BAREFOOT ON FAIRWAY AVENUE - Deanna Liss, 13, of the Belleville Middle School knows that when she walks Tampa, her dog, George the cat is sure to follow. On one of the last days of Summer, the trio made their way down the quiet street, none wearing shoes.

Lottery awards $2 million to couple

"We never sold a ticket that big before," Arthur Pinto, a partner in the White Oak Liquor Shop said.

The Pick 6 Lotto ticket worth $2 million was sold to Frank and Cathleen Corrente of Belleville, who told the press that they were off on their first vacation in 11 years.

Mr. Corrente, 56, received a check for $36,000 last week, the first of 20 such payments the couple will have.

A press report stated that the Correntes learned they had won when they watched a television broadcast.

"This will make things a little easier," Mr. Corrente was quoted.

Improved sweep set-up, county land sale discussed

Fine for dog litter to be $500

By Howard Klausner

Taking drastic action to curb dog litter on private lawns, the Township Council voted Tuesday to introduce an ordinance setting a $500 fine for the violation of the health code.

The proposal for the stiff fine, which could be raised to $1,000 for a repeat offense, was offered by Council Member Angie Paserchia.

Other Council members agreed that dog litter was the most frequent cause of complaints among their constituents.

Mrs. Paserchia said that beside being an annoyance, it was a threat to the public health.

Township Attorney Robert Giordano was instructed to draw up the ordinance for introduction at the next regular session of the Council.

In other business, the Council heard Superintendent of Public Works Charles Cerami outline a plan that would end no parking rules on both sides of the same street to permit sweeping.

Cerami said he had worked out a schedule that would permit sweeping of all streets in the township without requiring bans on parking on both sides of the street at the same time.

"Banning parking on both sides of the street puts a burden on people who have to find some place to park their cars," Cerami said.

Cerami advised the Council that the perilous state of the older sweepers might create problems, but that he hoped to use his best sweeper for the job.

The neighborhoods most affected by two-sided parking bans are the newer developments in the northern part of the township, Cerami said.

The Council was visited by Essex County Freeholder Leroi Jones, who said the county planned to sell a 16-acre tract of county land on Belleville Avenue at public auction.

Jones said he wanted the Council to give its approval to the idea before any sale was made.

Jones said that no specific buyer was on the horizon.

Township Manager Raymond Kimble raised the question of the legality of selling the property.

Originally part of the Hendricks estate, it had been given to the county on the promise that the land would always remain in public use and not be sold to private interests.

Freeholder Jones said he was unaware of this, but that the County attorney would investigate the matter.

The land includes the five acres which was offered several years ago to the Township for Senior Citizen Housing.

Jones assured the Council its wishes would be considered.

Wallace & Tiernan asked 100% tax rebate, as price to remain in Belleville, official says

By Howard Klausner

A Belleville official told the Times that an executive of Wallace & Tiernan asked for a 100 percent tax rebate as an inducement to remain in Belleville.

According to the official, the proposal was rejected without debate by the Township Council.

"We believe the company was less than honest in its dealings with us," the official said. "We knew they planned to phase out their operations here, regardless of any offers we might make."

The firm, which made water purification equipment, had been in Belleville since 1914, and had some 700 employees.

It was acquired by a British firm, Northwest Water, and efforts were made by the new management to have the union representing the employees agree to new work rules.

Union officials said the demand would have ended seniority and other worker protections.

The firm moved its operations to Vineland in central New Jersey, last year.

The Belleville official said, "They still have to pay taxes on the property, and there is no way we would have given them a 100 percent tax rebate. They had won a substantial tax reduction as it was."

The official said that anyone who acquired the Wallace & Tiernan property would have to do a major clean-up of the property.

"The company didn't want to spend the money for the cleanup. It would be a substantial amount of money."

Company officials were engaged in lengthy negotiations with union and municipal officials at the same time they were seeking relocation to areas where the cost of labor would be less than in Belleville.

A Florida site reportedly was under consideration until the decision was made to move to Vineland.

Students return to augmented teaching staff, more services

By Howard Klausner

Despite a zero increase in the school tax rate, the school administration has managed to increase both the number of teachers and the services available to the students.

A major addition to school services is the After School program, which will be held from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. daily at School 8.

While the after school program will be supervised by the YM-YWCA under the direction of Michael Bright, at no cost to the school district, elementary grade school teachers John Iradi and Joanna Denoia will provide a teaching program.

At school's opening, 28 youngsters were signed up. They will be given bus transportation from their home schools to School 8, and their parents will take them home from the school.

There is now an expanded academic and talented student program that includes Grades 4, 5 and 6.

The Child Assault Preventive Program will be extended to the Middle School. School officials say the program has been successful in the Kindergarten through sixth grades.

Foreign language studies will be extended to Grades 5 and 6.

One new staff member has been added to the Physical Education departments of both the Middle School and the High School.

Schools 4, 5, 7 and 8 have each acquired an additional teacher, to meet their growing enrollments.

A Guidance Secretary has been added to the Middle School.

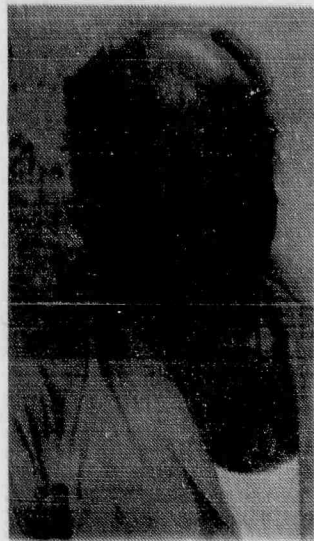

The school district will have an additional Learning Disability Specialist as part of the program to keep learning disability students within the system.

"We have save more than $951,000 over the past three years by retaining children in the district," Superintendent of Schools Michael Lally said.

"We save the tuition of $30,000 a year for each child sent out of the district for special education."

The students also return to buildings and classrooms that have been cleaned up and refurbished over the summer, and to school grounds which have also undergone improvements.

Aside from That

By Howard Klausner

The American Intercultural Student Exchange is currently seeking applications from people who would like to host a foreign exchange student for the new school year. Those who have participated in this program as hosts have found it to be a uniquely rewarding experience. For one thing, the students coming here are usually the cream of the crop, speaking fluent English, well mannered and well educated. In other words, when they visit us, they are practically slumming. But they are too polite to say so. And you never know what effect you may have on international events. All of which brings us to Trivo Indjich. . . . Back in the 1950s, when Tito reigned in Jugoslavia as an independent (from Moscow) and iron-fisted Communist dictator, a young Croatian arrived in Rutherford as an exchange student. Trivo was a blonde, handsome young man who looked like an all-star blocker for any Midwest college football team. He was also a member in good standing of the Young Communist League, or else he would not have been travelling abroad. He stayed at the home of a family we shall call Kelly. Mr. Kelly had been a tent mate of the future Senator Joseph McCarthy in the Pacific, during World War II and he was a firm supporter of Senator McCarthy's drive to ferret out Communists from government. And like most host families, the Kellys fell in love with their visitor. . . . We interviewed the family and Trivo for the old Herald-News, and we found the Kellys forming a defensive cordon around him, particularly when we raised the question of politics. Trivo could not understand the recent defection of a top-ranking Tito aide, or the opposition of exiled Yugoslavians to the Tito regime. He seemed to be a convinced Communist, but a very human one. He obviously enjoyed the land of milkshakes and drive-ins, and the American teen-age girls who obviously found him attractive. What it would all mean to him, we could not tell. Our article about him began, "The Kellys of Rutherford are harboring a registered Communist." The rest of the article dealt with how the Kellys had found him to be a person they liked. Mr. Kelly said nothing to us about the story, but the Student Council of Rutherford High School was furious. We had called this wonderful guy a Communist! . . . We finally decided to meet with the Council and explain how our reference to Trivo as a Communist was meant with no rancor. In fact, it had been an attempt at irony. This fell flat. I tried to illustrate what I meant by irony. On a nearby shelf in the library where we met was a book of quotations from Will Rogers. Opening it at random, I found the quote: "The rope did a lot to uplift humanity in Oklahoma." Not a smile. "We can't tell if Adolf Hitler is running for Chancellor of Germany, or Grand Kleagle." Nope. We finally slunk away, defeated in our efforts to explain our writing ways. . . . Years later, we opened the New York Times to read that a number of Croatian professors had been fired by Tito for espousing democracy. One was Trivo Indjich. A few months ago, we read of a dissident politician leading a movement against the Serb regime. That was Trivo Indjich. Well, unless there is more than one person in the world of that name, we should have to think that the visitor to the Kelly home those years ago may have picked up more than a taste of milkshakes. . . . For further information on AISE, call 1-800- SIBLING. You may yet change history!

You may yet change history! . . . And who do we run into on Little Street in the Valley but Ken Sorkin, the Democratic candidate for the State Assembly, in shirtsleeves and full stride as he pursues his door-to-door campaign in Belleville. "Shoe leather will win this campaign," he said with conviction. "Belleville is the swing town that I have to win." Sorkin said he would probably lose Nutley and have a crushing majority in his home town of Passaic. But Belleville is the town where he says the decision will be made. His campaign literature is remarkably like the campaign literature of Republicans four years ago. "Had enough? Send them a message." He is convinced the public is disenchanted with the Republican administration. Unfortunately, the public may also be disenchanted with the Democrats. Be that as it may, we picked up one vital piece of information. We found out who his running mate is for the Assembly, a handsome young gentleman named David Sivelia. And if you haven't met Mr. Sorkin by now, you probably will before the November election. . . . Fifth Ward Councilman Harry Zilch supports the idea of dropping toll booths on the Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway for some sort of electronic devices to tap into people's credit cards. "What's the point of driving a half hour on a toll road and then spending 45 minutes waiting to pay for the trip?" . . . Zilch's political supporters, the Kool Kukumber Boys, are promoting a new leaf collection bag that will save the expense of garbage pickups. "It looks exactly like a UPS parcel. You just leave it at the curb and let nature take its course." . . . Our Copy Cat, Baldassaro Di Vincenzo Mitten, says he saw a tow operator charging an elderly Hispanic lady $65 for a haul, plus $2.50 a mile. The local ordinance calls for $30. "It's interesting to know that bi-lingual education includes a course in swindling."

