Suspects won't face homicide charges in death of robbery victim

By Steve Galvacky

A Belleville resident is among two men charged in the beating and robbery of an elderly man who died five days later.

However, Bloomfield police said that the victim's death may not have been caused by the assault, so the suspects have not been charged with homicide.

Philip Mustacchio, 40, of King Street, Belleville, and Kirk Hatfield, 32, of Hinrichs Place, Bloomfield, were each arrested and charged with burglary, robbery and aggravated assault in connection with the incident, Bloomfield Police Capt. Peter Falco said Friday.

According to police reports, the victim, Robert Ballenger, 82, of Bloomfield, answered his doorbell on the evening of Dec. 10.

One of the two men at the door immediately pushed Ballenger back into the house while the other entered and began searching the house for money, police reported.

The first robber then struck Ballenger numerous times in the face as the second located approximately $250 in cash in the house, and then both robbers fled the scene, police reported.

Ballenger, who lived alone in the house, was able to give descriptions of both robbers to the police that day, the reports said.

Five days later, on Dec. 15, Ballenger died in his home.

"Initially," Falco said, "we thought he had died as a result of the assault, but later we found that the death may have been due to an aneurysm."

Falco said that Mustacchio and Hatfield were both apprehended on Wednesday, "based on good police work by the detective bureaus of both Bloomfield and Belleville." He declined to elaborate on what evidence led to their capture.

Both Mustacchio and Hatfield were both held at the municipal lockup in Bloomfield before being remanded to the Essex County Jail. Bail was not set immediately for either of the defendants, Falco said.

Showing the holiday spirit

Giving and helping those who need it the most is what students from Public School 4 and members from the community policing unit put into action. Students from all grades brought in unwrapped toys to give to the Toys for Tots program. More than 100 gifts were collected and the sixth grade students were in charge of wrapping the gifts. On Dec. 21 the community policing unit will drive Santa to deliver the gifts to the families who need it the most. Pictured above are students from Philip Squatrito's class; left, Lt. ## Resident's poetry chosen for prestigious publication

By Natalie Waldron

A Belleville resident's talent for putting words together will be put on display in a book titled "The National Library of Poetry, Lyrical Heritage" a treasury of today's poetry compiled by The National Library of Poetry.

Caroline Stahl's poem "White Velvet" focuses on the subject of losing a loved one.

"This is a prestigious honor because not everyone is published...I am flying high about this honor," she said.

Stahl will be honored at a ceremony in Washington D.C. where she will read her poetry.

Stahl said the poem was inspired by "the softness of the snow" and the "mood" that she was in at that time.

One year ago Stahl lost her mother and she said poetry has helped her in the "healing process."

"It is the best therapy going," she said. "Everyone should try it."

Since childhood, Stahl has been writing poetry and short stories focusing on human emotions.

"Writing is my outlet for dealing with everyday life experiences," she said.

Now that she has experienced "a taste of success" Stahl says she intends on publishing her poems in order to share them with the world.

For the past 13 years, Stahl has worked at the Belleville Public Library and Information Center, and she said it was the staff's support and encouragement that caused her to submit her work.

Stahl, a lifelong resident of Belleville, has four children Nancy Mullener, John Stahl III, Judy Stahl, and Amy Chemey, which were all put through the district's school system. She also has five grandchildren.

Stahl's 13-year-old grandchild Doug seems to be following in his grandmother's footsteps.

"Ironically he too writes about human emotions," she concluded.

A story of inspiration and hope

Athlete shares her story of success, despite a lifetime of silence

By Mike Lamberti

There are many inspirational stories that are shared during the holiday seasons.

In Belleville, there are many, and this season, there is a story of a young woman who has battled, and defeated, a handicap and is telling a story of hope and perseverance.

The young woman's name is Andrea Dara Zamloot, a Belleville resident, born and raised, who was born deaf and today, is a college freshman who is an outstanding athlete.

The Zamloot family is a large and loving one. Andrea, the youngest of five, has four older brothers, Sam, Russell, Phil and Raymond.

Her parents, AnnaMarie and Sam have been active members of the town and raised all four of their sons in the local school system.

They knew early on that their youngest child had a hearing deficiency.

"We could tell around the time she was 13 months old that there was something wrong," Sam Zamloot said.

"Once we knew, it was just a matter of working with her," AnnaMarie said. "Our family is very close. It was never a frustration. We learned sign language and went ahead with a positive outlook.

"Andrea learned early how to read lips and was able to form words. It's not easy, especially at the age of three, but she caught on quickly."

Andrea's older brothers also

Teacher contract negotiations continue

Fact finder called in to make a recommendation

By Natalie Waldron

Both teachers and board members say they are "depressed" and "discouraged" with the outcome of their second negotiation session with the state mediator on Dec. 12.

"They have given nothing up at all since the first negotiation session," said Board Member Frank Montagna.

Jack Ayres president of the Belleville Education Association said the teachers have been without a contract since June.

"We are no closer now then we were two months ago," Ayres said.

He said the next step is to call in a representative from the state to perform "fact finding" who will listen to both sides and then suggest a solution.

"The first meeting had a more positive tone, but there was no further movement on the board's part what so ever in the second meeting," he added.

"They want 4.5 percent raises and they don't want to give anything toward medical benefits...They do not want to give up coaches longevity," Montagna said.

Negotiations chairperson for the BEA Carol Amato said she did not agree with Montagna's statement.

"His statement is an inaccurate description of our proposal," she said.

Montagna said the board went from a wage freeze to a 2 percent increase in salaries.

President of the BEA

Ayres said that about 19 out of 21 contracts were settled in the county.

"Right now we are at the middle of Essex County salaries and we are simply trying to hold that position," Ayres said.

"The board's salary proposals would be the lowest increase in Essex County for the 1996-97 academic year," said Ayres.

