Cops hunt carjack killers

By Steve Galvacky

Bloomfield police are assisting authorities seeking three men who abducted and killed a 45-year-old mother of two Friday night.

Sandra McNight of East Orange was shot once in the head with a 9mm gun and her body found late Friday in the back of her car, after she had gone shopping at the Bloomfield Foodtown supermarket on Arlington Avenue, authorities said.

It was not clear whether the carjacking victim had been accosted in the supermarket parking lot or if she had been approached in her driveway, police said. Grocery receipts found in her brown 1987 Mercury Sable station wagon showed that she had left the store at 8:11 p.m., about three hours before the car was found abandoned on a dead-end street in Irvington, they said.

East Orange police, investigating the case along with the Essex County Prosecutor's Office and Irvington police, said that the killers dumped the contents of her purse in the car. McNight and her husband, Irvin, are part-owners of a Newark clothing store, and police said that the killers could have been seeking receipts from the store.

The McNights live a short distance from the supermarket on North Arlington Avenue in East Orange. Police said that on Friday night, Irvin McNight saw the car enter his driveway, then saw two men standing next to the vehicle

MEETING MCGRUFF -- Robert Blanchard, 8, left, and his sister Faith, 3, meet McGruff, the crime prevention dog, at a Police Department-sponsored crime prevention program on the Green on Monday. The free program included the fingerprinting and photographing of children for the purpose of identification in the event they are missing or abducted. The program was followed the next night by Bloomfield's participation in the 11th annual National Night Out, another anti-crime effort which encouraged residents to turn on their lights and spend the evening outside. Department heads' salaries frozen

By Steve Galvacky

The salaries of the township administrator and all department heads will be frozen under the 1994 municipal budget, the Township Council agreed on Monday.

In a closed session, Mayor Jim Norton and the council accepted the recommendation of an evaluation committee comprised of councilmen Tim Kane, John Stefanelli and Henry Tuorto, a source on the council said Tuesday. The salary freeze, which would cancel 5 percent raises originally planned for department heads, would save the township approximately $85,000, the source said.

The $34.5 million municipal budget is expected to be considered for adoption on Monday, Aug. 8, at the council's regular 8:30 p.m. meeting. In its present form, it contains a nine-point municipal-purposes tax increase that would raise property taxes on a home assessed at $139,000 by $125 annually.

The spending plan has been revised downward several times since it was introduced in April.

Councilman Gary Iacobacci had previously recommended that the 5 percent raise be cancelled and that, in addition, all department heads' salaries be rolled back by 15 percent.

Sun and fun end summer session

By Steve Galvacky

A beach party -- but without the sand -- marked Friday's conclusion of the school district's Basic Skills Improvement Summer School program.

Fifty K-3 students from all eight elementary schools enjoyed boardwalk-style games, ate watermelon and ice cream and played beach volleyball -- again, without the sand -- in the Watsessing School multipurpose room. Each of the students then received a certificate denoting successful completion of the program.

The four-week session at Watsessing School was offered to any Bloomfield student who was enrolled in a basic skills program during the regular school year, according to program director Joseph Malanga. During the rest of the school year, Malanga is a sixth-grade teacher at Fairview School.

Eight staff members conducted the classes, held on weekday mornings, and reading, writing and mathematics skills were emphasized, he said.

"We took a comprehensive approach to introduce skills to our students," Malanga said. "We steered away from teaching skills in isolation, and took more of a whole language approach to teaching reading."

"With mathematics, we taught concepts in the context in which they appear in real-life situations, rather than drilling students in computational skills," he said.

"Writing skills were stressed daily. Student writings were put into booklet form and distributed to all of the students for their reading pleasure," Malanga said.

Outside of classroom, there were special activities during the program such as movie days, art sessions, a visit from members of the Fire Department and a classroom visitation day on which parents participated with their children in a classroom activity, Malanga said.

Ryan Rosetti, a Brookdale School student, said that the program helped him to learn "a couple of things" in math, particularly in subtraction and division.

"I did a lot of reading," Brian Murphy, a third-grader at Oak View School, said. "Sometimes we also did artwork. We made puppets from 'The Little Red Hen.'"

Berkeley School student Dina Marie Cuzzo said she brushed up on her "pluses and minuses" in math, adding that her favorite day was the last day. "I did everything in the beach party!" she said proudly.

Malanga said that the program, which he headed for the second year, should give the students a "stronger base" for the upcoming school year.

"I'm proud of our summer school staff and believe they made a positive difference for these students," he said.

Joseph Malanga, left, director of the Bloomfield school district's Basic Skills Improvement Summer School, encourages students to continue making progress on the final day of the program on Friday. (Photo by Steve Galvacky)

Curb project back on track; surplus funds allocated

By Steve Galvacky

The Woodland Road curbing project, a casualty of the municipal budget process two weeks ago, will get done after all.

The Township Council on Monday agreed to use surplus funds to install new curbing there and help St. Thomas the Apostle parish repave its parking lot.

Township Engineer Anthony Marucci said that money left over from a storm sewer project on Columbus Street would be applied to the estimated $40,000 curbing project and the estimated $15,000 repaving job.

The council agreed to assist St. Thomas parish in repaving its parking lot, which is also utilized by the township as a parking area for an adjacent municipal park, Vassar Field.

On July 18 the council, as part of its late-minute cuts in the 1994 municipal budget, eliminated funds earmarked for the Woodland Road curbs. A final vote on the municipal budget proposal is expected at the council's next meeting on Monday, Aug. 8.

Clown around Saturday

Many members of the Merrimakers, Clown Alley No. 51, will perform at the fourth annual National Clown Week Kick-Off Fun Day on Saturday, Aug. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Green, located on Broad Street across from the Civic Center.

There will be face painting and balloon sculpturing, and at 1 p.m. a clown comedy/magic show will be presented. Refreshments will also be provided by the Boys' and Girls' Club of Bloomfield.

Admission is free; however, donations for the Boys' and Girls' Club of Bloomfield will be accepted.

National Clown Week, Aug. 1-7, celebrates the institution of clowns nationwide. The Merrimakers are a recognized Clowns of America International and World Clown Association clown alley that meets monthly at Mecca Magic in Bloomfield.

