Committee guiding stadium renovation

By Richard Dickon

A Township Council committee, formed to oversee renovations of the Municipal Stadium, is recommending the patching of grass on the football field and more long-term renovations later on for the track, baseball fields and tennis courts.

After walking the stadium July 20, committee members Jerry Digori, Victor Canning and Nick Cerami decided against any major renovations between now and the beginning of football season, since players will soon begin practice.

The committee was formed at the request of Canning during the July 19 council work session.

Plans to renovate and refurbish the Municipal Stadium have remained at a standstill, and the committee said the first step is to resolve litigation that prevents the town from applying for Green Acres funds to pay for the work.

Before the committee made their decision, the council discussed which direction to take with the renovations, at the July 19 meeting.

The discussions included choosing from two different detailed architectural plans completed for free by local architect Jim Landon and four or five separate grading plans using certain different types of fill. It was estimated that 18,000 cubic yards of fill will be necessary to raise the main ball field, practice fields and put everything on the same plain, with proper drainage.

Charles Cerami, director of the Department of Public Works, said "the Cadillac plan" would reconstruct approximately half of the football field on one side, where there is now a four-foot difference in height.

A lesser plan would use 10,000 yards to fill in the low-lying area of the football field to get rid of the drainage problems from there to 1,000 yards behind the baseball field.

The committee favored patching the varsity football field, for now, what Charles Cerami called "ruts and ridges, and a four-inch bump on the hash marks... a gully that has never been graded right. You need to roll the dirt every springtime, like a lawn." He also said the options include sodding the field or growing grass, and fencing the field to keep people off while it grows.

The most immediate problems, Charles Cerami said, is removing the fill from the company donating, along with accepting a bid to truck the fill, since it has been more than 90 days.

Mayor Jim Messina said samples needed to be taken to give the fill donated to the town "a clean bill of health" so it can be used.

Charles Cerami said "This is almost a fruitless effort. In two weeks, football practice will begin. We'd have to close whatever field we fill in for a month. It would have been ideal to start on July 5th."

Digori said the council look at the master plans for the stadium first. "To see where we should put dirt" and the overall scheme, adding that is "too late for football" to be done.

"We have to have an overall plan when we apply for Green Acres funds. We need a recreation-ally planner to look at the whole piece of property," Digori said, "I want the stadium fixed, that's the bottom line, but in the proper order, so we don't have to go back over something already done."

Canning said he thought it was important to use the free yards of fill. "It's a great deal and I don't want to lose the fill, that would be foolish," Canning said.

Nick Cerami said the town should stockpile the 10,000 yards of fill, agreeing that there is insufficient time left to fill in any fields, since "football uses the whole area for practice."

"We need to set a deadline and make a decision by the deadline or suffer the consequences," Nick Cerami said.

'Nightout' to fight crime

'BARBECUE CRIME' - As the billboard on Franklin Avenue (below) proclaims, all residents are invited to "give crime a going away party on Tuesday night, August 2nd, as part of the National Night Out, America's night out against crime. From 7 to 10 p.m., neighborhoods, groups, organizations, businesses and local officials are urged to join forces with thousands of communities nationwide for the "11th Annual National Night Out," to get out, cook out and chase crime out of their neighborhoods. Mayor Jim Messina (above) signed a proclamation to commemorate the event, while Police Patrolmen Larry Arancio and James Perno will be part of the police presence for the evening. To join, call 450-1111.

Council collects trash, recycling contract ideas

By Richard Dickon

The Mayor and Council discussed details of specifications for the new garbage contract at the July 19 work session, while the governing body is considering going to bid separately for recyclables.

Bids from garbage scavengers are due August 1.

Mayor Jim Messina said he had studied garbage contracts from several towns, including Newark, Kearney, Nutley and Bloomfield, and had "recommendations to improve the contract, to have tighter specifications."

Councilman Victor Canning requested that collection of medical waste be limited exclusively to the school and health department.

"We have to make sure it's only our sites," Canning said, "We don't want to open up a Pandora's Box, where we collect from doctors' offices or clinics." He said the state inspections for such clean-ups would be too much for Belleville to be responsible for handling.

Councilwoman Angie Paserchia said the specifications should call for water-tight trucks, so odors and paint does not leak out onto streets.

The question of whether or not recycling should be bid focused on the current vendor, the Occupational Center, which is paid $108,000 to collect recyclables.

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio said if the workers are considered handicapped under county guidelines, then the work did not have to be bid.

Cook and Deputy Mayor Thomas Spillane then both called for the work to be bid.

Councilman Nick Cerami said that since there was nothing in the spec-

Council ponders selling lots; adding onto DPW facilities

By Richard Dickon

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio proposed selling off the office building at 383 Washington Avenue, along with the William Street Department of Public Works garage, at the same time offering the possibility of adding onto the DPW facility on Cortlandt Street.

The DPW addition would consolidate the Township Engineering Department and all DPW equipment at one site.

The Washington Avenue building currently houses the Health, Child Health, Transportation and Welfare Departments along with offices for the Planning Board, Zoning Board of Adjustment, Rent Control, and the Registrar of Vital Statistics.

All these offices are eventually to be moved to Town Hall, both the old and new wings.

Before the building is put up for auction, officials said they must be sure office space is available for all the town departments elsewhere.

Cuccio offered the council the choices of spending about $50,000 to fix up the Washington Avenue building or leaving it as is before putting it up for public auction.

"I think if we spend $50,000 on renovations, the people who buy it are probably going to want to renovate it," Cuccio said, adding that he favors not spending the renovation money.

"The building has parking in the back. It's a great location and I think we could get a pretty good dollar for it, and then it would be on the tax rolls as a ratable," Cuccio said, "We have to convert properties to the tax rolls."

DPW Director Charles Cerami said selling the William Street garage "might help pay for the facility" proposed to be added onto the existing DPW buildings.

Cerami said the DPW needs a place to store salt, since only 150 tons is on hand and the town used 1,200 tons last winter. The William garage has some salt stored, along with salters, lawn mowers and trucks, all of which would be moved to the central facility, he said.

The addition proposed would comprise a modular building on a concrete slab.

"We would have engineering and all the equipment at one location," Cerami said, adding that all the underground infrastructure, for sewers, etc., should be together.

Deputy Mayor Thomas Spillane said it was important that the buildings be advertised for public auction. "I want to make sure it is fair, and that the community sees it as being fair," Spillane said.

The council approved appraisal costs of about $500 to $800 for the two locations, as a first step toward a possible sale.

Police set to guard basketball courts

By Richard Dickon

A Council Recreation Committee is recommending placing basketball hoops at all elementary school locations and the High School where they have been removed while calling on the Police Department to enforce ordinances against late night loitering at the sites.

Councilmen Jerry Digori, Victor Canning and Nick Cerami, along with Councilwoman Angie Paserchia have investigated the possible sites to place basketball courts, with Paserchia and Canning attending the July 25 Board of Education meeting to request cooperation from school officials.

School Superintendent Michael A. Lally responded to Paserchia's requests that the board support their efforts, saying "There needs to be surveillance of the courts on a scheduled basis to act as a deterrent to the adults who abuse the privilege of using the courts. If we can work cooperatively to develop that end, then I am certainly in favor of this."

Canning explained the plan. "Basketball courts will go back up where they have previously existed at School #8 and others, so kids in those areas won't have to wander. It is unfortunate that ordinances that have existed for years have not been enforced, but we have asked (Police) Chief (Raymond) Kimball to have the police firmly enforce these ordinances."

Canning called for a change in the dealings between the council and board of education. "We need to work together now. I don't care about whatever happened in the past," he said.

School Board member Bob Molinaro volunteered to be part of a committee to work with the council, while Board member Ralph Mazzuca pledged the full cooperation of the board, as did Board member Thomas Fuscaldo.

Basketball hoops were removed from the Recreation Center on Joralemon Street and a hoop was placed at School #9 on Ralph Street earlier in July after residents living

Board argues truant officer hiring process

By Richard Dickon

School officials argued over who should recommend the person to be hired part-time to assist the attendance officer in tracking students illegally attending school in Belleville.

