Board member told to stay out of high school unless invited

By Howard Klausner

Board of Education Trustee Frank Montagna has received formal notice not to visit Belleville High School unless invited, reliable sources report.

School authorities declined to comment on the report that a written notice had been handed to Montagna, restricting him to visits to the office of the principal and the Superintendent of Schools, and only on official business.

Montagna has been noted for entering public school buildings on frequent visits.

Teachers and administrators in the past have claimed that Montagna's visits are disruptive.

During the past week, anonymous telephone calls to the Belleville Times have alleged that Montagna got into a verbal argument with a high school student.

School authorities have declined to discuss the incident.

Montagna stated to the Belleville Times, "You never print the truth about me and I will not talk to the Belleville Times. I have warned the newspaper and (Publisher Frank A.) O'nechio that if anything was put in the paper about me, you will have reached the limit."

In the past, Montagna has reported he entered classrooms in order to check for the presence of illegally registered students.

His campaign against non-resident students was a factor in his successful campaign for election to the school board.

Special investigators have been hired by the board to check on residency qualifications of students.

In several cases, parents of students found to be non-residents have been sued for tuition payments.

Board Member Robert Molinaro announced that court awards have reached $45,000 and are expected to reach $75,000.

At the same time, board members have objected to statements made by Montagna about sensitive contract negotiations between the board and the Belleville Education Association.

"Only the board, by majority decision, can make policy statements," Board President Ralph Mazzuchio has stated.

Frequently vituperative, Montagna on occasion has shouted at members of the audience during public meetings of the board, sometimes leaving his seat to shake his finger at the offending person.

America's history is chronicled in stones of a Belleville church

"The history of America is here," the Rev. William Mohr, pastor of the 300-year-old Reformed Church of Belleville, formerly the Dutch Reformed Church, said.

"We have more Revolutionary War soldiers buried here than at any other single place in America," Rev. Mohr said.

There was a legend for many years that General George Washington stopped to pray at the church during his retreat from New York to Morristown.

What could be verified was the encampment near the church of the Essex Regiment that stood guard against Loyalist and British forces. The regiment - more a collection of farmer-soldiers than a regular army unit - shielded Washington's forces from attack through most of the Revolutionary War, and 62 members of the regiment are buried in the churchyard.

The parishioners of the church make up the oldest continuously functioning religious congregation in New Jersey, so far as any records show. The present edifice was built in 1853. It was preceded by smaller structures, including one destroyed by a windstorm in 1804. The church served as schoolhouse, town and warning jobs for the settlers of the community, mostly Dutch farmers who maintained their language well into the 19th century.

In an area where more skirmishes were fought between British and British forces than in any other part of New Jersey, the church held a role of military significance.

The names on the headstones in the churchyard are a glossary of names remembered as landmarks today - Jordanian, Schwyler, Speer, Van Coudenberg, Houtblower, Rutgers and many others.

The church is so woven into the fabric of Belleville history - and with it, American history - that it is listed as a National Historic Landmark. Maintenance of the church yard has been contributed by many citizens outside the church - most notably the late Edward O'Neil - who worked to preserve the history of the town.

While the descendants of the funding families of the church are today found all across America, few have remained the Belleville area.

The Hatch and Brenner families still reside here. Direct descendants of early members of the church.

But greater community support is sought to preserve the unique heritage of the Belleville church.

This Saturday evening, a covered dish supper will be held at the church as part of its ongoing celebration of the 300th anniversary. The entire community is participating.

Information on tickets may be obtained from Betty Jane Davenport at 664-8200, Ext. 24 or 756-4059, or Betty Schwenk at 756-5472.

Family finds it's not in Belleville

'Honest mistake' will cost $35,466

By Howard Klausner

While Administrative Law Judge Ken R. Springer found that Akbar Zadran, father of four children in the Belleville public schools, "honestly thought" he was living in a Belleville apartment, the apartment was actually in Newark.

Accordingly, Zadran was ordered to pay tuition costs in the amount of $35,466 to the Belleville Board of Education.

Springer's decision was upheld by Education Commissioner Leo Klagholz.

According to Springer, "Akbar Zadran's four children, ages 18, 16, 11 and nine, have been enrolled in the Belleville school district for several years.

"Previously, Mr. Zadran, together with his wife and children, had lived at a different address in Belleville.

"In or about February 1993, the family moved to a larger and more comfortable apartment which is part of a complex known as Convent Court Condominiums.

"Mr. Zadran honestly thought that the new apartment was still within the geographical confines of Belleville. He had told the broker who found the apartment for him that he wanted to live in Belleville.

"Moreover, the apartment has a Belleville mailing address and Belleville telephone exchange.

"A written lease describes the premises as '2 Homes St. Belleville.'"

However, Springer noted, the apartment in which Zadran lives is assessed to the City of Newark and pays no taxes to Belleville.

"Of course," Springer stated, "Mr. Zadran has no way of knowing that situation when he entered into the lease, because property taxes are paid directly by the landlord."

Assistant Superintendent of Schools learned that the Zadran apartment was taxed by Newark and, according, on Aug. 10, 1995, sent the family a letter notifying it that "your children will be transferred out of the district in Belleville for the beginning of the 1995-96 school year."

Later, Ciccone decided to allow the children to finish out the 1994-95 school year and advised Zadran that if the family found a home in Belleville address, the children would be allowed to remain in the schools.

Zadran filed a petition with the Commissioner of Education on Aug. 29 claiming that his children were eligible to attend the Belleville schools.