For more information, call Henry Tuorto, executive director of the Boys' and Girls' Club, at 748-0805, or the Bloomfield Recreation Department at 748-9074.

FAREWELL TO AMERICA -- Children from Northern Ireland who will return to their homeland next week after spending six weeks with Bloomfield families under the Project Children program were honored with proclamations from Mayor Jim Norton on Monday. Since 1975, Project Children has brought children from Northern Ireland to the United States for summer vacations at no cost to their families. The organization holds fundraisers to pay for their transportation to and from the United States, and host families take care of their room and board while they are in this country. In front row from left are host Frank Balesteri; guest Lauren Cowan; guest Michael Larkin; and hosts Damien and Virginia Sorrentino. In back row from left are Township Administrator Joseph Barry, who is Project Children's New Jersey coordinator; Township Councilwoman Sabina O'Brien; Mayor Norton; and hosts Karen and Zoe Branson and John Sorrentino. Missing from the photo are guest Jane O'Hara and her hosts, Peter and Donna Elaby, and guest Mark Green and his hosts, Robert and Patricia Edmond.

Talent Time readies staging of 'Godspell'

By Steve Galvacky

A heralded Bloomfield tradition returns this month when the Talent Time organization presents its annual benefit production for a sick or injured local resident.

The group is gearing up to stage the musical "Godspell" on Aug. 12 and Aug. 13 at Bloomfield Middle School. Proceeds from the production will help defer the medical expenses of Stephanie Giuliano, a 7-year-old Nutley girl who suffers from scleroderma, a chronic illness that creates rigid patches on the skin.

"Godspell" tells the story of Jesus, based on the Gospel according to Matthew, but does so in a modern setting and with a score that includes rock and rap. First staged on Broadway in the 1970s, the dialogue and lyrics have since been revised to include up-to-date references.

The cast of 25 young people, ranging in age from 15 to 34, comes from all areas of New Jersey, but about dozen are Bloomfield residents. Cast in the lead roles are Brian Lawrence of Bloomfield as Jesus, Doug Joseph of Bloomfield as John the Baptist and Amy Puzzo of Old Bridge as Mary Magdalene. The cast will be accompanied by a rock band including piano, lead guitar, bass and drums.

Directing "Godspell" is Kevin Fay, who has appeared in roles in many Talent Time productions over the last 17 years.

Talent Time was founded in 1950 as the Charles Seller Foundation, which was named after young man who was the victim of a crippling accident. His friends decided to put on a variety show to help pay some of his medical expenses. Since then, the youth-oriented, Bloomfield-based organization has staged annual musical productions to raise money for someone with large medical expenses.

Performances of "Godspell" are scheduled for Friday, Aug. 12, at 8 p.m., and Saturday, Aug. 13, at 1:30 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. at the middle school, located on Huck Road off Broad Street. Tickets are $7 for adults and $4 for children and senior citizens, and may be purchased in advance from Fay at 743-7186 or at the door.

Bloomfield from the Inside

By Gary Jacobacci

Beware, residents and property owners of Troy Towers and the surrounding residential neighborhoods, as well as Bloomfield rail commuters and property owners in the Rowe Street Station and Benson Street areas, as well as residents of the entire township for that matter. Mayor Jim Norton is at it again.

Once again, the mayor is attempting to prevent public participation regarding a plan which will have a serious impact on Bloomfield's future. This writer has learned that since November, Norton has clandestinely met with New Jersey Transit officials on three separate occasions, most recently in July, to discuss the so-called Montclair Connection.

The three main municipalities that this encroachment affects are Montclair, Glen Ridge and Bloomfield. The governing bodies of both Montclair and Glen Ridge have passed resolutions against the Montclair Connection because it will have as detrimental an impact on their respective communities, as it will on Bloomfield. Yet, Norton has led NJT to believe that Bloomfield supports this ill-conceived proposal, which will be an impairment to the township and its residents. Both Glen Ridge and Montclair support the alternative rail plan which is known as the Wilson/Kingsland Plan and how each will effect Bloomfield.

First of all, the initial affect that the Montclair Connection will have on Bloomfield's commuters is the closing of the Rowe Street Station and Benson Street Station. What this means is that commuters would have to drive to the Lackawanna Station in Bloomfield Center, which would not allow direct access to Manhattan as NJT has falsely stated, but would require a commuter to change trains in Kearny and continue on to NYC. Even with the Kearny Connection, which is underway, diesel trains are not allowed to pass through the rail tunnel near Manhattan, due to ventilation purposes. The only way to gain direct access into Manhattan would be to drive to the Bay Street Station in Montclair to access an electrified train into NYC.

In addition, at the present time there exists a backlog in permit requests at the Bay Street lot. What will happen when Manhattan commuters who once utilized the Rowe Street and Benson Street stations have a need to park their cars inside this lot?

Most of the commuters who utilize the Rowe Street Station and Benson Street Station have chosen to live close by. This makes these neighborhoods desirable which fosters stabilized property values within our community. If the Rowe Street Station and Benson Street Station are closed, these areas would become less desirable to commuters; thus, the property values would decrease. With the Jim Wilson/Kingsland Plan, Rowe Street and Benson Street stations remain open, thereby maintaining the stability of the area.

Another major concern that makes the Montclair Connection inexpedient is the fact that an increased number of weekday and weekend diesel trains will now pass through Bloomfield on the Montclair Branch. These trains are dirty and extremely noisy. In fact, an engineer has recorded decibel readings of up to 90 inside Troy Towers as diesel trains were passing through. Hearing damage could develop at decibel levels of 80, yet NJT reports decibel readings below 75. Why such a discrepancy?

This would not only have an adverse impact on the quality of life in this area, but again, property values will go down. Tax appeals will be filed and the property owners will emerge victorious at these pernicious factors were not present during the recent revaluation.

With the Wilson/Kingsland Plan, the Montclair Branch will use only electrified trains, which are extremely quiet.

Norton is trying to cut a deal with NJT for a triple-deck parking lot near Lackawanna station. In all of his wisdom, (the same wisdom he used to lead us to believe that the Schering property was worth $21 million), the mayor believes that commuters will shop in Bloomfield Center. This may be true for a minority of the commuters. However, after a hard day at the office, the average commuter simply wants to get home to his or her family as soon as possible.