School Board Vice President Barbara Cicalese disagreed with School Superintendent Michael A. Lally and other school board members about who should recommend the person to take on the part-time "domicile investigator" position.

Cicalese said her committee should recommend a person to be voted on by the board, while Lally, Board President Gabe Nazzola and Board member Ralph Mazzuca all said the recommendation should come from the "central office personnel" of the Board of Education.

Lally said the committee's role was to "establish policy" while the central office personnel's role was to make a recommendation.

Cicalese, who left the meeting early due to illness, said "We can cross that other bridge (recommending personnel) when we come

Possible Mafia link in murder

By Lizbeth Scordo

Newark Police are still investigating the murder of William "Crazy Willie" Gantz, of Belleville who was found shot in the head on Honnis Street, near the Belleville/Newark border earlier this month.

Both Newark and Belleville police were called to the scene after residents reported hearing gunfire around 1 a.m.

Newark Police Department Spokesman, Detective Daniel Collins said the case "is still being investigated" they are looking into all possible motives including involvement with the mafia.

Collins said it has not been confirmed yet whether or not Gantz was an associate of the Bruno-Scarfo crime family.

Information on the number of shots and the weapon used has not been released as of yet.

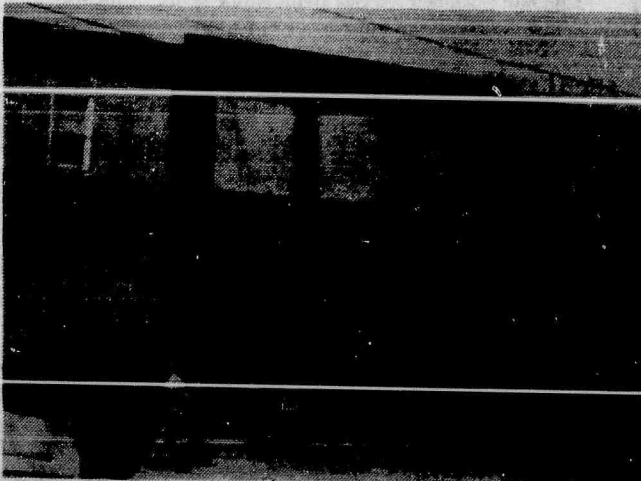

Gantz was found in the street, near a car he may have been riding in before the murder took place.

None of the mafia connections to the murder have been confirmed.

According to Detective Collins "At this time there are no suspects, but we are exploring all possibilities."

MAY BE FOR SALE - The Mayor and Council are considering selling the township office building at 383 Washington Avenue (above) and the William Street DPW Garage (below) at public auction.

Broker hiring rejected; no change in insurance

By Richard Dickon

The Township Council rejected a resolution to appoint Paul D. Molle as an insurance broker after deciding to follow the same insurance procedures as last year.

Mayor Jim Messina, citing negative experiences with a previous broker, said "We did it this way last time, I think we can do it the same way again."

Deputy Mayor Thomas Spillane called the hiring of a broker "counter-productive."

"We have a manager to do insurance. I don't want a broker who does not live and work in the municipality to get control over all our insurance. I understand the individual gets five percent of our premium. We had one for awhile, and we never found out if he did anything."

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio, who favored hiring a broker, said "A broker of record would have all the information in one spot, the tabs, the payouts. I always had one, even for my own house."

Township Attorney Robert Giordano said the council has no legal requirement to hire a broker. "We decide the parameters, what kind of coverage we want. I don't see any advantage in a broker."

Councilwoman Angie Paserchia said "We can use the last contract as a guide, get the attorney's input and do it ourselves as a council."

Councilman Victor Canning said "We should save money any way we can. If we can do it ourselves, that fine, as long as we make sure it's not costing us more money in the long run."

Self-insurance was discussed before the decision was made to keep insurance the same. Cuccio said the township was "better off self-insured. You pay on a claims basis, with minimum administrative costs to Blue Cross/Blue Shield."

Messina said being "self-insured is risky business, and we did not get into a JIF (joint insurance fund)."

Giordano suggested the town be "self-funded" rather than self-insured. He said the move would entail a one-time-only tax increase in the insurance line item in the budget, and any surplus would go toward a dedicated fund for insurance in the future.

Cuccio said the town paid $700,000 in insurance this past year, and being self-insured would cut costs.

Police arrest 2 robbery suspects after chase

By Lizbeth Scordo

Belleville police captured two juvenile males involved in the robbery of a cyclist Thursday night on Bridge and Mill Streets.

At about 12:56 a.m., three males in a car drove toward a man riding a bicycle while one suspect in the backseat aimed a shotgun at the cyclist.

The victim was forced to give the suspects the $11 he had on him.

Later that night Belleville police spotted the suspects' car and chased them through several area towns, assisted by Lyndhurst, Nutley, North Arlington, Kearny, Jersey City, Newark, East Newark, Irvington, Harrison, and East Orange police.

After the suspects crashed their car in Newark, Belleville Police arrested two suspects, ages 15 and 16. The third suspect fled the scene and is still at large.

During the chase, the police believe the suspects threw their gun out the window. They are asking anyone with knowledge of the illegal shotgun to call the department.

Channel 13 has Pavarotti, Placido Domingo and Jose Carreras in a repeat concert held at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles. Conductor Zubin Mehta led them through a series of arias that had the audience applauding for more, and more they got. For three hours, between the three tenors and the orchestra, they got more than their money's worth. This is one program I won't forget for a long time. I was so enraptured by the music that I didn't take any notes so I am writing from memory. I remember the number, "O Sole Mio" that they sang which had the capacity audience standing and applauding for some time. Bravo to these gratifying performers.

Council looks to solve stump removal backlog

By Richard Dickon

At least another 300 stumps need removing in the Township, and the Mayor and Council talked over the best ways to handle the work with Charles Cerami, director of the Department of Public Works, at the July 19 work session.

Deputy Mayor Thomas Spillane asked that the subject be discussed, saying "We don't have the equipment to remove them on our own, and the liability concerns are too great, but there is no money in the budget to pay for an outside source to remove them."

Cerami explained that "one bad storm" adds stumps and trees to the list to be removed. "We probably have 11 emergency jobs to do as a result of storms," he said.

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio said that many of the town's trees are at an age where they are dying, and they have to be cut down because they create a hazard.

If the proposed budget is approved, Cerami said the DPW can do about 50 to 75 stumps under a service contract that charges $60 a stump. Under the existing temporary budget, the most that can be done is 50, he said.

The council discussed purchasing a stump cutter that could be used at the same time any trees are cut down in town, at a cost of between $15,000 and $20,000. Several council members said they thought the cutter would be dangerous and a liability.

Cuccio suggested for the long run that the township devise a program to cut a certain number of stumps each year, and apply for Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds for stump removal.

Mayor Jim Messina said the key is "If we do cut a tree down, we have to do the stump at the same time."

Basketball hoops going up with police to patrol

near the Rec center protested to the Township Council that the hoops brought rowdy youths to their playground.

The Mayor and Council voted unanimously to remove the hoops and placed hoops and nets at School #9 and the high school.

About 20 neighboring residents complained to the council that, just hours after the hoops were in place, youths were swearing, breaking glass and making the area unsafe for many of the residents' young children, who have frequented the play area's swings and other rides.

Residents had lobbied successfully to have the hoops removed last year, citing drug and alcohol use, public urination, garbage being thrown on private property and rowdy behavior at all hours of the night and early morning.

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio announced that the hoops had been put up, and that an identification system would keep away out-of-town youths, but neighboring residents testified that the hoops brought an "undesirable" element.

Vincent and Phyllis Frantantoni continued to push the council to find places for basketball to be played so youths will not be the ones drinking and taking drugs.

At the July 19 council work session, the Recreation Committee was formed to make recommendations about both basketball courts and the renovation of Municipal Stadium (see separate story, page 1).

