John V. Kelly, DiGaetano win re-election in Assembly race

Republicans John V. Kelly and Paul DiGaetano easily defeated their Democratic and Independent foes to win re-election to the Assembly in the 36th Legislative District.

Although final tallies were not available at presstime, John V. Kelly and DiGaetano had captured the most votes in the district, which covers Nutley, Belleville and several municipalities in Passaic County.

County results on Page B1

In Essex, John V. Kelly was the top vote getter with 4,562 and DiGaetano was a close second with 4,426. No final numbers were available from Passaic, although it was confirmed John V. Kelly and DiGaetano had won the most votes.

In Essex, Democrat John W. Kelly came in third with 2,721 votes, Democrat Richard Potter received 2,484, Independent Vincent Frantanti had 756 and Independent Andrew Bloschak received 480.

Belleville

Belleville residents voted for John V. Kelly and DiGaetano to represent the 34th District in the State Assembly. Kelly received the most votes with 1,805, DiGaetano received 1,724 votes, John W. Kelly received 1,378 votes, Potter received 1,196 votes, Frantanti received 473 votes, and Bloschak received 259 votes.

In the race for County Clerk, Belleville residents supported Republican Pat Cedola, who received 1,700 votes, and Democrat Pat McNally received 1,306 votes.

Four questions appeared on the ballot: Redistricting Committee, Transportation Trust Fund, State Mandate-State Pay and Green Acres Bond.

♦ Redistricting Committee was approved with a vote of 1,213 to 1,128.

♦ Transportation Trust Fund was approved with a vote of 1,612 to 925.

♦ State Mandate-State Pay was approved with a vote of 1,403 to 960.

♦ Green Acres Bond was approved with a vote of 1,413 to 818.

Total resident turnout — 6,835 voted for the State Assembly, and 3,006 voted for the County Clerk.

Nutley

Nutley residents voted for John V. Kelly and DiGaetano to represent the 34th District in the State Assembly. Kelly received the most votes with 2,727, DiGaetano received 2,702 votes, John W. Kelly received 1,343 votes, Potter received 1,279 votes, Frantanti received 283 votes, and Bloschak received 222 votes.

Concerning the four ballot questions:

♦ Redistricting was approved with a vote of 1,790 to 1,581.

♦ The fuel tax dedication was approved with a vote of 2,205 to 1,338.

♦ State Mandate-State Pay was approved with a vote of 1,933 to 1,495.

♦ Green Acres Bond was approved with a vote of 2,261 to 1,098.

RETS Institute nurtures folks to grow in flourished careers

Emphasis is on training in jobs employers want

By Douglas M. Muro
Staff Writer

"We focus on getting people in and out of this school in a short period of time, while offering them quality education for entry level jobs in their desired field," said Martin Klangasky, director of RETS Institute in Nutley.

Recently purchased by Eastwick Colleges Inc., RETS was established in the state in 1957 and has been training residents for careers in electronics, computer technology and business in Nutley for more than 25 years.

The school is accredited by the Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges of Technology and is approved by the New Jersey Department of Education.

Students enrolled in electronics courses must complete 18 months of training, consisting of theory and lab curriculum.

Pupils trying to advance in the business world require nine to 12 months of study.

"We have an evening program," Klangasky pointed out.

Klangasky has been director of the school since 1981. He accepted an officer position within Eastwick Colleges Corporation and will continue to oversee the daily operations of the school. "I'm extremely excited about the change of ownership," Klangasky said. "I believe RETS provides an essential service. Through the years, thousands of graduates have gone on to skilled positions in electronics and business with companies."

Since the beginning of October, the 350 students at RETS were required to adhere to a dress code, which incorporates lab coats for electronics students and business attire for business students. New awnings and signs soon will be evident to the passerby and inside, new offices, labs and equipment are scheduled for the end of this month.

Updating the electronic and business curricula and offering a new medical office assistant program are planned.

"Our electronics students are primarily male," said Klangasky. "It's just the opposite in our business courses. I would say 10 percent of the electronics students are female and 20 percent of our business students are male."

A high school diploma is mandatory to enter the programs.

Klangasky reports that the daytime students range in age from 17 to 25, while the age of evening pupils ranges in age from 23 to 30.

"We have 16 instructors," Klangasky sky said. "Some are part time. We also have 12 classrooms."

Anthony Baratta, education director, discussed plans for a resource center. "We hope to have it finished this month," he said.

"We work closely with local business and industry, and tailor our programs to meet the needs of employers. The courses are not just theoretical, they also include practical 'hands-on' training," Baratta added. "These courses are taught by experienced, knowledgeable people."

Thomas Eastwick, president of Eastwick Colleges, is optimistic about the future of RETS. "The school is a diamond in the rough," he said. "It has excellent teachers and staff, a solid reputation in business and industry, and a large, airy building which provides an excellent learning environment."

He continued, "RETS Institute's sister school, The Hohokus School of Secretarial and Medical Sciences in Ramsey, is one of the premier career colleges in the tri-state area. The goals of the schools are to provide 95 percent graduate job placement and to keep the programs on the edge of technology as we approach the turn of the century."

Laurie Reeves, director of career planning and placement, is in her fifth year with RETS. "I was interested in participating in the education field and working with students. My background in personnel has assisted me."

"This school is well-known to employees in the region for providing well-trained electronic technicians," Reeves said. "Thousands of our graduates are employed in the area and hundreds of companies have utilized our free placement assistance and job referral service."

"Our employer advisory boards are critical to keeping our curriculum focused on skills the marketplace demands, and thus help to ensure the success of our graduates," she said.

Denis Massa and Lois Waldhart of Belleville are graduates of RETS who are working for Motorola.

Mary McCarthy of Bloomfield is another alumni who is employed at Gagliano & Associates.

Nutley's own James Troisi is working for Tab Products, and fellow Nutleyite Cindy Sarrecchia is busy at ADP.

These are just a few examples of the employment opportunities available to RETS graduates.

Day classes begin at 9 a.m. and end at 1 p.m. Evening classes begin at 6 p.m. and end at 10 p.m.

New officers installed by Belleville UNICO

UNICO National's first vice president, Salvatore Mangano, recently installed Belleville UNICO National's president and officers during a recent Columbus Day banquet.

The officers and their positions are Gene Antonio as president, George Salzano as vice president, Dr. Emanuele Alfano as secretary, Angelo Sarno as treasurer and Joseph Gencarelli as sergeant at arms.

The new chapter, which consists of men, the Women of UNICO and the UNICO ACES Club for people ages 12 to 17, has been growing by leaps and bounds because of a dedicated membership committee led by George and Theresa Salzano.

UNICO National is a non-profit organization and the largest Italian-American service club in the United States. The name UNICO means "one" or "only one of a kind." Additionally, the letters are interpreted as Unity, Neighborliness, Integrity, Charity and Opportunity.

The Belleville chapter has dedicated itself to heritage, family and the ACES club. The chapter also believes all Italian-Americans, regardless of gender, should have equal status as members. One of its goals is to change the UNICO constitution to allow women as equal members.

Italian-Americans wishing to be part of this new chapter may call George and Theresa Salzano at 680-0448 and Alfano at 429-2818 for the ACES Club.

Flea market to benefit varsity

A Flea Market and Craft Show will be held Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Belleville High School, 100 Passaic Ave., off Joralemon Street.

More than 150 vendors will be on hand. The event is a fund-raiser for Belleville High School Varsity.

Volunteers find satisfaction helping at Clara Maass

By Jim Van Blarcom
Staff Writer

"Love, friendship and satisfaction are what I receive from volunteering. I enjoy giving something back, it's time well spent," explained Marie Vandwerzwan, president of Clara Maass Auxiliary and hospital volunteer.

Clara Maass Medical Center Volunteer Department is seeking men and women to volunteer their time with the reward of learning skills in the health care industry.

More than 40 assignments at the hospital are filled by volunteers. Among these tasks are patient feeding, errands and conversation.

"The patients accept the volunteers extremely well. Volunteers come here to give something back and to enrich a patient's stay. They effectively fill-in the doctors and nurses' care because of the staff's busy schedule," said Marlene French, director of the hospital's volunteer department for 10 years.

French estimated the extensive volunteer network to have as many as 400 participants in areas as diverse as new-born picture taking to clerical support for hospital offices.

"Some volunteers stay with the program for 35 years or more. Some come seeking college credits, others seek a career change. There are even some who are unemployed who choose not to waste their time meaninglessly, so they volunteer," said French.

Volunteers work within, as well as outside the hospital anywhere from two to 40 hours a week. Ideal candidates should have previous experience in a health care setting, or have cared for a family member or other patient at their bedside. Applicants having no previous experience are also accepted.

"Our volunteers range in age from 14- to 90 years-old and must complete an application and go on an interview. Once accepted, participants receive orientation on policies of the hospital, go through an immunization check, receive further training on their specific duties, then receive a uniform," added French.

"The volunteers come from all over. The assignments they receive are evenly distributed between patient care and other duties. They are expected to commit to at least 60 to 100 hours of service in order to receive a recommendation," continued French. "Most volunteers serve their time coming in for two to four hours a few times a week, anywhere from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m."

Nutley resident Aida Caro has volunteered at the hospital for two and a half years. She has gotten so involved with her work that she now acts as the second vice president of Clara Maass Auxiliary.

"My aunt got me involved after her time of service. She got a lot out of it, so I looked into it. I'm glad I did," said Caro. Caro often spends time at the reception desk greeting visitors and answering telephone inquiries, as well as helping out in the volunteer office. One of her favorite jobs is delivering knitted baby hats to mothers for their new-borns to wear.

"I found myself with time on my hands and wanted to be part of something, this was it," said Caro.

"The job requires a feeling and dedication to other people which can be manifested in different ways," said volunteer Marie Vanderzwan. The Belleville resident is a self-admitted "jack of all trades," after serving 10 hours a week for seven years.

"Something was missing in my life, this fulfilled it," said Vanderzwan. "If you think you don't have a skill, you'll be surprised."

"When I receive an application, I ask the prospective volunteer 'Do you want to work with patients or do you want to work in another part of the hospital?'" said French. "People generally fall into one of the two areas."

"After spending time as a volunteer, two things become evident. First, the comfort level of volunteers of being in the hospital increases. Second, as statistics indicate, those that volunteer tend to live longer lives," explained French.

The volunteer program also welcomes organizations that have service projects as part of their activities.

The Knitters Program provides clothes fashioned by members for patients and infants in the hospital and nursing homes.

Friendly Visitors is a group that provides conversation, food shopping and telephone reassurance for elderly home-bound patients.

"We work closely with service groups from all over. This includes episodic volunteers on short-term bases. One organization I particularly admire is from Temple Ner-Tamid in Bloomfield. Their Jewish volunteers give Christian workers in the hospital a chance for a break around Christmas, especially Christmas Eve. They have been doing that for the past eight years," said French.

"Of course there are also the schools, which we welcome all the time. One summer we had over 18 schools represented in our project," added French.

"In April, during national volunteer week, we have our recognition dinner to which all our volunteers are invited. Awards are given to outstanding members. It is a chance for the administration to say 'thank you,'" said French.

"Word of mouth by satisfied volunteers seems to recruit more. Even a suggestion by patients of Clara Maass or their family helps to bring more volunteers in," explained French.

Police make narcotics arrests

Narcotics arrests after motor vehicle stops top the list of criminal activities last week in Belleville.

Police arrested Thomas Frawley, 21, of Bloomfield, and charged him with possession of a controlled dangerous substance and CDS paraphernalia on the afternoon of Oct. 30.

Frawley was stopped in his automobile at the intersection of Division Avenue and Union Terrace and was found with a hypodermic needle containing a clear fluid, a bloody cloth, a spoon and folded wax-paper with the word "overdose" printed on it, police said.

Police arrested Mark McGinley, 27, and Mary Munoz, 45, both of Belleville, and charged them with possession of CDS early Halloween morning.

McGinley and Munoz were stopped on Union Avenue. A search of their vehicle produced six packages of a white powdery substance believed to be cocaine or heroin, police said.

Police arrested Joseph Tomasella, 31, of Belleville, and charged him with possession of CDS and operating a motor vehicle while on the revoked list Thursday morning.

Tomasella was stopped on Joralemon Street after patrol noticed an expired inspection sticker on his vehicle. A search of the auto found six wax-folds containing a white powdery substance, according to reports.

Police arrested Phyllis D'Angelo, 38, of Belleville, and charged her with possession of CDS and motor vehicle violations on Friday.

D'Angelo was stopped on Watsessing Avenue. Found in her car was a wax-fold holding a white powdery substance, believed to be cocaine or heroin, and two straws, police said.

Shoplifting was reported at a Main Street department store early Thursday evening.

Police responded and arrested Maria Lopez, 22, of Newark, and charged her with the theft of $131.89 worth of clothing merchandise.

police blotter

An act of arson was reported at an Ogden Road residence Friday evening.

Unknown persons set ablaze the home's wooden mailbox. Police investigated the fire.

Breaking and entering was reported: Oct. 30 on Nolton Street; Halloween, on Washington Avenue and on Carmer Avenue; and Saturday, on Holmes Street and on Washington Avenue.

Motor vehicle thefts were reported: Oct. 30, on Belleville Avenue; Thursday, on North 11th Street and on Union Avenue; and Friday, on Preston Street.

A stolen motor vehicle was recovered on Washington Avenue on Thursday.

