Branch Brook Gardens Apartments landlord, Larry Lipschutz, was fined $7,300 after he pled guilty in municipal court to 11 property maintenance violations brought up against him by the township last week. The ruling comes after town officials, police and residents rallied to address long-running problems at the complex. It may not be the last time the township sets its sights on a landlord.

High School Marching Band heads for the top

They can be seen marching in local parades. They can be heard performing at local football games. They are the Belleville High School Marching Band, and they have spent the last few weeks performing against other high school marching bands in competitions conducted by the U.S. Scholastic Band Association. They have earned first place in addition to overall and special awards in the majority of their musical contests.

The BHS Marching Band's success relies on the students' dedication, hard work, and passion for music, under the direction band director, Paul Haase. The marching band began learning their music in the summer and continues to practice four days every week. They can be heard practicing every Tuesday night at the Belleville Municipal Stadium. Drum Majors Stina Calungsod and Kim Kondreck lead this year's field show entitled "Memorable Movie Music," with Dominic Garcia and Albert Arceo as instrumental soloists.

The BHS Marching Band is also supported by an equally dedicated group of parents, according to band officials. These mothers and fathers accompany the group at each competition to assist them, feed them and to cheer – win or lose. Some parents will go as far as to wave props during performances, as well as load and unload equipment from the truck before and after each competition.

School Board members, council members and Mayor Gerard Digori recently commended the marching band's achievements during their performance at Town Hall for the Columbus Day Parade. The band will continue to compete for the Central NJ Regional category in Trenton on Oct. 24, the NJ State Championships in Frenchtown, NJ on Oct. 30, and the All-States Competitions in Allentown, Pa. on Nov. 6. # Branch Brook Apts. landlord pleads 'guilty'

Residents say heat turned to minimum, and apartments allowed to stay in disrepair

BY ANNA SPIEWAK
of Belleville Times

Branch Brook Gardens' landlord, Larry Lipschutz, was fined $7,300 after he pled guilty in municipal court to 11 property maintenance violations brought up against him by the township last week.

This was the third time that Lipschutz was called into court. He was arrested twice for not showing up to prior hearings and assigned $2,500 bail the first time and $10,000 bail the second time.

Lipschutz is the owner of the 404-unit building on Branch Brook Drive that's been getting a lot of attention from the township, since Belleville police officers attended a couple of block meetings in March.

Emboldened tenants started building the case by speaking up about building violations that infringe on their quality of life. After several warning letters from the township and police telling Lipschutz to fix the violations, met with minimal results, the township took him to court. A few more tenants came forward to complain about Lipschutz at last week's hearing regarding living conditions and the negative effect that property (Branch Brook Gardens) has had on the neighborhood.

"The winter was very cold because of no heat, trash (pile up) all the time, (sometimes) there would be garbage sitting on my car," said Tiffany Woodard, former tenant who moved out of the building due to the unlivable conditions.

Woodard read about the Branch Brook situation in the newspaper a couple of weeks ago and came forward to testify against Lipschutz. She said she had paid $1250 a month rent for a two-bedroom apartment while living at Branch Brook from November 2003 until August, when she had enough and decided to move out, she said.

Although the heat was included in the rent, it was "almost constantly" lowered during the winter months so that her two children would have to sit on the radiator to stay warm. She also added that the complex would never get cleaned and no one would shovel snow from the walkways and lots, the tenants had to do it themselves. She noted the superintendents on staff were very young and irresponsible.

"They look like someone that you wouldn't want to let into your apartment without another person," she said, continuing that she would complain to Lipschutz about the conditions.

"The only times he'd respond to issues is when I would call the (State) Department of Health," she said. "I didn't bother staying there another year."

In April, Branch Brook was also written up by state inspectors for about 2,900 building violations. Lipschutz satisfied some of the violations and was given a second extension until November to fix all of the maintenance matters, according to E.J. Miranda, spokesperson for the Department of Community Affairs, who added that no additional extensions would be granted.

In the meantime, other tenants complain of rot inside their apartments, due to window leaks, bathroom leaks and a lack of security due to broken back door locks. Police Officer Gary Souss has been investigating the property since March, when tenants began speaking up.

In April, he wrote up a list of complaints from residents, such as numerous lights out on the property, including a parking lot, missing door locks or open doors on many vacant apartments, wild animals in the attics causing noises at night and animal urine stains on the ceiling. In regards to parking lots, residents complained of a missing "one-way" sign at the entrance, a faded "do not enter" sign that is difficult to see at night and sewer grates in the lots filled with leaves not allowing rain water to pass through them, just to name a few.

"These violations are seven months long; they affect the quality of life (of residents)," said township Prosecutor Michael Parlavescio.

Lipschutz's new attorney, Michelle Treiber, counterpointed that her client is repairing the property.

"He'd rather spend the money toward repairs than court costs, but he will do it (the repairs)," she said.

Judge Frank J. Zinna, who presided over the hearing, said Lipschutz had more than enough time to repair his property, and if it's easier, he should just sell it; other wise there will be "horrendous daily fines."

"It certainly affects property values by (buildings) that are not maintained and most importantly, it's against township ordinance," said Zinna. "This has been going on for years and it's going to stop."

When given a chance to speak, Lipschutz said he doesn't believe that he intentionally is avoiding repairs, but rather that the property is large and old that is why it's taking him longer than the township would like to fix everything.

But Zinna said the matter is not a question of speed, but allowing things to get bad to such a level that countless violations are brought up against one property.

The judge added that he will start taking a harder line on the longstanding tenant problems in the township. He scheduled Lipschutz's sentencing hearing for Wednesday, Oct. 20 at noon at which time health hazards violations will be addressed.

Second Ward Councilman Steven Rovell said the township is looking to start up the rent-leveling board once again to solve tenant-landlord problems in the township that go beyond the Branch Brook issue.

According to Michael Drake, a Branch Brook tenant of 40 years, the property used to be a prime rental area in the township until Lipschutz took over 10 years ago, which is when things started going downhill.

"If you made $300,000 a year (off tenants), would you want to make repairs?" said Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke who was present at the hearing. "People have lived with this long enough; we're not giving up until he repairs it or sells it."

In a post-hearing interview, Lipschutz said because his property is the largest one in the township he is paying the price.

"We have people who don't care about the property, unlike (the seniors) who take pride in their apartments," he said, adding that he has spent about $10,000 in repairs. "We are doing repairs in a systematic way, we hired additional roofing people but there is a limit on what you can really do."

But Zinna said if some people are careless on the premises, it is Lipschutz's responsibility to throw them out and maintain the property.

A 25-year Branch Brook tenant Anita Tur told the judge that a lot of senior tenants are not speaking up because they are afraid of being harassed by the owner.

"If people are not going to step up, it will keep on happening," said Zinna.

THIS WEEK IN NEWS

Setting an example for scofflaw landlords

Branch Brook Gardens' owner Larry Lipschutz was hit with $7,300 in fines after he pled guilty in municipal court to 11 property maintenance violations brought up against him by the township last week.

