A life of courage and achievement

Young Belleville beauty wins 'Miss Deaf New Jersey' title

By Howard Klausner

Andrea Zamloot, 18, a sophomore at Rochester Institute of Technology where she is majoring in graphic design, has won the title of Miss Deaf New Jersey, awarded by the New Jersey Association for the Deaf.

Miss Zamloot is the daughter of Sam and Anna Marie Zamloot, and has been without hearing since birth.

"My parents did not believe that deafness is a barrier," Andrea said. "They taught me to talk, and to go out into the world."

Also aiding her were her four older brothers, Sam, Russell, Philip and Raymond. She is the youngest, by eight years.

"My brothers were all very athletic, and we went to the meets they were in. I became athletic, myself."

Slender, five feet four, with dark hair and aquiline features that reflect both her Italian and Lebanese ancestry, she excelled in swimming, tennis, softball and cheerleading.

At the pageant where she won the Miss Deaf New Jersey title, she performed a Middle Eastern dance, wearing an ankle-length embroidered dress. She memorized the steps and synchronized them with the music, which she could not hear, not losing a beat.

She learned the dance at St. George's Syrian Orthodox Church in Little Falls, where she participates in festivals.

Asked what she would tell Governor Christie Whitman if they met, she said, "I would ask her to have interpreters in the hospitals for emergencies. I know of a deaf woman who was in the hospital for four days before she got help."

A SOUND OF GLORY - Andrea Zamloot, named Miss Deaf New Jersey, stands with her proud parents, Sam and Anna Marie, at home

In childhood, her family found friends for her with whom she could communicate. She attended schools in Bloomfield and Mountain Lakes where classes for deaf children were offered.

At RIT, she has a variety of support, including close-caption television during lectures, and sign language interpreters. She can converse in both sign language and speech.

"I get all the information I need," she said.

"I have some hearing friends, but most of the girls I know are deaf," she said. "We feel more comfortable together."

As for boy friends - "Now is not the time for it."

Her father, Sam, is with the Pawtucket Mutual Insurance Co., using his home as his office. The home is a comfortable contemporary frame-and-brick on Little Street.

Last year, the National Italian American Sports Hall of Fame awarded her a $1,500 Tony Danza Second Wind Award, on the recommendation of Belleville High School teacher Richard Ruffalo, famed for overcoming blindness to become America's Teacher of the Year, last year.

"I have always admired him, and I even adopted his motto for my yearbook - 'There is no such thing in life as over achievement, there are only under achievers.'"

Talent Time production tonight

'Hair' to fund Jamie Conway

By Robert Oakes

Talent Time, a Bloomfield-based charity organization, comprised almost entirely of high-school and college students, will let it all hang out tonight, when the curtain rises on its debut performance of "Hair."

Each of the three shows, tonight, Aug. 7; tomorrow, Aug. 8 and Saturday, Aug. 9, will begin promptly at 8 p.m. in the Bloomfield Middle School auditorium.

Every year since 1950, the Talent Time organization has involved young people in the production of a summer musical event. The money raised by the performances has been used to benefit local residents with high medical costs.

This year, the show's beneficiary is Jamie Conway of Belleville, who suffers from a crippling nerve disorder called reflex sympathetic dystrophy (RSD).

The Talent Time performers began their rehearsals for "Hair" back in late May and worked hard throughout the summer, sacrificing a good deal of their vacation time, to prepare for this weekend's run.

Despite some difficulty during the early stages, the group pulled together in the end to bring this thing to life. Now that opening night has arrived, they are quite ready to lift the curtain and let the sun shine in.

"The show has come along so well," said Chris Paseka, who plays "Woof."

"It was hell for a while, but we've really pulled together. There's an overwhelming feeling of goodness," he said.

Melissa Bruno, "Chrissy" in the show, added, "the show is a lot of fun, though parental discretion is advised. There is no nudity, but there are lots of bad words."

She continued, "I've had a great time, and I love the clothes."

Performer and Talent Time Vice President Noelle Quevedo gathered a slew of authentic floral dresses, bell-bottom jeans, beads and peace-sign patches for the show's flock of hippie tribe-members.

Throughout the summer, the performers were tirelessly practicing their dance movements, vocal harmonies and spoken lines while the orchestra, directed by John Sebastian, worked to create the funky musical backdrop.

Sebastian said that this year is particularly exciting, because it is the first time that the beneficiary is actually performing in the show.

Conway, a flautist, was at many of the rehearsals, lending not only her musical talents to the group but some inspiration, as well. Sebastian said her presence motivates everyone in the band to work harder and play better.

The orchestra consists of Jack Bender on piano; Jason Foley on Adam Popkowski on guitar; bassist Neal Nonato; David Bauer and Obi Fernandez on trombone; Guy Meir, Dan Turano and Chris Rice on trumpet; Janet Skorupski on clarinet; saxophonist Ryan Dominguez; Kami Eckieberry and Jamie Conway on flute; and drummers David Parsons and Ted Lawless.

While lighting engineer Chris Swatt worked to ensure that the performers will be well-lit, Director Kevin Schwoebel had his hands full keeping the more than 25-member cast in order onstage, often calling directions and forgotten lines from the front row.

When asked to comment on the show, Schwoebel said, "It's been wonderful working with this cast, although they'd probably die of

HE'S NOT CRYING - But the driver of a delivery truck shown here, who prefers to remain anonymous, was not happy as he removed the debris of a couple of dozen gallon containers of milk which fell out of his truck while he was making a delivery at the corner of Little Street and Washington Avenue, Monday.

Greylock divider may be paved

By Howard Klausner

The Township Council discussed the possibility of paving the Greylock Avenue divider, replacing the grass with cement.

Council Member Angie Paserchia raised strong objections to the idea, saying people in the area wanted the grassy strip kept, or even fortified with shrubbery.

Superintendent of Public Works Charles Cerami said that the problem with the divider was that it was narrow, three feet wide at the most and 18 inches wide for most of its length.

"You can't plant shrubs because when the street is salted, it kills the shrubs."

Keeping the grass properly trimmed was not expensive, Cerami said, "but it's a chore."

"If it rains three days, and the grass gets a little high, you don't hear the end of it," Cerami said.

One proposal before the Council was to put wine barrel planters at intervals on the divider, to provide some greenery.

A hasty survey of the neighborhood by the Times brought little enthusiasm about paving over the grass.

"In Bloomfield, they have trees growing in the highway dividers," one man said.

On the other hand, it did not seem a matter of pressing interest to others.

"They'll pave it, and then they'll assess us for it," a lady said. "They leave it alone, and they'll assess us, anyway."

At the suggestion of Council Member Arnaldo Carrera, Cerami was asked to consider alternatives to paving the divider, and to report his findings to the Council.

In the mean time, Department of Public Works employees continued to tend to the grass on the Greylock Avenue divider.

"Maybe they'll use green cement," one worker said, with a grin.

Rita's Italian Ices, 34-38 Franklin St., held their grand opening celebration July 26. Pictured above, from left, are owners Ron and Joe Savare, David Sharon (the Rita mascot), and employees Nicholas Castillo and Marquis Cruz. Over 350 people were in attendance for the celebration which included free ices, prizes and giveaways. Rita's Ices are freshly made on premises with real fruit and are fat and cholesterol free. On any given day there are at least eight delicious flavors to choose from, along with vanilla and chocolate custards. Look in this week's issue for a Rita's coupon. Stop by and give it a try!

