Above, Belleville resident Michael Porcello meets his son Dominick, who has cerebral palsy, at the door of their first floor aparment after ne is brought home from school and carried up two sets of steps by the school's van driver. Porcello is unable to carry his son up and down the steps himself due to several knee operations. Porcello is in search of a new home with fewer steps or with a landlord who will permit the installation of an access ramp.

Veteran's family seeks help for disabled son

Last August The Belleville Times featured an article about Dominick Porcello who is stricken with cerebral palsy; his mother Florence, a nurse's aide at Clara Maass Medical Center; and his father Michael, a disabled veteran. Unfortunately, the Porcello's are in the same house as they were last year, which is not adequate for Dominick. They are still in search of a new home.

By Lizbeth Scordo

Michael Porcello has received more response letters than ever before. But he's not happy with them. Most of the letters refer him to some other group, some other committee, some other person. A lot of them contain the phrase "your family is not eligible". Most of them thank him for "his input" and wish him "luck".

But Michael Porcello is not looking for luck, he's looking for help. Porcello's son, Dominick is stricken with cerebral palsy which means he is completely dependent on his parents for everything.

They must feed him, bathe him, undress him, and move him around in his wheelchair. He can do none of these things for himself.

The Porcello family has written to anyone they can think of who could possibly help them with their situation.

The home they rent is not adequate for Dominick's special needs. Although they live on the first floor of a two-family house, there are far too many steps to carry Dominick in and out of the house easily.

"I've had four knee operations in the past year," said Porcello, a disabled veteran, "The trouble is, I

Porcello is talking about the drivers of the ambulance who take Dominick to the United Cerebral Palsy Adult Training Center every weekday.

"My son doesn't deserve this. Once he comes home from school, he's bored. I'd take him out more if I could," Porcello said.

The Porcello family's landlord will not allow them to install an access ramp for Dominick although Mr. Porcello claims there was a verbal agreement to do so before the Porcello's moved in.

"We can't afford to buy our own home that we could make handicap accessible," said Porcello "And we haven't been able to find an apartment or house we can rent that would be better."

After writing to the U.S. Department of Justice they responded in a letter written on December 14, 1993: "If your landlord refuses to permit you to install an access ramp at your own expense, you may file a complaint with the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development [HUD] alleging discrimination on the basis of handicap."

Unfortunately, this response ended up to be a dead end like most he's received.

He had already contacted HUD and received the following response in October, "...the fair housing laws HUD administers do not compel private landlords to install the accessibility features your son requires."

This department also turned down his request for help with adequate disabled housing claiming "the program...is designed for very-low income individuals and families, and is not available to a family at your income level."

Porcello's wife, Florence's, salary as a nurse's assistant at Clara Maass Hospital is the sole income of the family.

"We fall in between the cracks" says Porcello, whose family earns too much to qualify for most government-assisted programs like medical coverage from Medicaid, housing assistance from HUD, or free legal help. Yet the family's income is not enough to buy a home, get the intense medical help they need, or hire a lawyer.

Porcello believes that the newly passed Family Support Act , sponsored by Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, would have helped his family tremendously, but after recent cutbacks under the Whitman administration, Porcello said, the act is not very effective.

"The director of the Cerebral Palsy program my son is in told me that since the state cut back they (the program directors) can only afford a part-time therapist at the school," said Porcello.

Therapy is another one of Porcello's main concerns for his son. Dominick gets some at his school, but not nearly enough according to his father.

"If we had the money to get [Dominick] the help he needs we'd take him to somewhere like Kessler, and he'd make progress."

But inadequate housing remains the Porcello's biggest problem.

"We want to get into a place where the landlord doesn't have too many steps. Or if there are too many then the landlord would agree to a ramp," said Porcello, "All we want is to be comfortable and live a happy life."

Schools may add attendance officer...

Illegal student issue addressed

By Richard Dickon

School officials are considering adding a second person to track students illegally attending school in Belleville following the continuing unsubstantiated claims that numerous students are involved.

At the June 20 school board meeting, school attendance officer Wayne Worley said the problem is not as widespread as some have alleged.

Resident Frank Montagna has continued to say he believes more than 400 students may be attending schools illegally, and has passed out fivers with his claims.

Worley said "They have passed out flyers, but the flyers didn't give one name of an illegal student."

In an interview, Worley explained the procedure he has used for detecting illegal students for the past quarter-century.

"For every new student that has come to Belleville High School or Middle School for the past 25 years, I have gone to their house," Worley said, "I check their room, for clothes, see that they're claimed on income tax. Still, some slip through. I'm not perfect, but there are some in every town."

"I went through the Belleville school system and I've been a taxpayer all my life," Worley said, "There is no way I'm going to let illegal students go to Belleville schools,"

Worley said a total of 37 students had been found during the school year that were illegally in school for several reasons, including "something to do with transferring out, some moved out and some found illegally."