Digori said if courts are put back throughout the town, "People will take care of their own neighborhoods. We can put them up and maintain them on their property. Why look to go somewhere else? If cops are supposed to patrol there, let them. Cops used to throw me off after 10 o'clock."

"It is going to come down to neighborhoods policing where they are," he continued, "With eight places, there's fewer kids at each. Let neighborhoods take care of their own problems."

Councilman Bill Cook agreed that youths during the day are not the problem, and he said "Maybe we should start arresting people and enforcing the ordinance."

Mayor Jim Messina then said he would send a directive to police chief to enforce the ordinance.

Deputy Mayor Thomas Spillane said the basketball courts are "a quality of life issue. Maybe the police have to be involved. I consider this important."

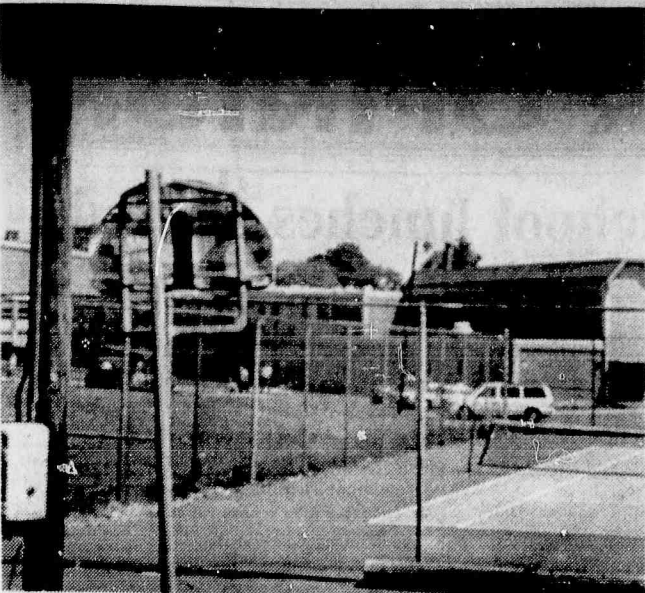

Eventually, Digori said, individual police officers become familiar with neighborhood youths and the problem becomes manageable.

Paserchia also asked the school board to consider letting youths play indoors at School #1, which is not in use.

Cook has said that a long-term solution may be to ask the County to allow basketball courts on the former Geriatric hospital land, some of which is already earmarked for use as a soccer field.

Cook and several residents had agreed that the high school would be the best location, saying it was near the center of town, the police patrol there regularly and it is well lit.

HOOPS WITHOUT BASKETBALL - This lone basketball hoop may have company soon, if the Township Council and Board of Education can agree on a place at the High School. Hoops are being installed at School #9, with the the Council committee recommending that all previous elementary school sites once again to have basketball courts.

Council committee right to push school board on stadium fix-up

The Mayor and Council are doing everything they can to make up for lost time on the renovation of the Municipal Stadium, with an eye toward realistic progress.

First, the formation of a committee, including Councilmen Jerry Digori, Victor Canning and Nick Cerami allows for the concentration of effort of three council members who have expressed a lot of interest in the problems.

Some may be disappointed that, after walking the stadium July 20, the three concluded that no 'quick fixes' would work, including the installation of basketball hoops on the former tennis courts. That area is earmarked for an indoor facility as part of Jim Landon's overall architectural plan for the stadium facilities.

The plan to patch the football fields, the most immediate and pressing problem, makes sense. The tennis courts, track and baseball fields can be renovated in the spring, with the possibility, at least, that the improved facilities can be used by athletes this year.

Perhaps the most impressive move by the council was the appearance by Paserchia and Canning at the July 25 public Board of Education meeting. Canning told the board, in no uncertain terms, that regardless of past difficulties he planned to push them to work together to move stadium renovations ahead as quickly as possible.

School Board President Gabe Nazziola told Canning the board had provided information on the track, as requested, and would work with the Council in the future.

The actions of the past couple of weeks represent real movement by the Council, and the Board of Education, to move the stadium issue where it belongs, up front on the agendas of both governing bodies.

The next step now is to settle the litigation involving the retaining wall, which will free the Council to pursue state Green Acres loans and grants. The momentum is there, and it is up to both governing bodies to continue pressing the issue forward, for the sake of the town's student athletes.

Council/school board agree; now work on policing basketball hoops

After waiting patiently for nearly three hours, Councilwoman Angie Paserchia and Councilman Victor Canning told Board of Education officials they wanted cooperation in their efforts to put back basketball hoops at Township elementary schools, as well as the High School.

School Superintendent Michael A. Lally agreed that the need exists, but expressed concern that all the basketball courts be patrolled with regularity. Canning responded that Police Chief Raymond Kimball has been instructed to fully enforce ordinances prohibiting anyone from playing basketball after 10 p.m., or making loud noises, swearing, leaving garbage, drinking alcohol, using illegal drugs, or urinating in public.

Canning and his council committee, including Jerry Digori and Nick Cerami, as well as Paserchia, are recommending that hoops be put back at all locations where they have previously been.

An exception should and has been made for the Recreation House on Joralemon Street. That playground has become known as a place for younger children, up to about age eight or nine, to play.

Assuming the council agrees to put back the hoops, and that is not guaranteed, the onus then would fall squarely on the Police Department. The police need to provide the support that will allow individual neighborhoods to take back their recreation areas, and in the process help make those neighborhoods safer for everyone.

There are still plenty of summer and early fall nights for Belleville youth to enjoy constructive recreation activity in their neighborhoods. There is simply no tolerable excuse for the police not to allow the youngsters to play in their own neighborhood. For the police, the basketball, and the welfare of the town's youth, is in their court.

Support a night out against crime

On Tuesday night, every Belleville resident has the opportunity to take a personal stand against crime in his/her neighborhood.

The National Night Out, called America's night out against crime, offers neighbors a chance to band together for one night through a barbecue, walking the neighborhood with flashlights, or simply sitting out on the front porch with the lights on.

As important as the night is as a symbolic gesture, the three hours from 7 to 10 p.m. can have a more lasting effect. If neighbors share information about when they might need their home or apartment watched, or who and where to call in an emergency, the night can reduce the incidence of crime and make everyone feel a little safer. Neighborhood watches may even spring up as a result.

The Silver Lake District Partnership, along with sponsors PSE&G and Spencer Savings Bank, are to be commended for bringing the night to Belleville. So no one should miss this opportunity to 'barbecue crime' and begin making their streets safer.

Hearty school lunches offered

To the editor:

At Last! The U.S. Department of Agriculture has recommended "new" guidelines for the nutritional content of school lunch. Under these rules, 30% of calories should come from fat and 10% from saturated fat. This recommendation reflects exactly the dietary catechism of the American Heart Association which has in turn based recommendations upon years of clinical and epidemiological research.

The American Heart Association offers dietary counsel for school health curricular. However, the interested student finds it difficult to execute healthy choices at many school cafeteria counters. In response to this problem, the New Jersey Affiliate of the American Heart Association developed a selection of menus which help cafeteria vendors to coordinate healthy dietary standards with available budgets. School children have learned the wisdom food exchanges when the emphasis was often more upon "total fat" and "balance" than upon "good" or "bad" food.

This Hearty School Lunch program has been quickly adopted throughout New Jersey and, with the generous support of the Campbell Soup Company, has become available throughout the nation. The life and efficiency of any engine is absolutely dependent on the available fuel. The magnificent human body is no exception! There is no better classroom for nutrition education than school cafeterias.

We enthusiastically applaud the nutrition initiative of the Department of Agriculture and we hope that broad based support and compliance will be swiftly achieved.

Jobs, recreation 'for the children'

To the Editor,

"For the Children" is a phrase I've heard many times, but the people who utter it, mean it?

First, our Board of Education members, who found more than a half-million dollars for teacher and administrator raises, but they cannot find funds for an athletic trainer or basketball courts. When the budget was defeated, the B.O.E. did not cut salaries or benefits, they threatened the children with elimination of clubs, sports, coaches, etc. So much "For the Children."