Ayres said the board is asking teachers for some concession in the area of health insurance. He also said the board is looking at changes in longevity, sick leave and terminal pay.

Police work together to help the needy

By James Zoccoli

Local police officers are planning to volunteer time and effort in the coming weeks to help needy persons upgrade their homes, their lives and their neighborhoods.

The new program, titled Neighborhood Orientated Policing, will hold its first meeting in Nutley next month as part of the ongoing Community Policing Program.

"It's going to bridge a lot of gaps between the police and people," said Sgt. Steven Rogers. "It's a win-win project."

The initiative, Rogers said, is designed to empower area residents to address environmental and public safety needs in their own neighborhoods. He said the effort will build a people-police partnership by networking resources and drawing talents from within the neighborhoods affected by a deterioration of will, of inner strength and of hope.

"We're going to help economi-

Clean Communities funding awarded to township

Assembly Majority Leader Paul DiGaetano and Assemblyman John V. Kelly (both R-36) announced today that the municipalities of Belleville and Nutley will receive "Clean Communities Program" funding for 1997 from the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

The awarded funds are to be used specifically for litter cleanup and removal, enforcement of local anti-littering laws, purchasing of trash and recycling receptacles for placement in public areas, sponsorship of "Adopt a Highway, Park or School" programs and educational programming to promote clean communities.

Each municipality is eligible for a certain amount of money. That amount is determined by the number of road miles and housing units within that municipality. The breakdown for Belleville and Nutley are as follows: Belleville, $37,279; Nutley, $30,789.

"Both Assemblyman Kelly and I are delighted to announce the awarding of these needed funds for our constituents. These added

•A 41-year-old Newark man was arrested on a charge of possession of drug paraphernalia for an incident near Cortland and William streets.

Hose Ramos was arrested by officers Anthony Passarella and John Loiacono.

Police said Ramos was acting in a suspicious manner.

Two crack pipes were found on him, police said.

•A 38-year-old North Arlington man was arrested on a charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance for an incident on Nov. 17 at 10:25 a.m. on Washington Avenue, Belleville Police report.

Officers Capece and Giuliano observed Paul Burns acting in a suspicious manner.

Police found Burns to be in possession of heroine.

•A 17-year-old Belleville juvenile was arrested on a charge of possession of a controlled dangerous substance for an incident on Dec. 16 on Washington Avenue and William Street, Belleville Police report.

Police also found the juvenile to be in possession of a controlled dangerous substance within 100 feet of a school zone, police said.

•A 15-year-old Belleville male juvenile was sent to the Essex County Youth House after leading police on a chase into Newark on Dec. 18, Belleville Police report.

Officers Piserchia and Gamarro made the arrest.

is reasonable and responsible to the taxpaying community, and it is difficult for me to understand why the board doesn't see it in that light.... We hope the fact finder will," said Ayres.

"Belleville has a strong education system and has teachers well above average so I don't think it is unreasonable to expect an average salary," he said.

Parents, children learn importance of reading together

Parents and children in grades kindergarten through sixth attended "Parents as Partners in Reading," a family reading program at School 7.

The program was presented to the primary grade students during October and to the intermediate grades during November.

Marie Kimble, reading specialist at Schools 7 and 9, developed and facilitated the program.

The program emphasized the importance of reading aloud at home during shared reading time with children.

Kimble presented ways to motivate families to read together and retell the stories.

Strategies to help improve listening skills, vocabulary and comprehension were introduced in this program.

In the portion of the program geared to grades 4, 5 and 6, Kimble focused on literature, study skills at home, reference books and content area reading.

At the conclusion of the program, each family received a certificate and a book for the whole family to enjoy reading together.

Kimble will present the same program at School 9 in the spring.

cally depressed people," Rogers said. "We're going to let them know they have a friend."

Rogers said he has engaged in discussions with many people who say they've lost faith in government's ability to address their needs. These people, Rogers said, have more faith in volunteers that offer hands-on help.

The effort will be undertaken in association with the National Housing Institute, headed by Ira Resnick.

"This is one of the most advanced programs of its type that I've encountered," Resnick said. "If it succeeds it will become a model for the rest of America."

Rogers said he expects dozens of fellow police officers — from Nutley, Bloomfield, Belleville, Glen Ridge and other surrounding communities — to attend a Jan. 16 meeting in Nutley and then volunteer to help the economically depressed.

The Nutley sergeant will organize the effort, asking fellow officers to volunteer one day every three months to assist those in need.

A few needy families in Nutley have already been tentatively identified and will likely be helped by the Neighborhood Oriented Policing program, Rogers said.

The project will focus on three major areas: The environment, public safety and education.

"The whole idea is to give those in need a head start," Rogers said. "Then, train them to go into other neighborhoods and help residents reclaim their streets."

Rogers is president of the New Jersey Community Policing Team.

Adding, Assemblyman Kelly commented, "This funding will further the current efforts of Essex county residents as they continue to enhance our community."

Belleville Senior News

By Joseph Restaino

Dear Friend

Because you are my friend, I see
Life in a different way.
And joy I had not hoped to know
Adds sparkle to each day.
A long-forgotten memory
Arises from the past,
Of all we are allowed to keep
And things that never last.
But seasons come and seasons go,
And we remain a part
Of all the true nobility
We carry in our heart.
A friend to understand and care,
That's how it ought to be.
And so I pray the road you walk
Is wide enough for me.

Grace E. Easley

Sorry to hear that Kay Rispo is back in Mountinside Hospital. Anthony Aranicki and Betty Barr are also in the hospital. Clara Maass is the hospital. Tony Amico is recuperating at home as well as Bob Reilly. John Ferraro is in the hospital also.

Condolences to the family of Mrs. Lucille Rega, wife of Jackie Rega, who passed away this past week. She is also the sister-in-law of Joe Celso. To the family of Agnes Morro who also passed away last week. To the family of Vincent Ianneci who also passed away last week. Vincent bowled in the Old Guard bowling league on Thursday mornings at the Brunswick Lanes on Washington Avenue.