"It is always possible that a student can be here, checked in, and moved out tomorrow," Worley said, "In my opinion, if everybody down the line, secretaries, guidance counselors, administrators, are not letting in students without proper credentials, there is no problem. If it's done haphazardly, I might need 10 people."

School Superintendent Michael A. Lally confirmed that two illegal students were "pursued vigorously through the courts." One case is still pending, he said, while "the board accepted the recommendation of counsel" to settle the other.

Board Attorney Frank Pomaco said one illegal student family had been compelled to pay $500, although the district had sought more than $3,000. The family's lawyer had contended that the student had been "properly domiciled for time," Pomaco said.

"The bottom line is we recovered money we would have otherwise never seen," Pomaco said.

Pomaco said he has been authorized by the board to pursue "a criminal complaint of theft of services, similar to what was done in Clifton," in a second case.

A judge's ruling on a case from July of 1993 allowed that all future illegal student cases include restitution of tuition payments owed to the district, Pomaco said. The 1993 case resulted in a fine of $400 as a

Parking Authority proposed

By Lizbeth Scordo

Township manager, Stephen Cuccio is proposing that the town council establish a parking authority for the township of Belleville "to be in charge of any and all things having to do with traffic."

The proposed parking authority will raise their own money by bonding for it and paying off the bonds with revenues collected from traffic fines.

"Right now, the police are in charge of parking fines and violations", said Cuccio," The people will benefit [from the proposed authority] by saving a lot of tax dollars. It doesn't come out of taxpayers' money."

The parking authority will be in charge of street painting, traffic lights, towing and parking violations.

"This will completely eliminate the traffic department within the police department," Cuccio said.

The decision of whether or not a parking authority will be formed will be made after the July 1st reorganizational meeting.

Council reorganizes Friday

By Richard Dickon

Jim Messina will likely be selected as the next Mayor of Belleville, as the council reorganizes and swears in Council-At-Large elects Jerry Digori, Victor Canning and Angie Paserchia tomorrow, June 1st at noon.

Messina was chosen as the next mayor, replacing Marina Perna, who chose not to seek re-election. Messina was picked in an informal "straw poll" taken by the three council-at-large elects and the four sitting councilmen June 16.

Councilman Bill Cook, who also had support for the mayor's seat, has said despite any divisions about choosing a mayor, he expects the vote on July 1st will probably be unanimous, as "a show of unity."

School #9 shares culture, reaches out to pen pals

By Richard Dickon

School Nine's students shared culture and met face-to-face with pen pals they had corresponded with throughout the school year as part of a recent day of festivities to cap the school year.

Students dressed in outfits representing their ethnic origins, and later shared a smorgasbord of food from countries all over the world as they celebrated the theme "Our World is a Rainbow."

Later on, third grade students from Mary Ann Porcelli's class met their pen pals from the Lyndhurst school district, many saying they had made a new friendship that would continue past the end of the school year.

Jessica Magers said she and her pen pal "spent the whole year talking about who we liked, our friends, our hobbies. We had a lot to tell about ourselves, and even our problems. We gave each other our phone numbers and we will keep calling her. It was a good experience.

Rosemary Turi said a lot of her correspondence centered on "what we like to do in school. We found out we have a lot of things in common. My mom says we will meet up again during the summer for a day."

Judy Onque summed up the experience. "I made a new friend, and this is a fun day."

Vietnam Veteran family's plight exposes U.S. shameful neglect

The Porcello family's continuing struggle to provide a decent quality of life for their son, stricken with cerebral palsy, and themselves, is a tragic and shameful but unfortunately, all too common a story in recent American history.

The Porcello's son, Dominick, continues to exel in his special schooling from United Cerebral Palsy. Unfortunately, his father, Michael Porcello has undergone numerous, painful and extremely expensive operations to correct knee injuries suffered in his distinguished service of his

For these reasons the family has incurred medical bills they are unable to pay and are forced to live in a residence on Greylock Parkway that is not handicapped accessible and puts Dominick, his caretakers and his father at risk.

The family is stuck in a stupefying 'Catch 22' situation where they earn too much to qualify for programs such as Medicaid or housing assistance but not enough for them to buy their own home or afford medical insurance.

Anyone who has followed the treatment of war veterans in general, and Vietnam veterans in particular, knows that they have been neglected or ignored despite desperate needs for employment, schooling, medical insurance, housing and legal help.

Many Vietnam-era veterans fought for more than 20 years to be compensated for health problems suffered by themselves, and even more often, by their children as a result of toxic contamination caused by exposure to Agent Orange and other chemical defoliates used in Southeast Asia. The results of their struggles has so far been a woefully inadequate settlement of about $125 million that offered no real relief to families' suffering.

