Chester Prosperi remembered

By Robert Oakes

A memorial plaque was dedicated at Branch Brook Park on Aug. 20 in honor of the late Chester Prosperi, a very active participant in Belleville and Essex County

The memorial was laid at the foot of a tree that was planted on Earth Day, April 20, 1996, one month after Prosperi's death. The tree was donated by the employees of the Essex County Parks Department.

Department of Parks Director Dan Salvante, State Sen. John Scott, R-36, and Township Council member Angie Paserchia were present at the ceremony to offer some words in Prosperi's honor.

Salvante said that the tree symbolizes life and will continue to blossom throughout the coming years, keeping Prosperi's memory

Scott expressed admiration for the late politician, who passed away at the age of 72 after dedicating many years of his life to community service.

"Chester Prosperi was a true leader who cared about all people," said Scott. "He didn't care what political party they belonged to. If anyone came to him for help, he would do what he could."

Paserchia mentioned some of Prosperi's Belleville posts, such as chairman of the township

10 more days to meet deadline Petitions fall short of numbers

By Howard Klausner

Reliable sources indicate that the change of government petitions submitted for validation by the Municipal Clerk two weeks ago fell short of the required number of valid signatures

According to Township Clerk Mary Lou Hood, the minimum number of signatures required is Sponsors of the petition, the Change of Government Committee, claimed they had some 4,000 signatures. They seek to have a proposal to return to commission form of government on the November

Mrs. Hood is currently on vacation, and no explanation of the shortfall was provided by township

The law permits the petitioners to have an additional 10 days in which to meet the minimum number. There was not report on how many additional signatures would be needed, but one report was "in the hundreds'

The petition sponsors, who include Zoning Board Member Jerry DelGuercio and former Board of Education member Robert Fuscaldo, as well as Republican activist Richard Yanuzzi and former Council Member Joseph Scaperotta, have been gathering names for more than a year

The purpose of returning to a commission form of government, the sponsors state, is to make local government more responsive to the

The immediate effect would be to eliminate the post of Township Manager, and to place municipal workers under the direction of five commis: oners in the event that the amended petitions are accepted, they may still be subject to challenge

State law requires the municipal clerk to give as much credence as possible to the signatures presented, but a legal challenge would tead to the examination of each signature to ensure that the signer is a registered voter.

This scrutiny may discourage additional residents from signing the petitions.

Scherillo said that, at times, the Guardian Angel volunteers have gone as far as to babysit while clients go on job interviews.

The shop carries a wide range of goods, from household items and clothing to jewelry, furs and original oil paintings. All of the sale items were donated by local residents.

"People have been fantastic, donating goods to sell," said Scherillo. "Now we just need more people to come in and buy."

Scherillo said that the profits from the items that are sold go directly to The Safe House, a shelter for battered women located at Clara Maass Medical Center

Clara Maass Medical Center recently celebrated the 40-year anniversary of the move from its original site in Newark to the current Franklin Avenue location.

It was in the carry morning hours, on Sunday, Aug. 18, 1957. that a caravan of ambulances and station wagons, operated by an army of volunteers, carried 42 patients from the old Clara Maass Memorial Hospital on Twelfth Avenue in Newark to its new and very modern facility near Branch Brook Park in Belleville,

More than 300 volunteers participated in the mass transfer including 160 members of the Newark Civil Defense Council, the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross, the

New Jersey National Guard, auxiliary police, air raid wardens, nurses and physicians.

The move, dubbed "Operation Good Neighbor," was directed as a drill by the Civil Defense Medical and Health Division of the Newark Civil Defense Connen

As Cold War tensions created the fear of possible air raids in the minds of many Americans at that time, the potential need for a mass emergency evacuation was very present. Therefore, the transfer took on greater proportions as an opportunity to rehearse such a

The transfer was completed in just over four hours without any major difficulties. Patients woke and ate breakfast in the old hospital and were served lunch in the new facility, overlooking the park.

Though it was a careful effort, she said, "it was a good time. It was a wonderful thing for the community to do, with everyone getting involved in moving the patients from the old building to the

