung Association at 14-25 Plaza Road, Fairlawn, 07410.

OVER-THE-COUNTER SAVINGS

As rising health care costs come under fire, there is one area in which consumers can effectively cut costs. By giving over-the-counter (OTC) status to nearly 40 formerly prescription-only drugs in more than 200 categories since the 1980's, the Food and Drug Administration has empowered consumers to medicate themselves. The increased availability of such drugs as the pain reliever ibuprofen, the anti-diarrhea loperamide and the antifungal clotrimazole and miconazole nitrate have contributed to an annual $10.5 billion in savings from visits to physicians and from sick days, according to the Nonprescription Drug Manufacturers Association. The association also points out that, although six of every ten medications purchased in the U.S. are OTC drugs, their costs add up to less than two cents of every national health care dollar.

Visit ROSSMORE PHARMACY when you need prescription or non-prescription medications. We are located at 338 Washington Avenue. Telephone numbers are 759-1956 or 759-1968. Free prescription delivery is provided, when needed. See us for greeting cards, Times watches, transistor radios and other holiday gifts. Open: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-9pm.

HINT: Be sure to read the instructions and warnings on OTC products carefully, and/or consult the aid of the pharmacist.

Spread Holiday Cheer Around The World With The CARE Package Catalog

(NAPS)—Looking for a special way to give to others this holiday season? In the new holiday edition of the CARE Catalog, shoppers can purchase treasures from exotic places and help needy people worldwide.

A hand-etched soapstone platter made by Kenya's Abagusii tribe, a vibrantly colored silk scarf made by Tibetan refugees in India, and a key hanger made from recycled oil drums in Haiti are among the unique products available through the catalog distributed to discerning consumers through CARE, the world's largest private relief and development organization.

Many of the home fashions, wearable art and holiday decorations are hand-made in countries where CARE works.

"The catalog provides consumers with a way to help promote artisans whose work embodies generations of artistic tradition," explains Keith Recker, Director of CARE's Consumer Marketing Division.

Catalog shoppers will also be sending an important gift to poor families overseas. Net proceeds from the sale of the products they buy will benefit the organization's poverty-fighting programs in health and nutrition, small business development, agriculture and environmental conservation in more than 50 countries.

Score a hole in one with golfers

Just in time for the holiday season, a pair of state-of-the-art new clubs featuring Midsize Metalwood technology gives serious golfers and "duffers" alike radically effective weapons on the fairway and off the tee.

"Everyone's talking about the new Strong 7 Midsize Fairway Wood and Fairway Driver," says George Montgomery, vice president, marketing for Taylor Made. "Both clubs make golf an easier game to play — and feature a unique blend of oversized forgiveness and maximum playability."

Designed to make easier shots out of even the most difficult lies and blast it toward the green with confidence, the Strong 7 delivers shots that soar higher and travel farther. Its unique rail design provides a smoother glide and lower center of gravity that stabilizes the club head's swing path through the hitting area — making it the ideal gift for golfers who find it harder to hit long irons to the pin while attempting to keep the ball on the green.

The new Taylor Made Fairway Driver is created for golfers who have trouble hitting a standard driver off the tee. With its 13-degree of loft, this club optimizes launch angle and spin rate, allowing the average golfer to get longer and more consistent distances off the tee than with a 3-wood.

Featuring Taylor Made's exclusive "foam-to-weight" process, each finished club head is foam-filled using precise computer controls to create a perfectly balanced club.

WHAT TO GIVE the person who has everything this holiday season? The perfect golf score! Or close enough — performance-oriented midsize clubs from Taylor Made Golf Company. Also available in lines for women and seniors.

These clubs and many other brand names such as Callaway, Wilson, Tommy Armour, Blackhawk, Cobra, and Square Two are also available along with a complete line of apparel & accessories all at discount prices at Tee Time Golf, 281 Franklin Avenue in Nutley, right across from the High School.

Sing around the yule log!