When we get our 2.7 percent COLA in January 1997, the same thing that happens every time we get a raise will happen again. Our Part B premiums will rise $1.30 per month. From $42.50 per month to $43.80 per month. The beneficiary co-payment of $1 of $20 to remain the same. The $100 deductible for Part B coverage remains the same. The deductibles for the first 60 days of a hospital stay rises to 760 from 730. Days 61-90 will cost 190 each and co-payment for the 60 lifetime reserve days will be $380.

I read an article in the paper that stated that cellular phones may affect some pacemakers. A digital cellular phone can temporarily turn off a pacemaker or cause it to push the heart too quickly. Self defense: People who have pacemakers should use ordinary cellular phones, known as analog phones, which rarely cause interference. Also, when the phone is turned on, never hold it in a pocket near your pacemaker.

The following poem is dedicated to some of you people out there.

You do so many little things
That make life more worthwhile.
You always take the time
To understand or share a smile.
And because you give such happiness
Through thoughtful things you do,
It's wonderful to have this chance
To wish life's best for you.
Especially for my family!

Medic alert!

If an elderly loved one has a tendency to wander, have a simple ID bracelet or disk on a necklace-type chain. Individuals with potentially dangerous medical conditions should always wear a medic bracelet or necklace, listing your medical condition, allergies and an emergency phone number. You can get more information from Alert at 800-423-6333.

A tip for your car:

If your car doesn't seem to run right, try a different brand of gas, but the same octane. Also, don't fill your tank to the top as this wastes gas.

Soap and water best self defense:

Soap and water remove dirt, sweat and oils. They can also cause skin problems. Soap can dry skin or make your skin too oily by stimulating oil production. Try using a mild neutral soap that is less likely to damage skin. If you have dry skin, use soap only if your skin is dirty enough to need it. Water can also remove natural skin oils. Take short showers or baths in warm or tepid water (not hot). Use soap sparingly. Gently pat your skin dry. Do not rub vigorously.

At its Dec. 18 meeting at the Belleville Senior Center, the Belleville Old Guard elected officers for 1997. Yours truly, Joseph Restaino, was elected president, Anthony Lordi vice president, Hugo Antolini secretary and Nick Mauncelle treasurer. Trustees are George Sbarra, Joe Villaggio, Tom Palente and Past President Pat Rotondo. The new officers will be installed in January 1997. Good luck to all the new officers.

Tid Bit:

"The most vivid memories of Christmas past are usually not of gifts given or received, but of the spirit of love, the special warmth of Christmas worship, the cherished little habits of the home." Lois Rand.

The Christmas decorations are truly making Belleville Beautiful!!!

Woman's Club busy with holiday projects

The Woman's Club of Belleville has been busy with special holiday projects this month, including the collection of new books for "Tots to Teens" to help promote literacy. That project was chaired by Carol Casale with the committee working in conjunction with the Belleville Public Library and Information Center.

A wish tree was erected at Bethany Lutheran Church under the direction of Carol Giuffreda, and decorated with ornaments made by the Woman's Club.

At the December meeting, decorated tins were filled with Christmas cookies and candies for distribution to the Continuing Care Center at Clara Maass Medical Center, senior citizens and The Safe House.

Caring and sharing — a lesson in love

The students in Deborah Wallace's class at School 4 in the Silver Lake section of Belleville are to be commended for their efforts to arrange and implement a food drive for the homeless. The students enthusiastically participated in the project, encouraging all students and staff at the school to donate non-perishable food.

An employee of the shelter visited the classroom and picked up the food on Dec. 20. The students had the opportunity to ask any questions they had. What they didn't know is that the answers they received were based on real life experiences. The man visiting the school and employed by the shelter also lived there for a time, when he was homeless.

Messages to the homeless from our classroom:

Michael Amoroso: "I hope someday you find a nice home."

Matthew James: "Stay healthy. If I had money, I'd buy you a home."

Frank Meglio: "I hope you can save money for food."

John Povelaitis: "If I had a lot of money, I would share it with the homeless."

Nick Pellow: "I hope you can find a job soon."

Rob Rasczyk: "Keep on trying."

Deborah Wallace: "May you have the strength to face each day."

Public School 3 helps Bloomfield Animal Shelter

Students from Public School 3 have been actively saving UPC labels from Friskies cat and dog foods and snacks to raise money for the Bloomfield Animal Shelter on Hoover Avenue. Friskies will send a donation to the shelter based on the number of labels saved.

Students and faculty members who have cats or dogs who eat

Friskies products such as Mighty Dog, Alpo, Fancy Feast, and Friskies treats have been saving the labels and bringing them to school.

Debra McDonagh's class then clips the UPC symbols from the labels and tallies them as part of a math class and cooperative school project.

took a keen interest in their "baby" sister.

"Andrea has five fathers," AnnaMarie said. "Her four brothers were always very supportive of her. They were always there for her."

The Zamloot brothers were very good athletes in high school, especially Ray, who was a basketball player and team captain in his senior year.

The brothers love of sports was infectious to their sister, who developed a love of sports at an early age.

By the time she started high school, Andrea was a standout softball player, cheerleader and swimmer.

"I love sports, especially the competition," Andrea said. "My brothers put me through just about everything as I was growing up. I had no choice but to love sports. I was going to soccer matches and various games. They taught me a lot, as well as my parents."

Andrea's speech is quite advanced. She was able to answer most of the reporters questions by just reading his lips, even though her mom was close by, offering sign language.

Quite often, she would not need the sign language assistance, just as long as the person speaking to her was looking at her eye-to-eye.

She has gone through consistent speech therapy and continues to work on her speech on a constant basis.

Andrea attended the Belleville school system during grammar school, but her parents felt that since Belleville High School did not have a program especially for the deaf, that she needed more intense schooling.