Aside from That

By Howard Klausner

Dino Gaglioto, the man whose company is doing the interior renovation work on the Municipal Building, says that any given time, there are some seven contractors and 20 individuals working on the project. "Barring major changes in the plans, we'll be completed in nine months," he said. One innovation for the Town Hall will be the installation of a sprinkler system. Apparently, instead of a shower of water, the theory was that many different alarms would sound, and amid the confusion and shouting, and the crashings through glass windows, the inhabitants of the building would survive. It should be noted that the solid construction of the 1912 building probably precluded any fires, except in the furnishings. If the building ever did sustain a major fire, present residents do not recall. • • • • One of the current mysteries of life in Belleville is whether or not the Public Safety Building has a Certificate of Occupancy. We believe that it has been granted a provisional CO, but the only one who knows for sure is Building Inspector Robert Domenick. He has been away for a few vacation days, so information awaits his return. If the Public Safety Building is still considered to be under construction, rather than completed and ready for occupancy, it would set some kind of record for delayed municipal building construction, since the job started back in 1990. The so-called Taj Mahal that had been envisaged as the new Municipal Building would have cost about $10 million. The new police station, its substitute, has passed the $8 million mark. • • • • An occasional visitor to Antonio's Ristorante, we are told, has been the Giants' Bill Parcells in the company of Public Defender Tom Murphy. When Murphy is not involved with the rights of indigent defendants, he represents not-so-indigent pro football players. At one time, he was bringing a number of Giants into town as temporary residents of rented condos. There is no word as to whether or not Parcells plans to take up residence here. • • • • We thought the day of the visiting scissors grinder was, sadly, long gone. But Len Pietrzak of Little Street, we are happy to say, has been in business for the last few years, carrying the tools of his trade with him in a specially converted van, under the trade name of Micro Sharp Labs, Inc. But unlike the gentleman we recall, he does not drive down a residential street, ringing a bell and summoning the local householders to bring forth their cutlery and their lawn mowers for their annual honing. Mr. Pietrzak arrives by appointment, only, and his customers range from surgery units of hospitals and dentist offices to barbers, hairdressers, and busiest of all, dog groomers. And, of course, there are upholsterers, fabric manufacturers, metal cutters and all the other industries which use blades. He does not do lawn mowers. "That requires a special tool," he said. "My specialty is with clippers and scissors." • • • • "It's not a business you learn in a few days. It takes years of experience, or you can ruin hundreds of dollars worth of equipment and damage a person's business." It has its perils, too. Poorly made scissors may explode, and it has cost him 10 percent vision in one eye to learn this. Each blade has its own purpose, and its own angle of cut which makes the study and knowledge of the infinite number of blades essential, before he attempts to sharpen them. "I was in Florida, in the upholstery business, when I noticed that the man coming in to sharpen our scissors was making more money than I was. So I learned the trade from him." • • • • A native of Newark, Mr. Pietrzak was "all over" before becoming a machinist and mechanic employed by Mercedes-Benz in this country. Then he went into the upholstery business. What brought him to Belleville was his marriage to Denise Spera, whose family is long in the township. The couple has two children, Michele and Cheryl, and everyone helps out, sometimes accompanying Dad on his rounds. "It's great. I'm independent, and I'm making a living," he said. • • • •

One of the teen-agers who are doing the heavy work of moving the furniture at Town Hall had an unexpected dose of solitude. He reportedly dashed into a jail cell while carrying off some doughnuts from a police officer's desk, and then slammed the door behind him. If the idea was to hold off the police while he finished off the doughnuts, the idea was a success. He was in the solitary confinement cell, and police could not locate the key for more than two hours, or so it was reported. He was released to the cheers of his co-workers. Police reaction has not been made public. • • • • The fall that Mayor Mario Drozd took while trimming a tree at the Reformed Church Cemetery last spring was no small mishap. It resulted in numerous fractures and internal bleeding, and Mario has been out of work as a trucker since then, recuperating. He said he is about due to return to work shortly. • • • • Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch has some questions about the federal unemployment figures. "They don't include anybody whose unemployment benefits have run out, claiming that person is not looking for work, and is out of the labor market. Actually, when the benefits run out is when the hunt for a job really becomes frantic." • • • • Zilch's political supporters, the Kool Kukumber Boys, are planning their annual trip to Cape May to open Camp Whadda, devoted to the study and promotion of Official Jersey as the national language. "This year, the theme is 'Whadda people think when the Stock Market goes down if employment goes up? Get a new Stock Market!'" • • • • Our Copy Cat, Baldassare Di Vincenzo Milton, says he is afraid that the idea of privatization may be behind the renovation of Town Hall. "There's a rumor that when everyone gets back, they'll find the place has been turned into condos."

The Crime Watch

All was quiet on the lewdness front last week, as police reported no arrests in Belleville Park.

In the previous month, scores of arrests were made of men performing overt sexual acts in the park, most of them in the area of the Mill Street dead end.

The situation arose, apparently, from advertisements in the Village Voice and the Internet stating that the park was a convenient place for gay men to meet.

Police said they were not prosecuting people because of lifestyle, but because of the behavior of some which drove neighbors from the park.

A task force of Essex County and Belleville police used surveillance tactics to end the rampant exhibitionism, at least for the present.

In other police business, Detectives Ralph Marotti and Dante Pasquale arrested Diego Lima, 26, of Harrison in the parking lot of the Belleville Motor Lodge, at 12:56 a.m. on Aug. 1, charging him with possession of narcotics with intention to distribute. Police said Mr. Lima had 36 bags of cocaine in his possession.

There was also an arrest warrant from Belmar for Mr. Lima.

On July 31 at 6:10 p.m., Detectives Marotti and Pasquale arrested Robert Joralemon, 33, of Belleville on Mill Street, for possession of cocaine.

Mr. Joralemon reportedly ignored a stop sign while driving on Mill Street. Police said he was driving on a revoked license and had two vials of cocaine in the rental truck he was operating.

Police said there were "numerous" warrants outstanding for Mr. Joralemon from Newark, West Orange and Union Township.

Detectives Marotti and Pasquale arrested Thomas Janeczek, 41, of Belleville for possession of narcotics, at 7:29 p.m. on Aug. 4, at Mill Street and Washington Avenue.

Mr. Janeczek was a passenger in a car operated by Edward J. Zarro, 32, of Belleville.

Mr. Janeczek was charged with possession of two bags of marijuana and six vials of cocaine. Mr. Zarro was charged with driving while on the revoked list.

Thank you dinner for Eileen Brown

The Belleville Kiwanis Club and the Belleville Chamber of Commerce will host a Thank You dinner for Eileen Brown, secretary of the Chamber, on Sept. 18 at the Branch Brook Manor in Belleville.

Mrs. Brown is recuperating from a recent stroke.

Funds from the dinner will help defray Mrs. Brown's medical expenses, according to dinner co-chairpersons Grace Purdue and Bob Reiser.

"We hope that this evening, we can show to Eileen the same love and concern that she gave to us over her many years of involvement," Mrs. Purdue stated.

Information and tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Purdue at (201) 759-6059 and Mr. Reiser at (201) 759-4848.

To Play A Role

See our actor on the broad spinning stage.
Making his mask and fixing his wig.
'Til it's rush, he is late.
Oh how he jitters and flies
To make curtain time. He knows it won't wait.
He slides into his dull seasonal act,
'Til his insides control his mind
And take him away to a mythical stage
Where he's Barrymore, Valentino and Chaplin
All melted into one living ghost.
A cue brings him back to the recurring lines
On the spinning stage in his endless play.
He jesters and pokes his mask
Like a pallet of clay in a child's hands,
Trying to please his adult judges.
His voices spit out lines he's never rehearsed.
He ad-libs with lightning quick jabs of false
Proverbs and confidentials which awe
And engulf his spongelike audience
To renew the unchained flexibility of his role.
But in this death he sleeps on a mirror
Which haunts and tortures him
'Til he screams and longs for the Role he has really rehearsed,
The unreal role of happiness which demands no acting.

OUR OPINION

The school grades climb and pull us forward

Superintendent of Schools Michael A. Lally is justifiably proud of the steadily improving test scores of Belleville students as shown by the results of the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, the Early Warning Test and the Official High School Proficiency Test.

"And we owe them to the skilled and dedicated staff that has made this improvement possible," Lally said.

The involvement of parents is also a major factor, and the school administration has worked hard to achieve that involvement.

The staff has been built up in the face of furious opposition to pay increases - or even pay - for teachers.

The constant berating of Belleville's greatest asset, its school system, has prevented our students from achieving even more.

The success of a school system is not measured in how many youngsters have been kicked out for residency reasons, or even how successful its athletic teams have been.

The success is in the providing of students the means to make careers for themselves, found families and contribute to society.

In these areas, the Belleville School District comes through with flying colors.

The hold of our children leads us upward

A young Belleville father told the Editor recently about his newborn daughter, "I never knew how much happiness she would bring to us."

In a sense, a baby holds its parents in the palms of its hands. For most parents, a baby's welfare becomes the most important thing in the world.

Parents can understand the joys and the griefs that accompany the raising of children. The story of Andrea Zamloot, who was born without hearing, and her parents, Sam and Anna Marie, as well as her brothers, as well as her grandmother, Angelina DeVito, who worked so hard and so successfully to provide Andrea with a good life, is something that all parents can appreciate, and admire.