Sing around the yule log! That's exactly what you can do this holiday season with Aiwa's NSX-510 MiniMax stereo system featuring a 3-disc changer with CD-Graphic (CD+G) with microphone and Karaoke voice fader. CD+G provides hours of party fun as it displays song lyrics, album art and other graphics to accompany the music you're singing. Boasting 30 watts per channel, the 510G features a front-loading changer, Super-T Bass, Dolby B noise reduction, BBE, dual cassette with auto reverse, plus a great deal more!

Tips for hassle-free holiday cooking, baking and roasting

Cooking, for many of us, is not only a necessity, but a pleasure. And it's particularly enjoyed over our most traditional winter holidays — Hanukkah, Christmas and New Year's Day. At this time of year, Americans delight in cooking wholesome breads and other baked goods, mouth-watering meats and poultry, favorite fish and seafood, unique casseroles, and, of course, an endless variety of delicious desserts.

During the holidays, more than at any other time, cooks get the chance to improvise and create to their hearts' content. Making this transition from the preparation of everyday meals to mouth-watering, savory holiday feasts can be smooth and hassle-free with the right cooking methods.

For best results, a growing number of home cooks are turning to convection-oven baking and roasting for preparing their family's meals. Home cooks can gain a number of benefits from convection cooking during the holidays, including:

- Eliminating preheating for most foods having a bake time over 15 minutes.

- Reducing baking temperatures by up to 25 degrees and meat roasting times by up to an average of 25 percent.

- Using multi-rack baking with no risk of burning or undercooking food.

Unlike a traditional oven, a convection oven has a fan that circulates hot air over, under and around the food. This action uniformly distributes penetrating heat so that foods are evenly cooked and browned. Besides great cooking results, the circulating hot air used in convection ovens penetrates food faster, so roasting times and baking temperatures can be reduced.

To take advantage of the best in convection ovens, GE Appliances has created the new Profile™ 30-inch free-standing radiant/convection range. Convection ovens are changing the way we cook, according to Wendy Shirrell, home economist for GE Appliances.

"Any food cooked in a traditional oven will cook beautifully in a convection oven," she says. "It's a product that will be appreciated for excellent performance in all cooking modes. At no other time of year is it enjoyed more than during the holiday season."

Shirrell offers the following tips to make your holiday cooking, roasting and baking a pleasing experience:

- While any type of cookware will work in a convection oven, use shiny aluminum cookware for best baking results. Darkened or matte-finished pans will bake faster than shiny pans, producing darker browning on food surfaces. Glass and ceramic pans cook more slowly.

- When baking cookies, use a flat cookie sheet instead of a pan with low sides.

- For foods such as oven-baked chicken, a pan with low sides produces the best results because hot air can't circulate around food in a pan with high sides.

- Multi-shelf baking may increase cook times slightly for some foods, but overall time is still saved.

- For best roasting results on that holiday bird, always use the lowest shelf position.

For more information on the Profile line of convection ovens and how they can enhance your cooking experience, call the GE Answer Center at 1-800-626-2000.

Control all your devices with one remote

Looking for the perfect gift for the video enthusiasts on your list this holiday season? They'll love new remote controls that operate different brands of TVs, VCRs, cable decoders and other devices, according to Olin Lippincott of the Allegro accessories division of Zenith.

Some of the hottest new remotes on the market this year are called "side-kicks," he says. They include the SideKick, a large-button, multibrand TV/VCR/Cable remote, and the SideKick Jr. multibrand TV remote.

Lippincott said the SideKick is "a true large-button remote ideal for TV viewers of all ages." Each button is five times bigger than today's conventional remotes, with large numbers and letters that are easy to see.

In addition, the power, channel and volume keys feature new glow-in-the-dark illumination for easy operation in dark lighting, Lippincott said.

The SideKick, available for under $30, controls virtually every TV, VCR and cable converter brand. This unique preprogrammed remote is also simple to set up, has long-range operation and can operate most on-screen menus.

Like its cousin, the SideKick Jr. was designed with convenience and ease of use in mind. "This simple multibrand TV remote is the perfect replacement for a lost remote, or as a new, much simpler 'everyday' remote," Lippincott says. SideKick Jr. is priced under $15.

Preprogrammed codes allow for easy set-up. Simply turn on the power, point the SideKick Jr. toward the TV, and continually depress the on/off button until the TV turns off. "That's all you need to do to set up this remote," says Lippincott.