Aside from That

By Howard Klausner

The never-ending trials of former Fire Chief Walter Beresford continue as the Township Administration tries to oust him from the Fire Department altogether. This time, the charges involve his injury during a training session in a condemned building. Beresford was leading trainees through rescue operations when he fell through a floor, and ended in a body cast for six months. . . . The argument is that he is at fault for using what turned out to be a dangerous structure. We do not know what Beresford's defense is, but before these hearings, there was a suspension from duty for allegedly entering an apartment illegally. The apartment contained a supply of fireworks, and when a neighbor informed the Fire Department about it, Beresford reportedly used the ruse of inspecting a gas leak to enter the premises. His superiors immediately reported him to the Essex County Prosecutor, who found no reason to charge Beresford with anything. The result was that Beresford received his back pay, and a notice to appear at new hearings about his injury. . . . Beresford's problems began when he objected to efforts by then-Mayor Marie Perna to shave the fire department budget so that she could look good to the taxpayers. When the State Commission of Investigation was called in by Perna and her allies on the Council, the idea was that wrongdoing would be charged to former manager Bertrand Kendall, to excuse their ouster of the official. The SCI found nothing to pin on Kendall, but Beresford was investigated for overtime payments made to firemen who worked to repair a firehouse on their own time. Beresford was pressured into resigning as Chief, told that he would face criminal prosecution if he did not do so. The Essex County Prosecutor said that it found no basis for an investigation, and Beresford has been fighting for restoration to his post ever since. . . . Beresford caused a further problem for the Administration when he placed first of three candidates in the recent Civil Service examination for Chief. Besides having the highest score, he also is a disabled veteran, which would put him on the top of the list in any case. . . . Now the post of Fire Chief has been abolished, and the Administration is determined to get rid of Beresford anyway. If nothing else, Belleville is a great town for grudges. . . . Josephine Blaser is a lifelong resident of Belleville who says she has been tempted from time to time to find a new location. "But then I couldn't bring myself to do it. I like a town where everything is familiar, and everyone knows each other." While her parents brothers and sisters have all moved to new locales, she stays on. She is also proprietor of the Blaser Cleaning Service -- "Commercial and Residential, References Available". She says business is good. . . . Bob Schoeber, president of the Nutley Chamber of Commerce, attended the recent installation luncheon of the Belleville Chamber. "You people have a Chamber office on Washington Avenue, where everyone can see it. Our office is a dingy room over a store, where nobody can see it." Schoeber is also president of the Realty Title Agency, Inc. of New Jersey whose noble goal is to assure people they have legal title to their homes, mortgage payments and all. A man in love with trout fishing -- "There is a serenity out there in the water that you can't describe" -- and less enthusiastic about golfing. "It takes so long to play the game. Don't some of those fellows taking 14 strokes on a green have any consideration for the people behind them?" We told him it was our understanding that golf was the reason for the Fall of the Roman Empire. . . . Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zileh says the new regime at Town Hall has a lot going for it. "The Council members put so much power into the hands of the Township Manager, they don't have any power left for themselves. We can all rest easily at night." . . . The Kool Kukumber Boys are attempting a scholarship fund drive. So far they have raised only enough money to send a member to Obedience School. . . . Our Copy Cat, Baldassaro DiVincenzo Mitten, reports that a renovation of the Town Hall cannot come soon enough. "We have more gaping holes in the walls, floors and ceilings of the administration offices than we have in a Swiss cheese factory," Mitten said. "With any luck, we'll find that the last manager didn't quit, but is still trying to find his way out of the building."

The $35,466 'mistake'

matter to be decided, the Zadrans continued to attend the Belleville public schools. The family remained at the same address at Convent Court Condominiums. Springer held the Zadrans liable for tuition payment only from the time the petition was filed, and not from the time they moved into the disputed address.

"Mr. Zadrans urges that it would be unfair to exclude his children from Belleville schools because he is the innocent victim of unfortunate misunderstanding," Springer stated.

"But the Board is equally if not more blameless, and Mr. Zadrans' apparent good faith does not alter the geographic realities of the situation."

"Whatever remedies the family may possess against persons who may have misrepresented the facts to him, his purity of intent cannot justify admitting his children to a school district in which they do not live."

THE MONEY MAKERS - Their elders should do as well in investing as did the prize winning members of the School 3 Stock Market club.

School 3 students score in Stock Market tourney

By Raffaella Saulino

School 3 is proud to announce the winners of the fall Stock Market Game Competition sponsored by the New Jersey Council on Economic Education.

More than 3,000 elementary and secondary teachers from over 500 districts participate in council-sponsored workshops, conferences and programs each year.

On Friday, Jan. 24, 10 students, their teachers and principal were invited to attend the awards ceremony at Merrill Lynch Corporate Headquarters in Plainsboro.

The fourth to sixth grade students entered the competition with a hypothetical $100,000 to invest. The Stock Market Game involves over 30,000 students from grades four through college each school year.

Over the course of 10 weeks, using newspapers and calculators, the students researched their stocks, developed a stock portfolio and agonized over their choices as the New York Stock Market went up and down.

At the end of the 10 weeks, two out of the six teams finished in the top three positions in Division I, grades 4-6.

The second-place team realized a portfolio equity of $116,924 and consisted of team members Patrick Francione, Derrick Iavarone, Nicholas Marino, Jonathan Valentin and Logan Williams. The third place team realized a portfolio equity of $112,894 and consisted of team members Samantha Buttacavoli, Melissa Ciccone, Alicia Cook, Melissa Porecco and Krystina Silva.

Mary Bradley and Isobel Villano were the advisers. Both teachers have been using this unique method of teaching economics and mathematics to their students for several years. The January 1997 presentation marks the third year in a row that School 3 students have placed in the top three categories.

A child's view of retirement in a mobile park

After a Christmas break, the teacher asked her small pupils how they spent their holidays. One small boy's reply went like this:

"We always spent Christmas with Grandpa and Grandma. They used to live here in a big brick house, but Grandpa got retarded and they moved to Florida. They live in a place with a lot of retarded people. They live in tin huts. They ride big three-wheel tricycles. They go to a big building they call a wrecked hall. But if it was wrecked, it is fixed now. They play games there and do exercises, but they don't do them very well. There is a swimming pool and they go to it and just stand there in the water with their hats on - I guess they don't know how to swim. My grandma used to bake cookies and stuff, but I guess she forgot how. Nobody cooks there, they all go to fast food restaurants. As you come into the park, there is a doll house with a man sitting in it. He watches all day, so they can't get out without him seeing them. They wear badges with their names on them. I guess they don't know who they are. My grandma said grandpa worked hard all his life and earned his retardment. I wish they would move back home, but I guess the man in the doll house won't let them out.

I ran into Jack Pignatello the other day and he informed me that he had triple by-pass surgery and is now on the road to recovery.

Condolences to Bob Johnson who lost his brother, Francis, who also happens to be Bea Beshwick's son-in-law. Also to Edith Risolli who lost her sister. My condolences to Kevin Kennedy and family who also lost his brother last week.

Welcome back to Phyllis Grainger.

A happy birthday to Victoria Splendoria, to Josephine Molinaro, Jean Goglia and Sylvia Paganelli (belated).

A happy anniversary to Tony and Chris Rotonda and to Mr. and Mrs. Art Fatturoso.

Last week, when I wrote about the 95th birthday party of Mildred Sarrecchia, I inadvertently left out the name of Richard Costa, spouse of Natalie, so Richard, accept my apology.

Frank Candalora tells me his wife's going to have a baby. I wonder if Frank is pulling my leg. What's the joke, Frank?

A belated birthday to Alice Bezalla. And Marie Cataldo just became a great grandmother (named Joseph).

A couple of weeks ago, I saw a television report where they had put a fire hydrant in the middle of a New York street. A few days later, they had to remove it because it was a mistake. Well, in Belleville at Franklin Avenue and Jorammon Street, on the northeast corner, they have put the telephone poles in the middle of the sidewalk. They are going to realign that section. I can tell you that it's going to be very dangerous for anyone on the sidewalk. Take a look and you will know what I mean.

Well, it looks like our Council members have given themselves a nice raise. While I believe that a raise may have been justified, I don't think doubling your salary is justified. They knew what the salary was when they ran for office. I must commend Angie Passerchia, John DiGori and Mayor Vic Canning for having the courage to vote against the ordinance. Voting for such a large increase is not setting a good example for other employees of the town.

Many people are getting telephone calls stating that they have won large sums of money in a contest they have entered. They are told that they must pay the taxes in advance and to mail a check to an address that is usually out of the country and that the winning amount will be sent to them. Of course, they are still waiting for their winnings as it's a big scam. Do not send any money to anyone requesting cash in advance. Call the police to check it out or someone you can trust. Seniors, beware!