Thus, the decision was made for her to attend Mountain Lakes High School, which has an accelerated program.

Andrea, along with seven or eight other deaf students, went through a solid four year academic curriculum. During her high school career, she played varsity softball, was a member of the cheerleading squad and competed for the swimming team.

Her favorite sport was softball, where she was a standout shortstop and left fielder.

"It was necessary that Andrea have an interpreter at sporting events," her mother said. "Even at practices, she has to have an interpreter. But it never affected her, and it never affected her teammates. She just loved the competition."

Zamloot's enthusiasm for sports was also fueled by a famous, local athlete, who overcame a handicap and went on to win Paralympic gold.

Belleville High School teacher Rich Ruffalo lost his sight at the age of 28. Despite that, he never gave up and has made marvelous strides in the athletic world.

He is a motivational speaker and has provided so much inspiration to young athletes who sometimes can get frustrated by an affliction.

On the initial interview with Andrea, her mom expressed how much Andrea had liked Ruffalo and that she wanted to meet him sometime.

A phone call to Ruffalo made that meeting possible, and two weeks after the first interview, Rich went to Andrea's house and spoke with her for about two hours.

"You can't put a price on the human spirit," Ruffalo said. "There is no affliction that can't be overcome. I've spoken to so many young people and it's amazing how they can battle and never give up. "When I first lost my sight, I was very bitter. I wanted to give up. I didn't care about anything."

"But I knew that life wasn't meant to be lived like this. I had too many good things going for me. That's why it's easy to appreciate what Andrea has done. She's quite a story."

The admiration for Andrea extends well past Belleville.

Earlier this year, she was in Chicago, to receive a national award from the Tony Danza Association for high school students who overcame adversity to become students and athletes.

From candidates all over the United States, Andrea was one of two chosen for the award. Sitting at the dais along with sports dignitaries such as Lou Duva, Jerry Colangelo, Ted Hendricks, Lou Carnesecca and Chris Zordich, Andrea gave a stirring speech that brought emotion to just about everyone in the audience of over 700 people.

She thanked everyone in her life, including Ruffalo, for her success today. She then gave the audience a great laugh by saying she was glad to get her drivers license, so that her dad didn't have to drive her back and forth to softball practice.

Courtesy of Al Best Video, the audience at the Chicago Hilton saw the Zamloot story in a four minute clip.

Upon her graduation, from Mountain Lakes High School last June, Zamloot moved on to college, where she is working on an accounting degree at Rochester Institute. She was a standout student in high school.

Andrea Zamloot is a parents dream. A hard working young woman with a deliciously wonderful personality, she is sure to be a huge success in any field she chooses.

"She's a wonderful young woman," Ruffalo said. "A great role model."

But the words of her parents that best describe her. As mentioned earlier, she is a close knit, loving family.

When you enter their home, you see nothing but joy, and positive feelings.

"She makes us look good," Sam Zamloot said. "Andrea is a unique person, she makes us very proud every day."

"We're blessed to have her."

Bill to increase penalties for theft of wireless phone services

Legislation sponsored by Assembly Majority Leader Paul DiGaetano, R-36, that would augment penalties for theft of wireless phone numbers, subscription fraud, importation of stolen numbers, roaming fraud and the use of false numbers to obtain services was approved today by the Assembly.

DiGaetano's district includes Nutley and Belleville.

The bill, A-2187, would make theft of wireless services a third-degree crime.

Under the bill's provisions, theft would include stealing "access devices" such as calling cards and account numbers, and defacing access devices.

"The wireless industry estimates it lost $482 million in 1994, $650 million in 1995 and $750 million in 1996 to fraud. Unless we act now to curb it, theft of cellular phone services will continue to increase," said DiGaetano.

DiGaetano continued, "It takes less than a minute to clone a wireless phone. Unless we implement additional deterrents to this type of crime, cellular phone fraud will become even more prevalent."

Since New Jersey is situated between New York City and Philadelphia, the high population gives criminals added opportunities

Christmas Greetings

It's that time of the year again, time to say Merry Christmas to some of my friends, loved ones, etc.

Can you believe Christmas is just a few days away? It's been a wild year, that's for sure. I'm kind of glad that 1996 will soon be a memory. It was certainly an eventful year, with some happiness, some sadness.

Next week, I'll have my annual New Years column, with some predictions for 1997. Some are serious, but most are just for fun.

Anyway, for my holiday wishes:

To Dave Salata: May you find the happiness (and that ultimate deer) in 1997 that you deserve.

To "Babe": Don't walk in '97!

To Don Roll: I say it every year, and I'll keep saying it until it happens. May you finally get that 6'9" transfer student that puts your program on the map.

To Melanie Endres: A patent on "that song" in '97.

To Rich Ruffalo: I say this every year, too, but it still sounds great. May we all see the world as well as you do.

To John Senesky: May 1997 bring you all the peace and happiness that you and Carmela deserve.

To Shirley Reid: Just know that we all think about you constantly. You deserve all the peace that God can provide.

To Rosemarie Candore: The hope that we continue to get to know each other better in 1997. You and I can both say we're glad that '96 is just about over. Thanks for all your help with Jack.

To Andrea Zamloot: Thanks for the honor of getting to know you. You represent all that's right with today's youth.

To Natalie Waldron: The hope that your car is in better shape in '97.

To Lauren Kelly Murray: Every day, I love this child a little more. Thanks to you and your parents for allowing me to be your Godfather. Watching you grow up is great. Next year will be great for us.

To The Philadelphia Eagles: Please get me that Super Bowl appearance in 1997. I'm already convinced it won't happen this year.

To Celeste Federico: Thanks for teaching me the business in 1996. You're a good friend.

To Maria Paladino: Ditto what I said to Celeste. Also, may you enjoy good fortune in all phases of your life next year.

To Dave Olmsted: I hope that the NCAA soccer tournament isn't held in Hawaii next year. You'll never get back in time to put the paper out.