The love of the Zamloot family for its daughter is not unique. Countless other families meet the same, and similar, challenges.

The wonderful thing is that what so many would see as insurmountable challenges are overcome.

And it is important that we see the person with a disability as a real person, someone whose feelings and aspirations, and achievements, we can respect.

And there are the people themselves who will not accept relegation to less than full participation in life.

This community is honored by their presence among us.

Life in Silver Lake

A feature of Belleville Times

Through this column, I meet a lot of wonderful people. One being a Ken Burde of Forest Street.

From our first meeting, I knew I made a friend. He is a caring and capable individual with a lot going for him. Let me tell you how I met him.

The Belleville Music Parents hosted a "Count Basie Orchestra in Concert" at the high school, and I was asked by my friends Vincent and Enid Pipitone, if I would meet with him and give a plug in the column for this event, which I ably complied.

Let me give you a little bio on Ken. His wife's name is Irma and he is the father of two children, Jennifer, 16, and Emily, 8. Jennifer is a member of the marching band and the chorus, and dabbles in the saxophone. Ken's famous dad is Palmer Burde, a dentist on Union Avenue and the town dentist for many moons.

You can call Ken a "jack of all trades," and I might add, good at them all. He is an art teacher at Essex County College as well as School No. 5 and School No. 8. Oh, did I tell you that Ken is the vice president of the Belleville Music Parents Association and an expert on the computer.

The highlight of my visit with Ken was when he showed me a picture of his grandfather, Nick, along with his brother, Michael, who owned a barber shop called Burde Bros. Shaving Parlor and Tonsorial Artists. And guess where this shop was located - you got it, smack dab in the heart of Silver Lake on Franklin and Belmont. Small world, I would say. (To define tonsorial, it means of or relating to a barber or his work.)

Ken is an old-time barbershop enthusiast. When he was just a kid, he shined shoes in the shop on Saturday mornings and recalled how strange it was that many of the customers were bald and had little hair, if any. The answer was that the Yankee game was on the radio and a checkerboard was in the corner of the shop. It was a place to socialize, talk politics, and shoot the breeze.

A few years ago, a Carlo Calabrese of Verona, decided to recreate a barbershop of yesteryear, combining the old-fashioned ambiance men found so relaxing with smells of bay rum, witch hazel and four-part harmony.

He gathered a group of investors and opened an old-time barbershop on Bloomfield Avenue in Montclair called "Frenchie the Barber," which he hopes will be the first in a franchise. The shop is designed in the style of the 1930s and the marketing manager for the enterprise is none other than our "Jack of All Trades," Ken. A 7-foot revolving barber pole from the 1920s was restored by Ken along with all the antiques.

What a "man" you are, and I'm glad I had the pleasure of making your acquaintance. You are an individual that should be thanked for the great job you do in leading our youth. We need more good people in town like you, Ken Burde. And by the way, I just so happen to pass by "Frenchie the Barber" on my way to work each day, so how in the world could I forget you?

And remember, we love Silver Lake.

YOUR OPINION

On the Astros' triumph

To the editor:
Congratulations to the Astros of the Belleville Peanut League.

The Astros finished with a perfect 12-0 record after winning the championship on June 20.

I would also like to thank the coaches: Mike Anello, Steve Prashak, Henry DeFrance and Dennis Britt.

They taught the kids the fundamentals of baseball, and more importantly, about sportsmanship and having fun.

Congratulations again on a remarkable season.

Tom Agosta

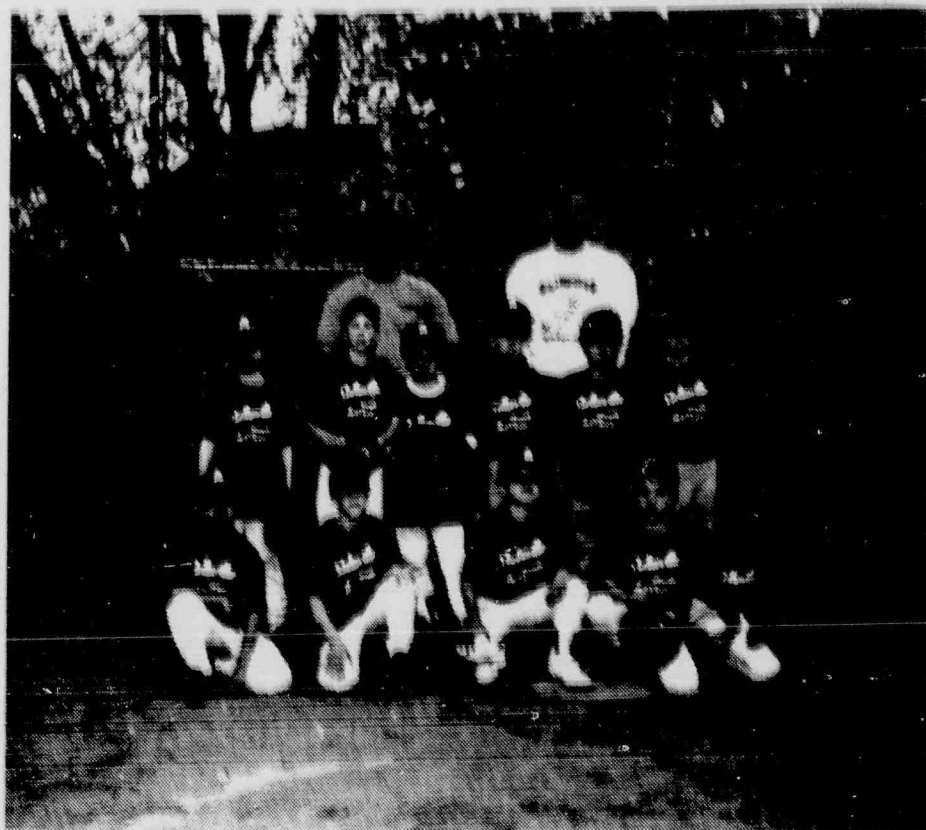

Thanks from Elks

To the editor:
The Belleville Elks Lodge 1123 would like to thank the citizens of Belleville and the nearby communities for coming out to donate blood to our special type "o" blood drive held on July 29.

It takes someone special to take time from their busy summer schedule to take the time to donate their blood.

The Blood Center of New Jersey was very thankful for the blood donations at a time when supplies of blood are at a low level.

• WHITMAN and TREFFINGER - perfect together. Christie Whitman and Jim Treffinger already have proven they are entitled to second terms. Conversely, Whitman's challenger, Jim McGreevey, is suffering irreparable harm. In a divorce proceeding, his estranged wife claimed McGreevey neglected his family because of his consummate interest in his political career. Divorce papers were filed last year in Canada where she lives with their daughter. McGreevey claims the statement is either "false or a gross exaggeration".

• THE Belleville Board of Education should be congratulated for adopting two successive year budgets without an increase. And while on the subject of the Board of Education, it's important to note that board member Judy Piscatowski was able to obtain two truckloads of IBM computers and printers valued at $300,000 for free. What a gift! Judy should be acknowledged as Citizen of the Year by the Board of Education for her effort to obtain for free what would have cost several hundred thousand dollars.

• I GRIEVE over the passing of our retired long term employee, Minerva Stinson. Minerva was administrative assistant to the publisher for 36 years at the Nutley Sun, retiring ten years ago. I remember Minerva as a very sensitive, loving human being. At all times dedicated to her job and probably was the Nutley Sun's most proficient proof reader - and that's in the days when reporters didn't rely upon "Spell Check". I always remember her as a good and friendly soul, willing to pause in her daily labors and offer help to whoever needed it. Her personal integrity was in the highest order. Always she had a kind word regardless who was being discussed. She'll always be remembered for her genial personality and her unswerving loyalty. I not only lost a former employee, but I lost a valued friend.

Minerva Stinson

• ESSEX County Executive Jim Treffinger's term will expire next year. His friends report that he is thinking about retiring from politics to practice law. The party faithful in Essex County and state leaders should not permit this to happen. Without Treffinger as the Republican candidate for re-election to succeed himself as County Executive, the Republican Party doesn't have a chance. On his record, Treffinger is a shoo-in. No county executive since the job was established by the voters has been able to come close to the record of accomplishments that has marked the past three years of Treffinger's term.