Lifeline Credit Program is a State of New Jersey program that helps seniors 65 or older or anyone 18 or older who receives Social Security disability benefits, with a $225 credit toward energy bills. If your income is less than $17,056 (single) and less than $20,913 for couples, you may be eligible. Call 1-800-792-9745 for more information.

YOUR OPINION

A pensioner's plight

To the editor:

I felt I had to respond to the article that appeared in the Star-Ledger on Feb. 1, 1997. In this article, a board member is quoted as to what the teachers want in their contract and also what they will not concede to. I am here to speak on the issue of the hospitalization plan, which was also quoted in that article.

We, as adults, all know life is not fair and many families in Belleville can attest to this. I would like to tell you about one family.

My husband worked for 25 years for the International Union of Operating Engineers. He has an associate degree in building construction technology from NJIT, formerly NCE. Each year, my husband paid dues and each week, money was taken out of his paycheck to pay for hospitalization costs.

As I said before, life is not fair and last January, my husband had to retire at age 55 due to ill health. At this time, $100 per month was taken out of pension checks for retirees hospitalization for life.

My husband's first pension check began in March of 1996. In June 1996, we received a letter from the union explaining that the Board of Trustees had restructured the hospitalization plan for its retirees and the retirees of the future. As of July 1, 1996, we would have to pay an extra $225 per month for basic hospitalization, which brings the total to $325 per month taken from my husband's pension check. This plan does not include dental or prescription, which would have cost us extra, bringing the total to $525 per month.

The amount of years for hospitalization was also restructured with reduced coverage to eight years when previously it was for life. The reason they gave us for this change was that the union could not afford to give the retirees the coverage without the increase because of the high cost of medical and hospital fees. We also have to use the services of the participating doctors. There were no negotiations with the members, nor were the members allowed to vote. This was voted on by the Board of Trustees to keep the plan solvent, and we were informed of this by mail.

I am not here to debate one faction nor to glorify another. Two wrongs do not make a right. I am here as a parent and I wanted this example of what happened to one family to shed some light on what is exactly happening all around our country today. I only hope that both sides can go into negotiations with two words: harmony and concession. We give and take each day in this world. When the harvest reaps a good crop, we can all eat fillet mignon, but when the harvest is lean, we turn to chop meat. We must all live by the cards that divine intervention sends us.

Above all, please remember the children. What are we teaching them by these actions? They are our greatest asset. They are the future.

Answers To Your Questions About The Earned Income Credit

Provided by H&R Block

Question: What is the earned income credit?

Answer: The earned income credit (EIC) is a special credit for working taxpayers with earned and modified adjusted gross income of less than $28,495 (with two or more qualifying children); $25,078 (with one qualifying child); and $9,500 (with no children). However, taxpayers may not claim the credit if they have a total of more than $2,200 of investment income, including such amounts as interest, dividends, and gains from the sale of investment property. Anyone who was a nonresident alien at any time during the year cannot qualify for the earned income credit. In addition, resident aliens cannot qualify for the credit unless they are authorized to work in the United States.

Question: What are the qualifications for an individual or a couple with no children?

Answer: Individuals (and married couples who file a joint income tax return) with no children are eligible if they meet the following criteria:

- The individual has a principal residence in the United States for over half the year;
- The individual (or if married, either the individual or his or her spouse) is at least 25 but not yet 65 at the end of the tax year; and
- The individual may not be claimed as a dependent for any tax year beginning in the same calendar year as the individual's tax year.

Life in Silver Lake By Marie Strumolo Burke

It's almost a reality. Our own mini-police station.

Oh - and for those who don't know, it's on wheels.

The chief honcho, Lt. Frank Manno, tells me that sometime in April or early May, our station will arrive and will be located in St. Anthony's lot, across from the church. And it will remain there for three, yes, I said, three long years.

How lucky can we get?

Well, for starters let me thank all the Silver Lake people who signed petitions for a mini-station. But the signed petitions meant nothing if it weren't for the efforts of Councilwoman Angela Paserchia buzzing into our great state Sen. John Scott's ear. The senator obtained a state grant for this mini-station, and the rest is history, folks.

Our three-man team is comprised of Commander-in-Chief Frank Manno and Officers John Martucci and George Geyer. The officers have already begun their walking campaign Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The grant is a partnership between the police and the community, which it serves to enhance the quality of life in Silver Lake. Our community policing unit has a lot of programs planned. For Christmas, they were in touch with Principal Mike Harvey of School 4 to inform the parents about the "Toys for Tots" program. The students brought in new toys, wrapped them in school and the community policing unit distributed them to needy families of Silver Lake. Lt. Manno said that it was a success.

Some other programs will include a bicycle registration and safety program at the mini-station. Health screening and crime prevention tips and literature will also be available at the unit.

Remember, this mini-station will not take the place of our regular police cars. We will still have our regular cars patrolling the area. This station is in addition to what we have, which makes us doubly safe.

As always, if you need a police car or any emergency, just dial 450-3333 and 911 for an emergency. The mini-police station number is 450-3444.

Now that the spring is approaching, we will see our merry police officers whistling and walking up and down our streets. Offer them a cool drink or a cup of coffee and "shoot the breeze" with them. Remember, they are our friends.

Silver Lake's 1997 scholarship - Hey, all you BHS seniors out there, drop in at the guidance office to pick up your scholarship application.

You never know. You may be the winner of one SLCA scholarship in the whopping amount of $500. Good luck.

An evening with Bobby Byrne - Tickets are available to our Bobby Byrne night, which will be held on Saturday, April 5, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Bridge Street. The price per ticket is $25, which will include finger sandwiches, salads, beer, soda, coffee and dessert, and a show that you'll never forget.

I was one of the people who asked last year: who is Bobby Byrne? Boy, did I find out. He is a professional entertainer that kept the audience alive. If you were there last year, I know you'll return.

Be in touch with the "Angel" by calling her at 759-2703.

St. Anthony's Feast - Moving right along, the Feast of St. Anthony's is approaching. The dates are June 13, 14 and 15 on Heckel Street. If you would like to be a vendor at the feast, be in contact with Angela Cuzzo-Zarro at 759-2703. The feast was a huge success last year and we plan to make it bigger and better.

I hope all of you out there had a wonderful St. Valentine's Day and got treated by your loved one as I did.

Remember, we love Silver Lake.

EARLY VISITOR - Young Stephen and his aunt, Beverly Delli, were visitors to School 9, recently, introducing the young man to education.

Refreshing news about chronic fatigue

By Robert Ruffalo, PT, DC, CCSP

Once known as "The Yuppie Flu," Chronic Fatigue Syndrome has finally gained the attention it deserves. In the past, people suffering from this debilitating and sometimes painful disease were thought of as chronic complainers. It wasn't until 1988 that the Center for Disease Control identified a set of factors to define the illness.

"I always felt exhausted and could never catch up with my daily routine," stated my patient, Josephine, 30, and a mother of three school-aged children. "I just thought it was the stage of life I'm in. I hated to complain all the time."

Josephine had come to see me about some pain she was experiencing in her lower back which had lasted over six months. This was one of the criteria set forth when evaluating patients for Chronic Fatigue Syndrome or Fibromyalgia. After reviewing her medical history and evaluating her posture, it seemed obvious to me. Not only was she in a very busy part of her life, but her symptoms were severe enough to slow her down.