Women's club, library team up for book drive

The Woman's Club of Belleville, Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Ave., and Shafter Branch, 30 Magnolia St., are cooperating in the fourth annual New Jersey Library Association and Marine Corp Reserve "Books for Tots to Teens" holiday book donation drive, which will continue through Dec. 11. In 1994, more than 100 libraries participated and more than 6,000 books were donated.

Anyone can give the gift of reading by bringing a new book to the library's collection box, located in the James I. Cozzarelli Jr. Children's Room and Shafter Branch Library.

Carol Casale, education chair of the Woman's Club of Belleville, and Frederick Lewis, head of children's services and Shafter Branch librarian, are cooperating on this project. Books can be contributed at the meetings of the Woman's Club and given to Carol at the club house.

Barbara Spillane, president of the Woman's Club, is very enthusiastic about the continuation of the second year of this project. Adrea Cohen, library director stated, "I hope that we can double our contributions this year to help those children who could use and read the donated books. Last year, our coordinated efforts resulted in a donation of 250 books."

OPINION PAGE

Give credit where credit is due

Common courtesy has been making a return to Belleville politics, a welcome change from the Marina Perna years. Most of the credit goes to Mayor Jim Messina, who has been tops in his handling of public discussions.

But while Messina has tried to bring respect back to Belleville politics, there are others who have failed to mature.

There's no surprise the rudeness originates from the Belleville Republican Organization of Joe Scaperrotta, Angie Paserchia, Tom Fuscaldo and that perennial-defendant Richard Yanuzzi.

This splinter group has adopted the tactics of constant campaigning, self-promotion and stealing credit from other people who actually achieve things.

Case in point is the recent approval of bonds to fund the installation of amber safety lights near three Belleville schools.

The Home and School Association at School 8 originated this idea and Phyllis Frantantoni wrote Police Chief Ray Kimble in January about the problem. She also lobbied the Board of Education and Township Council to get the safety lights.

Paserchia, during a recent council meeting, began to take credit for the safety lights, but was publicly silenced by Frantantoni, who correctly pointed out Paserchia had done nothing.

Paserchia later wrote a letter to the county about the lights, and had it read during a public meeting as if to appear to have something to do with the safety improvements. In fact, Paserchia did not have one supportive comment to make about the lights until she jumped in to take credit.

Changes at the Board of Education to toughen residency requirements is the second example. This was the fruit after years of effort by several private citizens.

Frank Montagna was one of these citizens, and is a board trustee today because voters rewarded his efforts. True, Fuscaldo deserves credit as well.

Enter Scaperrotta. The residency committee he started for the council is nothing but pure grandstanding. The Board of Education did not know anything about Scaperrotta's committee and, if the councilman perhaps would take more of an interest in making sure code enforcement and building inspection is actually done, he would perform a real service.

The third example is the tennis courts. Scaperrotta's recent 2nd Ward newsletter would make you think he and Barbara Ciccalese did this all by themselves. Fuscaldo wrote an article that mentioned no others.

This is an insult to other trustees who were on the buildings and grounds committee. Misrepresenting himself again, Scaperrotta had zero, zilch, nada to do with getting the courts repaired. He merely attended a board meeting after all was said and done to take credit.

How about the hockey rink that Gerald Digori, Victor Canning and company resurrected. Where was Scaperrotta? Sitting on his brains waiting to take credit for their work. Oh yes, he also takes credit for the painting of Municipal Stadium and hiring a new crossing guard.

Scaperrotta, Fuscaldo and Paserchia should be ashamed of themselves for this theft of reputation.

We give these three credit for their real achievements. They have successfully enriched Paserchia with two taxpayer-funded positions. They have so far successfully protected Yanuzzi from the many merchants who have had to go to court to recover money.

Enough is enough. Let's give credit where credit is due.

SEC should do more investigation

The Securities and Exchange Commission has taken the welcome step to investigate the loan made by the Essex County Improvement Authority to the now-defunct Upsala College two years ago.

East Orange Councilwoman Carolyn Meecham wrote the state attorney general requesting an investigation after the ECIA got into the business of Upsala College's financial crisis.

The ECIA issued bonds to help support the private institution just a short time before the college went belly-up.

That left the ECIA with a claim to the property, and East Orange taxpayers with a big bill to pay.

Casual observers knew the institution was failing, so why did the ECIA risk taxpayer money on this?

We hope the SEC does not stop with this one bond issue. Plenty more needs to be examined. Why, for example, was a former Florio aide found guilty of taking kickbacks from a bank in a bond scheme, and yet the bank that paid the kickback has yet to be brought to court?

With water commissions, sewerage commissions, improvement authorities and utility authorities able to issue bonds almost at will, the taxpayer has been taken to the cleaners.

Perhaps a probe on a wider scale would uncover more irregularities. We hope this would not be true, but then this is New Jersey.

Deputy mayor waffles on government control

Deputy Mayor Tom Spillane is a brave man.

He was the lone member of the Township Council to stick to the correct view that rent control is a dinosaur that should be eliminated.

"This is the only commodity in the marketplace whose price we regulate. Why?" Spillane asked.

He is right. Though the others voted to phase out rent control through vacancy decontrol, a better solution is to get rid of it completely.

Defenders of government regulation always raise the image of the elderly widow who will be thrown out on the street if this or that curtailment of freedom is eliminated.

In 39 years, I have yet to see an old woman on the street next to a pile of her furniture.

Limiting rent increases to 6 percent guarantees an annual increase of that amount.

Landlords do not know what the coming year will bring. Perhaps an oil embargo that drives up fuel costs or a change in the neighborhood that makes his property more desirable.

These possibilities cause landlords to overcompensate by raising rents by the maximum allowed.

Conversely, rent control makes for artificially low rents over time. A landlady in North Arlington recently

Bel View

By Paul O'Keefe
Staff Writer

complained that she has tenants who pay $250 under rent control. Her other tenants pay more to make up the difference.

That is not fair to the elderly widow who has recently rented an apartment after selling her house.

Spillane also correctly noted many elderly own rental properties that they acquired as a means of getting through retirement.

Their investments should be protected as well as the renter's security.

Rent control has never worked anywhere. New York City holds to its rent control to the detriment of entire neighborhoods.

Everyone criticizes rent control, but few are brave enough to vote against it.

Compromises do not work as well. Tying rent increases to the consumer price index merely prevents the property owner from ever seeing a substantial return on his investment.

The fact is, we live in a theoretically free market. The competition among builders, landlords and municipalities is what will improve quality and hold prices down.

Why do politicians always tend toward guaranteeing the security of a few at the expense of the many?

I will be as objective as I can about this.

Health fanatic Tom Spillane opposed the freedom loving Mayor Jim Messina on two anti-smoking ordinances recently.

The way the surgeon general and society as a whole is going, smoking may be illegal soon. Hurray! Government may destroy another industry and ask us to bless it.

Why not make drinking illegal again? Drunks do not merely harm themselves in their endeavors. They destroy everything around them.

The analogy is seen in passive smoke arguments. Prohibition of tobacco would be as effective as the similar experiment tried with booze.

Well, Spillane is not a fascist. He is more like a non-smoking nuthob. I am disappointed the deputy mayor made such an eloquent case to abolish rent control, and then turned to regulate another business.

Cigarette machines cannot tell a person's age, that is true. The owners of such machines must show an effort to monitor their use before getting a permit.

Denying a citizen the right to make legal money has become epidemic in America. Someday we will decide to leave others alone. In the meantime, we legislate others into being criminals.

It is not as if smokers demand the water supply be spiked with nicotine as well as fluoride. Leave me to my vice.

I do not light up outside council chambers, as other people have been known to do during certain municipal board meetings.

Fines against employees of Belleville or appointed officials will likely never be enforced if they are caught with the true, holy leaf alit inside municipal offices.

Some of you meet the devil in bars or brothels. I prefer to talk to Kid Sulphur while taking a smoke break.

Before we go off to regulate our neighbors again, we might discuss which is more harmful, cigarettes or township councils.

I will say a novena to St. Walter Raleigh for you, Tom Spillane.

letters to the editor

Thanks for the many kind words

To the Editor:

Our family wishes to thank everybody who has helped us in our time of need. The Bloomfield Volunteer Emergency Squad and Bloomfield Police who responded the night we sent Russell to the hospital did a wonderful job for which we are grateful. We thank Police Chief McNiff for the escort as well.

Many people have flooded us with gift baskets, flowers, spiritual bouquets and donations to the scholarship fund. Your generosity and concern will always be a treasure to us.

Individual thanks will go out when time allows. Our family first has to get things in order. Please do not think we have forgotten you if getting a thank you note takes time.

Editor's note: Rosemary Roemmele is the wife of the late Russell Roemmele.

Good bye to my only hero

To the Editor:

The "editor" was mine! My father, Russell Roemmele, has left me. Although it took much courage today, I have just put down this week's paper. I am filled with pride, joy and aching pain and sadness. I am so grateful to you and the towns of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville for making me realize that this loss was not only mine. I have watched for more than 20 years so many who have been impacted by the wonderful man whom I was blessed to call "Daddy." The tribute in your newspaper and throughout the past week at both the visitation and funeral have bolstered our family with strength to go on and with gratitude to God for the finest years we could have known as daughters, son, wife, brothers, sisters and friends of Russell Roemmele.

On my father's birthday, Oct. 6, I gave him a plaque I made with two pictures — both were taken on Memorial Day 1995, when Dad spoke to a group of veterans about the Korean War. The pictures were surrounding a copy of the poem by Dylan Thomas, "Do not go gentle into that good night." Later I was to find out that he hung it next to his desk in the office.

On the day my Father died, Oct. 26, his column "Our Town" was focused around this poem which the poet Thomas wrote to his father when he was dying. My father wrote, "No, I shall not go gentle into that good night. I shall, as Dylan Thomas said of his father, 'rage, rage against the dying of the light.' Yes, with fierce tears, I shall rage on against the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. The heart, so badly wounded thrice, is holding out, thank the Lord. . . I am told to quiet down, to relax. This is the last advice I heed. On the contrary, I shall go up the hill with my squad to that moment, that only moment brave, when the corpsman puts the dog tag between my frozen lips. . . Thus, let this then be my epitaph, if someone cares that much to enscribe it on the marker when my rage is silenced. . ."

I never could have known that the simple plaque of a birthday gift would truly indeed be my father's epitaph. He did, like he promised, fight his way up the hill until the end. On his way to meet his Lord and Savior, he did rage against all obstacles, trials and tribulation. Until that end, he believed in the struggle and fight to overcome wrongs and corruption. But also below his rough demeanor, so many were touched by his selflessness, warmth and sincere love and courage. I never, in my 32 years, watched him do anything with selfish intent. I have never met another like him.

The last time I sent a letter to the editor, it was October 1989 on Dad's birthday. My letter wished him a good birthday as well as a testimonial of my love for him to the town of Bloomfield. As I was going through his desk a few days ago, I found on top, folded under a pen holder, that letter. I know the words, the lyrics to a popular ballad, became one of his favorites. I would like to quote those words again, as a way of thanking all of you who held a special place in Dad's heart, which would mean just about everyone since the love he had for his community was so real and true, and as a way of saying good bye to my one and only hero of a lifetime. . . in our town.

"It must have been cold there in my situation
To never have sunlight on your face
You were content to let me shine, that's your way
You always walked a step behind
So I was the one with all the glory
While you were the one with all the strength
A beautiful face without a name
A beautiful smile to hide the pain
Did you ever know that you're my hero?
You're everything that I would like to be
I can fly higher than an eagle
You are the wind beneath my wings
It might have appeared to go unnoticed
But I have it all here in my heart
I want you to know the truth, of course, I know it
I would be nothing without you
Did you ever know that you're my hero?
You're everything, everything I wish I could be
I could fly higher than an eagle
You are the wind beneath my wings
Thank God for you, you are the wind beneath my wings."

Beat provides insight on religion

The gauntlet has been passed. Staff writer Jim Van Blarcom will assume the role of "religious reporter."

I have been advised that my removal from this position was not in response to my performance, but instead a way to break in our new writer, and simultaneously offer me a chance to expand my knowledge of investigative reporting.

Reflection is not always pleasant, but in this instance it is necessary and positive.

I wrote more than 35 religious articles — give or take a few. Each one was rewarding.

The first time my editor assigned me to a religious story, I was less than thrilled. As the weeks went by, I learned not only to understand his purpose, but also to anticipate the personalities I would encounter.

To avoid offending anyone, I chose not to comment on my beliefs during my months of coverage. I am afraid it is time the readers endure my philosophy.

Although I do not belong to an organized religion, I have learned to accept the concept.

If gathering together in the name of a greater being provides people with hope and optimism, I support it.

I was born into the Roman Catholic Church, and despite disagreeing with 99 percent of what this institution stands for, I do not believe in bashing those who profess faith.

Muro's Musings

By Douglas M. Muro
Staff Writer

To become disenchanted with a type of religion is acceptable. To deny or ridicule others for their choice is abusive.

My experiences during the past nine months have allowed me to overcome the anger and betrayal I dealt with during adolescence. It has been replaced with confusion and loneliness, but at least my immediate judgment has subsided.

The existence of God, Allah, Buddha or whatever name one wants to use should not be the reason behind one's altruism or evil. Man has to develop a respect for man, not merely follow social norms or morals because they fear the unknown.

Do Christians believe Jesus was a good man because he was the son of God and had his destiny secured, or do they study his life and respect his works, that is to say his works as a man?