State building inspectors found no less than 2,900 building violations at the complex last April, so we're not talking about a misunderstood Bob Vila here.

While this may not be the biggest victory won in the name of tenant rights in New Jersey, it's certainly refreshing to see a township take a careless landlord to task. One needn't look far in this area to find landlords who put his or her wallet far, far ahead of the comfort and well being of the tenants. Property is a great investment, but it comes with great responsibility. To some landowners, tenants are merely economic engines put in place to pay the place off.

And some tenants figure that, because they're poor and perhaps paying less in rent, it's their plight to live in these conditions. So they say nothing. It can't do much to change that perception when one's landlord ignores phone calls, sends untrained goons to do patch jobs and basically treats concerned tenants like braying asses.

So we laud Belleville Municipal Judge Frank Zinna for inviting people to speak up and for promising to take a harder stance on apathetic landlords. We laud everyone who came forward at Branch Brook Gardens, and the local police and officials who coaxed them out.

Perhaps an example has been made — albeit, meager, let's face it — that will make other landlords take responsibility for their properties.

"Speak good English, b---h," said a department of public works employee to a surprised caller earlier this month. Hardly the response one would expect when phoning to have a tree removed. If the department of public works is going to start doling out language lessons, perhaps it's time to make proper English a requisite for employment. Would that guy still be working a month from now?

Forino, Italy is becoming Belleville's Sister City through the outreach of people like Mayor Gerald Digori. More than an annual opportunity for public officials on both sides to take cheap vacations, it's actually a very worthy pursuit.

Fostering relations with a city across the globe will give future generations in Belleville a connection with the world that many other municipalities don't even consider. The exchange possibilities are endless and the lessons the two cities could teach each other are valuable.

Okay, so it's an Italian sister city — fine — and Belleville's already crawling with all things Italian. We're not exactly braving the frontier here. But the culture in Italy is always changing with shifts in Europe and in many ways, Europe and the U.S. have vast cultural differences.

Besides, over the years, residents of Belleville, joining with planners like John Kelly from Nutley, have built its Columbus Day Parade into the largest in the area. As much as Columbus is a figure that belongs to history, parades in his honor are often celebrations of Italian American culture.

Given that consideration, by maintaining this connection with Forino, Italy, Belleville is showing how serious it is about being a landmark of that heritage in America.

Misdirected

TO THE EDITOR:

I just finished reading the letter in the Belleville Times and the Belleville Post from Sharon Senatore, and I had a strong need to respond.

The first thing I want to say is Mrs. Senatore needs to grow up and be a better role model for the students she comes in contact with. Attacking the Belleville Board of Education for conducting the interview process according to the rules and in a professional manner is totally unacceptable behavior. Due to her behavior, she encouraged students to act inappropriately and rude at the board meeting, which I don't think they would have done under normal circumstances.

As everyone at the meeting could see, the board tried their best to explain the process and the reason for the selection of Mr. Simonetti. Mrs. Senatore's attacking Mr. McManus at the meeting and in this article is totally uncalled for. Instead, she should have listened with an open mind and maybe she would have had a better understanding of what took place. There are rules and regulations in place that the board is mandated to follow, which they did.

The citizens of Belleville voted for Mr. McManus because of his honesty, open-mindedness, his consideration of others, his pride in Belleville, and his dedication to making the education our children receive the best possible. Along with all that responsibility, Mr. McManus and the board are going to make decisions that people may not agree with but if they take the time to step back and look and listen to why the decision was made, as with the selection of Mr. Simonetti, they would see the decision is based on what is best for our children's education.

I could see Mr. McManus was very sympathetic to the feelings of the students and I'm sure he would have taken the time to explain the process so they could understand what was taking place. Unfortunately, he wasn't given that opportunity because of Mrs. Senatore's egging them on and the fact she could not keep her opinions to herself.

One last thing. How dare Mrs. Senatore speak for me or the other parents as to who we will vote for in the next board election. My vote is still with Mr. McManus because I want someone heading our board who is dedicated to the welfare of our children and will not compromise that dedication.

Be proud of the board. They deserve it.

Mae Powell

Have a heart

TO THE EDITOR:

I am an Essex County resident, and I am a survivor! As the survivor of heart disease and heart surgery, I urge you to join a movement—the American Heart Association Essex County Heart Walk on Sunday, Oct. 24. I'm serving as red cap survivor ambassador of Essex County Heart Walk and I'll be joining thousands of survivors of stroke, heart surgery, heart attack and cardiac arrest throughout New Jersey this fall as we walk in the 13th Annual American Heart Association Heart Walk.

Everyone in Essex County benefits from the work, services, programs and funded-research of the American Heart Association and its stroke division, the American Stroke Association. There are free brochures, materials, speakers, conferences, science journals for healthcare professionals, toll-free numbers, support groups, websites, CPR training, guidelines on diet/nutrition, cholesterol, cardiovascular care and more. And over the years, American Heart Association-funded research has helped bring us such breakthroughs as microsurgery, heart valve replacement, coronary bypass surgery, the pacemaker, CPR and drug treatments for high blood pressure and congestive heart failure, to name a few.

Our movement is to continue to make progress in the fight against New Jersey's No. 1 and No. 3 killers—heart disease and stroke. Our movement is also to raise awareness that cardiovascular disease is the No. 1 health threat facing American women today. Nearly 500,000 women die each year from cardiovascular diseases—more female lives than from the next seven causes of death combined, including all cancers. If you are a woman or there is a woman in your life you care about, I urge you to learn more about the American Heart Association Go Red For Women campaign.

Support the theme of 2004 Essex County Heart Walk, Step Out, Save Lives!—Exercise Your Heart!, by exercising regularly and walking in Heart Walk. Physical activity brings health benefits to the heart, lungs and circulation. Be sure to include exercise as part of your regular daily routine. Join me and join our movement and more than 3,000 walkers at Essex County Heart Walk at the ADP, Inc. corporate campus in Roseland on Oct. 24. For more information or to register, call the American Heart Association at (732) 821-2610.

DPW director apologizes for crass employee

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

A man of Indian descent lodged a complaint against the Department of Public Works after he said an employee told his wife over the phone to "speak good English b---h."

In his official complaint to the Belleville Police Department, Mohan Maddipatia said his wife, Subba who are both Indian, contacted the DPW on Oct. 9 to inquire about having old appliances picked up from their home and having a small tree removed, and a man answered the phone. After a couple of minutes he started demanding that she "speak good English," then cursed at her. Incidentally, Subba is an American citizen.

"I was amazed and shocked at the language," Maddipatia said in the complaint.

He told Belleville Times that his wife's English is not the most proficient, but that is no excuse for abusive language.

"I am not paying taxes to the town for this kind of behavior from its employees," he said in the official statement. "It is not the language of a sane and decent person."

Maddipatia said his wife was "very upset" and that "any married woman of any age would be upset to be called this."