Our town council tells us of all the wonderful things they have done in our town for the children, our future leaders. Lets look at these wonderful things!

1. Our Council has removed the basketball hoops from most of our recreation areas.

2. The old tennis courts that our children were using for street hockey is now a dumping ground for construction debris.

3. The summer youth employment program has been eliminated.

For the Children? I think it's time we start doing for the children and keep our future in Belleville instead of chasing them away.

Victims deserve fair trial, too

To the editor,

In the O.J. Simpson case, it will be virtually impossible for murdered victims to receive a fair trial.

Potential jurors learned facts of the case through news media. Judges and defense attorneys ruled such jurors cannot make the right decision during a trial.

If any facts are not acquired or presented in court exactly according to the letter of the law, judge and defense lawyers will deny them to the jurors.

Withholding evidence prevents jurors from determining if crime was committed, who committed it and why.

Prosecutors make determinations based on all evidence, but jurors are not always allowed to hear all the evidence. Jurors who learn about evidence from the news media or other sources before the trial are disqualified.

Mr. Simpson is fortunate to be a wealthy man. If guilty, he can afford lawyers to plug the flaws and see that guilt falls where it should.

Alleged criminals are entitled to public defenders. Victims should have the similar rights.

Yes, it is virtually impossible for many victims to get a fair trial in our court system.

• ONE of the pleasant surprises recently was a letter I received from Pete (J. Wesley) Tillou. He has moved from Nutley to the Breton Manor Guest Home in Washington, Boro, Pennsylvania, to be near his family. In his letter, Pete tells me that it takes ten days to two weeks for the Nutley Sun to arrive at their home.

I received the same complaint from a couple of other out-of-town readers. I can't believe the postal delivery is all that bad. I will bring the matter to the attention of Congressman Herb Klein.

• PASSAIC COUNTY Republican Assemblyman Gerald Zecker recently sponsored a proposal to permit riverboat gambling. This is a measure that New Jersey's number one entrepreneur, Bob Brennan, Chairman of the International Thoroughbred Breeders, Inc. and the owner of the Garden State Park Racetrack in Cherry Hill, is seeking.

Expanding gambling outside Atlantic City will severely damage the resort's casinos, and to permit casino gambling beyond Atlantic City potentially opens up the entire state for casino gambling activities.

Taxpayers have a tremendous invested interest in the welfare of the Atlantic City casinos. Hundreds of millions of dollars of state revenue have been committed to enhancing Atlantic City amusement and entertainment facilities. Two of the most important projects are a new convention center and the development of an international airport. Mr. Zecker and Mr. Brennan should be given their hats and told to take a walk.

• THE Essex County Republican Committee seems poised for a victory this November and has an opportunity to capture the most powerful office in the county - County Executive. Verona Mayor Jim Treffinger is their G.O.P. candidate.

Governor Christie Whitman's point man in Essex, Bloomfield attorney, Ralph Salerno, will be the administration's representative working with G.O.P. Chairman John Renna.

• RECENTLY, a federal judge sitting in Baltimore ordered a rural county to let voters cast up to five ballots each to give blacks a better shot at a seat on the five-member county commission. In a first of a kind ruling, District Judge Joseph Young ordered the arrangement for Worcester County after lawyers could not agree on a new system. Under the judge's order, all five commissioners would still be elected from the county as a whole rather than from districts. But voters would get five votes to use any way they wanted, spreading them among candidates or giving them all to one. The idea is to allow votes from black voters to accumulate for black candidates.

Cumulative voting was one of the controversial ideas supported by Lani Guinier that led President Clinton to withdraw her nomination to head the Justice Department's civil rights division in June.

• SIMPSON'S $500,000 reward for the capture of his ex-wife's "real killer" is a joke - and don't ask me why.

• ONE of the best-ever sheriffs to serve the County of Passaic is Eddie Englehardt, the current sheriff, who in common with some of the foreign potentates, is elected "Sheriff for life". And Ed is most deserving. Compassionate, strict and impeccable integrity, Englehardt is one of the best things to happen to Passaic County in this century. Even the Republican Party has benefitted and benefits from his leadership. Englehardt is a friend-for-life type of guy. He operates with a level playing field and expects his opponents to do likewise - the few that are around. Englehardt was one of the first major Republicans in the state to support Governor Christie Whitman in a tough Primary Election - especially in the face of a popular neighbor, former attorney general Cary Edwards, seeking the Republican nomination. Englehardt defied the odds, opposed Cary Edwards, supported Christie Whitman and with the help of County Republican Chairman Peter Murphy, carried the county for Whitman. When pressed, associates say that Englehardt is getting less than the right time from the Whitman administration. When asked about the Whitman administration, Englehardt is reported to state that Christie Whitman is doing a good job.

Aside From That

By: Howard Klausner

Dr. Peter Sammartino died, as he had lived, a man in charge of his own destiny. As someone who had preached euthanasia during his own lifetime, it was at least consistent with his own philosophy that he ended his own life, and the life of his beloved wife, Sally, on March 29, 1992.

The thought occurs to us, however, that if conditions in nursing homes were not so deplorable, he might have been less unwilling to see his wife end her days in one of them as a victim of Alzheimer's Disease.

Peter Sammartino was not a man who gave in to anything easily, and it is significant that he was found to have had a brain tumor, a condition likely to have sapped his will to fight.

A book, Peter and Sally Sammartino (Biographical Notes) by Sister Margherita Marchione, published by Cornwall Books, is the first formal biography to appear of the couple who founded Fairleigh Dickinson University.

We say "first" advisedly, because Sister Margherita, a scholar and biographer of renown, states that the definitive story of the Sammartinos and their effects on our society has yet to be written.

What Sister Margherita did was to carry out the wish of Dr. Sammartino, as expressed in his will, that she write the biography. In a sense, Sister Margherita has demurred from that task, noting that it will require a team of scholars to read and study the Sammartino Papers before such a biography could be accomplished.

What she has done is provide a guide to that future work, with enough information to outline the lives of the Sammartinos, leaving it to the future biographer to fill in the canvas of their history.

Dr. Sammartino, born 1904 in New York City to an immigrant couple from Salerno, worked vigorously all his life, as a cook, a busboy, a musician and as a teacher. He rarely held less than two jobs simultaneously, and usually the number was three and four.

He had the idea of the university as early as 1933, when he looked from his father-in-law's house in Rutherford toward the old abandoned Ivison Mansion on its eight acres.

His father-in-law, Louis Scaramelli, arrived in New York in 1899, went to New England, sold fruits and vegetables from a horse-drawn wagon, and built one of America's largest food importing companies. He became an associate of A. P. Giannini in the Bank of Italy, later the Bank of America.

Yet his daughter was told that with a name like Scaramelli, it was inappropriate for her to teach American history.

Dr. Sammartino's parents were passionate supporters of Garibaldi, and he spent many holidays as a youth laying wreaths on Garibaldi's statue and listening to the spirited reminiscences of Garibaldi's veterans. His vision of Italy was in that tradition, a humanistic, democratic philosophy that marked his own concepts of education.

It was in that tradition that he rescued Ellis Island from private exploitation and led the effort to keep it for all Americans.

He valued the success of the American Experience, and he treasured the achievements of the Italian Experience in America.

Perhaps no one brought these two traditions together so well as did Peter and Sally Sammartino.

They infused the classics into practical education, and bettered the lives of tens of thousands thereby.

On ships, planes and submarines, in locations around the world, the men and women of the United States Navy are on watch. They're putting their training to work in jobs that make a difference, while developing skills they'll need for a successful future. Just as important, they're doing it for their country. They're Navy people, working hard for America. And that makes us proud.

Senior care offers grants in Essex

The Grotta Foundation for Senior Care, a newly formed New Jersey private foundation, announced today that it will accept applications from New Jersey nonprofit organizations seeking grants for programs that enhance the life of elderly people and their families in Essex and Morris Counties, as well as the neighboring towns of Summit and Springfield.