Common symptoms associated with Chronic Fatigue Syndrome are fever, swollen glands, muscle weakness and muscle pain, recurring headache, joint pain, and trouble sleeping. In extreme cases, individuals can't get out of bed and suffer from depression. As with the varying symptoms, there are varying treatments available.

Upon advice from your physician, physical therapy can provide relief to patients suffering from Chronic Fatigue/Fibromyalgia. Poor posture and inefficient movement patterns contribute to the lower back pain. By stretching and manipulating soft tissue to lengthen the short muscle groups, patients learn that inefficient movements and bad posture are what causes the pain.

Walking is one of the best recommendations. By starting slowly on the treadmill, a tailored exercise regime improved Josephine's condition. Although it seems impossible for patients to exert themselves, an exercise program which starts off very slowly and progresses to each new level is the best means of battling Chronic fatigue through physical therapy. Cardiovascular exercise on either a treadmill or stationary bicycle helps to maintain good postural movements and establishes a better breathing pattern too.

Most patients are eager to feel better. Through an exercise program, physical therapists can guide the patients through their anxiety and fear of overexertion. Patients tend to get on with their lives, which can mean restoring their previous level of function.

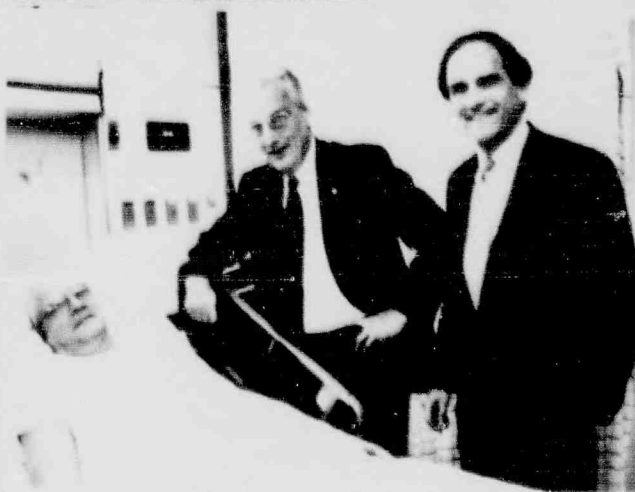

"I really do feel better since I started exercising. Now my only problem is the car pooling, helping with homework, making dinner and working part time!" Josephine exclaimed. "At least I have the energy to keep up!"

Now that you're feeling better, Josephine, how about that pie you promised to bake me?"

Do you become confused by all of the conflicting reports on the news? Do you wonder from where all of these studies come?

Well there are a few simple tools that you can use to weed through these stories.

Research is conducted to gather information about how certain factors affect the human body. This information helps physicians and dietitians treat patients more effectively.

However, reports are posted with conflicting results and some unbelievable results that can confuse and potentially harm the consumer.

Studies conducted to meet one's person agenda lack, at the very least, objectivity.

For example, Hershey Corporation recently supported research that indicated the fat in chocolate is not as harmful to the heart as other forms of fat.

Before you binge on chocolate be advised that Hershey, without a doubt, will boost sales with such a study which they supported. Furthermore, no other studies have come to the same conclusions.

This is an example of research which must be taken with a grain of salt.

The next time you hear a report on the news about research, ask these questions:

1. Who conducted the study? They may have a personal interest in the outcome.

2. Who funded the study?

3. Was the study endorsed by a respected professional organization like the American Dietetic Association.

4. Have other studies supported these findings?

5. Were any disclaimers provided with the press release?

For example, a study came out about a year ago which stated that people should double the amount of vitamin C being consumed. However, this study was conducted on only seven people. Do you think that seven people can represent all the different types of people in the U.S.? Most likely not!

The answers to the above questions can help you, the consumer, protect yourself from potentially harmful media hype. Be prepared and stay safe!

Clara Maass offers advice
at the touch of a button

Are you considering giving blood this month, but aren't sure if you're eligible?

Tel-Med, Clara Maass Medical Center's free information line, has answers to donors' frequently asked questions.

This 24-hour service at the Belleville medical center contains recorded information on topics ranging from diabetes to the common cold, and is available to all Clara Maass patients and New Jersey residents.

To access the service, users simply dial 450-2800, then dial the code number of the topic of their choice.

For information about donating blood, dial code number 759. Tel-Med also offers the following topics under blood and circulation: AIDS and blood transfusions (code number 573); anemia (334); atherosclerosis and high blood pressure (573); blood transfusion options (653); hypertension and blood pressure (625); phlebitis (119); and sickle cell anemia (566).

Marlene French, Clara Maass' manager of volunteer services, believes all members of the community benefit from this service, whether they have a condition mentioned on the service, or they want to learn more about their own health.

"This service encourages people to see their doctor, who provides an educated diagnosis," she added. "Tel-Med is an educational tool -- not an electronic replacement for trained medical professionals."

Tel-Med is not to be used in cases of emergency, or to decide if an individual is experiencing a health problem, French said.

Choosing the right lens for your frame

Today, I would like to talk about the style of lenses we put in eyeglasses. Although it seems the options are endless, to me, most patients are really confused as to what they need or want in lenses. I'll leave a discussion on materials for the next time.

First, we talk about single vision lenses. These are simply lenses which focus for either distance, far or near. These are the least costly.

Then we have bifocals. These lenses are used to see two different focal points clearly without removing or changing glasses. There are a number of shapes and sizes of bifocal segments from a small circular one to larger half-moon-shaped segs and even all the way across the lens. Depending on the person's visual demands or cosmetics, we might recommend a particular type.

The trifocal has two lines, allowing vision at three different distances. They come in all the widths as the bifocal. People with special visual needs, like computers or some other intermediate need, might like these.

Probably the most high tech lens is the invisible bifocal. There are two lenses which must be explained to you. One type is a blended bifocal which is nothing more than a bifocal with the line smudged out. These don't cost as much but there's no functional advantage to them, only cosmetic. The other is called a progressive addition lens. This is a true multi-focal meaning it has a multitude of focal points. This lens allows for sight at any distance. It costs more but you function better with it. You may have heard the word Varilux which is probably the best brand name of progressive lenses.

These are the basic choices, but there are others. The point is that glasses are a custom item which you and your doctor decide is appropriate for you.

Next installment will concern materials these styles can be made of. Remember, design and material affect vision, weight and cosmetics. It is important to know what you're selecting.

Mary Vicens and Peggy Walsh, residents of Colonial Sheltered Care Home, get ready to share some cookies, a gift of the Bloomfield Women's Club.

Colonial offers seniors alternative to living alone

Sometimes life can be very difficult and it is even harder when you have to face problems alone. Often just having someone to talk to can be a big help. Colonial Sheltered Care Home, 90 Williamson Ave., Bloomfield, offers an alternative to living alone.

Colonial is a state-licensed residential health care facility for just 17 women. Colonial is in a turn-of-the-century house, complete with a large screened-in porch, picturesque stained glass windows and a patio. Colonial is located in a lovely residential area of Bloomfield, about seven blocks from the center of town.