He said Subba is sometimes self-conscious about her command of English, but she works for the county, and her co-workers are able to understand her. She is always trying to improve her English, Maddipatia said.

The couple moved from India to Belleville in 1988. He was recently laid off and is currently interviewing for a new job.

Maddipatia was not at home when the upsetting call took place, but his wife told him when he got back. He tried to call the DPW, but it was past working hours, and then there was a long holiday weekend.

Maddipatia forwarded his complaint to a couple of civil rights organizations since he said he feels his wife's civil rights were misused and violated.

"They are very nice people," DPW Director James Messina said of the Maddipatias. "It's a shame someone would do that. I was not raised that way."

Messina has apologized to Maddipatia and his wife, and vowed to only let properly designated employees answer telephones from now on.

Messina said he can't get to the bottom of who made the offending remark, but if he does, they will be suspended without pay.

"My policy is that everyone is courteous to the nth degree," he said. "I can't control everyone's mentality. No one fesses up."

He said no one will be allowed to hang out in his office any more and answer phones. Only Messina, the dispatcher and others with official clearance will be allowed.

After the incident, the DPW cut down the tree for the couple.

Messina said Township Manager Mauro Tucci is on top of the situation as well. "I gave him an assessment," Messina said.

Despite the apology, Maddipatia said, "I'm still feeling hurt. She (his wife) still feels hurt. No one calls my wife a b---h, not even me."

Still, he said he does not want this to happen to anyone else.

"Because of my complaint, they will not do this to anyone," Maddipatia said. "That is why I made the complaint."

Italian-American township officials proclaimed Forino, Italy, as Belleville's sister city as they bid farewell to their overseas guests in an awards ceremony at the council chamber last week.

Since last year, Belleville has participated in a friendly exchange, where Italian officials were invited to the United States to march in the township's Columbus Day Parade. Mayor Gerald Digori was invited to visit Forino this summer. In return the township invited a handful of Italian officials and law enforcers to march in the Belleville-Nutley Columbus Day Parade on Oct. 10. The visitors were also invited to march in the New York City Columbus Day Parade the next day.

At the awards ceremony, plaques and gifts were exchanged, as township officials shook hands with six members of the Carabinieri (Italian federal police force) and Pasquale Nunziata, mayor of Forino, with his interpreter and family, all of whom toured the nearby area for eight days. The group had been taken to New York City, local shopping malls and several local restaurants that hosted dinners for the visiting dignitaries. and the Italian American Police Society of New Jersey, acted as transporters and interpreters for the guests.

Digori emphasized that the language barrier was not an obstacle in their getting along. He fondly recalled his welcoming visit to Forino in August and how at home he was made to feel by Nunziata and his interpreter, Carmine Votariello, whom Digori called "Charlie" during the ceremony.

"People of Italy are just like the people of Belleville," said Digori. "If I were a young boy growing up in Forino, I'd be their friend, if they were here in Belleville, they'd be our friends."

He added that a week was not long enough for their visit.

In the future of the Sister City Program, where municipalities from two nations participate in a cultural exchange to foster international communication and cooperation, Digori said he hopes to send some American children to Italy and have Italian children come to Belleville.

Forino is in the province of Avellino, Campania (in the southern part of Italy). The town, with a population of about 5000 (compared to Belleville's 35,928, based on 2000 Census), is surrounded by woods and seven hills and is known for many fertile lands with excellent quality chestnuts and wine, according to italyworldclub.com.

"When we came here, we found a great country, but we found something more, we found you" said Massimo Buonomico, one of the few Carabinieri who spoke slight English. "I'm very happy to have known them and for a moment to be one of them," he added later.

Belleville officials vowed to bring greater Italian pride into the township by working in conjunction with the Columbus Day Committee and arrange an even bigger and more organized Columbus Day Parade next year, said Digori.

"Italian heritage has not been celebrated in this country as much," said Second Ward Councilman Steven Rovell, whose Italian grandfather came to America in 1911. "(Today) I want my kids to take a piece of their heritage."

Pascrell opens office in Nutley this week

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

Essex County's significance to a U.S. Congressman seeking re-election has led him to open his only campaign headquarters in Nutley, according to his aide.

Congressman Bill Pascrell, Jr. (D-NJ, 8th) was slated to host a campaign headquarters opening Oct. 20th at 6:30 p.m. All members of the community were invited to attend for a meet and greet with the congressman and staff.

The office will be the focal point for all the "get out the vote" efforts centered in Essex County, as well as calling and handing out literature. It will be open every day until election day for at least part of the day, according to Sabrina Glavan, aide to the congressman.

She said Pascrell has several headquarters, including ones in West Paterson and Paterson in Passaic County. He also has a satellite office in Bloomfield.

"It's very important to Bill that he balances between Essex and Passaic counties," Glavan said.

The quality of voters from Nutley who have supported Pascrell during his four terms in the House of Representatives is a big factor in choosing Nutley, she said.

Glavan said rather than go to a place where Pascrell has less support in Essex County, "We picked the perfect location. We need the energy and enthusiasm to get out the vote. Nutley has supported Bill over the years, and has a lot to offer."

George Ajjan, Pascrell's Republican challenger, said Pascrell's placement of an office in Nutley does not mean Ajjan is conceding Nutley.

"I certainly think I can win there," Ajjan said. "If people look at the issues they'll see the issues are much better in my campaign than in his."

Glavan said Nutley is really well located, close to highways, as opposed to going to say, South Orange, which would be a little far given the district's layout.

"Folks there are very excited about Bill, and we feed off the enthusiasm," Glavan said.

The type of town Nutley is is what drew Pascrell.

"There are families that have been there a long time, and Bill is committed to keeping the traditions of Nutley," Glavan said.

The office leaves him close to Belleville and Bloomfield, both of which are in his Congressional district, she continued, and are key to his re-election. The office will increase his visibility throughout the district, she said.

Students and staff raise money for a cure

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

This month, students, faculty, administration and staff at Belleville High School and throughout the district helped raise money - and awareness - for National Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

On Oct. 8, the Student Government Organization (SGO) of BHS participated with companies, organizations and schools nationwide in Lee National Denim Day, allowing employees and students to wear denim that day.

Michele Monica, advisor to the SGO, received a free participation kit and materials needed to coordinate the day for the Belleville School System. As a result, the SGO will donate approximately $2,500 for breast cancer research.

The amount was increased from $1,900 after a second count was made of the amounts raised.

Each person who wore denim had $5 donated in their name, said Monica. The denim day raised between $1,200 and $1,300, Monica said.

BHS students, along with Josephine Lockett, guidance counselor, pitched in and made additional pink ribbons to sell for 25 cents apiece.

Monica survived breast cancer herself two years ago, "so this is very close to me," she said.

Wearing hats, armbands and banners, enthusiastic students took to the halls with bags of ribbons to sell. By noon on Oct. 8, every ribbon was sold, according to Lockett.

The pink ribbons raised $600, "quite an accomplishment," she said.