They make a fine twosome, as they commute together from Silver Lake to their jobs at the Department of Citizen Services of Essex County. The driver of their car is Sy Grossman, who 50 years ago this month joined the Belleville school system as a teacher of Latin and English. His partner is Gerry Moreno, Assistant Administrative Supervisor of Family Services, who joined the civil service work force 23 years ago, and despite the loss of most of his vision, maintains a full and productive work schedule to this day. Gerry attended school with Seymour Grossman's sons, Daniel and Alan, and they became fellow travellers after Sy's retirement as Assistant Superintendent of Schools and his decision to keep active by joining Family Services. * * * * The two men have a lot to talk about as they travel. "We have some excellent conversations," Sy Grossman said. Gerry Moreno noted that he began losing his vision midway through his education at Rutgers University, "When I got out, I found that no one would hire me. It was Mary Senatore who suggested I apply at the Hall of Records for a civil service job, and I was accepted. In 1980, I passed the test for Supervisor." Today, he uses a voice computer and a Braille watch to keep abreast of his job - "It's all a matter of accommodations. We all use accommodations to get through life." - and he attends conventions of the National Association of The Blind and writes articles that are picked up by national publications. His late father, Patrick, was a barber on Summer Avenue in Newark His mother, Grace, will be 90 on Christmas Day. Gerry is the youngest of six children. He is married to the former Madeline Ludovico and the couple has two children, Michele and Gerald, Jr. His many civic activities and his personal achievement won him the accolade of Silver Lake Man of the Year this year and he has many more achievements to realize in the future. . . . Sy Grossman was born in Plains, Pennsylvania, a suburb of Wilkes-Barre. His father, Max, supported a family of 10 children as a butcher, and his mother, Rose, brought the children to adulthood. He had never heard of Belleville until Columbia University, where he was pursuing a Master of Arts degree, told him there was a job available here. "One of the first questions the Superintendent asked me was my religion. I told him if he was looking for a Sunday School teacher, he had the wrong man." In fact, he did teach Sunday School at Congregation Ahavas Achim, where he has been a fixture for the past half century. It was Superintendent Anthony Greco who asked him to become Assistant Superintendent in 1973, after a career of pioneering everything from the school newspaper to the Adult School, the Junior High School and rewriting the curriculum of virtually the entire school system. But he is probably best recalled by the students to whom he gave special coaching to bring them up to school level. They are in the hundreds. * * * * Sy married Claire Rosen, a teacher, in 1949. They were married 30 years until she passed away, and Sy never remarried. Son Daniel is an attorney residing in Scotch Plains, married to Sandra Shapiro, and the father of Michael and Susannah. Son Alan is a gynecologist and obstetrician in Maple Glen, Pennsylvania, who was graduated Summa Cum Laude from the University of Pennsylvania. He is married to Lynne Tootchen, R.N. and the children are Melissa, Craig and Jason. . . . Sy received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Scranton and when the Alpha Sigma Nu, the national Jesuit honor society decided to pick two graduates for membership in 1965, he was one of them. His message to Belleville is: "Continue to have the finest educational system in the State of New Jersey, and under the leadership of Superintendent Michael Lalty, I'm sure it will be accomplished."

Speaking of achievement, it was 51 years ago this month that Don Ross opened shop as State Farm Agent in Belleville. Now, some 8,000 clients later, he is probably the town's busiest insurance man. Born and bred in Belleville, he recently recalled his boyhood days during World War II, when an enterprising teen-ager could get into Ebbets Field. Brooklyn for the price of some tinfoil or ironware as a contribution to the war effort. Seeing a game meant taking unauthorized leave from school with some like-minded buddies, taking the train to Hoboken, the ferry to Chamber Street. Manhartan, the trolley car from City Hall over the Brooklyn Bridge to the trolley that went up Flatbush Avenue to the ball park. Well, they were young, then. Eager to end the war singlehanded, he joined the Marines after his graduation in June 1945, and to his astonishment, the war ended. He was statrioned in California when he took his discharge, and he was set to make his life there when he bought some car insurance from a State Painn Agency. "The agent told me they were opening a new office in New Jersey, and it would be a great opportunity for a voung man." Don nook the agent at his word, and the rest of the story is that of a successful young businessman building a reputation for service and integrity, and thereby beating the economic system at its own game. . . · · Being an insurance man means being involved in the community, and Don Ross is active in the Lions, the Montgomery Presbyterian Church, and a host of other organizations. It has rubbed off on his children. Daughter Domna is a teacher of Special Education in the public schools of Houston, Texas, following a stint in the Army, and daughter Deborah is a programmer for the Public Broadcasting System station in Lexington, Kentucky. Don recalls a boyhood job of ice man, hoisting the blocks of ice with tongs onto his shoulder and delivering to the local households. Like the trolley car to Ebbets Field, the ice route is a thing of memory. But Don lives by the traditions that made those days memorable and worthy of remembrance. • • • • Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch says that changing a form of government can be beneficial. "It has the value of making the politicians sharpen their wits to figure out new ways to control the system, something at which they are always successful." . . . . Zilch's political supporters, the Kool Kukumber Boys, are studying more ways to put Official Jersey on the ballot, along with English and Spanish. "It's important to keep the voters informed, like by telling them that pulling down the lever does not mean that you get a new musical selection." • • • • Our Copy Cat, Baldassaro Di Vincenzo Mitten, says, "The change of government petitions had enough names on them. It's just that they were of vot-

Before the move to Belleville the original building had become well worn and weary with use. As a result of aging facilities, consequent safety hazards and poor conditions, hospital administrators were faced with a decision; rebuild or shut down

Therefore, in the fall of 1946, administrators began an 11-year fund-raising effort, which included collecting donations from area businesses and benefactors.