So as the Porcellos continue to perservere and hope for assistance long overdue to them, let us all take pause to contemplate our lack of response to the problems plaguing our brave fellow American veterans. It is not too late to reverse these trends, at least for one family in our town.

Whether help comes from the state's Family Support Act, which has been hindered by cutbacks, or by a private citizen who may be able to offer the family a better housing alternative, the Porcello's deserve a better fate than battling to keep a roof over their head and to keep the bill collectors away from their door. Legislators and private citizens alike need to look into their collective hearts and find a way to help.

Illegal student hysteria lacking any real numbers to back claims

An awful lot of hot air continues to be school attorney Frank Pomaco has been expended about the alleged '400' illegal students sneaking an education out of Belleville schools. Flyers meant to incite hysteria are passed out, insisting that more personnel is needed to flesh out the 'hordes' of young people flocking to the district.

Well, in all this time, not one single name has been forwarded to school officials from anyone claiming that hundreds of illegal students are on board.

As school attendance officer Wayne Worley said, he has been a taxpayer for 25 years, so it is unlikely that he would knowingly let illegal students slide through the system unchecked.

If a student's family is that intent on sending their child to Belleville illegally, chances are they will succeed -- temporarily. When a student is discovered, as has happened three times now in the last year, authorized to pursue criminal action, if necessary, to recover tuition fees.

School officials are now considering hiring a retired police officer to assist Worley in detecting illegal students. Officials should demand that those calling for such action show some proof that so many illegal students are out there before spending money on additional personnel.

It is time for those screaming about hundreds of illegal students to either produce proof or admit that the inflated numbers are a figment of their imaginations. If the problem is greater than thought, then it should be addressed.

If not, the school board should shift focus to other pressing matters like the still-missing full-time athletic trainer. Let's put this issue to rest, finally, one way or

Drozdz is proud of 4-year record

I would like to thank the citizens of Belleville along with my supporters, campaign workers and family for allowing me to serve the Township of Belleville, in the capacity of Councilman, for the past Five years ago we embarked on a campaign to change our form of government. We changed from an antiquated commission form, where local politicians often blend the role of legislating and administrating.

Four years ago we inherited a government in distress. Our Council-Manager system removed politicians from the administrative mainstream, and created a system of checks and balances. After an adjustment period, we were successful in having a professional government working for the people in an effective and efficient manner

Four years ago, when I ran for councilman at large as a new candidate for public office in the township, there were several promises that I stated in my platform. The first thing that I promised was to work hard for the people of Belleville. I promised that we would do something for Washington Avenue. After years and years of promises people were reluctant. Now we have initiated a facade program and we purchased property for additional parking.

Four years ago I promised we would so something about the Silver Lake flooding. After 50 years of promises and promises people were reluctant. We have completed two drainage systems and have received more than $300,000 in preservation grants for the residents of Silver Lake.

Four years ago I promised to work for a more efficient government. After many years people were reluctant. I would like to name a few things that were implemented during my four years.

We established an in-house motor pool, paving of approximately 25 streets, a T-ball system for small children and establishment of a curb-side recycling program within the township. When our scoreboards at the Municipal Stadium deteriorated to an embarrassing situation, I personally solicited from individuals and local business the funds necessary to replace two scoreboards.

Through streamlining and effective government we were able to reduce your municipal taxes 11 points in 1992 and 1994 calls for a (0) increase.

Action has been taken to make senior citizen housing a reality. Paving of twenty streets is scheduled for the latter part of 1994. Additional playing fields for our recreation programs are being negotiated and the list just goes on and on. Running government is not built upon promises. It is built upon the accomplishments of hard work. I am proud to say that I have accomplished my campaign promises during my four

I want to take the opportunity to wish good luck to the incoming members of the council. I intend to cooperate fully with the new council in an effort to

As a community leader involved in many civic and charitable organizations, I will continually promote our township in a positive and constructive manner.

Mother thanks School #3 staff

Very soon my daughter, Nicole, will be promoted from sixth grade in Belleville School #3 and continue on to the Belleville Middle School

At this time, I would like to publicly applaud all the fine teachers and staff of School #3 who educated and guided her from Kindergarten through grade six. Many of these fine people went above and beyond their required duties, and gave quite unselfishly of their time, concern, patience and love.

On behalf of my husband and I, I would also like to extend a warm thank you to all of them for providing a solid foundation from which our child can go on to grow both academically and as a person.

Nicole will always remember her School 3 days, and so will we.

THE Rodale Press published a booklet entitled "101 Men's Health Secrets" which included the following among its secrets: The steadier seat in an aircraft is over the wing on the right side according to an expert in aviation study. Most flight patterns turn left so most rightsiders won't be swinging around as much.

Couples fight most often on Wednesdays and least often on Thursdays according to research at the University of Iowa. They theorize that because Wednesday is the farthest from the weekend in both directions, it's the toughest day to get through. By Thursday, folks feel better since they've gotten complaints off their chest.