Do they want to follow in his path to reach the "promised land," or do they wish to emulate a selfless man composed of loyalty and love?

Point being, extend kindness for kindness' sake, not for personal gain.

Think Pascal's Wager — live a life free of sin betting that there is a God. If you were wrong, what have you lost?

Just think, what if you were wrong? What if you spent your entire life doing unto others as you would have them do unto you? What a concept. Who in this world wants to be treated like refuse? Yet, many do exactly that. And why? Because they can get away with it.

I suppose what I am saying is those who dedicate their lives to making life easier and more pleasant for others, and do not believe in God or are unsure of their fate, truly are saints.

Are you entitled to be peeved when you find out this was it? Sure, but what have you lost? Isn't promoting selflessness and witnessing its vast rewards enough?

If everyone adhered to this philosophy, this world wouldn't be so vile and the need for a heaven would not be so great.

Faith is most people's safety net. It allows them to "be human," whatever that means, and erase their fear of death.

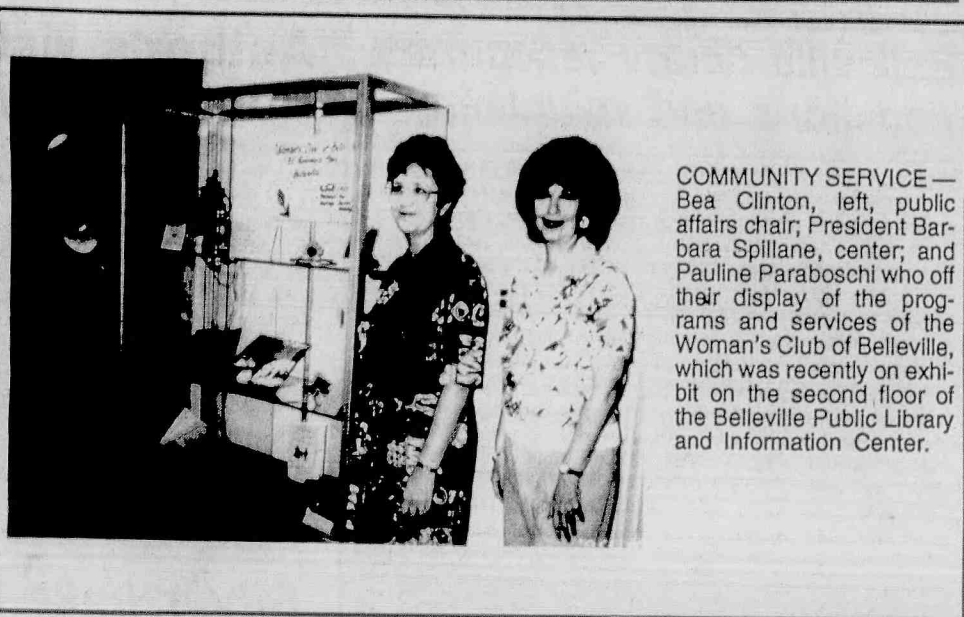

Think Big Bang theory — man, an autonomous entity which has evolved into what you see before you. No religion. No gods. No afterlife. No reincarnation. No Holy Wars. No Holocaust. No idolatry.

If man existed in a land where the chance of something greater was not present, would humanity run wild with no regard for their fellow man? Or would the absence of a possible deity produce a stronger appreciation for the here and now, therefore leading to a peaceful existence on earth?

Are we being held captive by our system of law and order? Are not corruption, racism, sexism and nepotism part of our police departments? In fact, aren't we discovering that more and more law enforcement officials are breaking the laws they swore to uphold and respect?

In the end, nothing can change where or how we got to this point in time. So, for those of you who need that safety net, I now comprehend why and will not espouse religion bashing.

On the other hand, I must go on walking that wire without a net, knowing full well the consequences if I fall.

We all can make a difference

Reporter's Notebook

By Jim Van Blarcom
Staff Writer

After working in Bloomfield for the past month, many people have crossed my path.

For the most part, these people are happy. And they wear their joy on their sleeve.

They belong to many walks of life, are different ages and hold unique views concerning life and how to live it.

They reside in Bloomfield, Nutley, Glen Ridge and Belleville and spend their days looking out for their community and the welfare of others. They are common, in the best sense of the word.

They are the people who unfortunately receive no recognition.

They are the crossing guard who stays at her post for 35 years, the scoutmaster who volunteers his time, the minister who organizes a discussion group.

They are the parents who watch their neighbor's kids, the worker who brings you a bagel with a smile and hello, the people on the other end of the telephone who are genuinely glad to listen to you.

They are people who deserve to be talked about. They are the people whom this newspaper would like to uphold.

This can be said because they are not power hungry, are responsible and play by the rules for the common good. They do not showboat in pursuism. His effect on people was tremendous.

Russell caused heated debates at town meetings, but he did not hold office. He wrote about the past so that we knew and could not forget. He saw beauty in others' accomplishments and wanted them to be known. He wanted his readers to appreciate life in their community. He tried to cover every ceremony or event at every church, school, town council and board of education, and was disappointed when something slipped by uncovered. He inspired his staff to learn, care and to have faith in humanity.

These newspapers will survive without Russell. The intention will be to use Russell as a cornerstone. Instead of trying to get inside his thoughts, the adoption of his attitude and zeal for work, family, faith, country and life is a starting base to carry us through what has become a dark passage. Russell was once the living beacon of light that shone the way. He is now a spirit that lingers in the heart.

Thanks to all who expressed their concern for Russell. Be proud of who you are and where you live and never fail to see that expressing yourself can make a difference.

Rest in peace, Russell.

Reunion rekindles friendship

To the Editor:

On Oct. 26, I went back in time for a few hours. A childhood friend, now living in Bricktown, and I got together after not seeing each other for more than 32 years. Thirty-two years — a lifetime — and yet when we saw each other it felt like only yesterday that we graduated from No. 4 school. We could remember vividly all those great memories of our early teen years. The playground escapades with the "boys," our dances, our class trips. It certainly was a day that I won't forget and have already marked off another visit with her in 1996. This day meant a lot to both of us — we were close as children and we shared a lot of happy times. Now as we grow older our lives are touched with some sadness, so to see each other and to bring back what we once shared was worth everything to us. I truly hope that more people can experience what I did. Try it — you can't imagine the feeling until you have.

Belleville library recognizes donations and volunteers

Recently, the Belleville Public Library and Information Center asked for donations of any piece of perennial from its library patrons. As a result, several plants were donated. Melissa Kopecky, Children's Services, also experienced in the area of landscape gardening, planted the donations in front of the library.

Volunteers make difference

Volunteers in grades six to nine donated more than 214 hours of assistance this summer to young patrons and summer reading club participants in the James J. Cozzarelli Jr. Children's Room.

Their volunteer work included helping with computer sessions, storytime, hands-on workshops, preparing for activities, making scenery and shelving books.

The 16 volunteers who put in between five and 15 hours of service were Aziza Atwa, Jackie Helfrich, Chris Spera, Lisa Bernardo, Andrew Kopecky, Laura Maffucci, Lisa Jackson, Jimmy Stolz, Gary Carnevale, Michael Gonzalez, Alicia Gerardo, Nick Porcaro, Kenya Bosque, John Porcaro, Dan Flynn and Raymond Teemer.

Thanks are also due to Megan O'Hagen, Danielle Taylor, Leslie Servidio, Shannon Managhan, Kristin Collins, Nicole Mattia, Kimberly Matthews and David Wilks. Chantel Liriano, Jennifer Davenport and Jessica Santinelli also deserve notice for having assisted the preceding school year. Liriano donated more than 30 hours and helped prepare the Readamerica summer map.

Author's visits highlight Book Week at library

In honor of National Children's Book Week, which will be celebrated at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, Monday to Friday, the library will be sponsoring two special programs that will be given by noted author, teacher and storyteller, Judith Cummings Kaiser.

On Wednesday from 3:45-4:45 p.m., the author will be presenting a program entitled "Lenapehoking — Its People and Their Lifestyles" and on Nov. 18 from 2-3 p.m., she will be presenting a program entitled "Bwana Benton's Beastly Night."

"Lenapehoking — Its People and Their Lifestyles" tells a story of the Lenape Indians. The author will dress in costume and present stories and visual materials appropriate for grades three through adult.

"Bwana Benton's Beastly Night," a story written by the author, focuses on young Benton and the Baldwins who care for injured or orphaned animals at an environmental center. Presented with many props, the story will delight children ages 6-12 and adults as well.

"Bound for Discovery" is the theme for Children's Book Week, sponsored by the Children's Book Council. Phone 450-3434 to register, in the James J. Cozzarelli Jr. Room.

Silver Lake to have party

The Silver Lake Civic Association will have a holiday party Nov. 24 from 7:30-11:30 p.m. in the Branch Brook Manor, Belleville.

The donation is $25. For information, phone Angela Cuozzo-Zarro at 759-2703 and leave a message if you need additional tickets. All tickets must be paid for by Nov. 18. Checks should be made out to Silver Lake Civic Association and mailed to Angela Cuozzo-Zarro, 54 Salter Place, Belleville.

This is not only for association members, but for anyone who would like to come.

Blood pressure screening at library

Belleville Health Educator Cindy Mizeciewski, also a registered nurse, will be conducting a blood pressure screening in the Trustees Room of the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, 221 Washington Ave., tomorrow from 9-10 a.m.

For information, phone Dr. Ming Bao, assistant library director, at 450-3434.

Irish-American Association to meet

There will be a meeting of the Belleville Irish-American Association Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Belleville Knights of Columbus Hall, 98 Bridge St., Belleville. Refreshments will be served. Anyone interested in becoming a member can attend the meeting or call Pat at 751-5308.

A Christmas Party will be Dec. 6 with entertainment by the Secaucus High School Jazz Band.

Facts about insurance are free

Many consumers do not know what a deductible is or cannot understand what their auto and homeowners policies say. Others do not know who to call for information about life, health or property/casualty insurance.

To help answer these many other questions about property/casualty insurance, New Jersey Insurance News Service is offering a free brochure "New Jersey Insurance Facts."

The 1995-1996 edition of "New Jersey Insurance Facts" explains automobile, homeowner's, commercial and worker's compensation insurance in an easy-to-understand manner, while also providing useful and current information about insurance in general. In addition, the brochure has a directory of phone numbers to help address consumers' concerns about all types of insurance.

NJINS is a nonprofit information association sponsored by 20 property/casualty insurance companies with headquarters or major facilities in New Jersey.

Individuals or organizations may request copies of the brochure by writing NJINS, P.O. Box 3789, Union, 07083-1891.

Nutley residents Cara Ferrucci and Diedre Pirchio will be performing in the "My Fair Lady," a production of the Montclair Operetta Club which opens tomorrow and runs to Nov. 19.

Nutley duo to perform in operetta production

Singing in the autumn production of the Montclair Operetta Club's musical "My Fair Lady," which opens tomorrow and runs until Nov. 19 at the Mount Hebron Theatre in Montclair are Nutley residents Cara Ferrucci and Diedre Pirchio.

"My Fair Lady" is set in London in 1912. Professor Henry Higgins, a phonetically obsessed expert of linguistics, makes a bet with his friend Colonel Pickering that he can teach, in six months, a simple flower seller Eliza Doolittle to learn proper English and speak like a lady. After months of lessons, Eliza is put to the test as she is invited to a ball where she succeeds brilliantly.

This musical features professional leads who are joined by local talented actors, singers and dancers. For tickets and information for this classic musical, call 744-7850.

Schor has juror role in 'Angry Women'

Mount Saint Dominic Academy presents its annual fall drama production "Twelve Angry Women" Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The three-act play concerns 12 jurors deliberating a murder charge. Short tempers and heated argument ensue as the female jurors earn the title "Twelve Angry Women." The final verdict and how they reach it makes for a fine piece of dramatic literature.

Jessica Schor of Belleville, a sophomore student at Mount Saint Dominic, will act the part of Juror #10.

Tickets for the one-night performance are $5 in advance and $6 at the door. For tickets and information, phone 226-0660, ext. 29.

St. Paul's to host bell, dance concert

St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Nutley will present the Bells of St. Paul's and the Grace Dance Consort in Concert Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. Featured will be handbell music by composers Bach, Dobrinski, Payne, Collins, Turbull and Brigman.

The ringers choir is directed by Marietta Capaccio, an alumna of Elmira College. Her musical background is in clarinet and piano, as well as in conducting studies with Michael Keller and William Payne at the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers National Directors Seminars. Capaccio is a member of the Central New Jersey Handbell Festival at Rider University every spring.