To Cheryl Marion: The hope that the '96-97 basketball season is a big one for your team.

To Daisi: Next time, let me know when that television show is on. I wouldn't want to miss that message again.

To Mark Murray: The hope that 1997 is a lot less eventful than '96 was. Also, let's keep believing that our Eagles will finally get to the Super Bowl.

To all our readers, a very happy and prosperous holiday season. May it be safe and memorable.

Roller Hockey Season

Roller hockey made its debut at the rink on Stephens Street. The Belleville Cyclones opened its season in the North Jersey Youth Roller Hockey League for both the junior and senior divisions.

The senior division overpowered Lodi, 6-2. Gary Poloked opened the scoring for Belleville, off an assist from Anthony Armando. Belleville then tallied three goals in the first seven minutes of the second period to break open a 1-0 contest. Armando had two of those goals, with Jason Strauss assisting on one of them. Jeff Falduto scored the other second period goal.

Falduto completed a good day by scoring two goals in the third period, giving him the hat trick for the game. Nikki Coviello and Chris Adamo assisted on one of Falduto's goals.

In the junior division, Lodi won a tough 3-2 contest. Mark Horst started the scoring for Belleville, on an assist from Shaun Horst, giving Belleville the early lead.

In the second period, Martin Mlekicki tallied a goal to tie the game at two, assisted by Manny Marques.

WARMEST·HOLIDAY·WISHES

from the heart!

It is a genuine pleasure to wish our friends all the best of the season.

We feel blessed to have had such a wonderful year, and we know we owe it all to you, our loyal customers.

We sincerely hope you experience twice as much joy as you have brought to us, throughout the holidays and beyond!

Belleville Health Department offers healthful holiday tips

The Belleville Health Department offers some tips for reducing holiday stress. While the holidays can be fun, they can also be mixed with extra work and pressure which can contribute to high levels of stress. Stress can be physical as well as mental. Everyone experiences stress differently.

Some people look forward to holiday parties, and others view them as social obligations. You may need to set priorities for your time. It is O.K. to stop by a social gathering for a short time or decline an invitation altogether. Consider delegating some of your responsibilities if you are feeling overwhelmed.

Holidays encourage poor eating habits. Foods high in cholesterol, salt, and fat are common in holiday meals. Holiday feasts can be festive without being fattening. Include various fruits and vegetables and low calorie dips. Breads, pasta, poultry and lean meats are good choices.

Modify recipes — use margarine instead of butter, egg whites instead of whole eggs. Choose low fat dairy products such as skim milk, 1 percent milk or yogurt, and low fat cheeses. Use oils that have less saturated fat. These include canola, corn, safflower, sunflower seed, sesame seed, soybean and olive oil.

For desserts, serve more fresh fruits. To avoid gorging, don't fast before a feast. Eat a healthy snack between meals. Avoid eating every type of food to please the host. At office parties, offer to bring a large salad or fresh fruit instead of a high calorie dessert. Limit portion sizes.

Don't turn to unhealthy habits to cope with stress such as alcohol. Many people drink more alcohol than usual during holiday parties. If you drink, do so in moderation. Limit your daily intake to no more than one or two ounces of alcohol. An ounce of alcohol equals two ounces of whiskey 100 proof, 8 ounces of wine, or two 12 ounce beers. If you drink, don't drive.

Adequate rest and sleep are important during the busy holiday season. The ideal amount varies from person to person, but seven to eight hours is about right for most people. Exercise helps relieve stress for many. Try a brisk walk.

Keep gift giving simple. Many budgets are stretched during the holidays. Gift giving should be an expression of love and friendship. If this element is missing, consider limiting your list. Small tokens can communicate, "I'm thinking of you."

"Happy Holidays" from the Belleville Health Department.

MEDICAL RESEARCH

Age spots? New research project may help

Some news for people bothered by "age" or "liver spots".

People who work outdoors or sunbathe without sun protection can develop various skin problems. The sun can cause large freckles called "age spots" or "liver spots". These flat, brown spots are medically referred to as "lentigines". They have nothing to do with the liver, they are caused by the sun and usually appear on the face, arms and hands. Most commercial "fade" creams will not make lentigines disappear.

Dr. Manuel R. Morman of Rutherford is conducting a research study on a medication being developed to lighten these areas of sun damage.

Qualified participants receive the following at no charge: Physical exam and laboratory work; Study product; A stipend of $20 per visit for travel related expenses.

If you are at least 30 years of age (females must not be of child bearing potential) do not have a history of skin cancer and would like more information, please call the study coordinator at 460-7362

OUR OPINION

Mega-mall plan a mega-ton bomb

It wasn't too surprising that the Belleville Planning Board bounced plans for a mega-mall on the Belleville-Bloomfield border two weeks ago. It would have been almost against human nature for the members to sit through seven long meetings, strung out over a six-month period, just for an opportunity to nod their heads and be done with it.

First, the 140,000-square-foot proposal, offered by Newel's Realty Company and intended for the site of the former Macy's warehouse on Franklin Street, got a free ride when it came before the Bloomfield Planning Board last spring. Bloomfield's board, with less than Jobian patience, pushed it through in a single sitting.

That was in spite of the fact that wholesale reconstruction of Bloomfield's approach roads, in residential areas, would be necessary to accommodate the anticipated flow into this shopping center alone. More to the point, two other traffic-generating projects -- a Home Depot retail store and a New Jersey Transit rail yard and park-and-ride stop -- are planned for locations just down the street.

Emboldened by Bloomfield's quickie action, Newel's presented what ultimately proved to be a flawed plan to Belleville. Notably, the company's traffic expert presented vehicle-flow data that didn't square with numbers in a study submitted by an independent traffic engineer employed by the board. And even among the board proponents of the plan, there was sentiment toward adding limits on the size of trucks entering from one direction, prohibiting left turns in and out of the Franklin Street side, and requiring Newel's to install modern traffic controls.