Crime Watch: Cars!

On Friday of last week, Sergeant Vincent Celso saw two young men looking into cars, at Lawrence Street and Belmont Avenue.

As Celso approached them, one fled and was halted by Police Officer Frank Piserchia, who brought him back to the spot. There police found a Honda Accord with fresh damage to the door handle and a screw driver on the ground nearby.

The would be escapee, a 17-year-old juvenile from East Orange, told police he was acting as lookout while his friend, Tari Turpin, 18, of East Orange, did the car entry work. Both were arrested.

At 3:15 a.m. on Friday, Police Officer Scott Simonetti saw a man staggering down Mill Street. He arrested Thomas Gaeta, 34, of Newark, who said he had just smoked a marijuana cigarette.

At 7:30 p.m. last Thursday, Police Officers Rocco Andreottola and James Mellillo saw John Joseph Cafone, 34, of Belleville, standing on a Washington Avenue street corner, shouting at passing motorists. Investigation resulted in Mr. Cafone being charged with possession of two vials of cocaine and a hypodermic needle.

On Thursday, at 6 p.m., Detectives Ralph Marotti and Gerard Corbo arrested David Boylan, 35, of Randolph on charges of driving on the revoked list and having a vial of cocaine on his person. The arrest followed a motor vehicle stop when Mr. Boylan was seen drinking from a can of beer while driving.

At 1:28 p.m. on Thursday, Police Officers Stephen Xenios and Joseph Tramiglini went to the Pathmark Store on Washington Avenue where security was holding Michael Mucciaroni, 23, of Nutley, for trying to leave the store with 25 boxes of Advil under his jacket. It had a value of $91.

On Wednesday of last week, at 7:15 p.m., Police Officers James Melillo and Anthony Weedo arrested Edwin Rivera, 31, of Newark who had been spotted looking into garage windows, while on his bicycle.

Police said Mr. Rivera dropped the bicycle and left the scene, and then returned for the bicycle. The police subsequently charged him with possession of several vials of cocaine and hypodermic needles. A homeowner charged Mr. Rivera with criminal trespass, and at headquarters, police learned that there were three outstanding warrants for him, from Belleville, Passaic and the Essex County Sheriff.

At 12:50 p.m. on Wednesday, Police Officers Joseph Zarillo and Anthony Tucci arrested Jerry Reid, 35, of East Orange after a chase down Belmont Avenue and Heckel Street.

The owner of a Belmont Avenue building said he had found Mr. Reid in the building, and the front door pried open. Police found three screw drivers and a hypodermic needle on Mr. Reid, as well as an outstanding warrant from Newark.

On Tuesday of last week, at 9:21 p.m., Police Officers Weedo and John Pinto arrested Chan Thomas, 32, of East Orange, in the parking lot at 20 Watessing Ave. Police said they found Mr. Thomas in a car with an expired temporary license and that he had a slaphammer and two screw drivers.

Police said there were outstanding warrants for Mr. Thomas from East Orange, Edison, Newark and Livingston, totalling $1,900.

At 2:53 a.m. on Tuesday of last week, Police Officer Richard Giordano saw a car drive through the Sunoco station at Belleville and Union Avenues in a reckless manner. The car was stopped by Police Officers Robert Klein and John Giacobbe at Lloyd Street and Hornblower Avenue.

They found the steering column was broken, and they arrested Richard Davis, 29, of Newark, and Dionne Bailey, 28, of Newark, for possession of a stolen car. It had been stolen in East Orange.

At 5:45 p.m., Sunday, Police Officers Robert Reed and Joseph Trabucco arrested Erik Faulk, 32, of Newark, after he was seen leaving 92 Frederick St. through the front doorway.

The police found that two apartments had been entered, and they said Mr. Faulk had some jewelry, a VCT and a remote control for the VCR, as well as a large amount of loose change.

The Imperial Guardsmen's

By Phil DeMaio

Belleville's Imperial Guardsmen Junior Drum and Bugle Corps crowned its inaugural season in the Garden State Circuit on Saturday with a second-place championship finish at Bayonne's Veterans Stadium and the respect of their competitors.

Only little more than six months old, the Guardsmen came within a 1.3 point whisker of wresting the Group IV title way from a highly favored and much more experienced Patriots Corps from Flemington. But the Belleville-based unit marched off the field with heads held high, knowing they gave their best performance of the season and adding over 14 points to their best score, an accomplishment which surpassed even their own goals.

The competition between the two was so unexpectedly close that several of the Patriots, including instructors, anticipated an upset in the marking when the Imperial Guardsmen completed its program and a few were themselves surprised when the judges' scoring was announced during the Full Corps Olympic Retreat at night's end.

With the Championship less than two weeks away, unforeseen circumstances forced them to abandon the program they'd been rehearsing for months and develop virtually an entirely new repertoire.

It was yet another set-back in a season which had seen more than its share for the newly formed corps, but the never-say-die 12-17-year-olds once again rose to meet the challenge.

At 5:10 p.m. clad in their traditional red, white, and black, Director Frank Koch's Imperial Guardsmen took the field of competition for the final time this season.

Honor Guard members Amanda Porter, Vanessa Leon and Jisette Soto stood smartly at attention as "Old Glory" fluttered in the late afternoon breeze.

Under the leadership of Drum Major Christina DiMeo, the Guardsmen's allotted five minutes and thirty seconds opened with the corps' special rendition of "St. Peter's Fanfare." Filling in on the horns were Brian Biedrzycki, Julie Lambert, Tristen Blowe, Jasmin Espinoza, Charlie Freudenvall, Mike Glogozo, Guy Hernandez, Cherish Moscagiuvi, Rocco Russamano, Justin Sinkewich, and Gary Vellellanes.

Their lowered horns then raised skyward with the unmistakable introductory blasts of "The Theme from 007," as the Color Guard, spinning red, white, and black banners festooned with glittering silver streamers, executed its synchronized accompaniment.

Co-captained by Christ Flor and Sara Molnar, the Guardsmen's Color Guard members are included Nicole Cordasco, Sharessa Bhola, Katie Delimon, Daniella DiCarlo, Maria Herrara, Jena Meagher, Marissa Molnar, and Annie Thatcher.

"007" was followed by a drum line solo, led by captain Christine Hinchley, which began softly with competing staccato riffs that climaxes into a thunderous heavy bass roar, then gently segued into the quieter rhythms of "America the Beautiful." Hinchley's percussionist section included Tim Bolland, Ronnie Diaz, Jose Dominquez, Danielle Dzendera, Alicia Harlow, Jose Perez, Scott Ramos, Pedro Ortiz, and Bertram Freeman. The selection also featured a spirited sprinkling of "Yankee Doodle" as played by Biedrzycki.

The final selection was "Minstrel Boy," an arrangement the corps learned only a week earlier.

The highlight of the Guardsmen's performance was a full-corps "charge" to the stands during its exit reprise of "Minstrel Boy." This particular maneuver hadn't been seen in the Garden State Circuit for 20 years and it was included into the Guardsmen's program for the first time on the eve of the Saturday's championship.

"Did you see that?" asked DiMeo. "That whole stadium gave us a standing ovation. Can you believe it? Us!"

At the end of the championship was a full-corps Olympic retreat, where all competing corps members amassed on the field for the awards ceremonies. Accepting the honors on behalf of the Imperial Guardsmen were DiMeo and Flor.

The Guardsmen have enjoyed growing community support from Belleville townsfolk. During its championship eve practice at School No. 8, one neighborhood onlooker who was observing the Corps rehearsal handed over a $100 check. Another area resident stopped by to donate a saxophone - not used in drum and bugle - asking only that it be put to a good purpose.

The Guardsmen will soon begin work on the 1998 season, fundraising through activities such as tag days and bake sales, and, its top priority, recruiting new members. Applicants should contact Corps Director Frank Koch at 751-6579.

Although the competition season is over, the Guardsmen will be performing over Labor Day weekend at St. Peter's and are also scheduled to appear in the area's Columbus Day Parade.

Jorammon and New streets, Belleville, for a new chamber symphony orchestra called the Chamber Orchestra of Communities.

Membership is to be primarily amateurs. If there is a need, auditions will be held at later dates for charter membership in this organization.

Instrumentalists prepared to audition need to call 895-4563 for an appointment or to ask any questions about the orchestra.

There is a need for strings, brass, reeds and percussion, including transcribers, arrangers and composers.

I Have Always Loved the Ocean
I have always known the ocean
As it finally touches land.
I have always loved the ocean
Rolling waves across the sand.
Waves that tumble all around me
Taste of salt upon my lips.
Force and strength beyond redemption
As the current swells and dips.
Sail across its tranquil waters,
Swim in the refreshing surf.
See the view of the horizon
Where the ocean meets the earth.
I have always known the ocean
With its ever-changing tide.
I have always loved the ocean
As I traveled far and wide.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Tuesday Senior Citizen Club held an Hawaiian motif party at the Senior Citizen Center. The club was decorated with Hawaiian-type decorations and many of the party goers were dressed in Hawaiian outfits. With so many dressed up, with a little imagination, you could make believe you were in Hawaii. The one and only Tony Donato Trio provided the excellent dance music for the party and you know that because the floor was crowded for every dance. Chairman Jerry Sansone with the help of Bob Johnson, Augusta Nigro, Rose Queli, Ann Livecki, Regina Nucci, Rocky Guarino and Antoinette Petitto did a very good job in handling the arrangements for the party. Walter and Evelyn White are to be commended for the beautiful decorations. Jerry Sansone and Ervina De Luca entertained by singing some songs. All in all, everyone had a good time. Daily Catering also did an excellent job in providing the delicious food.