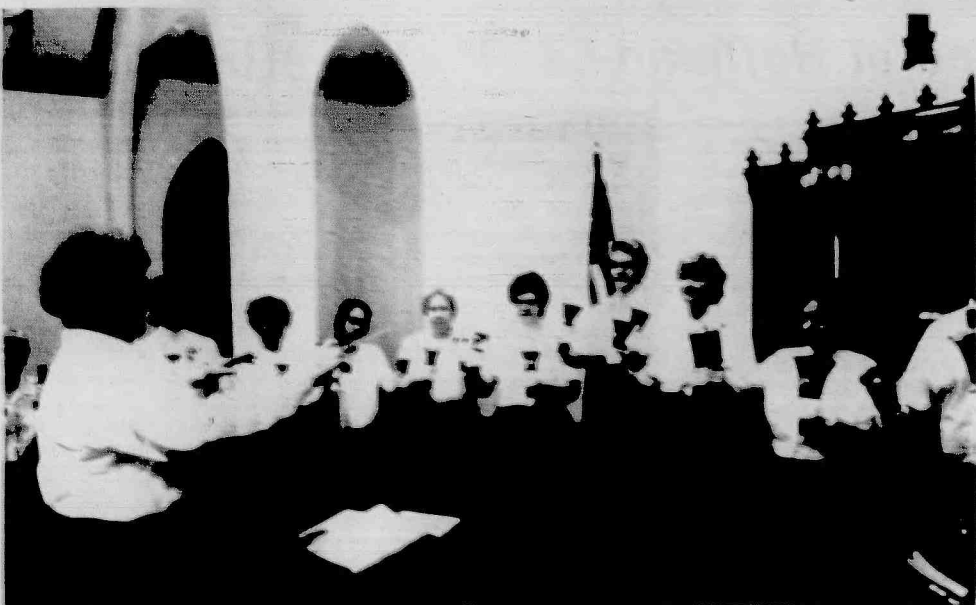

Handbells came to St. Paul's led by Sheila Cassels, wife of Robert Cassels, former pastor. The Schulmerich handbells, purchased with generous donations from members and friends of the church, were dedicated in 1984.

The Grace Dance Consort, based at Grace Church in Nutley, is directed by Judith Burwell and has been performing for 11 years. The group has a repertoire of sacred works and pure dance pieces and has performed in services and concerts. Latin American pieces such as the "Sosa Poems" in this program reflect Burwell's years in Central America. The "Return of the River," first presented in Honduras, was choreographed by Burwell as an original dance setting of poems by Robert Sosa. They are alternately read, intoned and sung while interpreted in dance, resulting in a hauntingly beautiful and original creation. Sosa worked with Burwell and the Grace Dance Consort in this latest interpretation.

"On the Crest" another dance selection was composed by Greg Collins, choreographed by Josh Jess Cabot and first presented at Stockton State College. It was reconstructed for performance by a former graduate student, Jim Croal.

St. Paul's, an inspiring century old church, is located on Franklin Avenue at St. Paul's Place in Nutley. Ticket donations are $5 and will be available at the door. Light refreshments will be served during intermission.

Proceeds are for the benefit of St. Paul's Music Fund and the Grace Dance Program. For more information, phone 667-4812.

The Bells of St. Paul's will perform at the Nutley church Nov. 19 in concert with the Grace Dance Consort.

Orchestra opens season Nov. 19

The Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Edward J. Napiwocki, will open it's 64th season with a concert featuring Sherry Sylar, associate principal oboist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Sylar, a native of Chattanooga, Tenn., earned a bachelor's degree in music at Indiana University and a master's degree from Northwestern University. After performing with the Louisville Orchestra and teaching at the University of Evansville, Ind., she joined the New York Philharmonic in 1984.

In addition to her Philharmonic concerts, Sylar performs chamber music and solo concerts regularly.

During the 1989 Christmas season, she took part in the "Berlin Celebration Concerts," held in East and West Berlin to hail the dismantling of the Berlin Wall.

The concert will be at the Bloomfield Middle School, Huck Road, Nov. 19 at 3 p.m. Donation is $3.

Holy Family celebrates new council, mission

Recently, Holy Family Parish in Nutley celebrated a special day of prayer and sharing which concluded a nine month process of re-establishing a Pastoral Council, updating a parish mission statement and completing a parish survey which will form a basis for some goal setting for the parish.

On Oct. 21, 30 parishioners and parish staff began with the Mass and continued with a process of reporting, reacting and sharing to update a group of parish leaders on the formation of a Pastoral Council and its first activities. Monsignor Finiani welcomed the participants and outlined the sequence of events which began in January and resulted in this gathering. Council president Joseph Dwyer gave an overview of the role of the Council at Holy Family and a summary of the results of the survey in which more than 1,700 parishioners responded. Sergio Pavone of the council led a discussion on the updating of the mission statement for the parish and how it might relate to the various social groups and ministries of the parish. Dr. Thomas McClosky, who guided the Holy Family process, served as facilitator of the day and gave an overview of the parish and council as living out the mission of Christ who was priest, prophet, servant, steward and builder of community. Council members served as group facilitators for the day.

The time spent had been enriching and participants were willing to share what they had learned with their specific ministry or organization.

The discussions which followed helped uncover both the diversity of ministries and the commonality of mission which the participants shared in together. The council is now in the process of determining how its members will relate to the various groups and ministries of the parish, promote communication and continue to develop common goals for the entire parish. The participants agreed that the time spent had been enriching and they were willing to share what they had learned with their specific ministry or organization.

The following is Holy Family's mission statement:

Holy Family Roman Catholic Parish is a faith community committed to celebrate and communicate the life and spirit of Jesus by our word and our actions. Together with our local bishop, we are striving to build a loving, caring and evangelizing church.

Rehearsing for their Nov. 19 concert at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Nutley are Karen Berry, Colley Ballow and Ann Coppola, all members of the Grace Dance Consort.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL)—A new drug has been approved that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain. This material has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis..." and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis... relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis... is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work.

Use only as directed.

Lorenzo returns from overseas deployment

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Angel L. Lorenzo, son of Inocencio B. and Juanita B. Lorenzo of Sycamore Drive, Belleville, has returned to Norfolk, Va., after completing a six-month overseas deployment aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Kearsarge, which included duty in the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia.

Lorenzo is one of more than 2,400 sailors and marines aboard the large-deck amphibious ship who completed the 15,000 mile voyage. Lorenzo's ship was the lead ship of the three-ship USS Kearsarge Amphibious Ready Group which included the amphibious transport dock USS Nashville, the dock landing ship USS Pensacola and the 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit.

While in the Adriatic Sea, Lorenzo and fellow crew members helped rescue Air Force Capt. Scott O'Grady, who had been shot down over Bosnia. Marine helicopters from Lorenzo's ship flew 87 miles across the Adriatic Sea into Bosnia to rescue the downed pilot. The Marine rescue team was only on the ground in Bosnia a few minutes when they picked up O'Grady and returned him to USS Kearsarge. No one was injured, but the helicopters did received several hits from ground fire during the return flight. Overall, aircraft on Lorenzo's ship conducted more than 10,000 landings and takeoffs during the deployment.

Lorenzo also participated in several multinational exercises with forces from Albania, Germany, Greece, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Turkey and the United Kingdom. Operating off the coast of Sardinia, Lorenzo and fellow sailors and Marines participated in one of the largest amphibious landings since World War II. Equipped with a Marine landing force, helicopters, Harrier attack aircraft, high-speed assault hovercraft, armored vehicles and landing craft, the Kearsarge ARG provided area commanders with a wide-range of capabilities, which included the ability to evacuate civilians, rescue downed pilots, conduct reconnaissance and serve as the leading force in an amphibious landing.

While spending more than 130 days at sea, Lorenzo had an opportunity to visit France, Italy, Malta and Spain. During the port visits, sailors and marines volunteered their free time to renovate homes for the elderly and orphanages and work with local school children.

Lorenzo's involvement in the deployment is an example of how U.S. men and women are serving in the Navy and Marine Corps around the world in support of U.S. interests. These highly trained naval forces provide a unique forward presence and crisis-response option, which can be withdrawn quickly when no longer needed.

He is a 1982 graduate of Science High School of Newark.

Voss returns after six-month deployment

Navy Seaman John A. Voss, son of Allan F. and Arlene M. Voss of Dewitt Avenue, Belleville, has returned to Mayport, Fla., from a six-month overseas deployment aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Hue City, which included duty in the Persian Gulf near Iraq and in the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia.

Voss is one of 400 sailors aboard the ship who completed the 30,000 mile voyage. Voss' ship was part of the 11-ship USS Theodore Roosevelt Battle Group, which included jet fighters, attack aircraft, airborne early warning and electronic warfare aircraft, helicopters and ships and submarines armed with Tomahawk cruise missiles.

While in the Red Sea, Voss and fellow sailors provided anti-air protection and air surveillance for the aircraft from USS Theodore Roosevelt, which were patrolling the no-fly zone over Southern Iraq. Voss and fellow sailors also discovered a 50-foot long Egyptian luxury sailboat that was adrift, and returned it to Egypt naval authorities.

After weeks in the Northern Red Sea, Voss traveled to the Persian Gulf, where the ship not only served as one of the aircraft carrier's main anti-air assets, but also was host to a reception for 250 diplomats and foreign military leaders.

Traveling back through the Suez Canal into the Mediterranean Sea, Voss and fellow crew members received orders to proceed to the Adriatic Sea. Operating near Bosnia, USS Hue City supported the ongoing efforts of NATO and U.N. forces by keeping track of all aircraft flying over the former Yugoslavian republic and the Adriatic Sea. Using its sophisticated air tracking radar, Voss' ship ensured no unauthorized aircraft flew near the multinational force in the Adriatic.

While on a routine patrol in the Adriatic Sea, one of the helicopters from Voss' ship rescued the pilot of a jet fighter that had crashed into the sea.

Voss' ship is equipped with the same type of Tomahawk cruise missiles that were launched at Bosnian Serb military targets in support of United Nations efforts by the guided missile cruiser USS Normandy. Armed with anti-aircraft and anti-ship missiles, Voss' ship is a formidable warship and can travel nearly 700 miles a day.

Spending 141 of 182 days at sea, Voss also visited France, Greece, Israel, Italy, Malta and the United Arab Emirates. In Naples, Italy, Sailors from Voss' ship volunteered their free time to build a playground at an orphanage and renovated a home for the elderly. While on the island of Malta, Voss' ship gave tours to more than 1,200 local citizens.

Voss' involvement in the deployment is an example of how U.S. men and woman are serving in the Navy and Marine Corps around the world from the Persian Gulf and western Pacific Ocean to the Mediterranean Sea in support of U.S. interests. These highly trained naval forces provide a unique forward presence and crisis-response option, which can be withdrawn quickly when no longer needed.

The 1993 graduate of Belleville High School joined the Navy in October 1994.

Perez joins Air Force

Carlos Perez, son of Armando Perez, enlisted in the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program, said Staff Sgt. Mike Gould the local air force recruiter.

Perez, a 1994 graduate of Belleville High School, will be enlisted into the Regular Air Force. Upon graduation from a six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio, Texas, Perez is scheduled to receive technical training in the general aptitude area.

Perez will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Stop for buses — it's the law

Some motorists may be unaware of the law regarding schools buses. Following are guidelines provided by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

If you are approaching or overtaking a school bus and it shows a flashing red light, signaling a stop, you must:

- Stop at least 25 feet away. This is required by law if you are on a two-lane road, or on a multi-lane highway where lanes are only separated by lines, or on a privately-maintained road.
- Slow down to 10 miles per hour on a dual highway, if you are on the other side of a safety island or raised median.

Unions make Weingarten whipping boy

Within every administration on whatever level of government, there always seems to be one top adviser who bears the brunt of anger from the public — the whipping boy. In the Treffinger administration, it is Joel Weingarten, acting director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Recently, Weingarten has received the wrath of CWA Local 1140 representatives trying to prevent the sale of the Geriatric Center. Earlier, it was the CWA Local 1183, which represents 300 county employees, most of whom work in the county Welfare Department. The unions, which have been frustrated with Treffinger's policies to downsize county government and privatization efforts, have expressed their wrath to Weingarten, making a concerted effort to get him removed from office.

County Seat

Regional Editor

Gary Staples, a state CWA representative working with Local 1140, last week filed a complaint against Weingarten with the Local Finance Board charging the official had a conflict of interest in county government because of the dual positions he held with the county and his appointed position on the Essex County Improvement Authority.

David Weiner, president of Local 1183, last month made a successful bid to prevent Weingarten from being officially installed as director of OMB. Prior to the meeting in which Weingarten's post was to be considered, Weiner submitted a statement to the freeholder board quoting statutes from the ECIA charter which explain policies toward dual office holding and the conflict of interest that could arise. For whatever impact the letter had, Weingarten's appointment was pulled from the agenda and has not been brought up since.

The complaint filed by Staples contains the same charges as Weiner's objection: that Weingarten has a conflict of interest because in his capacity as commissioner on the ECIA board he will be reviewing contracts and negotiations made with the county, which he represents as its chief financial officer. Ineffect, Weingarten would be voting and influencing members of the ECIA on proposals he helped create.

One does not have to look very far to find other examples of dual office holders. There are two mayors who also serve as freeholders or two other freeholders who have municipal jobs. There are also examples in Essex of council members or municipal employees who also serve as Assembly representatives.

Now a personal favorite. Recently, Senator Ronald Rice, Newark councilman and state senator, threatened to bring a lawsuit to County Executive James Treffinger and Sabarah Sabin discuss the formation of the executive's Community and Human Relations Project, which will work with municipalities and community groups to fight bias and prejudice through education and a mentoring program.

County forms anti-bias project Essex becomes first county to tackle hate crimes, prejudice

By Anthony Puglisi
Regional Editor

When Sabarah Sabin ran for the Board of Education in the South Orange-Maplewood school district, a late night telephone call she received during her campaign made a lasting impression.

The 4 a.m. caller berated Sabin's daughter, then 18-years-old, with racial epithets and told her he was going to set the house on fire. The call created hysteria and fear in Sabin's household, and for many years Sabin could not recount the night without becoming emotional.