The doctors, themselves, collected $40,000 to purchase the land, known then as Nanny Goat Hill. The building project, finally

The new facility featured what was then considered state-of-the-art technology, including an intercom system, conveyor belts in the kitchen and a dumbwaiter for pharmacy, kitchen and laundry use.

The six-story building allowed the hospital to care for three times as many patients as the old location, with a 324-bed capacity and a 550-member staff, compared to the previous staff of 187

'It was the newest and most modern hospital in the area," said D'Alessandro, now the curator of the medical center's museum. "It was and still is a great hospital.'

Crime watch: Bomb scare

A telephoned bomb threat caused the evacuation of the Pathmark Store on Washington Avenue, last Thursday, at 10:55 p.m.

The call was received by Lieutenant Victor Mesce, who alerted the Essex County Bomb Squad.

Police Officers Rocco Andreotola and James Melillo went to the store and supervised the evacuation.

K-9 dogs sniffed for explosives and the store was searched by police, but no evidence of a bomb was found.

Police said the call was traced to a pay telephone near the elevator in the Pathmark Mall. A tape of the voice, that of a male, was preserved by police for identification.

A couple used a baby carriage in an attempt to shoplift nearly a hundred dollars worth of steak and shrimp, police reported.

At 4:03 p.m. Saturday, Police Officer Robert Reed went to the Pathmark Store on Belmont Avenue where store security was holding Bridget Springer, 23, of field and Salvatore Miller.

In the baby carriage was Ms. Springer's two-year-old son.

A family friend was given charge of the child while the mother and her companion were taken to police headquarters.

Ms. Springer was released without bail. Police said there was an outstanding warrant from Belleville for Mr. Miller, who was held in

At the same time, at the Foodtown Store on Main Street, Ida Ramos, 37, of Belleville was arrested on charges of shoplifting $152 worth of non-food items. Police Officers James Paterno and Vincent Strumolo made the arrest on the complaint of store security.

On Saturday, at 5:12 p.m., Lieutenant Vincent Cappetto was on patrol when he noticed a car going the wrong way down a oneway street, Columbus Avenue.

He stopped the car at the intersection of Belleville Avenue and Branch Brook Drive, and was joined by Police Officers Pat Goldrick and Joseph Trabucco, after he noticed an open glassine sion of cocaine and a hypodermic needle were the driver, Joseph Morello, 51, of Bloomfield and the passenger, Carl Hart, 29, of

At 11 a.m., Saturday, Officers Goldrick and Trabucco arrested Stewart Robert Lee, 28, of Newark for possession of a hypodermic needle. Police said Mr. Lee was walking down the middle of Washington Avenue in an uncertain manner and was nearly struck by passing cars, when they stopped

It was at 1 a.m., Saturday, that police reported finding Michael Vincent Driscoll, 35, of Kearny, walking down Mill Street while holding an open container of beer.

Mr. Driscoll reportedly told police he was on his way to Kearny. When he pulled a dollar bill out of his pocket, police said it showed evidence of cocaine. Charged with drinking in public and possession of cocaine, Mr. Driscoll was held in $500 bail.

At 12:05 a.m., Friday, Police Officers Robert Reed and Robert Alves arrested Reinaldo Munez, 31, of Newark at Honiss and Lake Streets, after they reportedly found him with a bag containing five used hypodermic needles. A companion of Mr. Nunez, Steven Padilla, 24, of Newark, asked police to drop him off at the Pathmark Store on Belmont Avenue. A security man leaving the store spotted him as a suspected shoplifter, and Mr. Padilla was arrested.

A beer buying expedition resulted in the arrest of two Nutley brothers on charges of possession of cocaine and obstruction of justice, last Thursday,

At 7:30 p.m., Detectives Michael Giuliano and Robert Capece reported seeing John Mitschow, 21, of Nutley emerging from a liquor store with a cardboard box of beer. The detectives said that Mr. Mitschow had two bags sticking out of the rear pockets of his pants and the bags were found to contain marijuana.