Because most of Colonial's residents are long term, they become like a large family. They share memories, celebrate birthdays and holidays together, show off their grand-kids, and offer each other emotional support in times of need. Best of all, they have daily company and a social life, instead of being in an apartment all alone every day.

Of course, Colonial Sheltered Care Home offers all the services of a residential health care facility - 24-hour staffing, medication supervision, personal care assistance, meals and laundry. Surprisingly, they can offer all this for a very reasonable rate, between $1050 and $1300 a month.

For information, call 743-4143.

Hospital foundation offers free financial planning series

The Mountainside Hospital Foundation is offering a free comprehensive financial planning series to all members of the community.

All seminars are free of charge and will be held in the auditorium of Mountainside Hospital, Bay and Highland avenues, Glen Ridge.

The series is comprised of three seminars covering the topics of general financial planning, risk management and long-term care, investment planning, advanced tax planning and estate planning. While the greatest benefit will accrue to those who attend all three seminars, each seminar may be taken individually.

Seminar I, "Financial Planning: An Overview, Insurance and Risk Management and Long-Term Care," will offer tips on how to save when buying insurance - including life, health, disability and liability insurance - so that participants will know the coverage they need without paying for extras they can't use. The seminar will also help you assess your long-term health care needs and obtain the protection you need against the potentially catastrophic costs of long-term medical care. This seminar will be offered on Thursday, Feb. 20, from 7:30 p.m. 8:15 p.m.

Seminar II, "Investment Planning," will explore stocks, bonds, mutual funds and more. This seminar will address many common concerns, such as "how much should go where." It will address minimizing risks and maximizing returns, and diversifying investments for growth and income. Participants will learn the best options for their financial needs and goals.

This seminar will be offered on Tuesday, Feb. 25, from 7:30 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Seminar III, "Advanced Tax Planning and Estate Planning," will show you how to keep more of your earnings from investments, business and wages. This seminar will provide tips on deferring or even eliminating taxes. Additionally, it will teach effective estate planning techniques and preparation, including such issues as wills, trusts and property protection. This seminar will be offered twice this winter: Tuesday, Feb. 25, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and Wednesday, March 12, from 7:30 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

To register or for more information, call the Mountainside Hospital Foundation at 429-6130.

Congressman Pascrell visits cancer center

Congressman Bill Pascrell, D-8, recently visited the new Garden State Cancer Center in Belleville and pledged to fight for the remaining $15 million needed to complete the facility.

"I was honored to be able to see first-hand how remarkable this facility is," stated Pascrell. "With this terrible disease afflicting so many of our families, a state-of-the-art treatment center like this was sorely needed. It will serve as an integral part of the battle against cancer in Essex County and throughout our state. I will work tirelessly to secure the necessary funds to complete this important project."

Pascrell also announced that he had sponsored a bill in the Congress which will curb the trend of placing the profit motive ahead of reasonable hospital stays for the treatment of breast cancer.

The legislation is known as the DeLauro-Dingell-Roukema Breast Cancer Patient Protection Act of 1997. It requires longer hospital stays for treatments such as mastectomies and lymph node dissections. The length of hospitalization for these procedures has been reduced significantly in the past decade, as Health Maintenance Organizations (HMO's) exert pressure on doctors and hospitals to cut costs. Providers have had to perform these treatments as outpatient surgery. The bill would require a minimum hospital stay of 48 hours for mastectomies and 24 hours for lymph node removals.

Groups such as the National Breast Cancer Coalition, the National Association of Breast Care Organizations, the Y-Me National Breast Cancer Organization, the Families USA Foundation, the Women's Legal Defense Fund and the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons have expressed their strong support for the effort.

Are You Experiencing Any Of These Symptoms?

Some common vision conditions

Nearsightedness (Myopia). You see close objects more clearly than those at a distance.

Farsightedness (Hyperopia). You see far objects more clearly than close ones.

Astigmatism. You see blurry or distorted objects at all distances, because the front part of your eye (cornea) is slightly irregular in shape.

Presbyopia. A natural part of aging begins to blur your reading and near vision by about age 40-45 and gradually worsens.

Glaucoma. A build-up of excess fluid in your eye, causing internal pressure and damage to the optic nerve. Can result in severe vision loss and even blindness.

Cataracts. A clouding of the clear lens of your eye that distorts entering light, causing blurred or hazy vision. Can lead to blindness if not diagnosed and treated.

If so, you may need vision help.

OUR OPINION

What kind of victory?

The announcement was made by a member of the Board of Education that some $41,000 in judgments has been awarded to the School District by the courts against non-resident families whose children had been enrolled in the public schools illegally.

Of this, some $35,000 was assessed to a single family, whose four children have been attending the schools for several years.

For most of that time, the children of this family were legal residents of Belleville. Then they moved to a new apartment, which was advertised as being in Belleville, but was actually in the city limits of Newark.

An administrative law judge found that the family acted in good faith and "honestly thought" it was in Belleville.

Nevertheless, the court ruled - and State Commissioner of Education Leo Klagholz affirmed - that the money was owed to the Belleville school district.

Fortunately for the taxpayers, Board Attorney Frank Pomaco is not charging the fees to which he should be entitled as he litigates these cases.

But it is unlikely that the Board will ever see much of that $35,000.

The Board, of course, is obligated to limiting enrollment to the children of legal residents. However, when a student is booted for non-residency, not a single dime is taken out of the school budget, regardless of the claim that the cost of educating that student is saved.

What is eliminated is the state aid allotted per pupil.

In Belleville, that could be as much as $5,000 per high school student, and $4,000 per grade school student, this year. But, of course, it would be money to which the Board is not entitled.

Legally, the Board cannot close its eyes to the presence of illegal students. But getting them out of the system is not so much a saving as some claim it to be, but is, instead, a necessary and expensive chore.

It is also not conducive to good citizenship - in our opinion - to offer bounties to students to turn in their classmates.

The schools last year managed to reduce the number of students by 23, simply by sending out questionnaires on residency.

It was a more effective way of screening out non-residents than frightening children.

Promoting the township

A spokesman for Keyes-Martin Advertising addressed the recent Belleville 2000 conference at the Municipal Building, and discussed ways of promoting the township.

He promised to return with a formal proposal. The idea of promoting the town is a good one, because name recognition is 90 percent of the campaign, as any politician will tell you. Image is all, you might say.

Generally speaking, Belleville has been known as the town that refused to have customer parking until all the stores on Washington Avenue - once a major shopping hub - had disappeared.

It is the town noted for brawling officials whose sense of decorum placed them somewhere on the pre-Kindergarten level.

It is known for the shouted slogan, during a debate about a proposed new municipal building - "It's too good for Belleville!"

It is known for taking one step forward, as in the establishment of Mayor-Council Manager form of government, and then taking two steps backward by putting political influence back in the saddle.

It is noted as a town that hates its school system, which has been rated among the top 30 in the state. It loves its marching band and its high school teams, and fights tooth and nail to prevent their being funded.

What has the town got going for it?

Well, it is still a melting pot community, mainstreaming newcomers into the American system, whether the population likes it or not.

It is one of the few places where a family can find a house that is not in the best of shape, and make it into a bright new home.

It is the home of hardworking families and elders who have served their nation in peace and war and simply want to enjoy well earned retirement.