Students held up signs wishing Lockett's friend Sarah well. She is battling breast cancer.

"This was a great thing the kids did," she said. "The SGO kids, the rest of the kids, the teachers, the whole district did great."

The Komen Foundation, which is involved with breast cancer, receives 100 percent of the donations, Monica said.

The pink ribbon lapel pin has become a powerful symbol to increase awareness about breast cancer, and it's easy to make, according to the American Cancer Society website.

Throughout October - Breast Cancer Awareness Month - people wear a pink ribbon to honor survivors, to remember those lost to the disease, and to support the search for a cure. In 2003, an estimated 211,300 women learned they had breast cancer, 1,300 men got the same news, and 40,200 people are expected to die from the disease.

October marks the 20th annual Breast Cancer Awareness Month - a campaign that has boosted mammograms, pushed for better treatments, and saved lives, according to the ACS. This year, the ACS wants women to know that mammograms are not being gotten often enough: many women no longer get scans often enough to avoid advanced cancer.

Good news and bad news from Silver Lake

This column has been in print for many, many years. And I must say that I enjoy writing it. Most of the time, the column is upbeat, reporting the positives. This time, I'm not happy to report, it is in the negative. And frankly, I'm mad! Rocco Fabiano, the Department of Public Works Supervisor, gave me the bad news that one of our 'Welcome To Silver Lake Signs' was torn off the pole on Franklin Street and North 8 Street, and was among the "missing." When this association was formed in 1993, we had four of them made. They were white heart-shaped with red lettering. The signs were placed in strategic places so that people entering Silver Lake were welcomed. These signs have been in place about 10 years and never vandalized. But I guess, there's always a first time. The culprits actually took the large heart and tore it off the pole. Our officers and trustees are mortified that someone could stoop so low and destroy something that Silver Lake held close to their "hearts."

At a meeting of the executive board, we agreed that a $100 reward should be posted, for information leading to the return of the

Did you know Sadie Hawkins wasn't real?

Did you know that a cartoon character has played Cupid for years? Inspirational Sadie Hawkins, who has urged scores of women to initiate dances and relationships with the opposite sex, was not a real woman. Sadie Hawkins was actually a character in the "Li'l Abner" comic strip created by Al Capp in the 1930s, according to the "Li'l Abner" Web site.

Her father, Hekzebiah Hawkins, worried that the plain and unattractive Sadie would never find a husband and would live at home forever. In desperation, he created Sadie Hawkins Day, which debuted in the strip on Nov. 15, 1937. Here, single women chased single men on foot. If a woman caught a man, they would have to get hitched. In the strip, the event was held annually every November for 40 years. The cartoon's tradition came to life at colleges and cities which held foot races, mock weddings and dances in honor of Sadie Hawkins.

According to The Old Farmer's Almanac, today, Sadie Hawkins Day is celebrated on a Saturday at the beginning of November to "accommodate all the 'girls ask boys' school dances and other events."

sign. And, there will be no questions asked.. If you have any info regarding the missing sign, please respond by going to the beauty salon on Franklin. All we want is our sign back where it belongs. The salon was kind enough to be the drop-off site. They in turn will be in contact with me for the reward.

Enough of the negatives, on to the positives.

You know the ole saying, everything comes to an end. Silver Lake has lost to retirement, our Big John Martucci, after many years of service to the Belleville Police Department. He was our Community Policeman for years and did a great job in helping and protecting the residents. His wife Heidi, cordially invited me and my hubby to his retirement party at Al Di La. We here in The Lake will miss you to pieces, Big John, and thank you for going above and beyond your call of duty.

Now with a little bad news some good news follows and we in Silver Lake are happy to report that Gary Souss will be coming back home to his Silver Lake community policing very shortly. Our arms are opened wide to accept you, Mr. Souss. Do you hear that Chief Rotonda?

Happy birthday to that cute little girl on North 10 Street, named Toni Ann Minichini. She is a great kid and celebrated her 10th birthday Oct. 18. Our little miss attends School #4 and is the daughter of Terri and Anthony Minichini. Have a delightful day, kid.

And remember, we love Silver Lake.

"Seal" Live At Borgata

Don't worry, there's nothing fishy about this Seal, he's a real live human who does wonderful things with a song. "My songs are like kids," Seal confides. "I love them all, I encourage them to grow, to reach their full potential and then send them out into the world."

Well, after 5 years away, Seal's self-titled album is a sublime collection of eleven new songs on a par with his best work to date. The new material is elevated by the recording artist's rich vocal gift. While the album began to take shape a year ago, it is actually the end result of a long and sometimes painful period of creative reappraisal, a process that began almost three years earlier.

Rekindling the flame, however, required a radical return to Seal's roots. "I'd been living in Los Angeles for twelve years," he continues, "and the first thing I did was to move back to London where I got started." According to this Paddington-born native of Nigerian and Brazilian ancestry, "there's a certain grit to that city, an energy and immediacy that had inspired me from the beginning."

It wasn't as if I was trying to recapture anything, I just wanted to make the connection to a place that had always served me well." This included ongoing collaborations with songwriters including Alan Griffiths and Mark Batson, co-credited on Seal, along with his reunion with long-time production partner Trevor Horn, the man behind the boards for such career highlights as the multi-platinum 1994 album with its Grammy winning smash hit "Kiss From A Rose."

As work began in earnest last year with the culling of seventy-five new songs, the artist found himself increasingly committed to the all-but-lost concept of musical expression. Ultimately, Seal is a work that justifies the dedication and commitment that both Seal and his team put into the work over a period of time that featured equal measures of inspiration and frustration.

I can heartily recommend that you catch his performance, October 22, at the beautiful Borgata Hotel/Casino. Tickets are $49.50 each, a fair price, and can be obtained by calling Ticket-master at 800-736-1420, logging on to www.ticketmaster.com or in person by visiting the Borgata Box office. Seal is a class act!

Speaking of class acts and the Borgata it gives me a great deal of pleasure to tell you that Bob Boughner, Chief Executive Officer of Borgata Hotel Casino & Spa, a joint venture of Boyd Gaming Corporation (NYSE:BYD) and MGM Mirage (NYSE:MGG), today announced the promotion of Larry Mullin to the position of Executive Vice President & Chief Operating Officer.

"I am pleased to announce the promotion of Larry Mullin to the position, of Executive Vice President Chief Operating Officer of Borgata," commented Boughner. "Larry has brought a wealth of knowledge and years of experience in the Atlantic City market to Borgata. He possesses great leadership and management skills and has been a strong contributor to our success. This structure will allow us to focus on the current and future development plans at Borgata while maintaining our market leading position."

After I met him I knew I'd picked a winner. The guy learned the gaming business from the casino floor up to the executive administration chambers but his biggest asset and the reasons he so successful (The Borgata is already up 30% over their blockbuster first year) is his compassion and understanding of the people who work for him. They will literally go through brick walls for the guy and why not.