Incidentally, a contest was held for the prettiest costume. Ann Sterlecki won first prize with Eva Costanza winning second and Josephine Dowd third. Sam Coccuzzo was responsible for the 50-50 with help from Mary Melchione and Rocky Guarino.

"I was hungry and you fed me, thirsty and you gave me to drink. I was a stranger and you received me into your homes, naked and you clothed me. . . Whenever you did this for one of these least important brothers or sisters of mine, you did it for me!"

Can you throw away old tax returns? The IRS states that you can throw away all records three years after your last return. However, if the IRS claims that they never received the tax return, according to the law there is no statute of limitations. The IRS can go after you for the three years after your supposedly last return. The IRS has its own system of evaluating how much you owe plus penalties. If you threw away all your records, you are up the creek. The only way to play it safe is to keep all records pertaining to your income tax as long as you live.

Don't be conned

• Read the newspaper and keep informed about any local scams that may have occurred in your area.

• Be skeptical about anything that sounds too good to be true.

• Don't be impulsive when it comes to "get rich quick" schemes. Check it out with friends, lawyers, the police department, Better Business Bureau, and your state or county consumer affairs department.

• Be wary of investments that promise unusually large returns.

• Look out for "good deals" on expensive repairs or home improvement jobs.

• Be extremely cautious of "free" at-home demonstrations that require a deposit or minimum purchase.

Belleville is beautiful. Keep it that way.

St. Peter's youth group starts its third year

St. Peter's Youth Group, which meets every Sunday night, is beginning its third year and has attracted over 60 teenagers.

Rev. Bob Emery, youth minister at St. Peter's, believes that much of the success of the program is due to the commitment of the Youth Council. The council is composed of teens and adults who plan and carry out each event.

Patty Martinez, an adult adviser on the Youth Council, said, "Working with the young people is a rewarding experience. It is wonderful to witness the emotional, social and spiritual growth of the teenagers. Sharing our faith has truly helped to deepen my own."

The goals of the program are to help the teens grow spiritually, to share faith, to provide opportunities for youth to serve others, and to have fun in a Christ-centered environment.

The program focuses on three areas - social, spiritual and service. Building community is seen as a key element to every activity.

Diane Bifano, a member of the youth group, said, "Youth group is just a fun place to meet with friends and just relax. It is like a second home - a warm and friendly place."

Some of the social activities include dances, game nights, bowling, roller skating and Christmas in New York.

Spiritual programs are also offered throughout the year. Among these are the discussion nights, guest speakers, monthly Youth Masses, Lock-in retreats, and an annual overnight retreat. On Good Friday, the group presents the Stations of the Cross to the parish community through the use of dialogue, slides and music.

The youth have also become involved in liturgical ministries in the parish. Many of the teenagers have become ushers and lectors at parish Sunday Masses.

Michael Stefanelli, a member of the group, said, "Youth group is a great organization that brings teen closer to the parish and closer to Jesus."

Service has been a big part of the program.

"The teenagers have a deep desire to reach out and be of service to others," Rev. Emery said.

"Any service opportunities that we provide are well received by the young people. I have been deeply touched by their willingness to help others in so many ways," he said.

One of the highlights of the year is a Christmas party the group hosts for children from the Quest Program in Newark. The group has also worked at Habitat for Humanity and organizes an annual lunch with the Easter Bunny and an egg hunt for the parish children. The group has also been helping once a month at a local soup kitchen.

Msgr. Joseph Slinger, former pastor of St. Peter's said that the Youth Group has just the right mix for success - really great kids, marvelous young adult help and leadership, strong families and the phenomenal talent and energy of Rev. Emery.

"I've had the chance to see lots of Youth Ministry over the years. I've seen nothing better than St. Peter's Youth Group. What's really special is that the youth, Father Bob and the leaders are committed to its future. The best is yet to come!" Msgr. Slinger said.

St. Peter's Youth Group is beginning its new year on Sunday, Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. in the school gym. All high school age students are welcome to join.

Belleville UNICO wins equal status for women

At UNICO National's recent 75th annual convention in Palm Beach, FL, delegates voted by an overwhelming vote of 3 to 1 to allow women to join UNICO National as equal members.

The Belleville Chapter, dubbed "The Family Chapter," played a key role in bringing this about by submitting the proposal.

The president of this young chapter and also National Chairman of the Anti-Bias Committee, Dr. Emanuele Alfano, started the wheels in motion at the last year's convention in San Jose, Calif.

Dr. Alfano and his committee requested the formation of a special committee to investigate as to whether UNICO National was, in fact, violating any state or federal laws in discriminating against women as equal members of UNICO.

This request was granted and the committee was established by the National President Leo Diana. Dr. Alfano also called for a women's forum to discuss and suggest how to resolve this problem.

At the women's forum's first meeting, it was unanimously agreed that if there was to be any chance of succeeding it would come about only through a combined effort by both men and women.

At this meeting the women chose Pat Alfano from the Belleville Chapter and Mildred Botti from the Rutherford Chapter to co-chair the Ad Hoc committee which was named Inclusion of Women In Now (I.W.I.N.).

Throughout the year, the women solicited support and funds, placed ads in various publications including ComUNICO, the UNICO National magazine, campaigned for delegates' votes, wrote letters and made phone calls to encourage chapters, sympathetic to their cause, to send their delegates to this year's convention.

Newly elected National President Salvatore Mangano congratulated the I.W.I.N. committee and expressed that he is excitedly looking forward to a united and new UNICO.

Pat Alfano thanked all Unicans for their support and encouragement. She emphasized in order to accomplish a united UNICO for all Italian-Americans, it would take the working of both men and women to reach our goals.

Dr. Alfano stated, "As ABC chairman, our committee is forever indebted to Pat Alfano, Mildred Botti, the women and men of I.W.I.N., the Belleville delegates, Gene Antonio, Charles Palmisano and Joseph Gencarelli, who have also served on his Anti-Bias Committee and the entire Belleville Chapter."

Seaman wins ribbon

Navy Seaman John A. Voss, son of Allan F. and Arlene M. Voss of Belleville, recently was awarded the Battle "E" ribbon while serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Hue City, homeported in Mayport, Fla.

The ribbon denotes service with a unit which has won a battle efficiency competition, and Voss's ship earned this award for the third consecutive time.

The 1993 graduate of Belleville High School joined the Navy in October 1994.

OUR OPINION

Speaking of School 1

As in the past, we continue to oppose any idea of selling School 1.

Even as the school population begins to surge - it is increasing by nearly 100 a year - the fact becomes apparent that we should not be selling off the legacy of future generations.

Even if someone wanted to buy the property on Rutgers Street, and we do not see any rush to do so, the amount that would be realized through taxes would not match the cost of acquiring new property for school expansion.

We believe that more ratables would come into the Valley if School 1 was back in operation. We know that cost estimates of restoring the building go as high as $6 million or $7 million. We doubt the estimates.

And even if they are high, it will still be worthwhile to bond the cost.

In fact, we think a good argument could be made for bonding school expansion now, rather than waiting for higher costs in the future.

School administration members say there is urgent need for technology in the schools. The cost of good computers comes high, but they are necessary if we want our youngsters to be competitive in the world of technology they face.

Let us not give up anything we need for education. Let us acquire as much as we can for education.

Get involved in child's education

Your child is back in school this week, and you're probably breathing a sigh of relief. You think you'll have more time to yourself, and you can relax.

But don't. Study after study shows that parents who take active roles in the educational process have children with better attitudes toward school and better grades.

A few parents in any school community will become attuned to policies and curricula, get to know all the teachers and run the bake sales. But as important, if not more so, to a student's success is whether the parents nurture home study.

For the last two years, the New Jersey Education Association has been developing the Family, School, Community Involvement Program. It offers advice to teachers on ways to stimulate home-school connections. The idea is to have teachers and parents share information and work together, utilizing such simple things as personal invitations to parents to attend back-to-school nights and more involved things such as parenting workshops.

But parents should not wait for teachers to take the initiative. The National Education Association offers parents the following tips on helping their children succeed in school:

- Encourage your child to read, and assist with reading assignments. Read aloud to younger children, and when your child first learns to read, have him or her read to you, then discuss what has been read. Also, make sure your child sees you reading regularly.

- Make homework a routine assignment. Let your child know that studying at home is expected on a regular basis. Set aside a specific time and a quiet place for studying or reading every evening. Check your child's homework to make sure it is accurate, complete and neat, give your child feedback and praise his or her efforts.

- Talk to your child about what's happening in the classroom. Ask him or her to describe what a school day was like, and ask questions about teachers, your child's friends and his or her favorite subjects.

- Talk to your child's teacher. Ask about your child's strengths and weaknesses and how you can monitor his or her progress.

Life in Silver Lake

By Marie Strumolo Burke
A feature of Belleville Times

Went to one of my favorite restaurants in Silver Lake and met up with one of Bloomfield's finest, Kevin O'Connell.

And what is a Bloomfield's finest, you ask? A Bloomfield police officer, silly.

While talking with the officer, I uncovered that he did in fact patrol the "borders." No, not in Texas. The borders are where Newark, Belleville and Bloomfield come together, which is part of Officer O'Connell's post. And, boy, am I glad that he does the patrolling, because I couldn't think of a better man to keep our borders safe.

And by the way, Officer O'Connell, let's hope one day I can address you as captain. Hey, you never know.

While still on the subjects of "finest," let me tell you about one of Belleville's finest. You know that ready, willing and able team, Manno, Martucci and Geyer, our Silver Lake substation officers.