The Foundation was established in 1994 with the proceeds from the sale of the Grotta Center for Senior Care, a nursing home and rehabilitation center in West Orange, New Jersey. The Foundation plans to make grants totaling approximately $250,000 per year to qualifying programs.

Stephen A. Greene, President, said, "The Foundation looks forward to helping meet senior citizens' needs and is now ready to receive grant applications." He added that given the Foundation's relatively small size, the Board of the Foundation is most interested in considering grants for innovative programs designed to maximize the value of the Foundation's limited resources. "Ideally," Greene said, "these programs should have the potential either to advance public policy, or to strengthen or expand the quality and scope of services available to older people."

Greene encouraged nonprofit organizations to write or call the Foundation's office for more information about application guidelines. The mailing address is: Grotta Foundation for Senior Care, 909A Broad Street, Suite 1720, Newark, NJ 07102; telephone 201-622-2244. Proposals must be received by August 15, 1994 to be considered by the Board in the first round of grantmaking.

Garbage contract

ifications for newspaper that the council include recycling specifications as part of the garbage contract.

"Why not have a price to pick up recyclables, like to door-to-door pick-ups," Cerami said. "If we have more options, we can find out what's cheaper."

Cerami made his comments after Cook said the specifications should "eliminate alternatives we would not consider in the first place, like weekly recycling, or twice-a-week newspapers."

Also discussed was what effect to the township a possible Essex County Incinerator might have.

Earlier this year, council members had discussed backyard trash pick-ups, user charges, dumpster pick-ups and paying per tonnage as possible specifications for the new contract.

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio has said the current cost of collection runs about $2.5 million per year, so finding the cheapest and best service is important.

Township Attorney Robert Giordano has said another town had reduced their tonnage by more than 30 percent and saved about the same amount by going to a per-tonnage payment system, which offers a great incentive to recycle.

Committee guides renovation

Cerami said.

Messina had questioned what other costs would be entailed for equipment, saying the council needed all engineering specifications and the elevations.

Township Manager Stephen Cuccio said the council had to commit to pay for the trucking, and a few incidentals, but that much of the equipment could be loaned for no cost as a donation.

Cuccio said the town would need to pay for top soil and could seed the field with a seeding machine the town owns.

Charles Cerami said the fill was the next phase in the Landon plan, to try and get the field into decent shape.

The most recent meeting between Barbara Lawton of Bruno Associates and former mayor and council in June failed to resolve the existing lawsuit that prevents the town from applying for Green Acres funding.

High School track and tennis teams have been forced to compete on the road, since the stadium facilities are inadequate, and complaints abound that the poor maintenance of other fields has created poor conditions for competing.

The Township remains embroiled in litigation involving Neglia Engineers regarding structural problems in a restraining wall that is not up to code. Council and town officials said a settlement offer is on the table, but no action has been taken.

Officials have said the wall ended up costing in excess of $300,000, more than the $100,000 to $150,000 it should have cost.

Truant officer

Board member Thomas Fuscaldo, who chairs the committee looking into illegal students, called a meeting for July 27 to hash out the details of the job description.

"I have no problem with receiving input from all sides on this issue," Fuscaldo said. "We need to take action at the next meeting (August 8th)."

Nazziola said he believed the committee's role is "to examine procedures for finding and eliminating non-resident students and improving the documents used to screen students and recommend policy improvements."

"It is the purview of the administration to recommend personnel," Nazziola said. "I believe we would be stepping over the line into administration and we might be charged with politically choosing personnel."

Cicalese said she was concerned that the board not hire "someone who will sit on their rump and do nothing and then say 'see there is no problem with illegal students.' I want to make sure we hire a good person."

Fuscaldo agreed with Cicalese and vowed that someone would be hired who will work to find illegal students.

The committee comprises Cicalese, Fuscaldo, Board member John Notari, Dr. Joseph Ciccone, the former high school principal who is now assistant school superintendent, and one resident.

Resident Frank Montagna again called for the board to find 400 non-resident students attending the schools but did not offer any proof of their existence.

In June, school attendance officer Wayne Worley said the problem is not as widespread as some have alleged saying a total of 37 students had been found during the school year that were illegally in school for several reasons, but that if everyone down the line, secretaries, guidance counselors, administrators, are not letting in students without proper credentials, there is no problem, but if it is done haphazardly, he might need 10 people. School Superintendent Michael A. Lally confirmed that two illegal students were pursued vigorously through the courts.

BUG SHOTS

By Mike Lambert

Don't look now, but varsity tennis season is getting closer

I know high school students don't want to hear this, but the 1994-95 school year is just 41 days away.

Now, don't panic, because there is still plenty of summer left and I don't want to rush what should be two of the more enjoyable months of the year for you.

This message is more for the Township Council. The start of the '94-95 school year on September 7 means the beginning of another sports year at Belleville High School.

With that said, the continuing question of whether the girls' varsity tennis team will have a place to compete continues to linger like the humid air that has blanketed our area for the past few weeks.

Will these kids finally get the chance to compete at home, or will their schedule once again have the letter A next to all of its matches, meaning, once again, that all the matches will be away.

Since the restructuring of the Council on July 1, there has been some very positive things said and done. New Mayor Jim Messina is very interested in putting a positive spin back into the Township. Already, Council members have expressed interest in the Municipal Stadium complex and some of the members have been to the stadium to discuss the needs of the complex.

The varsity football field needs work, the JV baseball field, which doubles as a practice field for football and soccer, also needs attention. Don't even ask about the track, because everyone knows the story of the track team that hasn't competed at home since the 1980's.

Needless to say, there is a ton of work to do. And, needless to say, time does not stand still for anyone. So, while the current Council can not be criticized for the lack of effort, concern, etc., turned in by their predecessors, the young men and women who wear the Blue and Gold of Belleville High School, will soon be needing the facilities at Belleville High School.

Will all of those athletes get the chance to call Belleville home for sporting events? Or will the busses get plenty of work as the girls' varsity tennis team takes the monotonous tour of upper Bergen County for six weeks once again?

Miracles will not happen overnight. But there are enough Belleville High School students that have been graduated recently who never had the chance to race at home, or play varsity tennis at home, because the township they live in, the township they represented proudly, didn't care enough to give them a decent place to compete in.

Anyway you look at it, that's the bottom line.

Let's hope future BHS classes, beginning with the Class of 1995, won't have to say they never had the chance to compete at home.

BASEBALL STRIKE

It's coming. The baseball strike of 1994, not to be confused with strikes in 1981, 1985 and 1990 (actually that was a lockout) is just three weeks away!

I can't wait. The strike, which is tentatively scheduled for mid August, will occur just as the NFL pre season is gaining some intensity.

Donald Fehr, who represents the poorrrrr players in this ridiculous money grubbing, who gives a bleep about the fans just as long as we get more money charade, had said the strike might be put off until Labor Day weekend.

First off, Don, who cares? Secondly, if you do go on strike on Labor Day Monday, that will coincide directly with the opening weekend of the NFL's regular season. While my Eagles are playing the Giants and many other NFL stadiums are sold out, do you think the fans will lose much sleep because the baseball players are on strike?

And, despite the obvious signals that the players and owners could give a hoot about the fans, the fans will ultimately decide what happens to baseball, if and when, the strike is settled.

I've said it before, if fans don't pay for tickets, and don't watch on television, then the game will disappear on the professional level.

And that doesn't mean the game of baseball will go away, because it's a great pastime and kids and adults will play it on sandlots and parks all over the country.

Greediness will ruin the game of professional baseball. And I'm not blaming just the players, because the owners aren't anything to brag about, either.

Richard Ravitch, who represents the owners, has indicated his group will stay united. And you can bet if the players walk out in August or September of this year and ruin post season play, the owners will retaliate by locking the players out for a good long time in 1995.

The players, who average salaries well in excess of $1 million, are balking at the proposed salary cap that owners feel necessary to keep up with the runaway costs of running a ball club.