Traffic wasn't the only concern of the planners, but it was the major one.

In addition to the aforementioned projects now on the drawing boards, the site is around the corner from an existing strip mall that funnels much of its traffic down Bloomfield's Grove Street and Watsessing Avenue toward the Macy's site. The strip mall, in turn, is next to the proposed site of a four-store mini-mall that received Bloomfield's approval last year but has yet to be built.

Then there's a fast-food restaurant, just recently reopened, from which cars routinely exit on Grove Street, plus other eateries and a bank branch across from the strip mall. The site is also a stone's throw from two supermarkets, one operating 24 hours a day.

If and when the New Jersey Transit rail yard and park-and-ride are built, trains will cross Belmont Avenue and Franklin Street in Belleville every three minutes during peak hours, stopping vehicular traffic. Those tracks will also cross Grove Street in Bloomfield and have the same stop-and-go effect on cars and trucks there, at the busiest times of the day as well.

And the site sought by NJT for its complex is right next to the former Macy's property.

Certainly, careful planning in the area now could avoid a nightmare later. Yet the need to scrutinize such an important plan seemed lost on the Bloomfield Planning Board members who, under the influence of ratable-hungry Mayor James Norton, left skid marks in the street as they departed their one-night stand with the Newel's project. Ratables are fine, but municipalities must pay a price for each ratable; Belleville's planners recognized this and, with reason, found that price too dear.

This is not to say that we're opposed to a shopping center, or whatever, on that site; one Bloomfield councilman-to-be has appropriately termed the existing Macy's warehouse "the Berlin Wall," because of its graffitied resemblance to that monument to ugliness both aesthetic and philosophic.

But replacing an eyesore with a chicane is no improvement. We hope Newel's will come up with another proposal harboring real potential for both profitability and livability.

Share holiday benevolence throughout the entire year

The holiday season marks a time of year when people rekindle their interest in helping the needy.

Feelings of benevolence and charity always overtake Americans as they buy thoughtful gifts, donate to worthy causes and seek to aid those less fortunate than themselves.

While such holiday goals are indeed laudable, a sociological gap of enormous proportions still exists between rich and poor -- a financial great divide that is routinely overlooked during non-holiday times.

This is not to say that average citizens are to blame for the plight of the needy, the homeless, and the chronically disabled that now roam the streets of many cities. Average citizens are simply overwhelmed trying to make ends meet and do their jobs in a world filled with constant change and confusion.

Still, each person who lives in this bountiful land has a moral obligation to focus on trying to understand just how people from all walks of life fall into desperate times, despite living in the so-called "richest nation in the world."

What's the problem? ... Why are so many good people falling between the cracks?

There have been multitudes of government programs and sweeping efforts by energetic religious groups, all with good intentions. But despite such efforts, a void continues to exist between rich and poor.

The holiday season brings out the best in people; a heartfelt urge to care and a passion to share. The next step, however, is to expand that "holiday" feeling of benevolence to encompass the entire year.

YOUR OPINION

English should be official language

To the editor:

This is in response to the letter written by Maria Braceno in the Dec. 12 letters to the editor.

How dare she predict an increase in crime if English is made the official language of the United States.

My hope is that those who commit any crimes be punished severely and deported if they're illegal aliens. America must put an end to the influx of ungrateful immigrants depleting our economy, committing serious crimes and putting America down.

Most other countries do not tolerate any behavior from an American citizen which they consider improper.

Peru is one example of such a country in the way that they are punishing an innocent young woman.

I'm sure there aren't any countries willing to make English a second language or observe our customs.

I'm not biased in any way as I have many immigrant friends and acquaintances. However, my blood just boils over with what has been going on with these aliens.

My grandparents came to America around the turn of the century and had their lovely surname altered without their permission because someone thought it did not sound American enough.

Did they retaliate against any of many injustices against them? No! They lived decent, productive lives and always praised America the Beautiful!

Which is what Maria should do.

America, love it or leave it!

AARP supports concept of senior housing

To the editor:

An article appearing in the Aug. 29 issue of the Belleville Times stated that the Belleville Chapter of the A.A.R.P. had no opinion or stand on the issue of senior citizen housing in Belleville.

At the November meeting of our chapter, a motion was approved by the general membership approving the concept of senior citizen housing, but not at the former School No. 1.

Belleville Chapter, AARP

Support English as our language

To the editor:

I would like to address this letter to Maria Braceno, the 17-year-old high school student who is of the opinion, "Don't make English the official language" and if it is made the official language, she says, "A lot of people will be enraged with hate" and "There will be a disgraceful increase in crime."

Also, people will revolt because this decision could end up terminating worldwide customs and values of non-American people.

Maria, listen, people who choose to come to America choose to become Americans or if not, stay wherever they are.

When my parents came here in 1914 -- my dad from Russia, my mom from Italy -- they came here with the understanding that so many cultures were here -- along with their own -- and they would become a part of the "melting pot." We would all mix and blend together.

I think it's a pity we should have to go so far as to make it necessary to "make it official." So sad that, all of a sudden, we Americans have to be at the mercy of the "newcomers."

In our home, we spoke other languages and have, to this day, held on to our family traditions.

No one in my family ever became enraged and there was no increase in crime. Some of our Italian relatives did change their names because of discrimination in the workplace, and of course, until today, do you still not see on TV a hoodlum, most times with a vowel ending their name? But life goes on and for the better.

Each nationality has had its pitfalls, but "this too shall pass."

Be patient, be kind, think love, not war. Work hard, present yourself as a "qualified" worker, do well in school and teach others to do the same.

It is only through educating yourself that you will overcome obstacles. Each human being must always be responsible for "self." Don't get in the habit of blaming others. You are in control of your life!

"America, home of the free, land of the brave -- love it or leave it." Your choice. But where would go that's better?