Now, however, Sabin has overcome that fear and is able to tell her story without tears. She has turned a negative experience which tortured her and her family and now uses the experience in her fight against prejudice and racial hatred.

Promoting awareness and understanding between different races and cultures has become a "passion" for the Maplewood resident and has seen her become executive director of the state's Martin Luther King Jr. Commission and director of the Ready Foundation.

Sabin is now directing her work at the county level, having been named director of the Community and Human Relations Project by County Executive James Treffinger. In the

'This has to be successful. We certainly have to get along and respect each other.'

— Sabarah Sabin

new position, Sabin will be responsible for coordinating efforts by county departments involved with investigating and handling bias incidents, developing training programs related to anti-violence and conflict resolution and creating programs which prevent bias incidents.

"This is a passion that I have," Sabin said, which started when her family was victimized in the bias incident. "This has to be successful. We certainly have to get along and respect each other."

Treffinger said he created the project because of the county's diverse racial and cultural population, probably one of the most diverse in the entire state. "This will address squarely the problems of bigotry and bias which still exist in our county and the United States," he said. "Bias on any level should be fought."

According to statistics from the State Attorney General's Office, Essex County experienced a slight increase in the number of bias incidents reported from 1993 to 1994. There were 69 reported bias incidents two years ago and 71 last year. No statistics for 1995 are available.

The creation of the $11,000 position for Sabin is a step away from Treffinger's usual line of downsizing county government. With this project, the county executive said, the county can do something good instead of just being a drain on taxpayers' money. "County government can serve as a useful tool to bring all our communities together and celebrate our diversity," Treffinger said.

While many municipalities have human relations commissions or bias prevention programs, Essex County will gain recognition as the first county to start such an initiative.

"The fact this is the first county level effort should make Essex County residents proud," said Jeffrey Maas, executive director of the Anti-Defamation League.

"Bias and prejudice does exist in this county as it does nationwide. If we don't initiate messages to fight it, we do ourselves harm," said Edward Verner of the Newark-North Jersey Black Churchmen.

Dave Malik of the MetroWest Jewish Federation, Angelo Gonzales of La Casa de Don Pedro and Father David Bosman of Seton Hall University were also present during the Nov. 2 press conference and all supplied support for the project and Sabin.

Malik said the best way to find a solution to a problem is to talk about it. A Maplewood resident, Malik remembered the bias incident with Sabin and said by bringing it out into the open and discussing it, the community understood the implications and learned from it.

Since 1991, Sabin has been director of the Ready Foundation in Newark, which ran a mentoring program for children. Sabin said she hopes to implement a similar program for the county to "let children know they have a friend and an advocate."

McNally beats Cedola for county clerk post Irvington councilman wins by 12,000

By Anthony Puglisi
Regional Editor

Democrat Patrick McNally defeated Republican Phyllis Cedola in Tuesday's General Election to become the new Essex County Clerk.

McNally called his election an important unifying factor for the Democratic Party and signals the Democrats "are back."

"The Essex County Democratic Party is back," he told a crowd of supporters Tuesday night at Cryan's Beef and Ale in South Orange. "Stick a fork in the Republicans because they are done."

The Irvington councilman was referring to the unrest within the party which began floating to the surface two years ago when Senator Richard Codey and East Orange Mayor Cardell Cooper ran an insurgent campaign against a slate supported by Tom D'Alessio, who at the time was county executive and chairman of the County Democratic Committee.

The controversy grew last year when Tom Giblin, current committee chairman, battled Cooper throughout the summer to decide the primary election for executive. Their battle deepened the cracks in the party's unity and was one of the factors which allowed Republican Jim Treffinger to be elected as the county executive.

Giblin sought to make amends with the Codey-Cooper faction by dumping Pat Drake from the party line because she was a staunch supporter of Giblin during his court battle with Cooper. Drake was replaced on the ticket with McNally.

McNally, who will begin his five-year term in January and is expected to resign from his seat on the Irvington Council, thanked Giblin for going "with some new blood" and having "the courage to pick me."

"This shows the Democratic Party is back," McNally said. "I'm the beneficiary of the hard work put in by the party. This win is really about the Democratic Party."

McNally defeated Cedola by about 12,000 votes, 43,339 to 31,609, thanks to a large Democratic backing in the urban municipalities. Interestingly, according to unofficial results, Drake received one vote which originated in Nutley.

Early on, as West Essex and Northern Essex towns — heavily Republican in nature — called in results, it appeared Cedola was ahead. But the tides turned when the urban towns, such as East Orange, Irvington and Newark called in their results. With a dense population that is predominantly Democratic, McNally rose to victory.

Two significant towns for McNally was his hometown of Irvington, which he outdistanced Cedola 2,956 to 448, and East Orange, which he took by a 5,299 to 600 margin.

Cedola, in her fourth bid for a public office, said she was "disappointed" in the results and blamed the poor organization of urban Republican committees to get Republicans in those districts out to the polls.

Patrick McNally
New county clerk

Cedola experienced a rollercoaster ride of emotions with her campaign. After the primary, in which Drake lost to McNally, the Republican Party attempted to replace Cedola on the ticket with Drake. Cedola reaffirmed her commitment to obtain office and Drake ended up campaigning for her.

Cedola, however, caught some tough luck one week before Election Day, falling ill with bronchitis and being relegated to her home to get rest and stay in bed.

McNally campaigned on making the Clerk's Office more accessible and cost efficient. He said the first thing he will do is "get the show on the road," meaning he wants to schedule meetings in each of the municipalities in Essex and set up a mobile office. This will hopefully make the office more accessible for people who cannot make the trip to the Hall of Records in Newark and generate revenue for the county in the fees the office charges for services.

"I am looking forward to going down to the Clerk's Office and doing a professional job. That's what this job requires and that's what I'm going to do," he said. McNally added his comments were not directed at the job Drake did and he did not have anything negative to say about Drake.

Public questions

The four referendum questions on the ballot all received positive results from Essex voters.

The question to establish a permanent redistricting commission was approved 33,672 to 24,901. The question to dedicate a larger amount of the gas tax to road and infrastructure improvements and mass transportation fee stabilization was passed by a 46,631 to 22,238 vote.

The state mandate-state pay question, which would require the state to provide funding for programs is mandated municipal and county governments and school boards to follow, was approved 37,004 to 20,858. The $340 million Green Acres Bond referendum was passed 41,019 to 16,069.

Sierra Club to discuss waterways tonight

The Sierra Club of Essex County will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in the Center for Environmental Studies, 621 Eagle Rock Ave., Roseland. The meeting will feature a talk and discussion with Liz Dellaert, spokesperson from the New Jersey Community Water Watch. Find out what is being done, and how to get involved with helping the effort to clean up local waterways, including the Passaic River. For more information, call Liana Torrice at 509-7816.

Discussing the $5 million reduction in bonding to complete the sale of Hilltop are, from left, Freeholder President Joe DiVincenzo, County Executive James Treffinger and Tom Banker, executive director of the Essex County Improvement Authority. The cut came about due to decreased fees and development costs.

ECIA bonding to cover sale of Hilltop reduced by 10 percent

By Anthony Puglisi
Regional Editor

The bond the county took out with the Essex County Improvement Authority to bridge the gap in the 1995 budget and provide interim funding to complete the sale of Hilltop has been reduced by $5.6 million, bringing the total bond amount to $45 million.

The reduction was proposed after estimates of how much money was needed to prepare the 365-acre Hilltop tract in West Essex for sale came in at a lower cost than anticipated. Part of the reduction came about because the ECIA lowered the amount in fees it was charging the county.

The county is using the money from the bond to provide revenue for the 1995 budget before the Hilltop is sold. The county, which wants to turn the site into a reservation, is banking on receiving $32.5 million in Green Acres money to repay the ECIA bond.

During a press conference Friday afternoon, County Executive James Treffinger, Freeholder President Joe DiVincenzo and ECIA Executive Director Tom Banker announced the reduction in the bond. Before it becomes final, the freeholder board and the ECIA board of commissioners must approve it, a formality according to the trio. The freeholders are expected to discuss the bond tonight and the ECIA board is expected to discuss it Nov. 17.

The total amount of the bond was reduced "due to changed circumstances which allowed the changes," Treffinger said, adding he has been encouraged by negotiations with state leaders concerning Green Acres funding.

The executive explained when the original $50 million bond was introduced, the idea for a state reservation was in the planning stages. Now that the idea has progressed and some aspects have become more concrete, it was discovered less funding was needed, he said.

Of the change, a $5 million reduction was made in the principal which was allocated to pay for interest, insurance, debt service and a predisposition fund. Of that, $3.98 million was taken from the pre-disposition fund, which will pay for any cleanup or improvements before the property is sold. Should the site be turned into a reservation, very little improvements would need to be done.

Another $655,000 reduction came as the ECIA slashed the fees it was charging the county to sell the bonds. The original $100,000 annual administration fee, to be paid annually for the next three years, was reduced to $60,000 per year; a one-time development fee of $325,000 was eliminated and financing fees were cut from $150,000 to $65,000.

Banker said the initial figures were based on a "worst case scenario," but since the state appears ready to purchase the property as a park, less work needs to be done.

DiVincenzo said he appreciated the cooperation between the county and the ECIA and was glad for "any savings we can make for the taxpayers."

"The circumstances regarding this transaction have changed substantially since we developed our first agreement and it was necessary that we reassess and make changes," the freeholder president said.

Banker projected the bonds would be put on the market to be sold by the second week of December. He also said the ECIA has solicited proposals from 26 planners to evaluate the land. No proposals have been returned yet.

A survey and appraisal of the property are also underway.

Late night shopping to benefit Turtle Back Zoo

Imaginarium, a hands-on toy store, and The Right Start, an infant and toddler store, both in the Mall of Short Hills, will remain open from 6:30-8:30 p.m. after the usual mall closing time Sunday for an evening of private holiday shopping. Patrons will receive a 10 percent discount on their purchases and 10 percent of all sales will be donated to Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange to help upgrade the facilities and support education programs.

The staffs of both stores are looking forward to the event to help raise fund for Turtle Back Zoo. If interested in attending, patrons should call Heidi at 378-3899 or Jill at 992-7544.

The fund-raiser is sponsored by the the Zoological Society of New Jersey, Inc.

Cerebral Palsey Center seeks alumni for golden anniversary

By Robln Wallace
Staff Writer

Though 1996 is still two months away, the Cerebral Palsey Center of Essex and West Hudson, located within the Clara Maass Hospital complex in Belleville, is already preparing for the new year which will mark the center's golden anniversary.

The center has planned a year-long roster of activities and events to commemorate its 50 years of service to the handicapped residents of Essex County and the West Hudson communities of Kearny, Harrison, North Arlington and East Newark. The celebration kicks off Tuesday with a gala dinner and ball which will replace the center's usual annual meeting.

Part One

The theme of the golden year is "Reflecting on the Past and Planning for the Future," which appropriately represents the progressive and innovative philosophy which created and propels the center as well as the considerable journey the center has travelled developing from a small group meeting in the basement of a hospital to a facility which serves hundreds of clients.

"Every activity the center traditionally does will highlight the anniversary," said Executive Director Phyllis Burgess, who has been with the center for more than 40 years. "We're doing everything we normally would, but it will all emphasize the 50 years."

The staff is collecting photographs and memorabilia with which it plans to transform the hallways of the center into a gallery depicting its half-century history, and the children are creating calendars that will be given to visitors of the center. Old photos will also be used for a commemorative ad journal the center will publish and distribute to guests at the ball.

The theme of the golden year is 'Reflecting on the Past and Planning for the Future.'

The center's staff is also searching for past clients, patients and their families, staff and board members, volunteers, donors and other people who were once associated with the center to form an alumni group and remind them of the services available to them.

"We're looking for anyone who was ever associated with the center. We want to start an alumni group, but there also might be some needs they have that we can help them with," Burgess said. "People come in and out of the center as their needs change. Sometimes five or 10 years later the phone will ring."

Burgess said many of the center's past clients may not be aware of the programs and services available that could assist them in their current phase of life, services which were not available at the time the client was part of the center. The center now has an extensive adult recreation program that, in addition to planning a full schedule of local activities, sponsors a travel club which runs day trips to concerts and museums, overnight weekend excursions within a two and one-half hour car ride away, and full vacations of a week or more to locations such as the Canadian Rockies and St. Augustine, Fla.

Several years ago, the center purchased a private home adjacent to its Belleville location and is renovating it for use as a "shared living" facility to train clients to live independently. Burgess said clients will stay in the home with a supervisory couple, and be given one year to develop the skills necessary for independent living. The center also operates a housing program in a nearby apartment complex where six clients live primarily on their own in apartments, with supervisory staff available in an office in the complex to provide necessary assistance.

The center has just completed a new group home in Bloomfield where clients not yet able to live in supervised apartments can learn and enjoy a more restricted experience with independent living, and is building a second group home in Belleville.

Other recent developments at the center have been the formation of a performing arts group which presents shows several times a year. In one of the more exciting aspects of the program, clients are being taught to play the flute and other musical instruments by a volunteer retired music teacher. Despite the disabled's high level of accomplishment in many fields, the motor skills required to play a musical instrument present a particularly daunting challenge, and one with which the disabled have a great difficulty.

"It's just wonderful to see handicapped people playing musical instruments," Burgess said.