It is also a place that holds an important place in American history, whether it knows it or not.

We believe that by tying the loose ends together, we can create a picture of a community where history began, where it continues and where it will go on.

The late New Jersey poet, William Carlos Williams, wrote "In The American Grain".

He was talking about the mill towns and suburbs of New Jersey, but it is a description that is applicable to Belleville. You can't be more American than that.

YOUR OPINION

Mayor explains appointment

To the editor:

As elected officials, the fight to stabilize taxes is a constant vigil that creates the necessity to reduce or eliminate costs while maintaining services to the residents of Belleville. This council has taken a firm stance on creating a more cost-effective government.

As a result, over the next six weeks we will complete a major reorganization of several departments along with our Administrative Code. The proposed changes, we believe, will provide the much needed relief to township taxpayers, while providing efficiency in services. Our plan calls for the elimination of both the chiefs of the Police Department and Fire Department. The Manager will assume the responsibilities of Director of Public Safety.

The council recognizes that such a bold direction requires unique circumstances to prevail. It is not an option for many other communities because of the special and diverse background an individual assuming such a position would need. Having said that, the township is fortunate to have a uniquely qualified individual with a diverse background who has worked for the township the last 33 years - Raymond Kimble.

Chief Kimble was first employed as a police officer in February 1964. He moved up the ranks to sergeant in 1967, lieutenant in 1973, captain in 1981, deputy chief in 1982 and chief in 1992. Chief Kimble has worked to make Belleville a better place most of his adult life.

He also believes in family values and community involvement. Chief Kimble's wife, Maire and two daughter, Lisa and Linda, are Belleville school teachers. His youngest son, Steven, is an attorney-at-law and his eldest son, Raymond, Jr., has followed his father as a Belleville Police Officer and is an attorney-at-law. Raymond Kimble has been a great family man.

As Chief of the Police Department, his department is recognized throughout the state and nationally for its excellency in performance. Raymond's initiatives have dramatically improved the efficiency and the quality of police services.

Belleville is a community that borders the City of Newark. According to the FBI five-year crime index for Belleville for 1991-95, every major crime index has been reduce by significant percentages. However, the FBI rated Newark one of the top five most violent cities in the nation.

As a council, we recognize the importance of solid police protection to the community. The Municipal Council, and the citizens, should be proud of the accomplishments of the Police Department in protecting our community, under the direction of Chief Kimble.

It is clear to this council that Raymond Kimble's educational background, experience and administrative abilities make him a proven leader with the unique ability to handle the task set before him.

This council believes the above reorganization is very cost effective. The current salary for Manager is approximately $90,000 and the chiefs of the police and fire is $205,810 for a total annual cost of $295,810. With the added responsibilities of Director of Public Safety, the annual of salary will be $10,000. The township will realize a savings of approximately $185,810. This savings is significant to the township's total budget cost.

The municipal council is frequently confronted by citizens about helping to reduce the burden on the taxpayers while maintaining quality services. By reorganizing the various departments and administrative code we are fulfilling the wishes of the taxpayers yet maintaining honest, efficient and cost-effective government.

Mayor Victor Canting

• TV evangelist Jimmy Swaggart who was caught with his pants down still has the power to let the tears roll. • ACCORDING to a report in the February 10th issue of USA Today, the cable company, TCI (Tele-Communications Inc.) was reported to have engaged for its president Leo Hindery, Jr., CEO of InterMedia partners. The newspaper account suggests that the move indicates TCI is up for sale. TCI has a debt of about $15 Billion and losing money like it's going out of style. To reduce its losses a couple of months ago, the company cut spending, laid off employees, raised subscriber rates and cut program services. Hindery is very bottom line oriented and his major reputation is as a deal maker. TCI major stockholder, CEO John Malone, who almost sold TCI to Bell Atlantic in 1993, reportedly still wants to sell the company to cut his losses.

• A JUDGE in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, last Wednesday, was obliged to render a decision concerning a three-year-old black Labrador retriever accused of killing a rooster. The act led to a charge of the Labrador retriever being labeled a vicious animal that should be put to death. The dog, Prince, is neutered and has a history of getting out of his house and escaping his back yard run. The owner, Jason Stiles, 25, said,

"We call him Houdini because he always manages to find away to get out of his fenced in quarters." Last August on one of his freedom walks around town, Prince happened upon a fenced-in menagerie which caused the rooster penned in, a pure-bred Bantam, got rattled and flapped over the 5 1/2 foot chain-link fence that surrounds a little pond and red weather-beaten shed he called home. The rooster known as Gus flapped over the fence and flew the coop, and when he landed on the pavement, there was the Labrador by nature a retriever of fowl who grabbed him. The rooster's owner said that Prince chewed the rooster a little which led onlookers to cry. As fate would have it, the frisky rooster killer was being held at the Portsmouth Animal Hospital across from his former home. Prince's coat is shiny and ink black. He is also blind. The blindness was caused by a stick Prince may have run into in the woods on one of his outings. Prince is subject to a death sentence. A city ordinance passed several years ago requires that the penalty for Prince's crime is death. It was the third strike after twice being picked up after running loose and now he is out. His owners were summoned to court for permitting the dog repeatedly to run loose - a violation of the ordinance. Unfortunately, the owners didn't pay, it's the dog that pays. New Hampshire Governor Jeannie Shaheen has requested a pardon hearing for the dog if it gets a death sentence. The local City Prosecutor is against the death sentence. The veterinarian has been threatened by anonymous callers. He said one caller stated that if he euthanized Prince, he will be euthanized. Since the matter became public over 100 calls were made from people offering to adopt the dog. The vet said it would be against his moral and ethical judgment to put Prince to death. He is thinking about writing a book from the view point of his own dog entitled, "I Dated a Rooster Killer".

Rollo Entertainment opens in Montclair

By Kelly Tahaney

An Englishman in Montclair has just started an entertainment company and he's on the look out for new talent.

John Rollo, originally of London now a Glen Ridge resident, bought an old theater at 180 Bloomfield Avenue.

Rollo wants to create a Motown atmosphere at his studio.

HOROSCOPES

Feb. 23-March 5

ARIES - March 21/April 20
Romance is fun and exciting this week, Aries. Clearly it's what keeps the hop in your step. Don't shy away from new opportunities. Take time out of your busy schedule to get to know somebody new. Don't think serious. Think fun. Then, sit back, and enjoy the wonder that every day brings.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21
If you have been edgy and uncomfortable around others, this is a good week to set aside time to figure things out. Work on your people skills. There's no better place to start than at home. When family members challenge your patience, take a deep breath, sit back, and roll with it.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21
This week, you'll find extra time to catch up on chores. Don't waste it away. You face your worst enemy Tuesday and Wednesday: downtime at work. Stay focused on smaller projects, even some you may deem unimportant. Remember, there are no small roles, only small actors.

CANCER - June 22/July 22
Have a case of the midwinter blues? Stop hiding in the house, and have some fun. Outdoor activity will warm you up this week. Make sure the rest of your body joins you. Think ski resorts, ice-skating rinks, even building snowmen. A Libra has good news on Friday.