Final touches for holiday entertaining and dressing

In the movie "Breakfast at Tiffany's," Holly Golightly was the quintessential party girl who could throw together a fabulous party at a moment's notice. Her "off the cuff" parties were believable in the movies, but in real life, hosting a party calls for careful orchestration to avoid stumbling along the way.

Although Holly Golightly never needed a reason to entertain, most people are prompted by a special occasion, particularly during the holidays. As a hostess this holiday season, you may add your own flair and personality to your party with these ideas for your home:

- Light luminarias along the driveway or by the front door.
- Tuck holiday potpourri in corners of your home to lightly scent the room all night long.

- Create a warm atmosphere by placing festive candles throughout your home.

- String holiday greeting cards on brightly colored ribbon over doorways or along the mantle.

"Utilize accessories to achieve the dressed-up elegant or dressed casual look you would be most comfortable with," says Mary Belle, vice president and design director of Non-Apparel for Liz Claiborne, Inc. "Accessories will create a truly individual, special look — a great way to stand out at your own party."

Liz Claiborne Accessories shares some of these finishing touches for every hostess this holiday season:

- Create an elegant look by accenting your holiday outfit with a pearl choker and matching drop earrings.

- Spritz yourself with Liz Claiborne's "Vivid," one of this fall's newest fragrances.

- Sweep your hair up with a pretty velvet clip, a beaded bow or a brocade headband.

- Add sparkle to your outfit with an embellished scarf, worn over your shoulders or draped around a bare neckline, so that it gracefully hangs down your back.

- Complete your polished look with "sheer gloss" pantyhose in black. Pair them with matching shoes in velvet or suede — pumps for dressed up, or flats for dressed up but relaxed.

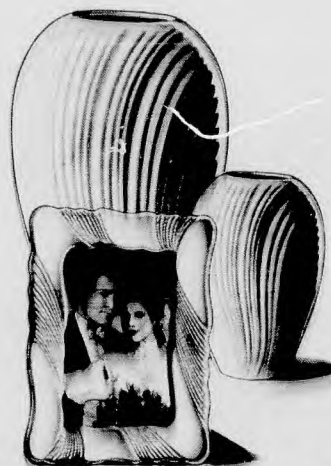

These finishing touches for you and your home will help to make this year's party one that everyone remembers for years to come.

Make your holiday sparkle

Car wash gift certificates are practical and affordable, and car owners actually get a lift out of having their car washed and shined.

According to an independent survey sponsored by the International Carwash Association, car owners said having their car washed made them "feel good."

Those surveyed typically likened the feeling to such personal activities as "taking a shower" or "going to the hairdresser."

Cheerful car wash gift certificates are about $5 each. Money-saving books of five to 10 washes also make ideal stocking stuffers.