Three potential Democrat candidates are County Chairman Tom Giblin, former Newark Mayor, Kenneth Gibson and the highly successful president of the Essex County Board of Freeholders Joseph DiVincenzo.

Jim Treffinger

• BLOOMFIELD Municipal Judge John Bukowski should be complimented for his anti drug banner program. Concerned with the principal problem facing our youth today, the Judge undertook to have banners printed with the "Just say no to drugs" message. Judge Bukowski bought 500 flags from International Flag. They are available at $20 on sale at KIS Photo, 329 Broad Street, Bloomfield. Mounts and staffs may also be purchased at the same time. Bukowski has stated, "We're not going to make money on this. Hopefully, in years to come, this will be one way to save our children from drug abuse."

Behind the scenes, Talent Time's executive board managed the production aspects and raised money for the group.

Pamela Langan, Talent Time's president, said that the fund drives were more successful this year than last.

Langan said that during the past few months, the group held two car washes to raise money. Also, the board sought donations from local businesses in exchange for advertisements in the show's program.

"We had two car washes that went very well," she said, "and the total from our ad drives surpassed last year's."

Pascrell offers internship opportunities

Congressman Bill Pascrell, D-8, is offering high school seniors and college students the exciting and unique opportunity to intern at his Congressional District office in Paterson.

Volunteering as an intern in a congressman's office can have a variety of benefits, including first-hand exposure to the workings of government, honing of writing and research skills, flexible hours, and real work experience, which can be very advantageous in a competitive job market.

The duties of an intern include composing correspondence, helping constituents, performing research on issues and legislation, and assisting staff members. Applicants should be comfortable working with people and have good writing and communication skills.

Internship applications are due by Aug. 20. Applicants should include a writing sample as well as a resume, and will go through an intensive interview process. Applications should be sent to the Robert A. Roe Federal Building, 200 Federal Plaza, Suite 500, Paterson, New Jersey 07505-1953. All questions with regard to internships should be directed to Brendan Gill at 523-5152.

"In my first six months in office, my intern program has been a remarkable success," Pascrell said. "The interns currently working in my office are an integral part of my staff. I think they have also learned a great deal about the governmental process and about people. I urge all who are interested to apply."

Ryan Aggabao at honors college

Essex Catholic High School graduate Ryan Aggabao of Belleville will attend the Albert Dorman Honors College at New Jersey Institute of Technology in Newark this fall, majoring in electrical engineering.

He has been awarded a faculty scholarship.

The Albert Dorman Honors College is the first honors college in New Jersey and the newest college within NJIT. The Honors College provides a stimulating learning environment with scholarship incentives for over 350 of NJIT's brightest and most motivated students. All students in the Honors College receive at least a faculty scholarship of half- or full-tuition.

Caldwell College honors listed

Caldwell College has named 202 students to the spring 1997 dean's list.

They include sophomore Maria Percio of Belleville, and seniors Andrea Castellano, Tara Macanuno, Miguel Percio, Adele Serritella and Rachel DeFalco of Belleville.

Langan said she finds the show very moving. During one rehearsal, she said, "I was crying at the end of the second act."

Talent Time is a division of the Charles Seller Foundation which began 47 years ago when Seller, a Bloomfield native, was struck by a train and lost one of his legs. To help pay for his medical expenses, a group of his friends gathered together to do a variety show, which they called "Talent Time."

Since then, many young people have contributed to this organization, giving their time and talents to help local residents in need.

Langan said that she recently contacted Seller, who is now a secretary of the Board of Trustees at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa.

She sent him a letter with a program and a ticket to the show, and Seller soon responded with a letter and a donation, saying that he will try to come to one of the performances.

Quevedo said, "I love working for Talent Time. It gives you a good feeling to know that you are helping someone. If everyone does their share, the world can be a better place."

The Bloomfield Middle School is located at 60 Huck Road, off of Broad Street.

Tickets are $7 and can be purchased either at the door or in advance, by calling Langan at 429-7470.

Chiropractic... for wellness

By Dr. Mitch Holsten

In my many years of practice, many patients have asked about the history of chiropractic and general questions about health care. Here is a trivia game. See how well you answer.

1) The person credited with giving the first adjustment and his first patient:

- a) Steven Segall/Joe Piscapo
- b) Rex Harrison/Julie Andrews
- c) D.D. Palmer/Harvey Lillard
- d) Fred Flintstone/Barney Rubble

2) The year chiropractic was discovered:

- a) 1986
- b) 1965
- c) 1895
- d) 1929

3) The number of spinal nerve fibers in one spinal nerve:

- a) 10
- b) 60 million
- c) 660,000
- d) 40

4) The system most responsible for maintaining life:

- a) reproductive
- b) digestive
- c) central nervous
- d) blood

5) Minimum length of time to earn a chiropractic degree:

- a) two years
- b) six weeks
- c) six years
- d) ten years

6) Countries recognizing chiropractic are:

- a) more than 10
- b) more than 20
- c) more than 100
- d) three or four

7) Some famous "first name" patients are:

- a) Bugs Daffy, Taz
- b) Moe, Larry, Curly
- c) Arnold, Madonna, Charlton (Moses)
- d) Humpty, Dumbo, Lassic

8) Length of time we can survive without a central nervous system:

- a) years
- b) hours
- c) seconds
- d) days

9) Giraffes and humans are alike in that:

- a) they can be very tall
- b) like trees
- c) have seven neck bones
- d) they can be nosy

10) Chiropractic can help:

- a) children
- b) pregnant women
- c) athletes
- d) elderly

Answers:

- 1) C — D.D. Palmer performed the first chiropractic adjustment on Harvey Lillard, a deaf worker. After five days of treatment, Mr. Lillard's hearing returned. His hearing loss was the result of an accident that had occurred over 20 years earlier.
- 2) C — 1895. Chiropractic has celebrated its 100th anniversary. Literally millions of people have reaped its benefits.
- 3) 660,000 — There are 24 pairs of spinal nerves. So multiply that by 660,000!
- 4) C — CNS. The central nervous system is the first to develop and is constantly working to make sure all the other organs and systems in the body are in harmony.

5) C — Six years. The curriculum involves over 4,500 college classroom hours of health sciences, adding physics to their emphasis. The science of chiropractic requires special emphasis on anatomy, physiology, pathology, neurology, biomechanics, X-ray, and spinal adjustment techniques. One must pass demanding National and State Boards.

6) C — More than 100 countries.

With the Christian Chiropractic Association, for example, chiropractors have performed missions in such countries as Ecuador, Panama, Russia and the Ukraine.

7) C — Arnold Schwarzenegger actively endorses chiropractic care. Madonna has been known to receive adjustments before every concert and Charlton Heston has supported chiropractic for many years.

8) C — Without a central nervous system, our heart would not know how to pump blood, our liver to create anti-toxins, our lungs to breathe, our muscles to hold us erect.

9) All of the above, but mainly C — We and giraffes have seven neck bones.

10) All the above — From newborns to the elderly, chiropractic works. With the former, spinal trauma can occur at birth, so many parents have their newborns checked for the Vertebral Subluxation Complex. Pregnant women benefit from adjustments because their bodies go under tremendous physical shifts. Athletes now use chiropractors as part of their Sports Injury team. The elderly can experience increased mobility, slowing of the degeneration process and maintain vitality.

Work It Out!

At the opening of Clara Maass' Cardiac Catheterization Lab are, from left, Mary Morrison, executive vice president and chief operating officer; Marge Cavallero, Board of Trustees; Dr. Mario Criscito, M.D., president of the medical staff; Robert Curtis, president and chief executive officer; Dr. Keith Hawthorne, M.D., medical director of Cardiac Cath; Richard Salhani, senior manager of Clinical Services; John Roessner, III, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Michelle Witwick, R.N., Cardiac Cath coordinator, and Lisa Gallopi of the New Jersey Chapter, American Heart Association.

Cardiac lab opens at Clara Maass

Clara Maass Medical Center in Belleville officially dedicated the medical center's new on-site, low-risk Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory on June 17.

The new facility is expected to treat some of the 10 percent of Clara Maass Emergency Department patients who come to the medical center with complaints of chest pain or evident cardiac problems. Traditionally, these patients would have had to transfer to another facility to undergo the procedure.

The lab will also be used for cardiac diagnostic procedures on in-patients as well.