LEO - July 23/August 23
Money is tight this week, Leo. Watch your spending. Tired of trying to figure out your life's mission? Relax and roll with the punches. You know, you don't always have to have all the answers. A female Capricorn friend looks to you for romantic advice. Practice patience.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
Looking for a new job? Try especially hard this week to not let new opportunities scare you off. Know your skills, and learn their value. Read the paper, call your contacts, and see what else is out there. You never know. Your dream job could be at the end of your phone line.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Use this week wisely, Libra. Study your romantic relationship carefully, and figure out what's missing. Are you and your partner making equal efforts? Now is not the time to be lazy or to show your flirtatious side to gain security. You have to stop depending on others to make you feel good about yourself; it's time you take this job on yourself.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
It's a busy week for you, Scorpio, and you'll find little time to even breathe. That's OK. A busy routine equals happiness for you. A new project at work has you perplexed Monday and Tuesday, but by Friday, you are left with nothing but sheer satisfaction and relief.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Put some movies on your calendar this week, Sagittarius. Lately, you seem to have let others' favorite things get in the way of your own. At home, it's best to keep your guard up. Tension on the home front is good incentive for a weekend getaway. Make the most of it.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
Settle down, and focus this week, Capricorn. Colleagues are depending on you to get the job done — and to get it done fast. But distractions are hard for you to pass up. Making the most of your time will only work to your benefit. Don't forget details. Your superiors are watching.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
A social event on Saturday has you confused. It seems as though your close friends always have other plans. Still, Saturday presents a good opportunity to make new acquaintances and even some business contacts. Don't pass it up on your friends' busy schedules.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20
You're called upon for many decisions this week, Pisces. A romantic partner is feeling neglected, and you'll be asked to think hard about what's important to you. Do it. You need to know for your own well-being, too. A letter from a friend brings surprising news.

Essex County basketball tourney enters stretch run

Fans of high school basketball in Essex County should be in their glory this weekend. The semi final round for both the girls and boys will be contested at Bloomfield High School and Essex County College respectively. The winners will play for the championship on March 1. Both of those games will be at Essex County College.

There aren't many surprises in the boys or girls division this year. For the boys, the defending champ, Seton Hall Prep, will take battle Orange in one semi. Seton Hall has just one loss this year and is the odds-on favorite to win the title for the second straight year.

Orange has a good tradition in the E.C.T. The Tornados last played for the championship in 1988, losing to Shabazz. While they haven't won a title in many years, they generally make it to at least the quarter final round.

The other semi in the boys division features Irvington against Shabazz. Irvington, without question the team of the 90's in Essex County, is appearing in its seventh straight semi final. Irvington won four straight titles from 1992-95. Last year, they advanced to the semi finals before losing to Seton Hall Prep.

Shabazz has been a power in the county for the past 20 years. In 1978, they lost in the title game to Valley High School.

In the early 80's, they made it to the title game two years in a row (1981-82), losing to East Orange and Shabazz respectively. Following a slight drought, the Bulldogs returned to prominence in 1988, winning the championship. They lost the '89 title game to Clifford Scott, but avenged the loss in 1990, beating the Scotties for the title.

Last year, Shabazz advanced to the semis, losing there to a good Montclair team.

The consensus is Seton Hall Prep and Shabazz for the championship, but I'll go with Seton Hall Prep and Irvington for the title game.

In the girls division, defending champion Columbia looks like a good choice to repeat, but it won't be easy. Without question, the "Final Four" in girls basketball is one of the most competitive in years.

Columbia will play Shabazz in one semi this weekend, Shabazz having stopped previously undefeated Bloomfield Tech in the quarterfinals last week. Both schools have long standing traditions of excellence in the tournament.

Columbia won back-to-back titles in the late 70's, (1978-79) and advanced to the '80 title game before losing to East Orange. Last year, the Cougars returned to the title game and beat Bloomfield. This year, Columbia was undefeated heading into this weeks action.

Shabazz was the team of the 80's in girls basketball in Essex County, winning four straight crowns from 1982-85. The Lady Bulldogs also appeared in the '87 title game, losing to University.

Shabazz won its fifth county crown in 1991, beating Clifford Scott. In '92, Scott began a three year run as county champ, beating Shabazz in the finals. Scott held the title from '92-94. In 1995, Mt. St. Dominic won its first championship.

In the other semi this weekend, Bloomfield and Caldwell will square off. Bloomfield has two county crowns to its credit (1988 and '89). In 1995 and '96, the Lady Bengals made it to the title game, but lost to Mt. St. Dominic and Columbia.

Caldwell is having a standout year. The Lady Chiefs were undefeated heading into this weeks action. It's been a long time since Caldwell has been this strong in the county tournament. You have to go back to 1983 to find the last time they made it to the semi finals.

Both games seem like toss-ups. I'm going with a rematch of last years final, with Columbia once again playing Bloomfield.

Tradition plays a major role in the county tournament. Irvington has been a force in the 90's for the boys and in the 80's, Montclair was the dominant team, playing in four straight title games and winning three of them. East Orange won back-to-back titles in the late 80's, keeping up their winning tradition.

From 1974-77, East Orange captured four straight titles, easily making them the team of the 70's.

Regular season coming to an end

Wrestlers defeat Paramus C.

By Mike Lamberti

The Belleville wrestling team came through with a break out performance last week, stopping league rival Paramus Catholic, 71-6.

The Bucs did not compete in a tri meet last weekend at Bloomfield.

Joe Nisivoccia's team has a busy week of action as the regular season winds down.

The team had two matches earlier this week and is scheduled to be at Newark Academy tomorrow afternoon in the regular season finale.

The district championships begin next Friday, February 28. This year, they will be held at Nutley High School.

"The kids needed to get a win," Nisivoccia said. "It's good for their confidence. Paramus Catholic did a good job, despite the score. Their kids battled our kids pretty well."

Tim Hands started Belleville's victory parade with a pin in the 103 pound category. Hands needed just :27 to record the win.

Anthony Conte followed suit at 112 pounds, pinning his man at 3:52 of the second round.

Andre Cruz won via forfeit at

119. Mike Fusco won his bout by technical fall at 125 pounds.

Lawrence Martin, who had been sidelined with a bad case of the flu, moved up two weight classes and won at 130 pounds, pinning his man ten seconds into the third period.

Jim Costa and Frank Zarro pinned at 135 and 140 pounds respectively. Zarro's pin came just :27 into the bout.

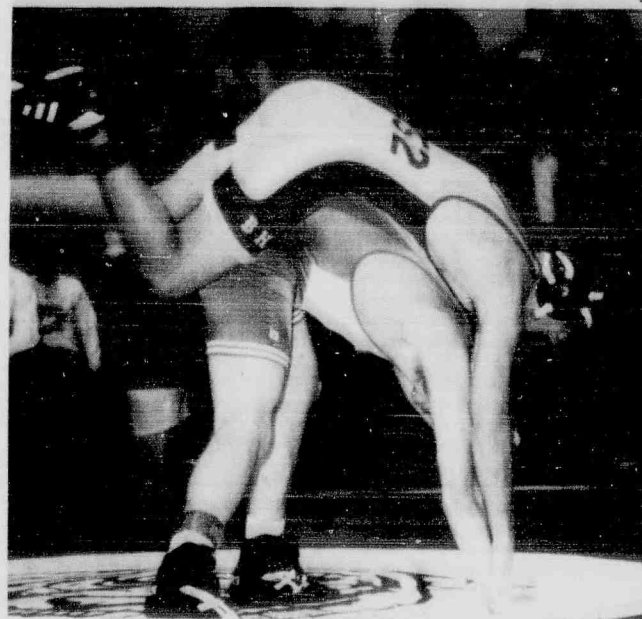

Mohammad Shama, Mike DePrimo and Jay Isip won by pins at 145, 152 and 160 pounds.