As much as I wish that it were true, it is not the right scenario for the commuter to go on a shopping spree.

To sum up, Jim Wilson's alternative proposal is a much better plan for Bloomfield as it does not disrupt the stability or the tranquillity of the aforementioned neighborhoods. By the time you read this column, I will have asked my township Council colleagues to pass a resolution in support of the Wilson/Kingsland Plan at the Aug. 1 council conference meeting. Living will seminar Aug. 16

Advance directives, also referred to as "living wills," will be the topic of a free informational seminar co-sponsored by Clara Maass Medical Center and the Bloomfield Nursing and Health Education Divisions on Tuesday, Aug. 16, from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Bloomfield Public Library Theater, 90 Broad St.

Sandy Sanchez-Zutic, a patient representative from Clara Maass Medical Center in Belleville, will be the featured speaker.

In addition, a video tape on advance directives will be shown and free information materials will be available for participants.

Advance directives enable individuals to express their wishes regarding medical care prior to becoming terminally ill. They give people the opportunity to put in writing their wishes to accept or refuse specific medical treatments as well as designate a person to make health care decisions if they should become unable to do so.

Registration is not required for the seminar. For more information on the advance directives, call Clara Maass Medical Center at 450-2216 or the Bloomfield Health Department, Nursing Division, at 680-4058.

New students can register

Bloomfield High School is registering new entrants for Grades 9, 10, 11, 12 during July and August.

Parents should contact the high school at 680-8600 between 8:30 a.m. - 12 noon and 1 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. for an appointment to register and further information.

Love at home

*There is beauty all around
When there's love at home;
There is joy in every sound
When there's love at home
Peace and plenty here abide,
Smiling sweet on every side;
Time doth softly, sweetly glide
When there's love at home.*

Caring more for the children

Bloomfield, like anyplace else in the 1990s, has its share of latchkey children -- students who come home to empty houses because both of the parents are at work. They would not be classified as uncared-for children, but they could be termed under-cared-for.

The reality of life today is that it usually takes two incomes to support a family. There may still be some traditional families in which one parent is the sole provider and the other is a full-time homemaker/caregiver, but they are few and far between. And no one is predicting that that type of family is about to make a comeback.

A survey conducted by the Board of Education revealed that many parents in town recognize the need to bridge a gap in the child-care system. The survey results showed that many parents would be interested in a program that would keep their children involved in productive activities in the time between the end of the school day and the end of the parents' work day.

After-school programs of this nature have been in place in other school districts for years, but a cautious Board of Education decided to hold out for a provider that would offer quality care at minimal cost to the district.

It apparently found that provider in the Montclair YMCA.

Through an arrangement with the school board worked out this spring by Schools Superintendent Edward Glickman, the Montclair Y in September will begin providing after-school child care for children in grades 1-6 at each of the district's eight elementary schools. Activities will be structured, and will include arts and crafts, gym programs, study time and, in good weather, outdoor playtime.

Because the program will be conducted at the students' respective schools, there will be no need for parents to arrange for transportation to the sites; students will simply stay at their schools, after regular classes are over, until their parents are ready to pick them up.

For more information about the after-school program, call the Y at 744-3400.

And that's not the only good news on the child-care front.

The Recreation Department has reported a positive response to its new two-week summer playgroups for pre-schoolers, which are continuing through Aug. 12 at Brookdale School. About 30 children are enrolled in the summer's third and final session, held on 10 weekday mornings.

Recreation Director Lenny Celluro said that an increasing number of parents became willing to part with the $40 fee per child, as word of the value of the program spread around town.

Celluro said that the success of the playgroup program could portend a full-blown, all-ages day care program run by the Recreation Department next summer.

The department already offers an extensive summer playground program, of course, but it's largely unstructured and lightly supervised. Some of the children leave the playgrounds before their parents are home for the evening, and they wind up in the same under-cared-for situation they face during the school year.

What could prevent a full summer day-care program next year is the Recreation Department's shortage of facilities. On the other hand, the Board of Education owns an abundance of facilities that go unutilized in late June, July and August every year.

Obviously, if the school board wishes to complement its new after-school program, it should work out an arrangement with the Recreation Department to site a summer day care program as well.

That would make many parents -- and children -- happy, and make Bloomfield an even better place for young families in which to live.

Letters to the editor

Petition clarified

To the editor:

When the Fairview Home and School Association found out that Mr. Richard J. Galioto was their Board of Education representative, they decided at a board meeting that Mr. Galioto was not the person they wished to represent them, because of his reputation and the articles and letters he had published in the newspapers.

I, myself called board President Richard Curcio, representing the Fairview Home and School Association, to discuss removal of Mr. Galioto by petition. I was told that if we did a petition, we would also need to submit a letter explaining why we felt we could not work with Mr. Galioto.

The letter was only for the Board of Education representatives and not a cover letter for the petition. If it was a cover letter for the petition, the 52 people who signed the petition would have seen it.

Just like children

To the editor:

A great man once said that when people work together they can accomplish great things. I can only hope that the members of the Board of Education and the Township Council might heed these words.

Being a political science major in college, I am naturally interested in the workings of towns and communities. For this reason, I wished to see our town in action.

After viewing the BOE and council meetings, I came away with a bad taste in my mouth. Here sat our town elders, acting more like the children of our town than like the pillars of our community. I thought the purpose of these meetings was to make our town better. Unfortunately, they seem more like a forum for overgrown children who are constantly trying to top each other!

So now I must throw down the proverbial gauntlet and extend a challenge to our town leaders: quit the name-calling and kid games and do something productive for this town, not your egos!

One final reminder, and that is to remember that you are elected officials. The citizens can give them and they can take them away!

'Godspell' coming

To the editor:

On Friday, Aug. 12, at 8 p.m. and on Saturday, Aug. 13, at 1:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m., an all-volunteer production of "Godspell," the Broadway musical, will be presented at Bloomfield Middle School.

This will be the 45th consecutive year since 1950 that this group, known as the Charles Seller Foundation, aka "Talent Time," has put on a theatrical production for someone in need of medical help due either to injury or illness.