The "willing" one, Officer John Martucci, asked me to let you all know that he will be heading the Silver Lake Neighborhood Watch. What he needs are some "block captains" from each street.

You know, guys, these watches really work. You get to know who your neighbors are, their comings and goings, and when a stranger "invades," we summon the "good guys" and we thwart off the "bad guys."

Call Grace Dondarski at 751-7039 or me at 759-6849 if you are interested in joining our patrol. Officer Martucci is counting on you.

Yes, I mean you.

And to my friend and former neighbor, Louise Petit, I wish you a speedy recovery. It seems that while she was walking her daughter's dog, the "little darling" (or shall I say, the "big darling?"), the canine saw something that spooked him and he started to give chase.

And this was all while Louise was still holding onto the leash.

Unfortunately, my friend broke her hip, needed surgery and rehabilitation. I was trying to think of something that would take you mind off your troubles, so I figured that since you read the column, this might do the trick. And Louise, don't wait for the mailman, because this will serve as the card. Only kidding.

And regards from your Heckel Street gang, Peggy Bocchino, Theresa DiMeo, Vivian Schiavo and me.

I've got a secret and I can't wait to tell, so listen up.

Our SLCA was lucky enough to secure the best oldies group in the state. The date is Friday, Nov. 28, at the Branch Brook Manor and the tickets are reasonably priced at $30 per, which includes a complete dinner, plus wine, beer and soda.

Good. I finally got it out. Now, let me whisper the name of the group: The Infernos.

I hope you heard it, but if you didn't, let me repeat it again: The Infernos.

So I suggest that you give Angela a call at 759-2703 to round up your table.

P.S. I forgot to wish the "hero" a happy birthday. Best wishes to Anthony "Babbers" Renna.

Remember, we love Silver Lake.

YOUR OPINION

Mrs. Montagna writes

To the editor:

In all of my years on this earth, I have never written a letter to any newspaper. However, after reading another scurrilous editorial in the Belleville Times on Aug. 21 about my husband, Board of Education member Frank Montagna, I feel I am compelled to answer.

Your editorials against my husband in the past have been filled with lies, distortions, and misstatements.

First: My husband has never been convicted of any crime in his 68 years on this earth, and his honesty is well-known to everyone in our town.

Second: He was never censured by the ethics committee, as you reported once again.

Third: Your explanation of that "near altercation" involving a so-called special-ed kid is once again, grossly inaccurate. For the past years and a half, I and my husband have been subjected to name-calling, cursing, and abusive behavior by that so-called special-ed kid. Of course, you did not report that so-called special-ed kid admitted doing the above mentioned. I think my husband showed a great deal of patience in this matter.

Fourth: The funniest part of your editorial is where you praise Councilwoman Angie Paserchia for voting against my husband's appointment on moral grounds. Why didn't you print the two people Angie Paserchia appointed to the zoning and planning board that have criminal records, and at least one of them served time in jail? The only reason Angie voted against my husband was due to politics, not on moral grounds.

Fifth: Saying my husband gave "the finger" is once again your inept way of reporting an incident. There were at least 50 to 60 people at that meeting, and my husband was explaining to the public what one of our athletes had done at a sporting event, and before he demonstrated this incident with his finger, he stated, "Excuse me" to the public, and that shows him a man who does consider people.

Sixth: My husband is not barred from the high school, as you reported. He is there every day. He must do what every other person in this town must do, and that is report to the principal. As you see, you are lying and distorting the truth.

Why don't you print the things that my husband has done for the children and the taxpayers of Belleville that has never been accomplished by any other Board of Education? Of course, other board members deserve credit.

You never wrote that he, along with the mayor, was successful in getting a $20,000 grant from Comcast to buy all new equipment for our communications department. He also assisted in procuring 120 computers from the Army by giving up two days of his time, arranging and picking up the computers. He also has removed 130 illegal students. He gave the taxpayers the smallest tax increase for the past two years, $2.90 per month, without cutting one program from the children. He has never missed a board meeting in the two years as a trustee, and when he had his bypass surgery, he attended the very next meeting.

Your newspaper has been writing distortions about my husband for the past two years, and you get away with it because you put you scurrilous, vicious lies in your opinion column. By doing so, you are protected from a lawsuit.

Rita Montagna

Ed. Note: The State Department of Education did reprimand Mr. Montagna. The School Administration did send a letter to him - and to Board Attorney Frank Pomaco - barring him from visiting the high school without the permission of school authorities, and the Consolidated Association did bring his "finger" exercise to the attention of the Board of Education through a formal letter. The Times stands by its editorial.

Letters welcome

The Belleville Times welcomes letters, preferably 300 words or less, from readers. To be considered for publication, letters must be typed or legibly handwritten and must include the writer's name, address and daytime telephone number. We do not publish anonymous letters; unsigned letters will not be published. We reserve the right to edit letters for length and clarity.

Of All Things

By Frank Orechio

A feature of the Nutley Sun, Bloomfield Life, Belleville Times and Glen Ridge Voice

• THE world grieves over the tragic death of Princess Diana. She was one of a kind - a role model for the young. Her death did not have to be. Based on the facts brought to us thus far by television and print, the credible evidence is that the driver of the small Mercedes was drunk and he was speeding at a life-threatening 100 miles an hour in a very narrow tunnel.

Almost the world at large places the blame upon the shoulders of the tabloid reporters.

In my opinion, this is absolutely wrong. Why was the car in which Diana was a passenger obliged to go over 100 miles an hour - except, perhaps, if a report in today's USA Today has any credibility - the substitute driver of the car that would bring Diana and Emad al-Fayed to their deaths, told the paparazzi, "Try and catch me."

Let's pause a moment and apply the law of plausibility with an example. Suppose Diana's Mercedes was travelling at 50 miles an hour instead of 120. Motorcycle driving reporters would be following at that low rate of speed. Diana's drunk driver probably might have retained control of the auto, and the tragedy that has brought the world to a stop for 72 hours would never have occurred.

Diana's brother is blaming the reporters. I have news for him. They were not driving the car in which Diana was a passenger. They were not seated next to her lover, Emad al-Fayed. Quick to blame the press, no responsible member of Emad al-Fayed's family has stopped to wonder why the Mercedes carrying their son and brother with Diana was speeding at over 100 miles an hour.

In my opinion, the press is blameless. The fault lies at the footsteps of the most dominant person in that Mercedes, and he was Emad al-Fayed. If Diana was encouraging him to tell the driver to pick up speed, he should have had better sense and ask why. It's just common sense that the press following in their tracks was not going away. The more judicious decision for Emad al-Fayed was to stop the car, let the photographers take pictures and then go on their merry way.

Of course, the Monday morning quarterback is always smarter than the Sunday quarterback. Maybe given the circumstances that confronted Al-Fayed and Diana, many of us might have done the same thing. I have reservations.

The world rightly grieves over the death of 36-year-old Diana who during her short stay on earth became a world-wide inspiration for the have-nots of our society. Her premature death has denied us the potential greater contribution that would have been within her vision to deliver.

Dr. Michael Liloia

• MY life-long friend and personal dentist, Nutley native, Michael Liloia, D.D.S., has recently retired. His son, Dr. Peter Liloia, has acquired his father's patients and added them to his already large list. Working side by side, father and son have maintained their combined dental offices at 392 Washington Ave., Belleville.

Senior citizen aging process infirmities somewhat hinder Dr. Mike's ability to get around.

He is a member of a pioneer Big Tree neighborhood Nutley family. The Orechio Family homestead was located diagonally three doors across the street.

Many years ago, Mike's older brother, Dr. Nick, maintained dental offices at Franklin and Centre St., Nutley. His sister, Yolanda, and I were members of Nutley High School graduating class of 1934. The Liloia Family was a Big Tree neighborhood treasure. Its professional members inspired others among us to extend our reach and raise our hopes. Of six brothers, five became professionals - three engineers - brother Gerard worked on the Manhattan Project.

Optical technology creates new options

Thanks to advances in optical technology, American consumers have more options in corrective lenses and fashion frames than ever before.

The problem with these improvements, according to Lisa and Mark DeGiacomo, owners of Valenza Opticians in Bloomfield, is that consumers are now aware of their choices.

"Because technology's changing so rapidly, buying glasses today isn't what it used to be. It involves more than selecting an attractive frame. Now you have to be concerned about fit, safety, durability, quality, value and price," said Mark DeGiacomo.

"The consumer demand for quality eyewear has resulted in lighter weight, better made frames and lenses from the brands you trust. It's up to the eyecare professional to educate each potential customer as to his or her choices."

Consumers looking for their family no longer have to sacrifice comfort for fashion. The state-of-the-art technology used to manufacture children's products has been translated into the frame industry. Brand name frames like Fisher-Price provide a perfect balance of fashion, quality and comfort for the whole family.

DeGiacomo said that he is often surprised at how little the consumer knows about what he is buying when it comes to purchasing eyeglasses.

"Name another consumer product you would spend hundreds of dollars on and not know the quality of what you were getting," he said.

In order to become more informed, Valenza Opticians recommends that patients visit their local eyecare professional for literature on the latest vision care products.

Located at 1025 Broad St., Bloomfield, they will gladly answer any questions you may have regarding the purchase of the right frame and lenses for you.

Face Your Peers With Confidence

(MS) — To some, fall means changing leaves, cooler days and heavy knits. However, to those younger than 18, fall means three little words: back to school. Having to learn a new locker combination is stressful enough without worrying about facing your peers.

To make sure you put your best face forward, here's some expert advice and information about taking care of your skin from Susan Nettesheim, director of research and development of skin-care products at Bristol-Myers Squibb.