Chris Zarro earned a pin in the first period at 171 pounds to wrap up the Belleville scoring.

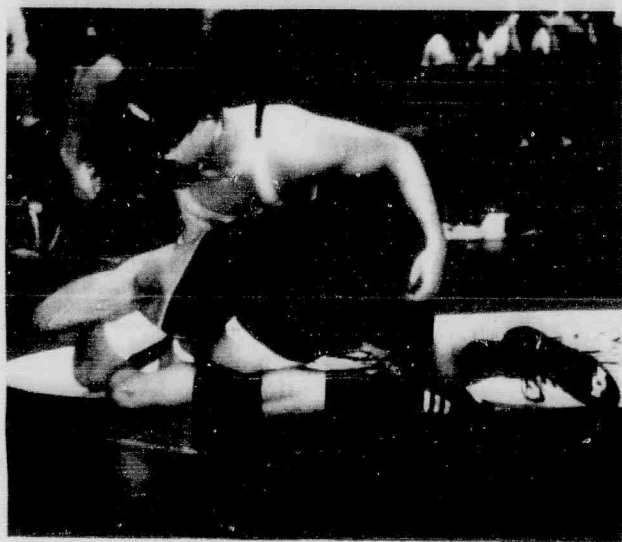

NOTES: The Bucs missed last weekends tri meet at Bloomfield, which also included Bergen Catholic, due to the snow day which occurred on Friday.

"We had kids that couldn't get into the school on Friday, and so they couldn't make weight," Nisivoccia said. "We wouldn't have been able to field a competitive team under that circumstance."

Martin, who should be 100 percent for the districts, was still hampered by the effects of the flu and probably would have missed the match last Saturday.

Mike DiPrimio battles opponent during match earlier this season. The Buc wrestling team is now getting ready for district championships, set for next weekend.

171 pounder Chris Zarro has had an outstanding season for Buc wrestling team. The senior should be highly seeded for the upcoming districts.

Mohammad Shama of Belleville has been doing a good job in the 140 pound bracket for Bucs this season. Wrestling coach Joe Nisivoccia has high hopes for Shama in the upcoming district championships.

Battle paces Bucs past Paladins, 55-48

By Mike Lamberti

When the two teams had met earlier this season, Belleville basketball coach Don Roll had warned that the Nutley Maroon Raiders were a well coached team that had the ability to beat just about any team in the conference.

Roll found out first hand last week how prophetic his words were. The Raiders used a patient offense and took advantage of numerous Buc mistakes to post a 49-45 NNJIL Pacific Division victory.

Belleville did regroup later last week and won a league game, stopping Paramus Catholic, 55-48.

The Bucs were 6-13 heading into its final game of the '96-97 season last Tuesday at Teaneck.

"I'd have to say that the loss to Nutley was our worst game of the season," Roll said. "And that's no offense to Walt (Murray, the Raiders head coach. He does a good job there. Those kids play hard in every game."

"But our team should win those types of games. It was a road game, but we had beaten them earlier in the season. Nutley dictated the tempo of the game and we weren't patient enough."

The Bucs led 14-12 after one quarter. The contest was tied at the half and Nutley slowly began to take control of the game in the second half, leading by one after three and pulling away to a four point victory.

Damon Battle had a good game for the Bucs, scoring 20 points to lead all scorers. No other Belleville player was able to score in double figures, however.

The Bucs won a home game against Paramus Catholic, beating the Paladins for the second time this season.

The key to the game was a strong fourth quarter, when the Bucs outscored P.C. by five, en route to a seven point win.

Once again, Battle was the Bucs leading scorer, this time with 17 points. Rich Otero tallied 14 and Dan Dribnak scored 11.

"It was a game we needed to win," Roll said. "At this stage of the season, it's good for the kids to get victories. That's why the game with Nutley was so important."

NOTES: The Essex County tournament heads into the semi final round this weekend at Essex County College. Seton Hall, the defending champ, takes on Orange in one semi while Irvington, winners of four straight ECT's from 1992-95, takes on Shabazz in the other semi.

This is the seventh straight season that Irvington has appeared in at least the semi final round. Shabazz also has good recent history in the E.C.T., winning it in 1988 and again in 1990.

There's plenty more on the county tournament in this weeks Buc Shots.

Kvetkus sets new record with 6 foot high jump

By Mike Lamberti

A record breaking jump by Tristyn Kvetkus was the highlight of the Buccaneer indoor track teams performance at the NNJIL championships, held on February 4.

Kvetkus, a senior, cleared 6'0", tying for first place. He finished second by way of the tie breaker.

Kvetkus' jump also set a new school record.

Ernie Compusano threw the shot a personal best of 41'1". Hero Bolante ran the 55 meters in 7.2. Santiago ran the hurdles in 9.4. Colucci finished the hurdles in 8.5 and Dana Raczyk ran 2:53.7 in the 800 meters.

High-Performance Air Duct System Helps Solve Indoor Air Quality Problems

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Most homes have conventional air duct systems which contribute to indoor air quality problems. They don't heat or cool some parts of the house as well as others, and leak air at the joints. Frequently they are noisy, and offer no protection against potential microbial growth.

In addition, the air leakage, together with lack of insulation, wastes energy dollars.

To overcome these problems, there's a rigid fiber glass duct system whose consistent high insulating value and minimal air leakage help to deliver warmed or cooled air at desired temperatures, with greater energy efficiency and improved comfort.

The system also absorbs noise, and is cleanable using standard duct-cleaning systems.

Its tough acrylic polymer airstream surface coating is even formulated with an EPA-registered anti-microbial agent for exceptional resistance to microbial growth.

Although this new SuperDuct™ system, manufactured by Schuller International, offers the highest performance of any duct system available, its installed cost is comparable to other systems. This means it's affordable for any home.

To assure system performance,

SuperDuct is available only from Schuller factory-qualified contractors. So if you are building or remodeling a home, you could save money and prevent indoor air quality problems by discussing this duct with your builder or contractor.

For all the facts, obtain a copy of brochure AHS-210, from the Schuller Product Information Center, P.O. Box 5108, Denver, CO 80217, or call 800 654 3103.

Schuller's high-performance SuperDuct solves indoor air quality problems.

Monthly payments are for 30 year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below.
Please ask about Lowest Downpayments, Lower Monthly Payments, Other Options.
For purchase prices up to $268,375, monthly mortgage payments (principal + interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 7.375% with 3 points, A.P.R. 7.885%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $608.66. For purchase prices from $268,376 to $625,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 7.625% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 7.94%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,536.97. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of Feb. 3, 1997, and subject to change.