There were four young men in the car. One of them, Jefferey Mitschow, 18, of Nutley, allegedly identified himself as someone else. He was charged with giving false information to police.

On Aug. 20, Police Officers Victor Linfante and Joseph Tramaglini went to Dave's Liquor Store in the Pathmark Mall on Washington Avenue where the owner reported an attempt had been made to use a stolen credit card to purchase liquor.

Police said that Lorraine Eileen Taylor, 33, of Jersey City, left the mall with the card and entered a car driven by Steven Lacko, 35, of Bergenfield. The police stopped the car on Washington Avenue

They reported that Mr. Lacko was driving on the revoked list and that there were $2,000 in outstanding warrants for him from Secaucus. Both Mr. Lacko and Ms. Taylor were charged with possession of stolen property.

On Oct. 20, Police Officer Paul Long arrested three women charged with shoplifting more than $300 worth of goods from the K-Mart on Main Street.

Those arrested were Beatrice Sarango, 31; Fanny Vicenta, 25, and Maria Torres, 25, all of Newark.

On Thursday, Police Officers John Holland and Anthony Passarella arrested Hector Emilio Montanez, 27, of Nutley, for allegedly shoplifting a cordless telephone from the K-Mart store.

He was also charged with possession of marijuana. Warrants totalling $1,000 were outstanding for Mr. Montanez from Belleville and Clifton, and he was held in $1,250 bail.

Police Officers Tom Zecca and Scott Simonetti arrested Raymond Joseph Scarnaty, 30, of Bloomfield, at the K-Mart store, where store security said he had attempted to take out a cordless drill, a battery pack and a set of drill bits, with a total value of $65.

Young dancers perform at Park Manor Nursing Home

the Green in Bloomfield, as a van of eager children arrive at their destination: The Park Manor Nursing Home

The excited faces belong to eight young dance students from the Off-Broad Street Dance Center in Bloomfield, accompanied by their teacher/directors Sandy Dreis and Marty Watson

The dance center is an arts enrichment program of Kid's Corner at the Park United Methodist Church, Bloomfield, with children ranging in age from 4

Already in costume, the troupe exits the van carrying top hats, silver canes, yellow raincoats, feather boas and tap shoes. Everyone has something to carry and a job to do - entertain an audience of awaiting seniors who greet the dancers with friendly smiles and a hearty "Welcome back

This is the second year visiting Park Manor for some of the Off-Broad Street troupe: for the younger students, this is a debut performance

It's now 4:30 p.m. and the seniors are waiting anxiously, wheelchairs and walkers are in a big "u" shape around a large open square. Dreis hands out "no skids" for the bottom of the tappers' shoes, since they are dancing on shiny linoleum, and announces the half-hour program.

The dance numbers are polished to a similar shine and include such favorites as "Singin' in the Rain,"

It's late spring and it's quiet on "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," Broadway Medley "Rugcutter." The audience hears music from Duke Ellington to Count Basie and often hums and claps along

The half-hour goes much too quickly as the dancers exchange top hats for cowboy hats in "Oklahoma" and canes for boas in "Hello, Dolly." Bows are taken, the enthusiastic young troupe of performers is introduced. They represent many local schools: Watsessing, Fairview, Brookdale, Franklin and St. Thomas schools, all in Bloomfield, and the Montclair Cooperative Preschool.

It's now 5:15 p.m. and time to say goodbye until next season, as an early dinner is about to be served at Park Manor

With an invitation to return next year, Dreis packs up the portable compact-disc player and the eight rosy-cheeked dancers pile into the church van for the short threeminute trip around the Green. Everyone is buzzing with excitement and flushed from the effort that means so much to both youngsters and seniors alike

With this challenging and meaningful event in mind, the troupe returns home with a feeling of accomplishment of having shared something special of themselves with others from another generation - realizing that the joy of music and dance links us all

Top hats off to the Off-Broad Street Dance Center!

MORE THAN EVER BEFORE, students are conforming to school dress codes and uniforms, but their need to express their originality and to be in style is increasing. Parents can help support their children's need for individual expression through Mead's 1997 backpacks, pens, pencils, notebooks and planners that feature themes from active sports lifestyles and trendy peace signs to messages captured in bright color palettes and the excitement of the cyberspace craze.