Weingarten is whipping boy withhold Newark's property tax payment to the county because he was unsatisfied with the way county roads and parks were being maintained. Sara Bost, mayor of Irvington and freeholder, was set to join Rice. This move, in effect, would have Bost suing herself.

The fact is, that although conflicts of interest arise, dual office holding is legal in New Jersey. It may not be ethically correct and not in the best interest of the people those politicians represent, but it is legal.

It also has been a common practice of the county executive, even those who came before Treffinger, to appoint county employees to various boards. This point was raised by several freeholders when Weingarten's appointment to the ECIA board came up, and it was represented that it had been a policy of the freeholders to allow this.

What's interesting is that Treffinger is using the very tactics he refused to support when he was a freeholder. Two years ago, when the Essex County Utilities Authority was created, former County Executive Tom D'Alessio appointed former County Administrator Don Biase and former County Counsel Stephen Edelstein as commissioners to that board. Treffinger cast the sole vote against those appointments citing conflict of interest.

After pulling Weingarten's appointment from the agenda, Treffinger said his top aide would become a special advisor, and a new director of management and budget would be hired. As yet, no personnel changes have occurred.

It would have been a sure bet that Weingarten would be subjected to the wrath of county employees. He was the main architect of the no tax increase budget the county is working under and it is he who implemented many of the initiatives, such as layoffs and privatization.

Everyone needs a target at whom to direct their anger. But instead of projecting anger, voters and taxpayers should pressure their elected leaders to change the laws. Serving a community in an elected position is honorable, but that has been tarnished as more and more politicians make their living off the public dole.

Weingarten, and many other dual office holders I'm sure, are honorable and hard-working. But there would be less skepticism and strife in politics if politicians were allowed to hold only one job in the public sector.

Najee, Johnathan Butler to perform in the 1995 Newark Jazz Fest

It's that time of year when the nation's top jazz performers meet in Newark for one of the most anticipated entertainment events — the Newark Jazz Festival.

The Newark Jazz Festival is New Jersey's largest celebration of jazz music and its history. It returns to Newark for a fifth year tomorrow through Nov. 19.

The 10-day festival features more than 175 artists performing in 21 events — 16 of which are free and open to the public.

Highlights include an invitational jazz improvisation workshop for children, jazz bashes at Newark Symphony Hall, corporate lobby noontime concerts, a jazz singer series to be broadcast on WBGO Jazz 88, Campus Jazz at Rutgers University, a senior citizen jazz dance party, jazz percussionists at the Newark Public Library and five all-star Jazz Treat concerts including the All-Star Jazz Organ Jam at the Robert Treat Hotel.

The Jazz Treat Series will feature sax man Najee, singer-guitarist Johnathan Butler, sax legend Stanley Turrentine and All-Star jazz organist Joey DeFrancesco. Also appearing in the Jazz Treat Series will be LaVerne Butler, McCoy Tyner, Michael Brecker and Dee Dee Bridgewater.

The Jazz Treats schedule is as follows:

Friday
Hosted by Pat Prescott of CD-101.9, a night of cool contemporary jazz beginning at 8 p.m. will include Yoran Isreal Connection, LaVerne Butler, Johnathan Butler and Najee.

Sunday
Hosted by Gary Walker of Jazz 88, the concert, beginning at 3 p.m., will include Keith Marks and Co., Dee Dee Bridgewater, Arturo Sandoval and McCoy Tyner Trio featuring Michael Brecker on sax.

Nov. 17
Hosted by Maria von Dickersohn of CD-101.9, the night of music will begin at 8 p.m. and will include Edgardo Cintron and Tiempo Noventa, Allan Harris, Tania Maria Quartet and the Ahmad Jamal Trio.

Nov. 18
Hosted by Ben Duncan of Jazz 88, the night of traditional jazz begins at 7 p.m. with Rudy Walker and the ATG Ensemble, Gloria-Lynne, Jon Lucien and sax legend Stanley Turrentine.

ArtsMaplewood to start own jazz series

By Anthony C. Venutolo
Arts and Entertainment Editor

ArtsMaplewood will have its fair share of jazz offerings with its own jazz series, "Jazz OnStage."

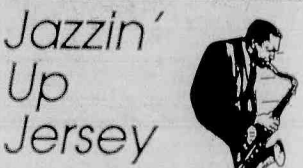

On Nov. 18, the Fred Hersch Trio will kick off the series at the Burgdorff Cultural center in Maplewood. The series is also co-sponsored by WBGO, Jazz 88.

Led by Grammy-nominated pianist Fred Hersch, the trio has been designated by jazz critics as original and often inspiring force behind jazz music. Bassist/composer Drew Gress and drummer Matt Wilson round out the trio.

The trio brings a creative style to familiar jazz sounds for a refreshing blend that combines contemporary and traditional jazz melodies. Often compared to the late Bill Evans and the Keith Jarrett Standards Trio, Burgdorff audiences will be sure to enjoy the inspired and adventurous evening in jazz.

The second entry, Jay McGovern, will appear Jan. 13. McGovern, a regular at many landmark New York City jazz clubs, will dazzle the audience with her amazing blend of vocals and piano. Her trio will play a great mix of hot, hip original jazz. Accompanying her are Jeff Ballard on drums, Bill Morning on bass and Ted Klum on the saxophone.

Maplewood resident Yoran Isreal, an internationally renowned jazz drummer, will lead his quintet with purpose and grace March 2. He will perform compositions from his new-

Nov. 19
Hosted by Pete Fallico of Media One Radio Entertainment Network, the final Jazz Treats concert will begin at 3 p.m. with an All-Star Jazz Organ Jam Spectacular with Joey DeFrancesco, Charles Earland, Seleno Clarke, Radam Schwartz, David Braham, Larry Goldings, Big John Patton and Amina Claudine Myers.

Singer Jimmy Scott will be presented with the 1995 Newark Jazz Festival's "All That Jazz" Award. This annual award recognizes the outstanding accomplishments of jazz musicians and singers who have contributed to the jazz legacy of Newark.

live. Note that seating is extremely limited. Call 624-8880 for information about attending. The schedule is as follows:

Monday
Giacomo Gates with Kelley Conner, Jeff Fuller and Terry Clarke.

Tuesday
Tess Marsalis with Sacha-Bernard Perry, Eric Sebastian Reevis and Dana Antonio Murray.

Wednesday
Karen Lopes with Dave Hubbard, Alva Nelson, Tommy McKenzie and Tony Lewis.

"Jersey Jazz Masters," a series of concerts at Newark's Symphony Hall, will include cabaret seating, cash bar and food available for purchase. The schedule is as follows:

Wednesday
Under the direction of Joe Thomas, the Newark Jazz Orchestra will be performing.

Nov. 16
The New Jersey Jazz Divas Ronnell Bey, Rasheema, Shirley Marshall, Rasheeda and Pat Tandy will be performing.

The Jersey Jazz Masters will be performing in the Terrace Room at Newark Symphony Hall from 6-10 p.m. For more information, call 643-4550.

Other notable programs include "Jazz Drums at the Library," starting Tuesday with Eddie Gladden in a traditional jazz concert; Wednesday brings an afternoon of Dixieland jazz with Lou Grassi; Gregory Searvance will be performing Nov. 16 with his cool contemporary jazz sounds.

Jazz Drums at the Library will be performed in Centennial Hall from noon to 1:30 p.m. Attendees can bring a lunch and complimentary soda will be provided. The program includes concert and lecture demonstrations about jazz drumming.

On Monday, the "Senior Citizen's Dance Party" will be in the Terrace Room of Newark Symphony Hall from 2-5 p.m. with the Eddie Blackwell Quartet.

"Jazz Breaks" will offer executives from Newark's business district a chance to see some of the hottest jazz acts around — all on their lunch hour.

At PSE&G on Monday, the Melissa Walker Group will be performing.

On Tuesday at the Center Cafe, One Newark Center on the sixth floor, the New World Quintet will perform.

On Wednesday at One Gateway Center, John Gordon's Trombones Unlimited Sextet will perform.

The Carrie Johnson Quartet will be playing Nov. 16 at the Rotunda at Newark City Hall.

All Jazz Breaks will begin at noon and run to 1:30 p.m.

The "Young People's Program," will be at the Robert Treat Hotel Nov. 18 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. under the direction of Chris White for a program entitled "Invitational Jazz Improvisation Workshops."

"Campus Jazz" will be at the Robeson Campus Center at Rutgers University Monday at 6:30 p.m. with "The Last Poets."

Saxophone legend Stanley Turrentine will perform in the Jazz Treats program of the 1995 Newark Jazz Festival with Rudy Walker and the ATG Ensemble, Gloria-Lynne and Jon Lucien Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. at the Robert Treat Hotel, 50 Park Place, Newark.

Happenings

Saturday

Classical

• The South Orange Symphony Orchestra will give the first concert of its 1995-1996 season Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Sterling Hall of South Orange Middle School, 70 N. Ridgewood Road, under the direction of Robert Helmacy, its music director. The soloist will be cellist Joyce Geeting who will perform the Haydn C Major Concerto. The orchestra also will perform the Symphony in D minor by Cesar Franck and the Lucio Silla Overture by Mozart. The orchestra does not charge admission.

Gospel

• Gospel sensation Joshua Nelson will be featured Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Newark Symphony Hall. Nelson, 21, was influenced by the vocal style of gospel legend Mahalia Jackson. He said that unlike many modern-day gospel singers, he does not modernize the music or change the lyrics to make the songs more palatable for today's audiences. Nelson has even inherited Mahalia's pianist, Eddie Robinson, who will be accompanying him at the concert. He has just returned from a two-week tour of Sweden performing to standing room only concerts and will be going back by popular demand. He has also finished an album soon to be released titled "Witness." On this album, Nelson is backed by a thousand voice Swedish choir. Tickets for the concert are $10 in advance and $15 at the door and can be purchased at the Newark Symphony Hall Box office or by calling 736-2162 or 643-8009.

Sunday

Classical

• The Society of Musical Arts will present a special orchestral concert at the Maplewood Municipal Building on Valley Street in Maplewood Sunday at 3 p.m. The orchestra will feature celebrated violinist Michael Tree, best known for his artistry with the Guarneri String Quartet. The program will feature music by Bach and Handel. Admission is free. Rehearsal is at 1 p.m.

Monday

Jazz

• CBC of West Orange presents an evening of Jazz Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Rascals Comedy Club, West Orange. The show will feature some of today's finest performers: The Nat and Bill Phipps sextet with Eugene and Harold Phipps, featuring Jackie Johnson, female vocalist. Also performing is the Richard Banks Inner Spirit Quintet featuring Jan Carden, male vocalist. Tickets are $20. A table of 10 is $150. For more information, call Rascals at 731-7111, Robin Willis at 325-8839 or Harold Phipps at 325-2195. Rascals is at 425 Pleasant Valley Way, West Orange. CBC of West Orange is a non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to provide scholarship assistance to African-American students.

Theater. Part II will be shown Tuesday at the same times. The screening is part of a series of events scheduled during the Annual Community Festival of Jewish Books and Culture. Tickets are $8; $6 for students and seniors. Group rates are available. The Maurice Levin Theater is accessible to the handicapped and listening devices are available. Tickets may be purchased at the JCC Box Office. For telephone ticket orders or to receive a complete schedule of Festival of Jewish Books and Culture events, call 736-3200 ext. 253.

Concert

• Orpheus, the world-renowned chamber orchestra, begins its second decade of concerts under the 75th Anniversary Season of Unity Concerts of New Jersey. It will present a special three-concert series featuring pianists Richard Goode and Jeffrey Kahane in the intimate Mt. Hebron Auditorium at Bellevue and Norwood avenues in Upper Montclair. For its 11th season in New Jersey, the conductorless ensemble's schedule is Dec. 2 and Feb. 9 and March 30, 1996. Subscriptions are still available for both series. Orpheus tickets are $40 for a three-concert series. To order tickets, call the Unity Concerts Box Office at 744-6770, Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., or write Unity Concerts, 22 Valley Road, Montclair, 07042. MasterCard and Visa accepted.

For children

• The Family and Children's Vacation Series is in the Maurice Levin Theater in the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan New Jersey in West Orange. The Family Series, four Sunday afternoons that encourage families to share in the enjoyment of the performing arts, will present Theatreworks' production of "Aesop's Fables" starring Jim West Sunday, Steve Love's "Roller Dance Express" Dec. 17; "The Great Vaudeville Magic Show" March 24, 1996, and the Parents' Choice Award-winning "Parachute Express" April 28, 1996. Series tickets are $45 for the general public and $38 for JCC members.

Auditions

• The entertainment committee of First Night Maplewood/South Orange is looking to audition singers, dancers, magicians, comedians, puppeteers and other talented souls to perform on New Year's Eve. Performers should send resumes, brochures, rates and video or audio tapes and any dates you may be performing in or around Northern New Jersey to First Night, Maplewood-South Orange, P.O. Box 668, South Orange, 07079. Materials will be returned with a self-addressed mailer with appropriate postage.

Showtime is at 3 p.m. For more information, call 378-2133.

horoscope

November 12-18

ARIES – March 21/April 20

Tone down your quirky side when being introduced to new people. Although loved ones may have a handle on your personality, others may need some time to adjust to it. In matters of business, playing it safe won't lead to big gains. You have to play big to win big.

TAURUS – April 21/May 21

Show appreciation to someone who has helped you. A simple thank you will go a very long way. That big pile of tasks is just going to get bigger if you choose to ignore it. At least make a dent in it to save yourself from aggravation later on. There may be complications in travel plans.