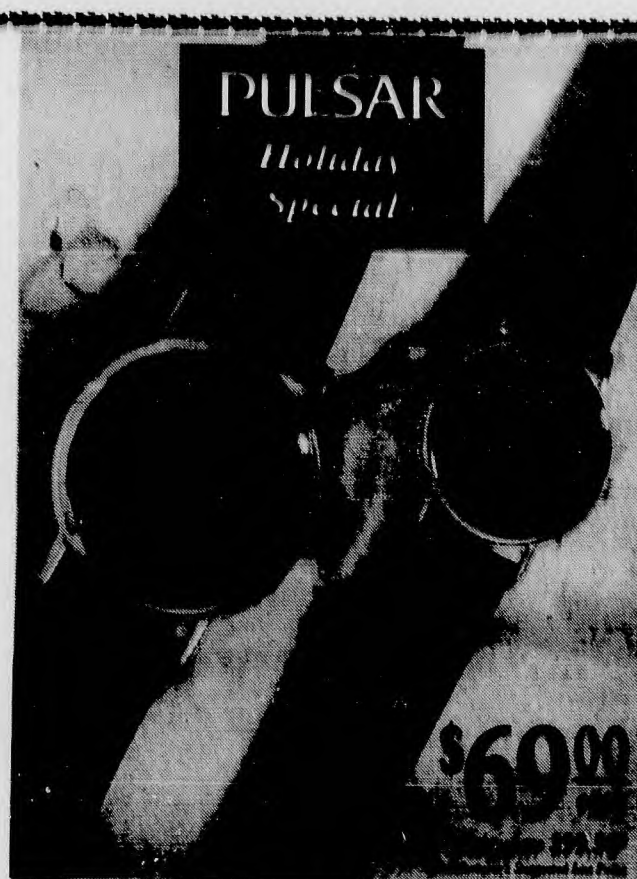

Specials that include interior cleaning and automatically or hand-applied waxes retail for about $8-$40. For a showroom shine, a "detailing" gift package starts at about $100.

For the professional car wash in your neighborhood, contact: The Car Care Advisor, ICA, 1 East 22nd Street, Lombard, IL 60148; or call (708) 495-0100.

Holiday glamour with a soft touch

Soft and comfortable dressing extends into the holiday season with no sacrifice of glamour. Pictured is a black-and-gold blazer in an elongated velvet-scrunch print, teamed with black velvet stirrup pants and a gold turtleneck blouse in satiny charmeuse. At Sears, the three pieces are moderately priced: $48 for the blazer, $30 for the stirrup pants and $23 for the blouse. It's a combination that's pleasing to the eye and soft to the touch.

Classic book makes a great stocking stuffer

The holiday season, when traditions are observed and spirits run high, is the perfect time to give a classic story. Classics are timeless masterpieces to be enjoyed fireside on cold winter nights, and just like crackling fires and roasting chestnuts, a good book puts the cap on the holiday season.

The Spirit of Charles Lindbergh: Another Dimension (Madison Books) is the perfect stocking stuffer for a loved one or a great gift to add to your own library shelf. Practically everyone knows the story of pilot Charles Lindbergh, but it's the other element of the man's life, beyond the aeronautical and scientific — his skill and daring nature that accelerated his enormous appeal — that T. Willard Hunter explores in the book.

A spate of recent books on the "Lone Eagle" is evidence that the mystique surrounding the man won't quit. Yet today the question remains, is he still a hero?

The "Lucky Lindy" of the 1920s has in recent years been upstaged by the "Unlucky Lindy" of the 1930s. His phenomenal contributions to aviation, heart surgery, space rocketry, defense, and the balance between science and nature, have tended to be obscured by the fall-out from political activity before World War II that some have felt left him on the wrong side of history.

Following his super-daring and super-prepared non-stop flight from New York to Paris in 1927, the world was at his feet. Frederick Lewis Allen wrote, "His picture hung in hundreds of schoolrooms and in thousands of homes. No living American — no dead American, one might almost say, save perhaps Abraham Lincoln — commanded such unswerving fealty. You might criticize any other headline hero; but if you decried anything that Lindbergh did, you knew that you had wounded your auditors, for Lindbergh was a god."

No more. Today one hears words like "Nazi-sympathizer" and "un-American." Why?

A new book, the fourth one related to the aviator published this year, tries to analyze why. The Spirit of Charles Lindbergh: Another Dimension goes thoroughly into the character of the man and why he said things that have clouded his reputation.

The book concentrates less on what the man did and more on why he did it — influences that shaped his character, how his motivations developed, and how his beliefs changed. It outlines how his fortunes turned in the 1930s, beginning with the kidnap/murder of the Lindberghs' first-born.

The book also explains what the aviator was doing in Germany at the request of the U.S. government before World War II, and why he opposed American intervention. Also, how he was so "unlucky" as to have a medal unexpectedly thrust on him by Hermann Goering at an American embassy dinner in Berlin. Lindbergh's wife, Anne, perceptively called the award an "albatross." It has remained so to this day.

It is true, the author points out, that Lindbergh expressed admiration for the German people. Most observers throughout history have. But the aviator's admiration did not transfer to the totalitarian dictatorship, which he took pains to condemn. Indeed, he was so infuriated by the first government-sponsored, national anti-Jewish pogrom of 1938, that he left Germany in protest. "I will not take a house in a country that does such outrageous things to its own people," he said.