He's never overbearing, speaks calmly and personally to them on any problems they may have and always respects their personal dignity regardless of their employee positions. He's mastered that fine management line of dictating policy and getting others to implement those policies eagerly and cheerfully.

In short, Larry Mullin is an executive role model for any corporate business, certainly a prominent future force in the ever expanding gaming industry! So congratulations Larry, you earned it and most assuredly deserved it. The Borgata is lucky to have you!

Red Cross tips on being prepared for emergencies

The American Red Cross wants residents to practice family emergency preparedness and John Kocotos, the Director of Emergency Operations at the Montclair-Glen Ridge-Nutley Red Cross, offers the following tips:

- Assemble a disaster supply kit.
- Stock water, food and first aid supplies. Keep items in an easy-to-carry container, such as a large, covered trash container, a - camping backpack or duffel bag.

- Ask your physician or pharmacist about storing prescription medications.
- Plan how your family will stay in contact if separated; pick two meeting places.
- Post emergency telephone numbers by every phone, be sure smoke detectors are working
- Show responsible family members how and when to shut

- off water, gas and electricity at main switches.
- Meet with neighbors and plan how the neighborhood could work together after a disaster.
- Maintain a full tank of gas in your car, check oil, fluids and air in tires on a regular basis
- Keep emergency equipment in the car.

Kocotos said the emergency kit for the car should contain basically the same items as that for the home, in addition to: cell phone and charger; battery-powered radio and extra batteries; flashlight and extra batteries; blanket or sleeping bags; First Aid kit; bottled water and non-perishable high-energy foods (such as granola bars, raisins, and peanut butter); road maps, tire repair kit and pump; flares; tow rope; booster cables and fire extinguisher, diapers.

Higher Standards in banking. Now in your neighborhood.

The drive behind everything we do is Higher Standards. It means always trying to be better than we were the day before. And it's a belief we've lived by for over two hundred years.

It allows us to demonstrate Higher Standards for our customers, every time they visit our banking centers, use their Check Card or log onto our Web site.

We're proud to now be bringing these standards to your neighborhood.

We put banking centers and ATMs right where you need them.

Our plan is simple: to locate banking centers near where you work and live, and an ATM right where you need one. Already this has led to a new standard in banking; we've created the largest ATM and banking center network in America.

We demonstrate higher standards inside our banking centers too. As you walk through the door, you will be met by a banker who can help with your every banking need.

You'll be offered products like our MyAccess Checking® account, which comes free with direct deposit and gives added value to the word free. It offers free online banking, free online bill paying, and free unlimited teller transactions.

All this, plus the very secure and free, Total Security Protection®, which promises that if your Check Card is ever lost or stolen, and used, you only need to report it promptly and you're protected. The money will be put back in your account the very next business day.* Guaranteed.

And coming soon, when you visit one of our banking centers looking for a mortgage, you'll find one that requires 80% less paperwork. It's our way of demonstrating what we believe: that it shouldn't take as much time to apply for a mortgage as it does to find a home.

We are America's number one Small Business bank.

More small businesses in more places have chosen us as their bank. Over two million of them.

But of course, that didn't happen overnight. We got there one business at a time.

We look forward to bringing you the same wealth of experience with the most comprehensive business tools and advice available. We also welcome the chance to help you find the funding you need, with a wide variety of unique small business loans and line of credit options.

We invest billions of dollars in neighborhoods and people.

For many years, we have demonstrated how banking can make neighborhoods better, by giving back to the neighborhoods where we live and work.

We've already invested more than $230 billion in developing our communities. And we're dedicating $750 billion more over the next ten years. Which, in simple terms, equates to $200 million per day going out to help build new communities, and bring new life to existing ones.

We're equally proud to be helping more people than ever realize their dream of owning a new home.

We've worked hard to pioneer a new program to offer affordable mortgages to those who serve and protect our neighborhoods — like firefighters, medical workers, police and teachers. We call it Neighborhood Champions™.

Teachers, for instance, will be able to afford to buy a home in areas where housing prices would have forced them out of the market. And out of the schools they teach in. In this way, the teachers benefit. So do the kids.

We believe one higher standard creates another.

Our philanthropic activities can create Higher Standards in other areas too.

We have recently dedicated $1.5 billion over the next ten years to organizations that are bringing excellence to neighborhoods like yours across America.

You see, we seek to demonstrate this excellence every day, in every way we can. And as Fleet becomes Bank of America, we're proud to have the opportunity to build upon a rich local heritage, creating a higher standard of banking for everyone.

It's why we're excited to be in your neighborhood. And we look forward to meeting you.

Gov's admission sheds light on double lives

BY QUINITA GOOD of Nutley Sun

On Aug. 12, with his wife standing by his side, Governor James McGreevey announced that he had been leading a double life. McGreevey – a father of two – described a struggle with his sexuality, “a certain sense that separated me from others.”

It was something that he said began as a child.

“At a point in every person’s life, one has to look deeply into the mirror of one’s soul and decide one’s unique truth in the world, not as we may want to see it or hope to see it, but as it is,” McGreevey said. “And so, my truth is that I am a gay American.”

“Coming out,” the term which describes the act of revealing ones homosexual preference sounds easy, even freeing, for those who’ve lived behind walls of silence. Yet, many who know from first-hand experience or who’ve studied the process say that this act takes tremendous courage.

Area therapists agree and say that it is common for many people to keep secrets, thus leading some degree of “double life.”

“People are living with secrets of one kind or another,” said New York psychotherapist Robin Benjamin, “and their secrets are killing them. McGreevey gave people a certain amount of courage. People saw that (McGreevey’s coming out) as hopeful, that you can have a secret, reveal it and still survive.”

Benjamin noting many kinds of secrets that people live with, including sexual, financial, drug abuse and family secrets, said that “secrets drain you of your ability to be in the present...Sharing them with others is a tremendous release.”

Simon Israel Feuerman, a licensed clinical social worker (LCSW), who has offices in Nutley, Passaic and New York City, is seeing more clients who have been discussing double lives since McGreevey’s public announcement.

“People coming up and saying ‘this is who I am and who I choose to be’ has affected a change in how society perceives, not only homosexuals, but how it perceives itself,” said Feuerman. “In many ways, leading a double life is tragic, because it takes an enormous amount of energy to conceal and that energy could be used, instead, to connect and create life.”

First and foremost, McGreevey’s announcement was an inspiration to other gay Americans.

On www.365gay.com, Michel Adams, Lambda Legal’s director of education, is quoted as saying that “the very human way in which he (McGreevey) made his announcement may help other gay Americans to come out.”

Both Feuerman and Benjamin agree.

“I think it’s opened a lot of freedom for people to talk about these issues,” said Benjamin.

According to Benjamin, there is a tremendous fear of loss that accompanies being gay in a society which discriminates based on sexual preference.

“There’s a fear that if they come out and define themselves as gay, that everything will come crashing down, both personally and professionally,” said Benjamin.

“I agree that it is extremely challenging in mainstream society,” said psychotherapist Melissa Groman, speaking of the process of coming out. Groman practices in Upper Montclair.