Meanwhile, a study at the University of Michigan finds that the biggest mood swing in people who usually have stable emotions occurs between Saturday and Sunday, as they prep for their weekly case of the Monday morning blues. Introverts were found to be more likely affected by weekend mood swings than extroverts.

· NEW JERSEY HIGH-WAY AUTHORITY Executive Director Roger Nutt says that the 173-mile-long Garden State Parkway is confronted with serious problems. "Revenues have levelled off and expenses have been going up," said Nutt. Expenses have experienced a 6 percent increase while revenues have increased only about 1.5 percent annually for the last few years, and Nutt said "The Parkway is heading for financial disaster. " Even the Garden State Arts Center complex in Holmdel is getting a scrutiny. Nutt is looking into the possibility of having private firms bid for the maintenance duties. Chairman Joseph Buckelew has not ruled out the possibility of layoffs.

· THE latest sex charge confronting President Bill Clinton comes from Paula Corbin Jones who claims that on May 8, 1991 three years ago - Clinton "sexually harassed and insulted her and defamed her with denials." If Jones wins her $700,000 law suit, she would donate any damages she might win to a Little Rock charity. Speaking in her behalf, her attorney said, "This case is not about money. It is about character and integrity. This case is about the powerful taking advantage of the weak."

It wouldn't surprise me one bit if more charges like Paul Corbin Jones' come out of the woodwork. The President is a sitting duck for a charge of that nature, especially when one considers the modern definition of sexual harassment.

Paula Corbin Jones MUCH has been reported about the problem that men face with prostate cancer. Authorities estimate that 200,000 cases of prostate cancer will be diagnosed in the United States this year, with 38,000 deaths. Now there is available an experimental blood test which gives clues if cancer cells have escaped from the prostate gland and may eventually save thousands of patients a year from surgery. More than 100,000 prostate removals will be done this year, but routine use of the blood test may reduce that number by 25,000 to 35,000. The authority for this prediction is Dr. Carl Olsson, chairman of the Urology Department at the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. Aaron Katz, assistant professor of Urology at Columbia says that the new research shows that the blood test works better than standard imaging techniques used now before surgery. While the test might cost about $100, it could save money if it replaced the imaging procedures. Dr. Patrick Walsh, a prostate cancer expert at John Hopkins says the new developments are interesting, but "I think today it's premature to go out and treat a patient based solely on these tests."

Illegal students help mulled

result of the criminal complaint, he said.

"In a lot of these cases, we can get more results from aggressively pursuing criminal actions. In a civil suit, if the family has no funds you may never see any money, even if you win the case," Pomaco said, "I have been authorized to do whatever is possible to recoup monies, and we are constantly seeking to improve our methods. Every district has its hands full with this problem, we are not unique."

Lally said the board "voted to consider employing a second attendance officer" and "was investigating the possibility" before a final decision is made.

"It would be irresponsible to say we don't have illegal students attending Belleville schools. It would be equally irresponsible for someone to say there are 400 illegal students."

Saying 20 to 35 students had been illegally attending this year "at one time or another, Lally added "We have a fairly comprehensive method of dealing with illegal students, but it is not necessarily the best. We will accept any improvement that can be realistically implemented."

He said he understands that he is employed by the citizens to address their concerns, and he treats sensitively any lead on an illegal student, which is given to Worley and "followed up to the letter."

Lally said there are about 40 students in school on affidavits claiming their residency with aunts, uncles or guardians, and he said "I don't like like that it attempts to circumvent the process. We can check them periodically, but until a better way comes along that we can put into practice, these kids qualify."

Worley said if a second attendance officer is hired, it would likely be a retired police officer.

Board President Gabe Nazziola, along with new board members Robert Molinaro and Thomas Fuscaldo have all said students illegally attending Belleville schools should be immediately dealt with by the board.

Nazziola has said the district will continue to vigorously investigate any possible non-resident students that may exist in our schools, adding that the board will request monthly specific reports of activity from the district's Truant Officer.

Fuscaldo has said he has heard the same thing about illegal students from different people and students have be pursued, even if they disappear after spring vacation. The board must be willing to go to the expense and handle the public relations problems that go with pursuing illegal students, he said.

Molinaro has also said that even with the truant officer, he has been told students are being seen getting off a bus from Newark in Silver Lake.

Fuscaldo has called illegal students his number one campaign issue, saying the district should show backbone and take the impetus in stringently enforcing a residence requirement and finding illegal students and pursuing the matter to conclusion.

Montagna said he and others "walked the town" and observed students exiting buses from Newark. He called on the board to "have more people walking the streets, more truant officers."

Aside From That

By: Howard Klausner

There is a theory that the Civil War ended with Lee's surrender at Appomattox Courthouse in April 1865. The subsequent history of these United States makes one wonder if it will ever end.