Children Express Individuality For Back-to-School Season

(MS) - Studies show that today's become conscious of trends as early as kindergarten. For them, being "in style" means being their own person. So, how can parents support their children's need for individual expression?
This back-to-school season, parents will see their children taking an active role in selecting what they wear and what school supplies they carry. With many students conform-ing to dress codes, uniforms, and, of course, school rules and regulations. their need to express their originality soars. As a result, everything from soars. As a result, everything from backpacks to pens and pencils to notebooks and planners helps stu-dents stand out from the crowd, according to Dana Walker, marketing manager at Mead, the nation's largest mufacturer of school supplies

Keeping in close touch with chil-dren's trends, the company sees this fall's "hot" items covering active sports lifestyles, colors reminiscent of the psychedelic '60s and early '70s. the psychedelic 60s and early 70s, and technology that kids see as "empowering." To help parents support their children's needs, Mead provides the following insights about what's going to be "hot" in back-to-school supplies this fall:

been popular, but, today, "extreme' sports, like snowboarding, rollerblading and "doing the half-pipe" on a skateboard, are the new crazes. Ninety percent of young people par ticipate in sports-related activities So, it's not unusual for children to want to be associated with products that encourage them to explore life with rugged enthusiasm. This trend is easily seen on the exaggerated sports figures 'living large' on Mead's Backstreets<sup>33</sup> line of school supplies," says Marna Henley, director of marketing services at Mead. "Products with sporty images appeal to kids and offer a fashionable way to accent their active lifestyles."

Colors — Solid, simple colors always will have a place, but color combinations, patterns and hip designs will be catching the eyes of children, teens and parents. In fact, parents may have an easier time relating to some of the trends this season by thinking back to their days of bellbottoms, hip huggers and bright lime green and orange nylon shirts.

Essex County residents are invited to auditions beginning Sunday, Sept. 7, at 2:30 p.m. at Bethany Lutheran Church. Joralemon and New streets, Belleville, for a new chamber symphony orchestra called the Chamber Orchestra Communities.

Membership is to be primarily amateurs. If there is a need, auditions will be held at later dates for charter membership in this organi-Instrumentalists prepared to brass, reeds and percussion, including transcribers, arrangers and Director William Moore, minister of music for Bethany Lutheran Church, and longtime orchestral and choral conductor, said, "This is one grand opportunity for all of those within the area, to dust off their high school and college playing instruments and join a community organization playing for charity, fellowship, fun and enjoyment in a professional manner. The chamber orchestra is looking for members who are: 1, working adults with enough instrumental skills to have considered a musical career at one time; 2. college and high school students, in the 11th and 12th grades, who aspire to become career musicians; and 3. all of those many other adults who love music and play at home for their own enjoyment," he

Members of the orchestra will be selected based on their skill as well as on their desire to be part of a group giving concerts at least two times per year. They must be willing to come to regular weekly rehearsals.

"While a large range of instrumentalists will participate, we are especially interested in the instrumentalists who are interfaith churchgoers and/or charity givers coming from a full variety of local, community and area churches,' Moore said.

Tentative plans are to play a fall concert as well as to accompany the Chorus of Communities in their winter concert.

Cub Scouts at Glen Gray

Summertime means camping and the Cub Scouts of Pack 350 have certainlybeen doing just that! A few of the Scouts, Robert Smith, Chris Chachakis and Kevin Chachakis, have returned from Camp Glen Gray and an experience "not to be forgotten."

Adventures at the Circus was this year's theme. They went to Glen Gray expecting to find fun and frolic and they sure found it, from swimming in the rain for polar bear in the early morning chill to the campfire at the end.

After the opening ceremonies and breakfast each morning, the activities would begin and the fun didn't stop until the last head hit the sleeping bag in an attempt to recharge for the next day's adventures. Not even the rain could slow these boys down and boy did it year!

The boys made clown faces and clown picture frames in arts and crafts and learned about science in nature lodge. They also fished, swam and rowed in boats in a beautiful lagoon where they learned swimming and boating safety. Games included an animal safari which was a big hit with all the Scouts, a song fest held before meals and led by the camp staff and finally, the last night campfire where the boys performed skits and sang songs and yelled out cheers.

By far and away, the most popular activities were archery and target shooting with BB guns where bull's eyes were the name of the game and the Scouts earned sports

Child care training available

"The daily care of young children is a challenge that requires knowledge and effort," noted Barbara Fedoroff, chief executive officer of Programs for Parents,

To meet the challenge, the nonprofit agency - which coordinates child care delivery service in Essex County for the New Jersey Department of Human Services, Division of Family Development seeks persons care for five or fewer children in their homes.

This area, there are 19 registered family day care providers, caring for nearly 76 children. More providers are needed, since the demand for small children's care is increasing due to parents working, she said. Fedoroff remarked that "often times, working parents prefer a small home-like setting for their children, especially parents of infants and toddlers.

Through Programs for Parents, the family child care provider receives specialized training, voluntarily registers with the state and becomes an independent owner.