• AGAIN, I used my old, reliable airlines, Continental, for a visit to Europe. And again, compliments are in order for service beyond the call of duty. Especially does this apply to Senior Stewardess Donna Hair who is extremely attentive to the needs of the passengers in the section of the plane to which she was assigned. No one ever needed to push the button to call the stewardess. Attitude is so important in life and in business. Donna Hair had the right attitude. I have flown with Continental Airlines even during the old days when Eastern Airlines was around -- and one has to go back pretty far in history for that one. I would say that the service of Donna Hair was among the best ever that I have seen and enjoyed on a Continental flight.

• CONGRATULATIONS to Schweppe & Co. Realtors as Douglas J. Eisenfelder joins their sales staff at the Valley Road, Upper Montclair office.

• MERCK & Co. has conducted clinical studies involving their product Zocor (simvastatin). Zocor is the first and only cholesterol-lowering medication proven to save lives and reduce the risk of heart attack in patients with high cholesterol who already have heart disease. Of course, only a doctor or other healthcare professional can determine whether Zocor is appropriate for a patient, and only he or she can prescribe it. Although many people take Zocor safely, there are side effects as with all drugs.

• MOST of the people that will be reading this column will soon find that the prefix to their phone number will be 973 and not 235, 284, 450, 661, 667, 743, 746, 751, 759, etc., etc., etc. All this through the courtesy of Bell Atlantic.

• THE malls advertise great parking space available for shoppers. But the instances of crime at the mall parking lots never see the light of day. For safety sake, shoppers would be well advised to patronize local merchants. In the first place, they are reliable -- they are neighbors and they pay real estate taxes directly or indirectly. In most cases, their prices are competitive.

• BLOOMFIELD Assemblywoman Marion Crecco and Lyndhurst's 36th District Senator John Scott are both supporting a law outlawing the non-existing practice of gay marriages in New Jersey.

Obviously, by raising such a possibility, it creates a straw man to be knocked down. There are no gay marriages in New Jersey and none is contemplated. Use of the words, "gay marriage", in and of itself automatically raises the gay bashing issue to a higher level -- the New Jersey Legislative.

• I SAW both of the Riddick, Bowe-Andrew Golota fights. And they were a lulu! After the first fight which Bowe won because Golota was disqualified, Bowe made predictions that the second time around he was going to beat the hell out of Golota.

It took only the second round for Riddick Bowe to find himself on his fanny -- the result of Golota's hammer-like blows. Bowe won both decisions, but the physical winner was Golota. He was ahead on all three cards of the judges in both fights when they were awarded to Bowe, on disqualifications. It's time Bowe hung up his mitts before he ends up a mental cripple.

What Golota should do is fight somebody short like Mike Tyson. Shorter opponents would make it less likely for Golota to commit a foul. Golota either has to clean up his act, or quit boxing.

• THE best answer to funding education is a plan proposed by Governor Christie Whitman. She has proposed spending $260 Million more in state aid to insure all students obtain a thorough and efficient education guaranteed by the state constitution. The legislature increased the figure to $285 Million. The overall price tag of the Whitman proposal is $10.4 Billion. When the legislature gets through with it, the price tag may be up to $11 Billion. Like the man says, a billion here and a billion there, and suddenly, it becomes a lot of money. But nothing is more important than the best school system money could buy.

To all of our readers, subscribers, advertisers, dealers, we express our deep appreciation for your patronage and hope that we may always be worthy of your trust and confidence.

To our dedicated employees, my sincere thanks for your loyalty, week after week giving us the best possible newspaper.

Holiday party tips for the perfect guest

'Tis the season for holiday festivities, family gatherings and parties. And it's the time of the year when the pressure is on to be the perfect guest.

The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety and Education offers these holiday tips to ensure you're the "life" of the party:

- Know how much you plan to drink and how you're getting home.

- Eat before you drink and throughout the party. Food slows down the absorption rate of alcohol in your body.

- Avoid alcoholic beverages if you're taking medication. Drugs and alcohol do not mix.

- Limit yourself to two drinks over the course of the evening by alternating with a non-alcoholic beverage. Remember, alcohol is full of calories and has a diuretic effect which makes you feel thirsty.

- If you plan to drink, carpool with a designated driver (someone who agrees not to drink alcoholic beverages) or arrange to have someone pick you up. Be sure to select the designated driver before you leave for the party.

- Use mixers (water is good) and ice cubes generously to dilute alcohol. If you prefer not to weaken your drink, sip it slowly. Remember, a 6 oz. glass of wine or a 12 oz. glass of beer and a 1-1/2 oz. mixed drink contain the same amount of alcohol and pack the same punch. Wine coolers contain less alcohol per 12 oz. bottle than a 6 oz. glass of wine or 12 oz. glass of beer. However, they can affect your ability to drive almost as easily as wine, beer and mixed drinks since you tend to drink more. Know how much alcohol your drink contains.

- Listen to others, especially your host. If they say you've consumed too much alcohol to drive, then don't. Remember, your host is responsible if you drive.

New cast takes Star Trek: First Contact into warp drive

By Kelly Tahaney

Rating: *** stars

For an original Star Trek fan, the new series have been hard to like.

However, for the first time Star Trek: The Next Generation has claimed a spot of their own in Trekdom.

Capt. Picard, Number One and all the rest of them are on their merry way through the galaxy when trouble comes their way.

The Borg are back and they're kicking the Federation's butts from Mars to Vulcania (not sure how to spell it).

The Borg are half synthetic skin and half robot. They assimilate worlds that they conquer.

Picard and his crew head back to

OBC-TV Christmas special on cable

OBC-TV's third annual Christmas special is being cablecast now through New Year's Eve, Dec. 31.

Hosted and produced by Daisy Velez, the one-hour special features musical entertainment, comedy with Mark Dacey, interviews with local advertisers and a special feature from Fountains of Wayne.