Clara Maass received approval for construction of the facility last year as a result of the medical center's immediate response to New Jersey's recognition that community hospitals should offer accessible and advanced cardiac testing to their patients.

"Cardiac catheterization gives Clara Maass yet another way to provide complete care for our patient community," said Robert Curtis, president and chief executive officer of the medical center.

"It will allow cardiologists to coordinate all aspects of testing that may contribute to decisions regarding medical management or cardiovascular surgery referral for heart disease," he said.

Under the direction of Dr. Keith Hawthorne, M.D., a board-certified physician with 10 years of interventional cardiology experience, the lab is expected to serve as a major resource for emergency and elective cardiac care for patients who have traditionally relied on Clara Maass for their health care and medical needs.

Cardiac catheterization involves guiding a thin tube, inserted into a vein or artery, into the heart. The test provides information — about the heart's anatomy and function, including the working of valves and vascular efficiency — that can contribute to physician recommendations for treatment that can improve a patient's quality of life.

Dr. Hawthorne explains that only certain patients will be recommended for the procedure. "Generally, we will be looking at patients who may have presented with chest discomforts or other symptoms suggestive of coronary artery disease. Cardiac catheterization can establish a diagnosis or assure the patient that the arteries are normal," stated Dr. Hawthorne.

Clara Maass has an attending staff which includes 26 cardiologists, and performs more than 20,000 electrocardiograms annually. Other cardiac diagnostic services include echocardiography, including stress echocardiography, as well as a variety of state-of-the-art nuclear medicine stress testing procedures.

Last year, the medical center introduced an alternative to external echocardiography, transesophageal echocardiography, which provides physicians with 360-degree visualization of the heart and aorta through advanced technology.

"This new lab underlies Clara Maass' continuing commitment to responding to our patients' needs at all life stages," said Curtis.

Computer eyestrain

As computers become an increasing part of our work and personal lives, so does our exposure to computer eyestrain. Sufferers complain of a variety of symptoms including headaches, exhaustion, sore eyes, blurry vision, neck and shoulder pain. Until recently, these complaints went largely untreated by eyecare specialists — because they had no effective way to treat them.

Walter Shurminsky, O.D., is among the first eyecare practitioners in the Nutley area to address computer eyestrain using a new technology which can successfully eliminate computer-related eyestrain. Dr. Shurminsky is one of fewer than 550 eyecare specialists in the country with expertise in this procedure.

The key to this technology is a unique eye-testing device, designed and developed by PRIO® Corporation (Lake Oswego, Ore.), which optometrists and ophthalmologists can use in their offices to simulate a computer screen, diagnose the level of computer eyestrain and develop prescriptions for special eyeglasses which eliminate it.

According to Dr. Shurminsky, the risk of eyestrain associated with the increased use of personal computers and other video display terminals (VDTs) is a form of "repetitive stress injury (RSI) for the eyes." Like other RSI conditions including carpal tunnel syndrome and tennis elbow, computer eyestrain sufferers often complain of a wide variety of symptoms including headaches, burning or tired eyes, blurred vision, loss of focus, double vision, and neck and shoulder pain. "Until now, all I — or any other eyecare specialist — could do for patients complaining of computer eyestrain was to suggest environmental and ergonomic solutions," said Dr. Shurminsky. "But these solutions addressed only a small part of the problem. Now that I use a PRIO Vision Tester in my practice, I finally have an effective answer to computer eyestrain."

Addressing computer eyestrain by controlling lighting and reflections falls short

For years, eyecare specialists and physicians have recommended environmental and ergonomic solutions to make computing more comfortable, and to reduce the economic impact of workplace injuries and thus the liabilities on companies that rely on computers. Such solutions have included ergonomic keyboards and mice, tilting computer screens, wrist supports and other devices to relieve the physical stress on parts of the human anatomy.

However, limiting solutions for reducing computer eyestrain to environmental controls — including such things as regulating ambient lighting, maintaining a working distance of 18-24 inches, reducing computer screen reflections or using polarizing filters on computer screens — were found to be insufficient. Although helpful, these solutions only partially addressed computer eyestrain. "More than a decade of vision research has consistently shown that viewing a computer screen is not physiologically the same as reading the printed page, yet these findings have rarely been applied to treating computer eyestrain," explained Dr. Shurminsky.

Look for part 2 in this series on Aug. 21. For further information, contact Dr. Shurminsky at 420 Centre St., Nutley, 667-0332

Holistic Health

By Michael Luongo

Holistic Health is now at the forefront of healing modalities. The time has come where more and more people are realizing the unlimited potentials of the human body and mind. Together, these two can work wondrous magic.

A Holistic Health Practitioner should offer a full realm of healing education. In my office, it is one of my goals to do this. As a counselor, I work with each client in educating them on how to recognize specific behaviors and/or beliefs which may currently be the cause of their physical, mental or emotional problem. Together we work on how to change these behaviors or beliefs and work through whatever the apparent problem may be. Issues dealt with vary from addictions, depression, couples counseling, to cancer, heart disease and other physical conditions. These are just a few to mention here.

As an Herbologist, I custom tailor specific herbs that will work with the body's natural healing processes in order to better help the client. Counseling on the use of herbs and what their specific purposes are, as well as recommended doses and time usages, is done as well.

Using my knowledge as a personal trainer, I offer advice on current lifestyle conditions and any changes that could be made to improve health and well being.

With the knowledge and education offered with these three modalities, mind and body can work together as one. If you are ready to regain control over your life and you are willing to put forth the effort needed and be willing to take an honest look at yourself, then give the office a call at (973) 748-2024.

House of the Holy Comforter undergoing major expansion

For more than 80 years, The House of the Holy Comforter, located on Pleasant Avenue in West Orange, has served the needs of seniors from Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, the Oranges, Montclair and the surrounding area.

Generations of local families have relied on the director and staff of "the House" to provide high quality assisted living in a home-like setting full of Victorian charm.

Now The House of the Holy Comforter is expanding that tradition of caring.

Beginning in the fall, a major addition, located at the rear of the existing landmark building, will provide up-to-date accommodations for 40 male and female residents.

Board member Diane Mayo, who represents Christ Church of Bloomfield and Glen Ridge, said, "We on the board see this as the beginning of an exciting new chapter in the life of the House."

Signs of this new life are already evident. Work on the roof is underway and workmen from Construction Insights, Inc., are at work on the interior. When opening day arrives, the expanded House will also be complemented by lush new landscaping.

But in the midst of all the change, one thing will remain the same: The House of the Holy Comforter's tradition of service to its residents. Under the direction of Health Care Management, Inc. of Hackettstown, residents will continue to enjoy all the comforts of home without the worries and responsibilities of home ownership. As in the past, meals will be served in a graciously-appointed dining room and activities will abound. Residents will also have the option of attending regularly scheduled religious services in a sparkling new chapel.

Mayo said she believes that the director and staff of the newly expanded House will also be prepared for outreach.

"We have always been an asset to the community," she said, "and now we want to be a resource as well. We look forward to holding our first open house so our friends and neighbors can see the way we have expanded and refurbished our home. Later on, when the residents have settled in, we also plan to initiate a series of seminars on topics of interest to area seniors and their families."

Though The House of the Holy Comforter's new building will not be open until the fall, inquiries are always welcome. For further information, call 736-1194.

HOROSCOPES

August 10-16

ARIES — March 21/April 20

Get right to the point when it comes to work this week. Aries, Beating around the bush only leaves you out of the picture when a new project is available. However, when it comes to your love life, keep your feelings to yourself until that special someone lets you know how he or she feels. It can save you a lot of embarrassment.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21

Be persistent when it comes to something that you really want. Taurus. Don't let a co-worker take over a project that you want to head. Talk to your manager. As for your family life, it certainly keeps you busy this week. A loved one calls on you for advice. Be honest.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21

Things seem to be moving too fast for you this week. Take some time for yourself this weekend. It helps you relax and get back in control of your life. A close friend turns to you for help. Don't let him or her down. Cancer and Leo play important roles.

CANCER — June 22/July 22

Don't let your emotions get the best of you early in the week. Cancer. Think before you say something that you may regret — especially when it comes to a work situation. A loved one introduces you to his or her friend. Don't let all the smooth talk blind you from the truth.