Training classes conducted by Programs for Parents cover areas such as childcare, health and safety issues, marketing and age-appropriate materials and child developmental curriculum ideas. The new family child care provider receives the support of the agency for technical assistance as well as meeting other child care providers.

All those interested in becoming a family child care provider are invited to attend one of the training classes on either Thursday, Sept. 11, or Wednesday, Sept. 17, at 56 Grove Ave., Verona, one block from Bloomfield Avenue.

The classes will take from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and reservations are required.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 733-4108.

Programs for Parents provides comprehensive services for children and families in Essex County. The agency is located at 33 Washington St., sixth floor, Newark. The telephone number is 297-1114.

Scholarship program seeks candidates

This past year saw the Miss Essex County Scholarship Pageant organization award more than $2,000 in cash scholarships and awards. More scholarships can be achieved by competing in the Miss New

OUR OPINION

Redirect the energy

The sponsors of the change of government petition have the job of coming up with enough additional - and legal - signatures to put the proposal for a return to commission government on the November ballot.

Perhaps their efforts will succeed. Perhaps they won't.

Our own belief is that the same effort might be better spent finding worthy candidates for office.

We know they are out there, somewhere. We are not sure that the petition sponsors are the ones to recognize them, or to promote them for office if they did recognize them.

The sponsors of the petition have every right to seek a change in government. The fact that they can do so is in itself a guarantee of democracy. Nor do we say that we are so wise as to be sure they are in error.

But quality of government depends on the quality of the people who make up that government.

Going to commission government, or any other form of municipal government, does character and integrity who are willing to not guarantee the quality of the officials who take on the challenge of creating a better will govern the township. If anything, com- community.

mission government will bring out the more ambitious and power hungry, because of the authority they will be able to wield.

The Council-manager government has not worked in Belleville as it was intended, because the politicians did not want it to function. The Council majority drove out the competent manager who first provided proper administration.

They replaced him with a pliable, hapless puppet who did what was required to hang on to office, until he was finally forced out by newer officials.

The present manager is an effective infighter who is able to maintain some degree of independence, but not the amount to which he is entitled.

The reason that the independence of the manager is in question lies with the members of the Council.

It is not the worst Council in our history, but it could be better.

It will be better when we find the people of

Night Out a success

Aug. 5, National Night Out, started out so great on Salter Place

We set up Salter Place for our street party, gathered a few people, walked to the Silver Lake police station, saw a clown, walked around a few streets, got a free coupon for Rita's Lemon Ice, and walked back to Salter Place where the party was underway.

Neighbors had cooked, baked or contributed money and, in some cases, did both. We had lots to eat -- the Bloomfield police came with all kinds of goodies. The new Belleville mobile van, the fire engine and Goldie the horse surrounded us. There was so much activity going on and it was so great to see the neighbors again, sitting, talking and getting to know each other.

The rain came, and we picked up the tables and continued either in the garage or front porch. It dampened our spirits a little, but we did okay.

Thanks to all the neighbors in Belleville and Bloomfield who went out of their way with us that night. We look forward to doing it again next year.

Restore funding

I would like to ask the Belleville Township Council why they have cut $40,000 to Community

By cutting these funds desperately needed by the poor citizens of Belleville, the council will essentially cost the taxpayers of Belleville some $215,000.

When I was appointed to the Board of Trustees of Community Mental Health Services, I was an outspoken critic of the board. However, after spending time on the board, walking a mile in the service's shoes, I have come to reverse my standing

The board, comprised of members of Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield, plays an important role in Belleville life. Belleville has been supporting this board for 30 years, and membership of the board was at the recommendation of the township and council.

As a member of the board, Belleville receives some $367,194 in services for the $40,000 it pays in dues. That's nine-times what Belleville puts into the pot. The council would be insane to refute these numbers and to go ahead with the funding cuts.

I beg the Belleville council to reinstate the $40,000 to Community Mental Health, not as a trustee, but as a Belleville taxpayer.

The Anti-Bias Committee (ABC) of Unico National congratulates the Italian military tribunal for the conviction and sentencing of 15 years' imprisonment for former Nazi SS Captain Erich Priebke, Priebke played a key role in the 1944 Ardeatine Caves massacre in which 335 innocent Italian civilians, aged 11 to 75, including 75 Jews, were execut-

Justice was finally served for this dreadful wartime massacre.

During Italy's struggle from Nazi occupation, Italian partisans killed 33 Nazi soldiers, and Captain Erich Priebke compiled a list of Italians to be killed

In Rome's Ardeatine Caves, 10 people were brutally executed for every Nazi killed, plus five others, totalling 335. Captain Priebke admitted to personally killing "two or three" of the misfortuned victims.