The cataclysm which bled the nation for more than four terrible years of carnage and suffering, and in which at least 600,000 men - and women - lost their lives, was supposed to settle for all time the issues of slavery and union.

But as recently as the 1960s, Southern lawmakers offered the defeated concept of "intercession" - the supposed right of a state to block federal enforcement of a law - in their continued fight against civil

And Emancipation turned out to be only a partial liberation of the former slaves. The efforts of black citizens to gain anything like economic parity with whites have been less than totally successful.

We now have large segments of white public opinion that blame the advances in civil rights made in the 1960s for crime and fear of crime, as if the protection of individual rights is not just as important to every white citizen as it is to any black.

Following a broadcast of the acclaimed television series, "The Civil War", a round-table discussion was aired inwhich the participants were members of organizations memorializing the Confederacy.

The fury they vented against Abraham Lincoln and the complete denial of slavery as a major cause of the Civil War should not have been surprising.

The arguments of the sympathizers for the Confederacy were remarkably similar to those of black separatists who deny that the white man had anything to do with the freeing of the slaves.

The war, they argued, was brought about by Northern attempts to exploit the South and to seize its resources. The South was the wealthiest part of the nation, before the Civil War, with immense revenues based on its plantation economy.

It was Northern greed that raised the issue of slavery, and those who attacked the institution of slavery, they said, just did not "understand" the Southern way of life.

The only difference between the arguments of the Confederate sympathizers and the black separatists is that some whites would have you believe that the slaves were perfectly happy, unless poisoned by outside agitators, while some blacks dismiss the role of white Abolitionists alto-

This is known as Revisionist history, in which you change the facts to suit your current theory.

Among those who predicted the coming of the Civil War, or some similar domestic disaster, was Thomas Jefferson, who was a slaveowner at the same time that he attacked the institution of slavery.

Like George Washington, he freed his slaves upon his death, but during his lifetime, he could not bear the idea of what he thought would be impoverishment if he gave up his slaves.

Like many others of his time, he argued that just as bad as being a slave was being a master, because in order to be a slavemaster, one had to be inculcated with elements of brutality and tyranny.

It has been those elements of tyranny which separated the free society of the North from the slave society of the South.

Robert E. Lee, like a number of other leaders of the Confederacy, made no secret of his dislike of slavery, but he put a misguided sense of loyalty to his home state of Virginia - with or without slavery - above his loyalty to the Nation.

The result was that the incredible courage of the Southerners, convinced as they were that they were defending a noble way of life, had to be matched by the equally incredible courage of the Northerners, in a clash from which we really have not recovered to this day.

Fortunately, there was a sense of magnanimity that overcame the justifiable angers that followed the war, as the South was welcomed back to the fold.

But it is a magnanimity that was not widespread enough to prevent the terrible record of civil rights violations that followed the war.

After he laid down his sword, Robert E. Lee asked his countrymen to join in common loyalty to the Republic, and to be good citizens of the Republic.

Most Americans have followed Lee's advice, and in them is the hope of the nation.

Life in Silver Lake Civic Association's first year remembered

the Silver Lake Civic Association. In May of 1993, the first meeting was held. At that time, I was selected to preside over the session until the Officers and Trustees were voted upon. More than 90 residents were in attendance. It showed just how interested our Silverlakers are in their area. I was very honored to be selected as the first President of the SLCA.

At the first meeting it was decided that the annual dues would be $5 and would entitle the member to a bumper sticker displaying our logo. Committees were selected and programs discussed for future meet-

The purpose of the SLCA was to preserve and bring back the image of Silver Lake. It seemed that this was the main theme of all in attendance. Everyone loved their area so much they did not want to be forced out. They wanted to bring back the old neighborhood. The easy way out was just to move, but Silverlakers don't take the easy way out. They stay and fight.

One of the highlights of last year was the SLCA 'Clean Up and

Marie Strumolo Burke

Beautification Day' that was held in September. Town trucks, driven by Public Works employees, who were also Silver Lake residents, went street by street along with SLCA volunteers to pick up debris. They day was culminated with a block party for all Silverlakers. Hot dogs, hamburgers, sausage and peppers, cake, coffee, soda, lemon ice, etc. were distributed 'free of charge' to all residents. Amusements were provided for the children. Pete Strumolo, my nephew, and Louis Raniero provided the music and we did the 'electric slide' on Heckel Street. More than 500 residents attended and all had a smashing time. Again, let me say that no one was charged to attend. The expenses were offset by a good majority of the Silver Lake businesses and residents, as well as some businesses outside Silver Lake. DO YOU BELIEVE THAT A YEAR HAS PASSED AND WE HAVE JUST CELEBRATED THE 1ST ANNIVERSARY OF THE SILVER LAKE CIVIC ASSOCIA-TION. HIP, HIP, HORAY ..... BOY DOES TIME FLY WHEN YOU'RE HAVING A GOOD TIME

The near 100 degree temperature did not deter more than 1,000 people who visited the grand opening celebration at the new Nutley canch of Spencer Savings Bank. Nutley Mayor Carmen A. In addition, each visitor was given an opportunity to win a prize by dropping an entry blank into Mr. Spencer, the "talking" mechanical machine on display in the lobby. At the conclusion of the party, a free drawing was held from among all entries submitted and Barbara O'Halloran of Nutley was the proud winner of a 19" color TV.