LEO — July 23/August 23

Being overly smug only hurts your reputation this week, Leo. Try to be modest when it comes to your career; it will make you look good. The same holds true for your personal life. Being vain pushes that special someone away. Taurus and Virgo play important roles.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22

When it comes to sharing your true feelings about a problem at work, be selective. Don't just tell anyone who will listen; this surely will lead to disaster. That special someone pays you a surprise visit. Don't let it throw you off. Instead, just enjoy!

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23

A problem at work gets you down early in the week. However, don't sulk. Try to see the bright side of the situation, and move ahead. The higher-ups are watching you. An old friend looks you up after several years. Open up to him or her; don't keep your distance. Gemini plays an important role.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22

While it's not like you to show emotion, Scorpio, a touching family moment brings tears to your eyes. Don't be embarrassed; loved ones are moved by your show of affection. That special someone you've been interested in asks you out. Say yes!

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21

Keep your mind on the business at hand this week, Sagittarius. Don't let other people's problems distract you from getting the job done. When it comes to romance, you are doing well. A friend of a friend invites you out. This very well may be the first step to a lasting relationship.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't let a minor setback at work throw off your momentum. Shake it off, and get right back into the swing of things. This will impress your superiors. A loved one turns to you for advice. Your clear thinking can save the day. Pisces plays an important role.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18

Your shrewd nature serves you well when it comes to a financial investment this week. Think before you act. A loved one intrudes on a romantic evening late in the week. However, don't get angry; he or she really needs your help. Be supportive, and give him or her a shoulder to cry on.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20

Your rose-colored glasses seem to be scratched this week, Pisces. You encounter problem after problem at work and seem to be floundering. As for your loved ones, they all are vying for your attention, but no one seems to care what you want. Don't get discouraged; next week will be better.

Belleville SPORTS

BUG SHOTS

By Mike Lambert

It all started with the 1968 season

Even though the game drives me crazy at times, I have to admit that baseball still holds a special place in my heart when it comes to sports. The strike that destroyed the 1994 season and delayed the start of the '95 campaign was supposed to ruin my appeal for the game.

And, for a while, it did. If I ever heard the name Don Fehr again, it will be too soon. And if I hear one more player saying that he is underpaid, I'll probably be sick. But nonetheless, there is still a lot of good in the game and as long as there is history, I'll be a fan of the sport.

Over the next few weeks, I'm going to write a little nostalgia about baseball, recalling some of my more vivid memories of the game, as a player, fan and reporter. I will certainly enjoy your comments on this issue and will welcome some memories you might have of your favorite game, player or team.

As for me, I'm a St. Louis Cardinals fan. I first took a liking to them during the 1967 World Series. I had just turned nine years old and remember my mother watching the Cardinals and Boston Red Sox one afternoon. She was in a World Series pool at work and had a specific inning. While I didn't know much about the game then, I remember liking the Cardinals because of their uniforms. There was something about those two birds sitting on the baseball bat.

By the time the 1968 season began, I was hooked on the Cardinals. I was in the fourth grades and remember running home every afternoon from school and reading the Newark Evening News, mainly to check the standings and see if my team was still in first place in the National League. Back in '68, there was no divisional play. Just one winner in the N.L. and one in the A.L.

Anyway, the Cardinals won the National League title in '68, basically going wire to wire to beat the San Francisco Giants for the N.L. crown. Almost 30 years later, I can still recall the starting lineup that year.

Orlando Cepeda played first, Julian Javier at second, Dai Maxvill at short and Mike Shannon playing at third. One of my favorite players, Tim McCarver was the catcher. The outfield featured another favorite, Lou Brock, in left, with Curt Flood in center and Roger Maris playing right field.

The pitching staff was headed by my all time favorite Cardinal, Bob Gibson. The staff also featured Nelson Briles, Ray Washburn and Larry Jaster. The manager was the legendary Red Schoendienst.

Having developed a love for the game in '68, I remember my father and I going to my first game that season, at Shea Stadium to see the Mets and Dodgers play. But it was a trip later that season to Shea that I'll never forget. That was the day, in early September, that my dad and I went to see a Mets-Cardinals game.

I don't think I slept the night before. I couldn't wait to see the Cardinals in person and they didn't disappoint, beating the Mets 3-2. I remember Bobby Tolan playing right field that day and Dick Hughes was the starting pitcher. I was psyched to see McCarver catch, but he got the day off and Johnny Edwards caught instead. It didn't matter, I was actually seeing my Cardinals in person.

The Cardinals won that game, 3-2. Jaster pitched the last inning and got the save. St. Louis would go on and win the National League, setting up a World Series with Detroit and 31 game winner Denny McLain.

It looked like the Cardinals would win the series easily, taking three of the first four games and holding a 3-0 lead in game five. However, Detroit would win the last three games and take the series in seven.

I remember the Newark Evening News running cartoon strips depicting each game and how the Cardinals started losing their grasp on the series and needing Gibson, who was so dominant in the series, to win the deciding game.

29 years later, I remember so many things from that season, without the help of any reference material. It's amazing how much sinks in when it comes to something that means so much. Little things like the Newark Evening News and the cartoon strips for each game still stand out.

I remember when N.B.C. had the Saturday afternoon Game of the Week in '68 and my favorite announcer of all time, Curt Gowdy, calling the game. Watching Gibson pitch was the ultimate, especially when it was against the San Francisco Giants, the Cardinals toughest opponent. The Giants had Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Juan Marichal and Bobby Bonds, which made for some classic games.

As I write this column, I know there is so much more to remember about baseball throughout the years, so I'll continue this feature in next week's issue.

And please, if you have memories you want to share, please call me at the newspaper, 759-3200. I would be more than happy to share your memories in an upcoming column.

Next week, a look at the '68 Yankees and some memories from that team.

LeTerrace swim team on short end of stick at MBC, league championships

By David P. Biggy

The effort didn't quite coincide with the actual size of the team.

In fact, Nutley's LeTerrace Swim Club swim team put forth a mammoth effort against its league foes on July 29, but simply was out-manned in most races and missed out on points that could have made the Suburban Essex Swim League Championship meet a little closer.

The Tiger Sharks recorded 51 points on the strength of a number of swimmers who capped their seasons with impressive showings. But the Montclair Beach Club swim team captured the league title with a whopping 295 points, followed by Glen Ridge Country Club with 163 and the Bradford Bath and Tennis Club with 111.

For the individual events, first-place finishes drew seven points, with the rest of the scoring being five for second place, three for third place, two points for fourth and a point for placing fifth. During the relays, scoring was five, three, one for the top three teams in each event.

"Our swimmers really tried hard to do as much as possible. Without the whole team's effort, there is no way we would have gotten the 51 points we took," said coach Micki Allen. "All our swimmers did their part and they should be proud of what they did accomplish. I'm happy for our kids. They tried hard to match those bigger teams and they did great."

LeTerrace quickly made a statement by grabbing a second-place finish in the first event of the meet -- the 8-and-under freestyle relay.

Belleville's Kristina Morris and Michael Moreno, along with Bloomfield's Jimmy Kreie and Emily Schaeffer, took second in 1:14.10.

Belleville's Chris Judge won the 6-and-under freestyle in :18.50, which was more than three seconds faster than Glen Ridge swimmer Peter Gingeleskie.

Kreie swam an excellent race in the 7-and-under free event and took second with a time of :19.41. Moreno swam the 8-and-under free in :16.29 for a first-place finish.

In the next event, Schaeffer continued her torrid swimming with a second-place finish in the 9-and-under freestyle. She finished with a time of :16.19.

LeTerrace went through the rest of the freestyle events without having swimmers place in the top three in any event. It wasn't until the girls 14-and-under backstroke that LeTerrace added to its point total.

Belleville's Cheryl Anne Piegaro continued her winning ways with a second-place finish in :35.12. The Tiger Sharks got some more help in the butterfly events.

Schaeffer came through again with a second-place finish in the 10-and-under fly with a time of :18.50. Clifton's Carla Franciose took third in the 14-and-under fly with a time of :30.50.

LeTerrace suffered through more tough times due to a lack of swimmers when the individual medleys came about. LeTerrace dropped 36 points during the two 17-and-under IM events.

The Tiger Sharks' 12-and-under medley relay "A" team missed third place by seconds, as Franciose, Piegaro, Belleville's James Judge and Bloomfield's Carmine Campione finished in :2:49.22.

Notebook: LeTerrace held its annual Blue and White meet on July 31, which typically caps the summer swim season for most of the youngsters.