Even though the prosecution was unable to obtain life imprisonment for Priebke, the 15-year sentence, considering his age and deteriorating health, was satisfactory. Finally, this war criminal has been tried and is being held accountable for his actions.

RECENTLY Democrat gubernatorial candidate lim McGreevey applied for matching state funds to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars. To me, both the matching state fund and his candidacy are a waste of money and time. The Democrat candidate who might have given Governor Whitman a close race is Congressman Rob Andrews from south Jersey

The state could save a lot of money. McGreevey could save himself to run another day when he wouldn't have to face Whitman. And we should go ahead and elect Whitman by acclamation. No one to our knowledge has declared Whitman a November winner, although, the odds against her losing should be 100-1. She is our choice to guide our ship of state for the next four years.

Baseball in late 70's and early 80's

I had said in my last column that baseball was beginning to be more of a business, even to a die-hard fan like me in the mid to late 1970's. I graduated high school in 1976, and that was the year that the Mets signed Tom Seaver to what was then a huge contract extension.

Players were switching teams on a more consistent basis, thanks to something called free agency, which took its inception thanks to a man named Curt Flood who took the lead when he refused a trade to the Phillies following the 1969 season.

Flood was one of my favorites, mainly because he played center field for the Cardinals in the late 60's. Today, I'm a collector of sports memorabilia and my dining room resembles something of a sports bar.

I've collected many autographed photos throughout the years, but the one I have of Curt Flood remains one of my favorites. Sadly, Flood passed away recently, dying way before his time.

Anyway, my Cardinals gave me my share of happiness and heartache during the 70's. In 1973, I remember them getting off to a 1-12 start, then rallying and moving into first place by the All Star break. The unquestioned leader of that team was Joe Torre. The Cardinals, at one point in August of '73, held a 61-50 record and appeared to be in good shape to win the N.L. East until a fateful afternoon in New York.

They were playing a Saturday afternoon game at Shea Stadium in early August. I remember it well because I was at that game. My main man, Bob Gibson, was pitching for the Cardinals. It was a big thing for me because I had never seen Gibson pitch in person before. The Cards took the early lead and Gibson, a good hitter, was on first base with a single. I remember a Cardinal hitter lining a shot to second and Gibson, trying to get back to first, tore up his knee and went down in a heap.

He tried to get up and pitch, but he went down again and missed the next six weeks. The Cardinals lost the division that year by 1 1/2 games to the Mets and the following year, lost by that same margin to Pittsburgh after it appeared they would force a one game playoff against the Pirates.

I'll never forget the night in '74 when they lost the division title. Gibson had given up a homer in a game against Montreal and the Cardinals lost 3-2. That loss put them 1 1/2 games behind Pittsburgh in the division. The next night, Pittsburgh needed to lose its season finale and the Cardinals needed to win to force a one game playoff.

The Cards had a day game and won. I remember the entire Cardinal team listening to the game on radio between the Pirates and Cubs. Chicago, which had a bad team that year, took an early 4-0 lead and held a 4-3 lead with two out in the ninth. The final Pirate batter struck out, but the Cub catcher, Steve Swisher, didn't handle the pitch. It turned out to be a passed ball and Pittsburgh eventually tied the game and went on to win, 5-4, eliminating St. Louis from the division.

Swisher was not one of my favorite players following the '74 season, needless to say. He would later join my "Don Denkinger" list of people I most disliked in major

By the late 70's, the Cardinals were in transition. They would become the team of the 80's, but the 70's belonged to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

By the early 80's, I had a rejuvenated interest in the Cardinals. I felt with this guy named Whitey Herzog as their manager, good things would happen. I always liked Herzog when he was the Royals manager in the 70's and felt he would do good things for St. Louis.

Next week, some memories of the 80's and recollection of some of my baseball trips around the country. I'll wrap up this feature in another week. Please feel free to call if you have anything you'd like to add to this.

Coming soon.....

Yes, the summer is winding down. Next week, we'll have the fall sports schedule in the sports section. In this weeks issue, you'll see a sneak preview of the sports scene, including my annual N.F.L. predictions.

Guess what? I'm not putting Philadelphia in the Super Bowl this year. They'll be close, but I think they'll lose at Green Bay in the N.F.C. championship game.

See you next week.

Fall sports ready to 'kick off' 1997-98 season

Opening football game is set

By Mike Lamberti

You gotta' love it, this time of

For a sports fan, this is the ultimate. Baseball season is hitting the pennant races and this Sunday, the

the start of a new era at Belleville.

Patrick Dowling has begun his first year as coach of the Bucs with practice sessions that began this week.