“Landmark advances in civil rights protections for gays and lesbians are attributable in large part to the courage of individuals who chose to ‘come out’ and be visible,” said Congresswoman Tammy Baldwin (D-WI) in “The Gay and Lesbian Atlas.”

Feuerman said, “What she may be referring to is some recent legislation about insurance; corporations covering the companions in homosexual couples. And until now, hospitals would not allow a companion into ICU. It’s a deep issue because it relates to the part of everyone that feels that they could or they might choose to own themselves and they’re willing to stand up to the forces that say ‘no you can’t own yourself’ that you have to think the way we think.”

The governor’s act reverberated locally.

“McGreevey’s story is my story 10 years ago,” said Bob Sorbanelli, who is openly gay and a member of the New Jersey Gay & Lesbian Bowlers (NJGLB) which meets in Belleville and which has members who are Nutley residents.

Sorbanelli, who was once married to a woman, explained he was leading a double life.

“It’s very challenging and takes a lot of energy,” said Sorbanelli, who added that the life becomes one of “sneaking around” and includes “a fear of getting caught.”

He said that he thinks there have been a lot of advances for the gay community, namely “...the fact that major corporations offer domestic partner benefits, New Jersey same-sex partners can now register their domestic partnership and organizations in support of gay people are more visible, including some for gay youth.”

Sorbanelli agreed with Congresswoman Baldwin on the fact that it takes courage to “come out.” He added that coming out is a process.

“For me, and probably for McGreevey, the first part of that process is being in touch with feeling something for the same sex. For me, initially, it wasn’t labeled,” said Sorbanelli of his realization that he was gay. “Instead of accepting it as part of who I am, I said it’s probably not happening.”

Sorbanelli feels that being gay is genetic and said that he had ambiguous feelings even as a young adult. He even challenged the notion that people “choose” to be gay. “Society says you’re either gay or you’re straight, but the Kinsey Scale says there’s a range...”

According to Feuerman, the Kinsey Scale, developed by Dr. Alfred Kinsey and his associates in the late 1940s and early 1950s, is a collection of studies that indicate a broad spectrum of sexual orientations. Kinsey showed that sexuality is a continuum and that very few people are either completely heterosexual or completely homosexual.

Both Feuerman and Sorbanelli said there are several studies that back this point.

“There’s also a fear of being rejected by one’s family,” said Sorbanelli, who added that “...one reason so many gays marry is because society dictates what one needs to do.”

Leading a double life takes on many forms and does not only affect gays.

One Passaic man, calling himself “M,” said he also led a double life for over a year and that his life “spiraled out of control” through concealment of his drug use.

Green Party candidate makes third bid

BY NICK MOORE
of Belleville Times

Joseph A. Fortunato, the Green Party candidate for Congress in New Jersey's Eighth District, says his campaign offers a "clear alternative" to his opponents' positions, anchored by a simple, powerful slogan: "War Is Not The Answer."

In an interview with Belleville Times recently, Fortunato outlined some of the national stances he supports — chief among them a swift, but responsible withdrawal of U.S. troops in Iraq — as well as a few major issues facing North Jersey.

Fortunato cited problems in the Eighth District's inner cities, Paterson in particular, which must be addressed. He proposes redirecting federal funding from the war effort to help revitalize those areas by creating jobs and improving the school systems. Another one of his campaign slogans, he points out, is "Money For Jobs, Not For War."

A Montclair attorney, Fortunato also wants to establish state and federal partnerships to fund additional clean air and water initiatives. "More has to be done," the candidate said, adding that he would place greater emphasis on the region's environmental concerns than elected officials have done in the past.

Since he first ran for Congress four years ago, the Green Party's message has "grown deeper, more sophisticated," observed Fortunato, who is challenging Democrat Bill Pascrell, Jr., a four-term congressman. George Ajjan, a Wayne resident, is running on the Republican ticket.

One of Fortunato's supporters is Ted Glick, New Jersey's Green candidate for U.S. Senate in 2002. "Joseph Fortunato is on the right side of a lot of these issues," said Glick, a Bloomfield resident, who cited Fortunato's commitment to upholding civil and constitutional rights, as well as his opposition to the war.

In fact, Fortunato's opposition to preemptive war and opposition to the Patriot Act (which Pascrell supports, he points out) are among the chief tenets of his platform. While he said the nation should protect its borders, he advocates a reduction in military spending.

In 2000, Fortunato received 1.5 percent of the vote in his first bid for elective office. Two years later, he ran against Pascrell again and doubled his vote total, earning three percent. "And I'm hoping to do even better this time," Fortunato said.

"People have heard of the Green Party; we're building a base and people want us around," said Fortunato, a past president of the state's Green Party, noting that the party has already a scattering of elected officials across the country, who have proven their ability to govern.

'Nobody owns votes. I reject the whole concept of being a 'spoiler' you have to earn votes.'

"We're small but growing — definitely 'Green and growing.'"

He disputed arguments that Greens — like Ralph Nader was accused of in the 2000 presidential election — traditionally siphon votes from Democratic candidates; much of Nader's support, he said, already comes from registered independents.

"Nobody owns votes," Fortunato added. "I reject the whole concept of being a 'spoiler' — you have to earn votes."

Improvements slated for Route 21

BY ANNA SPIEWAK
of Belleville Times

As part of its area safety improvements, the New Jersey Department of Transportation (NJDOT) will be lengthening lanes of Route 21 southbound in Belleville for vehicles entering and exiting the highway at the Main/Terry streets exit.

The plan includes increasing the length of the deceleration lane from the current 470 feet to the required 530 feet, and lengthening the acceleration lane from 343 feet to 1070 feet, based on the current speed limit, according to DOT. The additional work will include reconstruction and widening of a concrete pavement, reconstructing a retaining wall parapet and replacing a substandard guide rail, as well as reconstructing concrete headwall and constructing supplementary drainage along the median.

The improvements are being made because Route 21, first constructed in the 1950s, has become structurally outdated and there has been an increased number of accidents around the exit area due to the rise of the speed limit, from 50 to 55 mph, said Township Manager Mauro Tucci.

According to Police Chief Joseph Rotonda, some drivers are exceeding the speed limit in the area of the Terry Street exit.

"It's a pretty steep turn, it backs up really fast, that's why they want to widen it," said Rotonda.

The state is doing improvements on all highway ramps that go over the Passaic River, including Route 21 and Route 3 over the bridge, said DOT spokesperson Marc Lavorgna.

Upon getting all of the required permits – including environmental, due to the project's proximity to the Passaic River – the Route 21 construction will begin in February 2005 and be completed by August of the same year, according to DOT.

Tucci said the Terry Street exit/entrance will remain open during the construction, and the roadwork will have only minimal effect on highway traffic with some occasional rush hour back up.