"It was a great get-acquainted party for us to meet our new neighbors in Nutley and the surrounding area," stated Nicholas Lorusso,

'94 Track Team Did Well

An Open Letter to Mayor Marina Perna and the Belleville Township Council about the performance of the 1994 BHS Track Team.

Dear Mayor and Council:

I realize that you have a lot on your minds, what with a new government being formed on July 1. and with Mayor Marina Perna pushing the Clinton Healthcare Package. But I figured you might want to know how the 1994 Believille High School track team fared

You remember them, right? That's the group of athletes who haven't had a home league track meet in six years.

And how could they compete at home, right? We found out a few weeks ago that the plans to refurbish not only the track, but the tennis courts and the entire Municipal Stadium complex was just a "wish list". So, while the parents of the track and tennis athletes, not to mention all the taxpayers in Belleville, pay a good tax dollar, the athletes can't get a decent place to compete.

But we've been through all that, right? So what's the use of continuing it here, because starting Friday, there will be a new form of Government, and maybe the new Government will care a little more than the present group did.

So, with that in mind, Mayor and Council, thought you would like to know the following:

The Belleville track team, led by coach John Tosato, has a good nucleus returning for the 1995 campaign. (By the way, Township Council, any chance that the '95 team could compete at home?)

The team had just one senior this year, Robert Allen.

"This was Robert's first year on the team," Tosato said. "And he did very well. He's a strong kid, and coach (Rich) Ruffalo felt he could excel with the shot put."

Allen scored 13 points for the Bucs this year. His best shot put toss was 37'11 1/2". He also threw the discuss 89'9" for a personal

The junior class was led by Joe Colucci. He led the team in scoring with 59 points. He ran a personal best of 2:08.2 in the 800 meters, 4:54 in the 1600 and also competed in the mile relay.

Colucci could challenge the Belleville High School half mile (800 meter) record set by the late Michael Graham in 1978. Graham ran 1:58 in the state sectionals. Colucci could also be a top 1600 runner next year. (I wonder if the fans of Belleville High School track will see this guy run at Municipal Stadium. What a concept, home track meets).

Ray Kuebler had an outstanding year, earning first team, NNJIL, for his performance in the shot put. Kuebler won the NNJIL championship this year and scored 37 points in meets. He had a personal best of 145'6" in the jav and also threw the shot put (38'2") and discuss (85'4").

"Ray came back strong after missing the '93 season to injury," Tosato said.

Another junior, Ed Molina, had a standout year throwing the jav. He ended up Honorable Mention, all league, and Honorable Mention, All Area. He earned fifth place in the Group IV, Section II championships and advanced to the prestigious All Group championships.

Molina's personal best in the javelin was 144'7" while his best discuss throw was 93'9 1/2". He scored 37 points.

Junior Angelo Gabriel tallied 21 points. He excelled in the high hurdles (17.5), low hurdles (68.3) and 200 meters (25.9). Gabriel also ran the mile relay. Frank Marrero finished with six points, including a personal best of 39'5 1/2" in the shot put at the state sectionals. Marrero also had a PB of 74'6" in the discuss throw. An injury cut short the season of Brian Pasterchick. But before the injury, Pasterchick was developing into a standout discuss thrower, with a personal best of 99'2". The sophomores were led by Chris Parada, who tallied 57 points, good for second on the team. Parada was an outstanding sprinter, competing in the 100, 200 and 400 meters, with personal best times of 11.9, 24.9 and 54.4 respectively. Joe Romano, a sophomore, was impressive in the 100, 200 and long jump while competing in the mile relay. His best times were 12.4 in the 100 and 25.9 in the 200. Anthony Marchione developed into a good sprinter, with times of 13.4 in the 100 and 28.5 in the 200 meters. He also lowered his 400 meter time to a very promising 62.7. The freshman class has a lot of potential. Nick Colucci scored 29 points and did well in the 400 meter hurdles (63.5), the high jump (4'8"), the 200 meters (26.5) and 400 meters (58.1). Colucci's time in the 400 meter hurdles was good for second in the league championships and his 58.1 in the 400 is a marvelous time for a Phong Nguyen (27 pts) competed in the long jump, with a personal best of 17'8 1/2". He was also a promising 2 miler, with a personal best of 11:12.8. (He'll probably catch my best time of 11:01 next season.) Nguyen aiso ran a 60.6 in the 400 meters and 2:27 in the half mile.