GEMINI – May 22/June 21

Clandestine behavior could put you in a very difficult situation that even the most smooth-talking Gemini couldn't talk him/herself out of. Best to consider the consequences first. Added responsibility at work could be a good opportunity for you in the long run. Keep a lock on spending.

CANCER – June 22/July 22

Don't let minor annoyances turn you into a major crab. Save your emotional energy for more important things. If the day-to-day routine is wearing you down, consider a getaway weekend with a loved one. It may be just what you need. A good time to enter contests and lotteries.

LEO – July 23/August 23

This is a time to get serious and put your nose to the grindstone. Although an abundance of social invitations may be tempting, work will have to be your main priority. A misunderstanding with a loved one could be resolved easily if you are willing to talk things out.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22

A harmless flirtation could turn into more than you bargained for. Be careful, or you could find yourself in an awkward situation. Something that happens on Wednesday will make you realize that you are pretty lucky. News from a far-away friend will put you in a good mood.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't let yourself get caught in the middle of a workplace battle. Be like Sweden — stay neutral. You're best off focusing on the work at hand. News of an engagement will be a pleasant surprise. A change in plans may be a disappointment at first, but it will give you the free time you've been craving.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22

Set your sights high this week as your energy level will be at a peak. This is the time to tackle big projects and take care of all the little ones, too. Lending a friend a helping hand will go a long way. Just a little bit of effort will be greatly appreciated. A Leo will be of significance this week.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21

The success of a friend will inspire you to set your sights high. A vision and a will is all you need to take you to a greater ground. Good news from an unexpected source brightens the later part of the week. A new challenge at work is the source of both stress and excitement.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20

Before you overreact to a situation, get all the facts first. You could save yourself from a bit of embarrassment. A love from your past may try to get back together with you. Don't let a vulnerable moment suck you back into something you know is not good for either of you.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18
What seemed like a dreary situation at first turns out to be quite pleasurable. If you're working on an important project this week, you may have to invest a little more time than anticipated. In fact, it's better to leave all other plans up in the air in case any glitches come up.

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20

Look forward to an easy and light-hearted week, with more time to yourself than usual. Now you have the opportunity to totally relax. A chance meeting with an old friend will take you by surprise early this week. A Scorpio or Cancer will have a strong impact on the later part of the week.

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

The next 12 months:
If you've had some hard times recently, you will be pleased to know that this year will not only be easier, but it will be filled with good luck and good fortune. Something — or someone — you've wanted for a very long time will finally be yours — and yours to keep. This will make your life much fuller and richer. On the career front, many opportunities await, especially if you have been in the same place for a while. You do have to take the initiative, however. As talented as you may be, nobody is going to come banging on your door to offer you your dream job. This you'll have to work for.

Support group for cancer patients formed

The Essex Unit of the American Cancer Society, in conjunction with the Essex Oncology Group, is sponsoring a free program called Make Today Count, a support group for cancer patients, their families and friends. Meetings will be on the third Tuesday of every month from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Essex Oncology Group, 36 Newark Ave., Suite 304, Belleville. To register, call Denise Johnstone at 751-5757.

Country cooking, setting standard at Saltwater Cafe

By Robin Wallace
Staff Writer

With the crisp snap of autumn fully upon us, diners in the Garden State usually find themselves caught between two longings: a yearning for the food from their favorite seashore summer restaurants and the seasonal urge to visit a rustic inn for some hearty country cooking.

At the Saltwater Cafe, located at 292 Passaic Ave. in Fairfield, hungry diners can satisfy both these impulses without traveling much past Route 46 and the Willowbrook Mall. Serviced by a friendly staff — much like your favorite relatives welcoming you over for a holiday meal — diners at the Saltwater Cafe can snuggle into a cozy, comfortable setting before choosing from an extensive menu of traditional seafood.

But the choices at the Saltwater do not end with red snapper filet braised with roasted endives and peppers, cajun barbecued shrimp, or broiled lobster tails. Landlubbers can try such stick-to-the-ribs offerings as veal scalopine, stuffed pork chops or a sizzling surf and turf. Of course you will want to start the meal off with a steaming cup of homeade seafood bisque or a soup du jour such as jalapeno cheddar, or maybe some oysters on the half shell or crab-cakes from the appetizer list.

The appetizer menu is extensive, but the Saltwater makes choosing easier by presenting customers with a Hot Sampler and a Cold Sampler, which allows the chance to try the Saltwater's full range of appetizers.

For those with less classic tastebuds, the menu is peppered with unique dishes such as the Louisiana Grill, a delectable combination of Andouille sausage, crab cakes and shrimp, and a daily list of specials designed around the catch of the day. In keeping with its country setting, the Saltwater even offers a special autumn menu, featuring such delights as baked lobster stuffed with crabmeat and New Zealand green shell mussels baked au gratin.

Diners at the Saltwater Cafe can snuggle into a cozy, comfortable setting before choosing from an extensive menu of traditional seafood.

The Saltwater Cafe has been open for 11 years, owned by head chef Rick Cross and his wife, Linda. Cross said the seasonal menu is a special feature he changes four times a year, but this year he is considering developing a special holiday menu. Cross said he likes to keep the regular menu consistent because it was developed over the past decade from customer favorites.

The Saltwater Cafe is open Monday through Thursday, 11:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Friday, 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 5:30-10 p.m. and Sunday, 4-9 p.m. A lighter lunch menu is served Monday to Friday, 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Saltwater serves liquor and has a bar, and can also host private parties for up to 40 people. For more information, call 227-6164.

Glen Ridge residents, from left, Sandor and Dr. Edda Benedek and Mr. and Mrs. Richard LeCompte attended the "Accolades and Applause," an event which raised more than $194,000 to benefit Mountainside Hospital's community outreach programs.

Hospital pays tribute to chairman

More than 500 guests were on hand to acknowledge Herbert P. Dooskin, chairman-designate of the Mountainside, Overlook, Morristown Memorial Hospitals Health Care System Board of Trustees, at the Mountainside Hospital Foundation's gala dinner dance "Accolades and Applause." A record of more than $194,000 was raised at the event to benefit the hospital's community outreach programs.

Dooskin, executive vice president of PLY GEM Industries, Inc., a New York City-based Fortune 500 company, was recognized for his role in initiating and leading collaboration talks among Mountainside, Morristown Memorial and Overlook Hospitals. The result is a consolidation which will create New Jersey's largest health care system. Dooskin is also the former chair of Mountainside Hospital's board of trustees.

"It is indeed an honor to have an individual of Herb Dooskin's caliber on the side of Mountainside Hospital," said Jim Meister, president and chief executive officer of Kings Supermarkets and chairman of the Mountainside Hospital board of trustees. "Thanks to his vision and dedication, and his boundless energy and leadership, Herb has not only redefined Mountainside Hospital's role in today's new health care environment, but has also set the goals for the future by orchestrating the consolidation and partnership with Morristown Memorial and Overlook Hospitals. As an architect of this vitally important strategic healthcare alliance, Herb has ensured that, as a team, we will explore new and innovative ways to better serve each of our communities."

Commenting on Dooskin's contributions to Mountainside Hospital during his tenure on the hospital's board,

Cerebral Palsy Center seeks volunteers

The Cerebral Palsy Center, located at 7 Sanford Ave., Belleville, provides a range of volunteer activities for individuals of all ages including activities to do at home, activities at the center and assisting in developing the center's various special events.

Volunteers at the center are needed as classroom assistants, and library aides, to attend the center's fundraising resale shop and assist in the therapy department adapting toys and other aides with switches for use by the students. Volunteers working from their homes are needed to make bibs, collect and donate Campbell Soup labels, cut and donate specific pictures from magazines and donate used and saleable household items for the resale shop.

Training is provided for all volunteers positions. Call 751-0200 for information and additional volunteer activities.

Anniversary planned for Cerebral Palsy group

Cerebral Palsy of Essex and West Hudson will have a year-long celebration beginning in November in honor of 50 years of providing programs and services for individuals with physical disabilities. The center is seeking alumni and other program participants, former employees, volunteers, board members, associates, families and friends to participate in the activities and to visit the center.

Call or contact the center at 7 Sanford Ave., Belleville, 751-0200 to be added to the mailing list to receive the calendar of activities.

Americans spend more than $2 billion on sinus/flu medicines

Just because nasal and sinus congestion has you blowing your nose during the fall and winter months doesn't mean you have to blow your budget treating it. According to Towne-Oller & Associates, a New York-based subsidiary of Information resources, Americans spend more than $2 billion each year on over-the-counter cough, cold, allergy and sinus medicines.

But over-the-counter doesn't have to mean over budget. By thinking ahead about the cost of relief, Americans can make the best decision for their noses and their pocket books.

To calculate the cost for a day of relief, consumers need to evaluate the cost-per-day, not the price on the box, since manufacturers package products in varying quantities. When searching for relief, take a careful look at a range of over-the-counter products to compare the number of tablets in a dose and how many doses are recommended within a 24-hour period.

For example, a package of eight Tavist-D tablets, a relative newcomer to the over-the-counter market, may cost $3.28, while a package of Sudafed containing 24 tablets may cost $3.93. At first glance, Tavist-D appears to be more expensive because it contains fewer tablets. But a comparison of the dosing recommendations reveals that you have to take fewer Tavist-D tablets to get the same relief — two Tavist tablets in 24 hours compared to eight Sudafed tablets.

"When it comes to buying relief for nasal and sinus congestion, it's dosing you should focus on," said Dr. Rebecca Bascom, American Lung Association volunteer. "Consumers may have to take a few more minutes to determine the over-the-counter medication's dosage cost, but it's worth it because they can save noticeable money."

Alzheimer's Association seeking volunteers

The Northern New Jersey Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association needs volunteers to assist with office support. Hours are Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Full- and part-time positions are available and training is provided. For more information, call the Northern New Jersey Chapter in Parsippany at 316-6676.

Robert A. Silver, president and chief executive officer, said, "Mountainside made great strides in its shift away from an emphasis on traditional inpatient care to a strong focus on building healthier communities. New clinical programs, significant advances in technology, master facility planning, clinical resource management, and the development of a physician/hospital organization were all enhanced by his leadership."

The evening began with a cocktail reception, followed by dinner, music and dancing to the Lester Lanin Orchestra. Foundation Trustee Marianne Smith chaired the committee of 70 community residents who volunteered their time and effort to plan the event. G. Walter Connell, a foundation trustee and an attorney with Connell, Folley, and Geiser in Roseland, chaired the Ad Journal subcommittee, which raised $47,000.

For the first time, a special Junior reservation category for those age 40 and younger was offered at a reduced ticket price. The evening also included a drawing of the winners of a Super 50/50 cash raffle, with $11,000 divided among three winners.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) A new drug has been approved that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain. The material has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis™" and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis™ relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis™ is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream, and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work.

Breast screenings set

The Fairfield and West Caldwell Health Departments, in cooperation with the American Cancer Society and the West Essex Community Health Services, are offering low cost screening mammograms through Chilton Memorial Hospital's Mobile Mammography Service Tuesday at 9 a.m. at the Fairfield Municipal Building at 230 Fairfield Ave., Fairfield.

Mammography uses safe, low-dose X-rays to examine breast tissue. These X-rays pass through the breast and create an image on film. They are used to find cancer even before a lump can be felt. Chilton's Mobile Mammography Service is run by an experienced, dedicated and caring female staff.

- Screening qualifications are:
- Women age 35 and older who have not had a mammogram in the past 11 months;
 - No previous history of breast surgery;
 - Asymptomatic and
 - No breast implants.

Cost for the mammography is $79, which includes the radiologist's fee. Some insurance companies can be billed directly, otherwise cash, check and major credit cards are accepted. Call 831-5200 for registration and more information.

Smokeout set for Nov. 16

Next to Thanksgiving, it's the most famous Thursday in November. It's the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout. Nov. 16 is your opportunity to quit smoking for 24 hours or to lend a hand to someone who's trying to quit. Who knows? It might be for good.

The Essex County Unit of the ACS offers a variety of materials, from literature to stickers and buttons, to the public, businesses and schools to educate non-smokers about the dangers of smoking and help smokers to quit permanently.

Every day more than 3,000 kids in the United States become smokers and the ACS targets kids with an extensive education program to prevent them for ever starting to smoke. Plus, kids can bring what they learned and pass it on to their friends and family.

Smoking is the one cause of death that can be prevented. So, celebrate this important day by stop smoking yourself, by helping a friend quit or teaching our young ones about the dangers smoking can cause. It can be the start to a longer, healthier life for all of us.

For more information, contact the ACS at 736-7770.

Lupus meeting set

The Metro/Essex County Branch of the Lupus Foundation of New Jersey will have its monthly meeting Nov. 18 at 11 a.m. at the United Hospitals, 15 S. 9th St., Newark.

The program will be announced. Patients, families and friends are all invited to attend.

Lupus Erythematosus is a chronic, inflammatory disease which afflicts an estimated two million Americans. Lupus can affect the skin, joints, heart, lungs, kidneys, brain and other parts of the body. Although the disease is controllable in most people today, it can be fatal and there is still no known cause or cure.

The Lupus Erythematosus Foundation of New Jersey provides patient and family support services, information and referrals, public education about lupus and funds lupus research projects.

The meeting is free and open to the public. For more information about the meeting or about lupus, contact the Foundation office in Elmwood Park at 791-7868.