Aside from safety improvements, Belleville also requested the state agency to enlist the township in a Good Neighbor Program. Similar to what it's doing in Nutley and Clifton, DOT would take away overgrown shrubbery and replant new shrubs along the entire stretch of Main Street adjacent to Route 21. The replanting would add attractiveness to the area and make it easier to maintain the landscaping, said Tucci. The township is still waiting to hear DOT's response to the request.

"This interchange will bring a positive effect on Belleville," he said. "This is only to make it safer to ingress and egress the lanes."

TAKE WITH CARE

Because such pain-relief medications as aspirin, ibuprofen, and acetaminophen can be purchased over the counter at widespread locations, many consumers mistakenly believe that they are rather benign. The fact is however, that while these medications are safe when taken as directed, they are not necessarily risk free. Over-the-counter (OTC) drugs are powerful, which is why they work. Some of the potentially serious side effects associated with misuse of OTC pain relievers include an increased risk of liver problems and kidney damage. One of the well-known side effects of the class of drugs known as NSAIDs (non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs) is an increased risk of stomach irritation. For these reasons and others, OTC medications should be taken with care.

If you have any question concerning an over-the-counter medication take the time to call us at 759-1956 or 759-1968, or visit us at ROSSMORE PHARMACY, 338 Washington Avenue. Cosmetics, toiletries, baby needs, gifts, and many other items are stocked. Open: Mon. thru Fri. 9am-8:30pm, Sat. 9pm-7pm, sun. 9am- Noon.

HINT: Mixing a pain-relief pill with a flu medication may give you an overly large dose of an active ingredient found in both.

A LOOK TO THE FUTURE

The Belleville High freshman team won its first game of the season last week when it defeated Paterson Kennedy 12-7 on the road. The team's record now stands at 1-3.

Boys falls in quarterfinals

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

The Belleville boys' soccer team split two games last week, defeating Bloomfield 2-0 in an NNJIL contest and falling to Montclair by the same score in the quarterfinal round of the Essex County Tournament last Sunday afternoon at Brookdale Park.

The Bucs will take a 9-3-2 record into this afternoon's game at Don Bosco Prep, starting at 4 p.m. This Saturday, Belleville will host Nutley in a make-up game which will probably be played at 11 a.m. Next Tuesday, the Bucs host Teaneck at 4 p.m.

Belleville played a scoreless first half against Montclair last Sunday in the county tournament.

"We played them pretty even in the first half," Belleville coach Len Marino said. "But they outplayed us in the second half. It was disappointing, but they beat us, and there are no excuses."

Earlier last week, the Bucs defeated Bloomfield 2-0 at Foley Field. Roger AVECILLAS and Jeff TOLEDO scored for Belleville. Toledo assisted on AVECILLAS' goal and Alex CERON had an assist on Toledo's tally.

"We had a good counterattack against Bloomfield," Marino said. "We had a lot of good opportunities and (goalie) Ricky (Hernandez) made an outstanding save. It was one of the best I've seen all season."

NOTES: The cutoff for the state tournament is tomorrow. While Belleville has long since clinched a berth in the states, Marino is hoping for a good week so that the Bucs could get a home game in the state tournament.

Bucs gearing up for second half

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

Joe Fischer's endless enthusiasm shows no signs of waning, and thus, the fates and fortunes of his young Belleville football team appear to be quite positive.

The 0-5 Bucs had a bye week last week. The team will play at Teaneck on Saturday at 7 p.m.

"We're playing better," Fischer said. "We're pretty much where I thought we'd be. We're thin at certain positions, and it's going to take time. Our defense is getting better with each game, and we're, thankfully, pretty healthy."

Fischer sees a tough assignment with Teaneck.

"They're a typical Teaneck team," the coach said. "They've got good size and speed and remind me of the Paterson Kennedy squad we (last) played (on Oct. 8, a 22-6 setback)."

Fischer continues to push an offensive philosophy of "first downs, keep the game close and keep the clock running."

"It really comes down to blocking and tackling," Fischer said. "And we're doing both of those things pretty well. We have to cut down on turnovers and take advantage of opportunities."

Belleville's running game, led by Mark Saavedra and Jay Luzzi, has shown steady improvement. Lineman John Pellow has been solid on both offense and defense. "He's our best lineman, by far," Fischer said of Pellow.

Fischer likes the development of Paul Fruedenvol at quarterback. Linebackers Joe Roberts and LJ Piccicino have sparked the defense and DJ Herman is a consistent punter.

The defense has been able to make half-time adjustments, as witnessed by blanking Ridgewood and Bloomfield in the second half and holding Kennedy to a last second score.

"It's important we emphasize as much positives as we can," Fischer said. "The schedule isn't easy, we know that. But the kids are working hard and improving. Our conditioning is good, and our outlook is very positive."

Wizards loaded with enthusiasm

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

Grace Worley has been coaching volleyball at Belleville long enough to have seen just about everything. So when the veteran coach says she really enjoys working with this year's team, you have to believe it.

Belleville is 3-14 this year, but Worley is having a lot of fun with a team made up mostly of freshmen, a few sophomores and three senior tri-captains.

Belleville will host Bloomfield tomorrow at 4 p.m. Next Monday, Ridgewood comes to Belleville for a 4 p.m. match in the final home game of the year for the Bucs.

"I really enjoy working with these kids," Worley said. "It's a learning experience for the young kids, and I know the seniors wish they had a few more wins, but I'm very proud of all these kids."

Senior captains Jess McManus, Jackie Hernandez and Yanira Almagro have not only excelled on the floor, but have led by example.

"They're taking care of the freshmen," Worley said. "They really want the kids to improve and that means a lot."

Freshmen setters Amanda Velez and Sam Ramos have teamed with classmate Crystal Cruz, who is doing a good job at the net, to give Belleville a good base for the future.

Sophomores Cynthia Ravello and May Cogang have also stepped into the varsity and played well. Ravello is a setter and Cogang's back line play and service game continues to improve.

"They're a nice group of kids," Worley said. "We're getting there, and I think the future is going to be okay for us."

Fall baseball teams doing well

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

The Belleville fall baseball teams continue to play well as the regular season draws to a close.

The younger players, comprised of freshmen and sophomores, are playing in the Bob Henry/Connie Mack League and have put together a 3-4 mark through last Sunday. The Bucs will host Don Bosco this Sunday at 2 p.m., and finish their season on Oct. 31 with a 1 p.m. game against West Milford, also at home.

Last Sunday, the team dropped a 1-0, nine-inning game to a team from Orange, New York.

Coached by former Belleville players Mike SanPhilip, Dave

Lelinho and Anthony Dalbo, the Bucs have done a very good job.

The sophomores are SS/P Devin Barnes, 2B Louis Auriemma, outfielders Billy Praschak, Scott Kornblum, Frank Araneo and Patrick Cordoso, P/C Ron Arnold, IF/OF Eric Gomez and 1B/C Mike Agosta.

Leading the freshmen are IF/P John Suchdolski and Josh Bini, outfielders Jeremy Martinez, James Grant and Chris Marto, 3B/P Dan Lazano and P/OF Kaseem Harris.