Owners are crying, in essence, poverty, which, I doubt is happening because people wouldn't stay in business if they were losing tons of money each year.

Players are saying they're being treated unfairly by the salary cap, which is hard to understand considering the money these guys are making for chasing a baseball. Even with a cap, are you saying the players are going to be left deprived?

In the real world, that's doubtful. In the Fantasyland that the players and owners live in, the Fantasyland created because fans are willing to pay for tickets and cable television to watch baseball (something I'm guilty of as well), maybe the players are deprived, maybe the owners are broke.

Who knows. Perhaps there's a way to settle this. Perhaps the strike can be avoided. Even though my Cardinals are out of the 1994 pennant race (please bring back Whitey Herzog and get rid of Dai Maxvill)! I still enjoy baseball and would like to see an interesting post season.

But pull this strike, and expect people to understand, and the end result is going to be empty ball parks when, and if, the players return to the field.

Legion captures division title

By Mike Lambert

Kevin Davis hurled nine innings of shutout ball and Jim Landon and Mike Mundy provided the key hits to lead the Belleville senior legion baseball team to a 3-0 win over Bloomfield to clinch the divisional championship.

The team, coached by Jim Landon Sr. and Carl Piscatowski Sr. defeated Livingston in the first round of the playoffs 8-1, then fell to Vailsburg 3-0 in the county championship game last Sunday.

Thus, Belleville will take a 15-5 mark into the state playoffs this weekend at New Brunswick. Belleville will begin play this Saturday and will continue through Sunday. Should Belleville win at New Brunswick this weekend, it will continue state tournament play next week.

The victory at Bloomfield last week was, in the words of Piscatowski, "beautiful."

"The kids really played well," Piscatowski said. "Great pitching by Kevin, great defense and timely hitting. Everyone did a super job."

The victory assured Belleville the divisional championship, but it didn't come easily.

Bloomfield and Belleville, long time baseball rivals dating back to the 1930's, went toe-to-toe at Foley Field into extra innings.

Davis, who has been outstanding on the hill this summer, got into trouble in the seventh inning when he gave up a one out triple.

With defeat just 90 feet away, Belleville would not quit. Second baseman Carl Piscatowski made a good stop of a ground ball and threw home to Landon, the catcher, who made the tag at the plate to get the Bloomfield runner.

Belleville scored three times in the ninth to break a scoreless tie. Joe Oufiero walked and was sacrificed to second by Piscatowski.

Scott Jaworowcz and Dan Brunello singled to load the bases with two outs, bringing up Landon.

Landon did not disappoint, hitting a single to score Oufiero with the first run. Mundy then drilled a single to score Jaworowcz and Brunello.

In the win over Livingston, Brunello pitched a complete game five hitter.

Belleville scored four times in the first. Piscatowski singled, Jaworowcz reached on an error and Brunello singled to load the bases.

Anthony Pace then stepped to the plate and drilled a grand slam homer, giving Belleville a lead it would never relinquish.

In the third, Landon walked and scored on a Mundy double. In the fifth, Brunello singled and later scored on a Landon hit.

Piscatowski smacked a two run homer in the sixth, scoring Oufiero and giving Belleville its final two runs.

The victory moved Belleville into the county championship game last Sunday against Vailsburg.

This time, Belleville was unable to win, falling 3-0.

"We just didn't hit, simple as that," Piscatowski said. "Mundy started on the hill and Davis came in in the third because Mike's arm was bothering him."

"We just weren't able to get any run support."

Despite the loss, Belleville should be in good shape when it travels to New Brunswick this weekend for the state playoffs.

Kevin Davis displays form that shutout Bloomfield 3-0 and helped Belleville win the Legion divisional title.

Jim Landon delivered key hit in the win over Bloomfield last week. Landon has been busy this summer, playing legion baseball and catching for the Belleville Bruins.

Carl Piscatowski takes lead off first base as Bloomfield's Nick Franklin holds him on. Belleville won in extra innings, 3-0.

Third baseman Mike Mundy gets ready for opportunity in early stages of game with Bloomfield at Foley Field last week.

Remembering the '79 Buc football team

By Mike Lambert

Where were you 15 years ago?

If you just graduated Belleville High School a few weeks ago, you were about two years old and probably weren't too concerned about the comings and goings of the Belleville football team.

But, if you are a fan of high school football and have been a follower of the Belleville Buccaneers, then you probably know that 1979 was a very special season on the gridiron.

For the next month, we're going to look back at the '79 Bucs, a team that won eight games and advanced, for the first time, to the post season playoffs.

There was a lot of magic attached to that season, and over the course of the next month, we'll talk to the coaches and players who were a part of the '79 Bucs and get their recollections 15 years later.

Okay, let's go back to September, 1979. Jimmy Carter was President of the United States and the country was just about to begin enduring the Iranian Hostage situation which kept Americans on the edge from November of '79 to January of 1981.

The Pittsburgh Steelers were in Phase II of their dynasty, having won the Super Bowl in January of '79 and were preparing for a repeat, with the end result a fourth Super Bowl crown in January of 1980.

If you remember the Summer of '79, then you'll probably remember the long gasoline lines as America waited at the pumps for the second time in the decade of the 70's. (A note, this writer remembers getting up at 4 a.m. once a week and taking his 1971 Ford Pinto to the Garden State Parkway North gas station near Exit 151 to wait in line to get $5.00 in gas, and then drive to the other side of the GSP and get another $5.00 in gas on the South bound side. That would usually last me the rest of the week).

Tragically, 1979 was the year that Thurman Munson, the Captain of the New York Yankees, was killed in a plane crash.

Anyone associated with baseball will always remember the Yankees first game after Munson's death, on a Friday night at Yankee Stadium, and the 50,000 plus fans who turned out and gave Munson's picture on the scoreboard a very emotional ten minute standing ovation after the playing of the National Anthem.

The Cosmos were a big hit at Giants Stadium in '79, drawing large crowds as the North American Soccer League (NASL) enjoyed phenomenal success.

At the box office, Barbara Streisand and Ryan O'Neil starred in "The Main Event" and the theme song from that movie became a big summer time hit.

"The Deer Hunter" was also a big hit, winning the Academy Award. That movie, ironically depicting the negativity of the Vietnam War, was the first step in the building of the Vietnam Veterans War Memorial in Washington, D.C.

The New York Jets had a quarterback controversy, as the fans wanted Matt Robinson but the coaching staff stayed, belligerently, with Richard Todd.

In baseball, the Yankees did not win a third straight World Series. Pittsburgh rallied from a three games to one deficit to beat Baltimore, using as their theme song, the hit from Peaches and Herb, "We are Family."

In basketball, the NBA struggled for identity as the Seattle Supersonics won the title, but the popularity of the league waned. In November of 1979, a new season would begin and two rookies, Magic Johnson and Larry Bird, would carry league on their backs for the 80's and make it a huge success.

In the world of music, "My Sharona" was a big hit and the disco era was still in high gear.

In Belleville, N.J., two newspapers vied for the readers time. The more established Belleville Times had a new columnist there named Mike Lambert, who introduced Buc Shots to the local readers in

'79 Buc football team

February of '79.

The new paper in town, This Week in Belleville, published by the classy Peter Bridge, was a worthy competitor. (This writer remembers a certain front page article in Bridge's paper about a then 17 year old Belleville High School senior named Jackie Wis, who was to play the lead in the production of "The Wizard of Oz". The picture of Jackie had the following caption, "Slow Eyed Jackie Wis ponders a difficulty" during dress rehearsal. Anyway, those who knew me then knew of a very special relationship shared between Jackie and myself. It's one that I'll never forget).

So, finally, we get to football. The Buccaneers, coached by third year man John Senesky, were coming off a 6-3 campaign in 1978.

There was a large contingent of seniors on that team, and Senesky and his staff were quietly confident heading into that campaign. It would not be an easy road, however.