Part of Lindbergh's image problem was that he hated the news industry and refused to answer their questions. His side of the story never entered the public media. His wife called him a "stubborn Swede," and said that when it came to the press, he was simply "irrational."

Hunter is a writer and speaker living in Claremont, Calif. He had a half dozen conversations with Lindbergh over the years, and helped the aviator's friend Jim Newton write his book Uncommon Friends.

The Spirit of Charles Lindbergh has received considerable critical acclaim. The Washington Post calls the book "a rewarding personal portrait." Best-selling psychiatry author M. Scott Peck describes it as "a fascinating account of the spiritual odyssey of a most fascinating man." World flyer Dick Rutan asserts that the writer has managed "to capture the inner psyche of someone as complex as Lindbergh."

A recurrent theme in the aviator's writings (he wrote seven books) is: "The quality of life is more important than life itself."

He was greatly concerned over the direction of civilization, and expressed this vision of the future:

"If we do not control our science by a higher moral force, it will destroy us. Our salvation, and our only salvation, lies in controlling the arm of western science by the mind of a western philosophy, guided by the eternal truths of God."

Cooking and cleaning simplified

'Tis the season to enjoy the many pleasures that accompany the holidays. Therefore, you don't want to get stuck in the kitchen 'til New Year's. Well-cooked food in less time should not be the only consideration when choosing a cooking appliance — the GE Profile™ radiant/convection range is accompanied by a host of features that ease up your time spent in the kitchen, allowing more time to complete your shopping and gift wrapping.

For one, the range sports a QuickClean™ radiant cooktop — a one-piece, glass-ceramic surface that has a recessed design with raised sides and rounded edges. It offers an aesthetically pleasing appearance, responsive cooking and fast cleaning. Plus it has the industry's largest cooktop spill containment capability — it can hold up to 5 quarts. As an alternative to "radiant," GE also offers the Profile convection range with an electric Calrod cooktop.

To integrate into virtually any kitchen decor, the range is available in black-on-black, white-on-white and almond-on-almond.

Profile oven controls are designed to improve kitchen safety, while simplifying cooking and cleaning. Radiant cooktop models come with precise and responsive touchpad oven controls featuring graphics that are 40-percent larger, for easier reading. These controls provide a lock-out feature to prevent unwanted use, plus digital time and temperature display, Hi/Low broil and automatic oven timer.

Christmas customs

Did you ever wonder why people kiss under mistletoe or why trees are brought into houses at Christmas? A lot of wonder and surprise surrounds Christmas. Here are some examples:

Christmas bills: Before the National Bank Act of 1863, individual banks could issue their own currency. Several chose to print jolly old St. Nick on theirs.

All the various Santa Claus notes were printed in New York City and, today, are each worth several hundred dollars to collectors.

Bah, Humbug: You may think that Scrooge is a spoil sport, but he's not as bad as Oliver Cromwell's parliament who banned Christmas in 1644!

Even in the American colonies, the Christmas spirit was suppressed. In 1659, Massachusetts passed a law fining anyone caught celebrating the holiday!

Air travel: The idea that Santa Claus had reindeer and a sled originated in America. Dr. Clement Clarke Moore was a New York theology professor who composed "A Visit from St. Nicholas." The epic poem featured the bearded man flying across the sky in a sled driven by reindeer.

Flower power: Poinsettias are a favorite Christmas flower, and there's a reason for it. In native Mexico, the poinsettia was called "the flower of the blessed night." They believed it resembled the Star of Bethlehem.

Happy hollydays: Both the Romans and the British loved the evergreen holly. Because the plant had the ability to last throughout the cold of winter, it was brought into homes in hopes that the strength would transfer to the people.

Dinner dilemma: Early pioneers in North America ate buffalo, beaver, turkey and moose at Christmas. Fish is a popular Christmas meal in Czechoslovakia, while Brazilians prefer to feast on fried shrimp.

Express delivery: For Santa Claus to deliver presents to two billion families in 24 hours, he and his reindeer would have to travel at about 70,000 miles an hour. He'd only have enough time to stay at each house for one-half of one ten-thousandth of a second!