The dirt on dirt: How do pores get clogged? — First of all, that stuff in your pores probably isn't dirt at all. When your skin produces oil, it's really just doing its own cleaning routine. The oil moves up through your pores, carrying dead skin cells and bacteria with it. According to Nettesheim, "Problems start when skin cells clump together and plug the pore. Then, the oil backs up, and bacteria get trapped and multiply."

When pretty clean isn't pretty enough — You're washing, right, so what gives? Probably too much oil for starters. "You may think washing more is the answer, but overwashing your skin just does more damage. Your skin is delicate and scrubbing it can rupture the follicles, causing more acne," says Nettesheim. Bottom line: Wash your face two or three times a day with a mild cleanser to gently remove excess oil from the surface of your skin. Then, get at the deep-down pore cloggers.

Face off: astringent or toner? — Whether your skin is greasy or flaky, your pores still need deep cleaning. "Both astringents and toners help remove what regular cleansers can leave behind and prepare your skin for moisturizer or makeup," says Nettesheim. "The right product for you depends on the amount of oil that your skin produces. If you have normal to oily skin, try a Sea Breeze astringent. If your skin is mostly dry but still prone to breakouts, use Sea Breeze alcohol-free toner."

Coming clean — Speaking of drying, here's the dish on soap: Sure, it takes off the dirt, but it also sucks away your skin's natural and necessary moisture. Says Nettesheim, "Using a cleanser designed for your skin type is gentler and will still remove excess oil. A mild cleanser like Sea Breeze Foaming Face Wash will get the job done without overdrying your skin."

Aye, there's the rub — Your skin cells constantly are being replaced by new ones, but sometimes the process (and your skin) isn't as smooth as you'd like. You can speed up the process and clear away dull surface skin by exfoliating two to three times a week. "Using a gentle exfoliator will help bring new skin to the surface and keep it clear of dead skin cells that may clog pores," says Nettesheim.

Water, water, everywhere — Even though you may think that getting every bit of grease off your face is best for your skin, it's not. "Your skin still needs moisture, so be sure to put on a lightweight or oil-free moisturizer even if your skin is oily," says Nettesheim. "Maintaining a regular skin-care regimen that keeps your skin in balance is the best way to promote healthy, clear and great-looking skin."

CPR certification offered

It can be an unpleasant picture: someone is calling for help and is obviously having breathing problems, or worse, his or her heart has stopped beating.

Thanks to classes being offered at Clara Maass Medical Center in Belleville, this scenario, with possible tragic consequences, can be avoided.

Ernest Rush, a 13-year veteran instructor of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), coordinates 12 instructors who teach a series of classes aimed at improving awareness for the need of CPR as well as offering instruction in the proper techniques necessary to save a life.

"Whether you perform CPR on a family member, a friend or someone on the street, you can have the knowledge to help someone in distress," Rush said. "Knowing saves lives. There is no doubt about that. Knowing CPR and getting to an individual who has lost his or her pulse early enough is definitely an advantage for that person."

Knowledge is powerful when it comes to CPR. At Clara Maass, the classes are open to all individuals, ages 13 and up, and are available on a weekly basis, Rush said.

"Anyone interested in taking CPR is eligible. We don't limit classes. We ask that each individual be at least 13 years old and able to handle the trauma they might encounter," he said.

The classes are divided into three categories, with healthcare professionals being provided a more rigorous and strenuous training session. Two other courses are available for the general public, including Adult Heart Savers, which is geared to teaching CPR that is performed on adults, and Pediatric Savers, for those interested in learning how to perform the proper techniques on infants and children.

Last year, nearly 700 individuals successfully completed the course, which is offered in conjunction with the American Heart Association.

To register for courses or for more information, call 450-2709.

Columbus schedules blood drive

Columbus Hospital in Newark, in conjunction with the Blood Center of New Jersey, will sponsor a blood drive on Wednesday, Sept. 10 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the hospital's auditorium.

Participants will receive a complimentary cholesterol test when they donate blood.

Giving blood is a simple and safe procedure which can help save many lives. There is no risk of contracting AIDS or any other blood-borne disease by donating blood. All materials, including the needle, are sterile, used once and safely destroyed.

The procedure, which includes a mini-physical, cholesterol testing and post-donation snack, takes between 30 and 45 minutes. Within 24 hours, the donor's body replenishes its own blood.

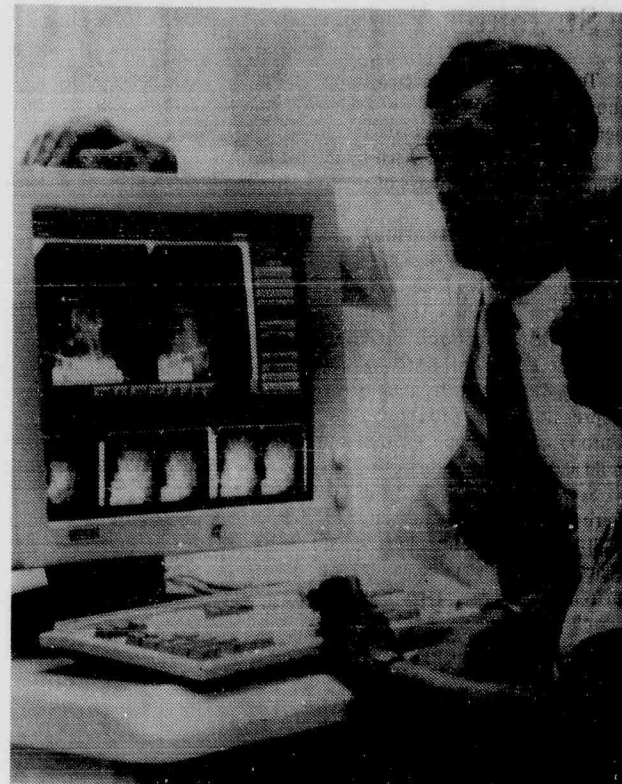

Donors must be at least 18 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in general good health. There is no upper age limit for donors as long as they are in good health with no medical problems. After age 75, it would be advisable to check with the personal physician before giving blood.

Participants must bring their social security number and any form of identification with a signature.

Your blood donation can make a difference in the lives of many people. By donating blood, you will help babies born with diseases, individuals in need of organ transplants or open heart surgery, burn and accident victims, cancer patients and thousands of other people who suffer from medical problems which require blood transfusions.

For more information or to register for the drive, call 268-3674.

Surgeon Padmavathy Alli, D.O., right, and Kenneth Jewel, M.D., director of the Department of Radiology at Mountainside Hospital in Glen Ridge, review stereotactic images of the breast.

Mountainside Hospital adds stereotactic biopsy

An abnormal mammography need not be a frightening experience.

Stereotactic breast biopsy, a new technology now offered at Mountainside Hospital in Glen Ridge, provides many women needing breast biopsy with a welcome alternative to the traditional surgical procedure.

According to surgeon Padmavathy Alli, D.O., "Stereotactic breast biopsy is ideal for patients with non-palpable lesions, where the abnormality is only seen on the mammogram, but not felt. Because this minimally invasive procedure is extremely precise and accurate, it can eliminate the need for surgery in most of these cases."

"Through stereotactic breast biopsy, physicians use three-dimensional computer imaging to locate and examine a detected lesion," explained radiologist Richard Mattern, M.D.

During the procedure, the patients lie comfortably in a prone position while a fine needle is automatically guided to the mass to retrieve tissue samples. The cells are then studied by a pathologist to determine whether the lesion is malignant or benign.

Stereotactic breast biopsy offers many advantages over open surgical biopsy. Performed on an outpatient basis, it is comparatively quicker and much less painful.

In most cases, it takes less than an hour, and requires no incision, stitches or general anesthesia. It offers a faster recovery, and results are available as soon as 24 hours after the procedure.

Robert Zager, M.D., chief of Mountainside's Division of Medical Oncology and director of its cancer program, emphasizes the hospital's multidisciplinary approach to cancer care. Stereotactic breast biopsy is part of a comprehensive cancer program, which offers the most sophisticated diagnostic, treatment and support services available.

"We utilize the expertise of a team of experienced cancer-fighting physicians and health care professionals, including surgeons, radiologists, pathologists, medical and radiation oncologists and other specialists," he said. "Our multidisciplinary team works in tandem to develop the most appropriate care plan for the patient."

Mountainside Hospital offers periodic breast cancer detection programs and mammography screenings for members of the community. For upcoming dates and times, call the Health Promotion Department at 429-6856.

Nursing home advocates sought

Senior Services, 439 Main St., Orange, is seeking volunteers to be advocates for nursing home residents in Essex, Hudson, Morris and Union counties.

This program is administered by Senior Services, a non-profit agency and is supervised by the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services.

Responsibilities include visiting a nursing home, interacting with residents, families and staff, preparing written reports and representing the concerns of nursing home residents.

A free 32-hour training program will be given in the fall. Adults over 18, who want to help improve the quality of life for elderly people, are needed.

Contact Sue Rosenkranz at Senior Services for additional information at 673-0640.

Golf Classic set for Sept. 29

The Montclair Community Hospital Foundation will host its inaugural Golf Classic on Monday, Sept. 29 at Forest Hill Field Club in Bloomfield.

The Golf Classic, which begins at 11 a.m., features lunch, a golf cart and a full round of golf, followed by a cocktail reception and dinner starting at 6 p.m.

The event is being held to raise funds for the "Share Our Vision" Capital Campaign in support of the MCH Skilled Nursing Center.

A number of prizes will be awarded, including awards for best individual and group scores, longest drives and closest placement to the pin.

In addition, Flemington Furs will award a full length mink coat to the player who scores a hole-in-one on the eighth hole.

Golf fees are $300 per player, with one-third of the cost designated as a tax-deductible gift. The fees include lunch, golf, cart, cocktail reception and dinner. Individuals may choose to forego the golf and just attend the cocktail reception and dinner for $150 per person.