Tristyn Kvetkus was a durable athlete, running the 200 meters (24.8), 100 meters (12.1) long jumping (16'7") and high jumping (4'10"). He could also be a discuss thrower next year. For this season, Kvetkus scored 17 points.

Donnell Graham, a freshman high jumper, and a personal best of 5'2". He also ran the 100 meters (12.5) and 200 meters (26.8).

Finally, Angelo Chavez was a promising runner in the 400 meters, mile and two mile.

So, there you are, Mayor and Council. We have some very talented athletes right here in Belleville. It's just a shame they may never have the chance to compete at home.

This years senior class never competed at home. Will the Senior class of 1997 be saying the same thing three years from now?

If this Government wants to make a difference, it's time to stop

Enough rhetoric. The kids have suffered long enough.

Won crowns at Mid Hudson, Philly rew team excelled in 1994

By Mike Lamberti With the exception of some Hall of Fame seasons, the 1994 crew campaign at Belleville High School will go down as one of the best in team history.

Dennis Villano's team won the Mid Hudson Regatta and the womens junior four captured championships in the Mid Hudson, Kearny Invitational and the City Championships in Philadelphia.

The only performances that would eclipse 1994 would be the '76 mens senior eight, which won the Stotesbury Regatta and put Belleville on the map in high level

That team, coached by the legendary Sam Giuffrida, was inducted into the Belleville High School Hall of Fame in 1985.

The 1982, '84 and '85 Lady Bucs won national championships for Giuffrida and coach Scott Fabian.

The '82 team was inducted into the Hall of Fame in February of

As for 1994: "It was a good season," Villano said. "While we will lose some talented seniors this years, we have a good nucleus of rowers coming back next year."

First and foremost of the returnees is the aforementioned womens junior four.

"They'll all be back next year," Villano said. "They have the talent, and they've proven they can be successful on this level, but they will only get better by continuing to work on their technique."

The coach was quick to point out that opposing schools have enormous talent, and usually, those schools have a much larger turnout of athletes.

"We have our usual 20-25 rowers," Villano said. "Some schools have over 100 rowers come out for the team. We're not that big, numbers wise, but the kids that compete for us are the typical Belleville athlete. They work real hard and will battle anyone."

The womens lightweight four will also be back and that shell did a tremendous job this year as well, winning at the Mid Hudson.

"With the lightweight four, there is more a concern about weight," most of the girls are as tall as they're going to be. It's just a matter of staying in shape."

The weight factor in this shell is a concern because the rules say that any particular lightweight shell cannot exceed a total weight for four rowers.

The mens senior four also captured a title at the Mid Hudson Regatta and battled some of the best teams in the United States this spring.

"With the boat club, the women will be rowing for a good deal of the summer," Villano said. "It's catching on, and it gives the kids an opportunity to row until, essentially, November. By then, the weather is usually too cold, and the rowers can use the winter months to work in the weight room and to run."

The coach also pointed out that facilities continue to improve.

"The boathouse will be even better next year with an addition to be added. It will give us all more space to load the shells.

"Also, with the reinstatement Villano explained. "Fortunately, (by the Belleville Board of Education) of some of the younger programs, our eighth grade program will have a better chance of getting off the ground.

"And that's important in order to build the nucleus of the future of this program."

The coaching staff did a marvelous job this year. Maureen Russo, a Hall of Fame rower at Belleville High School from 1982-1985, was the novice coach.

Dan Passarella, a first year coach at Belleville High and a former Buc rower, coached the womens team.

SueAnne Batista, a 1993 graduate of Belleville High School and a standout rower for the Bucs, was a volunteer coach.

Eric King, another man who has devoted a number of years to the program, was the eighth grade

"Once again, we had a good year," Villano said. "Now, it's time to concentrate on next season. You have to work hard in this sport, and that means working all year round."

Improves to 7-1 on season

Sr. Legion team rallies past Nutley, 4-3

By Steve Patchett

It looked like deja vu all over again.

In the last game of the high school baseball season, Nutley and Belleville battled their way into extra innings before Nutley finally prevailed, 8-4. Last Saturday, in Senior American Legion action, the two teams were deadlocked again in the bottom of the seventh inning and seemed to be headed in a similar direction.

This time, however, Belleville was able to drive in the winning run at the last minute and avoid another extra-inning showdown.

With two outs in the last of the seventh, Scott Jarowitz looped a single to center and scored Sal Berardi for the winning run in a 4-3 contest at Belleville.