Teenagers and young artists have donated hundreds of hours each summer from May through August to put on these shows. From the cast, musicians, singers and orchestra, stage crew, lighting, props, etc., these people are all volunteers. The excellent programs are due to the stores and people who donated to advertise in the program book, which in itself is a top-notch effort each year, professionally done and again a credit to all the work by phone and foot of these fine young people.

Many of these fine young people carry on for a few years in the shows and then become involved in the production and direction of future shows, which is one of the reasons it has continued without a break for 45 years!

We wish to thank all the high school kids, the recent graduates, and those who continue to put their hours unselfishly towards such an excellent endeavor. These young people from Bloomfield, Nutley, West Orange, Caldwell, and all the other towns in between are a credit to their towns, their schools, their teachers, and their parents. Break a leg, and good luck in your production of "Godspell."

Where are RR plans?

To the editor:

An open letter to NJ Transit commuters and town officials:

Everyone should be aware that NJ Transit is considering tearing down a significant portion of the eastbound section of the Bloomfield train station. They have an obvious problem with vandalism in the abandoned waiting room.

Residents who don't use the station should be concerned about the aesthetics of any renovations. Commuters should be concerned about the same, as well as how much of the canopy will remain for shelter.

NJ Transit will have to deal with town officials and the State Historic Preservation Office. I hope we all get to see the plans before they are enacted.

• TWO young ladies from Nutley, Sarah Clarke and Kim Higgins, and Kim Piscatowski from Belleville have the talent to become members of the Clifton Cobras Softball team and are playing in the national competition in Sacramento, California. The girls need help for transportation and living expenses while in California. Anyone wishing to express support for the girls by making a financial contribution can do so by calling 667-8684 or 661-0657.

• AIRLINE passengers are forced to breathe whatever the airlines foist on them through air vents. For many passengers, it can be unhealthy.

For the longest time, passenger cabins were replenished with fresh air from the outside. About five years ago, airlines reportedly cut back on real fresh air, substituting a recirculated and downgraded version - short on oxygen and long on questionable ingredients. Passengers have complained about headaches and other health problems since airlines reduced fresh air by 50 percent.

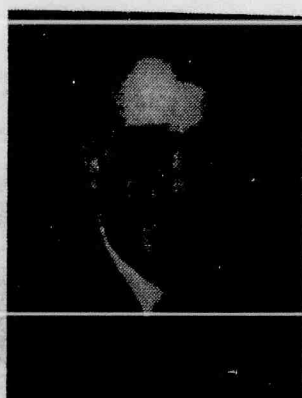

Congress is now investigating the issue and asking - are bacteria, viruses and too-heavy doses of carbon dioxide breathed in by passengers? If so, what are the effects on health?

Airlines that fly to the Caribbean, South America and the South Pacific - attendants are required to spray insecticide inside the passenger cabin to kill disease-bearing insects. The results are reported to be medically dangerous to passengers with asthma, allergies, chemical sensitivities and other respiratory problems.

Their complaints went largely unnoticed until U. S. Senator Patrick Leahy was sprayed before his plane landed in Australia. As a result, Congress has scheduled hearings next month on air quality. Airlines should realize the health of passengers must be given a higher priority and, therefore, push the fresh-air level back to where it was - and keep it there.

• NEWARK'S East Ward Councilman Henry Martinez hasn't stopped calling for an investigation into the operations of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission. Martinez receives complaints from area businesses and residents on a daily basis because of foul odors emanating from the PVSC plant. Martinez is considering having gas masks available to his constituents because the stench from PVSC is too much. One of the females that works in the neighborhood said, "You can't work in that odor. It's awful. Everyone is suffering." Newark Mayor Sharpe James joined Martinez in appealing to Governor Christie Whitman to use her power to initiate an investigation.

• NEW JERSEY'S two U. S. Senators Frank Lautenberg and Bill Bradley are supporting legislation that would "outlaw the permanent replacement of striking workers." The vote on the legislation fell seven votes short of the sixty needed to end the Republican led filibuster. Senator Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio, joined by Bradley and Lautenberg, voted in the losing minority. AFL-CIO president, Lane Kirkland, stated, "The vote was another notch on the hired guns of the special interests who benefit from a denial of worker rights." The other side of the workers' rights is investors' rights. When there is a discussion of economics, the rights of both parties should be merged so that the result is a level playing field.

As expected, Bill Clinton and his administration "worked exceedingly hard" to get the legislation passed. According to press reports, the administration will continue its efforts "if a compromise is available and feasible."

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce takes the position that the business community "regards this as a no compromise issue." If the legislation was enacted, it would choke off the ability of employers to survive strikes and send jobs overseas. There is already on the books a federal law which gives workers the right to strike and forbids their replacement if the walkout is over alleged unfair labor practices. That seems to be adequate protection for our laboring force.

Letters to the editor

Ethics in question

To the editor:

In researching ethical standards covered by Legislative Bill S-2027, I find a few ethical violations in the appointments of Township Administrator Joe Barry and Township Clerk Louise Palagano.

The bill specifically reads: that public officials at all levels of government should adhere to the highest standard of propriety and should be held accountable for these actions. Did Barry and Palagano live up to these standards when they accepted their respective positions?

Let's find out: The first alleged violation I see is the use of their Township Council seats to promote personal gain by virtue that they accepted these positions regardless of qualification. The purchase of public office, no matter what format it is in, is a serious crime. When this occurs, the actions of those involved demonstrate a sad disregard for the people of Bloomfield, who deserve better.

The question we should ask: If these two had not served on the council, would they have been considered for these positions, taking into consideration past education and employment history? I say not. These appointments are purely political, and that is one of the major problems in Bloomfield when it comes to hiring promotions and salaries. After all, Louise Palagano is no John Galvin, and Joe Barry no Joe Quintavella.

Barry and Palagano served on the Township

Council for many years prior to being given their held positions as full-time employees. Both resigned as part-time council people to accept lucrative salary positions with the township. These full-time positions bring a lucrative salary with a benefit package not available in the private sector. This is, of course, paid by your struggling tax dollar.

It is inconceivable to comprehend why this has taken place, and why the laws and policies have been bent to accommodate these two appointments. I can only surmise that the political interest groups have a foothold on your township and are setting a pattern for future council people to follow. You as a people have lost all control of Bloomfield government, and our representatives do pretty well what they damn please. Thus, you have situations like the Barry and Palagano appointments. There would be no rhyme or reason to appoint either one of these two, based on their education and past employment history, as mentioned before.