Besides players for the Golf Classic, the Montclair Community Hospital Foundation also is seeking sponsors, both individuals and businesses, whose names will be featured at the course as well as being listed in the dinner program. Sponsorship options include the following:

Cart sponsor — $75; Green sponsor — $175; Tee Sponsor — $200.

Other options include Silver Patrons, Gold Patrons, Platinum Patrons and Tournament Angels.

The $1,000 Silver Patron sponsorship of a refreshment cart entitles the donor to a round of golf for one player. A $2,500 sponsorship of the driving range at the golf club, the Gold Patron, also entitles the donor to a round of golf for one player.

Platinum Patrons are a $5,000 sponsorship that includes golf for two, sponsorship of the 12th tee and sponsorship of lunch. Tournament Angels are a $7,500 sponsorship of the cocktail reception and dinner, which entitles the donor to golf for a foursome.

For more information about the Golf Classic, call the Office of Development and Public Relations at 509-6185.

St. John's Wort and Holistic Health

By Michael Luongo

Today, depression seems to be more prevalent than it was years ago and affects people of all ages.

Luckily, for those affected by it, there are many new ways of treating this problem.

If you've been watching the news or reading the papers lately, most likely you've seen the headlines about St. John's Wort. It is a wonderful herb which is finally being recognized here in the United States as a treatment for depression. It is widely used in Europe and Germany for treating mild and moderate depression.

Some of the benefits from the herb are an increase in sense of well-being, improvement in mental functioning and stamina, as well as providing energy. Together, St. John's Wort and the proper counseling are an excellent treatment for depression.

As if this herb isn't wonderful enough, there are more benefits from it. There are two natural chemicals found in St. John's Wort — hypericin and pseudohypericin — which have a potent antiretroviral activity.

The AIDS virus is considered a retrovirus. Infections of the brain and central nervous system have been observed in people infected with HIV, and daily use of St. John's Wort has been helpful in their treatment.

As a holistic health practitioner, it is my goal to offer you the best in mind/body treatments. I feel that St. John's Wort and the proper counseling are a great way to combat depression as well as playing a major role in the fight against HIV/AIDS.

To find out more about our treatment procedures or to make an appointment for a consultation, please call the office at 748-2024.

Have I got a headache!

By Dr. Mitch Holsten

Millions of Americans suffer from headaches, and like Baskin-Robbins, they seem to come in 31 flavors: tension headaches, sinus headaches, stress headaches, eye-strain headaches, etc.

There are headaches that stab, burn, pound, or have a combination of all three.

Migraines especially have an aura of invincibility to treatment. Migraine sufferers are in such intense pain that they often retreat to a darkened room with a cold compress on their foreheads.

More than 100 years after aspirin was discovered, there is still no medical cure and the drugs have just gotten stronger: aspirin, Excedrin, Tylenol, Motrin, etc., a sample of the thousands of over-the-counter drugs available.

The misalignment of the atlas (the first spinal segment) or occiput (skull) causes a vertebral subluxation, which causes the headache. This is why chiropractors are trained to locate and treat the subluxation complex. The body has great power for healing from within, when given the chance.

Pressure on the medulla (which doctors are now finding plays an important part in headaches) by either the occiput or atlas can alter the way that our brain receives instruction. Specific chiropractic adjustments to this area removes the pressure by realigning the atlas or occiput.

The results are dramatic. Patients receiving these adjustments experience relief within an hour! No aspirin, no Tylenol, no extended rest.

Although it is still important to curtail some activities that can promote headaches, and proper rest is still one of the most effective ways to keep headaches from reoccurring, the results speak for themselves. Chiropractic is a highly effective, drug-free treatment for headache sufferers.

Dr. Hosten of North Fullerton Chiropractic, 509-7773, has 16 years of experience, is a Life Chiropractic College graduate and is a member of the Christian Chiropractors Association.

Molly Foundation seeking funds for diabetes research

Molly Minicucci Phillips was 9 years old when she learned that she had juvenile diabetes. Today, she and her husband, John, await the birth of their first child.

This miracle is due in a large measure to her parents and their dedication to finding a cure for juvenile diabetes through the Molly Foundation for Diabetes Research.

"Women with diabetes have traditionally been at high risk when they have chosen to bear children," says Molly Foundation founder and president Nicholas Minicucci, Jr.

"Now, with the help of the fine doctors and staff at Hackensack University Medical Center, and the work being done at the Molly Institute for Diabetes Research, these women can feel confident that there is minimal risk involved with pregnancy and the delivery of a healthy baby," he said.

The foundation's major fundraiser, the Molly Invitational Golf Tournament, is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 8 at the Hackensack Golf Club in Emerson. A cash raffle, offering 30 percent of the gross proceeds to the grand prize winner, 15 percent of gross proceeds to the second place winner and 5 percent of gross proceeds to the third place winner, is being held to raise funds for diabetes research. Raffle winners will be announced at the tournament.

Tickets are $20 each and are available from the Molly Foundation by calling 891-1055.

Golfers are also encouraged to participate. Green fees total $350, including a golf cart, lunch, cocktail hour and dinner.

Tee-off will be shotgun style, and golfers can choose between an 8 a.m. or 12:30 p.m. starting time.

The Molly Foundation is housed in the Don Imus-WFAN Pediatric Center for Tomorrow's Children at Hackensack University Medical Center and provides an array of services for diabetic patients and their families, including clinical services, support services for both acute and long-term treatment, a pediatric diabetes hotline and educational outreach programs.

'Luxury Lamaze' offered by Atlantic Health System

With so much to do to prepare for the birth of your child, the last thing you need to do is worry about how you are going to fit weekly Lamaze childbirth education classes into your busy schedule.

Atlantic Health System's one-day "Luxury Lamaze" is a smart alternative, enabling you and your partner to escape from everyday distractions and learn about childbirth in a luxurious, comfortable atmosphere.

The comprehensive one-day course, taught by a certified Lamaze instructor, will be held on Saturday, Sept. 27, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at The Hilton at Short Hills.

Among the topics that will be discussed are the signs of labor, breathing and relaxation techniques, labor management, coping strategies, and what to expect during your hospital stay. A gourmet breakfast and lunch will also be served.

The Hilton is offering a special discounted one-night stay for Luxury Lamaze participants either the night before or after the course. Guests can enjoy the use of the hotel's spa and other luxurious amenities.

The Luxury Lamaze fee is $200 and includes the program, educational materials and meals. Preregistration and advance payment is due immediately.

For further information about the program or to register, call 429-6264.

Smoking cessation course set

The Clara Maass Medical Center Community Outreach Program, in conjunction with HIP Health Plan, will offer "Fit and Free," a smoking-cessation course, beginning Monday, Sept. 8, in Essex Room C of the medical center in Belleville.

The eight-week series, which will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., will teach participants step-by-step methods for giving up and staying free of smoking. A highly-trained team of professionals will provide education as well as support.

To register, call 450-2213. Members of HIP Health Plan should register by calling 1-800-531-4393.

Fee for the course is $80.

Johnny Maestro, Brooklyn Bridge to perform at Brookdale Park

Johnny Maestro and the Brooklyn Bridge will appear at Brookdale Park in Bloomfield tomorrow, Sept. 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Johnny Maestro and the Brooklyn Bridge span virtually the entire rock era.

Maestro began with the Crests in the latter half of the 1950s, as the marriage of swing, blues and country music was giving birth to rock and roll.

Today, the Brooklyn Bridge thrives through new recordings and a stage show that is one of the most popular on the East Coast. In these live appearances, the Bridge takes its audience on a tour through the history of the band and its members, and also offers a glimpse of its current musical direction, all the while showcasing Johnny Maestro.

The Crests' first records, including "My Juanita" and "Sweetest One," generated some regional response, but it was the breakthrough of "Sixteen Candles" that brought them national recognition.

A string of hits followed, including "Trouble in Paradise," "Step By Step," "The Angels Listened In" and "Six Nights a Week."

The concert is free; however, there will be a $2 donation for on-site parking. Various food vendors will be located throughout the park for your convenience.

For further information, contact Dolores Critchley at the Essex County Department of Park, Recreation and Cultural Affairs at 268-3500.

Dot Perretti makes every party more fun

As a mother and former teacher, Dot Perretti knows just what makes a child's birthday fun and special.

For younger children, she has them clapping, jumping, giggling and shaking to music with all kinds of musical props. Then she brings out her parachute for even more fun.

For older children, she specializes in all types of themed parties (huan, '60s, Harriet the Spy, sock hops, etc.) She also comes dressed as characters from Meg of Hercules to Winnie the Pooh.

Dot uses treasure boxes, puzzles, etc. as art projects and the goody bag for parties. Dot loves to have balloons at her parties, too, especially balloon party hats, swords, doggies or even crowns!

Dot has even appeared on TV and was recently interviewed by Sesame Street magazine's Parents magazine for their birthday parties for toddlers issue.

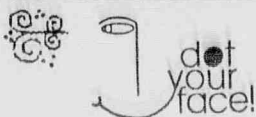

When Dot's at your party, the party is totally fun and memorable.

To find out more, call her at 746-2256 or fax her at 509-8570.

Rita's Italian Ices extends the cool flavor of summer with new raspberry flavor

Just when you thought summer was coming to a close, Rita's Italian Ices extend the cool taste of summer with its newest flavor, Raspberry.

Rita's Raspberry Italian Ice offers the sweet flavor of summer-ripened raspberries, mixed with the cool goodness of Rita's silky smooth ice. The new addition brings the total number of flavors now offered at Rita's to 20.

"We wanted to go out with a bang," said Ron Savare, local owner of Rita's Italian Ices. "So we saved the best for last by introducing our newest flavor just as summer's coming to an end. It was a great summer, and Rita's Raspberry is our way of saying thank you and giving the community one more reason to visit Rita's before we close our doors for the summer."