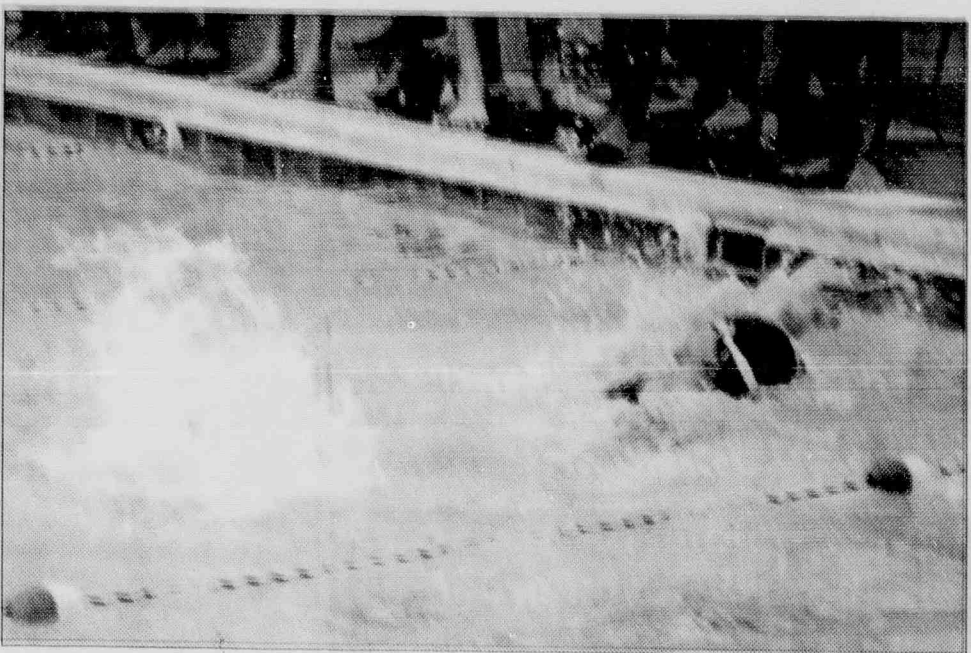

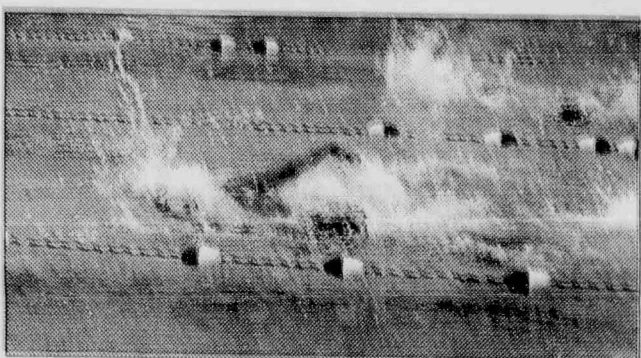

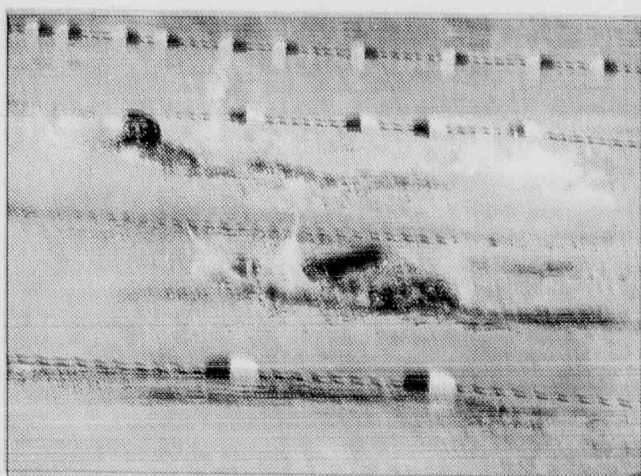

During the awards presentations, three distinguished swimmers were given special recognition for their accomplishments throughout the summer.

Bloomfield's Patricia McWatters was honored as the most improved girls swimmer, while James Judge was deemed the most improved boys swimmer.

Carla Franciose, who will continue swimming during the winter months, was the team's top swimmer and earned the Swimmer of the Year award.

Later asked how she felt about being Swimmer of the Year, Carla said, "It feels great."

Nutley Sun Staff writer Jennifer Endres contributed information to this story.

Russo captures minor league championship

After falling one game short of advancing to the Belleville Minor League World Series in 1996, the hot hitting boys of Russo Family Chiropractic not only made it to the June classic in 1997, they won the series in a sweep.

Russo defeated Nicolette Auto Body in the finals. The team, coached by Jim Mingucci, won by scores of 14-8 and 13-3 over a solid Nicolette team, which was coached by Ray Sabanko.

During the regular season, Russo put together an 8-2 mark, then was a perfect 5 for 5 in the playoffs. The highlight of the playoffs was a 5-4 come from behind win over Giordano & Cataldo, Esq.

Leading Russo's powerful onslaught were 12 year olds Chris Basista and Raymond Carbone. Basista hit .645, scored 42 runs and had an on base percentage of .814 while playing second base.

Carbone, a first baseman, had 31 ribbies and hit .564 for the season.

Another player who solidified the team was ten year old Charlie Alvarado, who led the team in hitting at .686. Alvarado, who joined the team late and missed the first four games, had 29 ribbies and hit two homers. He played shortstop and centerfield.

Showing good versatility,

Alvarado was an effective pitcher, earning the win in the second and final game of the series. He pitched a complete game, allowing three runs (one earned), three hits and struck out seven while walking three.

11 year old catcher and lead-off man P.J. Bangert was another big asset to Russo this year, as was hard

Liberty Waterfront Run upcoming in September

In September, students go back to school, football season starts and the summertime air starts feeling a little cooler. Nice time for a run, right?

The fourth Annual Liberty Waterfront Run is scheduled to take place in Jersey City on Sunday, Sept. 7, and expected to draw thousands of runners and spectators.

This event typically is held in Jersey City's financial and shopping districts. The run features a half marathon, 5-kilometer run, kids' fun run, and has been designated as the USA Track & Field - New Jersey - Half Marathon Championship Race.

All proceeds from the run will benefit the Liberty Health Care System Foundation. A Greek festival will follow the race, featuring entertainment and ethnic food.

Nutley's David Pospisil, regional account manager of Energis Resources, has been appointed chairman of this year's Waterfront Run, which is sponsored by the Liberty Health Care System Foundation.

Pospisil, who also coaches several Clifton athletic teams, is soliciting sponsorships and assisting with race day events. Current top sponsors of the event include Hoboken Brewing Company/Mile Square, Home Depot, Outdoor Systems Advertising, Ritter-Sysco Food Services and American Airlines which is providing two round trip tickets to the top male and female finishers of the Half Marathon.

"The Liberty Waterfront Run captures our diverse community's vital spirit, including our positive strides in business growth," Pospisil said. "I am proud to be involved with an event showcasing Jersey City while raising money for a good cause."

The race course will travel through many Jersey City landmarks including scenic Liberty State Park, Van Vorst Park, Newport Pavonia and Port Liberty. It also will pass along newer city landmarks such as the Harborside Financial Center, Newport Mall and the new building site for Jersey City Medical Center.

The start and finish for the race will be at the foot of Montgomery Street and festivities will include radio station Z-100's Party Patrol, which will play music to motivate the runners and excite the spectators.

For more information about the event, call Kelly Dobbs or Cindy Vitone at 915-2040.

Belleville Flag Football announces registration

At the plate, the rookie hit .389, with 22 ribbies and 27 runs scored.

Hernandez drove in 25 runs and hit .571. He pitched a no-hitter this year in the very first game played at the new Minor League field at public school #9 when Russo beat PBA Local #28, 13-1.

"This team played very well as a unit," said Mingucci, who completed his second year as manager. "I am very proud of the entire team. We did this together."

Clara Maass Golf Invitational to be played at Ridgewood Country Club, set for September

The 1997 Clara Maass Foundation Golf Invitational is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 29 at the Ridgewood Country Club in Paramus. Proceeds from this event will assist in the purchase of a CT/Virtual Simulator for the Radiation Oncology Department at Clara Maass Medical Center in Belleville.

door patio, which overlooks the golf course. The cocktail reception will be followed by a dinner buffet and a raffle for a number of fabulous prizes. The fee for golfers is $500.