This becomes a great cost to the taxpayer, because only a short time of full-time service, added to their part-time pensions, and you the taxpayer foots the bill. This sounds like a political scheme, at taxpayers' expense.

The second violation, as I see it, is a conflict of interest. When these two served on the council they voted for every tax increase ever presented each year. Isn't it ironic these increases now benefit both of them?

The third violation is the influence used as council members to elevate their status to permanent positions in the township. If this isn't a violation, I do not know what is. There were no resumes or interviews conducted with other qualified candidates. This is in violation of the Public Law Act in the hiring of public personnel.

I might also add: was the one-year waiting period taken into consideration? That falls under ethics law

S-2027. Where are our town attorneys?

Fourth violation: Elected service is not meant to be a ticket for personal gain. When this occurs, there breed ethics violations and abuses which form and violate standards of conduct in office. Did Barry and Palagano violate these standards because of political associations?

In addition, in this particular case, their part-time service is added to their short full-time service, making them eligible for full-time benefits, mainly pensions.

Whatever happened to the ethics board, which was supposed to be set up in this township as a watchdog for situations such as this? Certainly, the violations are clear and standards of conduct violated.

This also effects the school board, except their appointments take a higher priority in ethics violations. Why? Because of "nepotism." This is quite rampant in Bloomfield and has been for quite some time. It is more visible in major decisions that affect salaries because of this breeding nepotism. You cannot vote against yourself when it comes to salary increases and benefits.

We as a people are painfully struggling to meet the ever-continuing onslaught of levies placed on us each and every year. Yet, situations are forever surfacing placing further burdens on the taxpayers. These two appointments are doing just that.

Our elected people condone these appointments, along with promotions and salary increases. There is no regard for the taxpayer, who must shoulder this burden. This disregard is violating all standards of conduct, because all of them campaigned to reduce your taxes. This is no way to do it.

All appointments, whether school board or municipal appointments, are significant to all taxpayers. But the law must be adhered to, because of the costly impact it has on the taxpayers. This comes by way of salaries, pensions, benefits and perks, to name a few. But, more importantly, these benefits are carried through life, and when one retires, they continue. You as a taxpayer are burdened for life, and there is no end.

Recently, there was rumor that Barry is seeking a pay raise to $103,000, an increase of $23,000 over his present salary. If this is true, and I hope it isn't, bear in mind the taxpayer once again foots the bill, because this salary is taken into consideration when Barry retires. The larger the salary at retirement, the greater the pension. You the taxpayer will pay for this twofold.

If this council approves this, then you can be sure there is a council conspiracy against all honest, tax-paying citizens of this township. And someone is feathering their nest for future gains.

Danger - Undercooking Hamburgers At Home

Undercooking hamburgers at home is just as risky as ordering rare burgers in restaurants. Dr. Thomas Boyce of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, reminds consumers to "cook ground meat until the middle is no longer pink." In a California town, an outbreak of E. coli bacteria was traced to store-bought meat cooked at home. Annually there are 200-400 deaths linked to E. coli infection.

Park activities in full swing

Opening week at Pulaski Park was met with great anticipation by old friends and newcomers alike. Pulaski ventured to Oakview for a whiffleball game. Bryan Ruggiero, Justin Voorhees and Mike Venezia all performed well as Pulaski won two games.

The next day, Pulaski hosted Oakview in a doubleheader; Oakview won the opener and Pulaski won the nightcap.

Opening week was capped off by an afternoon trip to see "The Lion King." Over 20 children ventured with counselors Jennifer Pross and Mark Amato to escape the heat and enjoy the movie.

World Cup fever struck Pulaski in week two with a soccer tournament. Among the better players were Jenenie Guandenas, Justin Schaber, Tony Matas, Joe Appolito, Mike Mazzolla and Marty Potoczniak. Also playing well were Frank Appolito, Matt Mason and Steve Schaber.

Nok-hockey action has also been exciting. Mike Connors, Nick Appolito and Michelle Vazquez have been the best players in the early going.

Ping-pong also offered an escape from the afternoon heat. Bob Koval and Viral Patel are both gifted players.

The intra-park track meet featured some stellar showings by Pulaski's athletes. Jordan Voorhees, Justin Voorhees and Bryan Ruggiero all won blue ribbons, as did Chrissy Dellavalle and Desiree McGhie.

Arts and crafts brought out the artistic ability in Dana Marek, John Marek, Jennifer Zarro, Vanessa Zarro, Clare Wilson, Elizabeth Dunigan, Gino Ramos and Nikki Ramos.

Also, Mark Amato supervised the painting of the paddle tennis court. Bryan Ruggiero, Justin Voorhees, Mike Venezia, Joe Appolito, Frank Appolito, Jordan Voorhees, Patric Pross and Nick Appolito all worked to make Pulaski look its best.

Artist to display works

The Center for Italian and Italian-American Culture, Inc., based in Cedar Grove, has announced that Bloomfield resident Alice Casella will show her watercolor paintings at the cultural arts display organized by the Center for the "Bella Italia" festival on Sunday, Aug. 7, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Waterloo Village in Stanhope.

Casella was an art education major before graduation from Glassboro State College. She continued her training at the Montclair Art Museum and has been featured in one-woman shows and juried exhibitions statewide. Her works can be found in several private collections.

She is also president of the Bloomfield Art League.

In addition to the artists and crafters who will be under the tent at the Meeting House "Piazza," the day-long festival will feature entertainment by "I Paesani," famed Italian regional folk dancers; children's storyteller Donald Keller, the "La Ghirronda" man, and the Neapolitan sound of Michael Ester.

Dean's list made

Lisa Morsillo of Bloomfield has been named to the honors list for the spring semester at the Florham-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

To qualify for the honors list, an FDU student must have a 3.5 or better grade-point average out of a possible 4.0 for the semester.

Refinancing trend benefiting Bloomfield

Joseph Kliminski, president and chief executive officer of American Savings and Loan Association, notes that the tremendous amount of mortgage refinancing transactions it has handled in the past two years "shows that our neighbors are comfortable here in Bloomfield, and looking forward to staying in town."