Rita's, which is located at 34-38 Franklin St., Belleville, is part of a national franchise chain of more than 150 units. Rita's serves 20 different flavors of Italian ice including chocolate, passion fruit, pina colada and now its newest flavor - raspberry. Rita's also offers Gelati, a layered concoction of old-fashioned frozen custard and Italian ice.

For more information about Rita's Italian Ice contact Savare at 759-7482.

BUCC SHOTS

By Mike Lamberti

Being a Cardinal fan in the 1980's

I had labored through the 1970's as a St. Louis Cardinals fan, watching my team fall short in '73 and '74, but, for the most part, struggling with mediocrity for most of that decade.

Bob Gibson retired following the '75 season and Lou Brock called it quits after the '79 campaign. The '76 and '78 Cardinals were terrible and most of the decade was a story of being 20 games behind the leaders of the N.L. East.

But the 80's would be different, although the decade didn't start that way. The 1980 Cardinals were also lousy, but halfway through the season, they hired Whitey Herzog as their manager and, essentially, the head of baseball operations.

Within a year, they had the best record in the N.L. East, although they didn't win the division that year because of the strike and split season.

But in 1982, it was a return to glory as the Cardinals won the World Series, beating Milwaukee in seven games. I'll never forget where I was for game seven that year.

I was driving back from vacation in Florida in October of 1982 and stopped in a town called Dunn, North Carolina to spend the evening. I had thought that game six had been rained out, so I was prepared to watch the sixth game in that Holiday Inn in Dunn, then drive home in time to watch game seven.

What I didn't know was that the Cardinals and Brewers had played game six, despite the rain, and the Cards won, setting up the decisive game seven. So, there I was, in that hotel room, watching my team win the final game. I hope I didn't wake up the entire complex that night when Bruce Sutter threw that final pitch.

The Cards would come back in '83 and '87 to win divisional crowns, but in both instances, they lost the seventh game of the World Series.

1983 was especially painful because the Cards had the series won in six games. However, a bad call by the umpire (Don Denkinger) in the bottom of the ninth of that sixth game helped Kansas City win the game and set up the seventh game.

I remember sitting in front of the television for an hour after that sixth game in total shock. I knew there was no way the Cardinals would win that seventh game and couldn't believe it had been taken away.

Back then, the Cardinals and Mets were intense rivals, and being from these parts, I didn't have many allies when it came to rooting for the Cardinals in the heat of a fierce rivalry. Looking back on it, those Cardinals-Mets games were incredible.

To be perfectly honest, the Mets were the better team, no question, but the Cardinals had that certain intangible that helped them win two divisional crowns in three years.

I always felt that Herzog was the main man. He should be in the Hall of Fame and hopefully, will be, soon.

As a little kid in the 60's and teenager in the 70's, I had always wanted to see the Cardinals play at Busch Stadium and in 1983, I finally got that chance, going to a Cardinals-Mets game in Busch in September. I would go back to Busch in 1985 for a big three game weekend series with Montreal and beginning in 1987, I made it a point of going to Opening Day in St. Louis.

I would also plan my vacations around the Cardinals west coast road trip every year, going to San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles. I started that in 1987 and have done it for a number of years since.

I've been lucky enough to be in just about every National League park. My favorite place, other than St. Louis, was Wrigley Field, which I visited for the first time in 1991 and immediately fell in love with.

Without question, the stadium I disliked the most was Montreal, mainly because the games are played indoors and there is little atmosphere, at least when it comes to grass fields and sunshine.

In my next column, I'll wrap up this series on baseball memories with a few personal notes on what the game has meant to me and what I hope it will continue to mean, not only to me, but to so many others who have come to love this game.

See you next week.

Brodo, Lopreato have standout year

DeLucrezia leads Royals to title

The Pigtail league Royals won its fifth consecutive championship behind outstanding pitching and timely hitting, putting together a 14-0 mark.

Andrea DeLucrezia, an extremely talented 11 year old, posted an 11-0 record on the mound. She fanned 93 and gave up just ten hits.

DeLucrezia was also a major contributor at the plate, hitting .553 with three triples, two doubles and two homers.

Stephanie Brodo was also outstanding on the hill. She posted a 3-0 mark and saved eight other games. Brodo struck out 92 and gave up just seven hits.

At the plate, she hit .629, driving in 24 runs and scoring 30 times. She hit three homers, one triple and six doubles. Brodo was the starting shortstop for the Royals and made many key defensive plays.

Allison Lopreato was the leading hitter on the team with a .738 average. She was tops on the team with six homers and 41 ribbies. Lopreato also pounded out six doubles and scored 29 times. She did not strike out the entire season.

Second baseman Devin Servidio also did not strike out the entire year. She scored 31 times and drive in 20 runs. Always a threat on the bases, Servidio could turn a bunt single into a triple. She committed just one error the entire season.

Christine Messina had two homers and hit .426. The third baseman had 25 ribbies and scored 25 times.

Stacie Cheung, the lead-off hitter, batted .429 and had 15 singles. Shea Markese, who made some stellar catches in the outfield, walked 18 times and scored 18 runs. She is also an extremely quick runner and will return to the Royals

Vanessa Brooks had 25 RBI's and socked a grand slam in a very important playoff game against the Pirates. Brooks played various positions for the Royals, showing her versatility.

Samantha Miele made a game saving catch in the finals against the Reds. The short fielder showed immense patience at the plate, walking 21 times. Sam batted a healthy .448 and will also return to the Royals next year.

Marialisa Cerami was the starting catcher for the Royals. She had 18 ribbies and scored 15 runs. She'll be back next season.

Nicole Manochio played a variety of positions this year and looks to move to third base next year with Messina leaving. Manochio had 16 hits, 16 ribbies and hit a solid .421.

The team was coached by Matt Lopreato, Dan Brodo, Lou Servidio and Vinnie DeLucrezia. DeLucrezia will take over the helm next year as the other three coaches will coach on the Junior League level.

Solid pitching leads 13 yr. old stars to title

Following a slow start, the 13 year old All Stars of the Belleville Intermediate League rallied to win nine straight games and ended up with the 1997 Livingston 13 Year Old Babe Ruth All Star League championship.

The team won the title in impressive fashion, beating Caldwell 8-2 at the Kiwanis Oval in Caldwell.

Coached by Frank Vitale, Pete Velardi and Kevin Blair, the team posted a 13-5 record.

"We had four outstanding pitchers that all of the coaches had extreme confidence in," said Vitale.

Those four hurlers consisted of Ryan Blair, Michael Spiga, James O'Donnell and Gary McDonald. The same four also excelled at the plate.

Blair had 28 ribbies and hit a team hit .590. Spiga hit .575 and drove in ten runs while O'Donnell had 27 RBI's and hit .547. McDonald drove in eight and hit a solid .428.

The four pitchers had one thing in common, their catcher, Eric Perriol handled the tough chores behind the plate, and even though, he was banged up at times, he never asked out of a game.

Instead, he took his pain out on the ball, driving in ten runs and hitting .365.

"The kid had a lot of heart," Vitale said.

Leading the defense was second baseman Peter Velardi, who also contributed some clutch hits down the stretch. Mike Morgan took control in center field.

"Mike played a smooth center field," Vitale said. "When the ball was hit his way, it was an automatic out."

Rounding out the outfield were Todd Duffy and Frank Vitale Jr., both of whom were infielders for most of the regular season.

"They really sacrificed a lot for this team and did an outstanding job," said Vitale.

Coming off the bench when needed were reserve players Jaimie Vazquez and Doug Mejia.

"They both knew what their roles were and when called upon, they did a fine job," Vitale said of Vazquez and Mejia.

It was indeed a team effort in 1997, the parents and fans included.

"I would like to express a sincere thanks to all parents and fans for their support," the coach said.

The Belleville Baseball Commission is very proud of what this team accomplished. The boys represented Belleville very well and are commended for their efforts. Also deserving of a lot of credit and admiration are the 14 and 15 year old Belleville Intermediate League All Stars who competed in a similar Babe Ruth tournament in Livingston this summer.

That team was managed by John Tompkins. Though they struggled, the boys held their own and improved as the tournament went on. They are now looking forward to next season when many of them will try out for the Belleville High School freshmen and J.V. baseball teams.

Special thanks to Vacumax and Cooperative Communications, the two businesses who generously sponsored these two teams respectively.

Vacumax sponsored the 13 year old champs and Cooperative Communications sponsored the 14 and 15 year old team.

'Team of 90s' begins new season with high hopes

By Mike Lamberti

The Belleville High School "Team of the 90's" is ready for another chapter.

Gino DePinto's varsity soccer team has already begun practice, getting ready for the season opener on September 16, at Teaneck.

The Buccaneer soccer program has posted six straight winning seasons, dating back to the 1991 campaign.

"We've had a good turnout this year," DePinto, entering his eighth season as varsity coach, said. "We've been working pretty hard this summer, with double sessions last week. We've got some tough scrimmages coming up next week (against Cranford and Ridgewood) and those will be good tests for us."

The Bucs will also face the usual tough test in the NNJL Pacific Division.

"Don Bosco is going to be their usual tough self and Hackensack is coming off the league title. Nutley is going to be strong, too," DePinto said.

The Bucs, who were 10-7-3 in a rebuilding season last fall, have a strong senior contingent this year.

"We've got 12 seniors this year," DePinto said. "It's a more experienced team than last year, but it will be tough to replace a guy like Nick Colucci."

Colucci led the NNJL in scoring last year with 27 goals. He was graduated last spring.

Lawrence Martin, a sweeper, and Danny Almeida, a forward, will captain the team this fall.

Mike Perriol will return as the freshman coach and George Tortorello is back as the J.V. coach.

"We should be okay," DePinto said. "A lot of positions are still up in the air, and we'll know more after the scrimmages."