Dowling is certainly a man who For high school football fans, it's likes challenges. He takes over a team that hasn't been over .500 since 1990 and will face an awesome schedule, battling the likes of St. Joe's, Hackensack, Teaneck and Paramus Catholic.

But Dowling is certainly up for the challenge. He seems to have his players in a positive frame of mind and that's a good start for what should be a young team in 1997.

There's a new girls' soccer coach at B.H.S. this fall in Carlos Folleco.

Veteran coaches Grace Worley, Tony Salese, Donna Richardi and John Tosato are back to coach volleyball, tennis, gymnastics and cross country respectively.

And don't forget Gino DePinto, who will be at the helm of the Buc soccer program. DePinto's teams have been dominant in the 90's. It's probably safe to say that the varsity soccer program at Belleville has been the most successful of any varsity team this decade.

As for the N.F.L., who do you like? I like to make my annual predictions, so here are my choices. In the N.F.C. East, I'm a little biased. being a big Philadelphia Eagles fan. so I'll go with them

In the East: Philadelphia 10-6, Dallas 10-6, Washington 9-7, Arizona 8-8, Giants 7-9. In the N.F.C. Central: Green Bay

12-4, Tampa Bay 10-6, Chicago 7-9, Detroit 7-9, Minnesota 7-9. In the N.F.C. West: New Orleans

10-6, San Francisco 9-7, Carolina 7-9, Atlanta 6-10, St. Louis 5-11. In the A.F.C. East: New England

10-6, Jets 9-7, Miami 8-8, Buffalo In the A.F.C. Central: Pittsburg 11-5, Cincinnati 8-8, Houston 7-9,

Baltimore 6-10, Jacksonville 6-10. In the A.F.C. West: Oakland 10-

6, Denver 10-6, Kansas City 8-8. Seattle 7-9, San Diego 4-12.

For the playoffs, the wildcards in the N.F.C. are Dallas, Tampa Bay and San Francisco. In the A.F.C., wildcards are Denver, the Jets (hard to believe, but true) and, let's say, Philadelphia and Green Bay for the N.F.C. title, Green Bay winning, and Oakland and Pittsburgh for the A.F.C. title, Pittsburgh winning.

Thus, Super Bowl XXXII, in San Diego, will feature Green Bay and Pittsburgh.

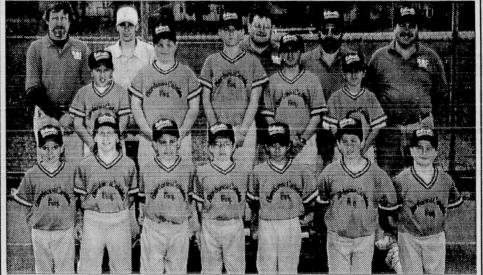

Let's see how good these predictions look in a few months.

Enjoy the start of football this weekend and the pennant races in baseball.

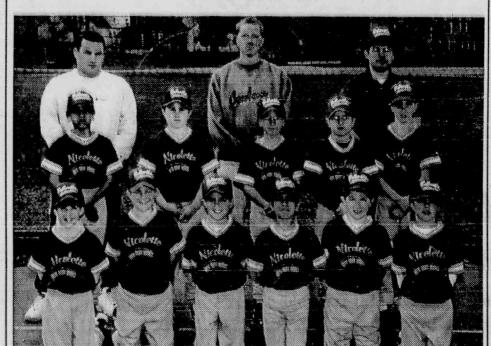

In next weeks issue, we'll have the fall sports schedules and we'll also begin to preview some of the

MEETING RESISTANCE

New research provides further evidence of he misuse and overuse of antibiotics According to the findings of a national study ommon bacteria that cause illnesses ranging from bronchitis to pneumonia and middle-ea infections are nearly four times more likely to be resistant to penicillin now than only three years ago. Even more troubling to scientists i that a growing percentage of the bacteria are also resistant to other antibiotics. Much of this problem stems from the fact that many patients or a variety of conditions, some of which car not be helped by antibiotics. As a result of this widespread misguided treatment, bacteria have become increasingly able to develop resistance When treatment of your condition includes a prescription medication, prompt service i available from us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY 338 Washington Avenue (759-1956, 759-1968) We are Medicare and Blue Cross approved Baby needs, cameras, film, gifts, and greeting cards are stocked. Hours: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-9pm. Please be extra careful dri-ving over the Labor Day weekend.

HINT: Another factor that contributes to drug-resistant bacteria is the failure of patient nent, which results in the survival of drug resis tant strains because the medication was not taken long enough to kill all the bacteria. & Carey Funeral Home, Boonton.