Belleville (7-1) started the scoring in the bottom of the second inning when Jimmy Landon singled to left and then stole second base after a wild pick-off move went past the Nutley first baseman. With one out, Jerry Turi lined a single to right to score Landon. Turi later scored Belleville's second run when a ball was misplayed in the Nutley outfield.

Nutley battled back, though, in the top of the third, and cut the lead to 2-1. With runners on second and third and one out. Brian Dena, a Belleville transplant, drove in the first run for Nutley as he reached on a throwing error and Chris D'Ambola scored from third.

Things could have been worse in the janing, but Belleville pitcher Dan Brunello escaped further damage by fanning the next two Nutley

NEW MEDICATION FOR EPILEPSY

Pharmacy

NEW MEDICATION FOR EPILEPSY
Approximately two million Americans are affected by epilepsy, a disorder that is characterized by seizures which occur when the nerves in the brain fire spontaneously. Symptoms range from a single arm shaking to loss of consciousness and generalized spasms. A new medication, which recently won FDA approval, is unusual among epilepsy medications in that it does not interfere with the metabolism of other anti-epileptic medications. Neurotonin, in clinical trials including more than 700 adults, was found to reduce the frequency of partial seizures (including those that progress to general seizures) when given in combination with other anti-epileptic medications. We stock a full selection of medications, including many of those newly approved by the FDA. Complete prescription service is yours when you come to ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Avenue (759-1968, 739-1956). Camera and film, greeting cards, cosmetics, and toiletries are stocked. Open: 9am-10pm daily, 9am-9pm Sundays. We hope you will enjoy the July 4th holiday, If you are going to be out in the sun remember to use a sun block to avoid burn and to prevent cancer.

HINT: Neurotonin carries the side effects of dizziness and drowsiness.

SCHOOL'S

The kids are packing up for summer camp. Or they're looking forward to having some fun at the pool or beach. It's a time for enjoying their summer freedom. But they sometimes forget to watch where they're going and what's happening around them. So it's up to you, as a responsible driver, to keep a lookout for them while you're on the road.

Let the kids have their fun. Help make it safer for them by slowing down and expecting the unexpected!

All the concerned businesses featured on this page urge you to use extra caution when driving during the carfree months of summer.

(NAPS)-Today's active, on-the-go families demand more from floor coverings than ever before, and the new generation of hardwood floors are designed for lifestyles like yours. For a combination of easy-care durability, visual warmth, beauty, and value, nothing compares to a natural hardwood floor.

"Today's hardwood options are only by the imagination, says Gaylynn Garrett, director of marketing for leading manufacturer, Bruce Hardwood Floors. "A vast array of planks, custom wood tiles, strips, accents, and borders are available to make every room unique. No matter how often the wallpaper, paint, accessories, or furnishings change, your Bruce hardwood floor will always be in

A lifetime together

When selecting a hardwood floor, homeowners should always look for a product made by a reputable manufacturer, advises Garrett. A hardwood floor should last a lifetime, so the floor's war-ranty should do the same. A quality hardwood floor will enhance the beauty of the home today, and will add to the home's investment value for many years to come.

In fact, in a recent survey of 1,500 residential real estate agents, The National Wood Flooring Association found that homes with hardwood flooring signal quality workmanship to prospective home buyers, and thereby sell faster and command higher prices than those with other floor covering materials

Beauty can be practical, too Designed for active families on the run, today's easy-care urethans and acrylic-impregnated finishes have hardwood in demand for all rooms in the Modern, state-of-the-art factory-applied finishes such as Bruce's Dura-luster* urethane, allow hardwood flooring to be installed without the mess and bethes bother once associated with custom sand and finish installations. In fact, due to stringent manufacturing controls, factory-applied finishes may offer greater consistency and overall quality than site-applied stains and coatings.

A parade of kids and pets are no match for today's tough hardwood flooring. Bruce's advanced finishing technology has led to the development of finishes that protect hardwood floors from normal wear. spills and scratching, while making them virtually maintenancefree. And because they are a breeze to keep clean, hardwood floors are a smart choice for a healthy home. WearMaster can take it And for the best in beauty and performance, over 110 years of prod-uct development have culminated in the creation of today's most durable hardwood flooring ever...patent-pending Bruce WearMaster" acrylic-impregnated flooring.

Originally engineered for com-mercial use, WearMaster floors are now available for residential installations. With color and stain injected throughout the entire surface layer of the floor, the daily wear and tear of your family is no match for WearMaster's unprecedented performance.

And WearMaster looks as great as it lasts. Available in three wood species and 11 colors, WearMaster offers the ultimate in style and durability for your home.

For reasons ranging from beauty to health, style to durabil-ity, Bruce Hardwood Floors are "The Natural Choice". To receive a copy of Bruce's 32-page, full color Defen send $1.00 to: Bruce Hardwood Floors, Marketing Department #NAPS2, 16803 Dallas Parkway, Dallas, Texas 75248.