Clara Maass Golf Invitational to be played at Ridgewood Country Club, set for September

The 1997 Clara Maass Foundation Golf Invitational is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 29 at the Ridgewood Country Club in Paramus. Proceeds from this event will assist in the purchase of a CT/Virtual Simulator for the Radiation Oncology Department at Clara Maass Medical Center in Belleville.

The Ridgewood Country Club is renowned as one of the most outstanding golf courses in both the metropolitan area and the United States. Each year, Golf Magazine selects Ridgewood Country Club as one of the top 100 courses in America.

As part of the golf outing, a luncheon and evening cocktail reception will be held on the outdoor patio, which overlooks the golf course. The cocktail reception will be followed by a dinner buffet and a raffle for a number of fabulous prizes. The fee for golfers is $500.

Besides participating as a golfer, there also are a number of ways to support Clara Maass, such as sponsorship of tees, golf carts, the luncheon and cocktail reception. An ad journal also will be distributed at the event.

Last year, 172 golfers participated and the event raised $118,000 to assist in the purchase of diagnostic equipment for the Women's health Center at Clara Maass. For more information about the Clara Maass Golf Invitational, please call 450-2277.

Elizabeth Strassburger

Services for Elizabeth Miller Strassburger, 74, of Upper Montclair were held Saturday in Brookdale Reformed Church, Bloomfield.

Arrangements were by the Van Tassel Chickene Funeral Home, Bloomfield.

Mrs. Strassburger, who died Aug. 27 in Mountainside Hospital, Glen Ridge, taught at the Park Avenue School, Orange, for more than 30 years before retiring in 1979.

She was a 1943 graduate of Newark State College with a bachelor of arts degree in education.

Mrs. Strassburger was a member of the Montclair Teachers Club, New Jersey Chapter of the National Education Association, Daughters of the American Revolution and the Belleville Choral Society.

She also was a past matron of the Roseville chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Born in Newark, she lived in Belleville before moving to Upper Montclair more than 43 years ago.

Surviving is a grandchild.

Gerard Guiliano

A Mass for Gerard Guiliano, 35, of Maplewood was offered Friday in St. Peter's Church, Belleville, following the funeral from the Irvine-Cozzarelli Memorial Home, Belleville.

Mr. Guiliano, who died Aug. 25 at home, as a salesman for Ricciardi Bros. Paint, Maplewood.

Born in Newark, he lived in Belleville before moving to Maplewood two years ago.

Surviving are three sisters, Martene, Carolann D'Addario and Paula Schettick.

Enza Gabbai

A Mass for Enza Gabbai, 74, of Belleville was offered Aug. 23 in Holy Family Church, Nutley, after the funeral from the Irvine-Cozzarelli Memorial Home, Belleville.

Mrs. Gabbai, who died Aug. 20 in Clara Maass Medical Center, Belleville, was born in Italy and lived in Belleville since 1953.

Surviving are her husband, Rene; a son, Larry; a daughter, Franca Ferracane; a sister, Lida Frisini, and three grandchildren.

William Robert Hamilton

Attorney At Law

William Robert Hamilton, age 43, was called to heaven on Friday, August 22, 1997.

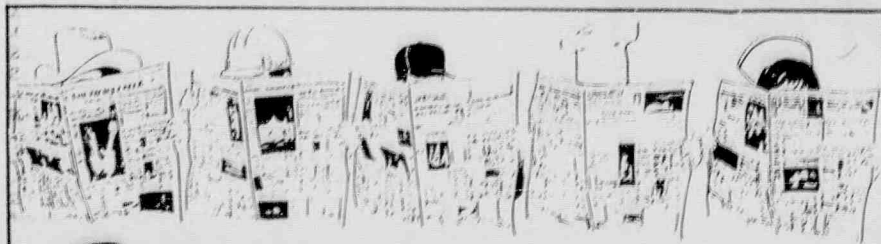

Bill was born in Belleville, graduating from Belleville High School and Duke University with honors. He received his law degree with honors from North Carolina Central University, and practiced law in Chapel Hill, NC, for 15 years. He was a member and former Vestryman of St. Matthews Episcopal Church, Hillsborough, North Carolina.

Bill is survived by his beloved wife, Susan Davis Hamilton. He is also survived by his parents, Edward and Muriel Hamilton of Belleville; his brother, Edward, and sister-in-law, Nancie; nephews, David and Chris, and niece, Marilee, all of Nutley.

Bill will be missed, for he taught faith, hope and love to all he touched. He will also be missed by his three labradors and cat.

A memorial service will be held at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church, 444 Union Ave., Belleville, NJ, on Saturday, September 6, 1997 at 11:00 a.m. Following the service the family will receive friends at a reception in the church hall. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to the Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church of Belleville or to the Animal Protection Society of Orange County, 1081 Airport Rd., Chapel Hill, NC 27514.

BREATHE EASIER

Patients with respiratory ailments such as allergies, asthma, and emphysema can all find their conditions aggravated by airborne allergens, which can be spread throughout the home by people, plants, pets, and poor ventilation. To help overcome these forms of indoor pollution, patients may outfit their homes with portable air cleaners that can filter the air in a 20-by-20 foot room up to 6 times per hour. Beyond cleaning the air they already have in their homes, those with upper respiratory conditions may also want to use portable compressed oxygen systems and supplies for the home or outside the home. In addition, a complete line of nebulizers (with compressors or handheld models) is available for effective inhalation therapy.

Complete prescription service can be found by coming to us in ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Avenue (759-1956, 759-1968). Wheelchairs, walkers, crutches, canes, and other ambulatory aids are available on a sale or rental basis. "Your doctor knows us - Your Doctor Trusts Us." Our stocks include cosmetics, toiletries, greeting cards, and many other items. Open: Daily 9am-10pm, Sundays 9am-5pm.

HINT: Those who suffer from obstructive sleep apnea may avail themselves of bedside units that deliver oxygen at a prescribed pressure through a mask to allow sleep to come naturally.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

School's back in session and in the excitement of the new school year, many school-age children, especially the young ones, may forget to look both ways when crossing the street or exiting the school. That leaves it up to you as the driver, to be extra careful around schoolyards, neighborhood play areas, and departing school buses. So remember...when you see yellow, be sure to see red-as in red alert. Let's all slow down and give our children the chance they deserve.

Hints For Homeowners

Replace Bursting Bubbles Affordably With New Watertight Skylights!

(NAPS)—Imagine being able to enjoy spectacular views of starry skies, snowy nights or fall foliage all from inside your own home. Sound impossible? It's not. All you need is a skylight.

Affordable, easy to install and maintain, skylights can brighten up any room while increasing the value of your home. In addition, many manufacturers have taken the suspense out of skylight performance by designing them to be leakproof, energy-efficient and durable enough to withstand extreme weather conditions.

And if you have an old-fashioned single-pane glass skylight or plastic bubble skylight installed you can end frustrating energy loss and possible leaks by simply replacing your outdated skylights with these new watertight models.

"The money you'll save in heating, cooling and home maintenance costs, coupled with the increase in home value, will more than make up for the cost of replacing these older units," says Gary Hyman, marketing manager for VELUX-AMERICA INC., a leading manufacturer of roof windows and skylights.

The cost to replace old skylights is often a pleasant surprise to homeowners. According to Tom McKeown, president of Skypros, Inc., a firm specializing exclusively in skylight installations, the average cost of replacing a two-foot by four-foot bubble with a fixed skylight (one that cannot be opened) is under $500 and slightly more for steep or flat roofs.

A ventilating skylight, commonly used in high-humidity areas such as kitchens and bathrooms, costs about $650 for the same application.

Manufacturers such as VELUX are designing skylights with insulated, argon-filled glass panes that feature energy-efficient coatings. These coatings prevent heat gain in summer months by blocking most of the sun's infrared energy from entering the home, and heat loss in winter by reflecting warm air back in the home, reducing heating and cooling bills. And, according to Hyman, glass skylights provide a clearer view and more light than plastic skylights.

Because skylight flashing (or waterproofing) systems have improved tremendously, skylights can now be easily installed with any type of roofing material including metal, asphalt or fiberglass shingles, slate, cedar shingles and shake, Spanish and concrete tiles. Flashing is usually made of aluminum and prevents the entry of moisture into the home from around skylights and other openings in the roof.

For the most watertight and durable skylight installation with thin roofing materials such as asphalt or fiberglass shingles, L-shaped step flashing pieces of roll-formed aluminum are interwoven with the roofing to create a completely watertight seal without caulk or mastics.

For metal and high profile roofs made of concrete or Spanish tile, the installer forms the pliable flashing to the contour of the roofing material for a watertight seal. VELUX recently introduced a line of systems that meet all of these needs while providing an aesthetically-pleasing, low-profile exterior.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Store More, Trip Less

(NAPS)—There's nothing homemakers like more than walking into a child's room and seeing every toy in its place or heading into the garage and seeing the garden hose stored neatly in its place. Scenes like these are not as rare these days thanks to the availability of easy-to-assemble shelves that have become a smart, simple solution to household storage.

Not only does keeping clutter down make your room a more attractive place, storing more will help you avoid accidents. Also, organizing a garage, or workshop will help ensure that items are not lying around where children can get them.

Some of the most popular shelving units now available are the versatile DuraShelf® Shelving Units from Plano Molding Company. Said to be better than steel shelving, they feature simple, rounded components (just legs and shelves, no hardware), are made of impact-resistant plastic and will not rust or get dings and dents. The rugged, chemical resistant model 904, for example, assembles in minutes without tools and is ideal for garage, laundry and utility areas. It's available in gray or white and has four adjustable shelves.

With shelves like these, safety in the home is no accident.

For an informative catalog write Plano Molding, 431 East South Street, Plano, IL 60645.