"The kids are playing very well," Belleville varsity baseball coach Alan Frank said. "They're playing good competition and showing consistent improvement. The coaching staff deserves a lot of credit."

A second Belleville team, made up of mostly juniors and seniors, are in first place in the Red Hawk League, with an 8-2 record. That team, coached by Anthony Malanga, Frank Marinello, Joe Cassese and Howie Cimet, will host Pequannock this Saturday at 11 a.m. and begin the playoffs on Oct. 30.

Belleville has won three of its last four, defeating regional teams from Garfield 11-8 and Passaic 6-0 and avenging a 2-0 loss to Wayne Valley with a 13-3, 18-hit effort last week.

Belleville's pitching staff, led by Mike Cassese, Andrew Breneman, Giancarlo Cifelli and Jonathan Serrano, has performed well the entire season.

"Again, the coaches deserve a lot of credit for the team's success," Frank said.

ESSEX COUNTY SOCCER TOURNAMENT

Bengals upset Mounties; advance to play Caldwell

BY TIMOTHY DENMAN
of Belleville Times

The Bloomfield High girls' soccer team won its second-round Essex County Tournament game last Sunday and advance to take on number-three seeded Caldwell this weekend.

The Bengals defeated Newark Academy in the first round, and advanced to take on number-two seeded Montclair on the road.

The Mounties got on the scoreboard first, nine minutes into the first half when Shira Averbuch broke the scoreless tie with a shot from the left side that beat Bengal goal keeper Kebe Upshaw.

The score remained the same until three minutes into the second half when Colleen Sullivan redirected a pass from Lindsey Karowski past the keeper, knotting the game at 1-1.

With six minutes left in regulation, Lauren Goodwyn scored from 22 yards out, placing the ball over the keeper's head for the game-sealing goal.

Goodwyn plays stopper for the Bengals, and has collected six goals from her defensive position, but none bigger than the one against Montclair.

"Lauren has been fighting an injury for the last few games," Head Coach Bob Mayer said after his team's victory. "Even though she is hurt she played a great game for us today."

"Montclair is a very tough team, and we were obviously the underdog," Mayer added. "It was a good victory."

One of the main reasons for the Bengals' success was the play of Upshaw. The sophomore made 18 saves against a relentless Mounties squad to keep Bloomfield in the game.

"Keba was great for us," Mayer said. "They kept testing her, and she kept making saves. It was a great effort."

In the next round, Bloomfield will face off against Caldwell in a rematch of an early season Bengal defeat. Bloomfield was unable to keep up with Caldwell in their first meeting, losing 6-1, but Mayer is confident that his team will play better this weekend.

"We have really come on in the last couple of weeks," Mayer said. "There was a time when our record was 3-7, and now we are 7-8, hopefully that success will continue."

The Bengals stand one game under the .500 mark with only two more games on the schedule before Friday night's cutoff for the state tournament.

Bloomfield must find a way to collect wins against Paramus and Montclair (for the second time in a week) if it is going to make a return to the sectional tournament.

"It would be really nice to make it into the states," Mayer said. "We just need to go out and play well and things will fall into place."

Raiders fall to West Essex

BY TIMOTHY DENMAN
of Belleville Times

The Nutley High School girls' soccer team lost its second-round game of the Essex County Tournament last Sunday to West Essex in an overtime shoot-out.

West Essex scored first early in the first half, capitalizing on a Raider defensive miscue to take the early 1-0 lead.

Nutley knotted the game up at 1-1 on a goal by Gabrielle Isabella on an assist from Gina Pollitt to get the Raiders back in the game.

The second period was scoreless, and following two overtime periods, the game was to be decided in a shoot-out.

In a shoot-out, five players from each team take penalty kicks at the opposing goalie. If after all five players from each squad shoot and the score is still tied another shoot-out round is played.

Brittany Lohman, Stephanie Rizzi, and Samantha Sammaro all beat the West Essex's keeper for goals, but Pollitt's try went off the goal post, and the Raiders lost the shoot-out 4-3.

"It was a very exciting game," Head Coach Nick Markovic said after his team's defeat. "It was one of the better games we played this year. Unfortunately someone has to lose, and today that was us."

The Raiders are no strangers to overtime games against West Essex. Last season in the ECT the two teams also met in the second round and the game had to be decided in an overtime shoot-out.

Nutley was able to come out ahead last season, but fell one penalty shot shy this season and was knocked out of the tournament, and must now turn its attention to the state tournament.

With an 11-4 record, the Raiders have secured a spot in the North I Group IV bracket and will be looking to go deep into the tournament, following the completion of the regular season schedule.

Also on the agenda for the Raiders is wrapping up the conference title. Nutley is vying with Ridgewood for the top spot. The two teams faced off on Tuesday and the winner was crowned conference champ.

A former user of cocaine and heroin, M hid his usage as a member of the Orthodox Jewish community.

"The concept of dual faces—especially in the religious community where there are certain norms whose standards are higher than in the secular community, is difficult," said M.
"And then you have the natural tendencies of any human being,"

he continued. "I ended up using drugs, which was not necessarily hidden from my wife, but from the (religious) community. The religious community would have never thought that that would be something that I'm involved with. It becomes more pronounced when I'm putting on the face of a religious person."

M said that it's been two years since he's used. "I was feeling sick and knew there was a problem but didn't know how to deal with it." For help, he said that he checked himself into a hospital, saw a therapist and a psychiatrist and read materials that helped him deal with his addictions.

"It's really no different whether you're having a gay relationship in a world that frowns on it or any other interest that society frowns on," said M. "In the case of McGreevey, he's taking on a leadership role all the while living a life that betrays what he's leading publicly," said M. "I have authentic religious beliefs and feelings and, at the same time, having natural human failings that contradict what I'd like to achieve for myself personally. That's just the nature of being human—having conflicting dimensions."

"Inside of all of us, we often have competing needs; parts of us are in conflict," concluded psychotherapist, Groman. "Usually it's because there is some need that's not being met in their current systems of support. Sometimes it's a cry for help..."

Give thanks for God's bounty and give back

Apples, pumpkins, turning leaves and mums, everywhere we turn the fall reminds us of God's bounty. When we look at the beauty of the world we are filled with gratitude for the gift of this world, the gift of our lives, the gift of all creation.

Like all good gifts that are precious and meaningful, they inspire us to respond with thanksgiving. They fill us with an aspiration to give something back to the one who has given to us. To be a sojourner on this planet, to be an enjoyer of creation we are called to give back in thanksgiving. Listen for this call.

What is your particular skill for giving back? How can you show this planet that good stewardship is your response to the bounty of the earth? Every farmer knows that you cannot keep growing the same crop without putting back nutrients into the earth. Take some time to ponder the ways that you give back to this world, and to the God who has given you so much. Giving back begins to return more than you can ever repay. When you give back then you are able to respond freely to a gift that is given to you. The two go together. It is not possible to receive without giving back.

Rev. Pamela Bakal
Grace Church, Nutley