Kliminski added that this trend is further evidenced by American Savings' "strong loan activity and a dramatic increase in the number of new accounts."

American Savings and Loan Association, the only Bloomfield-based financial institution in the community, is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, and was recently presented with a diamond jubilee plaque at the annual convention of the New Jersey Savings League in Boca Raton, Fla.

"We are very proud of our longevity, and of the fact that we're able to remain independent," Kliminski said.

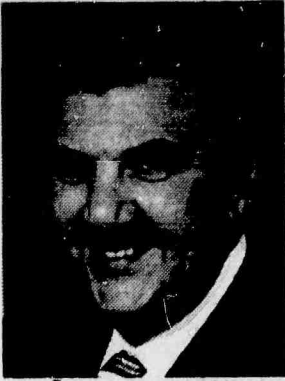

"Our Board and Management are committed to retaining the American Savings and Loan 'hometown personality,' which has been the key to our success for the past 75 years," he said.

Kliminski, who began his banking career with American Savings and Loan Association more than 27 years ago and rose through the ranks to president and chief executive officer, further noted that board member Wally Parker was also honored at the NJSL convention.

"Mr. Parker's 25 years' service as a board member was recognized and the (New Jersey Savings) League presented him with a commemorative plaque," Kliminski said. He added that Parker has actually given 27 years' service as an American Savings and Loan Association board member.

American Savings and Loan Association is located in the North Center at 365 Broad St.

At one time, I asked a prominent Bloomfield Republican who was responsible for making the Barry appointment. The person replied; it was the Democrats' doing.

So I asked a prominent Democrat. The person replied: it was the Republicans' doing.

Come on, boys. You know who is responsible. You attended the caucus at one's home, a council person to be exact, and the deal was cut there. Do we find the same thing taking place with the Palagano appointment?

Come on, boys, tell the truth. What is going on behind closed doors? I do believe Palagano's deal was cut at the Town Pub.

Politics make strange bedfellows. It will catch up to you.

More is to follow on the ever-deterioration of Bloomfield -- mainly, the abuse of your tax dollar, and why this is taking place. You heard it first from me.

On July 3, my mother who resides at 34 Baldwin St. and is 85 years of age, was having trouble breathing and complained of pain in her chest. I called the Bloomfield Volunteer Emergency Squad and what seemed like minutes later, they arrived.

Oxygen was started immediately, blood pressure was taken and the paramedics arrived. An EKG was taken, IV started and preparation began to transport her to Mountainside Hospital.

I wish to thank George Dunn, Mark McCombs and Eric Baum for the consideration and care of my mother, who has arthritis and has limited mobility.

Many thanks also to the paramedics Marie and Patty, who took charge so efficiently.

Many thanks also to Rick Sheldon, John McCarthy and Tom McCrea on the return home.

Bloomfield from the Inside

ing. I am sure that Norton will do everything in his power to choreograph a rejection of my request.

If you are concerned about the future of Bloomfield, I urge you to attend the Aug. 8 Township Council meeting to voice your concerns and to call upon the Township Council to pass resolutions in support of the Wilson/Kingsland Plan. In addition, I have called for a public hearing with all three towns at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 18 at the Bloomfield Civic Center, the purpose of which is to discuss this matter in detail.

As the residents of Bloomfield are aware, NJT is a state agency, and as such, it feels that it can run roughshod over the average citizen to implement whatever program or plan it damn well pleases. We must not let this happen to Bloomfield. We must join together with our neighbors in Montclair and Glen Ridge to put an end to this boondoggle which will proliferate the ruin of our community.

More next week.

Jr. Legion advances to State semis

Jason Tiseo, shown here leading off first base in a recent game, was one of three Bengals to collect two hits in the victory over Clark.

By Jerry Mattia

Behind the four-hit pitching of Al Piccoli, the Bloomfield American Legion Junior Team #1 advanced to the semifinals of the New Jersey State Legion Championship with a convincing 9-2 triumph over Clark.

Piccoli also struck out eight batters and yielded only four walks in a truly outstanding effort.

Piccoli had plenty of offensive help as Chris Brown, Jim Puorro, and Jason Tiseo all banged out two hits to make the righthander's job that much easier. Brown and Puorro also had two ribbies apiece.

Clark took the first lead of the game in their very first at-bat when Joe Alfieri led off the game with a single to left, stole second, advanced to third on a sacrifice bunt by Mike Thompson and scored on a lined single to left off the bat of Jason Guerrico after Piccoli had retired two batters.

It didn't take Bloomfield long to answer the challenge as they responded with two runs of their own in the home half of the first inning.

Sam Nunez led off with a walk and took second when Puorro also received a free pass. Brown scored Bloomfield's first run on a fielder's choice after both runners moved up on a double steal and Piccoli put the Junior Bengals in the lead with a single to right.

The Bloomfield lead swelled to 4-1 in the second inning when Jason Arcadipane started a two-out rally with a single to center. Jeff Venezia walked and both runners scored as Nunez and Puorro punched out RBI hits.

The score remained 4-1 in Bloomfield's favor until the home fifth when the Junior Bengals pushed across another tally. Tiseo singled, Piccoli walked and Matt Zichelli brought home Tiseo with a sacrifice fly.

Bloomfield broke the game wide open in the sixth when they pushed home four runs to take an overwhelming 9-2 lead.

After one Bengal was retired, Jeff Venezia walked and Nunez was hit by a pitch to put Bloomfield runners on first and second. Puorro laced a hit to score Venezia and Nunez quickly followed as Tiseo singled to left. Both runners then scored as Brown doubled to left-centerfield, capping the four-run rally.

Clark scored a harmless run in the seventh when they combined two walks and a fielder's choice with a sacrifice fly for the score.

The Bengals then advanced to the semifinal round against Watchung Hills. The game presently stands tied at 4-4 and has been delayed twice, once by rain and once by darkness. The game hopefully will be finished this past Tuesday and will be covered in next week's edition.

Baseball, softball clinics held

FCA hosts Kick-off Classic Breakfast

The First Annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes Kick-off Classic Breakfast will be held on Saturday, August 27, from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. at the Meadowlands Hilton in Secaucus.