Earth to save the planet. They chase the Borg away from Earth and end up following them back to the 21st century (they're in the 24th century in the movie).

The Borg are attempting to erase the past (before humans began to fly spaceships and interact with aliens) and the Enterprise crew has to stop them.

The film is funny, exciting, slightly scary and intense at times. The film is rated PG-13.

If you're a new or old Trekkie, go see this movie and get your Star Trek fix for the year.

Note: One of the best scenes in the movie is an upsidedown trip around the Enterprise craft. Cool.

This film is now playing at the Wellmont Theater in Montclair.

'Cappy's Corner' returns to cable TV

"Cappy's Corner," America's first-ever gambling cablecast, is back from hiatus and stronger than ever.

The show can be seen on OBC-TV channels 20 and 36 on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 8:30 p.m.

Host Fred "Cappy" Capitani, who has been a guest on 27 different national television programs, said that he intends to cablecast his show on every cable system in New Jersey before the spring of 1997.

"I needed to take a break from performing," Capitani said. "My show has been on the air for almost 20 years and people kept asking me when I was going back on the air."

Capitani said he plans to cast the cable show with local and national celebrities, cutting-edge gambling tips, real-life hints and lots of comedy.

HOROSCOPES

December 29-January 4

ARIES — March 21/April 20

Cruel to be kind isn't a nice way to play, Aries. It's best to get right to the point. Wise up. Jealousy on the romantic front has had the best of you for weeks. Simmer down. Talk to your mate, and open the doors of communication — especially if it means opening your heart.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21

Thinking of taking a trip? Do it. Plan the vacation you've always dreamed of. See things you've read about in books up close. Ask a Capricorn friend to join you. Patience at work really pays off on Wednesday. Take a troubled co-worker out to lunch, just to relieve his or her stress.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21

Never felt at home in the kitchen, Gemini? This week, spend as much time there as you can baking and experimenting on new dishes. Make up some new entrées, and copy some winter recipes from magazines and books. Want to test your skills? Invite that special Libra over for a rare culinary experience.

CANCER — June 22/July 22

Exercise is all you need this week, Cancer. When it gets tough at work, schedule time at the gym after hours. When things get hairy at home, don't fight it out; burn off steam in a good aerobic workout. Can't take time away from the kids? Pick up an exercise video, and work out at home.

LEO — July 23/August 23

Home is where the heart is for you this week, Leo. But, you'll probably need more patience than usual. A Gemini family member asks for financial help on Tuesday. Your generous nature makes it hard for you to turn him or her away. But, don't shell out the dough unless you can really afford to.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22

Thinking of buying a car? Fine. But, don't forget the planning stages. Shop, shop, shop. Read, read, read. Smart consumers know their market. Make a list of your must-haves, and make sure you meet every one before you hand over a check. A Libra offers sound advice.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23

Romance needs some nurturing. Start throwing some efforts (and understanding) your partner's way. Are you taking too much? Prove that you're not by making this week about him or her. Stop off at a store on a whim to buy him or her an appreciation gift. Write love notes, and make special efforts to show your care.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22

It's time to get motivated, Scorpio. If you can't make time for exercise on your own, join a team, and let others do the motivating for you. Family needs you to take on a little more than your share of domestic chores this week. Do them happily without a negative attitude.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21

Have you been feeling up to par lately? It's a good time to check things out. Make an appointment for a checkup with your doctor just to make sure things are OK. Remember what they say about an ounce of prevention. Celebrate with a road trip over the weekend.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't let your priorities get mixed up this week, Capricorn. Stick to your schedule. Work takes most of your time early in the week, but don't let it get you down. An old friend invites you to a party Saturday. Accept. Check your calendar carefully for family birthdays this week, or you could hurt someone who's sensitive.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let work get you down this week. Put 100 percent into your job, but remember that's not all there is to living. Don't let career-hungry work mates sidetrack your positive thinking. A Leo calls on your problem-solving nature Tuesday. Give him or her your utmost patience.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20

It's a good week to concentrate on making some extra cash. Forget about overtime at the office, and start finding ways to make your hobbies lead you to financial gain. An old flame calls you on Wednesday and is looking to get back in your good graces. Proceed with caution.

House Hunting Hints

Tips To Make Home Ownership A Reality

(NAPS)—Attractive home prices and more affordable financing have helped generate greater optimism about buying a home today. A recent survey released by Fannie Mae, the nation's largest purchaser of residential mortgage loans, found that three in five Americans believe this is a good time to buy a home.

Even with this increased optimism, the prospect of buying a home may still seem overwhelming for many first time purchasers. Scott Van Dellen, director of affordable lending for the nation's largest independent mortgage lender and servicer, Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., recommends a few simple steps to help bring you closer to buying a home.

- Get prequalified—Prequalification assesses an applicant's ability to purchase a home, telling you exactly what you can afford. Countrywide offers free prequalification through its House America Counseling Center, an educational public service which recommends personalized plans to help you qualify for a home loan.

- Investigate affordable lending programs—Check out affordable lending programs such as Countrywide's House America, which requires as little as a three percent downpayment, as well as more flexibility in areas such as debt ratios, credit and employment history.

- Examine your credit record—It's a good idea to review your credit report with a mortgage lender before considering purchasing a home, especially if you have had any credit problems in the past. Countrywide's Counseling Center offers a free credit repair manual, "Your Credit and You," which can help you resolve credit issues that may be preventing you from obtaining a home loan.

For a free copy of Countrywide's credit manual or a free prequalification, call Countrywide's House America Counseling Center at (800) 577-3732.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT Oh, Holy Spirit, thou who are all knowing, who brightens every path that I may reach my ideal, thou who givest me this divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instance of my life art with me, I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and affirm once again that I never want to part from thee though the illusion of material things abound. My desire is to be with thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine. (Persons should pray 3 consecutive days without revealing petition.