Links schedules free eye screening Nov. 18

The Essex County Chapter of The Links, Inc., will sponsor a free eye screening for area residents Nov. 18 from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Eye Care Center, Marcus Plaza, 1100 Evergreen Place, Suite 404, East Orange.

The screening is part of an initiative between the national organization of The Links, Inc., and The American Diabetes Association to increase the public's awareness of the relationship between diabetes and eye disease.

November is National Diabetes Month and it is recommended that people have their eyes checked. The screening will be conducted by Dr. James E. Brown. There will be the glaucoma testing, eye chart reading and referrals will be given if necessary.

Appointments are appreciated but not necessary. Call 672-2224 for more information.

ACS schedules trip

On Feb. 10 and 11, the American Cancer Society will be holding its 14th Annual Ski-a-thon at Vernon Valley Great Gorge.

This will be a 36-hour event with both snow boarding and skiing. Registration will be $25 and each participant will need a minimum of $100 in pledges. There will be an auction and many varied events such as a Ski limbo contest.

For more information or registration, call 383-1334 and ask for Ed Roach or Mary Ann McHugh.

Eating disorders meeting scheduled

Eating Disorders are serious problems. Sufferers can become medically ill, require medical hospitalization and even die.

A free self-help group for people with anorexia nervosa, bulimia and compulsive eating problems will begin Nov. 22 at 7 p.m. The group will meet for eight weeks at 514 S. Livingston Ave., Livingston.

For registration or more information, call the New Jersey Eating Disorders Helpline at 1-800-624-2766.

"I trust The General with all my heart."

"When my husband, Bob, needed a doctor for heart problems, my daughter and son-in-law, a top-notch plastic surgeon, insisted that we see a cardiologist on staff at The General Hospital Center at Passaic.

"Six weeks later, when Bob returned to work after open heart surgery, I could look back and truly appreciate the value of the advice we had been given. Both my husband and I had never experienced the level of care and expertise we witnessed at The General.

"I am grateful for a loving family and for the good fortune of having entrusted Bob's care to The General Hospital Center at Passaic."

Arlene Goldsmith, Plainview, New York

The Eastern Heart Institute at The General is a state-designated diagnostic and cardiac surgery center offering comprehensive treatment and rehabilitation services for cardiovascular diseases.

Since it opened the state's first cardiac care clinic in the 1930s, the EHI has earned distinction and recognition as a leader in cardiac services.

More than 50 cardiologists and cardiac surgeons bring their patients to The General.

If you're looking for a good doctor, it pays to ask the hospital of choice.

Doctors know The General Hospital Center at Passaic very well. And The General knows them even better.

Call The General's Physician Referral Service 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at 1-800-252-2234. And get to know a good doctor!

For those who fought that we might be free...

It is hard to imagine what it would be like to live in a country without freedom...without the right to wave a flag...assemble peaceably or speak our minds. Thanks to our nation's veterans, our freedom has been protected, but not without a price.

When called to serve, they left home and family for remote and desolate places. They put their lives on the line to preserve our precious heritage and freedom, and the freedom of countless other nations.

American veterans are special.

On this Veterans Day, 1995, we join The American Legion in paying tribute to the men and women who have honored our nation with service, sacrifice, and allegiance.

...A Special Veterans Day Salute.

Response high for East Orange high-rises

Response to a new campaign illustrates the surprisingly strong demand for luxury high-rise rental apartments in East Orange, according to the Board of Directors of Crescent Park. Crescent Park, a cooperatively owned building which infrequently offers its oversized apartments for rent, has been overwhelmed by response to its recent announcement that several units priced from $900 to $1,495 per month were available. "The problems in East Orange have been widely reported, but its strengths are often overlooked," said Rebecca Doggett, president of Crescent Park Owners Inc., the building's owners association. "Our building is home to prosperous families who find that East Orange's positive attributes far outweigh its shortcomings. "Obviously, many prospective renters agree with us because we are quickly renting high-quality apartments at prices commensurate with the finest apartments in New Jersey." Solomon Management Company of Mountainside has been chosen to manage the building, as well as to direct the leasing program, and is advertising in numerous local publications. The company also is overseeing a renovation and improvement program that will freshen Crescent Park's apartments, lobby and other common areas. "Crescent Park is one of the most beautiful and enduring residential structures in New Jersey," said Marc Solomon, founder of The Solomon Organization. "The renovation process has had a positive impact and we are taking applications for apartments nearly every day."

Crescent Park, built in the late 1950s and modeled after the world-renowned Hotel Fontainebleu in Miami, was converted to cooperative ownership in 1988. Many of its owner-residents have lived in the building for 20 years or more, and it has come to be known as the Jewel of Essex County.

"The rents at Crescent Park cover nearly everything — heat, hot water, cooking gas, electric, health spa, swim club and building services including concierge and 24-hour doorman," said Marshall Rosen, director of Marketing and Sales for The Solomon Organization. "Additionally, the building offers garage valet parking and a 25-minute commute to New York by public transportation which is inexpensive and convenient."

Most rentals feature a new kitchen appliance package, lighting, restored parquet floor and other improvements.

The Solomon Organization owns and/or manages more than 4,000 apartment dwellings in 14 communities throughout New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Its program for Crescent Park varies somewhat from the firm's typical agenda, which is to buy and improve underutilized residential properties for its own account.

"In this case," Solomon said, "we were happy to accept work from another owner. We were impressed by the board's success in bringing the building back to prosperity and solidifying its future. Solomon and Crescent Park Owners Inc., both agree that Crescent Park offers quality living at reasonable prices. Everyone wins, especially the new tenants."

Doggett, president of Crescent Park Owners Inc., noted that Crescent Park's features include woodworking and craftsmanship that is rarely found in buildings constructed in the post-war era. She also underscores the importance of the views and the size of the apartments, which range from 1,200 to nearly 2,000 square feet.

"With its convenient commuting location, huge apartments, views that run to New York, and wide variety of one-, two- and three-bedroom floor plans, many that offer terraces and up to two-and-a-half baths — Crescent Park entices the selective families it has housed for many years."

Bey wins award

Fredrica Bey, a sales associate with Weichert Realtors' Upper Montclair office, has won a regional listing award for the month of June and an office top listing award for the month of August.

Bey has earned numerous sales awards during her 10-year career in real estate sales. She is a member of the 1994 New Jersey State Million Dollar Club. Bey is also a member of the company's Million Dollar Sales Club.

She is a member of the Suburban Essex and Garden State Boards of Realtors.

A longtime resident of East Orange, Bey is a member of the People's Organization for Progress, War is Cultural Islamic Association, the Anti-Lynching Campaign, the International Black Woman's Congress and Jahid Health Network. She attended Kean College, where she

Insight Into Real Estate

By
Vincent J. Carano,
Realtor

DON'T HELP REALTOR SELL

One of the best ways to move your house off the market in a hurry is to keep out of it when it is being shown! You should first tell the Realtor everything he should know about the house, especially unique features and then let him do the selling.

If you must be around when the house is being shown, greet the prospect graciously take the children and the pets and retire.

This may sound like uncharitable advice, believe me, it's sound. The realtor is a skilled negotiator, he has the experience and the know how to bring a buyer to an acceptable price without showing the emotional involvement which could put the seller at a disadvantage.

There are times when personality conflicts between buyer and seller have eliminated bargaining effectiveness and even lost sales. Not often, but it can and has happened. Why take the chance?

General Motors incorporates new access system in truck

More than 49 million Americans have some form of disability which may restrict their ability to drive... and their choice of vehicles as well.

Today, General Motors widened the choice with the introduction of their new Easy Access System as a low-cost option on Chevrolet and GMC Truck full-size and compact extended cab pickups.

The system, which places a panel behind either the driver's door on compact models or the passenger door on full-size models, now gives drivers and occupants who have disabilities a convenient way to store mobility aids. After opening the front door, the rear panel can then be opened through a single release. The panel then swings open — 110 degrees on compact extended cabs, 90 degrees on full-size models — giving easy entry into and exit from the rear storage area.

Efforts are already underway to adapt the panel to accept a wheelchair lifting device.

Exposure of the new panel will happen quickly. For example, as the official truck of the Special Olympics, GMC Truck takes great pride in being able to introduce this new feature during the 1996 model year.

"We are dedicated to helping persons with disabilities find greater freedom on America's roads," said Bob Rozek, Sonoma Market Planner for GMC Truck. "We will be honored to showcase a GMC Truck Sonoma extended cab with the new panel at the 1996 World Special Olympic Games this July in New Haven, Connecticut."

Freedom also means the ability to go off-road... and the 4-wheel drive versions of these models open up new opportunities for persons with disabilities.

The system, which places a panel behind either the driver's door on compact models or the passenger door on full-size models, now gives drivers and occupants who have disabilities a convenient way to store mobility aids. After opening the front door, the rear panel can then be opened through a single release.

ities to enjoy that new-found freedom... especially younger people who have expressed a desire to "hit the back country."

"In the United States, right now, there are 1.5 million people who use wheelchairs full time," said Paul Ulrich, Development Engineer, who himself is a person with a disability and presented the convenience of the new Easy Access System to the media today. "Of that group, about 70 percent are of driving age... this innovation puts a greater spotlight on our extended cab pickups as part of the GM Mobility program to aid persons with disabilities in their transportation needs."

The GM Mobility Program for Persons with Disabilities, offered by General Motors since early 1991, provides financial assistance up to $1,000 toward vehicle mobility adaptation costs for drivers or passengers... and/or vehicle "alerting devices" for deaf and hard of hearing drivers.

The entire transaction may be handled through GMAC Financing for the vehicle and the adaptive aids. Saturn Corporation also has a similar program.

Through April 1995, more than 20,000 applications for reimbursement have been received... more than half at Chevrolet. GMC Truck ranks as the third largest division to receive requests in the Corporation for reimbursement.

The GM Mobility program is an information resource for persons with disabilities. An "Information Packet" is available that lists area mobility equipment installers and wheelchair/electric-car-compatible GM vehicles. Interested parties should contact the GM Mobility Assistance Center, toll-free, at 1-800-323-9935. Text telephone users can dial 1-800-833-9935.

"In the last two years, the awareness in General Motors regarding people with disabilities has risen a great deal. I think the Easy Access System is proof that General Motors really cares about their customers — all their customers — including those with disabilities."

The Easy Access System enters production for full-size pickups in November, 1995, and for compact pickups in December, 1995.

WHEREAS, the payment of the principal and redemption premium, if any, of interest on the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds will be secured by certain general obligation lease payments of the County under the Amended Lease Agreement, as further amended by the "Amendment No. 3 to Lease Purchase Agreement" to be dated as of the first day of the month of issuance of the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds (the "Lease Agreement Amendment No. 3" and together with the Amended Lease Agreement, and as the same may be amended and supplemented from time to time in accordance with its terms, the "Lease Agreement");

WHEREAS, the principal of and interest on the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds will be additionally secured by a full, unconditional and irrevocable guaranty of the County (the "Series 1995 County Guaranty") in accordance with a guaranty ordinance to be finally adopted by the Board of Freeholders and a guaranty certificate to be executed on the face of each Series 1995 Refunding Bond by an authorized officer of the County, all in connection with Section 37;

WHEREAS, pursuant to the terms of the Lease Agreement Amendment No. 3, the County will be required to enter into that certain "Continuing Disclosure Agreement, County General Obligation Lease Revenue Refunding Bonds, Series 1995 (County Jail and Youth House Projects)" to be dated as of the first day of the month of issuance of the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds (the "Series 1995 Continuing Disclosure Agreement") with the Authority in order to satisfy the secondary market disclosure requirements of the Rule 15c2-2 promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, as amended;

WHEREAS, the property upon which the Initial Project and the 1994 Project was acquired, constructed, renovated and installed will continue to be leased by the County to the Authority pursuant to the terms of the Amended Ground Lease Agreement, as further amended by the "Amendment No. 3 to Ground Lease Agreement" to be dated as of the first day of the month of issuance of the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds (the "Ground Lease Agreement Amendment No. 3" and together with the Amended Ground Lease Agreement, and as the same may be amended and supplemented from time to time in accordance with its terms, the "Ground Lease Agreement");

WHEREAS, in accordance with Section 13 ("Section 13") of the Act (N.J.S.A. 40:37A-56), prior to the issuance of the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds, the Authority will have made a detailed report of the 1995 Refunding of the Refunded Series 1994 Bonds to the County Executive of the County, as chief financial officer of the County (the "County Executive") and to the Board of Freeholders, which report will include, without limitation, the Lease Agreement, the Ground Lease Agreement, the Bond Resolution, the Series 1995 County Guaranty, the Refunded Series 1994 Bond Escrow Agreement and the Series 1995 Continuing Disclosure Agreement (collectively, the "Financing Documents");

WHEREAS, the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds will be sold pursuant to the terms of a bond purchase agreement (the "Bond Purchase Agreement") between the Authority and certain underwriter(s) (the "Underwriter") to be named by the Authority;

WHEREAS, the Underwriter will enter into the Bond Purchase Agreement only upon the authorization, execution and delivery by the County of (i) a "Letter of Representations" relating to the County's ability to authorize, execute or acknowledge and deliver the Financing Documents and to effect the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby and, (ii) if required by the Authority in order for the Series 1995 Refunding Bonds to be issued on a tax-exempt basis, the "Tax Letter of Representations" (collectively, the "Letters");