FCA will host the Nebraska and West Virginia players and coaches for a time of encouragement and inspiration. Coaches and top athletes will talk about what helps them win on and off the field.

The purpose of FCA is "to present to athletes and coaches, and all whom they influence, the challenge and adventure of receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, serving Him in their relationships and in the fellowship of the local church."

Both Belleville and Nutley High Schools have FCA huddles which meet weekly.

Call the FCA office at (908) 219-5797 for reservations or write to: FCA, 316 Broad Street, Red Bank, N.J., 07701.

Tickets for the breakfast are $15 each, and checks may be made payable to: FCA.

Bloomfield High School pitcher Bill Garland shows young players the proper wind-up technique. Tim Garland, Pete Foster, and Nick Franklin of BHS also provided instruction.

Fifth Quarter Club to host beefsteak dinner

The Bloomfield Fifth Quarter Club will kick off their 59th season with their "Third Annual Beefsteak Dinner" on Wednesday, September 21 at 6:30 p.m. at Christ Church, located on the corners of Park and Bloomfield Avenues in Glen Ridge.

Bloomfield High School head varsity coach Michael Carter will be on hand with his staff to speak and take questions from the audience regarding the football team and program.

Cost of the dinner is $25 per person and will consist of beefsteak, bread, fries, beer, and soda. The caterer is Nightengale's of Clifton.

The purpose of this affair is to allow our football athletes the opportunity to be aware that their families, friends, and supporters, including the Bloomfield Fifth Quarter Club, are behind them in this upcoming season - "win, lose, or draw."

The proceeds of this event will contribute to the Club's annual scholarship fund, awarded to a football student each year and much of the remaining proceeds will be used for the football program in some capacity.

Tickets can be purchased by calling dinner chairman Walter Smyth at 338-9071 or club president Ken Lauer at 338-7014.

Friends in Need

Amphibians in Trouble

Scientists are worried that the number of amphibians is dropping in some parts of the world. Sometimes a very dry or very cold spell can cause problems.

A hard frost might have caused the extinction of this frog from Brazil.

We humans cause problems for amphibians, too.

- We pollute the waters where they live. We drain lakes, streams and ponds to make way for buildings.

Frogs need healthy ponds and streams.

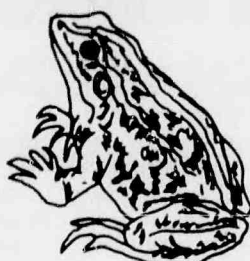

- Some frogs are edible and we eat them in great numbers.

FROG LEGS ARE TREATS FOR SOME PEOPLE.

- We use frogs in medical and classroom research.

The three kinds of amphibians:

- Frogs and toads are the ones we see the most. They are tailless, with long back legs and large, bulging eyes.

- Salamanders are lizard look-alikes, but they don't have scales. Some live all their lives in water. Others live on land under logs and rocks in damp woodlands.

We don't see them often. They are small and usually stay hidden.

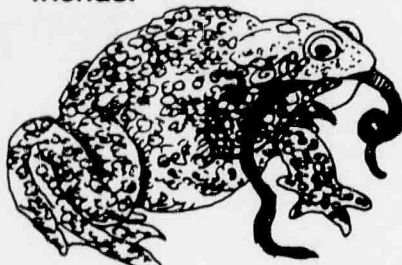

- Caecilians (see-SIL-ee-ans) are earthworm look-alikes. We don't see or hear much about them. Most live underground in burrows. Some can grow to be 5 feet long! Unlike other amphibians, they have scales on their skin.

Amphibians have survived on Earth for more than 350 million years. But why are these delicate creatures now in trouble?

In some cases, scientists are puzzled about why they are disappearing.

Most amphibians are our friends.

Amphibians eat many millions of insects. They are also an important link in the food chain.

PETER PENGUIN'S PUZZLE & LE-DO

Fit these things that remind us of amphibians into the puzzle.

Across: 1. tadpole, 2. log, 3. water, 4. tree, 5. frog.

What are amphibians?

- Most amphibians spend part of their lives on land and part in water.

cold weather or very hot weather.

- Amphibians have moist skin and no scales or hair. They have skin glands that secrete, or give off, a mucus to keep their skin damp.

- Amphibians are carnivorous (kar-NIH-vor-us), or flesh-eating, as adults. They eat small animals such as insects, fish, and even birds and turtles. Most tadpoles are vegetarians, eating bacteria and algae.

A frog's life stages

1. Amphibian eggs
2. The tadpole
3. Hind legs develop
4. Front legs develop
5. Tail disappears
6. An adult frog

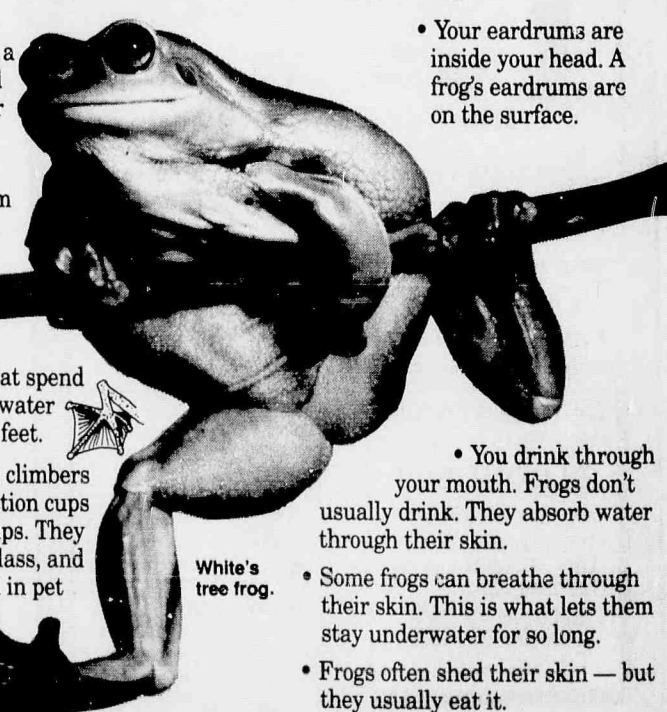

Amphibians lay eggs without shells. A female may lay as many as 2,000 eggs in jellylike strings. Most lay eggs in water. Many go through stages of life called metamorphosis (met-ah-MOR-fo-sis).