The schedule featured a season opening game with Livingston, followed by games against powerhouses Montclair and Passaic, and mixed between those games was the big game with Nutley, which was played in week three of the season back then.

The senior class was led by quarterback Ed Aulisi, running backs Lenny Mendola, Frank Fazzini and Mike Nicosia, wide receiver Jerry DiGori, linemen Anthony D'Agostino, Russ Pagano, Luigi Chimento, Carl Lordi, Rich Vitiello, linebacker Phil Cerza and defensive back Mike Rainone.

Please remember, over the next four weeks, there will be plenty of names remembered, plenty of memories restored.

The names just mentioned were just a sampling of the great Belleville team who played in the fall of '79. There were plenty more heroes and they will certainly receive their place in this feature.

One thing that people don't remember about that '79 Belleville team. That club played seven of its nine regular season games at home, and the home field was definitely a big plus 15 years ago.

So, over the next few weeks, we'll remember a little, paying tribute to a group of players who made the Fall of 1979 a very special time in Belleville.

BASE, Camera excel in softball league

The 1994 girls' softball season came to a close this past week. Many new ideas were formulated and attempted this past season under the guidance of the newly formed Softball Commission.

The Junior League had sponsors this year which allowed them to play under ASA rules and regulations and under the jurisdiction of ASA umpires.

Camara Chiropractic went undefeated in regular season play. They were coached by Tina Porcelli and Rita Todd and were led by Nicole Russell and Dara Bocchino on the mound. Vincy Donatiello captained the infield behind the plate and Gina Sant'Angelo called the shots in the outfield.

BASE, sponsored by the Belleville Alliance for Substance Education, posted a 6-1 record in the regular season but went undefeated in the post-season tournament. The tournament champs are coached by Pat Cordasco and are led by Dawn Mullen on the mound. Mary Ann Bravette, the shortstop, is considered by many to be the best all-around player in the league.

Also contributing to BASE's success are Michele Buccino, Lauren Rosenfeld, and Melinda Musse.

The new kids in the league are sponsored by Pathmark. This team was comprised of mostly sixth graders, but they posted a very respectable second in the post-season. Amanda Robbins calls the shots from behind the plate and Christine Wengryn saw most of the action from the mound. Offensively and defensively, Danielle Smeraldo, Jackie Fuchs, Christina DeMeo and Anabel Rodriguez led this fine group of youngsters.

School Craft Studios placed fourth in the tournament behind the pitching of Alexis Lepore. Jennifer Carnivale had the hot bat and Andrea Evangelista was always a threat on the bases. Philmore Associates, sponsored by Philmore's owners Mike and Lori Ippolito, was also a young team that came on strong in the tourney. Young players like Lindsay Giordano, Jessica Giordano, and Jill Smith hope to return as seasoned veterans next year.

Stefanelli Chiropractic fielded a team of players that have returned to Rec ball after a lay-off. Players like Nikki Branca, Jill Ernst, and Kathy Carion will leave the league next year, but the team still has a solid nucleus with returners Jen Stone, Chrissy Santos, and Elisa Parillo. Kentucky Fried Chicken sponsored a team this year. India Bowers and Stephanie Curran helped guide newcomers Jodi Troise, Jessica Palumbo, and Danielle Campolieto.

Megaro Memorial got off to a rough start, but this determined group of youngsters finally posted a win. Brandie Tortorelli, Tiffany Cubellis, Suzanne San Philip, and Danielle DeMichael will return next year with winning on their minds.

The Pigtail League saw their undefeated season champion Royals take a loss in the post-season tournament to a very fine Mets team. The Royals finished 7-0 in regular season play. Rebecca Rotino, Phyllis Frantantoni, and Alexandra Lopez came on strong in the second half of the season. Gianna Lopreato drove in two runs in the semifinal game against the Giants and Christina Kirwin held the Giants to just two runs.

The Mets defeated the Royals in the winners bracket, so the Royals had to come back and beat the Mets twice to gain the tournament championship. Adrienne Butler pitched two great games for the Mets in the tournament. Janelle Romano, Tiffany Bolivar, and Alicia Sant'Angelo all contributed to their team's success throughout the season. The Giants were another fine team. Nicole Mullen, Nicole Andreola, and Christine Varacallo led the team both offensively and defensively.

The Angels got off to a slow start, but ended up the spoiler team in the tournament. Kristen Wilson, Jodi Mozeika, and Lauren DeMaio will all return next year as seasoned veterans. The Pirates will be affected next year with the loss of their pitcher Elisa Linfante and their first baseman Adria Caputo. But they will have a strong nucleus with Dana Jusino and Michele Messina returning. The Reds will lose both their coach, Joanne Cavallo, and her daughter, Angie, a tremendous competitor that can play almost any position. But they too have a strong nucleus with Gina Valente, Danielle Green, and Christina Elkins returning.

The Yankees got off to a rocky start, but won some important games throughout the season. Gina Barbosa, Shauna McGowan, and Felicia DiSalvo will be sorely missed next year. The Cubs will lose their all-star, Katie Dunn, but Meghan Branca, Gina Gamaro, and Susan Talamini will return as veterans.

The PeeWee League had the only team that remained undefeated throughout the entire season. Camara in the Junior League and the Royals in the Pigtail League were both undefeated until their tournaments. But the Aces kept an unblemished 10-0 record intact. Gianna Immersi, Shareen Medina, Lucia Trumble, and Melissa Amorosi will be sorely missed next year, but the Pigtail coaches will all be looking to draft these highly-talented youngsters.

The Bombers placed second with a 7-3 record. They too will lose talented players in Danielle Spera, Bobbi Jo Crescenzi, Adriane Price and Megan Talbot. But Allison Lopreato Stephanie Brodo, and Jennifer Lelinho will return to form a strong nucleus next year.

The Clippers will lose their coach, Sal Garilli, and his daughter Jenna at third base. Danielle Taylor, Alicia deMedici, and Jackie Velardi will also go to the Pigtail League. Jackie Velardi is an immensely talented youngster who will try to make her mark at the next level.

The Expos received steady play from Christina Barbosa, Jessica Juliano, and Stephanie Elkins. Both the Tigers and the Astros, coached by Lorrinda Schragger and Paul Conway respectively, had to learn the ropes with new coaches and new players. But both teams finished with their share of wins behind Melissa Gabriele, Katie Schragger, and Jessica Anderson for the Tigers and Nicole Rodriguez, Kristen Forlenzo and Amy Mundorff for the Astros.

Next year, the commission hopes to implement an All-Star tournament and some more safety features in the league. Parental input is always welcome and essential, but most importantly, the league would be non-functioning without the dedication and teaching of the finest coaches around: Matt Lopreato, Tony Spano, Joe Rocco, Barry Sant'Angelo, John Liss, Sandy Jusino, Len Larcara, Pat and Larell Dunn, Dennis Capasso, Chuck Smiley, Joanne Cavallo, Paul Schaeffer, Michele Quick, Christine Weinbel, Paul Varacallo, Vic Andreola, Linda Cubellis, Mike Campolieto, Laura Curran, Frank Martinelli, Anthony Branca, Mary Stone, Marie Wolfe, Tina Porcelli, Rita Todd, Pat Cordasco, Rich Fuchs, Ed Smeraldo, Phil deMeco, Joanne Tuwo, Jerry Drake, John delRosso, Frank Fontana, Lorrinda Schragger, Stephen Prashack, Tracey and Gil Barbosa, Sal Garilli, Ron de Medici, Bob Crescenzi, Pete Spera, Paul Conway, and any parent who pitched in - your help was greatly appreciated.

Soccer coaches needed

The Belleville Recreation Department is seeking persons interested in coaching its 7 to 14 year old soccer league. The league is separated into several divisions according to specific age groups.

The children learn the basics of soccer and all those attending regular practices play in all games. Games are played on Saturday and Sunday afternoons beginning in late September. All volunteer coaches will be required to attend a certification clinic by the NYSCA before the season begins.

Those interested in coaching may call the Recreation Department at 450-3422 weekdays before 4 p.m.