Besides participating as a golfer, there also are a number of ways to support Clara Maass, such as sponsorship of tees, golf carts, the luncheon and cocktail reception. An ad journal also will be distributed at the event.

Last year, 172 golfers participated and the event raised $118,000 to assist in the purchase of diagnostic equipment for the Women's Health Center at Clara Maass. For more information about the Clara Maass Golf Invitational, please call 450-2277.

'Drug free New Jersey' measure is sponsored Legislation sponsored by Assembly Majority Leader Paul DiGaetano, R-8, that will appropriate $350,000 to the "Partnership for a Drug-Free New Jersey" has been signed into law.

DiGaetano said the state program is an affiliate of the national "Partnership for a Drug-Free America," which is a nonprofit coalition of professionals whose mission is to reduce the demand for drugs and curb the incidence of substance abuse nationwide.

"Drug addiction and substance abuse is destroying the lives of our young people," said DiGaetano. "Many bright futures and plenty of good families have been ruined by the scourge of drugs in our society."

"Partnership for a Drug Free New Jersey is an important weapon in our war against drugs and substance abuse," DiGaetano added. "The dedicated professionals who lend their time and talents to this program recognize the need to better educate young people about the negative impact drugs will have on their lives."

"Appropriating this money to the program would demonstrate that government and the private sector can effectively combine the resources to fight a common enemy," DiGaetano continued. "The Partnership for a Drug-Free New Jersey program deserves financial support from state government."

DiGaetano's law will provide annual funding to the program from the Drug Enforcement and Demand Reduction Fund.

ACCOMMODATING BATHROOM

Both the elderly and patients who face rehabilitation at home require products that make the bathroom safer and easier to use. These may include an adjustable commode that can be utilized as either a free-standing unit or as a raised toilet seat (complete with safety rail). Steel safety grips that attach to the sides of the tub with rubber-lined clamps promote easier access to bathtubs. And, wall-mounted grab bars help bathers maintain a steady posture once inside the tub. Showering is also made easier and safer with the use of padded bath benches and tub transfer boards that facilitate entrances and exits from the tub. These are but a few of the many products that are designed to promote self-reliance and safety for home-care patients.

Home-care items including wheelchairs, walkers, crutches, and canes are available from us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Avenue (759-1956, 759-1968). We are Blue Cross and Medicare approved. "Your Doctor Knows Us-Your Doctor Trusts Us." Stop by and see us daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-9pm.

HINT: Transfer benches differ from bath benches in that one side extends out of the tub to allow patients in wheelchairs easier access to the tub.

Effort to aid North Jersey small businesses impacted by NAFTA

The House Small Business Committee, the group charged with addressing issues affecting America's small businesses, this week accepted an amendment offered by Small Business committee member Congressman Bill Pascrell, D-8, to the bill which reauthorizes funding of the federal Small Business Administration (SBA).

As part of his continuing efforts to assist North Jersey's small businesses, Pascrell's amendment, which received unanimous bipartisan support, will allow the SBA to provide assistance to small businesses, many of which are situated in North Jersey, adversely affected by the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

"I am ecstatic that the entire committee, both Democrats and Republicans, chose to support my amendment. I, and others in Congress, believe that NAFTA has hurt small businesses, particularly in North Jersey," Pascrell stated.

"This simple, common sense change will give the SBA the means to help small businesses stem the tide of losses in jobs and commerce to other countries that allow their workers to be paid sub-standard wages," he said.

Since the inception of NAFTA in 1993, North Jersey has lost more than 55,000 jobs. Passaic County in particular has lost some 38,400 jobs, 34,500 of which have been in the manufacturing sector. The amendment, which adds no additional cost to the SBA reauthorization bill, directs the SBA to consolidate all existing programs which could help these small businesses into a single, manageable package.

The SBA reauthorization bill now goes to the entire House, where it is expected to be approved.

"In talking with small business owners in my district, I can state unequivocally that the need is there for this type of program. The terrific thing about this is that it will greatly help small businesses, and it will do so at no additional cost to taxpayers. This is a win-win proposition," said Pascrell.

How To Care For Your Clothes

(NAPS)—Are your clothes getting the care they deserve?

Judy Woolfolk, Certified Home Economist with the Faultless Fabricare Institute, offers answers to some commonly asked fabric care questions:

Q: My husband's shirts and slacks wrinkle, even though they're made with wrinkle-free fabric. What can I do?

A: Follow laundering directions carefully. Using a warm water gentle wash cycle, then tumbling dry on a medium setting and removing promptly helps prevent wrinkling. Over time, some garments do lose their wrinkle-free characteristics. To revive fabric, spray with Faultless Sizing or Spray Starch and iron with a steam iron.

Q: Spray starch sometimes leaves a white residue on clothes and starch build-up on the iron. How can I prevent this?

A: Use two light applications rather than one heavy one. Use too much starch and it has no place to go, so it ends up on the bottom of the iron or on the fabric surface.

You can also spray an entire garment before ironing, and roll it up for about 30 seconds before ironing, so the fabric has time to absorb the starch.

Q: I do a lot of sewing and have a residue of starch and fusibles on the bottom of my iron. Do I have to buy a new iron?

A: A product called Hot Iron Cleaner removes starch, fusibles, melted plastic and just about anything else from your iron's soleplate. It works on a hot iron so there is no need to cool the iron down before cleaning. The cleaner won't remove water stains or dis-

Over time some garments do lose their wrinkle-free characteristics. To revive fabric, spray with sizing or spray starch and iron with a steam iron.

Q: What's the difference between spray starches and sizings?

A: Sizing was developed for synthetics and fabric blends. It restores the original body to fabrics without stiffness and can be used on natural fabrics for a light finish. Regular starch gives more body than sizing and can be used on natural fabrics and blends that have a higher natural fiber content.

Heavy starch gives more body and crispness—ideal for linens, jeans, and 100 percent cotton garments. Lemon starch gives a fresh, lemon scent while ironing, but quickly dissipates after ironing. Spray starch and sizing should not be used on items labeled dry clean only.

For free information on the correct way to iron a shirt, write to The Faultless Fabricare Institute, 1025 West 8th Street, Kansas City, MO 64101-1200.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Tips On Indoor & Outdoor Container Gardening

(NAPS)—Talk to any plant owner, including the "green thumbs," and they'll tell you the most significant problem in caring for their potted plants and flowers is the guesswork involved with watering them. Statistics prove that more indoor and outdoor plants die from improper watering than any other cause. Watering too generously can suffocate the roots and lead to root rot, killing the plants.

The new Alive & Well indoor and outdoor planters from Bemis employ a process called "controlled watering," or watering from the bottom, which eliminates the guesswork. And though it's commonly known that flowers such as the African violet thrive using this method, experts agree that all house plants and outdoor potted plants benefit as well.

Designed to avoid intermittent drought-or-flood conditions brought on by inconsistent watering, Alive & Well planters let the plants absorb the water they need, when they need it. Water is added to a reservoir in the base of the planter through a side opening which is positioned to prevent overfilling.

The plant and potting soil rest on a ventilated platform above the reservoir, which ensures that the plant's roots receive the air circulation they need for healthy growth. Potting soil fills columns which extend from the platform to the reservoir at the bottom of the planters. These columns carry the water to and throughout the soil above using a continuous, capillary "sipping" action.

The Alive & Well nurturing planters help regulate a plant's own water intake, so you don't have to worry about how often or how much to give them. Whether indoors or out, the planter's reservoir will provide a failsafe marker for care.

Alive & Well planters are available in a wide variety of attractive colors, shapes and sizes, including an urn-shaped design, hanging planters and window boxes. They can be found at Lowe's, Target, Home Base and other leading home-improvement retail establishments.

Here are a few more hints from certified interior horticulturist Charles Powell to help you grow healthy and vigorous potted plants.

• Fertilize potted plants sparingly. Underfertilizing a potted plant is better than overfertilizing it.

• Temperatures lower than 50°F or higher than 90° can cause damage to the leaves of indoor plants. Also, the temperature of irrigation water should be between 62° and 72°F.

• Different plants do better in different types of soil. The finer the roots, the more coarse the soil should be, and vice-versa.

New indoor and outdoor planters employ a process called "controlled watering," or watering from the bottom, which eliminates guesswork. Plants absorb the water they need, when they need it, and thrive.

For further information on Bemis' Alive & Well planters, please call 1-800-558-7651.