Frogs and you

- You can blink your upper eyelids. A frog closes its bulging eyes by pulling them back into their sockets.
- A frog has a transparent extra eyelid it can see through. It can pull it up when underwater or when resting.

- If your mouth were as big as a frog's, it would reach from ear to ear.
- You can turn your head from side to side. A frog can't.

White's tree frog.

- Some frogs that spend their time in water have webbed feet.
- Tree frogs are climbers that have suction cups on their toe tips. They can stick to glass, and are often sold in pet stores.

- Your eardrums are inside your head. A frog's eardrums are on the surface.
- You drink through your mouth. Frogs don't usually drink. They absorb water through their skin.
- Some frogs can breathe through their skin. This is what lets them stay underwater for so long.
- Frogs often shed their skin — but they usually eat it.

Toads are members of the frog family.

A toad's skin is drier than a frog's. It is covered with warts. Most toads live on land and go into the water only to mate.

The giant toad has become a pest in parts of Florida. It is not true that touching a toad will cause warts.

Dual Fuel Is Double The Cooking Power

When the conversation turns to cooking, one subject that's easy to agree upon is favored fuels—people who like to cook prefer gas surface burners and electric ovens. And they've long dreamed of both in the same product.

With the KitchenAid "Dual Fuel" Range, cooking enthusiasts can enjoy the flexibility of gas and electric in one stylish unit—and more.

The power of true convection baking and broiling. The faster, more even cooking of KitchenAid true convection results from a decade of convection experience, perfecting the distribution of heat through the optimum design of a circular heating element and fan in the rear of the oven cavity.

Combine this in the KitchenAid Dual Fuel range with the style and easy cleanability of sealed gas surface burners, and a choice of all-white, all-almond or all-black styling, and it's clear that KitchenAid thinks a lot of people who love to cook.

Trends In Decorating

Past Meets Present In Williamsburg Colors

(NAPS)—There are two ways you can relive the days of Colonial America.

First, you can take a trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, once the thriving capital of that colony, now preserved as a living museum of America's past.

Americans today can walk the same streets, visit the same shops, dine in the same taverns on the same hearty fare, as did George Washington, Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson.

The other way is to give your own home the beauty of colonial Williamsburg's capital colors. Williamsburg® paint colors—Brick Red, Apollo Room Blue, Palmer House Green, Charcoal Brown, King's Arms Rose Pink and many more—are available from Martin-Senour, a company that creates paint to meet the highest, most exacting standards for quality and performance. The authentic colors have been translated for modern convenience into ready-mixed, easy-to-apply paints with excellent hiding power and that dry to a beautiful, durable finish.

Since its designation in 1965 as the exclusive paint manufacturer approved by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, Martin-Senour's products have all been carefully researched and formulated to match existing specimens of the colonial era. Through painstaking architectural analysis, the company has reproduced the exact colors and coatings that homeowners today want to faithfully recreate the warmth of the 1700's inside and outside their own homes.

Kitchen Accessory Offering With Garbage Disposers

A unique cushion insulation feature cuts down on noise pollution in your kitchen. The powerful motor and triple-cutting action make this garbage disposer an efficient addition to your kitchen workstation.

American Standard, the world's largest plumbing manufacturer, enters a product category with three models of garbage disposers.

The disposers are available in both continuous feed and batch feed models. As the name implies, continuous-feed disposers allow users to operate the unit while feeding food into the waste well. Batch-feed disposers are loaded first, before the motor is activated.

Features of the new disposers include: unique cushion insulation for quiet operation; a powerful 3/4 horsepower motor; triple-cutting action that ensures superior grinding and prevents against drain clogs; and corrosion resistant stainless steel flanges.

"The garbage disposer has come a long way from being a luxury in the kitchen," said Jeannette Long, product manager—enameled products, noting that 50% of U.S. households own a garbage disposal. "Consumers have always understood the disposer as a tool of convenience, but they're increasingly interested in the appliance for its environmental and health benefits as well." Many local communities even mandate their use to reduce solid waste.

American Standard's current kitchen offering includes large, deep sinks in single bowl or multi-bowl models, single control and dual control faucets, and a range of accessories including cutting boards, colanders, a dish rack and utility basket.

Dishwasher Lets You Add Personal Touch

Customizing a Whirlpool dishwasher door with cabinet material, a wall-papered or fabric-covered panel, an acrylic insert—even a favorite poster—is as simple as 1-2-3. Just follow the simple instructions supplied with the dishwasher. When matching cabinets (as shown here), it's a good idea to have a cabinetmaker cut the door and access panels to size and rout edges to one-quarter inch thickness if necessary. Be sure to apply a water sealer to wood panels to keep out moisture and prevent warping.

Although today's dishwashers are stylish, they have a definite designer look. "But many of us prefer to give our appliances a personal touch, one that blends easily into our kitchen's decorating scheme," comment home economists from Whirlpool Corporation. "And that's just what Whirlpool dishwashers are designed to do," they add.

Customizing a Whirlpool dishwasher door with cabinet material, a wall-papered or fabric-covered panel, an acrylic insert, even a favorite poster, requires only a few simple steps.

1. Follow the dishwasher's installation instructions for cutting door and access panels to size. When using cabinet wood, ask the cabinetmaker to cut the door and access panels to size and groove the edges to one-quarter inch, if wood is very thick. Apply a water sealer to wood panels to keep out moisture and prevent warping.

2. Snap out the retainer at the bottom of the door panel by firmly pushing up on one corner, then pull it toward you. Slide the panel down to clear the control panel. Use both hands to bow top and bottom edges of door panels and spacers outward and remove them. Slide the replacement panel under the bottom edge of the control console and press lower portion of the panel into place between the sides of the door frame. Snap the bottom trim back into place.

3. Unsnap the access panel top trim by using your thumbs to push up on each end of the panel. Remove the top trim. Slide access panels and spacers upward to remove them. Insert the replacement panel into the access panel frame and slide it down into the groove along the bottom. Slide top trim back into place.

"It really is as simple as 1-2-3 to give your dishwasher a personal touch," note Whirlpool home economists.