Girls' traveling soccer team tryouts

The Clifton Stallions Soccer Club will hold open tryouts for its girls' traveling teams on Monday, July 25 and Monday, August 1, from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the field behind Pope John Paul II at 775 Valley Road, Clifton.

The Stallions have openings on their girls' under-14 to under-9 teams. Girls born between August 1, 1980 and July 31, 1986 are eligible.

The teams will compete in the Northern Counties Soccer League on Sunday afternoons this fall and next spring.

For further information, contact Ken Kowalski at 471-8631 or show up at the field.

Piscatowski heading to softball nationals

Belleville's Kim Piscatowski will be playing for the Clifton Cobras softball team in the ASA Nationals in Sacramento, California, beginning on Wednesday, August 10.

In order to qualify for the Nationals, the team placed third in the Regional Tournament, which was held last weekend in Warinancow Park in Elizabeth. The Cobras played four games on Saturday and five on Sunday, almost half a high school softball season in two days!

Piscatowski, a recent graduate of Belleville High School, will be a freshman at Caldwell College in the fall. She had an outstanding senior year for Belleville High School as a pitcher. She is currently used as an outfielder for the Cobras team.

Last Monday, the Cobras flew out to San Diego for the Margarita Tournament. They will return home in a week and are currently looking for sponsorship or donations to help fund their trip to the Nationals. It is estimated that the girls will need $8,000 to make the trip.

If you are interested in donating or sponsoring the team's trip please call 667-8684 or 661-0657.

10 TIPS TO REDUCE CHANCES THAT YOU WILL BE A VICTIM OF A BURGLARY

1. Install lights over all entrance points (doors & windows)
2. Trim trees & bushes so your doors and windows can be observed by neighbors & police patrols.
3. Use timers to turn lights and a radio on and off when you are not home.
4. Be a good neighbor and watch your neighbor's property for suspicious activity. If you see anything suspicious be sure to contact the police and call your neighbor if he is home. Start a Neighborhood Watch group on your street.
5. Arrange with a friend to have the lawn mowed while you're away.
6. Store valuables in a safe deposit box.
7. Close and lock the garage door. If you have a second car park it in the driveway.
8. All doors should be equipped with one-inch-throw deadbolt locks.
9. Lock your doors whenever you are in the house, working in the yard or leaving your house.
10. Engrave your valuables with your NJ driver's license number.

Finance Fair scheduled at Montclair State

New Jersey business is expanding, as confirmed by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the New Jersey Commerce Department, Economatrix Research Associates of Chatham, Opinion Research, and the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. All of these economic forecasts for the region indicate growth. Responding to the economic projections, businesses are pursuing financing to cover anticipated expansion. To facilitate companies

The Finance Fair offers participants the opportunity to meet with different lenders, including banks, public agencies, factors, and finance companies. Seminars on the financing process will also be conducted. John Molchon, First Fidelity Bancorporation, will discuss developing a relationship with your banker; John Robert, Broad

National Bank, will cover credit and collection policies; Dan McOlvin, Midlantic National Bank, will speak on the initial steps in the loan application process; Earle Walker, The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, will moderate a panel on government loan programs; Joe Byrne, First Fidelity Bancorporation, will speak on lines of credit; Coopers and Lybrand will discuss initial public offerings; and Midlantic National Bank will discuss mergers and acquisitions.

The Finance Fair is sponsored by The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, the accounting firm of Coopers and Lybrand, three full-service bank institutions, Broad National Bank, First Fidelity Bancorporation, and Midlantic National Bank, and Regional Business Partnership (RBP). The Finance Fair will be held at Montclair State University's Student Center, July 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. To register, call Jennifer Eng RBP, 824-6587, ext. 222.

Suspended Ceilings Offer Fashion As Well As Function

Today's suspended ceiling panels offer a great deal of architectural detail at an affordable cost. Here, a scalloped ceiling panel design from Armstrong's new Prestige Collection imparts a classic ornamental look to a living room.

Today's suspended ceiling panels offer a great deal of architectural detail at an affordable cost. Here, a scalloped ceiling panel design from Armstrong's new Prestige Collection imparts a classic ornamental look to a living room.

Suspended ceilings are breaking with tradition.

At one time, homeowners installed these popular home improvement products strictly as a means of hiding a stained, deteriorated or otherwise problem ceiling.

Today, those same homeowners are thinking of the ceiling as the room's fifth wall and realizing that they can obtain a great deal of architectural detail in it at an affordable cost.

Design professionals say one of the reasons behind this emerging trend is the introduction of a whole new generation of suspended ceiling panels that feature style, pattern and design in addition to their functional benefits.

Representative of these panels is the Prestige Collection from Armstrong World Industries, one of the country's leading producers of home fashion products.

This collection consists of four distinctive grid-hiding patterns:

Raised Panel, which is reminiscent of fine Old World woodwork; Scalloped, a 19th-century egg and dart design that's still popular today; Fluted, which features an ornamental edge detail with a classic architectural design; and Diagonal, a contemporary design well-suited for a variety of rooms.

The distinctive visual appeal of the panels is made possible by a new manufacturing process that combines greater levels of ceiling pattern depth with the look and smooth finish of molded plaster.

Design professionals also say that regardless of whether you decide to do it yourself, or have your decorative ceiling professionally installed, you'll be pleasantly surprised at how little time it takes. In just one weekend, any ceiling in your home can be transformed into a surface of style and beauty.

More information on today's new generation of decorative ceilings can be obtained by writing to Armstrong World Industries, Consumer Response Center, Dept. APL, P.O. Box 3001, Lancaster, PA 17604 and asking for a free copy of a full-color ceiling brochure titled "Taking Style to New Heights."

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

It's Time To Remember The Basics Of Investing

By Charles A. Clinton

(NAPS)—Is the following statement TRUE or FALSE?

With the stock market booming and bond interest rates at their lowest levels in decades, it's a good time to trade in some or all of your bond and money market holdings for equities.

The correct answer is, "It depends." It depends on a lot of things—like your tolerance for risk, your investment objectives, and the amount of time before you'll need access to your invested money.

Because the stock market's performance has been so good for so long (producing 15 to 45 percent returns over the last 15 years, with only 2 years of negative returns), it's easy to forget the risk involved in stock investing. Some historical perspective may be helpful.

Downturns in the market are both unavoidable and unpredictable. From 1926 to 1992, the stock market experienced 20 down years—nearly one out of every three. Implication: there will be more downturns ahead.

Stock investors who buy today when prices are at such high levels may be in for a rude shock if they should need access to their money in a year—or period of years—when the stock market is experiencing negative returns. They could suffer substantial losses.

Since stocks are producing such attractive returns and the temptation to "load up" or "cash in" with stocks is so great, now is an ideal time to remember some of the most basic principles of investing.

Older investors who will need access to their accumulated funds relatively soon should weigh the risks and rewards of stocks carefully.

1. Set objectives before choosing your investments. Do you want long-term growth...or a steady stream of income (dividends)...or complete safety...or quick access to your money?

2. Weigh the risks and rewards of each type of investment—and determine how much risk you are willing to take in order to achieve a certain return.

3. Consider how much time you have. The amount of time you have before you will need your money is critically important. Older investors who will need access to their accumulated funds relatively soon will not have the luxury of time—as younger or longer-term investors do—to catch up following stock market downturns.

4. Diversify—keep a blend of investments to help minimize your risk. Different investments—stocks, bonds, money market instruments and real estate—may react differently to the same economic stimulus. By putting some of your money into each of those various investments, you reduce the chance you'll be hurt badly by a downturn in any one.

5. Contribute consistently—through good times and bad. Attempts to "time" the markets usually don't work. Rather than jumping in and out of markets when they appear to be "hot," most long-term investors will do better by developing a plan of regular periodic investments—and sticking with that plan.

6. Review your objectives periodically. If your circumstances have changed—due to changes in family or marital status, employment status, or unforeseen expenses—you can make adjustments to your blend of investments.
